Costly Nazi Belgian Salient Is Caving In

Runstedt Pulling Out Of Bulge As Pressure Mounts

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Thursday, Jan. 11.—The western end of the Germans Ardennes salient—carved out in their costly December counteroffensive—appeared today to be caving under Allied pressure from three sides. There were indications that German Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt already had shifted most of his forces to the eastern end of the wedge in Belgium.

The Germans acknowledged quitting St. Hubert, southwestern anchor town of the salient. Although his report was without Allied confirmation, the German radio said St. Hubert, 14 miles west of Bastogne, was evacuated before the Americans entered it.

La Roche Mopped Up

LaRoche, another communications hub on the north side of the salient, was being mopped up rapidly after having been bypassed by American armor and infantry in a general advance, and front-line correspondents said the main German force had abandoned that town as well as others on the north and west.

Another reverse for the Germans was an advance by the American Seventh Army to the south where the Germans began counterattacking when it was apparent that their Belgian offensive had bogged down. The Americans pushed ahead a mile in a sector seven miles southwest of Saarbrucken, a field dispatch said.

Von Rundstedt appeared to have effected an orderly withdrawal in the Belgian bulge under cover of the same foul weather that shrouded the mid-December westward plunge of his armies and deprived the Allies of support of their tactical airforces.

Pocket May Empty

The U. S. First and Third armies, now less than nine miles apart at the waist of the salient after a day of battering advances through ice and snow, thus faced the prospect of finding the pocket empty when they eventually came together north of Bastogne.

(The Berlin radio announced Wednesday that German troops had evacuated St. Huber, anchor city at the southwestern tip of the salient 14 miles due west of Bastogne, and apparently began preparing the German people for a full-scale withdrawal from that sector.

("In order to economize German forces and retain mobile reserves, the German high command has shortened the front on the west flank of the area penetrated by American troops," the announcement said: "St. Hubert has been

Airlines Crash Is Fatal To 24

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Twenty-four persons were carried to sudden death early today when an American Airlines plane crashed and burned in a canyon five and a half miles from the fog-shrouded airport where it tried to land.

The victims were the 21 passengers—three from the Navy and 18 from the Army—and a crew of three. Army and Navy sources will announce the passengers' names after relatives have been notified.

The plane, arriving from New York by way of Washington, Cincinnati, Memphis, Dallas, El Paso and Phoenix, reached Lockheed air terminal in suburban Burbank at 4:08 a. m. Barred by fog from landing, Capt. Joseph Russell McGauley, 34, told the control tower by radio that he would attempt to land at an emergency field 30 miles to the northeast at Palmdale.

Swings Off To Left

Instead of turning to the right, for Palmdale, airline attaches said, he apparently swung to the left. The plane, flying low, was heard over various southern California towns during the next hour. At 5:10, McCauley was heard calling Palmdale but evidently could not hear its replies, for he kept excitedly repeating his calls.

Several hours later, after the fog had lifted, the wreckage was sighted with field glasses from the airport control tower.

The plane, Flight 1, the Sun Country special, left New York City at 6:55 a. m., eastern war time, yesterday.

Besides Capt. McGauley, whose home was in Boise, Ida., the crew members were First Officer Robert Gaylor Eitner, 25, North Hollywood, Calif., and stewardess Lila a Docken, 22, Burbank, Calif.

WOMAN CONVICTED

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 10. (AP)—A jury in 30th district court today convicted Mrs. Jewel Brinkley Parker, 20, of the fatal stabbing of Mrs. June Geno, 18. A five-year suspended sentence was assessed.

Government Clamps Lid On Live Cattle

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The government today clamped price ceilings on live cattle and otherwise revamped regulations in an avowed attempt to spread short supplies of quality beef more evenly among consumers.

Economy Stablization Director Fred M. Vinson ordered OPA to establish a ceiling of $18.00 a hundred pounds, Chicago basis, for live cattle and calves, effective Jan. 29. He directed that the ceiling be reduced to $17.50 on July 2.

Although prices paid for top grades at livestock markets have averaged below $18.00, individual sales have exceeded that figure.

Authority to establish such ceilings had for months been sought by the OPA which said slaughterers who observed price regulations were being squeezed out of business.

As a consequence, the OPA contended, some consumers were getting more than their share of quality meat and others less than their share.

Ceilings were opposed by the War Food administration, some congressmen from cattle producing states, and by organized cattle men. They claimed ceilings would result in lower prices and in a consequent reduction in cattle production.

There was immediate reaction for and against the administration's step and its views. In New York, Jack Kranis, counsel for the retail meat dealers action committee, asserted it would "mean a four cent increase a pound for consumers." A WFA spokesman in the same city said however that the ceiling would "remove that eternal wondering" and give dealers an idea what to expect and enabled them to plan accordingly.

The American Meat institute in Chicago declared the plan if vigorously enforced would "help dry up the black market in beef." Representing major packers, the institute said it didn't think consumer prices would change but wasn't so sure the supply would be greatly increased. More meat should be made available to the armed forces, by this step, it was stated.

At Chicago, P. O. Wilson, secretary manager of the National Livestock Producers association, said the order showed lack of understanding by government officials "on what it takes to get beef produced." But he said the order was an improvement over an original proposal for immediate ceilings of $17.50. F. E. Mollin, secretary of the American National Livestock association, said at Denver the program meets the objections of stockmen in part because it gives feeder producers a "chance to get out from under."

Senator Reed (R-Kas) charged that the ceiling order constituted "another OPA blunder" which, he claimed, would result in a reduction of 3,500,000,000 pounds of beef production this year.

Accompanying the order was a grant of authority to the OPA to allocate quality cattle among

Sharp Increase In Draft Quotas Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Draft quotas will rise sharply in the next six months, government officials disclosed today in urging "work or fight" legislation to fill resultant gaps in war production ranks.

The government proposes to extract some 200,000 of the 900,000 men needed for the armed forces from occupationally-deferred workers, aged 26 through 29, in war-essential industries.

Legislation Said Only Hope

And only through national service legislation channeling every able-bodied person into the war effort, said Undersecretary of War Patterson, can the 900,000 men be furnished to the Army and Navy and 700,000 workers be provided for industry before July 1.

Patterson informed the House Military committee of the Army's and Navy's plan for the step-up in inductions, which would boost draft calls from the present 110,000 a month to about 150,000.

At the same time, War Mobilization Director Byrnes reportedly was winding up a series of conferences with top war officials to revise the list of essential industries so as to protect the most important factories from the draft inroads.

To Meet With Byrnes

In turn, some 40 members of the House agreed to ask Byrnes to meet with them to explain the necessity for inducting additional deferred farm youths, the largest group of young men now available for military duty.

Amid these developments, the War Manpower commission reported an apparent "marked increase" in men seeking war jobs, evidently as a result of recent government moves toward the "work or fight" principle. In some cities gains of from 50 to 100 per cent

16 Indictments Charge 11 Here

Sixteen indictments, nine of them having to do with forgery or possession of forged instruments with intent to pass them, were returned at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue by a grand jury of which Donald Bledsoe of Lorenzo star route was foreman.

Judge Pardue entered an order requiring the grand jury to reassemble at 10 o'clock the morning of March 5, unless there is a subsequent order to the contrary.

11 Defendants Named

The 16 indictments named 11 defendants, only seven of whom were in jail or under bond, and charged two cases of assault with intent to murder; five cases of forgery and passing; four cases of possessing a forged instrument with intent to pass it; three cases of theft from the person; one case of theft over $50; and one case of burglary.

Indictments privileged for publication:

Luther Frazier, 29, forgery of a $12.50 check to which had been signed the name of R. B. Stokes. District Attorney Burton S. Burks set up predicate in the second count for an habitual criminal act prosecution, reciting that Frazier, on May 27, 1939, had been convicted of cattle theft and, on Feb. 22, 1943, of forgery, in the 72nd district court of Lubbock county.

Five Bills Against One

Ernest McNeil, 23, possession of a forged instrument with intent to pass. There were five such bills naming McNeil, all charging his possession of checks signed P. B. Justice. The checks were for $38, $54.40, $38.50, $56.95 and $42. State maintains the checks originally had been made payable to R. G. McNeely and that they were altered to read Ernest McNeil.

Charlie Moore, 39, theft from the person on Dec. 2 of R. G. McNeely of $75 in money, $500 (maturity value) in series E bonds and 12 checks.

James Ross, 39, same charge as that naming Moore.

Johnnie Dyer, 20, same as the Moore indictment except that it accuses only that $75 in money was taken.

O. L. Latta, 29, theft over $50; specifically a car on Dec. 17 from Elzie Holman.

Duke Howard, 41, burglary Dec. 21 of a house owned by H. Van Horn.

McNeil, Moore, Ross, Dyer and Howard are negroes, court attaches said.

Soldiers Furloughed To Borger War Plant

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10 (AP)—Seventy-five soldiers have received 50-day furloughs from Sheppard Field, Tex., to work in the Cabot carbon black plant at Pampa, Tex., District Manager C. A. Stoldt of the War Production board said yesterday.

The soldiers, who went to work yesterday, were furloughed by the Army because of a shortage of carbon black, used in producing truck tires for the Army. The men agreed to work 40 days in the plant.

Berle Nominated To Be Envoy To Brazil

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today nominated former assistant secretary of state Adolf A. Berle, jr., to be the new United States ambassador to Brazil.

Mr. Roosevelt also nominated former Sen. Hattie Carraway, D., Ark., who was defeated for renomination last year, to be a member of the U. S. Employes' Compensation at an annual salary of $9,000, only $1,000 less than her senatorial stipend.

Reds Control Major Part Of Budapest

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 10 — The Red Army wrested three-fourths of Budapest from its encircled Nazi garrison, cleared the enemy from practically all the flaming capital's eastern suburbs and repulsed all efforts of German relief columns to break through from the northwest, Moscow announced tonight.

At the same time, the broadcast Soviet communique stated, Russian forces pushing westward north of the Danube advanced to within a mile and a quarter of strategic Komarom, communications center on the river 40 miles northwest of Budapest.

1,000 Blocks Captured

A huge bite of Budapest was taken from the German-Hungarian defenders, the Russians said, with the capture of 1,000 blocks—almost half as many as the Soviet storm troops had gained in previous weeks of fighting. On Tuesday the Russians held 2,300 of Budapest's estimated 4,500 blocks.

Fresh motorized corps were thrown against the relief expedition which has been battering against Russian lines west and northwest of Budapest for eight days and smashed all the German armored and infantry attacks.

Inside the capital the Russians also took more than 3,000 German and Hungarian prisoners, the largest bag of captives since street and house-to-house fighting began two weeks ago and an indication of collapsing defense.

It seemed from Russian accounts that even if the relief forces, already in danger of being outflanked by the Russians to the north, did succeed in reaching Budapest, there would be little left for them to save. Most of the city is a blackened ruin and at least half of the original Nazi garrison of an estimated 100,000 men has been killed, wounded or captured.

The two-mile advance on the north bank of the Danube netted the Russians six towns and five railroad stations, one of the latter only two kilometers, or a mile and a quarter, from Komarom.

Komarom itself, said Moscow dispatches, has been under artillery fire since Tuesday.

Aimed At Relief Army

The drive on Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's troops through territory of Czechoslovakia ceded to Hungary by Germany is aimed at the root of the Budapest relief expedition and at Austrian supply bases for the German forces in southeastern Europe.

While the Germans were fighting 30 miles to the east at Esztergom on the south bank of the Danube, the Russians this week advanced the same distance along the northern bank and are almost in position to cut off the Germans in northwestern Hungary.

Broadcast reports from Berlin admitted the drive on Budapest had been slowed, but denied it had been halted.

Former Manager Of Lubbock Hotel Dies

Clarence A. Sheffield, about 44, former manager of Lubbock hotel, died Wednesday, apparently at Bangs, Tex., near Brownwood, it was reported here last night.

Friends said that when Sheffield spent several days in Lubbock late last summer, he was operating a hotel in Brownwood.

News of Sheffield's death was conveyed in a telegram, filed in Bangs by Mrs. Sheffield, to Mr. and Mrs. Len McClellan, 2501 Nineteenth.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Bangs, his family home.

Sheffield was connected with the local hostelry for the period approximately from 1928 to 1934, friends said.

The Sheffields have no children.

More Army And Navy Academies Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Establishment of four new academies to train future army and navy officers was proposed today by Sen. Bilbo (D-Miss.)

The bills call for establishment of one new naval academy on the Gulf coast and another on the Pacific coast.

Average Advance Is Four Miles In Drive For Manila

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Thursday, Jan. 11.—Smashing forward against surprisingly weak opposition, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Yanks seized four key towns in the Lingayen gulf area and the Lingayen airstrip in an average advance of four miles inland in the first 24 hours of their momentous invasion of Luzon.

The General's communique ,the second issued from his Luzon headquarters, announced the four separate beachheads, secured soon after Tuesday morning's landing, had been linked by the hard-driving Sixth Army troops.

Across Most of Swamps

Their spectacular drive inland carried the Americans across most of the swamps and fish pond areas which posed the principal terrain obstacle.

The Japanese were making desperate efforts to marshal reinforcements to throw against the tens of thousands of American troops who swarmed ashore from the Pacific war's greatest armada.

Thursday's communique reported the enemy was "feverishly bringing up troops from his prepared positions in the south."

American Army and Navy planes blasted highways and military installations to cripple these determined Japanese efforts.

"Enemy air activity over Luzon has been reduced to a negligible scale," the communique said.

Supplies Pour Ashore

Supplies and equipment to make the Lingayen sector a great base of operations were reported pouring ashore in a steady stream at all the beaches.

The key towns occupied in the Lingayen area were Lingayen and Dagupan, each of about 30,000 population, San Fabian, and Mangaldan.

"Innumerable" troops and supply vehicles were reported destroyed on the roads in American air raids which wiped out two highway bridges and one railroad bridge at Calumpit, about 30 miles north of Manila along the main highway.

This destruction threatened to create a severe bottleneck for the Japanese desperately trying to push reinforcements north.

The bridges are over the San Fernando and Pampanga rivers in a narrow neck between two extensive swamp areas. An alternate road swings far to the east.

The rivers are deep. One is 150 yards wide and would involve a major pontoon bridging job which would be open to American har-

Jo Ann Hunt Tells Story Of Slayings; Testimony Ends

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

LAMESA, Jan. 10.—Nervously twisting a tiny handkerchief and sobbing intermittently, little six-year-old Jo Ann Hunt, took the stand in 64th district court here late this afternoon to tell a packed but hushed courtroom her childish version what she remembered of the October night her father and mother were killed in Littlefield.

Her appearance in the courtroom in the retrial of Jim Thomas, 50-year-old convict on parole, on a charge of murdering Dr. Roy E. Hunt, left spectators, jurors and court attaches misty-eyed as the prosecution rested its case.

Defense Case Brief

Presentation of six witnesses, two of whom sought to place Thomas in Amarillo "about 5:30 o'clock" the morning of the slaying comprised brief testimony for the defense and both sides closed shortly before 7:30 o'clock.

Special Judge J. E. Garland was preparing his charge to the jury tonight and arguments were scheduled to begin after its reading shortly after 9 o'clock Thursday morning. The case will go to the jury late Thursday.

At the close of the state's testimony, the defense counsel made a motion for an instructed verdict in favor of the defendant, which was denied by Judge Garland.

Prior to Jo Ann's appearance before the jury, lawyers had questioned the child seeking to establish her credibility as a witness. Mrs. Alvan L. Borchardt of Vernon, her aunt with whom she and her little three-year-old sister, Jane, are now living, stood by the witness stand and held Jo Ann's hand as she answered questions.

Judge Garland ruled her competent to testify after she had replied "I'd get punished" to a query about what would happen to her if she didn't tell the truth.

Led Crying From Room

Questioning by the attorneys seemed to have upset her emotionally and she was led crying from the room by Mrs. Borchardt but after Judge Garland's ruling and the jury had been returned to their seats, she was brought back into the courtroom and tearfully gave her story and answers to questions propounded to her by Judge Garland, upon agreement by counsel.

Judge Garland asked Jo Ann if there had been anyone in her home the night her father and mother died.

"Yes, mam," she said, wiping her reddened eyes.

"A big man was there," she said. She said he had on black

Winfield To Head Senate Committee

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—Appointment of a senator generally regarded as a close friend of Gov. Coke R. Stevenson as chairman of the committee on governor's nominations today stood out prominently in the proceedings of the second day's session of the 49th legislature.

He was Sen. H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton. The chairmanship of the Senate's committee on governor's nominations is of special importance this session as a result of the controversy at the University of Texas between the board of regents and Dr. Homer P. Rainey, that led to his discharge and resignation of three regents.

Six Regents To Be Named

The Senate soon will have submitted to it the names of six regents for confirmation, and the recommendations of the committee carry considerable weight.

Appointment of this committee by Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith, as well as the naming of the important Senate Finance committee which will be headed again by Sen. R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro, gave the Senate the jump on the House in getting down to the hard rock business of legislation. A number of important bills and resolutions were also offered in the Senate, while the House wrangled over how much to pay its employes.

Senate Proposals

Among the important and possibly controversial Senate proposals were:

A bill by Sen. J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio making discrimination against persons of Mexican or Latin American origin in businesses catering to the public a misdemeanor, subject to fine and jail sentence or both, and providing for exemplary damages for persons discriminated against.

A bill by Sen. Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo placing the purchase and distribution of free textbooks for the public schools entirely in the hands of the state board of education. Under the present statute, purchase of textbooks is handled by the state board of education on recommendation of the textbook commission, and distribution is made through the State department of Education.

The Senate also passed resolutions creating a standing committee on aeronautics, and urging that a southerner be named on the Interstate Commerce commission to give the South representation in matters of freight rate equalization.

The House and Senate concur-

Slayings Ruled Murder, Suicide

STEPHENVILLE, Tex., Jan. 10. (AP)—G. R. Beauchamp, 80, died tonight of knife wounds several hours after Justice of the Peace W. T. Graves had entered a verdict of murder and attempted suicide in the slaying of his grandson, 12-year old John Ed Short.

Beauchamp's throat and wrists were slashed.

County Attorney T. H. Williamson said he and Deputy Sheriff R. E. George went to the Beauchamp home here when neighbors called and said that Beauchamp, whose wife died about two weeks ago, had collapsed in the backyard.

Says Wants To Die

"Let me die—I want to die anyway" Williamson quoted Beauchamp.

"Better go in the house" neighbors told investigators "and see if anything's happened there."

Williamson said he and George found the boy, who had been deformed since birth, in the bedroom "with his throat cut from ear to ear.

"He'd been killed on the bed, but had struggled off the bed onto the floor."

Williamson said a butcherknife had been used on the boy.

Beauchamp, a retired farmer, is the father of two daughters, teachers in the public schools here. One of the daughters, Mrs. Edgar Short, who teaches in high school, was the mother of John Ed Short, who had been left in the grandfather's care. The father of the slain boy, employed in a Fort Worth aircraft plant, was away from home when the tragedy was discovered, about 2 p. m. today, Williamson said.

Navy Announces Loss Of Three Destroyers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Three destroyers of the Pacific fleet were lost during a severe typhoon in the western Pacific, the Navy announced today.

The vessels were the Hull, the Spence and Monaghan.

At the same time, the Navy announced the loss as the result of enemy action in the Pacific of four landing craft (LST), a motor torpedo boat, a small submarine chaser and a small auxiliary vessel.

The Hull and Monaghan had normal complements of about 150 men each and the Spence about 220. The commanding officer, four other officers and 49 men of the Hull were rescued. Survivors of the Spence totalled 24, including one officer of the supply corps, and six of the personnel of the Monaghan were rescued.

MacArthur Planned Invasion For Years

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—John Leonard, Reuters correspondent covering the landing of American forces on Luzon, today cabled this observation from U. S. headquarters on Lingayen gulf:

"The vast military move I am witnessing is the culmination of weeks, months and years of Gen. MacArthur's most careful planning to drive the Japanese from the Philippines.

"There is absolutely no possibility of failure."

Norway Invaded By Own Troops

LONDON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Norwegian parachute troops have invaded their homeland and cut the Germans' main railway for transport of Nazi troops to Germany, the Norwegian government in exile announced today.

Wearing white parkas to camouflage themselves against Norway's snowy backgrounds, the Norwegian troops destroyed sections of two main railways in what a spokesman described as a "good-sized operation." The daring operation was carried out between Trondheim and Oslo, one of the cut railways running through the Dovie mountains and the other through Osterdal.

Other Operations

In announcing the blow to prevent the transfer of German troops from Norway to Field Marshal von Rrudstedt's Western front ranks, the government spokesman disclosed that Norwegian parachutists had carried out other operations in Norway, but he declined to give the dates or locales.

The Norwegian parachutists who returned to their nazi-occupied homeland had been in training in Britain for three years.

The spokesman added that two German divisions which recently were in Norway are known to be fighting under von Rundstedt on the Western front.

"We have information that the Germans were attempting to transfer another eight or ten divisions," he said, "but the Norwegian parachutist action makes this extremely difficult, if at all possible."

Radio Tokyo Again Starts Broadcast Of Messages From Lost Battalion Victims

RADIO Tokyo has again started broadcast of messages from members of the Lost Battalion who are prisoners of the Japanese, F. L. Jones, who has listened to the broadcasts for three years, reported yesterday. This is the first time in several months that any of that group has been mentioned on the programs, Jones said.

Jones said that he has had a number of calls from interested persons who would like to hear the broadcasts. He said there are three programs carrying POW messages, one at 1:10 p. m., one at 11 p. m. and one at 1:30 a. m. All of them are on from 9 to 11 megacycles on the shortwave band.

Wednesday morning Jones heard a broadcast which included a message from Sgt. Roger H. White to his mother, Mrs. Aline White of Amarillo, and another from Ferris F. Gilliam to his mother, Mrs. Sadie Gilliam of Abilene. This is the third time White has sent a message in the three years Jones has been hearing the programs.

The program at 11 p. m. is called "Humanity Calls" and is conducted by three or four boys who are supposed to be prisoners of war. One is British, one Australian and the others are American. These broadcasts are informal, with the boys carrying on a dialogue about other prisoners with an occasional piano selection by the British prisoner and a song by the group at times.

The morning program is not as interesting entertainment since a station announcer who is also supposed to be a prisoner reads messages which include 10 or 12 names, Jones said. This program is known as "The Postman Calls" and lasts thirty minutes.

Jones said the "Hmanity Calls" program sounds authentic judging by the accents and dialogue, but that the other two broadcasts could easily be conducted by someone other than a prisoner, although announcers on the others sound like Americans.

Goals For Cotton, Grain Sorghum Acreage Cut In Texas This Year

Farmers of Texas will be asked to place 7,200,000 acres in cotton in 1945, it was pointed out by B. F. Vance of the state Agricultural Adjustment agency office at College Station Wednesday at a regional meeting of personnel of various farm agencies of the Lubbock district in Lubbock hotel.

This will be an acreage reduction of two per cent from the actual 1944 figure of 7,325,000 acres. Other reductions asked include grain sorghums, four per cent; wheat and peanuts, one per cent.

Other Goals About Same

However, goals for all crops and livestock in Texas will be virtually the same as in 1944, he said, adding that "we need all the production we can get and we need to have the policy of full production whether the war is over in 1945 or 1946."

In duscussing the proposed 1945 support prices of farm products, Vance said that support prices for needed crops and classes of livestock are an integral part of the war food program. Generally announced in advance of the time when farmers must plant their crops or plan their livestock production, they assure specified returns and are the farmers' equivalent of the contract prices which cover the operations of producers of guns, ammunitions, ships, tanks, airplanes, clothing and other war materials. Moreover, Vance said, the relative levels at which these support prices are established constitute one of the most important devices available to the War Food administration for encouraging the most desirable pattern of agricultural production.

Support Prices.

Basic crops, such as corn, cotton, wheat and peanuts, will be supported at 90 per cent of parity (92½ per cent in the case of cotton) if marketing quotas have not been disapproved, regardless of whether a support at such level is necessary to obtain the needed wartime production. Prices must also be supported at not less than 90 per cent of parity or comparable price for any nonbasic commodity for which it has been found necessary to encourage a substantial expansion of production, he said.

In addition to the commodities for which support prices have been formally proclaimed under the Steagall amendment or for which loans are specifically required by legislation, support prices or loans are proposed for 1945 for a number of other commodities, including sugar beets, grain sorghums, vegetables for canning, and a number of grass and legume seeds.

Other speakers at the meeting were W. I. Chenault and Gary Barnes of the state AAA office, who discussed changes in 1945 soil conservation practices, and P. T. Montford, agricultural engineer of Texas A. and M. college, who discussed methods of drying hay and grain sorghums.

V. L. Cade of Lubbock introduced Vance. Presiding over the meeting was W. N. Williamson, Lubbock district agricultural agent.

Among those attending the meeting were county and home demonstraction agents of this district, administrative officers, district field men and county committeemen of the AAA; vocational agriculture teachers, soil conservation and Farm Security administration personnel, and representatives of Texas Technological college agriculture department.

January Home Ec Grads Are Placed

Of the 11 women students of Texas Tech to receive bachelor of science degrees in home economics education Jan. 24, four have already been placed in teaching positions, Dean Margaret W. Weeks announced.

Graduates will be Anita Barrett of Canyon; Beryl Mae Cline of Lubbock, who will teach at Kenedy, Tex.; Katherine Cummings of Lubbock, to teach at Crosbyton; Glenna Dean Esmond of Lamesa, who will teach at Smithville, Tex.; Christine Johnson of Dalhart; Evelyn Lee of Lubbock; Clyde Parmelly of Abilene, who will teach at Moran; Geraldine Rampy of Clarendon; Georgia Mae Reeves of Canyon; Jean Renner of Lubbock; and Mona Lou Stevens of Ralls.

Because of the accelerated training program employed by colleges now, this is a greater number of mid-semester graduates than usual, Dean Weeks said. She announced that 33 home economics education students, who concentrate their studies the teacher training program, will be graduated in May, and 10 will receive their degrees in August, making a total of 54 prospective homemaking teachers for the school year 1944-45.

Billion-Bushel Wheat Crop Is Foreseen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (U.P.)—The Agriculture department reported today that the nation is well on the way to another billion-bushel wheat harvest in 1945.

The department said the winter wheat crop was seeded under very favorable conditions last fall and now is indicated at 762,000,000 bushels. Average yields from the spring wheat acreage would push the combined crops over the billion-bushel mark for the second year in a row and the third time in history.

Another record production in a carryover next year of well over 500,000,000 bushels or almost the size of reserves when the U. S. entered the war, the department said.

Officials estimate that more wheat will go into the manufacture of alcohol this year but less into the feed trough than in 1944. Consumption for food is expected to remain unchanged, but exports may increase.

El Salvador has about 12,000 coffee plantations, or fincas, with a total of about 140,000,000 trees.

Work With Crippled Children Discussed

Martin H. Ricker of Dallas, a director of the Texas Society for Crippled Children, was guest speaker at the luncheon of Lubbock Rotary club Wednesday in Hilton hotel. He discussed the discovery, care and treatment of crippled children and what the state association plans for the future.

Ricker stressed the need for more clinics and added that the state association plans to work out a schedule whereby clinics would be held in various sections of the state at least once a year. He also stressed the need for convalescent homes for these children who have completed their treatment. He said the state organization is working on this problem now and homes have been established at Port Arthur and Corpus Christi, and Wichita Falls and Waco are planning to build homes in the near future. "I would like to see a convalescent home built in this part of the state," he said.

Outdoor recreation, Ricker said, is badly needed and plans are being made for the establishment of a permanent camp. Educational training of these children likewise presents a major problem. "If the minds of these crippled children are not trained, how can they become useful citizens?" he asked.

Ricker presented a short movie which showed what the state of Missouri is doing to take care of these children. The speaker was introduced by John W. Broom, program chairman.

Special guests were members of the Lubbock county Crippled Children's council who were introduced by Neil Wright.

Other guests included W/O R. S. Rodgers, jr. of the U. S. Army; J. W. Peary of Odessa, C. F. Anderson of Slaton, Leon C. Ranson, H. G. Barker and R. S. McEntire, all of Floydada; B. F. Vance of Bryan, Tom Cartwright and E. C. Wagner, both of Amarillo. President C. A. Bestwick presided.

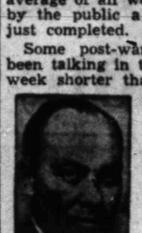

The Gallup Poll:

Public Approves Return To 40-Hour Week After War

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 5. — The average American believes that the work week in business and industry when the war is over and the country returns to peacetime occupations should be 40 hours. That is the median average of all work hours named by the public a national survey just completed.

Some post-war planners have been talking in terms of a work-week shorter than 40 hours, not only to give people more leisure time but also as a way of spreading available work among a larger number in order to approach the 60,000,000-job goal mentioned by the administration.

GALLUP

The American Federation of Labor advocated a 30-hour work-week in a resolution adopted in its recent convention in New Orleans.

It is quite possible that the American public will come to accept a 30-hour week when the war is over, especially if there is a depression with considerable unemployment. But right now, judging by the sticking pretty much to the idea of the standard 40 hours, or a little more, and it may take considerable pushing to overcome public inertia toward a change.

Survey Is Careful

The survey questioned a well-balanced sample or cross-section of the population, including a full complement of skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled workers, both in and out of unions. The cross-sectioning was done in the same manner used by the Institute in forecasting the presidential election with an error of only 1.8 per cent on the civilian vote.

Each person in the survey was asked:

"After the war how many hours per week do you think voters in business and industry should work?"

The results follow:

30 hrs. or less	4%
Between 30 & 40 hrs.	5
40 hrs.	50
Between 40 & 48 hrs.	8
48 hrs.	25
Over 48 hrs.	5
No opinion	9

The median average falls in the 40-hour category.

One noteworthy fact about the above table is that only 9 per cent suggest something under 40 hours, whereas 38 per cent name a figure above 40 hours.

When Congress passed the Wage and Hour law in 1938, which set the 40-hour standard in many industries, the act had the approval of a large majority of American voters. In fact, surveys by the Institute found that the public was a bit ahead of Congress in desiring the limitation of working hours. This readiness on the part of the public to accept a shorter work-week in the past makes the results of today's survey especially interesting. It also indicates that, in time, public inertia concerning a still shorter work-week may be diminished or overcome.

Father And Son Are Burned To Death

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 10. (AP)—John R. Ellis sr., 87, and his son, John A. Ellis, jr., 40, were burned to death last night when fire destroyed their farm home north of Saginaw. Mrs. John R. Ellis, sr., suffered minor burns.

The older Ellis had lived in Tarrant county more than 50 years, and his son was a native of the county.

Cause of the fire which cost their lives was undetermined.

Camp Howze Soldier To Face Grand Jury

TEXARKANA, Jan. 10 (U.P.) — A Camp Howze soldier, Pvt. M. Jack A. Velentino, was bound over today for action of the Bowie County Grand jury on charges of attempted rape and robbery.

The decision to hold Velentino for Grand jury action followed an examining trial before a justice of the peace. His bond was fixed at $5,000.

The soldier allegedly attacked and robbed Mrs. Willie C. Johnson, of Texarkana, after luring her into an alley. Velentino said he was drunk at the time the crime was committed and that he remembered almost nothing of what happened.

Individuals Expected To Get First Relief When Taxes Are Lowered

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Income tax paying individuals and consumers in general will get postwar tax relief ahead of corporations, it appeared today, if Federal Reserve board views accurately reflect President Roosevelt's intentions.

The President's budget message warned that there could be no tax relief while we are engaged in major war. He said only minor adjustment could be made after there had been major cuts in war expenditures. He proposed "the use of progressive taxes" but did not explain just what he meant.

Should Induce Spending

In the current Federal Reserve bulletin, Chairman Marriner Eccles of the Federal Reserve board writes that postwar taxes should be designed to induce a high level of consumer spending. To this end he proposed:

1. Drastic reduction in excise taxes.

2. Reduction of personal income taxes on lower income groups.

These should come first, Eccles believes, and continues:

"Once this has been done and revenue needs permit, I would favor a reduction in the corporation income tax. The rate might be lowered to 25 or 30 per cent and the corporation permitted to take out of its taxable income that part of its profits which it distributes as dividends.

Should End Double Taxation

"This would remove double taxation of dividends, under the corporation income tax, and would be an inducement for corporations to distribute their earnings. The excess profits tax with its carryover and carry-back provisions should be retained for some time after the war at a reduced rate of around 65 per cent."

Mr. Roosevelt, Eccles and War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes are in public and nutual agreement that the postwar government budget should level off at about $25,000,000,000 a year, roughly three times our annual government spending in the period just prior to the war. To carry such a load the country must produce and consume in large quantities, money must be easy and unemployment must be minimized, either by private jobs or by government made work.

Warns Against Deficits

Eccles warns bluntly that after this war we should begin to pay our way and to cease the deficit financing which has been necessary in each year of Mr. Roosevelt's administrations so far.

For his part, Mr. Roosevelt referred briefly in his budget message to an orderly reduction of the public debt which was a roundabout way of saying that he hoped to be able to balance the budget in peacetime and to begin to pay it off. The debt will amount to nearly $300,000,000,000 in 18 months when the 1946 fiscal year ends.

Mr. Roosevelt and Eccles are lambasting taxes on consumption and agree that we should reduce them or get rid of them entirely. That is easier said than done. The figures show why it would be a tough job.

Leaving liquor excise (consumption) taxes out of it altogether, levies of this type, which are sales taxes in disguise, raise $886,000,000 from tobacco, $997,000,000 from nonpostal stamps of various kinds, including an item of $7,300,000 for stamps affixed to each pack of playing cards.

Retailers' excise taxes on jewelry, furs, toilet preparations and luggage raise $392,000,000 a year. A group of 16 miscellaneous taxes, including levies on edible coconut and vegetable oils, oleo margarine and on sugar will get $1,228,600,000 for the Treasury in the next fiscal year.

When Mrs. Roosevelt gets around to specific proposals on abandoning some or all of these excise taxes the idea will be to keep national production in high gear so that corporate and individual income taxes will raise almost all of the proposed $25,000,0000 which post-war government will spend.

But unless some of those income taxes are kept pretty close to their present high levels, it will be difficult to discard all the taxes on consumption which have been voted into the revenue laws since the first emergency depression tax bill in 1930-31.

Grandma Switches Millions of Mothers To Her Mutton Suet Idea For Chest Colds

Newer Relief For Children's Colds' Coughs, Bronchial Irritation and Chest Muscle Tightness Being Hailed Everywhere.

Pioneer grandma liked to "rub" her children's colds with a "home rub" containing mutton suet. Such a rub was her "old reliable" for relieving chest muscle tightness, soothing bronchial irritation, loosening phlegm, checking coughing, easing sting of chapped lips and nostrils. Today science has modernized this principle with Penetro, the salve with a base containing this same old fashioned mutton suet, plus 5 active ingredients—so now Grandma's old idea is switching millions to this newer relief.

Your children will like Penetro the first time they feel it spread smoothly on chest, throat, back—its mutton suet makes it melt instantly, vanish quickly. It gets to work 3 ways at once to make your youngsters more comfortable—(1) Penetro relieves colds' pain as its mutton suet helps carry medication to nerve ends in the skin. (2) Relieves muscular tightness and congestion through counter-irritation (increased blood flow). (3) Loosens phlegm, eases coughing through pleasant inhalation of instantly released vapors.

Your child will feel relief so quickly—as painful misery eases, as coughing is lessened, phlegm loosened, chest rawness soothed. Naturally he'll rest more comfortably and give nature a chance to restore vitality to his little body. That's why so many mothers are thanking Grandma for her idea—are praising science for perfecting it—are going to druggists everywhere to buy Penetro. Relieve your chest cold miseries as millions are doing—today get your jar of white, easy-to-use, economical Penetro.

WITH the AEF
by KENNETH L. DIXON

IN BELGIUM, Jan. 6 (Delayed) (AP)—That part of pink and blue pajamas has done it again for Capt. Albert E. Milloy of Hattiesburg, Miss., a paratrooper. So it's about time to tell their story of charm.

Albert has fought this war for a couple of years in some half dozen different lands which is enough to make the ordinary guy slightly superstitious, if not more so. And paratroopers generally are considered somewhat extraordinary in the matter of living on luck.

Kenneth Dixon

A member of the 82nd Airborne division, Captain Milloy now is helping buck back the German bulge into Belgium, which is where the most recent incident occurred—but that's getting ahead of the story.

From His Girl Friend

Back in Ft. Benning, Ga., in what now is known to members of the 82nd as "the old country," Albert received this pair of pajamas from Miss Frances Barron, a Hattiesburgh girl who, according to Albert, has brown hair and "makes the average pinup girl look puny."

Came the morning when he was scheduled to make his first jump there. He overslept. Rudely awakened at the last minute, he pulled a pair of coveralls over his pajamas and, thus attired a short time later, he yelled, "Geronimo," and hit the silk.

The jump was succesful. Not being one to crack such an obvious omen of good fortune in the teeth, Milloy promptly made the pajamas a permanent part of his jumping apparel.

Since then, he has donned the pajamas before jumping into at least six countries including Sicily, Italy and Holland. He has spent 275-odd days in combat and has had more close calls than any six men could be expected to survive. He gives the pajamas all the credit.

Nice It Was A Dud

Shortly after the Salerno jump, a 155 mm shell struck squarely in the roof of his dugout. "It was a nice life while it lasted," groaned Albert to a sergeant lying alongside him in that split second as they awaited the blast. But it was a dud.

At the Anzio beachhead, the pajamas were frayed and worn, but still their magic worked. Three times there, Albert had houses collapse on top of him from shellings and various things. His hair got mussed.

Another time, he was sitting at a command post when an armor-piercing shell came in one window and went out another—without hurting him. Some say it even whisked a cigarette out of his mouth, but others say he dropped it.

Holland put another patch on the pajamas, but none on Albert.

Rather Leave Right Arm

Most of the time overseas, Captain Milloy command C company of the 504th which had the lowest casualty rate in the regiment. When he was transferred to another company, they begged him to leave his mariculous pajamas hanging in company C's orderly room.

Gently, but firmly, Albert explained that Frances had given those pajamas to him—and that he would as soon leave his right arm nailed to the wall as those threadbare pajamas.

In Belgium, the charmed pajamas continued to pull Captain Milloy through although he commanded another company. During one intense barrage, he dived under an enemy ammunition truck. It caught a direct hit from an American tank destroyer just as he landed under it.

The ammunition and truck went sky-high. Albert? He got a scratch on the hand.

School Set For Census Takers

Classes for census enumerators, who will gather data for the farm census of 1945 in Lubbock, Crosby, Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, and Terry counties, will begin at 9 o'clock this morning in room 128 of the Agriculture building at Texas Tech, Wilbur S. Patrick, supervisor for this work in the 19th Congressional district, announced.

The school will be held from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, Thursday through Saturday in the Agriculture building. Carlos Reynolds, assistant supervisor, will give instructions on schedules, rates and enumeration districts.

Enumerators Needed

Enumerators are needed for certain areas and these workers will be paid on the basis of the number of farms they enumerate. Gasoline coupons will be made available for numerators, but each person must furnish his own car and car expenses.

Prospective enumerators may contact Patrick by writing the Bureau of Census, Agriculture building, Texas Technological college, or by calling 2-1751.

Defenite arrangements have not been made, but another school will be held for late applicants who will be chosen to fill vacancies in surrounding counties, bureau census officials said.

BY, OF, and FOR THE PEOPLE

Offers Suggestion

Editor, The Avalanche: I am writing to you in regard to the waste paper salvage campaign. You might be surprised at the number of farm women who save waste paper only to let it pile up for want of a place to take it. Only a small percentage of the women are able to take it to Lubbock on the Sundays when you have a regular paper pickup.

I know that most farm women are patriotic and want to help to the best of their ability, but there must be a closer place to take the paper. Why couldn't there be a pick-up station at our respective schools on the same day that Lubbock has a pickup?

I hope something can be done about it.

Respectfully yours,
Mrs. Sam McWhorter,
Route 5
Lubbock.

(Dear Mrs. McWhorter: Thanks for your letter and very good suggestion. I shall pass it along to those in charge of the paper pickup. Cordially yours, The Editor.)

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

American Airlines Will Lower Fares

DALLAS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Melvin D. Miller, southern regional vice-president of American airlines, today announced a general reduction of 6½ per cent in passenger fares on the company's national and international systems.

The new rates, a result of savings achieved through improved and more efficient procedures, will become effective on or about March 1, Miller said.

TRUCK PRODUCTION REDUCED

DETROIT, Jan. 10 (AP) — The regional War Production Board office said today that scheduled production of commercial trucks for the first half of 1945 had been reduced in the revised program for the year. Instead of 133,410 units of all types, called for in the original quotas, production will be 120,276 units.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

MOST of the figures thrown at us by the government are too huge to be within our scope and understanding. Thousands may be comprehnsible, but hundreds of thousands become staggering, millions seem fantastic and billions are just unimaginable.

Well, try to visualize one billion, 200 million candy bars — they would make a mountain as high as a New York skyscraper. But that's the number of confections eaten each year by the boys in the Army alone, with the other services not far behind.

You might think of this the next time you go by your favorite confection counter only to find the shelves still bare of your favorite candy bar. If it is going toward satisfying G. I. Joe's sweet tooth, you don't mind do you?

FOR THE BRIDE

A NOVEL shower for a new bride—especially one who will be called on to do a certain amount of entertaining and is inexperienced in meal planning and cooking—is an emergency shelf for her pantry.

Each guest might bring her favorite emergency company recipe, the sort that can be prepared in a hurry. The recipe could be attached to a box containing the necessary ingredients for its preparation. A cake box, besides cake flour and a package of baking chocolate, might contain a bottle of vanilla and a small can of baking powder. Date nut bread in cans and glasses of cheese would provide for the casual coffee guest.

A deep fat fryer and a large can of shortening could accompany a recipe for doughnuts. Or a recipe for frosting could go with a box of gingerbread mix. Jars of jam with a tart shell recipe suggest another emergency dessert.

ON SMOKING

THE cigarette shortage can be a lucky break for you if you are planning an operation or have any tendency toward heart disease, stomach ulsers, lung cancer or various other conditions which may be aggravated and accelerated by smoking, says a warning from a national life insurance company.

Enormous increase in smoking in recent years resulted in an average consumption of approximately 1,900 cigrettes for every man, woman and child in the United States in 1943 and 5,000 cigarettes for each service man outside the United States. Many life insurance medical directors view the trend with concern, because of its possible effects on future death rates, particularly in the age brackets between 30 and 50. There is no evidence that light smoking—half a dozen cigarettes or less per day—is injurious to the normal person, the report states. What is causing the concern among life insurance medical officials is our tendency to develop into a nation of heavy smokers.

A study of large groups of hospital operative cases has indicated that heavy smokers are six times as likely to have bronchial complications following abdominal operations as are non-smokers.

MANY physicians now forbid smoking altogether in cases of heart trouble, frequently with prompt and considerable alleviation of symptoms; the same restriction is advised for stomach ulcer cases, the report says and clinical tests have shown a sharp rise in stomach acidity during and after smoking.

If your hands and feet tend to get cold, smoking will make them colder, the study says; smoking causes a constriction of the capillaries of the extremities and a drop in skin temperature. And speaking of drop, we'll drop the subject with this other word: the rise in blood pressure is particularly marked in smokers of nervous temperament. And unfortunately it is the person of nervous temperament who swells the ranks of chain smokers.

Miss Sannie Callan Speaks For P-TA

George R. Bean Parent-Teacher Association members heard Miss Sannie Callan speak on "Family Relations Today" at the school Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. J. N. Eicheberger's room presented songs and a playlet, "The Road to Happy Town," in which all the children participated.

Mrs. J. D. Lawson, president, presided during the business meeting. Members voted to donate $100 to the school to be used for library books.

Miss Lucille Collier's room received the attendance award.

In Miss Callan's talk, she stated, "In selecting a mate it has been found that individuals of similar background, race, nationality, religion, education, economic and social status will have less difficulty in adjustment because of similar patterns." She concluded by saying, "The present day family has gone through the inflation of the Twenties, depression, of the Thirties and the war of the Forties. The family's problems of adjustment are going to be greater because of these social influences."

Newcomers Club Has Luncheon Meeting

New officers for the next six months were introduced and installed at a luncheon Wednesday noon in the Hilton hotel, attended by members of the Lone Star Newcomers club. Mrs. Cecil Williamson, outgoing president, presided.

Lt. Neil C. Anderson, new public relation officer at South Plains Army Air field, was guest speaker for the initial luncheon of 1945 held by the Woman's club, made up of wives officers at SPAAF, Wednesday afternoon in the Officers' club. He told of some of his combat experiences while overseas and also gave the history of the March of Dimes and the importance of contribtuions.

The program theme and decorations were built around the March of Dimes campaign which is to get under way in the next few days. Red, white and blue miniature banks were placed around the table and members contributed their dimes. Mrs. John Kline is in charge of the campaign for the club.

The wives of officers who have returned from overseas duty and who are now stationed at the field were honored guests and each was presented with a corsage.

Sgt. Frank Wilhelm furnished piano selections during the luncheon.

Mrs. David Hopkins presided during the business session and Mrs. James A. LeMarco read two letters of thanks received from McClosky General Hospital for the Christmas gifts sent by the club. Mrs. DeMarco presented wings to members who have joined the National Association of Air Forces Women.

Hostesses were Mesdames W. N. Mohney, E. D. Stuyvesant, P. S. Sibley and C. L. Alexander.

B & PW Club Begins Safety Campaign

Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club will begin its fourth annual safety campaign this week, according to Mrs. Letha Massie, safety committee head.

The program will be highlighted with poster and essay contests on safety, with $10 in war stamps as top prizes in both contests. Other winners will be given awards. The subject will be "Safety and the War." The club is also offering a prize for the best safety slogan sent in.

The poster and essay contests are open only to children of Junior High School and Grade School level, while the slogan contest is open to everyone. The poster contest is a new addition of the contests to create interest among the children.

The club plans to cary on its enlistment of safety club members among the children with no charge for their membership. Feb. 5 has been set as the last day of the contest followed by a presentation of awards at a scheduled program.

A Vital Message To Men Who Feel Old

Why not regain the vim and vitality you once enjoyed?

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Just ask your druggist for CASELLA stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 60 or more. Take these tablets regularly until you feel that you have regained the pleasure of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged? Why not try CASELLA tablets and regain the verve and zest of a much younger man? There is nothing harmful in these tablets. They contain Celery seed, Thiamin Chloride, Passion Flower, Iron. Ask your doctor or druggist about this formula. Adv

Local Men Go To Farm Session

Two Lubbock business men and seven faculty members of Texas Tech left Wednesday for Dallas to attend the seventh annual meeting of the Texas Agriculture Workers association being held today and Friday in the Baker hotel.

"What's Ahead in Agriculture" is the topic for this year's program and W. L. Stangel, head of Tech's department of animal husbandry and president of the association, will preside at the conference. Dr. Mina Lamb, associate professor of foods and nutrition at Tech, will be chairman of the home making section to be held this afternoon in the Crystal ballroom of the Baker. Margaret W. Weeks, dean of home economics, who was appointed chairman of this section, was unable to attend the conference because of her schedule.

Other program members will be R. E. Karper of the Lubbock Experiment station; France Urban, assistant professor of home economics; K. M. Renner, head of the department of dairy manufacturers; Miss Esther Sorensen, district area supervisior of homemaking education; and O. L. Byrd, sales manager for the Purnia mills.

Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department of plant industry, will attend the association meetings and be present for a joint annual meeting of the Texas Certified Seed Breeders association and the Texas Certified Hybrid Seed Corn association to be held Thursday through Saturday in the Jefferson hotel, Dallas.

Two Couples Held In Widespread Thefts

DALLAS, Jan. 10. (AP) — Two Oklahoma men and their newly wedded wives were held here today, charged with stealing money, jewelry and gasoline coupons in four states.

Police said coupons from Arizona, New Mexico, California, and Texas were found in possession of the men and their wives.

The men, when questioned, admitted they had served terms in the Oklahoma reformatory for burglary, but refused to say anything more.

Their 18 year-old brides told police that they had met their husbands in Ardmore, Okla. The men were wearing Army uniforms and told the girls that they were B-17 pilots who had just been discharged.

On a honeymoon trip to California and back, the girls said that their husbands would leave them occasionally and return with money, jewels and coupons, which they claimed they had bought or got in trade.

The men were arrested when trying to sell jewelry in a Dallas pawn shop and the girls were found in a city tourist camp with more of the loot.

Sheriff Roy Broughton and two highway patrolmen from Anderson county, who arrived here today to question them, said that some of the coupons had been identified a staken from the Roger's Chevrolet company in Palestine in a recent burglary.

Police from Jacksonville, Tex., and other southwestern cities also have been summoned to Dallas to question the couples.

GAS WARFARE FEARED

BERN, Jan. 10 (AP) — Anti-gas drills apparently deliberately performed in view of Swiss observers by German workers on Rhineland fortifications revived gas warfare speculation today.

Senator, I ask you—

Armed forces, both sexes, are great listeners to America's Town Meeting. Possibly because they know it's important today to think and talk about all sides of the vital questions that face us. A good reason why you should listen in! Don't miss tonight's question: Is Communism a Threat to the American Way of Life? America's Town Meeting, sponsored by The Reader's Digest, 7:30. Sky Giants Stop LAAF Five, 47-38

Pulling away in the fading minutes, the Amarillo Army Air field Sky Giants snapped the winning streak of the Lubbock Army Air field Fliers, and gained a 47-38 victory in the first of two games scheduled here. The Sky Giants tangle with SPAAF tonight after a cross town journey.

The two teams see-sawed the lead in the early minutes, and reached the halfway mark with the score knotted, 23-23. The Fliers continued to cling close to the Sky Giants until well along in the game, when the visitors began to pull away.

Stars Foul Out

Late in the game, the battle took on a football atmosphere, and LAAF suffered the loss of its two scoring aces, Bruce Prior and Gerald McCarty, who went out of the game on personnel fouls.

After losing these two stars, LAAF fell farther behind, the Amarillo club clinched the victory.

McCarty was the man who kept the Fliers in the ball game, not only with his point making, but by his brilliant defensive play. Prior teamed with him in offering the bulk of the offense for the local club, and the pair accounted for 27 of the LAAF points.

McCarty High Man

McCarty was high point man for the night, finding the range on the meshes for seven field goals and three donation tosses for a night's total of 17 points, that boosted his season's scoring record to 169 points.

Prior flipped in ten points, to zoom over the 200 mark with a season's total of 205 points.

Three men staged a merry scrap for the scoring honors for the Amarillo club. Hollis Dietz, former North Dakota State star, pitched in 12 points for high honors with the Sky Giants. Dietz, runnerup in the scoring for Amarillo boosted his season's mark to 81 points.

Tommy Brynes, former Seton Hall star, and scoring leader of the Sky Giants, tied with Lerchow for runnerup honors, each getting ten points. This boosted Byrnes season's total to 84 points.

SPAAF Guns For Amarillo Field

Eager beavers after their record-cracking 97 to 51 triumph over Childress Army Air Field Monday night, South Plains Army Air Field's Winged Commandos cherish another spot of revenge for Amarillo Army Air Field Sky Giants whom they meet in the SPAAF Rec Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

The overwhelming victory over Childress was sweeter than an ordinary basketball win to the Commandos, since they remembered Childress as the team which nosed them out for one of their four defeats last year.

SPAAF Wants Revenge

The SPAAF lads also have a bone to pick with Amarillo. The two teams—both tops in their sections last year—never got together last season, but the football edition of the Sky Giants dealt the grid Commands a humiliating 53-14 defeat on the gridiron last fall for the first defeat SPAAF sustained all season. The basketeers will be out to avenge that loss, and while high-riding Amarillo is expected to offer SPAAF more competition than any team to date, nothing would please the high-scoring Commandos better than to chalk up impressive win at the Sky Giants' expense.

The Amarillo quintet has humbled Clovis Army Air Field, Roswell Army Air Field twice, West Texas State Teachers, Camp Luna and Lubbock Army Air field, which boasts a win over SPAAF. The Sky Giants have only dropped two games, to Camp Luna and the Liberal, Kans., Army Air Field.

SPAAF Beaten Twice

SPAAF also has only lost two games, while winning four. The Commandos lost by one and four-point margins to Texas university and LAAF, but dropped Big Spring Army Air Field, Randolph Field, Sheppard Field and Childress in rolling up 334 points in six games for a 55 point per-game average.

In eight games played until last night the Sky Giants scored 391 points, so tonight's tussle should be another all-out scoring duel.

Two Amarillo regulars will be missing—Don Loesser and Mike Margello, but starters will probably include the following:

At forwards—Tommy Byrnes of Seton Hall, leader in individual scoring with 74 points, and Paul Stevens of Purdue.

At guard—Diz Dean of Long Island university and Ray Adams, 6 foot, 7 incher from North Texas State.

At center—Hollis Dietz of North Dakota State, in second place in the scoring with 69 points.

All-American Leason "Pete" McCloud of SPAAF bought his total for the season to 106 in six games, for a per-game average of better than 17 points, crowding his average of 18 points a game last season.

SPAAF starters probably will include McCloud and John Kline at forwards, Ed Kalfain and Bob Edwards at guards and Douglas Wakeland at center.

Littlefield Five Names Schedule

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 10 (Special) The Littlefield Wildcats basketball team still remains a big question mark in this area, and swing into the conference schedule here Friday night with very little known of what they have to offer.

Most of the prospective basketeers were also footballers, and since the last game was not played in that sport until Dec. 15, the bounce-bounce ball practice did not get started until Jan. 3.

There are two or three experienced boys on the squad. Rangy Buster Owens, Junior Graham and Billy Lyman have lettered in basketball, but most of the others are green, but willing.

The Wildcats played a warmup game at Anton Tuesday night, dropping a 24 to 20 decision, and start the conference schedule with the Muleshoe Yellowjackets in the Littlefield gym Friday night.

The complete conference schedule follows:

January 12—Muleshoe at Littlefield.
January 16—Morton at Morton.
January 19—Tourney.
January 23—Levelland at Levelland.
January 26—Sudan at Sudan.
January 30—Olton at Olton.
February 2—Morton at Littlefield.
February 6—Levelland at Littlefield.
February 9—Muleshoe at Muleshoe.
February 13 — Olton at Littlefield.
February 20—Sudan at Littlefield.

Soldier Pro Golfer To Enter Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 10 (AP) — Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who won the 1939 Texas Open championship, has been transferred to Kelly Field here and will report for duty Jan. 24—the day before the 1945 Texas Open.

Sgt. Harrison will enter the tournament, Capt. Edward J. Flynt, Kelly Field athletic officer, announces.

The Arkansas professional is being transferred here from Wright Field, Dayton, O. He has participated in a number of tournaments since entering the service. He recently won the Miami Open.

There are three main classes of cheese: hard, soft and processed.

Busy Cage Sessions Planned For Tahoka

TAHOKA, Jan. 10. (Special — With a fast improving ball club that has won six out of its first ten games, the Tahoka Bulldogs tangle with the fast improving Lamesa Golden Tornados here Thursday night, and play host to the Big Spring Steers Saturday night.

The Bulldogs have three tough games scheduled for next week, playing on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights with Slaton, Lubbock and Lamesa.

The Bulldogs have fallen before the high flying O'Donnell Eagles in two of the four games met to date.

The complete season's schedule is:

January 11—Lamesa at Tahoka.
January 13—Big Spring at Tahoka.
January 15—Slaton at Salton.
January 16—Lubbock at Tahoka.
January 18—Lamesa at Lamesa.
January 29—Post at Tahoka.
January 30—Lubbock at Lubbock.
February 2—O'Donnell at Tahoka.
February 6—Brownfield at Tahoka.
February 9-10—District Tournament in Denver City.

Shamrock Tourney To Attract Big Entry

SHAMROCK, Tex., Jan. 10 (AP) Eighteen boys and thirteen girls teams have entered the annual high school basketball tournament scheduled here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Entries are:

Boys—Childress, Quail, Lefors, Clarendon, Vega, Miami, Wellington, Mobeetie, Samnorwood, Briscoe, White Deer, Memphis, Wheeler, Shamrock, Kelton, McLean, Canadian, Groom.

Girls — Quail, Canadian, McLean, Kelton, Lakeview, Wheeler, Samnorwood, Briscoe, Groom, Mobeetie, Vega, Wellington, Shamrock.

REPORTS JAN. 19

DONORA, Pa., Jan. 10 (AP) — Stan Musial, hard hitting outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, today prepared to report for induction into the Navy Jan. 19. Musial, 24, the father of a boy born before Pearl Harbor and a daughter last month, passed his Navy physical examination last June but was not called until yesterday.

Naval Air Station Edges Perrin Field

DALLAS, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Naval air station defeated Perrin Field, 59 to 45, here tonight on the NAS court, with the former North Texas star, Lloyd Cooke, peppering the basket for fifteen points.

Although Pete Caldwell, ex-University of Mississippi ace, poured in eighteen points for individual honors, Perrin trailed most of the way, with the locals leading at the half, 31 to 24.

TCU Announces Loss Of Freshman Cager

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11 (AP) — Coach Hub McQuillan of TCU basketball has announced the loss of one of his players—Tommy Gatzek a 19-year-old six-foot freshman from Richmond, Ind.

"He was 1-A in the draft," says McQuillan, "and he decided he wanted to be at home the short time before he will be taken into the armed services."

Finis Vaughn Resigns Post At Plainview To Move Here

An old time Westerner is coming home.

Finis Vaughn, who has spent more than 13 years in a teaching and coaching position at Plainview High school, will leave that post later this month and accept a position with the Ralston-Purina Mills branch in Lubbock, where Vaughn was a schoolboy star with the Westerners in the early 1920's.

Vaughn's resignation from the Plainview schools has been accepted by the school board, and will become effective Jan. 19. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn and their two children will move to Lubbock shortly after that date.

They will live at 2823 Twenty-Fourth street in Lubbock upon moving here. They recently completed the purchase of their new home.

Was Ex-Westerner

Vaughn was a member of the Lubbock Westerners football, basketball and track teams, playing football in the falls of 1920 and 1921, basketball and track in the winter and spring terms of 1921 and 1922.

During his playing days with the Westerners, Vaughn played a guard position on the football team, was a forward in basketball and a quarter-miler in track.

Vaughn will take over his new duties with Ralston-Purnia Co. on Jan. 26, and will also manage farms in the Lubbock territory, according to reports reaching here.

Vaughn was born in Lubbock, his parents moving here in the early 1890's, and attended grade school and high school here. He continued his education at West Texas State Teachers college in Canyon, where he played end on the football team. He graduated there in 1927.

Started At Crosbyton

Upon leaving college, Vaughn taught and coached at Crosbyton for four years, and went to Plainview in 1931. He taught in the junior high school there, heading the manual training department, and coached the junior team which developed into one of the strongest junior aggregations in the state.

He was moved up to the high school staff in 1939, and became head coach in 1942, holding this position until his recent resignation to accept the position in his

Sky Giants Launch Plans For Baseball

AMARILLO, Tex., Jan. 10 (AP)—The Amarillo Army Air field Sky Giants are preparing for baseball and are now scheduling games for the coming year, S/Sgt. Marvin (Hoot) Gibson, Centenary trainer and assistant coach for 14 years, will again manage the Sky Giants.

Present plans call for 50 to 60 games with service, college and professional teams throughout the Southwest. A road trip for the early part of April is already being planned. Teams in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas are to be contacted within the next "old home town."

In his long coaching career, and his association with boys, Coach Vaughn has been a wonderful worker in the building of character in those who have worked under him, and his careful handling of boys has been a great influence in the lives of hundreds of boys, most of whom are now scattered over the globe in a bigger fight than the one in which they served under the leadership of Coach Vaughn.

For the past several summers, Vaughn has managed the American Legion swimming pool in Plainview. He is also a member of the Lions club there.

Vaughn's successor as athletic director and head coach has not been named by the Plainview school.

In a statement to the Avalanche-Journal sports department Wednesday night, Vaughn said that his departure from the coaching would not be the end of his activity in the schoolboy sports picture, but he plans to devote his spare time to officiating basketball and football games in this area. He will be available for officiating following his move to Lubbock.

Marshall Walks Out On Pro Grid Session

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. (AP) — The National Football League today adjourned its winter meeting until April in a surprise move that caused a walkout by Owner George Marshall of the Washington Redskins from an executive session.

Representatives from every club except Washington agreed to meet again, probably the first week of April, at New York to hold their annual player draft and arrange 1945 schedules.

Although the delegates declined to amplify a brief announcement of their adjournment which came on the second day of a scheduled four-day meeting, it was apparent the league was unwilling to make definite plans in view of the proposed national work draft and crack-down on 4-F men.

Marshall, holding out for a completed meeting at the present time, walked out before an adjournment vote, contending his disagreement made the action unconstitutional since the league by-laws require a unanimous vote to change a meeting date.

two weeks for games.

Last year's diamond edition won 21 and lost 13 games. Most of the squad will again be available if transfers do not send them to other stations.

Coca-Cola Cuts Lead Of Hub Laundrymen

Coca-Cola's bowling five turned on the pressure Wednesday night at the Plamor alleys, and reduced the league leadership of the Hub Laundrymen in the City-Commercial loop race to one game by taking two out of three games in the crucial meeting between the two clubs.

DeKalb Oilers failed to keep pace, and dropped two games to Armour's, to slip a game behind the bottlers. Other games in the league found S. and Q. Clothiers taking two games from the Optimist club, while Lions club was winning a like margin over Meads Bakery.

Begey and Dodson, shooting in the "near 600" class, teamed up for Coca-Cola to bring the victory in the feature battle of the night, but Leo Bell of the Lions club stole the show in scoring by tying together a 234-192-214 series for a high series of 640 pins and a clean sweep of scoring honors.

Anton Wins Two Over Littlefield Cagers

ANTON, Jan. 10. (Special).—The Anton basketball teams nosed out the Littlefield clubs twice here last night, the girls winning the opener 22-19, and the boys nosing out a 24-20 win in the finale.

Lois Mae Turkett paced the local girls, and Billy Woods topped the scoring for the boys, each with ten points. The Anton girls have been beaten but two times this season, one of these a conference opener last week with Whitharal.

Shortsighted Censorship

It Hampers Home Front Effort

IN his immortal "Areopagitica," John Milton, in speaking out against censorship, observed that "whole nations fare the worse" when the truth is kept from the people. Milton wrote the "Areopagitica" as a speech directed to the British House of Commons, on November 25, 1644. But well he might have written it yesterday, to apply to conditions maintaining in the United States of today.

After his return to the United States the other day, following a tour of France, Frederick C. Crawford, board chairman of the American Association of Manufacturers echoed John Milton's thought, although using different words. In calling for a realistic censorship, Mr. Crawford said: "Our home front is deteriorating because we don't know what is going on!"

Every American understands, of course, that some form of censorship is necessary in wartime. News must not be disseminated as quickly—sometimes must not be as complete—as it otherwise would be if it affects the security of fighting men, or, in any way, gives aid, comfort or information to the enemy. Newspapermen, according to Byron Price, on leave from the Associated Press to head up U. S. domestic censorship, have "leaned over backwards" in an effort to cooperate fully in guarding against circulating information which might be of benefit to our enemies.

But censorship, like dynamite, may be both essential and dangerous. Correctly and intelligently employed, it may serve a fine purpose. Abused and mishandled, it may cause serious trouble.

MR. CRAWFORD and others have told this nation, upon their return from Europe, that overseas censors have "gone too far" in hiding truth from our people here at home—truth which would not aid the enemy, but, instead, would keep our people informed concerning the needs of fighting men abroad. Sometimes, the truth has been sidetracked in order that mistakes might be hidden from the public. At other times, censorship appears to have been applied for reasons purely political.

As Mr. Crawford observed, upon return to these shores after finding conditions in civilian France quite different from what the American public has been led to believe through censorship, "We are fighting for a free press in Germany. Why not have a little of it here?"

A million persons recently have left war jobs in this country. How many of them would have stayed on their jobs had they not been fed, by shortsighted censorship abroad, on a diet of "Pollyanna stuff," rather than being given a well rounded report, with bad news paralleling the good? Not many, we think, because we believe the average American home frontier will fairly well make whatever contribution is necessary to winning the war if he is only told, simply and truthfully, what that contribution must be.

SOME of the very best reporters in the world are with our troops abroad. It is logical to believe that these men know more about what should be told the home front than any censor, military or otherwise. Furthermore, these newsmen are just as zealous to aid the war effort as any censor; are not suspect of desiring to take a chance of injuring the war effort merely for a story. Why not let their experience and judgment play a part in deciding what the home front should be told?

This much we know—are told by the highest authorities in the land: the home front is not carrying its war burden as it should.

It would do a better job, we think, if more intelligent — and less selfish — censorship enabled the civilian population to better understand the true state of affairs at fighting fronts and in captured or liberated countries overseas.

Traitors To The Nation!

FOLLOWING on the heels of counterfeit gasoline coupons, similarly "phoney" shoe stamps have been circulated recently in South Texas. It is entirely possible that some of these "queer" coupons will get to West Texas.

Retailers and their shoe clerks will be performing a public service if they carefully inspect all proferred shoe stamps; are especially urged by OPA to accept no "loose coupons," but, instead, only those they see torn from books.

The counterfeiter of ration stamps, whether the coupons be used for food, gasoline, shoes, or whatnot, is a traitor to his country. When such crooks are cornered, they should be punished to the full extent of the law—and made to pay the full sentence imposed upon them with no prospect of clemency.

Once a newspaperman, always broke.

Breach Of Promise

THE STORY: Len and Sue Beckley are entertaining Walt Hilyard and his family, newcomers to Staton, at dinner. Len has known Walt a long time but hasn't seen Margaret Hilyard in 20 years. He is thunderstruck at the changes in the once-beautiful girl. She is fat and overdressed and seems to take a delight in making other people feel ill at ease. The dinner is a failure until the Beckleys' son, Tom, puts in a surprise appearance. He has a month's leave from his regiment in the South Pacific. Tom and the Hilyards' daughter, Jennifer, are entranced with one another.

IV

THE dismal dinner was a success now to Sue. She was so glad of Tom's happiness that she was not even jealous of the young stranger who catered to his girl-hunger. It was bliss enough for Sue that now and then her son reached out a hand as from far away and caught his mother's hand and squeezed it; and once he drew it to his lips and held it there, as he mumbled to Jennifer:

"Can you wonder that I'm so wonderful when you see what a Mom I've got? Dad deserves part of the credit, he thinks. Mom told him so, didn't you, Mom?"

"Yes, darling!"

It made Walt very happy to see Jennifer radiant. Her mother had greeted him the same way when he came back from his World War. But the Margaret of now had forgotten the Margaret of then. Her voice cut through the rosy mists:

"Jennifer!"

"Yes, Mama."

"There's such a thing as manners, you know."

Tom answered for her: "I've just enlisted her in the army, Mrs. Hilyard. She's building up the morale of the armed forces. If you had been where I've been and not seen what I've not seen—"

He left that in the air as enough, and lowered his voice to murmur: "Jennifer, eh? You're mint-julep to me. Say, I've been sitting in the train all day. You couldn't take a little walk with me, could you? I brought along my own old moon fresh out of the South Seas. If you're tired I can carry you. I've had lots of practice carrying big wounded men."

"I think I can walk, Sergeant," said Jennifer. "At least part way."

They laughed at that as if it were the wittiest audacity ever uttered by a heroine to a great hero home from the wars. Tom paused to borrow his father's latch-key and whisper to his mother not to wait up for him.

Then he dashed away, with Jennifer. Sue and Len lived again their own unforgotten youth, and were grateful to the girl who could offer their son beauty and romance after ugly loneliness and long horror.

Perhaps if Tom had been a rich young lieutenant or a colonel or even a famous hero, Margaret would have been pleased by her daughter's elopement. But Tom was only a buck private or something a little better, with his rank striped on his sleeve instead of gleaming in silver or gold on his shoulders. Without saying a word Maragaret managed to fill the air with protests against her daughter's bad taste. Her harsh eyes roused the anger of Sue and Len. The only fault they found with Jennifer was that she should have picked out such a mother for a handicap—and a possible menace to Tom.

The dinner went flippety-flop from then on. Margaret ate angrily and punished her food, but did not snub it. Sue was thinking: If she'd only starve her body instead of her mind, she wouldn't have such a shriveled little heart under that healthy chest expansion of hers.

Walt tried to make conversation by asking questions about Tom: and Len obliged with long recitals of Tom's battle experiences, his wounds and his promotions. But the two women sat and politely hated each other. Violet, however, did not conceal her interest. She leaned on Tom's chair and audibly approved the stories with, "Bully for him!" "He's got the stuff!" and things like that. Finally she said, without being asked:

"I'd a boy of me own in the army. It was with the tank corps he was."

"Was?" said Sue.

"Was," sighed Violet. "He's buried on the beach at Salerno."

When they left the dining room and went into the living room, Margaret's slow glance traveled everywhere with a critic's jaundiced eye. She brightened a bit at sight of the telephone; for its long cord was twisted. She rose heavily and straightened it with a laugh:

"As I always say, order is heaven's first law."

"As somebody else said, order is your way of raising hell with somebody else's things." It was the patient Walt who was driven to that; but Margaret shrugged it off as only another of the burdens a patient wife has to bear from a brute of a husband. She sipped the coffee and put it aside with a disapproval thinly masked in a merry old quip:

"If I take coffee at night, it keeps my husband awake."

Her host and hostess were struggling to keep from shrieking: "For God's sake, go home!" If she heard their prayer, it gave her pleasure to deny it. She kept worrying aloud: "It's disgraceful for Jennifer to run off like that. Girls nowadays have no idea of keeping up appearances. They're more interested in disappearances. I really think I'd better be going home—to that apartment we call home. Jennifer might be there with your boy. And I think it better young people aren't left alone."

Margaret was one of those visitors who spend one forever talking about going and spend another forever getting gone. Walt and Len seized the opportunity to arrange a game at the golf club for Saturday afternoon. At last the door closed on Margaret with that beautiful sound a door alone can make at such a time.

37 Ships Bear Names Of Texas Counties

DALLAS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Thirty-seven transports and cargo vessels of the Navy now bear the names of Texas counties.

They are part of the total of 310 now named for counties of the United States. Most of them have been launched, and many of them are already in service with the fleet, the Eighth Naval district Dallas branch public relations office said in a release.

Here is a list of Texas county names assigned to Navy vessels. Of the 37 names 13 apply also to counties of the same name in other states:

Bandera, Bosque, Bowie, Briscoe, Burleson, Clay, Eastland, Collingsworth, Cottle, Crockett, Dawson, Dickens, Duval, Fayette, Freestone, Grimes, Hansford, Haskell, Hidalgo, Karnes, Knox, Lamar, Lavaca, Leon, Lubbock, Menard, Midland, Montague, Navarro, Presidio, Randall, Rockwall, San Saba, Shelby, Starr, Tarrant, and Uvalde.

ACCIDENT KILLS ONE

DALLAS, Jan. 10 (AP) — Ryles Lomox of Dallas was killed instantly and his brother, Hiram Lomox, was seriously injured when a heavy slab of concrete on which they were working caved in, dropping them eighteen feet to the ground and falling on top of them.

They were helping raze an abandoned ice house.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

AN 88-year-old Mexican woman in Ciudad Obregon has just given birth to a robust baby boy, her sixteenth child. Her husband is 58 years old.

When I read this item in my paper I knew immediately that I wanted to write something about it.

But I couldn't quite make up my mind what impressed me most about the story.

The fact that at 88, when most people are either dead and gone or at least getting ready for the long journey, this prolific lady becomes a mother for the sixteenth time?

Or did I wonder, perhaps, how a desperately poor family—these particular Mexicans are peons—can afford to feed and clothe 16 children?

What will these children be when they grow up? The older ones have probably already started on whatever their eventual destiny is going to be.

Will there be a president among them? A great scientist? A famous musician?

Or will they just stay on their miserable little farm, do the chores, milk the cows, and be unpaid servants of their parents, like so many farm children are?

Maybe we don't have to go as far as Mexico in our observations. Maybe we can stay right here in Connecticut and Iowa and South Dakota and Montana.

I am looking out of my window as I write this. Across the road—at the Four Corner, as they call it—is a platform. Every morning the nearby farmers bring their milk cans to this platform and then the dairy truck comes by, picks up the full cans and drops the empty ones.

You ought to see these farmers handle those heavy milk cans.

Just about like I would handle a rubber ball.

And who are these farmers?

Well, one of them is a girl, about 19 years old. She's darn pretty, too, in her cowboy outfit, her blonde hair, her red cheeks, without any make-up, and her youthful strength. I tried to "sling" one of those heavy milk-cans the other day, and you should have seen the farmers laugh at me!

THEN there is a boy, about 17, who comes along every morning and unloads eight of these cans. He told me he gets up at five every morning, milks the cows, does his chores, eats his breakfast, deliveres the cans and works on the farm all day. He is one of eight children, all working on the farm. Union wages? Ask the farmer.

"How do you like it?" I asked the boy.

"What's there to like?" he came back, "Work, work and no pay. As soon as I can I'm going to the city and get me a job."

Yesterday I ran into the farmer's daughter I told you about. I was all dressed up in my city clothes, waiting for the train.

"Going to New York?" she asked.

"Yes, I wish I didn't have to" I said.

"And I wish I could" said she. "Why?" I asked.

"Do you have to milk cows every morning and cock for the family and wash and scrub and sew and take care of kids?"

"No," I said, "but don't you think writing is work?"

Whereupon she laughed and said that was about the best joke she ever heard.

And in high dudgeon I got on the train.

A Nasty Racket In Tires

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

HIGH Army officers charged with keeping the cassons, tanks and planes a-rolling in France would blast labor unions' restrictive rules in the tire-making industry if they were not mortally afraid of affronting Mr. Roosevelt's CIO friends. Even so, Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, head of the Service forces, may yet sing out teh story.

The supply officer declares that the prime need in the current European offensive is tires. Wear and tear has exceeded expectations because our vehicular and mechanized units have moved so fast. Moreover, the planners never expected that the struggle would last into the winter, when the casings get harder usage than in summer and fall.

The minimum military quota for the first quarter of this year has been fixed at 4,900,000 units. But the most the companies can produce under existing conditions is 3,900,000, or about 25 per cent less than the requirement.

Five War department officers recently visited Akron in an attempt to step up production. They outlined a typical Rotary club campaign. To the tire experts they suggested exhoratory mass meetings, parades in the streets and factory grounds, and medals for workers who had not missed a day at the machines during the current quarter. They advocated a whoopla drive. They were politely informed that all these patent medicine methods had been tried in the past without any noticeable effect.

ADMISSIONS: The manufacturers brought out statistics to convince Somervell's representatives that they could fill all demands if it were not for the deliberate slowdown ordered by union leaders. Here is the situation:

The workers are supposed to be paid on a piece basis, but actually they receive around $1.50 an hour for eight hours' work a day. In that period some can turn out 10 or 12 tires, while the less efficient can produce only six or eight. In practice, however, every man bases his output on the number made by his slowest colleague.

Despite discrepancies in their skills, hours off for sickness or other causes, the yield per man rarely varies, according to the charts shown. This low level has been fixed by the unions for various reasons, as their leaders admit.

SLOWDOWN: The CIO czars fear that a schedule of increased production would be used against them in peacetime, and that their over-all pay receipts would suffer. The employers have guaranteed that a higher wartime tempo would not be considered as a basis for fixing postbellum rates. But the labor bosses are taking no chances.

Without these limitations it is maintained that production could be increased by the required 25 per cent without the addition of another man or piece of machinery. So far, however, there has been no official attempt to force or persuade Sidney Hillman's followers to abandon their slowdown methods.

Oddly enough, the tire workers respond to all other demands to aid in prosecution of the conflict. They are heavy buyers of government bonds; they donate generously to the blood banks and they have willingly given their sons and daughters to the services. But they will not turn out the tires so tragically needed by "Ike" Eisenhower, General Patton, et al.

COMMUNISM: British diplomats here concede privately that their apparently anti-liberal policy in Mediterranean countries—Spain, Italy and Greece—is dictated by fear that Communism of an extreme Russian variety may sweep through Europe on the heels of Hitler's disappearance. Their ultimate concern is that the Moscow philosophy may become contagious among the teeming, hungry and restless 400 million in India.

England, these spokesmen point out, has sought to appease Stalin by letting him have his way in the Baltic states, Poland and southeastern Europe, even though acquiescence meant a tacit violation of Roosevelt-Churchill pledges to those smaller nations. Now they figure that this cooperative attitude may have no more effect on the Soviet leaders than our wooing of Japan in pre-Pearl Harbor days had on Tojo.

So, dreading the penetration of Red ideas into a fertile India, 10 Downing Street feels compelled to safeguard its seaways to that land through Mare Nostrum.

In addition, it is probable that Britain will demand at least a protectorate over Italian possessions in North Africa at the peace table. London may also ask for guardianship over the Spanish area which stands athwart the southern shore of the Strait of Gibraltar.

Note: Lord Halifax, the lean, ascetic U. S. Ambassador from London, is in there pitching for the empire these days. During the holiday wassailing he never missed a chance to explain his country's position and purposes to members of Congress, the cabinet, the press and to influential figures of capital society.

Indeed, he took time off at a swanky New Year's Eve party to retire to a cozy nook and make a pal of Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, the roaringest isolationist on Capitol Hill.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Loman

PUBLIC reaction to the necessity for all-out war production demonstrates that at last people are beginning to realize that we cannot have guns AND butter.

Fear of scarcities has caused a new wave of buying in New York department stores. Managements are calling back extra employes released after the holiday rush. Reports are the same on every hand, especially from gas filling stations.

One of the worst stampedes has been for shoes, precipitated partly by greedy salesmen who whispered, "I'll let you in on a deep secret. The OPA is going to wipe out the shoe coupons." The spree slowed down when Price Administrator Bowles, attending a Manhattan business conference, flatly denied that his agency would invalidate stamps for footwear. "Not a chance in a million," he asserted.

In fact, there is a new source for substitute leather. Formerly, as packing houses sliced bacon, great quantities of rind accumulated. These wastes were sold to rendering plants. By a new process of tanning the rinds can be fabricated into a material suitable for uppers. Enough is at hand for six million pairs of unrationed shoes if manpower and machinery can be made available.

UNDERWEAR: New York trade spokesmen reiterate that no rationing of clothing of any description is contemplated.

Shortages in certain lines will be greater or less as mills are freed or taken over by a Government. A more even distribution of low-priced textile goods may come from the new channel system adopted by WPB.

Nevertheless, underwear of all kinds, excepting that for children, will be difficult to find. In some places no relief even for the little ones is yet in sight. The larger mills have up to 75 per cent of their facilities working on contracts for the Army and Navy. This will keep them busy for at least six months, probably longer, as the industry is hampered by the critical manpower situation.

A bottleneck is developing in men's hosiery. The few new items that are appearing on the market are without clocks—the regular color trim.

The Navy is taking a high percentage of the output of denim firms This occasions a famine in civilian work jackets, blanket-lined jackets, overalls and dungarees.

Some concerns have had to divert their looms to the making of tent twill. If all denim factories went back to their old lines, it would take a year to build up normal inventories.

Here And There In Texas

Austin Buzzing With Solons

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN.—There's always a hullabaloo in the Texas capitol just prior to opening of the legislative session.

Through specific instances may vary, the general condition is just about the same — even to the job seekers.

A week before the session opening, legislators started drifting into the House and Senate, many of them for theim initial terms. The neophytes can be easily distinguished. They are one of two types.

First, there is the legislator who is rather modest and retiring. He realizes he is in a strange place. He is somewhat awed by a seemingly sudden realization that his responsibility is no slight one. This individual is full of well-meaning purpose and wants to learn and do his best.

The other type is the "know-it-all." Though a first-termer he thinks he is coming to the capitol to show the boys how things should be done. Just ask him, and he can tell you anything about anything. He is the epitome of self-confidence and he enjoys hearing the ring of his voice.

To the veteran legislators the newcomers are always amusing. The old-timers generally are willing to talk but they are cautious in their remarks,—as sometime a legislator's words being read back to him don't sound so good.

But the age of legislators this year is advanced from the pre-war level, and the maturity of the lawmakers in these troublesome times may prove beneficial.

Capitol 'Slicked Up"

During the past week workmen have brush scrubbed and polished up the legislative halls. Being the larger, the House chamber presents a big job. Many a housewife would turn on her heels and depart were she confronted with the task of cleaning nearly 40 windows about 20-feet high and scrubbing the Venetian blinds.

The commodious carpted hall also was vacuumed. Desks have to be dusted as do the 150 chairs; the complicated electric voting aparatus has to be tested and meticulously checked; and heavy brass chandeliers have to be lowered from the high ceiling for polishing and fitting with new light bulbs.

Even the rest rooms have been refinished, glistening white tile with black trimming replacing dingy plaster.

In all, the process of getting things ready was a daylight-to-dark job for a week before the grand opening.

REGULAR employes in state departments will fill a good number of the legislative jobs. Department heads generally are happy to cooperate with a legislator's request for the "loan" of an employe, with the arrangement that the individual be granted a leave of absence.

The employe doesn't mind. Legislative salaries are higher than the average department stenographers, salary $112.50. Session stenographers in the past have been paid $5 a day—some higher—but the present minimum likely will be $6.

Some department heads share employes because the legislature approves appropriationq bills and has other far-reaching authority.

Loafing Curtailed

Legislatures in the past have had a proclivity for adjourning from Thursday until Monday, drawing their pay checks the date of adjournment for the full week, but this session will be the exception.

A legislature audit committee created by the 48th session found the law provides salary warrants shall not be issued prior to completion of the working period.

This halted the previously followed practice of drawing up payrolls before the 1st of the month so warrants could be handed out on the 1st.

So, what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander and the legislators will have to wait for their checks, too.

FOR the first time since 1930 legislators will be able to cash their salary warrants without paying a one or two per cent discount.

This is because the state's general revenue fund now has a cash balance and the state is on what is hoped to be a permanent pay-as-you-go basis.

A move is on foot to authorize pay increases for state employes as an emergency measure. If the emergency status is not given anticipated hikes, the raises will not go into effect before beginning of the fiscal year September 1.

State tax experts believe that even if the salary raises are ordered immediately the state can still remain on a cash basis.

Wives Left At Home

There are fewer wives of legislators in Austin this session than ever before because of the housing shortage.

Downtown hotels, as well as nearby rooming houses, are running over, and the hotels are not making customary reductions in rates.

That makes it pretty steep for a lawmaker drawing $10 a day.

So the wives had to remain at home if the legislator expects his salary to pay the bills.

Most envied are the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the House and their wives. Quarters in the capitol are furnished for them by the state as are porter and maid service.

GREEKS PROMISED ELECTION

LONDON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Premier Nicholas Plastiras of Greece today promised his people a general election "at the earliest possible moment" to name a new assembly and decide the question of a permanent government.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Commission has recommended to the City Commission that the Zoning Ordinance be amended so that all the property abutting on Avenue J from a point One Hundred Twenty Five (125) Feet South of 19th street to 26th street be taken out of the "C," "D" and "J" Districts and placed in the "K" District.

A public hearing to consider the recommendation of the Zoning Commission and to determine the advisability of amending the Zoning Ordinance to comply with the recommendations of the Zoning Commission will be held in the City Commission room on the second floor of the City Hall, at 7:30 p. m., January 25, 1945. At this hearing all interested persons will be given an opportunity to protest against said proposed amendment or make recommendations in favor of the same.

Consideration will also be given at this hearing to the widening of Avenue "J" from 19th street to 26th street.

After said hearing the City Commission will then determine whether or not it will amend the Zoning Ordinance in accordance with the recommendations of the Zoning Commission.

Attest: O. W. RIBBLE, Mayor
LAVENIA WILLIAMS,
City Secretary.

MARKET SCORES NEW GAINS

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP) — The stock market rolled up fresh gains of fractions to 2 points today, sending the averages to new 7-year highs on a volume of 2,109,695 shares. Tuesday's dealings were 2,261,940.

Western Union's rise of 2⅜ points followed a favorable earnings statement for the 11 months ended Nov. 30. Goodrich finished with a gain of 1⅝, U. S. Rubber 1⅝, Goodyear 1¼, Anaconda 1¼, Douglas Aircraft 1⅜, Chrysler 1⅛, Johns-Manville 1¼, Emerson Electric 1⅛ and New York Central 1. Gains of major fractions were taken by Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, American Smelting, International Nickel, Radio Corp., Farnsworth, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, and Pennsylvania.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite rose .3 of a point to 59.9, highest since Sept. 16, 1937.

Bonds improved on a late upturn in rail loans.

Ahead in a generally higher curb were National Union Radio, Cities Service, Raymond Concrete, and Atlantic Coast fisheries. Dealings were 351,630 shares against 365,650 yesterday.

NOTICE FOR BIDS ON COUNTY DEPOSITORY

The Commissioners' Court of Lubbock county, Texas, will receive bids at the county courthouse on or before February 12th, A. D., 1945, at 9:00 a. m. o'clock for a county depository for county funds, school funds and for trust funds held by the county and district clerks. All bids will be opened at 9:00 a. m. o'clock on February 12th, 1945, and all proposals must be in the hands of the court by that hour. The undersigned will receive all bids for county depository for county and school funds and the county clerk will receive all bids for county depository for all trust funds. All proposals for county depository for county and school funds must be accompanied by a cashier's check for $5,000, payable to the undersigned, and all bids for county depository for county trust funds must be accompanied by a check for the sum of $500.00 payable to the county clerk; such checks are required to be given as guarantees of good faith of the bidders and further conditioned that the successful bidder will execute good and sufficient bonds to secure the funds entrusted to him for a term of two years, as required by law in Article 2547, Civil Statutes, and all amendments thereto and further conditioned that the checks of the successful bidder will be cashed by the Commissioners' Court of Lubbock county, Texas, as liquidated damages in case said bidder does not execute and file with this court such bonds as required by law hereinabove referred to, or deposit lawful securities with this court as required by law within the time limit therein specified by law, the bond or securities to be approved at the option of the Commissioners' Court.

The law authorizes any banking corporation, association or individual banker in Lubbock county to bid for such county depository, but the law requires that such depository shall handle the county funds, the county school funds and the county trust funds heretofore held by the county and district clerks. Separate bids may be made for these respective funds, but no bid will be considered unless the bidder submits bids for all three of said funds and encloses certified checks as stated above. The Commissioners' Court of Lubbock county, Texas, reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The approximate amount of county funds to be handled this year is $325,000.00; the probable amount of county school funds to be handled the ensuing year is $125,000.00; and the probable amount of trust funds to be handled by the county and district clerks the ensuing year is $10,000.00.

WALTER DAVIES,
County Judge, Lubbock County, Tex.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP) — Corn and rye rallied in the final hour of trading today but other grain futures markets were easy to weak with wheat suffering the greatest losses.

Wheat started steady to firm but the scattered buying, mostly by commission houses, soon satisfied the demand and prices broke sharply under profit taking and hedge selling.

At the finish wheat was ¼ to 1 cent lower than yesterday's close, May $1.64¼-½. Corn was up ⅛ to ⅜, May $1.13½-⅝. Oats were unchanged to ¼ lower, May 69½-⅜. Rye was ¼ to ½ higher, May $1.17⅝-¾. Barley was off ⅜, May $1.16⅜.

Hunt Child On Stand At Trial

shoes, but could give no other description to the tense courtroom.

"He put me in a closet and shut the door," she said. Asked what closet, she replied "in the bedroom."

Jurors Shed Tears

"I went to sleep and when I woke up I went in and got Jane and we went to Mrs. Grissom's." Mrs. Grissom was a neighbor of the Hunts.

Tears rolled down the cheeks of two members of the jury as the child finished her testimony and was led from the room.

Thomas, the defendant, sat emotionless throughout the child's appearance in the courtroom and while she was giving her testimony.

At the first trial of Thomas in Plainview last August before Judge C. D. Russell, Judge Russell ruled that the orphaned child was not a mature witness and excluded her testimony.

Defense testimony centered only on one objective, the effort to place Thomas in Amarillo early the morning of the slaying.

Was In Littlefield Cafe

W. W. Duke, operator of the Angelus hotel coffee shop, testified he saw Thomas in his cafe about 5:30 o'clock the morning of Oct. 25 or Oct. 26 and Margaret Smith, a waitress, also testified she saw Thomas in the coffee shop on one of those days.

Cross examination of Duke by Special prosecutor Geo. W. Dupree brought out the revelation that the hotel at that time was owned by Geo. McCarty, one of the defense attorneys. Mrs. Smith also admitted on cross examination that she had played bridge with Thomas in Red Craig's apartment on numerous occasions.

Defense testimony opened with Mrs. Doris Williams of Littlefield, testifying that she observed a light, which she thought was in the Hunt's bedroom, "around 4 o'clock" the morning of the slaying. On cross examination by Dupree, Mrs. Williams said she heard a child crying and identified it as Jane. She said the light "could have been in some other portion of the house" other than the bedroom.

Weather Man Testifies

P. W. Reynolds, Amarillo, U. S. weather observer, gave testimony on maximum and minimum temperatures during late October and early November in Amarillo and also time on sunset on Oct. 24 and Oct. 25.

Harvey Southworth, Amarillo automobile dealer, testified he saw Jim Thomas in Amarillo in October, a few days before he read in the paper that Thomas had been arrested for the murder.

Mrs. Ollie Davenport, manager of the Rainbow hotel in Amarillo, said she saw Thomas in her hotel "between sundown and dark" on Sunday before the slaying.

Previously during the day, Eddie Glass of Clovis, N. M., former operator of a Littlefield cafe, testified he saw Thomas in his cafe on Sunday and Monday nights before the Tuesday morning double slaying of Dr. and Mrs. Hunt, Oct. 26, 1943.

Eyes Attract Attention

Glass said Thomas was in his place "between 8 and 9 o'clock" each night and that his attention was attracted to Thomas because of his eyes. On Monday night, Oct. 25, Thomas asked for a place to wash his hands and Glass noticed that he limped a little on his right foot as he walked back to the kitchen.

Glass was grilled extensively by John B. McNamara of Waco, one of the defense attorneys, in an effort to shake his identity of the defendant. Glass testified he had never recalled in his lifetime of ever being mistaken in an identity of any person at any time.

George Gambill, employe of the identification bureau of the Texas department of Public Safety, testified during the morning session that designs of plaster of paris casts of footprints taken near the Hunt home and those of rubber-soled basketball shoes taken from the S. L. Veazey home in Amarillo were similar.

"Places Plainly Buffed"

Gambill testified as a state's witness and declared that, "except for plainly buffed places, the design of the casts and shoes were the same."

The shoes were taken from the Veasey home by Dick Vaughn, Amarillo deputy sheriff, and Raymond Waters, Texas ranger from Lubbock, on Oct. 31, 1943, the two officers testified this morning. In Tuesday's testimony, both Mr. and Mrs. Veasey testified that Thomas, 50-year-old convict who was on parole at the time to the Galveston county parole board, had stayed at their residence in Amarillo Saturday and Sunday night and had left their home about 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon prior to the slaying.

Pfc. Alvis Veasey, 19, son of the Veaseys and who is stationed at Camp Chaffee, Ark., also testified that Thomas had been at the Veasey home, and he identified the pair of rubber-soled shoes.

He said the shoes were his own. He testified they had been buffed on the soles, and showed the jurors where the buffer had been used.

Buffing Machine Cited

The elder Veasey has a garage at the rear of his residence, and there is a buffing machine there, it had been testified. The state's testimony sought to lay a predicate for Thomas' having gone by way of the garage and buffing machine before he went into the Veasey residence early the morning of Oct. 26; that he buffed the soles of the tennis shoes so that they would not conform exactly to casts officers had made of tennis shoe tracks next the Hunt home; that he then placed the shoes back in a closet from which they had been removed.

The state thus sought, as is required in making out a circumstantial evidence case, to connect Thomas, link by link, in a continuous chain of circumstances that would fasten him to the slaying.

Gambill's testimony corroborated that of the soldier regarding the buffing.

String Identified

Vaughn and Waters also identified a piece of string, which they said had been taken from a "drum which had a burner in it," in the Veasey garage. The string, introduced into evidence, was linked with a similar piece found on a silk comfort on the Hunts' bed in arguments of attorney in the Plainview trial.

Earlier in the morning session, G. A. (Red) Craig of Amarillo had testified that Thomas borrowed his car on the afternoon before the slayings and did not return it until Tuesday morning after the slaying. His former wife, Mrs. Irene Moore, testified similarly.

Another witness called by the state at the morning session was Dep. Sheriff Sid Hopping of Lamb county, who told of going to the Hunt home with Sheriff Sam Hutson and finding the bodies. He recalled that there was a light burning in the bathroom.

Telephone Toll Ticket

W. L. Blakney of Abilene, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, testified to the authenticity of a company toll ticket filled out by an operator at Vernon at 10:30 p. m. Oct. 26, 1943, on a call placed by a man giving his name as "Wilson" to a Galveston number.

Mrs. Marie Hall, Galveston travel bureau operator, testified yesterday that "Jim" had called her from Vernon that night and had used an assumed name.

G. H. Slaughtlin of Austin, chemist for the state department of public safety, identified two pieces of string entered as the state's exhibits. One had been taken from the top of a comfort on the Hunt bed and the second from a "drum with a burner in it" in Veazey garage in Amarillo.

Testifies About String

McLaughlin testified the two pieces of string "had the same number of strands; same type of fiber; same degree of twist or firmness; approximately the same diameter; and similar types of cuts at one end of the strands." He testified he had examined them under a microscope.

The trial, which opened Monday, was the second for Thomas in the case. He was convicted and sentenced to death in a trial at Plainview. The case was sent here on a change of venue after a mistrial was declared because of an irregularity in the jury room.

I. A. Stephens Buys Clinic Building Here

The building at 1502 Main which has been occupied for more than 10 years by the Stewart & Benson clinic has been transferred to ownership of I. A. Stephens, former manager of Dunlap's, according to Dr. Allen T. Stewart, associate in the clinic and member of the staff at West Texas hospital.

While Stephens could not be reached for a statement as to his plans in connection with the property, it was reported that it would be made headquarters for an interior decorating firm.

The building had been sold about the first of the year by Dr. M. H. (Hank) Benson, owner and now a commander in the U. S. Navy, to John Spikes, Lubbock real estate man, who conveyed the property to Stephens.

Commander Benson, Dr. Stewart's associate and also a member of the West Texas hospital staff, has been in Naval service since March, 1941.

Dr. Stewart said he would move the clinical facilities to West Texas hospital clinic, "probably in the next 60 to 90 days."

News Briefs

Nine-week-examinations, which begin at Lubbock Senior High school this morning, marks the end of the first semester, school authorities announced. Nine, 10 and 11 o'clock classes are scheduled for examinations today, and Friday the 8, 1:30 and 2:30 o'clock classes will take exams. The second semester opens Jan. 17.

Hill Corbell of Wilson was admitted to West Texas hospital for treatment Wednesday night after his arm was badly mangled in a cotton pulling machine. The accident occurred on a farm near Wilson Wednesday afternoon. Hospital attendants said that surgery was performed on the arm, and that Corbell's condition was satisfactory.

Rites Set At Merkel For Dumas Boy, 4

assment from the air.

The railroad bridge is on the only north-south line between Manila and the invasion area.

Destruction of the bridges was achieved in extensive air raids which preceded the Lingayen landings.

Weak resistance and enemy attempts to rush reinforcements northward indicated how thoroughly the imperial Army leaders were crossed up by MacArthur's strategy.

The American movement into Samar, Mindoro and Marinduque islands, opposite the southern Luzon coast, apparently sucked much of Japan's defensive strength southward. When the huge U. S. convoy headed northward past Manila it was too late for the Nipponese to get reinforcements in position to stem the overpowering landings made behind a withering naval and air pounding.

Only Small Craft Ports

None of the captured cities is a port except for small craft. The Lingayen airstrip, paralleling the beach, was built by the Japanese. The principal port in the Lingayen area is San Fernando, 35 miles north of the beachhead.

Carrier-based aircraft struck San Fernando and the inland towns of Baguio and Rosario while providing beach cover.

Baguio is the summer capital of the Philippines and possibly the seat of important Japanese military and political leaders.

"Our ground forces are firmly established on the south shore of Lingayen gulf," MacArthur's communique said.

"All beachheads have been linked up and we have advanced an average depth of four miles."

Japs Crossed Up

MacArthur, who landed with his troops, declared the enemy "was apparently completely deceived of our landing in his rear at Lingayen rather than at his front in southern Luzon, and as yet has been unable to gather his forces to offer any serious resistance.

"He is now feverishly bringing up troops from his prepared positions in the south."

American aircraft swept the entire Luzon area with deadly effect, with heavy bombers unloading 70 tons of bombs on Nielson and Nichols airdromes near Manila, starting many fires. Thirty-four Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged on the ground at Clark Field, 75 miles north of Manila, and "many others" at Lipa and Batangas airdromes to the south.

Long-range patrol bombers flying out into the China sea damaged a small freighter and shot down an enemy floatplane off Formosa, Japan's big supply base for the Philippines.

450 Killed On Leyte

On Leyte, 450 more Japanese were killed and nine more prisoners taken by mopup troops.

American bombers swept Japanese airdromes in the central Philippines, Borneo, Celebes, the Moluccas and enemy positions remaining in the northern New Guinea area.

slaughterers—an action designed to help obtain a more equitable distribution. Heretofore, there have been no restrictions on the number of cattle of any grade processed by individual slaughterers.

In another action designed to hold reductions in prices of quality cattle to a minimum, the government increased subsidy rates to slaughterers under its stabilization program. The rate on choice (grade AA) cattle was raised from $1 to $2 a hundred pounds and on good (grade A) cattle from $1.45 to $1.95. In order to be eligible for full subsidy rates, slaughterers must pay prices within specified ranges for such cattle.

Range Of Prices

The stabilization price range for choice cattle was increased $1 per hundred pounds effective Jan. 29, making it $16 to $17 a hundred pounds, Chicago basis, and the good grade cattle range was increased .50 cents now, making it $14.50 to $15.50.

While the government placed an absolute top of $18, Chicago basis, on cattle, some government economists expressed the opinion that today's action would tend to set a "practical" ceiling of $17.

This view was drawn from a Vinson directive that the OPA issue regulations making it an evacuated." An American patrol thrust into St. Hubert last week, but ran into Nazi armor and was forced to withdraw.)

More than 1,000 American heavy bombers pounded at the rear of the withdrawing enemy, bombarding bridges, road junctions and airfields at the base of the bulge. Some of the Nazi airfields had been constructed in recent weeks for close support of von Rundstedt's drive. Only 300 fighters escorted the big ships in their daring attack.

After 30 hours of violent armored battle, American forces swept through the fiercely-defended road junction of Samree on the northern flank of the salient and drove on more than a mile southward. British troops still were fighting in the outskirts of Laroche, three miles southwest of Samree, but that town had been hopelessly bypassed in the rush.

were recorded and lines formed at employment offices, WMC said. No national estimate was available.

Patterson's estimate that 700,000 workers will be needed for war production and war-supporting activities is a drastic increase over the previous highest six-month estimate of about 300,000. Patterson noted, however, that it would be necessary to add to the earlier needs a considerable number of men to replace those drafted from industry for the fighting forces.

See Impossible Task

Manpower officials, previously fairly confident they could find 300,000 men for war work in six months, indicated today they believed it would be impossible to boost recruiting to 700,000 without some form of "work or fight" legislation, unless large numbers of 4-Fs switch to war jobs voluntarily.

Patterson and Ralph A. Bard, undersecretary of the Navy, testified before the House Military committee. They went "all out" for general national war service legislation but endorsed as a stopgap measure a "work or be drafted" bill offered by Chairman May (D-Ky) applicable only to males 18 through 45.

May's bill, or some form of it, is, in effect, a national service measure for 18 to 45 males currently is generally preferred on capitol hill over outright national service legislation requested by President Roosevelt in his message to Congress last Saturday.

OPA violation for a slaughterer to pay more, on the average, than the maximum prices of the stabilization price range by grades for the cattle purchased and slaughtered by him over a month's period.

Invasion Forces Set Pacific Mark

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON
United Press War Writer

WITH GENERAL MacARTHUR On Luzon, Jan. 10.—In a tour of much of the long American beachhead in Lingayen gulf today I saw troops, armor and supplies pouring smothly ashore in quantities unequaled in any previous Pacific operation.

As the material for the campaign to retake Luzon and the capital city of Manila piled up on the beaches, reports coming back from forward units indicated that our troops have gone a number of miles inland and met thus far very light resistance.

One of our divisions had suffered only three fatal causalties, all by drowning during the landing yesterday.

Supplies Hustled Ashore

An intervals along the miles of low beaches, groups of LST's lay with their ramps in the sand while tanks, trucks and supplies of all kinds were hustled ashore.

Behind the beach, bulldozers were pushing new roads to speed the stream of equipment to forward areas. All types of small landing vessels scurried in and out among the larger ships.

A good sized ground swell gave some difficulties during the unloading.

At the northern end of th beachhead, a battleship and a couple of destroyers threw shells into the hills on our flanks where the Japs were said to have some concentrations, including artillery.

The weather was perfect with the sun shining. It was hot, but not stifling.

Not a single Jap plane ventured near our area during the hours I was on the beach.

Yanks Who Tried To Kidnap Kaiser Want Shot At Hitler

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 10. (U.P.)—The American soldiers of World War I who tried to kidnap the Kaiser volunteered today for a try at Hitler, Himmler, Goebels, or Von Rundstedt.

"Of course, it's probably just a dream," said Owen Johnson, a sergeant then and a filling station operator now. "The War department most likely wouldn't let us try. But it would be right down our ally. The trouble with this war is there's no imagination like we had in our war."

Thomas P. Henderson, lawyer and ex-captain, said "the boys" had been talking it over and thought they might have better luck this time. And they thought nothing would shorten the war so dartsically as for some doughboys to sneak into Germany and kidnap a few top-flight Nazis.

"You don't suppose they'd let us have a crack at it, do you?" he asked.

Col. Luke Lea, with Col. Leland S. MacPhail, former president of the Brooklyn Dodgers and now an aide to Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, who led the Kaiser kidnaping expedition, said he detected something impractical in the scheme.

"But I'll be glad to go along," he said.

Eight Yanks made the attempt to kidnap the Kaiser soon after the Armistice. They crossed into neutral Holland from Luxembourg. Through an error, Brand Whitlock, U. S. minister to Belgium, had given them laisez-passer visas as representatives of the United States government. They drove right up to the Dutch castle where the Kaiser had taken refuge. Count Von Bettinck, son of his host, took the word in that an American "journalistic mission" wished to see him. The Kaiser sent word out that he would receive it, if it would state its purpose. The Yanks replied that their business was so confidential it could be stated only to the Kaiser himself.

Suspicious, Wilhelm wanted proof that it was an official American government mission. These messages were passed back and forth from the castle gate to the interior for two hours. Then a detachment of Dutch soldiers reinforced by discharged German soldiers began gathering and the Americans withdrew.

All were Tennesseeans, members of the 114th field artillery regiment attached to the 30th infantry division. Ex-Captain Manaduke Clokey lives in Knoxville now. Lea and ex-Sgt. Egbert Haile live in Nashville. Ex-Lt. Ellsworth Brown is in Chattanooga, and Henderson Johnson, and Sgt. Dan Reilly live in Franklin.

Patton Gets Glowing Praise In House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (A.P.)—Gen. George S. Patton, jr., won glowing words of praise today in the House where a year ago he was being denounced for slapping a soldier.

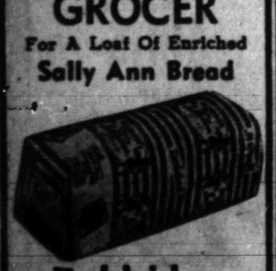

"Today we thank God we have General Patton at the head of the Third army," declared Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), "and the American people thank God that the smear bund wasn't successful in its attempt to destroy him."

"Heaven only knows what they'd have done without his fighting courage," echoed Rep. Rogerts (R-Mas). "He is fared by Hitler and rejoiced in by all the peace-loving peoples of the world."

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Syrup. It's Fine

Quick, Comforting Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known medicine, mixed in your own kitchen, costs little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. It saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and 1 cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it is truly wonderful. It has a remarkable action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.
