Dowell Service Pins

B. J. Nunley, right, manager of Dowell Division of Dow Chemical Company here, presents a 10-year service pin to E. F. Spiller, Dowell's sales-service engineer here. Nunley also received a 15-year service pin from Dowell at the ceremonies recently in Midland. Nunley was employed by Dowell in Levelland in 1947 and worked in Midland, Kermit and Snyder before coming here in 1956. Spiller was employed by Dowell in Seminole, Okla., in 1952 and moved to Colorado City in 1958. Nunley lives at 1636 Dallas St. and Spiller at 950 Rusk St.

FOR FEEDER PIGS

Farmers to Air Possible Market

The possibility of Mitchell County farmers producing feeder pigs for a Sweetwater meat packing company has been voiced—and Colorado City Chamber of Commerce's Agriculture Committee has arranged a Monday night meeting here for informal purposes for any interested county farmers.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. in Civic House reports J. D. Hill, chairman of the Agriculture Committee.

The meeting, says Hill, has been set to afford any interested county farmers the opportunity to discuss the proposal directly with a representative of the Sweetwater firm — "no plans or commitments have been made. Any action of course will be up to individual farmers."

Dick Penick, representing Pace Packing Company, of Sweetwater, is planning to purchase 100 feeder pigs per week for an indefinite period to set up a feeding operation, Hill reports. "He wants to work out a contract with farmers in this West Texas area to purchase the 6-week old pigs, weighing between 35 and 45 pounds," Hill continues.

Penick reports he will pay 166 per cent of the top Fort Worth hog market price for the pigs, says Hill.

Hill invites all interested county farmers to attend the information meeting for full details.

Sales Course Begins Here Monday Night

A 4-part course in "Creative Selling Techniques" opens here Monday night. It will continue through Friday night.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsored course begins each night, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, at 7 p. m. in the Chamber's Conference Room.

Directing the course, open to all interested citizens, will be James E. Moore, retail training specialist from the University of Texas in Austin.

The Chamber's Retail Merchants Committee, headed by chairman Jeff Taylor, is sponsoring the training sessions.

"The course is a chance for local owners, managers and employees of firms engaged in selling products or services to improve their selling technique," says Moore.

FOR '62 FISCAL YEAR

Chamber Adopts $15,187 Budget

Colorado City Chamber of Commerce has adopted a $15,187 budget for the 1962 fiscal year — with added emphasis on expanding and intensifying its industrial development program.

The budget was adopted by the Chamber's board of directors Thursday night here.

The 1962 budget is only $224 above the 1961 budget, but alterations in its structure have been made to promote the industrial development program's buildup, says president Bob Carver. The 1961 budget was $14,963.

The biggest single change in the budget's allocations calls for $1,400 to be spent on travel — directly promoting industrial development in Colorado City. It represents a $800 jump for the 1961 budget allocation for that item.

Also increased were the allocations for printing and office supplies from $400 to $475 and postage from $350 in 1961 to $450 in 1962.

The increases in the 3 allocations were made directly for use in the stepped-up industrial development program, reports Carver. Other areas of the budget were trimmed to take care of the increases, and still keep '62's budget approximately what it was last year, he continued.

A total of $1,130 was allocated for building expenses, including remodeling and cleaning and repair, in the budget. It represents a $70 decrease for the budget for the same classifications last year.

Salaries and benefits total $9,794 — an increase from $9,570 in 1961.

Administrative Expenses, which includes the post, printing and travel, is up from $3,343 to $3,663.

Project Expenses for '62 will total $300 — decreased $550 from $850.

Chamber manager Dick Kendall will kickoff the expanded industrial development activities Monday, Mar. 19, when he journeys to Dallas and Fort Worth, with the results of the Chamber's recent industrial survey here with him.

(Tabulation of the survey's results will be completed in about 10 days.)

Kendall will present results of the survey to regional industrial development departments of companies and banks, such as Texas Electric Service Company and Texas and Pacific Railway, to name 2, and give a personal account of the program to the industrial development leaders.

"This is vitally important," says Carver, "to acquaint the leaders with the facilities and statistical information about Colorado City. With this information, they can better serve their prospects and, perhaps, can promote industrial development here."

In other business Thursday, the Chamber's board:

Formed a Lake Promotion Committee and named J. O. Wood, wire chief for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, as chairman. The committee members to be named later, will promote both Lake Colorado City and Champion Creek Lake.

Opened a study into the possibility of getting access roads paved along the Interstate 20 freeway around Colorado City.

Approved the Legislative Committee's sponsorship of a bill for lack of facilities or first for public office.

Communism Seminar To Begin Wednesday

POSSIBLE CANDIDATE "UNDECIDED"

Berman and Hoback Place Names On Council Ballot

Incumbent H. I. Berman and R. J. Hoback filed as City Council candidates here Saturday morning doubling the slate to 4 candidates.

Three 2-year terms of office on the Council will be filled in the April 3 City Election.

The filing deadline of 12 midnight Saturday was less than 15 hours away as Berman and Hoback tossed their hats into the ring. Another potential candidate was still undecided at press time, Saturday.

Speculation late Friday was that there would be a rash of activity here Saturday as the deadline approached with only 2 candidates in the race — and the speculation was correct. Supporters of both Berman and Hoback continued their urgings to add efforts in behalf of the 2 to file right up until the actual filings took place.

Incumbent Councilman Dr. John H. Chinn and Winston Wood Smith, in the roofing business, filed for the race Feb. 16.

Mayor Glenn R. (Bob) Robinson, whose term expires this year along with the terms of Chinn and Berman, told The Record by telephone late Saturday morning it was "all but definite" he would not seek re-election to the Council. Robinson has been Mayor both years of his first term.

Jimmy Harrison, 1732 Locust St., declined to take himself out completely as a possible candidate at 2 p. m. Saturday. He said by telephone "I don't think I will" file but said, too, he was still "undecided."

Harrison, a painting contractor and farmer, picked up a filing form from City Hall late Friday afternoon. He said he had been approached and urged "by a few" to file for the race.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, Berman said:

"I like to see our City run in a business-like manner and enter the campaign with that aim if elected. Also I support the Council aiding in the promotion of progress in Colorado City."

"I feel that the finances of Colorado City should be protected and put to the best possible use and pledge to work toward this end if elected."

Berman ends his first 2-year term on the Council in 1962.

Berman, a retired business man, has lived in Colorado City for 38 years — since 1924. He was in business for 34 years and owned a variety store here until 4 years ago. He is past president of the General Public Urged to Attend

Dr. Franklin H. Littell, professor of Church History at Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, will kickoff a 3-part Communism Seminar here Wednesday night.

The seminar, billed as an "Expose of Communism" by local sponsoring organizations, will feature 3 nationally known authorities on Communism the first 3 weeks of March.

Colorado City Lions Club, Mitchell County Ministerial Alliance and City National Bank are sponsoring the 3-part program at no charge as a public service to Colorado City, Mitchell County and area citizens.

Littell's discussion begins at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday night in Colorado City High School auditorium. The 2 following Tuesday nights, Mar. 13 and Mar. 20, Dr. John M. Claunch and Arthur A. Smith will conduct the remaining parts of the seminar.

Littell will discuss "Christianity vs. Communism." Claunch's subject will be "Democracy vs. Totalitarianism" and Smith will discuss "Free Enterprise vs. Communism."

The 3 participants, all nationally-recognized experts in their fields, will answer questions from the floor during their programs.

Each will address a joint meeting of junior and senior high school students here the afternoon just prior to the seminar program in the high school auditorium. Residents who cannot attend the night programs are urged to attend the afternoon sessions.

Littell will speak to the joint student assembly here at 1:10 p. m. Wednesday.

"Colorado City is very fortunate to have the opportunity to hear such distinguished speakers," says SEMINAR Pg. 7

VISITATIONS, SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Public Schools Week Activities Are Set Here

Parents and other interested citizens have an open invitation to visit Colorado Independent School District's 5 schools here, this week during observance of Public Schools Week.

Open houses, choir performances, skits and other special activities will be included in the week's observance along with a standing invitation for visitation at any of the schools any days of the week except Friday — there will be no school Friday.

"The purpose of Texas Public Schools Week is to inform the general public about schools and allow the public to get to know their school better," reports district superintendent Frank Wilson.

"Both the district's board of trustees and I personally extend a cordial and general invitation to all Colorado City and area citizens to visit our schools, at any time, but particularly this week, to see the schools in regular daily operation," says Wilson.

All schools will be closed Friday as local faculty members attend the annual convention of District IV of the West Texas Teachers Association in Odessa.

Activities here during Texas Public School's Week will include:

Primary School, Brooks Teague principal — general visitation during any school hours Monday through Thursday. (The school's annual open house is conducted at the beginning of each school year.)

Hutchinson School, Weldon Moore principal — open house sponsored by the school's Parent-Teachers Association, headed by president Mrs. Bill Holbert, Tuesday from 7 to 9 p. m. The open house will include a tour of classroom facilities, special student prepared exhibits, conferences with teachers and 2 performances by the sixth grade band. The first will be at 7:30 p. m.

Junior High School, James Trammell principal — general visitation Monday through Thursday with special exhibits prepared by students on safety and driver education on display. Thursday at 1:20 p. m. Mrs. Arnel Smith's speech department will present a play. The general public will be invited.

Former resident Ken Eastin was reported "doing fine" Friday in Baylor Hospital in Dallas following chest surgery.

Eastin, vice president of Commercial Bank and Trust Company of Midland was a Colorado City resident from 1939 until 1955. He was vice president of City National Bank here before going to Midland in July of 1955.

Eastin is married to the former Josephine Chestney, sister of Gus Chesney, present vice president of City National Bank here. She is in Dallas with him.

FOURTH TO ENTER

Edison School Board Candidate

James E. (Jim) Edison, superintendent for "Sun Oil Company" here, Friday became the fourth candidate in the Colorado Independent School District trustee election April 7.

Edison filed for the office at 2:50 p. m. to join Warren Costin, Warren Anderson and Bill Carter, as candidates for 3-year terms on the board. Costin and Warren are seeking re-election to the body.

"I am deeply concerned about education interests in this area and would like to make a contribution to put 'Sun Oil' in the U. S. Navy in World War II and has been associated with Sun Oil for 15 years.

He is a member of the First Christian Church and the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce. He has served as chairman of the Chamber's Education Committee for the last 2 years.

Edison's candidacy is not back by lack of facilities or first for public office.

Continued efforts to more fully achieve this here would be my aim if elected, he said.

Edison, 38, has been a Colorado City resident for 2 years. He and his family live at 936 Rusk St. Edison and his wife, Irene, have 2 children, Janice, 10, and Jimmy, 8.

The candidate is a native of Denver, Colo., and a 1945 graduate of Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y. He served in the U. S. Navy in World War II and has been associated with Sun Oil for 15 years.

He is a member of the First Christian Church and the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce. He has served as chairman of the Chamber's Education Committee for the last 2 years.

Edison's candidacy is not back by lack of facilities or first for public office.

Approximately 90 Colorado City teachers and school administrators, along with other county teachers, will take leading roles in the annual District IV convention of West Texas Teachers Association in Odessa Friday.

The most important role of course will be that of convention president, Mrs. Gerald Gordon, journalism and English teacher at Colorado City High School for the past 12 years. She will preside at the meetings of the House of Delegates as well as preside in the general sessions of the convention.

During the first general sessions of the convention the 30 members of the association will hear music provided by the Colorado High School Concert Choir, directed by Curtis Baker.

Other Colorado City teachers and school administrators having special roles in the convention include superintendent Frank Wilson, who is chairman of the district's membership committee and who will report to the House of Delegates and will also make a report to the convention in the first general session.

Mrs. Austin McCloud, heads the necrology committee which will make a report to the House of Delegates and E. M. Findley, high school principal, is a member of the committee on professional standards which will also make its report to the House of Delegates. Miss Jane Merrill is a member of the important Delegates to the House of Delegates Thursday night from the County's teachers association will be Wilson, Findley, Herman and Mrs. Dickenson and Mrs. Parsons, Westbrook School superintendent.

Approximately 3,500 public school teachers and administrators in the 15-county area of District IV are expected to attend the convention. Counties in the district are Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Andrews, Martin, Scurry, Mitchell, Winkler, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Crane, Howard, Upton and Reagan.

The convention program will include 2 general sessions to be conducted at 10 a. m. and at 4:30 p. m. in the Odessa High School fieldhouse, afternoon workshops and sectional meetings and luncheon programs for many teacher groups.

Book Review Is Presented To Zetagathian Members

A review of the book, "A Time to Stand" by Walter Lord, was the highlight of the Thursday meeting of the Zetagathian Study Club in the home of Mrs. Sam L. Majors, Jr., 820 E. 15th St.

Mrs. John Brand, program leader, opened the meeting with prayer. The club president, Mrs. O. B. Trulock, welcomed two new members, Mrs. Buster Avcock and Mrs. Newby Pratt.

Mrs. Trulock also reminded the members of the District Convention in Sweetwater's Baker Hotel scheduled for March 9 and 10.

A letter from Mrs. Cricket Taylor, County Home Demonstration Agent, was read. The letter announced plans for cooperative extension work in agriculture and home economics.

The book review was presented by Mrs. Curtis Latimer, author Lord is a native of Baltimore, Md., and holds a law degree from Yale. He served in the U. S. Army in World War II.

Lord has had years of experience as editor in various and sundry publications, finally leaving these fields for full time writing. He has always held an immense interest in American history and has chosen this field for most of his books. Some he has written are: "A Night to Remember," "Day of Infamy," "The Fremont Diary," "The Good Years," and "A Time to Stand."

Bob Newton, local band instructor, performed the ancient call to arms, used by Santa Anna in his attack of the Alamo, at the beginning of the review. The call to arms, the Deguello, was performed by Newton on the bugle. This call was traced all the way back to the Roman Soldiers used in Bethlehem and always means "death without mercy."

In beginning her review, Mrs. Latimer told of the great rush to Texas, where land could be bought for as little as 4c an acre. The call of Texas was answered by all kinds of people, who flocked to the new land to find a new home to escape the past and innumerable other reasons.

"By 1830," Mrs. Latimer said, "the Americans in Texas made up over 75 per cent of the population. As the Mexicans realized they were losing control, the idea of fighting back became an obsession with them. Things moved slowly at first, but when action did begin, everything closed in at once. The only course open to the Americans was to break free for now Mexico had shown her true colors."

"The alamo had men strong, outstanding and often uncounted men. Characters standing out and playing leading roles in the events preceding the following these years of turmoil and conflict."

"Not to be undersold by any man of his day was Big Jim Bowie, perhaps the greatest of them all. Certainly to all he settlers in Texas, this tall, sandy-haired man was a living legend and idol. He met, fell desperately in love with and married the richest girl in San Antonio de Bexar, blond 19-year-old Maria Ursula de Veramendi, whose father was governor of San Antonio."

The happy situation ended when cholera broke out and caught up with the entire family, even in the place of safety to which Bowie had transferred them. Big Jim Bowie never recovered from this blow.

"William Barrett Travis was the man whose entire being and spirit was pitted against Bowie from their first meeting until their death together in the Alamo. He was well educated in law and taught school on the side. An unhappy marriage brought Travis to Texas, and the Texas knock of burying the past also brought him out of a probable uneventful life to one of historical prominence. He kept immaculate and exact diaries and autobiographies. He was modest, touchy, easily offended and given to long spells of reverie. The sheer extremes of personalities between Travis and Bowie caused clashes of wild explosions."

"The Mexican army first occupied the Alamo, an old abandoned mission built in the pattern of a Franciscan mansion. He set up fort there to await the arrival and defeat of the Americans who never came. The alamo remained a fort purely because of disobedience to orders; for 3 succeeding commanders were ordered to blow it up."

"As the meager force of Texans prepared to defend San Antonio in the Alamo, leaders from all over Texas and the nation sensed the seriousness of the showdown destined to follow. The earthy Sam Houston said, 'Let each man come with a good rifle and 100 rounds of ammunition and come soon.'"

"Though the entire nation was all united for Texas, the brave little band stood inside the Alamo ready to defend their beloved Texas alone."

"As the Americans prepared for battle, 800 miles south of the Alamo, a well-knit, middle-aged Mexican buckled on his $7,000 sword, mounted a saddle heavy with gold-plated trim and turned his horse north toward the Rio Grande. General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna also felt that San Antonio was an important part of the government of Texas and he planned to seize it."

"High in the hills, across the river, the long figure of Senior Jose Cassiano, a scout for the interest of the citizens of San Antonio, took notice and reported back to the alamo. His alarm of the progress of the Mexican Army was enough for the citizens of the town. They began evacuation toward the north, the county, the hills; any place of safety."

"To strengthen the defenses of the Alamo was the only course open to the men at the little fort. Travis pleaded for aid."

"In Goliad, Fannin had almost 500 volunteers from the states; the best trained and best equipped army the Texans ever put in the field. Fannin knew what he had, and he meant it so serve his personal glory. This mercenary commander knew well of the extreme need of his garrison at the Alamo. He had even made 11 halfhearted departure in that direction only to lose heart and return to Goliad. There they waited for the inevitable tragedy to come."

"On the morning of Mar. 5, at 5:30 a. m., as the first threads of dawn faintly tinged the eastern sky, 100 Mexicans crouched in tense, mounting and irrepressible excitement. Then, to the sounds of 'Viva Santa Anna' and the death-dealing Deguello, the mighty surge into, onto and over the fort began."

"Perhaps the first man to die was Travis himself who was manning the cannon on the northwest wall. Slumped over his cannon, he died from a single shot straight through the head. Joe Travis's servant boy who was liberated by Santa Anna, reported Travis's last words as being, 'No Red Indians, Muchachos'... meaning 'Don't surrender, boys.'"

"The memory of one Mexican sergeant, Felix Nunez recalled a tall American of rather dark complexion, with a long buckskin coat and cap without a bill, made of fox-skin with a long tail hanging down his back. He reported this man as apparently having a charmed life. Of the many soldiers who took deliberate aim at him and fired not one ever hit him. On the contrary, he never missed a shot. When he was finally felled, 20 bayonets pierced him," he reported. So begins the story and legend of Davy Crockett."

Mrs. Latimer finished her review by saying, "It was dark in the little sacristy where Mrs. Dickinson, her daughter, Angelina and Joe, the servant, knelt, awaiting the end. Suddenly all sounds died away. The Mexicans were not even shooting at the bodies any longer. It was 6:30 a. m. and a cheerful sun rose in the east, bathing the silent smoking Alamo in the golden light of another bright new day. And the words, 'It was but a small affair,' were spoken from the lips of the victorious General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna."

After the review, refreshments were served to 18 members present.

Vows Exchanged

Mrs. Sue Kidd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delfo Clark, 704 E. 17th St., and Kent Lee Womack, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Womack, 744 Cypress St., exchanged marriage vows Friday, Feb. 23, at 3 p. m. in the Youth Chapel of First Methodist Church in Carlsbad, N. M.

Rev. Bervin Caswell, pastor, performed the ceremony. Matron of honor was the bride's cousin, Mrs. Bill Frank Bassham of Carlsbad, and Bassham was best man. The bride wore a green brocade cotton sheath, trimmed with fur. Her accessories were gold and black.

The bride is a 1956 graduate of Westbrook High School. She attended Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. The groom is a 1951 graduate of Colorado High School and a U. S. Navy veteran.

Mrs. Womack is employed with City National Bank. Womack has been an employee of the Texas Highway Department for over 5 years as an engineer's aid. The couple are at home at 516 E. 7th St.

SCHOOL WEEK FETE

1-Act Play Set at Junior High School

Thursday is the date scheduled for the 1-act play to be presented by Colorado City Junior High School students in the school auditorium. The play will be presented at 1:30 p. m. as part of the school's observance of Texas Public School Week.

"The Brave Shall Serve" is the title of the play. It was written by Clark Stevens.

It tells the dramatic story of a young invalid's interest in being of some service to her country. It plots the extremes to which the enemy agents go to fulfill the task of taking secret information to their headquarters.

Carol Bradford is the courageous young invalid and almost the victim of Karl, when she uncovers certain information in an envelope brought to her by Vesta Mayfield. Both Karl and Vesta are enemy agents.

Albert Bradford, her father; Dr. Hillman, the family physician; and Susan Richie, Carol's nurse, play important parts in helping Carol serve her country.

Characters in the play are: Mary Ann Montgomery; Carol Bradford; Bill Magee; Albert Bradford; Mike Hillhouse; Dr. Hillman; Mary Jane Nobles; Susan Richie; Donny Lindsey; Karl; Kay Lindsey; Vesta Mayfield; and David Way, policeman. Kathy Anderson will serve as an announcer.

The public is cordially invited to this program.

LORRAINE'S LODGE 1307

Masons Host to Washington Fete

LORRAINE The annual Masonic George Washington banquet of the Lorraine Lodge 1307 was conducted at 7 p. m. Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium.

Rev. H. M. Farrington presented the invocation. Miss Joretta Hall provided piano music during the meal.

George Mahoney, Worshipful Master, presented the welcome and recognized and introduced widows of Masons, and Brother Masons introduced their wives and other guests.

Mrs. Price Hall presented the response. Woodrow Pratt introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Frank Story, who spoke on "The Washington Monument."

Roy Linder presented the benediction. The banquet was staged in a setting of white cherry trees and red cherries mounted on green starburst bases. Miniature butchery accented the tables. Napkins were in patriotic colors on tables clothed in white.

The head table was accented with an arrangement of carnations, greenery and willows.

Approximately 92 persons were present.

Pink and Blue Shower For Mrs. G. Gray

Mrs. George Gray was honored with a pink and blue shower Friday morning in the home of Mrs. H. H. Bodine.

Other guests for the fete were Mrs. Jerry Koenig and Mrs. Robert Barnum.

The refreshment table was centered with a white miniature stork. Its base was covered with daisies. Appointments were in silver.

CONVERSATION CORNER

By RUTH COFFEY

DALLAS, TEXAS, D-Day. (D-day before D-birthday celebration.)

DEAR RICK: "It was just a ride on the bus, that's all that it was—but oh what it seemed to be!" It was like a trip into spring where blooms everything—redbud, forsythia, japonica, daffodils, hyacinths, and the tulip trees (sometimes called pink magnolias) all in bloom. Then came the freeze, sleet on the trees. Weather has fun with changes like these.

IT WAS JUST a ride on a bus because, as you jolly well know, that T&P train was on time the other morning. Your backslashed roving reporter wasn't. Anyhow, it got to be fun. Like an unexpected holiday. Bus riders are the least formal travelers of all.

There was, for instance, the gorgeous girl named Helen. Native of Athens, Greece, she'd been an exchange student in Buffalo, N. Y. high school, and attended Smith College. She spoke English with a London accent—or maybe it was Harvard—and was saying she was going back to Athens to marry her young man, an army lieutenant, graduate of his country's military training school. Helen was seeing America first, before she sailed by Greek liner from New York, to prepare for her wedding. She had visited friends in Los Angeles.

UNHAPPY as it made friends and family, she chose to bus back across the United States instead of flying. Her plans included stopping in Memphis, Tenn. and Washington, D. C. She almost stopped in Abilene, Texas, and Ranger but not on purpose. Because of her talent for wandering off to buy postcards and souvenirs. But for friendly yells of fellow-passengers, she'd still be in Texas asking questions about Indians, cowboys, and breakfast foods. That bus had an almost "family" feel.

FAMILY FEELINGS are always good. Ours blossomed when greeted by Mother and the sister nicknamed "Merry" because her name is Mary. Favorite niece from Houston, too. She's Maxine Calhoun, office manager for one of the firms of architects now preparing plans for the space center to be built in Houston. Her office is nerve center for drafting of that fascinating government project, to cost $90,000,000 (ninety million dollars.) Land, you'll remember if you're caught up with your reading, was donated by Rice University. Maxine, ex-Baylor glamorous blond, sometimes visits C. City.

DIALED some numbers, in-between gadding from the Zodiac room at Neiman's to El Fenix in Inwood and Lemon. Found a very favorite person, Mrs. Otto Berlin (nee Eva Landau Schwartz) at home. She lives on Preston Haven, has an eleven-year-old son, Larry Berlin, and a one-year-old grandson David whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Weiss, are manufacturers of rainwear in Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Weiss was before her marriage Phyllis Schwartz, OU co-ed. Eva was saying happily that the Weiss family had visited Dallas just recently. The Berlins hope to visit C. City relatives, the Willie Landaus, the latter part of March.

SYLVAN LANDAU, younger brother of the family, is factory representative for Haggard and like most of our grown-up new generation of big-shots travels the length and breadth of this nation—on Haggard britches business. He and his mother Mrs. Ray Landau make their home together in Dallas at a Frederick Square address. Two of our Bodzin boys—Louis and Frank—and their wives live in Big D, too. Nobody answered their home phones the day we dialed.

ED E. WILLIAMS, former C. City superintendent of schools, did not answer his phone either at that wonderful new senior high school, air-conditioned and modern as day after tomorrow, in Irving. Ed is principal for students fortunate enough to attend classes in the recently completed show-place school, so the secretary to the secretary answered first, put us through to his personal secretary, who then connected us with the familiar voice.

Talked later to Minnie Belle, (Mrs. Williams) who teaches 7th grade English at Crockett Junior High in Irving. They live in what's known to Irvingites as Sherwood Forest, on Huntingdon Drive. Ed was recently elected to serve as a board member for Dallas Teachers Credit Union—one of the oldest and biggest credit unions in the nation.

REAGAN MARTIN has entered law practice in Big D. Son of Doris Martin and the late Bill Martin of Loraine, Reagan received his law degree along with high honors from SMU in the spring of '61. He lives in Richardson and is married to a Dallas girl. The Bob Wulfjens are also Richardson suburbanites. She, of course, is the former Maxine Craddock.

YOU KNOW of course, Rick, that this is not supposed to be a fittin' and proper complete list of all our Dallas area old-hometowners. Mrs. Albert Rudnick, nee Phyllis Berman, only daughter of our Max Berman, C. C. H. S. grad and ex-Texas co-ed, lives here at an address on Crooked Lane. She has a "big boy" named Fred, and a "little boy" named Michael. The Rudnicks plan an Easter visit to C. City. Phyllis said via Alexander Graham Bell communication facilities.

JUST NOW, there's a stunning new straw pillbox in a hat box, there's the daughter Doris Ann (Mrs. Ralph M. Mann) expected from Houston for the celebration, and there's a birthday cake coming up with 39 candles—count 'em and blink. Love to the Record force. See you Tuesday. Signed, sealed, and delivered R. C.

High School, E. M. Findley.

Principal — Abilene Christian College Glee Club to perform at 9 a. m. Monday in performance open to general public in the auditorium. The Abilene college's glee club appearance is in addition to general visitation.

Wallace School, W. D. Harris principal — open house Thursday at 8 p. m. and visitation all week.

Junior and Senior High School students will meet in a joint assembly at 1:10 p. m. Wednesday to hear a discussion of Christianity vs. Communism by Franklin H. Littell, professor of Church History at Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

Littell is making his afternoon appearance as part of the Communist Seminar sponsored here by Colorado City Lions Club, Mitchell County Ministerial Alliance and City National Bank. Littell is the first of 3 weekly night speakers to appear in the seminar — all will address senior and junior high students the afternoon of their appearance here.

Littell's discussion Wednesday afternoon is open to those who cannot attend Wednesday night.

COURSE ...

Enrollment in the course is still open and registration may be made by calling the Chamber at RA 8-3403 Monday. Cost of the course is $250 per person.

Areas covered in the sessions, reports Taylor, are:

Monday — how to sharpen one's sales personality.

Tuesday — how to satisfy customers' wants and needs through the application of thorough merchandise or service knowledge.

Thursday — how to understand and appreciate why customers behave and buy as they do.

Friday — clinical experience in applying proven sales techniques.

"The course" continues Taylor, "is designed to be adapted to all types of sales situations including intangibles."

Instructor Moore's experience in the field includes:

Department store management, life insurance sales and management, guidance and placement counseling, sales management in southwest for national firm, instructional methods specialist in the U. S. Army and 7 years as distributive education teacher-coordinator.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Narrell were in Clyde Sunday visiting his sister, Mrs. B. L. Kimble.

men—it's truly an opportunity of a lifetime," say seminar co-chairmen Dr. R. D. Bridgford and Dr. W. S. (Bill) Rhode.

"We hear so much about communism, but know so little about it," they say, "and this is an opportunity for all local citizens to learn the true facts."

Invitations to citizens of area towns have been extended.

Littell has been a leader in the fight against Communism for nearly 25 years. In the 1930's, while an officer of the National Council of Methodist Youth, he was chairman of the anti-Communist bloc in the American Youth Congress and World Youth Congress.

In 1940 he was "honored" by a full issue of the Communist Youth Weekly, distributed nationally, which singled him out as "the most dangerous youth leader in America."

After the war, Littell was an officer, finally Chief Protestant Advisor, in the U. S. occupation in Germany. Later he directed for 5 years 1 of the chief anti-Communist programs in Berlin and Western Europe. For his work during those years he received the Knights Commander Cross.

One of the highest honors given any American—from the German Federal Republic in Bonn.

The SMU professor, who has previously served at the University of Michigan, Boston University and Emory University, has also published several major articles and books on the struggle with Nazi and Communist totalitarianism and is also editor of a scientific Newsletter in the same field.

Two of his books were published in 1960: "The German Phoenix," a study of the church struggle with Nazism and Communism in central Europe, and "Weltkirchenlexikon" (published in German in Stuttgart), a 1,000-page handbook on the status of the Christian churches all over the world.

According to Littell, the encounter of Christendom with Communism is "the most serious challenge to Christianity since the rise of Islam over a thousand years ago, and probably since the Day of Pentecost."

Littell, son of a Methodist minister, was licensed to preach at the age of 15, and completed his education at Cornell College (BA), Union Theological Seminary (BD), and Yale University (PhD).

He has been a national leader of the Methodist Church (1939), in Methodist youth and student work and has represented the Methodist Church at international conferences in Amsterdam, Copenhagen, Monterey, Oxford, Berlin and other cities of the western world.

In 1959 he delivered the Ecumenical Address to 500,000 people at the "Rally of the Church" (Kirchentag) in Munich, and will participate in the Berlin rally in July of 1961 and at the Methodist World Conference in Oslo in August.

Littell is a Consultant to the American Center for Theological Studies, the National Conference of Christians and Jews and the National Association of Coordinators of University Religious Affairs. He has received 2 honorary doctorates (Cornell and Marburg) and has been elected a Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education (1943) and a member of Phi Beta Kappa Associates (1958).

He is listed in "Who's Who in America."

Littell was the first national secretary of the United Christian Youth Movement, was formerly national President of the Methodist youth, Theological Seminary (BD), to the United Conference of the Methodist Church (1939), in Methodist youth and student work and has represented the Methodist Church at international conferences in Amsterdam, Copenhagen, Monterey, Oxford, Berlin and other cities of the western world.

OPPOSES RATLIFF

Truett Latimer Seeks Senate Seat

Truett Latimer, who has served 10 years in the Texas Legislature, has opened his active campaign for 24th District State Senator.

His candidacy is subject to the May 5 Democratic Primary.

Latimer, resident of Taylor County, will oppose incumbent David Ratliff for the office.

In asking for a promise to the Senate, Latimer says he is seeking the seat on the basis of his record of legislative accomplishments.

Latimer supports a reduction of the 2 per cent state sales tax to 1 per cent across the board, "exploration of very possible source for orderly development of water resources, agricultural research, an effective small loan law, an aggressive soil conservation program and a stronger lobby by control law."

Also deletion of traffic tickets from the present insurance plan, retention of a top highway system, a 70-mile speed limit on 4-lane divided highways and a continued upgrading of our schools and colleges.

Latimer opposes a city sales tax and a state income tax.

"We must develop an aggressive program designed to bring more tourists, business and investment, as well as new industry to Texas through this type of program. Our state can grow on a sound basis without increasing taxes," Latimer says.

The candidate was born in Albany and reared in Lueders. He is a 1951 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene with a B. A. degree.

Latimer is married, and the father of 2 children. He is a member of Abilene's First Baptist Church, Rotarian and a Jaycee.

He has served on many House committees during his terms of office, including 2 terms on Appropriations, 2 on Water, 3 on Agriculture and 4 on Insurance. In 1959, he served as chairman of the Departmental Appropriations Sub-committee. He has served as both chairman and vice chairman of other House committees.

Serves on Transport

Earl R. Richardson, seaman apprentice, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Richardson of Route 2, is serving aboard the attack transport USS "Pickaway," a unit of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, headquartered at San Diego, Calif., which celebrated its 20th anniversary Feb. 20.

Established on Feb. 20, 1942, the force spearheaded such World War II amphibious campaigns as Guadalcanal, Leyte, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Chamber and is presently a member. He is also past president of Colorado City Kiwanis Club and past lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis.

Berman is presently president of the Mitchell County unit of the American Cancer Society and a district delegate for the society. He is also a member of the American Legion.

He and his wife, Alice, live at 140 E. 10th St. He has 3 sons, Harold Berman, an attorney in Dallas; Dr. Erwin Berman of Fresno, Calif.; and Dr. Stanley Berman of Houston.

Hoback, co-owner of Colorado Feed and Seed, 1st and Pine Sts., said his candidacy came "pretty sudden" following encouragement by local citizens.

"I hope, if elected," he continued, "to help promote continued good relations between Colorado City and rural citizens of the county. And, too, to try to continue to conduct the city's business in the same excellent manner as the Council has in past years."

Hoback, a resident for 16 years, is a member of the board of directors of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and serves as chairman of its Membership Committee. He won first prize in the Chamber's 1961 membership drive by signing up the most members.

The candidate is a native of Lamesa and a graduate of Lamesa High School. He is a veteran of World War II military service in the U. S. Navy.

Hoback, 38, is a member of the First Methodist Church and a former Jaycee here. He and his wife, Myra Nell, and 2 children, Robert, 9, and Ann, 7, live at 1543 Watson St.

It is Hoback's first attempt for public office.

Three Colorado High School senior students will be in Abilene Monday morning to take college entrance tests. The tests will be conducted in Abilene High School by the American College Board. Going are Mickey Redwine, Joel Lee and Gayle Stone.

60 YEARS OF BUSINESS

J. C. Penney Co. Has Anniversary

J. C. Penney Company this year observes the 60th anniversary of its founding, according to Bob Ridley, manager of Penney's here at 187 E. 2nd St.

The local store is one of 1,700 stores in 48 states forming the chain of retail department stores founded by the man whose name it bears.

Ridley pointed out that James Cash Penney, now 86 and a director of the Company, started the business, in 1902, when he opened a small drygoods store in Kemmerer, Wyo. He called this first store The Golden Rule to symbolize his belief that an ethical yardstick is just as applicable in business as it is in one's personal life.

Penney's policy of selling quality merchandise is still practiced by the chain, which today is one of the nation's largest corporations with annual sales of $1.5 billion.

A number of community and store events has been planned in connection with the anniversary observance, according to Ridley. One high point in the activities will come around Apr. 14, date of the Kemmerer store opening back in 1902.

Penney's has been instrumental in developing a number of retailing "firsts," said Ridley. For instance, it was first to have work clothes Sanitized and "graduated" according to size. In addition, the company was first to use Sanitized, a chemical which inhibits the growth of bacteria. Although used primarily in shoes, the process has application in other products to keep them fresher and cleaner and make them last longer.

All of Penney's operations have a single objective: to bring to customers across the United States quality merchandise at lowest possible prices, reported Ridley.

Penney's has been a member of Colorado City's business scene many years and Ridley said he is proud Penney's has been able to participate in affairs of the community and help contribute to its growth.
