

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—It is a sad thing but the bicycle is putting the burro in this country. Mexico, which once was a land where the cute little beasts plodded casually along the country lanes. And the citizens from out in the boondocks would ride their burros right into the city. Through traffic and everything.

But drive along the highways today and what do you see? The rural folks pedaling their bikes along at a fast clip. And some of the more prosperous are mounted on mopeds.

In my opinion, this borders on heresy. The burro is a creature of great character and personality. In his time, he occupied an honorable position in the family.

So what can you say for a bicycle?

progressive thinkers. City folks look at things from another point of view. A few pesos will get you a bike that enables you to zip in and out of traffic. Causing a few minor collisions and the removal of tire treads when someone stomps on the brakes.

And while this requires a certain amount of physical exertion to get somewhere, burros are considered the most efficient mode of traffic. Having no horns and being a mite retarded on acceleration.

Nightwatchmen cruise residential areas here aboard a bicycle, looking whither every few minutes. This lets folks know they are on the job and not sleeping it off in a cozy corner somewhere.

Minor businessmen pedal down Reforma Avenue, in and out of the lines of Cadillacs, with a brief case balanced across the handlebars.

And the bike has become standard equipment for bakeries. They send gentlemen wheeling down the street with 50 pounds of rolls in a three foot wide basket balanced on their craniums.

You should witness the havoc caused when one of these parties takes a tumble with his bread basket in traffic. Great balls of fire! Such language.

The local news sheets report there are about 55,000 bicycles running loose in this town and the Bayer aspirin people are doing their utmost to keep the Traffic Department from going shaggy.

Back in the very ancient days, there was no such thing as a burro in Mexico. Then the Spaniards rode into old Tenochtitlan one day on some now-forgotten contraptions.

"My goodness," exclaimed the Aztecs crowding around. "What on earth are these things—sputniks?"

"Children," said the Spaniards, "they are 1321 model horses. Very handy pieces of equipment for people who have an aversion to walking long distances, which is the case with us."

"How on earth does such an apparatus function?" the Aztecs asked.

"It is a simple thing. They operate mostly on grass and water although a bucket of oats now and then steps up the horsepower."

How the burro came along is not recorded in history. But persons who delve into such matters speculate that the Spanish horses began exchanging shy glances with some other critter and their children turned out to be burros.

A very colorful and romantic biological effort. All of which is going down the drain because you don't have to feed bicycles.

New there are two schools of thought on this subject, according to the local pushers: One being that you do not have to feed a bicycle. Cheap upkeep. A squirt or two of oil now and then does the trick.

The burro supporters point out that a mule does not have to be pedaled. You bet aboard and ride.

Also, the burro is a very talented creature when it comes to lugging heavy loads. And in this division, nobody is foolish enough to pile his bike up with wood or other such items and start up the hill.

This would indicate that the bicycle is merely a backwoods sports contraption for the more

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

Have you ever been quite sure of anything and then after accomplishing your goal felt that you had done a great wrong?

I wonder how many of us would feel like that about our proposed County Home for the Aged?

For years I have visualized and dreamed of a home, financed by perhaps a hundred different people, each paying for his or her single or double apartment (plus enough to cover part of the community property) built symmetrically into one large, beautiful "Golden Age Home" with the necessary kitchen, dining room, lobby, patio, etc., with space for a nice lawn and gardens for the individuals with green thumbs.

When Mr. Claude McCormick and Mr. Ross Williams asked me to work with them on getting a county hospital, I tried by helping get a petition to get a vote on it.

I've always been as conservative as I know how to be. I believe very strongly in private enterprise, and here I found myself working on a county project competing with the privately-owned Old Age Home already there.

One of our very conscientious men in Snyder didn't want to sign the petition because he said it wasn't fair.

As I understand it, the County Home will be quite different from the Old Age Home already there, and if it were built by one or more individuals instead of with tax money that would be fair competition, but this way—is it?

The county of my birthplace (Caldwell) has a nice home for older people that seems to be a success and so is the one in Fisher County by what Messrs McCormick and Williams say.

Our County Judge and commissioners say that Scurry County is able to build a nice home for older adults—as long as we can do it without federal aid, the financial outlook is all right.

However, if all of us would write our representatives in Washington to vote for Mr. Bruce Alger's bill, HR. 11492 eliminating withholding tax—and later follow up with Sen. James B. Utt's Liberty bill, we could pay out a beautiful Golden Age Home in Snyder in a very few years.

College Girls Going In For Pipe Smoking

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—College girls are going in for the many art of pipe smoking, says the proprietor of a smoke shop.

Sam Watkins says he has sold 100 pipes to women in the past three years, "mostly Douglass college coeds, I think."

And one coed cornered at the tobacco counter admitted Wednesday, "I enjoy a drag on a pipe once in a while."

Like cigarettes 50 years ago, the pipe is not something women flaunt in public. It's reserved for discreet use at home.

Chinese Scroll Is Back In Museum

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Return of a 400-year-old Chinese scroll was reported by the University of Michigan Art Museum Wednesday. Museum officials said the scroll reappeared just as mysteriously as it disappeared Feb. 27. It is valued at $2,500.

The landscape scroll by 16th Century artist Wen Cheng Ming was left in an upstairs gallery by parties unknown.

Except for a slight tear in the mount, a museum spokesman said, the scroll is unharmed.

Musial Gets Big One; But Kuenn's Bigger

Associated Press Sports Writer Stan Musial got the big one. But Harvey Kuenn got THE big one. And that's the story of another victory for the sizzling San Francisco Giants, who continued their headlong rush over all opposition Wednesday by whipping the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4 for their 17th victory in the last 20 games.

While the Cards were dropping into fourth place with their ninth defeat in 12 games, Musial, 41, snapped an 8-for-15 slump with a single in the sixth inning for the elusive hit that tied him with Hodus Wagner for the most hits in National League history—3,430.

The left-handed swinger had previously set two league career records: this season—runs scored and games played—and now holds

Wills Sets Fast Pace On Base Paths

By CHARLES MAHER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Manager Walt Alton was leaving Dodger Stadium after Wednesday night's Houston game when a man with a touch of Texas in his voice asked with a pretense of exasperation:

"Well, why don't you enter Maury Wills in the Preakness?" Although the little Dodger shortstop might make a good show of it either as a runner or a jockey, Alton has decided to hold him for a longer race—the one in the National League.

Wills, running on his own most of the time this season, has stolen 18 bases in a little over a month and—astonishingly—has been caught trying to steal only once.

Political Seismologists Eye GOP's Revolt In California

By JOE LEWIS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Like seismologists studying California's San Andreas fault, political geographers are probing the rift between moderates and ultra-conservatives in California's Republican primary.

They're trying to learn whether the conservative revolt is just another tremor or a major upheaval in California's ever-changing political landscape.

The depth of the Republican schism may be fathomed a bit easier after the June 5 primary, and the November general election will indicate whether it can be bridged.

Reverberations from California's GOP primary campaign, meanwhile, are being charted on the political seismographs throughout the nation as politicians try to measure the magnitude and intensity of the far right.

Because of a traditional restlessness cross-bred with conservatism rooted in the bible belt and the Midwest, the Republican cleavage appears deepest in Southern California.

Southern California is home base for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, running for governor as a middle-of-the-road Republican and staking his political future on the outcome. But Southern California also is a West Coast citadel for the far right, some of whose adherents are more fiercely anti-Nixon than the most partisan Democrats.

The GOP's conservative right-winger are supporting Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell against Nixon in the gubernatorial primary. They are also opposing liberal Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel. But Kuchel's primary opposition is split between two ultra-conservatives—attorney Loyd Wright, former American Bar Association president, and Los Angeles businessman Howard Jarvis. The opposition to Nixon seems more vehement than against Kuchel, possibly because ultra-conservatives considered Nixon one of their own.

The hub of politically potent Southern California, ranging from the Tehachapi Mountains to the Mexican border and from the Pacific to the Colorado River, is Los Angeles County, which has 40 percent of the state's registered voters. Democrats have 57.1 percent of the county's 2,811,130 voters, the Republicans 39.7 percent.

Until 1958, California Republicans, despite their minority party role, won most of the election while the Democrats fought each other. Now the situation appears reversed—the Democrats are in and seem united, the Republicans out and divided. As the minority party, the Republicans can't afford the luxury of factionalism—and expect to win.

In Southern California, where Republicans need to win big, there are scores of right-wing and militantly anti-Communist clubs. Some take typically conservative positions for lower taxes, against greater federal control, and the others are, as one young Republican leader put it, looking for Reds under the bed.

Their numerical strength is difficult to estimate—because many rightists belong to several organizations. Membership of The John Birch Society chapters in Southern California, for example, has been estimated at 2,500. The society itself does not give out membership figures.

Two Republican congressmen in Southern California — freshman John Rousselot, 35, and veteran Edgar Hiestand, 60—are avowed Birch Society members. Both face tough re-election fights in districts reapportioned by a Democratic-dominated legislature.

Right-wingers in the GOP were outraged recently when Nixon declared there is no place in the Republican party for Birch Society members. The "ultras" claim Nixon was pushed by Democrats into attacking the society. The Birch Society, which has chapters in Los Angeles County, has been a campaign issue the way Republicans exploited leftwing activity about 10 years ago.

"I think Nixon got bad advice," says Murray Chotiner, onetime campaign manager for Nixon and now managing Loyd Wright's campaign against Sen. Kuchel. "You don't attack your friends, and that's just what Nixon did. Why not attack the Birch Society as a liberal Democrat—but not for a liberal Republican."

There are enough conservatives in the GOP, the Democratic party and among the independent voters, says Chotiner, to assure victory for a conservative Republican.

Moderate Republicans claim the party needs Nixon and Kuchel to provide the GOP with a more progressive image which, they say, is essential to attract urban groups holding the political balance of power.

The polls say Nixon and Kuchel will win decisively in the primary. However, Shell, a personal campaigner and former football hero at the University of Southern California, has been making some headway with an aggressive campaign against Nixon. Shell, who owns an oil field equipment company, is not a member of the Birch Society but supports many of its precepts.

"Nobody who apologizes for believes liberal Republicans are making a colossal mistake by attacking ultra-conservatives within their ranks.

Many stay-at-home voters, Chotiner says, are conservative Democrats who would vote for a conservative Republican against a liberal Democrat—but not for a liberal Republican.

Suit Filed By Theaters

DALLAS (AP)—Owners of three Waco theaters have filed an anti-trust suit in federal court here, seeking trebled damages amounting to $225,000 and 11 types of injunctive relief.

Defendants named are the Lone Star Theaters, Interstate Circuit, Texas Consolidated Theatres, Columbia Pictures, Paramount Film Distributing Corp., United Film Exchanges, 20th Century-Fox, MGM, Empire Picture and American International Corp.

The suit was filed in behalf of Ed Newman, who operates the Orpheum and Regal theaters, and the Sunset Theatres, which operates the Oaklawn drive-in theatre.

The petition alleges the picture concerns suddenly began delaying and holding back distribution of motion pictures to the three theaters.

Korda's Collection Will Be Auctioned

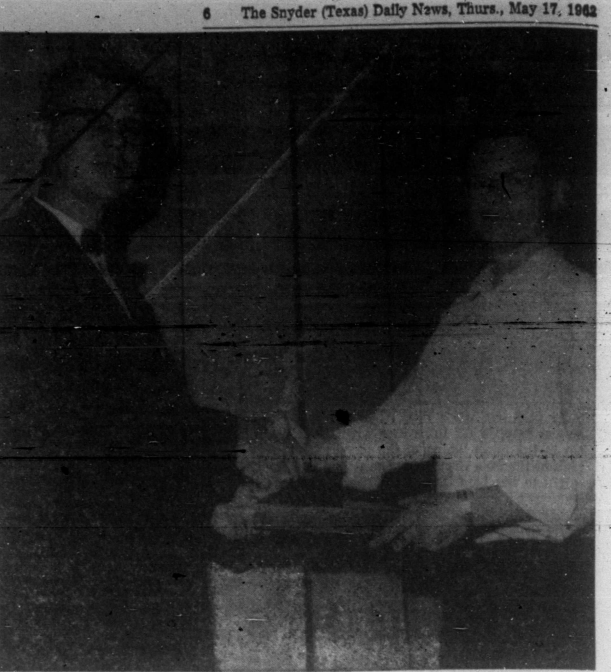

LONDON (AP) — The late Sir Alexander Korda's collection of 33 French impressionist paintings will be auctioned June 14 at Sotheby's. Art experts expect them to bring at least $2.1 million.

A spokesman for Sotheby's estimated Korda, a noted movie producer—$200,000 for the paintings.

The collection is owned by Korda's widow, now the wife of insurance underwriter David Metcalfe. She said she is selling the pictures because the Chelsea home is too small to house them.

ing a conservative is going to win in California," says Shell.

About 15 million Republicans are expected to vote in the primary. If Shell gets a half-million votes, most observers contend, then Nixon has considerable fence-mending ahead if he expects to unseat Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

SLIDE RULE PRESENTATION—Carl Taylor, chairman of the Scurry Chapter of the A.I.M.E. presents the organization's annual award to the student who has shown exceptional knowledge of slide rule procedures. Jerry Weaver is shown receiving this year's award at the high school assembly yesterday.

Irish Eye Markets Behind Iron Curtain

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — An Irish trade mission left for the Soviet Union and Poland Wednesday on a three-week canvass of opportunities to step up exports to those countries.

Tom Leder, a 6-foot-5, 195-pound pitching prospect for the Cincinnati Reds, had an amazing 1.62 earned run average last season with Tampa in the Class D Florida State League.

In 1961 Ireland imported $9.8 million worth of goods from the Communist bloc and sold only $256,800 worth.

REPORTS SON IS KIDNAPED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A Canadian Embassy employee reported Wednesday his teenage son was found, gagged and left on a rooftop by two would-be kidnapers who demanded $36,000 ransom.

The boy, Gordon Wallace, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Wallace of Vancouver, was found safe on the roof of Wallace's apartment building Monday.

Newspapers reported police had arrested the building superintendent.

The boy's father said two men grabbed his son as he was walking down stairs, hid him on the roof and left a note at his apartment door demanding the ransom money be put in the elevator.

Wallace said that he called the police who found the youth a short time later.

Webb AFB Invites Visitors During Armed Forces Day

RIG SPRING—Webb AFB will be ready to welcome area visitors to its observance of Armed Forces Day Saturday.

At the same time, there will be a series of flyovers of military aircraft, some originating from Webb and some from other bases. Required flying schedules are being arranged so that as many as possible will occur on Saturday to focus attention on this special day.

Gates at Webb will be opened at 12:30 p.m. and open house will be observed at 4 p.m. According to an announcement from Col. Wilson H. Banks, wing commander, he added that the base is anxious to have as many visitors as possible.

On the line-the area where planes are packed and serviced, they will be a variety of states, more types of aircraft may be on hand for inspection. Spectators will also see some of the aircraft at low level on their missions.

Nor will the observance be restricted to Webb, for the routes mapped for missions from Webb during the day will carry different types of planes over identical trails. In turn, flights originating at other bases are destined to pass over Big Spring.

Along the line and in hangars, there will be static displays from the physiological section, including the physical club, recruiting, Red Cross (plus a couple of first aid stations), civil service, Civil Defense, etc. Col. Jack Price is arranging for some of the planes from the 31st Fighter Interceptor Squadron to be on display. Four of the super-sonic F-102s from the squadron will participate in a flight from Webb.

Among the craft, which may be seen in the day are F-11, F-9F, H-3 (helicopter), KC-135 (jet tanker), F-105 (the new super-sonic trainer) and probably others.

A salute to the day will begin at 8 a. m. when a flight of four F-37 trainers come over Big Spring at 1000 feet altitude enroute for a swing over Coahom, Colorado City, Snyder, Lamesa, Andrews, Edessa, Midland and Stanton. Within 30 minutes four T-33s will fly the same route, followed within 15 minutes by four E-3s will depart Webb at 12:30 p.m. and proceed to Laughlin AFB, Texas, where they will make a 1000 foot pass over the town of Orange, Texas and the USAF station there. This flight of T-33s will complete their mission by returning to Webb at 2:01 p.m. and making a 500 foot pass across the field.

A flight of six F-100s is scheduled to depart Cannon AFB, N.M. and make a low level pass over Webb at 1:45 p.m. A solo T-38 is scheduled to leave Webb at 1:00 p.m. and return at 2:04 p.m. It will make a subsonic pass across the runways followed by maximum speed enroute to 45,000 ft. At 2:10 p.m. a flight of two T-33s will take off from Webb and proceed to Clovis, N.M., and Cannon AFB. They will arrive there at 2:40 p.m. and make a 1000 ft. pass over the town and base.

Col. Don Fendergrast is project officer for the occasion and Donald E. Jonker and Maj. J. J. Riley are coordinating various displays and activities. Under them are a dozen unit project officers all set to make this one of the busiest observances of Armed Forces Day.

CAR RECOVERED—City police officer Leon Ward inspects a stolen car he recovered early this morning. The car had been reported stolen in Odessa Tuesday night and Ward remembered the license and description from a Big Spring broadcast. The car was occupied by three Webb AFB airmen. A pistol and ammunition were found in the car, but a second pistol the trio reportedly had, could not be found. The car owner left for Snyder immediately upon hearing of its recovery.

Many Supplies Required By American Force In Thailand

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The 8,000-man U.S. military task force building up in Thailand will use about 50 ton of supplies a day, even if there is no combat.

If action should start against Communist forces across the Thai border in Laos, the tonnage could double with ammunition expenditure and increased consumption of automotive and aircraft fuel.

The jungle and plateau country in which the Army battle group, the Marine battalion and the Air Force are taking positions is out at the far end of a 9,000-mile long supply line from the U.S. mainland.

But a large part of the food, tents, clothing, medical equipment, fuel and normal ammunition stocks needed in the initial phase is available from huge depots already operating in the Central Pacific, Far East and South East Asia. These depots are in Hawaii, Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines. To this may be added stocks and supply systems developed as part of the U.S. military assistance programs in Thailand and South Viet Nam.

The Army estimates that a reinforced battle group of 2,300 men—slightly larger than that in Thailand—uses an average of 29 tons of supplies per day under non-combat conditions. In combat, the consumption climbs to an estimated 56 tons.

The Army spokesman said that the forces in Thailand will draw supplies from Army stocks in the Pacific area.

The Army Transportation Corps arranges shipment through both the Military Sea Transport Service and the Military Air Transport System.

"Capability for both surface and air supply to the Bangkok area are excellent," the spokesman said. "Except for emergency resupply, it is expected normal supplying will be by ship to Bangkok."

But he added that because rail service to inland points is limited, the greater part of supplies for bases which have inland will be by air from Bangkok.

Transport planes, like the big C124s and C130s, can land without difficulty at two or three Thai air bases.

Caroline's Horses Get A 'Clean Bill'

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two ponies named Macaroni and Ted emerged as clean as hounds' teeth today from a charge they may be living in undemocratic luxury, with uniformed servants waiting on them.

The suspicion about Caroline Kennedy's small horses was voiced recently by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa. When a bill to increase the uniformed White House police force from 170 to 250 men came up on the House floor he blocked it, at least temporarily.

He demanded assurances that policemen are not used as nursemaids for "the horses presently parked at the White House."

Indignant denials came from the policemen.

"Suh," one officer told a newspaper, "I'm a veteran of the Air Force and I never mess with horses. Nor do the other members of the police force."

It developed that, under a long-standing division of labor at the White House, hoeses and other members of the menagerie come under the jurisdiction of Robert Redmond, head gardener.

His platoon of experts include men wise in the needs of ponies as well as petunias. They can wield a deft fodder fork, and know just how to settle a pony for the night in the backyard stable.

As a matter of fact, 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue is not the official residence of the ponies. Their permanent stables are at Glen Ora, the Kennedy country place in Virginia. But Macaroni often comes up to Washington by horse trailer. Ted less frequently.

Macaroni is reported to give the gardeners a bit of trouble because of his bent for nipping off the heads of flowers. When Mrs. John E. Kennedy and the empress of Iran went strolling on the grounds recently, Macaroni nuzzled the empress. He seemed enamoured, not so much of her as of a bunch of daffodils she carried.

Caroline's animal friends once included two hamsters, Billie and Debbie. They got into the news when they escaped from their cage and enjoyed a weekend of freedom in the White House. One even turned up in President Kennedy's bathtub.

Billie and Debbie are deceased now of unexplained causes, as is Robin, a canary who lived in Caroline's pink and white bedroom. But in summertime there are ducks around a White House pool, and goldfish in it.

And there are Caroline's two dogs, Charlie, a Welsh terrier, and Pushinka. The latter is something special. A gift from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, she is the daughter of a Soviet cosmonaut named Strelka.

If the two ponies created a bit

Mutual Funds Under Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission says it is investigating the possibility that some mutual fund insiders are profiting from data not available to the public.

The SEC said it was distributing a special questionnaire to 50 unnamed mutual funds. It wants the names of all persons who might have access to advance information about changes in the stock portfolios of the funds.

Since mutual funds often buy or sell stocks in large quantities that influence prices, and because they benefit from costly research advice, an insider who knew in advance of a pending transaction might be able to cash in on his knowledge.

The SEC said that, as part of its broad investigation of the securities industry, it will make a special check later of personal stock dealings by those named in the questionnaires returned by the 50 funds.

Soviet-Yugoslav Relations 'Good'

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP)—Premier Khrushchev says the Soviet Union's long-strained relations with Communist Yugoslavia are once again good.

"Our relations with Yugoslavia were rather strained previously," Khrushchev declared Wednesday, "but now I can say with satisfaction that our relations are normal and I would even say good."

Speaking before a crowd of 20,000 Bulgarians in the main square of Varna, a Black Sea resort city, Khrushchev declared that the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia are in harmony on many questions and commercial ties between the two countries are improving continuously.

"We are also ready to develop scientific and cultural relations with Yugoslavia in the interest of strengthening peace," he said.

Tito's independent brand of communism caused the first split in Communist ranks after World War II, and the United States has sought to encourage Tito's independent course with large-scale economic and military aid.

Khrushchev also held out the olive branch to another of Bulgaria's neighbors, Western Allied Turkey.

TOWNCRAFT®

From me to you
A DAILY VIEW
Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"I was glad when they said unto me, 'Let us go to the house of the Lord.'"

PSALM 122

One of the most difficult things the church has to overcome today is the apathy of the people. Years ago the church in America was the center of the community. The activities of the whole community were centered around the church. People were not able to travel here and there, miles from home. They stayed close to their homes, and on the Sabbath went to church. Most of them were glad when they went to church and received spiritual nourishment.

Today with the advent of fast means of travel, the "weekend" is not the Sabbath day of rest, but the opportunity to get a hundred miles from home. And it seems that when "church" is brought up, it becomes a matter of "Do we have to? Can't we go someplace this weekend?" What a pity! No joy in loving God! No desire to worship Him! No sound of adoration coming from the heart or lips! Yet we say that we love Him. Frankly, this doesn't sound much like love.

● On Saturday, VOTE and VOTE FOR Scurry County's Home For The Aged

● LET'S BE FAIR TO OUR ELDER CITIZENS!

... Others Have!

... We Are Able!

... We Should!

An examination of the financial circumstances of Scurry County discloses a present valuation of $119,919,744.00 assessed valuation for a population according to the 1960 census of 20,151 persons. Kent County is constructing a Home for the Aged upon a valuation of $23,481,245.00 (less than one-fifth of Scurry County's valuation) in a county having fewer than 2,000 persons (less than one-tenth the population of Scurry County). It thus appears Scurry County has the resources to afford and the people who need a modern facility for the aged in the community. Schedules prepared by experts familiar with Scurry County financial operations indicate that WITHOUT ANY INCREASE IN TAXES the bonds necessary for a home for the aged can be retired by 1965.

Let's prove by our yeas and works that we are a Christian community by not dishonoring our fathers and mothers in the years of the greatest need.
