15 Rural Accidents In Lamb County During May

The Highway Patrol investigated 15 rural accidents in Lamb County during the month of May according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for twelve persons injured and an estimated property damage of $19,830.

the rural traffic accident summary of Lamb County from January through May 1962 shows a total of 71 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were three persons killed and 53 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $55,685.

Beginning with this month, the Texas Department of Public Safety lends its support each year to the national SLOW DOWN AND LIVE summertime Safety campaign which, as its name indicates, has as its objective the task of emphasizing the need for motorists to control their driving speed. Speed control is vital to Safety, because of the overcrowded condition of the highways caused by thousands of vacation travelers, most of whom are in a big hurry, since vacation time is usually all too short.

The veteran patrol supervisor said, "the hurry attitude freguntly steers them into a speeding violation or, worse than that, a serious accident, or even death itself."

Immediately after this little chit-chat, the janitor was accused by the principal of misplacing the diploma of his grandson. An upheaval of faculty and student body results. A girl finds the diploma in a little cubbyhole of a closet. The principal makes a public acknowledgment of his absent-mindedness in putting the diploma there with other papers and forgetting it.

"What's a good stock for making a fast buck?"

CANADA Do You Know?

Before our civilization had made any impression upon the natives of the North Pacific Coast, these original settlers maintained tribal and family pride.

They possessed an aristocracy —the noble families taking some kind of fish, bird or animal as their name or title, which also furnished a motif for their family crest, an idea not confined to the Pacific Coast alone. It has its counterpart in the lion of Great Britain, the American eagle, the thistle of Scotland, the shamrock of Ireland and the arms of noble families. The practice can be traced indeed throughout all history, among the greatest empires and the most savage tribes.

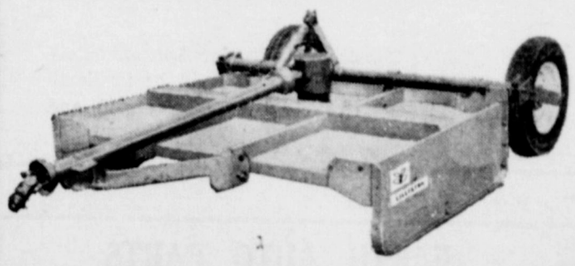

Probably the most photographed totem pole in the world is the one standing in the center of the open square at the Canadian National Railways station at Jasper Village in Jasper National Park, Canadian Rockies.

The colorful Jasper pole was acquired from the Haida Indians from the Queen Charlotte Islands.

FNS

An outstanding example of totem pole art, it stands 65 feet high and it took the Indians three years to complete the carving.

Dress Up Desserts

By Betty Barclay

WHAT to serve for dessert is a constantly recurring question for most homemakers. A good trick to have up your sleeve is a versatile pudding sauce — one that you can serve with left-over cake, fruit-flavored gelatin or just plain fruit. Here's a spicy pudding sauce that's good either warm or cold—and it dresses up any dessert.

Spicy Sauce

1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix; 3 cups reconstituted nonfat dry milk; 1 small bay leaf; ½ teaspoon allspice.

Combine ingredients in a saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat; remove bay leaf. Serve warm or chilled on gelatin dessert, cake squares, or fruit. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Texas State Government Spends Nations 5th Largest Amount For Educational Purposes

Texas State Government in the fiscal year ending in June 1961 paid out the nation's fifth largest amount of money for educational purposes, the Dallas Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce reported.

During the fiscal year, the State's government expendied approximately $506,446,000 for the education of its' students, an amount exceeded only in the States of California, New York, Michigan and Pennsylvania. In doing so, however, Texas dropped from third place in rank among the states in 1951 to fifth place in 1961.

Texas' per captia expenditures last year of $51.74 took it from 12th position among all States in 1951 to 26th place last year. During the decade, the State dropped behind such other states in per capita payments as Arizona, Alabama, Montana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Colorado, Oklahoma, North Dakota, West Virginia, New York, Georgia, Indiana, Vermont, and Florida.

Harry C. Meyers, manager of the Commerce Departments Dallas Field office said, an analysis of a report just revealed that Texas more than doubled the out-go of funds for education in the past decade.

High Plains Water Conservation District Publishes Water Map

LUBBOCK — The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District has announced the publishing of a map which indicates the decline of the ground-water table in the southern High Plains for the 24 year period, 1938 to 1962.

The map is prepared in three colors, black, yellow and red. It uses the different colors to indicate various increments of decline.

A total of five increments are shown — 10-40 feet, 40-60 feet, 60-80 feet and more than 100 feet of decline since 1938.

W. L. (Bill) Broadhurst, chief hydrologist for the High Plains Water District made the decline computations revealed by the color map. His computations were based on water-level measurements made by the U. S. Geological Survey, the Texas Water Commission and the High Plains Water District.

According to Broadhurst, a decline map such as the one just published can be used along with other data to determine, within reasonable limits, the amount of ground water depleted from the reservoir and the approximate amount of water remaining in storage.

"Percentage wise," Broadhurst states, "as an average for the 13 counties in the High Plains Water District, something on the order of 20 percent of the ground water available to pumps in 1938 has been depleted. The percent of depletion for the counties in the District is: Armstrong, 32 percent; Bailey, 13 percent; Castro, 19 percent; Cochran, 20 percent; Deaf Smith, 18 percent; Floyd, 22 percent; Hockley, 30 percent; Lamb, 15 percent; Lubbock, 44 percent; Lynn, 38 percent; Parmer, 12 percent; Potter, 33 percent and Randall, 20 percent.

The map has been reproduced in the Water District's nonadvertising monthly newspaper, "The Cross Section" and mailed to those persons on the circulation list. For others, who do not receive "The Cross Section" but who would like a copy of the map, it will be made available free of charge upon request. Address map requests to: High Plains Water District, 1625 - 13th Street, Lubbock, Texas.

Get Bagworms Now For Early Control

College Station — Bagworms are now occurring in rather large numbers on trees and other plants in many parts of the state. This insect is a general feeder and can cause serious damage to certain trees, especially evergreens, points out C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

At this time, the worms are small and can be successfully controlled by proper spraying or dusting of the plants with insecticides. It is important to apply chemicals early enough to control the worms before they become too large and cause serious damage, adds Garner.

He suggests a check of all plants around the home, especially evergreens for spindle shaped sacks which may be hanging form the twigs, leaves and branches.

The following insecticides are recommended for bagworn control. Malathion (50 percent emulsified concentrate 1 to 1½ ounces per 5 gallons water, Toxaphene (60 per cent emulsifiable concentrate, 2½ ounces per 5 gallons water, or lead arsenate (2½ to ounces to 3 ounces per 5 gallon water).

In addition to these materials there are several brands of combination sprays (two or more insecticides combined together) on the market which will give good control of bagworms as well as other pests. One of the common combination sprays contain malathion plus DDT. Combination sprays and other insecticides can be purchased from any store or business establishment which handles household or agricultural chemicals, says the entomologist.

Sprays are preffered over dusts and the label instructions should be followed for mixing and using insecticides, cautions Garner.

Several different types of hand sprayers are available which can be used for applying the sprays. The common types are the compressed air sprayers, trombone sprayers and garden hose attachment sprayers.

Insecticides are poisons and should be handled with caution. Follow safety directions listed on the label and keep children and pets out of the treated area. After spraying, wash the grass to remove the chemical residue, advises Garner.

Farm Facts

There are some exciting new developments in food processing, according to Philip B. Dwoskin of the Marketing Economics Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In "dehydrofreezing," fruits and vegetables are dried to about 50% of their original weight and then frozen and kept frozen. Quality of the thawed and cooked food is equal to that of the normal frozen product, and there are savings in freezing, packaging, storage, and shipping costs.

"Freeze - drying," another development, offers even more convenience and produces foods of high, fresh-flavor quality.

Food (cooked or uncooked) under this process is dehydrated under vacuum while frozen. Freeze-dried foods apparently do not become toughened or shriveled, and when rehydrated, regain their original flavor and texture. Properly sealed, these foods can be stored at room temperatures for long periods of time.

Although present emphasis is on meat products, freshdried shrimp are available for the institutional market, and sportsmen can buy complete, already cooked entrees.

Social Security Rep. To Be In Earth Wednesday, June 27

Most farm workers are now covered by the social security law. In order to determine if the work performed on your farm must be reported the law provides certain guidelines. Generally, if you employ a person to do farm work and pay him as much as $150 cash wages in a year, or if he works for you on 20 or more days for cash wages figured on a time basis, hourly, daily, etc., you must make a social security tax report. John G. Hutton, district manager of the Lubbock Social Security Office, pointed out that here is a question in the minds of some farmers concerning tax reports for crew leaders and crew membes.

The crew leader is the employer of any crew of workers he furnishes to do farm work and pays sufficient wages (either for himself or for you, the farmer). If he brought a crew to your farm, it is his responsibility to keep a record of the name, address, and social security number of each crew member who works enough to meet the $150 ... or 20-day test mentioned above. He should withhold 3 and one eighth percent tax from the pay of each such worker and match it with the employer's 3 and one eighth per cent when he files his tax report at the end of each calendar year. He should give the worker a receipt for his tax deduction at the end of the work, or at the end of the year, whichever comes first.

There are situations, Mr. Hutton said, in which the crew leader and farmer have a written agreement that the crew leader is the farmer's employee. In this case, the members of the crew are the farmer's employees also and the farmer is responsible for deducting the tax and making the required reports for wages paid. In either case the farmer is obligated to keep a record of the name, permanent address, and employer's identification number of the crew leader.

Hutton said that free pamphlets for crew leaders and farmers are available at this time and can be obtained by writing this office at 1616-19th St., Lubbock, Tex., or calling PO 3-0456 and asking for "Social Security Information for Crew Leaders and Farmers," OASI-24g.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Earth on Wednesday, June 27 in the Citizens State Bank at 1 p. m. and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to social security.

Better Quality and Yield of Cotton By Testing Method

Cotton growers in the High Plains are continually striving to improve both the quality and yield of their cotton. Tests on one of the methods mechanical topping of cotton, were conducted by Jim Valliant, Agricultural Engineer, at he High Plains Research Foundation last year.

The two varieties of cotton used in the test represented both boll and stormproof cottons. On September 14, the cotton was topped with a topping machine. The cotton plant was cut just above the topmost mature ... bolls, eliminating top foliage, small bolls and square.

The net return per acre for the untopped stormproof was higher ($169.18) than the topped cotton of the same variety ($155.15). However, the reverse was true for open boll variety. Topped open boll yielded a net return of $223.35 as compared to $198.17 for the untopped.

Mr. Valliant also reports that no improvements in grade was detected in the topped cotton. The increase in yield of the open boll variety of cotton may have been due to the abundance of sunlight on mature bolls simulating a longer growing season. This experiment will be conducted again in 1962.

Mr. and Mrs. Ardis Barton and children hosted a family dinner Sunday in their home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barton and girls of Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCord and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haley and Brad, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Farm Facts

Back in 1947, food sales represented 88% of total grocery sales. They represented only 80% in 1959. At the same time, beer, wine, and liquor sales jumped from 2% of the total to 5%. Other non-foods were only 10% of the total in 1947, but had reached 15% by 1959.

This is reported by Cleo Fitzsimmons and Sarah L. Manning of Purdue University's Experiment Station in a study made by them in the Indianapolis area in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service.

About 18% of the total spent by customers in the stores studied went for non-food items (beverages and gum in addition to tobacco and other inedibles). Of the average of 12 items per shopping basket, 2 were non-food.

Soaps, detergents, paper goods, household care items, tobacco products, and health and beauty aids were noted most frequently and in that order in the non-food items purchased. In dollar value, tobacco led the list.

Non-food buying tended to be higher in suburban stores than in grocery stores in city centers, residential areas, and small towns.

Scouts Leave For Camp Post Sunday

Sixteen Boy Scouts from Troop 614 left here Sunday at 11:20 a. m. for a week's camping at Camp Post. They were accompanied by Scoutmaster Travis Jaquess and assistant Scoutmaster W. J. Rylant and Webelo Den Dad Jim Glasscock.

Approximately 130 Boy Scouts had reported into the camp by 2 p.m.

Upon arrival, the Scouts reported to the medical center for a physical and then proceeded to the swimming pool where their swimming ability was judged. Then the task of setting up camp was in order, with camp gear having to be unloaded from the bus onto two-wheel carts which were pushed and pulled over a footpath to the campsite below the Cap.

At 6:20 p.m. a bugler sounded retreat and the evening meal was served at 6:30. A delicious dinner of ham, candied yams, green peas, salad, and cherry cobbler was doubly enjoyed by the hungry Scouts, with a number going back for second and third helpings.

A five inch rain fell Saturday night at Post, but the road into the Camp was in good condition.

Camp directors are Jack Moort, district executive of the Longhorn District and Bill McElroy, district executive of Comanche Trail and Mackenzie Trail Districts.

Mr. Rylant and Mr. Glasscock returned home Sunday night.

An adult leader will be present at the campsite to supervise the activities .

A number of Earth residents have volunteered their services to help. Those going to Camp Post are Dr. Holt, Guy F. Kelley, Pete O'Hair, Jim Glasscock, W. J. Rylant, Oran Parish, and Raymond Rudd. Each one will stay 24 hours or longer until relieved.

The Scouts will break camp Saturday morning after breakfast.

Mrs. Henry Hurt of Snyder, Tex. visited in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Prather over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bickle and family of Snyder also visited Sunday afternoon.

Farm Facts

Less than a tenth of the people in this country now are farmers. As a matter of fact, more than 90% of all our food is grown by approximately 5% of our people.

"A hundred years ago it was the other way around," Editor Paul Johnson of Prairie Farmer reminds us.

"This change has given us the highest standard of living in the world, but it has also given us some persistent headaches. Many people have had to leave the farm to find other work. It has also become desirable to reduce the amount of land which is being farmed.

"It is this adjustment that has brought the long succession of experiments we call government farm programs. These programs have not always been successful, but they have been, mostly, honest attempts to avoid economic depression and to keep people on small farms and on poor land from becoming a burden on the nation.

"The experiments will continue until we get more nearly the right number of people making a decent living on more nearly the right amount of land. It's up to us to call forth the kind of citizenship that will direct the adjustment wi
