LUBBOCK, TEXAS, "THE HUB OF THE PLAINS" TUESDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 14, 1926

Leased Wire By Associated Press

CITY NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

G. C. BEAUCHAMP RETURNED last night from Sweetwater, where he has been for the past several days.

T. G. FRAW, MANAGER OF THE Panhandle Cigar Company, left this afternoon for Sweetwater, where he will be for a few days attending to business interests.

J. HOMER BYRD, OF THE BUICK Motor Company, Oklahoma City, is in Lubbock today, on business with the Slaughter Motor Company.

K. L. RIGGS RETURNED LATE yesterday from a trip to south and central Texas, having attended the Democratic convention at San Antonio and visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Riggs, and Mrs. Riggs' Mrs. J. B. Facy, of Collinsville, Grayson county.

OSCAR L. NISLAR, OF THE NISLAR Hardware Co., is in Dallas on business. He left Saturday, accompanied by J. Astell, of the Astell Company, Ft. Worth, who has been here for a few days; and Mr. Nislar is expected to return Thursday.

THE SON OF GEORGE CLEVELAND, a rancher of Yoakum county, is in a local hospital as the result of an injury sustained when a horse fell upon his leg yesterday morning.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT STEVENSON, of Ballinger, are moving to Lubbock, where he will be engaged in the cotton business. They are at home at 1514 Broadway.

MR. AND MRS. I. C. DUNBAR, OF 1527 Main, have returned to Lubbock for the cotton season after spending the summer visiting in Colorado.

G. F. KUYENDALL, OF THE Kuyendall Chevrolet company, returned yesterday from St. Louis, where he spent a few days on business.

K. K. HUGHES, AUDITOR FOR THE Westmoreland Company of Amarillo, is in Lubbock today.

MRS. LATTIE RANKIN LEFT TODAY for Amarillo, where she will spend several days visiting with relatives and friends.

KUBAL KIRKPATRICK AND PAUL Bottinger, of Hillsboro, who have been inspecting on the plains for several days, passed through Lubbock this morning, and stopped for a visit with C. Crenshaw, local attorney, who quotes them as saying that they were converted to West Texas as the country.

DESPITE THE INCLEMENT weather of the evening, a number of young people of the City Union of the Christian M. League society met at the First Presbyterian church for a watermelon feast, after having decided that the weather was not going to be suitable for holding the feast at the County Park. Some twenty members were present, and quite noticeable crowds were made upon the eleven large melons there for the event.

THE HOTEL LUBBOCK IS ENJOYING more than one kind of popularity, in that its rooms are in constant demand for guests, but its dining hall, as well as the other city clubs, seem to be making the dining rooms their meeting rooms, with banquets or with buffet dinners. Three organizations are meeting for banquets in the hotel within half a day: the Exchange club, at noon; the Antheum Study club, at 7:30, with an anticipated attendance of 20; and the Christian Sunday School banquet, 8:00, with between fifty and sixty expected.

New Warehouse Plan To Save City's Money

WILEY METCALFE CHOSEN FOREMAN FOR DEPARTMENT SUPPLIES TO BE BOUGHT IN CARLOAD LOTS IN NEW SYSTEM

In accordance with the administrator's platform of a "business government" for the City of Lubbock a warehouse building and crew will be placed into operation about the first of October, in which will be housed all equipment used in the carrying on of the municipality's business, Mayor Pink L. Parrish and City Manager William H. Perkinson said today. The warehouse is now under construction and will be ready for use within a week or ten days' time.

Wiley L. Metcalfe, at present desk sergeant of the Lubbock Police department will be in charge of the warehouse and will have an assistant in the department who is yet to be named. The warehouse is located across from the city utilities plant, at the Santa Fe tracks and Avenue K.

The institution of the warehouse department will enable the city to purchase in carload lots and according to the officials will enable the city to save huge sums of money in the carrying on of its business. Dave L. Leaverton, local contractor, is in charge of the construction of the building, which will be 120 feet by 140 feet in size. The building will have a concrete floor, is made of brick and the roof will be all in one compartment.

Accurate check will be made of all materials received and all supplies checked out. Foreman Metcalfe said this morning. The institution of the municipal warehouse is thought to be the first step in a series of improvements which will increase the business efficiency of the city government. The warehouse, when completed, will have cost approximately $3,200, Mr. Perkinson said.

Plans Filed For New Plains Railroad

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—The Ardmore, Vernon and Lubbock Railroad company, a new corporation, filed plans with the Interstate Commerce commission for the construction of 263 miles of new railroad. The line would traverse Southern Oklahoma in an east and west direction, beginning at Ardmore, Oklahoma, and terminating at Lubbock, Texas. No estimate of cost was given but it was said that the company proposed to finance the enterprise by sale of bonds.

S. O. S. Picked Up From Mexican Boat

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—An S. O. S. call from the British liner Loyall, in the vicinity of Bermuda, was picked up this afternoon by the independent Wireless Telegraph station. No indication of the ship's plight was received, but the vessel was believed to have been in the area raked by a hurricane yesterday.

Former Canton Police Chief Loses Fight

CANTON, Ohio, Sept. 14. (AP)—S. A. Lengel has lost his fight before the civil service commission for reinstatement as chief of police. The commission today announced it sustained the action of Mayor S. M. Swartz in removing Lengel from office on the grounds that he bungled in directing the police investigation of the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher on July 16, and that he was not familiar with certain underworld characters.

Heads Nations

Doctor Montchilo Nincchik, Yugoslavian diplomat, who has been elected as president of the League of Nations at the meeting in Geneva, judges from industrial nations must face a peaceful administration, something which other presiding officers of the league failed to enjoy.

B. C. D. LEADERS IN CONFERENCE

Directorate Discusses Many Routine Problems in Meet in City Hall Tuesday

Sitting in routine business session, the highest of which was the decision to pay a premium of $75 for the first bale of cotton ginned in Lubbock this year, members of the Board of City Development gathered together in the offices of the organization in the City Hall Tuesday morning.

Bienville Probe Dropped

The probe of the cotton picker advertisement, which appeared unauthorized in the postoffice at Bienville, La., has been dropped after it became certain that the matter could never be run down, the directors learned. They also discussed the problem of pickers for the gathering of the year and the Chamber of Commerce drive to secure a seed-in-transit rate on sheep from San Angelo, Sterling City and other points on the Santa Fe and Orient lines. The organization also authorized payment of an banquet given the farmers of the county during the annual Field day at the state experiment station Monday.

Sample Rooms Arranged

Permanent sample rooms, in which will be displayed products of Lubbock and the county, will be instituted in the Lubbock hotel, the directors learned. W. A. Myrick Sr., head of the hotel operating company, has promised to make the necessary arrangements.

Aged San Saba Man Succumbs To Injuries

BROWNWOOD, Sept. 14. (AP)—William Mack Allison, 81, for fifty years a practicing attorney at San Saba, died in a hospital here early today following injuries sustained last week when his buggy horse ran away and he was thrown down an embankment. His wife and ten children survive him. Funeral services are scheduled for this afternoon at San Saba.

APARTMENT HOUSE BLAZE AT HILLSBORO FATAL TO THREE; WEALTHY GINNER DIES AT WACO

WOMAN AND TWO CHILDREN LOST IN SMOKE-FILLED HALL LOSE LIVES IN APARTMENT; BODY OF GINNER FOUND IN DOOR OF RAZED OFFICE

Two fires in Texas early Tuesday morning took a toll of four lives, including two small children and seriously burned two more, Associated Press dispatches to the Daily Journal today said. A woman and two children, lost in a smoke-fogged hall in a burning apartment house at Hillsboro could not be found by firemen, and all three succumbed to the flames, while at Waco, D. W. Ray, wealthy Navarro county gin owner was overcome by smoke and flames and was fatally burned when he attempted to make his way into a grain company office adjoining his gin property to investigate the origin of a conflagration. His body was found in the door of the grain company offices.

(By The Associated Press) HILLSBORO, Tex., Sept. 14.—Three persons were burned to death and two others painfully seared, in fire that destroyed Browning flats with a loss of $46,000 here early today.

The dead: Mrs. Florine Tippett, about 20, Ray, 1, her son, and Dean Roberts, 2, his sister.

J. J. Davidson of Hillsboro, formerly of Tyler and Joe Magee of Hillsboro, both receive serious burns.

The Central Motor company, J. W. Parks' garage and the Walter Fowler cafe, housed by the building were destroyed.

Origin Of Blaze Unknown

The fire started from some undetermined source in the north side of the building and was noticed first by policeman Leo Keenan, who sounded an alarm about 1:30 a. m.

Lost in a smoke-fogged hall, the woman and children could not be found by firemen searching the flats. H. A. Tippett, husband of the woman victim, is said to be working in Dallas.

Wealthy Ginier Killed

WACO, Tex., Sept. 14. (AP)—D. W. Ray, 57, wealthy Central Texas gin owner, was overcome by smoke and fatally burned when fire early today swept the McKie Grain company, adjoining Mr. Ray's gin in East Waco.

Ray's body was found at the door of the grain company's office. He is thought to have gone into the building to investigate the fire.

Owner of 15 gins scattered throughout the state, Ray resided with his family on a large farm near Kerens until a month ago, when he moved to Waco, where the gin operator purchased a theatre and made other investments. He was one of the wealthiest men in Navarro county.

Resident Of Kerens

KERENS, Tex., Sept. 14. (AP)—D. W. Ray, victim of a fire at Waco today, resided here for more than forty years, it was survived by Mrs. Ray and a son, C. P. Ray, who were notified of his death this morning.

Richard Merton

Here is the star witness for the prosecution in the momentous trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general of the United States, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian. He is Richard Merton, German metal magnate, alleged to have paid the bribe, which the defendants are accused of accepting.

DOCTOR HELD IN HOUSTON PROBE

Police Seek To Find Principal in Mutilation of Young Woman's Body Sunday

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 14. (AP)—Police Tuesday were questioning "a well known Houston doctor" in an effort to solve the grave outrage of Sunday night.

The doctor was grilled, it was said, to discover what he knew about the digging up of the coffin in Hollywood cemetery Sunday night and the mutilation of the body of Miss Mamie Bichon, who took her own life last Wednesday night when her lover for years denounced her.

Authorities intimated that an arrest may come during the day.

The police worked all night on the case and Tuesday they announced they were following half a dozen "well defined" clues.

Many death threats have been received by the former lover of the dead girl, he told police.

Police charged Tuesday that there was a "conspiracy of hindrance" afoot in Houston to "block" the investigation.

Fight With Sow Is Fatal To Denton Man

DENTON, Texas, Sept. 14. (AP)—F. L. Silk, 55, died at midnight at his home near Lewisville from injuries suffered when he was attacked by a sow Monday while giving treatment to her pigs.

The animal attacked him ferociously, biting him severely on the shoulder, leg, face and temple. Death was pronounced due to a hemorrhage of the brain. His widow and four children survive.

Mexicans Executed In Religious Fuss

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14. (AP)—Dispatches say Samuel Melgarejo and Joaquin De Silva have been summarily court martialed and executed at Tlaxcala, state of Michoacan, on charges of seditious propaganda in connection with the religious question.

RESOLUTION FOR ACTION IS GIVEN TO COMMITTEES

50 OTHER SOLONS IN LOWER HOUSE JOIN KING AND PURL IN PLEA

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 14.—A resolution demanding a legislative investigation into the state highway department, the text book commission, the board of pardons and such other departments as deemed necessary, was introduced into the house of representatives today.

A. H. King of Throckmorton, and other members of Dallas, and about 50 other representatives, signed the resolution.

Seek Bond Validation

In both senate and house, bills to validate district road bonds aggregating $1,000,000, passed by the United States supreme court decision in the Archer county road bond case, were introduced within 20 minutes after the legislature convened. They were referred to committees.

The resolution calling for investigation was referred to the committee of ways and means, which is headed by Representative Alfred P. Crouch. The senate committee has asked to work in conjunction with the house committee, should the senate adopt a resolution calling for investigation.

More Scholastic Aid

The house adopted a petition to the governor to permit the question of raising the per capita scholastic apportionment to $15.

Governor Ferguson sent her second message to the senate today, requesting confirmation of her judicial appointees, including 14 district judges, eight district attorneys, three state attorneys, two members of the commission of appeals to the court of criminal appeals, the three members of the court of civil appeals, eleven districts, and the two commission of appeals to the supreme court, consisting of the three each.

The senate adopted a simple resolution of Coleman commending Ranger Captain Tom Hickman for courageous execution and performance of his duties at Clarksville, Texas, last week when two robbers of the Red River National bank were slain.

The resolution asking investigation of departments provides for the appointment by the speaker of nine house members to sit as a committee at Austin after adjournment of the called session.

The resolution recites there has been widespread criticism of certain highway contracts, book contracts and acts of executive clemency, making imperative a thorough investigation.

Mother of R. W. Heim Succumbs At Paducah

R. W. Heim left this morning for Paducah after having received a message last night telling of the death of his mother, Mrs. Charles Heim there. He was accompanied by his son, Leonard Heim.

Mrs. Heim was 88 years of age at the time of her death and had been in ill health for several months. She was the widow of the late Charles Heim, who lived to be 90 years of age. She is survived by the following children: Jessie Heim, of Paducah, which home she was making her home; R. W. Heim, Lubbock; Charlie Heim, Dallas; Mrs. Will Sawyer, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Allie B. Lassiter, Houston.

NECESSITY IS ALSO THE MOTHER OF INDUSTRY

One day the girl's rich aunt happened in. The aunt didn't happen in often. She lived far, far away and was a very busy person.

The girl was out with a picnic party some where. The girl's rich aunt happened in. She looked out at the freshly scrubbed back porch, and then she walked by the back stairs right into the hot kitchen.

Mother, a bit of pink chiffon on her knee, nearly fainted. Instead she cried, "Daisy!" And there was a great dropping of menses and spoons while they embraced.

"The just stopping over for an hour or two," said Aunt Daisy, sitting down on the end of the machine. "I can't stay this time. I'm sorry. But I want to see you. She's been 'knaped' and she's fine. Now tell me what she needs and I'll leave a check to cover her first half year's tuition and her clothes. I see she's a good housekeeper. The downstairs looks like a tip."

"Downstairs," said bewildered Mother. "Oh, yes. I understand. No. Cousin's been gone all day. She's always on the go. She has no time for housework."

"Aunt Daisy looked thoughtful. Then she looked at her watch. 'It gives you an hour to dress and pack,' she said. 'You're going home with me for a month.'"

"But there's Harry and the two boys! You're crazy," laughed Mother. "I can't move a step. You know I can't do anything foolish."

"Yes, you can," said Aunt. "Or else Cousin doesn't move a step to college. Mother rose and walked dizzily to the door."

"There was a storm when the family came home and found the note. Cousin provided the thunder. But that one month made Cousin over. She pitched in and distinguished herself. And she got her check."

MRS. GRANT TO BE HOSTESS TO CLUB THURSDAY

Mrs. Homer Grant is to be hostess to members of the Ido-A-White club at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at her home, 2115 Main Street.

Frost, and Mr. Burchfield has many friends here.

Menus For Today

BREAKFAST—Chilled, cantaloupe, cereal, thin cream, creamed fresh beef, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Elma bean timbales, lettuce sandwiches, apple, slaw, split coffee.

The sauce for the beef can be made with lemon juice, vinegar or orange juice as individual taste may dictate. The sauce using lemon or orange juice has more food value if the juice is added just before serving and not boiled with the sauce. Make the sauce thick enough to cling to the meat consistently with the fruit juice.

Two cups cooked lima beans, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 egg, 1/2 cup chopped nut meats, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Rub beans through a sieve. Melt butter, add minced onion and simmer. Sift the egg whites, add to the mixture but not dissolved. Beat eggs and add to bean pulp with onion, salt, pepper and nuts. Mix thoroughly and put in timbale molds or small custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper, and bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes. Turn out on a platter and serve surrounded by lettuce sauce.

The Beauty Doctor

Posed by Yvonne Grey of the Ziegfeld Revue.

CONDITION—A skin that chaps easily or becomes rough with changes of temperature.

TREATMENT—Very frequently this is the result of hasty drying of the face. It is as necessary to dry the face carefully as it is to wash or cleanse it thoroughly. Always, after washing the face, rinse it in cold water and dry with a soft cloth by pressing it against the skin so you absorb the water rather than rub it dry. It is often only hasty rubbing with a too harsh towel that makes the skin irritated and rough.

Mrs. Leo White Heads Gleaners S. S. Class

Famous Wills-Dempsey "Ten Dollar Contract" Bobs Up Again And May Hold Up Title Bout At Exposition

(By The Associated Press) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 14.—The famous ten dollar contract calling for a bout between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, negro challenger, has bobbed up again, this time as the basis of a superior court injunction to prevent the champion's match with Gene Tunney at Philadelphia September 23.

Judge Clinton H. Givan, holding that ownership of the much disputed contract represented a property right, granted the petition of the Chicago Coliseum club for an injunction last night, in spite of the fact that prize fighting is not sanctioned by Indiana law.

Suit To Be Filed
Assertions of R. A. Clement, president of the Coliseum club, that suit would be entered in Pennsylvania immediately to make the injunction operative in that state, were met by emphatic denials from promoter Tex Rickard, that "he was going right to the limit to put on the fight as planned."

Was Signed Last Winter
The original contract, which has passed through several hands, was signed by Dempsey in Los Angeles last winter and bound by the payment to the champion of a ten dollar bill, according to Clement. It called for a first payment of $400,000 to the champion early in August, and the Coliseum club exhibited at the hearing a photostatic copy of a check for this amount, which it claimed it was trying to induce the champion to accept.

Content Develops
A warm contest of words has developed around the possible effect of an Indiana injunction in Pennsylvania. James A. Farabaugh, Clement's attorney, declared that a federal constitutional provision made Pennsylvania recognition of the Indiana court's many decisions compulsory. On the other hand, Rickard and Gene Normile, Dempsey's manager, were convinced that the injunction would have no effect on their plans. Normile pointed out that the right to appeal existed.

YANKS DROP TWO WHILE INDIANS WIN; BUCS LOSE TO GIANTS

(By The Associated Press) Cincinnati and St. Louis were thundering down the home stretch neck and neck today in the National League race. Each has 12 games to play but there will be no dead heats for their last game is with each other.

Pittsburgh Beaten
Pittsburgh's chance to attain the crest were diminished by a 3 to 5 setback administered by the Giants leaving the Pirates two and one-half games in the rear of the leaders and two games in front of the Cubs.

Cubs Beat Phillies
Chicago bettered its mathematical opportunity by defeating the Phillies, 3 to 1.

George Grantham, Corsair first baseman, pounded out a brace of home runs against Jimmy Ring but the Giants were not to be denied.

The Tigers took the Yankees into camp twice by four to three and four to one while Cleveland was halting to a six to three Indian sign on the Senators.

New York's lead in the American League has receded to 1 1/2 games. Pinch hitter McCurdy's triple with the bases loaded in the eighth gave the White Sox a three to two victory in the second part of a twin bill with the Athletics. Philadelphia won the opener, 5 to 2.

ALLEN MAY PLAY LAST GAME HERE AGAINST ATZMEN

VETERAN SKIPPER, AFTER 5 YEARS AS HUBBER BOSS, MAY LEAVE

When the Fort Worth Panther, third placer in the Texas League this year but with a good diamond aggregation, arrive in Lubbock Thursday for a brace of games with Lubbock's Hubbers, Lubbock baseball bugs may be watching Fletcher "Sled" Allen, boss of Panhandle baseball, perform his last game in the local livery.

Has Good Years Left
For twentyone years a sterling player and with several good seasons left him for active play, Lubbock has in Sled Allen one of baseball's outstanding figures. He has played baseball in Lubbock for five years, and according to his own statement has lost money doing it, so even though he would leave with the regrets of local baseball fans his action cannot be criticized.

Those who know him best, however, realize the Skipper's undying loyalty to his home town, do not believe that he will make his exit just yet already laying plans for better and more efficient support of baseball in Lubbock next year.

The NUT CRACKER

by Joe Williams

We are in favor of Mr. Baker's idea to cancel the war debts providing France and England will agree to keep off of their teeth-rate heavyweights at home.

Even if the Yanks do flop this month they will have to be recognized as the April, May, June, July and August champions of the American League.

What's cock-eyed about this statement, "The young girl tripped over the hem of her petticoat and went sprawling in the dust?"

In view of all the publicity Mr. Frankie Frisch's legs have commanded in recent days, you'd naturally suspect he was a member of Siegfeld's chorus.

The papers may say Dempsey starts off his exhibition every day with a joke. We don't know whether his name is Bill Tate or Farmer Lodge.

A really ambitious trained flier doesn't say in a circus all his life if he doesn't want to. He can get a job as a jockey at the dog races.

We fear the ex-kaiser will be pretty much upset when he learns his countryman swam the channel using the Australian crawl instead of the goose step.

Harold "Red" Grange is said to be an emphatic success as a movie actor in spite of the fact that he has never been divorced.

We see by the papers that bicycling is returning as a fad in this country. It may be returning as a torture but hardly as a fad.

Mr. Cash-and-Carry Pyle denies he intends to sign any of the Davis cup players. On the obvious theory that they must be pretty small fry if they play for cups.

When Mr. Dempsey heard that his little playmate, Mr. Tunney, spends most of his time reading books of science, he said: "I hope he's reading a lot about astronomy, because he's going to see plenty of stars the night we meet."

George Burns, veteran Cleveland first baseman, who broke Tris Speaker's two base hit record several days ago when he walloped out his 61st two base hit. The Indian Chief had held the record for several years with a total of 60 but Burns will add several more to his list before the season is over. Burns' big club, by the way, is one reason for the Clevelanders' success this year.

Champion Aggie Gridsters Arrive In College Station For Pre-Year Grind With Many Veteran Players Missing

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Sept. 14.—The Texas Aggies, champions of the Southwest, began their 1926 fall training here Friday when they met stalwart young athletes reported for the first day's workout. During the morning the players were issued full equipment which was followed by black board work. In the afternoon a practice session was held. "We will have black board work and field practice in both mornings and afternoons until school opens," stated Coach D. X. Bible. "I like to give the boys theory on the board and then see if they can carry it out on the field," he said.

Injunction In Fight Not Important, Said
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14. (AP) — "The injunction obtained in Indiana to prevent the Dempsey-Tunney fight is merely a matter of news in the Pennsylvania courts; it has no legal effect," said Attorney General George W. Woodruff today.

Many Veterans Missing
The first day's practice revealed that many of last year's team will not play under the aegis of the Aggies in 1926. Among the 1925 champions who will not be back this fall are Henry Eilt, center; John Braselton, center; Fay Wilson, half; Norman Danahy, guard; W. H. Benton, end; Bones Irwin, tackle; T. Kishi, half; J. D. McGuire, half; Bob Berry, quarter; W. J. Gelterbedk, guard; C. D. Speed, guard.

Billy Evans Says

THE GREATEST ASSET

What is a major league pitcher's greatest asset?
There are so many things necessary in success as a pitcher that a wide difference of opinion is certain to exist.

"Control," Says Herb.
"Nothing to it, control of course. No pitcher can hope to get anywhere without it."
"And please don't misunderstand me. When I say control I mean more than the mere getting the ball over the plate."
"In other words, throw strikes but keep them at a spot that is hardest for the batsman to connect, pitch to his weakness."

"The cheapest way in the world to allow a batsman to reach first base is on four balls. Incidentally, a past invariably results in a run. At least it seems that way."
"When a pitcher walks a batter he has merely pitched himself against the hitter. He has failed to take advantage of the assistance eight other players are anxious to render, provided the pitcher will make the batsman hit."
"Get the ball over, make the batter earn his right to first, and pitching becomes a much easier task."

He Doesn't Impress.
Pennock doesn't impress with his stuff as you watch him pitch, simply because he lacks a zipping fast ball. At that there is more "swiftness" on it than it seems.

Pennock does impress you with his style, his poise and the way he gets the ball over the plate. Incidentally, he boasts a most deceptive curve ball, which is his ace-in-the-hole.
In the American league there is another great southpaw about whom much more has been written—"Lefty" Grove.

Grove unquestionably has more stuff than any left-hander since the great Rube Waddell was in his prime. His speed is burning.
When Pennock opposes Grove, as has been the case several times this season, Grove, because of his great speed, is far more impressive. You wonder if the slight Pennock is going to have a chance. Such sympathy is wasted. Just take a look at the record of the two stars.

Pennock Far Ahead.
The figures show you that in his first 23 games, Pennock recorded 20 wins against eight defeats.
Only one other pitcher in the American league beat him to the 20-mark in games won—George Uhle of the Cleveland Indians.

Over the same period Grove won 12 games while losing 11, not nearly so good a performance as that of Pennock.
Watching the two in action, one would get just the opposite impression, yet Pennock is by far the more consistent winner of the two.

The difference in control tells the story, it bears out Pennock's contention that control is the greatest pitching asset by far.
Pitching in parts or all of 33 games, Pennock has given 39 bases on balls, an average of only a trifle over one pass per game.

Grove, on the other hand, in the 37 games in which he has officiated has given 84 bases on balls, practically twice as many as Pennock.
Yet the difference in the deception

VON TUNGELN IS WORKING TO PUT TEAM IN SHAPE

Believing that it is better for his embryo athletes to suffer the torture of a few aching muscles at this stage of the game rather than to wait, and due to under condition subject his lads to possible injuries during the playing season, Head Coach L. J. Von Tungeln of Lubbock High school is driving his youthful hurlers through stiff workouts every day. Line Coach Frank is also on the firing line.

While the schedule has not yet been completed for the coming fall grid derby a number of games have been tentatively arranged, including tilts with both Plainview and Amarillo, and the Westerner coaches expect to have their players in the pink of condition before the first whistle blows to signal a kickoff.

GOOD INSURANCE

Bud Johnston is pursuing the even tenor of his ways and the manufacturers and the sellers of intoxicants are suffering thereby. Sheriff Johnston told the voters during the recent campaign that he would uphold the laws and he's keeping his word with his customary efficiency.

A good sheriff's department is the best insurance that any citizen can have—both for his home and for his business. Bud Johnston has proven and is proving that his department is of the "good insurance" type.

A lot of voters in Lubbock county didn't want Bud Johnston returned to office but considerably more did so he's back for a couple of more years, at least. And it is a safe assertion that a large percentage of the voters who watched Bud Johnston's name on the ballot did it because of other reasons than because they thought he was not a good sheriff.

Personalties should never be injected into political campaigns but they are and that's that. About two thousand people in Lubbock county indicated by their ballots that they didn't think Johnston was a good sheriff but their votes cannot possibly be translated to mean that. The reason most of them voted as they did was not because they didn't believe Bud Johnston was a good officer but because they had other reasons not incumbent upon the office.

Even his bitterest personal or political enemy must admit that Bud Johnston is a good sheriff. The records—in black and white—and the moral condition of the county, prove it. Lubbock county has "good insurance" in its sheriff's department.

HISTORY; YESTERDAY, TODAY

Archaeologists dig with the most painstaking care for fragments of bits of light on the life men lived in the world's far yesterday.

The history of centuries ago is written in paragraphs, yes in sentences and mere hieroglyphic phrases, if you go back far enough.

What a contrast with the history of today!

Count the newspapers and magazines which are recording it, and your fingers will run into the thousands.

Count the bound volumes of historical importance, and they run into the tens of thousands.

These still will be left to enumerate the phonograph records, the great stores of public documents, the archives of public organizations, the exhibits gathered in museums.

What a tremendous historical heritage—in bulk at least—for generations yet to come!

Will Hays, movie czar, would add to this treasure a national collection of motion picture films. He suggests that vast money at Washington for $6,000 reels be supplied.

Will posterity cherish this heritage, either through sentimentality or for whatever educational value it may possess?

Or will posterity incline more and more to the purported view of a distinguished citizen of today that all history is "bank"?

'UNLOADED GUNS'

Lubbock has just had another tragic example of the "unloaded gun."

A thirteen-year-old girl paid with her life to furnish that example and the lesson, a costly one, should be of benefit to the rest of us.

It never pays to "monkey" with a fire-arm. When they are handled they should be fingered with the greatest of care.

The old statement that "it's the unloaded gun which always kills someone" still holds good too often. Be careful of fire-arms. Not to do so may cause an awful tragedy.

Two highwaymen robbed a Virginia farmer of $500 the other day—right at a store, too, when our leading politicians were worrying themselves to death about farm relief measures—Wilmington Daily Evening.

Hal Cochran's Daily Poem

There are plenty of ways you can get into trouble. You worry about it and make it seem double. Your mind plays around with whatever it's about—where it ought to be thinking of ways to get out.

How seldom we wonder how far we are getting, by wasting a lot of our good hours in fretting. A wee bit of action, in proper ways, brings the chance for a person to right the wrong things.

There never was a man who has gained very much by fusing and fuming and sulking and such. When into the channel of worry he swerves he's just a poor minger who gets on folks' nerves.

Snap out of the trance, if you're one of that sort. Make faces at trouble, and be a good sport. The old optimistic game's never a flop. Try playing it, man, and you'll come out on top.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Broadway reports a boom market in freaks.

Agents handling everything from snake charmers to bearded ladies find their offices swamped with orders. Many of them go unfilled. There hasn't been an outstanding new freak in some years.

The result, of course, is a demand for higher pay from "first class freaks."

Midgets, I hear, are in particular demand.

With the American market almost exhausted cables are going to Europe.

One agent tells me that the world's supply of tiny entertainers is growing small.

There seems to be actual danger of the midget race disappearing from the map.

Most of the midgets, it seems, came from certain small villages in Hungary. Midgets were literally bred for the show market. The birth rate has dwindled. For what reason, nobody seems to know.

The ymerly state that Lilliputian demand is far greater than supply. And so the little people now in America are asking wage increases.

Since the time of Barnum, circus agents have canvassed the European Lilliputs. One town, it was said, had a population made up largely of midgets.

A great rush of these yardstick folk was started some years back when Lilliputians who had played in America returned to their native land with fat bank rolls.

A large number have "retired" and will not return to the show game for any sum.

Once before a midget famine threatened, but the situation was saved by the discovery of another midget colony on the Tisza River, in the lowlands of Hungary.

Trading in them was carried on largely by peasants who, say the Broadway agents, are now demanding exorbitant prices because of the midget scarcity.

Parents of midgets are said to be retiring on the price exacted for a single child. Recent figures were $500 per "midget," I am told.

UNION MEN AROUSED BY BRITISH BUILDING PLANS

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
 NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Let Harry Wardman build the new embassy the British government is planning to erect in Washington and Ambassador Sir Esme Howard will find a diplomatic job on his hands compared with which he'll think the war debt settlement didn't amount to much.

Not that Wardman isn't a capable contractor.

Probably no other man in the country has done more building. He's an Englishman, too. Originally he was a bricklayer. Now he's a multi-millionaire, having acquired his roll in Washington real estate and construction operations.

But he's non-union.

There are a number of reasons why the Washington Central Labor Union has been keeping a sharp eye on him in connection with this job of embassy building.

For one thing, he sold the land on which the embassy is to stand to the British government.

Then there's his nationality.

He also made a trip to London recently and it's understood he took with him a quantity of plans, blue prints and specifications. For the new embassy? The Central Labor Union wouldn't wonder.

The other day a huge steam shovel, with Wardman's label on it, lumbered into the embassy's neighborhood.

It subsequently developed that the shovel's mission was to open a new street but Washington union labor's first thought was that it was about to begin excavating for the new embassy building.

There was a row in a minute.

The Central Union began preparations for an appeal to union labor in England and to circulate a view throughout this country, with a view to an anti-British boycott, if the London government puts up a non-union built embassy here.

In the meantime a committee from the Washington Building Trades Council called at the present embassy to investigate.

Sir Esme Howard and all the higher embassy officials were on their vacations, but an attaché assured the delegation that no contract for the building has been let yet and that it may be a couple of years before work starts.

That settled matters for the time being.

Several other governments have built Washington embassies in recent years and all of them have been particular to see that nothing but union labor to see that nothing but union labor and material went into them.

This new British embassy is to be a classy affair, costing $1,000,000.

The Wrong Man To Bluff.

The young lawyer had just entered his office for the first time. He was nervous. The point on his shingle was hardly dry. Silently he prayed for a client. A knock as if in direct response to his petition was heard at the door. Hastily seizing the telephone and assuming the attitude of one engaged in a very earnest conversation he bade the one seeking admittance enter and with a slightly bowed expression motioned him to a seat.

The lawyer resumed his conversation over the telephone with the imaginary party. This latter it seemed was importuning him to take a case involving thousands of dollars. But the young lawyer politely but firmly refused. He had more important litigation pending, etc.

Thinking his listener sufficiently impressed by this time, he hung up the receiver and turning to the man, asked majestically, "And what can I do for you, sir?"

"Nothing," replied the other. "I was just sent up by the telephone company to connect up your phone."

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

SMALL BUT PLENTIFUL

The Loach.

By AUSTIN M. CLARK
 Smithsonian Institution.

The size of a fish is not always a measure of its importance. Some fishes can make up for their small size by their great abundance.

There are loaches, of which there are about 50 kinds in all, are queer slimy little things found only in Europe and in Asia. The largest kind reach hardly a foot in length, but most are much smaller. Wherever they are common enough they are eagerly sought for food.

Loaches are especially common in central and eastern Asia. Generally speaking, they are most characteristic of swift streams with stony beds, in which they live up to at least eleven thousand feet above the sea. But they are found also in the lowlands, and in tropical India there are some very beautifully colored kinds.

They are common in stagnant water all over Japan, and a rather pretty kind called the "doodoo" is abundant in the rice fields in the summer.

Helpful Health Hints

SICKNESS AMONG CHILDREN

Not infrequently, the mother will say that the baby was always "colicky" and that she had to wean it at a very tender age. Actually, she had been easily convinced, or had convinced herself, that her breast milk was of poor quality and that there was not enough of it anyway. "Thus in infancy," says Dr. Lowenburg, "was laid the foundation." The child's life had been filled from the first with "don'ts," "stop," "musts" and "must nots," "can'ts," and "unfilled threats."

Monumental Liar

The child soon learned to regard its caretaker as a monumental liar. His belief in rewards and punishments was destroyed, and it realized its power. "Such a child will not do anything normally that it is asked to do without exacting its price, without exerting its power, without creating a scene, without vomiting if it is forced to eat."

Obviously the re-education of such a child is not a matter for drugs, or indeed anything except re-education of its parents. The actual cure of the condition lies in its prevention. From the first, children should be taught the habitual nature of ordinary eating.

The diet must be varied and attractive. The parents must not restrict food in the presence of the child, since it learns largely by imitation. Deliberate discussions of the merits of individual foods at the table disturb the child, and cause it to reject those foods on the slightest provocation.

With Our Contemporaries

WORSE THAN THE WHIPPING POST

A storm of indignation is likely to sweep the country as a consequence of a freak sentence imposed on a couple of Nebraska farmers for violating the prohibition laws.

Each man was sentenced to sixty days in jail, the first and the last twenty to be served on a diet of rye bread and water.

Forty days on bread and water is pretty stiff punishment for violating a law that thousands violate every day and escape with nothing more serious than a headache or a corroded stomach.

Sixty days in jail is a reasonable term for violating a law on which so much depends as on the prohibition law. But sixty days in jail, forty of them on a starvation diet, is cruelty and not justice.

It sounds too much like the dark days of Spain's Heyday, or the reign of Henry VIII. Confinement is sufficient punishment without adding physical torture to confinement.

The principle is the same as if the Nebraska court had ordered an ear lopped off, or the pulling of the finger nails. It is revolting to what has come to be called the Anglo-Saxon idea of justice.

It's worse even than the whipping post.—Ablene News.

LENROOT

Thinking back a few weeks, it will be recalled that at an unveiling of a statue in Washington to the Norse as a tribute to their contribution to American history, one, Mr. Coolidge said a few commendatory words for Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin. It was interpreted then as going a little out of the way to give administration endorsement to the candidacy of the incumbent.

Think back a little bit farther, it will be recalled that the Old Guard accepted young Bob LaFollette with all the good grace it could, without the attendant furore that many thought might be occasioned. But young LaFollette is proving as hard to handle as his father before him. His candidacy, Blaine, has won over Lenroot in Wisconsin, though another candidate he sponsored went down in defeat.

All of which must have struck a very sore spot with the administration, inasmuch as the soreness has been too frequently demonstrated—already this year in Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania. Beating candidates who bear the administration endorsement taken on the aspect of a gentle reprimand—and perhaps none too gentle at that.—San Angelo Standard.

They give the farmer credit for being the world's champion complainer and yet he isn't entitled to that reputation.

A farmer will complain when a hot spell wilts his corn or when a hailstorm beats down his wheat, but a city critic makes more noise when the same sun wilts down his collar and the hailstorm interferes with the ball game.

A farmer may get discouraged at crop failures and low prices, but there are more farmers who can crack jokes over their hard luck than there are

THE VANITY CASE

BY CAROLYN WELLS. COPYRIGHT 1926 N.E.A.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mysterious lights flash from the Heath bungalow one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog over the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

Guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and beautiful BUNNY MOORE, to whom suspicion points because of her queer actions.

Myra Heath never used cosmetics yet when her body was found she was heavily rouged. A rare old bottle from her collection of glass had been used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others.

Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath, saying Inman is the murderer. Cunningham goes to Anderson's house and there, while waiting for his boat, is confronted by Heath, who then slips away in the dark. Anderson arrives soon after and upbraids Cunningham for letting Heath get away.

TODD HUNTER BUCK, in love with Bunny, witnesses a midnight meeting between the girl and Heath. He tries to get Bunny to explain and when she refuses he calls in his friend, STEVE TRUITT, the famous detective. Truitt, after satisfying himself of Bunny's innocence, arranges a meeting with Sam Anderson then, taking Buck, lies in wait at the Heath home, explaining that Heath will come that night.

Heath does, and Truitt arrests him. On the way to the station, Heath asks permission to get some letters from his locker at the club house. A few minutes later Anderson comes out, saying he has seen Heath in the locker room, but Heath vanishes. The next day police get a note from Heath, confessing to the crime and saying he will commit suicide. Truitt, taking Buck and DETECTIVE MOTT, departs for headquarters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVII

The two men went away, and Truitt led their steps to police headquarters.

There he gave a straightforward and accurate account of what had happened the night before.

Mott looked crestfallen enough when he listened to how the two men had captured Heath, but his small eyes gleamed with triumph when he learned how their quarry had given them the slip.

Truitt paid little attention to his attitude or expression, but merely said:

"You have Perry Heath's confession of his crime?"

"Yes, we have it."

"Keep it carefully, and I will take you to Perry Heath, himself."

Amazed looks greeted this statement, and Mott again turned green with his absurd jealousy.

"I think we'll collect Mr. Cunningham, too," Truitt said, and so, with the necessary police officers, there was quite a little group who hung upon Truitt's orders as on a general's.

Truitt walked ahead with Cunningham, leaving Toddy Buck to follow with the disgruntled Mott.

The officers were asked to remain within summons, but outside the house as Truitt stopped at the gate of Sam Anderson's place.

"Anderson is hiding Heath!" Tod thought to himself, with a thrill at the excitement of it all.

The four were admitted and Mr. Anderson was apprised of their presence by one of his perfectly trained servants.

He came smiling into the room.

"Good morning," he said, "good morning. This is indeed a deputation. What can I do for you? Funds for some public monument?"

"No, Mr. Anderson," Truitt was spokesman. "We just want to ask you a few questions about the Perry Heath case. We know you are interested; enough so, to engage the services of Mr. Cunningham here, and so I feel sure you will help us in any further way you can."

"Certainly I will, and glad to do so. But, Mr.—"

Truitt, you remember I told you, I saw Perry Heath last night."

Mott's eyes bulged, and Al Cunningham looked startled, but Truitt said, suavely, "I remember you did, Mr. Anderson. You were both in the club locker room, weren't you?"

"Yes. Though I don't think Heath saw me. You see, I was just coming out when he breezed in, and hurried to his own locker, across the room from mine. He paid no attention to me, and I was surprised, I said nothing to him."

"It was in my mind to hurry out and call headquarters, then I saw you, Mr. Truitt, and I realized that you represented the law, so, as you assured me you were on the job, I did no more about it, but came along home."

"And then what did you do, Mr. Anderson?"

"Then I went to bed, sir, and to sleep."

"Yes, but before you went to bed?"

"Ah! I came home from the club, I went nowhere else. As I say, I went to bed—"

"And I say, Mr. Anderson, you went over to Harbor Gardens."

"Over to Harbor Gardens! My dear sir, you must be out of your head!"

"Oh, no, I'm not," and Truitt laughed softly. "You see, I went home, and later, Mr. Buck and I went into the Heath house next door to Mr. Buck's home, and we spent some time there."

"Yes?" Anderson's tone was disinterestedly polite.

"Yes, and while we were there, Perry Heath came in."

"Heath! You amaze me!"

"Oh, no, Mr. Anderson, I don't amaze you, because while Heath was there, you were there, too."

"Yes, you. When Perry Heath was there, you were there, too, for the simple reason that Perry Heath could not be there without you. For—sit still Mr. Anderson, for you are Perry Heath."

With a sudden swift move, Truitt was on his feet and at Anderson's side.

With a series of quick moves he had put on Anderson's head a toupee that covered his baldness, and had also adjusted into place a pair of shell rimmed glasses.

"Perry Heath sat before them!"

"Put in your tooth!" said Truitt, so sternly that the man before him pulled from his waistcoat pocket a single tooth on a plate and slipped it into the place of the missing eye tooth of Sam Anderson.

"Oh, what a fool I was!" exclaimed Cunningham. "The night I was here to supper, Anderson had that in, and he left the table to remove it—and I never caught on that it was a disguise! But Perry Heath! I can't believe it—or understand it!"

"There is no Perry Heath," Truitt said, "or rather, there is no Sam Anderson. Do you want to tell the story, Heath, or shall I?"

"There's not much to tell," Heath said, sullenly. "You fellows have got me I might as well own up. I'm a bad egg, but I—oh, well, I was goaded into it. I won't speak ill of the dead, but my wife and I never hit it off. She was of the high and mighty variety, and I was a good fellow. So, I conceived the plan of being two men. It has been done before—it isn't at all a unique instance."

"I built up a second personality, that's all there was to it. I was often away from home, down in New York, half of every week or so. Lots of the Harbor people are, so, when I wasn't at home I was making myself into Sam Anderson, a man as different as possible from Perry Heath. Appearance first of course. This wasn't hard, as I have a bald head, and always wear a toupee—as Heath, I mean. But my toupees were so perfectly made and fitted, that no one but my wife ever suspected I wore one. The glasses, which the capital for disguise purposes, are simply plain near glasses, and no one knew that. The false tooth is a natural thing for any man to have, but using it only as Heath, it helped to accentuate the difference. For the rest, the style of dress and hat and tie and all that, made two men of me. I practiced a slightly different voice, but, on the whole it required only a light disguise, for so few Harbor Gardens people know Harbor Park people and vice versa."

"You had two separate lines of business?" Truitt asked, fascinated in spite of himself by the story.

"No, I had one line of business, and that was to be a success."

"And you were a success?"

"Yes, I was. I was a success in every way. I was a success in my own eyes, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people. I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people."

"And you were a success?"

"Yes, I was. I was a success in every way. I was a success in my own eyes, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people. I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people."

"And you were a success?"

"Yes, I was. I was a success in every way. I was a success in my own eyes, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people. I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people."

"And you were a success?"

"Yes, I was. I was a success in every way. I was a success in my own eyes, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people. I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people, and I was a success in the eyes of the Harbor people."

TECH WORK IS ON IN EARNEST

Faculty Will Meet Wednesday And Plans Are Laid For First Convocation

College activities begin this week in full earnest, according to Dr. P. W. Horn. Each day, more football recruits arrive for the training camp; and faculty members are arriving in groups every day, also, both the new ones and those returning from last year. The football boys are being housed at the College cafeteria, and are staying at the Chert Case dormitory.

Entrance examinations will begin Thursday, September 16, and continue through Saturday; and registration will be Monday to Wednesday, September 20-22. At this time, the last days of vacation will have been over and the fall term of college work will begin the next morning, or Thursday, September 23.

The first faculty meeting of the current year will be held Wednesday afternoon, 4 o'clock, Dr. Horn stated. With the increase gradually attained during last year, and with the many new members of the faculty who will be here by that time, the faculty should be near twice as great in number as it was at the first faculty meeting. Following this meeting, Dr. and Mrs. Horn will be at home to the faculty members on Wednesday evening.

At the first student convocation, to be held in the Pavilion, swaters for tennis achievements will be presented and the same time, blankets for the football team will be presented by Hemphill-rice company, according to Spencer Wells, of that company.

Cotton Consumption Increases This Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—Cotton consumed during August totaled 599,652 bales of lint and 67,781 of linters compared with 469,918 of lint and 62,340 of linters in July this year and 448,695 of lint and 62,583 of linters in August of last year, the census bureau announced today.

VOTERS OF NINE STATES TO PASS ON PROHIBITION

WORLD COURT ADHESION IS ALSO HAVING EFFECT ON BALLOTING

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Prohibition and American admission to the world court figured prominently again today among issues before voters of nine states who went to the polls to choose party standard-bearers for state and federal offices.

The campaign of Washington Cook, member of the governor's council in Massachusetts, against Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, for the party senatorial nomination, has featured advocacy of modification of the Volstead act. Former Senator Davis

Walsh has no opposition for the democratic nomination.

In Louisiana, Senator Broussard, democrat, was opposed for by Jared Saunders, former governor and dry.

Prohibition in Maryland

Prohibition, likewise featured the Maryland republican primary where Senator O. E. Weller was opposed by Representative John Philip Hill, who is prominent among wet forces in the house. Representative Millard Tydings has no opposition for the democratic senatorial nomination.

Senator Westley L. Jones, a dry, is opposed in Washington by six candidates for the republican senatorial nomination. The subject of prohibition has been prominent during the campaign.

Klan Fight in Colorado

In Colorado Senator Rice W. Means, reputed to have the support of the ku klux klan, is opposed for the republican nomination by the forces of Clarence C. Hamlin, republican national committeeman, who heads the anti-klan wing. National issues played no part in the campaign, which was one of personalities.

In South Carolina a run-off primary found Senator Ellison D. Smith contesting for the democratic nomination with Colonel Edgar A. Brown, speaker of the state house of representatives. Colonel Brown has attacked Senator Smith's vote in favor of American adherence to the world court.

In Vermont Senator Porter H. Dale had no opposition for the republican nomination but the voters were choosing candidates for state offices and for members of the national house of representatives.

New York Votes On Pro Candidates

In New York the wet and dry question districts, three dry republicans was prominent in four congressional being opposed for renomination by wets, while there was also one wet and dry fight for a democratic congressional nomination.

In Michigan the campaign hinged upon purely state issues with Governor Alex J. Groves seeking running for his fourth republican nomination as chief executive against Colonel Fred W. Green, for years mayor of Ionia.

County Valuation Shows Big Boost

According to records of the County Tax Assessor's office, Lubbock county is valued by those who own it at $1,685,567 more than it was a year ago, and a significant fact of this report is that this increase has come almost entirely from the valuation of city property. R. C. Burns, County Tax Assessor, said today.

Total valuation of property in the county for 1925 was $18,012,349; while for 1926, the total valuation amounted to $19,697,907. Mr. Burns said, upon completion recently of the tax rolls of the city.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14. (AP)—The cotton market opened easy due to lower cables and to reports of good weather in the belt. First trades showed losses of 5 to 10 points and prices eased off a few points additional after the start. The market soon rallied on a rumor that storm warnings had been issued from New Orleans to Brownsville, Texas. October traded to 17.00; December to 17.10 and January to 17.20. Later when the storm rumor was denied by the weather bureau and the map showed generally fair, the market turned easier losing 5 to 11 points from the highs.

Despite the bullish consumption report of the census bureau the market eased off during the morning owing to fair weather in the belt and the forecast for continued good weather. While the storm news was watched with interest traders did not believe that the present conditions and directions of the disturbances threatened the cotton country. October traded as low as 16.70; December 16.30 and January 16.90. Oct. 22 to 24 points under the early highs and 18 to 19 points below the previous close. Near mid-session the market ruled quiet and near the highs.

The market ruled fairly steady after mid-session and fluctuated within the earlier range.

NEW YORK FUTURES. NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady; October 16.90; December 17.10; January 17.20; March 17.40; May 17.60.

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14. (AP)—Cotton opened steady; October 16.80; December 17.00; January 17.00; March 17.20.

NEW YORK TRADING. NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—The cotton market was nervous and irregular in today's early trading, as if influenced by conflicting reports regarding the tropical storm situation.

There were two of these disturbances, one being reported in the neighborhood of Cuba and the other off the Atlantic coast, and after opening one point higher to 2 points lower, with active months showing net losses of 2 to 5 points, prices rallied on apprehensions that one of these storms might reach the coast.

December sold up to 17.23, the general list showing net advances of about 1 to 12 points.

Later reports concerning the tropical storm situation were more reassuring and the market weakened under continued Southern hedging, showing net declines of about 9 to 3 points.

STOCKS AND MONEY

WALL STREET REPORT. NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—Price movements were still confused at the opening of today's stock market, but the tendency seemed to be toward higher levels. Bulls were in better demand. Aitchison showing an initial gain of 1 1/2 points. Pools were again active in a number of specialties, a number touching a new high record. Some of the low priced motors appeared to be under pressure.

The market gathered strength as the session progressed but the bulk of the buying appeared to originate with professional operators. Public utility, amusement, copper and tobacco shares gave fairly good exhibitions of group strength. Oil shares were slow in responding to reports that third quarter dividend payments of Standard Oil companies would set a new high record for all time. American Smuggling Tobacco, Abitibi Power, Public Service of New Jersey and Manilla Electric were bid up to new high prices for the year. Warner Brothers Pictures A and Fox were bid up on expectations of increased earnings from the new talking motion picture device. The first sale of Mack Trucks was block of $800 shares at 112, an over high drop of 2 points, but it rallied a point.

SPEAKERS URGE DIVERSIFICATION OF CROPS HERE

350 FARMERS ATTEND 2ND ANNUAL FIELD DAY AT EXPERIMENT STATION

Diversification and rotation of crops by South Plains farmers furnishes the only really tangible method of salvation. O. L. Slaton, President of the First National Bank of Lubbock, told a gathering of farmers from throughout the South Plains Monday night in a reiteration of his plea for abandonment of the one-crop system.

The occasion was the second annual Field Day sponsored by sub-station No. 8 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station system when approximately 350 farmers of this territory met for a general discussion of farm problems.

"I have noticed," Mr. Slaton told the group, "that the farmer who raises cows, hogs and chickens, and at least makes an effort to raise sufficient feed for his own use, always has the best bank account and is always the last one to ask his banker for financial assistance."

Other speakers during the night's program included R. E. Karper, former Superintendent of the station here, but now vice-director of the state system, from College Station, who reviewed the experimental work carried on at the station here; R. R. Reppert, Entomologist of the Extension department of the Texas A. & M. College, who told of crop pests and means of combating them; A. H. Lehigh, Dean of the School of Agriculture at the Tech College, who touched upon grain sorghum, its origin and possibilities in this country; W. L. Stangel, of the Animal Husbandry department of the College, who told of the importance of pure bred stock on the farm, and their relationship to the success of the farmer; J. D. Finley, Agricultural Agent of the Santa Fe railroad, who told of the freight rate structure and its effect on the farmer; and David F. Eaton, Lubbock county Farm Agent, who discussed crop pests, with particular emphasis on the leaf worm and its ravages to crops in certain sections of the South Plains.

Mr. Eaton told the group that following a visit by himself and R. E. Overstreet, state Director of the Farm Bureau Cotton Association, they had decided that the cotton crop in Lubbock county has been damaged at least 25 per cent by the leaf worm, due largely to the indifference of farmers in control of the pest. There are certain sections in this county in particular where the crop has been practically destroyed, he said, and he exhibited proof of his statement in the form of cotton stalks on which the pest had been virtually destroyed. The damage is greater in the southern part of the county, he said, where the pest first made its appearance, and this is due largely to the failure of farmers to realize the seriousness of the situation.

ended by fully twice as many farmers as were present last year, and is one means by which the farmer may be brought into actual contact with the situation as it exists in this section. Yesterday's session included an inspection trip through the fields at the station, and round table discussions regarding farm problems.

Several of the visitors from surrounding counties spent the night here, some of them at the station, and this morning were taken for a trip over the city, and through the Tech College. Farmers were here from practically all the South Plains.

SNAPPY INTERVIEWS

Ed Allen: "Fine morning. Oh, I'm well, not much to say except that I just got back from Hereford; had a good little rain up there, made the roads a little muddy. Rained about a quarter inch—good wheat rain. I'll have about 250 acres this year."

Garland Woodward: "Nothing unusual today, except that business is pretty good; I'm going out to Leveland—yes, little business trip."

George Brewer, Standard Abstract Co.: "You round again to see if I can tell you anything. Well, I'm almost too busy to know much gossip—that's why I read the newspapers. 'Business' seems to have taken a decided change for the better since August 1."

I've noticed an interesting thing about weather and business lately. For instance, when the weather is bad; cold, rainy, or very cloudy, there is very little filing done at the County Clerk's office, on the other hand, though when the weather is good, it seems to make up for the slow period by the amount of business that comes over there. Seems to relieve the accumulation of the legal side of real estate business. I've noticed that for several months, and it works every time. Of course it's simple enough when the reasons are thought of—real estate agents don't show houses so much in bad weather, and carpenters can't finish houses ready to turn over to owners until clear weather, more than likely—and people who don't already have business downtown don't come just for the filing of a legal paper. It's just another example of the influence of weather on business.

Lieut. Hugh E. Kiffin, director of Military Training of the Tech, "Can't tell, yet, how the Cadets will fare this year, no way of telling how many members there will be of the corps. While, of course, those who have their uniforms already bought, from last year, will go right on in the training; but a number of those who have their school clothes already bought will not see fit to purchase additional equipment; so they will let it go. However, the M. T. corps will have their part of the curriculum same as last year."

RESPIRE GRANTED

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 14. (AP)—Governor Walker has granted a respite of sixty days to Mel M. Gore who was to have been electrocuted at the state prison at Milledgeville today for complicity in the slaying of William H. Cheek, a grocer, here last December.

PROBE URGED BY 'MA' WHEN SESSION OPENS

GOVERNOR SAYS SHE IS IN FAVOR OF SENATE SEARCHLIGHT

(By the Associated Press) AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 14.—A fair and full investigation of state departments by the special session of the 29th legislature was urged in Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's message read in the house and senate late yesterday. The governor pledged full cooperation, and said that recently grave charges have been made of irregularities in certain departments that border upon malfeasance and corruption by state officials and that if there had been any official misconduct or corruption the people have a right to know it.

Must Meet Requirements
As to the validation of $100,000,000 in road bonds, the primary cause for the called session, the governor said that legislation passed by the session must meet with the requirements of the United States supreme court in the Archer county bond case or it would be without avail, and that it would not be of any benefit to the credit of the state.

The governor asked payment of deficiencies amounting to $1,538,968.19 granted by herself and said that because on September 1, 1925, there was to the credit of the general revenue fund $7,514,573.76, that these deficiencies could be paid without inconvenience to the treasury.

Deficiencies Explained

She explained how the deficiencies were incurred and attached an itemized statement which showed that $577,906 was used in exterminating the hoof and mouth disease; 299,990 in tick eradication; $123,180 to Texas Technological college; $15,900 for the expenses of the regular session of the legislature; $100,000 for University of Texas summer school; $96,000 for extra needs of Texas A. & M. college; $45,000 for the College of Industrial Arts; $116,000 for the state teachers' colleges; $298,500 for elementary institutions and $115,455 for all other departments.

The condition of the state is progressing and gratifying, the governor's communication pointed out, reviewing the crops of the year, oil production, investment of money in Texas industries, building of railroads, induction of foreign capital into Texas, and saying that the state government is functioning in every way toward the end of building and establishing more schools, roads and factories.

Tax is Reduced

The state tax has been reduced, and with the great development in the state industrial, educational and scientific lines aided by outside capital, "shows that the world has its eye on Texas with confidence in our people and our government," the communication said. She extended welcome to the legislators and said, "You and I are the public servants of the people and the partisan discussion and the acronyms of political campaigns should close with the end of the campaign."

She stated she was not inclined to submit further legislation until the bond validation was disposed of, which was taken to mean that another special session might be called.

MERTON ADMITS CLAIM IS WEAK

German Industrialist Tells of Trip To America As Trial Of Daugherty Goes On

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—When Richard Merton, German industrialist, first arrived in America in April, 1921, to attempt to recover the assets of the American Metals company he knew his legal claim was weak. He testified to this today at the trial of former attorney general Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

His legal claim was not strong, he felt, because the transfer of the stock to the Societe Sulesa, a few days before America entered the world war, was oral. In answer to a question by United States Attorney Barker concerning the late John T. King, former republican national committeeman from Connecticut, he said he did not come here with the idea of finding "a clever politician." Mr. King was also indicted but died shortly afterwards.

Merton said that he pictured America as a nation much different than England, France or others of the allies. "I did not think America exactly friendly," he said, "but I certainly knew they would be more decent than the others."

Although he felt his case to be weak, Merton said he also felt that America had no desire to seize private property or to impose it without just and sufficient cause.

Chuck Wagon Feature of Crosby Co. Fair

CROSBYTON, Sept. 14.—Follow the "Chuck Wagon Back Home" will be one of the special features of the Old Settlers Day of the Crosby County Fair on Sept. 17. The old timers will form parade and march on to the fair grounds where they will be served from the old chuck wagon as in days gone by. John Parker of East Plains who did cooking for the cowboys twenty-five years ago, is the chief cook.

Mr. Pink L. Parrish, Lubbock "Big" Mayor will deliver the principal address. He is an old timer of Crosby county and did much toward the development of this territory and of the plains.

Louis Chavud, life guard at La Jolla, Calif., tackled this one—an eight-foot shark—with his bare hands off the La Jolla beach, and after a 20-minute battle, brought it ashore.

REPUBLICANS WIN MONEY PASSED IN McPHERSON CASE

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 14. (AP)—Maine went solidly republican in the biennial state election yesterday and the result of a political barometer was interpreted differently today by republicans and democrats. Governor Ralph O. Brewster was re-elected by a majority of 20,000 or more over his democratic opponent, Ernest L. McLean, Mayor of Augusta. The state's four congressmen all republicans, were re-elected.

Two years ago Brewster beat W. H. Pattangall, democrat, by 26,655. The total vote yesterday was 267,000 less than that cast two years ago.

"Both republican and democratic leaders in the nation have emphasized the significance of the vote in Maine," said Governor Brewster. "The normal vote in an off year reflects the satisfaction of the citizens of Maine with the republican administration in state and nation. The policies of President Coolidge meet with cordial endorsement in Maine."

Mayor McLean said: "The returns indicated very substantial gains on the part of the democrats, particularly significant in view of the fact that with the exception of the second congressional district there was absolutely no financial help."

WAGNER ASKS FOR CHANGE OF VENUE

LEAKESVILLE, Miss., Sept. 14. (AP)—A plea for change of venue was made by Attorneys for Klansie Wagner here today at the opening of his trial at a special term of court for the alleged murder of Deputy Sheriff Murdock McIntosh, of Greene county in December 1924.

Attorneys for Wagner contended that he could not receive a fair and impartial trial in Greene county. The motion was contested by the state. Sam A. Witherspoon, of Meridian and Jesse Byrd of Leaksville, were designated as attorneys for the defendant by Judge Bourgeois, who refused to grant the plea of Byrd to be excused on the ground that he formerly had been associated with a relative of the murdered man.

The crime with which Wagner is charged was committed on Christmas Eve, 1924, when the officer attempted to arrest him near McLain after a jail break. Attorneys for Wagner entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. They indicated that the defense would be based on the contention that the act was committed in self defense.

BUREAU LOCATES TROPICAL STORM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—The tropical storm active some days in the Atlantic, was located by the weather bureau today as apparently a short distance south of latitude 22 degrees north and longitude 69 west, which would place it southwest of Bermuda. Advice from the steamship Mary, which was at the scene, indicated that the disturbance, attended by winds of hurricane force near the center, was recurring toward the north.

A slight disturbance that was over the Northwestern Caribbean has apparently passed northeastward over Central Cuba, the bureau said, but still another tropical storm, the intensity of which was not shown, was registered as central some distance northeast of St. Kitts leeward islands and apparently moving west-northwestward.

More Complaints In Furniture Row Filed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—Another broadside was touched off today by the federal trade commission in its war against the methods of some manufacturers in advertising and selling veneered furniture. Twenty-seven firms in Grand Rapids Michigan, many of them doing a nationwide business, were accused of unfairness in complaints docketed by the commission.

KLAN POLICIES CONSIDERED AT NATIONAL MEET

COLORFUL PARADE MONDAY OPENING OF BIENNIAL MEETING

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Policies of the Ku Klux Klan were under consideration here today by its members at the third biennial convocation of the order which was opened by a colorful parade of white robed hosts, yesterday up Pennsylvania avenue.

Although business sessions are closed to the general public, newspaper correspondents are admitted. The names of participants in the proceedings, however, are not revealed, being given in the program merely as "knightmen of Indiana," "an exalted cyclops," or "prominent klan minister."

The name of the first speaker at last night's session, for instance, was withheld, but he was introduced as the man who seated Senator Mayfield, democrat, Texas, and seated Senator Stock, democrat of Iowa, in place of Senator Smith W. Brookhart, republican, whom he was credited with having unseated.

The parade was the second of its kind in Washington in a little more than a year, and in it marched delegates from practically every state in the union and from Alaska and Panama.

Many more klanmen marched than was the case a year ago, but the demonstration lacked many of the decorated floats and apparently the number of drill teams and bands was less. It was witnessed by scores of thousands of persons.

The principal speaker at last night's session, a resident of Washington, is said to hold a high place in the organization.

He predicted absolute exclusion of immigrants within a few years and declared that the klan had no quarrels with the Catholics, but was determined there would be removed from the body politic of America any influence of the Catholic church.

He declared that the recent eucharistic congress in Chicago was a challenge to America.

Keep Al Smith in New York, was his parting advice as the delegates broke into a demonstration, with applause, cat-calls and whistling. A second unnamed speaker, an exalted cyclops from a Southern state, declared that the real fight between klan and anti-klan is a racial fight.

Calling attention to rigid state laws in the South against miscegenation, he urged the klanmen of the North to make that law in every state in the nation.

JOE COURCY, OF GRAINESVILLE recently came to Lubbock, where he will be located during the cotton season, and will probably move here with Mrs. Courcy and two children.

TEXAS WATCHING CARDS AND REDS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 14. (AP)—The hot pentium race in the National League between St. Louis, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh is not confined to the North and East alone, but its ramifications extend to Texas, with one North Texas section pulling against a South Texas city.

Favorite sons are the reason for the divided partiality as respects St. Louis and Cincinnati. For North Texas boasts Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Cardinals, while Beville, south-east of San Antonio, is equally enthusiastic over Curtis Walker, Cincinnati outfielder, whose hitting has helped the Reds to win many games.

Already Beville fans who are able to make the trip are planning to watch Cincinnati and "Curt" in particular, in the world series, and no doubt there are as many fans around Denison who will go to St. Louis if that city gets its first National League pennant.

San Antonio's hopes are pinned on St. Louis because that team did its spring training here this year and persons from miles around came to see the exhibition games. One farmer remarked disappointedly after a Sunday game between St. Louis and San Antonio Bears that he had driven 75 miles through the mud a second time to see Hornsby hit a home run, and Hornsby hadn't done it in either game.

Local baseball followers are hopeful also that a world champion team will train here next spring, and St. Louis has given assurance that the Cardinals will be back here again. A first-class diamond and enclosed park are to be built at Terrell Hot Wells south of the city for the major leagues.

FATAL WRECK WAS PLANNED, CHARGE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 14. (AP)—The wreck of the Missouri Pacific Sunshine Special enroute from New Orleans to St. Louis, which cost the life of George Bushy, Little Rock engineer, and several injured H. J. Munds, of Little Rock, fireman, was deliberately executed, officials announced today after an investigation of the scene near Magee, Ark.

Rail officials said that rail fastenings had been moved and spikes pulled, causing one of the rails to turn under the engine. A spike puller and wrench were found by the road bed.

Flod hounds were sent to the scene this morning.

Next to the thrill of the first long trousers comes that of being introduced at a luncheon club.
