Industrial Development Clinic Set

The Scurry County Industrial Development Corp., the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Industrial Commission will team up Thursday to conduct a day-long Economic Development Clinic.

Snyder area citizens from all types of businesses and professions have been urged to participate in the event, which will bring experts of the Texas Industrial Commission here, including the executive director, Harry Clark.

The event will bring back Jim Heath, late manager of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce who joined the TIC staff two weeks ago. In fact it was Heath who spearheaded efforts last summer to set up the clinic here. At that time, of course, he was working exclusively in the interest of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. Now that he is an industrial development consultant with TIC, he will be participating in a capacity different from that he envisioned when he scheduled the clinic.

The TIC participants and a delegation of local business and industrial leaders will begin the day's activity with a tour of the city beginning at 9 a. m. The tour will begin at the Beacon Motor Lodge on the east highway. The TIC delegation will view local points of interest, particularly industrial resources and potential resources.

The tour is scheduled to end at 9:50 a. m. at the Snyder Savings and Loan Association building, where morning and afternoon clinic sessions will be held.

Following opening remarks by Heath Clark will speak to the group on "organizing for Industrial Development." This will be followed by a session on "Ideas for Improving Your Business" by Don R. Raburn, industrial development consultant with TIC, and tips on "Using Your Research" by Heath.

R. H. Browder of the development department, area development division of Texas Electric Service Co., will inform the group on services provided by his company in this area. The noon luncheon break will begin at 12:15 p. m.

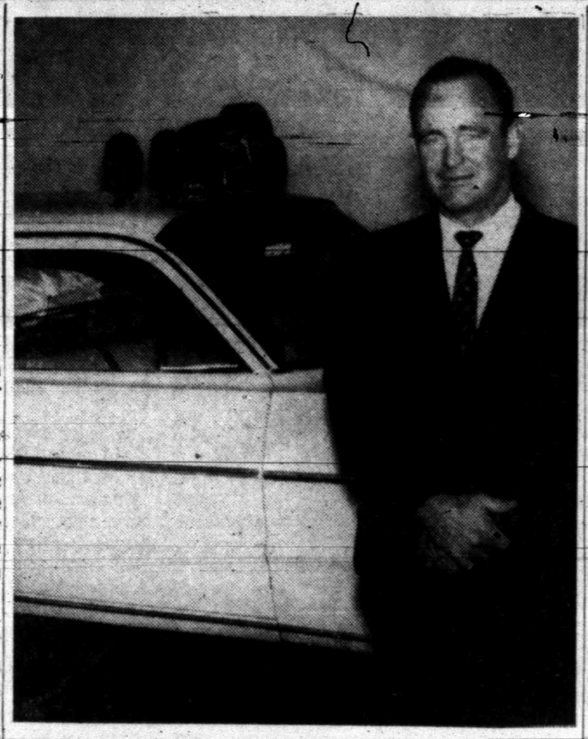
At 1:30 p. m. Raburn will discuss "Industrial Financing," while Clark will follow with a discussion of "Industrial Sites and Buildings."

Joe S. Clark, Santa Fe Railroad's industrial development manager, will discuss "Railroad Sites," and B. R. Hatley of the area development department of Lone Star Gas Co., will tell the group "How Lone Star Gas Will Assist You."

Heath and Harry Clark will finish up the afternoon session, with Heath discussing "Preparing Personalized Prospect Presentations" and Clark speaking on "Finding Prospects for Snyder."

Following a dinner session with officials of sponsoring organizations, they will gather at the Snyder High School auditorium for an "All-Town" meeting. The session at the auditorium will feature a panel discussion on "Priority Projects for Snyder," and remarks by Harry Clark on "The Citizen's Role in industrial development."

Harry Reed, president of the Scurry County Industrial Development Corporation, said it was hoped that as many local residents as possible would attend this morning and afternoon sessions at Snyder Savings and Loan, and that even greater numbers would be on hand for the evening session at the high school auditorium.



NEW AMBULANCE SERVICE — Odis Glasscock, operator of Snyder Ambulance Service, is shown by one of the emergency vehicles put into use by the new agency Saturday. The new firm began operation as local funeral homes halted their ambulance service as announced several weeks ago. Headquarters for the Snyder Ambulance Service is located at 2507 Avenue U, and the telephone number is HI 3-5514.

City Counts Storm Dead

BELMOND, Iowa (AP)—Law enforcement officers began a slow, methodical search today for possible additional victims of Friday's killer tornado that reduced much of the town to a pile of bricks and masonry.

Six persons were known dead and 150 or more injured in the wake of the twister, brewed by the same storm system that earlier produced a death-dealing blizzard in the Rocky Mountain states.

A cold, raw wind, accompanied by rain and occasional snow, made the grim task more difficult and cast a pall over the town that now resembles a battlefield.

Officers planned to sift through the rubble and debris of each building as thoroughly as possible and then affix tags to the front and rear so that there will be no wasted effort. They covered the same area Friday night, but decided on another search by the light of day.

At least 33 victims of the tornado remained hospitalized today, several of them reported in poor or critical condition.

Four blocks of the town's five-block-long business district were wrecked, with virtually every business building flattened or heavily damaged. Numerous homes and farm houses also fell to the winds. There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

Law enforcement officers, National Guardsmen and volunteers worked through the night, some of the time in a cold, fine rain, to clear rubble and search the debris for victims.

State Highway Patrol Capt. Jack Beaman said an "inch-by-inch search" of the town had been completed by midnight.

He said another search would be undertaken by daylight but he didn't believe any more bodies would be found.

Dr. Samuel Leinbach, president of the Iowa Medical Society, estimated that 150 to 200 persons were injured, about 20 of them seriously. He expressed appreciation for the amount of medical help volunteered from within a 100-mile radius of the town.

ARCTIC BLAST IS FELT HERE

An arctic blast was felt as far south as Snyder late Friday as some areas of the country suffered heavy weather damage.

The "dry norther" moved through Snyder on Friday morning and by nightfall temperatures were nippy, especially for football fans. The official low reading in Snyder for the 24 hours period ending at 7 a. m. Saturday was 38 degrees. However, there were reports of readings as low as 34 degrees in northwest Scurry County and some light frost was reported in valleys in the Fluvanna area.

Puffin Crew Is Missing

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — A Canadian destroyer escort has found the rowboat Puffin about 600 miles southeast of Newfoundland, but the two British journalists who set out in it to row across the Atlantic are missing, the air-sea rescue center reported today.

Aboard was a log book with a final entry dated Sept. 3 — the day before winds from Hurricane Faith swept into the area. The entry spoke of winds.

Floods Send Texans Fleeing From Homes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flooding so severe it caused people to flee their homes, collapsed roofs on some buildings and made rivers out of streets struck the lower Rio Grande Valley overnight without warning.

The Weather Bureau issued flash flooding warnings for the Valley and said as much as 10 inches of rain could be expected as a stationary rain front hung over the section.

The Salvation Army, preparing to send more help to victims of Hurricane Inez in Mexico, was stopped by high water around Brownsville.

More than 6 inches of rain fell at Brownsville by midmorning, Edinburg reported 7 inches at the same time and McAllen 6.15.

At Brownsville, the weight of water collapsed the roof of Darcy's, a woman's clothing store, and the roof of a HEB Warehouse, a grocery storage building.

Water was above the doors of cars parked at the curb in Brownsville, reported Guy Bevil of the Salvation Army, and he said the fire department was removing persons from low areas.

The Weather Bureau warned businessmen and others to protect their merchandise and equipment.

In Edinburg, high wind blew down several trees water stalled cars and blocked portions of the downtown area.

A San Benito home suffered some damage from lightning, and the lightning caused disruption of power in Harlingen, reported a Central Power and Light Co. spokesman.

At Nacogdoches, far across the state in East Texas, what were described as tornadic winds demolished a large poultry house on the Boyett Poultry farm and extensively damaged another. Heavy rains swept through the area at the time. Scores of chickens were killed and conservative damage estimate by officials was $25,000.

At Corpus Christi, winds gusted up to 70 m.p.h. on the intracoastal Canal separating the city and Padre Island.

The Department of Public Safety reported numerous automobile accidents in the Valley but none was serious.

The cold front which spawned the rains brought frost to parts of the upper Panhandle.

Temperatures skidded down 26 degrees at Dalhart and 31 at Amarillo by daylight, but observers there reported the air was too dry for frost.

At Perryton near the northeast corner of the Panhandle, however, fairly heavy frost accompanied readings down to 28.

Far to the south, meanwhile, the Weather Bureau reported six inches of rain at McAllen between midnight and 6 a.m. At Brownsville, where the cold front arrived a bit later, the measurement was nearly three inches between 3 and 6 a.m. with a heavy downpour continuing.

It was the chilliest weather of the season, and the cooling extended deep into the state.

Winds hitting 45 miles per hour in gusts fanned the cold air southward Friday from the Panhandle, whipping up clouds of dust. The wind calmed in that section by this morning, and it already was switching from the north to the southwest.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms marked the front's passage through Central and South Texas, but skies disappeared quickly in its wake.

Top temperatures Friday afternoon ranged from 59 at Amarillo and Dalhart, where the cooler air started arriving early in the day, up to a summery 91 at Austin and 92 at Waco.

Another cold night was predicted over most of the state except for a little warming in the Panhandle, where readings as low as 38 degrees were forecast. Marks down to 35 in Southwest Texas, 40 in the north central and northeast sections and 48 elsewhere.

Reds Plan Spectacular For Thursday

MOSCOW (AP) — A large Soviet satellite carrying several men will be launched next Thursday, and leaders of the Eastern bloc will watch, Communist sources reported today.

The leaders will go to Baikonur the secret Soviet space center in Central Asia, for the scheduled launching, they reported. Some sources said two men would be launched and others said more.

The sources agreed that by the end of this year the Soviet Union would try to put eight men into orbit in the world's largest satellite so far. But it was unclear whether this was to be a separate launching from the one Thursday.

The Communist leaders are expected to arrive at the beginning of the week to discuss their attitude toward Red China. They come from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and the Soviet Union. Some reports said Romania and Mongolia also might be represented.

Romania has, however, refrained from criticism of the "great cultural revolution" in China which the other Soviet-bloc countries have made. This left it uncertain that Romanian leaders would attend the talks, although they might show up in time to see the space launching.

Wildcats have been spotted in Borden, Fisher and Garza Counties.

H. L. Brown Jr. and W. J. Heath of Midland plan No. 1 J. G. Davis as a 7,100-foot Canyon reef lime explorer, 13 miles southeast of Gail in Borden.

Site is ⅜ mile north of production in the Von Roeder (Clear Fork, Wolfcamp and Pennsylvanian) field, 660 feet from north and 2,369 feet from west lines of section 69, block 25, H&TC survey.

In Fisher, W. W. Moon of Grand Prarie has scheduled No. 1 Hawkins as a 5,450-foot test in an attempt to re-open Strawn production in the Sylvester multipay field, two miles south of Sylvester.

Drillsite is 150 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of lot 44, Bastrop County School Land survey 323, a location south of the depleted pool opener.

A. V. Jones & Sons of Albany plan No. 1 R. J. Robertson as a 3,900-foot explorer, two miles west of Hamlin in Northeast Fisher.

The operation is 330 feet from south and 1,315 feet from west lines of section 185, BBB&C survey, a location north of the same operators' No. 1 Olson, the recently completed opener of the Olson (3,600-foot upper Swastika sand) pool.

Jake L. Hamon of Midland has set 4½-inch casing at 3,695 feet, total depth, for completion attempts through perforations in the Noodle Creek lime at No. 1-C Smith, Fisher indicated producer.

Located 660 feet from north and 760 feet from west lines of section 277, block 2, H&TC survey, four miles northwest of Rotan, it is on the southeast side of the Rough Draw (Noodle Creek) pool, ⅜ mile southeast of production.

A two-hour drillstem test between 3,663 and 3,680 feet returned 210 feet of oil, plus 10 feet of heavily oil- and gas-cut mud.

Lobo Oil Co. of Fort Worth has staked No. 3 W. Connell as a ¾-mile southwest outpost to the five-well Polar, East (Pennsylvanian) area of Kent County.

Location is 1,650 feet from south and 1,425 feet from east lines of section 18, block 3, H&GN survey, 17 miles southwest of Clairemont. Contract depth is 7,600 feet.

Brezhnev Rejects Johnson's Appeal

By HENRY BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev rejected today President Johnson's appeal for improving relations in Europe, saying the Viet Nam war prevents it.

"If the United States wants to develop mutual relations," Brezhnev declared, it must "remove the main impediment," the Vietnamese war.

The general secretary of the Soviet Communist party said the United States must halt its air raids on North Viet Nam and "stop its aggressive war against the Vietnamese people."

In a Kremlin speech, Brezhnev replied directly to President Johnson's New York speech of Oct. 7 urging improved East-West relations with emphasis on Europe.

Brezhnev said Johnson presented the situation "in such a way that relations with the Soviet Union and other Socialist (Communist) countries can develop despite" the war in Viet Nam.

This is "strange and misleading," the Soviet leader declared.

"We have said not once before but many times that if the United States wants to develop mutual relations it must remove the main impediment," Brezhnev said.

The Soviet leader attacked the Western alliance as outdated after declaring that Johnson in his speech had noted the changing world.

"But unfortunately," Brezhnev said, "in Washington they cannot draw the logical conclusions" from the changes.

Johnson's speech "quite clearly reflects the fact that the United States imperialists are still trying to settle problems in the military way of NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization)," Brezhnev said.

"So far there can be no doubts about U.S. policy."

Without referring directly to the United States, Brezhnev noted that the possibilities of an international agreement to ban the spread of nuclear weapons were looking better.

Johnson discussed this on Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who said then talks would go ahead.

"We welcome some moves which have appeared lately in this direction," Brezhnev said.

"We shall spare no effort to sign an agreement" that is of benefit to all, he added.

UN Disrupted By Diplomatic Storm

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A diplomatic storm continued in full force today as Asian, African and Soviet delegates protested the invasion of Syria's U.N. mission in New York by a band of young Zionists.

The controversy appeared headed toward a possible U.N. debate on steps to protect foreign embassies and diplomatic personnel all over the world. It also has revived private talk about moving U.N. headquarters away from the United States.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg suggested Friday night that the whole question of incidents involving embassies was a matter for concern and might be considered by the United Nations. This view was echoed by others, including the representative of Japan.

But Asian and African countries were primarily concerned with increasing incidents in New York. In a statement drafted at an emotion-packed meeting, they went beyond the incident at the Syrian mission to complain about "various assaults made in the past against personnel of other missions."

They called upon the United States to take urgent steps to punish the 19 young men and women who invaded the Syrian mission and to act to ensure the safety of all U.N. diplomats. They also decided to launch a formal protest through U.N. Secretary General U. Thant.

The controversy was sparked when the Zionist group entered the Syrian offices a few blocks from U.N. headquarters just as the U.N Security Council was beginning a procedural wrangle over an Israeli complaint against recent incidents on the Syrian border.

Four girls and 15 young men entered the mission, on the 25th floor of an office building at 757 Third Ave. Police finally led them away. They were charged with trespassing, unlawful intrusion and disorderly conduct and released pending a hearing Nov. 25.

The council debate on the Israeli complaint went into a night session with a new flurry of comments on the incident at the Syrian mission. The meeting was adjourned shortly after midnight and was scheduled to resume Monday afternoon.

LBJ Inks Legislation On New Cabinet Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signs legislation today enlarging his cabinet to 12 members by creating a secretary to coordinate the nation's air and land transportation policies.

As the second Cabinet-level agency to be approved by Congress in two years, the new department will bring into one agency a myriad of activities now scattered throughout the government.

The White House said Johnson would sign the measure in ceremonies in the East Room with members of Congress, federal officials and transportation industry leaders looking on.

The new department, destined to have 90,000 employes and an annual budget of nearly $6 billion, will come into formal existence 90 days after the President appoints a secretary.

Even before the bill-signing cremony, rumors were afloat in Washington — with no confirmation whatever from the White House — that Presidential Assistant Joseph Califano might be selected as secretary of transportation.

Califano, regarded as an authority on the economics of transportation, helped push through Congress the administration's proposal to establish the new department.

There also had been rumors that Alan S. Boyd, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, might be in line for the post. But Boyd, reached at Miami, Fla., said, "I've heard nothing about it."

Unlike the Department of Housing and Urban Development created last year, the transportation agency won final congressional approval in the same year the proposal was submitted to Congress.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and have never had a boy friend.

I've had many dates, but I make it clear from the start that I am a good girl and they had better not try any monkey business, and that's the last I see of them. You'll probably faint when you read this, but every word is true, so here goes:

I am considered beautiful in figure and face. I have high moral standards and everyone is always wanting to fix me up with men, but nobody ever does. My mother doesn't allow me ro date divorced men, or stay out after midnight. Also I can't go out with a man she doesn't know, which limits my opportunities because mother is 74 and doesn't get around very much.

I have a good secretarial job, but if I spend one more evening playing scrabble with my mother I will crack up. Please help me.

NOT KIDDING

DEAR NOT: First you'd better sever that cord which has been running between you and your mother for the past 29 years. And change your pitch. It's all right to be 99.99 per cent pure, but you needn't begin every date with that commercial. Use your own judgment, choose your own friends, and grow up. You're a big girl now.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: We are elderly people, retired. We live in a neighborhood where there is a recent widow. I remarked to my husband, "Mrs. — is getting thin. The trouble with living alone is that you don't bother to cook for yourself. I would like to send her some little things I cook when I have extras."

My husband sounded annoyed and answered, "Why do that? She will think we think she can't take care of herself." Believe me, Abby, that idea never crossed my mind. Who is right?

DEAR BROOKLYN: You are. But one who lives alone misses more than food. He misses companionship. Do something for the widow's spirit as well as her stomach and invite her to join you.

The simplest meal, with company, will be more appreciated than the finest delicacy—alone.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My young grandson eats only one thing at a time. If there are four things on his plate, he will first eat all his meat, then all his vegetables and so forth. He will not take one bite of one thing unless he has finished all the other. He positively refuses to mix his food. Now isn't this ridiculous?

When I call him on it, his mother and grandmother give me the horselaugh. It just doesn't look right to me. I don't know whether this comes under the heading of etiquet, or health, or what, but it just doesn't look right to me. I wish you would classify this and set me straight. Sign me

OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD FASHIONED: I would classify this as nit-picking. Children come in for enough criticism during their childhood without having something as inconsequential as this being called to their attention. Skip it. What's the difference? Be glad he's healthy and can eat everything.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy and I think I have a venereal disease. Can you please tell me the name of a good venerealogist? I can't sign my name.

DEAR NAMELESS: Any doctor can help you. Or go to the public health department in your city for immediate medical attention.

Hepatitis Innoculations Are Begun

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 2,250 employes, patients and visitors at Brooklyn's Coney Island Hospital were being inoculated against hepatitis today following the death of two nurses who had attended a hepatitis victim, the city Health Department said.

Before their deaths, the nurses displayed jaundice, indicating they may have been suffering from the infectious liver disease.

One of the special-duty nurses died Thursday, the other two week ago. Autopsies have not been completed.

The gamma globulin inoculation program was expected to be completed today.

Samuel Angel, acting administrator of the hospital, said there was no cause for alarm, however. "No one has been evacuated, and patients are still being admitted," he said.

The patient attended by the two nurses was an accident victim placed in a private room because of the extent of her injuries. It was discovered later that she had hepatitis.

Bullets Hit School Buses

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) —Two buses loaded with school children heading for the State Fair at Dallas were hit by gunfire Saturday on the Fort Worth-Dallas Turnpike near Grand Prairie.

A bullet also struck an automobile.

A girl on one of the buses, police said, received a minor scalp wound. Authorities questioned three boys carrying guns. Two others were released. A 12-year-old said he fired at one of the buses but did not intend to harm anyone, police said.

An officer said one of the boys tried to get rid of his gun by throwing it off of a small cliff when police approached.

Minister's Trial Opens In Chicago

CHICAGO AP)—A policeman testified Friday he arrested a Baptist minister for littering a city parking lot with religious literature after the defendant insisted he be placed under arrest or allowed to continue.

The policeman, Melvin Cree, was the first prosecution witness in the trial before a jury of the Rev. Vernon C. Lyons, pastor of the Ashburn Baptist Church.

Lyons and several helpers were arrested in the big Monroe Street parking lot in downtown Chicago last June after they had placed hundreds of tract copies of the book of Acts, from the Bible, under windshield wipers of parked cars.

All are charged with littering. Only Lyons is on trial in the current proceeding before Magistrate Maurice Lee.

Lyons and his counsel, S. T. Sutton, contend that Chicago's anti-litter ordinance abridges the minister's constitutional freedoms of religion and freedom of the press.

Cree testified that when he arrived at the parking lot he found Lyons placing tracts under the windshield wipers of cars there. He said some of the material also was on the ground.

The witness said he asked Lyons to stop distributing the material unless he first obtained permission to do so from the Chicago Park District, which operates the public parking facility.

"Lyons said I should let him do what he was doing or I should place him under arrest," Cree testified.

The officer said he then carried out the arrests.

The trial has attracted several hundred followers of Lyons who packed the courtroom.

Dallas Schools To Integrate Athletics

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas school system will integrate athletics next year with the present 13 largely white high schools and the 5 Negro schools playing in one district, probably divided into two sections, officials announced Friday.

Houston had made a similar announcement earlier this week.

Dr. Rhea Williams, athletic director of the Texas Interscholastic League, told the Dallas News that virtually the entire state schoolboy sports program would be integrated. He said only a few districts would continue to play in segregated districts.

All Dallas schools are to be integrated on a residential area basis next year, although some schools will remain all-Negro because of their living sections.

State Open Tourney Has 3-Way Tie

HOUSTON (AP) — Lee Trevino of El Paso, Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur and Tim Leslie of University of Houston were tied for the lead today at the halfway mark of the $10,000 Texas State Open Golf Tournament.

Each had 139 and they were two strokes ahead of Butch Baird of Galveston, Jerry Barrier and Richard Bliss, both of University of Houston.

Trevino, the defending champion, shot the low round Friday when he posted a 68 to forge into a deadlock for the lead. He had five birdies despite strong winds that swept the Sharpstown Country Club course.

Fare For Fancy Eating Is Featured At Tourist Haunt

By KELLY SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — In this supermarket there are:

—Braised kangaroo tails, reindeer meatballs, and gourd shavings.

—200 cheeses, 100 sausages and salami.

—Bread flown in from Paris, fresh caviar from Iran.

—And vine leaves go like pork and beans.

On a typical morning, a woman fills her gold-colored basket with Canadian moose steaks, and a businessman leaves with four cans of quail meat tucked in his briefcase. The cashier rings up orders of $90 or $1,000. Outside, a tourist snaps pictures.

This is the International Food Store, the city's tastiest multilingual tourist haunt. Started two years ago as a novelty, the store has become a way of life in downtown Washington.

There are 6,000 items imported from 50 countries. Aisle signs guide shoppers in English and French.

Embassies buy here. Ambassadors' wives mingle with housewives and tourists. The store reports one million people visited last year.

From the outside, the store seems a typical modern supermarket. Inside, without reading labels, one might assume it was just another grocery store. But you don't find breakfast cereal, bread and eggs.

Instead, there's a paneled, red-carpeted wine alcove, those fancy grocery carts for a touch of luxury, and a gourmetician eager to help plan menus and unravel foreign recipes.

Arlette Schmitt, a brown-eyed blonde from Nice, France, speaks four languages and can tell a housewife how to use each item in the store.

Arlette and store manager Bal Raj Dogra, of New Delhi, India, agree on one point: The shoppers are mostly American — not foreign.

"A woman comes up to me and says, 'What's this stuff?'" Dogra relates, "I tell her it's Egyptian jam. She says, 'okay, I'll try it,' and dumps it in her cart. Next week she may buy three jars."

Two years ago, Dogra says, items were new to most customers. But now he says they've become picky, even over brand names.

Dogra, 29, came here seven years ago as a student. Married to an American girl, his food favorites still are Indian.

He's proud of an "instant curry dinner from Bombay. Just heat and serve it." There are packets of curry rice, herb rice and rice flamenco, too — add water and boil.

Dogra says food is bought as soon as it's put on the shelves. "You can't believe how fast it goes. It's fantastic."

There are $25 roast suckling pigs for instance. "At holiday time, we sell 25 to 30 a day. We can't keep enough of them. Lots of people want pig instead of turkey."

There's the wild game department "for wild game nuts." It includes a $19 nine-pound water buffalo rib roast, a $5 five-pound wild snow hare from Canada, $3 Canadian elk rib steaks, $3.50 quail, as well as mallard ducks, venison, frog legs, pheasants, wild Cornish hens and alligator steaks.

There are rabbits, whale meat, stuffed flounder, rock lobster tails from Africa, soft shell crabs and herring available 12 ways.

"The day we opened the Oriental section was completely sold out," Dogra says. "It's still a major section." Included there are dried lotus root, dried fish, sliced cuttlefish, dried gourd shavings, shaved fish and dried seaweed.

There's diamondback rattlesnake meat, Greek stuffed vine leaves and plain vine leaves — "some people like to stuff thir own."

"Every hostess wants to see the snails," he says. "We call them escargots. A gourmet wouldn't think of giving a party without them."

From Belgium, there are spiced baby carrots, tiny pickled corn on the cob, and from Spain artichoke hearts. "We sell 40 or 50 cases a week of this stuff."

There's wild boar from Germany ("lots of German hostesses,"), Italian cherries in brandy ("one cherry is a shot of brandy") and kangaroo tails ("children could fix them"). Ham comes in Danish cherry wine, Scotch whiskey and Spanish sherry.

"Baked for you in Paris" reads the wrapping on long, slender cabaguetts, 69-cent bread loaves flown in from France.

The most expensive items are truffles and foie gras — goose liver — delicacies from middle Europe. Four ounces of French goose liver cost $7.19. Three truffles the size of the thimbles are $2.60.

Wallace Warns US Agents To Expect Arrest

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George Wallace has warned the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare that any of its agents "interfering with the schools of this state" will be arrested.

His statement came Friday after plainclothed state police at the Montgomery Airport accosted two Negro HEW agents on Wallace's order and asked their business in Alabama.

The agents, Richard Fairley and Woodrow Bankhead, declined to answer questions when told they were not under arrest.

The officers made no effort to detain them, and Fairley and Bankhead boarded an airliner for Atlanta en route to Washington.

Before leaving, they told The Associated Press that they had been in Elmire County since Wednesday.

Wallace's prepared statement said his office had received a complaint from Elmore County School Supt. Ross McQueen "about harassment, intimidation and coercion being used" by the HEW agents.

The governor said state police are continuing an investigation of the complaint, and warned that interference would lead to arrest.

Wallace called the Elmore County incident "just another example of the tactics being used" by HEW under its school desegregation guidelines.

At Wallace's insistence the state legislature passed a law last month forbidding local school boards to formally comply with federal integration guidelines. Their constitutionality has been challenged in a suit now pending in federal court.

McQueen said he was contacted by the governor's office Friday and complained to his caller that Fairley and Bankhead "have had my office upset ever sinee they came."

"Hew's cut off our money — deferred, they called it — so why don't they leave us alone?" said McQueen. "If they'd just take our money and let me put the Negro children back in the Negro schools and let us alone, I'd be the happiest man in the world."

He said the school system was accepting Negro transfer applications to previously white schools, but some Negro pupils and their parents had asked for retransfers to predominantly Negro schools. McQueen said the HEW officials did not like that.

McQueen said he had also been asked by HEW about alleged segregation of luncheon tables at integrated schools.

"They're segregated, all right," said the superintendent. "When a Negro kid sits down at a table, all the white kids get up and leave."

Pope Plans Visit To Canada Fair

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has agreed to visit Canada next year during the Expo 67 World's Fair in Montreal, a reliable source in the Vatican said today.

No decision has been reached yet on the length of the pontiff's stay because the trip is still more than six months away, the source said.

Expo 67 has been scheduled from spring to fall 1967. It was believed the Pope would go in late spring or early summer provided no circumstances arise in the meantime to cause postponement or cancellation, according to the source.

Pope Paul was said to have given word about the Canadian trip to his apostolic delegate in Ottawa, Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli.

It would be Pope Paul's fourth trip outside Italy since he became pontiff in June 1963. He flew to the Holy Land in January 1964, making his first papal plane trip in history.

He visited India in December 1964 to attend a religious congress of Roman Catholics at Bombay.

On Oct. 4, 1964, he flew to New York to address the U.N. General Assembly.

United Fund Does Well In 'Holding Line' On Budget

The Scurry County United Fund has continued to "hold the line" for yet another year in its budget, and the efforts which have gone into planning this year's campaign for funds should be rewarded with success.

Our United Fund is a "voluntary" project virtually from stem to stern. A few years ago there was some criticism because part of the funds went to a professional fund-raiser who had been retained to organize and help promote the campaign. The "pro" was eliminated, which means that local business and professional leaders are devoting added hours of their time to actual campaign work. Thus, expenses of the campaign are being held to a bare minimum — nothing except essential supplies and some temporary clerical work that must be done on a full-time basis during the big push of the drive.

Some of those who felt that the fund should not allocate any of its money for a professional campaign director have responded by increasing their support since it became a purely local project. However, in some cases, those who complained apparently were only grasping for an excuse to sidestep any responsibility for supporting the agencies which depend on the United Fund for operational funds.

The budget of $27,500 for five local agencies, along with a small allocation to the Texas United Fund, appears more than reasonable at this time. It is true that other worthwhile agencies do not participate in the United Fund (most of them at their own discretion) and some of these will have fund-raising activities of their own at a later date.

But that situation can hardly be labeled a valid excuse for short-changing the five who have joined together in an effort to save time and expense for themselves and for workers.

New Car Showings Another Purely American Activity

The apple pie and baseball advocates have their influence, but something else that is uniquely American has just taken place again in our land.

We refer to the showing of the 1967 model automobiles, or to be more exact, the New Year's celebration of a giant motor car industry.

No matter if you have adequate or luxurious transportation already at home in your garage, there's something about the new models that always attracts spectators. For years, the showing of the new cars has been an annual event of great significance on the American scene. The automobile industry is one of the giants in our economy, and its fluctuations are felt all the way from the meeting room of the board of directors to the smallest local dealer.

But it's not the economy of the industry itself that causes the man on the street to quicken his pace and try to get around to see all of the new models. It's a show that probably more than any other single event reflects the American standard of living. After all, everybody knows a good car when he sees one. If you don't believe it, just ask any of us and we've probably got a favorite, just like football and baseball teams.

Says Troops Should Be Recognized

DALLAS (AP)— A Columbia Broadcasting system newsman said Friday that the United States should acknowledge the presence of 2,000 American troops in Laos.

Other American units are also in Cambodia, but any GIs killed there are listed as Viet Nam casualties, Dan Rather told the 14th Southwest Journalism Forum.

Rather, who recently returned from Viet Nam, said that on the whole he was no criticism of the government's role in the handling of news about Viet Nam.

"The American people are being told enough about what's going on in Viet Nam," he said.

The CBS correspondent was the principal speaker at the forum luncheon sponsored by the Press Club of Dallas Foundation and the journalism department of Southern Methodist University. Nearly 1,000 high school and college journalism student from North Central Texas attended the day-long meeting.

Rather received one of the six awards for oustanding journalism by the Southwest Journalism Forum at the luncheon.

The other awards went to Warren Bosworth, Dallas Times Herald; Shel Hershorn, free lance photographer; William T. Rives, executive editor and vice president of the Denton Record-Chronicle; Kent Biffle, Dallas Morning News; and the WFAA-TV Doumentary Department.

Italian Doctors Begin Nationwide Strike

ROME (AP)—Italy's hospital doctors began a three-day nationwide strike today in their fight against the state-run medical insurance system.

The doctors said emergency treatment would be assured in all city and state hospitals. The strikers included anesthesiologists.

For years the doctors have been trying to get insurance companies to revise schedules and payment rates.

Oilmen Report Gloomy Outlook

HOUSTON (AP) — The chairman of the National Petroleum Council says the reaction of the Council of Economic Advisors to recent upward adjustments in crude oil prices seems ridiculous.

Jake L. Hamon of Dallas, Tex., was one of several independent oil operators, who checked industry trends this week and reported a gloomy outlook.

Hamon told the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors ominous signs the past month are offsetting trends that had shown promise of relieving the depressed conditions faced by drilling contractors and independent oil operators.

Just 48 hours earlier the executive committee of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association had met in Houston and reported that the prolonged decline in drilling programs could lead to supply shortages, particularly if the Viet Nam war continues on a broadening scale.

Hamon and the Texas Association have had their differences in recent months but both plugged this week for maximum restoration of crude prices that declined sharply between 1956 and 1965.

Crude prices averaged about $3.16 a barrel in 1956; when the industry drilled a record 58,000 wells but dropped to $2.96 in 1965 when only 41,770 wells were completed. The drilling slump still is under way even though 1966 prices have cimbed gradually to a September average of $2.99.

Hamon said crude prices in Kansas were raised 8 cents a barrel but the Council of Economic Advisors stepped in and advised purchasing companies this was inflationary but that a 5-cent hike would be within the desired 3.3 per cent guide line.

"That to me seems ridiculous [illegible] pressure' put on the companies raised crude prices a nickel, and one rescinded its 8-cent raise and put it back to a nickel to bring it in line with federal policy," he said.

Hamon said there are other ominous signs.

"The import program, so well founded rumor has it, is to be liberalized to allow more imports to come in," he said. "The next step that can be taken, and mark my words, will be to increase offshore allowables in order to hold down crude prices."

Hamon resigned from the Texas association last year after the executive committee, seeking a way to reduce oil imports, flirted briefly with an idea that Congress be asked to eliminate or reduce the depletion tax allowance for oil produced overseas by American firms.

The committee backed away this week from a suggestion producers be allocated imports quotas as an incentive to stimulate exploration and drilling programs. Instead, the Texans called for a freeze of imports at their current level and suggested that Interior Department officials meet with industry representatives to "explore the most feasible approaches to restoration of more adequate exploratory and development drilling rates."

Hamon meanwhile expressed doubt the import quota plan would do the job.

"I don't see how such a program could be equitably administered without creating an immense bureaucracy to cope with all of the complexities such a program would entail," he said.

The petroleum council headed by Hamon serves in an advisory capacity to interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

Tear Gas Hospitalizes State Fair Audience

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Seven persons were hospitalized Friday night after tear gas was thrown at a performance of the all-Negro "Harlem Revue" at the Mississippi State Fair.

None was reported in serious condition.

The choking gas, either thrown through the entrance or freed under the edge of the tent, sent the audience and cast gasping to the exits. The fumes drifted along the entire midway and caused thousands to leave the amusement area.

No Wildcat Wells Completed This Week

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas oil wildcatters failed to turn up a single well during the past week, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

Gas wildcatters brought in seven wells—three in Dist. 7-B, two in Dist. 4 and one each in Dists. 1 and 8.

There were 104 oil wells completed during the week, raising the total for the year to 5,831, compared to 5,500 a year ago. A total of 48 gas wells were completed, raising the yearly total to 1,820, compared to 2,045 at this time in 1965.

The commission said 134 wells were plugged, including 76 dry holes.

Hussein Would Run Jordan Like He Runs Racing Cars

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan's King Hussein is trying to steer his country through Arab political and economic problems the way he steers his racing cars — by putting his foot down and staring ahead to the finish line.

The economic finish line is 1972, when Jordan hopes to complete a seven-year development program and stand on its own financial feet, with a minimum of U.S. aid. The political finishing line is nowhere in sight.

Hussein is currently locked in yet another political feud with socialist Arab neighbors, notably Syria and Egypt.

Both Syria and Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egypt denounce Hussein's conservative pro-Western regime. They accused Jorden of plotting a revolution against Syria. Cairo Radio beams programs urging Palestinians, who make up two-thirds of Jordan's population, to overthrow the king.

Hussein has given refuge to a band of rebel Syrian officers. He denies the charge of conspiring against Syria, but Prime Minister Wasfi Tell threatened to blast open Jordan's frontier with tanks if Syria tried to close the border.

The king contends that Nasser is "an instrument of Soviet policy," in a Communist bid for leadership in the Arab world.

Despite the clamor of propaganda, few Middle East observers expect the feud to go beyond the usual war of nerves between "revolutionary" Arab states and such moderate leaders as Hussein and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

Hussein gives the impression of shrugging off the current crisis, beyond expressing apprehension over Soviet penetration in the Middle East. To keep a tight grip on the steering wheel, his regime this year has arrested between 110 and 150 cell leaders accused of conspiring against Jordan.

The government's main concern appears to be economic.

With almost no resources except the holy sites of the Bible which attract tourists — including 4,000 Americans every month — Jordan's budget relies heavily on U.S. aid with small contributions from Britain. This is the only country except Viet Nam which gets outright budget support from the United States. The amount has been gradually reduced from $45 million to slightly under $30 million a year.

To protest a proposed cut of another $5 million next year, Finance Minister Izeddin Mufti recently was quoted as saying Jordan was prepared to accept aid from any source, including the Communist bloc.

No Communist aid projects have ever been mounted in Jordan, however, and American officials privately doubt that Jordan seriously considers East bloc assistance. To offset its cut in budget support, the U.S. aid program has prepared increased development loans for Jordan, with $35 million set aside for such projects as roads, electrification and development of a potash industry on the dead sea.

Dirksen Gives Merger A Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed merger of the American and National Football Leagues, seemingly stopped at the 50-yard line, moved to within inches of the goal line today on an end run by a wily legislative veteran, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen attached an amendment to legalize the merger onto a much-amended bill to suspend the 7 per cent investment credit tax, which the senate passed by voice vote Friday.

The bill, a "must" on President Johnson's program, now goes back to the House but not to the Judiciary Committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who has held up approval of similar Senate legislation exempting the proposed merger from antitrust laws.

Chances are bright for the football rider amendment because the legislation will go to a conference committee, probably on Monday, with the House conferees coming from the Ways and Means committee.

A high-ranking member of Ways and Means is Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., the acting House majority leader. Boggs is in a stiff re-election campaign and the football merger is a popular issue in his home city of New Orleans, which hopes for a franchise in the combined league.

Dirksen's tactics Friday will enable the bill to bypass Celler's committee. Acceptance by the House and Senate of the rport on th compromise bill is all that is needed for passage.

The bill that would give limited antitrust exemption for the merger and result in a championship game between the National and American leagues next January appeared doomed Thursday.

Cellar had said action on the measure this session was unlikely because Congress hopes to adjourn Oct. 22. Several witnesses still were to be heard by his committee.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has said he would recommend that the merger be called off if it was not given congressional approval.

Dirksen was able to maneuver the new bill past the Celler comissions and attach it as a rider to the tax bill because, he said, it provided certain provisions for the professional football clubs.

The Republican senator said the amendment would provide special tax treatment for four charity professional football games.

Dirksen also said several teams are in precarious financial condition because of salary commitments made during the recent warfare between the leagues. He did not identify th four teams.

NEW YORK (AP) — Air Whirl, a 3-year-old filly, won her seventh straight by taking the $6,500 allowance sixth race at Aqueduct Friday.

Snead Takes Lead

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Veteran Sam Snead took the first round lead Friday in the West Virginia State Open Golf Cahmpionship with a three-under-par 67.

Torres Is Confident Of Winning

SAN JUAN, PR. (AP) — Jose Torres is supremely confident of retaining his world's lightheavyweight championship tonight in his 15-round title bout against challenger Chic Calderwood of Glasgow, Scotland.

"I'll win," said Torres without any ifs or buts. A native-born Puerto Rican who now lives in New York, Torres wants to impress the home folks.

Calderwood isn't making any prediction. "Let's see what happens in the fight," is all the challenger said.

It will be the third title defense for the 30-year-old Torrs since he won the crown from Willie Pastrano in March, 1965. He gained a controversial decision over the veteran Eddie Cotton of Seattle, Wash., in his last defense, making his over-all record 38-1-1. He won an easy unanimous decision over Wayne Thornton of Fresno, Calif., in his first defense.

The 29-year-old Calderwood, who like Torres sparred more than 100 rounds in training, has a 47-5-1 record. He is ranked No. 1 challenger by Ring Magazine and fought Piero Del Papa in Italy for the European title last summer. The bout was called in the sixth round because of rain, with no decision.

Oilers Go Against Jets In Crucial Tilt

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It may be too early in the season to call a game crucial but the situation in the Eastern Division of the American Football League could become critical for every club except New York unless Houston upsets the Jets Sunday.

The Jets, 52-13 conquerors of Houston on Sept. 18 and 17-16 victors over San Diego last week, are the only unbeaten team in the AFL with a 4-0-1 record. They are trailed in the East by Boston, 2-2-1, Buffalo, 3-3, Houston 2-3, and Miami, 0-5.

Buffalo the defending AFL champion, plays host to San Diego, 4-1, and if both the Bills and Houston are whipped they may be virtually written off with four defeats each.

In the other games Sunday, Oakland, 2-2, plays at Kansas City, 4-1, and Denver, 1-4, journeys to Miami, 0-4. Boston, 2-2-1, which tied New York 24-24 at Boston two weeks ago is idle this week. The Patriots will be rooting for Houston to shoot down the Jets.

The Jets, off their runaway victory, are favored by 4½ points over the Oilers, who were idle and recuperating last week.

"It's a tough game," said Weeb Ewbank, coach of the Jets. "They may be a little mad about what we did to them last time."

In addition to beating them on the scoreboard, the Jets beat them physically. Defensive end Don Floyd suffered a broken hand, defensive back Al Trammell was carried off with a broken ankle and linebacker Dan Brabham reinjured his back.

Houston's main job is trying to stop Joe Namath, who has received tremendous blocking support and hasn't been held in check yet. The poised quarterback threw five touchdown passes against the Oilers the first time. Veteran George Blanda has hit on 13 TD passes, four more than Namath, but also has been intercepted 13 times, four more than Namath. Blanda and Kansas City's Len Dawson are co-leaders with their 13 touchdown passes.

Buffalo has a double incentive against San Diego. The Bills were walloped 27-7 by the Chargers in the season opener and they'rs seeking revenge. They also know a loss combined with a New York win could spell disaster. The game is rated pick 'em.

If Buffalo knocks off the Chargers, Kansas City could take over undisputed possession of first place in the West by beating Oakland. The Chiefs, impressive on the passing of Dawson and the running of Bert Coan and rookie flash Mike Garrett, are 14-point favorites.

Miami has been improving weekly but the Dolphins still are rated 6½ point underdogs to Denver in the Florida resort city. Tobin Rote, the former All-AFL quarterback who came out of retirement for Denver, may see more action this week.

He completed two of six passes in his seasonal debut, a 37-10 loss to Kansas City. Miami's George Wilson, Jr., had his best day, going 11 for 19 in a tough 21-10 defeat by Oakland last Sunday.

Top Teams Still Winning

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The top rated teams came through as expected but the carnage was fierce among the undefeated, untied teams in a thunderous round of Texas schoolboy football Friday night.

With practically every game counting in the district standings, the competition was the toughest of the season. Thirteen fell out of the unbeaten, untied list, leaving a bare 54 in the four divisions that play to state championships.

Most of the upsets were in the lower divisions.

Class AAAA, where No. 1 rated San Angelo whipped Midland Lee 21-6 to hold its place, had only a dozen undefeated, untied teams left when Austin Reagan fell to Austin Travis 28-21. Two of those have games tonight that might cut the perfect record list further.

San Angelo, Abilene Cooper, Amarillo Tascosa, Fort Worth Arlington Sam Houston, Galena Park, Nederland, San Antonio Brackenridge, Austin McCallum, Alice, San Antonio MacArthur and San Antonio Harlandale remain with unsullied records.

Tascosa plays Amarillo Caprock tonight, with prospects of keeping its place, while Brackenridge meets San Antonio Marshall, also favored to win.

Class AAA also lost only one team — Carthage, which took a 6-0 whaling from Palestine. San Marcos came close to it, barely edging Lockhart 7-2. Otherwise the unbeaten and untied sailed along.

McKinney, the No. 1 team in Class AAA, had the fight of its life staying unbeaten and untied, the Lions nosed stubborn Sulphur Springs 7-0. No. 2 Bridge City clubbed Cleveland 42-0. No. 3 Dumas had an open date.

Unbeaten and untied in Class AAA are Hereford, Vernon, McKinney, Gainesville, Angleton, Channelview, San Marcos, Robstown, Del Rio, Uvalde and Mission.

Eight teams fell in Class AA —Abernathy, Fabens, DeSoto, Chapel Hill, Hearne, Bastrop, Del Rio San Felipe and Bishop, the latter by ineligibility.

Bishop forfeited five games for using a player who had violated the 10-semester rule and thus fell from the list, but it started another streak Friday night, lashing Gregory-Portland 35-0.

Left unbeaten and untied in AA are Iowa Park, Granbury, Jacksboro, Hillsboro, West Hooks, Atlanta, Grand Saline, Mineola, Crockett, Hardin-Jefferson, Anahuac, Sweeny, Ganado, San Antonio Randolph.

Rankin, Archer City and James Bowie took the plunge in Class A and that left 14 unbeaten, untied teams — White Deer, Sudan, Spur, Sonora, Crowell, Forney, Van Alstyne, Honey Grove, Hallsville, Garrison, Troy, Barbers Hill, Sabine and Tahoka.

Forney, the No. 1 rated team, crumbled Joshua 40-0.

Only two teams among the top 10 took lickings. Lockhart, No. 8 in Class AAA, lost to San Marcos, the No. 7 outfit, Bellville, No. 10 in Class AA, was beaten 6-0 by unrated Klein.

Lafayette College, coached in football for the fourth season by Ken Bunn, has 24 lettermen on its squad.

West Coast UCLA Can "Sew Up Eastern Title"

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA, still a half season away from posting a second straight college football title in the West, can wrap up the Eastern crown tonight.

The unbeaten and fourth-ranked Bruins, led by versatile quarterback Gary Beban, host Penn State tonight and are expected to make the Nittany Lions their fifth victim over-all and third from the East.

UCLA got off to a fast start in its attack on the East, annihilating Pitt 57-14 and Syracuse 31-12 in its first two games of the season. Now Penn State remains between the Bruins and a perfect season against the other side of the country.

Ready to face the Lions is Beban, the junior whiz who is third in the nation in total offense. In four games he's completed 55 per cent of his passes for 720 yards and rushed for 212 more, giving him a total of 932.

In a successful effort to even its record at 2-2 last week, the lions weakened their defensive secondary to strengthen their offensive backfield. Coach Joe Paterno switched Tom Sherman to quarterback and Mike Irwin to tailback.

Will he move them back to the defensive side of the line in an attempt to halt Beban?

"I don't know," Paterno said. "Those boys will probably have to play both ways. I'm sure of one thing. The game should give us an opportunity to practice our pass defense."

Georgia's pass defense was tough in two spots but failed in another, and that helped send the Bulldogs down to a 7-6 defeat to Miami, Fla., Friday night.

The Bulldogs intercepted two Miami passes, but Bill Miller completed an 11-yard pass to Jerry Daanen to the Georgia four in the third quarter, and Doug McGee scored seconds later from the one. Ray Harris then kicked the extra point for the winning margin.

Arizona State University upset Brigham Young 10-7 in another Friday night game.

In three of today's key games, top-ranked Michigan State was at Ohio State, Notre Dame, No. 2, hosted North Carolina and third-ranked Alabama visited Tennessee. Other games involving the Top Ten had fifth-ranked Southern California at Stanford; Kansas State at Nebraska, No. 6; Georgia Tech, No. 7, against Auburn; eighth-ranked Florida at North Carolina State and Purdue, No. 9, at Michigan.

Unbeaten Michigan State was seeking its fifth victory against an Ohio State team that weaker than usual this season.

Terry Hanratty and Jim Seymour were expected to pass and catch Notre Dame to its fourth victory without a defeat.

Alabama, however, had to expect a tough time in its attempts to win No. 4. In its first three games Tennessee allowed just nine points, all on field goals.

Other games on the schedule included Syracuse at Boston College, Navy at Pitt, Army at Rutgers, Iowa at Minnesota, Northwestern at Wisconsin, Illinois at Indiana, Duke at Clemson, Oklahoma State at Missouri, Arkansas at Texas, Rice at Southern Methodist, Oklahoma at Kansas, Colorado State University at Utah State, Texas Christian at Texas A&M, Louisiana State at Kentucky, West Virginia at Maryland and California at Washington.

Bengals Blast Levelland, 31-0

Tavarez Gets Three TD's

With hopes still high for at least a share of the District 3-AAA grid crown, the Snyder Tigers thumped, thwarted and whacked Levelland's Lobos, 31-0, here Friday night.

The win boosts the Tiger season mark to 3-3 while Levelland fell to 2-3-1. Each team now is 1-1 within the family circle.

Fullback Mario Tavarez turned in one of the most impressive performances ever registered by a uniformed Tiger Friday night as he romped and stomped for 202 yards on 15 carries. He made a shambles of the Lobo defense in the third quarter with three touchdowns that parlayed the Bengal margin at halftime from 10 to 31 by the beginning of the final stanza.

At that point, Coach Keith Miles called off the wild animals while the substitutes gained valuable experience.

Snyder scored the first time it got possession of the pigskin, marching 62 yards in nine plays. Tavarez set it up with a 43-yard ramble to the Lobo 19. Tailback Curtis Clay, benefitting from some smooth faking swept right end from the seven for the TD with 5:58 gleaming on the timepiece. End Frankie Grimmett added the first of three successful conversion kicks.

Grimmett booted a field goal with Rob Golden holding at the 12 with 8:43 remaining in the second period. Frankie booted at an angle, but the ball sailed through the uprights. Bowden set up the goal with an interception at the Lobo 38, which he returned to the 27. The Bengals drove on down to a 1st and goal situation at the seven, but couldn't muster a scoring punch and elected to go for the kick.

The Tigers marched into field goal position in the first quarter, moving from their 41 to the Lobo 17. But Frankie never got a chance at it, as Golden hastily pulled the ball from position at the 23 and tried to leg it with a pack of defenders at his heels. It was perhaps the best defensive play of the night for the visitors.

Tavarez shot over left guard from his 42 in the third period, then cut back to the right and raced into the south end zone for his first TD. About three minutes later, the Senior 166-pounder knifed over left guard from the three for his second tally.

Bowden set up the second one with a stirring 56-yard burst to the three. He slipped through the middle and cut to the east sidelines. The safety bumped him out of bounds.

Tavarez played his blockers perfectly on his third TD run. It occurred with 4:24 remaining in the third quarter, and it spanned 44 yards. He simply charged up the middle and took full advantage of some great downfield blocking.

The reserves almost scored in the final quarter after Joe Breeden and Forrest Wemken blocked a punt with Wemken covering it at the Lobo eight. Less than two minutes showed on the clock, and the Lobo defenders held.

Mickey Almond did a creditable job of guiding the offense as understudy to Bowden, and Mitch Rambin did a great job on kick-offs.

Grimmett and Bowden were outstanding on defense for the Tigers. So stout was the Bengal primary that Levelland was never able to get past the Tiger 42.

Hobbs Toppled By Weinert 18-14

WEINERT — The walls came crashing down on the Hobbs Panthers here Friday night as they were toppled from the undefeated ranks by the Weinert Bulldogs, 18-14. Weinert is now unbeaten after 5 contests.

The Panthers just may have been looking forward to next week's important district clash with the Ira Bulldogs, as they seemed to be playing below their calibre, juggling and fumbling the ball and hit by a rash of penalties.

The game was close all the way as the host Bulldogs had to come from behind in the final quarter to win. Defense outshone the offense throughout the contest.

Hobbs took the lead in the opening frame when Kenny Martinez intercepted a Weinert pass and ran 27 yards for the TD. The kick-for-points failed but the Panthers had a 6-0 lead.

Weinert tied it up in the 2nd period on a 9-yard run by Danny Stewart. After an unsuccessful point-after attempt, the two teams were knotted at 6-all, and that was the way it stood at halftime.

The Panthers again went out in front late in the 3rd quarter on a 25-yard run by Kenny Martinez. This time Loren Pearce kicked for 2 points and a 14-6 lead for the visitors.

Before the 3rd frame ended Weinert narrowed the gap to 14-12 on a pass from Stewart to Cecil Davis. The play covered 24 yards. The important try-for-point was no good and Hobbs hung on to a 2-point margin.

The Bulldogs scored the winning touchdown about mid-way of the final period on a miscue by the Panthers. A Hobbs fumble back on its 9-yard line gave the hosts the ball and an excellent opportunity. Two plays later Stewart hit Jimmy Sanchez with the touchdown pass. Although the points failed, Weinert was ahead 18 - 14.

The Panthers did not give up as they drove from their own 15 to the 30 in the Bulldog end of the field where they had the ball when time ran out. The going was slow because a strong head wind hurt the Panther passing game and they had to ground it out a few yards at a time.

The game next week with Ira will be homecoming for Hobbs. The contest is set for 7:30 Saturday night.

Judge Says Clay Fight Was Legal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The fight Cassius Clay won the heavyweight boxing championship from Sonny Liston was little more than an exhibition — an "entente cordiale" and not a "pugilistic fight."

This was the verdict Friday of Judge John M. Wisdom of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. It was a victory for Inter-Continental Promotions, which was guaranteed $600,000 for rights to the Feb. 25, 1964, fight at Miami Beach.

The boxoffice draw was only $225,000. Inter-Continental received that and sued William B. MacDonald Jr., the promoter, and the New Amsterdam Casualty Co., bonder of the fight, for the rest.

Liston gave up his title while sitting on a stool when the bell rang for the seventh round. Liston said he had injured his left shoulder.

In lower courts, MacDonald and the bonding company argued that an 1895 Florida law made it a felony to promote prize fights in the state unless sponsored by an exempted charitable organization. The lower courts agreed and Inter-Continental appealed.

In his ruling, Judge Wisdom referred to a Florida law forbidding pugilistic fighting, such as bare knuckle contests.

"The last pugilistic fight in this country was in 1889 when John L. Sullivan, the Boston strong boy, won the heavyweight championship by knocking out Jake Kilrain in a clandestine match in Richburg, Miss., after 75 rounds and 2 hours and 16 minutes of fighting under the London rules," the judge said.

In this sense, said Wisdom, Clay's bout with Liston was only a boxing exhibition and therefore was legal.

"Therefore," the judge said, "the defendants should not be allowed to escape from a bad bargain."

Harness Racer Sets Driving Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Billy Haughton, one of harness racing's all-time top drivers, set a record Friday night by capturing his sixth straight stakes race at Liberty Bell Park Harness Track.

Haughton became the first driver to win all the grand circuit harness features in a single week. He drove Carlisle, a 3-year-old trotter Friday night.

Cards May Need More Time Against Cowboys

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, who insist they're a 60-minute club but keep doing the job in half an hour, should have little time to spare when they tackle supercharged Dallas Sunday in a National Football League showdown.

A capacity crowd of 50,000 — largest ever for a pro football game in St. Louis — is expected to watch the Cardinals and Cowboys, only unbeaten NFL teams, tangle in a pivotal Eastern Conference test.

St. Louis leads the East with a 5-0 record, with Dallas one-half game back at 4-0. But, while the Cardinals have come from behind four times in the second half, the Cowboys, led by quarterback Don Meredith, have breezed along, rolling up an average of just under 46 points per game.

"We're a 60-minute ball club," Larry Wilson, the Cardinals' aggressive defensive back, said before last Sunday's game against New York. Then the Cardinals, behind 13-0 at halftime, staged a furious second half rally for a 24-19 nod over the winless Giants. St. Louis has outscored its opponents 101-16 after intermission.

"Things happen to us in the first half, but we keep coming," said Charlie Winner, St. Louis' first-year coach. "We will have to be consistent to beat the Cowboys. They're the finest football team I've seen in a long time."

Meredith leads the NFL in passing, has thrown for 14 touchdowns and has not been intercepted in his last 12 games. Bob Hayes, his swiftest receiver, has caught seven touchdown passes, and halfback Dan Reeves is the league's top scorer with eight TDs — five via passes.

Charlie Johnonson, the Cardinals' passer, also has excellent receivers in Jackie Smith, Bobby Joe Conrad, Billy Gambrell and Sonny Randle. Rookie Johnny Roland adds punch to the St. Louis running game and leads the league in punt returns.

Sunday's key game in the Western Conference pits defending champion Gren Bay, upset by San Francisco last weekend, against the resurgent Chicago Bears at Chicago. The Packers share the Western lead with the Los Angeles Rams at 4-1. Chicago dropped its first two starts but has rebounded with victories over Minnesota and Baltimore.

Elsewhere, the Rams invade Minnesota, 0-3-1; the Colts, 2-2, entertain Detroit, 2-3; San Francisco, 1-2-1; is at Atlanta, 0-5; Philadelphia, 2-3, at Pittsburgh, 1-3-1, and Washington, 3-2, at New York 0-4-1

In the American Football League, New York plays at Houston, San Diego is at Buffalo, Oakland at Kansas City and Denver at Miami

The Rams, off to their best start since 1955 under new coach George Allen, are slim favorites over the thus-far disappointing Vikings. Dick Bass of Los Angeles rambled for 137 yards in last Sunday's 14-7 victory over Detroit and moved into the No. 2 spot among NFL ground-gainers.

Detroit may unveil a new kicking specialist, 22-year-old Cypriot Garo Ypremian, against the Colts and Johnny Unitas. Ypremian, a British subject visiting the United States, impressed Lion coaches with his left-footed, soccer-style kicks in tryouts this week and was added to the roster.

Atlanta, still looking for its first NFL victory, pins its hopes on quarterback Dennis Claridge, who hit on 11 of 19 pass attempts against Washington in his first start last Sunday. The Falcons hope to duplicate a 24-17 pre-season decision over the 49ers, who surprised Green Bay last week as George Mira threw for two scores.

Both the Eagles, who have lost two straight, and the Steelers, who have dropped three in a row, need a victory to remain in contention in the Eastern race.

Elks Defeat Gail 28-22

COTTON CENTER — The Gail Coyotes won the second half here Friday night, but the Cotton Center Elks won the 8-man contest 28-22. It was the last non-district game for the Coyotes, who will begin district competition next Friday night when they travel to Flower Grove.

The Elks dominated the first half, racking up 12 first downs to only one for the visitors, and had a 20-8 lead at the halftime intermission. Pat Williams scored a TD in the first quarter on a 4-yard run, and tallied again in the 2nd on another 4-yarder. He also passed for a 2nd quarter score, to Donald Barrett for 20 yards. This same combination gave Cotton Center a 2-point conversion after the first score.

Gail tallied once in the 2nd period, on a pass from Don Nunnally to Tony Isaacs good for 65 yards. Nunnally ran for the two points.

The Elks stretched their lead to 26-8 in the 3rd frame on another pass from Williams to Barrett, good for 30 yards. Oscar Esqueda then ran for the 2 points and a 28-8 lead for Cotton Center.

It was Gail the rest of the way. While still in the 3rd quarter Isaacs scored from 7 yards out and Nunnally ran for the 2 points, narrowing the gap to 28-16 at the end of the period.

The Coyotes tallied again about midway of the final stanza when David Lansford carried it the final two yards. The try for points was unsuccessful. Gail threatened one more time with what could have been the go-ahead TD, but the Elks held and the ball went over on downs.

Cards Sing Grid Victory Tune, 18-0

HERMLEIGH — The Cardinals sang an 18 - 0 victory tune here Friday night following a District 4-B encounter with the Jayton Jaybirds.

Quarterback Tom Chorn sparked the Cardinal attack, scoring in the first quarter on a 12-yard sweep of right end and in the fourth quarter on a two-yard keeper. The first TD capped a 63 yard drive, and the second one followed a march of 40 yards.

Tailback Mike Peterson struck over right tackle from four yards out in the second stanza to climax a 65 yard

None of the trys for conversion points was successful.

Next week, Hermleigh will visit Bronte for a clash with the district favorites.

SMU Colts Edge Rice Frosh 17-14

HOUSTON (AP) — 'Bicky Lesser's 27-yard field goal made the difference for the SMU Colts Friday night in their 17-14 freshman football victory over the Rice Owlets.

SMU quarterback Chuck Hixson's five-yard pass to John Jordan gave the Colts their first touchdown. Hixon ran the second one himself later in the first period.

Lesser kicked the point after both scores and then booted his field goal with five minutes left in the first half.

The Owlets rallied in the third period with fullback Conley's one-yard scoring plunge and a 25-yard touchdown pass from Dennis Alexander to Dickie Phillips, with Conley running the points after.

John Bridgers is in his eighth season as Baylor's football coach.

Celtics Favored To Win Another

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics raise the National Basketball Association championship flag for the eighth straight year and then launch a bid for another title tonight as the league opens its 21st season with all 10 teams in action.

Apparently stronger than ever with the acquisition of veterans Bailey Howell and Wayne Embry and a couple of standout rookies, the Celtics kick off the campaign against the San Francisco Warriors at the Garden.

Bill Russell, whose arrival from the University of San Francisco and the U.S. Olympic squad started the Boston dynasty a decade ago, will make his debut as player-coach.

Red Auerbach, who coached the Celtics to championships in nine of the past 10 years before turning over the reigns to Russell last spring, will chew his cigar—and probably chew out the officials—from a seat in the stands for the first time in 20 years. Auerbach gave up coaching to devote full time to duties as general manager.

The Celtics bolstered themselves where they needed it most last month in obtaining Howell, one of the league's top cornermen, from Baltimore and Embry, a big, rugged center, from Cincinnati. Embry, due to spell Russell, is nursing a pulled muscle and may not see action against San Francisco.

Also ready to give a helping hand are rookies Jim Barnett, a top draft choice from Oregon; Toby Kimball, former Connecticut star who played in Italy last year, and Ron Watts, who starred at Wake Forest before spending his first pro season as a member of the Boston taxi squad last season. Watts won the 12th spot as the Celtics got down to the player limit Friday night by asking waivers on veteran Art Heyman.

San Francisco will make its debut under new coach Bill Sharman, a former Boston star whose Celtics' No. 21 will be retired with Tom Heinsohn's No. 1 before the game.

Other new coaches are Mike Farmer, whose Baltimore Bullets will open at home against the Los Angeles Lakers, and former NBA star John Kerr, whose Chicago Bulls will launch their first year in the league at St. Louis.

Philadelphia, coached by Alex Hannum, who led the Warriors last season, will open at home against New York, while Detroit invades Cincinnati.

HEAVE HO — Reserve quarterback Mickey Almond is shown back to pass in the Snyder-Levelland game that was unreeled in Tiger Stadium Friday night. Blocking for him is sophomore Mitch Rambin, who was brought up from the B Team last week. (Photo by John Schiebel.)

WOULD YOU BELIEVE?

Repetitive Pun Is Nothing New

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Sorry about that." "Would you believe?" If you haven't heard or read these expressions, there's a good chance that you are either a Basque sheepherder or a Trappist monk.

Most other citiens use or encounter the phrases with unnerving regularity They gained currency through the television series "Get Smart," on which they are uttered by the all-thumbs spy played by comic Don Adams. Thus he carries on what has long been a tradition in radio and television comedy: the repetitive punchline.

The man responsible for promulgating "Sorry about that" and "Would you believe?" on the American public is the executive producer of "Get Smart," Leonard Stern.

"The comedy catch phrase can be enormously advantageous in achieving publicity," theorized Stern. "You see them and hear them everywhere."

Some comics shy away from trademark sayings, fearing they themselves will fade when the sayings do. They cite George Gobel and his "Well, I'll be a dirty bird," and "You can't hardly get them no more."

"The dangers are minimal if the phrase is not abused," counters Stern.

Just in case the current pair of sayings go stale, Stern has two more warming in the bullpen: "Missed it by that much" and "Hope I'm not out of line."

Here's a bit of a quiz to test how well you remember such punchlines of the past. If you can guess who originated all 10, it proves one thing: you have devoted a lot of time to radio and television:

1. "That's a joke, son."
2. "Va va va vroom!"
3. "Wanna buy a duck?"
4. "I dood it."
5. "Coming, mother."
6. "I'm a ba-a-ad boy."
7. "That's what I keep telling them down at the office."
8. "Hi-ho, Steverino."
9. "So help me, I'll mow you down."
10. " 'Tain't funny, McGee."

1. Kenney Delmar as Sen. Claghorn with Fred Allen; 2. Art Carney on "The Honeymooners"; 3. Joe Penner; 4. Red Skelton; 5. Ezra Stone as Henry Aldrich; 6. Lou Costello; 7. Jerry Colonna on the Bob Hope show; 8. Louis Nye as Gordon Hathaway on the Steve Allen show; 9. Charlie McCarthy; 10. Marian Jordan on "Fibber McGee and Molly."

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

Mexico City — Every day is a rosy day at the banks. Deposits are climbing and the Bank Man is a happy person.

My deposit does not climb. It barely hangs on by a thread so bank happiness with me is relative.

The system here is a curious one for the visiting tourist. He is acustomed to walking into the bank up home. Marching to the teller and presenting a check.

The teller slides the check in a drawer and hands the client his cash.

End of transaction.

Not so in Mexico. The bank system is as confusing to us as something handed down by Ali Baba.

You go into a bank to cash a personal check and it is like passing a law in the U. S. Senate.

"I am from Groaning Oaks, California," you say to the teller, "and would like to cash a check on my bank there for fifty dollars."

The teller gives you a look like he is about to press the Judas button and points to a gentleman down the counter. You tell your story to the man down the counter.

He takes you to the assistant manager who listens to it again. Could he see the check, please? He could indeed. And he studies it carefully and then confers with the manger.

You are called over to tell your story again to the manager. He suggests you go to another bank. Or cash it at your hotel. And you take out a string of credit cards to show him.

He studies each one carefully. Asks to see your tourist card. Wants to inspect the checkbook. Asks who the president of your bank is.

And after a while calls the assistant manager over. They confer and the manager puts his initials on your check. You then take it to the gentleman at the counter.

He inspects the check carefully and puts it in a basket, handing you a numbered slip. You wait at — Jaw No. 5 while your check goes to several desks for inspection.

And finally it is dropped in the basket at No. 5 and the teller wants to know how much you are collecting.

"Fifty dollars," you say. "In pesos, please."

The teller uses a yard of paper on the adding machine recording the transaction and after only forty five minutes you collect.

Of course if you have an account in the bank it is fairly simple. You hand your check to the gentleman at the counter. He checks it against the balance sheet and then hands it to another gentleman who puts his initials on it. And a boy picks it up and takes it to the teller who reluctantly parts with the cash.

So there was this lady making a deposit with check in my bank the other day when I dropped in for some lunch money. The teller came to a check and studied it cautiously. Turned to a gentleman and confered on the matter with him.

The gentleman took it to a lady at a desk who took it to a gentleman at another desk. And everyone crowded around to view the check. After fifteen minutes someone initialed it.

The check came back down the line and everyone contemplated it and nodded approval. The teller got it again and finished the deposit. And everyone seemed satisfied and perfectly happy. Except me. I am still confused.

Enriquez Trial Is Recessed

By PAUL RECER

KARNES CITY, Tex. (AP)— The murder trial of Johnny Rudy Enriquez was recessed for the weekend Friday after the state presented witnesses who told of five persons being shot to death during a single day last April.

The 19-year-old Corpus Christi youth has been indicted on charges of murder in all five slayings but is being tried here for the slaying of Mrs. Kay Foss, a 21-year-old Beeville housewife.

During two days of testimony the state presented witnesses who told of the shootings of Enriquez' girl friend, Victoria Perez, 21; her brother, Frederico Perez, 24; her father, Francisco Perez, 65; Mrs. Foss; and state highway patrolman Darvin Hogg.

Enriquez pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. The state is seeking the death penalty.

The Corpus Christi youth was arrested in Cuero April 25, the same day the five persons were shot to death. Officers said he was wearing women's clothing and makeup when in custody.

One of the state witnesses Friday afternoon, Mrs. Concepcion Sanchez of Dallas, testified that Enriquez, armed with a gun, forced his way into a car in which she, her husband and her mother were driving north of Stockdale on April 25.

Mrs. Sanchez said that Enriquez forced them to drive to Cuero where he ordered her husband to buy lipstick and women's clothing for him.

She said Enriquez was driving a yellow car when he commandeered the Sanchez car.

Waves driven by hurricane winds have enormous erosive power. In five or six hours, a severe storm can completely wash away miles of sand dunes 10 to 20 feet high and 100 feet wide at the base.

Few Are Using New TV Writers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It may be a sign of things to come that, for the first time in memory, the three major television networks are interested in, if not exactly soliciting, manuscripts by unknown writers.

The change of attitude stems from what is being referred to as TV's "cultural explosion" — excursions into dramatic productions which range from the works of established playwrights to frank experimentation.

Interest in unknowns — unpublished writers without a list of "credits" — was greeted with a certain amount of cynicism by insiders. It has been almost routine for a producer, eager for publicity, to proclaim television's "crying need for new faces with fresh ideas."

Each time such a pronouncement came along, unsung writers all over the country hopefully sent manuscripts along to networks. This was followed by bitter disillusionment when the manuscripts were returned unopened.

Currently, however, the traffic in manuscripts at all three networks is unusually large. CBS is really scouting fresh ideas for its "CBS Playhouse" which is expected to arrive in February. NBC expects to devote some Sunday afternoon time later this season for experimentation in various sorts of drama. ABC has its "Stage 67," already off to a season's start.

At this writing, however, no gold has been found in unsolicited material. Closest has been the signing of four young writers without commercial television experience for some "CBS Playhouse" productions. But all have extensive writing credits, two have had off-Broadway productions and one, some success as a playwright in his native Italy.

Thomas McAvity, who heads NBC's Sunday afternoon project, admitted "we've been getting jillions of unsolicited manuscripts." Barbara Schultz, "CBS Playhouse" editorial head, said hundreds have been flowing in there.

Hubbell Robinson, executive producer of ABC's "Stage 67," said that, possibly because the series was using big writing names, only about 50 or 60 people had sent in unsolicited material.

The reason manuscripts are returned unopened is a legal one. Should the author of a drama, returned with a routine rejection note, later see something like his plot on the screen he might cry plagiarism and race to his lawyer's office. The networks will open only those manuscripts accompanied by a legal release.

"But all manuscripts submitted in proper form are read and processed" said Miss Schultz.

Most unsolicited material arrives in the form of plays written for the stage.

"The form of television is different and hard for new writers," she said. "The play form is simpler, and most of them just don't understand building around the commercial breaks."

Some hopefuls submit short stories. Others write outlines in all sorts of forms, and still others just want to sit down with someone and tell them their wonderful ideas. One sent in an eight-year-diary with a note suggesting it could be adapted into something very exciting. Unfortunately, just about everything sent in proves unusable.

But the mere fact that network personnel are reading manuscripts is a step forward. A few seasons back, the best advice for the hopeful was to get a job — any job — in a network, try to make some friends on the inside who would read his work or, better, pass it along to someone in authority who would.

Cabin Yields Bogus Bills

TAFT, Calif. (AP) — U.S. Treasury agents found $500,000 in counterfeit bills Friday in a mountain cabin south of Taft after three men appeared in court on counterfeit charges.

The cabin also contained enough sheets of partially printed paper to make an additional $500,000, said Stephen A. Byrne, treasury agent in Sacramento.

Robert Brown Rothey, 46, a civil engineer; Jerry Allen Fields, 30, a printing press operator, and Henry Leroy Houts, 41, a welder, were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner William Hulsey in Bakersfield and released on $2,500 bail each.

Rothey and Fields, both of Las Vegas, Nev., were charged with counterfeiting the bogus $20 bills. Houts of Taft was charged with conspiracy.

"Their cabin was a perfect setup for making counterfeit money," Byrne said. "As for the bills, they're pretty good too."

BIG YAM TOO LATE FOR FAIR

M. H. Boulware of Fluvanna figures he just missed having an unusual exhibit at the Scurry County Fair.

Early the past week, just after the fair closed, Boulware discovered a four-pound sweet potato among the yield from a few rows he had planted for family use. The huge yam was 11 inches long and 13½ inches in circumference.

There was another tuber which weighed 3½ pounds and many more of unusual size, one apparently even larger than the four-pounder, but it was broken by the plow during the harvest.

Miami Beach Now Known As 'Medicare By The Sea'

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — First there's the Miami Beach of the luxury hotels, the mink-clad visitors, the sun-bathed beaches and the jumping night spots.

Then there's the other Miami Beach, the one they are now calling "Old Folks Capital," "Medicare-by-the-Sea," and "God's Waiting Room."

These are unkindly digs, but the fact remains that the people of Miami Beach are the oldest in the country. One of every two residents is over 60 years old. Nearly four out of 10 will never again see 65.

For more years than it cares to remember, St. Petersburg on Florida's west coast was known as the country's leading mecca of old people. Now it has happily handed this dubious distinction to Miami Beach.

Recently, to rub it in, St. Petersburg packed up one of its famous green benches, used by the elderly to rest their weary bones, and shipped it off to Miami Beach. The city noted that its average resident now is only 47, by cracky, a mere kid compared with the old fogies over on the Atlantic side.

Miami Beach's Mayor Elliott Roosevelt tried to laugh it off. "Our people," he said, "are too active to sit on benches; they're out surfboarding."

The city's publicity department attempted to parry St. Petersburgh's dagger thrust by taking pictures of the bench with children playing on it.

But Roosevelt and everybody else had been uncomfortably aware for a long time that their Riviera had become an old folks colony and parts of it were running down at the heel.

Since 1950, while the beach's median age was soaring from 43 to 59-plus, the average resident of Dade County was growing younger, from 34 to 33. All Florida had remained stable at 31.

The great majority of the city's oldsters are retirees living on comparatively low incomes. Their spending habits are conservative, their needs much simpler than those of the young.

Drug sales have skyrocketed, but business at restaurants, clothing, furniture and other stores has declined.

The 1,300 empty seats in the public schools tell the story perhaps best.

"We are getting older and older," said one city official. "If we keep on like this, we'll have nothing but the old."

But the tall, middle-aged, crew-cut Roosevelt doesn't intend to let this happen. When he was elected mayor last year, he promised the city "a new image."

With the City Council, he created a Development Commission which has drafted an ambitious plan to clear out substandard hotels and apartment buildings, attract young families by building moderately-priced housing, and maintain Miami Beach's glittering reputation as a go-go town.

Nobody begrudges the senior citizens their place in the sun, least of all Roosevelt. He was voted into office by people who live on Social Security and who remember that his father, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was the architect of Social Security.

During World War II, the armed services took over Miami Beach and converted it into a giant training camp. When the troops pulled out, they left the beach temporarily a ghost town.

A big advertising campaign in the north was aimed largely at retired people and paid off with today's dilemma.

As the old moved in, the young moved out, because Miami Beach is an expensive place to live. Hundreds of people who work on the beach live across Biscayne Bay in the city of Miami, where housing is cheaper.

Some wealthy oldsters who used to winter in the $50-a-night beachfront hotels, now have luxurious homes and apartments nearby.

But the bulk of the senior citizens have jammed themselves into 285 acres at the south end of the beach, where old hotels and apartments are mixed with wholesale and retail businesses, the city's shops and vehicle storage areas. Here, the population is as dense as in the central areas of large northern cities.

"This is a faceless group," says the city's recreation director, Jack Woody. "During their lives, they owned little stores or were numbers in a textile factory. They raised their kids to be professionals, then they came down to live in the sun."

South Beach is not, by any means, a slum or ghetto. Many of the stuccoed older hotels and apartment houses are still attractive by the standards of other cities.

Housing, which can be obtained for $60 to $100 a month, is decent. And it is within walking distance of a fine beach, parks, swimming pools and community centers where the oldsters dance, play cards and sing.

All are self-supporting. The need for social services is practically nil. They do their own cooking, buy the cheaper cuts of meat, and in the warm climate the budget for clothing is small.

Top priority in the Roosevelt renewal plan is given to bulldozing substandard buildings at South Beach and replacing them with moderately-priced homes and garden apartments in a park setting.

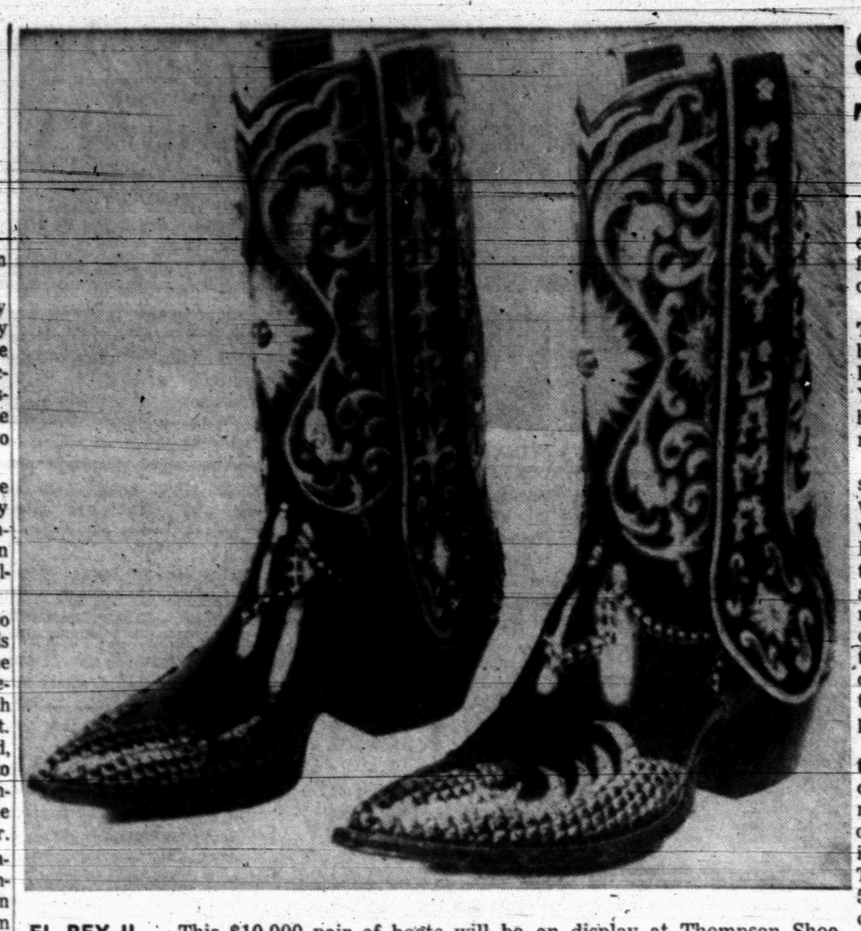
The old folks are not to be moved out. They will be transferred into a new high-rise apartments along the beach. They may pay less rent than they do now.

A plan has been offered to pay bonuses to Miami Beach city employes to get them to live here. But Harold T. Toal, director of the Development Commission, thinks a better lure will be the reasonably-priced homes to be built at South Beach.

"Most people working here would prefer to live here, if they could afford it and had the companionship of people their own age and playmates for their children," Toal said.

The commission' plan also calls for converting two islands into recreation centers for the young. Star Island would be developed into a city park with decks for private pleasure craft. Pelican Island, now submerged, would be filled and devoted to golf and tennis courts, swimming pools and a major league spring baseball training center.

Also in the plan is an "educational park" as an added inducement to young families. On a 50-acre site, all schools from kindergarten through high school would be consolidated in a campus atmosphere.



EL REY II — This $10,000 pair of boots will be on display at Thompson Shoe Store in Snyder, beginning Tuesday and continuing through Saturday.

$10,000 Boots To Be Displayed

El Rey II, $10,000 worth of bejeweled bootery, will be on display at Thompson Shoe Store from Tuesday through Saturday of the coming week.

Designed by Bert Lama of the Tony Lama Co. of El Paso, the boots were manufactured in the Lama factory. Leading New York jewelers, then put their heads together to design jewel mountings.

These boots follow in the footsteps of El Rey I, a $5,000 pair which met unfortunate fate while on exhibition in Miami, Fla. The boots were stolen and the Lama Company had to absorb the loss because of a technicality in the insurance which claimed that prescribed precautions were not taken. Law officers have been unable to unwind the mystery of the missing pair.

El Rey II doubles the fantastic workmanship of its predecessor and combined the ultimate in leather working developed by the Lama Company during its 53 years of boot making. The boot tops are decorated with 54 carats of precious stones, including 110 diamonds, 80 rubies and four star sapphires.

El Rey is the Spanish term meaning "the King" and the boot construction was completed in the Lama factory where hand - crafting is maintained in an age of machine - made goods.

ARC Gives $144 Check

The Scurry County Association for Retarded Children presented a check for $144 to the Texas Jaycees.

The funds came from the sale of honey supplied by the Jaycees and sold at the Scurry County Fair by the local ARC. The money will go to the fund to build a swimming pool at Abilene State School. At present there are 10 students from Scurry County at the school.

Officials of the Scurry County ARC expressed appreciation to the Jaycees and all who worked and purchased honey at the booth at the fair.

Save for the imperial woodpecker of Mexico, the ivory-bill was or is the largest woodpecker in the world. It grew about the size of a crow, and had a wing-span reaching 33 inches.

Gold Good For Newest Yule Cards

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Christmas cards are going on the gold standard.

Golden Madonnas golden Santas, golden golf clubs, golden partidges in golden pear trees—the 1966 cards bear the touch of Kind Midas.

"Two years ago everything was silver," said Robert Haines Jr. of Rust Craft Greeting Cards, Inc., Dedham, Mass. "This year everyone seems to have come up with something gold."

The Greeting card Association estimated 3.5 billion Christmas cards will be sold in the United States this year—400 million more than in 1965.

And of the 50,000 new designs, there are a number of shaggy dogs.

Three kittens snuggle up to a sheepish dog in a Santa cap, a winking dog stretches in front of a sleepy Santa and a mouse and cat ride their shaggy friend.

That last card bears one word: Peace.

There are lots of peace cards in this year's assortment too, along with cards for your pastor, boss, newsboy, postman, milkman, teacher, babysitter, coworker dog, cat and parakeet.

"We were going to make a guppy card but we just couldn't do it," Dorothy Nelson, who edits the verses for Paramount Line, Inc., Pawtucket, R.I., said at a card show here.

The little angels, Santas and snowmen lined up on family cards are mostly neuter. Mama, papa and 1,2,3,4 or 5 little neuters in a row.

"We have to make them neuter so they will fit any family," said Margery Forer of D. Forer and Co. "If they looked like boys or girls, it'd be murder. People write in and say my second child is a little girl and she has red hair. So we have to cover up their hair too. Then the cards fit anyone."

The greeting card people still plug personalized greetings — printed names.

But this year there are more cards on which to write your own messages.

"We don't want to make the message space too big," said Duncan R. McIntosh, president of the New York city firm bearing his name. "After all, when people are sending out 100 cards they're going to get tired of writing. But this gives them a chance for a really personal message."

Cotton Growers To Vote On Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Growers will vote by mail Dec. 5-9 on whether to continue marketing quotas on next year's cotton crop, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

In the past, growers have voted at regular polling places which were open only one day. Marketing quotas, which have never been rejected for cotton since they were initiated 20 years ago, are designd to limit production and sals and thus prevent overproduction.

The quotas required approval of at least two-thirds of those voting. The referendum will be held for both upland and extra long staple cotton.

The United Fund: A Chance To Give Once For Six

The Scurry County United Fund campaign for 1966-67 is a united community effort to raise adequate funds for the effective operation of five community agencies plus a small amount for a state agency.

Total budget for this year's effort is $27,500, which includes Girl Scouts, $3,000; Boy Scouts, $7,500; Salvation Army, $4,000; Scurry County Boys Club, $9,000, and American Red Cross $2,500. These are the local member agencies. In addition, $150 is provided for the Texas United Fund (USO). Expenses for the drive are estimated at $1,350. The local expenses include secretarial salaries, awards, work cards and envelopes, plus additional materials necessary to the campaign effort.

This year's suggested contribution is one hour's pay for each month of the year. All contributions when received are placed in the general fund to support the allocations for each agency.

If a person desires his contribution to be for one agency only, the money is indicated as a direct gift. All direct gifts are credited to the individual agency and do not affect the amount allocated by the fund.

Each agency will receive its directed gifts at the end of the campaign, plus its share of the total money received from the general drive.

The $27,500 budget for this year's drive is the same as that of last year. However, it is the desire of all campaign workers to actually raise more funds than last year.

DIVISION CHAIRMEN — Chairman of campaign divisions for the Scurry County United Fund are, from left, Cy Miller, public employes division; Dr. Robert Hargrove, professional division; Keith Collier, county-area division; Laroque Johnson, industrial division; and J. M. Kayser, school division.

MORE DIVISION HEADS — Heading other divisions of the Scurry County United Fund Campaign are, from left, Dr. Robert Clinton, pattern division; Cecil Fowler, utilities division; Jay Thompson, assistant to Mel Gilbert in the business division; and Harold Lacik, branch house division.

BACKED BY UNITED FUND — One of the agencies which depends upon the Scurry United Fund for financial support of its operations is the Scurry County Boys' Club. Shown here is one of the Pee Wee Football teams organized by the Boys' Club. The Pee Wee football program, in progress at this season of the year, is one of many organized programs provided by the Boys' Club for scores of youngsters in Snyder and surrounding area.

Gardener's Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A major aim in pruning it to let more air and sun into the interior of plants. Autumn is an excellent time to remove dead, diseased or undesirable growth from many trees and shrubs.

Here are a few other pointers:

1. Always cut to a growing point, such as a bud or branch.

2. Don't leave long stubs. They often die and trouble enters the rotted boles.

3. Remove dead wood and suckers as soon as they are noticed.

4. Repair storm damage promptly, but do not prune frosted ends of tender shrubs and plants immediately. Wait until there are signs of new growth in the spring, even though the plant may look untidy for weeks.

5. Spray or paint all wounds over one inch in diameter with tree-wound dressing, which is available in easy - to- handle aerosol cans.

6. Use sharp tools and make smooth cuts. Healing will be delayed if rough, jagged edges are left. There are pruning shears for all types of jobs.

Pruning is important. The way you start young shrubs and trees will determine how they will function and look for many years. The plants depend a great deal on what you do or do not do for them.

Cut in such a way that you help the plant develop to its greatest potential and natural appearance.

Check over the dormant growth buds. You can find them easily after the leaves have dropped from deciduous (leafy) plants. You will find these dormant growth buds along the stem, usually at the base of each leaf. During the summer they are rather inconspicuous.

At the top of each branch or twig is a bud or pair of buds often larger than the others. They are terminal buds. From them stem new growth that will develop to elongate the branch.

Buds along the sides are called lateral buds and generally produce leaves. If a terminal bud is cut off, the lateral bud just below takes over the terminal growing job. And this is a key point for home gardeners who want to shape the future of the plant.

New growth, you must remember will start from the bud or buds just below your pruning cut. This means that the lower and closer to the root that you prune, the larger and more vigorous the resulting shoots and flowers will be.

When you cut high on the plant structure, you produce more but weaker growth and more but smaller flowers.

GARDEN FILMS AVAILABLE. A half-hour color motion picture entitled "She Planteth a Vineyard," and two color slide lectures on roses with taped narration, are available to garden groups.

The motion picture produced by the National Council of State Garden Clubs (and Agrico Chemical Co.) tells the story of American garden clubs in action, landscaping school grounds, beautifying communities, giving garden therapy in hospitals, and improving home gardens. The Council will distribute prints to state garden clubs.

The rose slide lectures, by Jackson & Perkins, are entitled "Roses... and How to Use Them," and "The Story of the Sterling Bowl (flower arrangement) Tournament." Requests by groups for loan should be made to J & P, Newark, N. Y., with alternate dates.

Jumbo Burgers

1 pound ground beef round steak
1 tablespoon butter
Salt and freshly ground pepper
1 medium onion, cut in thin strips
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, thoroughly drained

Shape the beef into 2 large oval patties at least 1 - inch thick. In a skillet about 8 inches) in the hot butter rapidly brown the patties on each side: now cook gently, turning a few times, until done as desired - preferably pink through. Remove patties and keep warm, covered, in a very low oven. To drippings in skillet, add the onion and stir to get up drippings and brown onion; add mushrooms, cover and cook a few minutes to wilt onion; turn mixture over hamburgers. Makes 2 large servings.

POPULAR CUBE TABLE — Hand crafted look with Haitian voodoo designs assembled by Lawrence Peabody.

Squash With Apples And Sausage

2 medium acorn squash
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) pie-sliced apples, thoroughly drained
¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 package (8 ounces) brown-and serve sausages, cut in half crosswise
1-3 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

Halve squash lengthwise; remove seeds and stringy portion. Place squash, cut side down, in a cake pan into which they just fit; add about ¼-inch of water. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until tender—about 45 minutes. Turn squash cavity side up and drain off water. Sprinkle squash with salt. Thoroughly mix together the apples, sausages and sugar; spoon into squash cavities. Bake in the moderate oven until apple mixture is very hot — about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Go slow when you are adding anchovy paste to the yolk mixture (for stuffed eggs) or to a cream cheese spread because the paste is usually pretty salty. Work in a small amount of the paste and taste before adding more.

For a quick spread, drain sardines and mash with mayonnaise. Spread on crackers and sprinkle with minced green olives.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Allen of 2406 Avenue B announce the marriage of their daughter, Linda Kay, to Ronald Dennis Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Kelly of Snyder.

The couple exchanged marriage vows on October 13th in the Bethel Baptist Church, with Rev. R. Virgil Mott, pastor officiating.

Attending the couple were Joyce Buchanan and Jack Vickers.

The newlyweds will make their home in Dallas.

Fresh Tomato Relish

4 medium - small (1 pound) tomatoes
½ cup finely diced celery
1 small onion, peeled and minced
1-3 cup finely chopped drained sweet pickles plus 2 tablespoons of the sweet pickle vinegar
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon sugar

Rinse tomatoes; cut out stem ends; cut in half; gently squeeze out seeds; chop. Mix with remaining ingredients. Cover tightly and refrigerate for several hours. Drain and serve. Makes about 2 cups.

Noted Designer Says We Need Ugliness Control

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One way we pay for freedom in the United States is by surrounding ourselves with ugliness, says furniture designer Edward Wormley.

No one would trade the free enterprise system and freedom of choice for a domineering government that would dictate how and what arthitects and furniture designers should do, he says.

But, he insists, something must be done. Consumers must be educated to better taste, manufacturers must do some soul-searching.

"The problem is how to control the progress of ugliness without limiting free enterprise," Wormley explains. "Free enterprise permits manufacturers to turn out too many designs too fast.

"For example, we are locked in a seasonal marketing system. Something new must be brought out on schedule or nobody will look at your furniture line. Reference left the companion of newness when the design is pushed on the market too fast, without considering the consumer's needs."

Wormley, a top designer in the furniture field, has been with Dunbar 35 years and is now their design director.

"We don't pay attention to seasonal fads and we don't care what competitors are doing. Our goal is to satisfy consumers' needs. The boring parade of furniture that comes out of factories is the result of manufacturers worring about what their competitors are doing, rather than what the consumer requires."

"Good designers would prefer to do it differently, but they are pushed into a corner by hard-bitten business men," he says.

"I am paid on a royalty basis and that's the way it should be for designers. They should have a stake in their designs. But most designers can't drive that kind of bargain with manufacturers. Some do not even keep their word. I've had designers call in tears because of broken promises for work done. So what happens? A self-respecting designer burned by the home furnishings industry decides to go some other way."

The field narrows and if the trend doesn't stop, creative people are lost, he says.

People can afford to buy better things and we have the wherewithall like we've never had it before in our history, he points out.

But there is such an enormous quantity of merchandise that they become confused.

A line of furniture should be good enough to last indefinitely — from both style and quality viewpoint — or it shouldn't be offered to the consumer. One can tire of a piece of furniture, he admits. Sometimes he gets tired of looking at some in his own line and they discontinue them, "even though they are still good."

Wormley's plans are in the direction of "new contemporary," he says. "Even when the rest of the industry was led back to reinstate traditional things, we resisted longer than anybody."

That departure from pure contemporary was a review of late Regency in 1963 He based a line of the work of English architect, Sir John Soane of London, but even then it was not line for line. Wormley gave classic interpretation updating the inspiration.

In line with his desire to see better taste in the first home, he is introducing a line of middle - prices merchandise for the young married and career people. Lines are crisp, clean and with more color than heretofore, "but not poster or pop art colors," he says. He'll stress timeless contemporary.

"There is too much gimmicky furniture in this price bracket. When you lay out $500 for a sofa (the most expensive in this line) you don't want it to look like last year's model a year from now."

The furniture is ash, a wood often associated with axe handles, rakes, hoes, "but it is a wonderful American wood with plenty of stamina," Wormley points out. "Everybody tends to overlook its good looks because of its strength."

It lends itself to a variety of wood finishes, including an allspice and a middle-brown color. They use the wood partially to get lighter wood colors. It is a longer fiber than oak, but is in the same botanical family and conveys the same solid strength in appearance.

Bell-Hobbs Marriage Held In First Baptist Church

Miss Beverly Elizabeth Bell became the bride of Terry Allen Hobbs in a candlelight ceremony October 8 in the First Baptist Church with Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. William Roland Bell of 3602 Avenue V are the parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Hobbs, Route 1 Hermleigh are parents of the groom.

Lighted tapers against a background of greenery and baskets of white gladiolia formed the setting for the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight brocade designed with long petal point sleeves, a stand - up neckline and a princess silhoutte. The chapel length train was attached at the waist. Her princess crown of Venice lace held a shoulder length veil of imported silk illusion. The bridal bouquet was of Frenched carnations centered by a white orchid with flowing streamers and love knots, carried atop a white Bible.

In keeping with the bridal tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue, the bride wore a locket belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. L. G. Elys and wedding shoes worn by the paternal grandmother, Mrs. W. R. Bell, Sr. at her wedding in 1912. The something new was a hankerchief from France a gift of a cousin, something borrowed was the white Bible, borrowed from Mrs. Billy Prince, something blue, a blue garter and a penny in her shoe.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Jack Phillips and Mr. J. D. Smith, choir director.

Miss Glena Furnace was maid of honor and wore a floor length gown of pink satin with an over jacket of pink lace. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Mary Jane Prince was flower girl and was attired in a pink organdy dress.

Timothy Lee Prince was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Sandy Winter, and Mickey Winters and Fred Wilkerson served as ushers.

At the reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, Mrs. Mickey Winter, cousin of the bride, presided at the refreshment table. The table, covered with an imported cloth, was centered with an arrangement of pink and white carnations in a silver container. The wedding cake was in three tiers.

Presiding at the bride's book were Miss Lana Bell, Miss Ann Davis and Miss RoAnn Hailess, cousins of the bride.

The registery table was covered with an imported cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and white carnations.

For her going away costume, the bride chose an imported brown wool suit from Belguim with matching accessories.

The couple will be at home at 1908 Main St., Lubbock where the groom is a junior student at Texas Tech. A graduate of Snyder High School, the bride also attended Texas Tech.

Out of town guests for the wedding were from Abilene, San Angelo, Lubbock, Melrose, N. M., Lindwood College, Mo. and Hobbs, N. M.

Gruber's Collection Of Short Stories

BRASS KNUCKLES, by Frank Gruber (Sherbourne Press, Los Angeles, $5.95)

It may be difficult to determine immediately how a book by Frank Gruber qualifies as a Southwest item. That is, until you recall that Gruber wrote many western stories and at least 18 western novels.

"Brass Knuckles" is a collection of stories, generally short, with Oliver Quade, the Human Encyclopedia, the central character. You will recall that Quade was a great amateur detective figure and one of the best identified by the reader in all Gruber's writing.

Of more interest, perhaps, to the reader is a lengthy discussion of the long-dead pulp magazine business.

If you're over 30 years, you recall them on the newsstands. Row on row they sat there, magazines with brightly printed covers, and the interiors printed on the cheapest paper that could be found.

Still, they were a cut above the dime novel in both their printing and writing. We have forgotten their prices, but we recall that when they went to 25 cents we were forced to reduce our reading sharply.

Each magazine was devoted to only one type of story. There were westerns, detectives, romance and adventure and even science fiction.

Some of the names of the favored pulps survive to this day, but only with a change in their appearance, content and quality.

Gruber jumped into the field early and it appeared easy because there were so many magazines, many of them chains. But he found selling stories difficult, even at the standard price of a cent a word. You were not paid for an "a" or a "the."

Selling a story to Hollywood for $25 was only a dream. And to make a living writing for the pulps, you had to grind out the stories for long hours for many months and perhaps years until you became a name in the business. Selling a story for $1 was not unusual. The only one this reviewer ever sold brought $5 and the publisher considered this really too much.

Sales were made across a desk from the magazine editor. Few stories could be sold by mail, and even getting into the editor's office often was impossible.

Some of the better known names, particularly in detective fiction, started in the pulps.

Often the magazine editor virtually dictated the story to the author who put in the words.

Gruber finally became better known, received more money per word, was published by the better pulps, and then he began writing novels. About this time, Hollywood became interested, and from then on it was easy sailing for Gruber, if writing ever is easy.

The pulp magazine days never will return, we fear, and in the case of some of the publications we hope they don't. But lost forever was a great training ground for writers. — The AP.

A Modern Gothic Tale

THE TIME OF THE ANGELS. By Iris Murdoch.

It was bound to happen.

What with some theologians loudly proclaiming to an interested public that God is dead, it was only a matter of time before the novelists would decide to get on the deicide kick.

Iris Murdoch apparently is the first, and in this novel she turns in a performance that's going to be hard to upstage. Not only is her pivotal character a priest who no longer believes in the existence of God, but he also is a psychotic who indulges in, among other things, incest, adultery and miscegenation.

Shocked? You needn't be.

Miss Murdoch is such a very good writer, even when she is dealing with a subject beneath her considerable talent, that she can tell of the most offensive things without giving offense.

The priest, for example, has one daughter who is a bit of a voyeur. But Miss Murdoch tells of this in such elegant, persuasive language that the reader really doesn't find it at all upsetting that a girl should be consumed with a desire to peer through a crack in a closet wall at another girl. And she finally does, too.

Nor is the reader offended by the contrived coincidences used to bring this rather macabre novel to its unhappy ending. For the author has taken the well-worn Gothic tale, and, by placing it in a contemporary setting and giving its characters modern demons to haunt them, she has succeeded in creating a memorable tour de force.

When you finish the book you get the feeling that Miss Murdoch was putting you on. But you don't mind.

Beer gives good flavor to a spread made with cheddar cheese.

Fall Books Ignore Fiction

By MILES A SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) The autumn deuge of books is primed once again with biographical material, and the comparative drought in fiction continues.

Not even counting the special gift book offerings, intended for the Christmas trade and dressed up with lavish illustrations, nor the perennial output of cookbooks of all kinds, this seems to be another nonfiction year.

Yet although this is the second year in a row, at least, that fiction is playing a minor role, there are several novels by established authors that should reward the reader.

For example, Edwin O'Connor has a major novel on Boston politics coming out, "All in the Family" (Atlantic - Little, Brown). Bernard Malamud's "The Fixer" (Farrar, Straus) is highly touted, as is Rebecca West's "The Birds Fall Down" (Viking). Fletcher Knebel, co-author of "Seven Days In May," has a new story about some Peace Corps volunteers in Africa, called "The Zin in Road" (Doubleday). Mary Renault has another historical novel, "The Mask of Apollo" (Pantheon) The nonfiction field includes a number of references books. One is Random House Dictionary of the English Language." Hammond is issuing a series of new atlases, including "Medallion World Atlas."

Among the religious books are two Roman Catholic Bibles, "The Jerusalem Bible" issued by Doubleday, and Hawthorn's "The Pope John Bible in the St. Peter's edition." From Coward-McCann there is "A Diary of Prayer" by Elizabeth Goudge. Braziller has "No Other God" by Gabriel Vahanian, who was the author of "The Death of God."

John Steinbeck has written the text for "America and Americans" (Viking), which contains 136 pages of photographs from 55 photographers, covering every state.

Other nonfiction items range from the Civil War to World War II. Hudson Strode has edited the private letters of Jefferson Davis for Harcourt, Brace. Allen Dulles describes in "The Secret Surrender" (Harper) the negotiations in May 1945, for the first surrender of German forces.

Louis Nizer, the attorney who wrote the best seller "My Life in Court," is back with "The Jury Returns" (Doubleday), describing four unusual legal cases.

In the historical field there is Catherine Drinker Bowen's "Miracle at Philadelphia," an account of the Constitutional Convention in the summer of 1787.

Now for the biographies, autobiographies and memoirs:

"Winston S. Churchill, Youth, 1874-1900" (Houghton Mifflin) is the first volume of the authorized biography by Randolph Churchill. The first volume of another biography is "Robert Frost: The Early Years" (Holt, Rinehart) by Lawrance Thompson.

Garson Kanin has written a memoir, "Remembering Mr. Maugham," about the English author, for Atheneum. Another writer is pictured in "The Furious Passage of James Baldwin" (M. Evans) by Fern Eckman.

"Frank Lloyd Wright, His Life, His Work, His Words" (Horizon) is the story of the architect by his wife Olgivanna Lloyd Wright.

The story of a whole banking family is told in "The House of Morgan" (Dodd, Mead) by Edwin P. Hoyt. Actress and writer Cornelia Otis Skinner has written a life of the legendary Sarah Bernhardt in "Madame Sarah" (Houghton Mifflin).

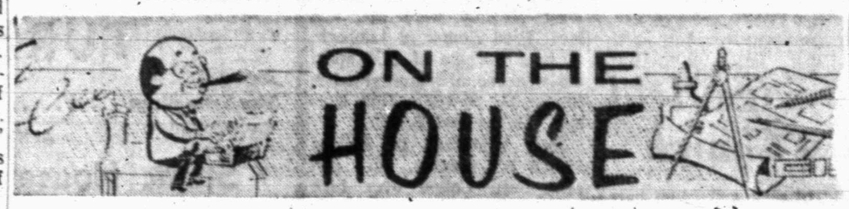
A scientist's life is described in "Niels Bohr" (Knopf) by Ruth Moore, and a famous art expert is portrayed in "Forty Years with Berenson" (Knopf) by Nicky Mariano, who was a member of his household. An artist is the subject of Denys Sutton's "James McNeil Whistler" (New York Graphic). Truman Capote has authored "A Chistmas Memory" to decribe his boyhood.

The sparse field of fiction will include the debut of a new Southern writer, Berry Morgan, whose "Pursuit" is the first of a series being published by Houghton Mifflin. Another newcomer, this time in the field of crazy comedy, is Willard Manus with "Mott the Hoople" (McGraw-Hill).

Other fall novels include Jessamyn West's "A Matter of Time" (Harcourt, Brace), which is concerned with two sisters, and "In the Company of Eagles" (Simon & Schuster) by Ernest Gann, the specialist in aeronautical themes.

Every Thanksgiving John O'Hara publishes some short stories. This year there are 21, in "Waiting for Winter" (Random).

GIFT TEA — Miss Mary Breeden, bride-elect of Mr. James T. Beckham Jr. was honored recently with a gift tea in the Fellowship Hall of Colonial Hill Baptist Church. A pink and white color theme carried out Miss Breedon's chosen colors. Appointments were in crystal and silver. The couple plan a late November wedding. Pictured above from left are Mrs. Leonard Sharp of Tuscola, aunt of the bride-to-be, the honoree, and Mrs. James T. Beckham, mother of the prospective groom.



Confused by the many types and varieties of ceramic tile now on the market? Here's an attempt to clear up the situation a bit.

Probably the best known ceramic tile is what we customarily see on bathroom floors. They are known as ceramic mosaics and usually are ¼ inch thick and less than 6 square inches in diameter. Once they were known simply as "floor tile," but today they have many uses. Also, once they came only unglazed; now they can be purchased glazed and in a wide range of colors. Ceramic mosaics are so small that it would be a difficult job to install them one by one. Therefore, manufacturers usually mount them on sheets which permit the installation of groups of tiles at one time. Although most ceramic mosaics we see on floors are square or rectangular, you can buy triangular or other shapes for special installations.

The next best - known ceramic is glazed wall tile. It has a glass - like surface which is fused to the basic tile by firing at temperatures of about 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit in special ovens. The glazes can be bright or with a reduced gloss or with a texture. There is also a heavy-duty glazed wall tile. These tiles come in many sizes, the most usual of which are 4¼ inches by 4¼ inches and 6 inches by 6 inches.

Quarry tile, used principally for floors, both inside and outside, come in 6 inch squares. Most people think they can be purchased only in an earthy red color, but they are available in several other colors, with patterned and textured designs.

Some persons make the mistake of purchasing ceramic tiles and then spending a lot of time rounding edges and trying to reshape tiles to fit in corners. For a little extra, they can buy specially shaped pieces of tiles that will perform those functions. Furthermore, the finished job will have a far more professional appearance.

It is a moot point, even within the industry, whether the installation of ceramic tile is for the do-it-yourselfer. One thing is sure. The home handyman who works with ceramic tile these days has a big advantage over the one who handled it years ago. This is because he can use the relatively new dry-set mortar, especially suitable for masonry or concrete surfaces. It does away with the old method of soaking each tile in water to prevent it from drawing moisture from the mortar.

QUESTION: Some time ago I saw a piece of pine furniture in a department store. It had a kind of pastel pink color, but you could see through it right to the wood. I now have purchased a similar piece of furniture made from what appears to be the same kind of pine. How can I color it yet not hide the surface of the wood?

ANSWER: This can be done in a number of ways. One of the best is to use a ready-made oil stain of the desired shade. Test it first on the underside of the furniture to be sure you get the tone you want. Adding a little turpentine will make the stain a bit lighter than it is. But the shade can be controlled by the length of time it is left on the wood. Brush it on, then wipe it off in about 10 seconds. If the wood hasn't darkened sufficiently, allow a 30-second interval between the application and the wiping. Experiment until you get the shade you want, then go ahead with the full job. After the stain is thoroughly dry (wait 12 hours or more if possible), give the furniture a coat of sealer. When that is dry, apply two coats of varnish or whatever finishing material you have selected. Incidentally, don't forget the sanding of the wood before you begin — no matter how smooth the piece of furniture appears to be. Wipe off all traces of grit, then to ahead.

Do Discomforting Statistics Worry The Red Chinese?

By CONRAD FINK
Associated Press Writer

Is Communist China really that tough?

Does Peking really enjoy overwhelming economic - military odds on the Asian scene?

Statistically, the odds already are against China and are getting worse.

Even without a backup from the United States non-Communist nations of Asia today are potentially strong enough in population, armed forces and economic power to counterbalance China.

But there is a flaw — perhaps a fatal flaw — in all this that prevents statistical theories from being transformed into anti-Communist military and economic realties:

The non-Communist nations along China's periphery have not shown the will to band together — and that is why the United States is spending blood and money to hold the line in Viet Nam and other Asian hotspots.

That is why Washington strategists cannot crank all the comforting statistical odds into U.S. policy in Asia; that is why American troops will be in Asia for some time.

The statistics, which despite their unreality must worry Peking, give this picture:

China has a population of more than 700 million. Asian nations that would be threatened by any spreading of Peking's influence weigh in at more than one billion persons.

China can field 2.5 million to 3 million men in its regular armed forces. Non-Communist Asia has more than 3.7 million under arms.

China has an economic-industrial machine which, although it can manufacture nuclear devices, has trouble feeding its people. Japan alone outstrips Chinese industry and the rest of non-Communist Asia possesses natural resources which if developed could make China look more of a pauper.

China can provide its people with little more than a $100 annual per capita income. Even South Korea does better than that — $104. The Philippines, currently in economic trouble, boasts of $157.

The statistics have inspired a decade-old dream among U.S. diplomats: Somehow persuade disunited nations along China's periphery to man the barricades together, do in unison what none can do alone — stand up to China.

Some Americans envision a non-Communist arc anchored in the north on Japan's industrial might and swinging southwest along China's frontiers to anchor in the south on the land and population mass of India.

Notable successes have been scored:

—Thousands of allied soldiers, many from Asia, are fighting in Viet Nam in an uncommon show of solidarity against an indirect Chinese threat, even though the military effort remains primarily American and South Vietnamese.

—Washington helped talk Japan and South Korea into normalizing relations last year, thus holding out the prospect of these North Asian neighbors, bitter foes for so long, standing together in the future.

—U.S. diplomats encouraged Malaysia and Indonesia to halt their armed feud; the Americans now are working to sort out a three-way quarrel between Viet Nam, Cambodia and Thailand.

But there have been failures:

—An effort to fashion a joint India-Pakistan bulwark on China's southwest flank dissolved last year with a new eruption of centuries-old South Asian hatreds in a three-week war.

—India, preoccupied at home with critical economic and political problems, refuses any "big brother" role in Southeast Asia. There is serious doubt in Asia that India is strong enough or has the prestige to assume a leader's role even if it wanted to.

—Japan, sometimes described as a natural leader in Asia, is mostly interested in business profits and shuns deep involvement in Asian politics.

How much muscle is behind the Chinese fist?

Japanese economists estimate that with good luck China might rack up a 5-7 per cent annual economic growth rate over the next 20 years. But a population increase of more than 2 per cent annually, they estimate, would eat up much of the gains and leave China at the end of the 20 years with about the same per capita annual income as the Soviet Union had in the dreary 1930s.

And even if the Chinese spend the next 20 years in an all-out drive for nuclear missiles, anti-missile technology in other nations, primarily the United States, would improve so much that any Chinese advances might be negated.

What is China's military potential today?

Standing alone, the estimates are awesome: a regular army of more than 2.2 million men, navy of at least 136,000, air force of about 100,000; also an estimated 300,000 security and border troops, plus a militia of millions.

These figures sometimes frighten China's neighbors. India, which in 1962 got a bloody taste of China's powerful land army, lives in dread of burp gun-laden Chinese pouring southward through the Himalayas.

But China has its own military problems:

—The Soviet border, for years guarded by Sino-Soviet friendship banners, now is manned by thousands of troops.

—An estimated 15 divisions are stationed in Tibet to watch the Indian frontier. Another huge contingent is far away facing the Formosa Strait and the strong Nationalist China regime. Still other troops are in the distant north, on the Manchurian frontier with Korea.

As for China's air force, some experts feel it has only a few obsolete Russian-built medium bombers and perhaps 300 LL28 light jet bombers capable of striking neighboring lands.

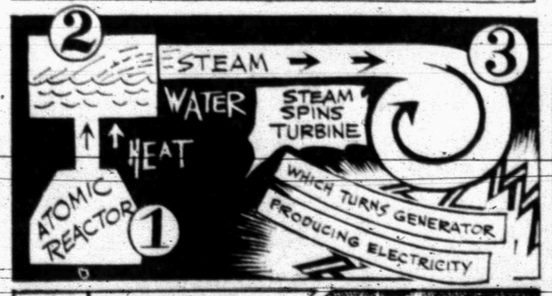
There are reports China is working on, or already possesses, medium-range missiles and perhaps has a few submarines capable of firing missiles. But China does not have an air arm capable of effectively delivering nuclear weapons over vast distances.

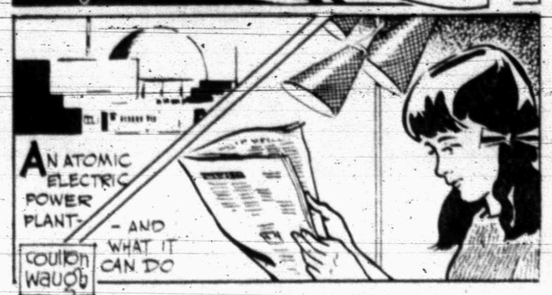
China's navy is fourth-rate by most standards, with 20 or so submarines, a few destroyers and some smaller craft forming its nucleus of power.

Some Asians regard the current political upheaval in China as more than an ideological cleansing ordered by Mao Tse-tung. They hope it is proof that China has encountered serious internal difficulties that would limit its appetite for directly entering the Viet Nam war or other Asian quarrels.

This, in part, is why Indian leaders look at China as a threat along the 1,500-mile North India frontier but not as any particular Asia-wide threat.

Junior Editors Quiz on ATOMIC ENERGY





QUESTION: How can atomic power generate electricity?

* * *

ANSWER: Electric power is produced by generators. These are spinning loops of wire rotating between magnets producing electricity which can be used for lighting and many other purposes. Some force must spin the generator. That of falling water is often used, working turbines which in turn rotate generators. The turbines may be turned by the force of steam, which comes from water heated by burning coal or fuel oil, or by atomic energy. Check the top picture.

An atomic chain reaction takes place inside a reactor (1) and produces great amounts of heat. This is used to heat water in boilers (2) from which comes steam to spin the turbine. The turbine in turn spins the generator and so produces electricity (3). Atomic power plants use much less fuel than other kinds. The reactor's fuel is uranium, and a tablespoonful of this will produce as much energy as will 750 tons of coal. In spite of this, the atomic process is so expensive that few atomic power plants are in use in the U.S. at present, though more may be built later on.

Duplicate Series Starts Tuesday

The Tuesday Activities Club of the Martha Ann Woman's Club is beginning a six - game series of duplicate bridge on Oct. 18, at 9:30 a.m. at the clubhouse.

A trophy will be awarded at the close of the series to the player making the best showing in her four best games each of the six games to be played with a different partner.

New players are especially invited as a second trophy will be presented to the player with less than five master points who ranks high in her four best games.

Admission for the games is 75 cents for members of the Martha Ann Woman's Club, and $1 for non-members.

Make up some coffee gelatin, pour into small molds and chill until firm. Unmold in individual serving dishes and surround kith soft custard sauce made from scratch or a mix.

A Descent Into Oblivion

PURSUIT. By Berry Morgan.

This is an account of a psychotic alcoholic's descent into the depths of oblivion. Not in the neurotic atmosphere of a modern megalopolis, but in the brooding Deep South of 1937.

It is the story of Ned Hughes, the last decadent sprig of a long line of plantation owners in Mississippi. It begins when, at 47, he stops puttering around in New Orleans as a college instructor and returns to the home base to look after Laurance.

The latter is his illegitimate son, the result of a 1920 alliance with a frivolous cousin — a scandal that still leaves the Ingles family ostracized in the whole county. Laurance is a frail, dull - witted boy whom Ned ad long abandoned to the Negro hired hands, and the boy has a fixation about trying to enter a siminary.

Ned becomes obsessed with the idea of converting this crude boy into an heir and master of the plantation. He finds that Anna, an impoverished friend of his youth, has a fresh young daughter named Annabella, and schemes to bring Laurance and Annabella toward marriage.

The scheme boomerangs; Laurance forms an attachment to middle - aged Anna and Ned marries the adolescent Annabella to keep her available for Laurance. Then blind fate intervenes by striking Laurance with a fatal disease.

The bare summary of the plot cannot begin to convey the impact of the novel. In this macabre situation, the book is carefully woven psychological study of a weaking mind, disintegrating step by step, retrogressing pitifully under the eyes of a tight little circle of white and Negro participants.

This is Mrs. Morgan's debut as a novelist, and a striking one. It is a literary novel, in the sense that its splendid writing skill will stir well - deserved appreciation among other writers. It also is a regional novel, in the sense that its whole viewpoint is associated with the primitive patterns of the old South. In its own haunting way, it is a late - blooming, fascinating flower of a lost world of the past.
