Registration Resumes Following Noisy March

NEW YORK (AP) — Registration resumed uneventfully this morning at Columbia University after it was abruptly ended Wednesday when members of the radical Students for a Democratic Society blocked a registration hall doorway.

The calm followed another incident Wednesday night during which several hundred young men and women pushed into a Columbia building for an unauthorized three-hour meeting of international student revolutionaries. The meeting was climaxed by a noisy march around the Ivy League campus.

RED FLAG

The students and their supporters, led by a man carrying a red flag, pushed into Schermerhorn Hall, shoving aside a campus guard who pleaded with them, "I'll lose my job."

The university had withdrawn previously granted permission for the meeting after SDS disrupted registration by trying to register 28 students suspended as a result of the disorders that crippled the 25,000-student university last spring.

A university spokesman said that no action had been taken on a reported attempt to revoke the SDS campus charter.

Another spokesman had said Wednesday that the matter would be referred to the Committee on Student Organizations as soon as possible. The committee is composed of two students, two faculty members and an administration representative. It has the power to revoke a campus organization's charter.

Following the night meeting Mark Rudd, SDS leader and one of the suspended students, said to a crowd of 300: "Let us march around the campus and perhaps to Cordier's residence. Cordier apparently can't stand revolutionaries. We have revolutionaries from Italy, Mexico, Canada, France, Germany and Sweden."

Andrew W. Cordier is acting university president. The six-day Conference of European and American student activists began Wednesday.

Starting to lead the march, Rudd called for revocation of the university's charter and shouted "Ho Chi Minh!" His followers picked up the chant and the march began. The crowd dispersed quietly after about an hour.

A noon rally in the center of the campus preceded the move to enroll the suspended students in the afternoon.

The suspended students were among 150 demonstrators who gathered outside the gymnasium where registration was taking place.

Rudd and the other suspended students charged into a line of campus policemen armed with clubs. Observers said at least two demonstrators were struck by clubs but university officials denied that the policemen used the clubs. There were no arrests and apparently no one required medical attention.

Observers said several plainclothesmen from the New York City police department were on hand, but took no part in the proceedings.

SUSPENDED

The clash lasted only 15 minutes, but registration was suspended for the rest of the day.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Students taking part in campus disorders could be denied federal grants or loans under a compromise higher education act agreed upon by a Senate-House conference committee.

The committee Wednesday included in the final version of the $7.2-billion bill a directive to schools to refuse federal aid to any student convicted of a crime which the institution found to be serious and contributing to disruption.

The ban would extend for two years after conviction.

The committee left up to school administrators whether to keep federal funds from students who engage in conduct which the institution feels should disqualify him.

The latter provision replaced House wording which would have directed schools to deny federal aid to those engaging in disruptions.

26TH BIRTHDAY
Big Weekend At Webb Scheduled

For the third weekend this month, a full calendar of events is scheduled at Webb AFB.

Last Friday and Saturday the base entertained many guests here for the dining-in and graduation honoring UPT Class 69-B. A Labor Day carnival was staged the first weekend of the month.

GEN. MADDUX

This weekend's 26th anniversary activities will be highlighted by a visit from Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux, commander of Air Training Command, and by two super red carpet tours. The busy two-day observance will close with a military ball Saturday night, to which 300 military and civilian couples have been invited.

Col. W. C. McGlothlin Jr., wing commander, is scheduled to open the anniversary observance Friday at 9 a.m. with a briefing at Withycombe Hall for Webb military and civilian dependents. Following the mission briefing the group will be given a super red carpet tour of Webb facilities. Stops will include the data automation center, the jet engine shop, static displays of T-37 and T-38 jet trainers, a fire suppressions demonstration, and a visit to the runway supervisory unit.

Independent Wives Club members will be special guests at the briefing and tour. The club will have a luncheon in the NCO Open Mess.

Guides for the super red carpet tours will be Capts. John Beer, Robert Gobble, Owen Wormser, and 1st Lt. Richard Rossmiller.

At noon Friday, an anniversary luncheon is planned at the Officers' Open Mess. Gen. Maddux will be guest of honor, to which 130 military and civilian guests have been invited. Mayor Arnold Marshall will make a presentation to the general. Following a mission briefing by Col. McGlothlin, the group will be given a super red carpet look at Webb, similar to the morning tour.

Saturday at 9 p.m. the Webb 26th Anniversary Ball begins in hangar T-75, where last year's dance was held. The Lowry AFB band will provide dance music. Dress for the anniversary ball will be formal.

Capt. Jack Buckholz has served as wing project officer for the anniversary observance.

Webb Projects Okayed

Several Webb AFB construction projects, totaling $2,798,000, have cleared another hurdle in Congress. A House-Senate conference committee reported out a bill Wednesday giving approval to 22 Texas projects totaling about $53 million, including the items for Webb.

The construction here includes $2,300,000 for a parallel runway; $147,000 for an academic classroom; and $349,000 for flight training facility.

Both houses of Congress must now approve the projects and send them along to the President for his signature.

BY DRIVER
Brakes Blamed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The driver of the HemisFair mini-monorail that rammed another train Sunday blames the accident on failure of the train's brakes.

Gustav Jackson, 25, disputed Wednesday a statement issued Tuesday by the manufacturer and operators of the equipment that "there was no malfunction of equipment."

Here For Tests

A 24-year-old Midland policeman, accused in the death of two-year-old Lori Gunn, will be brought to the Big Spring State Hospital next Tuesday for a series of psychiatric tests.

Michael Lee Moody, who was taken in custody in Midland soon after the discovery of the body of the child on Aug. 31, was ordered to the mental hospital here by District Judge Perry Pickett Wednesday.

Pickett said the man would be detained here for up to a period of 20 days, in an effort to determine his mental condition.

The court directed that doctors determine whether Moody now understands the difference between right and wrong in the quality and nature of the act charged against him.

He also seeks to determine if the defendant, at the time of the offense, was in a mental condition that would determine right from wrong.

Vann Culp, attorney for the young defendant, opposed Judge Pickett's order.

The court ruled that, in addition to any of the staff members of the state hospital here, Moody could have a mental expert of his own choosing present at the hospital during his examination.

Teddy Sprinkles Name Magic On Campaigner

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy sought to sprinkle some of the Kennedy vote magic here today as he welcomed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy had been scheduled to meet Humphrey just before introducing him at a noon rally, but instead he came to Logan Airport to welcome Humphrey when he arrived.

GREETED

Kennedy and his wife greeted Humphrey and his wife at the foot of the ramp on the Humphrey plane, shaking hands amid a crowd of Humphrey supporters.

Humphrey and Kennedy, presumably for security precautions, did not ride in the same automobile.

Humphrey, seeking to evoke the spirit of the late John F. Kennedy against Richard M. Nixon, said of the Republican presidential candidate in remarks prepared for the rally:

"We know the man Jack Kennedy defeated in 1960—and we know what he stood for then—and we know what he stands for now."

After his speech in Boston's downtown shopping area, Humphrey's schedule had him traveling halfway across the country to South Dakota for an appearance with Sen. George S. McGovern, who challenged the vice president for the Democratic presidential nomination in Chicago.

Humphrey's stops today marked the start of a three-week whirlwind tour in which he hopes to overcome a wide margin the polls say Nixon has built up in the early stages of the campaign. The public appearances with McGovern and Kennedy are seen as a step toward unifying the Democratic party.

He also is expected to visit Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, California, Washington and Oregon.

Humphrey, recalling that President Kennedy closed his campaign against Nixon in a speech in Boston, repeated these words of the late president:

CONCERNED

"This race is a contest between the comfortable and the concerned, between those who believe that we should rest and lie at anchor and drift, and between those who want to move this country forward in the 1960's."

Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, said Humphrey, "got America moving again."

Now, eight years later, Humphrey said, the American people must decide, "do we have the courage, do we have the common sense to keep this country moving forward?"

Three Children Killed

AUSTIN (AP) — A car went out of control and struck a group of school-bound children in East Austin today, killing two teenage girls and a 7-year-old girl and injuring a small boy.

Police identified the dead as Kerry Hale, 17; Denice Galloway, 16, and Barbara Ann McMarion, 7. Injured was Michael Houston, 8.

The car, driven by a 47-year-old East Austin woman, according to Police Capt. Wilford Swinney, went out of control as it topped a hill on East Twelfth Street and swerved into a group of children walking to school.

The driver was taken to a local hospital where she was treated for shock and a cut on her forehead. The boy also was taken to the hospital.

A witness said the children saw the car coming but were unable to get out of the way.

According to the witness, the car sideswiped another vehicle, careened into the children, then crossed some railroad tracks and came to rest in a ditch.

Sinking Dutch Freighter Gets Coast Guard Help

NEW YORK (AP) — The Coast Guard said today the Dutch freighter Johannes Frans was slowly sinking in heavy Atlantic seas about 650 miles east of here.

A Coast Guard cutter and a merchant tug stood by but were unable to help the 18,000-ton, 633-foot freighter because of the 10 to 15-foot seas. The ship was taking on water from an unknown source and therefore could not be towed, the Coast Guard said.

A Coast Guard amphibious search and rescue plane was flying to the ship with four pumps to help stem the flooding, the Coast Guard said.

It was not known how many were aboard the ship.

The Johannes Frans radioed a distress call at 9:30 p.m. Wednseday, saying its holds were flooding and its power plant had failed.

The Coast Guard cutter Dallas, which was at its ocean station nearby, reached the freighter two hours later. It managed to get one pump to the ship but then its lines broke and the cutter could only standby in case the crew abandoned ship.

The Hess Louisiana, a merchant tug, also reached the ship this morning.

The ship is owned by Nederlanse Erts-Tankers Maats. N. V. and is registered at The Hague, Netherlands.

Oil Allowable Stays At 41.3

AUSTIN (AP)— The Texas Railroad Commission set the October statewide oil production allowable today at 41.3 per cent of potential, the same as the September flow.

The October percentage factor will permit maximum production of 3,246,026 barrels daily, the same as this month.

Nine of the 14 major buyers of Texas crude oil asked for no change next month from the September factor. One asked for an increase, and four sought a decrease.

Rocket Fails, $11 Million Lost In Sea

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A 10-story-tall Delta rocket tumbled out of control Wednesday night and exploded high above the Atlantic, ruining an $11 million attempt to orbit the world's most powerful communications satellite.

The launch director said a faulty guidance system caused the trouble that brought fiery destruction to the spacecraft Atlantic 3.

"It seems quite clear there was an in-flight failure at 20 seconds after liftoff" in the gyroscope system needed to steer the three-stage rocket, said Robert Gray, launch director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Atlantic 3, owned by the International Telecommunications Satellite Consortium—Intelsat—was to have been the first in a global network of new switchboard satellites that would link most of the world. It also was to have been used to relay telecasts of the Olympic games from Mexico City to Europe.

Committee Cuts Back Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee recommended today a record 45 per cent cut in new financing President Johnson seeks for the foreign-aid program.

LESS

The $1.619 billion it approved in a bill sent to the House for consideration next Monday is $1.3 billion less than Johnson requested and $355 million below the ceiling approved in an earlier bill.

The proposed new funds are for use during the fiscal year ending next June 30. They are the smallest since the aid program was launched in 1948.

But, in a formal report written by Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., the committee claimed the funds recommended "will still permit continuation of a reasonable level of effort."

It called the program "important to our national interest" but said the nation's serious fiscal situation compelled it to "take an even harder look" at the program than it has in the past. The program is designed to strengthen the capability of friendly nations to deter the threat of external attack and to help less-developed nations cope with conditions the committee said "breed unrest and violence in human affairs."

Since 1948, he said, the United States has extended a total net assistance of $118.4 billion in loans and grants, not including interest charges of about $52.8 billion. Unexpended balances in various international programs, he added, are about $20.7 billion.

During the current fiscal year, the committee said, 48 nations will receive military aid and 50 others will receive other forms of assistance.

Temperatures Up In Texas

Associated Press Writer

Temperatures were rising and skies were clear nearly everywhere in Texas today.

There were a few low clouds around Brownsville and some high thin clouds around Denison and Sherman, but none appeared to hold any promise of rain.

Light south breezes fanned the state, and Weather Bureau observers expected a high pressure ridge extending into South Texas to break down and let moist air flow inland again by Friday.

The mercury hit highs of 93 degrees Wednesday at Presidio and Wichita Falls. Corpus Christi and Galveston were the coolest points with top marks of 81.

Readings before dawn today ranged from 50 at Dalhart and 55 at Lufkin up to 72 at Galveston and 74 at Brownsville.

Wallace Says Nixon Should Refuse Debate

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace says Republican Richard M. Nixon should not accept an offer to debate other presidential candidates on national television.

"I think he should refuse," Wallace said, "because if he decides to do it then we will start talking about his record and the record of the Republican party and there is no way he can win it."

CHEERING RALLY

The third-party presidential candidate spoke to a cheering audience of more than 10,000 at a rally in Kansas City Wednesday night before returning to Montgomery today.

Wallace will speak at a dinner and rally tonight in Montgomery and then go to Florida Friday to campaign.

In a fund-raising dinner speech at Kansas City, he paraphrased his often-repeated charge that there "isn't 10 cents worth of difference between the Republican and Democratic candidates."

"Now," he said, "a few things they are saying aren't 10 cents worth different from what I've been saying."

He referred to Nixon's speeches advocating "law and order."

"They ought to be willing to restore order for nothing," Wallace said. "After all, they took it away from us."

He said the Republicans started a trend toward loss of law and order with appointment of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

Wallace spoke earlier Wednesday to some 3,500 persons at Cape Girardeau where he attacked liberals "who harp about Chicago and the police."

"I think they acted mighty restrained, myself," he added.

And he spoke of demonstrators "groveling around in their beards and filth" in Alabama streets.

Respect Humphrey, Opponent Urges

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has assailed "the hostile crowds" and the demonstrators besetting the campaign of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, his Democratic rival for the White House.

RESPECT

"Let me say this: The President of the United States and the office that he holds, and the vice president of the United States and the office that he holds—they deserve respect," the Republican presidential nominee said Wednesday night. "And I know that they should get respect wherever they go."

Nixon campaigns in the Midwest today, with stops in Springfield, Mo., and Peoria, Ill., on the way to a fund-raising dinner in New York City.

"I have some disagreements with the President of the United States as I've already indicated, in the conduct of policy, and with the vice president of the United States," he said.

"But as I see what has happened to both of them over these past few years, as I have seen them reviled and cursed, as I have seen the hostile crowds across this land, I disagree more with those who will not give them the opportunity to speak out."

Nixon himself encountered hecklers earlier Wednesday as he addressed some 5,500 people at a rally in Fresno, Calif. A band of about 50 pickets supporting efforts to unionize farm laborers clapped their hands, chanted, "We want justice" as he spoke.

AT K.C. STEAK HOUSE

Steaks, Seafood Are Tops

JOYCE GREEN, HOSTESS AT K. C. STEAK HOUSE
You'll like the steaks, seafood and atmosphere

Some restaurants look for certain customers, but the K.C. Steak House, on the north service road of Interstate 20 west, is one of the fine West Texas steak houses which caters to everyone.

Lamar and Joyce Green, owners and managers of the K.C. Steak House, and their staff of eight can take care of any size crowd. It's not necessary to have reservations, but if you are bringing a party, it is advisable to make arrangements in advance.

Anytime is a good time to have a party at the K.C. Steak House where you know your guests will receive food of excellent quality. Remember that the dining room can accommodate 100 persons. To make your party arrangements call 263-2965 before 4 p.m. and after 4 p.m. call 263-1651

The rambling white stucco building was constructed just for K.C. Steak House. The decorations feature a Spanish motif with colorful sketches of Seville on the vinyl wall coverings. There is a cooking galley with a char grill where you can watch them cook your steak if you desire.

Steaks and seafoods are the specialties at K.C. Steak House, where only USDA choice meats are used. You can order a steak of any size for they come portion-controlled. A feature also on the menu is the family steak. You can order steak for any size family and get the choice quality KC sirloin cooked to your taste.

Lamar is planning several seafood specials in the future, and has encouraged readers to watch and listen for newspaper and radio ads.

Shipments of fresh seafoods, including rock lobster tails and shrimp, are received daily by K.C. Steak House. Stuffed crab is a favorite among patrons.

There are children's plates on the menu with trout, shrimp and chicken breasts.

Lamar and Joyce Green came to Big Spring six years ago to make their home. Mrs. Green, however, was born and reared in Big Spring. They had been in the restaurant business in San Antonio and Corpus Christi before coming to Big Spring. Green has 25 years of experience in the restaurant business.

They also operate Lamar's Motel, just east of the K.C. Steak House on the north service road of Interstate 20 west. They opened Lamar's Restaurant in November, 1963, 14 months before the Americana Motel was built.

They have three children. Susan Kay attends Big Spring High School and Fred is at Runnels Junior High. Kelly is enrolled at Park Hill Elementary School.

The K.C. Steak House was opened a year and a half ago. Parking is no problem at any time.

Treat your family and guests to steaks of seafood at the K.C. Steak House — you'll be glad you did. They are open 5-11 p.m. Monday through Saturday, but are closed Sunday.

Big Spring Employment Offers Expert Selection

Every employer has the right to demand the best qualified person who can be hired, considering the availability of applicants, the requirements of the job and the salary to be offered.

With this creed in mind, the Big Spring Employment Agency has been helping many Big Spring citizens since its beginning in 1961.

Every employer, at one time or another, has to make a decision regarding his personnel needs. The owner of a business or the personnel manager is faced with many decisions — what type of person is needed, what skills they must possess, how much they should be paid, etc.

The easiest way to assure the selection of the best personnel available is to interview and hire through the Big Spring Employment Agency.

The services of the Big Spring Employment Agency are free to the employer, and their services actually save the employer time, money and headaches. By using the agency's technical services, the owner or manager is free to solve other problems confronting the business.

To assure Big Spring employers the best job applicants available, many hours of hard work go on behind the scenes at the Big Spring Employment Agency, from the time an employer calls in a job opening until it is successfully filled. Job applicants are pre-screened so that employers will not have to waste time interviewing applicants who are not qualified for their particular job openings.

When a business hires through the agency, it has a confidential service. Fewer people are rejected because the employers see fewer applicants; every business is reminded that rejected applicants do not help its public relations. Also, an employer will find that when he hires through a private employment agency, there is less job turnover for him.

Applicants who have made an investment in a professional service to locate a job rarely quit in haste. Also, better employes result many times as highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency to protect their own identity.

Advertising costs are eliminated when hiring is done through the Big Spring Employment Agency. They do the advertising for applicants for the employer because it is a part of their business procedure.

In the field of office skills, the Big Spring Employment Agency carries on an extensive testing program. For example, if an employer wanted to hire a secretary, applicants interviewed through the agency would have been given a shorthand test, typing test on both manual and electric typewriters, verbal, numerical and clerical aptitude tests. Also, most applicants are exposed to personnel tests designed and created for testing adults in business and industrial situations. The employer may successfully refer to these test results as a selection instrument in hiring applicants and also as an indicator of future possibilities.

The Big Spring Employment Agency is an affiliated member of the National Personnel Associates, Inc., an international recruiting organization of over 120 agencies throughout the northern hemisphere. Many technical personnel working in Big Spring jobs were hired through NPA.

Call the Big Spring Employment Agency the next time you must hire a new employe. They will help you in every way they can and without obligations.

No-Roach Keeps Home Free Of Insects The Easy Way

"No-Roach works"

That's why one housewife will tell another: "The only way — the modern way — the safe way to keep your home free of cockroaches, and other crawling insects is with brush-on Johnston's No-Roach."

Imagine having an exterminator working for you 24 hours a day, for weeks at a time, to keep your home free of cockroaches, ants, spiders, silverfish, etc., but that's just what happens with easy-to-use, long-acting brush-on, Johnston's No-Roach, the modern scientific formula that's proven effective in more than a million homes.

Simply brush this odorless, colorless liquid around baseboards, sinks, tablelegs, behind cabinets and appliances, on shelves and inside cabinet doors. Use Johnston's No-Roach in bathrooms and anywhere cockroaches may be found breeding. It dries fast to form an invisible path of death that kills cockroaches, ants, silverfish, spiders and other crawling insects. Best of all, it continues to kill these pests for months.

There's no need to move dishes or food when you use Johnston's No-Roach. Just brush this colorless, odorless coating exactly where you want it. Johnston's No-Roach eliminates the need for frequent applications of messy, unsafe sprays and powders. It is clean, easy to use, and harmless to pets.

No-Roach is available at Hull & Phillips, Newsom's, Safeway, Piggly Wiggly, Furr's and all grocery stores.

Del Rio Fiesta Plans Under Way

DEL RIO — Preparations are now well under way for the annual fiesta de Amistad which will be held this year Oct. 22-27 here in the Southwest Texas border towns of Del Rio, and Ciudad Acuna, Coah., Mex.

The first major event of the Fiesta de Amistad (festival of friendship) will be the beauty pageant which will result in the selection of a new 1968 Miss Amistad.

The symbolic event of the entire festival is the "Abrazo" held on the International Bridge between Mexico and the United States. In this ceremony, officials from Mexico and the United States meet in the middle of the bridge and embrace, thus symbolizing the bonds of unity that exist between the two countries.

The Grand Parade will be held Saturday, Oct. 26, with floats, high school bands and marching units from several of the local communities and organizations.

A barbecue is scheduled in Cuidad Acuna, Del Rio's sister city on the Mexican side with a military band scheduled to play. A fireworks display and the Gran Baile Ranchero is also scheduled. The Gran Baile Ranchero will be held in a hangar at Laughlin Air Force Base on Saturday Oct. 26.

Robbery Suspect Held In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — David Sidney, 22, Houston was held without bond today in connection with the robbery of the Mercantile Bank of Houston last week.

Authorities charged Sidney, who surrendered to police Tuesday, with robbery by firearms.

Two goateed bandits fled with $13,200 from the bank last Thursday, police said. A 39-year-old bank official was taken hostage for a few minutes.

Collects Dolls

IOWA PARK, Tex. (AP) — One room of the home of Mrs Jim Lee of Iowa Park is a doll house.

That is, there are dolls from ceiling to floor on the walls and other dolls on furniture in the room.

Mrs. Lee collects dolls and has about 500.

She began her collection about 40 years ago when she decided to mend, re-dress and preserve the dolls discarded by her children. She hadn't thought about starting a hobby.

The dolls are from many countries and states. The oldest is said to be about 150 years old. Another doll is 100 years old.

U. S. Forces Blast Entrenched Troops

SAIGON (AP) — American forces maneuvered to the fringes of the Demilitarized Zone along the western anchor of the McNamara Line and blasted entrenched North Vietnamese troops with tank and gunfire, military spokesmen reported today.

About 200 men from the 1st Brigade of the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division killed 29 North Vietnamese soldiers in a two-hour fight Wednesday a mile below the DMZ. Three Americans were wounded.

DIGGING IN

North Vietnamese troops are reported digging in around allied patrol bases along the northern frontier, apparently trying to hem in allied troops and keep the infiltration routes open.

The 5th Division troops moved out of their base at Con Thien and pushed to within a mile of the southern edge of the DMZ when the North Vietnamese opened up with mortars and machine guns. The American tanks replied with 90mm tank guns, and the battle continued for about two hours.

Con Thien is the western anchor of the McNamara Line, the string of electronic detection devices that runs from the coast inland for 11 miles and is supposed to sound the alarm when infiltrating troops cross it. It is named for former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

U.S. sources say as many as 30,000 North Vietnamese soldiers are concentrated along the northern frontier, and the U.S. Command expects another major enemy offensive in the northern provinces before the monsoon season reaches its peak in November.

NOT KNOWN

Sharp fighting also was reported farther south, along the coastal lowlands midway between Saigon and the DMZ.

American troops from the Americal Division clashed with a strong enemy force below Quang Ngai City Wednesday. 10 Americans were killed and 15 were wounded. Enemy casualties were not known.

In a delayed report, U.S. headquarters said other troops from the Americal Division killed 43 North Vietnamese soldiers in an all-night battle Tuesday south of Tam Ky, another provincial capital. The fight was triggered when enemy troops ambushed a U.S. unit, killing eight Americans and wounding 19.

Detailed Study Of Cancer Cases

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A detailed study to be made of all cancer cases occurring in 11 areas of the United States from 1969 to 1971 was announced today.

The third national cancer survey, to be directed by Dr. John C. Bailar III, of the National Cancer Institute, will update similar projects completed in 1937 and 1947.

For the first time, a sample of cases among an estimated population of more than 22 million will be studied in detail to determine the economic effect of cancer on the individual, his family and the community, Bailar said.

Doctors, health agencies and hospitals in these selected areas will gather information on amount of time lost from work because of cancer, cost of treatment, sources of payment and use of medical facilities.

Such information will permit estimates of the burden of cancer on the national economy Dr. Bailar said in announcing the survey at the sixth National Cancer Conference.

The previous surveys have served as models for the development of population studies and cancer registries around the world.

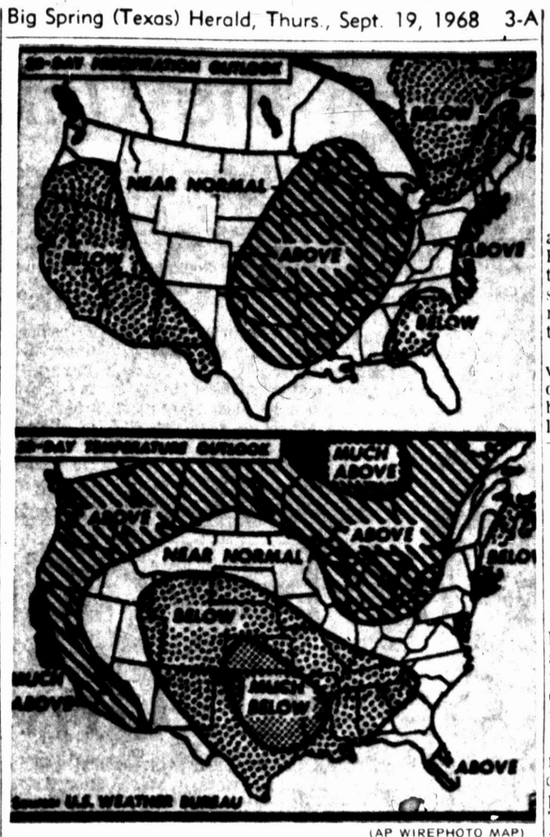

Areas to be surveyed in the three-year project are Birmingham, Ala., Atlanta, Ga.; Detroit, Mich.; Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex.; Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; San Francisco and Oakland, Calif.; Iowa, Colorado and Puerto Rico.

Nixon Is Leading Wild Straw Poll

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is ahead in a nationwide straw poll.

Cinema Theaters Inc. gives its movie patrons a choice of colors in soft drink straws—Blue for Nixon, green for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and white for George C. Wallace.

So far, Nixon is ahead with 46.4 per cent of the straws. Humphrey has 31.1 per cent and Wallace has 22.5 per cent.

Houston's Transplant Patients Progressing

HOUSTON (AP) — This city's latest transplant patients were reported progressing satisfactorily in Methodist Hospital today.

Dusan J. Vlaco, 16, of Elemir, Yugoslavia, received a new heart and Troy Calvin Stewart, 24, of Pasadena, Tex., received a kidney Wednesday. Both organs came from the same donor.

Meanwhile, William J Whaley, 39, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the world's only surviving lung transplant recipient was reported in serious condition at Methodist.

Whaley, who received a lung Aug. 31, is battling pneumonia, the hospital said.

The hospital did not identify the donor in Wednesday's multiple surgery. However, the Harris County Medical Examiner said he was Dolphus Wingate, 36, of Houston.

Police records show Wingate was shot last Feb. 29 in a tavern. Medical records show Wingate had been in Methodist Hospital twice for treatment of the gunshot wound and three times for treatment of other ailments. He entered the hospital last Monday and died shortly before 5 a.m. Wednesday.

Harris County Medical Examiner Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk said the bullet struck Wingate in the lower left chest.

However, an autopsy report released Wednesday night said Wingate's death was not caused by the gunshot wound. It said he died of acute hemorrhagic pancreatitis.

Mrs. Dusanka Vlaco, 45, mother of the Yugoslavian youth, told newsmen she had written Dr. Michael E. DeBakey last June about possible heart surgery for her son. She said Dr. DeBakey answered and told her to come to Houston Sept. 8.

She said her son was born with severe congestive heart problems and he underwent surgery in 1967 in Belgrade but doctors there said they could not help him.

The heart transplant was the 49th in the world and the 14th in Houston. Eleven have been performed at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital by a team headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley. Three have been performed at Methodist Hospital. Nine of the Houston transplants survive.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Donald Dole was left holding the cookies in Julie Nixon's program in support of the presidential campaign of her father, Richard M. Nixon.

Dole, a caterer, said he was told to bake 10,000 cookies for the crowd Wednesday. About 400 persons showed up.

Controversy Over Bloody Clashes Dominate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, which triggered creation of the President's commission on violence, has faded almost entirely out of the focus of the panel's probe.

The blue-ribbon commission, which went into its second day of formal hearings today in its broad survey of American violence, heard virtually no mention of the senator's slaying in Wednesday's opening session.

Controversy over the bloody clashes between Chicago police and antiwar demonstrators at the Democratic National Convention dominated the first day. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover praised Chicago police while Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark criticized undue police violence.

Both Clark and Hoover strongly endorsed the drive for stiffer gun controls at the very hour the Senate was rejecting a proposal for registration of all firearms.

Lloyd Cutler, executive director of the commission, said there was practically no mention of assassinations at the initial session.

President Johnson created the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence as Kennedy lay dying June 5. He asked for a wide-ranging study of violence including efforts to seek insight into assassinations.

Cutler said no witnesses connected with the investigation of the shootings of Kennedy or civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. are likely to be called to the panel's Oct. 2-3 hearings on the specific subject of assassinations. Instead, he said the panel would hear general testimony from psychiatrists and security personnel.

Do Hanoi's Leaders Believe Their Brags?

PARIS (AP) — American diplomats at the Paris peace talks are trying to determine if Hanoi's leaders really believe their own boasts of runaway military victories in South Vietnam.

The Americans fear the Communists may be making political judgments on the basis of phantom battlefield conquests. This could damage peace prospects by giving the Reds a false sense of power, the American delegation feels.

U.S. Ambassador Cyrus Vance signaled these fears to Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam when they met Wednesday in the 22nd session of the peace talks.

"I am genuinely concerned that your government may be under the illusion that inflated boasts have some basis in fact," said Vance. "That kind of illusion could produce mistaken and dangerous calculations . . . (and) would be a tragic mistake."

American officials are examining two other possible explanations for what Vance called Hanoi's "wild and distorted claims:" a need to pep up the morale of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops; and a campaign to mislead world opinion about the course of the war to rally support for an American retreat.

Pork Loaded Truck Flips

A six-ton truck loaded with five tons of pork overturned at the corner of Sixth and Bell at 2:57 Wednesday afternoon.

Robert Leon England, Fort Worth, was driving the truck west on Sixth when, according to England, his brakes failed as he was about to make a turn onto Bell.

Tracks left by the truck indicate that the right rear tires hit the northeast curb of the intersection. The truck came to rest on its left side on the northwest curb.

England said that he had been driving a meat truck for a Garland-based firm 13 years and that this trip was to have been his last before assuming a desk job with his company.

Soviet Invasion Endangers Pact To Ban Nuclear Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said today that one of the victims of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia could be the treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

In a report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Montana Democrat said the pact is in danger because of "skepticism which the precipitous Soviet action has undoubtedly aroused among the signatory nations to which nuclear weapons are not to proliferate under the treaty."

Should these nonnuclear nations ratify the treaty, Mansfield said, "they will have entrusted, in effect the nuclear aspects of their defense to the principal nuclear powers, one of which is the Soviet Union.

"What they have just witnessed in Czechoslovakia is hardly likely to provide assurances that this trust is well placed."

Mansfield's report was based on a brief visit he made to Czechoslovakia prior to the invasion Aug. 20.

It is most regrettable, he declared, that the invasion jeopardizes "constructive interchange" between East and West. "In recent years, exchanges in tourism, trade and talent have done a great deal to erode the wall of fear of an earlier period," he noted.

Mansfield praised the Johnson administration's restraint during the crisis. "Unlike Hungary a decade ago," he said, "there has been no empty talk of liberating Czechoslovakia. There has been no inadvertently cruel misleading of the Czechoslovak people."

The Czech leaders, he said, "sought no special assistance from this nation and none was offered."

This restraint, however, does not mean that the United States would recognize spheres of influences, Mansfield declared.

"There can be no tacit acquiescence in any Soviet right to dominate Czechoslovakia or any other independent nation in Eastern Europe . . . The avoidance of bombast in present circumstances is merely a recognition of the practical limitations of U.S. action."

Mansfield's statements about the nonproliferation treaty didn't include the problems the pact faces in the Senate itself. Although the Foreign Relations Committee has recommended passage, some members have called for delay in ratification.

Agnew Won't Give Up Law And Order

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew says he won't give up the phrase law and order as a major campaign topic.

"By law and order, I don't mean it to be without justice, humanity and compassion," Agnew told a rally Wednesday night.

"For those who would rush me away from this phrase because it has come to mean something in the past, I say I will not retreat from a perfectly workable phrase that means exactly what it says."

The Maryland governor repeated that law and order is the overriding issue in the campaign.

"No president should tolerate violence or the conditions that breed violence: poverty and prejudice," he told an audience estimated at 2,000.

Some Republicans had criticized Agnew for using the law and order phrase, saying that to many it was a euphemism for suppression of Negroes.

After the rally, Agnew flew to the state capital at Caron City, to spend the night at Gov. Paul Laxalt's mansion.

Agnew was greeted at the Las Vegas airport by Laxalt and a committee including George Abbott, Republican state chairman, who nominated Gov. George Romney of Michigan for vice president at the GOP convention after Richard M. Nixon chose Agnew.

Abbott said he is solidly behind the Nixon-Agnew ticket and that relations between him and the Agnew staff are good.

Agnew, his wife and three daughters, shook hands with well-wishers, Greek supporters in native costume and a group carrying a Maryland flag.

Agenew told the rally that "with all Vice President Hubert Humphrey's efforts to break away from the administration perhaps Dick Nixon and I should keep quiet and let Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Johnson fight it out."

Death Penalty For White Man

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A white man has been sentenced to die in the South Carolina electric chair for the fatal shooting of Charleston policeman James Owens, a Negro.

State officials say it may be the first time in South Carolina that a white man has received the death penalty for killing a Negro.

A jury of six men and six women, including one Negro, returned a guilty verdict without a recommendation of mercy Wednesday against Wilson Cornelius Atkinson, 25, of Hartsville.

Atkinson, a construction worker, stood quietly as Circuit Judge Louis Rosen passed sentence. Asked if he had anything to say, Atkins said he hoped the court would show mercy towards him.

Judge Rosen set Nov. 8 as the date of execution at South Carolina's penitentiary in Columbia. South Carolina's electric chair was last used April 20, 1962, when two men were electrocuted.

Bible Fund Target Hit

The Bible Class fund apparently has reached its goal Gifts totaling $40 today sent the unaudited total to $3,521.42. The goal had been $3,500.

One gift today was $5 in memory of Mrs. H. L. Aken, another for $5 was from the Willing Worker Sunday School class of Vincent Baptist Church, and a third for $30 was from Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Little.

The Big Spring Pastors Association, which has sponsored the appeal which is made annually through the Herald, again expressed its deep appreciation to everyone who had a part in this special ministry which serves more than four score young people. The instructional cost has to be borne by private subscription. Any other funds received will be passed on to the association for this purpose.

STUDENTS THREATEN TO BLOCK OLYMPICS

Troops Seize Big University

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Troops were in firm possession of the University of Mexico today after taking over the 80,000-student school to dislodge dissident students who threatened to block the Olympic Games next month.

IN CHARGE

Several thousand soldiers ringed the big modernistic campus across Insurgentes Boulevard from the main Olympic stadium and occupied school buildings.

The university has been autonomous, which means free from government intervention for more than 40 years.

The takeover which began at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, developed without reports of violence. An undetermined number of students and teachers were arrested.

Assault cars, troop transports and field kitchens lined streets circling the university.

Several hundred soldiers built a fire in a small wooded area behind the School of Dentistry and broke off branches of trees to feed the blazes.

Others entered the School of Economics, center of much of the students strike movement, and made a big pile of papers in front of the building from anti-government posters and signs.

The university has been closed by a student strike since July 30.

Trouble began July 26 with a minor disturbance in downtown Mexico City. Three days later the disturbance became a riot in which students claimed several of their numbers were killed. The government of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz says there have been no deaths.

Studies In New Crops, Cotton Growth Unveiled

By TEX ROGERS

Studies in new crops, cotton growth under various mulch levels and progress in predicting wind erosion were told today at the semi-annual meeting of the advisory board of the Soil and Water conservation Research Center here.

During the morning session Jack Buchanan, Big Spring, was re-elected chairman of the board's executive committee, and Alton Marwitz, Big Spring, was re-elected secretary. L. R. Cranford, Big Spring, was elected vice president.

Dr. Bill Fryrear, station superintendent, reporting on moisture use of cotton under various mulch levels, said that moisture tended to go straight down into the soil more slowly under a cover of mulch.

On dry land, without a mulch cover, all the water was used by the cotton and the plants wilted more. A mulch cover, he said, kept water in the moisture profile, reduced evaporation and less wilting resulted.

Fryrear said that the mulch created cooler soil temperatures, which could be harmful in the spring when the seed needed more heat for germination. More cut worms were found in the mulch land, also, he said, and herbicide treatment did not work as well.

New crop varieties being tested at the research center are wheat, guar and soybeans, with all showing good results this year, Fryrear said, because of heavier moisture.

Nine varieties of wheat were grown and three kinds produced 34.9, 30 and 29 bushels per acre on dryland. The heaviest producer was by the Sturdy variety, which held up better in hail, but did not produce as much forage as the other varieties. Fryrear noted that the Tascosa variety produce yielded 21.1 bushels per acre, but had better forage.

The Guar crop yielded well over a large area, and could have forage value after harvesting, he said. The soybean production was better this year on dryland than in the past.

Fryrear also showed the members a table of data which could be used to predict the number of windstorms during a given year. He said that more work is being done so that the information could be more accurate in the future.

He added that farmers could use the information in preparing land when severe windstorms are predicted.

W. S. Goodlett, area Soil Conservation Service conservationist, presented several needs in research by the center.

They included the economics of practicing minimum tillage; effects of plowing land each year with a breaking plow on soil structure, organic matter and fertility; the effect of fertility of the land on cotton quality; the effect of wind erosion on soil fertility and in skip row cotton farming; the minimum requirements of soil fertility; and water conservation in parallel terraces.

A report on rangeland research included the influence of soil loosening on grass root development, growth characteristics of grasses, and progress on moisture use by grasses.

Goodlett also gave a list of needs in rangeland research. It included study of brush control of mesquite, salt cedar, shin oak, cactus, greasewood and white brush; securing native grassland; and range seeding, with dates, methods and species of grasses.

In the afternoon the board toured the research center field plots of saw studies being conducted on cotton varieties and row spacing, moisture use by grasses, mesquite growth, growth of grain and forage sorghums, and growth of grass varieties.

Dandy Weed Killing Time

Farmers in Howard County may find themselves with a slack period during the next month or two and this would be a good time to get rid of a few weeds around the farmstead in non-crop areas.

Weeds such as Johnsongrass, Railroad weed, careless weed, grassbur and others thrive around equipment yards, well heads and irrigation motors, buildings, fence lines and ditches, says county agricultural agent Paul Gross. These weeds are not only unsightly but also produce abundant seeds and root stocks that are easily spread into surrounding cropland.

In particular, Johnsongrass along field margins, turn rows and ditch banks presents a serious threat to crop production and spreads rapidly once a small infestation enters the field, points out the agent.

Tall weeds around the farm yard can also cover up farm implements or pieces of other machinery, sometimes causing them to be lost.

Dry, dead weeds around farm buildings create a fire hazard. Weed control is a good way to keep ground fires from spreading to buildings or equipment.

Several chemicals are available to control these weeds in non-crop areas, points out Gross. Bromacil (Hyvar X or Hyvar WS) is an effective soil sterilant. When applied at one pound per 1,000 square feet, or 40 pounds per acre, it will last for three years.

Prometone, another soil sterilant, is available as a liquid (Pramitol 25E) or as a granule (Pramitol 5P) and gives long term control of vegetation. Atrazine at high rates (15 to 20 pounds per acre) may also be used.

Dalapon plus TCA (Dowpon C) is particularly effective against Johnsongrass and keeps down other vegetation for a long time, adds the agent. Picloram (Tordon) is effective against broadleaf weeds, particularly bindweed, and persists for a long time but is not effective against grassy weeds.

For small areas around the farm, a hand-type sprayer does a good job at applying these herbicides, says Gross.

Additional information on chemical weed control is available at the county extension office.

Chicago Disorders Quiz Date Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of the House Committee on Un-American Activities will open hearings Oct. 1 on the role of student organizations in the Chicago disorders during the Democratic National Convention.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., head of the ad hoc committee, said today Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley would be among those testifying at the hearings, expected to last a week.

Ichord also said the panel would expose the part played in the violence by the Students for a Democratic Society.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the parent committee, said Sept. 12 when he announced the special panel it would also investigate the role of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam and the Youth International Party, or Yippies.

"These were certainly not naive students or flower children," Ichord said. "We're going to show the Congress and the American people just how well organized the Chicago demonstrators were."

Ichord said he, on the basis of investigations already completed, does not "think that the police overreacted. And I don't think many of the American people feel they overreacted."

He said the demonstration leaders "were hardcore agitators and leftists who would like to overthrow our government."

Equal Time Measure 'Is In Deep Trouble'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A backer of a bill that would open the way for televised debates between the major presidential candidates says the measure "is in deep trouble."

Rep Brock Adams, D-Wash., of the House Commerce Committee gave that appraisal Wednesday after the committee put off a final decision on the Senate-approved measure until today.

The bill would suspend requirements that broadcast stations or networks who allow time to a legally qualified candidate must provide equal opportunities to all others competing for the same office. This was done in 1960.

The committee approved the bill 16-14 last week, but Rep. W. S. Stuckey, D-Ga., offered a motion to reconsider at Wednesday's closed session.

Members defeated an effort to table or kill Stuckey's proposal but were unable to reach a vote on the proposal itself.

Stuckey, who voted for the measure last week, said he had become disturbed by the fact it leaves allocating of time up to the networks.

Stuckey also said some provision should be made for three-way debates that would include third-party candidate George Wallace and not just Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon.

Jekyll And Hyde Personalities

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Some dogs have Jekyll and Hyde personalities, a doctor says.

They stay home in the daytime and join wild packs at night, Dr. R. B. Phillips, chairman of a Georgia Medical Association committee, told a wild dog study committee hearing Wednesday.

The committee heard reports that wild dogs have killed $1.5 million worth of Georgia cattle this year. It is proposing legislation to control the estimated 30,000 unvaccinated strays in Georgia.

One dog lover told the committee: "We love our dogs just as much as you love your cattle. I want you to take this into consideration."

Muskie Proposes Neighbor Policy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie wants a "new good neighbor policy" for American Foreign relations.

He proposed a policy based on recognition that "a good neighbor does not invite himself into another's home and take over control of it. Nor does a good neighbor stay away when a neighbor needs help."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate told San Francisco's Commonwealth Club Wednesday such a policy is needed "to insure that our support of freedom and peace will be consistent with our objectives."

"It may be well to note that this test was not applied," he said "when we first acted to insure the separation of North and South Vietnam in 1954 and effectively prevented the elections for 1956 under the Geneva accords."

In Asia, he said, "we are no longer liberators and we cannot rely on military security pacts that unilaterally guarantee governments that may not enjoy the support of the governed."

The Maine senator winds up a two-day California visit with an address to the California State Assembly at Sacramento today then leaves for Salt Lake City.

In his foreign policy speech he called for a negotiated settlement in Vietnam, but predicted there won't be one until both sides can agree on one in their own interest.

After the Commonwealth Club address, Muskie went to the University of San Francisco to address a student panel before an audience of 500. Of these, 150 staged a quiet walkout in protest against what they called "the policies and politics that produced the war in Vietnam, the crisis in the cities, and the inadequacies of all the major candidates."

'Giant Increase' In Dope Deaths

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter reported a "giant increase" in deaths caused by overdoses in narcotics.

Specter said there are indications a growing number of young people are experimenting with drugs.

AND NONE TOO SOON

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Police Patrolman Robert Rudewhick, armed with chemical mace, answered a call to do something about a skunk in a garage.

Rudewick aimed the mace at the skunk and fired. The skunk fired back, right on target.

Fuming in more ways than one, Rudewick drew his service revolver and put the skunk forever out of business.

DEATHS

Mrs. Agnes Alton, Services Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Agnes Alton, 58, 807 Rosemont, will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel.

Mrs. Alton died Wednesday afternoon in a local hospital.

She was born Feb. 1, 1910, in Corinth, Miss., and came to Big Spring from London, Tex., in 1938. She married A. A. Alton in 1943. He died in September, 1951.

Mrs. Alton had been in charge of the Kountry Kitchen at Newsom's Food Center for the past 11 years.

The Rev. J. W. Farmer, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, will officiate with the Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisting in the services. Burial will be in City Cemetery.

Survivors include four sons, Granville Hahn, Big Spring, Wendell Hahn, Portland, Tex., Freddie Albert Alton, Big Spring, Jerry Alton, Big Spring; four daughters, Mrs. Charles Carter, Friona, Mrs. Dewayne Haynes, San Antonio, Mrs. Larry Scarborough, Dallas, Mrs. Mike Ray, Seminole, Tex.; a step-daughter, Mrs. Opal Wilkerson, Big Spring; her mother, Mrs. C. M. Wilkerson, Big Spring; four brothers, Herman Wilkerson, Big Spring, Fred Wilkerson, Big Spring, Leonard Wilkerson, San Angelo, Edd Wilkerson, Garden City; four sisters, Mrs. R. O. Mealer, Big Spring, Mrs. Bill White, Big Spring, Mrs. Charles Miller, Galveston, Mrs. Algie Shortes, Odessa; 15 grandchildren and four step-grandchildren.

Young E. Gray, Rites Friday

Services for Young Earnest Gray, 84, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Church of the Nazarene. He died this morning at his home nine miles northwest of Big Spring.

Burial will be in Tevill Cemetery in Mitchell County. The Rev. W. M. Dorough, Wichita Falls, will officiate at the services with the pastor of the local Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. D. M. Duke, assisting.

Mr. Gray was born Feb. 26, 1884, in Falls County, Tex. He came to the Moore Community in January, 1937, from Mitchell County near Cuthbert, Tex.

He was a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

Mr. Gray retired from farming in 1947.

He is survived by a son, W. Y. Gray, Big Spring; a daughter, Mrs. George Tarter, Colorado City; a brother, Jake Gray, Big Spring; four grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Services Friday For Mrs. Lilley

Mrs. Raymond Lilley, who lived in Howard County for many years, died at 6 a.m. today in a hospital at Dimmitt.

Services will be held at the Sunnyside Baptist Church near Dimmitt at 3 p.m. Friday with the Rev. Merle Rogers in charge. Burial will be in the Dimmitt cemetery.

Mrs. Lilley was born July 21, 1910, at Causey, N.M., and was reared here in the Moore community where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Hill, lived. She was married to Raymond Lilley, Feb. 6, 1927, and they lived in the Moore and Lomax communities.

Surviving her are her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Raymond Lewis, Olton; a son, Donnie Lilley, Dimmitt; her mother, Mrs. T. F. Hill, and sister, Mrs. Tommy Ann Blewett, both of Fort Worth, and a brother, Reuben Hill, Big Spring; a brother, H. G. Hill; and two grandchildren. Several cousins in the Big Spring area also survive.

PROPOSE EXPERIMENTAL BOMBING HALT

Demo Doves Pressure Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic doves supporting their national ticket are increasing pressure on Hubert H. Humphrey to propose an experimental Vietnam bombing halt.

Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island, President Johnson's personal choice for keynoter at the 1964 party convention, said he had suggested to the vice president's advisers that this is about the only way Humphrey can regain the support of Democratic dissidents.

SPEAK OUT

"In my judgment," Pastore said, "Hubert Humphrey will have to speak out on his own on Vietnam if he expects to win this election."

Conceding that Pastore's was only one of many similar suggestions, Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., a key Humphrey adviser, said he does not believe the Democratic presidential candidate will yield on this score.

"The vice president has said that the party platform plank provides him with flexibility in dealing with Vietnam," Harris said. "But any decision on a bombing halt is up to President Johnson and the vice president obviously can't control that."

'DEAD' DEAL

Harris said that a suggestion by Minnesota Sen. Walter F. Mondale that the bombing of North Vietnam be stepped up "to get the Paris peace talks off dead center" reflected a personal opinion and not Humphrey's position.

Harris and Mondale served as cochairmen of Humphrey's preconvention campaign and remain top advisers to the nominee.

Pastore sided with Mondale's view that it is worthwhile taking an additional risk to learn whether Hanoi is actually willing to talk peace if the limited U.S. air strikes are halted.

President Johnson has said there must be some significant sign that the North Vietnamese will exercise military restraint before bombing can be suspended. Humphrey has backed this position.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, has said he is more willing than either the President or Humphrey to take risks for peace.

RISKS

Pastore, once considered a hawk, took the same attitude.

"We have had eight bombing halts which failed to bring peace talks," he said. "We took risks with each of these. Why shouldn't we take another risk for peace now that the circumstances have changed? The North Vietnamese are at least in Paris now and our action might start some serious talks."

Pastore said he thinks some move of this sort by Humphrey will be necesary to get the intellectuals and the youthful war dissenters who supported the presidential bid of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy back into Humphrey's camp.

Even in Rhode Island, which he called one of Humphrey's strongholds, he said college professors and students opposed to Vietnam policies are likely to stay home on election day unless the vice president speaks out.

Think Talk Topic

STANTON (SC) — Jim McCoy presided at the Wednesday meeting of the Rotary Club. Charles Elmore introduced Ann Haggard who was one of the winners of the 1968 Cap Rock Electric oratorical contest and received a trip to Washington, D.C., as a member of the government-in-action youth tour. The topic of her talk was "Something for Adults to Think About." There were 17 present including visitors, Gene Douglas of Stanton and Warren Quinlan of Midland.

Retail Panel To Meet Friday

The retail committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will meet Friday at 10 a.m. in the chamber conference room.

There are several items to be discussed at this session of the committee, according to Bill Coleman, chairman. Christmas season activities such as street decorations, Nativity scene, home decorations, and Santa's visit will be discussed.

City-wide promotions also come under the auspices of the committee.

At Least 11 Priests Penalized By Cardinal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle, calling dissenting Catholic priests in one by one, has penalized at least 11 of them for refusing to retract their stand on Pope Paul's birth control encyclical.

The penalties Wednesday ranged from complete suspension of one priest, the Rev. John L. Fenlon of nearby Rockville, Md., to prohibition against hearing confessions.

Cardinal O'Boyle called in 18 of the 44 priests and was to interview most of the others today and Friday.

He ordered the meetings after the priests reaffirmed their stand Saturday that Catholic couples under some circumstances may be guided by their consciences in deciding to use artificial contraceptive methods.

The 11 full and partial suspensions were reported by the Rev. John E. Corrigan, chairman of the Association of Washington Priests, who himself was forbidden from hearing confessions or teaching on any aspect of birth control.

The National Council of Catholic Bishops issued a new appeal to Catholic priests and laymen, meanwhile, to support the Pope's encyclical against use of artificial contraceptive methods.

The U.S. bishops said in a statement they joined with the Pope in calling on priests and the people to "form their consciences" in keeping with the encyclical.

The Rev. Fenlon, 27, was the second of the 44 priests to be completely suspended from the ministry. The Rev. T. Joseph O'Donoghue was suspended two weeks ago.

Both said they were suspended for treatment of the birth control issue in Sunday sermons.

'TO BRING YOU BACK TO A PEACEFUL HOME'

Nixon Ads Aimed At Soldiers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is making a special pitch for servicemen's vote, pledging to bring them back "to a peaceful home in a secure America."

The Republican presidential candidate has bought full-page advertisements in three specialized newspapers which claim about 485,000 servicemen readers around the world.

HELP

The ads, appearing in the current issues of the nonofficial Army Times, Navy Times and Air Force Times, quote Nixon's declaration that "it is essential that we end this war, and end it quickly."

"Under the heading, "Your Help is Needed," the appeal says:

"Richard Nixon and Gov. (Spiro T.) Agnew have served actively in the defense of our country. They know your problems; know your double value as citizens and as part of our vital defense system.

"They ask your vote and your interest to help restore decency and stability to our national life and clear a better society for all.

GI BAIT

"Your vote will also help determine whose hands will steer the defenses of our 'ship of state'.

"Richard Nixon and Gov. Agnew are pledged to renew the kind of home and country you want to return to. They are pledged to bring you back to a peaceful home in a secure America.

"Your vote is all we need."

At the bottom, servicemen are invited to contribute money to the Nixon-Agnew campaign. The advertisement includes a form to accompany donations.

Long-time observers said they were unable to recall any similar paid ad aimed directly at the soldier vote in a presidential campaign.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic presidential candidate, has issued position papers in which he has outlined what he would do for servicemen.

FREEDOM

Among other things, Humphrey has said "the military pay system is antiquated and needs thorough overhaul to assure that compensation and benefits for uniformed personnel are more equitable and more comparable with standards in civilian life."

Humphrey also has suggested better housing for servicemen and their families, an improved school system for children of service families and updated medical and hospital services.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department was gearing up its customary drive to stimulate a big servicemen's vote.

Traditionally, the Pentagon get-out-the-vote campaign is couched in nonpartisan terms.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has just filmed a special message to the 3.5 million Americans in uniform, warning that failure to vote "makes freedom grow flabby."

PRIVATE CLUB POKER

Silly Little Story By 'The Outsider'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
(AP TV-Radio Writer)

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Outsider," another of NBC's new series, showed up in its debut Wednesday night as good, fast-moving escapist viewing, old-fashioned private eye adventures.

The first program seemed to have had its inspiration in some recent Los Angeles headlines: cheating at cards in a private club. But that was just the jumping off place for a story that could have been wrapped up nicely in about half of the hour given to it.

FUNNY BIZ

Darren McGavin plays David Ross, private investigator, with steely eyes and ease of manner that comes with practice—he once was "Casey, Crime Photographer," and later, "Mike Hammer."

In the first episode, Ross was hired by the president of "the most exclusive private club" in a resort town to find out if there was any funny business going on in a poker game since three players were picking up large sums regularly.

This gave our hero an opportunity to go prowling around the residences of the suspects, hiding in one man's clothes closet and getting caught by the girl friend of another.

If he had been a really smart investigator, he would have started looking for funny business in the club card room, but that had to be postponed to the second half of the show.

Once he looked there, he found a closed circuit television camera concealed behind a ventilator in the ceiling directly over the card table.

After that momentous discovery, it was just a matter of setting up a big stakes game and, at the proper moment, revealing the culprits—one player and the bartender, who somehow—this part was a bit unclear—was receiving messages or pictures or something from the TV set and passing the word along.

While it was a silly little story, the production was slick, the sets were glossy and there was little violence—a scuffle with a girl over a gun, and one quick shot to the jaw that knocked a minor character cold. The hour, for the most part, slipped away pleasantly.

DINO REPORTING

Earlier Don Rickles played host to a bevy of Brooklyn natives in the first fall edition of NBC's "Music Hall" series. The salute to that section of New York City was a peg on which to hang a solo by Robert Merrill, a monologue by Joan Rivers, some comedy and insults between Rickles and Steve Lawrence, who also sang, of course.

The show had a strange wind-up—clips from a Barbra Streisand movie while a song from the film was played. Later she was greeted by the mayor of New York before a Broadway crowd on the opening of the movie. It was a nice plug for the movie starring a Brooklyn girl but it wasn't exactly television entertainment.

Recommended tonight: "Ironside," season premiere," NBC, 8:30-9:30 EDT, Raymond Burr returns for a second season as the crippled detective; "The Dean Martin Show," season premiere, NBC, 10-11, with Dino reporting in with guest stars Lena Horne, Buddy Ebsen and Zero Mostel.

The bidding:

4 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

When it is necessary to place partner with a specific holding in order to defeat declarer's contract, a player should proceed on the assumption that the desired distribution is a reality. An apt illustration of this principle is offered in the above hand where South was the declarer at four hearts.

West opened the four of spades and South won the trick in his hand with the ace. The ace and king of hearts were cashed and, when West showed out on the second round, East's queen of hearts became established as the master trump.

South overtook the queen of spades with North's king and ran the suit in the hope that he would be able to obtain two club discards before East could ruff in. On the third round of spades, however, East trumped with the queen of hearts as declarer discarded a club.

East shifted to the king of clubs. West realized that he would block the suit if he followed with the nine, so he overtook with the ace and returned a club in the hope that his partner's holding was solid. East put up the queen of clubs, but on the next lead South produced the jack and claimed his contract. The defense took one heart trick and two clubs.

East should have realized that declarer was solid everywhere except in clubs and that, in order to defeat South, it would be necessary to win three club tricks. This could be accomplished only if the declarer had started with four clubs, inasmuch as he had already obtained one discard on the jack of spades. It must be assumed, therefore, that West has the ace and one club—and East should proceed on that premise.

If a small club is returned—it is essential for West to be alert to the circumstances and play the ace and then return the nine. He cannot afford to win the trick cheaply, for then the suit becomes blocked. West must assume that East has both the king and queen—otherwise the contract cannot be defeated—and the play of the ace first becomes clearly marked.

'Choke' Claims Anger Browns

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Cleveland Browns come into their National Football League game with the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in the Cotton Bowl with something to prove—that they don't blow the big ball games.

"That's something the players are sick and tired of hearing," says publicity director Nate Wallack of the Browns. "They keep hearing that they choke in the big games—that they can't whip the good teams in the league like Green Bay and Dallas."

Wallack said a 55-7 loss to Green Bay and a 52-14 loss to Dallas in the Eastern Conference championship game were examples of the ill fortune that befell Cleveland last year.

"We will be trying to prove we can play a good game against one of the good teams in the league," said Wallack.

Both the Cowboys and Browns won their openers, Dallas routing Detroit 59-13 and Cleveland overcoming New Orleans 24-10 in the rain and mud.

Dallas is the total offensive leader in the NFL going into the game and Cleveland is the total defensive leader.

Coach Tom Landry of Dallas says "We must control their running game. Leroy Kelly is the key. We must contain Kelly to beat Cleveland."

Landry said Kelly, who picked up 107 yards in the opening game, is a "really great runner."

He said Dallas came out of the Detroit game without any serious injury problems. Quarterback Don Meredith has a slightly sore arm, tight end Pettis Norman a sore ankle, and fullback Don Perkins sore chest muscles. Landry said all should be ready for the Browns.

Landry said he hoped his team wouldn't be flat against Cleveland after their offensive pryotechnics against Detroit.

"You just don't score that many points unless the other team has an exceptionally poor day and you have an exceptionally good one," Landry said.

Big Job In Store

If the Big Spring Steers are to survive their District 3-AAAA test with dangerous Midland Lee here Friday night, the four boys pictured here will shoulder a big part of the load. Kneeling, from the left, they are flanker back Charley Lewis and tight end Jimmy Farris. Standing, tight end Luven Flores and tight end Tony Dean. Farris was named Lineman of the Week by The Daily Herald for his performance against Lubbock Monterey.

Brahmas Face Lamar Eleven

Tied, 6-6, in their opener with the Big Spring Toros last week, the resident Brahmas will host Snyder Lamar at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Runnels' eighth graders, 14-6, winners over Big Spring Goliad in their 1968 debut, will be at home to Lamar's eighth graders, starting at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Both games will be unreeled in Big Spring's new Junior High stadium.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A football buff here, pointing to the fact that Bob Milburn's campaign to turn the San Angelo Bobcats into the Angry Orange succeeded to the extent that the Felines won the state championship, suggests a similar psychological tact be employed on the Big Spring Steers.

"Why not refer to them as the 'Hustlin' Herd' or 'Hustlin' Horns'" the reader asks.

The idea is pregnant and coach Spike Dykes, for one, believes that a community can infuse a team with the kind of flaming spirit it needs to create a reign of terror on the football commons.

Wearing some combination of Black and Gold to Friday night's game with Midland Lee here will help, too. The Steers might take the hint and beat the opposition black and blue.

Paul (Daffy) Dean, junior member of a pitching combination that set the National League on its ear more than 30 years ago, has undertaken an ambitious project in his position as director of athletics for the University of Plano.

Dean is seeking to set up a scholarship program for young athletes. His initial goal is to provide schooling for half a hundred boys who have problems academically and who might experience insurmountable problems at other schools.

In a letter to this window, Paul says it will take up to $2,000 per boy for a year's scholarship — which would cover tuition, room and board at his school.

Plano and its college is located near Dallas and the school is said to be thriving, although it is less than ten years old.

Reading difficulty is a symptom of brain damage incurred before or during child birth, or resulting from a childhood injury or disease of the central nervous system.

Because the University of Plano is seeking just that kind of student, the type that is identified as a "slow learner" rather than "retarded," it holds a unique position in the field of education.

The university's College of Development Education, which welcomes the 'slow learner' will eventually prove to be Plano's big draw.

One might expect a certain 'institutional' air about the school but that is not at all the case. The students might be shy and retiring when they enroll but they soon change. They gain confidence, they express themselves better and they become more outgoing. It isn't long before they become like college students everywhere. After a year at Plano, some of the students have qualified for universities nearer their homes (for sake of personal convenience). All, however, do not want to make the change.

Paul, a tremendous flinger in his day, generally left the flowers of rhetoric to his more celebrated brother. What he is seeking to do now, however, speaks volumes for his desire to upgrade an oftimes neglected part of our society.

Seven of the ten football clubs the Big Spring Steers face this fall employ the same defensive alignment the locals use.

In an article prepared for Sports magazine, track and field expert Frank Litsky predicts the U.S. Olympic team will capture 36 gold medals — 13 in men's track and field, ten in men's swimming and 11 in women's swimming.

Litsky foresees nothing but trouble for the American basketball team, however, mainly because top players like Elvin Hayes, Lew Alcindor, and Wesley Unseld are not playing. If the U.S. cagers are lucky, says the writer, they may wind up as high as third.

McLain Faces Yankee Star Seeking 31st

By The Associated Press

A sympathetic cloudburst gave the Detroit Tigers an extra day to recover from their first pennant celebration in 23 years.

The Tigers, who wrapped up the American League flag and celebrated with champagne showers the night before had their game against the New York Yankees postponed by rain Wednesday night.

That was just fine with the bleary-eyed town of Detroit which went wild Tuesday night when the Tigers clinched their first flag since 1945.

The rainout delayed Denny McLain's bid for a 31st victory. McLain, hoping to match the total reached by Robert "Lefty" Grove in 1931, was to go against 20-game winner Mel Stottlemyre in today's makeup game.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Boston shut out Baltimore 4-0, and Minnesota split a doubleheader with California, winning the first game 4-3 and dropping the nightcap by the same score. Washington's game at Cleveland was also rained out.

Roger Nelson pitched six hitless innings against Boston before the Red Sox knocked him out with a three-run flurry in the seventh and went on to beat the Orioles.

Nelson retired 18 straight batters and struck out 13 after walking the leadoff man in the first inning. But Mike Andrews opened the seventh with a single. A walk to Carl Yastrzemski and Ken Harrelson's single loaded the bases.

Reggie Smith singled for two runs knocking out Nelson and the Sox added another when Joe Foy drew a bases-loaded walk against reliever Pete Richert. Smith's sacrifice fly brought home another run in the eighth. Dick Ellsworth and Lee Stange combined for the seven-hit shutout.

Bruce Look singled home a pair of runs in the fourth inning, snapping a 1-1 tie and moving Minnesota toward its first-game victory over California. Dean Chance got the victory with late-inning help from Ron Perranoski. Chance, 15-15, struck out seven, giving him 223 for the season and establishing a Minnesota club record. The old mark was 221 by Camilo Pascual in 1961.

Sophs, JV's Play Tonight

Fresh from a 20-6 victory over the Stanton JV's, the Big Spring Sophomores hit the road this evening for an 8:00 p.m. game with the Coahoma JV's in Coahoma.

The Sophs will next be seen in action here Sept. 26 against Colorado City.

Soph roster:

QUARTERBACKS
Scott McLaughlin, Larry Vasquez, Danny Smart.
HALFBACKS
Ronnie Carriera, Roddy Caffey, Walter Campbell, Benito Rubio, Don McQueen.
FULLBACKS
Phil Ferguson, David Zellars, Ernest Zubiate.
FLANKER BACKS

ENDS
John Smith, John Weeks, Louis Johnson, David Englert, Grady Ray, Bruce Hicks.

Big Spring's JV unit, which demoralized Snyder last week with a 44-0 win, hie themselves to Midland this evening for a 7:30 p.m. game with Lee's Stonewall Brigade.

In the past, Lee has fielded fine JV elevens and this year likely will be no exception.

Fine performances by backs Kyle Rosene, Rick Peurifoy, Gary Hughes and Herman Evans, coupled with outstanding line play, kept the local JV's rolling last week.

Cards Take Revenge With No-Hit Game

By The Associated Press

An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth—but a no-hitter for a no-hitter? What kind of revenge is that?

That's Cardinal revenge.

Few teams have gotten the edge on the World Series-bound Cardinals this season, and so when Gaylord Perry of San Francisco clipped them with a no-hitter Tuesday, in Candlestick Park, the Cardinals naturally took offense.

Less than 24 hours later Ray Washburn retaliated for St. Louis and stopped the Giants without a hit for a 2-1 victory Wednesday, the first time no-hitters have been pitched in successive games in the same ballpark. Now that's real revenge.

UP TO 13-7

Washburn, a 30-year-old right-hander coming back all the way this season after plagued by arm trouble much of the time since his first full season with the Cardinals in 1961, had more trouble with his control than with the Giants. He walked five, and struck out eight, in raising his record to 13-7.

The rest of the National League action was more routine as the Chicago Cubs downed the New York Mets 7-2, Atlanta nipped Houston 2-1, Philadelphia got by Pittsburgh 2-1 and Cincinnati blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

Washburn and Perry outdid Ernest Koob and Robert Groom of the St. Louis Browns, the only pitchers to hurl no-hitters on successive days in the same ballpark. But Koob and Groom did it over a span of three games—Koob on May 5 and Groom in the second game of a doubleheader on May 6.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

RAY WASHBURN

"I've been with the Cardinals 23 years and never saw a no-hitter before," smiled Manager Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals. Lon Warneke was the last Cardinal to turn the trick—in 1940.

"It was my first no-hitter since high school," said Washburn, who had a 12-9 for St. Louis in 1962 before injuring his arm the next year. Thanks to the Cardinals' patience, he has slowly worked his way back after years of 5-3, 3-4, 9-11, 11-9 and 10-7.

UPRISING IN 7TH

Bob Bolin of the Giants matched the shutout until the seventh when Mike Shannon doubled home Orlando Cepeda. Dick Schofield doubled in the eighth and eventually scored on Curt Flood's infield hit.

Washburn's gem was the fifth in the majors this season and third in the National League.

The Giants clung to second place despite the loss, although Cincinnati climbed within two games as Gerry Arrigo and Ted Abernathy hurled a four-hitter and Tony Perez doubled in one run and scored another.

The Cubs remained 15½ games back and in the battle for second place as Jim Hickman broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning with a run-scoring single and Adolfo Phillips followed with his 11th homer.

Loser Jerry Koosman, 18-11 homered for the Mets, who broke their own major league strike out record of 1,129 for one season by fanning four times for 1,132.

Sinkerball Kept Washburn Wild In Historical Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twice in less than 24 hours either the San Francisco Giants or the St. Louis Cardinals went hitless as the Cardinals' Ray Washburn and the Giants' Gaylord Perry tossed consecutive no-hitters, the fourth and fifth in the major leagues this baseball season.

Perry walked two in no-hitting the National League pennant winners 1-0 Tuesday night and Washburn, surviving five walks, did the same, 2-0, Wednesday.

It was the first time in baseball history that successive no-hitters were pitched in the same park, and fewer than 15,000 fans —4,703 of them in the stands Wednesday—saw the masterpieces.

Despite the walks, caused by a wild sinkerball, Washburn was in complete control.

The 30-year-old Kirkland, Wash., right-hander, now 13-7, got the only run he needed in the seventh when Orlando Cepeda singled with one out, went to second on John Edwards' grounder and scored on Mike Shannon's double.

St. Louis scored again in the eighth as Dick Schofield opened with a double, went to third on Washburn's sacrifice and came in on Curt Flood's infield single.

The only other time two no-hitters were pitched on successive days in the same park was in 1917 when the St. Louis Browns did it against the Chicago White Sox. But it was over a span of three games.

Ernest Koob no-hit the White Sox 1-0 on May 5 and Robert Groom repeated the feat 3-0 in the second game of a doubleheader on May 6.

FOR GAME FRIDAY

Lee Fans Likely To Flock Here

Tickets for the Big Spring-Midland Lee football game here Friday night will remain on sale at the school business office until 2 p.m. Friday but will also be available at the gate, starting at 7 p.m.

Lee officials were forwarded 378 adult and 500 student tickets for the contest and there is every indication that a sizable delegation will come here from that city.

Lee will send a 300-member pep squad and a 160-member band here, local officials have been advised.

The sale of season tickets here has now mounted to 1,040, still under the figure for 1967, when 1,095 were distributed. Priced at $7.50 and good for five home games, the ducats can also be purchased at the Business Office until 2 p.m. Friday.

A total of 407 adult and 201 student tickets were sold here last week for the game in Lubbock against Monterey. Numerous other persons made the trip but purchased their ducats in Lubbock.

Rival Coaches Seeking To Cut Down On Errors

The team which cuts its mistakes to a minimum will, no doubt, win when Midland Lee and Big Spring clash here Friday night in the opening 3-AAAA game for both clubs.

Big Spring blew a 21-14 decision to Lubbock Monterey last week, mainly because it committed some grievous blunders.

Lee bowled over Lubbock High by the same score but coach Bob Burris of the Rebels was quoted following the contest:

"We were sure jittery. I hope our kids grow up in a week. We can't afford the same kind of mistakes this week."

Burris was referring to five fumbles the Rebs lost, plus three passes intercepted by Lubbock and over 100 yards in penalties.

Lee escaped the Lubbock game without serious injury, as did Big Spring against Monterey.

Lee will bring a team here averaging 181.8 pounds per man on offense and exactly 10 pounds more than that on defense.

Lee is off to a great start in its drive to improve upon a 7-3 record and will field an all-senior outfit on offense against the Steers.

Leaders up front for the Rebels include end Kelly Roach and tackle Jim Butler, each of whom has won two varsity letters. Roach weighs 220 and Butler 210.

Lee was hit by injuries earlier this season when tackles Charley Woolridge and Roy Shrobe went out with leg hurts. Both will miss the entire season.

Gary Baxter (195), up from the JV's; and Butler man the tackle posts for the Rebs.

Browns Agree Doug Atkins Was Salty

NEW YORK (AP) — Losers seldom produce players of the week but New Orleans threatens to secede from the Union if Doug Atkins of the Saints doesn't get the call for defense this week in the National Football League. They say even the Cleveland Browns will agree.

It seems Atkins, 38, celebrated the start of his 16th pro year last Sunday with 13 unassisted tackles. The 6-foot-6, 270-pound defensive end also took his turn flattening Frank Ryan, Cleveland's quarterback.

Despite the heroics of Atkins, Cleveland won the ball game 24-10 on interceptions by Ernie Kellerman, who almost became the goat on a pass interference call, and Bill Glass.

"He's unbelievable," said Coach Tom Fears of the Saints, describing Atkins. "He just breaks the laws of nature."

Blanton Collier, coach of the Browns, said to Atkins. "Dog-gone it, aren't you too old to still be playing the game?" Collier was an assistant coach under Paul Brown when Cleveland drafted Atkins as its No. 1 choice in 1953 out of Tennessee.

"I'm not satisfied with my performance," Atkins told staffer Ben Thomas. "The fact that we lost takes it all away. Let's have more victories and less stuff about how many tackles I make."

Frank Ryan commented: "I'm glad I don't have that man coming at me every Sunday."

Kellerman also qualified for the Browns. Four plays after his interference call, he picked off a Bill Kilmer pass that led to the go-ahead touchdown.

Foreign Minister Hajek Resigns?

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek resigned today, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

It said Hajek tendered his resignation by letter to President Ludvik Svoboda in Prague. It added that Svoboda complied with Hajek's request to be relieved of his post as of today.

Svoboda asked Premier Oldrich Cernik to take over the functions of foreign minister.

Hajek was vacationing in Yugoslavia when troops of the Soviet Union and four other Warsaw Pact countries invaded Czechoslovakia last month. Another Czechoslovak Cabinet member, Deputy Premier Ota Sik, who also was in Yugoslavia at the time, resigned earlier. He is reported to be still in Yugoslavia.

Hajek returned to Czechoslovakia Sept. 3. Earlier he had been in New York where the U.N. Security Council debated the invasion, and then had visited England, Austria and Switzerland.

There were unconfirmed reports here that Svoboda had refused for some time to accept Hajek's resignation. The fact that Svoboda did not appoint a new foreign minister but asked Premier Cernik to take over the Foreign Ministry appeared to support speculation that Svoboda was reluctant to let Hajek go.

The CTK report also said that "at the proposal of the government, the president today recalled Karel Hoffmann from his function as head of the Central Board of Communication." There was no elaboration on this.

Its 30th Day Under Kremlin Occupation

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia began its 30th day under Soviet occupation today, bent and somewhat bowed but still tenaciously supporting the reform government whose policies angered the Russians.

Reports circulated that a high-level delegation from the regime of Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek and President Ludvik Svoboda was preparing to travel to Moscow this weekend for more talks on Russian conditions for ending the occupation.

Speedy withdrawal of occupation troops was not expected, but the fact that a Svoboda-Dubcek government was still able to negotiate with the occupying powers 30 days after the invasion showed how the Russians underestimated the unity behind Dubcek and the Czechoslovak will.

Russian demands for a return to censorship and the barring of non-Communist opposition political groups have been met. But the Czechoslovak intention to reform hard-line communism remains strong, and there are still numerous signs of nonviolent resistance to the occupation.

Junior College Tops 1,100 Mark

Howard County Junior College has crossed the 1,100 mark for the first time in its history.

Enrollment Thursday morning reached 1,109, and Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, said that there was a good prospect that it would reach 1,119 by the weekend — which is 100 more than the final figure a year ago.

No firm tabulations have been made on the semester hour total pending a cutoff date for shifting courses, etc., but the full-time student load is likely to be up nearly 20 per cent.

Students may still register the remainder of this week.

Fit To Be Tied

NEW YORK (AP) — The Men's Tie Foundation Inc., is fit to be tied over a photograph of Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau playfully wrapping a tie around his neck in garrote fashion after accepting it as a gift from the National Press Club in Ottawa.

Myron H. Ackerman, foundation president, mailed Trudeau another gift Wednesday and enclosed a note pointing out that National Tie Week opens next Monday and saying, tongue-in-cheek, "When the choke's on you, the joke's on us."

Quizzing Continues Here In Drug Use By Youngsters

With about a third of the 65 persons whose names he has collected interviewed, Sheriff A. N. Standard said today that he is gravely disturbed at the evidence of widespread experimenting with marijuana and possibly other habit-forming drugs on the part of local younger people.

"Nearly every person we have contacted," said Standard, "has readily admitted that he or she has tried marijuana. Some have smoked only one marijuana cigarette, they say, and others tell of repeated experiments with the drug."

He said he had contacted officers in five different towns from where marijuana supplies have ultimately reached Big Spring, and that in several, the police or sheriff's officers have confirmed that the person listed as a supplier is known to the enforcement agencies.

"We have filed no charges," said the sheriff, "and plan to file none until we have completed our entire check into the situation."

He added that when the investigation is completed, it is possible that complaints may be lodged against certain individuals. These, he said, would probably be the older offenders who can be shown to have acted as suppliers to local trade.

The investigation began Monday with the report of a glue sniffing party on the southeast edge of town. A number of automobile loads of younger people took part in this episode. One of the vehicles became embedded in sand and its owner was established.

This led to the interrogation of four persons and from sources thus opened came the names of 65 persons the sheriff's officers are now contacting.

Sergeant Promotions

Within the next three months, 183 Webb airmen will become new non-commissioned officers as the base is scheduled to record its largest quarterly promotion cycle to sergeant in recent history.

According to S.M. Sgt. Dale McComb of the quality control section of personnel, the men will receive promotion orders between Oct. 1 and Jan. 1, 1969.

There were 209 Webb airmen eligible for promotion for the upcoming quarter. The 183 selected to sew on the third stripe of a "buck" sergeant represent an 87.6 per cent selection rate — the highest percentage of persons promoted in recent Webb history also.

The field maintenance squadron grabbed the highest number of hikes with 55. Close behind were the organizational maintenance squadron and air base group with 46 and 43 respectively. The supply squadron accounted for 17 of the new stripes and the student squadron followed with 13. The hospital listed nine promotions.

Farmers, Officers Call It Headache

NAPPANEE, Ind. (AP) — Call it hemp, weed, grass or marijuana—farmers and law officers call it a headache.

Hemp—marijuana—once was an important commercial crop in this northern Indiana area. A factory in Nappanee processed the plant into fiber for string and rope.

The hemp factory is gone, but the plants remain. They're as troublesome as crabgrass. They choke roadsides and weed-grown fields.

Farmers frequently call police when carloads of young people park along the roads at night to harvest the weed. Seven moonlight harvesters have been arrested this summer—including four students accused of cutting more than 1,600 pounds of marijuana.

Lions Hear Coach On Football Hopes

Spike Dykes, head football coach, doesn't want his charges to be good losers.

Maybe gracious losers when they taste defeat, but never such good losers that it doesn't hurt a lot.

This is, he told the Downtown Lions at their Wednesday meeting in the Settles, part of the philosophy that the coaching staff tries to pass along to the young men.

Other lessons he said that they attempted to teach were: there's no way to get more out of something than you put into it; you've got to be persistent; you've got to discipline yourself, make sacrifices; you must have pride in what you have and what you are doing; you can't get ahead by alibiing, complaining or finding excuses; you can be anything you want to be.

Regarding this year's team, Dykes said it has real possibilities and the community should be proud of the boys on the squad. Having viewed films of the 21-14 loss to Lubbock Monterey, he said that there was nothing wrong with the club that couldn't be corrected, and he hoped it would be corrected by this Friday evening when Midland Lee comes to town.

Regarding the district (3-AAAA), he said it was the best balanced in years and that "I still think we've got a chance to win it. I'll tell you one thing — you're not going to win it unless you think you can."

SALESMEN, AGENTS F-4

ARE YOU looking for a good part time or full time income in Big Spring or Howard County? Many Rawleigh Dealers earn $2.50 and up per hour. Write Rawleigh, TXH-970-26, Memphis, Tenn., 38102.

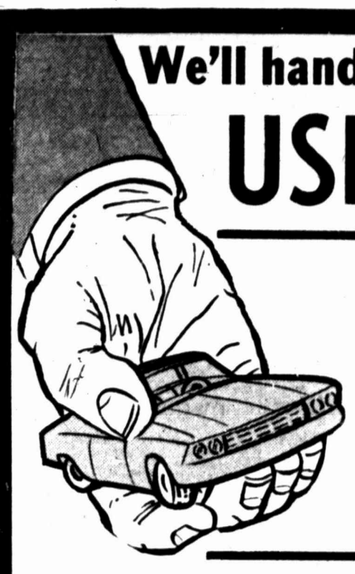

SALES EXPERIENCE NOT NECESSARY

An AAA-1 internationally known company has a very successful schooling and field training program for the inexperienced man who wants to earn the money only selling can give him. Territory also available for experienced salesmen.

If you can answer Yes to the following questions:
1. Are you interested in a five figure income increasing each year from repeat business?
2. Are you willing to work as hard for yourself as for your boss?
3. Do you have a good record of past employment?
4. Are you interested in advancements?
5. Do you have a good car?
You are our man!

We offer protected territories, high commission plus bonuses, and continuous field training. For personal interview, see Tom Sheffield, Regional Manager, Ramada Inn, Big Spring, Texas, Saturday, Sept. 21 at 10:00 a.m. or Sunday, Sept. 22, at 2:00 p.m. sharp.

Study Of Indians Held By Circle

The Martha Foster Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, Wesley Methodist Church, met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Howard Berry, 2900 Cherokee. Mrs. E. A. Guinn presided, and opening prayer was worded by Mrs. J. B. Hollis. Mrs. S. L. Thurman brought the program on Indians, and Mrs. J. C. Ray gave the devotion and closing prayer. Refreshments were served.

Retired Persons May Show Creative Items

The Howard County Home Demonstration Club Exhibit will be held Oct. 16 in the mall at Highland Center according to Mrs. Delaine Crawford, county HD agent.

Mrs. J. F. Skalicky of the Fairview Club is council exhibit chairman, and other committee members are Mrs. S. A. Wilson, Airport, and Mrs. Joe Myers, Knott.

There will be five different areas in which items may be exhibited. They include (a) canned foods and home grown vegetables (b) baked foods (c) sewing and handwork (d) crafts, creative arts and refinished furniture (e) Christmas decorations.

This year there will be an exhibit space provided, for the first time, for the 65 and over age bracket. These will be non-club members and may be men or women. The idea behind this entry category is to show creative work that retired persons may have accomplished in their leisure time. Persons interested in showing this type thing are requested to fill out the coupon below and mail it to Mrs. Crawford. They must be returned to her office by Oct. 11 in order to know how many entries must be handled.

Clubs will set up their displays by 10 a.m. the day of the exhibit and leave them in place until 6 p.m. Every club member is invited to display items in any or all areas. Two clubs will serve as hostesses at each display, with one member from each of the two hostess clubs at the display at all times. Hostess clubs will be responsible for setting up the displays, and this includes furnishing tables on which exhibits are displayed.

Assignments are: canned goods and home grown vegetables, Coahoma and Knott; baked foods, College Park and Lomax; sewing and handwork, Elbow and City; crafts and creative arts, rpoint and Airport; and Christmas decorations, Luther and Fairview.

There will be a style show of home sewn garments at 2 p.m. Garments are to be made by a club woman who has completed a dressmaking course given by an extension agent as a part of home demonstration work. Clothes may be of varied styles.

Achievement Day Dates Confirmed

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. James Eiland, county home demonstration agent, announced Achievement Day dates during Tuesday's Martin County HD Council meeting in the Cap Rock Auditorium. In Ector County, the day will be Oct. 11; in Glasscock County, Sept. 28; and in Howard County, Oct. 16.

Mrs. Albert Pitman presided and Mrs. R. P. Odom announced that Martin County's Achievement Day will be held Nov. 7. The council changed its meeting time from 2 p.m. to 2:35 p.m.

Mrs. Eiland introduced Mrs. H. H. Stevens of Big Spring, council representative for the National Foundation for Research on Birth Defects (March of Dimes.) She noted that over 250,000 children are born yearly with major birth defects and showed a film on children who have been helped by foundation centers in Texas.

Mrs. G. Crenshaw Given Certificate

Mrs. Logan Grider presented Mrs. Gene Crenshaw with a certificate of perfection in unwritten work at Tuesday's meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 in the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. S. A. Wilson, noble grand, presided and reminded members of volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital Monday. Work will continue through the year.

The charter was draped in memory of Miss Lucille Hall of Dallas, Rebekah Assembly state treasurer. Those draping the charter were Mrs. A. G. Hall, Mrs. E. V. Cockerham, Mrs. W. N. Wood, Mrs. Gene Hankie, Mrs. Carl Mangum and Mrs. Logan Grider.

Fifteen visits to the sick were reported.

Overton Reunion

The annual September reunion of the Overton family was held Sunday in Odessa. Those attending were Clarice Overton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hillger and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sutphen, Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Sutphen and Arla and Julie Haney.

BUYING TIPS

Retail Stores Offering Versatile New Products

By GENEVIEVE S. WOOD

As a homemaker you will find new products and new uses of products that are well established that are particularly helpful. Here are some that are now in retail stores:

New versatility in china — A well known Japanese procelain, long popular in this country, now is making its bow as a true china that can be taken from the refrigerator, put in the oven or used for top-of-stove cooking; then set on the table as a serving dish. The first of this "progressive" china appears in a number of attractive patterns, and carries a two-year guaranty of service. Besides the usual pieces for the table, there are a coffeemaker and several oven and top-of-stove utensils that can double for serving.

Elasticized lace facings — If you have to put a facing or false hem in a skirt, why not make it a colorful, decorative bit? You can, you know — with the gay stretch lace edgings sold in notions departments. A pretty and intriguing touch.

Realism in patterns — Dress patterns for home dressmakers are now cut more like those used for good quality ready-to-wear, which means they are more realistic insofar as the female figure is concerned. This size change is explained in detail in the fashion books of the various pattern manufacturers.

Low Calorie margarine — a low calorie margarine that's whipped and of the consistency of the popular soft margarine is now in super markets. It has only about half the calories of regular margarine. Believe it or not, it contains no dairy products such as milk, cream or cheese. It depends on safflower oil for its fat, and chemicals for its flavor.

Diet salad dressings — More and more salad dressings are available in food stores, and almost every one has a satellite of low calorie dressing. Both the old standbys and the gourmet dressings such as Green Goddess, Ceasar and so on, are achieving wonderful nuances of flavor. If you prefer to mix your own, there are many kinds of packaged dry mixes that give new zest with regular salad oil or low calorie substitutes.

Flea proof pet collar — a boon for cats and dogs in this year of exceptionally humid weather in Texas is a flea collar that is guaranteed to banish fleas for three months. We have found two makes of clear plastic collars which release a chemical that causes fleas to flee their happy homes on said pets. And they really work!

Keep the bacon hot — One make of electric fry pans is coming out with an underslung drawer that serves as a warming tray. This tray will keep the bacon or sausage hot while you scramble the eggs.

Home remedies — Doctors in a famous Texas teaching hospital recommend a well-known household detergent as a bubble bath . . . a widely used water conditioner for bathing babies with diaper rash and for superficial skin irritations in general . . . and a certain vegetable cooking fat as a skin emollient for persons suffering from a dry skin.

For further information about any product mentioned today, write to Mrs. Wood in care of the Big Spring Herald and enclose a self-addressed, stamped postal card.

Lakeview PTA Hears Principal

E. S. Morgan, principal at Lakeview Elementary School, introduced the faculty and gave a brief talk on school enrollment at Tuesday's meeting of the Lakeview Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Arthur Adams was elected membership chairman, and Mrs. Edward Ramirez was named co-chairman. The unit made plans to meet four times a year for special programs instead of regular monthly meetings. Mrs. Ed Jacobs presided.

Refreshments were served.

DeMolays Give Dinner Program

Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of Eastern Star, honored Master Masons Tuesday evening with a salad supper and program at Masonic Temple. The Order of DeMolay presented the program. Lee White, the speaker, was introduced by Ted Abbott, Chapter Dad.

Officers served as hostesses. An out-of-town guest, Mrs. Ollie Irwin of Placerville, Calif., grand representative of Texas in California, and a local guest, Mrs. Henry Brewer, worthy matron of Laura B. Hart Chapter, attended.

Twenty-six DeMolay members were present.

Women Study 'Book Of Acts'

A missionary study on the Book of Acts was presented at Tuesday's meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union at Westside Baptist Church.

Those on the program were Mrs. E. O. Anderson, Mrs. Mary Riddle, Mrs. Frank Radcliff and Mrs. N. M. Hipp. Mrs. C. L. Kirkland read the prayer calendar and directed the study.

The announcement was made that in keeping with the group's Open Door project, those needing clothing or food are requested to call 263-4242.

Coffee Held At Webb Wednesday

The home of Mrs. Chandler B. Estes, No. 3 Albrook, was the scene Wednesday morning of a coffee honoring members of the Protestant Women of the Chapel and St. Anne's Guild. Mrs. Robert Casey was co-hostess.

A feature of the social affair was a panel discussion on "Teaching Your Children to Have Faith in God." The panelists were Chaplain Robert T. Deming, Chaplain John Darcy, Maj. Duane Feichtinger and Mrs. J. E. Hogan. Mrs. Thomas Alison is PWOC president, and Mrs. Joe Crenwelge heads the guild.

Mrs. Frank Borner and Mrs. Doug Wingate will host the next PWOC meeting on Oct. 15 in the chapel annex.

Mrs. J. A. Coffee Hosts Luncheon

Mrs. John A. Coffee, 513 Edwards Circle, hosted a luncheon Wednesday for the Downtown Lions Auxiliary. Mrs. John Quigley was cohostess, and Mrs. Aubrey W. Neighbors was welcomed as a new member. The table was laid with a yellow cloth and centered with an arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums and gold and yellow daisies.

Garden Clubbers Receive Schedule

Mrs. John Edgar presided Wednesday at the meeting of the Four O'Clock Garden Club in her home at 4109 Muir. She distributed council flower show schedules and announced the group will participate in the show, Oct. 26, at Highland Center mall. Plans were made for a membership drive. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a yellow cloth and centered with autumn flowers.

Newcomers Club Reveals Winners

Five tables were in play at Newcomers Club bridge games Tuesday in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Winners were Mrs. Willie Skaggs, first; Mrs. David Barr, second; and Mrs. Norman Picquet, bridge-o. Two guests, Mrs. R. G. Batros and Mrs. Jesse Scarbrough, were introduced. The next meeting will be Oct. 1 at Cosden Country Club.

Wiener Roast

The Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, hosted a wiener roast Saturday at Webb Air Force Base pavilion. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sherrill and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass. Twelve couples attended.

A LOVELIER YOU

Total Look Results From Subtle Points

By MARY SUE MILLER

As new fashions crystallize, usually a look — The Look — emerges. Not so this fall.

There are almost as many looks as there are designers. Among others, the influences of the 1930's, the 1940's, the Far East, Tolstoi's Russia, and a bird's London make a strong impression. To each her own!

What must not be missed is the highly refined, subtle details of current designing. Beginning at the neckline, the V is all important; the scarfed throat is everywhere. Collars trend to deep pointed lapels, wide bibs and draped shawls.

Via darts and shirring, the bosom once again is a focal point in design. As we girls are well aware, the waistline comes in for major accenting through belts or seaming.

Sleeves are a mighty factor that those who love sleeveless dresses will have to reckon with. They're long — period. They're full, flared, shirt-type, puffed, cuffed, buttoned and tucked. Whatever the shaping, the sleeve very often forms the center of interest. It's an eye-catcher.

"Flippy" sums up the skirt. It flips with pleats, large and small, with bias flares, with gores and godets, with gathers and circular construction. Its length? As you like it — anything goes.

LEANER, LIGHTER

Here's a painless way for teens and adults to reduce! Just send for my booklet, "Leaner, Lighter and Lovelier." It includes menus for delicious meals and snacks; calorie counter and nutrition chart; diet shortcuts; spot reducers. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Rebekahs Observe 117th Anniversary

The 117th anniversary of Rebekahs was observed Tuesday when John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 honored the late Schuyler Colfax, founder, in the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. H. F. Jarrett directed a tableau and presented the Biblical characters. Mrs. M. L. Ray portrayed Rebecca; Mrs. John Cate and Mrs. Jones Lamar represented the Biblical Rebekahs; Horace Jarrett was chaplain; John Cate, Isaac; and Barney Hughes, Eliezar.

Jarrett gave a brief history of the founder's life and said that although Colfax only attended school until the age of 10, he later became a statesman and was elected vice president of the United States in 1868.

Mrs. Lamar read a letter announcing the death of Miss Lucille Hall, Rebekah Assembly treasurer.

Golden Age Class

The Golden Age Sunday school class of Berea Baptist Church met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. R. L. McCullough, 3706 Dixon. The devotion was given by Mrs. Clifton Fowler and prayer led by Mrs. Ira Norrell. Games were directed by Mrs. Ruth Blankenship.

NCO Wives Tell Game Winners

Bridge and canasta were played Tuesday by the NCO Wives Club in the NCO Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. Winners were Mrs. Paul Hooser and Mrs. John Knoepfel, first and second high in bridge; and Mrs. Wes Doyle and Mrs. Roger Moore, first and second in canasta.

Refreshments were served. Two guests, Mrs. Fred Ponte and Mrs. Moser attended. Mrs. Noel Shelton, president, announced a newcomer's party for Sept. 24 in the NCO Open Mess. Wives of non-commissioned officers are invited to attend by calling Mrs. Fred Small, 263-4032. A white elephant sale will be held following the meeting.

Members were reminded to bring clothing for the Salvation Army, or those having clothing to donate are requested to call Mrs. Louis Rodriquez, 267-7121.

Rebekah Lodge

STANTON (SC) — The Rebekah Lodge met Monday evening at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Henry Louder, noble grand presided, and 13 visits to the sick were reported by the nine members present.

WITH RESOLUTION CALLING FOR CEASE-FIRE

Arabs, Israelis Dissatisfied

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Both Arabs and Israelis are openly dissatisfied with another Security Council resolution insisting that they observe the 15-month-old cease-fire.

The 15-nation council adopted the resolution 14-0 Wednesday ending a two-week debate on Israeli and Egyptian complaints of cease-fire violations. Algeria abstained from the vote.

DOUBLE STANDARD

The resolution insisted that the council's 1967 cease-fire call "must be rigorously respected," and urged all parties to cooperate fully with Gunnar Jarring of Sweden, U.N. special representative to the Middle East, "in the speedy fulfillment" of his mission to seek a peaceful settlement of the June 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Israeli Ambassador Yoset Tekoah said the action did not satisfy Israel's complaints that Egypt killed two Israeli soldiers and captured a third in an ambush Aug. 26, and started an exchange of fire across the Saez Canal Sept. 8.

He declared that in failing to condemn "Egyptian attacks" and demand the return of the captured soldier, the council had followed a double standard, discriminated against Israel and left it "disappointed again and disenchanted."

OBLIGATION

Tekoah said Israel would "continue to cooperate with Ambassador Jarring." But he did not promise it would fulfill the council's call for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories along with Arab acknowledgment of Israel's right to exist. He conditioned Israel's observance of the cease-fire on Egypt doing likewise, saying Israel would continue to fulfill its obligations to protect its citizens."

Mohamed Awad El-Kony of Egypt, which has denied ambushing the Israelis and complained that Israel started the exchange of fire, said Egypt had always indicated its readiness to cooperate with Jarring and implement the council resolution.

But he did not promise that it would observe the cease-fire. And he defended actions which he said Arabs in the occupied territories took "in defense of their legitimate rights." He accused Israel of launching attacks, distorting facts and pressuring "certain quarters" for more arms and money.

Named Director Of Fiber Lab

LUBBOCK — Jack D. Towery, a native West Texan recognized internationally in the field of textile engineering, has been named director of the fiber laboratory in Texas Tech's Textile Research Center.

The university's research center, now in the process of a $1.375 million expansion, will be one of the few facilities in the world capable of studying textile processing from fiber production to finished fabric. Full processing is expected to start in 1969. This will include chemical treatment and dyeing.

SUSPENDS RELATIONS WITH PHILIPPINES

Malaysia Hits Annexation

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia announced today it is suspending diplomatic relations with the Philippines in retaliation for the new Philippine law "incorporating" the Malaysian Borneo State of Sabah into the Philippines.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman said the annexation law "has completely undermined the very foundation which led to the normalization of diplomatic relations between Malaysia and the Philippines." They had been suspended from 1963 to 1966.

SMUGGLING

Rahman said he was recalling his ambassador and his entire diplomatic staff from Manila. He also announced abrogation of the treaty between the two countries designed to cut off the smuggling trade between Sabah and the Sulu Islands which costs the Philippine government an estimated $100 million a year in customs.

An official source said Rahman's action was "just short of a break in diplomatic relations but not quite all the way."

In Manila, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos withheld comment until he heard from his embassy in Kuala Lumpur.

Malaysia's diplomatic move coincided with a strengthening of her military guard on Sabah, the former colony of British North Borneo.

ALERTS

Naval patrols were ordered to step up their watch for foreign naval vessels, and civilian vigilante-style patrols were expected to be mobilized along Sabah's eastern coast, 20 miles west of the Sulu Islands, at the southern tip of the Philippines. All armed forces units in Sabah were put on the alert.

Five British Royal Air Force jet fighters took off from Hong Kong today on a flight to the Philippines and then to Sabah. There was no official explanation for the mission, but some observers suggested the British were demonstrating their commitment to the British-Malaysian defense treaty.

President Marcos signed the Sabah annexation law Wednesday but said his nation would pursue its claim by "peaceful means." Rahman said the Philippine action was "tantamount to aggression" and vowed to "meet force with force."

Inflation Hurts Local Units

Inflation is usually thought of mainly in terms of individual hardship, especially for families on fixed incomes or with wages or salaries unlikely to rise as fast as prices. But a major victim of inflation is state and local government, especially in the carrying out of bond-financed programs of public works.

In a period of inflation, the costs of governmental operations go up. With operating budgets limited by practical and political factors, state and local governments are forced to shift more financing to bond issues, and nationwide their debts have soared in recent years.

But inflation hits state and local bond-financed programs a triple blow.

First, with costs rising rapidly, the bond issues which voters approved for specific issues too often prove inadequate to finance those projects. A year or so or more usually passes between estimating a bond-financed project's cost and actually contracting for its completion. And it is hard to explain to voters why the money they approved won't pay for what they were told it would. The state and local governments have no choice but to ask for a supplementary bond issue, which is highly impolitic, or to cut back on the scope or quality of the project, which is also unsatisfactory.

Second, an inflationary spiral usually brings a sharp rise in interest rates. State and local bonds approved with a maximum interest rate then may prove unmarketable. In any event, a higher interest rate makes the project much more costly to state and local taxpayers.

Third, it should be added that inflation restricts the federal aid which state and local governments often expect to supplement their bond-financed works. To combat inflation, the federal government has to increase its taxation and reduce its spending (as well as allow higher interest rates) and that of course restricts federal aid to the state and local governments.

It is apparent, therefore, that the taxpayers of state and local governments have a high stake in inflation control. This is but another reason why the federal wartime anti-inflation tax hike seems justified. For if the added bite did not come there, it would come at the state and local level and perhaps more intensively.

Need Of Revamping

Ever since the recent national political conventions, there has been considerable volume of comment and opinion on the need for a major overhaul of the convention system.

It is as if people have at last discovered what has been known to the old pros all along, namely that a few of the astute or faithful can control the activities of the many. In some states it is accomplished by fiat; in some it is done by default of voters who don't take the trouble to participate in precinct conventions.

The objective of a number of observers is some system which will bring the bulk of the people more directly into play in the naming of nominees. The nationwide presidential primary has been suggested, but this probably would have to be substantially modified because of the disposition for favorite sons to be included in the picture. There seems to be a division of opinion on whether primaries should continue to be on the winner-take-all basis, as is also the case with the precinct-county-state convention system. It is possible that primaries might be held as a preferential indicator and delegates alloted in proportion to the popular vote. This would perhaps give national conventions some better gauge on the popular pulse. There also is the danger of fragmentation.

The convention system is in need of revamping, but it is not alone. What about the archaic electoral college?

ALL WOUND UP

Around The Rim

If Not, Why Not?

In the last year or two, commercials on TV have shown some originality and have even been entertaining in a few cases. Indeed, some of them have been head and shoulders above the programs they interupt.

MY COMPLAINT, however, concerns one that was laced recently between the Saturday morning cartoons. Previously, the cartoons of malice and murder could not have been topped with an ill advised commercial, but finally the networks have furnished alternative programs of the "harmless humor" variety.

The commercial to go with these is something else. It shows a tiny lad stealing some alleged "healthful drink" because, the announcer says, "he would do anything to get Burp," or whatever the drink is called. In my books, that is a pretty hard sell.

I DON'T understand how the all powerful FCC missed this one. It is simply a lesson in theft.

The news programs on TV give our youngsters enough lessons in rioting, (have you noticed these are now usually called disorders?); looting, demonstrating without regard to law and order, etc. But after all, this is news and can be alibied, no matter which side the cameras show to advantage.

IT WOULD seem the networks themselves would police this phase of their industry. If they don't, it behooves the federal folks to spend more time checking this part of programming. The fact remains that the airwaves belong to the people, and through their government, should be able to maintain some control over what is piped about.

The commercials aimed at adults, as I said, have taken a few turns for the better, but there are still some that can only be regarded as bad taste, although a fair case might be made against some of them on moral grounds.

There is no control over artistic license, (giving the majority of them the benefit of the doubt), but for the heavy expense, I suspect some of the larger firms are being short-changed.

THERE MUST be some standards, somewhere, for the content of commercials. If there isn't, there should be; if there isn't, why not?

A Plot Against Reality?

NEW YORK (AP) — A visit to a perfume factory can be a dizzying experience. It can leave you a bit disoriented, your mind addled, your awe of human vanity multiplied.

First there's the smell. A young lady off the production lines gets on the tiny elevator and as the door closes the scent of powder and perfume causes you to gasp for a breath of the pure industrial smog you've been used to breathing.

THEN THERE'S the language. It's fragile, soft, murmuring. A casual observation may flow in a melody of tender sounds that seems to create an awe of the product and its user.

"I look at fragrances as an expression of the mystique of each woman; it surrounds a woman with a heightened aura of excitement," says Andrew Borzner, a vice president of the Coty company.

He holds up a line of new products. "This is a tribute to American women," Borzner says, his excitement growing as he visualizes the future market. "It is a distillation of American women. It is a mystical expression of her. It is . . ."

Then there's the feeling that a plot against reality, a conspiracy to make people what they aren't, is secretly being perpetrated behind the "employes only" doors. The essence of the fragrance-cosmetics business was described this way by Pierre Parchoi, another Coty man:

"A WOMAN likes to change her personality. When she is young she likes to look more sophisticated. And then as she grows older she attempts to retain her youth." Perfumes and cosmetics help create these new personalities.

Parchois, a distinguished and gentlemanly native of Grasse, France, where the main industry has always been perfumes, is the head nose around Coty.

Nose? Well that's what they call them in the perfume factory. They sniff the new fragrances, choose the essential oils, and determine that the hundreds of scents are mixed exactly as they should be.

More than 300 fragrances might make one perfume, Parchois notes. It could include civet, which is from the civet cat and costs $3,000 a kilogram, Bulgarian rose, which is distilled with steam, musk tonkin from a Chinese goat and ambergis from a whale's intestines.

These are the ingredients also of an amazing business. Sale of toiletries and cosmetics last year totaled $3.5 billion. Add in the beauty parlors and the health spas and you double that figure.

WOMEN'S VANITY, you are inclined to believe, is responsible for all this. But Borzner and Parchois convince you otherwise. It isn't vanity at all, they say. It's confidence—the lack of it and the desire to acquire it.

A perfume or cosmetic is not something applied only to the outside of a woman, you are told. You are then educated in the theory of the interior woman.

"It does something to the inside of a woman. "It gives her confidence, the feeling of being complete," one of the Coty men said. The other added: "A fragrance is essential as a dress; it gives her confidence."

Civilization Corrupts

NEW YORK (AP) —Jumping to conclusions:

Animals as well as people can be corrupted in a welfare state. If you stroll through a public park you will note that the squirrels, once symbols of independent thrift, now spend about as much time soliciting free peanuts from passers-by as they do in scouring the grass for acorns to bury.

You used to be able to tell when a man had just been to the barber by the way he smelled. Now many he-men reek so much of the sniff-sweet they pour on their faces in the morning that they smell as if they had spent three weeks in a barbeershop.

POOR MEN and self-made millionaires share one trait in common—both like to reminisce about the hard times they had in their youth. But the millionaire generally has a more appreciative audience, simply because his tale has a happier ending.

Whatever happened to the mystery of femininity? Now that the television commercials show us that women are afflicted with dandruff, denture breath and even athlete's foot, they don't seem to be any more of an enigma than ordinary mortals.

One of the nice things about being told by your psychiatrist that you suffer from a secret inferiority complex is that, when you brag about it later to your friends, it enables you to feel smugly superior.

SEEING IS believing. That's why a salesmen with a lot of gold in his teeth finds it easier to sell stock in a mining company. His customers subconsciously feel that if he has all that ore in his mouth there is probably even more still left in the mine.

Wise old Benjamin Franklin once observed that eight out of 10 people, by the manner in which they live, take their own lives. The figure today would probably be nine out of 10.

If people could be arrested for their toughts, every jail in the country would be thronged by nightfall.

The younger the doctor the more up-to-date are the issues of the magazines in his anteroom—and the more fashionable his remedies.

No one can be called truly educated who has never owned a cat. A cat will teach you more of the profundity of life than a hundred books.

NEW TOOLS don't always replace old tools. No matter how much a husband spends on a gadget-attached vacuum cleaner for his wife, he'll find she still likes to keep a carpet sweeper in the closet and a broom in the kitchen. Why? Only she knows.

After a lifetime spent in alternately gaining and losing weight, the most successful diet rule I know is this one: Eat none of the foods you really like —eat all you want of the foods you can't stand.

THE WORLD is such a depressing turmoil today that many readers, after a quick glance at the front page of their newspapers, now turn to the obituary section in the hope of finding something more cheering.

Pin-Pointing The Issues

WASHINGTON — If Justice Abe Fortas is confirmed as chief justice, it will be the work of a most unwilling Senate. If the lifetime post, second to the presidency in its influence, goes to a man whose reputation has been so badly mauled as Mr. Fortas' has, popular esteem for the Supreme Court will plummet even lower than current polls show. And if Mr. Fortas takes over after 15 years of Chief Justice Warren's activist leadership, it will be difficult to change a course which has taken us to the verve of chaos in education, in outlawry and racial strife.

ALL THESE unpleasant outcomes have been anticipated since President Johnson made the Fortas appointment last June. But any chance to avert them would have been remote were it not for inspired resistance on the part of one man — Sen. Bob Griffin of Michigan.

A few Southern and a few diehard Far Western conservatives, would have made up a futile stop-Fortas vote in the Senate, but Griffin has turned an automatic ratification into a stirring contest. He has done so by persuasive reasoning with little recourse to inflammatory rhetoric.

GRIFFIN REMINDED the country that the Constitution does not give the President full authority at Courtbuilding. The nominating power of the White House is only one-half of the appointing process. Sixteen times in our history a President in his last year of office has named a man to the Supreme Court, and in a majority of these instances (9 cases against 7), the Senate has refused to confirm. Not many senators knew these facts until Griffin revealed them. Griffin next went into specific reasons why the upper chamber should exercise its duty. He showed why he believed that Abe Fortas lacked fitness to be Chief Justice, despite a brilliant mind and three years service as associate justice.

GRIFFIN recalled what every senator knew, that Fortas had long been in private life a crony, adviser and political fixer for Lyndon Johnson. Unlike other senators, however, Griffin was not willing to waive the bygones. Lawyer Fortas' services to LBJ included dealings relating to notorious men, Bobby Baker and Walter Jenkins, and had involved attempts to deceive the public. Griffin said he preferred for chief justice, and that the people did, the type of lawyer who would never have been asked by politicians to do such work — "and, who, if asked, would refuse."

GRIFFIN WENT on to tell the Senate something else it didn't know — that Associate Justice Fortas had carried on where Lawyer Fortas had left off as fixer, adviser, document-drafter for Lyndon Johnson. The several examples that Griffin supplied from little-noted news stories of Fortas' backdoor White House services shook the Senate fore and aft. There had not been such flagrant, secretive violation of the separation-of-powers within memory of Capitol Hill. Later when Justice Fortas told the Judiciary Committee that he "did not see anything wrong" with what he'd done, Griffin had him in deep trouble.

MUCH TALK has been heard this year of "dreaming impossible dreams," but it would be hard to find a more improbable hallucination than Griffin's belief under the June moon that the Fortas nomination could be defeated. And yet, in September, the Michigan senator has nearly talked that dream into coming true.

It's That Time Of The Year

WASHINGTON — The football season has opened on schedule, and once again families all over the country are being torn apart by the heavy schedule of televised games. I frankly regret the season has come. My wife and I were just getting a good relationship going, and now we probably won't see each other until January.

THE LAST time I talked to her, which was a half-hour before the Washington Redskins-Chicago Bears game, I believe she was crying. I remember it quite distinctly because Frank Gifford was showing some great movies of Gale Sayers, and I noticed out of the corner of my eye that my wife was getting tears all over my potato chips.

"I hate soggy potato chips," I said.

But she didn't want to listen to reason. "Why does it have to happen to us every fall? What have I done wrong?"

THERE WAS a commercial on so I put my arms around her. "You haven't done anything wrong, Luv. Matter of fact, I was just telling the boys yesterday during halftime between the Tennessee-Georgia game, you're a precious jewel and next to football on TV, I love you more than anything else in the world."

She pushed me away. "I thought so. Well, do you know what I think of football?"

"Don't say something you'll be sorry for," I warned.

"I think it's the great American homosexual game of tag."

"NOW YOU'VE done it," I said angrily. "Now you've really done it. By making that uncalled-for outburst, you have probably ruined my Sunday afternoon. If I could get up from this chair I'd probably walk out of this house."

She started crying again, so I moved the potato chips away. "I don't know if I can take another season of this," she said. "It isn't just the Saturday and Sunday afternoons. It's the long, lonely nights when they're showing games, and the game replays in the mornings and the specials on Vince Lombardi. Don't you have feelings for me?"

"YOU'RE EXAGGERATING," I said. "There was no pro football on last Tuesday night. I know that's a fact because it was the night I played poker."

"I'm getting fed up," she cried. "I'm not going to sit here day after day, night after night, wasting away while you make love to a television set."

I was becoming nervous because it was getting near kickoff time. "What are you going to do?"

"I'm leaving. I'm going to find someone who cares about me, someone who wants me for myself."

She stomped out of the room just in time. Washington had won the toss and had elected to receive.

BEN, PHIL, George, Joe and "Doc" had shown up by this time. George was the first to notice something was wrong. "These potato chips are very soggy," he said.

"My wife was crying in them," I apologized. "I'll get a fresh bag after the next time out."

"The women are certainly taking the season hard," Ben said.

"You can say that again," said Doc. "My wife told me she was going to find herself a lover. But I said she couldn't. I needed the car to come over here."

Billy Graham

We claim to have a Christian home, but like many Christian homes, so-called, I'm afraid we fall far short. My husband (and I am not just being critical) has developed a very harsh attitude toward everyone, including his own family. While he quotes Scripture, leads Bible classes, etc., he generally points out everyone's shortcomings, using the Bible to back him up. He is, in fact, critical, sarcastic, cold and vindictive. While I love him, I am very depressed by his "Better-than-thou" attitude. What can I do? C.R.

Your husband needs to read and take to heart the words of Paul in I Cor. 13:1: "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not love, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal."

Some new Christians in their zeal become very tense, critical and sarcastic. They are like the story of a man I heard about who, every night came home and beat up on his family. One of his friends told him he should reform, and he did. So every night after that, he went home, grabbed his children and wife, and hugged them so hard, he injured them as badly as he had before he had reformed. The end-result was the same, although his intentions had improved.

But in being the right kind of Christian we must have more than good intentions. The Bible says, "We must be as wise as serpents and as harmless as doves." Many people by their lack of wisdom, rather than drawing people to Christ, actually drive them away. This is not as it should be.

The Meaning Of The Term 'Ethical Drugs'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have seen a number of references to "ethical" drugs. Forgive my ignorance, but what are "unethical" drugs? Can you explain?" — J.L.P.

Can try.

For all practical purposes, we could very well discard the term "ethical" in this respect and use the term "prescription drugs." That's what it means.

The implication that all drugs which aren't "ethical" are "unethical" is not correct. Come to think of it, I'm not altogether sure how the term "ethical drugs" came about in the first place.

There are, obviously, plenty of drugs sold without prescription that are perfectly ethical. To name a few, aspirin, caffeine, stool softeners, common antiseptics, and a host of others.

If anything, the drugs that are mainly meant by those which are not included in the term "ethical" would be the proprietary ones, that is, the various mixtures which are sold without prescription.

Some of these are very useful, when used with proper judgment — remedies for headache, itching, dry skin, insect bites, and other ailments. There are many.

The ones about which I have greatest reservations are the patent medicines which indicate, or at least hint, that they are "cures" for serious ailments. I have in mind those represented as being "good for the liver," or for kidney trouble, or which people take hopefully for "indigestion" when the "indigestion" may in reality be ulcers, gall bladder disease, or other condition which isn't going to be overcome by a patent medicine or perhaps won't respond to any medicine but requires surgery.

These patent medicines are permitted to be sold without prescription because they are weak enough so that they can, presumably, be taken without harm. More potent drugs, or drugs in larger quantities, require prescription because the dosage must be determined on the basis of thorough medical understanding.

While the patent medicines are considered by the authorities to be safe enough for over-the-counter (that is, without prescription) sale, the big danger in them is that some people hopefully rely on them when, instead, they ought to go to their doctors and find out what is really the matter.

Too much time is wasted when the patient decides, on the basis of some symptom or other, that he has "kidney disease" or a "weak liver" or some other vague ailment and tries to dose himself with patent medicines. Meantime too often his disease becomes worse.

A Lesson In Chicago's Upheaval

WASHINGTON — The City of Chicago's presentation of its side of the controversy about the turbulence which occurred during the week when the Democratic national convention was held really revealed no surprises. Anybody who is familiar with the misuse of "demonstrations" — presumably to express opinions on public affairs — has known for a long time that violence is often deliberately incited. The police are provoked until some of them become angered and use their night sticks indiscriminately, and the net result is injury to scores of participants as well as bystanders.

THE QUESTION that has been lost sight of is related to the issuance of permits to "demonstrate" by means of "parades" or "marches." Chicago's Mayor Daley knew in advance that the purpose of many of the leaders of the invading "demonstrators" was to stir up trouble. He refused permits to parade, though he did agree to let protesters gather in Lincoln Park.

Sooner or later, there will be general approval whenever the mayor of a city declines a permit to any organization whose spokesmen have previously used provocative phrases and plainly indicate an intention to do things that incite violence.

THE MOMENT Mayor Daley agreed to let "demonstrators" gather in Lincoln Park, he had a potential riot on his hands. Quotations from the leaders who had boasted that they would "disrupt" the Democratic national convention were available. Yet the mayor, feeling that he had to bow to the right of "free speech and assembly," finally let the demonstrators hold a protest meeting in Grant Park, just across the street from the hotel where the Democratic headquarters was located.

It was obvious from the start that at some stage there would be a "confrontation" between the police and the demonstrators and that individuals on both sides would lose their tempers and violence would ensue.

THE TELEVISION networks naturally picked out the most sensational aspects of the disturbances then going on, and gave nationwide audiences the impression that innocent demonstrators and bystanders were being clubbed without justification. When Mayor Daley presented his side of the story, he showed some of the preparations being made by the demonstrators and exhibited some of the weapons — rocks, knives, broken glass, clubs and missiles of metal and wood — which were used against the police.

It is significant that in the pictures carried by the TV networks during convention week and those in the film by the City of Chicago shown on Sunday night, hardly any Negroes were visible in the crowds. There were no racial overtones. It was a contest with city authorities by a group of radicals — mostly from other states.

THE EPISODE has a lesson in it for the mayors of American cities. They must decide for themselves whether they will issue permits to everybody who merely states a desire to "demonstrate." The nature of the organization, its background and the comments made by its leaders in advance, when put together can justify a refusal to grant a permit for a parade in the streets. Opportunity would be given instead for mass meetings to be held inside an auditorium or stadium which could be guarded from the outside by police.

Fortunately, nobody was killed in the Chicago "demonstrations"; however, unfortunately Chicago was given a bad reputation throughout the country.

The TV networks, it is claimed, did not give all of the story, but it often happens that cameras are concentrated on the most sensational aspects or that they are not present when some of the episodes occur. Now that "both sides" have been presented widely on TV, the public knows that "demonstrations" are certainly a tragic phase of American life.

PERHAPS COURT tests can be made to determine whether the right of "free speech" extends to those who make public threats plainly related to "demonstrations" not of a peaceful, but of a violent nature.

SENT TO CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

Gun Control Bill Assailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A gun control bill, attacked by the National Rifle Association but falling far short of what President Johnson sought after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has passed the Senate and been sent to joint conference committe with the House.

The bill, basically banning mail order sales of rifles and shotguns, was passed Wednesday with two major differences from the version approved in the House July 24.

But the conference committee is not expected to have difficulty reaching a compromise which then must be approved again by the separate chambers before going on to the White House.

SWIFT ACTION

With some members of Congress anxious to get home to campaign for re-election and the Senate facing prolonged debate on a new chief justice the outlook for swift final action is uncertain.

The Senate and House versions differ mainly in penalties proposed for criminals committing federal crimes while armed with a gun and for sales of ammunition.

Neither version contains the major provisions sought by Johnson after the June 6 assassination of Kennedy, gunned down by a pistol after winning the California Democratic presidential primary election.

These would have required registration of all firearms and licensing of owners. Soundly defeated earlier in the House and in the Senate Judiciary Committee, the provisions were rejected Wednesday in the Senate 55 to 31.

VICTORY

The president of the National Rifle Association termed defeat of the registration provisions "a victory for the American people."

But Harold Glassen, a Lansing, Mich., attorney, criticized passage, saying "no one can say a law is going to save a life. There is no indication that the availability of firearms has anything to do with crimes."

The NRA, which claims a membership of more than one million, long has opposed gun control measures.

The over-all bill was approved 70 to 17.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., made his first appearance on the Senate floor since the slaying of his brother Robert.

JUST IN TIME

Kennedy showed up just in time to vote for the registration-licensing amendment, introduced by Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md. He took no part in debate and sat with his chin in his hand.

The Senate bill bans not only the mail order sales of rifles and shotguns, but also ammunition for all weapons.

The House version excludes mail order sales of ammunition for rifles and shotguns, plus rimfire .22 caliber shells.

The Senate bill would make a sentence of life imprisonment possible for anyone committing a federal crime of violence—such as rape, murder, arson, theft or kidnaping—while armed with a gun.

The House measure provides mandatory sentences for people convicted of using a gun in a federal felony, but the sentences fall short of life.

LICENSING

There was strong support in the House, however, for writing in the life-sentence provision.

The Senate bill also would bar over-the-counter sales of firearms to nonresidents of a state unless the states are adjoining and the laws of both permit such sales.

A buyer would have to submit an affidavit of eligibility and the seller would have to delay delivery seven days to give police a chance to object.

The House version would permit also over-the-counter sales to those who sign an affidavit that their firearm was lost, stolen or had become inoperative.

Prohibitions on sales of handguns became law earlier this year in the omnibus crime control bill.

Riot Duty Protest Nets Ft. Hood GI Hard Labor

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Pfc. Oscar Taylor, 22, of New York City was sentenced Wednesday night to three months at hard labor as the outgrowth of a demonstration against possible riot duty in Chicago.

An Army court-martial convicted Taylor of refusing to obey an order to report to reveille.

Six other soldiers at this Central Texas Army post went before authorities today to determine if they would be tried as a group or individually on the same charge.

PAY WHACKED

Ft. Hood authorities said 60 soldiers engaged in the Aug. 23 protest against an expected assignment with riot-trained troops to the Democratic national convention in Chicago. Seventeen C141 transports airlifted men from this Central Texas Army post to the convention city next day from Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin.

Of the 60 demonstrators, Army spokesmen said 43 failed to disperse and charges were preferred against 42, including Taylor. The spokesmen said all are Negroes.

The court, consisting of a captain and two lieutenants, also ordered that two-thirds of Taylor's pay be forfeited while he is serving the three-month sentence, and that he be reduced to the Army's lowest rank of private 1-E.

One soldier, Otis Robinson, 20, of Orlando, Fla., has been acquitted in the case.

Authorities did not say when others may be tried. There was no immediate word on whether Taylor would appeal.

VIET VETS

It was announced that the court-martial trying Taylor was convened at 1 p.m. Wednesday and reported its verdict at 10:47 p.m. Members of the court then deliberated for 11 minutes on the penalty to be assessed.

In addition to the customary military counsel, Taylor was defended by civilian lawyer Curtis McClane, who said he was representing the Workers Defense League of New York City.

Three other members of the court also were assigned to the case. One was dismissed on a peremptory challenge by the defense and another on a defense argument that one of the 43 accused soldiers was under his command. No reason was given for the third member being excused.

About 26 of the men charged after the demonstration were reported to be veterans of the fighting in Vietnam. Authorities said the protest was orderly and ended with military policemen escorting the soldiers to the stockade after a lengthy discussion.

Wrinkle Captures Republican Post

Delegates to the state Republican convention from the 24th Senatorial District voted a split ticket and named Winston Wrinkle as committeeman.

Mrs. Mary Doss, who had run on an opposing ticket, was re-elected as the district's committee woman. Both will serve on the state GOP executive committee.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Still Has A Roving Eye

DEAR ABBY: Henry and I have been married for nearly 60 years. Henry is over 80 and he's still looking. Can you beat that?

All our married lives I covered up for him because I didn't want the children to know.

Two years ago Henry moved a nice looking younger lady into one of our rental properties. (She was about 65.) I finally got so tired of having to go over there every time I wanted to find my husband, I gave her notice to vacate. Henry pouted for a long time but he finally got over it.

Now it's another woman. This one is about 60 and a real live wire. Please tell me what to do. I can't do much as all our money is in my husband's name. No publicity, please, as I am a proud woman.

NO NAME

DEAR NO NAME: Be patient. It won't last forever. Nothing does.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old son has informed us that he doesn't want to accept the four-year academic scholarship offered to him by a fine college this fall. His reason is his 13-year-old girl friend. Abby, this has us baffled. He was always such a sensible boy until he met this girl.

The girl's parents don't seem to mind that our son stays over there until midnight every night. They treat the kids to movies and dinners and let our son use their car to take their daughter driving.

How can we make this girl's parents realize what a dangerous situation they could be pushing their daughter into?

WORRIED PARENTS

DEAR WORRIED: Don't expect the girl's parents to assume the entire responsibility. Go to work on your son and lay down a few rules about how much time he can spend with this girl. Furthermore, a lad who is ready to throw away a four-year scholarship for a 13-year-old girl has proved himself to be sadly immature. He needs plenty of guidance, and as his parents, it's up to you to guide him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have to leave town every few weeks for a day or two for legitimate reasons.

Whenever I am gone, some neighbors (a man and his wife) invite my husband over for a meal.

I have never been invited to this neighbor's home even to share a cup of coffee with the wife. Am I making an issue out of a trivial thing? Or should I be concerned, and why?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Perhaps you are concerned over nothing. As a gesture of appreciation for entertaining your husband, why not invite THEM to your home for a meal?

Tougher To Prove Than U.S. Thought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials say first probes into Northern school systems show evidence of racial discrimination but it's going to be tougher to prove than they thought.

"We're going to have to have some help from the courts for this," said the director of the effort, Mrs. Ruby Martin of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "There's going to have to be a lot of litigation fast or nothing much is going to happen."

Mrs. Martin, director of the department's Office for Civil Rights, said in an interview that investigators have found decisions by some school boards have caused or perpetuated segregation.

But, she said, "it's really hard to dig the stuff out. You have to go through volumes and volumes of school board meetings and so forth, sometimes back for many years."

Mrs. Martin said attacking discrimination in the South has been easy, by contrast, because schools were segregated by law. The Supreme Court ruled in 1954 that such laws were unconstitutional.

In the North, schools now tend to be white or Negro because of highly segregated housing patterns. No court has ruled that school segregation regardless of cause is unconstitutional.

The Justice Department has just begun a legal attack on Northern school discrimination. Its first case produced a ruling by a federal judge that schools in South Holland, Ill., a Chicago suburb, must be integrated.

The department began last April to apply antidiscrimination guidelines to the North as well as to the South. They have so far completed full-scale investigations in six cities and preliminary reviews in 24 others.

The six are South Holland, Ill., Union Township, N.J.; Waterbury, Conn.; Toledo and Middletown, Ohio, and Pasadena, Calif.

VIC Elects New Officers

Rodney Dunnam is the new president of the Metal Trades Vocational Industrial Club at Big Spring High School. He was named Monday evening at the organizational meeting.

Chosen as the club sweetheart was Wanda Heckler. Officers other than Rodney are Dicky Gibson, vice president; Casey LeRoy, treasurer; Mark Unger, secretary; Eddie Nanny, reporter; Gerald Martin, sergeant at arms; and Tim Drinkard, parliamentarian.

As a fund-raising project, the club will take in outside work and weld fabrications where it fits into the program of study. All funds so derived will go into the club treasury for activities during the year. Anyone interested in having this type of work done may call Len Taylor, club sponsor, at the high school (267-7461) between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Plans for the club during the year were discussed at the Monday session.

AFA To Honor Webb NCOs

The Air Force Association's local chapter is inviting Big Spring people to get in on a good thing.

Tuesday evening the association is sponsoring a gathering to honor senior NCO's at Webb AFB, and it is inviting all Big Spring people to share as a host.

Tickets for the affair, obtainable from Jeff Brown, AFA chapter president at the Permian Building, are $5. This covers the cost for the purchaser and one NCO. Time is 7 p.m. (tickets erroneously show it 8 p.m.) at the Big Spring Country Club. Attire is strictly informal —sports shirts and slacks for both the sergeants and the hosts — and there will be a humorous speaker after the barbecue dinner.

Each year the AFA sponsors an appreciation night of this sort to let Air Force personnel stationed at Webb know that Big Spring is proud to have them as citizens.

For those who may not be able to get tickets in advance, they may be purchased at the door, said Brown.

Officers of the chapter are Brown, president; Jack Little, vice president; Jack Alexander, secretary; A. J. Statser, treasurer; Don Womack, membership chairman. Big Spring's chapter has 315 members, making it the third largest of 18 chapters in Texas.

Trio Lined Up

Silver Sells Well At Webb

A flurry of buying in silver stocks was noted this week on the base exchange at Webb AFB. Unlike Wall Street, the heavy market was not for stock certificates but for silver bars.

The bar-buying, in both singles and pairs, resulted from 12 officer promotions which will become effective before the end of September. Seven officers are being elevated to the rank of first lieutenant, while there will be five new captains.

Those officers wearing the twin tracks of a captain and their effective dates of rank are: Terrill W. Hansen, Aug. 31; Bruce R. Halliday, Sept. 1; Robert W. Pohl, Sept. 8; Thomas W. Banks, Sept. 28; and Eugene M. Hall, Sept. 28.

With one exception, all promotions to first lieutenant were effective Sept. 17. 1st Lt. Arcadio Garza pinned on his new bars Sept. 14. These officers were promoted Sept. 17: Richard D. Cook, Dayton G. Dickey, Michael F. Hubbell, Merle Overholser, Thomas A. Palmer and Arthur P. Snyder.

Sgt. Axelrad Is NCO Of Month

SGT. KARL AXELRAD

M. Sgt. Karl Axelrad, noncommissioned officer in charge of the repair cycle support unit of base supply, has been named NCO of the month for the 3560th Supply Squadron, according to 2nd Lt. Ronald F. Laboe, administrative officer.

A veteran of 17 years Air Force service, Sgt. Axelrad's duty assignments have included 13 months in Korea during the conflict there. He came to Webb in April following an assignment with the 401st Tactical Fighter Wing, Torrejon AFB, Spain.

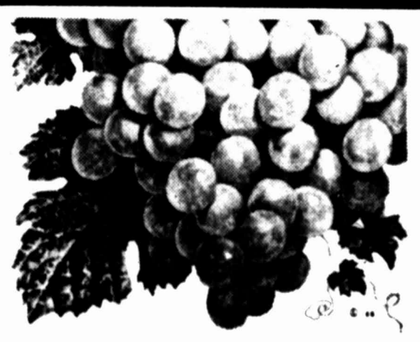

In a letter recommending the sergeant for NCO of the month, 2nd Lt. Harold E. Brauer, supplies management officer, praised Sgt. Axelrad for taking over a unit that was only 55 per cent manned and "Organizing and building a first class operation out of the available resources."

Commended for a complete physical face-lifting of the various locations in the unit, Sgt. Axelrad made even more important improvements with "the leadership he gave to personnel assigned," according to Lt. Brauer.

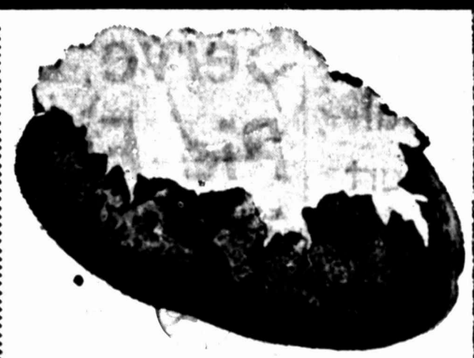

In addition to his official duties, Sgt. Axelrad participates in Boy Scout work and also assists with the Little League baseball program. He received letters of appreciation from the base commander and other staff officers for his assistance in the 101 incident-free days program.

Sgt. and Mrs. Axelrad, the former Leorene H. Dees, have three children, Richard, 14; Vicky, 12; and Michael, 8.

Revenues Up, Expenses Dip

Revenues are slightly ahead of last year's figures and expenses slightly less, the August financial statement of the Colorado River Municipal Water District shows.

Water sales for the first eight months of the year are off by 702,000,000 gallons. All of this, plus another 50 million gallons, is represented in smaller demands from the municipal users, while oil companies are up slightly in the amount of water used.

Revenues for the first eight months stood at $1,841,591, or about $14,000 more than the same period last year. Cities, because of smaller demands occasioned by spring and summer showers, paid in $982,687, or $27,000 less than a year ago. Oil companies, with repressuring demands stimulated by higher allowables, paid in $812,498, or $55,000 more than a year ago. Recreational income of $30,959 was down by $4,000.

Operating expense for the eight-months period was $568,350, or $18,000 less than the same period in 1967. This is due to less electric power being needed when municipal consumption dropped.

August deliveries of 1,273,120,000 gallons made is 7,856,876,000 for the year. Of the water delivered this year, 7,356,844,000 gallons came from Lake Thomas, another 255,270,000 from lake water stored in the Martin County fields, and 244,762,000 from city wells for peaking.

Horoscope Forecast

TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to pay strict attention to the details of your life that are not just as you would like to have them and to complete whatever you have begun but that has not yet reached the point where you can forget about it and take up new matters — which will be in effect very shortly now. Keep working.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) No matter where you may be, see to it that you do your work properly and precisely. Make sure you know what fellowworkers want of you, and then cooperate. Stop trying to be cock-of-the-walk.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Get at those little tricks that make you very attractive and then out to the social and amusement activities you like. You have a special talent. See to it that it pays big dividends now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get busy on whatever is most vital to your welfare and progress that will bring you that wonderful feeling of getting ahead and feeling satisfied. Listen to what kin has to say. Then you know how to handle contacts wisely.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Associates should now be more cognizant of your finest abilities so that you make joint undertakings more successful. Keep appointments you have been procrastinating upon. Take care of your correspondence cleverly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You must get right into the details of present financial dealings, property and have everything as it should be. Stop delaying. Foolish as your intuition may seem, it could be just right to follow, also.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be in tip-top condition and then wow others in both business and social dealings, early. Evening is especially fine for being with social groups of your liking. You can gain certain aims difficult ere this.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you take care of all that trivia that doesn't seem important, you find that everything works much better for you now. If you keep busy, you get rid of many jobs you have been leaving undone. Be romantic tonight. Don't be so timid.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Being kind to good pals brings them closer to you, and be sure you repay some social debts that have been lonastanding. Attend some group benefits. Be at your charming best.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure that you handle those duties assigned to you by higher-ups in a most efficient way and prove their trust in you. Handling credit minutae accurately is fine. Make this a very worthwhile day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can now study those ideas for which you have had little time ere this and get them rolling nicely. Dig into every source of information you can lay your hands on. Be very enthused and all is fine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Making sure to keep every promise you have made to others is important before you dash out for recreation, as you so wish to do. Don't neglect to carry through with some favor to loved one. Come to a far better understanding.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Getting in touch with allies and hitting on the right method for finishing certain projects you have started is good. Once work is done, out to the entertainments you like with them. Have a keen time.

MRS. JESSE CRANE JR.

Experimental Cook Is Experienced Baker

By RHODA LEMONS

"I started cooking and experimenting at seven years old in my mother's kitchen," said Mrs. Jesse Crane Jr., 433 Hillside. One of her experiments turned out disastrously when she added flour to chocolate fudge; however, all was not lost, because the ducks in the backyard liked 'floured' fudge.

"To me, Mother is the best cook in the world," said Mrs. Crane. "She was always baking and cooking, and she let me help her." Perhaps, that is why Mrs. Crane's favorite pastime is experimenting with new recipes and baking her family's favorite foods. Her husband and daughter prefer cookies, candies and pies to cakes; however, the orange cake listed below has long been a family favorite.

Mrs. Crane enjoys baking, which she does every day. She has a fool-proof recipe for baking bread, eliminating most of the punching and kneading, which can be started late in the evening and still served at dinner that night. Although Mrs. Crane always has home-baked bread at home, she buys store bread for sandwiches.

She does not think her bread recipe could be varied much, but her rolls can be used for dinner rolls or iced for dessert.

Mrs. Crane bakes bread weekly and puts part of the dough in the freezer. She bakes rolls until they begin to brown, then freezes those that she will not need that day. Later, she will pop them in a hot oven to continue browning before serving.

French pastry is her weakness, and Mrs. Crane is an avid cookbook collector, especially on French cuisine. Although she likes many recipes just as they are, Mrs. Crane cannot resist putting her personal touch to them. She admits to adding what she believes will make it better for her family, and sometimes she adds other ingredients just for the "mystery of how it will turn out."

Each Christmas, many local people get a sampling of Mrs. Crane's culinary efforts. Around Dec. 1, she starts preparing gift boxes for friends and relatives. She usually adds an assortment of candies and cookies, but when she has a friend with a particular weakness, she fills her box with one dessert.

One favorite is potato candy. She uses one-third cup of ice cold cooked mashed potatoes one-half cup nuts and two tablespoons chopped cherries that have been soaked in rum, one-half cup coconut and enough powdered sugar for a stiff dough, approximately two boxes. She dips these balls in melted chocolate to which paraffin has been added, then wraps them in foil and stores in the freezer.

"My grocery bill is not unusually high, and I save money by baking even though I do a lot of it," said Mrs. Crane. She usually has ingredients on hand, but if not, improvises and oftentimes likes her own version better.

She ruefully remembers the first time she made strudel which came out the size of a table top when rolled out. She formed it into rolls shaped like horseshoes. The family did not own a freezer at the time, and Mrs. Crane said that even though it was very good, her family got a little sick of eating strudel dessert for two weeks.

Mrs. Crane and her husband are parents of a daughter, Daphne, 3. Crane is employed as vehicle operator and in charge of maintenance at the Post Office.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

NAOMI'S ORANGE DATE CAKE

Section 1:
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. baking soda
½ cup chopped dates

Section 2:
Two-third cup buttermilk
2 eggs
½ lb. melted butter

Section 3:
Juice of 4 oranges
4 tbsps. sugar

Sift dry ingredients in Section 1. Mix items in Section 2 thoroughly, and add to Section 1. Blend thoroughly. Pour into 9-inch square pan; place in cold oven. Set regulator for 350 degrees; bake 40 to 45 minutes. Test with toothpick in center. When it comes out clean, cake is done. Remove from oven and pour Section 3 over cake while it is hot. Cake will absorb juice in a few minutes. Best served hot.

CREAM PUFF PASTRY

½ cup butter
1 cup water
1 cup sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
4 eggs

Combine butter and water in pan. Cook until water boils and butter is melted. Turn heat to very low. Add flour, mixed with salt, all at once. Stir vigorously until mixture forms a ball in center of pan, about three minutes. Remove from heat. Beat eggs in one at a time, beating well after each addition. Using one tablespoon of pastry, pile in high mounds on lightly-greased baking sheet about three inches apart. (These will swell while cooking.) Bake at 375 degrees until golden brown and no beads of moisture show. Stick the point of a knife into the side of each pastry to release steam. Turn off oven; leave in oven 10 minutes longer. Fill with instant pudding mix or custard filling when cool. Makes about 12.

LACE COOKIES

½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar (packed)
1 cup flour
1 cup flaked coconut
1 tsp. vanilla

Combine syrup, butter and sugar in sauce pan. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and gradually blend in coconut and flour mixture, then vanilla. Drop onto foil-covered cooky sheet by scant teaspoonsful, three inches apart. Bake in 350 degree oven 8 to 10 minutes. Cool three or four minutes until cookies can be removed from foil. Place on absorbent paper. Makes about four dozen.

CHEESE CRACKERS

1½ cup sifted flour
½ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. chopped chives
½ cup butter
½ lb. sharp processed cheese, grated

Sift flour; add salt and chives. Cream butter and cheese together. Add flour mixture; mix well. Roll into one-inch balls; place on baking sheet; flatten with bottom of glass. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes. Makes about five dozen.

LEMON PIE

1 cup sugar
1 cup white corn syrup
Juice and grated rind of one lemon
4 eggs
2 tbsps. butter
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Combine sugar, syrup, juice and rind. Beat eggs into mixture one at a time. Pour into pie shell and bake at 350 degrees until set in center.

CUSTARD PIE

1 9-inch unbaked pie shell
3 eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
1½ cups scalded milk

Beat eggs, sugar, salt and nutmeg. Blend in milk and pour into pie shell. Bake at 400 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes.

LOAF BREAD

2½ cups warm water
2 pkgs. dry yeast
½ cup instant milk (powdered)
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tbsp. salt
One-third cup cooking oil
7 to 7½ cups flour

Put water in large bowl. Sprinkle yeast over water. Add dry milk, oil, salt, sugar, and about 3¼ cups flour. Beat with electric mixer for three minutes. By hand, gradually add the remaining flour to form a very stiff dough. Toss on floured surface and knead for about two minutes or until smooth. Divide in half. Using rolling pin, shape into 12x6 inch rectangle. Roll up tightly starting at the 6-inch side, place in greased loaf pans and let rise for about one hour. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Makes two loaves. Remove from pans and brush with butter.

BUTTERSCOTCH NUT COOKIES

Use recipe above except omit cumin seed and water. Add one-half package butterscotch chips and one-half cup pecans. Bake same as above.

PINEAPPLE DREAM CAKE

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
2 tsps. soda
¼ tsp. salt
1 No. 2 can pineapple (crushed) undrained
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift dry ingredients; beat in remaining ingredients and pour into 9-inch by 14 inch pan lined with wax paper. Bake at 350 degrees until firm in center, about 40 minutes. Pour frosting over cake in pan.

FROSTING

1½ cups sugar
1 small can evaporated milk
One-third cup butter
½ cup nuts
½ cup raisins
1 cup coconut
1 tsp. vanilla

Combine sugar, milk and butter in pan; cook until mixture begins to boil, add remaining ingredients. Mix well; pour over cake.

Jeweled Mold Salad Is Refreshingly Good

For a salad that will tempt even those that have the "hot weather dolarums," try this unusual and pretty dish to decorate any table.

Let's start out with a jeweled mold. The bottom layer is lime gelatin enhanced by Western iceberg lettuce whirred in a blender with lime juice.

The top layer is lemon gelatin perker up with muscatel or ginger ale and sliced strawberries. Together they are as refreshing as a summer breeze.

IT'S-THE-BERRIES SALAD

1 head western iceberg lettuce
Boiling water
1 cup Muscatel or other sweet dinner wine or ginger ale
About 1 cup fresh strawberries.
2 pkgs. (3 ounces each) lemon gelatin
2 tbsps. lime or lemon juice
½ tsp. salt

Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Chill in plastic bag or saran. Dissolve lemon gelatin in 2½ cups boiling water; cool slightly. Add wine and chill until mixture mounds on spoon.

Slice strawberries to measure about ½ cup. If desired, arrange a few in flower pattern on bottom of 7- or 8-cup mold. Fold remainder into gelatin; turn into mold.

Chill until almost firm. Dissolve lime gelatin in two cups boiling water. Cool. Meanwhile, removed outer leaves of lettuce and save for garnish.

Chop enough of remaining lettuce to measure four cups, tightly packed. Place chopped lettuce, a little at a time, in blender container with lime juice and salt. Whir until smooth.

Fold lettuce mixture into lime gelatin. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour carefully into mold. Chill several hours or overnight. Unmold on plate lined with lettuce leaves; garnish with remaining strawberries.

If you wish, serve with a dressing of chopped strawberries folded into sweetened dairy sour cream.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Serve A 'Peachy' Cobbler

What class of plants does the peach actually belong to? Well, as odd as it might appear, the peach belongs to the Prunoideae subfamily of the rose family (Rosaceae), which also includes the cherries, plums, and apricots, a group known as drupes or stone fruits.

The peach is a succulent and sweet fruit primarily because it contains 87 per cent water. It's low in calories (weight-watchers take note!), and its protien and fat content are negligible. Nevertheless, yellow-fleshed types are especially rich in vitamin A.

June is a particularly good month in which to buy peaches, reports USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, because there is an abundant supply of this exquisite fruit.

Try this quick and easy way to make this delicious, all-time favorite:

PEACH COBBLER

3 cups sliced fresh peaches
1 cup sugar
1 tbsp. lemon juice
2 tbsps. butter
¾ cup flour
¼ cup shortening
¼ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. water

Place sliced fresh peaches in a sauce pan. Add sugar, lemon juice, and butter. Simmer until peaches are heated through. Make pastry of flour, shortening, salt and water. Roll pastry to fit 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Place hot peaches in pan and cover with pastry. Prick pastry with fork and bake cobbler in hot oven (400 degrees) 35 to 40 minutes. Makes eight servings.

Recipe For Crumbs

To make buttered bread crumbs, allow two tablespoons melted butter for each ½ cup bread crumbs. Add crumbs to butter and mix well.

Use Fruit In Special Tasty Tart

One of the best fruit tarts we've ever tested!

NECTARINE TART

2 cups sifted regular flour
½ tsp. salt
One-third plus ½ cup sugar
1½ sticks (¾ lb.) butter
1 egg, slightly beaten
4 to 7 fresh nectarines
1 tbsp. flour
¼ tsp. cinnamon
1 tbsp. honey
1 tbsp. lemon juice

In a medium mixing bowl stir together the flour, salt and the one-third cup sugar. With a pastry blender, cut in butter until it is in fine particles. Mix in egg. Press ¾ of dough into bottom and two inches up sides of nine-inch spring-form pan.

Slice nectarines (do not peel) to make one quart; mix with the ½ cup sugar, the flour and cinnamon. Spoon into pastry-lined pan. Drizzle with honey and lemon juice; crumble remaining dough over top.

Bake in a pre-heated 400-degree oven, on shelf below center rack, until fruit is tender and top is browned — 45 minutes to one hour. Place on wire rack to cool for 15 minutes; remove pan sides; cool some more to allow filling to set before serving. Makes eight to 10 servings.

Rich And Delicious

Bake this wonderfully rich German chocolate pie with pride. No one need know that it takes just minutes to prepare from a trio of convenience products.

Serve Easy Chocolate Pie From New Recipe

A dessert so rich and elegant, Coconut Almond Brownie Pie tastes like it came from the most exclusive delicatessen. The joy of it is, this tempting finale will prove one of the easiest you've ever created.

Simply combine a trio of convenience products — pie crust mix, refrigerated brownie dough, and coconut almond frosting mix — and in just three steps, the pie is oven-ready.

When dessert time comes, serve this flavorful "German chocolate" pie warm from the oven and offer fluffy whipped cream alongside. And, don't forget the cups of fresh perked coffee.

COCONUT ALMOND BROWNIE PIE

1 pkg. Butterflake Recipe Pie Crust Mix
1 roll (1 lb., 4 oz.) Refrigerated Fudge Brownies
1 pkg. Coconut Almond Frosting Mix

Prepare pie crust mix for one crust as directed on package. On lightly floured surface, roll out a circle one inch larger than inverted nine inch pie pan. Fit into pie pan; flute edges to form a standing rim. Press brownie dough into crust.

Prepare frosting mix as directed on package, using only one-half cup milk. Spoon warm frosting over brownie dough. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 55 minutes, until crust is golden. Cool. If desired, serve with whipped cream.

Strew Sugar Over Roasting Meats

Succulence means juicy; not dry. Succulent is the kind of browning that is given meats, poultry, and fish when sugar is strewn over the surface before broiling or roasting. Then, cooked as usual, the unsweet results will be caramel-brown and unusually moist—naturally succulent.

Tips For Venison

Place a strip of bacon rind, the fat side down, over a venison roast during the last hour of cooking. This makes the venison much tastier, for it adds needed fat and moisture.

LET'S HAVE CAKE
The secret is in the frosting

Serve Guests Cake At Your Next Tea Party

With a handsome coconut cake and a pot of hot, fragrant tea for a setting, you'll spend a happy hour with your guests. The frosting and the filling make the cake! There's a lot of truth in that simple statement, as demonstrated here. The cake may be bought layers . . . or made from a cake mix such as lemon flake . . . or from your favorite recipe. Whatever the cake, this luscious, ambrosial frosting provides extra wonderful eating . . . and conversation, too!

AMBROSIA FROSTING

2 egg whites, unbeaten
1½ cups sugar
Dash of salt
⅓ cup orange juice
2 tbsps. water
1 tsp. light corn syrup
1 tbsp. grated orange rind
1 cup packaged grated coconut
½ cup chopped orange sections (about one large orange)

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt, orange juice, water, and corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat with sturdy egg beater or electric beater about one minute, or until thoroughly mixed. Then cook over boiling water, beating constantly with egg beater (or at high speed of electric mixer) seven minutes, or until frosting will stand in stiff peaks. (Stir frosting up from bottom and sides of pan occasionally with rubber scraper, spatula, or spoon.) Remove from boiling water. Beat one minute, or until thick enough to spread. Fold in orange rind.

To 1½ cups of the frosting, add ¾ cup of the coconut and the oranges. Spread on one cake layer. Cover with second layer. Then spread remaining frosting on top and sides of cake. Garnish top with remaining coconut and additional orange sections, if desired. Makes enough frosting for two 8-or 9-inch layers.

Youth Center Highlights Announced At Webb AFB

Highlights of the Webb Youth Center Fall season have been announced by Sam Russell, base youth director.

Pre-teen parties for dependent youngsters and their guests from nine to 12 years of age are held each Friday evening from 7-9 p.m. This Friday's party is a Frontier Night, with prizes for western costume, and with sloppy joes and baked beans on the menu. Teen parties are held each Saturday night. A "freak-out" with the Busted Blues is planned for Sept. 28 ,and the Soul Skaters will play Oct. 12.

The youth center is open daily for free activity for Webb dependents from 4 until 9 p.m., and from 1 until 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

FALL CLASSES

Classes set for fall include instruction in tap, toe and ballet dancing, with Mrs. Ora Burson instructing, and baton classes on Saturday morning, with Mrs. Robert Shenton in charge.

Archery class on Saturday mornings will be taught by Mrs. Pat Johann. Handcrafts will be offered on Tuesday evenings.

The teen bowling league, which is AJBC sanctioned, meets Saturday mornings. Names are still being accepted as substitutes, although the teams are already filled up. Further information on exact times and fees may be had by calling the youth center, 267-2511, extension 2845 during the afternoon or evening.

Maj. Adams Named Base's Training Chief

Maj. Paul P. Adams has replaced Maj. Franklin Picking as chief of officer training in the 3561st Student Squadron at Webb AFB. Currently 69-E training officer, he will continue to guide the undergraduate pilot training class until a replacement is found for him.

Maj. Picking has received a Southeast Asia A-1E Skyraider flying assignment.

Maj. Adams, while serving as training officer for 69-E, recently doubled as the training officer for 69-A for the last three months of that UPI class's training at Webb.

He moved to the Student Squadron in August, 1967, after having spent 19 months as scheduling officer and assistant element leader with Eagle element of the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron.

The major is a senior pilot who has logged approximately 3,000 flying hours. Despite the extra responsibilities of his newest assignment, the major will continue his flying currency as a behind-the-line instructor pilot.

He is a 1956 graduate of Memphis State University. He, his wife, Millie, and their five children, live in Webb Village.

King, Queen Deal Is Rare

EL PASO — Selection of a queen to reign over a celebration is commonplace today, but the Fiesta Chamizal has come up with a new international approach.

The fiesta, which commemorates the first anniversary of the Chamizal Treaty here between the U.S. and Mexico, will have an international king and queen for its nine-day program, Sept. 28-Oct. 6. Nominees will be in pairs from El Paso and Juarez.

The presidents of chambers of commerce from the two cities will officially open the fiesta at 9 a.m. Sept. 28 in El Paso's San Jacinto Plaza.

Included in the opening day-long program in the Plaza will be Tigua Indians baking bread in specially constructed Pueblo ovens.

Other events on opening day in the Plaza include Mescalero Apache Indians performing ritual dances. A highlight of opening day festivities will be the rare Matachin dances.

Performing in the tourist Pronaf area in Juarez will be the "Flying Indians of Papantla." The act features Indians from the State of Vera Cruz who climb poles 100 feet high and fly down by means of a rope attached to their feet. The act has been performed in Mexican pavilions at the New York World's Fair and the HemisFair at San Antonio.

Capt. Jessie F. Scarbrough gets the word on his new position as assistant hospital administrative officer from his predecessor, Maj. Maurice J. Took.

Capt. Scarbrough Will Be Hospital Administrator

The base hospital at Webb has a new assistant administrative officer — Capt. Jessie F. Scarbrough. A native of Mobile, Ala., he is scheduled to become hospital administrator Oct. 1, following the retirement of Maj. Maurice J. Took.

The captain has been a member of the Air Force since 1948, except for a three-year break from 1959 to 1962. He came to Webb from Tainan AB, Taiwan, where he was administrator of the 6211th USAF dispensary for two years.

In 1960, Capt. Scarbrough was graduated from Georgia State College in Altanta with a bachelor's degree in business administration. Then for two years he served as administrator of the Milledgeville, Ga., State Hospital.

After rejoining the Air Force, the captain earned his master's degree in hospital administration in 1966 through an Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT) program at the University of Minnesota. He served his administrative residency at the Keesler AFB, Miss., hospital.

Capt. Scarbrough and his wife, the former Miss Eunice Beech, have two children, Carolyn, 18, and Beverly, 15.

Lt. Oberlin Gets Squadron Honor

1st Lt. William C. Oberlin, a T-37 Instructor Pilot in the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, has been honored as the "Pilot Extraordinary" by Lt. Col. Robert M. Wall, squadron commander.

Selected as 3561st Instructor Pilot of the Month, Lt. Oberlin was lauded in the letter naming him for the honor for his "extremely tactful approach, sincere interest, and exceptional instructional ability," which have enabled him consistently to produce superior graduates.

"Lt. Oberlin's ability to present clearly the complex details associated with flying in a clear, concise, yet interesting manner is fully exploited in his additional duty as assistant standardization officer for the squadron," the letter from Col. Wall continued.

Additional duties for the lieutenant have included that of monitor officer for AFM 60-1 records. In this capacity, Lt. Oberlin developed the necessary forms and maintained the required records to insure that the personnel of the squadron are kept fully aware of their proficiency flying status. "The innovations of these procedures has already caused a marked improvement in this important region," Col. Wall noted.

Willingness to make self-sacrifices and expend additional effort were also listed as his attributes.

Webb Captain Is Awarded Bronze Star

Capt. Laurence B. DeYoung recently received the Bronze Star medal at Webb AFB for his exceptional service while stationed at Phu Cat AB, Vietnam from March, 1967, to January, 1968. Col. W. C. McGlothlin Jr., wing commander, presented the award.

Capt. DeYoung, who is officer in charge of the maintenance analysis branch of field maintenance, served with the 37th Field Maintenance Squadron in Vietnam.

While serving as night shift supervisor, Capt. DeYoung "displayed outstanding ability in the formulation and adoption of plans and studies in support of combat tasks assigned to his unit," the citation accompanying the award stated.

The citation continued, "His meticulous attention to details in finalizing plans and the superb arrangement of their presentations are indicative of professionalism . . ."

The captain is a native of Edmonds, Wash. A graduate of the University of Washington, he earned his bachelor of arts degree in geology in 1964. After entering the Air Force he attended Officer Training School and was commissioned in 1964.

Following his arrival at Webb from Vietnam, he served for a time as T-37 Maintenance Officer before assuming his present position.

Total Of 217 Yanks Killed

SAIGON (AP) — A total of 217 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, the U.S. Command announced today. This was only slightly above the weekly average for the past few months.

The command said 1,485 Americans were wounded and that 739 of these were hospitalized. This also was slightly above the recent average.

The weekly report said 2,484 enemy soldiers were killed, also somewhat above the recent average. South Vietnamese casualties were 286 killed, 1,269 wounded and 37 missing. It was the ninth consecutive week that the number of South Vietnamese dead have exceeded the American total.

The report did not include casualties in hard fighting early this week in the northern provinces and northwest of Saigon.

The report brought total American casualties in the war to 27,921 dead, 92,022 wounded and hospitalized, and 82,672 wounded but not hospitalized.

The report said 1,204 Americans are now missing in action or captured, five more than last week.

The U.S. Command reported enemy casualties in the war now total 395,454 dead.

ASCS Committee To Count Ballots

The county 1969 Agricultural Conservation Program practices will be selected Friday at a meeting of the county and community Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service committees at 9:30 a.m. in the county ASCS office.

Gabe Hammack, ASCS office manager said that in the afternoon the county committee will meet and count ballots in the recently-held community committee election. The 15 new community committeemen will meet next Wednesday to select a county committeeman and two alternates from each of the five communities in the county.

First Lt. David Mott, the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron instructor pilot of the month, debriefs a student following a training mission.

Lt. Mott Named Honor Instructor

1st Lt. David Mott was recently honored as instructor pilot of the month for the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron at Webb AFB.

A T-38 instructor pilot with "E" Flight, Lt. Mott was lauded by his squadron commander, Lt. Col. Theodore R. Buechler, as "an extremely versatile instructor pilot who easily adapts to changing situations of increased complexity."

The colonel further stated, "Because of his instructional talent, patience, strong motivational ability and personal proficiency, Lt. Mott always inspires the maximum in performance from his students and has continually graduated above average pilots. These attributes have been recognized by other students in the class who seek him out for additional instruction and procedural clarification."

Col. Buechler noted that the lieutenant is always willing to take on extra tasks, such as aiding the flight scheduling officer, during his own time.

"Lt. Mott has managed the additional duties of section and flight publications officer, a highly responsible post when one considers the myriad of changes to publications which continually arrive and must be distributed, controlled and checked by him," the colonel wrote.

The 60th IP of the month is also flight monitor of the flying training management system, responsible for overseeing the scheduling and recording of all student flight training activities.

Hero To Be Ruled Citizen Of U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A native of Germany killed while fighting with the U. S. Army in Vietnam would be declared a posthumous citizen of the United States under a bill passed and sent to the White House.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., from Fort Worth, sponsored the bill passed earlier this week by the House.

The German was Spec. 4 Klaus Josef Strauss who emigrated to the United States in 1954 and was drafted into the Army in 1966. He was awarded a Bronze Star in Vietnam where he was killed Feb. 8, 1968.

Strauss' mother, a naturalized American, is married to Roy McPhail of Benbrook, Tex.

Sen. Moore Wins Connally's Nod

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally Wednesday appointed Sen. William T. Moore, Bryan, to a new term as legislative member of the Board of Control for Southern Regional Education.

The board operates under a compact of the Southern states.
