Forsan telephone bills may rise

By JAY ROSSER

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — General Telephone Co. officials announced Friday they will retrace the steps they took a year ago and seek new rates that would increase customers' telephone bills by about 64 percent. That translates to a request for $84.8 million in annual additional revenues.

Officials with the San Angelo-based company are hoping their 1984 journey to the Texas Public Utility Commission will prove more lucrative than their 1983 trip that yielded the company only $32.5 million of its original $85.5 million revenue increase proposal.

Most of that increase went into effect nine months ago.

GenTel's proposal would increase the cost of leasing a residential telephone line from $8.55 to $14.10 in Forsan, where the cost of leasing one business line would increase from $22.15 to $36.55.

Those increases do not reflect decreases proposed for its "extended area service" program which allows customers to pay a monthly fee to reach other communities without facing a long-distance charge.

That service is not offered in Forsan.

A variety of charges would increase under the proposal, including service connection fees. That charge would increase from $59 to $104.50 for new residential customers who allow the company to deliver and hook up the telephone. That connection fee would increase from $50 to $85.80 for those customers who pick up their own telephones and install them themselves.

"Our rate base has increased since the last filing and revenues have not increased proportionately," company President E.L. "Buddy" Langley said in a prepared statement.

Langley said $62.7 million of the proposed increase is designed to enable the company to begin to collect earnings on new investments made by the firm since its last rate package was filed, and to produce a "fair return" on the company's Texas investments.

The remaining $22.1 million of the proposed increase, he said, is designed to take advantage of revised depreciation rates that are more consistent with today's rapid technological changes, and to comply with the Federal Communications Commission's recently proposed accounting changes regarding company-owned telephone instruments leased to customers at regulated rate.

No hearings have been set on the GenTel request, and the commission's first order of business will be to accept requests from those wishing to oppose the proposed increase.

Among those expected to argue against the size of the increase is the Office of Public Counsel, a post recently established by the Texas Legislature to represent the public in utility matters.

Jose Varela, an assistant public counsel in that office, called the proposed increase "significant," noting the largest portion of the hike, about $67 million, would be borne "by local exchanges, the people that pay the bills every month."

GenTel's action comes at a time when the Public Utility Commission already has its hands full dealing with a variety of telephone issues, most spawned by the recent break-up of AT&T.

"We would have preferred they (GenTel) had waited a little longer filing this," Varela said. "But now that they are in it, we'll be there, too."

AMIN GEMAYEL
...beleaguered leader

Druse edge closer to Gemayel

BEIRUT (AP) — President Amin Gemayel, under the guns of his Druse enemies, offered Friday to throw out his treaty with Israel to achieve peace in Lebanon. The Druse, demanding Gemayel's resignation, showered rockets on the president's east Beirut enclave.

At the Marine base in south Beirut, meanwhile, American troops were quickly packing up their gear, under orders from President Reagan to begin pulling out this weekend.

And farther south, at the Awali River bridge, hundreds of Gemayel's Lebanese Christian supporters streamed into Israeli-occupied territory in jam-packed automobiles and trucks, fleeing the victorious Druse and Shiite Moslem militiamen who have routed Lebanese army forces.

"If Israel helps us, we'll go back home. We have all our hopes on Israel now," said Halim Azzi, who fled from Jije, six miles north of the Awali and 15 miles south of Beirut.

Israeli patrols have ventured up to Jije, but there were no reports Friday of any major Israeli moves against the Lebanese insurgent forces.

Two weeks ago, Gemayel's

Moslem-Christian Cabinet resigned, and since then his army has suffered defeat after defeat, undermining the position of the U.S.-backed Christian president. Half the army's 21,000 troops are believed to have deserted, many defecting to the insurgent side.

Gemayel's Syrian-supported foes have long demanded greater political power for the Moslems, Druse and other members of Lebanon's non-Christian majority, and abrogation of the May 17, 1983, security pact between Lebanon and Israel. They now also demand that Gemayel resign.

Lebanese Foreign Minister Elie Salem announced at a news conference Friday that Gemayel had agreed to scrap last year's accord with Israel, but only as part of an overall, eight-point plan for peace in Lebanon, a plan calling for simultaneous withdrawal of Syrian and Israeli troops from this country — something Syria has always rejected.

By Friday morning, Druse rocket crews in the hills southeast of Beirut were trading fire with army artillerymen in a protective ring of Christian suburbs around Gemayel's presidential palace.

C-City feud rages among law factions

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — A feud between Mitchell County Attorney Pat Barber and local law enforcement officers has divided this community and may have been the subject of a grand jury investigation which ended Friday.

Barber said Friday, "All this trouble primarily derives from the fact that I would not tolerate minority group mistreatment, and that I would not accept sworn statements from officers I believed had been untruthful.

The disagreement escalated several weeks ago into a radio and print war between Barber and a group calling itself "Citizens for Effective Law Enforcement in Mitchell County." Leaders of that group have never identified themselves, although they claim membership of 200.

Barber has refused to prosecute cases based solely on the testimony of Highway Patrolman James Burson. A driving while intoxicated case against an Abilene man, Jose Chavez, was thrown out of Mitchell County court recently by County Judge Bill Carter, who cited insufficient evidence. During a pretrial hearing, Barber noted there were conflicting statements about a breathalyzer test in the case.

In the case, Barber alleged that Burson had failed to administer a breathalyzer test to Chavez within a reasonable amount of time. Conflicting statements were made in the case by Ray Dillard, a reserve

RETURN TO SENDER — County Tax Assessor-Collector Dorothy Moore faces a pile of returned voter-registration cards. The cards, which permit a person to vote in primary, general, county, city and school board elections, were returned to her office because residents had moved or changed addresses. To prevent the loss of voting privileges, a voter should notify Mrs. Moore's office of any address change, including apartment or box number changes.

Seven honorees for the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce have verified that they will attend the Chamber banquet Feb. 25, according to Katie Grimes, one of the banquet organizers.

Miller was born Oct. 20, 1928, in Big Spring. He is a 1950 graduate of the University of Texas with a B.S. degree in petroleum engineering. He and his wife, Dorothy, live in Los Angeles, and have a son and two daughters.

He attended local schools and Howard College, and was a member of the National Honor Society. He was named to Who's Who in High Schools in America and graduated summa cum laude from Howard College in 1968.

He is married to the former Linda Fenley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.I. Fenley of Cleburne, formerly of Big Spring.

police officer who was riding with Barber that night, concerning the breathalyzer test. Barber admitted the two statements into evidence.

Although Barber would not go on record as saying that he was the subject of a Mitchell County Grand Jury investigation, he did say in a prepared statement Friday, "It is my contention that this was the most flagrant attempt to influence a grand jury that I've ever heard. Our American system of criminal justice does not operate under the direction of pep squads.

"The grand jury ceased deliberation on Jan. 23, to reconvene on Feb. 7, 1984. There is a clear implication here that members of the Burson pep squad were exhausting every attempt to find and influence an opponent to run against me and that the grand jury delayed deliberations were connected with this attempt.

"However, their efforts were unsuccessful as of 6 p.m. Feb. 6, 1984, the deadline for filing for a place on the ballot. No action was taken on Feb. 2 concerning the grand jury; however, they were to meet for one last time Feb. 17, 1984. On Friday, the Mitchell County grand jury met, deliberated and were dismissed without returning any indictments concerning the county attorney. This grand jury has been discharged from duty."

Barber said he mailed evidence of Dillard's sworn inconsistencies to Mitchell County District Attorney Rusty Carroll on Dec. 16, 1983.

Auditions slated for local musical

Auditions for Spring City Theatre's spring musical revue, "Just About Broadway," are at 7 p.m. this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 23-25, at the Municipal Auditorium, according to director Donnie Wheeler.

"Just About Broadway" is an original script written by members of Spring City Theatre. Wheeler selected several songs and dance numbers to be incorporated into the show from the Broadway productions of "Grease," "Annie," "Chorus Line," "New York, New York" and "Bye, Bye Birdie."

Other show tunes will come from "Funny Lady," "Funny Girl," "Kiss Me Kate," and "Follies."

Wheeler described "Just About Broadway" as "a musical comedy. In the production we are dramatizing the lives of the actors and production crew during rehearsals and actual staging of a Broadway musical revue."

The script calls for approximately 20 men and 20 women. There are also approximately 20 children's roles, ages 9 and over, available. There will be speaking parts as well as chorus singers and soloists, and dancers. Positions are also open on the stage crew, lighting crew, set crew and costume crew.

During auditions, "an accompanist will be provided. You may also bring your own accompanist, or you may bring tapes, sheet music, etc.," Wheeler said.

"It's not necessary to prepare something for auditions, however. Those who wish to prepare a song or dance routine need to prepare two or three minutes. We will provide short scripts and/or music for people who come unprepared," Wheeler said.

Assisting Wheeler are Ora Burson and Janet Paige, choreographers; and David and Sharon Justice, technical advisors.

Anyone interested in acting, singing, dancing, or any other facet of the theatre may call Wheeler at 267-7583, or Terry Dobson, president of Spring City Theatre, at 263-8590.

"If you enjoy singing or acting, feel welcome to audition," Wheeler said.

British skaters deny romance rumors

LONDON (AP) — British Olympic skating gold medalists Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean, whose emotive performance on the ice fueled speculation of a romance, have no plans for a wedding, they said Friday.

"Miss Torvill and Mr. Dean would like to make it known that there are no pending marriage plans at this time," Britain's National Skating Association said in a statement on their behalf.

Clive Millard, a spokesman for the association, said it issued the statement on instructions from the couple's coach, Betty Calloway.

"All these marriage rumors are pure speculation and they are just treating them as a joke," Millard said.

Reports of a possible wedding followed Dean's remarks after the couple won a gold medal Tuesday in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia.

He told reporters that the couple would not be marrying "this week," but admitted that he'd bought Miss Torvill an orchid on Valentine's Day.

Lebanese flee from militia

SIDON, Lebanon (AP) — Hundreds of Lebanese Christians fleeing advancing Moslem militiamen Friday piled their possessions into cars and trucks and drove south across the bridge over the Awali River into Israeli-occupied territory.

Israeli sources estimated 15,000 Lebanese have moved into the Israeli controlled zone of southern Lebanon since the latest civil war battles started in the coastal area south of Beirut on Monday.

Druse and Shiite Moslem rebels linked up in an offensive this week that routed Lebanese army troops from a key crossroad south of Beirut.

One truck waiting to cross the Awali bridge on Friday held a mooring cow, two sacks of tomatoes and several easy chairs. A man in the truck's cab, who refused to give his name said: "We haven't seen fighting yet, but you don't know where the next bomb will fall."

Most of the refugees moved in with relatives in the Sidon area, and the rest were staying in schools under Israeli supervision.

George Hazez, a 45-year-old Maronite Christian, said he decided to flee from Wadi Zein, about three miles north of the river, after a shell fell near his house.

He stood by his car at the side of the bridge as Israeli soldiers searched his car, overflowing with colorful sheets, blankets, women's clothing, a sewing machine, lampshades and more.

"When the Israelis held the area, we could play football without fear. Now you don't know from one day to the next where the trouble will start," Hazez said.

Israel pulled out of central Lebanon in September and moved its troops southward to reduce its casualties and costs.

The troops were entrenched along the Awali but in the past week two patrols crossed the line and moved up the coast in an effort to prevent the return of Palestinian guerrillas to the areas under guerrilla control before the Israeli invasion in June 1982.

"If Israel helps us, we'll go back home. We have all our hopes on Israel now," said Halim Azzi, who came from the town of Rmaleh, about two miles to the north.

An Israeli lieutenant colonel spoke to reporters as he escorted them to one of the schools giving shelter to what he called "Mercedes refugees."

Gas delays mine rescue

COMMODORE, Pa. (AP) — Poisonous, explosive methane gas delayed the recovery Friday of the bodies of three coal miners killed in an apparent methane explosion deep in an Allegheny Mountains mine.

Two rescue teams of eight miners each worked to blow fresh air in to force methane from a mile-long stretch of tunnel in the Greenwich Collieries No. 1 mine, where about 120 miners were working when the explosion rocked the mine Thursday.

Ten workers were injured.

The bodies of water pumper Walter S. Depto, 47, and lineman Stephen M. Parzatzka, 31, both of Hastings, and lineman Gary L. Miller, 34, of Glasgow, were found by rescue teams at 4:15 a.m. Friday, about 24 hours after the explosion.

The teams, wearing air packs and masks, withdrew because of high levels of methane in the area of the explosion, a side tunnel about 450 feet below the surface and about a mile horizontally to the mine.

"We've had too many problems with the methane in the mine," said Frank O'Gorman, spokesman for the National Mine Safety and Health Administration in Arlington, Va.

"Work will continue 24 hours, around the clock, if necessary" to recover the bodies, said Barry Novotny, mine manager for administration.

"It depends on what is found concerning the quality of air and debris. Very little debris has been noted so far," Novotny said.

He refused to speculate on the cause of the explosion.

Iran, Iraq fight major battle

Iran and Iraq fought a major battle on Friday 100 miles east of Baghdad and many hundreds of soldiers were left dead on the battlefield, according to military communications from both sides.

Casualty figures from two days of fighting have reached more than 4,000, according to Iranian and Iraqi reports.

Iran claimed its forces were closing in on a main highway to the Iraqi capital and had killed 1,100 Iraqi soldiers in a three-hour engagement near the center of the 700-mile front. Iraq claimed had contained the enemy advance and inflicted heavy losses on Iranian forces.

A U.S. official said Thursday in Washington that some 500,000 Iranian and Iraqi troops were massing on the central front.

The official, who spoke on condition his name not be used, said the troops were lined up and appeared prepared for "a great World War I-type battle." He apparently referred to the commitment of huge numbers of infantry troops in the kind of hand-to-hand combat that cost hundreds of thousands of lives during the First World War.

West Texas - Winter storm watch Panhandle Saturday. Turning colder Saturday with scattered snow and accumulations of 1 to 3 inches possible Panhandle.

Snowstorm hits Rockies

The National Weather Service in Denver said the storm, with winds gusting to 50 mph in places, was much stronger than the blinding blizzards last Saturday and Tuesday that stranded travelers and truckers on the eastern plains of Colorado and southeastern Wyoming.

The third snowstorm in a week unloaded more than 2 feet of snow Friday in parts of the Rockies and bore down on the Great Plains where it was expected to reach blizzard force.

Many roads became impassable and school buses quit running as snow fell as fast as 3 inches an hour over a broad area from western Montana to northern Arizona and New Mexico where the National Weather Service said the storm "could become the worst one of the winter."

Restaurant Guide

RESTAURANT of the MONTH

Al's Barbecue has been a Big Spring landmark for nearly 20 years.

The man for whom the restaurant was named operated it for 14 years and developed a following from many other towns and states. He retired several years ago and now it's owned by Charlene Rinard. Charlene is quick to point out that Al's original technique and his sauce are still featured.

A traveling auditor for S&H Green Stamps told your Dining Out Editor he always drove 120 miles out of his way when he was in West Texas, just to have a barbecue sandwich at Al's.

The menu is simple — and just what real barbecue lovers expect. They serve barbecue beef, ham, sausage and ribs. The plates come with choice of salad, (macaroni or potato), slaw, beans, onion, pickle, pepper and bread. The combination plate (two or more meats) at $4.25 and the regular plate at $3.75, also come with cherry cobbler. There's a small plate for $3.35 and a child's sized barbecue plate for $2.10.

Barbecue sandwiches are available with choice of macaroni or potato salad. Sliced ham or beef sandwiches are $2.10 and chopped meat sandwiches are $1.95. Al's serves the only barbecue po' boy

Al's Barbeque Offers Original Sauce Recipe

Barbecue lovers have a favorite spot — Al's Barbeque at 411 West 4th.

sandwiches in town — a hefty, hearty meal for $2.85.

Al's sells barbecue by the pound, as well as potato salad and cobbler by the pint and quart. In addition they offer take-out service on all their sandwiches and plates. The customer can phone ahead, and the order will be ready when he arrives.

Al's catering service is much in demand. And the restaurant's dining room, with seating for 52, is available in the evenings for private parties.

Your Dining Out Editor's favorite selection is the regular barbecue beef plate. Thick slices of beef are graced with Al's trademark sauce, the potato salad is well-seasoned and the cole slaw is zesty. This is a hearty size meal for hearty appetites.

Located at 411 West 4th, Al's is open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday thru Saturday. The staff includes Daniel Garcia, manager, and Frances Garcia.

Steers end season with loss

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers closed the book on a disappointing 1983-84 basketball season with a 94-59 loss against the San Angelo Central Bobcats in final boy's 4-A action Friday night at Steer Gym.

Eight seniors — Jimmy Brown, Glen Mellinger, George Roman, Fred Cole, John Howie, Chris Roberts, Eric Sherman and Dale

Crenshaw — played their final game for the Black and Gold. Brown, Big Spring's most consistent scorer through most of the season, was limited in his final contest to only seven points. Fred Cole went out on a high note, however by scoring 15 — the only Steer to reach double figures.

Big Spring, which concluded the year at 2-25 and 0-14, had its epitaph written early in the first quarter as the Bobcats erupted to a 16-0 lead after 4:29 of play. Fred Cole put the Steers into the corobook first with a field goal at 3:12 of the opening period. Ottaway Perryman, Zane Hoppe, Michael Pfluger and Rodney Anthony posted eight consecutive points for the Bobcats though as Central pushed to argin to 24-2 with 1:12 in the first quarter.

Mike Leuschner hit a field goal and Crenshaw and Billy Cole hit free throws to have Big Spring in a respectable position, 24-8.

Things got a little better for the Steers midway through the second period as Brown, John Howie and Fred Cole made eight of eight free throws to make the score 32-19. Big Spring did very well at the charity stripe in fact as the Steers sank 25 of 34 attempts. The Steers were stone cold from the field though, making only 17 of 52. By contrast Central was a sizzling 41 of 70 and 14 of 17. Big Spring coach Mike Randle said at halftime when Central showed a 21 of 39 ratio in gaining a 46-25 intermission advantage, "They're (Central) shooting beyond themselves." Randle admitted he thought the Bobcats would cool down in the second half.

They did quite the contrary. Central hit 20 of 31 second half shots and simply stretched the lead as Big Spring suffered turnover after turnover and missed some easy shots. "I can't understand why we can miss some easy layups," Randle said.

In the turnover department Big Spring gave the ball up 25 times compared to Central's 13.

JV Loses Close Contest
In the junior varsity game Big Spring rallied, but fell just short, 65-64 to finish 6-14 overall.

The JV Steers trailed 41-36 at halftime and 59-47 after three, before outscoring San Angelo, 17-11 in the fourth period.

Bernard Williams led Big Spring with 27 points.

Queens rake Rankin in playoff

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — The Forsan Buffalo Queens overcame a scrappy Rankin Red Devils squad to take a 49-44 win in class A girls bi-district action here Friday night.

The Queens, winners of District 16-A, needed a spurt of 8-3 in the final two minutes of the contest to gain the victory. The game was close all the way with the score being tied 12 times.

Even the stats were almost even. Forsan connected on 37 percent of its field goals while Rankin hit 38 percent of its shots. Forsan connected on seven of 17 free throw attempts for 41 percent, Rankin hit four of 10 charity shots for 40 percent. Forsan outrebounced the Red Devils 38-35. Ironically, the final score was the largest lead that either team held.

Trailing at halftime 30-28, the Queens turned the tide of the contest with their zone press which caused 18 Rankin turnovers. Forsan had to work hard to stay that close to Rankin, as the Red Devils, led by forward Trina Wheeler who had 14 first half points, hit 15 of 22 field goals for a sizzling 68 percent.

Wheeler was deadly with her two-handed set shot, connecting on seven of eight attempts. But Forsan's pressure defense, led by guards Kristy Evans and Lorri Roman put a stop to that in the second half.

Evans and forward Tina Sterner kept Forsan in the contest during the first half as the duo combined for 18 points. Evans scored all 10 of her points in the first half, while Sterner led all Queen scorers with 18 points, adding eight rebounds to a hard night's work.

The contest boiled down to the final 2:38 with the score tied at 41-41. Roman hit a free throw to give Forsan the lead. Next Cathy Thurman, who played an excellent defensive game by pulling down a game-high 17 rebounds, collected her third steal of the night, fed Sterner under the basket and the Forsan lead was 44-41 with 2:15 remaining.

Rankin hit a free throw, then each team missed chances at the free throw line. Forsan then went into a stall with 58 seconds remaining on the clock.

Roman was fouled and sank one of her efforts, to up the lead to 45-42 with 30 seconds left. Next the ever-present Roman collected a steal, passed to Lana Nichols under the basket for the score, which put the icing on the cake. Both teams traded baskets to end the contest.

The Queens held Rankin's leading scorer Christi West to seven points. Wheeler led the Red Devils with 18 points, freshmen reserve forward Maria Hernandez added 10. Trina Peterson led Rankin in rebounds with 11, as the Red Devils close out the season with a 15-11 mark.

The win ups Forsan's record to 19-8. They will play the winner of the Balmorhea-Dell City tilt in an area tilt.

BSHS golfers take 10th

SAN ANGELO — Windy conditions played havoc with Big Spring High School Lady Steers golfers and with most of the field in fact in the San Angelo Invitational Girl's Golf Tournament that concluded here Friday.

Big Spring finished 10th in the field that included fellow 4-A members San Angelo Central and Midland. The Bobcats two day total of 745 was good for first while the Bulldogs placed second at 800. Central shot 351 and 394. Midland shot 392 and 400. Most teams in the tourney with the exception of Pecos and Snyder watched as a windy Friday raised scores.

Big Spring's totals were 445 and 573 for an overall score of 1018. Individually Pam Martinez was Big Spring's top golfer with a two round total of 198 (95-103). Other scores for the Black and Gold included Maggie Garcia at 114-119 for 233; Maureen Mitchell, 118-123 for 241; Michelle Cox, 115-128 for 243; and Karen Brodie, 121-144 for 265.

Snyder was third in the team standings with rounds of 411-411 for 822 and boasted the leading medalist in Lisa Franklin, 81-84 for 165. Kelly Synk of fourth place El Paso Hanks was second in medalist competition with rounds of 79 and 90 for 169. Sherry Weatherby of hosting Central was third with scores of 83 and 92 for 175.

Behind the top four of Central, Midland, Snyder and Hanks (413-433-846), came Amarillo Tascosa, 421-463-884; Fort Stockton, 442-450-892; Amarillo Caprock, 457-487-944; Pecos 480-465-945; Del Rio, 473-493-966; and Big Spring.

Big Spring will host its own girl's tourney Feb. 24-25.

SNYDER — The Greenwood Rangerettes kept their hopes alive for a berth at the girls state basketball tournament, with a 62-37 win over the Roscoe Plogirls in Class A bi-district action.

Greenwood used a balanced scoring attack and some tough defense to gain the win. Post player Kay Wallace and guard Maria Morgette led the win with 14 points each. Forward Deanna Dean chipped in 11 points.

Greenwood's defense held Roscoe's leading scorer Shana Neighbors to only two points.

The win ups the Rangerettes' record to 26-3. The opponent in area play will be Anton. The site and date have yet to be determined.

Tornadoes tip Mustangs, 91-34

The Lamesa boys kept up their winning ways as they drummed Ft. Stockton 91-34, closing out District 2-4A action.

The win gives Lamesa a perfect 14-0 slate in district play and their second consecutive district crown. In two years under coach Wayne Roberts, the Tors have compiled a 27-1 mark in district play, winning 25 in a row. The win also stretches Lamesa's current winning streak to 21 games.

The game was "no contest" all the way as Lamesa opened up a 26-13 first quarter lead and stretched it to 54-21 at halftime.

The Tors placed five men in double figures led by Chris Mason's 24 points. Mark Murphy followed with 13, Jerry Mason scored 12, Gilbert Arredondo 11 and Richard Diaz added 10.

Jerry Mason had a game-high 24 rebounds while Chris Mason grabbed 10 caroms.

Runnels sweeps Pecos

Both Runnels Junior High boy's basketball teams finished their season in grand style recently with wins over Pecos.

In a 52-41 win by the 'A' team Brian Mayfield scored 28 points to help Runnels 'A' end the year at 12-5. Charles White chipped in 10 while six points came from Steve Gill. Edward Roberts, Sean Jackson, Robert Rodriguez and Danny Williams all had single field goals.

White, Mayfield and Gill were also tough on the boards with rebound totals of 16, 11 and six respectively.

Coach David Drake said, "Pecos did an outstanding job of shooting outside, but everytime they tried to go inside we rejected their shots."

He added that opposing coaches were often prone to comment, "you have a good team and a good bunch of kids. "They're right," said Drake.

Mayfield averaged 17.3 points per game and was voted the team's outstanding offensive player for the season. Roberts was awarded outstanding defensive player and White was voted most improved.

Russell Watson, coach for Runnels 'B' watched his team beat Pecos, 34-22 to finish 11-6.

"Pecos shot well outside and we found ourselves trying to come from behind. After halftime we changed our defense to man-to-man and shut them down," he said.

Jerry Smith led the 'B' team with 10 points and, along with Dewayne Anderson, opened the squad in rebounding.

Coogs respect Virginia Cavs

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of Virginia basketball team has fallen on hard times since the departure of 7-foot-4 Ralph Sampson, but fourth-ranked Houston won't take the Cavaliers lightly when the two teams meet in a nationally-televised game Saturday.

"The game against Virginia makes me break out in a cold sweat," Houston Coach Guy Lewis said. "This is like an NCAA playoff preview. They are an incredible team and it will be hard to beat them."

Virginia will bring a 14-8 record into the non-conference game but the Cavaliers are 3-7 in Atlantic Coast Conference games and lost to Virginia Tech for the first time in seven years 56-54 on Wednesday night.

Coach Terry Holland has used three different players at center in trying to find a winning combination. But Lewis, whose Cougars have are 22-3 with a 36-game Southwest Conference winning streak intact, expects a rugged game.

"They are good on the road like they're good at home," Lewis said. "It's not a conference game, but every game means something at this point. They're the same team as the Tokyo game last year, so now it's our turn and we want to win this one."

The Cougars lost to the Cavaliers 72-63 in last year's Suntory Classic in Tokyo with Sampson sidelined by injury.

Houston went on to reach the Final Four while Virginia lost out in the regionals, but the Cougars haven't forgotten the early season setback.

Guard Othell Wilson leads the Cavaliers in scoring with a 14.3 average. Kenton Edelin is the latest starting center, averaging 6.4 rebounds and 4.3 points per game.

Houston will counter with Akeem Olajuwon, the nation's leading rebounder with a 14.3 average.

"I'm looking forward to Virginia although the game doesn't count (for conference play)," said senior captain Michael Young, who leads UH scorers with a 20.9 average. "It will really be a test for us and give us another chance to prove ourselves. Personally, I would like to have a good game for national television. That's something I haven't done yet."

Houston center Akeem Olajuwon, the nation's leading rebounder, also is looking forward to the challenge.

"I know Virginia will be tough," he said. "It's good to have a game like that before Arkansas."

The Cougars are entering a crucial part of their schedule that will include a game against Rice Wednesday before the first of two showdowns against SWC runnerup Arkansas, which recently upset No. 1 ranked North Carolina.

Houston guard Reid Gettys would like to first concentrate on Virginia.

"If we can't get ready for Virginia we can't get ready for anyone," Gettys said. "They gave us a good licking last year with the same five people they will have on the court Saturday."

Houston has won 31 straight home games and could tie its all-time record with a victory over the Cavaliers.

Steer freshmen finish with win

The Big Spring freshmen 'A' Steers capped off an 8-12 season with a 67-53 win over Monahans as four players scored in double figures.

Charles Young led the way with 17. Cedric Banks added 13, John Olson had 12 and Joe Beasley had 10. Paul Decker swiped 18 rebounds.

Coach John Velasquez added that other frosh tetam members helping contribute in a season ending win were Wesley Watson, Chris Lopez, Phillip Matthews, Randy Odom and Eric Thompson.

In the 'B' game Big Spring was a 49-46 victor to conclude the season with a two game winning streak. The 'B' freshmen previously beat Colorado City, 50-48 before their season finale.

Phillip McClendon

A BLESSING IN SONG
In 1886, while caught in a sudden thunderstorm on the coast of Sweden, Pastor Carl Boberg was overwhelmed by the flashing of the lightning and the rolling of the thunder: the elements filled him with awe and wonder at the power and greatness of God. In the calm that followed, as the birds began again to sing sweetly in the trees, Boberg fell to his knees in admiration and praise. Soon he had written a nine-verse poem drawn from this experience. Swedish Christians found that the poem expressed their own feelings exactly, and congregations all over Sweden began singing Boberg's words to the melody of an old Swedish folk tune.

The words were soon translated into German, and then the German version was translated into Russian. Two English missionaries to Russia, the Reverend S. K. Hine and his wife, were thrilled with the song when they heard it from Christians in the Ukraine. While singing it as a duet in unevangelized parts of Russia, the Hines were impressed by the song's impact upon the unsaved. After moving to a beautiful mountainous region of Russia, Hine felt inspired to translate the hymn into English. "How Great Thou Art" eventually found its way to America, where it has become a favorite hymn of praise of the American people.

Let's celebrate NIE Week, March 5-9

The Newspaper Story

Let's celebrate NIE week with a story about how newspaper stories get into print. NIE stands for Newspaper in Education. This week reminds us how much we can learn from newspapers. It is sponsored by the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the International Reading Association.

While all newspapers are different, this is how some might operate.

1. An editor hears about a story and assigns a reporter and photographer to cover it.
2. The reporter goes out and gets the facts. The photographer takes the pictures.
3. The photographer comes back to the darkroom and develops the pictures.
4. The reporter writes the story. Some reporters still type their stories on paper. Many now use a VDT (video display terminal) with a typewriter-like keyboard and a TV-like screen. His story is stored in a computer.
5. An editor using another video display terminal calls up the story. She reads it, makes corrections, writes the headline and picks the size of type.
6. The editor then presses a button to send the story to be typeset. The printed story comes out of a machine on special paper.
7. A composing room worker pastes the story and pictures on a page.
8. The page is photographed and a sheet called a "plate" is made.
9. The plate is put around the rollers of the press. Blank newsprint paper on huge rolls passes through the press as the pages are printed. The pages are then cut and folded.
10. The copies of the newspaper are put together, stacked, tied and bundled to be picked up by delivery trucks.
11. The carriers deliver the papers to homes and newsstands.

Mini Spy and the Dog Adventure

"Our fire station's mascot, Sam, is missing," Chief Smith told Mini Spy.

"I saw an ad for a dalmatian in the paper. I just have a hunch that the dog in the ad might be Sam. Please come with me to check it out," said the chief.

Mini Spy and Chief Smith knocked at the door of the address given in the paper. A lady and a dalmation answered it.

"That is my dog, Sam. I would know him anywhere," said the chief.

"No, he is not. I have been his only owner. I'll never forget the day this little black-and-white puppy was born," the lady said.

"You are a dognapper. Give the dog to Chief Smith," said Mini Spy.

How did Mini Spy know?
 (Hold this up to a mirror.)

Solution: All dalmatians are white when they are born. They get spots about two weeks later. The lady was lying.

Many Little Kids are Beginning Newspaper Readers, Too!

Many kindergarten teachers are using papers to help kids learn to read at school. Many parents are having fun with younger kids and newspapers at home. Here are some newspaper activities for younger readers:

1. Circle all of the letters in your name.
2. Name the colors in the color comics.
3. Circle the numbers on a page.
4. Make up stories about some of the pictures.

How to Be a Newspaper Reader

Newspaper readers are better informed and more in touch with their world. But to read a newspaper word for word would take more time than most of us have.

Most newspaper readers start with the "big" stories of the day, which are on the front page. Read the headlines for a short summary of each story. Look at the index for a guide to what is inside.

News stories are written to make skimming easier. The "who, what, where, when and why" facts are usually in the first few paragraphs. If you want to know more details, you can read to the end.

Newspaper readers must learn to skim. Learn to read quickly what interests you. While skimming, you'll often discover new subjects you want to know more about. Notice that the newspaper is divided into sections, too.

To get the whole picture of the day's news, turn to every page and skim the pictures, headlines and ads. Later you can go back and read the stories you want to know more about.

Newspaper readers with the newspaper habit wouldn't miss a day of skimming through their favorite news source. Being "in the know" is important to all of us.

Archives chronicle rock music's history

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rock 'n' roll heaven is a modest set of rooms behind an unassuming door marked No. 14. And while music fans may be dying to get in, the man with the key can tell you that won't be necessary.

"You can come here. I can come here. All it takes is interest, a specific idea of what you want — and an appointment," says Paul Grushkin, the bearded general manager of the Bay Area Music Archives, a rock 'n' roll repository that may be the only one of its kind in the world.

Country and western music is hoarded in Nashville, Tenn., Broadway show tunes are squirreled away in New York and rock art is sold in Los Angeles.

But only San Francisco has master tapes from the final week of the Fillmore West, 60 hours of rock impresario Bill Graham talking about his life in music and a piece of a sheet from the Palo Alto motel bed where one of the Beatles slept during the group's last visit to the United States.

"That's the magic of a place like this — it has a chance to have poster art, stage decorations, books, records, tapes," says Grushkin, who built the archives five years ago around his own album and book collection through BAM (Bay Area Music) magazine publisher Dennis Erokian, who founded the archives and serves as its president.

Since then, it has swelled to 25,000 albums ranging from beebop to new wave, 5,000 tapes and thousands of books, posters and bits of memorabilia.

Every Wednesday night, an hour-long nostalgia show on local radio is produced by the archives. And each year, the cream of the Bay area music industry gathers for the Bammies, a sold-out regional music awards ceremony that raises thousands to benefit the

SURROUNDED BY HISTORY — Paul Grushkin, general manager of the Bay Area Music Archives, is surrounded by memorabilia in his San Francisco rock library. Last year's show raised $40,000 and brought together such musical names as Huey Lewis and the News, the Greg Kihn Band and Tommy Tutone.

"I know of four, maybe five attempts at opening rock archives," says Grushkin, ignoring the constantly ringing phone on his desk. "They all failed within a year, and I'll tell you why. "It's as if you need a community like San Francisco to nurture a library for a period of time until everybody begins to believe in it."

'n' roll heaven. His archives may be the only one of its kind to chronicle pop music history.

When he finally picks up the phone, it might be a local television station asking for reference books on the Beatles for an upcoming special, the family of a now-dead rocker who wants his collection preserved or a high school kid who wants to hear the music that will make her understand what grooving through the summer of '68 really meant.

"This fellow calls me up about two years ago," Grushkin recalled. "He says, 'I'm now a consulting engineer, I have three kids. For many, many years I've cut my hair, I lead a very straight life. But there was a time when music was it for me, and I collected all the books I could on the subject.'"

The caller wound up donating some early rock paperbacks, such as "Groupie — A Sex Rock Odyssey."

"This is what I mean," says Grushkin. "Nothing has been thrown away. It all exists in somebody's hands — from Country Joe's first record to a Quicksilver kite."

The repository is built on several major collections, including that of KRSN, a former rock station that went country, and the collections of late local newspaper music critics John L. Wasserman and Conrad Silvert.

"It seems like every day, we get another donation," Grushkin says. "I keep thinking it's not possible for it all to exist, and yet it does. And I think it's because people have a genuine reverence for the musical scene."

He opens a file drawer and suddenly seems more like a kid at Christmas than a keeper of rock history.

"I'm going to show you some tre-e-a-sures," he says, pulling out a poster for a James Brown concert that proclaims: "A show for the entire family! Children under 12, 99 cents."

A graduate of Stanford University, the 32-year-old Grushkin quickly became embroiled in the local music scene. The son of a book designer and a librarian, Grushkin was literally born to his work, which should get easier soon.

Steve Wozniak, the Apple computer millionaire genius and US Festival producer, is donating a computer to catalog the archive's resources. Grushkin also hopes to put in a sound system so visitors can privately listen to any of the library's tapes and albums.

Through the archives, Grushkin says he's been able to educate people in all aspects of rock music.

"It frightens me because it really stretches my ability to serve all these people and all these entities," he said. "But I'm so excited, because here's the town that did it. We saved our stuff, and we're sharing it."

Michael Caine discusses show business life

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Michael Caine was amusingly philosophical about winning a Golden Globe Award for his role of the boozing, bitter professor in "Educating Rita."

The outspoken Englishman said the last time he had won an award was for "most promising newcomer."

"I was beginning to feel I'd let the people who gave it to me down," said Caine, a direct, uncomplicated man who is able to adapt himself to any role without the introspection of method-style actors.

Chosen by the Hollywood Foreign Press last month, Caine said in a recent interview: "It's true, I've won nothing — except a couple of Academy (Award) nominations ('Alfie' and 'Sleuth'). Those are the only things that have happened to me in between."

But before he became a "promising newcomer," his career had the usual pitfalls. He was once broke and out of work, and auditioned for the part of Bill Sikes in the musical, "Oliver!" He didn't get it.

For Caine, who still bares traces of his cockney past, it was a big disappointment. "If I couldn't get a role as a tough cockney, what could I get?"

"Oliver!" ran for seven years. "Late in the run, I droye past the theater in my Rolls-Royce, and I thought to myself, 'I could still be there, playing Bill-Sikes,'" he said.

Now Caine is churning out movies as fast as would-be actors get turned down at auditions.

Next comes "Blame It on Rio," which 20th Century-Fox is releasing this month. He plays a businessman who takes his daughter on a Brazilian vacation and is seduced by the teenage daughter of his best friend. The seducer, played by lovely Michelle Johnson, appears semi-nude in scenes with Caine.

"I told my wife to stay close to me at all times," the actor remarked.

He was recently in "Beyond the Limit," and has an unreleased film, "Jigsaw," about defecting British spies. Caine has two more movies to shoot over the year: "Water," a far-out farce by George Harrison's Hand Made Films; and "The Pirate," a comedy that Roman Polanski will make in Tunisia.

NOT HIS FAULT — Michael Caine, who recently won a Golden Globe award, is shown in his new film "Blame It On Rio" with co-star Michelle Johnson.

Between his emergence as a star in "Alfie" in 1966, and his recognition for "Educating Rita," much has happened to the Londoner who was born Maurice Micklewhite 49 years ago.

He has earned millions. He's made some dreadful films, such as "X,Y and Zee," "Beyond the Poseidon Adventure" and "The Hand." And he's had some good ones: "The Man Who Would Be King," "California Suite" and "Deathtrap." He also married, fathered a daughter and moved to the United States.

He came here, he said, "because I wanted to become a name in American films; because I considered the English tax system unjust; because I believe it's healthy to shake up one's life now and then."

Though he drives a Rolls-Royce and lives in a mountaintop villa, Caine hasn't lost his cockney roots or his sense of wonder of what has happened to him.

"At the age of 18, I was serving in the army in Korea," he said, peering through his trademark horn-rimmed glasses. "I went through 11 years of abject poverty trying to be an actor and became a millionaire overnight. Then I changed my home and country. If that isn't shaking up one's life, I don't know what it is."

Caine enjoys reminiscing about his early London days and how fate smiled on important occasions. He believes his life was turned around when he joined a drama group in a boys' club.

"I've often credited Rev. Butterworth for helping me become an actor," said Caine. "He ran a youth club for roughs like me. In fact, I met Bob Hope through Rev. Butterworth when I was 14. Hope was appearing at the Prince of Wales theater, and he donated his fee to the boys' club."

"Years later, I had just made 'Alfie' and I went to the Acapulco Film Festival," he said. "Hope was making a TV special there, and he asked me to appear on it. I was to receive a token payment of $1,000. I would have done the show for nothing, but later I wondered about the check. My agent asked Hope, who said, 'Tell him I gave it to Rev. Butterworth.'"

Caine plans to remain a Californian — "I may be happy here, but my wife is delirious." She is the Guyana-born beauty Shakiira Baksh. Caine admitted that their 13-year-old daughter, Natasha, is becoming increasingly American.

"But I'll take care of that," her father said. "While I'm in Tunisia for five months, she'll be in an English school. I would like her to continue in English schools, then go to college in the East. I believe children should be shaken out of their shell now and then. The way I was."

'Blame It On Rio' evokes sizable number of laughs

"BLAME IT ON RIO" is a sex comedy that manages to evoke a sizable number of laughs despite some unpleasant undertones. A coffee importer, Michael Caine, and his wife, Valerie Harper, go on separate vacations to Brazil, and he takes their 19-year-old daughter, Demi Moore. Father and daughter share a Rio palace with his best friend, Joseph Bologna, and his daughter, Michelle Johnson.

Miss Johnson has harbored a lifelong crush on Caine, and she seduces him during a macumba wedding on a Brazilian beach. How can he satisfy his uncontrollable lust without losing forever his best friend? That's the basis for the comedy, and it provides some funny stuff.

Michael Caine is such a likable gent that he prevents the proceedings from seeming sordid.

As the aggressive teen-ager, Michelle Johnson is so nubile and delectable that it is easy to understand why Caine would succumb. Less appealing are Bologna and Miss Harper, whose loud bickering weighs down the lightness of the plot.

Director Stanley Donen ("Singin' in the Rain," "Two for the Road") is an expert at this kind of splashy film, and he provides a lively view of the wonders of Rio, including its topless beaches.

Tina Turner ready to boogie back

LONDON (AP) — Tina Turner, on the threshold of stardom again after her traumatic split in 1976 from husband and partner Ike, gave a hearty guffaw and talked about those years.

They were a "total blackout," she said, and it's taken that long to pay off the debts she ran up when she walked out on Ike in Dallas after one fight too many. She had only the clothes she was wearing, 35 cents in her pocket and a gasoline charge card.

"I'm finally back in the black," she said in a recent interview in the elegant marble and glass drawing room of the exclusive St. James' Club off London's Piccadilly.

And, she said, "There's no hard feelings." Tina, now a feline 45, has a hot single out — Al Green's classic, "Let's Stay Together." It's fast climbing the charts. She's also made a sexy video of the tune for Music Television in the United States.

But she got nothing in her divorce from Ike after 16 years of marriage and stardom as the wild lady of soul. She gave Turner everything: royalties, tapes and property. The judge thought she was nuts. The guitarist had discovered her when she was 17 singing in St. Louis nightclubs.

She had to start again from scratch to repay the promoters of shows that had been scrapped when she walked out.

After the split, she tried cabaret. But that was too stifling for her high-energy, gutbucket style. She got a band together and went back on the road, working the cheap joints and putting the pieces back together.

"Starting over on my own was rough," she said.

"People didn't think I could do it without Ike. He'd controlled everything."

"But this time, I was doing it for me. The first four years, I was ... working small clubs, that sort of thing. Promoters just didn't believe I'd be a draw on my own."

There were a few bad places, she said, and she knew she'd make a few mistakes. But she didn't mind.

"I knew I'd learn from them," she said. "I had a dream and it brought me back to life. I wasn't going to be beaten."

Promoters tried to get her into black leather and be more sexually explicit. But she refused. "I like it nice 'n' rough, but they wanted more," she said.

The turning point came in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in 1977. She went on as the opening act for The Four Seasons. Soon, the offers were better.

Two years ago, Rod Stewart invited her to join his Christmas special in Los Angeles, beamed by satellite around the world, and she blew him off the stage. The Earth Mother was back.

Her solo career really took off last year when she toured Europe and Britain. Her first hit, "Let's Stay Together," was recorded with Heaven 17, a British band.

She made a triumphant return to London last December. Her dynamic stage act, all raunch, slit skirts, wild wigs and sizzling sexuality, won raves.

Now she's about to start a 26-city British tour and will issue a new single this month — a vamp version of the Beatles song, "Help." She'll also record an album with her five-man band and two backup singers. "I'm really singing so much better these days," she said. "With Ike, the key was always too high, the tempos too fast. Now I'm doing it my way."

She enthuses about British musicians, a love affair that goes back to 1966 when Rolling Stones superstar Mick Jagger invited the Turners to tour with them in the United States.

"The musicians here have a real feel for black music," said Miss Turner, who is black. "It's a gut feeling. As soon as I get together with musicians here, there's an instant connection."

When she's not on the road, which isn't often, Miss Turner lives alone in a 10-room, plant-filled house in California with a pool — "my little luxury" — and a cat named Maxie.

She says she ditches the wigs, putters around the garden and meditates. A few years back, she gave up the Baptist religion pounded into her as little Annie Mae Bullock in Nutbush, Tenn., and became a Buddhist.

That's light years from the image of the dervish-dancing predator — the embodiment of every man's fantasy — that she gives on stage.

"I'm not shy," she said ingenuously. "My stage act isn't me necessarily. It's just what I do. I'm a loner. I don't need to be surrounded by people. I have relationships, but nothing too serious."

She says she's not looking to get married again. "I'm finally independent and free," she said.

Computer introduced

NEW YORK (AP) — International Business Machines Corp. announced its first portable computer, a 30-pound machine that can use most programs available for its personal computer.

IBM said Thursday its Portable Personal Computer sells for $2,795 and will be available on March 1. But it warned that initial supplies will be limited.

The portable provides about 256,000 characters of main memory that is expandable up to 512,000, a built-in, nine-inch amber display screen that can display graphics, and one 360,000-character floppy disk drive. An optional disk drive can be added to raise disk storage capacity to 720,000 characters, IBM said.

A carrying bag also comes with the portable, as does a 12-month limited warranty.

IBM said its portable uses the same microprocessor as that used in its personal computer and its less-powerful PCjr home computer — the 8088 made by Intel Corp.

Investors wary

SEATTLE (AP) — Investors who hold $2.25 billion of bonds on which the Washington Public Power Supply System has defaulted have asked a federal judge to make sure the supply system isn't picked clean by other creditors before they have a chance to win their securities fraud lawsuit.

Lawyers for the bondholders, who have banded together in a class action suit against WPPSS and 200 other defendants, asked U.S. District Judge Richard Bilby to put on hold about $85 million worth of judgments against the supply system until their case has been resolved.

A motion filed Wednesday also asks that Bilby appoint a receiver for the "limited purpose" of investigating and perhaps prosecuting claims the supply system may have against the Bonneville Power Administration and others.

WPPSS officials at first had interpreted the motion as a request for the appointment of a receiver to handle all of the supply system's financial affairs.

The only way WPPSS can formally enter bankruptcy is voluntarily, and the supply system's executive board has said it will not do that.

Bilby has set a hearing on the motion for late March. WPPSS has until the end of February to formally file for bankruptcy.

The bonds were sold to finance construction on two nuclear power plants that eventually were terminated.

Home construction on rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction of new homes jumped 15 percent in January to the highest level in five years.

The government also reported Thursday that Americans' personal income rose a sharp 1.1 percent during January, and that factories operated at 79.9 percent of capacity in January — the highest percent of capacity in more than two years.

In addition, jobless claims fell again in the first week of February to the second-lowest level in more than four years.

The Reagan administration, which is counting on brisk economic growth this election year, welcomed the reports as further proof that the economy is still growing.

"This is a red letter day for economic prospects as we start 1984," said Roger Wescott of Wharton Econometrics. "Some people in December started saying the recovery was heading into a tailspin and would be over. We never shared that view. We thought the terrific momentum of 1983 would carry over into 1984, and it clearly has."

IBM PORTABLE PERSONAL COMPUTER — IBM Thursday unveiled their new IBM Portable Personal Computer. The unit weighs approximately 30 pounds and measures 20x17x8 inches and easily packs into a self-contained unit that can be taken where needed. The computer uses the same 16-bit 8088 microprocessor used in the IBM-PC, PC-XT and PCjr. The unit features 256KB of random access user memory, expandable to 512KB. Also featured is a built-in 9-inch amber monitor, a universal power supply for use in different countries, and a color/graphics monitor adapter plus five expansion slots. The computer will be offered by IBM starting March 1 for $2,795 at IBM Product Centers.

Business Briefs

Energas Company recently reported unaudited earnings of $1.9 million, or $1.03 per share, for the period ending Oct. 19 through Dec. 31, on revenues of $67.5 million.

For the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1982, Energas, operating as a division of Pioneer Corporation, had a loss of $1.9 million on revenues of $52.9 million. After adjustments to reflect the spin-off of Energas from Pioneer and the effects of an accounting change in the method of recognizing gas revenues and expenses, the company's pro forma results for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1982, would have reflected a loss of $1.0 million (55 cents per share) in revenues of $68.0 million.

Energas common stock is traded over the counter under the symbol EGAS.

The Energas service territory covers about 30,000 square miles in West Texas, including Amarillo, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring. Headquartered in Amarillo, the company provides gas service to about 280,000 domestic, commercial, industrial and irrigation customers.

gold to the U.S. Olympic Committee to help support the U.S. Olympic Team.

The gold was presented by K-Mart Chairman Bernard M. Fauber. More than 13,000 "Give for the Gold" donation canisters and banners were produced by K-Mart and shipped to the 2,000 U.S. K-Mart stores to encourage public contributions to the Olympics. K-Mart customers contributed a total of approximately $100,000.

A consumer resource book and membership roster listing members of the Better Business Bureau of the Permian Basin is planned for distribution in 1984, according to Linda Truitt, president of the BBB in Midland.

Known as "The SourceBook," the 96-page directory will present information on the Bureau's services, consumer tips, and listings by categories of member businesses.

"The Sourcebook phone directory is a very effective way to reach nearly everyone in our area with information on the services provided by the Better Business Bureau," Ms. Truitt said. "We maintain high standards for membership with respect to business and advertising practices, and the SourceBook is one place consumers can locate our members."

The Better Business Bureau is a non-profit organization supported by business, which protects the rights of businessmen and consumers in the marketplace.

Distribution to more than 100,000 households is planned by March 1 in Odessa, Midland, Big Spring and Andrews.

Fully diluted earnings of $1.53 per share were reported recently by Harle-Hanks Communications Inc. for the year 1983, a 15 percent increase over the $1.33 reported in 1982. Primary earnings were $1.58 per share in 1983, compared to $1.39 in 1982.

In announcing year-end results, Bob Marbut, president and chief executive officer, said "A sound business strategy, coupled with the recovering national economy, helped Harle-Hanks achieve solid earnings and revenue growth in 1983. With our ongoing emphasis on customer focus, employee productivity and asset management, we should have another record year in 1984."

Earnings in 1983 were achieved after goodwill amortization of 26 cents per share. Net income was $33,331,000, a 22 percent increase over the $27,297,000 in 1982. Operating revenues reached $443,630,000 in 1983, up 12 percent from the $394,357,000 reported in 1982. On a pro forma basis, operating revenues also increased 12 percent.

Jerry J. Crawford, Midland, was appointed branch manager of the Metropolitan Insurance Companies' Permian (Midland-Odessa) office. As branch manager, Crawford will be responsible for the sales and service activities of Metropolitan sales representatives serving the Midland-Odessa area.

Home resale activity in Texas during the fourth quarter of 1983 was 10.5 percent higher than in the same quarter of 1982, the Texas Association of Realtors announced.

The number of home resales in the state, which include existing single-family homes, apartment condominium units and cooperative units, rose on a seasonally adjusted annual basis to 155,700 units during the fourth quarter of 1983, compared with 140,900 units during the same three-month period in 1982.

For 1983 as a whole, 187,500 existing units were sold, 13.4 percent more units than the 165,300 units sold in 1982.

Many Permian Basin businesses and individuals are receiving high pressure phone calls from out-of-state companies promising fabulous prizes such as expensive vacations, color televisions, automobiles and microwave ovens.

The catch is the prize will only be given if an order is placed for vitamins or various advertising specialty products, including key chains, pens, ice scrapers, etc., imprinted with the purchaser's name.

The merchandise is usually paid for by the customer COD, or charged on a credit card, sometimes without the customer's authorization.

What customers receive usually is not what they expected to get. According to the U.S. Postal Service, each year hundreds of millions of dollars are spent on such prizes and products misrepresented by telephone salespersons.

According to the U.S. Postal Service, offers which require a purchase or fee to win a sweepstakes or prize violate federal lottery laws. Entrants must have the right to be entered without any cost involved any time there is the element of chance.

Damson Oil wins bid for Dorchester

NEW YORK (AP) — Damson Oil Corp. eventually is paid with a target company's operations. But Damson Oil then made a bid of $24 a share for 50.3 percent of Dorchester's common stock, and proposed its limited-partnership units for the rest of the shares.

Dorchester, complaining it was difficult to determine the value of the limited-partnership units, countered by making a tender offer to buy 5 million of its own shares for $24 apiece.

The move appeared to be a so-called "scorched-earth" defense since it would have placed Dorchester further in debt and made the company less attractive to Damson.

But earlier this week Dorchester acknowledged it was having trouble finding the financing for its own offer.

In any case, Dorchester said it would drop its bid once Damson's revised offer is made, and the companies also agreed to drop their lawsuits aimed at blocking each other's offers.

In an interview, Barrie M. Damson, chairman and chief executive, said once Dorchester "was advertised as for sale" by virtue of the leveraged buyout proposal, "we looked at it and felt our proposal would be one that would give the stockholders an alternative to just being bought out completely."

The income from the Dorchester assets then would be distributed directly to the limited partners, Damson said. The takeover battle began Jan. 25 when Dorchester said its directors approved a $396 million leveraged buyout of the company for $22.50 a share. A leveraged buyout is financed largely with bor-

Playboy pulls out of New Jersey

Control Commission in 1982 refused Playboy a license after 31 days of testimony centering on Playboy Chairman Hugh M. Hefner's authorization of a bribe payment 23 years ago.

The Chicago-based company has been unsuccessful in repeated appeals of the commission's decision, and had been ordered by the commission to divest its stock in the $150-million Playboy Hotel & Casino on the Boardwalk.

"The agreement is subject to approval by the Casino Control Commission and other customary conditions," Playboy spokesman Richard L. Nelson said Thursday.

Terms of the sale were not released pending commission approval, Nelson said.
