Air Park's future is still up in the air

By VINCE GIORGI
Staff Writer

ODESSA — Midland's aviation director said Friday the city may soon buy snow removal equipment for Midland-Odessa Regional Airport and is still seriously considering selling Air Park and building another airport.

Aviation Director Victor White's comments came as pilots, citizens and area city and county officials discussed area airports during a Texas Aeronautical Facilities Plan (TAFP) regional public hearing in Ector County Courthouse.

The public hearings allow Texas Aeronautics Commission officials to hear local opinions on airport needs and use the information to update the TAFP, which acts as a framework for plotting development and funding for the state's aviation network.

White said the city's option of selling the north-Midland airport and constructing another has been "up in the air for 20 years.

"All I can say is they're still discussing it and it's a very hot topic," said White, adding that the City Council could make a decision later this year.

"I think the city has to move fairly quickly in at least purchasing a site for the airport," said White, who noted that Federal Aviation Administration guidelines suggest such a site should be at least 3,000 acres.

White said continued development in Midland is cutting into the possible sites where such a facility could be located. He said if the city plans to build a new facility, acquiring the land quickly is important "primarily to protect ourselves" against the "encroachment" of housing and other development like that which borders Air Park.

He said the crash of a light plane into an apartment building in September 1982, has "taken its toll. It's certainly had an impact on the council" and its thinking on the subject of closing Air Park.

White noted he didn't have any personal preference about keeping Air Park or building a new facility, but he indicated the airport is aging and a new airport could be built to handle more and larger general aviation craft than that borne by Air Park.

A new airport could likely be built with the proceeds from Air Park's sale, according to White, who said the 500- to 600-acre site might sell for enough to pay for land and construction for a new airport.

When asked whether proceeds couldn't be used to finance expansion of Midland-Odessa Regional Airport, White and the FAA's Ray Hampton agreed on the importance of a second "reliever" airport in the area.

Reagan grants pardon to Watergate defendant

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has pardoned Eugenio R. Martinez, one of the men who broke into Democratic Party headquarters in the Watergate building 11 years ago which set off a scandal that forced another president to resign.

The only other person ever given a pardon out of dozens convicted in Watergate and related cases was President Nixon, who was pardoned shortly after his 1974 resignation even though he had not been charged with any offenses.

David C. Stephenson, the acting pardon attorney in the Justice Department, said in disclosing Martinez' pardon Friday night that Reagan "made no statement that I am aware of" as to why he granted the pardon on Wednesday.

It apparently was Martinez' fourth try for a pardon. Earlier, he was turned down by presidents Ford and Carter.

Martinez, 60, now leasing manager of a Miami car dealership, was sentenced to one to four years in prison for his role in the Watergate break-in by six men the night of June 17, 1972 to plant a wiretap on the telephone of Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien. His conspiracy conviction for his 1971 role in breaking into the office of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, the psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg, the man suspected of leaking the Pentagon Papers, was reversed on appeal.

He pleaded guilty to conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping counts.

Martinez served 15 months at the minimum-security prison at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. and was released on parole in 1974.

Eugenio Martinez

In Miami, Martinez said, "Everyone knows my motivation. At the time it was even recognized by the judges who sent me to jail at that time."

"Today, either way, I feel much better, because I can vote, I can be part of the community and my family can feel much better about it," he said.

Asked if he knew why he had been pardoned, Martinez said he did not, and added, "We'll have to wait until the president makes a statement about it."

Interviewed on the ABC-TV "Nightline," program, Martinez said the Watergate operation "was no different" from previous CIA operations he helped.

"The way it (Watergate) was represented to us, we were serving the government," he said.

"After today it will be over...I will be more than happy to give a better name to by kids and my grandchildren," Martinez concluded.

An administration official who asked that his name not be used said Reagan had acted on the recommendation of the Justice Department's pardon office.

Martinez, a Cuban refugee, was on the CIA payroll when the burglars broke into the Democratic National Committee offices. He was dropped a day later.

Nicknamed "Musculo" for his physique, he had participated in hundreds of raids on Cuba under CIA auspices during the secret U.S. war against Fidel Castro in the 1960s.

Later, he was recruited by old CIA associates for the White House "plumbers unit" set up by Nixon to probe leaks to reporters.

Daniel E. Schultz, a Washington attorney who represented Martinez and three other Watergate defendants, said the pardon was "an appropriate thing."

"We had a well-substantiated case, as shown by the Court of Appeals decision, that he (Martinez) believed he was acting in a covert intelligence operation," Schultz said.

Schultz said he had not renewed the last of three previous pardon requests he filed for Martinez.

"I think someone else has done this," Schultz said.

In an interview on the fifth anniversary of the Watergate break-in, Martinez said he asked himself in prison, "What the hell am I guilty of? Trusting the United States?"

"I could see we were heading for failure...Everything was a blunder."

Last year, Martinez said "time has passed really fast and the memories are bad" about Watergate. He said his conviction was a weight "to drag around. I'm not proud of it."

Truckers, city officials agree on proposed ordinance

By VINCE GIORGI
Staff Writer

About 25 area local vendors — including beer distributors, armored car operators and Postal Service officials — dickered with city officials Friday before reaching a compromise on a proposed ordinance which would rearrange city truck routes.

While Midland officials remained adamant about the need for the ordinance, which they said would save unnecessary wear and repair on several streets, the distributors were equally steadfast in their opposition.

The original ordinance called for expansion of local truck routes and prohibited unwarranted travel on sections of seven city streets which were designed for residential, rather than heavy truck traffic, according to Fred Baker, public works director.

Baker said the seven streets were selected because studies indicated they were being used for through-city truck traffic. He said the ordinance was designed to divert traffic from those streets onto streets already scheduled for repair. According to Baker, the fragile residential streets will be repaired when money becomes available.

Councilman Tom Sloan told the businessmen, "We don't have the money to rebuild the streets. We simply don't have it."

The original ordinance prohibited trucks rated one ton or more — except those making pickups and deliveries — from travel on the following street sections: Neely Avenue from A Street to Texas 349 and from Midland Drive to Midkiff Road, Cuthbert from Ward Street to Texas 349, Louisiana Avenue from Texas 158 to Lamesa Road, Michigan Avenue from Texas 158 to A, Missouri Avenue from Garfield Street to A, Clark Street from U.S. Highway 80 to Wall Avenue, and Lamesa from Golf Course Road to Wadley Avenue.

Trucking company officials objected to a provision in the ordinance which mandated that their trucks enter and leave the prohibited streets at the nearest intersection.

After much discussion, the two parties settled on a compromise that would let a delivery vehicle continue driving on a prohibited street so long as there is another delivery point ahead on the street. They also agreed to prohibit only trucks rated more than one ton.

The ordinance also designates a "truck route" for trucks having three axles or more that are not doing business in Midland and those carrying hazardous materials. The "truck route" includes: Loop 250 from Interstate 20 to Fairgrounds Road, I-20 from the west city limits to the east city limits, Fairgrounds Road from the south city limits to Loop 250, Texas 349 from Loop 250 to the north city limits and Texas 158 from I-20 to the east city limits.

The original regulations would permit trucks having three axles or more making pickups and deliveries within the city to leave the "truck route" and travel on "local truck routes," which include: Wadley from Loop 250 to Texas 349, Texas 158 from Loop 250 to West Wall, U.S. 80 from Loop 250 to Fairgrounds Road, West Wall from U.S. 80 to Texas 349, Texas 158 from Texas 349 to Fairgrounds, Midland Drive from Texas 158 to Loop 250, Midkiff from I-20 to Loop 250, Cotton Flat Road from I-20 to U.S. 80, and Texas 349 from I-20 to Loop 250.

The ordinance states that trucks shall enter and leave "local truck routes" at the point nearest their destination.

Shirley Gaines holds a photo of her with her husband Paul. He took his life because he was denied federal aid.

Disabled man commits suicide when he was refused federal aid

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — Doctors said Paul Gaines was too disabled to work; the Social Security Administration disagreed. Bills piled up. He took a second mortgage on his home.

On April 16, he gave up.

"Social Security keeps turning me down and I just can't go on fighting and suffering anymore," he wrote to his wife.

Then he put the barrel of a shotgun in his mouth and pulled the trigger, ending a battle for federal benefits that lasted nearly two years.

"I blame President Reagan and the Congress that votes themselves pay increases and forget the poor," his wife, Shirley, said Wednesday after a coroner's inquest ruled her husband's death a suicide.

"He was a proud man. He never took anything he didn't have coming."

Gaines, who worked in the Bloomington warehouse of General Grocer Co. of Illinois for 18 years, suffered a skull fracture and a concussion in a March 1980 motorcycle accident that left him with slurred speech, dizziness and back pain.

By mid-1981, pain and other medical problems forced him to quit. In 1966, doctors had diagnosed a kidney disease that his wife said would have eventually forced him to receive dialysis treatments. He also had bladder trouble, glaucoma and cataracts. He slept only one or two hours a night and he couldn't sit or stand for more than 30 minutes, Mrs. Gaines said.

His doctor said he could not work. Claims reviewers for the Social Security Administration, where he applied for disability payments, said he could work at other, less strenuous jobs. His aid requests were denied.

Bills piled up until they totaled about $20,000, according to Mrs. Gaines, 48. The couple lived on the $150 she earned each week as a stuffer in a packaged-foods factory. He took a $15,000 second mortgage on their home.

Social Security denied aid four times, and an administrative law judge ruled against him. The last time, officials said they agreed with the doctors — Gaines could not return to work in a warehouse. But they suggested he find another unskilled job, such as kitchen helper or laundry laborer.

Vendors engaged in wiener wars

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Peter Spalluto, the patriarch of local hot dog cart vendors, remembers when the hardest decision he had to make was how to spend the $800 he had stuffed in his socks.

"When I came down here, I was the only cart in town," said the burly 37-year-old Spalluto, explaining the weekly profits he reaped shortly after arriving two years ago to hawk red hots on the Boardwalk.

But with the growth of the young casino industry — nine hotels sharing an average daily take of more than $4 million from gamblers — the competition among hot dog vendors has become intense. At times, it has become violent.

What began as a tiny industry of military veterans — a requirement for obtaining a vendor's license in this city — has grown to an enterprise worth about $6 million each year.

As the first man in business here, Spalluto, a former Army cook, has become the top dog, slowly building his Hot Digity Dogs Corp. into a large fleet of stainless steel carts with yellow and blue umbrellas.

The minor hassles of organizing a small business have evolved into fierce wars for turf. Vendors have been threatened, carts damaged, and state officials are investigating whether organized crime is trying to muscle in on the hot dog business.

"I had headaches, but nothing like I have now," said Spalluto as a police radio crackled from a desk in his tiny warehouse office.

In the most recent wave of violence, in early March, the overturning of carts was the most common act of intimidation, often leaving the pavement near the glittery casino hotels splattered with mustard, boiling water, relish, hot dogs and barbecued onions.

AP Laserphoto

An unidentified bus driver, right, steps around debris on the walk outside Billy's Park Place casino after vendor Wally Welter was attacked and the contents of his cart spilled onto the pavement. Welter is just one of the victims of the "wiener wars" that has erupted between Atlantic City hot dog vendors.

Spalluto, confined to a wheelchair after he broke his neck in a swimming accident, says the violence began after a rival vending group — Franks Unlimited — was formed by pushcart operators who left Spalluto's business.

The fiercest battles for territory are waged near the entrances to the gaming halls, spots which can generate up to $1,000 in business on a summer's day, said Police Inspector Richard Stuart.

"You get more of a fight here, because there's more money here," said Spalluto, adding that Hot Digity Dogs and Frank's Unlimited now share about equal portions of the prime "money spots."

In an effort to stem the rising friction, the city council adopted an ordinance Wednesday that would allow veterans to only own one cart each.

It also bans hot dog sales between 2 a.m. and 9 a.m. Because the casinos close at 4 a.m. on weekdays and 6 a.m. on weekends, vendors claim they would lose some of their best business — gamblers heading home after a long night of betting.

"They're trying to put us out of business," said Joe Daleo, a vendor who had his cart overturned last winter. The vendors, with the help of Councilman Harold Mosee, say they will try to get the measure nullified.

Spalluto, whirling around his dingy office in his motorized wheelchair, said things were simpler back in 1981, when all he had to do was convert his day's receipts into large bills and stuff them in his socks for safekeeping.

It took him just a few days to make about $800 before police first threw him off the Boardwalk, telling him he was violating the law. That became his first fight.

"I said to myself, do I take this $800 and enjoy it, or do I take this $800, get a lawyer, and make another $800, and possibly more. From then on, I started paying lawyers. It became part of my budget, just like eating and drinking," he said.

Now four people are on his payroll, and as many as 40 independent operators use his warehouse and rent his carts. Two attorneys provide legal advice.

State police officials say organized crime may be trying to muscle in on the hot dog profits. And Spalluto said he believed his office was bugged.

But a person who answered the phone at Frank's Unlimited this week, said tales of "wiener wars" have been blown out of proportion.

"There ain't no war. I don't know what you're talking about. I don't want to tell you nothing," said the man, who refused to identify himself.

Britons squish through 27 days of rain showers

LONDON (AP) — The sun peered from behind a cloud Friday, shone down on St. Paul's Cathedral for a bit and vanished. Then it rained in London — for the 27th straight day.

Last month was the wettest April in the British capital since the weather bureau started keeping records in 1940. And it's a safe bet skies won't clear anytime soon.

William Hill, the London oddsmakers, offered 5-1 to anyone bold enough to predict when the city will have its next 48 hours without a drop of rain.

So far the wagers have been coming in dribbles, a pound or two on average, said press officer Graham Sharpe.

"Nobody in their right mind risks too much money on the weather in this country," he said.

So why offer odds?

"To give people a chance to have a little fun wager on when this bloody awful rain is going to stop," said Sharpe. "I think we all expect it, living in London. But not every day for 27 days."

Princess Diana, just back from a Caribbean vacation with Prince Charles, was dogged by the rain on a tour of a handicapped school in the hamlet of Paradise, in western England.

It cleared long enough for her to walk the school grounds, but she had to tiptoe through mud. When gardener Bruno Dorf, 30, interrupted his planting of beetroots to offer a muddy handshake, the princess demurred with a laugh.

It was Diana's first public appearance since she and Charles returned from six sunny weeks in Australia and New Zealand and 10 days in the Bahamas. People in the crowd complimented her on her tan.

"I don't think it will last," she said.

The last completely dry day in London was April 16, said Gerald Capstick, senior forecaster for the weather bureau. During the entire month, the bureau measured 3.87 inches of rain, about 2½ times the normal April rainfall.

May has been about average, with an inch of rain to date. "But we still have a way to go yet," said Capstick.

As during a 13-day stretch of wet weather last October, there has been no serious flooding because the rain has been spaced well enough to allow for drainage.

Gardeners welcome the rain, but farmers are beginning to get worried. The Potato Marketing Board warned of a possible shortage this year because farmers have been unable to plant in many areas and newly planted seeds are rotting in others.

Capstick said statistics were not readily available on Britain's longest stretch of wet days. But he said 27 days probably was not a record.

"Let's put it this way, there's a lot of rain about," he said.

With Britain's general election coming up June 9, the William Hill firm offered 4-5 odds that it will rain that day, and even odds that it would be dry — that is, not a single raindrop. It set 500-1 odds against snow.

Capstick said there was no sign the weather would improve in the next week or so. But asked for an insider's tip on whether io would rain on Election Day, he said:

"I haven't the foggiest idea."

Two died in May Day protests, Solidarity says

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Solidarity underground said Friday that two people died in May Day demonstrations in Wroclaw, but police denied it.

The deaths of two people in Wroclaw would bring to three the number who perished in the protests against Poland's Communist regime.

A duty officer at the police station in southwestern Wroclaw, contacted by telephone from Warsaw, said, "The report is not true. No one died."

An underground Solidarity bulletin said Bernard Lyskawa died of apparent heart failure fleeing riot police in Wroclaw, and that an unidentified woman was struck by a police vehicle and died of "serious chest injuries."

The official press has reported a 29-year-old worker, Ryszard Smagur, was found injured on a street in the southern industrial city of Nowa Huta during May Day demonstrations, and died.

A clergyman in Nowa Huta, citing reports by witnesses, told The Associated Press that Smagur had been struck in the throat by a police tear gas cannister moments after he stepped out of a building.

Officials have not yet released an autopsy report om Smagur, conducted by the medical academy in Krakow, the administrative center adjacent to Nowa Huta.

Meanwhile, Polish authorities restored telephone service to Lech Walesa and his priest, whose phones were disconnected in Gdansk after the former Solidarity chief held a labor strategy session in Warsaw a week ago.

Air Park's future up in the air

Hampton, from the Albuquerque FAA office, said, "We have, historically, been against closing down Air Park and moving everything" to the regional airport.

In a departure from his predecessor's policy, White said he favors purchasing snow removal equipment for the regional airport.

Col. Wilson Banks, who retired as aviation director Jan. 31, adamantly opposed buying snow removal equipment. Banks said Midland's average yearly snowfall is too paltry and the equipment too costly to warrant the purchase.

But White said relatively inexpensive plow blades can be purchased and attached to city trucks for clearing runways of snow.

He said he has asked the National Weather Service to compile statistics on Midland's snowfall over several years as part of the funding application process. According to White, the FAA will pay 90 percent of the cost of snow removal equipment if the city can prove it is needed.

Drafting an FAA funding application for the equipment will be one of the first assignments for the city's newly hired assistant aviation director for operations and maintenance, who begins work soon, White said.

Airport development needs for Crane, Ector and Winkler Counties were also discussed during the hearing.

George Dresser of the Texas Transportation Institute told the group that "when we finish this morning, we'd like to have a much clearer idea of what your airports are going to need in the next few years."

Dana Ryan, airport development specialist with the TCA, said the number of active general aircraft in Texas is expected to jump from 21,000 in 1980 to 53,000 in the year 2000.

Ryan said projected growth of air travel emphasizes the importance of the TFPA plans and maintenance of a strong network of airports.

Police investigate two burglaries

Midland police investigated two burglaries Friday, including one which may be related to a similar burglary reported Thursday.

An air-conditioning unit valued at $778 and a $230 ceiling fan were taken in the burglary of a house at 4310 Trevino sometime between Wednesday and Friday, a TAR Investments spokesman told officers. Investigators believe entry was gained by breaking a back window.

A Concept Construction spokesman told police a microwave oven valued at $700 was missing from a house under construction at 3309 Dentcrest. The spokesman said the break-in occurred sometime between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 6 p.m. Thursday.

A similar burglary was investigated by police Thursday. A second microwave oven was taken in that break-in of a Concept Construction house at 3313 Dentcrest sometime between 5:30 p.m. Wednesday and 1:45 p.m. Thursday.

Entry was gained by breaking a patio door, according to a police report.

Proposed trucking route agreed on

After lengthy discussion, city officials agreed to add Garfield from Wall to Front Street and Florida Avenue from Texas 349 to Cotton Flat to the local routes.

The city is also likely to add portions of Golf Course and Scharbauer Drive, between Midkiff and Texas 349, to the proposed local routes.

Although trucking representatives were less than satisfied, the meeting in Midland City Hall ended after slightly more than two hours.

Sloan said the proposed ordinance will be considered on first reading at the May 24 council meeting and on second reading two weeks later before it may be published and become law.

Baker said the ordinance won't be enforceable until the streets are marked with "no truck" and "local truck route" signs, a process which could take about four months.

DEATHS

Bessie A. White

ARLINGTON — Graveside services for Bessie A. White, 85, of Grand Prairie and mother of Hazel Horn of Midland, were held May 6 in Moore Memorial Gardens in Arlington.

Mrs. White was born in Eudora, Ark., June 28, 1897, and lived in Louisiana before moving to Grand Prairie in 1943.

Other survivors are two sons, both of Grand Prairie; five grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Man gives up when refused aid

"He tried to find work," his wife said. "But if you go into a place and they find out your health is bad, they aren't going to hire you."

Gaines' doctor, Seymour Goldberg, said "In my opinion, I felt he was unable to do gainful, physical, exertive work."

Bill Carter, assistant district manager of the Social Security Administration's Bloomington office, said claim requests are sent to reviewers in Springfield who, along with doctors, decide if the request will be granted.

"There are specific listings of disabilities. If they don't meet the listings of impairments, Springfield's hands are tied," Carter said.

As in all cases where death follows a disability claim, the Gaines file automatically will be reopened to determine whether he met disability requirements between the time he was last denied aid and when he died.

But Social Security spokeswoman Karen Brach in Chicago said that is unlikely because the last finding that Gaines, 49, wasn't disabled was made a short time ago.

And Mrs. Gaines won't qualify for survivor benefits because she has no minor children and is not disabled herself, Ms. Brach said.

"I can't work to help you out of this mess," Gaines wrote to his wife. "Try to do the best you can. Heaven knows I love you."

Searchers find campers' bodies

DRIPPING SPRINGS (AP) — Searchers on Friday found the bodies of a boy and a camp counselor who drowned along with two other boys when a flash flood roared through their campsite on the banks of the Pedernales River.

The body of Harold Harvey, 26, of Nacodoches, was found about three miles from where the group from the Hope Center for Youth had camped. The body of 11-year-old Jeremy Williams of Houston was found seven miles downstream in a creek that feeds into the river.

Authorities recovered the body of 12-year-old Jamie Hendrick of Houston on Thursday and that of 12-year-old John Clowers of Lufkin on Wednesday.

The youths and the counselor were swept away by the flood waters, which climbed 20 feet above normal river level early Wednesday morning.

Third Salvadoran alien dies

McALLEN (AP) — A third Salvadoran died Friday of head injuries he suffered when the pickup truck used to smuggle him and 18 other aliens into Texas rolled over four times on a county road, a McAllen Methodist Hospital spokeswoman said.

Gregorio Rodriguez, 35, died shortly after noon, said hospital supervisor Martha Wallace. Two other Salvadorans died Thursday.

The driver of the stolen truck, Mexican national Jose Luis Reyes-Flores, was in custody in the Jim Hogg County Jail in Hebbronville in lieu of $75,000 bond.

Bingo taxes to be allocated

AUSTIN (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that 49 Texas counties and 35 cities will receive $474,652 from taxes collected on legalized charity bingo.

"This allocation puts the total we have sent local governments from this tax over the million dollar mark," Bullock said.

As of this week, a total of 104 counties, 134 cities and 112 justice precincts have legalized charitable bingo.

Students show classmate they care

Christijo Sweeney

SHAWNEE, Kan. (AP) — Classmates of an 11-year-old girl abandoned at a Dallas airport in a dispute among relatives say they want her to know someone still cares.

Fifth-grade pupils at Bluejacket Elementary School in this Kansas City suburb are writing letters and collecting toys for a "We Love You" package they plan to send to Christijo Sweeney, who is now in the custody of Texas child welfare workers.

For 36 hours Sunday and Monday, the girl was shuffled back and forth by an aunt in Shawnee, with whom she lived, and an uncle in Dallas, who is her adoptive father.

She was driven by car to Texas from Shawnee, put on a plane back to Kansas, then flown back to Dallas. Child welfare officials picked her up at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

Her aunt, Pat Merritt, said the girl was unhappy living in Shawnee and wanted to stay with her uncle, Phillip F. Sweeney Jr., with whom she had lived in 1976.

But Sweeney's wife, Jeane Sweeney, said she and her husband operated a window-washing company full-time and were not prepared to raise a child. She said Sweeney had not seen the child since she was 4.

Sweeney had adopted Christijo in 1976 because his sister, Vicki Tinkham, was unable to care for her daughter. Ms. Tinkham had attempted to readopt her daughter, but was critically injured in a traffic accident in 1981. She lives in a nursing home.

Leon Dawson, principal at Bluejacket school, said he spoke to the girl by telephone Wednesday and assured her "that we love her and are thinking of her."

He said the child's teacher also spoke to her but Christijo was subdued and "didn't say much."

Cynthia McKenzie, the child welfare director in Dallas for the Texas Department of Human Resources, said Thursday that Christijo will remain in an emergency shelter until the state is awarded permanent custody by the court. A hearing on the state's petition for permanent custody is scheduled for May 19.

Christijo could be placed with a foster family, in a residential treatment center if she were in need of psychological treatment or in a basic child care institution.

50-year-old boxes to be opened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas is preparing to claim contents of safety deposit boxes received by the federal government during bank failures of the Great Depression — contents that could include everything from jewelry to love letters, Texas' treasurer said Friday.

Ann Richards said Texas would seek to recover the items under a federal law passed last year allowing the original owners, their heirs or states to claim the boxes' contents, which have been held by the Comptroller of the Currency for half a century.

"It's intriguing to us what we might find...in those boxes, and not only the intrinsic value, but the historical value that might accompany the contents of those boxes," said Ms. Richards.

She said the unclaimed contents of various other safe deposit boxes previously turned over to the Texas state treasurer had included securities, antique gold coins, pocket watches, gold chains, jewels, even love letters and grocery slips.

"You'd be surprised the things that people put in, something that probably would be meaningless to anyone who would open the box but at one time or another was important to that person," said Ms. Richards.

Ms. Richards said that once the state recovers the contents from the Comptroller of the Currency, efforts will be made to locate the original owners or heirs.

If the owners or their heirs cannot be located, items which have cash value will be sold by the state at auction, she said.

A spokeswoman for the Comptroller of the Currency said that when a national bank failed during the Depression and the owners of safe deposit boxes could not be located, the boxes' contents were turned over to the comptroller.

Debbie Foster, a Temple Junior College speech instructor, explains the principles of body language. "Body language is speaking with the body. It's what the body says. And we tend to believe that old adage that actions speak louder than words," Mrs. Foster says.

Information in spoken message conveyed by more than words

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) — Consider a spoken message. The information in that message isn't always expressed in words.

It's body posture that does most of the talking.

Debbie Foster, a Temple Junior College speech instructor, says as much as 55 percent of a spoken message is conveyed through body language. Another 38 percent comes across through vocal inflections, while words account for a mere 7 percent.

"Body language is speaking with the body. It's what the body says. And we tend to believe that old adage that actions speak louder than words," Mrs. Foster said.

"Your body is not a liar."

Body language — the gestures, unconscious body movements and facial expressions that accompany speech — has become a field so studied since the early '60s that a chapter on the subject is included in most fundamentals of communication textbooks, Mrs. Foster said.

Not that a person may judge another's motives through his gestures. But, Mrs. Foster said, those who are aware off body language can improve their communication.

Moments called "Kinesic slips" can be avoided if people become aware of their stances, she said.

"That's when your mouth says one thing but your body says another," she explained. "For instance, if you come to my office, and I say I am really glad you came, but I'm averaging a grade or looking at my watch, my body is saying that I am really very busy."

Another slip, she said, might come when a preacher talks about love while pounding the pulpit with a clenched fist.

Time and clothing reveal the truth behind words, too.

"Our handling of time can make a statement," she said. "If I consistently show up for class 15 minutes late, or if I'm 10 minutes early, that's a statement. And artifacts — the way we dress, what we wear — are things we want to be identified with," she said.

Nursing home fire safety bill sent to House

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate fire safety bill that would require some Texas nursing homes to install sprinklers, has been sent to the House.

The bill was approved on voice vote esarlier this week.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, said the measure generally requires that nursing homes conform to the latest safety codes.

In answering questions he said the bill, if passed, would require about 85 of the state's nursing homes to install sprinkler systems.

However, an amendment by Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, added a provision that would allow the State Department of Health, which will administer the program, to give variances to safety requirements if a inspection shows present equipment and buildings are adequate.

Nautilus: A 500 million-year old survivor

HONOLULU (AP) — For almost 500 million years, the chambered nautilus — a mollusk — has survived virtually without change in the dark, chilly waters of the Western Pacific. No one has ever seen a newborn one.

Moving at depths of up to 1,500 feet, the nautilus has lived on as most of its relatives disappeared from below the surface of the earth.

The nautilus has been studied for more than 100 years. Its swirling, symmetrical shells have been subjected to computer analysis. Its dozens of grasping, nerve-like tentacles have been examined under the most powerful of microscopes. It has been trapped and tracked by scientists from New Caledonia to Pennsylvania. Dozens are kept in aquariums around the world.

The secrets of its breeding remain unknown, however.

"It's a big mystery," said Peighton Taylor, director of the Waikiki Aquarium in Honolulu. "No one has ever seen a newborn nautilus and nobody knows anything about their embryology."

Once, thousands of species of nautiloids and ammonites, some as big as full-grown men, roamed the world's seas, said Bruce Carlson, a marine biologist at the aquarium.

"All but the nautilus died out about the same time dinosaurs disappeared from the earth," he said.

Since 1976, the aquarium has had good success in capturing, shipping, keeping and mating live nautiluses. They grow up to 9 inches across in a lifetime, Carlson said. Matings have not produced fertile eggs, however.

"We watch the whole process and everything looks normal. We just don't know what it is yet," he said.

Carlson believes a key to unlocking the breeding secret lies in the movements of the shellfish through varying water temperatures.

The first clue came almost by accident.

"We were keeping our first nautiluses in tanks with water constantly at 63 degrees. One day when the cooling system broke down, we noticed a change in habits," Carlson said.

That led to a recycling of the water at different temperatures. Almost immediately the nautiluses started mating and laying eggs, he said.

In the summer of 1982, Carlson joined another nautilus researcher, paleontologist Bruce Saunders of Bryn Mawr University, in the Western Pacific waters near Palau. Using a newly developed, neutrally buoyant microtransmitter, they were able for the first time to track a nautilus as it went about its day-to-day business beneath the sea.

"We tentatively confirmed something that a scientist, Arthur Wiley, first noticed in 1897. The nautilus seemed to migrate into the warmer, shallower waters in the nighttime. But why?" Carlson said. "It could be a lot of reasons but I think it has something to do with their breeding."

Taylor and Carlson think they may have received a big break in their search for the answer in mid-March, when they were unexpectedly offered a chance to study some of the smallest nautiluses ever seen.

"They just showed up in a shipment sent to a tropical fish importer in Los Angeles. He didn't order them and didn't want them. He offered them to several public aquariums. We jumped at the chance," Taylor said.

The tiny nautiluses, about the size of silver dollars, are thriving in the waters of a special holding tank at the aquarium, while the scientists hurry to find where they came from.

Because the baby nautiluses survived the trip across the ocean without any special, cool-water handling, Carlson believes they may have come from a warm, shallow-water area, a further indication that water conditions govern the breeding patterns of the shellfish.

Costumed man caught in robbery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A small army of police, some posing as parking attendants, arrested a man wearing a dress and a woman's blond wig as he rushed from a bank where a $318 robbery had been committed.

Police and FBI officials said they "got lucky and just happened to be there when the alarm went off" in Thursday's robbery at a Bank of America branch in the seedy Tenderloin district. They refused to explain how they were warned of the robbery.

"We would have known something was up the minute that guy came in, even if the FBI hadn't said anything," said a bank officer who was not identified. "If only because he looked weird — even here in the Tenderloin, where we have some real characters."

One source, whose name wasn't revealed, told the San Francisco Chronicle that police were so well tipped to the crime that the taxi which carried the suspect to the bank was driven by a police officer.

They flee Miami for colony in rural Georgia

WAYNESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Fed up with drugs and crime in a riot-scarred Miami neighborhood, members of an evangelical church have fled to their own little acre in rural Georgia, where they hope to build new lives on the land.

"The Lord told me I was going to have a colony. I took the place sight unseen," said Genevie Manning, leader of the 41-member entourage that traveled here last October from the Liberty City section of Miami.

"Things were getting bad in Miami with dope and the crime," said Mrs. Manning, who founded her church in 1964 in New York City.

The colonists, she said, left jobs, sold belongings and pooled their money to buy one acre in Brantley County from a preacher they met in Miami. Some of Mrs. Manning's followers have been with her 20 years, traveling from New York to a couple of Florida towns, and to Miami in 1975.

Rumors spread quickly when the caravan first stopped in the middle of the night in a clearing beside a lonely stretch of State Highway 259.

"I heard it was 200 Haitians," said County Commission Chairman Jimmy Woodard.

Woodard drove his truck out to the clearing. He found 41 people, mostly children, who slept atop cars and on the ground until they pitched a large blue-and-white tent, with smaller tents inside for individuals and 10 families.

A sign soon went up identifying the assembly as the Prayer and Faith Colony.

Since then, the county built a driveway entrance across a ditch for them and provided a large trash container.

A county school bus picks up 20 children each weekday at the camp. A half-dozen preschoolers and two infants remain behind to play. They have a sandbox and seesaw, and a small swimming pool is under construction.

The group has built a crude one-story structure with 13 tiny apartments. Residents draw water from a new well at one end of the building and share a red-and-white privy at the back of the field.

Secretary says no politics with contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secretary John Lehman, trying to quell an uproar over a subordinate's criticism of Oregon's congressional delegation, says politics plays no part in the awarding of shipyard contracts.

On Thursday, Lehman had lunch with Sen Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. He told reporters afterward that remarks by Undersecretary of the Navy James Goodrich had been misinterpreted.

Goodrich said in a speech in Portland, Ore., last month that the state couldn't expect to get more shipping contracts and added, "Oregon's problem is its representation."

Lehman said in explaining the remarks, "There was no intention to imply there is any political factoring going on."

Industry wants no taxes on death benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The life insurance industry is trying to nip in the bud any idea of taxing death benefits or the growth in value of life policies.

"Congress has always recognized that enough problems are associated with the event of death, that it would be highly unfair to impose the income tax" on death benefits, said Robert S. Greer Sr., president of Union National Life Insurance Co., Baton Rouge, La. He spoke for smaller life insurance firms.

"The current exemption for death benefits paid to beneficiaries under term or cash-value life insurance policies is demonstrably sound and should be retained," added Hartzel Z. Lebed, president of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. and spokesman for 120 big investor-owned firms.

Similar endorsements of preferential tax treatment for policyholders were offered by other segments of the life insurance industry Wednesday as the House Ways and Means subcommittee on select revenue measures took testimony on overall federal taxation of the industry.

The industry has been unable to present a unified recommendation on how it should be taxed because of the differing views of its two major segments: the stock (investor-owned) companies and the mutual (policyholder-owned) firms.

The companies basically operate under a 1959 tax law, although some temporary changes were made by Congress last year. Those stopgap measures expire Dec. 31, and unless Congress acts in the meantime, the burden of higher taxes would fall disproportionately on the mutual companies.

The Reagan administration has proposed broad outlines of a tax bill affecting the industry. Although that measure apparently would not permit taxation of policyholders' death benefits, the Treasury Department has questioned whether continued favorable tax treatment of insurance as an investment can be justified.

100-year-old handy book back in print, selling fast

CINCINNATI (AP) — The century-old American Boys Handy Book, which gave directions for making soap bubbles, boomerangs and fishing spears, is back in print and selling fast, its publisher says.

Author Daniel Carter Beard, who later headed the Boy Scouts, told parents in the 1882 preface that "money spent on fancy sporting apparatus, toys, etc., would be better spent upon tools and appliances" for boys to make their own.

The reprint, issued April 27 by the David R. Godine Publishing Co. in Boston, is nearly a sellout, surprising even the publisher.

"The first run of 6,000 copies is almost sold out, and we expect a second printing soon," David Allender, Godine's publicity director, said Wednesday. "For a book 100 years old, that's unusual."

Allender said that 18 months ago, Godine editorial director Bill Goodman spotted an original copy of Beard's book in a rare book shop on Martha's Vineyard, off the Massachusetts coast.

Hotel price war erupts in Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - A hotel war has erupted in Bangkok, in which the weaponry includes price cutting, employee-napping and travel agency arm-twisting.

The cause of the war is simple: a badly timed hotel construction boom. The consequences: some of the places may not make it and the tourist will be in for some bargains.

"It's probably the worst situation we have ever faced," says Chanut Piyaoui, president of the Thai Hotels Association.

In the 1970s, hotel construction in Bangkok was slow while tourism increased sharply — charter flights from Western Europe, young travelers from Australia, Japanese businessmen and wealthy Arabs put a strain on the city's hotel space.

Profits — and room rates — soared. The government reintroduced special promotional privileges for new hotels and the boom was on its way.

The Tourism Authority of Thailand says that over the next two years more than 4,000 first- and second-class hotel rooms will be added and that by 1986 the city will have a total of 20,500.

The authority says that 2.2 million tourists came to Thailand last year. Although this represents a 10.6 percent increase over the previous year, disturbing trends appeared.

Most of the increases were from Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaysia and other Asian markets which send out group tours commanding rock-bottom rates. Tourists from Western Europe — a rather high-spending group — dropped by 5.7 percent and recent restrictions on travel by the French have further dampened spirits of Thai promoters.

Even with an upswing in the world economy and a better promotional effort by the Thais, nobody is predicting anything but a lot of empty rooms.

Room rate cutting is already under way and guests may well be able to command 50 percent and more off current prices over the next two years at a number of Bangkok's hotels. Owners and managers say this is not the way to go: loss of revenue will simply translate into poorer services.

Western train ride slow, yet scenic

CHICAGO (AP) — You can get from Los Angeles to Chicago as the crow — or the plane — flies in just a few hours. Or you can take the long way round: 3,644 spectacularly scenic miles on Amtrak's Coast Starlight from Los Angeles to Seattle and the Empire Builder from Seattle to Chicago.

Pulling out one recent Tuesday morning from Los Angeles' handsome Union Station, the Coast Starlight passed through the city's industrial outskirts into the commuting towns where, visible from the train, swimming pools of various shapes and sizes adorn almost every back yard.

A much more impressive body of water comes into view at Ventura, Calif., where the train starts its run of 113 miles along the Pacific, which at some points almost laps at the tracks.

The route up the coast offers a succession of mountains and majestic trees — doubly resplendent reflected in still lakes — canyons, cliffs, ravines, streams, rivers, rapids, waterfalls. Only the unwelcome nightfall dims the awe-inspiring scenery.

But the next morning, early risers can sometimes get a breathtaking view of magnificent Mount Shasta standing in snow-covered, solitary splendor in northern California.

For nearly 20 miles the train follows the eastern shore of Upper Klamath Lake, with white-capped mountains stretching in multihued array in the distance.

Along the way intercom announcements call attention to such sights as the remains of the San Miguel mission, built of adobe in 1797, and Mount St. Helens, as well as a trackside golf course built from its ash.

The lounge car is a popular gathering place on the bilevel Superliner, with comfortable swivel chairs offering an unobstructed look at the ever-changing vistas through windows that curve from floor to ceiling.

Passengers can continue to ogle the passing countryside from the dining car where, on this trip, steward Jerry Griffo and his crew served 172 for lunch and 156 for dinner Tuesday. During more than three hours Wednesday morning some 180 breakfasts, the only meal actually cooked on the train, were served.

"Passengers are enthralled with the scenery, especially if they're not from the West," said Griffo, of Newport Beach, Calif. "If they only want to have one meal on the diner, for pure scenery I recommend breakfast the second day. There's no more lovely sight than coming through the Pacific Northwest. In summer there are ten thousand shades of green.

"The trip is kind of a microcosm of America, especially for foreigners," he added. "You leave Los Angeles in the middle of the urban jungle, pass suburbia, hit the ocean, see the pumping oil-wells and offshore drilling, pass from the ocean to the lovely beach communities, and always the mountains and water."

The Coast Starlight arrives at its destination too late to make connections with the Empire Builder, but those who don't opt for a night in Seattle, and most of the next day for sightseeing there, can switch in Portland, Ore., to a section of the Empire Builder that will join the rest of the train that night.

The passengers who broke their trip in Seattle continued their journey late Thursday afternoon on that day's Empire Builder, embarking on a two-day, 2,212-mile sweep across Washington, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and into Illinois.

Leaving Seattle, the train follows the Puget Sound coastline for 30 miles, turning eastward at Everett. But the vanished water is quickly replaced by the even more arresting scenery of the Cascade Mountains. Here, the train goes through the longest rail tunnel in the Western Hemisphere — 7.9 miles.

Gunman wounds daughter in standoff with police officers

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — An armed man described by police as an excellent marksman remained at bay for a second day Friday in his daughter's barricaded house while houses in the rest of the block remained empty.

Police Chief Cliff Heap said he would try to wait out Ohmer "Bobby" Cox, who wounded one daughter and held another daughter and three grandchildren hostage for two hours Thursday.

Nobody but police was allowed around the house. Houses evacuated Thursday remained empty Friday.

"All the neighbors are gone. The houses have been vacated," said Sgt. Rick Berry, a member of the police department's Special Response Team. "We don't want them moving around. We don't want them to get injured."

Police estimated Cox had been awake and drinking heavily for at least 24 hours.

But SRT members were in no better shape, however, as most of them reported for work at 8 a.m. Thursday and were getting ready to go home when the standoff began.

Some officers felt that Cox was so intoxicated and confused that he didn't realize what was happening. Others said Cox knew the situation all too well.

Up to 40 police officers surrounded the house at times. Early Friday, Cox walked to a bathroom in the rear of the house and waved through a window to armed police stationed outside.

Debby Williams is lead away by Shreveport firefighters after she was wounded in a shoot out between her father and police.

Heap said Cox had moved furniture in front of the front door to barricade himself in and had a high-powered rifle, a shotgun and a pistol.

Two prisons' violence claims four inmates

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — California's toughest prisons — San Quentin and Folsom — have renewed their violent reputations with outbursts that claimed four lives, including those of a murderer, a robber and a kidnapper.

One victim of Thursday's attacks was hit in the head with an exercise weight, prison officials said, and the others were stabbed.

Three of the victims died in two separate incidents at San Quentin, just north of San Francisco. Prison spokesman Percy Massey said the first to die was San Francisco robber James Kordoules, 24, serving a term for armed robbery.

A guard told investigators Kordoules was in the weight lifting area around 9:30 a.m.when he was felled by a 45-pound dumbbell. He died a short time later in Marin General Hospital.

It took 14 blasts of birdshot from guards' shotguns to break up the melee in which Kordoules was injured. Ten convicts were treated for minor wounds. Two prison-made stabbing weapons were found in the yard, Massey said.

The other two inmates who died at San Quentin were among four stabbed some six hours later as inmates were being marched to their cells from a mess hall. Massey said the fight was not seen by guards.

Both victims were slashed in the neck. One was identified as Manuel Joseph Dutra, 27, of San Francisco, serving a life term for second-degree murder. He died in the prison hospital.

The other man, not named until relatives could be notified, was taken to a civilian hospital where he died nearly four hours after the outburst, Massey said.

Earlier Thursday, an inmate at Folsom Prison in Sacramento County, identified as San Diego County kidnapper David T. Free, 29, was killed in a knife attack in the weight-lifting area.

Show dies; Memory remains

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dingbat died, Gloria and The Meathead moved out and, after 12 seasons of Archie Bunker, CBS boarded up "Archie Bunker's Place."

BUT NOBODY can kill the memory of the original "All in the Family," which helped usher in reality and the 20th century to 1970s television.

The long-running hit, which starred Carroll O'Connor as Archie Bunker, the nation's most popular bigot, was canceled by CBS on Wednesday. The program finished 24th among 99 prime-time programs for the 1982-83 season.

"He was not surprised at all by the cancellation," said Jim Mahoney, O'Connor's publicist. "He suspected it would happen months ago."

NORMAN LEAR, who created "All in the Family" but had severed his connections with the revamped "Archie Bunker's Place" 3½ years ago, said Wednesday, "It's sad to see that period end."

"All in the Family" became "Archie Bunker's Place" in 1979 after the defections of cast members Sally Struthers, as Gloria, and Rob Reiner, as Mike, and the limited appearances by Jean Stapleton, as Archie's devoted wife, Edith. The restructured vehicle was just another situation comedy; "All in the Family" was proof that television had grown up.

Through the unprecedented character of Archie, viewers — whether they liked him or not — were confronted by one reality of America, its warts. Archie, a working-class homeowner from the New York City borough of Queens, was prejudiced. He was shallow. He was angry. He was not very smart. But nothing stopped his opinions and malapropisms stemming from his own ignorance and closed mind.

AS O'CONNOR once said in an interview: "Archie's dilemma is coping with a world that is changing in front of him ... But he won't get to the root of the problem, because the root of the problem is himself, and he doesn't know it."

Through humor and sensitive story lines, "All in the Family" was able to poke fun at both the prejudices of Archie and the kneejerk liberalism of his son-in-law, Mike, whom Archie ridiculed as "The Meathead." If there was any real winner in these loud family squabbles, it was the simple honesty and common sense of Edith, whom Archie called "Dingbat."

When "All in the Family" arrived in January 1971, the top-rated sitcoms were "Here's Lucy," "Mayberry R.F.D." and "My Three Sons." "All in the Family" definitely broke that sitcom mold, and by next season had become the top-rated show in television.

THE FIRST "All in the Family" broadcast was prefaced by this announcement: "The program you are about to see ... seeks to throw a humorous spotlight on our frailties, prejudices and concerns. By making them a source of laughter we hope to show in a mature fashion — just how absurd they are."

Archie made derogatory references to any race, religion or creed that wasn't his own. But, more important than the ethnic and racial slurs, which got laughs, was that "All in the Family" raised significant issues previously closeted from network audiences, like prejudice, abortion, birth control and homosexuality.

THE PROGRAM opened doors to other serious sitcoms, including the spinoff "Maude" starring Bea Arthur, who broke more TV ground by having an abortion. Another spinoff was "The Jeffersons," still a hit show on CBS.

Michael Reagan thinks his father will run for re-election in 1984

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Reagan, the president's son, said Friday he thinks his father will run for re-election in 1984 because "he doesn't leave a job half done and he never will."

The younger Reagan, 38, said in an interview that his father was "slowly making people believers" in his economic programs. "I'd be very surprised if he decides not to run and I hope he does."

He also said his father should be encouraged to continue in his job because of signs the economy is improving as a result of his policies.

Reagan was in town to promote his upcoming Great Lakes power boat run from Chicago to Detroit, which is expected to raise about $250,000 for the United States Olympic Committee.

Soviet dissident offered job in U.S.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A Palo Alto institute specializing in cancer research has offered a job to dissident Soviet physicist Andrei Sakharov, 61, although the Kremlin has refused to let him emigrate.

The offer by the Linus Pauling Institute of Science and Medicine came late Wednesday in telegrams to Sakharov and Soviet party leader Yuri Andropov, institute executive director Richard Hicks said Thursday.

"We're doing this for humanitarian and scientific reasons, not for political reasons," said Hicks. "We offered him the position because his wife has expressed concern for his well-being and because he is apparently not able to contninue his work (in the Soviet Union.)"

Colorado town requires guns

OAK CREEK, Colo. (AP) — The trustees of this town of 1,000 have passed a "symbolic" ordinance requiring every head of household within the city limits to keep a firearm and ammunition.

The ordinance, passed by a 5-2 vote Thursday, was described as being the flip side of one passed in Morton Grove, Ill., which banned handguns except for those owned by police and collectors.

It exempts the physically disabled, convicted felons and those who object to firearms for religious and moral reasons. Violators would be subject to fines of up to $300 and jail terms of up to 90 days.

10-wheel truck hits school bus

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A school bus slowing down to pick up students was struck from behind by a 10-wheel truck Friday, slightly injuring 26 youngsters and the bus driver, officials said.

A spokesman for the Orange County School District said none of the injuries were serious. The children and the bus driver were treated in local hospitals and released.

The truck driver, Stanley Majewski, said shortly after the morning accident in southeast Orlando, "I tried to stop my truck, and the computer brake system failed..."He was given citations for following too closely and for driving an overweight truck, said a Florida Highway Patrol dispatcher.

Couple sues termite-poison makers

WEST ISLIP, N.Y. (AP) — A couple who moved into a tent in their yard because their home had been contaminated by a termite poison filed suit Friday seeking $20 million from the makers of the chemical, the distributor and the exterminator who applied it.

The suit was filed by Gerald and Lorraine Mancini in state Supreme Court against A.V.P. Termite and Pest Control Inc. of West Babylon, Velsicol Chemical Corp. of Chicago and York Chemical Co. of Garden City, which distributed the pesticide, chlordane.

Chlordane had been poured into the home's heating system at a rate 20 times higher than the safety level fixed by the federal government. The chemical has been linked to cancer in laboratory animals.

Council votes to commend bishops

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National Council of Churches voted overwhelmingly Friday to commend the U.S. Roman Catholic Bishops for their pastoral letter calling for an end to the nuclear arms race.

The council represents 40 million Protestant and Orthodox churchgoers and has had a policy for two years favoring a nuclear freeze.

The letter, approved two weeks ago in Chicago by the U.S. Roman Catholic Bishops, calls for a "halt" in the testing, production and deployment of nuclear arms. An earlier draft had called only for "curbing" the arms race.

Peat bog causes controversy

OAKLAND, Md. (AP) — An 18,000-year-old peat bog, home to dozens of animal species and rare plants, could become a strip mine depending on who purchases the land at auction next week.

The battle lines have been drawn between the Nature Conservancy, which wants to preserve the 470 acres of land known as "The Glades," and several coal companies interested in opening it up to get at the coal underneath.

"The bog is a unique community," said George Fenwick, chief of the Natural Heritage Program in the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. "As a community, I would say it is unique and unmatched in the state."

The auction of the property, which belongs to the estate of Mary Glotfelty, is scheduled for next Friday.

State documents on the bog say it holds at least a dozen rare species of plants and animals, and is a home for bears, bobcats, deer, turkeys and grouse.

But Melvin Brown, an owner of the Free State Peat Co., which also is interested in the land, said it "is not an intact natural site."

Busing halt protested by advocates

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — More than 6,000 opponents of a city plan to drop crosstown busing of elementary students marched through downtown Norfolk on Friday, then gathered outside City Hall to hear the Rev. Jesse Jackson urge blacks to register to vote.

The protest group, nearly all of them black, grew over the 3½-mile route to about 10,000 at the noon rally where Jackson spoke.

"The great challenge in America this day is for blacks and whites to come together," said Jackson, head of the civil rights group Operation PUSH and a possible 1984 presidential candidate. "We demand new leadership," he added.

Jackson called upon those in the crowd who were not registered to vote to come forward and sign up inside City Hall. A large crowd filed into the building after the speech, and City Registrar Maxine Ricks said 408 people were registered.

Bishop L.E. Willis, a local minister and businessman who organized the march, shook hands with Jackson and called him "Mr. President" after the speech.

Jackson made brief references to the local busing controversy.

"This struggle for justice is not a 50-yard dash, it's a marathon. We're behind in the race and we must run faster and run longer," he said.

The controversy arose from a plan approved by the school board in February that would make 10 of the city's 35 elementary schools more than 95 percent black and 18 schools at least 70 percent of one race.

The board argued that returning to neighborhood elementary schools after 12 years of busing, which originated with a 1956 desegregation suit filed against the city, would slow the exodus of middle-class families from the city, which is about 40 percent black.

Black parents and children have filed a class-action lawsuit against the board, claiming that the plan discriminates against blacks.

About 40 Norfolk policemen were on hand to observe and clear intersections for the orderly marchers.

Signs among the crowd read "Let the Black and White Children Ride Together in Peace" and "It's Not the Busing, It's Us."

Norfolk Mayor Vincent J. Thomas met with Jackson shortly after the civil rights leader arrived in the city late Thursday night, and both men agreed afterwards there is a "crisis of trust" between the black community and city leaders.

"I am prepared to convene white and black leaders in Norfolk to discuss the issues at large," Thomas said, giving no details.

Job interview leads to jail

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Chatel Jacob Hinton walked into police headquarters Friday expecting to be interviewed for a job as a dispatcher. He was dispatched to jail instead when a routine check showed he is wanted in two states.

Hinton, 32, was arrested on fugitive warrants from Texas and California after he showed up for an interview with J. Herbert Simpson Sr., the city's director of communications and emergency services.

Simpson said Hinton apparently submitted an application for the dispatcher's job sometime last week. Authorities learned of his criminal record when Simpson's office checked his name through the police department's National Crime Information Center computer.

Ex-grand titan makes waves with Klan

MIAMI (AP) — Saying the Ku Klux Klan needs a "Jesse Jackson," not a "promoter of violence" at its head, a former Klan grand titan has split with Imperial Wizard Bill Wilkinson and threatened to take 100 hooded followers with him.

"At one time, I would have followed Bill to hell and back," Richard Ford, former grand titan of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said in a telephone interview Wednesday. "Now I wouldn't stay with him for two inches."

The 47-year-old Lantana television repairman blamed Wilkinson, the Invisible Empire's imperial wizard, for linking the white supremacist society in the public mind with hatred and violence, "although he knows how many people that upsets."

"We need a voice for the white people, and I believed Wilkinson provided it," Ford said. "But I don't see him getting the reception (black civil rights leader) Jesse Jackson does.

"I don't see civic leaders inviting Wilkinson in so they can talk to a responsible spokesman for the white community. What I see is him getting thrown out of things," said Ford, who joined the Invisible Empire four years ago.

Wilkinson could not immediately be reached for comment. A recorded message Wednesday evening at the Invisible Empire's Denham Springs, La., "international offices" said the offices were closed until business hours today. A Louisiana operator said Wilkinson's home telephone number was the same as that of KKK headquarters.

The schism between the 40-year-old Wilkinson and his former Florida lieutenant took place last week on the eve of a KKK demonstration scheduled in Miami to protest what Wilkinson called "small groups of black thugs holding this city hostage" since riots in Overtown last December.

The two Klansmen met Friday at Miami International Airport, where Ford handed Wilkinson a note on Klan stationery:

"Affective immediately my resignation as a member of the Invisible Empire Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Reason: Your promotion of violence."

The following day, a white-clad Wilkinson led seven Klansman in a brief demonstration in a downtown Miami park as police on foot, horseback and in boats kept them apart from a small crowd of vocal blacks.

Ford spurned the demonstration, saying Wilkinson was "asking for it" by appearing in Klan costume in racially tense Miami.

"From now on, I'm going to continue being a normal, unbiased, loving citizen," Ford said. "But my advice to anyone is: Don't join the Invisible Empire Knights of the Ku Klux Klan."

Ford's break with Wilkinson may signal another setback for his Invisible Empire, once the fastest-growing of the four major independent Klan groupings, said Randall Williams, director of the privately funded monitoring organization named Klanwatch.

Board of Regents approves desegregation plan

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — The state Board of Regents has approved a revised desegregation plan that would give a year's free tuition to students who agree to attend state colleges where they would be in the minority.

The plan, approved Wednesday, is designed to attract more blacks to the state's predominantly white colleges and more whites to the three colleges which are mostly black — Savannah State, Albany State and Fort Valley State.

"It has some very strong points, but it does not go far enough," said the Rev. Joseph Lowery, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. "For one thing, the regents don't address the matter of staff. They're trying to desegregate the whole system and they haven't even desegregated themselves."

Of the 15 regents, 13 — including the two most recently appointed by Gov. Joe Frank Harris — are white. Of the top 10 staff members, nine are white.

Vice Chancellor H. Dean Propst told the regents' meeting at Columbus College that the plan is an addendum, rather than a completely new plan. The university system's desegregation plan was last revised in 1977.

The plan was approved in response to a court order requiring Georgia to show concrete signs of desegregation by the fall of 1985 or lose federal funds.

The court order, issued in March by U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt, accused Georgia and five other Southern states of failing to desegregate public colleges and universities. Pratt ordered the states to develop revised plans by June 30.

H.M.S. Warrior, the world's first iron-built, iron-clad battleship, is being restored in England. Launched in 1860, the Warrior was steam-powered but carried sails on three masts, was armed with 26 muzzleloaders and 10 breech-holders and at the time was the world's most powerful warship.

But in her 27-year career she never fired a shot in anger.

Chopsticks unhealthy, official says

PEKING (AP) — A Chinese public health official says that China's eating style — everyone using their chopsticks to help themselves from the same platters — is unhealthy.

Writing Thursday in the Communist Party newspaper, the People's Daily, Guo Jieyi of the Public Health Ministry's Epidemic Prevention Department, said the spread of hepatitis and tuberculosis "is closely linked with the style of eating."

A 1979 survey showed China had more than 6 million tuberculosis patients, or about 0.7 percent of the population. Guo said that before the 1949 Communist takeover in China, the death rate from tuberculosis reached 0.2 percent.

Pravda says production lagging

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet industrial output rose 4.4 percent in the first four months of 1983 and labor productivity was up 3.6 percent compared to the same period last year, Pravda said Friday.

The Communist Party daily said in a front-page report that actual production did not meet the targeted production.

Several ministries were criticized for permitting inefficient management and excessive expenditures for raw materials.

U.S. Army prison overcrowded

MANNHEIM, West Germany (AP) — The Army's crackdown on drugs has overcrowded the biggest U.S. military prison in Europe, forcing 204 men to live in a stockade designed for 156, the Stars and Stripes newspaper said Friday. The Army confirmed the report.

Prison commander Lt. Col. Rudolph A. Stupar said the number of prisoners began increasing in 1978, when the drug crackdown was launched.

Overcrowding has increased discipline problems, according to Stupar, adding that problem prisoners are placed in solitary confinement.

Chinese forces engage in exercise

PESCADORES Islands, Taiwan (AP) — The Nationalist Chinese armed forces on Friday ended their largest military exercise in a decade off these islands, about 75 miles from the eastern coast of Communist China.

More than 50,000 military personnel took part in the week-long "Rising China" operation.

PLO adds issues to withdrawal negotiations

By ROBERT H. REID

An Analysis

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Palestine Liberation Organization wants its own negotiations with the Lebanese on a list of issues that must be settled before it will remove its estimated 10,000 troops from Lebanon.

PLO officials here say the items include the safety of Palestinian civilians in Lebanon and an end to what one official termed the "systematic harassment" of Palestinians by the Lebanese government.

In addition, Western diplomats say it could take months of complex negotiations until all parties agree where the guerrilla fighters would go once they left Lebanon.

That was a major sticking point during last summer's U.S.-sponsored negotiations which ended the Israeli siege of west Beirut and scattered PLO units among eight Arab countries.

Without the same pressure of world opinion as last year, Western diplomats fear negotiations on the fate of Palestinian units deployed in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley could be even more difficult.

About 2,000 PLO fighters have infiltrated back into Lebanon from Syria in recent weeks, the diplomats say.

Meanwhile, the entire procedure of getting Israeli and Syrian forces out of Lebanon could be held up. The Israelis have said they would consider the withdrawal agreement "suspended" until Syrian and Palestinian forces also agree to leave.

"There are lots of problems to be settled between the PLO and the Lebanese before withdrawal," said Bassam Abu-Sharif, spokesman for the PLO's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

"There are 500,000 Palestinians in Lebanon and the PLO should think of their interests and their protection."

Sharif claimed Lebanese officials were harassing Palestinians by refusing to issue them work permits and then preventing the PLO from sending them money for support.

He also accused the Lebanese of attacking Palestinian businesses and of being behind recent killing and beatings of Palestinians in Lebanon.

Unlike the Syrians and Israelis, the Palestinians have no country to withdraw to. Western diplomats doubt the Syrians would be willing to accept all of the units from the Bekaa.

Drillers rip Cubs to take series, 3-2

TULSA, Okla. — The Tulsa Drillers defeated the Midland Cubs, 7-2, to win the Texas League series, 3-2.

Leading by a 2-0 count in the bottom of the second, Mike Ruebel provided the Drillers with the winning runs when he hit a two-run homer off reliever Ray Soff, his 11th homer of the year.

Steve Buechele's two run homer in the sixth made it 5-0 before the Cubs could get on the scoreboard. In the top of the seventh, Trey Brooks scored on A.J. Hill's double and Hill scored when Tom Johnson grounded out.

Kevin Buckley gave the Drillers their final runs with his home run in the bottom of the eighth.

Lott soars to new high

Sets national record

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Assistant Sports Editor

AUSTIN—Refugio's James Lott will be wearing the burnt orange of Texas in the Southwest Conference next fall in football, but here at his future home of Memorial Stadium Friday, he was wearing the colors of the entire Lone Star State.

Lott soared to a national high school high jump record while competing in the 3A division of the state rack meet with a 7-4 3/4, one half inch better than the four-week old mark of 7-4½ by San Francisco's Maurice Comby.

"I think I'm going to like this stadium. Everything I do here seems to turn out good," said Lott, who won the high jump last year as a junior with a 7-1½.

Lott had two attempts at 7-5½ before giving up on any attempt at a higher record. "I knew it was the national record, because I had them put the bar at that height. After I got the record, I didn't try very hard to go higher, because I'm in five events today."

THE NATIONAL record would seem to be enough work for anyone, but Lott didn't stop there. He won the long jump with a 24-1, placed second in the high hurdles with a 13.7, was third in the 300-hurdles with a 37.4 and ran a leg on Refugio's sixth place 1600 meter relay team for a total of 34½ points. Needless to say, Refugio won the 3A title with 62 points.

It's the second year in a row that Lott has stolen the high jump thunder.

Last year, Lott's 7-1½ bested the effort of Greenwood's Class A jumper, Stuart Burleson, who had 7-0. This year the national mark overshadowed a 7-1½ by Canyon's Ernie Mendez.

In the 4A division, the 1600 run was a feature event since Kerrville Tivy's Matt Taylor was matched again with Andrews' Kirk Pearcy, the one-two finishers last year. Pearcy led for three laps this year, but ended up third as Taylor repeated with a 4:13.5 and Liberty's David Adams was second.

"I THOUGHT a lot about the race this year with Pearcy and he had me scared for a while. However, I felt good at the end and had a good kick. There's a lot of pressure being the defending champion, because it really looks bad if you lose," said Taylor.

"I thought I had it for a while," was the only comment a disappointed Pearcy would make after the race.

Lubbock Estacado repeated as 4A team champion with 54 points, but it was a somewhat tainted crown, since the Matadors did it without the aid of a first place finish. Estacado placed second four times.

No other state records were set Friday, but Refugio's Ray Hutchinson recorded a wind-aided 13.4 in the high hurdles, which would have been a state record without the benefit of the stiff wind. In addition to Lott's record, one other 3A record fell when Llano's Flay Deats pole vaulted 15-6. In 4A comeptition, two conference marks fell and one was tied. Mendez' high jump effort was one while Hallsville's Tommy Robertson had a 1.51.0 in the 800, breaking a 21-year old mark of 1:52.1 by Lamesa's Gene Westmoreland. Carthage's Roscoe Tatum tied the 100 time of 10.4.

CONFERENCES 5A, 2A and A shoot for state glory today, including three events that will have great importance to Midland. Midland Lee's Damon Polk will shoot for gold in the high hurdles while Midland's Chuch St. Germaine will be in the 800. Lee also has a 1600 relay team that features sophomores Marc Brackens and Walter Jones to go along with seniors Carleton Johnson and Luther Johnson. Greenwood's Burleson will be in the Class A high jump.

Burleson bows in net bid

AUSTIN—Greenwood High School's Stuart Burleson was repulsed in his bid to repeat as state Class A champion in tennis and the high jump when he lost 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 in the second round of tennis play.

Rankin High school finished third in the in Class A golf. But Bob Estas led defending golf champion Abilene Cooper to the Class 5A crown, and Paris, Hardin Jefferson, San Saba, and Solado also repeated their titles Friday in the finals of the state schoolboy golf tournament.

Cooper, paced by medalist Estas and runner-up Kyle Coody, fired a two-day total of 586. Paris shot 616 for the 4A crown. Hardin Jefferson shot 620 in 3A, San Saba shot 647 in 2A and Salado shot 669 in A.

Lee falls short in 2nd game

By ROBERT BRUNDAGE
Sports Writer

Midland Lee came into Friday's first game against Lubbock Monterey trailing 1-0 in the three-game bi-district playoff series. The Rebels pounded two Plainsmen pitchers for a 13-4 victory.

However, Lee's visions of a home-away series with El Paso Burges in the Region I playoff series next week came to a crashing halt when the Plainsmen returned the favor to the Lee pitching staff for a 12-2 victory in the nightcap to claim the playoff series, 2-1.

IN THE opening game, the Rebels avenged an earlier 7-0 no-hitter by pitcher Danny Riddle in the Tournament of Champions by collecting 11 hits, including home runs by Bryan Willis (three RBI) and Steve Woodlee (two RBI) in the fourth inning. Rebel shortstop Barry Blackwell collected the third home run of the game, a solo shot, off reliever Kris Segrist.

While the Rebel lineup was producing a big lead, Lee pitcher Craig Ray was shutting down Monterey. Going the distance, Ray allowed only three hits and four walks while striking out 11.

"He (Ray) wasn't throwing real hard at the end but he was keeping the ball low," said Lee coach Ernie Johnson. "They were also helping him out a little by swinging at bad pitches."

RAY WAS doing such a good job in the first game, that he had Monterey coach Bobby Moegle a little worried about the second.

"I was scared their pitching would come through in the second game like Ray did in the first," said Moegle. "If (Kerry) Robertson or (John) Denton came through we could have been in trouble."

But, they didn't.

Robertson, who suffered the loss in Tuesday's game in Lubbock, gave up four hits and walked two to put the first six Plainsmen he faced on base. It cost him four runs. Even the 20-minute argument between home plate umpire James Lungsford, Moegle and Johnson didn't help even though Ernie came out on top.

The rhubarb resulted with Plainsman Billy Lance at the plate, Phil Edwards on third and Barry Joachim on first. Robertson unleashed a wild pitch that catcher Sergio Ochoa couldn't handle and when it went back to the screen, it hit a television camera.

Moegle argued that the play should be called dead and that Edwards should be awarded home. Lungsford agreed. Johnson didn't. Ernie came out of the dugout and started arguing the decision. At one point, he went so far as to get a rule book and ask the umpire to "show me where it says that."

Lungsford apparently couldn't find it and sent Edwards back to third. Moegle returned to restate his case. When the decision was declared final, Monterey assistant coach Mike Crutcher got in enough verbal jibes to get himself ejected from the game.

All that arguing, and Edwards scored anyway. He came home on Lance's single to left. Monterey 4, Lee 0.

A BLACKWELL double and a Woodlee sacrifice fly cut the lead to 4-1, but Monterey was on a role. No pitcher Lee would send to the mound was able to stop the onslaught.

Denton, who threw a two-hitter Tuesday, lasted four innings but gave up six hits and four more runs. Bryan Willis, who hasn't pitched in more than a month, finished the game, allowing two hits and the final two runs.

Wilkes sparks Lakers

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Los Angeles' Jamaal Wilkes scored 26 points and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added 25 as the Lakers buried the San Antonio Spurs 113-100 Friday night to take a 2-1 lead in their National Basketball Association Western Conference final series.

Game 4 of the best-of-7 series will be played here Sunday afternoon.

Wilkes scored 12 of his points in the third quarter when the Lakers came alive and erased a one-point halftime deficit by rattling off six straight points for a 58-53 lead.

Los Angeles had another six-point run about a minute later to take a 66-57 advantage with 7:19 in the period.

The Spurs closed the gap to 72-67 with their own 6-0 run, but the Lakers answered with another six in a row later in the period to make it 80-67 with 1:41 left.

The defending champion Lakers, trying to become the first team to repeat as NBA title winners since the Boston Celtics won in 1968 and 1969, led 86-72 entering the final period.

The Spurs' Mike Dunleavy hit two three-point goals in the space of a minute at the start of the fourth quarter, but San Antonio couldn't get a sustained rally going.

San Antonio pulled to within 10 at 96-86 with two free throws from Mike Mitchell with 7:46 remaining, but never got any closer the rest of the way.

Norm Nixon had 22 points for the Lakers and Earvin "Magic" Johnson added 13. Mitchell led the Spurs with 23 points, followed by Artis Gilmore with 17 and George Gervin with 15.

S A sweeps

SAN ANGELO — District 4-5A champion San Angelo moved into the Region I playoff game against El Paso Bel Air by sweeping a doubleheader against Lubbock Coronado here Friday.

Trailing 1-0 in the three-game series, the Bobcats posted a 3-0 victory in the opening game and followed with a 6-2 win in the second.

The victory gives San Angelo a 19-11 season record while Bel Air is bringing in a 22-2 mark. The home-away series has yet to be arranged.

The Bobcats picked up solo runs in each of the second, fourth and fifth innings in the first game, and were powered to victory in the second when catcher Henry Klepac hit a three-run homer in the first inning.

Texas, Arkansas win

AUSTIN (AP) — Rice, the second-best fielding team in college baseball, had errors by first basemen Dave Edwards and Curtis Fox Friday night that allowed No. 6-ranked Texas to escape with a 4-3 victory in the Southwest Conference tournament.

Texas, the SWC champion, will play Arkansas, which beat Houston, 4-3, in the second round Saturday. Houston and Rice also play Saturday in the double elimination tournament.

Bryan Foxx and Jay Bluthardt stroked run-scoring doubles and Texas rightfielder Darren Loy misplayed a fly ball as Rice took a 3-1 lead. Texas tied the score in the seventh with one run scoring as first baseman Dave Edwards dropped a throw.

Jamie Doughty rapped a double for Texas in the bottom of the ninth, and a wild pitch by Tim Englund sent Doughty to third with one out.

Bill Bates popped to short center field and appeared the game would go into extra innings when Mike Brumley drilled a two-out grounder to Edwards. But the ball bounced off Fox's glove toward second and Foxx's quick throw to Englund at first was a split-second too late to catch Brumley as Doughty scored the winning run.

Englund argued with first-base umpire Chuck Swallow to no avail as a partisan crowd roared its approval. It was the fourth time this season that Texas has defeated Rice by one run, and the second time for Englund, who is 10-2, to lose 4-3 games in the ninth games.

Calvin Schiraldi, 10-1, was the winner.

Ags' Howard does it again

FORT WORTH (AP) - Texas A&M's Jimmy Howard, sidelined last year with a broken ankle, captured the Southwest Conference high jump championship for an unprecedented fourth time Friday and tied his outdoor meet record in the process.

Howard, an engineering major who as already graduated but elected to take his final year of eligibility, cleared 7-feet, 4 1/4 inches and just missed twice at 7-6.

It was only the sixth time in the 68 years of SWC track and field competition that a competitor had earned four first place medals in the same event during his career.

"This is the best I've jumped all season...today I honestly felt I could have made 7-7," Howard said. "I wanted to put the bar at 7-7 but my teammates talked me into leaving it at 7-6. I have cleared 7-6 1/2 in practice."

Arkansas, the defending SWC outdoor champion, collected 16 points in the long jump won by the Razorbacks' Mike Conley with an effort of 25-feet, 10 3/4 inches. Dave Konsens of Houston was second and Mike Davis of Arkansas took third to earn six points.

Houston's Rick Meyer hurled the discus 202-feet, 6-inches to post 10 points in that event. Robert Weir of Southern Methodist was second at 198-10.

In the team race, Houston was leading Arkansas 25-18 after three events.

Houston was leading in the women's division thanks to Carol Lewis of the Cougars who soared 20-feet, 5 3/4 inches in the long jump.

The Lady Cougars had 16 points to 8 for Arkansas.

Indy car cracks up

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indianapolis rookie John Paul Jr. suffered a possible fractured leg Friday when his Penske PC-10 went out of control and hit the concrete wall in the first turn at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Paul, 23, from Lawrenceville, Ga., apparently over-corrected after the rear end of his Cosworth-powered racer started to slide going into the first turn at a speed over 190 mph. The car quickly whipped back in the opposite direction, got into a full spin and slammed hard into the wall.

His previous full lap had been clocked at more than 197, and Paul is among 13 drivers who have been above 200 in practice this week in preparation for the opening of four days of qualifying for the May 29 Indianapolis 500.

Paul was taken to the infield hospital for treatment, then driven by ambulance to Methodist Hospital for X-rays and further examination.

KO'd fight gets OK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A state appeal court Friday reinstated Sunday's nationally televised boxing match between Bobby Chacon and Cornelius Boza-Edwards.

Presiding Judge Richard Schauer and Associate Justice Earl Johnson issued a stay of the injunction issued by Superior Court Judge Leon Savitch on Thursday which would have called off the schedued 12-round non-title bout between Chacon, the World Boxing Council 130-pound champion, and former titlist and current No. 1 contender Boza-Edwards in Las Vegas, Nev.

NCAA still undecided

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — NCAA attorneys emerged from day-long meetings Friday still undecided on their next move in a battle over football television rights which may be headed for the U.S. Supreme Court.

In the meantime, the College Football Association began making preparations for a possible television package for the upcoming season. And people on both sides of the dispute debated their interpretation of a ruling Thursday by the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver.

Two key points remained unclear: whether the NCAA will be able to get a stay of the ruling so that its network contracts for the coming season will be remain in effect, and just how much U.S. District Judge Juan Burciaga might modify his anti-NCAA ruling of last September.

Bobby Wadkins ...leads Colonial

Bobby Wadkins birdies into Colonial lead

FORT WORTH (AP) — Bobby Wadkins, who has played his career in the shadow of older brother Lanny, birdied the final two holes for a six-under-par 64 that vaulted him into a one-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

"Probably the best round of golf I've played in my nine years on the tour," Wadkins said after he had birdied eight holes on the tough, old Colonial Country Club course.

"We're only halfway through," said Wadkins, who completed 36 holes in 132, eight shots under par on the course that was nicknamed "Hogan's Alley," after the great Ben Hogan won this tournament five times.

"There are two days to go on a great golf course," Wadkins said. "An awful lot can happen. I've been out here long enough to know that. But I'm very confident. I'm swinging better than I have in a long time."

Wadkins, who has won two foreign events but never a PGA Tour title, added, "Maybe I'll call Lanny and see if he wants to play the last 36 for me."

Lanny, a former PGA titleholder, has won twice this season and is the year's leading money winner. He is not competing in this event.

Gary Hallberg, a winner at San Diego this season, three-putted two of the first three holes but rallied for a 67 that left him one stroke back at 133.

"It makes me feel good to turn it around like that," Hallberg said.

MC gals take 5th at Ocala

OCALA, Fla.—Midland College won twice as many matches as it did a year ago, but finished in the same place, fifth, in the National Junior College Women's Tennis Tournament which ended Friday.

Tyler, Texas, edged West Palm Beach, Fla., for the title, 25-24, while Cooke County, Texas, and Broward, Fla., tied for third at 21. MC had 18 points.

Jodi Wertenberger lost to Jan Fletcher, West Palm Beach, in the No. 3 singles finals while Liz Alvarado reached the round of four in No. 1 singles to give the Chaparrals another All-America player.

Miller's 68 leads

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP) — Alice Miller, a five-year tour veteran who has yet to win a tournament, shot a 4-under-par 68 Friday and took a 2-shot lead after the first round of the $150,000 54-hole LPGA-United Virginia Bank Classic.

The 26-year-old Arizona State graduate, who ran off three birdies in a row on the back side, missed taking a 3-stroke lead into Saturday's second round over the 6,200-yard Sleepy Hole Golf Course when she bogeyed the 16th hole.

Tied at 70 were Janet Coles, winner of the Lady Michelob tournament last week in Georgia, Betsy King and Lenore Muraoka. There was another three-way deadlock at 71 among Mary Dwyer, Silvia Bertoliccini and Kathy McMullen.

Six other golfers matched par-72, among them Beth Daniel, who said the greens "are the fastest I've seen on the tour this year."

Nettles, Gamble homer as Yanks defeat Chisox

NEW YORK — Home runs by Graig Nettles and Oscar Gamble and the combined seven-hit pitching of Dave Righetti, 5-1, and Rich Gossage, third save, gave the New York Yankees a 3-1 victory over Chicago, halting their three-game losing streak and extending the White Sox' skid to four games.

The only hit that hurt was rookie Ron Kittle's sixth home run of the season, a fourth-inning shot into the left-field seats.

Sox rained out

MILWAUKEE — The game between the Boston Red Sox and Milwaukee Brewers was postponed Friday night after two innings because of rain after a delay of an hour and 41 minutes before calling the game. It was rescheduled as part of a twi-night doubleheader Aug. 16.

There was no score when rain halted play. It was expected the scheduled starting pitchers for Saturday night's game would remain the same, with Bruce Hurst, 3-1, for the Red Sox and Chuck Porter, 0-1, for the Brewers.

Royals 5, Tigers 2

KANSAS CITY — Dennis Leonard survived a shaky start and Hal McRae and George Brett collected two hits apiece Friday night to lead the Kansas City Royals past the Detroit Tigers 5-2.

Leonard, 4-3, got the win and Dan Quisenberry picked up his eighth save.

Brett, hitless the two previous games after getting hits in his first 19 this season, singled sharply off Jack Morris, 3-5, in his first two at-bats.

John Wathan, Brett and McRae singled before Willie Aikens doubled for two more runs and a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Aikens suffered a pulled muscle in his right leg running out the hit and left the game.

U. L. Washington walked to open the bottom of the sixth and moved up ona grounder. Brett singled Washington home and McRae followed with a single to left which Larry Herndon bobbled, allowing Brett to score.

Dodgers bow to San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Gene Richards and Sixto Lezcano hit two-run homers in San Diego's four-run first inning and the Padres went on to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4 Friday night.

Winner Dave Dravecky, 6-1, the first six-game winner in the National League, left following Ron Roenicke's eighth-inning leadoff double after surrendering 10 hits. Luis DeLeon worked the final two innings for his fourth save.

After Alan Wiggins drew a leadoff walk in the bottom of the first, Richards clubbed a 2-0 pitch off Burt Hooton, 1-2, for his second homer of the year. Hooton walked Terry Kennedy two outs later and Lezcano followed with his second homer for a 4-0 lead.

Wiggins, who scored three runs and stole three bases, scored the run that made it 5-0 in the second inning on Steve Garvey's bases-loaded sacrifice fly.

The Dodgers battled back for a pair of runs in the third on four consecutive singles and added two more runs in the fourth on Steve Yeager's two-run double to trim the Padres' lead to 5-4.

Wiggins scored the Padres' final run in the bottom of the fourth when he got an infield single, stole second, went to third on a fly ball and came home on Juan Bonilla's sacrifice fly.

Cubs 10, Phils 2

CHICAGO — Keith Moreland's two-run homer capped a five-run fourth inning as day the Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia, 10-2, for their third straight as Steve Trout, 2-5, got the win.

Chicago went ahead to stay in the third when Buckner doubled, went to third on an infield out and scored on Ron Cey's sacrifice fly. Scot Thompson singled in two Chicago runs in the sixth after Buckner doubled and Durham and Moreland walked to load the bases.

Birds take over 1st by flogging Texas

From Wire reports

ARLINGTON — Ken Singleton hit two home runs, Storm Davis scattered eight hits in seven innings and the Baltimore Orioles ripped Texas 8-1 to take over first place in the American League East.

Singleton and John Lowenstein each drove in three runs for the Orioles. Davis, 2-0, struck out three batters and walked one and got relief help from Tim Stoddard. The victory put Baltimore one-half game ahead of the Boston Red Sox, whose game in Milwaukee was rained out.

Singleton's first homer, a solo shot, followed a two-run blast by Lowenstein in the second inning after Eddie Murray had drawn a walk from Charlie Hough, 2-3. In the fourth inning, Lowenstein walked and Singleton smacked his fifth homer of the year.

Baltimore added a run in the fifth when Dan Ford doubled, took third on Murray's fly ball and scored on a sacrifice fly by Lowenstein. Ford doubled again in the seventh, Cal Ripken Jr. singled him home, then Ripken scored on Murray's double.

The lone Ranger run came on third-inning singles by Bucky Dent, Buddy Bell and Larry Parrish.

Point droughts ruining Bucks

NBA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — There is one simple reason why the Milwaukee Bucks trail the Philadelphia 76ers 2-0 in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Bucks, who played the 76ers virtually even for 45 minutes in their two games in the Eastern Conference championship series, suffered scoring droughts of about three minutes at the finish of each game.

Bucks Coach Don Nelson was hoping to correct the problem Friday as his team prepared for Games 3 and 4 of the best-of-seven series, to be played Saturday and Sunday in the Milwaukee Arena.

"We've gotten the shots we wanted at the end, with the right people taking them in the right places," said Bucks center Bob Lanier.

"The shots just didn't fall," he said. "We have no control over that. The stuff that bothers me is the mental errors. We've done some dumb things at the end of both games that probably cost us the games."

"We can't figure it out," Nelson said. "We've talked and talked about it. Philly has forced us to take longer to get into some of our plays. But I think those things take care of themselves. We've shut them down at the end pretty well, too.

"There are things we can do to adjust," he said. "There's lots in our bag. But it's not easy to find holes in the 76ers.

"When you look at film you see them double-team, but you can't say this is an open area because they can cover up so quickly," he said. "The players just have to do a very good job of reading and reacting."

The Bucks were scoreless from the floor during the final 3:08 of the second game, won by the 76ers 87-81 at Philadelphia Wednesday night.

"All season, people have seen the type of defense our team plays, especially our guards," 76ers' forward Julius Erving said. "Maurice Cheeks is probably the best defensive player in the league. And Bobby Jones is right behind him. They have the ability to lead the charge and it rubs off on the rest of us."

"We do have excellent team defense," said Cheeks, the 76ers' point guard.

Oilers need sweep on Islanders' ice

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The Edmonton Oilers aren't exactly singing "New York, New York" after opening the Stanley Cup finals with two losses at home to the New York Islanders. But their captain, Lee Fogolin, is spreading the news that they can do the same to the Islanders.

"If right now you think you can't win, then you might as well stay home," Fogolin Thurdsay said following the Islanders' 6-3 decision in Game 2 of the best-of-seven encounter. New York blanked the Oilers 2-0 in the series opener.

"Everybody in our locker room feels we can go in there and win both games and we'll play a period at a time and correct our mistakes. We'll come out of there with two wins."

The three-time Stanley Cup champion Islanders went into the Northlands Coliseum in Edmonton and did what three other teams in the 1983 National Hockey League playoffs couldn't — beat the Oilers and stymie their potent attack. The next two games, Saturday and Tuesday, are at the Nassau Coliseum.

For the Oilers to beat New York, they must get the same kind of contributions the Islanders received in Edmonton: consistent forechecking, opportunistic scoring, great goaltending.

"I think we have a history of not quitting and the team is certainly going to give it our best effort," said Oilers Coach Glen Sather, who has spent much of his time complaining about the stick work of New York netminder Billy Smith.

In the opener of the series, Smith slashed Glenn Anderson on the left knee, giving the forward contusions.

In the second contest, Smith hit Wayne Gretzky in the leg with his stick and was given a five-minute major penalty for slashing. Then Smith was victimized by Dave Lumley's spear in the throat moments later. Lumley also received five minutes.

But Sather isn't paying attention to such shenanigans. For now, he's too busy trying to get his young team ready for two games here.

"We knew going into the series that we were going to have to find some way to beat the Islanders. We still haven't found a way yet so we're going to have to keep on working and trying," he said.

It pays to have hay fever

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Allergy researchers have an offer for hay fever sufferers that's nothing to sneeze at.

The University of Iowa's College of Medicine is looking for allergy sufferers willing to try out a new antihistamine called azelastine. The drug could eventually go on the market, depending on the results of tests here and at other medical research centers.

The university is recruiting 100 hay fever victims who will be paid $50 each to undergo tests on either June 4-5 or June 11-12, said Dr. Murali Sharath, one of the researchers.

Sharath said the volunteers must be at least 18 years old. A history of allergies to grass pollens is essential.

The participants will be asked to fill out a "symptom scorecard" and try out the new medicine. A computer will be used to rank them based on sneezes, stuffed noses and itchy eyes.

Miss USA plans to outfit dental office with winnings

Julie Hayek of La Canada, Calif., Miss USA 1983, greets the press Friday morning at the newly crowned beauty queen's traditional breakfast in bed in her hotel room.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — An asipiring dentist who became the newest Miss USA says she'll probably use her winnings to set up an office.

Julie Lynne Hayek, a part-time model from La Canada, Calif., won the crown Thursday night in Knoxville and will go on to represent the United States in the Miss Universe contest July 11 in St. Louis.

She won more than $150,000, including about $90,000 in cash and scholarships, a sports car, a mink coat and a Hollywood screen test.

"I'll probably set up an office with all the money when it's all over," said the 22-year-old senior at the University of California-Los Angeles.

She got 3½ hours sleep before facing reporters Friday morning.

"It was so exciting," she said, sitting in bed and wearing her crown, sash and a red bathrobe. "You never think you're going to win. It's slowly sinking in."

Fifty-one young women from all the states and the District of Columbia competed in the contest. Miss Texas, Lisa Gayle Allred, 21, of Fort Worth, was chosen first runner-up.

Miss South Carolina, Margaret Allison Grisso, 21, of Columbia, was chosen second runner-up, Miss Louisiana, Pamela Jo Forest, 20, of Baton Rouge, was third and Miss North Dakota, Elizabeth Jaeger, 22, of Fargo, was named fourth runner-up.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A community activist support group has presented Mike Farrell, who played Capt. B.J. Hunnicut in TV's "M*A*S*H," with an award for "two decades of progressive social and political commitment."

Mike Farrell

The first Upton Sinclair Award was presented Thursday at a Liberty Hill Foundation fund-raising banquet attended by "M*A*S*H" costar Loretta Swit, Max Gail of the old "Barney Miller" show and Joe Spano of "Hill Street Blues."

The dinner marked the 60th anniversary of a free speech rally at Liberty Hill in San Pedro at which writer Upton Sinclair was arrested for reading the Bill of Rights as a protest against the arrest of 600 striking longshoreman.

Foundation co-founder Sarah Pillsbury said Farrell has been active in such causes as helping battered women and fighting U.S. intervention in El Salvador.

The foundation, established in 1976, distributes technical assistance and between $75,000 and $150,000 a year in grants to local organizations to help "people trying to take control of their own lives," Ms. Pillsbury said.

NEW YORK (AP) — As their Broadway colleagues looked on, Kate Nelligan and Edward Hermann were honored with the Drama League Award for their outstanding performances in "Plenty."

"The last time this award was presented to two people was in 1943, when it went to (husband and wife) Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne," actress Jessica Tandy told Hermann and Miss Nelligan as she presented their award at the league's annual awards luncheon Thursday.

"So I think you two had better get married," she quipped.

Then, recalling that their onstage marriage in "Plenty" "didn't work out very well," Miss Tandy added: "Forget what I said."

"Plenty" is a melancholy play about a British civil servant and the wife who hinders his career.

Stephen Sondheim, the composer and lyricist known for such Broadway musicals as "West Side Story," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," "A Little Night Music" and "Sweeney Todd," was given a special award for initiating an American Young Playwrights Festival.

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Culture Minister Melina Mercouri opened a three-day centennial celebration Friday honoring the late Dr. George Papanicolaou, who invented the Pap smear cancer test.

Melina Mercouri

Papanicolaou, a professor at Cornell University in New York for 40 years, was born on the Greek island of Euboea in 1883 and emigrated before World War I.

He first identified cervical cancer cells in the 1920s. But it took 20 years before the Pap test for cervical and uterine cancer was developed as a cancer screening process.

"In the past 30 years, since the Commission for Cancer Control undertook promotion of the Pap test, internationally, rates for cancer of the uterus have fallen by more than 50 per cent," former commission president Charles Cameron told a ceremony attended by Premier Andreas Papandreou.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Doctors and nurses who treated Pope John Paul II after he was shot two years ago Friday were invited to his daily morning Mass, the Vatican reported.

The pontiff spent nearly three months in Gemelli Hospital recovering from wounds to the intestines. Mehmet Ali Agca, a fugitive Turkish terrorist, was arrested moments after the shooting in St. Peter's Square and is serving a life term in an Italian prison.

Il Giorno, a Milan newspaper, reported that the pontiff now wears a bulletproof vest under his robes. The report said the vest, supplied by a U.S. company, was used for the first time during the pope's trip to Central America in March.

A Vatican spokesman, the Rev. Romeo Panciroli, complained about the "bad taste" of such stories appearing on the anniversary of the shooting but neither confirmed or denied whether the pope wears a bulletproof vest for public appearances.

Judge won't block publication of Shields photos

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge on Friday refused to block publication of nude photographs taken of Brooke Shields when she was 10, in part because he found her recent jeans commercials much more suggestive.

"These photographs are not sexually suggestive, provocative or pornographic," U.S. District Judge Pierre N. Leval wrote of the childhood pictures, which he said show the actress in "innocent" poses in a bathtub.

He said lawyers for Garry Gross, the photographer Miss Shields sued, showed the actress, now 17, has advanced her career with "sex-oriented publicity."

"Particularly notable is her widely televised, sexually suggestive advertisement for blue jeans," the judge wrote in an opinion filed in U.S. District Court in Manhattan.

"Recent film appearances have been sexually provocative," he added, citing "The Blue Lagoon" and "Endless Love."

Because of this, he wrote, Miss Shields' "claim of harm is thus undermined to a substantial extent by the development of her career projecting a sexually provocative image."

Miss Shields and her mother, Teri Shields, filed suit May 2 in an effort to prevent publication of the photographs, for which the actress had received $450 in 1975. Miss Shields maintained that her rights were being violated and asked for the pictures, negatives and printing plates to be destroyed.

Leval turned down the request for a preliminary injunction that would prevent publication of the photographs while the case awaited trial.

Miss Shields already has lost an attempt in the New York state court system to block publication, but during that two-year court battle, state judges granted her injunctions prohbiting printing of the photos until the case was resolved.

The actress lost her last appeal with the state Court of Appeals, its highest tribunal, on April 29. Her federal suit was filed May 2, on the next business day.

The judge wrote that the repeated court injunctions were harmful to Gross, whom he said had suffered a "financial disaster" in spite of his "victory" in the state courts.

Eastern Airlines will not fire mechanics who made error

MIAMI (AP) — Two mechanics whose "human error" nearly forced an Eastern Airlines jumbo jet to ditch in the Atlantic Ocean have "absolutely clean, fine records" and won't be fired, says airline chairman Frank Borman.

"Both (mechanics) have been employed here over 10 years," Borman said Wednesday. "They made a human error in this case that went undetected and they will not be fired."

But he said the mechanics, who have not been identified, will be fined and retrained "to make certain it won't happen again."

The L-1011 jetliner had almost reached Nassau, Bahamas, last Thursday when it turned back to Miami because of engine trouble. Moments later, all three Rolls-Royce RB 211 engines stalled and the aircraft began a powerless descent toward the ocean.

After preparing to ditch, Pilot Richard Boddy managed to restart the tail engine and coaxed the aircraft back to Miami International Airport. None of the 172 people on board was hurt.

It was later determined that the engine failures were caused by the absence of tiny, doughnut-shaped rubber "O-rings" that two mechanics had failed to install on each engine, allowing oil to leak out.

The "O-rings" fit into a notch on a magnetized oil plug that is removed nightly from the engines to check for wear. Each plug is supposed to carry two rings.

National Transportation Safety Board officials last week refused to fix blame on the mechanics. Borman said the mechanics had "absolutely clean, fine records with Eastern Airlines. They have both been employed here over 10 years without one blemish on their record."

"We are now going to repackage the plugs in the 'O-rings' so they are now in the same container," Borman said. "We'll be retraining the two mechanics who were involved in this incident as well as fining them."

Meanwhile, tapes released Wednesday showed cockpit gauges indicated loss of oil pressure in all three engines.

Tests not conducted properly

WASHINGTON (AP) — About two-thirds of the safety tests run by an Illinois lab on 212 pesticides and herbicides to win regulatory approval were not done in accordance with accepted scientific procedure, according to a preliminary review by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Byron Nelson, spokesman for the agency's pesticides and toxic substances office, confirmed Wednesday night that the agency was finishing a five-year review of all tests made by Industrial Bio-Test Laboratories of Northbrook, Ill., a firm some of whose officers are defendants in a Chicago fraud trial.

Many chemical companies relied on the firm to conduct tests, the results of which they submitted to EPA to win approval to sell their products.

But the agency review found that at least one test was invalid on almost all the chemicals for which Industrial Bio-Test data were submitted.

It was not immediately clear just what procedures were not followed.

Nelson cautioned that the findings do not mean that the chemicals involved are unsafe.

How they are raised

Who says dogs and cats don't get along. It's all in how they are raised.

The same is true in our emerging relationships with one another. Given the right influences in the early years we learn respect and tolerance, friendliness and forgiveness.

The Church is especially important in this aspect of raising a family. As part of his religious education a child learns that his relationship with others is a practical expression of his relationship with God. The youngster's reverence and growing faith begin to be reflected in his treatment of others at home, at school and in his community.

This vital area of every child's growth depends on his parents awareness of his spiritual needs. Next week—every week—provide for your youngster's religious education. Your place of worship is eager to help.

Ken Bradshaw, from left, Wayne Steele and Kenneth Hall rehearse a scene from David Danner's musical drama "Joy Comes in the Morning." The production will be staged at Crestview Baptist Church, 3300 Thomas Ave., at 7 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Crestview Baptist stages musical drama Sunday

The music ministry at Crestview Baptist Church will present David Danner's musical drama "Joy Comes in the Morning," at 7 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The church is located at 3300 Thomas Ave.

The 70-voice Sanctuary Choir, accompanied by organ, piano and symphonic-percussion ensemble, will be directed by Crestview's minister of music, Ty Morris Jr.

Crestview's production of this relatively new work will include a fully staged and costumed portrayal of the events of the week leading up to Jesus' crucifixion and concluding with the resurrection and ascension.

The musical drama emphasizes the sorrow experienced by Jesus and those close to him, and how their tragedies were turned into victory and hope. The role of Jesus will be sung by Crestview's minister, the Rev. Kenneth L. Hall, who was a music student prior to becoming a minister.

The public is invited to attend this free presentation. No offering will be taken.

Rev. Frank Johnson

Robbie Hiner

Kelview Heights Baptist honors Rev. Johnson

The Rev. Frank Johnson will be honored on his 22nd anniversary as pastor of Kelview Heights Baptist Church, 407 W. Alta Ave., by the church's congregation Sunday.

The congregation will be looking back over two decades of growth, from its organization in 1961 by a few people to its present status of several thousand members.

Johnson, who preached his first sermon in a one room cinder block building in 1961, now preaches in a church plant that covers about 60,000 square feet.

The multiple ministries directed by Johnson include the first bus ministry in Midland, started 20 years ago; radio ministry; an outreach to Midland nursing homes; the "Caraway Street" program for elementary children; Awana Clubs; and a class for special children. Johnson is assisted in these ministries by five full-time staff ministers and one part-time minister.

Sunday's anniversary observance, slated for 9 and 10:30 a.m., is designated "Friend Day" at Kelview Heights Baptist and the public is invited. A music festival is planned to highlight the service featuring soloist Robbie Hiner. Hiner is seen regularly on Jerry Falwell's international telecast, "The Old Time Gospel Hour."

The church's choir and special singers will also be featured in both morning services and there will be special services for children.

The Newspaper BIBLE

"IF YOU HAVE EARS, USE THEM NOW!"

Not long afterwards Jesus began a tour of the cities and villages of Galilee to announce the coming of the Kingdom of God, and took His twelve disciples with Him.

Some women went along, from whom He had cast out demons or whom He had healed; among them were Mary Magdalene (Jesus had cast out seven demons from her), Joanna, Chuza's wife (Chuza was King Herod's business manager and was in charge of his palace and domestic affairs), Susanna, and many others who were contributing from their private means to the support of Jesus and His disiciples.

One day He gave this illustration to a large crowd that was gathering to hear Him...while many others were still on the way, coming from other towns.

"A farmer went out to his field to sow grain. As he scattered the seed on the ground, some of it fell on a footpath and was trampled on; and the birds came and ate it as it lay exposed.

"Other seed fell on shallow soil with rock beneath. This seed began to grow, but soon withered and died for lack of moisture.

"Other seed landed in thistle patches, and the young grain stocks were soon choked out.

"Still other fell on fertile soil; this seed grew and produced a crop 100 times as large as he had planted." (As He was giving this illustration He said, "If anyone has listening ears, use them now!") Luke 8:1-8

United Christian Ashram to meet at campground

HAPPY — The 10th annual Palo Duro United Christian Ashram will be held July 8-10 at the Ceta Canyon United Methodist Campground near Happy.

The United Christian Ashram movement was founded by the late evangelist, Dr. E. Stanley Jones, at Sat Tal, India in 1930. Ten years later Jones brought the concept to North America. Today there are Ashrams held around the world, including the International Ashram held at a different loation each year.

The Ashram is a discipled Christian retreat where Christians of all denominations come to enrich their spiritual lives. The only creed of Ashram is "Jesus is Lord."

The Ashram consists of daily Bible study led by the Bible teacher and preaching done by the Ashram evangelist. This year's Bible teacher will be the Rev. Frank Warden, associate minister of the Highland Park United Methodist Church in Dallas. Warden also is author of the Trinity Bible Studies.

Evangelist will be the Rev. Jimmie Pyles, pastor of the First UMC in Jennings, La. Pyles is the South Central regional coordinator for the United Christian Ashrams.

Music for the Ashram will be led by Gary Barron of Lamesa and the Rev. Wes Putnam of Plainview.

The program is designed for the entire family. This year one of the special activities for children will be participating in the "Bible Bowl" led by Don Collins of Amarillo.

For more information contact the Rev. Wayne Norman at P.O. Box 428, Quitaque, Texas, 79255, or call either 1-806-455-1439 or 1-806-455-1179.

Priests refuse to condone tribal customs

KISII, Kenya (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest refused to give Holy Communion to Agatha Kerubo after hearing she "married" another woman under a local tribal custom.

Woman-to-woman marriage by members of western Kenya's Kisii tribe and other indigenous practices, including polygamy, have raised questions within Christian churches in Africa about the extent that age-old traditions can be condoned.

Some clergymen, apparently still a minority, believe too many Western values and trappings — from 18th-century English hymns to Eucharistic wafers — are forced on the African Christian though they might be alien to local cultures.

One Western Catholic missionary complained that Pope John Paul II "says all the right things — 'Africans be yourselves' — but when they try, they find they can't. Keep things as European as possible, that's what I find the present pope trying to do."

The Rev. and Mrs. Earl Roundtree

Minister will visit local church

The Rev. Earl Roundtree will be guest preacher at Assembly in Christ, 3125 Travis Ave., Wednesday-Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

An accomplished singer, Roundtree has been a frequent guest speaker at camp meetings and youth camps.

He and his wife conduct their ministry out of Kansas City, Mo.

The public is invited.

Eye ministry aims to cure spiritual, physical blindness

By ROBERT DI VEROLI
Copley News Service

The Christian Eye Ministry of La Jolla, Calif., tries to improve people's vision in more ways than one.

"We want to cure spiritual as well as physical blindness," says Bruce F. Benson, a spokesman for new ministry that recently set up its world headquarters in La Jolla.

The ministry was inspired by Dr. Frank C. Winter, a missionary opthalmologist.

"Our thrust is definitely Christian in that we want to bring the love of God in the person of Jesus Christ to people," Benson said. "Curing eyes and eye problems will eventually pass away, but the love of God goes on forever."

Winter, clinical professor of opthalmology at Stanford University, founded the Christian Eye Ministry to help modernize eye care in developing countries throughout the world.

He and his wife, Joy, a nurse, now are in the Gambia and Sierra Leone exploring possible sites to base Christian Eye Teams.

During four years as an opthalmic specialist to the Republic of Botswana in Africa, Winter helped found eye clincs, performed thousands of eye operations and started a flying eye service, Benson said.

He said the Christian Eye Ministry hopes to send teams of Christian doctors, nurses and other specialists to developing countries in Africa, Central America and Asia where they will train nationals in modern eye-care methods. He said teams will be selected after sites for the ministry have been found, probably next fall.

The teams will consist of six to eight people with their families who will spend five to 10 years establishing eye-care programs in developing countries.

"There are 40 million blind people in the world today," Benson said.

Vatican confirms nun's dispensation

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Friday confirmed that it had granted Sister Agnes Mansour the dispensation she requested to leave her order so she can continue serving as head of Michigan's welfare department.

The decision allows Ms. Mansour, who has resigned from the order Sisters of Mercy, to remain a Catholic even though she has renounced her nun's vows.

Ms. Mansour had been under fire from the Roman Catholic Church because her department pays for poor women's abortions through the Medicaid program.

Space astronaut to carry ham radio transceiver

HOUSTON (AP) — For one hour a day during the voyage of Spacelab 1 next fall, astronaut Owen Garriott will talk to ham radio operators around the world.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration approved the project after the American Radio Relay League and Amateur Radio Satellite Corp. assured engineers it would not interfer with the shuttle, its cargo or other crew members.

Spacelab will operate 24 hours a day, and Garriott and other crew members will alternate 12-hour shifts.

Garriott will operate the small transmitter-receiver while off duty, listening with headphones so other crew members will not be disturbed, NASA officials said Thursday.

Also aboard the flight will be astronauts Ult Merbold, Byron Lichtenberg, Bob Parker, John Young and Brewster Shaw.

Garriott will be operating in the two-meter amateur band, transmitting FM signals.

Scam involves gems, boats, airplane, island

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Swindlers traded overvalued gems for real estate, exotic cars, boats, airplanes and even a private island off Canada in a sophisticated scam that may have earned them $1.5 billion over three years, police say.

Seated behind a table piled with hundreds of garnets, rubies, emeralds, yellow sapphires, blue topaz and amethysts, police Thursday outlined the scheme which they say has ensnared victims in 14 states and six foreign nations.

No one has been arrested, but several prominent people, including an unidentified Los Angeles athlete who lost $25,000, were among the victims of the operation, which apparently included at least two Orange County gem appraisers, police Detective Joe Karns said.

Officials declined to identify the appraisers.

"I'm heartsick over this whole matter," said one victim, 65-year-old Josephine M. Jones of Banning, about 85 miles east of Los Angeles in Riverside County.

Mrs. Jones said she and her husband traded a house, a commercial building and a boat for sapphires that had been certified by an appraiser as being worth $230,000. A few weeks later, when the couple decided to sell the stones, they had them reappraised and found they were worth only $7,500.

Police declined to release names of other victims, including the athlete, saying the victims did not want their names made public.

Acting Police Chief Jimmie Kennedy said records seized in a raid on an Orange County business and a Los Angeles home indicated the $500 million-a-year operation had been in existence since 1980.

The raids also turned up seven pounds of hashish and an estimated $20 million worth of bulk and cut gems, he said.

The gems displayed at the news conference Thursday were worth about $200,000, police said. But they said the swindlers would have used inflated appraisals to represent them as being worth about $2 million.

Detective Bill "W.W." Lane said authorities have located "seven or eight" local victims, but added that the FBI, Internal Revenue Service and state attorney general have been asked to enter the case because of its scope.

Confiscated records indicate the swindlers defrauded people in California, Arizona, Florida, Tennessee, Oregon, Washington, New York, Nevada, Illinois, Hawaii, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Maryland, as well as Canada, England, Hong Kong, Costa Rica, the Bahamas and the Fiji Islands.

Kennedy said the investigation began early in March with the arrest of a man to whom undercover officers sold a Mercedes-Benz, a motorcycle and a gym set.

Officers in roundup

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Two police officers got more than what they bargained for in an early morning chase of a steer. The steer almost ran over the officers in the downtown area.

Pierson said the angry animal was finally roped by a Cheyenne citizen.

Appeal expected in prayer case

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A federal appeals court ruling that struck down Alabama's two school prayer laws was "upholding the Constitution," says a father of two students who challenged the laws.

But supporters of school prayer, including Gov. George Wallace and former Gov. Fob James, said they would appeal the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta on Thursday overturned a ruling by U.S. District Judge W. Brevard Hand. He had dismissed Ishmael Jaffree's lawsuit challenging the prayer laws and all religious activity in Mobile County schools.

Jaffree, an agnostic who said his three elementary-school children suffered emotionally when they refused to pray in class, said he was "ecstatic that the appeals court has upheld the Constitution." He said he thought it would be "futile" for school prayer advocates to appeal.

But County School Board President Dan Alexander said it would be a "crime" not to appeal to the Supreme Court.

"Maybe President Reagan will join us as an intervenor," said Bob Sherling, attorney for prayer supporters.

The Supreme Court banned public school prayer in 1962, ruling that such prayer violated the First Amendment to the Constitution, which prohibits government from establishing religion.

Wallace said the state would join in an appeal, and James, who keyed the passage of the prayer law allowing teachers to lead willing students in prayer, also called for further legal action.

The appeals court said Hand's ruling in January erred by ignoring Supreme Court precedents in school-prayer cases. The court also said the Alabama case was "aggravated" by the "existence of a government-composed prayer" in one of the laws, which included a suggested prayer written by James' son, Mobile lawyer Fob James III.

The other law permitted teachers to hold a period of silence of up to one minute for meditation or voluntary prayer during the first class period each day.

Senators approve furniture money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since the Senate's new $137 million Hart Office Building opened last fall, senators have complained about faulty elevators, loose windows, a lack of furniture and delays in reaching the Senate floor in the Capitol.

On Thursday, the Senate Rules Committee decided to do something about it.

"We have run out of what (furniture) is in stock," declared Sen. Charles McC Mathias, R-Md., the committee chairman.

"We need something, even if we use orange crates," he said.

The committee moved into action. It authorized the Senate Appropriations Committee to reprogram $8 million in unexpended funds for modular furniture for the building, which eventually will housé the offices of 50 senators.

In the meantime, the committee voted tentatively to spend up to $550,000 for rehabilitated or surplus desks, tables and chairs.

That money won't be spent until Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, checks with the General Services Administration, the federal government's housekeeper, to see what furniture is available.

Like money in the bank.

In today's economy, you have to be careful with your investments. Maybe that's why so many people decide to buy a Honda.

They know they can get a good return on that investment if they ever decide to sell.

Hondas have traditionally maintained one of the highest resale values of any car sold.*

Which just goes to show that if you take good care of your Honda, you can likely bank on it.
