J. W. Deger, 77, Dies Unexpectedly Friday Morning

J. W. Deger, 77-year-old prominent retired farmer and resident of the county 47 years, died at his home 700 10th Street Friday morning, April 24, about 30 minutes after he became ill with a heart attack.

Although he had a heart ailment 20 years, he had made a successful recovery from surgery recently and his death came unexpectedly.

Mr. Deger had lived on the same farm in the Aberdeen community 45 years, building it into one of the finest places of that area. His home, his fields and his livestock reflected his skill as a farmer, and the pride he took in his work. Two years ago he and Mrs. Deger moved into Wellington.

John William Deger was born in Gonzales County September 13, 1881, but while still a boy he moved with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Louie Deger, to Montague County. He was married there to Miss Nancy Benton on February 5, 1906, and a short time later they moved to Marlow, Oklahoma, where they lived five years before coming here.

Mr. Deger became a member of the Church of Christ at Aberdeen in 1923. With the organization of Bowie Street Church of Christ in Wellington, he was one of the men who donated much time to construction of its new building.

Funeral services for Mr. Deger were held at Bowie Street Church of Christ Sunday at 2 p.m., with Minister G. B. Stanley of Olton officiating. Pall bearers were Frank Light, Charley Hill, Sam White of Childress, Claude Killingsworth, Elmer Hiett and Les White. Honorary pall bearers were Buford Chandler, Paul Starr, Ellis Nunneley, Tom Whitson, Stanley Whitson and Claude Simpson.

Burial was in West Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelson Funeral Home.

Surviving Mr. Deger are his wife; a daughter and three sons: Mrs. Joe Rountree, Walter Deger and Austin Deger of Lutie, and Hardy B. Deger of Fort Worth. Also surviving are four brothers and three sisters: J. L. Deger of Wellington; Jess Deger of Lutie; Oscar Deger of Duncan, Oklahoma; George Deger of Shamrock; Mrs. Sally Short of Amarillo; Mrs. Alma Hill of Littlefield; and Mrs. Nora Bell of Nocona. There are seven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Twin daughters preceded him in death many years ago.

McCutchens to Liberal, Kansas

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McCutchen have moved McCutchen's Shoe Repair to Liberal, Kansas, where they will re-open within a short time.

The business was opened here by the late C. P. McCutchen, more than 25 years ago, and has been operated by the son since he graduated from high school, except his period in the armed forces.

He has been active in the promotion of independent basketball play during recent years.

A Serious Comedy

Seniors Give Class Play Friday Night

Wellington seniors will present their class play, "The Family No-body Wanted," Friday, May 2, in the high school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Based on a true story, as told in the book the same name by Helen Grigsby Doss, the story will be familiar to many who have read of it in Life and Readers Digest, Mrs. Bob McAlister, director, said.

The play is light, and the seniors give an even added gaiety to its many comic situations. Still it is of a more serious vein than the plays the seniors have been doing, Mrs. McAlister said.

Briefly, the story is of a minister and his wife who adopted a number of children who were regarded as unadoptable because of nationality or other reasons who now lead a happy, normal life in a small town.

The senior play tells of the older Doss son's loyalty being challenged by a girl who is prejudiced against his family's unconventional makeup. But this, it is to be remembered has its lighter side.

The lead is shared four ways. Tom Belew portrays the Rev. Mr. Doss and Theda Martin is his wife, Helen. Donnie, around whom the action moves, is Carroll Nunneley, and Carolyn Keller takes the part of the girl, Nan Johnson.

Others in the cast are Mr. Johnson, Nan's father, played by Ernest Peach, Mrs. Johnson, her mother, Donna Lowrie; Miss Riley, a newspaper reporter, is Judy Glenn, and the newspaper photographer, Bill Thomas is Tommy Akin.

Mrs. Perkins, president of the church board is Marcella Savage, while Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Hardy, two church members, are Linda Brantley and Mary Lou Sanders. Younger members of the Doss family are Diane, Sonni White; Laura, Glenda Brewer; Rita, Retha Linville; Timmie, Ray Henry; Ted, David Jackson; and Alex, Kent Peeples.

On the production staff are Robert Carter, stage manager; Mickey Breedlove, student director; Patti Hughs, property chairman; Pat Tompkins, prompter; Betty Patton, in charge of make-up and Gerald Jolliff and Benton Wauer, in charge of sound effects.

School Issues Bulletin for Beginners Parents

Supt. Bennett Goodloe has announced that the Wellington school is issuing a bulletin for the parents of six-year-old children, entitled, "Let's Get Ready for School."

A handbook for parents, it gives practical information on helping the child make the transition from home to school easier.

"If you have a child who will be in the first grade next year, we urge you to give this bulletin careful study before school opens next September," Supt. Goodloe said.

These bulletins may be had either at the office of Supt. Goodloe or Elementary Principal Jack Davis.

"We believe they are of vital importance to the parents of all six-year-olds," the superintendent added.

Parents were asked to note three requirements that must be met before any child can be enrolled: The child must be 6 years old by September 1; a copy of the birth certificate must be presented on the day of enrollment, to become a part of the child's permanent school record; and the child must be vaccinated for smallpox.

"We would like for the child to be vaccinated for diphtheria, but this is not required," Goodloe said.

Study Shows Perilous Future If Economy Is Not Achieved

→The Houston Chronicle

In the past 25 years the American people have come to regard their future economic security as one of the most important factors of their lives. Too few of these same people, however, relate the future of government economically with their individual cases. These two are inseparable.

Government spending is the key to the future value of the dollar. Excessive government spending has been the major factor in inflation. Consider the man who in 1939 planned for retirement in 1959 on a pension of from $150 to $200 a month. In 1939 this looked like a comfortable income. But the dollar today is worth only 48 cents of the 1939 dollar. So the man's pension today actually is only $72 to $96 and he is pinched to try to live on it.

It is difficult to try to project the economic course of government 10 years, because of the unknown factors of world tension and business activities. Yet, if we are ever to bring inflation under control, it is necessary to try to chart this future. The non-profit and non-governmental Committee for Economic Development has attempted to project government spending to 1968. The study was made for the committee by Dr. Otto Eckstein, assistant professor of economics at Harvard University.

Dr. Eckstein predicted that, depending on federal spending policies, the budget in 1968 will be from $6,000,000,000 to $34,000,000,000 higher than during the fiscal year. If the government continues a very high level of spending, the deficit is expected to run from $4,000,000,000 in fiscal 1960 to $10,400,000,000 in fiscal 1968. But if the government should increase the budget only moderately there would be a surplus of $17,500,000,000 by 1968.

This shows how a little prudence and economy on the part of Congress can restore stability to the federal treasury. If Congress would just eliminate some of the useless giveaways, the budget could be balanced and a surplus achieved. But Congress stubbornly refuses to do it, and continues on its vote-seeking tax-and-spend policies.

It is not only the federal rate of spending which must be watched. Dr. Eckstein figures that if state and local governments continue their present spending trends, they will have a collective deficit of $3,500,000,000 in 1964 and this will prevail through 1968.

The Eckstein study makes it painfully obvious that we are spending ourselves into bankruptcy at every level of government. The trend is not going to change until the people, starting at the grassroots, force a change. The most effective way to do this is to retire to private life some of the tax-and-spend officials.

At Legislature's Present Pace, Annual Sessions would Be Awful

It may come as a shock to tax-burdened Texans to learn that there are 66 different tax bills in the House revenue and taxation committee, where such bills must originate. If the taxpayers needed any jolt to call their attention to the trend of the times, this should do it.

The state is running a deficit of about $65,000,000 during the current fiscal year. A deficit of more than $150,000,000 is expected during the next two years, if present revenues are not augmented. This is under the current rate of spending. But legislative leaders have said they expect the spending rate to be increased at least $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 for the next two years.

That means the legislators are looking for taxes which will bring in $200,000,000 additional during the next two years.

Is it any wonder that Texans last year defeated by a big margin the proposed constitutional amendment to hold annual sessions and raise legislators' pay? A reasonable pay raise probably would be approved by voters, but the annual session provision is enough to give taxpayers a nightmare.

If every session of the Legislature is going to be as disastrous for the taxpayer as the present one appears to be, it is fortunate that the Legislature meets only once every two years in regular session.

Texas taxpayers just can't afford annual sessions.

Dear Editor:

I see where somebody wants baseball to be streamlined by making a rule that a hit over the fence or into the stands is good for a tally without the batter having to trot around the bases to legalize same.

My resting expert neighbor says this is in line with the prevailing rampancy of workphobia, but he warns that being over-allergic to effort is risky.

Says his farming uncle worked himself to death trying to finish every job quicker so he could sit in the shade longer.

I see where the old fogies and the new fogies are still bickering about whether there is any art in modern art except maybe the art of being different.

Seems that the mossbacks think a painting had ought to be a picture of something, whereas the doodle-daubers favor works which represent intellectual heights like, say, a fried onion nightmare.

My all-purpose expert neighbor says he is a picture man himself, but don't guess it would be fair to bar citizens from the artisting business just because they can't draw.

My under-irked neighbor says the fight these upper level law-makers are putting up to keep this information from us just proves how much they love us.

Says they don't want it published who they hire and how much they pay, on account of how it might set off a nation-wide epidemic of high blood pressure.

Reception Sunday Honors Two City Couples on Wedding Anniversaries

A reception Sunday afternoon, April 26, in the community building honored two Wellington couples on their wedding anniversaries, one the 60th anniversary, the other their 30th anniversary.

Married 60 years ago were Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Bowen who live north of town. Observing their 30th anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Horton, and for them the event was a complete surprise, for they were not aware they were to be joint guests of honor until they arrived at the celebration.

Hosts were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen: Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Seale, Mr. and Mrs. King Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowen and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bowen of Wellington; and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bowen of Plainview. Unable to attend were their other son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Von Bowen of Bovina.

Mrs. Seale received the guests and presented them to her parents and Mr. and Mrs. Horton. Mrs. King Bowen was at the guest register.

The two tables, one for each couple, were laid with white cloths and centered with large white wedding bells filled with white chrysanthemums and spirea. Cakes were similar in design.

Granddaughters, Miss Elouise Bowen and Mrs. Fred Ford of Perryton served at the table for Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, while Miss Varue Sweat and Miss Alvina Jo Roberts were at the table for Mr. and Mrs. Horton.

A program entertained the guests during the afternoon, including piano music by King Bowen and Ladwain Bowen of Hart, who is a grandson, while vocal selections were given by John David King, brother of Mrs. Horton.

Approximately 200 guests registered during the afternoon. Mr. Bowen was born in Kentucky, 81 years ago and came to Texas at the age of 15 months. He grew up in Wise and Jack counties. Mrs. Bowen, the former Lula King, was born near Jacksboro and grew up there. She and Mr. Bowen were married in Jacksboro April 26, 1899—the day before her 16th birthday.

They came to Collingsworth County 42 years ago and lived for a number of years east of Wellington, before moving to their present home north of town. Both are still active in church work, and Mr. Bowen assists in farming, driving a tractor and performing other duties.

Mr. Horton grew up in this county, but Mrs. Horton was raised in Texas.

Hospital Auxiliary Reports Year's Activities to Texas Association

Women of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary are concluding their year's work, from the standpoint of membership in the State Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, and this week the scrapbook is being prepared that will tell the story of this Auxiliary to others of Texas.

Preparing the scrapbook, with its artistically designed leather cover, are Mrs. Bill Hughes, Mrs. L. C. Hill and Mrs. John Sherman.

The content will reveal a year of varied activity, beginning with the open house for the combined Hospital Day and Nurses Recruiting Day last May, and continuing through an unusually large number of services for a town of this size.

The Auxiliary is an integral part of the county Disaster Program, and during the year two practice alerts were held, in addition to several meetings last summer to acquaint members with their duties should a real disaster arise.

Their duties would include telephone duty over the hospital, admitting and tagging victims, acting as assistants in various departments of the hospital, provide messenger and information service. They also would perform other needed services.

A highlight of the year came when the float decorated by the Hospital Auxiliary, along with the Dominican Sisters and Clinic nurses placed first in the County Fair parade.

For the same event, the Auxiliary, through an information booth, was able to set up a "walking blood bank."

New ventures this year included a hospitality cart, bookmobile, coffee service and founding a Junior Auxiliary, which like the senior group, is a service organization.

During the year, the Hospital Auxiliary has encouraged memorial gifts to the hospital, something new for Wellington. As a result, oxygen has been piped into all rooms and the Hospital obtained a refrigerator for the nursery.

The Chamber of Commerce sparked a drive to raise funds for the Hospital, and due to the efforts of two Auxiliary members, the hospital received a grant from the Jesse Jones Foundation of Houston.

As St. Joseph's holds institutional membership in the American Hospital Association.

Quail FFA Wins Judging Honors in Tech Contest

Quail FFA Chapter was represented at Texas Tech judging contests in Lubbock Saturday, April 25, in the grass judging, dairy judging and poultry contest.

The grass judging team placed fourth over the entire contest; second in the Area 1; fourth on identification of grasses and fifth in judging of grasses. On the team were Jimmy Peters, Travis McGuire, Jr., and Julius Haralson.

The dairy judging team placed fourth in the Greenbelt District contest, which was a part of the Tech event. On the team were Team members were John Kennedy, Don Maxwell, and Danny Wheeler.

The poultry team was ninth in

Seen and Not Hurt

Children should be seen and not hurt is another way of reminding motorists to use their eyes to prevent tragedy. Spring and summer release children from indoors and often sidewalks into playgrounds. A child at play has no thought of safety. It's up to the driver to be alert to save a child who dashes blindly into a street from becoming a twisted traffic victim.

the Area. on the team were Freddy Boyce, Ronnie Colson, and Teddy Gentry. They will go to the state contest at A&M College Saturday, May 2, along with the other teams that make up the 10 ten of the Area 1.

Accompanying the boys were F. E. Kennedy, advisor, and Jim Lowe.

In the Tech contests, the boys compete on district level in some events; on the Area 1 basis in others; while in still other events boys from a larger territory take part.

On-the-Farm Fertilizer Study Set Up for Year

The cotton fertilizer work in the research demonstration program in Collingsworth County will be changed somewhat this year, Bob Lynch, county agent, and Dwane Scott, farm demonstrator assistant, have announced.

Information gained from last year's small-plot experiments to determine the optimum level of fertilization have been taken, in conjunction with soil test reports from Texas A&M, and recommendations were made for this year's work.

This concerns only the fertilizer result demonstrations, Lynch pointed out.

This year, plots will be set up based on the recommended application, one application higher and one lower than that recommended. Nitrogen and phosphorus will be used in most. These will be on deep sand.

There will be one plot in with phosphorus is put down first, with a side dressing of anhydrous ammonia.

The applications will be of 13-13-0; 20-0-0; 20-20-0; 32-32-0; 20-20-10. There will be additional check plots. All combinations will be made up or readily available commercial fertilizers, donated by the Farmers Co-op at Dodson and Steve Owens.

This year the plots will be six rows completely through the field, and each plot will be harvested separately and results recorded.

The experiments will be carried out on the farms of Olan Farris of Dodson and N. E. Childers of Quail.

The results of these demonstrations will enable Texas A&M College to check its recommendations so that future soil tests should be more accurate. Dr. Bill Bennett, soil chemist of the Extension Service co-ordinates all fertility studies in the state.

New Mesquite Control Work

A mesquite control demonstration has been started on the Edd Henard Ranch as part of the on-the-farm demonstration program, County Agent Bob Lynch has announced.

Dwane Scott, farm demonstrator assistant will be in charge of the work and the demonstration plot will be located on Highway 83, one-fourth mile north of the Salt Fork River Bridge.

Ninety-six mesquite trees will be treated with an application made up at the rate of 1 pint of 2, 4, 5 to three gallons of diesel oil. The base of each tree will be sprayed and any over five inches in diameter will be frilled before treatment.

Live tree counts will be made this fall, Lynch said.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The Wellington Future Farmers Rodeo that was postponed on account of bad weather will be held this coming Saturday at 7:30 in the evening. All of the events as previously publicized in The Leader will take place as scheduled and it should be a first class show.

Here at the Leader we regret that their so-called publicity man did not get the news to the paper in time for us to run a full story on the event. We are always glad to try to help you with your rodeo; but next year, boys, let us try to get the news to the people in time. If you get on a horse as slow as you get the news to the paper, you will be thrown before you get your feet in the stirrups.

I had a few remarks written about the visit of Fidel Castro and other subjects; but you can read about that in other publications.

Extend City Delivery South of 15th Street

An extension of city mail delivery to designated areas south of 15th Street was announced this week by Jim Cook, assistant postmaster.

Patrons in 12 blocks, along with the Housing Project, will be served, and delivery will begin "as soon as things can be lined up," Cook explained.

Areas included are the 1500 and 1600 blocks of Amarillo, Childress, Dalhart, El Paso and Graham Streets, and the housing project on Haskell.

"Those desiring city delivery should put their boxes up and the numbers on their houses," Cook said. They should notify the Post Office they desire service, giving their street address," he instructed.

The present carriers will take care of the added area for the present, Cook said. Most of those in the section added are now served by Route 2.

We Don't Care If It's Carol or Edna

Windstorms or hurricanes, even though given pretty feminine names, still cause many millions of dollars damage each year.

Warnings issued by the weather bureau save many lives—and some property; but nothing can stop a hurricane and it is too late to get windstorm insurance after the storm warnings are broadcast.

Why not see us TODAY and eliminate that panicky feeling when the radio warns of an approaching storm.
