Cowboys & Girls Arrive For C-City Junior Show

AJRA Rodeo Attracts 150 Riders to Town

C-City takes on the air of the Old West today with arrival of young riders and their parents for the three-day rodeo, junior version.

Stock for the Colorado City Junior Rodeo has arrived, entry books have been closed and the show is ready to go on at 7:30 tonight in Western arena.

At least 150 young riders, from under 12 to 19, have entered the various riding contests, said Mrs. Dolores Wood, secretary of Western Riding Club which annually sponsors the event.

Among contestants here in Colorado City, ready for boots and saddle tonight, are one girl from Louisiana, a boy whose home address is Florida, a number of riders from the states of Oklahoma and New Mexico and others from all over the West Texas area towns and ranches.

Official headquarters for the rodeo are in Western Motel, Highway 80, east business route. The riding club arena is on Highway 80, west business route.

As starting time draws nearer for the three-night shows, Kiwanis Club president Frank Ginzel announces that members of that civic club will have charge of concession stands and sales of refreshments to spectators in the grandstands.

R. B. Cain, president of Western Riding Club, and Lloyd Smith will be flagmen for the lively contests. Delmar Lowe and Billy Henderson will be official timekeepers. Lawrence Kline of Henrietta and John Gibson of Wichita Falls brought in the show stock early Wednesday.

Announcer for the junior rodeo, approved by the American Junior Rodeo Association, will be John Reagley of Marfa. Rules of the AJRA will be in effect for all contests and contestants.

Prizes will be cash purses with all money received in entry fees returned to lucky winners.

In addition to purses Western Riding Club will present six fancy, diamond-tooled breast harnesses made by Elmer Pickens, to winners in each age group. Harness prizes bear the Colorado City AJRA Rodeo, 1964 lettering.

Tickets for admission will sell at 50c for children, $1 for adults. A Shetland pony will be given away to holder of the lucky ticket stub during the final performance Saturday night.

Events include four for both boys and girls under 12, four for cowgirls and boys between 13 and 15 and four for riders between 16 and 19. Each contestant will be limited to three events in each age group.

BRIEF INTERRUPTION

City 'Shook Up' As Power Fails

Normal life came to a complete standstill here in Colorado City and in eight other area towns at 4:44 Monday afternoon with a power failure.

Texas Electric Service Company's Morgan Creek Power Plant announced failure of a valve on a big gas line that services the power plant here caused the widespread lack of electric power which lasted from 20 minutes to almost an hour.

Area affected was from Sweetwater westward to Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Andrews and Lamesa.

When the gas valve failed, the plant at Lake Colorado City, largest in West Texas, ceased production of power. The added load caused the TESCO plant at Monahans to shut off, too.

With the temperature reading 104, all air-conditioners in Colorado City went silent at 4:44 p. m. here. All TV and radio stations were off the air. Merchants handling refrigerated foods began a scramble to locate trouble with their cooling and refrigeration units. The local movie theater went suddenly dark. Traffic lights in downtown Colorado City had blank face. Electric refrigerators stopped humming.

Every electrician and every television serviceman in town was swamped with emergency calls from home and store owners. Citizens called across the street to each other asking "are your lights off?" There was something assuring in learning that the power failure was not playing favorites or picking on anybody. most people agreed after finding the trouble was unanimous.

Here in Colorado City, full power was restored in 20 minutes as it was at Snyder Sweetwater citizens had power again in about 30 minutes, Big Spring in about 25 minutes. That 20 minutes of no lights, no cool air, no usual communications in C-City "shook up" the whole town.

Beeman Fisher, president of Texas Electric Service Co. in Ft. Worth issued an immediate statement. His statement follows:

"The power supply to a number of West Texas cities and towns served by the Texas Electric Service Co. system was interrupted from 20 minutes to an hour at 4:44 p. m. Monday due to failure of a valve from a big gas line supplying fuel from West Texas gas field to Morgan Creek Power plant of the company at Colorado City.

"The trouble was quickly determined and corrected, but failure of the plant at Colorado City caused the company plant at Monahans to kick off the line. Both of these plants were carrying heavy loads because of high temperatures when the gas supply failed, therefore it took 20 minute to 1 hour before engineers at the plants could synchronize the several generating units and get the power system back to normal operation.

"Cause of the gas valve failure at Colorado City, has not been determined. The other six power plants of the company system east of Colorado City were not affected by the trouble in West Texas."

HOME TALENT PRODUCTION SET

First Playhouse Show To Be Comedy Aug. 20

One night set aside for fun and for laughter comes up here next week.

Colorado Citians will have a chance that night to see a local talent show said to be funny as the Beverly Hill Billies. The show, a deliberate farce with politics as the villian, is "a first" Colorado City and surrounding communities.

Colorado City Playhouse has set the date of its first production for Thursday night, August 20, at 8 p. m. in Colorado High School auditorium.

Tickets will go on sale soon for the hilarious comedy, "Doggone Politics," by Koch. All members of the new amatuer theatrical group will serve as advance ticket-sellers. Price of admission will be 50c for all students, $1 for adults.

During intermission at their very first drama production, members of Colorado City Playhouse will host an informal coffee hour as a first night courtesy to all showgoers.

Intermission is planned between the two one-act production planned for the evening C-City Playhouse first spreads it wings. Rubilee Noble is director for both plays.

"Doggone Politics," with Playhouse members as the amatuer cast, has been in practice since July 31. Members of the cast were chosen after reading for parts and try-outs. Practice sessions are being held every night except Saturday and Sunday from now until curtain time.

John Harper, radio newscaster for the local radio station, stars as Hank Millsap, no-good mountaineer. Anne Morgan is cast as Seamy Millsap, Hank's wife. George Womack, bank official, is to play Ollie, the couple's retarded son. Doug Currie is the sheriff, a Democrat. Roger Richards plays the preacher, Republican contender for the sheriff's post. The hound dog in the cast, Jake, is just a hound dog.

Bonnie Farrer is prompter for the production. Jaycees have offered to help with properties. They have made a door and assembled practice props.

As the project for theater-lovers in Colorado City gathers impetus its 30 members have been offered assistance from many quarters. Old clothes have been lent to the cast by Mrs. H. D. Womack, pioneer citizen. Bill Owen has loaned the group an old-fashioned "chifferobe," Hoyt Dillard an old Kitchen "safe." Old-time cane-bottomed kitchen chairs are to be borrowed, when located.

Along with the play "Doggone Politics," a slap-stick meant to make the audience laugh, there will be a one-act play staged by Mrs. Noble and the high school cast which took third place with the production in district Interscholastic League competition late in the spring school term.

"The Man in the Bowler Hat," by English poet and playhouse A. A. Milne, has Cal Girvin as John; Judy Wood as Mary; Mike Munday as Hero; Kathy Anderson as Heroine; Reg Noble as Chief Villian; Sharon Montgomery as The Moll; Skip Warren as the man in the Bowler Hat. Make-up artists will be Jan Williams, stage manager, Dee Dearen.

Colorado City Playhouse, organized by a group of home talent theater enthusiasts July 15, is headed by these officer: Nadine Gordon, president; George Womack vice-president; Charlotte Northcutt, secretary; Bob Robinson, treasurer.

Director are officers and Lewis B. Balliott, Alan Conley, Rubilee Noble and Joe Earnest, attorney for the newly organized Playhouse.

Reports from practice sessions of the theater group's first show promise a successful and a highly amusing evening August 20 as a "different" kind of entertainment for people of the community and the county.

"Doggone Politics" is not being recommended by Playhouse for high-brow critics. It is recommended for plain people who would like to just plain laugh.

On the Sidewalks of C-City

Crowds estimated at several hundred shoppers and merchandise on racks and tables without their stores, "bigger than even the Tumbleweed Festival parade Pictured is a group typical of the sidewalk shoppers draws," strolled downtown sidewalks here Monday who attended the novel sale. Clowns and square dance. The evening marked the first Twilight Sidewalk Sale ing were part of the downtown party entertainment for Colorado City with merchants displaying bargain features.

Some of us work so hard at fishing, we take all the joy out of it.

We spend so much of our time trying to catch a fish, or just covering the water, that we fail to get the complete relaxation that a fishing trip should provide.

Recently I was pleasure boating on a central Texas lake when I saw three fishermen, all of whom I knew. Each was working the shore line with his plug.

They had boated a few fish in the wee hours of the morning. But they hadn't caught a fish in more than two hours. Nevertheless, they were still hard at it—with the hot summer sun beaming down on them.

Before I got to their boat I could tell that each cast had lost its vigor. The men were tired. They admitted they had not stopped to rest all day.

I had a few bottles of soda pop in my ice chest so I pulled over to the shore, got out and offered each a drink and a chance to stretch his legs.

They had been sitting in a cramped position in the boat so long they could hardly stand. Their fish had been caught long before noon, but still they were plugging.

Too many of us fish that way. Most of the time we have but one day a week—sometimes only one a month—when we can get out and fish. Then of course, we try to crowd everything into that one day. So we fish without regard for rest, or even food or drink.

I know a guide on a nearby lake who requires that his customers take time off to rest.

He gets them out at the crack of dawn, when fishing is at its best. About 10 o'clock he tells them they'll have just 30 minutes more of fishing. By 11 o'clock they are back at the dock.

He tells them to get into some lounging clothes, eat a good meal and meet him back at the dock at 3 o'clock. Then they will fish until sundown.

Once they've had a good meal, and their arms and bodies have had a chance to fully relax, they can fish hard the remainder of the afternoon and finish up at a time when the sunset is beautiful.

Another guide I know carries along a pint sized vacuum bottle of coffee for each fisherman in his boat. Along about 8 o'clock he stops for coffee and urges them to do likewise. At noon he refills each bottle with lemonade, orange juice, or milk.

With individual vacuum bottles each fisherman can take time out for fishing for a refreshing drink then get going again. And without disturbing anyone else for a bottle opener or rocking the boat while he rummages around in an ice chest.

A friend who recently made a float trip told me how that trip worked.

Each person also had his bottle of coffee. At 10 o'clock there was some fruit for them. At noon they pulled into the bank and spread out a picnic lunch.

Then they leaned back against a big tree trunk and just relaxed and talked or caught an hour of shut-eye. As a result they started out fresh again for the afternoon.

Chances are they didn't miss a fish during the time they were resting.

When night came they were not exhausted from beating the water with their lures. The trip was refreshing.

Instead of a day of hard work they got full enjoyment from it.

We heartily recommend that you take along refreshments on that fishing trip—be it hot drinks or cold ones. They are fine mid-morning or mid-afternoon pepper-uppers.

Also, don't overlook that Mexican exercise known as a siesta. A little nap can add a lot to the enjoyment of a trip and to your physical condition at the end of the day.

Mrs. Kayser TPA Director To Visit Peru

Former Colorado City teacher, Mrs. Pauline Jones Kayser who now teaches in Wichita Falls, leaves Monday for Lima, Peru, as a representative of the Texas Partners of the Alliance for Progress.

Mrs. Kayser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Jones of Renderbrook Ranch, is sponsor of the Pan American Student Forum chapter of Wichita Falls High School. She was recently elected a director of the Texas Partners of the Alliance. Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City is also a director of the new organization.

Texas Partners of the Alliance was organized in San Antonio, recently. The Texans seek "partnership with Peru" under the Partners of the Alliance program. The program is a channel through which civic clubs, unions, business and professional groups, state institution, private individuals and schools may work directly with people in an Andean village, a jungle colony, a slum improvenemt association or other groups in Latin America who are striving to improve their way of life.

Pan American Student Forum of Texas, sponsored by the Good Neighbor Commission, participates with Texas Partners of the Alliance as the PASF, state project for the coming year.

Mrs. Kayser will make the visit to Peru as director of the new Texas Partners organization and will also observe as teacher-sponsor of the Wichita Falls Pan American Student Forum chapter.

She expects to leave Dallas Monday, arrive for briefing in Washington, D. C. The party of eight will fly from Miami, Florida, Tuesday night, arriving in Lima, Peru, Wednesday morning.

Sisters Visited Here In Billberry Home

Guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bilberry last week was Mrs. Bilberry's sister whom she had not seen in thirteen years, Mrs. Melvin C. Herzik.

Mrs. Herzik, the former Miss Betty Lane, was accompanied by her two younger children, daughter Robin, who is four, and son Chic, eight years old. The trio left Tuesday for Bryan to visit another sister, Mrs. Tom Jones. Herzik and the couple's two older sons, Terry and Doug, will join them in Bryan this weekend.

The family makes their home in Tokyo, Japan, where Herzik is associated with Pacific Architects and Engineers, Inc. They have also lived in Manila, 3½ years; Okinawa, 8½ years; and Korea, one year. They have been in Tokyo for the past four years. Herzik was employed as a civilian with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers while in Manila and Okinawa.

The Herziks have quite an international family. Terry, 18, is the only child born in the United States. Doug, 14, was born in Manila, the Philippines. Chic was born during the family's stay on Okinawa, and Robin was born in Korea, shortly before the move to Japan.

Terry has completed his high school studies and plans to enroll for the fall semester at Texas A&M University near Bryan. He plans to study towards a degree in civil engineering.

The Herzik sons attends classes at a private school, the American School in Japan. The school, first organized by missionaries, offers much the same curriculum as schools in the states, Mrs. Herzik said.

Mrs. Herzik, Robin and Chic, vacationed for three weeks in Honolulu and made a trip to Disneyland before arriving in Colorado City for their visit with the Bilberrys.

Wolves

Football takes over part of the calendar here next week with Wolf football practice to start at 6:30 a. m. Monday on the practice field at Colorado High.

All sophomore, junior and senior students who expect to take part in practice are to be in the high school gymnasium at 6 p. m. today (Thursday) for physical examinations, Coach Truman Nix said.

"No prospect will get to practice or play," Nix stressed, without the complete physical set for Thursday.

Practice sessions will be on practice field at high school each morning at 6:30. Evening practice will be on the baseball field at 7 p. m. each day until the weather begins to cool, the coach said.

Scrimmage for both A&B teams with the Coahoma High A&B teams will be at 7:30 Monday evening, August 24.

Head Coach and Athletic Director Nix expects a total of 16 lettermen to return to the squad this season.

First game for the Wolves will be played in Phillips at 8 p. m. Friday, Sept. 4. Quarterback Club backers of the Wolves are trying for a busload of fans to make the trip to the game. Reservations may be made with Jeff Taylor for the trip to and from Phillips via air-conditioned chartered bus.

CONVERSATION CORNER

THINGS do have a way of changing, don't they? Now you take farming. One of the things Mother used to say with pride was this: "My grandfather could plow the straightest furrow of any man in Navarro County."

Back then, plowing straight was something important to a man and his self esteem. Now in this age of spiral rows, the curlicues of contour plowing, Mother sometimes wonders what her "Grandpa" would think if he could come back and see.

Any man who plowed just up and down, straight and true, would get lectures from the SCS, the county agent and most of his farm neighbors. Things change.

TAKE travel. It probably dates you, but remember train trips, with coach windows wide open . . . cinders in the eye? Fried chicken in a shoe box?

Remember when a trip to a nearby town meant a whole day's journey by auto? Remember the coffee can in the car to dip up creek water for the overheated radiator?

Remember isinglass curtains snapped on touring cars when it rained? Remember the tool box on the running board of the first cars? For that matter, remember running boards?

TAKE good grooming. Remember when ladies caught rain water in buckets and tubs so they could wash their long hair the first sunny day? Remember their drying waist or hip-length hair out in the sun on Saturday?

Remember fingernail buffers and that powdery stuff that made fingernails shine after buffing?

Remember when no nice girl or woman would have been caught dead, sun-tanned? Remember when ladies hid their "lip rouge" in between the linen handkerchiefs in the pretty box?

REMEMBER hairpin boxes . . . dresser sets of silver or tortoise shell?

Remember handpainted china powder boxes? Remember when all cultured young ladiess studied china painting?

Remember those things called "hope chests?" Embroidery hoops?

Remember when ladies wore kimonas instead of housecoats or brunch coats or negligees? Remember boudoir caps with insertion and baby-blue ribbon? Remember horsehair picture hats?

ANYBODY who can remember most of those things is fast becoming "a period piece." Let's face it. Not as young as we once were.

Just the same does anybody remember when songs were meant to be sung, not hollered? Remember when it was fashionable for singers to carry the tune, by cracky?

That sweet era of sweet music is gone. Gone along with dotted swiss. Melody is passe"

All a "singer" needs for a hit recording now, is to chant lyrics as off key as possible, come in a little behind or just in front of accompanying instruments, stomp, clap, have convulsions. And holler.

OH, WELL. 'Twas ever thus. Things change. Only thing human nature has never been able to change is human nature.

Remember when the older generation first frowned on rag-time? Remember how they loathed that new thing called jazz? How they all told us we were headed for ruin to the strains of swing? Boogie-Woogie? Most of us survived the ukelele playing "Last Night on the Back Porch" by moonlight behind the honeysuckle vines.

So will the young ones of this awful age grow up sane, we have to assume, in spite of the beat and the Beatles and "beans in their ears."

* * *

THINGS change. Farming, travel, styles . . . even music. Things change. People do not.

Each new generation is compelled by nature to go each older generation one better. Or one worse, depending on how you look at it. And who's doing the looking.

One nice thing is for sure. You don't have to look at it. You can always reach out and turn off the radio or turn off the TV during the Dick Clark show. And get on with your reading.

THING that amazes anybody who hasn't learned a new dance since the two-step is this: just who is dancing with who? That is, whom?

Caught the Clark show on a recent day-off. Partners don't touch each other. They don't even look at each other. Looks more like they're trying to dodge each other in a revolving door.

Like we said. Things change. Dancing changes. And if right now it looks like a cross between an ice cube down the back and chigger bites all over it doesn't matter too much.

What does matter is that the young things enjoy it. It's fun. And fun is the natural heritage of youth.

Or don't you remember?

THERE must be little pleasures for people in any job. For a columnist they come in the form of unexpected comment in person or via phone.

For instance, Marcella Fee (Mrs. Bob Sr.) called to say "Yes, I do make mesquite bean jelly!" Marcella, native daughter of C City and daughter of Mrs. R. P. Price, specializes in the unique jelly as a gift for special friends. "Ask Nell Palmer," she says. Nell is Mrs. Sims Palmer to whom Marcella gave a recent jar of the strictly West Texas delicacy.

SEEN LATELYS were, two lucky couples with grandchildren visiting: The Al Jankes have as guests their older son, David Janke, his wife Barbara and the couple's two-year-old Dayid Jr. The family lives in Jacksonville, Florida.

The Kissingers, Eddie and Frances, were spied lunching out with their pretty daughter Joan and her curly-haired youngster, Tina Jean. Joan's husband S-5 Troy Scarborough is stationed at Fort Sam Houston and the family lives in San Antonio.

Other Kissinger daughter, Jean, her husband Frank Moore and their children Johnny, Peggy and Ronnie, live across the street from the "house on Chestnut St." we've just discovered. Jean and her children have been eagerly watching after two little baby humming birds in a nest in their yard! The tiny things have flown away now.

HERE as weekend guests of Doris Ann (Coffey) Mann were her friends Bob and Marj Clarke who live in Houston but have been on temporary assignment (by Shell Pipeline) in Odessa. With the Clarkes were their attractive children Carol, Susie, Randy, Ricky and 22-month-old Nancy Jean.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS included that goodlooking couple Glenn and Deedee Nolte and their baby girl named Robin. With them the Noltes had his visiting nephews, Kent and Terry Black, 12 and 9-year-old sons of his sister Norma and her husband Edgar Black Jr. of Lockhart. The Blacks picked up the boys Sunday and took them on to Ruidoso for a longer vacation.

Office visitors have been Ira Hardin . . . Ray Webb . . . Louise Dockrey Gainbon (Mrs. Ralph) of Midland . . . Mildred Free . . . and Ross Hargrove was in for a minute.

GOOD NEWS department: hear tell that our Otto Jones is back on the downtown scene after a hospital stay of several weeks, following a mild heart attack. Otto is one man not likely to be mistaken for less than what he is—veteran cowman, ranch manager and a mighty good fellow-Democrat.

Cheerleaders To Leave For SMU

Colorado High School's five cheerleaders for the coming school year left Sunday for Southern Methodist University's Cheerleading School in Dallas where they will undergo a strenuous week of practice and instruction to prepare themselves for the coming football season.

Cheerleaders for 1964-65 are Myra Ellen Robinson, senior and head cheerleader; Sharon Montgomery, senior; Martha Sheppard, senior; Mary Jane Nobles, junior; and Kay Lindsey, junior.

The girls registered Sunday afternoon, and regular sessions began bright and early Monday morning. They will receive instruction in leading yells, tumoling, body movements, maintaining school spirit at a high level. The girls will also learn how to encourage participation by the student body in such activities as pep rallies, homecoming pontiffs, etc.

Three sessions of the cheerleading school are held each year on the SMU campus, with approximately 1000 students attending each session.

CHS cheerleaders will wear a uniform of school colors for the main day of competition between squads. Uniforms include red culottes and white oxford-cloth blouses with roll sleeves and button-down collars. Sleeveless crop tops will be worn over the blouses. The letters CHS in white, edged in black, adorn the right shoulder of the tops. Black sneakers complete the ensembles. White blouses and colored shorts will be worn on days of general classes.

Mrs. Wilson And Guest

Mrs. Lutie Wilson, right, and her cousin, Mrs. Annie Durham of Sterling City, pause during a visit Tuesday afternoon for a picture. Mrs. Wilson, aunt of Mrs. Elmer Martin, and Mrs. Durham are first cousins. Their mothers were sisters. Mrs. Durham will be 93-years-old on Dec. 17. Her cousin, Mrs. Wilson, will be 92-years-old on Oct. 15. Tuesday was a busy day for the two ladies who have visited each other many times during the years.

TUESDAY

Sterling City Cousin Visits Mrs. Wilson

BY DORIS ALLEN
Society Editor

Recent guest of Mrs. Lutie Wilson, 725 Elm, was her cousin, Mrs. Annie Durham of Sterling City, who visited during the day and returned to her home in the evening.

This in not such an unusual occurrence—unless you know that Mrs. Wilson is 91-years-old, and Mrs. Durham is 92.

The two ladies, bright-eyed and inquisitive, had quite a visit; recalling frequent times during their childhood when the two families got together. They were both born in Bell County, but moved away at an early age. Mrs. Durham's parents took their family to Coleman County where she grew up and married Dewitt Durham. Mrs. Wilson's family moved to Colorado City where she has spent most of her life.

The Colorado City cousin married Benjamin F. Wilson at the age of 19 and left her home as a bride to live in other Western states, such as Oklahoma, Washington and Arizona. She returned to Mitchell County as a widow, bringing a small nephew and niece with her. The niece she raised is now Mrs. Elmer Martin, wife of the Mitchell County Judge, with whom Mrs. Wilson now resides. Mrs. Wilson's only son, Earl, was owner of Wilson Studio here before his death.

Mrs. Durham moved to Sterling City 66 years ago when her late husband was made superintendent of schools. She is the mother of ten children, eight of whom are living. She has four sons, four daughters, 20 grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

She is the oldest resident of the town and the oldest member of the First Baptist Church in Sterling City.

Traveling with Mrs. Durham was her companion, Mrs. J. H. McCabe, who calls Marcos, Colorado, her home. She has been with Mrs. Durham for five years. While in Colorado City, Mrs. Durham and Mrs. McCabe also visited with Mrs. Jess Craddock and Mrs. Gillian McEntire, former residents of Sterling City.

Teacher Attends State Conference

Editorially Speaking

The New Look for Agri-Business

As the price-cost squeeze has settled over the farmer and rancher, the population of Texas farm and ranch families has dropped.

This statistical fact has been apparent for a decade here in Mitchell County where Colorado City's population has shown a slow, but steady growth while the rural count has declined.

However, there is another point that should be kept in mind as we evaluate the agricultural industry. And that fact is simply this: Many of those leaving the country are not necessarily leaving the agricultural industry.

Today nearly 40 per cent of all Texans derive their income wholly or in part from farming and ranching or connected businesses Economist report. Those businesses supply 98 per cent of the agricultural production in Texas, supply the production needs of farmers and process and distribute agricultural products.

Many agricultural processes once handled on the farm are now performed by these businesses and much labor once needed on the farm is used by them.

For example, farmers today purchase most of their power in the form of gasoline and machinery instead of raising animals and feeding them.

Workers that supply these production needs perform a service for the farmer and are partially dependent on him for their living. And it must pass through the business firms of the state before reaching the final consumer.

Agriculture and business are becoming more and more interdependent, even if we are in the space age. Some reasons for this interdependence are that farm and ranching require a large capital investment, more cash is spent for living expenses on crop production, and farmers are more dependent on the market place.

Increased efficiency in farm and ranch production has released much labor to the urban areas, but much of this labor retains its connection with agriculture.

Profit Picture Often Exagger ated

We were talking recently with a friend who operates one of our retail stores. And the discussion, as it often does, turned to business and employes and customers and profits.

Again, it came home to us so to speak, how so many people are misjudging the profit picture in retail businesses. Infact, even one business man looking at another's business operation gets a different view than when looking upon his own bookkeeping.

Take for instance, a question which comes home to every family and which was asked in a recent survey: "For every one hundred dollars spent at your food store, about how much profit do your think the store makes after paying expenses?" The answers ran a wide gamut—the peak figure being 60 per cent and the lowest, provided by 9 per cent of the people answering, being less than 3 per cent. A quarter of the respondents, which make up the largest single group, guessed that profit in this case ran from 12 to 40 per cent.

This survey indicates that ". . . most people have a vague and often distorted idea about food store profit." A major food store reprinted these findings in its house organ adding that its own profit on each dollar of sales runs from 1.21 cents to 3.3 cents.

That figure just about fits all the other food stores as well. And stores selling goods other than foods commonly earn only three or four per cent on the sales dollar.

The fact is that the great part of any sales dollar, no matter what it is spent for, goes for stocks of goods, for rents and taxes, for wages and other payroll costs, and the other expenses that are a necessary part of doing business. The share that winds up as profit, it is clear, is vastly exaggerated in the minds of most of us.

Sheriffs Reflect on Living

A reflective license plate could save your life some day.

License plates that light from headlights prevent many rear-end and head-on collisions at night, when most accidents happen.

Last month, the 18,500-member National Sheriffs Association unanimously endorsed reflective plates at its annual convention.

Sheriff Malcolm McLeod of Lumberton, N. C., the Association's new president, said; "We think they are an excellent law enforcement and safety aid. We wish they were used in every state."

Since May, reflective plates have been endorsed at two large gatherings of safety experts-the 13-state Midwest States Civilian-Military Traffic Safety Conference, and the Western Civilian and Military Safety Coordinators Conference.

Here are the facts which convinced the professionals that reflective plates prevent accidents:

1. They make parked or disabled cars visible more than 1,000 feet sooner than cars with ordinary painted plates.

2. Burned-out rear lights are one of the five most frequent vehicle defects. With out rear lights, a slow-moving car is prone to a collision from the rear. Reflective license plates don't burn out.

3. Burned-out front lights are another of the five most common vehicle defects. A burned-out headlight makes a "one-eyed" car. Which light is burned out? Is the car over the center line? A reflective plate between headlights gives the answer.

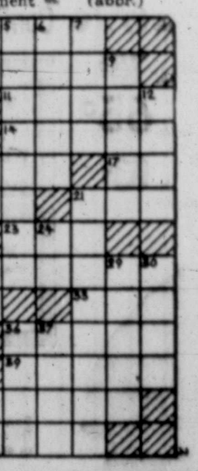

We agree with the professionals: Reflective license plates are a good thing. We think all states should have them, not just at 17 (and the District of Columbia) which do now.

FOR NEW CLOTHING ROLE

Weather Cycle Is Boasting Cotton

By JOHN C. WHITE
State Commissioner
Of Agriculture

Longer hotter summers and shorter warmer winters in Texas have brought an increased need for more cool cotton fabrics. With the first "blue norther" hitting in late November, cotton has become even more of a clothing king the year round.

What has cotton done to Texas and federal research teams are constantly seeking additional uses for our increased cotton production. The versatility of this plant becomes more evident every year as new discovries are made in the laboratory.

Stretch cotton, a new fabric used in women's summer suits between-season dresses, sportwear and many other garments, "gives" without bagging at the elbow and knee. The new stretch cotton remains its comfortable attractive texture.

Permanently pleated or creased wash-and-wear cotton has made light of the housewife's laundering chores. The permanently creased cotton fabric used in men's slacks keeps a sharp, "just pressed" look throughout the day. And the men owe cotton another vote of thanks for its appearance in sports coats.

New striped and floral sports coats which have become a fashion rage have made the summer and autumn days more bearable for the suit-wearers in the family. Mother appreciates the permanently pleated cottons that keep the children cool and crisp looking while traveling.

Scientists have also learned that cotton fabrics can be provided with a "built-in safety factor" which opens the door to many more opportunities undreamed of just a few years ago. A new flame-retardant cotton has been developed which is used in missile fuel handlers suits, hospitals and firemen's coats.

The flame-retardant material has a promising future in draperies, slipcovers, and bedding for safety-conscious parents.

The new cotton fabrics designed for comfort and safety as well as attractiveness have added a number of new conveniences for the homemaker while at the same time increasing the wearing life of the garment.

The wise purchaser will follow a few simple tips when shopping for the new cotton fabrics. Always read the label for information on fiber content and cleaning instructions. Check the manufacturer's guarantee for colorfastness and shrinkage. Select material that is firm and closely woven. Happy cotton wearing!

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Gets Praise For State Civil Rights Progress

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Texas progress in the field of race relations was commended by visiting federal officials here to discuss aspects of the new Civil Rights Law.

Gov. John Connally met briefly with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, director of the new Community Relations Service; and former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee.

Session was one of a series to be conducted with governors in all states at the request of President Johnson to discuss the Community Relations Service operation. Agency will provide conciliation service at the state and local level to resolve discrimination disputes.

Governor Connally predicted Texas will continue to move forward without outside help.

Meanwhile, Texas School Boards Association warned that action on the part of segregated schools between now and Labor Day may determine their continued eligibility for federal funds.

According to Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials on the Civil Rights Law, all the answers won't be known until now regulations are drawn late this month.

But the law has been interpreted as banning federal aid to segregated facilities.

Texas schools now get a total $30,000,000 a year in federal money for such programs as the national defense education act, vocational education, school lunch and milk programs and aid to districts where federal installations bring in a large number of pupils.

NEW personnel policies requiring procedures for enforcement of Title VI of the Civil Rights Law will require assurance from local school boards of compliance or intention to comply before federal funds will be award ed.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Connally selected Pat Taggart of Waco, president of Newspaper, Inc., as a member of Texas State Historical Survey Committee to succeed Sam Peveto of Childress for an unexpired term expiring until January 1.

New members of the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners are Miss Hedwig Pudlowsky of Houston, Mrs. Jimmie L. Morrison of Hico and Mrs. Naomi Younger of Loveland. Their terms extend until September 7, 1965.

Dr. J. A. Barrington of Wichita Falls and Dr. Claude Wilke of El Paso were named to six-year terms on the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. They succeed Dr. John Meyer of Paris and Dr. Edward Pavlic of Alice.

Kirby Hillin of Dallas and Virgil A. Watson of Bonham succeed W. J. Burkhart of Dallas and Kenneth Nelson of Diboll to six-year terms on the State Board of Registration for Public Surveyors.

Allen Searight, community coordinator for Texas Industrial Commission, has accepted a job as executive director of Texas Historical Foundation. Larry Milner, San Angelo, will take over Searight's duties with the Industrial Commission on August 15.

OPINIONS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has ruled that:

A county commissioners court may decide whether or not it shall appoint county hospital managers with overlapping terms;

A county attorney has the duty of filing suits for foreclosure of the State's lien for delinquent inheritance taxes;

District courts in that county has jurisdiction of these suits even in those instances in which property formerly belonging to a decedent is not within the county, so long as it is within the jurisdiction of this state.

SALT WATER — Oil industry representatives urged the Texas Water Pollution Control Board not to outlaw the use of open, unlined earthen pits for the disposal of oil field salt water in Dallas, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Potter and Oldham counties.

Board held the third in a series of hearings to explore the problem in a 48 county area which overlies the Ogallala water formation.

Oil engineers testified disposal of oil field brine into unlined pits in the five Panhandle counties named is very minor. By January 1 testified one 87 per cent of the salts will be injected underground, with only 257 barrels a day going into unlined surface pits.

HUNTING-FISHING — New hunting and fishing licenses are scheduled to be sent to some 2,800 dealers by August 14, State Parks and Wildlife Commission announces.

Old licenses expire August 31. More than 2,300,000 are expected to be paid during the coming year — at the rate of

New Hunt, Fishing Licenses Are Due

The new hunting and fishing licenses required for the state fiscal year beginning Sept. 1 should be in hands of dealers by August 14 according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director for the Parks and Wildlife Department in Austin.

He said they will be ready in ample time 2,300,000 licenses for hunting and fishing uses.

Approximately 2,800 official deputies handle the licenses which are available generally where sporting goods are available and at departmental offices.

All persons 17 years and under and 65 and over are exempt from the regular hunting and fishing licenses but they need to get a regular exempt licenses if they hunt deer or turkey. Hunting licenses cost $3.15 and fishing cost $2.15.

The only new provision in the licenses is that persons obtaining exempt licenses for hunting deer or turkey on their own land where they actually reside must present an affidavit along with their application. "In other words," said Watson, "just the mere verbal statement that they will hunt on their own land of residence is no longer adequate."

Watson said that for the fiscal year ending August 31 the total hunting and fishing licenses show an increase of about 25,000 over the preceding year.

Revenues from the combined licenses approximate $3,000,000 annually. The money is used to finance wildlife restoration, law enforcement, administratives functions and other activities.

Fees for the forty-eight different kinds of licenses sold range from fifty cents for exempt doe licenses in Eastland County to $200 for both non-resident trappers licenses and wholesale fish dealers.

Watson cautioned sports men that their old licenses are not valid ofter August 31 "under any circumstances."

Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife biologists are conducting the annual deer census in Texas counties where the department has regulatory responsibility.

These counts must be taken after fawns are born and must be completed in time to shape the deer hunting season. By late September or early October, enough data will be available for biologists to determine which areas will support an antlerless deer kill.

Then landowners will be notified in time to process antlerless deer permits.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS

Starvation Isn't Weight Control

(Editor's Note: This article prepared by the American Medical Association for Colorado City Record.)

Starvation to lose weight has been practiced for ages, but there still are a lot of overweight people. Thus, says Today's Health, the magazine to the American Medical Association, starvation by itself cannot be an entire program for weight control.

There is probably no harm from abstinence for a day or two for the normal individual. The danger is that after a short time the desire for food subsides and the individual on the fast may be tempted to extend it too long for safety.

Starvation, in addition to causing a depletion of body fat and protein, can induce other hazardous effects not readily recognized. A form of gouty arthritis, low blood pressure and anemia have been reported in some individuals after relatively short periods of fasting. And there are persons with certain diseases who should never attempt fasting.

A more reasonable approach to weight reduction is a modified diet to foods high in nutrients but low enough in calories to cause a loss of pounds, coupled with suitable exercise.

A number of physicians have incorporated periods of short term starvation into their overall program of weight reduction, and, as a part of a medically supervised regimen, it sometimes can be used successfully.

The stress is on medical supervision. Starvation, even for short periods, should not be attempted without your doctor's guidance. If the doctor should select fasting as a part of your weight reduction program, he will make certain that you are under careful medical supervision and surveillance during the period.
