Surveyor 3 Packs Shovel, Heads For Lunar Landing

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Packing its own little shovel to plow the moon's soil and crack open lunar rocks, America's Surveyor 3 sailed through space today aiming to soft-land Wednesday at a site chosen for U.S. astronauts.

The 10-foot-tall spacecraft — most complex robot ever tossed toward the moon by the United States — blasted off at 2:05 a.m. EST today aboard an Atlas-Centaur rocket to begin a planned 65-hour 237,000-mile trip.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said sensors aboard the craft successfully locked onto the sun. The sun and the star Canopus were to guide Surveyor 3 to the moon.

Several hours after launch, project officials said the craft's trajectory to the moon "looks extremely good." A spacecraft motor needs to make only a "very small midcourse correction" to send it on a bullseye course toward Surveyor 3's target zone, officials said.

"It looks like we have an excellent bird," a project spokesman said.

Plans called for the 2,283-pound craft to fire a braking rocket about 7 p.m. Wednesday and gently set its tripod legs on the lunar surface, ready to spend at least two weeks taking pictures and digging into the soil.

Except for the shovel and two additional mirrors to expand the camera's field of view Surveyor 3 was almost identical to the Surveyor 1 which achieved this nation's first soft landing on the moon last June 2 and returned 11,150 photographs.

Surveyor 3 was aimed for a spot in the moon's Ocean of Storms, located on the right side of the moon's visible face and slightly below the equator.

The target zone, about 30 miles west of where Surveyor 1 landed, was chosen as a candidate landing site for moon-bound astronauts after photographs from Lunar Orbiters 1 and 3 showed it to be relatively smooth.

The craft's digging device consists of a scoop about the size of a man's hand. It is attached to an expandable arm which can be manipulated, much like a small steam shovel by radio signals from the ground.

"Surveyor 1 put man's eyes on the moon," said Benjamin Milwitsky, Surveyor program manager. "This gadget will put his hands and arms on the moon."

The scoop has a small lid that, when closed has a bite twice as strong as a man's jaw. This could be used to move debris or crack apart a lunar rock so scientists can see the texture of the soil and determine if it is strong enough to support a manned space ship.

Surveyor 3 was the first lunar lander designed to dig into the moon. The Soviet Union's Luna 13, which soft-landed in the Ocean of Storms last December, fired a rod into the surface. Milwitsky said the United States has received no detailed information from the Russians on the results of the probe.

The program manager said Surveyor 3's digging device is strong enough to break open concrete one inch thick.

The shovel was designed to reach up to five feet away from the craft's main frame and to dig a furrow as deep as 18 inches. It could swing in an arc more than one-quarter of the way around the spacecraft, covering an area of about 24 square feet.

Surveyor 3's television camera was to record the actions of the shovel. It also was to provide horizon-to-horizon photos of its landing site and peer at its landing pads to see if they sank into the surface.

Twisters Hit Eight States

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes lashed eight central states, violent thunderstorms rolled from Wisconsin to Oklahoma and gale - force winds drove fresh snow into the north-central Plains late Sunday night and early today.

The tornadoes, spawned by the collision of warm and cold air masses, dealt their worst blow at Keosauqua, Iowa, late Sunday, killing one person and injuring a dozen more.

Other damaging twisters were reported in South Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

Other storms brought new snow to New England and heavy rain to part of the Pacific Northwest.

A tornado hit Owosso, a city of 17,000 in lower-central Michigan shortly before midnight, tore a service station from its concrete foundations, and set it down in the middle of Highway 21. The storm knocked out part of the city's electric power and blacked out the town of Corunna, three miles to the east. It also took roofs off two buildings, uprooted a tree and hurled it into a house, and damaged five airplanes.

The three 260-foot towers of radio station KWSH at Wewoka in south-central Oklahoma were snapped off by tornado-like winds late Sunday. The winds also tore the roof from the studio building.

Powerful winds, also possibly tornadoes, severely damaged the school and several homes at Bowlegs, Okla.; five miles south of Seminole. Winds clocked at 50 miles an hour raked Shidler, near the Kansas border in Osage County. Hail the size of golf balls fell at Oklahoma City, Shawnee, Tecumseh and other cities.

In Wisconsin Sunday a tornado hammered at farms in Green and Lafayette counties killing farm animals, and destroying barns, silos and at least one house.

At Keosauqua, a town of 1,000 in southeastern Iowa, Helen Scull was killed and her husband, Delbert, was critically injured when the tornado hit their mobile home. Rescue workers sealed off the stricken areas and combed the rubble for other victims.

The entire town was without electricity and portable generators were rushed in from other communities.

Not False Alarm For New Mother

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It was a false alarm for firemen — but not for Carol Ross.

Her husband, excited about the imminent arrival of their new offspring Sunday, pulled a fire alarm.

Firemen rushed to the scene found the baby had been born with the help of Mrs. Ross' mother, and there was nothing for them to do.

Mother and son were reported doing well at Mission Emergency Hospital.

South Korea Jets Sink Red Ship

By K. C. HWANG

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea said its jet planes sank a small North Korean armed ship today when it intruded into southern waters, opened fire after orders to halt, and tried to flee.

The navy said one North Korean died of wounds after being picked up from the water. It said five others were taken to the port of Inchon after the sinking off the west coast.

The full extent of North Korean casualties was not known.

No South Korean casualties were reported. But the air force said one of the 14 planes which set the 50-ton ship afire with napalm bombs came back with a Communist machine-gun bullet hole in the fuselage.

Communist shore batteries sank a 650-ton South Korean naval ship off the east coast Jan. 19, killing 40 South Korean seamen. The U.N. command conceded the ship was several miles north of the demilitarized zone and 3.5 to 5 miles off the North Korean coast, but said its location did not constitute a violation of the 1953 Korean armistice.

US Troops Shift To Crucial Region

SAIGON (AP) — More American troops have been shifted into new positions in the northern part of South Vietnam to meet increasing Communist pressure in crucial border areas, the U.S. command disclosed today.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division have taken over an operational area in Quang Ngai Province about 350 miles north of Saigon, a spokesman said, and have killed 100 enemy there in action that began April 8.

The move took the air cavalrymen farther north than they have been since their arrival in Vietnam. It was expected to free U.S. Marines there for duty closer to the 17th Parallel dividing South and North Vietnam.

No major fighting was reported across the country today, but the Viet Cong appeared to be stepping up terror tactics aimed at disrupting local elections and intimidating local officals.

In the air war, U.S. B52 bombers made four raids inside South Vietnam and American fliers punched through a cloud cover for 96 missions against North Vietnam Sunday.

The disclosure that elements of the 1st Cavalry had moved farther north came with the announcement that a multibattalion force had begun Operation Lejeune in Quang Ngai Province more than a week ago. In addition to the 100 enemy killed, 630 persons have been picked up as suspects. American losses so far in the operation were put at 12 cavalrymen killed and 40 wounded.

Steady Communist infiltration and the presence of 35,000 North Vietnamese regulars around the demilitarized zone is causing U.S. commanders increasing concern. Last week 4,000 men of the U.S. Army's 196th Light Infantry Brigade were moved to Chu Lai, in the northernmost 1st Corps area, to free U.S. Marines for duty closer to the border.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky announced Saturday that a 200-yard-wide strip would be cleared and fortified across the eastern lowlands just south of the demilitarized zone. U.S. Marines clearing a 6½-mile portion said they had no plans to fortify their strip, and that it would provide a "clear field of observation." But one senior officer suggested it might be mined.

New Lights Due In Park

Scurry County Commissioners canvassed votes in recent school elections in county districts this morning and found no changes in the unofficial totals announced earlier.

The court also gave the go-ahead to Midwest Electric Co-operative to upgrade the lighting facilities in the east third of Towle Memorial Park. The 175-watt mercury vapor globes will be replaced with 400 watt globes and some changes in poles will be made. The minimum charge per fixture will increase from $1.75 per month to $3.50 per month.

Johnnie Ammons, manager, Parker Wetzel and Dan Cotton, attorney, conferred with commissioners on plans for the new lights. After observing the new facilities on the east third of the park, the commissioners will make a decision on changes for the remainder of the park.

Ghana Coup Is Failure

ACCRA, Ghana, (AP) — A group of young army officers attempted a coup d'etat in Accra today, radio Ghana said, but the attempt apparently fell apart.

Travelers interviewed at this village near the Togo frontier told of hearing shots fired in Accra early this morning at Christianborg Castle, residence of Gen. Joseph Ankrah. Ankrah became president after a coup in February 1966 which ousted President Kwame Nkrumah.

Two armored vehicles were reported by travelers to have been seen near Flagstagg House, residence of Gen. Emmanueal Kotoka, commander of Ghana's armed forces.

Be On Lookout For A Car That Glows

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Kalamazoo police are looking for a car that glows in the dark.

It is an experimental 1963 Plymouth valued at $30,000 and taken from Western Michigan University's Industrial and Engineering Technology Building over the weekend.

It has a plastic top and a blue fluorescent body that will glow in the dark.

SHS Showered With Victories

The Snyder High School victory bell had another busy weekend as representatives of the school scored impressive triumphs in various fields of competition.

The SHS band won a sweepstakes award at the regional meet in Odessa, rating first division in both concert playing and sight reading.

At the same time, Snyder High students were taking first place in the industrial arts field day at Abilene with a total of 35 first place awards and 26 second place awards. The SHS total amounted to 272 points compared to 204 for runnerup Midland High School.

On the sports front, there was virtually a clean sweep as the SHS track team surged to 163 points and the team trophy in the District 3-AAA meet at Brownfield. The tennis team won what is believed to be the school's first tennis trophy, finishing in a tie with Sweetwater for the district championshp and beng awarded the first place trophy on a coin flip.

The SHS golf team won the district championship, playing the final reound Saturday at Levelland.

High Court Says Clay Must Serve.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today turned back an effort by heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay to stay out of the Army.

Clay's request for an injunction to block his scheduled April 28 induction into the Army was flatly denied without comment. The boxing champion had filed various motions with the court in an effort to freeze his draft situation until the court could act on several constitutional arguments raised by him in lower courts.

He still may be able to bring these questions before the high court but it is unlikely he could get action before his scheduled induction date.

Clay filed his papers under his Black Muslim name Muhammad Ali. His lawyers had told the court that if the induction was not delayed Clay stood to suffer irreparable loss of about $460,000 guaranteed in contracts for three fights.

Attorneys for the champion claim the Selective Service Act gives the president and governors unconstitutional unlimited discretion "to make appointments of members of draft boards throughout the country in a manner that discriminates against Negroes contrary to the 5th Amendment to the United States Constitution."

Besides refusing to issue an injunction, the high court refused to order U.S. District Court Judge Jaues F. Gordon of Louisville, Ky., to empanel a 3-judge court to hear Clay's attack on the Selective Service System.

Lindsey Service Is Held At Fluvanna

Funeral service for Arch M. Lindsety, 78, who died here Saturday morning, was held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Fluvanna Methodist.

The Rev. Allen Forbis officiated, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Hall. Burial was in the Fluvanna Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

DEAR ABBY: I recently received an invitation which read: "The OLD Mrs. John Doe requests the pleasure of your company at cocktails and supper for the NEW Mrs. John Doe, etc. . . . ."

It floored me. I knew our friends John and Mary Doe had gotten a quickie Mexican divorce, and it was rumored that John was interested in a lady from New York, but how about this?

Do you think it is normal for an ex-wife to be such a good sport?

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: No, it's not "normal" — but it's nice. The absence of bitterness could indicate that everybody's happy. (P. S. Don't be surprised if the New Mrs. Doe entertains the Old Mrs. Doe and a newly acquired John.)

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is in the fourth grade and she recently had a birthday party. She took the invitations to school and passed them out to the classmates she wanted. There were 44 kids in her class and she wanted only 38 of them at her party.

After the party her teacher called me and told me that my daughter should NOT have passed out her invitations at school unless she invited ALL the kids in her class.

Since when does a school teacher have the right to tell a pupil WHOM to invite to her birthday party? I would like your opinion in pri. !!

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Three cheers for the teacher! She is obviously much more understanding than you. The pain of having been left out will remain with those six univited children long after the fun has been forgotten by those who attended.

DEAR ABBY: My best girl friend has started to write to my boy friend who is away at college. She says she "likes" to write letters.

He feels that he must answer her letters as she is my best friend, yet he is very busy and really doesn't care to correspond with her.

How can I tell her this without hurting our friendship? I don't want her to think I am jealous.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR

DEAR SENIOR: If a college man really doesn't want to continue a correspondence, he shouldn't need his girl friend to run interference for him. If you have let him know that he doesn't have to write to your girl friend for YOUR sake, and he continues to write, you can assume that he's doing it for HIS OWN sake.

Truckers Face Huge Backlog

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago area trucking firms are faced with the task of hauling millions of dollars worth of goods that piled up during last week's five-day trucking stoppage.

Ten per cent of the 50,000 commercial trucks in the area were on the road over the weekend to help clear some of the backlog.

By Wednesday, officials said, most stores, factories and warehouses should have their accumulated goods delivered to their customers and distributors.

Truckers resumed operations at the request of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who asked Friday that negotiators for 4,700 trucking firms and 56,000 drivers and workers on docks and in warehouses meet Tuesday in Washington with Wirtz to seek a solution to their contract dispute.

Union drivers in the Chicago area have demanded a 90-cent hourly wage increase, about 20 cents an hour more than drivers in other sections of the country would receive under terms of a tentative national agreement reached last Wednesday that involves 250,000 Teamsters Union members. Chicago unionists refused to be bound by the national settlement.

W. Eugene McCarron, managing director of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators Association, said last week the companies could not afford higher wage rates in Chicago.

A union vote on the national pact had been set for Sunday, but Teamsters were reluctant to vote while a higher wage settlement appeard possible in Chicago.

Band Extends Record String Of Honors

The Snyder High School Black and Gold band captured its fourteenth consecutive sweepstakes award at the Region VI Interscholastic League competition, held Saturday in Odessa.

The band rated first division superior in concert playing and sight reading to go along with the first division it won in November in marching. Winning the three events qualified the band for the sweepstakes award.

The victories Saturday give the Black and Gold band an unbroken string of 42 consecutive first division awards over the past 14 years, making it the longest known string of wins for any Class AAA band in the state.

Melvin Montgomery is director of the Black and Gold band, and Charles Shaw is the assistant director.

The band will depart for the Buccaneer Festival in Corpus Christi April 27 to compete with outstanding bands from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Funds Bill Action Due Next Week

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—A general appropriation bill slightly larger than Gov. John Connally's budget will be on House members' desks Wednesday or Thursday and ready for floor action the first of next week, Speaker Ben Barnes said today.

He said next Tuesday would be the most likely day for Rep. W. S. Heatly chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, to seek a vote on the measure.

The House and Senate planned an 11 a.m. joint session to hear a speech by U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

Barnes said the measure would be about $10 million over Connally's $911.5 million budget and about $100 million over estimated general revenue for the coming two-year fiscal period.

Since the House bill will contain considerably more money than the Senate bill and since House members of a spending conference committee will be barred from putting in new items, Barnes said, "I see no reason for the bill to be in conference more than three or four weeks."

Such items as funds to help counties with voter registration (about $3 million) and $6.25 million to acquire James Connally Vocational Institute and fund its operations account for the difference from Connally's budget, he said.

He said he did not understand Lt. Gov. Preston Smith's statement that the Senate wanted to see he House bill before acting on the Senate money bill that has been out of committee nearly two weeks.

FACTS TRANSMITTED THROUGH INJECTION?

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Evidence that specific information can be transmitted from one animal to another by means of brain extract injections was reported by two separate research groups today.

The experiments were with laboratory rats and mice, but Dr. Georges Ungar of Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, Tex., said the findings "probably can be extended to some of the more complex mental processes" in humans.

Both research groups reported their results at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Ungar said the probability of his findings being due to chance were "less than 1 in 1,000."

Dr. Walter B. Essman and Dr. Gerald M. Lehrer of the Department of Psychology, Queens College, City University of New York, the other research team, described their results as "very statistically significant."

Both experiments tested the ability of mice to escape from a maze.

Ungar trained a group of rats to escape from a Y-shaped maze by an arm lighted by an electric bulb. The other arm was dark and charged with electricity.

Extracts prepared from the brains of these trained animals then were injected into untrained rats or mice. A second group of rats and mice was given extracts from the brains of untrained laboratory animals.

Before the injections, slightly more than half of each group chose the lighted escape route.

In later tests, more than three-quarters of the mice who had received brain extracts from trained animals chose the route. The other mice followed lighted or shock-free escape route. The other mice followed the same escape routes they chose before injections from untrained animals.

"Over 400 animals have now been tested in various learning situations and over-all results indicate a very high probability that some specific learned information has been transferred from the trained donors to the recipients," Ungar said.

Essman and Lehrer used the same extract injection technique to test the effects on animals seeking a left or right escape from their maze. They obtained from the brain cells of trained mice an extract of ribonucleic acid, a substance involved in the transmission of hereditary traits.

They found that the majority of mice which were injected with extract from the brains of mice taught to select the left-hand escape route followed that path. A right-handed pattern prevailed among mice receiving extract from mice taught to leave by that route.

Ungar said learned information can be transferred by chemical means and that "the chemical nature of its coding can hardly be doubted.

He theorized that nerve cells in the brain are labeled by a specific chemical molecule and that when the cells of two different channels are activated simultaneously "they change their chemical labels and thereby establish a new connection between the two channels."

El Paso Natural Gas Company Reports:

We're setting new records serving a growing west

Last year, El Paso Natural Gas Company delivered a record 1.51 trillion cubic feet of gas to 11 fast-growing western states.

That's the energy equivalent of more than 250 million barrels of crude oil.

And major new expansion projects, now pending before the Federal Power Commission, will increase our certificated deliveries to customers by another 186 billion cubic feet per year—or about 12 per cent.

To keep these vast supplies of low-cost energy flowing in ample quantity, we are continually adding to our gas reserves—which stood at an all-time high of 40.4 trillion cubic feet at year's end.

Among other highlights in our 1966 Annual Report:

• Sales and profits at record levels in 1966. Operating revenues reached $572,827,000, with net earnings of $43,256,000.

• Continued expansion into diversified fields of service, including petrochemicals, agricultural chemicals, plastics, textiles, mining, and oil and gas production. Contributions of non-regulated activities were at new highs in 1966.

More details about our natural gas operations in 11 western states, our other diversified operations, and our plans for the future are contained in the 1966 Annual Report. We'd like to send you a copy.

Zeta Lambda Celebrates Sixth Birthday Saturday

To honor Miss Jessie Sim, State Parliamentarian of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society, a coffee was held Saturday morning in the home of Maydelle Burns and Virginia Grove, past presidents of the local chapter, Zeta Lambda. They were assisted by Rita Carter, another past president, Dorothy Miller, president and Evelyn Boone, vice-president.

Following the morning coffee Zeta Lambda celebrated their sixth birthday as a chapter with a luncheon at Snyder Country Club.

Mmes. Barbara Bigham Rita Carter, Leota Burris, and June McGlaun were in charge of arrangements and the beautiful decorations. Luncheon music was furnished by Barbara Carter, daughter of Mrs. Rita Carter.

Mrs. Georgene Galloway, first vice-president of Zeta Lambda, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Dorothy Miller presided and gave the welcome to the visiting chapters. Mrs. Erna Lou Burt, Colorado City, president of Beta Epsilon Chapter, gave the response. Other presidents seated at the head table were Mrs. Joe Clark, Rotan, Gamma Tau Chapter, and Mrs. Harriet Debnam, Lamesa, Epsilon Omicron Chapter.

Mrs. Wanda Clinton, music chairman, led the group in singing several Delta Kappa Gamma songs.

Miss Virginia Grove introduced the guest speaker, Miss Jessie Sim, who used as her title "One Person With a Belief" from a quotation of John Stuart Mills: "One person with a belief is a social power equal to ninety - nine who have only interest."

"One person with a belief Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, gathered eleven other carefully chosen women and founded The Delta Kappa Gamma Society on May 11, 1929. From these 12 the society has grown to 97,159 members, from one chapter to 2020 chapters, and from a state, to national and now an international society in only 38 years."

Many of the founders were cited for their contributions to the society as they each exemplified "a person with a belief."

State presidents, chapter presidents, charter members of each chapter, persons responsible for your nomination as a member were all pointed out as persons with beliefs.

"Our most radiant believer of all is Mrs. Nell McMain, of Texas, the International President." Zeta Lambda holds the distinct honor of being the last chapter organized when Nell McMain was Alpha State President the baby chapter in 1961. Miss Sim closed her remarks with a quote from Nell McMain, "If you believe in Delta Kappa Gamma, be worthy of Delta Kappa Gamma."

Forty - eight members from Rotan, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Loraine, Lamesa, and Snyder were in attendance.

Zeta Lambda members present were Ruby Anderson, Barbara Bigham, Evelyn Boone, Maydelle Burns, Leota Burris, Rita Carter, Mary Devenport, Georgene Galloway, Virginia Grove, Hazel Hanback, Laura Holladay, Bess Johnson, Dorothy Miller, Eva Nelson, Lida Rhoades, Wanda Clinton, Esther Boren, Phil Kelley, and June McGlaun.

WE CAN TAKE ACTION

Firm Conviction

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Snyder Daily News is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie course as a means of training and developing community and area leaders. This article is one in a series written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Program in West Texas.)

By WARREN QUINLAN

Less than a century ago, an individual's judgment was vital to his self-preservation. Self-reliance and self-sufficiency were vital necessities for survival.

Most of the services and luxuries taken for granted today—supermarkets fire and police protection, and even medicines—were non-existent. The strength of one's conviction often was the difference between living and dying. Rubber stamp personalities had no place in the pioneer spirit.

Fear is nature's way of telling us to get busy. If you had met Helen a few years back, at the time her husband died and she was left with two small children and no concrete means of support; you would have sympathized with her misfortune. Everyone felt sorry for Helen except Helen. She had a reserve of courage, and life had given her a test.

Her opportunity appeared when she became aware of an acute need in the county government of her community. Even though she had no political experience, she was convinced she could apply her natural abilities in administration and accounting. One evening she sat alone and took an inventory of her assets and liabilities, and the price she would have to pay to achieve her goal.

To qualify herself, Helen returned to school and in a period of two years completed six related courses. Between classes, she studied the duties and complexities of the public office she sought. She talked with persons in the community, seeking their opinions. In spite of well-meaning friends who attempted to discourage her from campaigning for this office, she forcefully pursued her objective. Three months before the election, Helen filed her candidacy and the odds were 100 to one the incumbent would be re-elected by a four or five to one majority. Everyone thought Helen had drilled a dry hole, except Helen.

When a woman wears a dinner dress, she doesn't always eat. When she wears a riding dress she doesn't always ride, and when she wears her political dress LOOK OUT . . . she's ready for action. She talked with conviction because she was convinced.

When she discussed the inefficiencies of the incumbent administration, she reinforced her thinking with a plan which would eliminate the problems. The leaders in the community listened to Helen and evaluated her plan. Friends may not give you pull, but they can give you a push. And Helen was pushed. She unleashed her convictions at every opportunity. Her opponent never recovered from the "mental hurricane" of Helen's conviction and preparation.

Helen didn't lose by a four to one margin. Her margin of victory was 1,550 votes. She listened to other viewpoints but she "acted on her own."

She didn't conform to the refuge of fear. She made lemonade from a bitter lemon, and became a community leader, by acting on her convictions.

We should take an inventory of our convictions—in church, office, home throughout the city—by taking action and allowing ourselves to be trained by harnessing our convictions with forward thinking.

Indonesia Earthquake Claims 37 Victims

JAKARTA (AP) — A severe earthquake in Indonesia's southern Celebes region killed 37 persons and injured 51 others last week, the official news agency Antara reported today.

Antara, in a dispatch from Makassar, the Celebes capital, said 75,000 persons had been forced to evacuate the Polmas and Madjene areas in the province.

The report did not specify when the quake struck but it said heavy tremors were felt up to last Wednesday night. The government appealed for food, clothing, medicine and other forms of relief.

Second Trial Begins In Texas Slaying

CORSICANA (AP) — Ronald Wilhelm, one of three men charged with the July 4 slaying of Breckenridge, Tex., service station man Clarence Swaim, goes on trial here today.

Wilhelm, 23, of San Antonio, is the second of three accused murderers to be tried in the case. One, Claude Edwards, was convicted in January and given the death penalty by a jury in Graham.

The third man, Gene McCain, 21, of Eastland, was a state witness at Edwards' trial. He quoted Edwards as saying Swaim had to be killed so he could not identify the trio as the ones who held up the service station where he worked.

McCain has not yet been tried.

The three were charged in Breckenridge and McCain's trial was moved here on a change of venue.

They were arrested in San Antonio three days after Swaim's death by police investigating a similar shooting there.

Swaim's body was found in a plowed field south of Breckenridge. He had been shot 10 times.

Bengal Track Team Sweeps District Meet

BROWNFIELD — Snyder High School's powerful track team was in the driver's seat here all the way Saturday at the District 3-AAA Meet, compiling an astonishing 163 points to win the first place trophy.

The Bengals won both relays and qualified nine individuals in eight events for the Regional Meet to be held this Saturday in Odessa. The Tigers won blue ribbons in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, mile run, shot put and discus in addition to the relays.

Little Freddie Benitez established a new record in the mile run with a 4:40.8 clocking which wiped out the old standard of 4:44 set by Nolan of Lamesa in 1963. Freddie overtook Littlefield's Henry Thompson shortly after the gun sounded for the final lap and won going away.

Jerry Simons took first in the shot and discus with heaves of 53-7¾ and 146-8 respectively. Curtis Clay also won two blue ribbons — in the 100 yard dash with a 9.8 clocking and in the 220 with a time of 22.4.

Other first place winners were Tommy Bullard in the 880 (2:01.9), Teddy Brown in the 440 (50 flat), the sprint relay team (42.3), and the mile relay team (3:23.1).

Bullard was a surprise winner in the 880. He trailed until the final stretch of the second lap when he began to overtake Littlefield's Bernie Wall. It was a photo finish as Tommy stuck out his chest at the wire to come in first.

Neither relay team was pushed to the limit as both led all the way. The 440 foursome included Leon Riggins, M. C. Powell, Teddy Brown and Curtis Clay. Riggins, Morris Smith, Powell and Brown ran on the mile unit.

As expected, Rocky Woods was outstanding individual. He was pushed to a new record in the high hurdles by Riggins. Rocky was timed at 13.9. This erased the old standard of 14.5, set last year by the same hurdler.

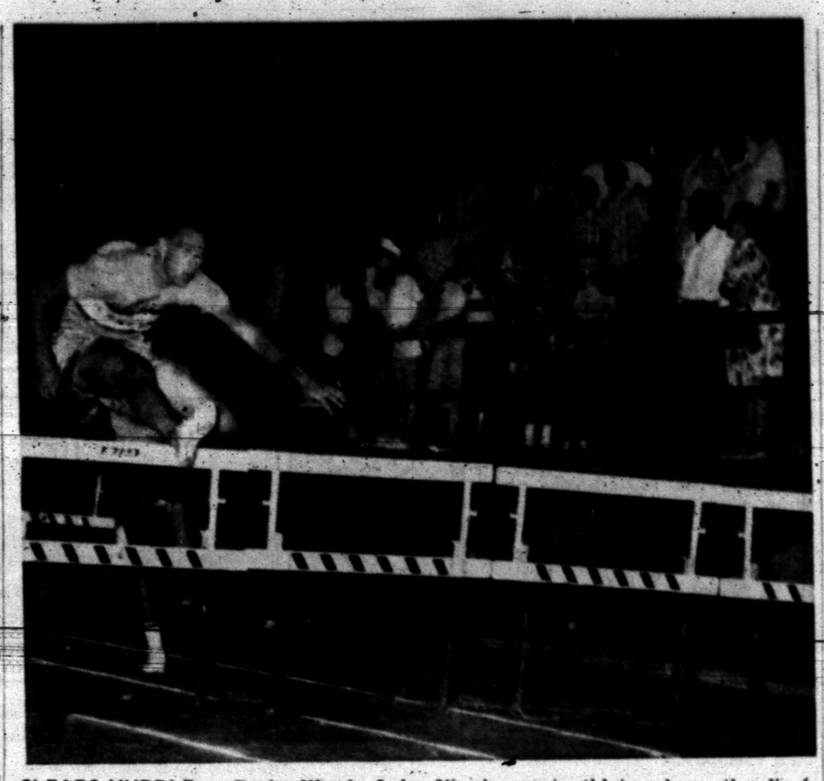

The Lake View lad also won the 330 intermeidate hurdles in 39.5 and the high jump with a easy 5-10 effort. The intermediate time is a record since this is the first year for that event.

The only other new record was set by Littlefield's Fred Koontz in the pole vault. His 13-2 wiped out the old mark of 13-0¾, set in 1965 by Jackie Rice of Snyder.

Riggins also qualified in the broad jump. The lithe senior was edged by Littlefield's Richard Wright, who posted a distance of 20-8. Morris Smith qualified in the 440, placing second behind his teammate, Teddy Brown.

Snyder swept away the opposition, easily taking the team crown. Second place Littlefield notched 74 points or less than half of the Tiger total of 163. Scores of other teams: Sweetwater 71, Lake View 57, Brownfield 54, Levelland 43, Lamesa 26.

The first two place individuals and teams are qualified for the Regional to be held in Odessa Saturday.

CLEARS HURDLE — Rocky Woods, Lake View's great athlete, clears the final hurdle enroute to victory in the high hurdles at the District 3-AAA track meet in Brownfield Saturday night. He edged Snyder's Leon Riggins (behind Rocky) in the event and won top individual honors.

Beard Wins With Last Hole Birdie

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Frank Beard faced this decision after one of Arnold Palmer's spectacular rallies of the $100,000 Tournament of Champions.

Should he try for a birdie-4 on the final hole Sunday and break a tie with Palmer or should he play it safe for a par and gamble for a playoff with Arnie and his Nevada army?

Beard agreed today he made the correct decision as he and his brother golf pros headed for the Dallas Open this week.

Beard got the birdie, the $20,000 winner's purse anr marred the amazing comeback round by Palmer, who shattered the Stardust Golf Club's par, 36-35—71, with a round of 29-35—64. The 29 and the 64 established a course record.

A quick rundown of results: Beard, 71 for 178, six under par; Palmer, 64-279; George Archer, 68-282; Jack Nicklaus, 73, Doug Sanders, 71 and Bobby Nichols, 70, each 284.

U.S. Open champion Billy Casper's 73 gave him 292, and Masters champion Gay Brewer had 75 for 288.

Palmer, playing well ahead of Beard, a personable pro from Louisville, Ky., shot an eagle-3 on the first hole and added five birdies before he finished the front nine for his 29.

"I don't think I ever shot a 29 before on a par-36 nine," said Palmer.

Palmer's second nine was something else. He four-putted the 14th for a double-bogey-5, but on the very next hole he had an eagle-3.

On the last three holes he was bogey-par-birdie.

Beard lost a stroke to par on the first hole, parred the next 10 and eventually came to the 18th deadlock with Palmer.

It is a par-5, 540-yard hole and some 13,000 or more paced around the green.

"A lot of things were going through my mind," said Beard later. Included was the thought of an 18-hole playoff with Arnie, and Frank indicated he didn't think much of this idea.

So he said he told his caddie, "We might as well win it." He selected his driver instead of the 2-iron he had been using on this hole.

"I just knocked the hell out of it," said the happy Frank.

Two strokes later, he faced the vital putt. How long was it?

"Fifty feet," said Frank deadpan.

It was about seven feet.

"Sure, I was nervous, but not too much. I knew I still had another putt to tie and there was the playoff to remember."

Beard didn't linger over the ball. He putted quickly. The ball hit the right corner of the cup, and fell in.

St. Louis Outslugs Houston Astros, 11-8

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Phil and Joe Niekro, of the Lansing, Ohio Niekros, have struck their first blow for brotherhood. It's likely that Atlanta Manager Billy Hitchcock was far more satisfied with the results than Leo Durocher, the Cubs' skipper.

Phil, an eight-year baseball veteran, acquitted himself admirably Sunday when flung into a difficult late-inning situation, saving a 4-1 victory for Atlanta over Los Angeles.

But young brother Joe, facing similar problems in his first major league appearance, didn't fare as well.

The Cubs were rolling along with a 5-2 lead over Pittsburgh in the ninth inning, courtesy of a sterling pitching job by Ferguson Jenkins, who had to leave the game in the seventh inning with an ankle injury.

Cal Koonce had done nicely in getting the Pirates out in part of the seventh and all of the eigh inning, but when Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski singled and Gene Alley walked, Durocher went to the bullpen.

First he tried John Upham, but a single by Manny Mota, driving in a run and leaving the bases loaded, soured Durocher on him and then it was Niekro's turn.

The 22-year-old right-hander, with only one year of minor league experience, allowed a sacrifice fly by Jim Pagliaroni and a triple by Matty Alou that won for the Pirates 6-5.

Meanwhile in Atlanta, brother Phil protected the Braves' lead in the eighth inning by getting Lou Johnson to hit into a double play and then retired the Dodgers in the ninth.

In other National League games, St. Louis outslugged Houston 11-8, Philadelphia shut out New York 2-0, and Cincinnati took a pair from San Francisco 4-1 and 6-0.

In the American League, Chicago won two games from Washington 7-3 and 4-3, the second game in 16 innings, Detroit split a pair with Kansas City, winning 6-3 and losing 11-3 California beat Baltimore 5-4 before losing 3-0, Cleveland edged Minnesota 4-3 and New York outlasted Boston 7-6 in 18 innings.

Lou Brock continued his great hitting for the Cardinals, lashing two home runs and a pair of singles. He also had two homers Saturday and drove in eight runs with seven straight hits for the two games. Orlando Cepeda broke a 7-7 tie in the sixth inning for the unbeaten Cards.

Larry Jackson won his 16th straight game over the Mets and Rich Allen hit a two-run homer. Jackson only gave up five hits and didn't allow a single New York runner past second base.

Mel Queen, a one-time outfielder turned pitcher, shut the Giants out on six hits in the nightcap and Vada Pinson's two-run homer along with Pete Rose's two-run double provided all the necessary runs. In the first game, Jesus Alou muffed a single by Pinson, which rolled to the wall and allowed the tie-breaking run to cross in the eighth.

Spurs Can't Dig In

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"You started last and slowly sank," quipped President Hugh Finnerty of the Texas League in recounting the Dallas-Fort Worth season of 1966.

What he was doing was encouraging the Spurs to do better this season.

They must not have gotten the idea. Three nights of the campaign have passed and the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs are in last place; winless and sinking.

Amarillo, which now leads the race with an unbeaten record, made sure the Spurs stayed last Sunday when they opened the season at Turnpike Stadium with a 3-1 victory over Dallas-Fort Worth.

There were 5,017 at the game, and that at least gives Dallas-Fort Worth the opening day attendance trophy.

Jim Ray held the Spurs to seven hits while his mates got six, one of which was Mike Sinnerud's homer.

Arkansas which failed to score in 18 innings at Austin, got three runs Sunday and won its home opener 3-2 over the Braves. Jimmy Williams singled in Roy Majtyka for the deciding tally in the eighth.

El Paso edged Albuquerque 6-5 and is in a tie with Austin for second place. Albuquerque loaded the bases with two out in the ninth but relief pitcher Eric Spelman stopped the threat.

The schedule is the same tonight with El Paso at Albuquerque, Amarillo at Dallas-Fort Worth and Austin at Arkansas.

Clay Bryant, Pat Mullin, Del Rice and George Strickland are coaching the Cleveland Indians under Manager Joe Adcock.

Soccer Makes Pro Debut

The first major professional soccer league in the United States made its debut Sunday and received an enthusiastic welcome from a surprising turnout of 46,547 fans in five cities.

In Baltimore, 8,434 fans turned out, although they could have seen the game on national television, and got such a kick out of the Bays' 1-0 victory over the Atlanta Chiefs, they gave their team a standing ovation when it was over.

The game in Philadelphia gave soccer officials an even bigger boot. The Philadelphia Spartans' 2-0 victory over the Toronto Falcons attracted 14,163 enthusiasts, the largest crowd of the day, almost 5,000 more than attended the Philadelphia-New York Mets baseball game in that city.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Toros edged the New York Generals 3-2 in Los Angeles before 9,048 and the Pittsburgh Phantoms rallied for a 3-3 tie against the California Clippers before 8,840 in Oakland, Calif.

Only in Chicago, where 4,725 showed up to see the Chicago Spurs beat the St. Louis Stars 2-1, was the crowd below expectations.

Carson To Reconsider

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Carson, who left his "Tonight" show during the AFTRA strike, then decided not to come back, is reconsidering.

"Money was not the main consideration," Carson said Sunday in an interview, "although naturally, this always comes up. There might be some changes in personnel on the program."

The comedian, who has a $15,000-a-week contract with NBC, said his attorneys would discuss several issues with network representatives today.

Carson said his return "depends on whether the NBC people and my representatives can work out our differences at the first of the week. If they do, there is a possibility that I will return to the show. They would like me to come back, and I would probably do so if everything is all right."

WHAT A CUFF!

Dr. Martin Luther King Trys To Have Both Ways

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King, the Negro civil rights leader, is trying to have it both ways. He says he doesn't mean one thing. He says he means another. The two wind up meaning the same.

King, a hero of the civil rights movement and in the newspapers continualy for years, had been in a bit of eclipse in recent months as the crusade for civil rights slowed down.

It not only slowed down but began to afly part last year after Stokely Carmichael, leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, began preaching "black power."

Even ardent civil rights liberals didn't like the connotations of that slogan. And the National Urban League and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People denounced the concept. But King wouldn't join the denunciation.

Then with one big speech earlier this month King got himself back into the limelight but in a way that antagonized more people sympathetic to civil rights. He linked the civil rights protests with the anti-Vietnam war protests.

Some Negro leaders publicly disagreed with these latest tactics of King. Since he needs all the white and Negro support he can get to start the civil rights movement rolling again, it's hard to see how he did it anything but injury.

King had been talking against the war in bits and pieces for a while and then on April 4 made a 40-page speech denouncing the American role in it. He called the United States the "greatest purveyor of violence in he world."

But he never once in the 40 pages mentioned the violence or viciousness of the Viet Cong against their own people in South Vietnam.

In a later speech — one newspaper said it was a clear effort to counter criticism for his omission in the April 4 talk—he did mention the other side but very guardedly.

He said, "I am not absolving Hanoi or the Viet Cong of their responsibilities." This whole performance by King was one-sided.

King, assuring his listeners he was speaking as a matter of conscience, claimed U.S. bombing may have killed one million Vietnamese, "mostly children," although he never said where he got his figures.

After this speech the Jewish War Veterans of America accused King of "pandering" to Ho Chi Minh; Whitney Young Jr., head of the National Urban League, took issue with King, saying he thought the civil rights and the antiwar movements should be kept separate; and Ralph Bunche, a Negro and undersecretary of the United Nations for political affairs, said the same thing.

The criticism was climaxed when the 60-member board of the NAACP unanimously declared "the civil rights battles will have to be fought and won on their own merits, irrespective of the state of war or peace in the world."

King said he was saddened that the NAACP would join in the perpetuation of a "myth." The myth, he said, is that he advocates the fusion of the civil rights and peace drives. "I hold no such view," he said.

But Sunday on the CBS television show "Face the Nation" he explained what he had in mind: a "coalition" of the civil right and antiwar movements. He said "a coalition on particular issues does not mean a merger."

But the American College Dictionary says a coalition means a "union" or "fusion." And, just in case there might be uncertainty, it says a "fusion" means a "coalition."

Last Saturday in New York — where Carmichael followed him to ridicule President Johnson as a "buffoon". — King addressed a massive antiwar demonstration.

This time he said he had not proposed a "mechanical fusion" of the civil rights and peace movements. He didn't need any mechanical devices. He didn't even have to get upset about the word "fusion" since the one he prefers "coalition," means "fusion."

Without Mail Boyle Might Never Know

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In ancient Rome women sought to erase their facial wrinkles by rubbing them with bread dough. They also used barley flour and butter as a treatment for pimples.

How much can you learn? Scientists estimate that average human mind can assimilate 100 million items of information during its life span. But still manage to forget a wife's birthday.

If you've been worrying that frequent shampooing will cause your hair to fall out, forget it. "There is no evidence that washing alone can cause baldness," according to "Today's Health," an AMA magazine.

Thirsty autos: U.S. motor vehicles drank 74 billion gallons fuel in 1966 and by 1980 their annual consumption is expected to reach 105 billion gallons.

The Chinese were flying kites 14 centuries before the people of Europe learned how to. They also had gunpowder, paper magnets, compasses and metal type hundreds of years before the Western world did.

Someone with nothing else to do has figured out that the moisture in a single glass of water can make a fog eight square blocks in area and 100 feet high.

Forced to the sidelines: less than half of the retired men in the United States left their jobs voluntarily, according to survey by the Institute of Life Insurance. Most retired because of company regulations poor health, or disability.

One reason Puritans and Quakers wore such sober colors as black, brown and gray was the cost involved. Dyes were expensive in 16th and 17th century Europe. Only the well-to-do could afford robes of crimson, gold and the "royal colors" — blue and purple.

Multiples: We sometimes speak of the human herd, but if you want to be proper in referring to groups of other creatures you must speak of a watch of nightingales, a gang of elks, a colony of ants, a bevy of quail, a pride of lions, a nide of pheasants, a building of rooks, a sounder of hogs, a shoal of porpoises, a skein of ducks (in flight), a siege of herons, a cast of hawks and a muster of peacocks.

Worth remembering: "Living in the past has one thing in it's favor: it's cheaper."

It was Plutarch who observed, "the worship most acceptable to God comes from a thankful and cheerful heart."

Only 55 cities in the world had populations exceeding one million two decades ago. Today there are 120.

Junior Editors Quiz on VITAMINS

QUESTION: Where do vitamins come from?

* * *

ANSWER: Vitamins are complicated substances important to us because, as our picture suggests, they help to give that feeling of well-being which makes us delight in living just for the fun of it. Also shown in the picture are some of the foods which provide these vitamins. Some vitamins dissolve in fat, others in water. Vitamin A is an important fat-soluble vitamin which we get by eating carrots, milk, sweet potatoes, spinach, egg yolk, liver and green and yellow vegetables. It helps in growth because it builds body cells. About 15 vitamins which dissolve in water are called, as a group, the Vitamin B Complex. These contain important substances such as thiamine, riboflavin and niacin, all needed in our bodies to keep them working well. Manufacturers extract vitamins from various substanees and make them into pills or capsules. Doctors may prescribe these in special cases, but usually, people get all the vitamins they need by eating a good variety of food.

SPECK CONVICTED, BUT—

Questions Go Unanswered

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The question of who murdered eight nurses in a Chicago town house last summer apparently was resolved when a jury convicted Richard Speck and recommended that he die in the electric chair.

But the questions of why the eight nurses were chosen as the knife-wielding strangler's victims and why eight young women quietly submitted to being tied, robbed, separated and slain may never be answered.

The seven men and five women jurors retired at 2:41 p.m. Saturday and announced they had reached their verdict at 3:30 p.m.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen scheduled post-trial motions for today. Gerald Getty, Cook County public defender who represents Speck, will file a motion for an appeal. State law requires all death verdicts to be appealed.

Getty told newsmen Sunday he plans to base his appeal on the prosecution's use of "horror pictures" of the slain girls, which he said were shown to inflame the jurors. He also said he would argue that Speck, 25, could not receive a fair trial in Peoria due to public prejudice.

"With any other defendant, and with only one victim, there would have been an acquittal. There certainly wouldn't have been a death penalty," said Getty, who has never lost a client to the electric chair in 400 other capital cases.

Speck, who appeared unmoved by the eight verdicts recommending he die for the July 14 slayings, will return to Cook County Jail today, said Peoria County Sheriff Willard Koeppel.

A Cook County jail psychiatrist, who interviewed Speck 24 times over a six-month period, ascertained that the drifter-merchant seaman recalls nothing of the night of the slayings.

According to notes taken by Dr. Marvin Ziporyn and released Saturday, Speck related he was drunk and had taken a drug injection. Speck was quoted as saying his memory of that night is blank.

In nine days of testimony, the prosecution produced fingerprint experts to prove three prints lifted from a door in the townhouse bedroom belonged to Speck. Miss Corazon Amurao, a Philippine nurse who hid under a bed as the killer worked, identified Speck as the black-garbed intruder who herded the victims into a bedroom before he killed them one by one in four other rooms.

Young Demos Adopt Stand

AUSTIN (AP) — Continued support of President Johnson's Vietnam policies and free state college tuition for four years are in a platform adopted Sunday by the Young Democratic Clubs of Texas.

The Young Democrats, winding up a state convention, also included a plank supporting striking lower Rio Grande Valley farm workers.

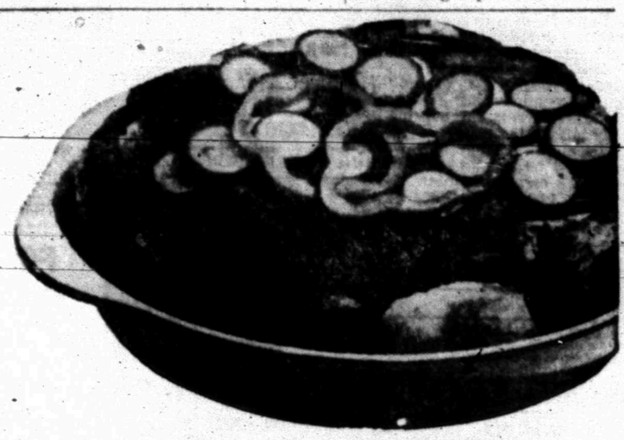

Otherstate planks approve four year terms with a two-term limitation for officials elected statewide and salaries of teachers to match the national average.

Miss Betsey Wright of Alpine, University of Texas student, was elected president. Other new officers include Robert Provan of Irving, North Texas State University secretary, and Harry Panner of Beaumont, Lamar Tech, treasurer.

The organization also approved planks supporting national poverty programs, air and water pollution control, permanent voter registration in Texas and allowing 18-year-old to vote.

After Generation Of Study Why Unexplained UFOs?

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

From his 10th-floor office atop the highest building on the University of Colorado campus, Dr. Edward U. Condon has a magnificent eyrie to scan the skies for UFOs — unidentified flying objects.

His windows view northwest upon foothills of the Rocky Mountains, north toward Cheyenne, Wyo., east over the vast plains stretching north toward Mississippi, southeast toward Denver 40 miles away.

And Edward Condon, physicist, is in a sense looking for UFOs. He heads a team of scientists investigating reports of UFOs which some persons believe are visitors from distant planets.

Dr. Condon has never personally seen a UFO.

In Washington, Richard Hall, deputy director of NICAP — the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena — works in a third-floor office with a view of downtown streets. It is his working guess that some UFOs do come from outer space.

Hall has never personally seen a UFO.

And neither has Dr. J. Allen Hynek, bearded astronomer who for nearly two decades has been a scientific consultant to the U.S. Air Force on UFOs. From his ground-floor office in the Dearborn Observatory at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., Dr. Hynek campaigned for a hard, fully scientific look at the UFO phenomenon, a plea that contributed to formation of the Condon committee.

For nearly 20 years, UFOs have created a contrail among Americans of mystery confusion, debate, emotion, scorn, belief, concern and potent points of view.

Perhaps the most intriguing question is why — after a generation of time — why there should still be debate? Why are there unexplained sightings?

Among reasons offered are, on one hand:

Some UFOs could be extraterrestrial and there's no proof they are not. Very provocative sightings have been made by trained observers, including scientists and pilots. The Air Force hasn't really made a good investigation. The Air Force is engaged in a conspiracy to hide the truth. The "scientific establishment" knows the facts, but is embarrassed to admit that a superior civilization and science exist elsewhere. Scientsts and others have often ridiculed honest, reputable people for describing what they saw rather than listen to and investigate their stories.

On another hand:

The Air Force says it is satisfied UFOs do not represent a threat to national security. Proving that UFOs are supernatural should rest upon the believers. With greater effort and money, probably all sightings could be explained without inferring extraterrestrial origin. Some sightings are hoaxes, most are misidentifications of balloons, aircrafts, stars, meteors or other phenomena.

Certainly there is growing public awareness — from science fiction and published suppositions of astronomers — that there could be life on millions or billions of other planets among all the billions times billions of stars in the universe. With man sending space probes to nearby planets, could not some far advanced civilization also be inspecting earth?

Current, continuing UFO interest in the United States was sparked by the report in 1947 of a businessman-pilot, Kenneth Arnold, of seeing nine strange moving objects over Mt. Rainier, in the State of Washington. The term "flyng saucers" was coined. Later came the designation "UFOs," meaning any aerial object the observer is unable to identify.

Late in 1947, a year of intesifying cold war, the Air Force launched a study which later was dubbed Project Blue Book. Each year has brought a steady flow of reported sightings to Blue Book, with flurries of 1,501 cases in 1952, 1,006 in 1957, and the runner-up high of 1,060 in 1966.

At Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio, Maj. Hector A. Quintanilla, Jr., career officer in charge of Blue Book, sums up 11,107 reports since 1947:

Six per cent—676—are still listed as unidentified, including 30 of last year's. Another 242 are listed as lacking sufficient information to try to identify.

Blue Book's answer remains negative on three questions:

No evidence that any UFO it has evaluated is any threat to national security.

No evidence that "unidentified" sightings involve anything beyond the range of knowledge.

No evidence that "unidentifieds" are extraterrestrial vehicles. But, "The Air Force does not deny the possibility that some forms of life may exist on other planets in the universe."

And, it adds, all photographs evaluated have been determined to be "a misinterpretation of natural or conventional objects."

Then what are people seeing? Blue Book ascribes the bulk of sightings to aircraft, weather and sounding balloons, satellites, meteors, bright stars and planets, missiles, searchlights, clouds, birds, reflections, temperature inversions, mirages, sparking of electric wires, swamp gas, even a lighthouse. Recently, ball lightning and plasmas of ionized air have been suggested as one cause of Philip Klass of the magazine Aviation Week and Space Technology.

Quintanilla and his staff of three, including one secretary, receive reports from civilians and from Air Force bases to which UFOs are reported. Each base has an officer on UFO duty. Recent regulations call for their paying closer attention to first-hand reports.

The Blue Book procedure is to look first for a likely explanation or "stimulus" from among the many reports. They check out balloon launchings and flight paths, Air Force operations that might be misinterpreted, they check star charts and satellite paths or other possible causes that might fit initial reports.

A good deal of checking is done by telephone and by questionnaire forms seeking more details from observers. Occasionally, when a sighting report persists for a few days, they go to the scene.

"Some sightings leave me mystified," Quintanilla says.

Quintanilla grins at rumors that the Air Force has a morgue containing "humanoids from a UFO crash," or that the Project Blue Book office once had a "flying saucer in its basement."

"The building didn't have a basement," the major says.

The United States stands virtually alone in having any official agency investigating UFO reports, an Associated Press survey of 2 nations finds. The comment from Moscow is that the Soviets "are not talking."

Critics charge the Air Force with making a sketchy, superficial investigation of UFO reports, of taking a negative approach, of having, in Project Blue Book, a staff far too small really to probe the question.

Air Force officials reply that their job is to determine whether UFOs represent a security threat, and ask whether Congress would grant the money to dig deeply into the question of whether some are extraterrestrial.

The 10-year-old NICAP, a nonprofit group with governors and members representing many walks of life including some scientists, engineers and pilots, charges the Air Force "has practiced an intolerable degree of secrecy, keeping the public in the dark about the amount and possible significance of UFO evidence."

NICAP has received more than 10,000 first-hand signed reports of UFOs, and 2,500 "are hard-core reports, some giving remarkable detail that can't be explained routinely," says Hall, a tall, brown-haired deputy director of the organization headed by Donald Keyhoe, retired Marine major.

"The most common pattern is objects that are egg or oval or disc shaped that sit there, then zooms away. It doesn't correspond with any objects we ordinarily know about.

"I think the most reasonable working hypothesis is that they are extraterrestrial," says Hall, a Tulane graduate in philosophy, who joined NICAP in 1958.

"We try to be open-minded and objective, but we can't rule out the possibility that there have been landings."

More than 30 NICAP field teams, working mainly in their own localities, investigate numerous reports "if they look promising. We investigate because there is so much evidence of fraud, and a number of cases of psychosis," among reported sightings.

Field team results from interviews, assessment of character and background, plus a search for any physical evidence, are forwarded to headquarters in Washington for analysis.

The scientist with perhaps the longest experience with UFOs, Dr. Hynek, says, "No matter what the UFO phenomenon is, let's take a serious look. There is no compelling evidence to believe in other than natural causes, and 95 per cent of sightings are easily explicable as balloons, meteors, fireballs, birds, satellites, mirages, or other things."

"But why should such reports exist? What do people have to gain? Some are sighted by respectable scientists who cannot explain what they saw. Yet some stories are very far out.

"I know of 20 or 30 baffling cases that I would love to have time to pursue further.

BUSINESS and INDUSTRIAL NEWS

THEY'RE GREAT — From left, Andrea Logan, Paula Redwine and Cheril Wilkins say the best place to prepare for a long, hot summer is at Noble's Mobil Auto Service Center, 4001 Avenue 1, where you can get good bargains on air conditioners for any type car. "They're great!" said the girls.

Cooling An Auto Easy At Noble's

Air condition your car at Noble's Mobil Auto Service Center, 4001 Avenue S.

Price for complete installation is only $239.50 plus state tax. This includes parts, freon and labor with a 3-year warranty. Prices for compact models, however, are slightly higher.

Noble's can service or install an air conditioner in any model of car — both compacts and American models. The prices are taken from Chilton's flat rate manual — there is no made-up price or guess work.

Financing also is available to suit your budget.

Motorists can purchase batteries (12-volt) at Noble's for as low as $15.88 exchange.

Noble's is a good place for complete summer tuneup service. You can get radiator repair, flushing and re-conditioning motor washing and plastic coating, front end alignment and wheel balancing, and complete brake service with a lifetime guarantee. Mufflers also carry a lifetime guarantee.

Noble's has a full-time mechanic on duty. It is the place where you can get complete one-stop service for your vacationing needs.

US Expects Soviet Union To Launch Manned Ship Soon

EDITOR'S NOTE—U.S. Space officials are certain that the Soviet Union soon will launch men into space again, probably in bigger and better spacecraft. Here is an assessment of the Soviet program, based on information from Russian reports and interviews with American experts.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —After a two-year hiatus, the Soviet Union will resume man-in-space flights soon, say U.S. officials, vigorously pursuing cosmic political and military goals with a powerful new rocket and a space ship capable of carrying eight men.

Given new hope in the moon race by the tragic Apollo 1 fire, which has forced delays in the United States' program, the Russians could launch two or three manned spaceships this year and regain much of the prestige they lost to the American Gemini program.

Initial flights could be aimed at building a large space station in earth orbit, or preparing for cosmonauts to orbit the moon and return to earth.

Either route would lay the groundwork for a manned lunar landing, although the Russians are not expected to have this capability until 1970 to 1971.

On this timetable, Soviet cosmonauts might beat American astronauts to the moon, depending on how long the U.S. program is delayed.

These conclusions are based on an Associated Press study of recent Soviet publications and on discussions with U.S. officials who continually assess Soviet space programs.

The survey also shows:

—The Russians are emphasizing development of a strong military space capability, both manned and unmanned. So far they have launched 68 reconnaissance satellites.

—A series of space stations patrolling the skies and colonization of the moon Mars and Venus, are in long-range Soviet plans.

—Neither the United States nor the Soviet Union is interested in cooperating in a major space venture for fear that any advantage one might have in terms of military use of space be erased.

The Library of Congress, in a recent report for the Senate Space Committee, said the Soviet goal is to beat the United States to the moon.

The most recent indication of Soviet plans came from Gen. Nikolai Kamanin, director of the Soviet cosmonaut corps.

In an interview last month on a Warsaw radio station, Kamanin said: "When the crews are ready for flight, then we will give the order to take off. This might take place this spring or this summer. We must be fully convinced however, that the flight will be a success."

Few sea animals move faster than squids, the National Geographic says. Some squids can shoot 30 to 40 feet out of the water, gliding over the waves for more than a hundred feet.

Ex-Convicts Are Jailed

NACOGDOCHES (AP) — Nacogdoches County Sheriff's officers held two Kilgore ex-convicts today on charges of trying to burglarize a bank building in nearby Garrison.

A few shots were fired and tear gas was hurled onto the roof of the Commercial State Bank in Garrison, some 20 miles north of here, causing one man to flee and another to surrender. The second man was found hiding in weeds behind the bank after his companion gave up to heavily armed officers and Highway Patrolmen from Shelty and Nacogdoches.

Deputy Sheriff Jerry Weems said the jailed men were Robert Flonary, 32, and Bernard Bledsoe, both of Kilgore. He said both are ex-convicts.

Flonary and Bledsoe were charged with attempted bank robbery before Justice of the Peace Carl Burros, who set bond at $30,000 apiece. Weems said an acetylene tank and cutting equipment were found on the bank roof.

Plaque Erected At Hye Post Office

HYE, Tex. (AP) — The story around the Texas Hill Country says 4-year-old Lyndon B. Johnson mailed his first letter at this tiny town's post office-general store combination in 1912.

About 100 Hill Country residents gathered here Sunday at the 81-year-old Hye Post office to dedicate an official Texas historical building medallion next to the Post Office's front door.

"At age 4, Lyndon B. Johnson, future U. S. President, mailed a letter here — a postal customer for the first time in his life," the medallion says.

The President, at his ranch some 4 miles away, did not attend.

Executives Hear Pollution Report

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)— Oil executives are confident the exhaust emission problems of gasoline-powered vehicles can be reduced to satisfactory levels.

Air pollution problems have been popular discussion topics this spring as major oil companies submitted their annual reports to stockholders.

The executives are confident electric-powered vehicles will not replace the internal combustion engine in the foreseeable future.

Stockholders of Gulf Oil Corp. received a report on an intensive 1966 study of the gasoline-fueled car as a contributor to air pollution.

"This study concluded that on the basis of existing technology a gasoline engine can be developed within a few years which will effect a reduction of motor car exhaust emissions to a level where they will be no longer considered a contributor to air pollution," the Gulf report said.

Phillips Petroleum Co. officials said their clean air research is aimed at discovery of principles and techniques to reduce or avoid air pollution.

"In research on motor fuel, our scientists in 1966 demonstrated that certain hydrocarbons, such as natural gas liquids components, are relatively inocuous when emitted to the atmosphere while others become smog-forming pollutants at variable rates depending on their chemical constitution," Phillips stockholders were told.

"This 'hydroncarbon reactivity' concept is a fundamental contribution to understanding the role of hydrocarbons in formation of smog."

J. Howard Rambin Jr., Texaco Inc. board chairman, said the greatest need in the handling of pollution problems is the development of technically sound, economically feasible and socially effective solutions. He said dedicated teams representing industry and government are working diligently to build the framework of fact and analysis necessary for such realistic solutions.

"On the basis of this work, it appears that solutions to the problems of vehicle emissions can come from improvements in the existing internal combustion engines and related fuels," Rambin said. "In contrast, because of their performance limitations, electric batteries or other alternate types of automotive propulsion now being considered are expected to have only restricted use in the foreseeable future."

John E. Swearingen, chairman, and Robert C. Gumness, president of the Standard Oil Co., agreed.

They said 1966 was marked by concentrated attacks on air and water pollution, with the gasoline-powered automobile being increasingly criticizes as an offender.

"There was much speculation about other forms of automotive power," they said. "We are confident, however, the internal combustion engine will remain the power plant of automobiles of the future, and that fuel losses and exhaust emissions will be brought down to satisfactory levels."

Chairman M. L. Haider and President J. K. Jamieson of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) said substantial progress has been made in the major research aimed at reducing undesirable emissions from automobiles.

"As a result of the studies and work of both the automobile and oil industries, technology has been and is being developed which should bring about an essentially pollution-free automobile—one which will provide the consumer with the convenience, economy, and flexibility of the internal combustion engine while permitting him to enjoy cleaner air at an acceptable cost," Haider and Jamieson said.
