Proxmire Asks AF to Give Up Matagorda Use

WASHINGTON—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called Monday for the Air Force to turn Matagorda Island over to the Department of Interior for conservation and public recreation uses.

While applauding the decision of Defense Secretary James Schlesinger to halt practice bombing while the rare whooping cranes are wintering nearby, Proxmire said the restriction means the Air Force cannot justify continued use of the island.

Matagorda is a barrier island along the Texas Gulf Coast located near the Aransas Wildlife Refuge. The near extinct whooping cranes spend about seven months there each year, migrating from Canada.

Air Force plans to increase practice bombing since the war in Vietnam is over produced a national outcry over danger to the whooping cranes which have migrated onto the marshes of Matagorda.

Responding to a request from Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, Schlesinger said last week that he has ordered a halt to bombing while the cranes are in residence, new minimum altitude levels for Air Force planes and Army helicopters which practice fire on the island and restrictions on hunting.

Proxmire, who has made two Senate speeches criticizing the military activity on the island, said Schlesinger and Morton deserve credit for their efforts. "But the full battle is not won," he said.

The restrictions cannot be considered permanent, he said, until they are published as regulations that bind successive secretaries of Defense.

Meanwhile, he said that since the Air Force can now use the island effectively for only five months, "the outstanding question remaining is justification for any military activity."

Proxmire said the island should be turned over to the Interior Department with a lease back to the State of Texas of the beaches. This would allow limited use of the island for recreation when the whooping cranes are not present, he said.

Proxmire also said he expects an answer shortly from the Air Force on a list of questions he asked recently. Among them was a request for a list, by name, of all officers who have used the island for hunting and fishing in the last three years. The Air Force maintains a hunting and fishing lodge, vehicles and guides for visitors for the Department of Defense.

The Air Force claims the island is essential to the mission of the Strategic Air Command, that hunting is well regulated and all recreation costs come from nonappropriated funds generated by renting the lodge and vehicles to those who visit there to hunt and fish.

Fire Marshal Issues Warning

Fire Marshal Elva Mullinax has issued the following warnings with regard to the continuing efforts of local authorities to prevent fires:

1. He states that it is unlawful for private individuals (other than service station people) to have more than five gallons of gasoline stored within the city limits. There have been reports that some people have been storing larger amounts due to the gasoline shortage.

2. Because of the fields of dead grass and underbrush killed by the recent freeze, extra precaution should be exerted to avoid setting brush fires accidentally.

Gospel Program Set for Saturday

A gospel program entitled "If That Isn't Love" will be presented at the First Baptist Church of Fulton Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The presentation covers the entire scope of the gospel message and redemption story. It opens with a scene in heaven and proceeds to the birth of Christ to Gethsemane and to Calvary.

The crucifixion and resurrection are vividly portrayed with emphasis upon Christ's second return. It closes with a final scene in heaven.

The program is presented by joint participation of First Assembly of God Church of Aransas Pass and First Baptist Church of Fulton.

The pastor of First Baptist Church invites the public to attend.

First Nat'l Bank Shareholders Meeting Jan. 10

The annual meeting of the shareholders of First National Bank will be held Thursday, January 10, at 10 a.m. in the bank. It has been announced by James H. Sorenson, Jr., president.

Purpose of the meeting will be fixing the number of directors at 16 and electing 16 persons to the bank's board. In addition, the board will consider any other business which may be brought before the meeting, Sorenson said.

Proposed for directors of the bank are Fred A. Bracht, Sr., investments; Fred A. Bracht, Jr., building materials; L.E. Casterline, shrimp production; Leon M. (Bob) Eschberger, pharmacies; A.C. Glass, investments; F.W. Heldenfels, Jr., H.C. Heldenfels and James R. Heldenfels, general contractors; Russell W. Itschner, plant manager, Ashland Chemical Co.; Charles LaBounty, executive vice-president of the bank; John P. Mitchell, Jr., seafood industry; R.D. Mosier, Jr., senior vice-president and comptroller of the bank; Roy V. Rogero, Sr., newspaper publisher; Thomas N. Smith III, vice-president, Rockport Yacht Supply Co., Inc.; James H. Sorenson, Jr., bank president, and George K. Taggart III, president, Aransas Natural Gas Co., Inc.

Except for Smith and Taggart, all of those proposed for directors are currently serving on the bank's board of directors. R. L. Eckman, who has served as a director of the bank since 1967, has requested retirement from the board but has agreed to serve as an advisory director, according to Sorenson who paid tribute to Eckman for his contributions to the bank's growth and progress in recent years.

Shareholders of record at the close of business December 31, 1973, will be eligible to vote at the annual meeting. Common shares outstanding total 100,000, Sorenson said.

Social Security Representative To Visit Rockport

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the Courthouse in Rockport on Tuesday, January 15, 1974, at 9:00 a.m.

You may obtain information about your rights and duties under the Social Security Act. Eligible persons can secure assistance in applying for old-age, survivors, or disability insurance payments, and for Medicare benefits, from the representative at that time.

Rockport Roofing Co. Moves to New Location

At the directors' monthly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Duck Inn, it was announced that the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet will be held March 23 at Ramada Inn, with an outstanding humorist to be the speaker.

The directors voted to send a letter of approval to South Texas Ambulance of Fort Worth, which proposes to institute early this year in Rockport emergency ambulance services for "emergency transportation, medical treatment and patient care for the sick and injured."

Services For Young Shrimper

Funeral services were held last Saturday at Waco for Pierre Grady Townsend, 17, who lived here during the past year and lost his life in the Gulf on or about December 23.

Townsend's body was washed up one mile north of Bob Hall Pier Dec. 30. He had signed on as a header on the gulf shrimper, Nuevo Market, and the 67-foot boat was last heard from Dec. 23 about 15 or 20 miles south of Bob Hall Pier. The shrimper was headed for Brownsville. There were three other members of the crew and their bodies have not been found.

Townsend previously had worked on the bay shrimper, Miss Geneva, operating out of Rockport and owned by Donnie Billings.

He was from Waco and is survived by his mother, two sisters and a grandfather.

Franz Candidate For Commissioner

J. M. Franz has announced his candidacy for Aransas County Commissioner from Precinct 2, subject to the Democratic primary election on

J.M. FRANZ

May 4 and the general election in November.

The position is now held by Mrs. Wanda Sparks who has announced that she will not seek re-election.

Franz gave the Pilot the following information about himself: "I was born in Williamson County, Texas December 23, 1907, moved to Wharton County in 1913; grew up on a farm. "Employed by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. in 1928, worked in various positions, retired as supervisor over production Jan. 1, 1970 from Beaumont, Texas.

"Married to Lera Fitzgerald in 1929 and we have 4 daughters and one son. Also have ten grandchildren.

"We have been enjoying our vacations in Rockport-Fulton every year since the early 1930's.

"We loved the area so much that Lera and I decided to retire and move to Rockport the first of 1970.

"We bought a home at 804 Pine Ave. - Oak Terrace - in 1963 and this is where we still reside.

"My wife and I are members of the Rockport Methodist Church.

"I am a member of the Rockport Lions Club serving as second vice - president at the present time.

"I also am a member of The American Rose Society. My hobbies are fishing and raising roses."

County Treasurer To Seek Re-election

Mrs. Ettoll (Duck) Harrist Eller has announced that she will seek re-election as Aransas County Treasurer, subject to the May 4 Democratic primary election and the November general election.

Mrs. Eller was first elected county treasurer in 1950 and took office in January of 1951, becoming the first woman to be elected to a county office in Aransas County. She has held the office ever since.

Regulations Announced About May 4 Demo Primary Election

The Aransas County Democratic Executive Committee wishes to remind all candidates seeking nomination in the Democratic Primary and all political committees that they must comply with the laws governing campaign contributions and expenditures, particularly the new laws imposed by House Bill 4, passed by the Legislature in 1973.

Before any contributions can be accepted or expenditures made, every candidate and every political committee must designate a campaign manager by written appointment filed as follows: State or district office, Secretary of State; County Office, County Clerk.

A candidate may designate himself as campaign manager.

Forms for such appointments are available in the office of Ruby Hart, County Clerk.

Candidates and political committees must keep accurate records of contributions and expenditures, including the complete names, addresses, dates and amounts of contributions and expenditures in excess of $10.00 and must file sworn statements with the appropriate officials as follows: First Primary - May 4, 1974, Filing Date and Period Covered.

1) March 25, 1974 through Wednesday, April 3, 1974 (40-31 days prior to election) and date of appointment of campaign manager through March 25, 1974.

2) April 24, 1974 through Monday, April 29, 1974 (7-10 days prior to the election extended to the following Monday) and March 26, 1974 - April 24, 1974.

3) May 18, 1974 through Tuesday, June 4, 1974 (14-31 days after election) and April 25, 1974 - May 18, 1974.

4) June 18, 1974 through Friday, July 5, 1974 and May 19, 1974 through June 18, 1974.

5) January 1, 1975 through January 15, 1975 and June 19, 1974 through December 31, 1974.

6) Then an annual filing on or before January 15, of each year and January 1 - December 31 of the prior year.

The new legislation likewise imposes upon contributors the responsibility of seeing that their contributions are reported, if they contribute a sum aggregating more than $100 for any one election.

It is also possible that party executive committees such as Democratic Executive Committees, Republican and La Raza Unida Executive Committees must comply with the requirements of the legislation. The question was not satisfactorily answered at a seminar sponsored by the Secretary of State held in Austin on January 3rd. At their meeting on January 4th the Texas Democratic County Chairmen requested Mark W. White, Jr., Secretary of State to secure an opinion from Attorney General John Hill determining whether political executive committees would be subject to the laws during the times primary nominations are being held or whether the laws would become applicable to them only during the times preceding general elections held in November.

Democratic County Chairman Lola L. Bonner has a four-page directive pertaining to the campaign contributions and expenditures law, should any candidate or political committee desire to see a copy.

Ruby Hart To Seek Re-election

Mrs. Ruby Hart has announced her intention to seek re-election as County Clerk. She won the post, unopposed, in 1972, and will seek a full four-year term in the May 4 Democratic primary election.

Concerned Women To Meet Jan. 16

The Concerned Women of Aransas County will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, January 16, at the Presbyterian Church. Future plans for the Concern Center will be made and officers for the coming year will be elected.

County Declines To Pay 1974 Dues to COG

On December 31 there was a special meeting of the County Commissioners Court with the following members present: John D. Wendell, County Judge; Erle Eller, Commissioner Precinct No. 1; Wanda Sparks, Commissioner Precinct No. 2; Raymond Owens, Commissioner Precinct No. 3; Charley Hale, Commissioner Precinct No. 4 and Ruby Hart, County Clerk. A bill was presented to the court from the Coastal Bend Council of Governments stating that the dues for Aransas County is $500. After due consideration it was unanimously decided by the court not to pay the dues for 1974 at the present time.

A letter was read from Oil Spill Association requesting a contribution of $500 from Aransas County for 1974. Contribution was unanimously approved.

It was unanimously decided by the Court to pro rate the money from the Game Refuge in the amount of $30,618 fifty-fifty with Aransas County Independent School District.

New Law About Marriage

Mrs. Ruby Hart, County Clerk, announces new state family code which went into effect Jan. 1, and applies to a young couple wanting to get married. The revised state law will also cause persons who are getting a divorce and want to marry immediately a little delay. They will have to wait at least 30 days.

The legal age for a marriage license is 18 years. A person applying for a marriage license can submit for proof of age any official document, with his age or birthday, instead of the formerly mandatory birth certificate or baptismal papers.

The new law states that a boy or girl under 16 years of age must get permission from a district court. If the applicant is 16 years of age or older but under 18 years of age, the county clerk shall issue the license only if parental consent is given.

Marriage licenses must be returned to the county clerk's office within 30 days after the marriage. A violation of this law is punishable by a fine of $200 to $500.

Other portion of the family code state: That when one of two persons seeking a marriage license cannot be present, the absent applicant must submit to the county clerk's office an affidavit with required information. There were approximately 100 marriage licenses issued in Aransas County for the past year.

Carl Krueger Receives Honor

Carl C. Krueger, Jr., chairman of Key Allegro Development and Sales Company, has been appointed as a member of the University of Houston Victoria Center's newly created Council for Development.

It was previously announced that James H. Sorenson, Jr., president of First National Bank of Rockport, had been appointed to the Council.

The Council will act as an advisory structure for the UH Victoria Center in planning future academic and physical growth. The Center, now in its first year of operation, serves a 15 county area. Enrollment for the fall semester totaled 360 students, 60 per cent of them on the graduate level.

No Trash Burning After January 15

County Judge John D. Wendell announces that beginning Jan. 15 no burning of trash will be permitted at the county dump grounds in Fulton.

This is in accordance with state and federal non-pollution regulations which actually went into effect Jan. 1, 1974. An extension was granted by the State Health Department for Aransas County because a compacting machine had not arrived prior to Jan. 1. The machine is expected to be here by Jan. 15.

Judge Wendell points out that residents of the county (outside the city limits) will have to haul their garbage or trash to the county dump grounds or have it hauled there by a garbage removal firm.

The charge for disposing of garbage and trash at the dump grounds, according to Judge Wendell, will range from a minimum of 25 cents for a small load to $1.40 per cubic yard of waste materials.

At the dump grounds, a compacting machine owned by Frank Kelly of Sinton, will compact the garbage and trash and then Kelly trucks will haul it to a sanitary land fill in the Sinton area.

City residents will continue to receive garbage collection services from the city (at higher prices) and this garbage and trash will be hauled to the county dump grounds and handled in the same way as described above.

Fulton Lions Aux. Emergency List

The Fulton Lions Auxiliary, with Mrs. K. L. Thomas serving as president, has compiled a list of officials in this area who people may wish to contact in case of emergencies.

The list contains the names of fire chiefs, fire marshal, civil defense officials, constables, city police, Sheriff's Department officers, ambulance operator, and information about the availability of emergency equipment such as oxygen tanks, resuscitators and breathing assists.

These emergency lists have been widely distributed throughout the Rockport - Fulton-Lamar area.

CHINA IS OFFERED TO DEPOSITORS OF 1st NATIONAL BANK

Wide interest has been shown in First National Bank's program for providing Franciscan-designed table china at low cost to depositors, according to Mary Lueders who is in charge of new accounts at the bank.

The bank's plan offers the first place setting consisting of a dinner plate, cup and saucer free for opening a new savings account of $25 or more, adding $25 or more to an existing savings account or opening a new checking account with a deposit of $100 or more. The free place settings are limited to one to a family.

Each additional deposit of $25 or more permits purchase of various other units of the china set at substantially reduced prices. For those in a hurry, a complete service for eight may be obtained for $64.95 when a new savings account is opened with a deposit of $500 or more or $500 is added to an existing savings account. Also, the 64-piece set may be obtained for the same price when a new checking account is opened with a deposit of $500 or more.

A choice of two patterns -- Cottonwood or White Lace -- is available.

Mrs. Lueders says some young people are using the plan to add to "hope chests", while several young couples are replacing ordinary china with the Franciscan-designed china. A number of older families are taking advantage of the opportunity to replace china sets that have become depleted through breakage.

"This program provides a pleasant and rewarding way to acquire high quality china while adding to a savings program," Mrs. Lueders said.

Fashion

A clever seamstress may be able to turn wool dresses which are worn on the sleeves, into jumpers. Cut out the sleeves and neckline and wear the result with a colorful blouse.

Fake furs are used a great deal this season. Some fur-like fabrics have deep piles and are fashioned into dresses or pants suits.

Does a red sunset actually tell us anything about tomorrow's weather? The old saying is frequently heard about a red sky at the end of the day -- that it means clear, cold weather.

Practically all sections of the United States the prevailing direction of the movement of the gas layer circling the earth (the weather) is west to east. Today's weather was actually over some point westward yesterday -- probably several hundred miles away.

If the sun sets red, that means dry, dusty air is toward the west, between the viewer and the sun -- hence the red color. If the air to the west is dry and dusty and is moving toward the viewer, it will be overhead in coming hours. Chances are the weather will be fair in the immediate future.

The reason for assuming a red sunset means cold weather lies in the fact that clearing weather usually follows the passage of a cold front. In the winter months, most of the fronts are cold and, thus, more often than not, a clear weather sign occurs behind a cold front.

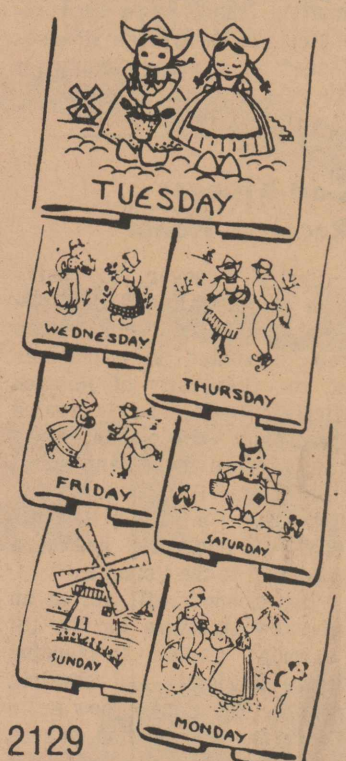

Fix-It Tip

There are electric motors in many heating systems -- on blowers in forced-air systems, on circulating pumps for hot water systems. Motor maintenance is generally the same. Locate the lubrication points and oil two or three times a year.

Keep dirt off radiators and hot-water registers. Dirt keeps the warm air from circulating freely. Vacuum registers regularly. Now and then remove the covers and get in for a thorough cleaning.

Filters in a hot-air system must be changed regularly. If the filter is permanent, wash it often. Don't wait until it is thoroughly clogged. Even a small amount of dirt will cut down the flow of air.

Tourist Says Energy Will Be Saved If Vacationers Stay Here

Raymond F. Cole, a tourist from the north who is staying at Idylwild Motel Apartments, has sent the following letter to Congressman John Young:

"In regard to the fuel shortage, I would like to inform you that thousands of tourists, like myself, have started to be alarmed about obtaining enough gasoline this spring to reach our respective states in the north. According to the news they plan to ration gasoline about the 1st of March.

"As I understand it each driver of a car will have to go to their banks in their home towns and buy their books, and that travelers from the north or Canada will have to buy on the black or white market or wherever they can, in order to get home. This will cause thousands of these folks to go home in February, forcing many senior citizens (some over 80) to drive over icy and dangerous roads, some will be pulling trailers. When they do reach home they will each use at least 200 gallons of fuel for heating, besides the 35 gallons of gas.

"To me this doesn't make sense. It would be better to let us stay until warm weather, then go to the banks here and after showing proof that we need gas to go home, authorize the banks here to give us the stamps we would need. This could be carried on in future years. When we get ready to come south again next winter it would work the same. The southern states would get the benefit of our being here and the senior citi-

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smiley

MANY new TV shows will be smiling for viewer approval as the season pivots at mid-point and dribbles toward the out-time of summer reruns. This TV season, although scoring well in spots, is not the bounciest that has ever entered competition. Many blame the now-settled writer's strike for the lack of upper case calligraphy.

LOOK for the new ones! AT ONE TIME during the Christmas holidays one thought it was the middle of the summer, what with all of the REPEATS on television. These in addition to the regular rerun of traditional Christmas stories, which were appreciated.

HOPE for better TV nights may be hobbling over the horizon, however.

NOW that the FCC has decided to relax the prime-time "access" rule slightly, agitation is being renewed for some kind of a curb on the rainstorm of network reruns.

THE SCREEN ACTORS GUILD is pressing for more original programming as a means of increasing employment. The networks argue that cutting back on reruns would be a severe shock to their pocketbooks.

IN THE MEANTIME TV industry leaders are still under the eye and fang of those who are disturbed over the potency of televised violence. Networks are to take significant steps to curb violence and mayhem on the tube.

The Kinsay Report

An unidentified third grade child wrote the following essay on "That Is a Grandmother".

"A grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own. She likes other people's little boys and girls. A grandfather is a man grandmother. He goes on walks with boys and they talk about fishing and tractors and things like that.

"Grandmothers don't have anything to do but be there. They are old so they shouldn't play hard or run. It is enough, if they drive us to the market where the pretend horse is, and have plenty of dimes ready, or if they take us for a walk, they should also slow down past things like pretty flowers or caterpillars.

"They should never say hurry up. Usually they are fat, but not too fat to tie your shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth and gums off. It is better they don't typewrite or play cards except with us. "They don't have to be smart only answer questions like 'why do dogs chase cats', and 'how come God isn't married'."

"They don't talk baby talk like visitors do because it is hard to understand. When they read to us they don't skip or mind if it is the same story again.

"Everybody should have one, especially if you don't have a television because grandmothers are the only grownups who have time."

Letter to the Editor

Rockport and Fulton have a deserved reputation as an art center, and the charming parks along the waterfronts are a tribute to the many people who worked hard to create their beauty.

Now we hear the Paws and Taws building may be set in the middle of the Fulton park. However useful, the hall is no Taj Mahal. Must it be placed on Fulton's front lawn?

Are we in haste undoing the progress toward making the Fulton waterfront more beautiful?

Caroline Gray Ward

Sue Stinson was admitted to Doctors Hospital Friday, January 4 and underwent knee surgery on Monday.

B.J. Crowley's HOROSCOPE

Week of January 13, 1974

CAPRICORN--Hard workers, those born under this sign usually succeed in business. They are resourceful and economical. Their lucky day is Wednesday. Their lucky number is 7. Their best color is brown.

CAPRICORN--Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Someone close to you offers a workable plan. Adopt their idea for it will set a good trend in business for you.

AQUARIUS--Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--A positive attitude will carry you through a situation which would otherwise be difficult. Friends are extremely helpful. Look for a much happier period soon.

PISCES--Feb. 19 to March 20--You cannot achieve your goals if you let modesty overtake you. Put your timidity behind you. Go after what you want.

ARIES--March 21 to April 20--Curb your aggressiveness! Circumstances are changing favorably. No matter how much it hurts, you must learn to listen to and let others talk about themselves.

TAURUS--April 21 to May 20--A pleasant week may be expected. Someone for whom you care will return your overtures of affection.

GEMINI--May 21 to June 20--Buy the things you need for your home. Adding new kitchen equipment and appliances or purchasing new carpet may be examples of those things which need to be done.

CANCER--June 21 to July

FIGHTING OFF TRAFFIC, Detroit Piston center Bob Lanier looks for someone to pass to while Cleveland's Austin Carr does his best to obstruct the play during a recent game in Detroit.

22-- There is a good chance that you will discover that you have a great deal in common with someone you thought you disliked. Let this friendship develop.

LEO--July 23 to Aug. 22--Be sympathetic with those who need sympathy, but don't be "easy" when someone asks for a loan. Start a sound savings program for yourself.

VIRGO--Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--Become weight conscious! Weight control and balanced diet are the key words for good health. Planned menus could be the answer.

LIBRA--Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--You are wrong to assume that you are always right. You must listen to the wishes and demands of others, giving them the same consideration you want for yourself.

SCORPIO--Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--If you are unhappy in your work, consider a change. Explore the possibilities of an entirely different field of endeavor.

SAGITTARIUS--Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--Do what you can for your friends and neighbors, but don't let your good nature permit them to impose on you. Stand up for your rights.

Week of January 6, 1974

CAPRICORN--Hard workers, those born under this sign usually succeed in business. They are resourceful and economical. Their lucky day is Wednesday. Their lucky number is 7. Their best color is brown.

CAPRICORN--Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Don't let interruptions slow you down. Get your work done. Then take a day off to do some of the things you enjoy.

AQUARIUS--Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--Resolve as this new year begins to make family togetherness a more important part of your life. Begin by planning a special dinner.

PISCES--Feb. 19 to March 20--Plan some special event this week. Change could mean higher productivity in your work. Money matters should be better than ever.

ARIES--March 21 to April 20--Laugh and the world laughs with you! Cry and you cry alone! There is a message in this old cliché for you. Smile even when the going gets rough and you'll come out a winner.

TAURUS--April 21 to May 20--Go out to dine somewhere you've never been this week. Relax! Added prestige is coming your way. Enjoy it! You've earned it.

GEMINI--May 21 to June 20--Slow down long enough to look and listen! How long has it been since you've allowed yourself the pleasure of your natural surroundings.

CANCER--June 21 to July 22--Your ego doesn't need to be fed. Be modest about your many fine talents and accomplishments. People will find out without your telling them.

LEO--July 23 to Aug. 22--To feel free and independent you must stop accepting unwanted invitations. Don't even make an attempt to meet the unreasonable demands made upon your time. Use your time constructively.

VIRGO--Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--Information you are seeking can be found in a book. Read one this week. Light may come from an unexpected phrase, paragraph or chapter.

LIBRA--Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--Stop feeling sorry for yourself. You can have a well balanced life if you want it badly enough to put forth the effort.

SCORPIO--Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Expect a good week when sharing pleasant memories with a friend will be enjoyable. Call a friend you have neglected to contact.

SAGITTARIUS--Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--Look in your closet! If your wardrobe has become dull, shop for new clothing, adding brightly colored items.

News From Sen. Bentsen

At a time when it seems the worldwide fashion to downgrade America, I was gratified recently to read a newspaper article by a Canadian commentator, Gordon Sinclair, in praise of our country.

I want to share with you much of what Mr. Sinclair says—and some thoughts he inspires in me.

He points out that America lifted Germany, Japan, and, to a lesser extent, Britain and Italy, out of "the debris of war" by pouring in billions of dollars in aid.

He notes that we were the ones who propped up the franc when it was in danger of collapsing in 1936—and our "reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris."

Who is it, Sinclair asks in his Toronto commentary, who rushes in to help "when distant cities are hit by earthquakes," if it is not America? Yet when "59 American communities were flattened by tornadoes" last spring, nobody even offered a helping hand.

And Mr. Sinclair touches upon the darling of the American frontier spirit when he asks, "Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?" Japanese technology produces radios, German technology produces automobiles; but American technology, he points out, sends men to the moon and brings them safely home again.

When it comes to scandals, we put ours "right in the store window for everybody to look at." What other country's citizens would be so outraged by such happenings? We Americans expect more from ourselves and from our government. We are unwilling to abandon our idealism, for we are the bearers of the torch of freedom. Perhaps that is one reason we are the oldest constitutional government on earth.

Our transportation system is threatened by the energy crisis. Mr. Sinclair reminds us that "when the railways of France, Germany, and India were breaking down through age, it was the Americans who rebuilt them." On the other hand, "when the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke, nobody loaned them an old caboose."

Mr. Sinclair goes on to say that he can name 5,000 times when Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble, but that he can't even name one time when someone else raced to Americans in trouble.

Then he reaches this important conclusion: "Our neighbors have faced it alone, and I'm one Canadian who is tired of hearing them kicked around. They will come out of this thing with their flag high."

And we will, too. We have recently been through trying months, and difficult days lie ahead; but is this a harder time than the long midnight of World War II, when we fought for our lives on two sides of the world? Or the Great Depression, when soup lines were commonplace and no work was to be found? Or the Civil War, when our nation was split asunder? I think not.

Already, for example, we are beginning to deal with the energy shortage. In the month of November Americans reduced oil and gas consumption by 7.3%, and we did it on a strictly voluntary basis. People are cutting back—turning down thermostats, using less electricity, driving more slowly. And we have shown many times that we are capable of further sacrifices, if they are needed.

But somehow, many people seem to have overlooked the depth of our ability in the continuing wave of criticism leveled at our government, our economy, our people, our way of life. At a time when many foreign governments appear to be gloating over our present troubles, it is particularly uplifting to hear from this Canadian broadcaster who pays tribute to America's generosity; who describes us as "the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth."

We can be grateful to friends like Gordon Sinclair who are willing to speak up for us, at a time when we need it.

Man may be taking one more step in his efforts to communicate with the animals. Since the beginning of time men have tried this, and, of course, they have been quite successful in teaching some domestic animals to obey certain signals and commands, but actual communications have been sketchy at best.

For years men have believed that the bottle-nosed dolphin, or what we normally call a porpoise, had the intelligence to establish communications, but there was one drawback. Human speech normally covers a range of 20 to 4000 cycles per second and the noises that dolphins make run from 5000 to 20,000 cycles per second. It sounds to us like a high-pitched whistle.

A translator is being developed that may bridge this gap. In use a man speaks into the translator, using a special "intermediate language" which has been developed for this purpose. The translating circuits of the machine turn the sounds into a frequency modulated electronic whistle within the sound spectrum of the dolphins. Whistles made by the dolphins are picked up by special underwater microphones and converted by other circuitry into a series of double pulses. These, in turn, are converted into sounds very similar to those used in the "intermediate language". Two dolphins, in training, have already learned 18 words in this language. Maybe the time will come when we will actually be able to talk to dolphins.

The U. S. Navy has expressed a great deal of interest in this project. They believe that dolphins may be trained to carry out a variety of communication and intelligence tasks. As a matter of fact, dolphins have already been trained by the Navy to respond to sound signals and they have been used to assist divers by taking tools to them, delivering messages, and things like that, but we've never been able to actually talk to them.

Wouldn't it be wonderful, and now it seems that it's not beyond the realm of possibility, to just go down to the dock and check with your dolphin friend Joe, and ask him if the redfish are moving in yet. This is a long way off, sure, if it ever becomes possible, but when I was a boy who, other than a boy, would have believed it possible for three men to circle the earth for months at a time, several hundred miles out in space, and continue to communicate with both words and pictures with their earth-bound friends. Who would have ever believed that.

Misses Bracht Hold Party

Misses Mabel and Genevieve Bracht were hostesses for a "Let's Make a Deal" luncheon and bridge party at their home. Each guest was given a chance to make a deal. The lady who made the best deal was Mrs. Irene Powers and the second high was Mrs. Buelah MacMillan.

Guests were Mrs. A. E. Sparks, Mrs. Irene Powers, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Jim Ferguson, Mrs. Fred Bracht, Mrs. Clanche Harris, Mrs. Buelah MacMillan, Mrs. Max Gardner and Mrs. C. G. Melton.

William H. Bloch Tells War Experience

A return visit to the area of his World War II experiences in the South Pacific was described in words and color slide films by William H. Bloch at a Rotary Club luncheon meeting at the Ramada Inn, January 2.

Bloch, a former Marine Corps officer, took his daughter, Candy Lee, age 15, on a journey of remembrance which covered the Solomon Islands, including Bougainville and Guadalcanal, where he served during the war, but also New Guinea, New Zealand and Australia and other South Sea Islands.

His pictures included examples of the still-surviving relics of war, such as rusting landing craft, wrecked airplanes, abandoned guns and even one former Japanese headquarters cave with war maps still on the walls.

In addition, he pictured current cultural, commercial and agricultural scenes, including a native courtroom scene in which the judge was distinguishable by his bone-pierced nose and ceremonial dress. Court was held out-of-doors and members of the jury squatted on the ground.

Bloch said many of the tribes, especially those living in the interior of the islands had been little influenced by intrusion of Japanese, Australian and Americans during the war. It is reliably reported that some of them continue to be active head-hunters, according to Bloch.

On the other hand, air strips constructed during the war have made it possible to provide many of the islands with modern transportation, albeit of a somewhat risky quality.

A mixture of the modern and the primitive was evident throughout Bloch's discussion and pictures. A modern motor car was shown in a grass thatched garage, and one of the most modern motels he encountered was housed in a series of thatched buildings.

TO LIVE WITH
ELECTRICITY?"

Years ago, Central Power and Light made it possible for South Texans to start relying on dependable, economical electricity.

We're proud of our 57 years of service. And now that CPL is faced with a growing fuel shortage, it will take the best of what we've always stood for to see us through.

The problems are serious, and we're meeting them head-on to protect your electric service. So that you and Mrs. James Thigpen of Harlingen know where we stand, here's what the situation is, what CPL is doing about these problems, and what you can do to help. It's this simple:

Because of a lack of natural gas and fuel oil, it's becoming a tougher job to produce electricity. We're exploring all possible sources of natural gas and oil to see us through the fuel shortage. And, we're producing these messages to keep you informed.

We're also asking you to help by conserving electricity. And CPL is making available to you an easy-to-read booklet of energy-saving tips.

Will we have to cut back on the amount of electricity available to homes and businesses?

We don't think so. And if we told you right now that we have all the answers, it would be misleading. But we are searching for those answers.

Answers that will solve our immediate problems... and those of the future.

If you'd like to know more about the energy crisis in South Texas... what we're doing about it, and how you can help, write John Speaker, P. O. Box 2121, Corpus Christi, Texas 78403.

Jackson-Mosel Vows Read

The marriage of Miss Jamie Leah Mosel of San Antonio to Frederick Barton Jackson was solemnized by Rev. John Sokolski, O.M.I., and Rev. A. Arnott Ward in Holy Spirit Catholic Church, San Antonio, on Saturday afternoon.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Mosel, Jr., of San Antonio. The groom is the son of Mrs. James Barton Jackson and the late Mr. Jackson of Rockport.

The bride's gown was of white Quinan jersey, fashioned with a folded high collar, mid-empire walst and long fitted sleeves. She wore a gold cross set with white stones. Her headpiece was a profile cap of white satin and Venise lace, accented with pearls. The elbow length veil was of nylon illusion.

Miss Cathy Eckert of San Antonio was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. David Sweet and Donna Mosel, sisters of the bride, Misses Molly Jackson of Rockport, sister of the groom, and Bobbette Withers of Ft. Worth, and Mrs. Timothy Tischer of Austin.

James Gilbert Jackson of Del Rio, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Fred Campbell and George Schneider of Houston, Michael Bolner of San Antonio, Rick Stanaland of Abilene, and Billy Bob McCauley of Conroe. Erik and Kurt Mosel, brothers of the bride, John P. Jackson, cousin of the groom, and John M. McDavid, Jr., of Rockport, served as ushers.

The bride's sisters, Laura and Lisa Mosel, were flower girls. Master Billy Ney of San Antonio was ringbearer.

A reception was held at Turtle Creek Country Club. Members of the house party were Misses Nan Jackson of Victoria, Ruth Coffey of Corpus Christi, Sandra Ehrler, Margaret Gueinger, Mrs. Steven Worley and Mrs. Al Baladez of San Antonio.

Guests included Mrs. James G. Jackson of Del Rio, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams of New Braunfels, Mr. and Mrs. Evans Corbin of Ingleside, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Abrahams of Taft, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davis of Houston, Mrs. A. Arnott Ward of Corpus Christi;

Mrs. Raulie Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Norman McLead, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Smith, Miss Kathy Smith, Mrs. John M. McDavid, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Jackson, Mrs. John R. Jackson and Bobby Mundine of Rockport.

The bride graduated from Ursuline Academy, San Antonio, and attended Texas A&M University. The groom is a graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School. He attended Texas A&M and is a student at the University of Houston School of Pharmacy.

The couple will live in Houston.

A rehearsal supper was held

Energy Crisis Recommendations

There's no way farmers can make expected 1974 production levels with a 1972 fuel allocation, warned officials of Grain Sorghum Producers Ass'n. and Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

Federal allocations of diesel fuel have placed farmers in the nation's third priority behind oil exploration and public surface transportation. The farmers are to receive month for month the same amount of fuel they purchased in 1972.

Temporary relief from the monthly fuel allocations was granted recently in order that farmers could complete the 1973 harvest. But excess fuel used in a 60 day period starting November 19 will be charged against each farmer's annual allocation.

"Producers first should complete harvest operations," said Jack King, research director for Lubbock, Texas based commodity organizations GSPA and TGSPB.

"We recommend that under present conditions farmers should not prepare more land for 1974 than they farmed in 1972," King continued. He noted that the federal reaction to the tight fuel situation is changing daily and farmers should be extremely careful with 1974 supplies.

Elbert Harp, executive director of GSPA and TGSPB, along with King and other members of the organizations' staff, has been working constantly on the fuel problem with government officials for weeks.

King spent a week in Washington recently and was instrumental in persuading government officials to release farmers temporarily from strict monthly allocations.

"Farmers who prepare more land for '74 crops than they farmed in '72 may run completely out of fuel before the year ends," King warned.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

The sweet potato offers a wide variety in the menu. It is served with the main course or as a dessert.

Baked Sweet Potatoes

6 small sweet potatoes
1/2 c chopped nuts
1/4 c sugar
1/4 c butter

Cook the sweet potatoes in boiling salted water until the skins slip off easily. Peel and roll the hot potatoes in the nuts. Place in greased baking dish, sprinkle with sugar and dot with butter. Cover and bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Uncover and bake 15 minutes more.

Orange Sweet Potatoes

Scoop out halves of orange skins—one for each serving. Boil potatoes with the skins on, peel, mash, add melted butter and orange juice for flavoring. Mix well, pile into orange skins and top with a marshmallow. Bake at 350 degrees until marshmallow is melted.

Library News

Through the generosity of Mrs. P. A. McTerney, sister-in-law of Mrs. Connie Hagar, the library has received a number of books, pictures and memorabilia to add to the general circulation and historical collection of the library.

Jack Horton also contributed a number of books from his collection.

The staff is especially grateful for this type of contribution since it keeps the library better equipped to supply the patrons with interesting material.

With the arrival of new islands, purchased recently, the staff will be rearranging the books and special collections for easier access and better display of books and materials.

The Three Little Pigs (Pork Chop Festival) mural which is on display at the entrance of the library was prepared by Mrs. Vickie Moon, Ginger Henry, Joyce Pyle and Eileen Grosebauer. If you have not seen this, stop in, as it is quite interesting.

The library acknowledges the following for memorials and donations: Vickie Moon, Alma Nell Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hover, Mary Harist, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Harrison, Mrs. Estle Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Province Winkler.

Rotary birthday plan for the month of January will feature Tom Rogers.

Library hours are 12 noon to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Protect your hands by wearing gloves from chilling and chapping if you prefer hanging clothes outside in cold, windy weather.

SHAKER FURNITURE — PURITY AND TRANQUILITY

America has produced many indigenous styles of furniture, but one of the most beautiful and enduring is the furniture evolved by the Shakers.

The Shaker sect, which has all but died out today, was a utopian religious order composed of "families" who withdrew from the world to live and work in semi-monastic communes. They hoped, by leading lives of the utmost purity and simplicity, to avoid the corruption and vanities of a wicked world and thus live according to God's holy ordinance. They advocated community of possessions, pacifism, separation from the world, equality of the sexes, cleanliness, harmony, order, and unity of the spirit.

Shaker communities contained from 30 to 90 people. When a believer entered a commune, or family, he donated to it his goods and his services. All work in the dwellings, workshops, or fields was carried out cooperatively, though men and women worked at different tasks and lived and ate separately.

The Shakers were isolated, but not cloistered.

Hook rug, chairs and basket of Shaker Colony, Hancock, Mass., Index of American Design, National Gallery of Art.

They were exceptional farmers and craftsmen; their herbs, seeds, crops, furniture, and textiles were widely sold. They communicated with the world, but tried to keep themselves aloof from such worldliness as sharp business practices, political intrigues, displays of wealth, and cheap methods of production. Decoration and ornamentation of all kinds were considered sinful, so their houses were spare and simple, their manners gentle, their fabrics woven in the plainest patterns, their craft products unpretentious and unadorned. Shakerism was strongest and most vigorous, with its largest recorded membership, between 1800 and 1850. The sect was extensive enough to require a steady supply of domestic products. Although widely separated, the various communities inspired and supported one another. A fine piece of furniture made within one family was carried as a model to another, a process which helped to develop a distinct native craft and establish a high standard of excellence, and which accounted for the remarkable uniformity of furniture design.

Every artifact made in the Shaker workshops was solidly constructed and designed for practical use and utility. American colonial furniture was plain and humble, but in the hands of Shaker carpenters the design was reduced to its most functional and basic. Shaker furniture is characterized by utter simplicity and purity of line, by gradual tapering of legs and finials, soft subtleties of turning, and by exquisite attention to detail. As much care was put into the making of a piece of industrial equipment (a carpenter's or a cobbler's bench, stools, work-counters) as for any dresser or chest for the dwellings. No piece ever boasted a veneer. Shaker workmen used only the lightest and most delicate stains and varnishes, exposing the grain and leaving the wood bright and unspoiled.

Because of the communal order of living, furniture was adapted to the use of groups rather than individuals; desks were made to accommodate two students; sewing tables were built with drawers which could be pulled from either side so friends or sisters might work together; laundry trestles were made so that several women might iron or fold clothing at the same time; cupboards were large, tables and benches very long, chests copious.

The Shakers did not scorn beauty, for beauty, too, was a gift of God, but it was their intention to eliminate the frills, scrolls, and curlicues which were merely distractions, the self-indulgence of fashion. It is perhaps ironical, then, that today their furniture is sought and admired not for its usefulness but for its purity of form, its satisfying lines — in short, for its beauty.

The cohesive religious philosophy which pervaded every corner of the Shakers' daily life was revealed also in their crafts. You have only to look at a collection of Shaker furniture to know that there is tranquility and peace in these simple things.

Something Snappy In a Bag!

AUSTIN — The red snapper is the aristocrat of the Gulf, with its brilliant red coloring and savory white flesh, it's a favorite of not only Texans but Yankees as well.

Snapper grow to 2 1/2 feet long and can weigh as much as 30 pounds. Most market-sized snappers are smaller and can be purchased in many weights to fit the needs of any size family.

According to Rocelle Campbell, seafood home economist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, snapper adapts well to many methods of cookery and is delicious broiled, baked, steamed, fried or poached. The following recipe is a prime example of the red snapper's versatility. And it may save your sanity on those nights when you don't mind cooking but the thought of cleaning up the mess afterwards has you tearing your hair out.

"Red Snapper En Papillote" takes a minimum of preparation, and all you have to do to get your kitchen back to order is to throw away the cooking bag.

For additional seafood recipes, send a postcard with your name and address to "Seafood," Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

RED SNAPPER en PAPILOTE

- 2 lbs. red snapper fillets, or other fresh fillets
- 1 medium green pepper, sliced into rings
- 1 medium onion, sliced into rings
- 1 tsp. paprika
- 1/4 c. melted butter or margarine
- 2 tbs. lemon juice
- 2 tsp. salt
- dash pepper

Brush fillets with half the melted butter and sprinkle with seasonings. Position plastic cooking bag onto a baking pan and insert remaining butter, lemon juice, green pepper, and onion. Place fillets in bag on top of vegetables. Close bag and puncture a few small holes according to instructions with bag. Bake for 20 to 25 minutes at 375 degrees. Slit bag and serve directly, or arrange fillets on serving dish and garnish with cooked vegetables and fresh lemon wedges. Makes four to six servings.

LUNCHEON MENU

The following luncheon menu selections will be offered in the schools next week:

Junior High Basketball News

Rockport-Fulton Junior High 7th and 8th grades dropped their opening district basketball games to the Gregory-Portland Wildcats.

The 7th grade Bucs started to an early 6-2 lead. However, foul trouble and Gregory-Portland's Williams teamed to give the Wildcats the victory. Jimmy Cruser fouled out before the half and Charles McLead played most of the second half with 4 fouls. McLead was high point man for the 7th grade Bucs with 8 points. The final score was Gregory-Portland 42, Rockport 21. The 7th grade record is now 1 win, 6 losses.

Poor shooting from the field and a cold night at the free throw line enabled Gregory-Portland to slip by the 8th grade Bucs 22-19. The 8th grade Bucs were 1 of 8 from the free throw line, while the Wildcats were 8 of 13. This leaves the 8th grade record at 5 wins, 4 losses and a 0-1 start for district play.

The Bucs play Taft at Taft today, Dec. 10. Games start at 5:30.

"So McDodge lost his mind, you say?"
"Sure, he did. Went crazy trying to find the shady side of the street at noon."

Wedding Here Is Announced

A special occasion occurred during a visit from Mrs. William R. Sanders' mother, Macel Cockerill during the holidays.

Ms. Cockerill was married to Gene Chicoine on Dec. 30, with Rev. Molmen officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders attended the couple with granddaughter Debbi as special guest. A dinner at Sea Gun followed the ceremony.

The couple will visit several states on their return to their home in Stow, Ohio.

SECOND CHRISTMAS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Skrobarcek of Rockport and Corpus Christi are celebrating a second Christmas with their daughter, Jorjean and husband, Arthur Stacks, and grandchildren, Heather Anne and Russell, The Stacks live in El Paso.

Due to business affairs, they were unable to be with the Skrobarcek family at Christmas, but a happy get-together with the rest of the Skrobarcek family to celebrate a belated Christmas, and January birthdays is due this week.

Several parties are planned, with a dinner dance at the country club in Corpus Christi, Saturday evening. Mrs. Stacks graduated from Texas Woman's University and Mr. Stacks from the University of Texas.

You'll Be Fond Of Fish Fondue

AUSTIN--When the temperature drops and holiday spirits reign, thoughts turn to cozy rooms filled with friends and plenty of good things to eat.

A fireplace is ideal for such things as chestnut roasting and marshmallow cooking, but party goers should not be deterred over the absence of a fireplace since a lot of fun can be had around a fondue pot.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's seafood marketing division suggests that "Fish Fondue" is an interesting change from the more traditional snack ideas, and it is so easy to prepare that you can spend your time with your guests and not in the kitchen.

"Most Texans are fortunate to live in areas where seafood is readily available," according to Rocille Campbell, the department's seafood home economist. She says that shrimp, oysters, redfish and speckled trout are all excellent for fondue.

According to Miss Campbell, the following recipe will get you started on your fish fondue party, but other ways to use fish fondue are limited only by your imagination.

Other exciting recipes can be obtained by sending a postcard with your name and address to Seafood Marketing, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

FISH FONDUE

Enough fresh fish, oysters and raw Gulf shrimp to allow 1/3 to 1/2 lb. of seafood per person

7 or 8 slices of bacon
1 quart cooking oil
1 teaspoon salt

Clean and peel shrimp, leaving on last shell segment and tail section. Cut fish into slices or bite-size pieces. Drain oysters well, roll in flour, and wrap each in 1/3 slice of bacon. Secure with a wooden pick. Half fill fondue pot with cooking oil. Add salt and heat oil to approximately 375 degrees. Spear seafood with fondue fork and fry in hot oil until lightly browned. Shrimp require a minute or less to cook. Fish need a bit more time, depending on size of piece. Provide sauces as desired.

Accent on Health

J. E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Smoking has long been recognized as a hazard to health, but evidence now suggests that even the non-smoker suffers from the harmful effect of smoking, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Since the first Surgeon General's first report on the health consequences of smoking on January 11, 1964, evidence has continued to mount up to the effects of smoking. That first report created quite a sensation and received wide coverage by the communication media. The findings implicating cigarette smoking in cancer and coronary and pulmonary illnesses are voluminous.

This led to curtailments of cigarette television advertisements and the printing of a warning label on cigarette packages which states: "Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous To Your Health."

Since 1963, the per capita consumption of cigarettes by adults 18 and over has dropped from 4,345 per year to just over 4,000 per year in 1972. And, reports a national authority, in the past seven years more than 29,000,000 cigarette smokers have given up smoking.

To mark that first Surgeon General's report, a National Education Week on Smoking is conducted each January in the when smokers light up without asking permission; and

"3, the right to act through legislative channels or social pressures to restrict smoking in public places."

During the special week in January, clubs, organizations and medical groups will be asked to endorse the "Non-Smoker's Bill of Rights" and to request members to refrain from smoking during meetings --or to set aside separate smoking areas. Physicians, dentists and other health professionals will be asked to restrict smoking in their offices. Their influence also is being sought to persuade hospitals and other care facilities to limit smoking. Cooperation also will be requested of business and industry to limit smoking among employees. And, state and local legislation will be sought to restrict or separate smokers in public places and conveyances.

For far too long, says the Interagency Council, non-smokers have suffered in silence the discomforts and threats to their health caused by inconsiderate smokers. Non-smokers constitute a two-to-one majority in relation to smokers.

Breathing of contaminated air caused by smokers can be extremely harmful to those around them. The American Medical Association estimates that at least 34 million Americans are sensitive to cigarette smoke. They may have respiratory conditions which are made worse, often dangerously so, by tobacco fumes.

A survey in Detroit homes concluded that smokers' children were sick more frequently than non-smokers' children. One test made in Germany showed that smoking of several cigarettes in a closed room makes the concentration of nicotine and dust particles so high in just a short time that the non-smoker inhales as much harmful tobacco as the smoker inhales from four or five cigarettes.

Smoke from an idling cigarette contains almost twice the tar and nicotine of an inhaled cigarette and thus may be twice as toxic as smoke inhaled by the smoker. Since pipe and cigar smokers inhale less than cigarette smokers, they contribute relatively unfiltered smoke into the air.

While health authorities would like to see all smokers quit for health reasons, they realize this is an impractical goal. But during the weeks ahead, and from this time forward, they hope to convince as many smokers as possible to show greater consideration for those who do not smoke by restricting their habits in public places.

PUBLIC NOTICES

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To Billy C. Williams Defendant, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 36th Judicial District Court of Aransas County at the Court House thereof, in Rockport, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 21st day of January A.D. 1974, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 8th day of June A.D. 1973, in this cause, numbered 4832 on the docket of said court and styled John Anderson, et al, Plaintiff, vs. Billy C. Williams, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

Plaintiff John Anderson claims damages in excess of $1,000.00 for storing and repairing defendant's boat pursuant to an agreement. Compensation for plaintiff's services is due and unpaid, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Rockport, Texas this 4th day of December A.D. 1973.

Attest: Agnes A. Harden, Clerk, District Court, Aransas County, Texas. c43

NEW INCOME TAX FORMS, INSTRUCTIONS SIMPLER

AUSTIN, TEXAS -- Do-it-yourselfers will find the task a little easier when it comes to filling out their 1973 income tax returns, according to Richard J. Stakem, Jr., IRS district director for southern Texas.

Those who have never prepared their own returns ought to try it this year, he suggests. The nation's tax collectors have come up with some welcome changes.

Schedule B, where dividends and interest were reported last year, is deleted. Out, also, is the requirement to list names and dates for claiming payments to doctors, dentists and hospitals. And, taxpayers will no longer have to list charitable contributions where they have receipts or cancelled checks to prove the donations.

The 1040A form, preferred by one-third of the country's taxpayers last year, is expected to move even higher on the popularity chart with the lifting of income ceiling restrictions. You will be able to use the short form for 1973 no matter how high your income so long as it was from wages, salaries, tips, dividends and interest--and you use the standard deduction.

The Revenue Sharing section of the return came under the paring knife. Only one block survived--county of residence.

The Presidential Election Campaign Fund checkoff block is moved to a prominent position on the front page. In case you didn't participate in the campaign fund provision last year, you'll have another chance. There is a block for that, too.

Instructions are shortened and reworded in easier-to-understand language. "We intended to make it easier for taxpayers to prepare their own returns and this year's forms package should be proof of that desire," Stakem said.
