Guthrie Graduate Receives National Future Farmers of America Scholarship

(Alexandria, VA) A nationwide search among the country's best and brightest students yielded a local winner. Recognizing the need to invest in excellence, the National FFA Organization recently announced that Laurie Masterson of the Guthrie FFA Chapter is the recipient of a $1000.00 scholarship. The scholarship is sponsored by the Santa Fe Pacific Foundation as a special project of the National FFA Foundation. Masterson will use the funds to pursue a degree in agriculture communications with a minor in math at Oklahoma State University. She will be a Texas State Officer for 1993-94.

Masterson, daughter of Bill and Kathy Masterson of Guthrie received notice of the scholarship after a national panel judged her application among the best in the United States. Judging criteria included an evaluation of Masterson's supervised agriculture experience program in agriculture education, FFA activities, school and community involvement, high school grades and career plans. Masterson's FFA Advisor is Bob Burkett.

This year the National FFA Scholarship Program awarded over $900,000 to 720 students. These outstanding young people were chosen from 5,489 applicants. This is the tenth year scholarships have been made available through the National FFA Foundation by business and industry to reward excellence and enable students to pursue their educational goals.

FFA is a national organization of 401,574 members in 7,456 local chapters throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture. Local, state and national activities and award programs provide opportunities for students to apply knowledge and skills acquired through agricultural education. FFA members strive to develop agriculture leadership, cooperation and citizenship.

Karomy Sloan Shelton Receives National Awards

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Karomy NaShae Sloan Shelton has been named a United States National Collegiate Award winner in education. This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American college students.

Karomy has also been named a Collegiate Scholastic All-American. The USAA has established the Scholastic All-American Collegiate Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The Scholastic All-American Collegiate Scholars must earn a 3.30 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school official or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA. These are awards few students can ever hope to attain.

Karomy, who attends Abilene Christian University, was nominated for both awards by Dr. Chantrey Fritts, an education professor.

Karomy will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Collegiate Yearbook as well as the Scholastic All-American Collegiate Directory, which are published nationally.

Karomy is the daughter of Carolyn and Tommy Sloan of Archer City, former Knox City residents. Grandparents are Loree Bean Hamilton of Haskell and Edith and Howard Sloan of Fort Worth.

KCHS Honored By TEA For Academic Excellence

Recipient of Outstanding Performance Effort Recognition Award

Knox City High School principal Will Stegar has informed the News office of notification by the Texas Education Agency (TEA) that KCHS has been selected to receive a 1993 Texas Successful Schools Award System (TSSAS) Outstanding Performance Effort Recognition Award. The local campus was selected for this award due to the academic performance of the campus' students as they met outstanding performance effort criteria under the 1993 TSSAS.

Of 5,296 campuses eligible for consideration statewide, only 825 campuses met the 1993 TSSAS criteria for the Outstanding Performance Effort Recognition Award.

Official recognition of this accomplishment will occur at a ceremony to be held on Saturday, July 17, in Austin.

David Stamman, Division of Policy Planning and Evaluation, congratulated Stegar, his students, teachers, administration, board and the entire community on this outstanding achievement.

Health Policy Task Force Identifies Four Problems

By STEPHEN KUEHLER
Hospital Administrator

As noted previously, the Texas Health Policy Task Force identified four major health care problems in Texas: access to coverage; providers; infrastructure; and cost containment.

This week, we'll look at access to coverage. The Task Force found that Texas shares this problem with most other states. Although Medicare assures access to health care for the vast majority of the elderly, there is no such guarantee for children.

Of the 17 million Texans, about three to four million are currently uninsured. Of that number, over one million are children, or about 35 to 40% of the uninsured population. This is higher than in the United States as a whole.

According to David Smith, MD, Texas State Health Commissioner, "The United States and South Africa are the only developed nations that do not offer basic health care insurance for children."

In addition to this, many more Texans are considered underinsured. Basically, that means that the family would be dealt a crippling financial blow if faced with a major illness or accident. According to the Task Force report, many of the uninsured population comes from employed single- and two-parent families who live above the poverty level.

Another part of the problems of access to health care that concerned the Task Force is related to prenatal care. In Texas, one in four pregnant women currently have no form of health insurance. About one-third of Texas women receive no prenatal care during the first three months of pregnancy. Of course, this contributes to low birth weight and infant mortality.

The report states that, from a purely financial perspective, "every $1 spent on prenatal care saves approximately $3 in newborn intensive care costs."

Another aspect of the problem is that Texas ranks 47th among the states in getting back federal tax dollars through Medicaid. In the 1980s, federal and state policies made children's health and maternity care a top priority.

ity, but Texas has not aggressively pursued this benefit.

Even Texans with insurance face problems in accessing the system. Private insurance, in many cases, has set higher rates for dependent coverage. Also, traditional insurance has not encouraged their customers to spend any money on preventive services.

Access to health care was one of

High Winds, Fireworks Keep Firemen Busy

The Knox City Volunteer Fire Department was 'jumping all over the place' Sunday night trying to answer calls to put out several fires caused by dry vegetation, high winds, and fireworks.

According to Chief Roland Marion, the men were busy west of town near the Mae Edge residence and near the west Brazos River bridge when the call came in reporting a fire just south of the Derrell Marion residence on South East Eighth Street. Roland said it would not have created such a problem if it hadn't been for the high south winds. They also were concerned as Derrell's house has wooden shingles.

Units were called in from neighboring towns to help fight the fires as another one had broken out about five blocks north of the Dairy Queen-between Avenues G and L.

Other fire departments assisting were Rochester, Haskell, Munday, and Benjamin.

Roland said that Munday was in the process of putting out a fire when called and that Rochester was having a controlled fireworks display at the time. Roland said that the controlled fireworks display sounded like a very good idea next year in case we have the high winds again.

We really cannot say enough about these men who willingly give up their time and many times risk danger themselves to keep our homes safe.

Thanks, volunteer firemen!

Knox City-O'Brien CISD Cafeteria Employees Attend Food Service Workshop

School cafeteria employees recently attended a Food Service Workshop.

The Workshop was held June 1, 2 and 3, at Seymour High School.

O'Brien Happenings

By Audie Johnston

"When my father was a lieutenant stationed at Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo, Calif., he met my mother, and they fell in love. Dad had a red rose sent to her every day. This went on for several weeks.

Soon after their wedding, Dad went to the same florist and requested an inexpensive bouquet of flowers. "Oh, lieutenant," the florist replied, "you must have gotten married!"

Visiting the J.D. Hollises over the weekend were Margie Tidwell of Lubbock and Wynelle and Jimmy Hollis of Richardson.

"Did you know? Many people have the idea it is their duty to 'Get all you can, can all you can get, and sit on the can!'"

Graveside Rites Held July 7 For Mrs. Jenkins

Graveside services for Ocey Mary (Huckabee) Jenkins, 92, of Rochester were held Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. in the Knox City Cemetery under the direction of Smith Funeral Home. The Rev. Truett Kuentler, pastor of Rochester Baptist Church, officiated.

Mrs. Jenkins died Sunday, July 4, at 8:40 p.m. in the Haskell hospital after a short illness.

Born December 17, 1900, in Johnson County, Texas, her parents were Cora and D. R. Huckabee. She attended Lone Star School and married Joe Billy Jenkins December 25, 1919, at Munday. Her husband preceded her in death October 3, 1970. Mrs. Jenkins was a housewife.

Survivors include one son, Morris Jenkins of Rochester; three daughters, Hazel Dotson of Henderson, Odessa Erwin of Rochester, and Jo Nell Cowart of Alaska; one brother, L. L. Huckabee of Munday; one sister, Mrs. Ivie Reddell, also of Munday; 21 grandchildren; and 26 great-grandchildren.

Nancy Owens' Mother Dies At Tyler Monday

Word was received by the News office Tuesday that Nancy Owens' mother, Sally Mitchell of Tyler died Monday.

Nancy and her husband Bob, who recently retired from Pacific Enterprises, had gone to Tyler to look for a house.

Services were to be Wednesday, and more details will appear when they are available.

Former Resident John M. Jaggars Dies June 27

Former resident John M. Jaggars of Cedar Park died unexpectedly at his home on Sunday, June 27.

Services were held Thursday, July 1, at 11:00 a.m. at Cedar Park United Methodist Church.

Born November 3, 1948, in El Paso, he was employed by Penman Conoco Service in Knox City prior to his move to Cedar Park earlier this year. He was a dedicated cubmaster for Cub Scout Pack 161 and a member of First United Methodist Church in Knox City.

After relocating in Cedar Park, he was employed by the Travis County District Attorney's office as systems support coordinator to develop a computerized Victim Witness Program.

Survivors include his wife, Lu Ann, his children, Angelia, Holly, and Cody Scott of Cedar Park; a sister, Kathie Hamman, also of Cedar Park; a brother Steve of North Carolina; 14 nieces and 13 nephews.

The family requests that memorial contributions be made to the Travis County Children's Advocacy Center for children who are victims of crime at 1110 E. 32nd, Austin, Texas 78722.

Retirees who travel by recreational vehicle save about $100 a day vs. those who travel by car, according to an Indiana survey. An average day's journey is 200 miles.

A study of Norwegian men published in the New England Journal of Medicine found that those who remained physically fit, not surprisingly, tend to avoid cardiovascular disease. But the study also found they tended to put off other fatal illnesses.

Local Women Help Host International Convention

In Dallas June 10 through 12

The Texas Federation of Women's Club was hostess to the General Federation of Women's Clubs 102nd Annual International Convention June 10 through 12 at Dallas.

Those attending from the Mesquite District and the Knox City Study Club were Janoma Stephens, Mesquite District President; Winifred White, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs Trustee; and Erma Liles, the General Federation of Women's Clubs Second Century Endowment Chairman.

Others attending from the Mesquite District were Marie Ward of Aspermont, Pollye Wheeler, Mary Cauble, Margaret Putman and Virginia Baker of Albany.

One hundred twenty-four ladies attended from the State of Texas. There were ladies attending from all the states in the United States and International Clubs were represented making a grand total of 737 attending the convention.

Guests speakers were:

Nancy Woodhull, a founding editor of USA Today and a former editor-in-chief of Southern Living magazines. Her keynote address title was "The Media: Does It Care About Women?" Did you know that 50% of the cars in this country are purchased by women, 60% investments are made by women, and 85% of the spending is controlled by women in this country; Dr. Holly Atkinson also spoke and is the medical correspondent for NBC-TV's "Today" show; Scott Carpenter, a dynamic pioneer of modern exploration, has the unique distinction of being the only human ever to penetrate both outer and inner space, thereby acquiring the dual title of astronaut/aquonaut. He piloted his Aurora 7 spacecraft through three revolutions of the Earth. On a leave of absence from NASA, Carpenter participated in the Navy's man-in-the-sea program as an aquanaut in the SEALAB II experiment off the coast of La Jolla, California. Carpenter spent 30 days living and working on the ocean floor.

Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia risked her life to bring relief and aid to her country and to bring children safely out of the savage warfare in what was formerly Yugoslavia. The Princess Elizabeth Foundation was organized in 1992. Princess Elizabeth is the daughter of Prince Paul of Yugoslavia, who was Regent of Yugoslavia from 1934 until 1941, when the Nazis invaded Yugoslavia. Since then, the Princess and her family have lived in exile.

Wilhelmina Cole Holladay is founder and president of the board of the National Museum of Women in the Arts.

Dallas radio listeners know Susie Humphreys as the unpredictable suburban career woman, wife and mother who, for the past 15 years has lent humor and a slice of life to Ron Chapman's Morning Show on KVIL Radio.

Gayle Ross is a descendant of John Ross, the Principal Chief of the Charoke nation during the infamous "Trail of Tears". Her grandmother told stories and it is from this rich native American heritage that Gayle's story telling springs. What began as a childhood love of Indian legends and fairy tales grew into a longtime "hobby" of collecting and telling. Gayle is truly a master of the age, old craft of storytelling. A native Texan, Gayle lives with her husband and two children in the Hill Country town of Fredericksburg.

Closing of the convention was the International Gala Banquet, "A Celebration of Our World", a procession of international delegates and the flag of their country was very impressive. International presentations were Aruba, Bahamas, Brazil, Canada, Estonia, Greece, Guam, Jamicia, Japan, Korea, Lithuania, Republic of China, Federation of Asian Women's Association, and World Federation of Ukrsinian Women's Association. A very outstanding closing ensemble by the Dallas Handbells directed by David Davidson was the selection "Let There Be Peace on Earth".

MRS. DONALD LYNN SHELTON
... the former Karomy NaShae Sloan

Sloan - Shelton Vows Are Read At ACU's Chapel on the Hill June 5

Saturday, June 5, Karomy NaShae Sloan became the bride of Donald Lynn Shelton at Chapel on the Hill on the campus of Abilene Christian University in Abilene. The bridegroom's father, Tommy Shelton, minister of the Church of Christ in Pawnee, Oklahoma, officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Sloan of Archer City. Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Shelton of Pawnee, Oklahoma, are the bridegroom's parents.

Chapel on the Hill was decorated with candlelight, fresh greenery, fuchsia glitter bows centered with white tulle and baskets of pink impatiens. A 29 light candle tree was decorated with large sprays of ferns and springerl accented with lacy white statice. Placed in the center of the raised platform, this piece was flanked on either side with a 15 light fan and a seven light cathedral candle stand. The elegant look of candlelight and gleaming brass was completed with a pair of tall spiraling 15 light candlestands, one on each side on the floor level. Each candle stand was decorated with Swedish ivy. A unity candle stand was in the middle of the platform also decorated with Swedish ivy. The candle carried out the theme of the wedding inscribed with the verse, "This day I will marry my friend; the one I laugh with, live for, dream with, Love." White lacy candle wrap arounds completed the look. Baskets of pink impatiens accented the floor to ceiling stained glass side panels that extended from the back to the front of the sanctuary. Baskets were also placed at the base of the candle stands. Pews were marked with fuchsia glitter bows centered with white tulle.

A white lace floor length cloth covered the registry table where Julie Speck of Knox City, cousin of the bride, presided. A "Precious Moments" bride and bridegroom figurine, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chambers and family, was also on the registry table and surrounded by a bridal portrait in a large crystal Mikasa frame.

The bride wore a designer gown by Mori Lee of white organza chiffon. The sweetheart neckline enhanced the beaded bodice and full skirt, which were encrusted with pearls and iridescent sequins. The long tapered sleeves were embellished with pearls and sequins while the shoulder pouf sleeves were enhanced with satin roses centerpieces with seed pearls. The cathedral train featured a large bow centered with a rose of seed pearls and layers of ruffled organza chiffon embellished with pearls and sequins and the scalloped pearl, lace sequin bottom completed the gown. She wore a double layered waist length veil scattered with pearls attached to a seed pearl and Austrian crystal crown headpiece with a double looped pearl and se-pink floral design and pearl gold buttons was worn by the bridegroom's mother. Both wore corsages of three bridal white partially open roses with stephanotis, ivy and sheer picot iridescent ribbon.

The attendants entered the sanctuary as "Canon in D" was played. Leah Rauch of Knox City was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mitzi Marion and Kim Chambers of Knox City, Tresha Phillips of Bridgeport, Rebecca McAtee of Hobart, Oklahoma; and Cindy Harbison of Plano.

Bridal attendants were attired in tea length gowns of crisp fuchsia taffeta which featured a slit neckline with cuff bows gracing the large puff sleeves. A fitted bodice and basque waist opened to a full skirt and a large decorative bow complimented the V-back. They carried waterfall nosegays of hot pink larkspur, hot pink mini carnations, white larkspur and white mini carnations. Mini teal ribbons cascaded from each nosegay. They wore gold bow and pearl earrings and a gold pearl clip in their hair, gifts from the bride.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was presented by her parents and brother. "Canon in D" was played as they walked to the altar.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Kandon Sloan of Archer City, brother of the bride. Groomsmen were Nathan Cooper of Carrollton, Darin Shelton of Texarkana, Ryan Mullins of Bullard, Brad Amos of Abilene and Matthew Shelton of Pawnee, Oklahoma, brother of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom chose a black tuxedo with tails, white pleated shirt with black studs, black bow tie and black vest. His groomsmen wore black tuxedos, white pleated shirts with black studs and fuchsia bow ties and cummerbunds. All wore boutonnieres of a single bridal white rose with ivy and the bridegroom's rose included stephanotis.

Carolyn Sloan, mother of the bride, sang "Wind Beneath My Wings" during the wedding ceremony and the couple also lit their unity candle at the conclusion of the ceremony. Following the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom entered the reception, given by the bride's parents, directly below the entry to the sanctuary by way of a 38 foot spiraling stairway completely entwined with greenery, fuchsia glitter bows and clusters of balloons in the bride's chosen colors.

A five-tiered traditional white wedding cake was placed on a crystal stand. The cake and stand were decorated with ming fern, English ivy and satin flowers to match the centerpiece. The centerpiece held crystal bubble candle holders with fuchsia candles surrounded by greenery, fuchsia and white stephanotis, roses, gypsophila and held the bride's mother's Bible. The bride's table was covered with a white satin ruffled floor length cloth with tie-ups of fuchsia glitter and white tulle bows holding fuchsia and white flowers. Crystal clear punch was served from a crystal punch bowl encircled by greenery, fuchsia flowers and ribbons. White chocolate bride mints and mixed nuts were served from silver containers. The cake top used was a gift from the bride's brother and four white doves were also used on the top, which were originally used on the bride's parents wedding cake. Crystal and silver appointments were used on the bride's table. An engagement picture of the couple was also placed on the table. Assisting at the bride's table were Wynell Hester of Big Lake, aunt of the bride; Stephanie Pepper of Knox City and Melissa Marts of Tyler. Nell Sloan of Munday, aunt of the bride, assisted at the gift table.

The bridegroom's table was covered with a floor length teal cloth and white overlay with a teal tie-up. His chocolate cake was centered with the Frater Sodalitas emblem, his ACU social club. Silver appointments were used to serve crystal clear punch, mixed nuts and white chocolate bridegroom mints. The centerpiece was a crystal candle globe arrangement with teal candles surrounded by magnolia greenery and English ivy. Momentos of his social club were also used to accessorize his table, as was a picture of the couple. Assisting at the bridegroom's table were Shirley Sloan of Rochester, aunt of the bride; Sherry Speck of Knox City, aunt of the bride; and Sue Hill of Corpus Christi.

A large ornate silver samovar coffee service was placed on a table covered with a white linen floor length cloth. A teal candle arrangement of fuchsia, teal and white roses with mixed flowers was upon a silver container that centered the table. A framed wedding poem, a gift from Melissa Marts, was also used on the table. Assisting at the coffee table was Eve Petty of Fort Worth.

Kelly Hutchinson and Debbie Daniel of Archer City distributed fuchsia and teal balloons to the guests. As the bridal couple departed, large arrangements of balloons were released into the sky by the guests.

Wedding coordinators were Sequoyah Reynolds and Sandra Chambers of Knox City.

All members of the houseparty wore corsages that were a garden spray of hot pink and pink larkspur and mini pink carnations with teal and hot pink ribbon.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom at China Star in Abilene on the evening preceding the wedding.

The bride is a 1990 graduate of Knox City High School and is a senior at Abilene Christian University majoring in elementary education / physical education and early childhood. She is employed by Cajun Cones in Abilene.

The bridegroom, a senior biology / physical education major at Abilene Christian University, is a 1990 graduate of Lindsay High School in Lindsay, Oklahoma. He is employed by Southwest Coca-Cola Bottling Company in Abilene.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple is residing in Abilene.

Grandparents of the bride are Mrs. Loree Bean Hamilton, the late Wilson Bean of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sloan of Fort Worth and the late Fychelene Sloan Norman of Rule. Great-grandparent of the bride is Mrs. Edna Adkins of Rochester. Grandparents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Taylor of Lindsay, Oklahoma; Mrs. Lois Shelton of Lindsay, Oklahoma; and the late Earl Shelton of Lindsay, Oklahoma.

ATTENDS MARKET

Romain Stubbs recently attended the gift market in Dallas where she was shopping for the Art Stall and Frame Shop.

FROM OKLAHOMA

Shanna Smethers of Owasso, Oklahoma, is here visiting her grandparents, Romain and Jack Stubbs.

Karomy Sloan Shelton Named To ACU List

Karomy Sloan Shelton, a 1990 graduate of Knox City High School and daughter of former Knox City residents Carolyn and Tommy Sloan of Archer City, has been named to the Abilene Christian University spring Dean's Honor List with a grade point average of 4.0.

Also in the spring semester, Karomy was active in Sing Song by participating with her club, Tri Kappa Gamma, in their performance. Tri Kappa Gamma received first place in originality and came in second overall by a small margin of two points. She was also inducted into the Alpha Chi honor society. One must have an overall GPA of 3.7 or better to be a member. Karomy was also elected treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society for education majors.

North Central Texas

Aug. 9-14—Pioneers and Old Settlers Reunion, Alvarado. This 101-year old festival is packed with old-fashioned fun and entertainment. The parade will feature everything from full-blown decorated floats to decorated cars and even bicycles. Musicians, bands, and antique cars are just a few of the many participants in this hometown parade extravaganza. Just twenty-five miles southwest of Dallas, visitors will find a traditional queen contest and baby pageant as well as carnival rides and a fiddlers contest. Plenty of food, drinks and fun will abound. Contact the Pioneer and Old Settlers Reunion Association, P.O. Box 577, 76009, Otis Lane, 817/790-6667.

Aug. 13-15—"Where the South Meets the West" Art Show, Gainesville. Twenty-five outstanding artists will display their first class works in a variety of styles, textures and subjects. "Gunsmoke's" Buck Taylor, better known as Newly, and well known artists Bud Pawless, Don Yandell and Larry Bridges will be available for autographs. Gainesville is located approximately 50 miles northeast of Dallas. Contact the Gainesville Civic Center, 200 S. Rusk, Gainesville, 76240, 817/665-8632.

Aug. 13-21—26th Hunt County Fair, Greenville. This old-fashioned fair attracts more than 65,000 visitors each year to the Hunt County Fairgrounds, located just 35 miles northeast of Dallas. A livestock show, creative arts displays, special exhibits, carnival midway, and nightly entertainment offer diversions to suit everyone's taste. Contact the Chamber of Commerce, 2713 Stonewall, Greenville, 75401, 903/455-1510.

Aug. 20-21—Texas Ranch Roundup, Wichita Falls. This north Texas community is host to a competition among 12 prestigious ranches to determine which is the best ranch in Texas. Real, working cowboys battle one another in bronc riding, wild-cow milking, wild-horse racing, team roping, branding, and penning. Additional points can be earned in a cook off talent contest and a ranch queen contest. Country and western dances will be held each evening and an all-day festival is scheduled for Saturday. Contact Bonnie Jones, 1005 Midwestern Pkwy. E., Wichita Falls, 76302-2211, 817/322-0771 or 817/723-2741.

Aug. 20-28—North Texas State Fair, Denton. The fair consists of several fun-filled activities for the entire family including rodeos, livestock shows, a carnival, a petting zoo, live music, and cook offs throughout the week. Fiddlers and young beauties will display their talents during various contests, while men, women, and children of all ages compete in categories like sewing, arts and crafts, and canning. Contact North Texas State Fair, P.O. Box 1695, Denton, 76202, 817/387-2632.

Panhandle/West Texas

Aug. 1, 5-8, 12-15, 19-22, 26-29—Creekwood Ranch Old West Show & Chuckwagon Supper, Amarillo. Visitors load up on horse-drawn covered wagons for an Old West adventure, circa 1880. A chuckwagon supper offers heaping portions of cowboy cuisine. Different Old West Shows in West Texas canyon lands are featured each evening, and include Indians, cowboys, rope tricks, calvary troops, singing, and more. For a complete evening of good, old-fashioned food and entertainment call for reservations. Contact Joanie, 3621 S. Hughes, Amarillo, 79110-1322, 806/356-9256 or 800/658-6673.

Aug. 2-7—Sandhills Celebration, Olton. Just 40 minutes northwest of Lubbock, visitors can come for some good hometown fun during this Main Street celebration that offers a variety of special events. Tuesday features the Sandhills Sweetheart contest followed by gospel singing on Wednesday, a talent show on Thursday and the chance to kick up your heels at the Friday evening street dance. On Saturday, the festival culminates with a colorful, upbeat parade, the Sandhills bicycle tour, a marathon, arts and crafts, horseshoe and volleyball tournaments, and special recognition of West Texas pioneers. Contact the Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 487, Olton, 79064, 806/285-2292.

Aug. 5-7—"God's Country" Musical, Crosbyton. Just thirty minutes east of Lubbock, visitors can find a small community performing this amazing outdoor musical. This original, prairie drama is held nightly in the Blanco Canyon Amphitheatre, a stone's throw from where most of the story actually took place. It depicts early Crosby County history, from 1872 through 1887, telling, through song and dance, the story of Quannah Parker and his Commanches, the early settlers, and cowboys. Contact Rio Blanco Heritage Foundation, Box 386, Crosbyton, 79322, 806/675-2331.

Aug. 5-7—XIT Rodeo & Reunion, Dalhart. Since 1937, this homecoming event honors the old-time XIT ranch hands and celebrates the heritage of the world's largest fenced-in ranch. The festivities will include a free watermelon feed, free stew supper, and the largest free barbecue feed in the world. Country Crafted Texas exhibits will be on display. Check out the street parade or try your hand at the Pony Express races. Dalhart is located a little more than 60 miles northwest of Amarillo. Contact the XIT Rodeo & Reunion, P.O. Box 966, Dalhart, 79022, 806/249-5551, or the Chamber of Commerce, 806/249-5646.

Aug. 6-7—Cantaloupe Festival, Pecos. This area is known for its luscious sweet melons. A cantaloupe show, recipe contest, and 10-K run kick off the day's festivities. Be sure to catch the Miss Cantaloupe Pageant and the other melon-related events. Sporting events, games, and all types of food, and arts and crafts booths will be available. Contact Pecos

Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 27, Pecos, 79772, 915/445-2406.

Aug. 6-8—Ysleta Festival, El Paso. This unique cultural celebration will be held around the area of Ysleta Del Sur Pueblo of the Tigua Indian Reservation. Top name entertainment such as REO Speedwagon and La Fiebre will perform and captivate visitors. Native food and drink will be served, and specialty items will be displayed. Contact P.O. Box 17579, 122 South Old Pueblo, El Paso, 79907, 915/858-6934 or 915/859-3916.

Aug. 20-21—August Festival, Slaton. Just about 12 miles southeast of Lubbock, visitors will find the friendly community of Slaton. Their August festival features a barbecue cook-out on Friday evening followed by a street dance. Early Saturday brings everyone out for pancakes and sausage, before the arts and crafts fair opens for the day. Don't miss their unique event — cow patty bingo. Contact the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 400, Slaton, 79364, 806/828-6238.

Aug. 28—Collingsworth County Bluegrass Festival, Wellington. This celebration features afternoon and evening bluegrass performances at Ellington Park. The festival features bands, craft booths, and a carnival. Wellington is located about 90 miles southeast of Amarillo. Contact Collingsworth County Chamber of Commerce, 914 West Avenue, Wellington, 79095, 806/447-5848.

Lone Star Gas Company Offers Summer Safety Tips For Kids

DALLAS - School's out for the summer, and kids can forget about studying for a few months. But they shouldn't forget to do their homework on natural gas safety.

During summer vacation many latch-key kids and others are responsible for looking after their own welfare. That's why Lone Star Gas Company believes it's important for school-age children to know what to do when they smell gas in their home or community.

"If children smell gas, there are certain things they absolutely have to know," said Howard Matson, director of communications at Lone Star Gas Company. "A few simple tips can make a big difference in ensuring safety and saving lives."

According to Lone Star Gas:

* When gas is first noticed, do not strike a match or do anything that may cause a spark, and do not turn anything on or off that uses electricity.

* Since telephones use small amounts of electricity, do not use your own phone to call Lone Star Gas Company.

* Evacuate the house as quickly as possible, leaving doors and windows as they are, and go to the nearest telephone to make the call.

* Do not go back to your house until you have been told it's safe to return.

Also, Matson said the summer's higher temperature may call for extra attention to flammability and fire hazards. Lone Star Gas recommends the following general safety tips to decrease the potential of fires:

* Never store or use gasoline or any flammable liquids (such as paint, paint thinner, cleaning fluids, etc.) in the same room with any gas appliance.

Three Person Scramble Held Thursday, July 1

A three-person scramble playday was held Thursday, July 1, at the Knox City Country Club.

Winners of the 12 hole scramble were Bruce Skiles, Earl Alvis and Charlotte McNiel, eight under par.

Winning second, six under, were Joe Rice, Tommy Mangis and Jan Wilde.

* Never store rags, paper or other combustibles near any appliance with a pilot light or open flame.

* Use a gas appliance only for its intended purpose. An oven, for example, should not be used to dry wet rags.

"You can enjoy the benefits of natural gas without having to worry about its dangers when you follow the safety guidelines," Maston said. "Any energy source can be harmful, but if used correctly, natural gas is a safe, cost efficient and environmentally compatible energy choice."

Formed in 1909 as a gas transmission company, Lone Star Gas Company is one of the pioneers of America's natural gas industry. Today, Lone Star Gas Company ranks among the five largest transmission/distribution companies in the United States, serving 550 cities and towns in North Central Texas.

Gospel Meeting

ship will begin Sunday at 6:00 o'clock.

Monday through Wednesday evening worship will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Adair's biblical training was received at Sunset School of Preaching and Sunset School of Missions.

Churches served as pulpit minister include Kress, Lubbock Parkway Drive, and Tatum Boulevard in the Phoenix area.

For the past four years, he has served as a teacher of evangelism, congregational development and missions at Sunset School of Preaching. In 1992 he was appointed assistant director and is scheduled to become the school's second director in August of this year. The purpose of his work at Sunset is to prepare men to be soul winners and church builders while they are in school in order that they can continue these good practices wherever they go.

A System to Save a Life

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES SYSTEMS IN TEXAS

Nearly 25,000 certified EMS technicians provide prehospital emergency medical care in Texas by working or volunteering for the 800 EMS systems in the state. Types of EMS systems range from big city fire department EMS systems or third city service systems, to volunteer EMS systems, to city-county partnerships, to privately-owned EMS services, to county EMS departments.

No matter what type of system an area operates, personnel must meet high state standards for training, testing, and certification as EMS technicians. State law, the EMS Act, requires that ambulances making emergency runs be inspected and licensed by the Texas Department of Health and staffed by two EMS-certified people. Ambulances certified by TDH operate in 250 of Texas' 254 counties.

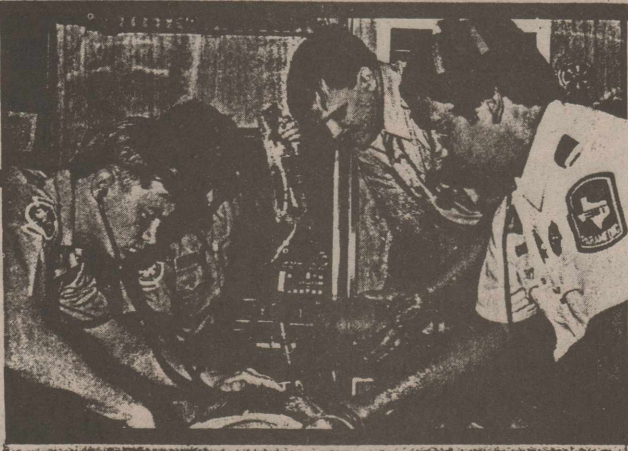

But an EMS system is more than ambulances and EMS technicians.

An EMS system includes EMS instructors, dispatchers, medical directors, emergency nurses, emergency flight crews and emergency physicians.

An EMS system includes the equipment and technology used at the hospital in the emergency department, diagnostic labs, and rehabilitation centers; at the colleges and universities teaching EMS courses; and in the dispatch and communications centers.

An EMS system includes law enforcement organizations, first responder groups, funding agencies, regulatory bodies, and public education programs. And, most of all, an EMS system includes you. EMS needs you to make that first vital emergency call that swings the components of an EMS system into action. Because without that call, there is no EMS.

It's a system — a system to save a life.

BASIC LIFE SUPPORT

Most communities in Texas have an EMS System capable of Basic Life Support. This means that Emergency Care Attendants (ECA) and Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) are trained to help you in the following ways:

Airway Management

In a patient whose heart has stopped, the technique of breathing and chest compression called CPR circulates the life-giving blood. ECAs and EMTs make sure that the airway is not restricted and assist the patient's breathing.

Bleeding Control

There is more to bleeding control than wrapping the injured area in bandages. ECAs and EMTs are taught to recognize arterial and venous bleeding, to restrict blood flow using pressure points, to prevent infection, and to avoid further injury.

Splinting

Broken bones can easily cause further injury. EMS personnel learn to immobilize fractures using slings and splints.

Extrication

Removing victims from wrecked automobiles is a delicate procedure. ECAs and EMTs learn how to immobilize areas likely to be injured, such as the neck, before freeing victims from the vehicle.

Transportation

It can be fast, but it must always be safe. Ambulances traveling at regular speeds are used to transport most emergency patients. Once the EMS personnel have stabilized the victim, speed isn't all-important, but safety is.

ADVANCED LIFE SUPPORT

Many Texas communities have chosen to provide Advanced Life Support level of care which in some areas includes a Mobile Intensive Care Unit (MICU) vehicle. This means that in addition to Basic Life Support, the EMS paramedics are qualified to perform airway and intravenous therapy skills and cardiac therapy when directed by their supervising physician. Paramedics learn these skills by completing 400 to 700 hours of classroom and hospital training. Intermediate EMTs complete 160-300 hours of training in advanced life support airway management, IV therapy, and MAST trousers application.

Advanced Life Support requires hospital personnel who can continue procedures begun by EMS personnel, radio contact between the emergency room and paramedics in the field, larger ambulances with more supplies, and medical supervision by a doctor who trains paramedics and supervises the performance of the following advanced skills:

Airway Management

The survival of accident victims sometimes depends on a simple thing like their ability to breathe. Training in airway management teaches paramedics to insert devices into the esophagus or trachea of an unconscious patient to help keep the airway open.

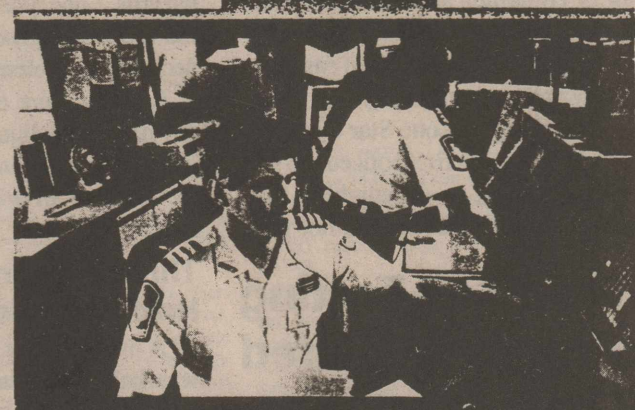

I.V. Therapy

As an accident victim's blood pressure drops, death becomes more and more likely. Paramedics can give intravenous injections to raise blood pressure by replacing lost fluids. Especially important for trauma, shock, burns and heat stroke, I.V. therapy also provides a means of injecting medications helpful to cardiac patients.

Cardiac Therapy

Many heart attack victims are alive today because paramedics rushed to the scene within minutes to give emergency care. Their specialized training in the use of cardiac medications and electric shock helps stabilize patients until they reach the hospital and a doctor's care.

Portable monitors that send a patient's heart rate and rhythm over radio waves help the doctor make an accurate diagnosis. The same device can be used to administer an electric shock to restart a victim's heart.

THE FIRST CRITICAL MINUTES

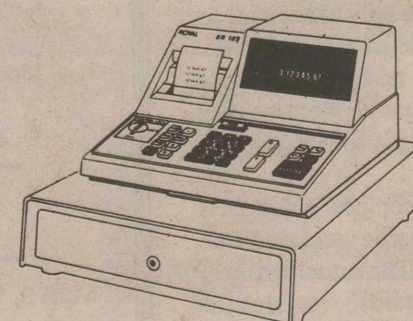

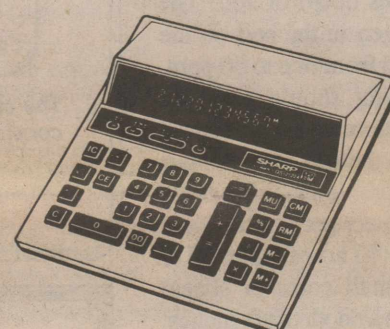

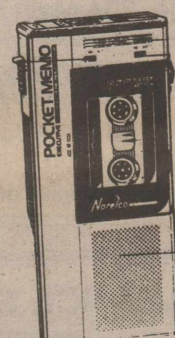

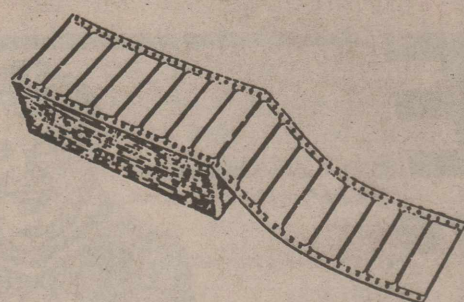

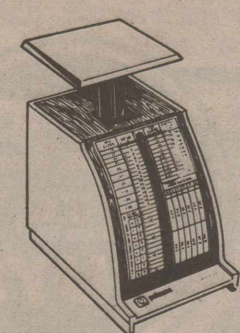

A medical emergency is sudden. It's frightening. And what happens in the first critical minutes can mean the difference between life and death.

A blocked airway, careless movement of a fractured spine, unchecked bleeding, an apparently lifeless heart — all can bring further injury or death.

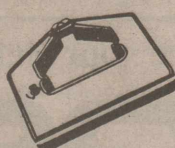

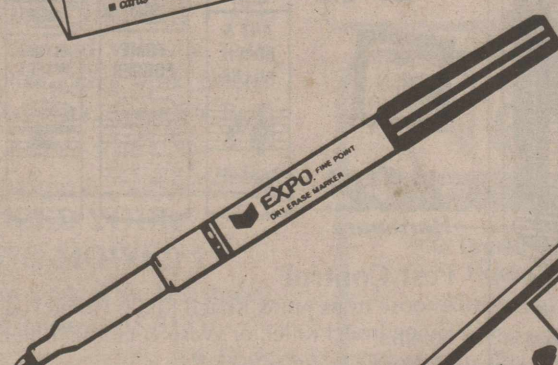

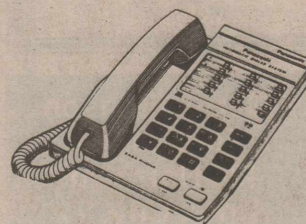

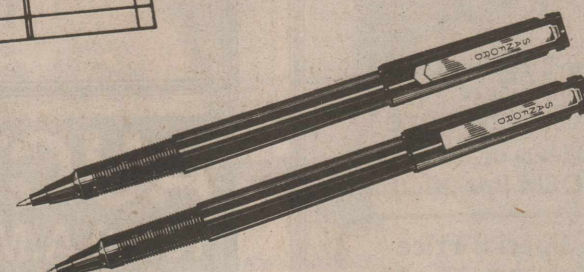

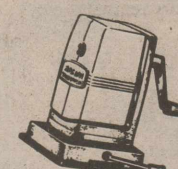

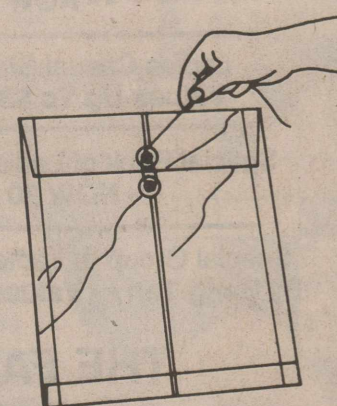

That's why emergency medical services systems exist throughout Texas to help victims survive those first critical minutes.
