By The Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 16.—The connection of Congressman L. T. McFadden of Canton, Pa., with Pat Marr caused W. A. Hopkins of Cincinnatti and five of his friends to invest in the Pat Marr company, Mr. Hopkins testified today at the trial of Marr and his co-defendants for misuse of the mail. It had previously been brought in testimony that Mr. McFadden was chairman of the board of directors of the Marr Oil corporation, Marr's last company before it was sold last October. A copy of the Pat Marr News introduced as evidence last week also declared that Pat Marr and Mr. McFadden had brought in the first big gusher in 1923, declaring that it "roared in on New Year's morning."

"I personally met Mr. McFadden in the halls of the capitol at Washington," Mr. Hopkins testified, "and McFadden's connection with Marr and Marr's sensational success with his operations, I figured it would be a good investment."

Mr. Hopkins, formerly city treasurer of Cincinnati, said he invested $650 in the Pat Marr company in his daughter's name and that he never received any return on it. He declared that he advised five of his friends that the Marr company was a good investment on the strength of McFadden's connection with him and that these friends each invested sums approximating $500. Neither of them ever received any return on their investment.

Hopkins said an issue of the Oil Digest carried a story about E. L. Doheny visiting Marr at El Dorado and being entertained by Marr and Mr. McFadden also induced him to invest with Marr.

The government began its evidence today to support the twentieth count in the indictment, the charge of conspiring to use the mails to defraud. W. E. Bell, formerly a defendant in the case whose indictment was nolle prossed at the beginning of the trial, testified that he sold stock in the Marr Oil corporation to persons residing in Philadelphia and used a stock book showing the properties of the company to be worth $5,000,000.

E. W. Brown of the Arkansas state department identified a sworn statement made by Marr and W. T. Earnest, a defendant last year, when they were paying the franchise tax of the Marr Oil corporation, showing five properties of the corporation were worth only $1,101,000. I. E. Hicks, connected with the Arkansas banking commission, identified a sworn statement made by Marr and Earnest when they applied for permission to sell stock in Arkansas, declaring the properties of the corporation to be worth $5,000,000.

Four jurors were chosen out of the first panel of 23 and Justice Hitz directed that an additional panel of 150 be summoned for April 25 on which day the court will reconvene.

WORLD FLIGHTERS RESUME JOURNEY

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 16. Continuation of the flight around the world by the United States army aviators will be delayed at least a week in order that a new engine may be installed in the cruiser Seattle, which was forced down yesterday near Cape Igvak, according to a wireless message received here from Major Frederick L. Martin, pilot of the plane.

Major Martin, commander of the army flying squadron, sent his message from the destroyer Hull, which is taking him and his plane to Kanatak, at the head of Portage Bay.

Major Martin was rescued at 9 o'clock this morning by the U. S. destroyer Hull in Portage Bay, with his mechanician, Sergeant Alva Harvey, after having been compelled to descend yesterday because of a bolt in the plane's crank case.

While two forces of republican senators formed battle lines in the senate to fight out whether the investigation of the affairs of the internal revenue bureau shall go ahead. It became known that Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania, was the man who recommended to Senator James Couzens of Michigan the employment of Francis J. Heney as special counsel to the senate committee named to probe the bureau.

The Day In Washington

The senate by a vote of 71 to 4 reaffirmed its action in favor of Japanese exclusion.

Selection of grand jury to deal with disclosures of the senate oil committee was deferred until April 25.

The house passed a bill for disseminating information to aid the farmers in adjusting their crops to world needs.

The senate committee to investigate the indictment of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, decided to begin hearings tomorrow.

Members of the new naval oil conservation commission decided on a broad policy of preservation of the navy's oil reserves.

Robert Lansing, former secretary of state, was selected by President Coolidge as one of the members of the New Mexican claims commission.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, defended President Coolidge's special message in regard to investigations, in a senate speech.

It was learned that a proposal to send the Pacific battle fleet on a cruise to Australia in July, 1925, is under consideration at the navy department.

Congressional circles speculated on a reference of Secretary Hughes in his New York speech to possibility of sending an American official representative to the league of nations.

The Daugherty committee heard new charges by Gaston B. Means relating to former Attorney General Daugherty and allegations of irregularity in the administration of alien property under the Wilson administration.

Gaston B. Means Bemeans Many High Up Officers

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Two former attorneys general of the United States, A. Mitchell Palmer and Harry M. Daugherty, and one former governor-general of the Philipine Islands, Francis Burton Harrison, were accused of serious and personal wrong doing during rapidly shifting testimony before the senate Daugherty investigating committee.

Only two witnesses were heard, one Gaston B. Means, investigator long active in land and domestic affairs and the other George W. Storck, accountant for the department of justice, but out of the web of their stories were developed repeated accusations of monetary misconduct and later of default in department of justice prosecutions.

Means took his account of bribe leading straight to the door of Mr. Daugherty by repeating statements he ascribed to Jess W. Smith, the late companion of the former attorney general. He also confirmed and extended impressions left by Storck whose testimony was a prolonged report of the investigation made by himself upon the order of John W. H. Crim, former assistant attorney general, into the conduct of the alien property office.

In the brisk play of questions and answers Means described Palmer "looking scared to death" coming out of Mr. Daugherty's office after charges against his administration of alien property had been pushed to the point of a mention of indictment.

One moment of the session the committee devoted to Howard Mannington of Ohio, when its "prosecutor," Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, demanded the production of this witness by Mr. Daugherty's counsel, in spite of his own refusal to appear.

BORAH HEADS WHEELER PROBE

Senate Will Investigate Charges Against Montana Senator

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Senatorial investigation of the indictment of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, prosecutor of the Daughtery committee, by a federal grand jury in his own state, will get under way tomorrow before a special committee of which Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, is chairman.

Gordon Campbell, a geologist of Great Falls, from whom Senator Wheeler is accused in the indictment of accepting money for prosecuting oil lease claims before the interior department after his election to the senate, probably will be the first witness.

Campbell arrived here today from Montana. He was accompanied by James Baldwin of Butte, law partner of Senator Wheeler, and former Representative Thomas Stout of Lewiston, who also have been summoned before the committee.

Blair Coan also arrived here today from Montana to appear as a witness. He was summoned as an agent of the department of justice, but W. J. Burns, director of the justice department's bureau of investigation

WILLIAMS CASE ARGUED TODAY

Defendants Wife Collapses And Becomes Hysterical In Court Room

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, April 16.—Arguments in the trial of E. C. Williams, charged with murder in connection with the killing of P. E. Pickett near Oklaunion on October 30, 1923, will be heard Thursday afternoon it was announced in the courtroom this afternoon. All the evidence is in and the jury only awaits the arguments of the prosecution and defendant before rendering their verdict.

Today marked the third day of the trial and was featured the questioning of the defendant's wife and his 16-year-old son, Dewey Williams, both eye witnesses to the shooting. Mrs. Williams collapsed and became hysterical during her testimony and required medical attention before the trial could proceed. Because of her weak physical condition she was questioned only briefly. Both Mrs. Williams and her son, Dewey, corroborated in all essential details the testimony of others concerning incidents leading up to the shooting and the actual shooting itself.

Other witnesses placed on the stand were Mrs. P. E. Pickett and her 12-year-old daughter, Marie. B. A. Clapp of Lillian was placed on the stand to testify concerning alleged business relations with Williams preceding the shooting, and Charlie Brown, local cafe proprietor, was brought forward by the defense to refute certain portions of the state's evidence, especially that given by A. J. Brown.

It is very likely that a verdict will be returned by the jury in this case before nightfall tomorrow. Arguments will be heard in the afternoon.

Texas As Gaul Is Divided Governor Says

One Crowd For McAdoo And Another For Democracy; Pat For Latter.

By The Associated Press.

McKINNEY, Texas, April 16.—Getting down to what he described as "brass tacks" Governor Pat M. Neff carrying his campaign into north Texas for an "untied" delegation to the democratic national convention this afternoon told why he opposed a delegation pledged to William G. McAdoo.

"McAdoo is the seller of political influence," the governor said.

The governor referred to investigation of oil matters and said:

"Here is the evidence from Mr. Doheny himself, the man who hired him. Doheny testified 'of all the men of influence whom I employed I have not met any, not even McAdoo, who did not do the utmost,' in other words Mr. McAdoo delivered.

"McAdoo admits that his employment at $25,000 a year as attorney for the oil interests was politically unwise because as soon as this became public knowledge he dropped the contract.

"After the Youngstown Steel company had paid into the United States treasury its taxes it came to the conclusion that it had paid about $2,000,000 too much. Thereupon by hiring Mr. McAdoo the company made an effort to get these alleged excess taxes out of the very department Mr. McAdoo had been the head of. McAdoo went to his old employees and associates and persuaded them to pay back this $2,000,000 out of which he kept a fee of $150,000."

"Texas democracy at present seems to be like ancient Gaul divided," the governor concluded. "One part is for McAdoo first, last and all the time, while another part is for the democratic party, first, last and all the time. I belong to this last division of Texas democracy. I place measures above men and principles above politics. The success of democracy is more important than the personal fortunes of any man. We do not want the democratic party to lose the presidency of the nation on account of any one man. With this in view we want to send a Texas delegation to the New York convention that has more interest in the success of democracy and the welfare of the nation than in any individual."

Hull Accuses Hughes Of Trying to Gloss G.O.P. Corruptions

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The speech of Secretary Hughes at the republican state convention in New York last night was assailed in a statement today by Chairman Hull of the democratic national committee as an attempt to "gloss over the wholesale corruption found in the government during the past three years."

"Having publicly offered an earnest defense of Newberry and Newberryism some months ago," Mr. Hull said, "it is not surprising that Secretary of State Hughes is willing to attempt a defense of any republican national administration, no matter how low its standards of ethics and of morals.

"In the face of the further fact that the achievements of President Coolidge thus far are not above commonplace, Secretary Hughes undertakes to laud him as an "ideal executive" who cannot be surpassed in this day and time. Naturally Secretary Hughes can only find one peg on which to hang his statement and that is the good character of President Coolidge. This is a wholly false assumption because there are tens of millions of American citizens of equally good character. Character alone is not sufficient for 'an ideal president.' Core, initiative, decision, constructive statesmanship, an aggressive leadership which render one capable of substantial achievements are indispensable qualifications for a successful president."

'WHO IS JESUS CHRIST' TEXT OF BISHOP H. A. BOAZ

Large Week Night Church Crowd Hears Sermon

TELLS DOCTRINE

Defends Virgin Birth And Other Orthodox Questions

By far the largest week night crowd that has attended the meeting of the First Methodist church, south, Tenth and Lamar, the past ten days, heard Bishop Boaz last evening in his sermon which was in part the following:

Text: Matt. 16:15, "Who do you say that I am?" This question was asked by our Lord of his disciples. I am asking each one of you to answer this question in your own minds tonight while I talk to you.

The public ministry of Jesus lasted about three years. The first year is known as "the year of obscurity" and was spent altogether in Judea. During this time the apostles were called, the first miracle at Cana was wrought, the famous interview with Nicodemus occurred, and the cleansing of the temple took place. But little is known of the first year of our Lord's ministry, and what little we know we have learned mostly from the gospel of John. Perhaps the disciples had not yet fully recognized the supreme importance of the mission of this Galilean.

The second year is known as "the year of public favor" and was spent almost entirely within the borders of Galilee. His fame was spreading rapidly throughout the country. His miracles were attracting wide attention. His teachings, also, were the cause of excited comment. Thousands were attending Him everywhere. The sick were thronging His way and were being healed. His praise was on every tongue. The common people heard Him gladly. Hope rises high that He is the long looked for Messiah.

The third year is known as "the year of opposition." About six months of this year were spent in Galilee, and the remaining part in out of the way places and on His way up to the City of Jerusalem. During this time, he was seeking frequently quiet places of retreat that He might have opportunity to teach His immediate disciples more thoroughly. The opposition to Him and to His work was growing stronger every day. At first the Sadducees and Herodians had paid but little attention to the Galilean prophet. They were busy with other things, but now it seems a new revolt is about to occur.

They fear an uprising of the Jews and know that in consequence of such an uprising Roman oppression would be felt more strongly than ever. So the ruling classes think it is time to check the progress of this wonderful prophet. They begin their plans of opposition. The Pharisees and scribes were offended, also, because Jesus was not in accordance with their views of the coming Messiah. Opposition arises on every hand. The voices He now hears are not the voices of praise and admiration, but of opposition, bitter and malignant. It is natural that under such conditions He should seek quiet places of retreat. On one of these occasions, while walking along the highway near Caesarea Philippi, He asks of His disciples the question, "Who do men say that I, the son of man, am?"

He knew full well that the multitudes had been disappointed in His ministry. He knew of the opposition of Herod and the ruling classes, and He understood the slowness of His disciples in realizing the significance of His ministry. You must remember that Jesus was man as well as God. He had the body, mind and soul of a man as well as the power and knowledge and perfections of God. I do not wonder that Jesus sometimes had a spirit of loneliness overtake Him that drove Him to the mountains for times of prayer and fasting because He was not understood by His own people. In reply to the question as to who He was, the answer came, "Some say thou art John the Baptist and others Elias or Jeremiah, or one of the prophets."

The multitudes had failed to understand. The light had shined in darkness and the darkness had comprehended it not. He was in the world

THOMPSON IN I. & G. N. HEARING

Wichitan Gives Testimony In Merge Case At Austin

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, April 16.—Hearing on application of the Gulf Coast lines to purchase stock of the International-Great Northern railroad was closed late today after six full day and night sessions. Oral arguments will be made before the interstate commerce commission in Washington by attorneys representing the line and numerous protestant interests on April 30. Both sides were given until April 29 to file briefs.

Motion that the Texas railroad commission, which heard the application for the interstate body, file recommendations was taken under advisement.

Austin business interests feel the city might be "put on a side track," Edmunds Travis, editor of the Austin Statesman, afternoon newspaper, testified. He declared he regarded the merger as violative of the Texas constitution. Main line traffic would not be carried over the Longview-San Antonio line, he predicted.

Dave O'Brien, president of the Rio Grande Valley railroad, from Brownsville to Point Isabel, asserted that the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico railroad had "destroyed" the port of Point Isabel several years ago.

R. A. Thompson, Wichita Falls civil engineer, testified he has made an inspection at the request of the road's officials during the past ten days and found the line kept in condition of safety for its traffic.

President J. S. Pyeatt of the Gulf Coast lines, the final witness, told of improvements to the Valley section of the road.

SENATE TAKES JAP VOTE AGAIN

71 to 4 Is Record of Vote Cast For Complete Exclusion

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The senate put itself formally on record today on the question of Japanese exclusion by readopting the Shortridge exclusion amendment to the immigration bill, 71 to 4.

Reconsideration of the amendment, which was approved yesterday, without a record vote, was had at the request of Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, in charge of the bill, who explained that opponents wanted an opportunity to be recorded.

After the vote on the exclusion question, the senate disposed of two other amendments, accepting without a roll call an amendment relating to "origin of nationalities" and rejecting 46 to 16 another by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, which would have closed the doors to immigration for five years.

Land Fraud Probe Shows Nothing On Creager As Yet

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Two postoffice department inspectors who investigated alleged land frauds in the lower Rio Grande valley of Texas told the senate committee investigating the matter today that they had encountered no evidence of attempts by officials either in their department or the department of justice to "stifle" the investigation. Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, committee prosecutor, has charged that R. B. Creager, Texas republican national committeeman, was implicated in the alleged frauds and that he used his political influence to head off the investigation.

TEXAS WOMAN D. A. R. SPEAKER

Tells Part Pioneers Played In State's Civic Development

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—The part that pioneer women played in the development of Texas will soon be recorded, Mrs. W. D. Garlington, state regent for Texas, told the thirty-third continental congress, Daughters of the American Revolution, here Wednesday.

The work of collecting a volume of sketches of unrecorded pioneer women of Texas who performed some outstanding service for the state is being collected by Mrs. C. T. Early, state historian, the Daughters were told.

Organization of chapters of the D. A. R. at Denton and Ranger during the year brought the total number of chapters in Texas to forty-six, with a membership of 2,916.

Discussing Americanization and patriotic education Mrs. Garlington said that Texas has three permanent scholarships with a completed endowment fund of $5,000 each and is raising a fourth.

The first is a state scholarship at the University of Texas; the second at Denton Normal school; third, at Rice Institute, which was raised by the John McKnitt Alexander chapter at Houston, and the fourth, being raised by the state organization will be placed at the Sam Houston State normal, Huntsville. Local scholarships were established at Daniel Baker and Howard Payne colleges by the Brownwood chapter and a local scholarship was given to the West Texas Teachers' college at Canyon by the Amarillo chapter.

Flags, flagpoles and flag codes were presented to recreational camps and schools, and thousands of American Creeds distributed to white, negro and Mexican schools, Mrs. Garlington said. Beaumont topped the state in the number of immigrations manuals distributed, although Wichita Falls and Gonzales made good records.

Mrs. Garlington detailed a long list of contributions by the Texas D. A. R., including those to prizes for school historical essays, scholarships, historical books to libraries, flags, American Indian Institute, Southern education fund, restoration of Louvain library, Philippine scholarship, national old trails road, social service at Ellis Island and Americanization work.

Mrs. Garlington also reported that the state historian is compiling a supplemental volume of Texas world war records. Many chapters are preserving records and data of early days in their counties and encouraging the establishment of museums.

The one real Daughter of the American Revolution in Texas, Mrs. Ellis Skidmore, died last spring and the state conference voted a fund to mark her grave, Mrs. Garlington said. The conference also voted $3,000 to place a monument to LaSalle at Navasota, near which place he is buried.

Detailing the work done by various chapters, Mrs. Garlington said:

The Dallas chapter during the year unveiled a granite marker, with bronze plate, to mark the Old Central state highway of the Republic of Texas, and the Dallas chapter is now ready to place a duplicate stone to mark the site of the old French colony, La Reunion, one of the earliest units in the building of Dallas.

The Fort Worth chapter secured the "Old Rock" used in building the first roads in Tarrant county, used it in the city's diamond jubilee and its permanent place is to be in Hyde park.

The San Angelo chapter has started a fund to mark Fort Concho.

The Abilene chapter plans to place a marker on Phantom Hill, near that city, where Robert E. Lee was in command about 1852.

Belton chapter took part in unveiling a monument to Captain John Blackburn, hero of the war of 1812.

The Taylor chapter will co-operate with the Williamson county historical society to sponsor a movement to mark all historic spots in Williamson county.

Mrs. Garlington said that the Waco chapter had taken a step that might well be followed throughout the nation. She referred to the movement which led to the elimination of all advertising matter be removed from highways approaching the city, greater beautification of city parks and a large and suitable site for tourist camps. She urged the planting of trees as memorials to the soldiers of the world war.

Stage and Screen

By JOSEPHINE FISK

Olympic—Bert Lytell in "The Meanest Man in the World."
Strand—Barbara La Marr in "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."
Mission—Reginald Denny in "Sporting Youth."
Gem—Buck Jones in "West of Chicago."

Here's a Real Treat for Film Patrons

Patrons of the Olympic theatre are in for a real treat beginning today, when "The Meanest Man in the World" will be the banner attraction. This is a film adaptation from the famous stage play of George M. Cohan and in which Mr. Cohen personally appeared for over a year in New York City. It is a First National picture.

The footlight presentation was regarded by critics as one of the outstanding features of New York and the screen version of the play is said to be to the screed what the play was to the stage.

Bert Lytell enacts the title role, and this popular player is surrounded with a cast that is truly all-star in every essence of the word. Blanche Sweet appears opposite Lytell, and others of importance include Bryant Washburn, Myron Aye, Helen Lynch, Victor Potel, Warde Crane, William Conklin, Frances Raymond and Forrest Robinson.

The story of "the meanest man" deals with the struggles of a young lawyer who is so soft-hearted he finds himself a failure because he cannot say no to anybody.

He is given his real chance, however, when he is assigned the duty of collecting a note from one J. Hudson, who resides in a little town in New York state. On his arrival he finds that J. Hudson is a girl and that the J. stands for Jane. In all towns there are the rich and the poor, and Jane Hudson, who owns the merchandise store of the town, like "the meanest man," cannot say no to the poor customers. All that Jane possesses is her stock of goods and a piece of farm land.

Hiram Leeds, the local banker, seems quite interested in buying Jane's land and becomes so insistent that the attorney decides to ascertain his real motive. He finally succeeds and brings the news to Jane that she has oil land and not farm land. By soliciting through the town, the attorney gathers sufficient money together to erect a derrick and drilling is started. Leeds has a mortgage on the property, however, and sends word to Jane he is going to foreclose at noon of the day it is due. Then the dramatic moments of the picture begin with the drillers striving to bring in the well in time. At five minutes to 12 the well gushes and Jane becomes rich. Incidentally, the attorney finds he has lost his heart for Jane Hudson and Jane finds she, too, has fallen in love.

Sporting Youth

Reginald Denny has boxed a lot of fast rounds in the "Leather Pushers" and did some pretty fast riding in "The Kentucky Derby," but all of the speed of these productions is as "slow motion" in comparison to the blaze of speed that Reg shows in "Sporting Youth," his newest Universal-Jewel feature in which he may now be seen at the Mission theatre. He plays the role of an automobile racing driver and Denny is noted in the film colony for racing driving, so the things he does in that play are aplenty. The story is from the pen of the famous Byron Morgan and Harry A. Pollard directed its filming.

Moreno's Voice Gave Him First Movie Job

Because his voice was endowed with the noise-making qualities of a foghorn, Antonio oreno got his first job in motion pictures.

In 1912, at the New York Rex studios a two-reel "super-feature" was being made called "The Voice of Millions." It contained a big mob scene and the director wanted a man with a deep, detonating, penetrating voice to lead the mob into the camera's eye. There were voice tests. And Moreno, who is now being co-starred with Agnes Ayres in SamsWood's "Bluff," a Paramount picture, got the job.

Bert Lytell and Helen Lynch in "The Meanest Man in the World."

Players Familiar With Spanish Locale.

Authenticity of atmosphere in George Melford's "Tiger Love" for Paramount was assured by the fact that four principals in the cast had traveled in Spain, the story's locale.

Antonio Moreno, who is co-featured with Estelle Taylor in this vehicle, was born in Madrid and lived in Spain for many years. David Torrence toured Spain with his brother, Ernest, on a vacation in the fall of 1908; Snits Edwards played with the Hanlon Brothers in "A Trip to Switzerland" in every principal Spanish city 1885 and Monti Collins appeared with the Boland Troupe in Madrid and Seville in 1892.

"Men", Dimitri Buchwetzki's first American production, with Pola Negri in the starring role, has been completed at the Paramount West Coast studio. Like all but three of Buchowetzki's pictures, the story is an original by the director. Paul Bern adapted it to the screen. Supporting Miss Negri are Robert W. Frazier, Robert Edeson, Josef Swickard, Monti Collins, Gino Corrado and Edgar Norton.

Maurice Coleburn, well known English actor, is soon to make his debut before the camera in the role of Molyneux in "Monsieur Beaucaire," the Sidney Olcott production in which Rudolph Valentino is starring for Paramount. Coleburn is at present doubling up on his stage and screen work, as he plays Molyneux at the Long Island Studio during the day and at night appears in "Saint Joan."

Before beginning work recently on "The Confidence Man," his new Paramount picture, Thomas Meighan paid a visit to Sing Sing where he talked with several men who are now serving sentences. Later Warden Lawes, whom Mr. Meighan had known for some time, visited the Long Island Studio and acted as critic during the filming of a number of scenes.

Donald Hall has been added to the cast of "Ungarded Women," the Alan Crosland production for Paramount featuring Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix.

IOWA PARK, April 16.—Beginning with the university inter-scholastic meet of District No. 4 which includes more counties and the city of Wichita Falls which will convene in Iowa Park Friday, April 18th and 19th, and continuing through the 28th of this month, which is the closing date of the rodeo, Iowa Park will entertain many thousands of visitors. Possibly 400 contestants in both literary and track events will assemble to compete at the district meet next Friday and Saturday, and around one thousand visitors are expected to also attend to encourage their particular entries. This is the third successive year which Iowa Park has entertained this meet, which is considered a great compliment on the hospitality of the city.

Closely following upon the school meet, the district conference, of the Methodist church, south of the Wichita Falls district will convene in the city for three days, beginning Tuesday, April 22nd. This will be presided over by the Rev. F. M. Richardson of Wichita Falls, presiding elder of this district. A large attendance is being expected from the entire district and a very strong program has been arranged, which includes Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university of Dallas, Bishop H. A. Boaz, and many other notable speakers.

On the closing day of the Methodist conference, Tom L. Burnett's Triangle ranch rodeo will open, and continue through the 27th at which time many thousands more visitors will have an opportunity to see what the "gateway to the big irrigated valley" has to offer.

Sues Man For $15,000 Alienation Wife's Affections

W. P. Saunders filed suit Wednesday in the Seventy-eighth district court against J. W. Fowler, asking damages to the extent of $15,000 and basing his claims on the alleged alienation of his wife's affections and the ruin of a once happy home.

The plaintiff states in his petition he was married to his wife in Kaufman county, but that they have lived in Wichita Falls for the last few years, raising a family of three children here.

He declares that as a result of the wrongful, deceitful and wilful conduct of the defendant on January 27 of this year his wife was induced to leave her home.

He asks for $10,000 actual damages and for $5,000 exemplary damages.

60 SCOUTS WILL TAKE HIKE SATURDAY

Sixty boys who have been taking the patrol leader's course in Boy Scout training, will meet Saturday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church, and will go on a hike to complete the required work in the course. This is the final meeting of the school which has had a successful term, Frank B. Creighton, Scout executive, announced. The average attendance of the class has been 54.

The work to be taught on the hike includes may making, judging, fire building, knife and axe, and cooking.

The boys are asked to bring the following equipment for the work: Compass, 12-inch ruler, pencil, smooth piece of plank or heaver board, 15x18 inches, an axe, knife and notebook.

For the preparation of meals, each boy should provide himself with a mess kit, knife, spoon, fork and cup. Each individual is to take enough food for one meal, the executive stated.

Former Wichita Girl Is Moving Picture Producer

The youngest producer in motion pictures at Hollywood is a former Wichita Falls girl, according to information received from Los Angeles Wednesday. Marje Wood, 15, pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Wood, formerly of this city, has written a story, "The King's Jester," which she plans to film shortly.

The Wood family is well known in Wichita Falls which was their home for eight years, having moved to Los Angeles two years ago.

Marie is a student in the Hollywood high school, and has recently finished her story which she plans to produce with an unusual company. None of the characters are to be over 15 years of age except the camera man who is 22. The actors and actresses are to be chosen from her high school friends, though some of them will be younger. Parents of the children are helping to promote the production which will be made in one of the rental studios of Hollywood.

Miss Wood has done parts in movies, having taken flapper and juvenile parts in several studios.

Mothers AND THEIR CHILDREN

When Strawberries are Ripe.

One Mother Says:
For the fruit course at breakfast during the strawberry season the children will like strawberry toast, which they can prepare themselves. Toast the slices of bread a light brown in color, moisten with hot water and sprinkle with sugar. On the top heap crushed strawberries, lightly sweetened. This may also be made into a dessert for the children by soaking the toast in milk and after the strawberries are put on the top covering with beaten egg whites sweetened and flavored.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives you can have that momen more free from suffering than yo have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-76, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores.

$5 Powders

The kind I use—at very modest prices
By Edna Wallace Hopper.

The powders we use in Movieland cost us $5 per box. Beauty is our stock in trade, and we care not what it costs. I have offered to other women my helps to youth and beauty. The very creations which France supplied me, which made me a famous beauty, and which have kept my youthful beauty to a grand old age.

But I did not think of powders. I never dreamed that the powders I use could be sold at modest prices.

Women by the thousands asked about my powders. So I showed the makers that millions of boxes could be sold to users of my beauty helps. And they offered me those identical powders, made under my name, to be sold at 50c and $1.00.

Few ever used them

Up to now, few women have ever used a powder so exquisite. Few could afford the price. Now I bring them to you—the finest powders experts can create. They are as fine as vapor, as harmless as dew. And all are fragrant with my favorite perfume. Now the powders used by stage and movie beauties can be used by all who wish.

There are two kinds, light and heavy. I use a cold cream powder, with a base like my Youth Cream. It clings and stays. But some like a powder light and fluffy, without the cold cream base. So I had both kinds prepared.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream Powder—the heavy, clinging powder—sells for $1. Edna Wallace Hopper's Face Powder—the light and fluffy powder—sells for 50c. Both come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

All druggists and toilet counters now supply my helps to youth and beauty, and my powders, too. These are the French creations which made me what I am. My Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. My Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. My Beauty Book comes with each.

I offer them in the hope to bring millions the benefits I got. Powders are incidental. But now you can get them also, and I am very glad for your sake. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. —Adv.

AN AMERICAN CLIMBER.

America is the land of opportunity. There is no lai like it. Patrick Edward Crowley will subscribe to this. Not long since Alfred H. Smith, the highest salaried railroad official in America, was thrown from his horse in Central Park and killed. He had been the president of the New York Central railroad for many years. Smith began life as a waterboy for a section gang and climbed to the top. Patrick E. Crowley, his successor, a native New Yorker, began his wage earning career a telegraph messenger boy on the Erie railroad at five dollars a month.

Now at sixty he is recognized as one of the greatest rail operators in the world and is the successor of the man who was known as the highest salaried official. Crowley became a telegraph operator, a train dispatcher, a division superintendent, a general superintendent, a vice-president and now he is the president of the Central.

It just didn't happen. Crowley was not a creature of luck. He worked his way from the bottom to the top and the employes of the line as well as the high officials, all call him Pat. He is ever at peace with the rail brotherhoods. He knows how to win the affections of men. He knows how to recognize and reward merit whenever and wherever he finds it.

Alfred H. Smith, the waterboy, who climbed to the top, never had a pull. He knew how to operate a railroad better than most operators. Patrick E. Crowley, the former messenger boy, never had a pull. Next to Smith he was looked upon as the most practical as well as the most successful of rail operators.

Now he is wearing the shoes of Smith. Yes, America is the land of golden opportunity. There is no other land like it. Here democracy was cradled and here the race is to the efficient, the daring, the wise and the upright.

DOPE RING IS A MYTH.

Drug peddlers do not stand on the street corners of New York or Los Angeles or any other American city soliciting business from school children, the international dope ring is a myth; there has been no precipitous increase in narcotic conditions among the American people in the last ten years.

This is the verdict returned by Police Commissioner Richard Enright of New York, recognized as the foremost police authority of America. It is the verdict returned by the bureau of drug addictions sponsored by the University of Southern California. Police Commissioner Enright in his report makes the interesting announcement that there has never been a case discovered of the selling of dope to a boy or girl attending the public schools of the city of New York; that there is a nationwide organization for the supression of the sale of narcotics and the elimination of dope sellers which has its solicitors for funds everywhere in America.

These solicitors and the publicity agents of the organization are responsible for the international dope ring literature and the so-called wild charges that thousands of school children are buyers and users of narcotics. It is an easy way to make a living on the part of those who are engaged in publicity and propaganda work unless Police Commissioner Enright is a falsifier and H. L. Kirby, drector of the University of Southern California Bureau, is controlled by that myth known as the international dope ring.

NOT A SLEEPY CITY.

Philadelphia is considered a very sleepy old town by the Manhattan Island dwellers. If so, the live wires must be coming out of their trance. Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company is in the market for $75,000,000 to finance the construction of a railroad station in Philadelphia designed to supplant the Broad street station.

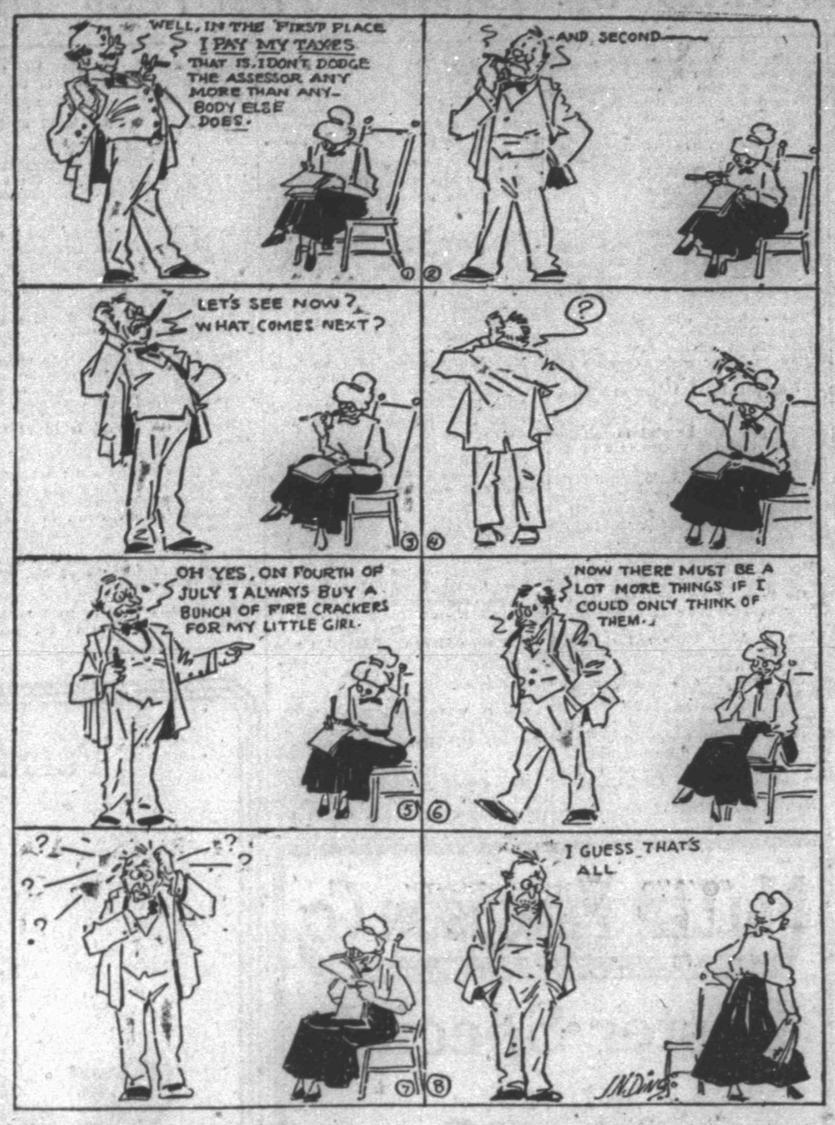

Ultimately it will be larger than the Pennsylvania station in New York. It is said that the work will be financed by an issue of long term bonds and when constructed the Broad street station will be the finest railway depot in the world.

JUST HOW MUCH DO YOU DO TO HELP RUN THE GOVERNMENT?

The Kiss of Pharaoh

In one respect there was no more mysterious figure in the whole court than Herotah, whom Pharaoh loved with blind, consuming passion, and whose beauty was spread abroad as a proverb.

Few knew, for instance, that in her earlier days she had been carried captive, with her sister, into Numidia, through the incursion of a hostile tribe; that here her sister had been rescued by a noble Egyptian, had loved him, married him and borne him a child.

None but Herotah herself, she believed, knew how—when her sister and her husband had been killed during a desert raid—she had escaped with their child. After almost incredible suffering and hardship, they had at last returned to Egypt, where Herotah's amazing beauty had brought her to the court of Akhnaton. In due course she had become his consort and reigned with him as queen of the great dominion of the east.

But of her sister's child, whom she had sworn to protect, she had said nothing. Fearing for his life, she had placed him in the care of a faithful slave. He was a beautiful boy. His name was Tut-tut and the blood of nobility coursed through his veins. The secret of his birth had been well kept in the Queen's breast: yet, this day, she had given this secret to another.

She had never loved the dark and malignant Pharaoh. Further, she was a devout worshipper at the shrine of Amon and, when her husband had defaced the god and established Aton as the prevailing deity, Herotah had sworn secret allegiance to the cause of Amon.

"There shall come another king out of obscurity," old ah Neb had said.

A new king! Was not this child, whom she loved, a son of the nobility? Might he not be sat apart to uphold the cause of Amon, to wrest the throne from the heretic Aknaton, and, as the succeeding king, to re-establish the deposed deity?

"There shall come another king . . ."

Seated at the feet of his mistress, the pretty Charmion, who had been trusted with the secret as the only one in the whole court whom Herotah could confide in, was wont to smile gently and caress the Queen's fair hand.

"Thou art dreaming, O Son of So Great Beauty? Thou art thinking of . . ."

Herotah frowned slightly and grasped her attendant's arm.

"Peace, child! Even the walls have ears in this palace. We must not speak . . . we must not even think of him, lest our lips betray the tide of our minds. Hist! Someone approacheth! Go thou and see who it may be."

Charmion had already risen and moved to the doors. Some one without had knocked softly upon the panels.

"It is I," the deep voice of Hiljah chanted, and Charmion, her cheeks a trifle pale, turned to her mistress.

"Fair one, it is the High Counsellor."

The Queen had heard, and she was already bracing herself for a meeting with the cunning, wily Nubian. She turned to her attendant with a little sigh.

"It is well, Charmion. Open the doors. I am ready."

The girl did as she was bidden, and the squat form of Hiljah entered. His features were contorted with something akin to a leer—something which Hiljah, however, intended to be regarded as a smile of great pleasure.

"Ah," he began, as he approached the Queen, "thou art in a fit and proper setting, fair jewel of Egypt. Thy beauty dazzles me today. Thou dost well to rest, Herotah. Great beauty such as thine is needful of great study and attention."

Herotah forced a chilly smile and bowed her graceful head slowly.

"It is my custom to recline at this time of the day, counsellor. It is well that I should remain at rest. What desirest thou of me?"

Hiljah frowned slightly, but he gave no sign of annoyance at such a plain hint. He waved his hand condescendingly at Charmion.

"Leave us, girl. I would speak with thy mistress alone!"

But Herotah had risen, anger illuminating her dark eyes.

"Did I hear thee give an order to mine attendant, counsellor? I would have thee understand that such a word is for my lips alone. But as thou wilt!" she finished, with a despairing gesture, as she noted the severe lines about the Nubian's lips. "Charmion, leave us. I will send for thee anon."

CHAPTER VIII

A Threat.

Herotah lay back upon the divan and assumed a casual air of indifference.

"Thou hast set the stage to thy lying, counsellor. Proceed, I beg of thee, at once."

Hiljah shrugged his shoulders and came a little nearer. "There is ample time, Herotah. Are we not alone, you and I?" His tone was suggestive. His gaze followed the lines of her figure and came to rest on her beautiful face. "Oh, thou art indeed so fair that none can approach thee for such perfection . . . ."

Something in the Queen's eyes checked him momentarily, and in that pause the woman rose. Her slender form seemed to rise above this stooping, crafty Nubian, but the grace of her movements only caused him to discard further the silky suggestiveness in his manner and reveal his inner feelings. He came so near that Herotah could feel his hot breath upon her shoulder.

"Herotah, I love thee!" he cried, openly a prey to great passion. "There have been nights when I could not sleep for thinking of thee. There have been days when the sigh of thee hath dazed mine eyes. Fairest flower in the garden of beauty, my passion is too great. I cannot . . ."

Herotah had drawn herself from his clutching, trembling grasp, and now, her beautiful lips compressed, she seemed unable to voice her anger and indignation, for want of words sufficient to express her burning wrath. Hiljah had understood and stepped back a pace ere she spoke.

"Thou!" she cried, as though addressing something utterly despicable. "What hath come upon thee? Is it for a slave to covet a monarch's consort? Doth the poor, vile Hiljah dare to speak thus to Herotah, Queen of all Egypt! Ah," her whole frame trembled under the power of her wrath, "thou makest me sick by thy voice and presence. Go! Thy master, Pharaoh, shall hear of this. For this insult to my beauty, counsellor, thou shalt be cast from the palace ere the sun hath set. Thou shalt be spurned, and esteemed for what thou art indeed— a Nubian, of the same vile breed as the slaves who guard the doors but 10 paces from where thou standest. Go, immediately, I say, or I will summon them hence and thou shalt not live to make thine excuses to thy master."

Under this torrent of wrath Hiljah had not moved. There was only to be noticed that the cunning leer upon his yellow features had intensified somewhat, and his eyes became almost hidden in the wrinkles above his cheekbones. His answer was delivered almost in a whisper—yet, even so, the hissing sound that came from between his lips struck fear into the heart of the Queen.

"So?" he began, chafing his lean hands. "Is it thus? Wouldst thou insult the favored servant of a Pharoah . . . .thou who thyself art but a woman? Ah . . .it would be unwise of thee to give way in such a manner to thine anger, Herotah. I, too, have news of much interest for his ears."

The Queen recoiled, frightened and utterly taken aback, but she recovered almost instantly and faced the Nubian again.

"Indeed, counsellor? And what is this that thou hast for the ears of Pharaoh?"

But if Hiljah was so utterly calm, it was merely because in such a way his anger found expression. Only a scarcely perceptible trembling of the fingers gave indication of the torment that raged in his heart.

Without a further word he turned and shuffled to the doors, his crooked form passing out of vision, and the soft pad-pad of his sandals dying away as he moved along the marble corridor.

Herotah was almost on the verge of fainting, when Charmion returned. The girl rushed to her side immediately.

"O Beloved! What ails thee, Fair One?"

Cooling her fevered brow with a cold hand and arm, the Queen sighed hopelessly.

"It is nothing of account, my Charmion. Only it were better that thy mistress were dead than that she should endure the wrath of Pharaoh this night. Kiss me, child. Thou alone art my friend. I fear . . ."

And then, with another sigh, the beautiful Queen sank deeper into the cushions, and the torment in her brain darkened into oblivion.

She had fainted. . . . ."

CHAPTER IX

Meanwhile the high counsellor had passed again into the presence of Pharaoh, and bowed slowly, requesting an immediate audience on business of great moment.

Akhnaton shrugged his shoulders indifferently and bade Hiljah be seated.

"If thou must, then speak. Doth this further visit concern Rah Neb and his priests of the evil Amon, at the secret meeting this day?"

So Goes It

Another sure sign of a live town is when the folks in that town like clean sports. We might follow our opening remarks by saying that there isn't a better baseball town on the map—size considered—than Wichita Falls.

The crowd which saw yesterday's opening game would convince the most skeptical. Opening day is a day in Wichita Falls history. Everyone can't go to the game, but all who can are there. They guzzle a lot of pop yell themselves hoarse and have a good time generally.

It's that sort of thing that makes old folks young again and keeps the young from going old. Wichita Falls baseball club is more than a ball club—it is an institution. More power to it—win or lose.

Some folks can go to sleep in a picture show but few get any chance to rest at a good ball game.

The price paid for a ball player is not always in keeping with his ability. Some of them do not live up to their advance notices.

One of the greatest joys that baseball will bring us this year is that there will be less space in the newspapers for the senatorial investigations in Washington.

And if there are enough good fans on the investigating committee of the investigations may be called on account of darkness.

There isn't much prospect for a winning score anyhow, in that investigating business.

The usually play about sixteen innings, and wind up with a nothing to nothing finish.

So while the world wags wearily on, the great mass of the American people will center their attention for a few months on that burning question: "What's the score?"

TO A GRASSMOPPER

We never doubted Aesop's word,
That you were but a wastrel oaf,
Who, while your betters toiled, preferred
To sing, or lie around and loaf.
We thought our feet were well employed,
When on your form we chanced to trample;
We taught our children to avoid
Your bad example.

With Aesop we have praised the ant
Who does his work all summer long,
And never takes out time to chant
An idle, foolish buzzing song,
Although his face is somewhat grim,
The while he plies his occupation,
We've frequently extended him
Our admiration.

But now that aviators learn,
While watching your erratic flight,
The surest way to wheel and turn
And guide their whirring planes aright;
We see, oh skillful loop-the-looper,
That you've been cheated of your glory,
For you are really not so super-
Erogatory.

As for the ant—though like a horse
He grunts and sweats the summer through,
He only follows nature's course,
And what good does the creature do?
And you, who emulate the slug,—
Whose life too dissolute and free is,
We hold you're still a better bug
Than he is!

Some Soil Elements.

Sometime ago we gave a list of s of the more common elements fo in the soil and used by plants. T elements were divided into two cla metals and non-metals.

The metals were aluminum, sod iron, calcium, manganese, potass and magnesium.

Spudders Take Opener From Gassers, 14-5

HIPPO HODGES GOES ALL WAY WHILE TANNERMEN SLAM TWO PITCHERS; 5,000 SEE GAME

Before crowded stands holding over 5,000 fans, Tanner's Wichita Falls Spudders stacked an overwhelming defeat onto the Shreveport Gassers at Athletic park Wednesday afternoon, and took the opening game of the season, 14 to 5. The circuit was started off with ideal weather.

Wichita Falls hit both Schilling and Mack freely, for 17 hits, while Hippo Hodges was holding the Shreveport batsmen to seven scattered safe ones, the whole route. Errors by both clubs contributed to the scoring.

Mayor Frank Collier opened the game and the series here by pitching the first ball, Fire Chief McClure being behind the bat. Just preceding the opening, a beautiful silver gift was made by fans to Manager Buddy Tanner and wife, Judge H. F. Weldon making the presentation. In reply, the new Spudder skipper thanked the friends for the remembrance, and took his men out on the field with the terse statement:

"We'll go out and give 'em a battle."

Manager Ira Thomas of the Gassers and his players were lined up with the Wichita Falls club around home plate during the short address by Judge Weldon. The speaker, in making the presentation to Tanner, commended him for his services to Wichita Falls and gave him the hearty wishes and support of all fans for a great season.

Buddy Tanner stood to his word, and gave to the embattled Shreveport club the walloping of a life time. Schilling, touted as ace of the Gassers, had little luck and could evidently not get his deliveries to break. Hippo Hodges, southpaw was in his stride and held down the Gassers while his teammates were batting out the victory.

Wichita Hard to Catch.

Buddy Tanner won his first game in the managerial togs after a hearty fashion. Starting off in the first inning, his men tallied in five out of eight times at bat. Four were garnered in the first, two in the second, one in the fifth, three in the sixth, and four in the lucky seventh.

Shreveport were six markers in the hole when they put one across the plate in the third frame. The other four were registered in the sixth and eighth innings, three and one, respectively. The Gassers scoring spree in the sixth promised a closer contest, the count standing four to seven after their portion of the frame. But a like number of runs in the Wichita Falls half, put things back to the former account.

Hit and Run.

It was a matter of hit and run for the Spudders, certainly after the comfortable lead was taken. In the first, Coombs, first up, went around to second base on French's muff of his high fly back to right field fence. Tanner promptly sacrificed Coombs to third. Weiss singled past short, scoring Coombs. Fitzgerald singled, Weiss going to second. Turgeon knocked a hot grounder to Sargent, who booted it, and Weiss scored. Callaghan grounded to Orr, who was slow on his job to second, and the bases were loaded. White was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in Fitzgerald, and filling the bases. Jonnard popped out to Sargent. Hodges popped high between the plate and the box, which fell between Zeider and Schilling for a base hit. Turgeon scored. Coombs, batting his second time for the inning, grounded to Zeider, who bagged White at third.

The two in the second were on two hits and an error. Tanner, first up, grounded out to Orr. Weiss walked. Fitzgerald got his second one-ply knock in succession, going to second and Weiss to third on French's muff of the grounder. Turgeon doubled to right centerfield, scoring Weiss and Fitzgerald. Turgeon went to third on Callaghan's grounded, but was out, Sargent to Graham on an attempted double steal with White, who walked.

Innings three and four were lean ones for the home club, another start being made in the fifth. Callaghan dropped a pretty bunt down first base line and beat it out, but was called out after a conference for interfering with the ball. White filed out to Eichrodt, who made a nice catch of the ball running in. Jonnard drove out a hard drive to left center. Hodges made his second one safe in right field, Jonnard taking second. Coombs slammed out the third one-base hit in a row, which scored Jonnard. Tanner's third strike was called, retiring the side.

Two errors and two hits were good for three markers in the sixth. Weiss was on on Sargent's error. Fitzgerald singled, and Turgeon's single following scored Weiss. Callaghan walked, filling the bases. White whiffed, but Jonnard sent in Fitzgerald on a sacrifice hit. Sargent's throw was bad at first, and Turgeon scored. Hodges grounded out to the pitcher.

The last four were easy. Coombs singled, Tanner and Weiss doubled, in a row, which were good for two tallies. Fitzgerald sacrificed Weiss to third. Turgeon was hit by a pitched ball. Callaghan sacrificed Weiss home, and Turgeon scored from second on White's single. Jonnard walked, but Hodges flied out to Orr.

Gassers 1-3-1.

Shreveport did their counting on six hits, wasting only one safe blow the entire contest. Two errors, one in each of two instances of scoring, were used very much to advantage.

In the third inning first nest-egg was salted away. Schilling, first up, grounded out to Coombs. French walked, and went to second on Zeider's single. He scored on White's muff of Sullivans high pop-up, Zeider going to third. Riley had whiffed in the meantime, and Orr ended the scoring there by flying out to Weiss.

The big three in the sixth were off a single, double, and error. Wiley walked. Sullivan singled. Orr sacrificed Riley to third, and he scored on Sargent's double. Sullivan scored from third on Weiss's muff of the ball. Jonnard let a pitched ball by, and Sargent tallied from third. Eichrodt walked. Graham flied out to Weiss, and Donaldson, batting for Schilling, struck out, and ended the rally.

The last one, in the eighth, was gained after two men were down. Orr grounded out, Sargent flied out. Eichrodt singled, went to second on Graham's single, and scored on Mack's single. The woods were full of safe hits for the Gassers, for the first time in the game. French ended the scoring when he flied out to Callaghan.

They were out one, two, three, in the ninth, after the Spudders went scoreless in the eighth.

Dempsey Eats Oysters

By The Associated Press.

GALVESTON, Tex., April 16.—Another title was annexed by the Dempsey family here today. In this case it was not the renown Jack, but was W. A. J. Dempsey of Austin, state president of the Texas Bricklayers' union, who was awarded a medal for consuming more oysters than anyone else attending the state Bricklayers' convention.

The convention, in session since Monday, probably will close tomorrow afternoon.

Little Rock may have some Indian blood on its pitching staff. Clyde Youngblood, part red man, is trying for a mound job.

Miller Huggins picks the New York Giants to win again. Is it a hope on Hug's part or is he kidding Jawn McGraw?

Ted Moore, a middleweight, is now carrying on a one-man campaign in the United States to put British boxing back on its feet. He appears now about ripe to dislodge Mr. Harry Greb from his throne.

Today's Iron

By T. T. HUNT.

As Skipper Buddy remarked, the Gassers were given a battle.

There are those who may have not known exactly how the Hippo stands in these circles. The big boy went a long way yesterday to gain many friends.

Granting that errors were made and at inopportune times, there was plenty of pretty fielding all the time, opening day. Pete Turgeon made another of his one-hand stops, and though too late, made a perfect throw to first. Cecil Coombs, Spudder field captain, gently raised up and dragged down a hit out of the air. It must be remembered that Sargent, although off somewhat at times, played a good double at a critical moment.

The Beaumont boys boast over six thousand at their opener. Time enough to figure this out when the count is made. There was little elbow room in Athletic Park stands. That's good for a starter.

Many and various large scores were piled up in the Texas league, the first games of the season.

Casey Stengel won another game with a homer. Too bad he wasn't hitting against the Giants.

It has been oft remarked that a player sent down, around, or off somewhere, will get back his sale price at another meeting.

Eddie Collins did his little trick of the day with only a single.

Artie "Buren" Weiss batted himself a near perfect day. In four times at bat he singled twice and doubled. The other time he got on on an error. Incidentally, the Spudder leftfield gardener walked a couple of times. He scored four runs.

Skipper Tanner did himself proud. Three safe blows and a sacrifice are not bad for any day, in five times at bat. Two of same were doubles, which makes it all the more valuable.

Fitzgerald got three singles, sacrificed once, and made three tallies. Hodges, the great, connected for two singles, one of which might be set as a mark for any touted batter. To knock a long single falling within twenty feet of the plate is a knockout.

Hits, and runs, were pretty well scattered down the line of Gasser batsmen. It was a hard day for the southerners.

Chicago Cubs rung up the big day in the majors. Against the Cards only 13 tallies were counted, Hartnett making three of the number.

Two Southern association games ended in ties, rain and darkness. Memphis and Little Rock let Jupiter Plu break their tie, while Sol walked out on Chattanooga and Birmingham.

Gassers Three More Times

Today's game with the Gassers will probably see Wright, Freeman or Morgan doing duty on the mound for Wichita Falls, while Harris may be the Shreveport choice.

Including today's Thomas Shreveport boys will entertain for three more contests here, before they move on to Fort Worth. After three games with the Cats they will journey to their own backyard for four games with the Spudders, there. Meanwhile, Wichita Falls will play Dallas two games here, Sunday and Monday, and break the jump with one game at Dallas.

Huber, Bernsen, Black and Wirts were the outstanding lights of the day, both at the plate and in the field. Kane, youthful shortstop of the Buffs, earned the season's honors with the first homer of the year which came with one man on base in the third.

Yale Evangelical Beats Floral Hts.

Yale Evangelical was big winner over Floral Heights Presbyterian the second game of the Sunday School league season at Ball Brothers park Tuesday afternoon, 16 to 5. The contest went five innings, when called on account of darkness.

The Presbyterians used three pitchers in an effort to stop the Evangelicals the five innings, but they were not held until the fourth and fifth, by Maloney. The last hurler turned back the Yale team in one, two, three, order.

Ayers, pitching for Yale, went strong in the fourth and fifth, when six batsmen alone went to the plate.

First Presbyterian and First Christian clubs will resume the week's play today.

Hitting on the Yale team was unanimous. B. Moody was credited with three safe blows. D. Moody, Basharn, Fultz and Putty each hit twice safely. Zimmerman, Johnson, L. Ayres and Voss were the three getting the requisite hit to stay in the running.

For Floral Heights, Fritzjamer and Gordon hit a double, each, while Kelly and Carr were responsible for singles.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 16.—The Galveston Sandcrabs started early to celebrate a prospective victory here today but their prospects were dimmed when in the eighth with two men on bases the score 5 to 3 in favor of Galveston. Leo Najo with two strikes on him laced the ball for a single, bringing in both runners and tieing the score. A three bagger in the tenth by Brovold followed by a wild throw gave the Bears the winning run.

SPORTS OF 1924

The national weight-lifting championship will be held in Los Angeles on April 19, and if the husky boys who toss the iron bar bells around do well enough it is quite probable that Uncle Sam will send a weight-lifting team to the Olympic games.

Two of the most promising entries are Dave Willoughby and Ed Goodman, both of whom will have the advantage of competing on their home grounds. Both of these boys are light heavyweights, and each one holds amateur weight-lifting records. Dave is an artist—not a blacksmith—and is only 22 years old, while Ed Goodman, who is 38, here shown posed as the discus thrower, is an attorney! Ed recently broke a world's record by lifting 107 1-2 pounds held back of his neck while his feet were held down with another weight.

I once saw a weight-lifting exhibition where, after the athletes had struggled and sweated to perform the difficult "snatches" and "presses" before an admiring audience, along came the club janitor to clear the floor for the next act, and packed off two of the huge weights by himself as easily as could be. It started a riot.

Little Lessons In Big Sports

Under what conditions should clubs other than the driver be used from the tee?

Answered by JOHN BLACK

"The Carpenter of Troon," whose great gameness and mastery of golf make him feared at all tournaments.

Particularly competeus on approach shots.

The driver should always be used from the tee unless the distance you want to get is less than the driver calls for or unless there is some high obect in front of the tee that calls for more elevation than the driver will give. Then you have to use a club with more loft to it. Which club you use will be largely a matter of fondness—brassie, spoon or driving iron. I have even seen very short, trick holes where it was necessary to use a mashie or a niblick from the tee.

THE NEW BIRTH SELECMAN TEXT

"Except a Man Be Born Again He Can't See the Kingdom of God."

Dr. Selecman announced two sermons on the Christian experience for Wednesday night and Thursday night at Floral Heights Methodist church, his subject for Wednesday night being "The New Birth," and Thursday night "The Witness of the Spirit."

Taking for his text the statement of Jesus to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God," and associating with it the statement of Paul, "If any man be in Christ, Jesus, he is a new creature; old things are passed away and all things are become new," he said in part as follows:

Christianity not only furnishes a high standard for human endeavor, but undertakes to supply men with power to reach that standard. The change from the life of unbelief and sin to the life of faith and holiness is described in the New Testament in the most pronounced figures of speech. It is the passage from darkness to light; from bondage to liberty; from death to life. Repentance is described as a great change of mind. In other words it is a fundamental reversion of the purposes and intents of the heart. It is a change of mind with reference to self, and with reference to sin, and with reference to God. The unrepentant man has a wrong estimate upon his own righteousness, and not until he comes to see himself as the poor publican saw himself, will he say "God be merciful to me a sinner." Then there is the fundamental change with reference to ones' attitude to sin, enabling a man to abhor that which is evil and to cleave to that which is good. Involved in all this is the change of mind with reference to God, until we come to think of him not as a king of power and wrath, but as a merciful father who pitieth his children.

Growing out of this change of mind, or repentance, is the change of heart commonly called regeneration. So far as is known, the only power in the universe that can make a good man out of a bad man is the Christian religion. Jesus will forgive your sins, break the chains of habit, purify the affections, and enable you to say "Whereas I was blind, now I see." It was this power that made out of the wicked fishermen the first preachers of the New Testament gospel. It was this power that transformed such a Pharisee as Saul of Tarsus into a great saint and missionary. It was this power that made of Jerry McCauley, the great drunkard, the evangelist to the down and out. It was this power that rescued Billy Sunday, a drunken baseball player, and made him a great evangelist, and took Gipsy Smith out of a filthy, superstitious Gipsy camp and sent him singing and preaching around the world.

The final test of the transforming force of the Christian religion is a new life in which the drunkard becomes sober, the liar is transformed into a truthful man, the thief is rescued to honesty and men and women who are vile and profane are taught to live lives of holiness and unselfishness.

MOORE TO BE LIONS ENVOY

Will Represent Club At Meet To Be Held At Paris Soon

At the regular meeting of the Lions club Wednesday at noon at the Kemp hotel, LeRoy Moore was chosen as official delegate to represent the club at the state convention which meets at Paris, Texas, May 5 and 6. Other Lions are expected to attend the convention from Wichita Falls.

Discussions were held concerning finances of the club, and Joe Hatchitt, vice president, who presided in the absence of the president, S. A. L. Morgan, appointed a finance committee composed of B. G. Ripley, D. M. Jones and Guy Raley to see after the financial matters of the club.

P. B. Card gave a report of the plans for the tourist park. He stated arrangements were being completed and that it would be ready for tourists by the middle of May or by June 1.

Numbers from the musical comedy, "In the Garden of Shah," to be given by the musical students of the high school were given at the club by Miss Margaret Kadane and Ralph Lindsey, accompanied by Miss Marie Beatty. "By the Waters of the Minnetonka" and "Wonderful One" as an encore was sung by Hermoine Stewart Vaughan, accompanied by Leonard Sisk. W. R. Duke, chairman of the program committee, arranged a clever whistling contest which proved very entertaining to the members of the club.

Home-Wrecking Is Always An Inside Job | Dorothy Dix | Lays Blame For Stolen Affections on Lack of Effort

Is It Better for a Girl to Keep Silent If She Is Older Than Her Fiance?—The Man Who Is Engaged to the Jealous Woman. Why The Long Engagement Is a Mistake.

Dear Miss Dix—Should a woman who is older than her fiance by two years tell him her correct age or not? Should she just let him go on believing that she is minus those two years, get a marriage certificate and swear she is younger by two years?

I realize that a woman of thirty is looked upon as a fit subject for the old ladies' home by most men, but do sensible men think this way? If a woman of thirty or thirty-five applies for a position she is in nine cases out of ten considered too old and does not get it, yet the men she comes in contact with on applying for the job are much older than herself, and would be insulted if called "old." A young man is more apt to give her a job than an old man.

We females, after seeing all of this, wonder if the lie doesn't pay when it comes to age; but when we want to marry, should the old subject be lied about, or should John be told the truth and let it go at that? If I think John will remain in love with me I will be two years younger and burn my bridges behind me. What is your idea about all this age business?

CURIOUS TO KNOW.

Answer:

I think the age business is clinging to a moss-grown superstition. You can't count age in terms of years, because it is a matter of temperament and not of time. There are babies who are old in the cradle, and men and women who are flappers and jellybeans at eighty.

But for a marriage to be happy a husband must be in the same age class mentally, physically and spiritually as his wife, because then they will want to do the same things and have the same viewpoint on life. And it is advisable for a man to have a few years—anywhere up to fifteen—more than the woman, because women are born older than men are, and acquire worldly wisdom earlier.

As for two years either way, that is a trifle not worth considering, and I do not believe that any sensible man would bother about it. Still, if you think that your John would find you less attractive at thirty than at twenty-eight, you have a perfect right to be as young as you look, instead of as old as you are. The recording angel drops a pitying tear over a woman's lie about her age and blots the record out.

Why there should be this mad worship of youth in a woman, and why it should be demanded of a woman that she be a perpetual debutante, goodness only knows.

A very young girl may be easy on the eyes, but she is hard on the ears, for she simpers, and giggles, and bores you to tears with her chatter. Many women are better looking at forty than they were at sixteen, and all of them are more interesting, because life and experience teach even a moron something.

I think you are mistaken in your idea that extreme, youth is an asset in trying to get a job. Most of the men I know prefer middle-aged women employes because they are less apt to get married and are more interested in their work.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am engaged to be married to a girl who does not appreciate anything I do for her or give her, and who is so jealous that she makes a scene if I even show any interest in a child. I have been brought up to make myself agreeable to the people with whom I come in contact, and if any one does me harm, to forgive and forget it, but this girl takes no trouble to try to please people, and she is very vindictive in her disposition. Do you think I will be happy with such a woman?

SERIOUS BUT UNDECIDED.

Answer:

I think you will let yourself into lifelong misery if you marry a girl who has such a disagreeable nature. The thing that is really of more importance than anything else in marriage is the disposition of the one with whom you have to live.

A woman may have every possible virtue. She may have high principle, be modest, intelligent, thrifty, a good housekeeper and love her husband, but if she is a nagging, fretful, peevish, dissatisfied woman he will be utterly wretched. On the contrary, a woman may be sloppy housekeeper and a bad manager, but if she is jolly, and cheerful, and good natured, her husband will be happy and contented with her.

A jealous wife will be a torment to you. She will keep you perpetually on the defensive, she will make a slave of you, and you will be afraid to speak to your own mother lest you bring on a scene with her, a woman who does not know how to get along with other people makes enemies for her husband instead of friends and ruins his prospects in business. A woman who cherishes old grudges will twit her husband for ten years with an old fault, and will never be willing to overlook any little natural human weakness. A woman who isn't appreciative takes the sap and savor out of life, and makes a man feel that all his work and sacrifices are for nothing.

Better have nothing to do with such a woman. You are lucky to have found out her character on the safe side of the altar.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—What do you think of long engagements?

GERALDINE.

Answer:

I think they are always a mistake. If a man loves a woman, and is not in a position to marry her, it is right and proper for him to tell her so. Also there may be some understanding of their mutual affection, but they should not bind themselves to each other in a way that hampers the freedom of either, for generally before the time for the marriage comes one or the other of the parties of a long engagement has wearied of it. The romance has worn itself out. One or the other has changed. Often one or the other has formed new ties, and only a sense of honor drives many a man and woman to the altar at the end of a long-drawn-out courtship.

The long engagement is unfair to the woman because it puts her in an anomalous position where she is neither bond nor free; neither flapper wife nor widow. She is cut off from other men as if she were a wife, yet she has no husband to support her. She is as lonely as the window, but debarred from hunting up a consolation, and so she falls between the stools, waiting for a man who may or may not come back, and who, if he does come back, is more liable to feel like an early Christian martyr than an ardent bridegroom.

GAS COMPANIES CARRY AT LOSS

Texas Is No Exception To Those Operating Without Profit

A considerable percentage of customers of public utilities are furnished these services at an actual loss to the companies. This is true in Texas as well as in other states.

The condition was illustrated in a graphic way before the public utilities commission of Michigan in an analysis made of the customers of the Grand Rapids Gas Light company and the amount of gas they used each month.

The commission was considering the establishment of a demand or "service charge" to provide for the cost of taking care of customers, who insist upon having all the advantages of gas service without using enough gas each month to pay for the cost of serving them.

This survey showed that considerably less than half of the company's customers used 2,000 cubic feet of gas per month or more, enough to give the gas company a fair net return for service. Under normal conditions, with a gas company enjoying rates sufficient to earn a reasonable return on its investment, customers who use less than 1,600 cubic feet of gas a month, are carried at a loss. The margin of profit in the amount of gas they use is insufficient to pay the bare cost of service they get.

The Grand Rapids survey showed that 4,861 customers used no gas during the month the check was made, although they had gas connections and meters and the company had the expense of reading their meters and of carrying them on the books as live accounts. A total of 4,020 customers used only 100 cubic feet per month 4,606 used only 200 cubic feet; 5,018 used only 500 cubic feet; 15,584 used 2,000 cubic feet or more.

The last 15,584 used 2,000 cubic feet or more.

The last 15,584 customers made up the loses incurred by serving the 18,505 customers who did not use enough gas on a flat rate to reimburse the gas company for service rendered.

It is manifestly unfair to oblige the 15,584 customers who use enough gas, on a flat rate, to make up losses caused by serving 13,487 customers who do not use sufficient gas to cover costs of serving them.

The remedy for this injustice to the average customer is the institution of the service charge which obliges all customers to pay enough to cover the cost of service the gas being sold separately from service. The service charge relieves the average customer who uses 1,600 cubic feet of gas and upwards of the unfair burden of carrying the customer who uses no gas, although he insists upon having gas installation, or who does not use enough gas, on a flat rate, to cover the costs of serving him.

WHY COST OF LIVING IS HIGHER THAN IT SHOULD BE

About one-eighth of all the wealth produced annually in this country goes to pay the cost of government. It is estimated that the combined annual income of the American people is fifty-eight billion dollars and that seven billion of this goes to maintain the government. This is an increase of from 200 to 300 per cent since 1913.

This enormous increase in the tax rate is due to three general causes outside of the monumental expense incurred by the world war:

The increase in number of governmental employees.

Next, the vast extension of government into the field of private enterprise.

The increase is tax-exempt securities in connection with the excessive surtax rate on large incomes.

The extension of government into private business has been the cause of much inefficiency in service on the one hand and has helped increase the cost of government on the other.

In municipal government alone, it is estimated that in large cities, the equivalent of two months' rent must go to pay city taxes each year. The man who owns no property need not figure that he does not pay his share. As a renter, he must understand that though his landlord hands over the check to the tax collector, he, himself pays this tax in the form of increased rent.

FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND FARMS HAVE ELECTRICITY

Farmers are coming to secure the benefits of modern services. They have long enjoyed the telephone and rural mail delivery. Many now have radio. They have become extensive users of automobiles and motor trucks. They have increasing mileage of good roads. Some of them have gas service and electric light and power.

Surveys and studies that are being made by farm organizations, power and light organizations, and associations interested in better social conditions on the farms are outlining plans for the extension of electric services so far as practicable to rural communities. It is estimated, according to the Texas public service information bureau, that half a million additional farms will secure electric service in the next seven years.

Addition of electric services to the farm will have an effect in making farm life more attractive and thus relieving the tedium of life for farm other conveniences of the modern women.

If you are really an enthusiastic booster for Better Homes, you will see to it that sidewalks are kept free from weeds and rubbish.

TEMPERANCE WOMEN TO SOUND GOVERNOR OFFICE SEEKERS

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 16.—Every candidate for office in Texas is to be put on record, if possible, on the liquor enforcement question, by the Women's Christian Temperance union. Questionnaires were sent out today by the state offices of the union, asking the candidates to definitely state their stand on enforcement of national and state prohibition laws.

The candidates were warned, in a letter accompanying the questionnaires, that "the Women's Christian Temperance union with a great numerical strength and with a far greater potential strengh and moral influence are out this 1924 political year to mobilize a greater army for a greater task to culminate in a march of allegiance to the polls." The letter was signed by Mrs. Claude De Van Watts, state president of the union.

Answers to the questionnaires are to be tabulated by the organization and the information published in every county and precinct in the state, Mrs. Watts said. The information gathered is to be published before the July primaries, and candidates are requested by the organization to get their answers in so that the space beside their names will not be left blank.

The questionnaire asks for the political and church affiliation of the candidate, whether he has ever held public office in Texas, and his occupation for the last 10 years.

The candidate is then asked to pledge himself on the following three propositions:

"I believe in and pledge my best personal and official efforts toward support and enforcement of state prohibition laws and the eighteenth amendment and will oppose every endeavor to weaken the same.

"I believe in and pledge my best personal and official efforts toward support of measures for increasing the efficiency of our prohibitory laws and if necessary the enactment of new laws for safeguarding prohibition and putting into full effect a liberal interpretation of state and federal constitutional amendments for prohibition to the end that all alcoholic beverages may be barred.

"I believe in and pledge my best personal efforts and influence, and official action where consistent with the nature of any official office I may hold, toward effecting a legal removal from office of any official or officer who through willful neglect or incompentency fails to carry out his oath of office."

NEW YORK, April 16.—Although unsettled and irregular in early trading, the cotton market was generally higher today on renewed covering by near month shorts and unfavorable weather reports from the south. May sold up from 29.85 to 30.68 and closed at 30.47, with the final tone firm at net advances of 8 to 34 points on the general list.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 12 points on relatively steady Liverpool cables and an unfavorable opinion of the weekly weather report. Buying was light and prices soon reacted under liquidation, southern and local selling said to be due to continued complaints of a poor trade in cotton goods and a disposition to even up contracts in advance of the approaching holidays. Active months sold about 20 to 30 points net lower in consequence, but the decline was checked by covering at 24.90 for October and the buying became a little more urgent following the western belt forecast for cold weather in the southwest.

October rallied to 25.40 and the general market showed net advances of 25 to 55 points during the afternoon but closed a few points off from the best under realizing. Port receipts 24,341; U. S. port stocks 590,357. Exports 15,736, making 4,821,689 so far this season.

WHO IS JESUS

and the world was made by Him and the world knew Him not. He came unto His own and His own received Him not. The human heart of Christ turned away into darkness of sorrow and disappointment. His own people had failed to understand Him.

Turning from the answer given in behalf of the multitude, He asks His own immediate followers the pointed question, "But who do you say that I am?" The answer from the multitude had not been satisfactory. The answer from His immediate followers was of supreme importance. Had they failed to understand Him altogether, had they answered, "Master, we do not know who you are, You may be John the Baptist or you may be someone else. We ourselves do not know," what a disappointment such an answer would have been. Such an answer might have changed the history of the world.

What He Did.

In their presence Jesus had opened the eyes of the blind, unstopped the ears of the deaf and loosened dumb tongues. He had broken up every funeral procession that He met during His earthly career. He had uttered the most profound truths ever heard by mortal ears, truths as beautiful as the light, as sublime as Heaven and as true as God. These disciples had sat under the charm of His magnetic eye They had enjoyed His sinless presence. They had "beheld his glory, the glory of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth."

Peter becomes the spokesman of this group and responds above their behalf. He had not looked into those eyes in vain nor heard the divine words to no purpose. He had not witnessed the wonder working power of the Galilean without its rightful effect. With a heart flaming with holy fire of devotion and with a face lit up with celestial light and a voice confident of victory, he cries, "Thou art the Christ, the son of the living God."

The Jews had been looking for generations for a Messiah. The Messiah had been promised through the seed of Abraham. Moses had taught them to look for a prophet, so had Isaiah and Ezekiel and Daniel. The whole nation was expecting a Messiah, who should become the Savior of His people. Peter accepts Jesus as the long looked for Messiah. He was the Holy One of Israel.

Will you note, please, that Peter has no doubt about the Messiah. He declares him to be the Son of the Living God! Upon what a supreme pedestal does this immediate follower of the Christ place the Galilean! He has confidence here in the super-natural. His answer is a fearful blow to some of the socalled modern scholars. Peter does not answer, "Thout art the son of Joseph, the carpenter." He acknowledges Him as the true Messiah, the Son of the Living God. Suppose Jesus were present today and should ask some of the socalled modern scholars this same question, "Who do you say that I am?" and they should give to Him the answer they given in the classroom: "Jesus is the son of Joseph, the greatest man perchance the world has ever produced, but only a man and not the son of God." Can you imagine the Christ giving an answer to this question as follows: "Blessed art thou, professor, flesh and blood has not revealed this unto thee, but My Father which is in heaven."

Of Doctrines

I believe in the virgin birth because it is the plain teaching of the New Testament and is the simplest method of explaining the marvelous character that we have portrayed in this book.

I believe, likewise, in the deity of the Christ because this also, to my mind, is the plain teaching of the New Testament. Peter believed. John believed, for he plainly says: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." Jesus Himself believed it, for He clearly says: "He that hath seen Me, hath seen the Father. I am in the Father and the Father is in Me."

Deny the deity of Christ and you take away the possibility of atonement, you take the very heart of the gospel out and fling it away. Without an atonement, there is no good news. If Jesus Christ did not die for our sins, we are yet in the bonds of iniquity and in the gall of bitterness.

Jesus said, "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona; for flesh and blood hath not revealed in unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven." This faith in Peter's heart had not come from human inspiration. Peter did not get this information from Thomas nor from James nor from John. A mysterious power from the unseen world had lit his soul with this divine light. God, the Father, Himself had revealed to the heart of Peter the fact that Jesus was the Christ. Here is where so many get into confusion. The scholar comes with the analytical mind to dissect the word of God and to analyze the Christ, and he finds nothing in this revelation that comes from on high. St. Paul says: "The natural man received not the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, for they are spiritually discerned." These great fundamental truths of God are spiritually discerned. When a man comes in sincere humility, seeking to know God, then God reveals Himself.

Peter is called "blessed" because of this wonderful discovery that he had made. He realized in his heart of hearts that Jesus Christ was the Son of God and had power on earth to forgive sins. There have been many great discoveries in the history of this world, but this is the greatest of them all. How blessed is that man or woman who discovers in his own heart this great spiritual secret—that Jesus Christ is indeed the Son of God and his own personal savior.

MONEY At Work

A life insurance educational policy will provide your child with money for a college education.

The problem of having a fund ready for use when the child is ready for college is a real problem for most parents.

One way is to open a straight savings account and estimate the amount necessary to be deposited each month to have the required amount by the time the child is ready for college. Then to deposit the estimated amount each month.

Another plan which has attractive features is the new educational policy being offered by some of the life insurance companies. Under this plan a certain premimuum is paid yearly to guarantee, for instance, a fund of $4,000. This fund to be paid in four installments ,beginning at the time the beneficiary reaches college age. Under this plan, should the father die after paying only the first premium his son or daughter is assured of a fund for a college education, and the same is ture, of course, if the father lives.

STOCK PRICES IN IMPROVEMENT

Dawes Report Acceptance Has Cheerful Affect

Total stock sales today, 687,400 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 91.77; previous day, 91.39. High 1924, 101.24; low, 90.83.

Twenty railroads averaged 81.60; previous day, 81.17. High 1924, 86.32; low, 81.00.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Stock prices registered further improvement on a small volume of business in today's market. Short interests again furnished most of the buying power, which was particularly effective in the sugars and industrial specialties.

While the prompt acceptance of the Dawes report by Great Britain, France and Germany had cheerful effect on speculative sentiment, domestic trade news continued to be the dominating factor in the determination of price movements. Recent trade reports which include predictions of an early advance in California oil prices and net earnings of approximately $6 a share on U. S. Steel common in the first quarterly report which will be made public April 29, have had a tendency to restrict commitments on the short side of the market.

U. S. Steel closed unchanged at 97 1-8. Baldwin, which had touched 112 1-4 in the early trading, dropped back to 110 7-8, also unchanged. Studebaker closed nearly a point higher at 85 3-4 after having sold a point above that figure. American Can crossed 99 and then fell back to 97 3-4, up 3-8.

Fisher Body was the individual feature, soaring 19 points to 219 on reports that the General Motors corporation, which owned 60 per cent of Fisher Body stock, was negotiating for the minority interest.

Another bear raid against Yellow Cab forced that stock down more than seven points to 60 1-4, a new low, but it snapped back later to 64.

Strength of the sugar shares was due to an advance of refined prices, net gains of 1 to nearly 3 points being registered by Cuban-American preferred, Cuban-Dominican preferred, Punta Allegre and South Porto Rican.

Call money opened at 4 1-4 per cent and then dropped to 4, where it closed. Time money and commercial paper markets were quiet with 4 1-2 per cent the ruling price.

Foreign exchange rates held relatively steady except for a further break in Japanese yen which forced them below 41 cents to another new low record for the year. Demand sterling ruled between $4.34 1-2 and 4.35 and French francs were quoted just under 6 1-2 cents.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, April 16.—Although the cotton market fluctuated today rather freely, the general trend was upward. After opening 11 to 24 points up, the market eased off soon after the opening call. May dropping to 29.92, July to 28.34 and October to 24.30, or 9 to 24 points below the previous close. From these, the low levels of the day, the market experienced several alternate rallies and reactions, but by early afternoon May traded at 30.75, July at 28.91 and October at 24.70, or 83, 57 and 40 points respectively up from the low of the morning. After a reaction later in the afternoon of 15 to 29 points the market closed at a net gain for the day of 30 points on May and 4 to 16 points on later months.

At the start the market was favorably affected by the weather man, but after a small initial gain, eased off on what was construed as a generally favorable weekly weather and crop report.

There was a good rally in the early afternoon which made new highs on all months but July, which did not advance above the high established earlier in the day, the bulge being due to reported investigation by a big New York trader and short covering generally owing to fear of the ill effects of a threatened cold wave.

The reaction of the last part of the afternoon was due entirely to realizing on and evening up in advance of the triple holiday at the end of the week, but the close nevertheless showed a moderate gain for the day on May and small gains on other months.

WEATHER REPORT FAVORS GRAINS

Corn Leads Sharp Advance In Values Tuesday

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Corn led a sharp advance in grain values today. Wet weather likely to delay corn receipts brought about a sudden reversal of outlook on the part of previous sellers and with offerings scarce the market began to soar. Corn closed firm 1 3-8 to 1 5-8@1 3-4c net higher, May 78 1-3 to 78 1-3@3-8. The wheat finish was unsettled, 3-4c to 1c up, May 1.021-4@3-8 to 1.02 3-8 and July 1.041-2 to 1.04 1-4@3-8, with oats at 1-8@1-4 to 7-8c gain and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

Crop damage reports from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio furnished a large part of the impetus for the gains scored by the wheat market. Special notice was taken of a message telling of 50 per cent damage to winter wheat to one locality in Ohio.

Better shipping call for oats developed. One Chicago house sold 100,000 bushels to the south, and Duluth sold a cargo to Buffalo.

Stocks of provisions were of less volume than expected.

New Treatment For Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goitre disappear when used steadily.—Adv.

PANHANDLE OIL FIELD TO HAVE FIRST CARRIER

Pipe Line Is Being Constructed by Silk and Priddy Of Wichita Falls

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, April 16.—Panhandle oil fields scored a distinct advance with the beginning of actual construction on a pipe line and announcements forecasting greatly increased activity by the Gulf Production company.

The pipeline is being constructed by the Silk and Priddy interests of Wichita Falls, which have large holdings in the proved area, including nearly 50,000 barrels of oil in storage. It will be a four-inch line, extending from the field to Panhandle, 20 miles away. Because of the probability that enlargement will be necessary, it will not be buried until next fall. Present production in the field is estimated at 2,200 barrels daily, with several wells nearing the pay depth.

Although a pipe line has been the major topic in oil circles for several months, it was forced to share importance with the Gulf Production's activities. This company, which has two producers and a gasser on the Burnett ranch, increased its holdings by purchase of 1,350 acres, adjoining the Burnett ranch on the north, from S. G. Cockrell of Panhandle. This deal gives the Gulf 3,500 acres in one block. The company also has made locations for its No. 4 Burnett for a 55,000-barrel tank—third in the field—and for machine shops.

Among the latest entrants into the field is the Marland Oil company, which has established offices in Amarillo and has its chief geologist in the field.

UNITED CENTRAL COMPLETES WELL

The United Central Oil corporation's McCarty No. 1, S. O. Fowler survey, has been completed from sand found at 1,320 feet and is estimated as 150-barrel pumper. The well is an offset to the Panhandle Refining company's well. Two other tests are being drilled on the McCarty lease.

BAIL GOLD NUGGETS FROM WILDCAT TEST

By The Associated Press.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., April 16.—A number of pure gold nuggets, each about the size of a pea, have been baled out of the 600-foot level of an oil well being drilled in a canyon near here. Geologists explain that the gold probably was carried down the prehistoric stream known to be flowing 500 feet under the surface. It is believed that this stream flowed on the surface before the upheaval of the earth's crust formed San Bernardino mountains.

Several Tests Nearing Sand Depth Big Lake District

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, April 16.—The Big Lake Oil company office at San Angelo announced Wednesday that No. 4 was drilling at 2,840 feet. Big Lake No. 5 was making hole at 2,567 feet. No. 7 was down 1,755 feet and No. 8 was drilling at 720, after being shut down. No. 9 was idle at 435 feet for repairs on the boiler, and No. 10, being drilled to the sand with a rotary, was at the 1,850-foot level. In Crockett county, south of the Santa Rita, Associated No. 1 was drilling at 2,800 feet.

The situation at the discovery Santa Rita and Big Lake No. 3, the first completed producing offset, was reported unchanged. The Santa Rita is pumping an average of 150 o 160 barrels daily, although the production on some days exceeds 200 barrels. The No. 3 is averaging around 30 barrels daily on the pump. Big Lake No. 2, the second completed producing offset, is being deepened and was down 3,115 feet, waiting on a pump. Levi Smith, president of the Big Lake Oil company, arrived here during the week-end from Colorado, in which state the company has just brought in a producer.

Crockett Not to Shoot.

The Crockett Drilling Syndicate changed its plan to shoot its Shannon No. 1 on the ranch of J. M. Shannon of San Angelo in Crockett county, and will drill deeper, possibly to 4,000 feet, unless production is obtained at a lesser depth, according to A. R. Goodale of Los Angeles, vice-president of the syndicate, who arrived here late in the week. The depth then was over 3,500 feet. For the last 1,400 feet the bit has been penetrating a lime saturnted with oil. If further drilling fails to develop a producer, the well will be plugged back to around 2,300 feet and shot.

The Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil company has finished its derrick on section 200, five miles east of Big Lake, and will spud in within a few days. The derrick has also been finished for the well which William Dunlap, Jr., of Fort Worth will sink on the Bar S ranch, 12 miles northeast of Big Lake on section 93.

MASONS WILL REVEL TONIGHT

Maundy Thursday Will Be Observed With Fitting Ceremony

Scottish Rite Masons, Knights Rose Croix, will celebrate Maundy Thursday with the mystic banquet, observing the solemn ceremonial feast Paschal Lamb, at the Kemp hotel at 7 o'clock this evening.

A large attendance is expected, and reservations for fifty Masons from Burkburnett and Electra have already been made, according to statements made Wednesday.

The official program has been announced as follows: Toastmaster, Frank Collier; invocation, Rev. Fred T. Datson; song, "God So Loved the World," by Mesdames Holmes and Thompson and Messrs. Shepherd and Young; "America," led by R. E. Shepherd; "To the Supreme Council and Sovereign Grand Commander," J. D. Avis; "To the Sovereign Grand Inspector General in Texas," J. A. Kemp; "To the Memory of the Brethren of These Degrees Whose Labors Here Have Ceased During this Masonic Year" (To be drunk in silence.)

Address by C. C. Selecman; sacred selections, Shrine quartette; benediction, Rev. N. F. Grafton.

Visitors' Viewpoints

Colonel C. W. Nimon, commander of an infantry regiment of the Texas National Guard, expressed a great deal of enthusiasm last night over the proposed military feature at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held at Brownwood soon.

"There will be several units there," he said, "and two or more branches of the service should be represented. It is also hopd to have a company of regulars on hand. With these forces parades and reviews will be possible and should add much to the life of the party. The prizes that have been offered for excellence in the military virtues will contribute much to the zest of the competition, and there is every indication that the military activity will feature the program."

John T. Flaherty, candy salesman of Chicago gave an interesting sidelight upon the effect of depression upon the candy business in Chicago.

"The unemployed man or woman walking the streets looking for a job is the best candy customer in the larger places," he said. "This sort must confine their purchases to a limited pocketbook, so, rather than walk home with they purchase a bit of candy. This explains why the candy companies declare dividends as regularly when times are hard as when they are good."

Woman Knocks Out Train Window On Her Way to Pen

Unusual trouble in the delivery of a woman prisoner to the federal penal institution at Caldwell, N. J., is reported by United States Deputy Marshal John Saye, who, with his wife, has just returned from Leavenworth, Kansas, and Caldwell, New Jersey, he having visited these places in connection with the transfer of prisoners from Wichita Falls to federal prisons.

According to Marshal Saye, Mayme Appell, one of two consigned to the New Jersey institution, showed a little fight upon occasions and once broke a window pane in an attempt to get out of the car in which she was confined. At two other times her attempts to get away were frustrated by the diligence of her guards.

Four prisoners, all men, were delivered to the penitentiary at Leavenworth and two women to the institution at Caldwell, New Jersey.

Bralley Finds Reform School

Two girls, aged 15 and 16, escaped last Saturday from the Girls' Training school at Gainesville, were located at Electra Wednesday by Juvenile Officer W. G. Bralley and the city officers of Electra.

The girls were brought to Wichita Falls and are being held here pending the arrival of an official of the training school, advices from which state that a man will be sent here at once to take charge of them.

The two girls had made their way to Wichita Falls by walking and through the aid of passing motorists. Through the efforts of Juvenile Officer Bralley they were located at the home of relatives in Electra.

MRS. ROWE HEADS TRAVIS MOTHERS

Mrs. W. C. Rowe was elected president of the Mother's club of Travis school Wednesday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting. Other officers included Mrs. J. L. Webb, first vice-president; Mrs. Charley Bird, second vice-president; Miss Mabel Wilson, secretary and treasurer.

The prize for the greatest attendance of mothers was given to the sixth grade.

A short program was given with devotional led by Miss Gladys Baucon. The following little girls entertained the mothers with a song: Burrel Bryant, Maxine Webb, Beatrice Hughey, Calla John and Juanita Motes. Mrs. E. W. Carter gave a short talk to the club, and the report of the nominating committee and election of officers concluded the meeting.

Keep Too Much To Themselves

Many men and women of middle age feel that they have never had a chance to make anything out of themselves. But the main reason for it usually is that they let such things as pimples, rash, "breaking out," eczema, tetter, etc., on their face, neck, hands or arms make them feel that they are not wanted around and they keep to themselves too much.

You can get just as much out of life as anyone. All you need is confidence in yourself, which you get naturally when you rid yourself of those skin troubles, if you just use the wonderful Black and White Ointment. It is economically priced, in generous packages. All dealers have it. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size.—Adv.

WICHITA DENTISTS HOLD MEETING

The Wichita County Dental society held a regular meeting at the office of Dr. H. B. White on Monday night, the meeting being called to order by the president, Dr. M. R. Garrison. The secretary, Dr. R. E. Huff, Jr., read the minutes of the previous meeting and they were adopted.

A general discussion was held as to the merits and harmfulness of certain well advertised preparations for cleaning teeth.

It was voted that all members close their offices at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoons beginning with the first Saturday in May and ending the last Saturday in October.

Preceding adjournment a paper was read by Dr. N. H. Coleman on the subject of "Care of the Teeth During Pregnancy."

Those in attendance were Drs. Anderson, Bailey, Bolding, Coleman, Felder, Garrison, Huff, Prothro, Simms and White.

HUSBAND IN WAR OF 1812

Widow of Virginia Militiaman Still Living—Black-Draught "a Household Remedy with Us," She Says.

Kingsport, Tenn.—Mrs. Fannie V. Thompson, who lives just across the state line from here in Scott county, Virginia, is the widow of George Washington Thompson, who fought in the war of 1812. Although that was over 110 years ago, Mrs. Thompson herself is but 75 years old and doesn't look that age. Her life has been, and still is, an active one, and she takes a great interest in the affairs of the day.

"Two years ago," says Mrs. Thompson, "while I was visiting relatives in Russell county, Virginia, . . . I read about Black-Draught. It seemed to be a very remarkable medicine, so I thought I would try it. When I got home, my daughter got a box of this medicine at the store and we began to use it in our family.

"Black-Draught is a good reliable medicine. It is a household remedy with us for . . . trouble, which is caused by the strong lime-stone water we have to drink in this country.

"Occasionally I suffer from headaches caused from constipation and biliousness and for it I have invariably used Black-Draught for the past two years. My health has always been good."

Black-Draught is used, with satisfaction, by millions. Try it.

Headquarters Of Boy Scouts To Be Moved Today

The Boy Scout headquarters will be moved from the basement of the Morgan building—to 916 1-2 Ohio avenue, over the Gaines Motor Sales company, according to Frank B. Creighton, scout executive. A room, 60x60 feet has been donated to the use of the scouts by Kemp and Culberson.

The different troops of the city will undertake the decoration of headquarters Mr. Creighton stated. The walls are to be divided into spaces and each troop will be responsible for the handiwork and craft that will be used for decorations. In addition to this the scouts will make donations of furnishings to make the Boy Scout headquarters of Wichita Falls up to date in every respect.

F. A. R. MacKeil who is field executive working from this office will have a desk placed in the headquarters. All scoutmasters' meetings will be held hereafter in scout headquarters, including all meetings of small numbers. The court of honor and others where 100 or more boys will be gathered will be held in the various churches as usual, Mr. Creighton said Wednesday morning.

CHAMBER TRADE TRIP IS ASSURED

More than 100 checks of $25 each have been received from the business and professional men who are expecting to make the trip. Others are expected to make reservations for the two-day excursion.

Tells Sufferers How To End Piles Forever

Rochester Doctor Achieves Remarkable Success With New Prescription. Must Give Absolute Relief or Money Back.

It has remained for a well known Rochester doctor to find a real remedy for Piles. Years of patient, painstaking effort on his part has resulted in a prescription that will actually heal Piles and absorb them never to return.

This doctor says no man or woman need suffer another hour from any pain arising from Hemorrhoids or Piles now that he has made arrangements with the Palace Drug Store and the Central Drug Store to dispense this wonderful prescription known as MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES for a moderate price on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

You'll be amazed to see how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in an hour; even in cases of long standing with profuse bleeding really wonderful results have been accomplished. —Adv.

Scout Court Of Honor to Be Held Here Soon

On Tuesday, April 22, the court of honor will be held at the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock—at which time Fire Chief McClure and Mr. Ward, president of the Firemen's association will present 18 assistant fire marshal badges to 18 boys who have passed the merit badge in firemanship, Scoutmaster Frank B. Creighton stated Wednesday.

These boys will be delegated certain duties and will assist in locating fire hazards in the city, and will report them to the fire department. They are also to act as guardians of the hose when stretched at a fire.

At this same meeting, Georg Bolin who has passed all the Eagle Scout requirements will be awarded his Eagle Scout badge. This is in addition to many merit badges to be awarded to boys who have learned their first and second class badges, advancing one degree.

An Extra Measure of Service

THE country grocer familiar to our forefathers made a practice of weighing out grocery supplies in a big pair of counter scales. When the pans had balanced, he would throw in "a little extra," making one end of the scales touch bottom.

This bank lives up to that tradition in its banking transactions. We are not satisfied to give merely an even measure of service. We believe in giving an extra measure of service.

You Want the Pavement That Pays Dividends

You know, from your own happy experience, what a pleasure it is to drive on Portland Cement Concrete Pavement.

You know that Portland Cement Concrete Pavement is skid-proof, rigid, even and unyielding.

You know that no matter how hot the day its surface remains true and even.

You know, too, that the pleasing, light gray color of Concrete makes driving safe by night as well as by day.

Concrete Pavement consists of a definitely proportioned mixture of sand, pebbles or broken stone, and water, held together by the everlasting grip of that tenacious binder, portland cement.

Portland cement is the basic material that makes the Concrete Pavement endure. It builds repair out and the maintenance in.

You want your pavement to be an investment—not an expense. You want to receive continuous dividends in service and satisfaction. That means Portland Cement Concrete Pavement.

* * *

The Portland Cement Association has a personal service to offer individuals or communities. This service is designed to give you more for your money—whether you use Concrete or have it used for you.

Our booklets R-3 and R-4 tell many interesting things about Concrete Roads and Streets. Would you like us to send them? There is no charge.
