

West Chilled By Red Plan

BERLIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—An apparent preview of the "Molotov Plan" for clinching Communist rule in a neutralized and isolated Germany seemingly dashed Western hopes tonight of a settlement with Russia at the Big Four conference here.

Earlier, in an effort to give Russia assurances of a peaceful Germany, Secretary of State Dulles had pledged the United States to "associate itself durably" with a future six-nation European defense army that would include German troops.

The East German Communist government put the apparent essentials of the Soviet foreign minister's impending proposal into a memorandum to the conference. It demanded: 1. Immediate scrapping of the European army pact and the Western powers' peace contract with the Bonn republic. 2. Immediate ban on "militaristic and fascist organizations" and expulsion of "Hitler officials" from the West German government.

3. Establishment of an all-German provisional government of "representatives from both parts of the nation." 4. Afterward, complete German control of a unifying election with Big Four supervision forbidden. 5. Withdrawal of all occupation troops within a year after conclusion of a German peace treaty to be drafted at a conference in 1954 of all former Allied powers with the all-German provisional government.

6. Immediate ban on the development, manufacture or stationing of atomic and bacteriological weapons in Germany. This would apply to once U. S. atomic artillery along the Rhine. Secretary of State Dulles told the Big Four conference here that the creation of a European Defense Community — in which West Germany first and then united Germany would join — is the only sure way to transform Europe "from a cockpit of war to a home of abiding peace."

Lashing the Western Allies' plan to unify this divided country, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov served notice that Germany must be neutralized. "The Soviet government advocates that the German state be really free in its domestic and foreign affairs as a result of all-German elections," he said. He insisted the four occupying powers should agree that a future all-German government could not be tied by agreement to any bloc.

The "Eden plan," submitted by Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden yesterday, would let the Germans start off their unification by free elections. Then it would allow them to make their own choice of allies after regaining sovereignty—a choice the West is convinced would be in its favor.

The Russian, whose surprise maneuvers had thrown the Berlin conference into a turmoil all week, announced he would present the "Molotov plan" for Germany at the next meeting in the Soviet embassy. He will be chairman. Molotov dodged committing himself against "free elections." Instead, he suggested all sorts of reasons against Big Four supervision of German voting.

He complained such supervision—designed by the Western powers to protect 18 million Germans in the Soviet zone from Communist fraud and terror—"suffers from distrust toward the democratic forces in Germany." "It takes too much care, and foreign powers would have too much to do with the preparation and carrying out of the elections," he added.

AND MAYBE HE SHOULD TEACH

Cast: A tall Indiana University student and a short professor. "How tall are you, son?" asked the professor. "Six feet, 10 1/2 inches, sir," replied the student. "You ought to be playing basketball," commented the professor. "I am trying," said Don Schundt, IU's Western Conference scoring champion.

Poll Tax Rate Gains After A Slow Start

Germany would look like after the elections suggested by Mr. Eden. A Soviet spokesman announced tonight that Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Molotov's principal aide, had been taken ill here, "but most probably the sickness will pass quite quickly." No details were given. Dulles was the West's leading voice at today's session.

Poll tax payments were beginning to accelerate Saturday, but it appeared the county will have far less than a record number of qualified voters when the deadline passes at midnight tonight. The total number of poll tax receipts and exemption certificates issued at close of business Saturday was 7,675. Viola Robinson, tax assessor-collector, reported. That was a gain of nearly a thousand during the day and marked the most active day of the month for poll tax payments.

The rate is slightly ahead of 1953, when 6,317 voters had qualified on the same date. But it is short of the volume of 1952, last regular election year. On this date in 1952, 9,076 poll taxes and exemptions had been issued—a record for the county. Mrs. Robinson reminded that her office (in the courthouse) will remain open today—until midnight—to accept poll tax payments and issue exemption certificates right up to the deadline. The tax office will open at 9 a. m.

The tax assessor-collector said also that mail payments and exemption requests will be honored if they are postmarked prior to midnight tonight. A person wishing to pay the tax (or secure exemption) by mail should list his name, age, address, place of birth, length of residence in the county, and number of precinct in which he resides, Mrs. Robinson said. All this information is specified on last year's poll tax receipts, so the old receipt may be sent in, along with $1.75 for each tax payment.

Many Die When Train Runs Into Egyptian Throng

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 30 (AP)—The cheers of a crowd greeting President Gen. Mohamed Naguib drowned out the roar of an approaching express train today and at least 28 persons were killed and five seriously injured. An official communique gave the total casualties after first reports from the scene said 42 had been killed and scores injured. The accident occurred at the railway station of Kafr El Zayat, between Cairo and Alexandria. Naguib wept in grief as the express plowed through the crowd, and afterward directed that 50 pounds ($143) be paid to the families of each victim.

The driver of the streamlined express, held by police for questioning, said he had no advance warning of the crowd on the tracks and he was unable to see it because of a curve. The President and his aides joined rescue workers in caring for the scores of injured left in the path of the express, a streamlined Cairo-Alexandria passenger train not scheduled to stop at Kafr El Zayat. Hundreds had gathered at the station of that industrial town of 21,000 midway between Cairo and Alexandria, where the President's special train was sidetracked to clear the main line. Unaware the express was due, the crowd thronged across the tracks cheering and shouting greetings to the man who deposed King Farouk I in 1952 and proclaimed Egypt a republic. The train dived out the sound of the approaching train until it struck the crowd. Delighted cries and shouts changed to screams. The express' engineer had been unable to brake it in time. Neither the presidential train nor the express was damaged. Egyptian reporters at the scene said at least 42 persons were killed. Under secretary of the Interior Mahmoud El Bagoury said Alexandria police reports confirmed 30 dead. Naguib had journeyed to Kafr El Zayat on his way to the village of Kalib Ibar, part of which was destroyed yesterday by fire.

Armed Robbers Get $250 From Grocery Clerk

Two men walked out of Jack's Drive-In Grocery, 510 Lamesa Highway, with $250 Saturday night after pulling a gun and ordering a clerk to open the cash register. Elvira Nunez, the clerk, who was alone in the store when the men came in, said the men demanded "all the money in the register." The robbery occurred at about 9-10 p. m. The men entered immediately after a customer had left the building.

Miss Nunez said one of the men walked to the back of the store while another asked for some cigars. Then the one who walked to the back returned to the counter and told his companion that no one else was in the store. He then pulled a gun on the clerk. "If you move, I'll shoot," the girl quoted the man as saying. "This is a stick-up."

As they left, the two men told Miss Nunez that if she turned around that they would shoot her. Consequently she did not see which way the men went. She heard their car motor, and told police it sounded like an old vehicle. Police broadcast an areawide alert Saturday night for two men between the ages of 22 and 25 in connection with the incident. Miss Nunez said the men also wore "dirty looking" and that one wore a grey shirt and levis.

Schools Are Observing Anniversary

The 100th birthday of the Texas Public School System will be commemorated in a brief program here today. There will be a series of brief sketches in the affair slated for 2:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The high school choir, under direction of Harry Lee Plumbeley, will be featured. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, urged that as many citizens who are able attend the program. While this is by no means the only observance of the year, it does fall on the very day that the state's public school program was enacted in 1854. Blankenship said.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor, is to give the invocation following a singing of the national anthem by the choir. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, will give the highlights of the history of Texas schools. Walker Bailey will trace the history of Howard County schools. Following selections by the choir, Mrs. W. N. Norred, president of the 16th district of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, will sketch P-T-A history, particularly that of local units. Joe Pickle is to touch upon history of the Big Spring schools, and Marvin Miller, president of the Big Spring board, is to have a look at the future of the schools. There will be refreshments in the cafeteria immediately following.

Negro Confesses To Rape-Slaying

DALLAS, Jan. 30 (AP)—A 19-year-old man today signed a confession that he was the slayer of Mrs. W. C. Parker here last September, and police were checking his story. Capt. Will Fritz of the Dallas Police Department said he thought "he's the guy, but the boy could be lying to us." Mrs. Parker was raped, Fritz said the man, a Negro, had not mentioned rape yet, and police hadn't asked him about rape yet. Fritz said the man fitted the description of one seen in the vicinity of Mrs. Parker's slaying on the night she was attacked. Fritz said the investigation was far from complete but he was pretty well convinced that the Negro was the right man. Indications were no charges would be filed until police had checked every detail of the confession. Mrs. Parker was slain as she stood on a lonely corner in northwest Dallas, Sept. 30 waiting for a bus about 9 p. m. Her assailant took her under a nearby bridge. Her throat was slashed with a knife. Her death climaxed a series of reported attacks on women in Dallas. The Negro was arrested at his North Dallas home last night. He had been under surveillance for some time. Fritz indicated there were some discrepancies in his story. The Negro said he held the woman up "and she just jumped into the knife in my hand." He said he then took $5 from the woman's purse, got on a bus and left. Mrs. Parker, 29, was found staggering onto Lemmon Avenue. A passing motorist picked her up, took her to the Love Field Administration building nearby and called police. She died in the arms of police officers a few minutes later, gasping that "a Negro took me under the bridge and slashed off my throat." She was torn, scratched and striped of nearly all her clothing. The crime set off an intensive search with 300 or 400 private citizens joining scores of police. It set off a case of the jitters in Dallas.

House Panel Asks Reds Be Ruled Conspirators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee recommended today that proven Communists be legally branded conspirators against the United States. In its annual report to Congress, the committee proposed changes in the law to provide that proof of Communist party membership by itself automatically constitute evidence of conspiracy to overthrow the government.

The effect of the recommendation would be to subject U. S. Communists to automatic prosecution under the Smith Act, which provides stiff jail sentences for conspiracy to teach or advocate overthrow of the government by force or violence. It was under the Smith Act that the government convicted the 11 top U. S. Communist party leaders. In that case, however, the government had to present elaborate proof of conspiracy. The new proposal would simplify the task of prosecution.

The conspiracy proposal was among a number of far-reaching recommendations to Congress contained in the committee's report of its operations for 1953. Included were renewed recommendations to legalize wiretapped evidence, grant immunity to bulky witnesses and thus prevent them from invoking the constitutional clause against self-incrimination, strengthen the Taft-Hartley labor law to combat Red infiltration of unions, and deny mail privileges to subversive foreign publications. The committee, in presenting its recommendations, said Congress must consider the "ultimate solution" of outlawing the Communist party in dealing finally with the international Communist conspiracy.

It stated, however, it was not prepared to recommend such a step until the Supreme Court finally passes on the ruling of the Subversive Activities Control Board, which held the Communist party to be a subversive organization. As an interim step, the committee proposed an amendment to the Smith Act to "provide that proof of membership in the Communist party shall constitute prima facie evidence of violation of the Act." Conviction under the Smith Act carries penalties up to 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each count.

As it did in previous reports, the committee again recommended passage of law to make wiretapped information admissible as evidence in espionage trials or any case involving the national security. It suggested no specific legislation, beyond proposing that "adequate safeguards be adopted to protect the civil liberties of all citizens." Wiretap bills are now before committees of the House and Senate. Sharp differences have developed, however, over an administration-backed bill which would

Loyalist Demo Council Named

Would Simplify Any Prosecution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Texas 31 state senatorial districts. The remaining districts will choose nominees for the council in the near future. A committee official, in response to a reporter's inquiry, said naturally only Democrats "loyal to the national party" were put on the council. He thus differentiated between the Texas Democratic faction headed by Rep. Sam Rayburn, House minority leader, which supported the Stevenson presidential ticket in 1952, and the pro-Eisenhower Democrats led by Gov. Allen Shivers. Machinery of the Democratic Party in the state for the November elections will probably be decided at a convention of the party to be held Sept. 14. The 55 Democrats named to the state advisory council of the national committee were: J. E. King, Memphis; James G. Lumpkin, Amarillo; Dr. Evelyn Powers, Amarillo; Byron L. McClellan, Gatesville; Marcus Hickerson, Waxahachie; Carlton Smith, Waco; Tom DuBoise, Belton; John Simmang, Giddings; J. A. Reat, Luling; Charles Luther, Palestine; Walter Hall, Dickens; Ed M. # Both Parties Slate Election Warm-Ups

By H. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The major political parties announced plans today for simultaneous congressional election warm-ups, starting next week with a big GOP rally here and an intensive Democratic speaking campaign in key Western states. At the same time the Democratic National Committee recognized 55 Democrats in faction-torn Texas by naming them to a Texas advisory council. They will raise funds and be consulted on party problems. They are all described as "loyal" to the national party as distinguished from the 1952 pro-Eisenhower Democrats. The Republicans mapped a three day rally beginning Feb. 4, when the national committee and its finance, women's and Young Republican adjuncts will hold sessions on the campaign to increase the GOP margin of control in Congress next November. The high spot of the Republican drive will come Friday night when President and Mrs. Eisenhower, Vice President and Mrs. Nixon and members of the Cabinet and their wives, with Senate and House chieftains, attend the annual Lincoln Day box supper at a sports arena. There will be the usual Hollywood atmosphere and lots of party whoop-de-do. The President will speak briefly. He already has released a recorded film for similar dinners being held on various dates. In this talk he makes a strong plea for party unity. The Republican National Finance Committee meets Thursday to set a 1954 budget for the Senate and House campaign committees. The national committee itself will start its first meeting of the year Friday and continue over into Saturday. Speakers include National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, Chairman Everett Dirksen, Illinois, and See POLITICS, Pg. 6, Col. 4

Bids Opened On Runway Project For Webb AFB

Apparent low bidder for the runway, taxiway and landing light extensions at Webb Air Force Base is Jarbet Construction Company of San Antonio. Jarbet submitted a bid of $235,111 for the work, according to a tabulation by the U. S. Engineers. This compared with the government estimate of $369,101 for the job. It was about $600 under the nearest bid submitted by H. B. Zachary Company, which is doing the City of Big Spring paving project. This project calls for extension of the runway for T-28 planes (propeller driven) from 5,000 to 8,000 feet. It also will call for widening of two taxiways now connecting the runways, and construction of a new taxiway to connect the extension with the present jet strip. There will be a change and an extension of the border lights, too. The improvements will call for a change in Webb AFB operation patterns with the T-28 schedule stepped up at Midland where crews will be maintained temporarily, and for jet touch-and-go operations at Avenger Field near Sweetwater. Work is due to start the latter part of February and should be completed by late August or early September.

Be A Voting Citizen...Pay Your Poll Tax Before Midnight!

John A. Currie Dies Suddenly Here Saturday

John Andrew Currie, 82, known to his friends as "Uncle Johnny," died suddenly of heart attack Saturday morning.

Although he had not been in the best of health, he had been able to drive downtown each day as had been his custom for years. Saturday, however, he suffered a sudden attack and died at 8:45 a.m. at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Temp S. Currie Sr.

Rites are to be said at the Eberly-River Chapel at 4 p.m. today with Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Uncle Johnny was born in Wisconsin and came here before the turn of the century to join in a ranching enterprise near Garden City with his brother, the late T. S. Currie Sr. Before coming to Texas, he had engaged for a brief time in railroading. After he and his brother sold out their ranch holdings, he retired. He always had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Currie.

Besides his sister-in-law, other survivors include two nephews, Robert W. Currie and Temp Currie Jr., Big Spring, and one niece, Agnes Currie, Big Spring; a grandnephew, John Currie; Big Spring a grand-niece, Ann Taylor Currie, Big Spring; and a great-great-grandniece, Carol Currie.

Palbearers will be Chester Cathey, Lee Porter, Fred Haller, Jim H. Fryar, Dale Chandler, Leonard Moseley, Harold Canning, and J. N. Young Jr.

Baptist Speaker

Dr. George Wilson, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Sweetwater, is to be in the pulpit of the First Baptist Church here at 8 p.m. today in an exchange with Dr. P. D. O'Brien, Dr. O'Brien, who is to be in his own pulpit this morning, will be in Abilene during the afternoon and will be in Sweetwater for the evening worship.

Meet Set To Plan Youth Safety Week

A meeting is slated for 4:30 p.m. Monday in the City Hall to formulate plans for "Youth Traffic Safety Week."

The meeting will be sponsored by the Citizens Traffic Commission, and members of the senior and junior high school safety councils will attend.

Teen-age drivers will be given the chance to solve their own traffic safety problems, it was announced by K. H. McGibbon, chairman of the juvenile drivers committee. The safety councils were organized on request of the CTC.

Members of the Senior High Council are Ann Gray, Tom Henry Guin, and Glenn Rogers. Elected to represent Junior High were Sue Boykin, Lewis Porter, Ronny King and Sue Barnes.

Ralph Proctor Announces For Commissioner

Ralph Proctor, county commissioner for Precinct No. 1 has announced his candidacy for re-election.

Proctor announced for the Democratic nomination.

He is at present serving his first term in the office. A resident of Howard County for 25 years, Proctor is engaged in farming and lives in the Vealmoor community.

He has been active in community and county affairs and has had business experience other than farming.

On making his announcement, Proctor said he is "very interested in the progress and welfare of Howard County."

"I have endeavored to perform the duties of the office in a manner that the citizens of Howard County have a right to expect, weighing every matter of county business carefully before making a decision," Proctor stated.

He added that he is "most grateful" for the cooperation and confidence shown by citizens during his first year in office.

"The commissioners court has cooperated with the State Highway Department in securing right-of-way for all new paving allocated for Howard County," Proctor said. "One of the most important of these projects is the improvement of Fourth Street in Big Spring as a part of the Highway 80 system. We expect to complete arrangements for the Fourth Street project in the next few months."

"I also expect to devote myself to the problems which will be involved in construction of the Highway 80 freeway through Howard County in the future," Proctor stated.

"If the voters of Howard County see fit to honor me with this office for a second term, I will continue to look after the interests of the people of the entire county and attempt to serve them in a courteous, economical manner," he asserted.

Army Major Termed Red

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-N.Y.) today questioned a man he described as an Army major and said the witness invoked the Fifth Amendment.

McCarthy further charged that the officer, a dentist, was a "long-time Communist" whom the Army promoted three months ago even though he had refused to answer an Army questionnaire about possible Communist activities.

Both today and in the case of the Army interrogatory, McCarthy said the major pleaded his constitutional protection against self-incrimination.

McCarthy said there was no espionage involved in the major's activities, as far as he knew. The Senator, who heads the Permanent Investigations subcommittee, sat alone in today's executive session.

Afterward he did not identify the witness but gave newsmen this additional descriptive information:

"The major lives in Queens, in New York City, and is assigned to Camp Kilmer, near New Brunswick, N. J. He attended the City College of New York in 1933, has a daughter and was drafted into the Army a year ago after trying to enlist."

McCarthy said the Army, upon being notified last week that he was going to question the major, asked the officer to resign.

The major plans to resign before March 31, but should be dishonorably discharged, McCarthy said.

He said the witness would be called before a public hearing of the subcommittee Feb. 18.

Motorcycle Club Is Formed Here

A group of Big Spring motorcycle riders formed an organization Friday night known as the "Whitehawk Motorcycle Club." H. H. (Moon) Mullen was elected president of the club.

Other officers elected include Calvin Jones, vice president; Ele Bettersson, secretary; Billy Cooke, treasurer; A. J. Betterton, referee; and Bud Geary, road captain.

A charter has been requested from the American Motorcycle Association and purposes of the club were announced to be the encouragement of safe motorcycle riding. A field meet has tentatively been scheduled for this summer.

Meetings are set for Thursday of each week at 507 East 6th Street, Mullen's home. All interested riders are urged to attend the 7:30 meetings.

NLRB Nominee To Try To Clear Dispute

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said today Albert C. Beeson has been granted an opportunity to appear again before the Senate Labor Committee in the dispute over his nomination to the National Labor Relations Board.

While Smith, the committee chairman, said the hearings on the nomination were not being reopened, he agreed that Beeson would be subject to questioning at the session set for Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Democrats on the committee have protested against what they called "steam-roller tactics," insisting that inadequate hearings were held on Beeson's qualifications. Some of them have called him a "company man" and raised the question whether he would have conflicting loyalties to his government post and private industry.

The Republican committee members stood together on President Eisenhower's appointment, however, and confirmation of Beeson's nomination was recommended to the Senate by straight party vote of 7-6.

Since then dispute has arisen as to whether Beeson has any arrangement to go back to work for the Food, Machinery and Chemical Corp. of San Jose, Calif., after serving for a time on the NLRB.

Beeson, former director of industrial relations for the company, told the Labor Committee last week that he has no such arrangement, but the question was reopened after additional information came to the committee members.

Some of the Republican members of the committee met with Beeson behind closed doors this morning, and it was after this that Smith announced that Beeson wants to "place a statement in the record" on this issue.

Senate consideration of Beeson's nomination, under fire from some top union leaders as well as Senate Democrats, had been scheduled for Tuesday. Smith said he will ask Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), the majority leader, to postpone action "for a day or two."

"We are not reopening the hearings and are not asking that the nomination be sent back to the committee," Smith told newsmen, adding there was "nothing to justify that."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.), a member of the Labor Committee, said in commenting on Smith's announcement that "he has acceded to what the Democrats asked."

"The Democrats have been urging and insisting all along that we be given an opportunity to go fully into Mr. Beeson's qualifications and this question of conflict-of-interest," Hill said.

Smith referred to the matter as a "misunderstanding," saying he felt some "confusion" had arisen as a result of statements made here and in California. He expressed confidence that it could be cleared up.

One Texan On New List Of U.S. Dead

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Army today identified 58 soldiers, previously reported missing, who are now believed to have died in Korea.

The determinations were based on evidence, usually from eyewitnesses, that the men have died even though the bodies have not been recovered.

Those named in today's list included:

Cpl. Jimmie Terry, son of Mrs. Cora Terry, 1114 New York St., Fort Worth.

Asks Re-Election

Sam F. (Buster) Cox has announced he would be a candidate for re-election as sheriff of Glasscock County. He expressed thanks for support given him during his tenure in office. "I have sought to perform the duties of the office to the best of my abilities and will continue to do so," he said.

Earth Satellite Would Permit World Conquest

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (U)—Samuel F. Pryor, executive vice president of Pan American World Airways, said today that if a nation bent on world conquest should perfect an earth satellite, it may be able to reduce any country to ashes.

Pryor spoke to the Women's Forum on National Security. He recalled that documents captured in World War II disclosed German scientists had worked on technical details for such a man-made satellite. It would revolve about the earth in an orbit 600 miles away.

"We have definite reason to believe that the Russians not only share with us paper knowledge of such an earth satellite—they also have in their control some of the German scientists who worked on this," Pryor said.

It was reported soon after the collapse of Nazi Germany that the Russians—like the Western Allies—had taken over German scientists and their data in the satellite and many other fields of experimentation.

"The most outstanding feature of this satellite," Pryor said, "was to be a giant mirror with an arrangement for changing its focal length so that the sun rays could be either concentrated on a small area of the earth, resulting in intense heat; or spread over a large area."

Peaceful uses of the satellite envisioned a better means of studying the interplanetary system, and controlling the earth's weather.

Pryor continued: "But the Nazis, like the Reds, were superior to God and the rest of the human race, and were not interested in scientific or humanitarian aspects of this plan."

"What appealed to them was the potential destructive power of a highly concentrated sunbeam that a large space reflector could produce."

"Such a mirror, properly focused on London, New York, Chicago or San Francisco might be able to burn to a crisp in a matter of minutes ever man, animal, plant, tree or shrub . . ."

"Only those in caves might survive—if they could find enough vegetation to sustain life when they came out."

Youth Is Returned

A nine-year-old run-away boy from Stanton, apprehended Thursday by Big Spring officers, has been returned to his home, Juvenile Officer A. E. Long said Saturday.

Released On Bond

Charges of aggravated assault have been filed in County Court against Chester Leo Smith. He is at liberty on $300 bond, according to records of the sheriff's department.

Hearing On Garlington Suit Is Recessed Until Tuesday

Judge Charlie Sullivan recessed until Tuesday morning the trespass to try title trial of J. S. Garlington and others against A. L. Wasson and N. H. Reed. The trial was recessed at the close of testimony heard Friday. The case is expected to consume most of the coming week. It involves title to 2,560 acres of land in northeast Howard County, Sections 20, 21, 22 and 23 of Block 25, H&TC Railway Survey.

The jury Friday heard depositions taken from nine persons by the plaintiffs. The depositions were made by George W. Garlington, brother of the plaintiff; R. E. Tyler, Bowie physician; J. W. Chancellor, Bowie lawyer; Fred Ford, Montague County farmer; Jeanne McCutcheon, reporter for the 118th District Court in Dallas; F. S. Reaser, Bowie oil man; Arthur Willis, grocer, also from Bowie; John Daventport Wichita Falls attorney; and Dr. L. C. Funchess, Bowie veterinarian.

Miss McCutcheon said in her deposition she attempted to take a deposition from J. S. Garlington at one time, but that he refused. The others testified of their acquaint-

Inventories Of Autos Still High Leading To Some Price-Cutting

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Staff

DETROIT, Jan. 30 (U)—Blitz sales and razzle dazzle promotion have faded from automobile merchandising but some fantastic offers still are made to reduce inventories.

There are plenty of cars but buyers have become bargain hunters. In some instances dealers assert they face ruin because of what they call overproduction. They also blame "bootlegging" of new cars into their territory by used car dealers, who sell at cut prices.

Price cutting and high tradetrad allowances are quite general. There still are substantial stocks of 1953 cars. Many dealers are fearful of a production race in 1954.

These are some of the facts developed in an Associated Press cross-section survey of automobile market conditions in nearly a score of cities and trading areas throughout the nation. Other things brought out include:

Inventories in many instances are as much as 40 per cent higher than they were a year ago.

Demand is down—in some instances as much as 30 per cent. As a result of some fantastic trading would-be buyers have an exaggerated idea of the value of their present cars.

New 1953 model cars still on hand are being offered at little or no profit.

And many dealers are cutting prices even on 1954 models—either in straight reductions or exorbitant tradetrad allowances.

Frances Glenn Is Candidate For Treasurer

Mrs. Frances Glenn is to be a candidate again for the nomination for treasurer of Howard County.

She said Saturday that she was entering her name subject to action of the Democratic primaries.

In asking voters for the privilege to succeed herself Mrs. Glenn said she was grateful that voters had made it possible for her to discharge duties of the office. This opportunity had given her a thorough foundation in functions of the office, and thus had better equipped her to serve.

"Not only have I been privileged to learn the mechanics of the office," she said, "but I have come to understand its relations to other offices in our county government. By permitting me to be treasurer, the people have made it possible for me to widen my acquaintanceship to a degree that this also helps in a more efficient discharge of the duties."

"While I want to say thanks for past support," she added, "I want to renew my pledge to say thanks for consideration by doing the type of job you expect to be done."

Lone Star Solons' Votes On Roll Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (U)—How Texas members of Congress were recorded as voting on recent roll calls:

Senate: On ratification, 81-5 of Mutual Defense Treaty between the United States and Korea: Daniel and Johnson, for.

On confirmation, 59-25, of nomination of Robert E. Lee of District of Columbia to be a member of the Communications Commission: Daniel, for; Johnson, not voting.

House: On passage, 323-27, of bill providing $741,648,788 to write off Commodity Credit Corp.'s losses for the fiscal year:

For — Brooks, Burleson, Dies, Dowdy, Fisher, Gentry, Ikard, Kilgus, Lucas, Mahon, Rayburn, Rogers, Rogers, Teague, Thornberry, Wilson.

Against — Patman, Thomas.

Not voting — Bentsen, Lyle, Poage, Clark Thompson.

ance with Garlington in connection with the plaintiffs' contention that he was of unsound mind at the time he lost title to the four sections of land.

Plaintiffs seek to void a Howard County District Court judgment of 1941 affirming Wasson's title to the land. Wasson had gained title at public auction of the land on foreclosure of a deed of trust which Wasson held.

The plaintiffs claim that Garlington was of unsound mind at the time the deed of trust was made, at the time of the foreclosure, and at the time the district court judgment was rendered. They also contend he was not properly represented at the trial.

Reed was named a party in the suit because he is present owner of the land. Judge Sullivan recessed the case until Tuesday as he must be in Garden City Monday to open 118th District Court there. The jury is to return at 9 a.m. Tuesday for resumption of testimony.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs are T. B. Coffield and J. M. Donald of Bowie. Representing the defendants is the firm of Thomas, Thomas & Jones of Big Spring.

British Ambassador Sets Texas Speeches

HOUSTON, Jan. 30 (U)—Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador to the United States, will make two major addresses while in Texas for a March 3-10 visit, Consul-General Alex C. S. Adams said today.

The ambassador will speak at private dinners March 4 in Dallas and March 9 in Houston. Editors of newspapers from throughout Texas will attend the Dallas dinner. Details of the Houston dinner have not been announced.

Adams said the ambassador will begin his "official visit to Texas" March 3 at Dallas, flying there from New Orleans.

Finally at used car lots are being offered more than they paid for them. The survey disclosed there is a continuing difference of opinion between manufacturer and merchandiser as to the new market potential for 1954.

Most manufacturers are saying the market will need between five and 5 1/2 million new cars this year. Dealer spokesmen say the estimate is nearly a million units too high.

And, some of them add, that difference in production could well determine whether there will be in 1954 any more of the "blitz" sales drives that marked late 1953.

The survey indicated that while there were evidences of distress sales in some sections of the country they were far from general.

San Francisco reported several instances of offers of $1,000 off on new 1953 medium price models, on which some dealers were said to be "terrifically overstocked."

Some Denver dealers said the manufacturers had disrupted the market by loading retailers with 1953 models late last year.

Dallas reported most dealers getting full price for 1954 models but selling 1953 cars at cost and less.

It was in Augusta, Ga., that perhaps the most serious situation was reported. The Augusta Chronicle said sales of most dealers are down 35 to 50 per cent. It said a production battle and the "worst bootleg competition in the southeast" in 1954 model cars are threatening the city's economy.

Mitchell Seeks Glasscock Post

GARDEN CITY — Dick Mitchell has announced that he is a candidate for the office of County Judge of Glasscock County, subject to the Democratic primaries.

Mitchell was reared in Sweetwater and attended Abilene Christian College. He came to Glasscock County about 18 years ago and has been engaged in ranching until two years ago. He is now in the hardware and feed business in Garden City.

In making his announcement he said if elected he would "perform the duties of the office to the best of my abilities and work for the best interest of Glasscock County in a cooperative, courteous and economical manner."

Boy Killed In Motor Scooter-Car Accident

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 30 (U)—Jerry James Romero, 15, was killed last night when his motor scooter collided with an automobile.

Bobby Schoenberg, 14, who also was riding on the scooter, had a broken knee.

Parents See Ninth Of Family Join Up

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 30 (U)—For the ninth time, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lehnertz of Muenster, have said goodbye to a child entering the armed forces.

Donald Lehnertz, 18, left for an Army induction center Thursday following his enlistment from Cooke County.

His seven brothers and one sister have preceded him in uniform. Dolores was a nurse. Giles and Floyd were in the Navy. Jim, Earl, Gene, David and Quentin were Army men.

The Lehnertz have another son, Claude, a high school sophomore, who says he expects to enlist when he finishes school.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

Wonderful Words of Life

A Poverty Stricken Youth Turns Hymn Writer

In 1848 a ragged little ten-year-old boy walked from his log cabin home in the woods of Clearfield County, Pennsylvania, to the neighboring town of Rome. He had brought a basket of berries to sell so that he might add a few pennies to those he was saving to buy a cheap violin.

Walking the streets in search of a market for his berries, the lad heard strangely beautiful music. He hurried toward the house from which the enchanting sound came. It must be a piano, he thought, because his mother had told him about the sound. The only instrument he had actually heard was a flute he had whistled from a cane.

Putting his basket on the steps, the boy ventured to the open door. When the lady saw him she abruptly stopped playing. Philip Bliss related in later life that he begged the lady to "please play some more." Instead of being accommodated, he was ordered away and scolded for making tracks on the porch with his dusty feet.

Before he died in a railroad wreck in his thirty-eighth year, Philip Bliss was to write many a song that ladies would be playing on pianos for generations. He usually wrote his own words to his melodies, most of his themes being taken from sermons.

As editor of his highly popular "Gospel Songs" . . . for which his royalties ran more than $30,000, the boy who had once been denied the luxury of hearing a piano, wrote:

Sing them over again to me,
Wonderful words of Life;
Let me more of their beauty see,
Wonderful words of Life.

Teach me more of their beauty see,
Wonderful words of Life;
Words of life and beauty,
Teach me faith and duty;
Beautiful words, wonderful words,
Wonderful words of Life.

Christ, the blessed One, gives to all
Wonderful words of Life;
Sinner, list to the loving call,
Wonderful words of Life.
All so freely given,
Wooping us to Heaven;
Beautiful words, wonderful words,
Wonderful words of Life.

Sweetly echo the gospel call,
Wonderful words of Life;
Offer pardon and peace to all,
Wonderful words of Life.

Jesus, our Saviour,
Sanctify forever;
Beautiful words, wonderful words,
Wonderful words of Life.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

GARDEN CITY — The barbecue pits on the grounds of the Garden City School have been repaired and put in good order and everything is ready for the annual barbecue and livestock show and sale next Friday.

Construction of the pits originally cost $1,500, shared half and half by the school and the county. Not so far back the intense heat of the fires cracked the pits and repairs were needed. One contractor put in a bid of almost the construction price to do this work. But County Judge David L. Smith, County Commissioner A. W. White, School Superintendent W. A. Wilson, got together and accomplished the necessary repairs at no such expense.

The meat was killed Friday and more than 1,000 pounds of mutton and beef will be over the mesquite fires in those pits early next Friday morning.

Also there will be the usual gallons of hot coffee and the original order is for 100 pounds of beans. The potato salad, as always will be brought in that morning by the ladies of the county.

All Glasscock turns out to support this big annual event.

Visitors who haven't been in the Garden City area since last year's show and sale (and barbecue) are going to find that country getting a little drier.

Mrs. Asta Allen, ASC (formerly PMA) office manager at Garden City, has been checking up on the rainfall. They have only had 22 inches in the last three years, she says. This was seven inches in 1953, seven inches in 1952 and eight inches in 1951. The hardest and heaviest rain they had during the first six months last year was a one-inch rain in March.

Bryant Harris, just east of Garden City, is official rain observer for the Weather Bureau. He has authority to make a collect call to the Bureau if they ever get a rain of as much as two inches.

The folks down that way are wondering if he will ever get to make a call.

This year's show will be judged by M. B. Inman, instructor in agriculture at San Angelo College. He will place about 75 lambs, four steers and six capons. One of the steers, a project of Ralph Schaefer, grandson of John Schaefer, is a 4-H entry and the other three are FFA steers.

Young Schaefer's steer, bred by his grandfather, is a drylot entry. Jimmy Smith, has two steers, one drylot and one milkfed, and John L. Daniels has one drylot steer. All are Herefords this year.

The capons have been entered by a couple of the 4-H clubbers, Rex Mason and Kenneth Smith. They have a trio of each. The judging will start at 9 a.m. Friday.

Committees of the show, barbecue and sale are:

Finance: Dick Mitchell, W. R. Price, William Schaefer, Martin Holder and Hugh Crouch.

Barbecue: W. E. Chaney, Roy Carter, Tom Asbill, Alton Cook, Mac O'Bannon, Henry Hillger and Kirk Fisher.

Auction: W. A. Wilson, B. L. Murphy and John LeMay.

Assisting, advising and generally doing a lot of hard work are a couple of gentlemen of many functions—Oliver Werst, county agricultural agent, and M. T. Barber, vocational agriculture instructor in the Garden City High School.

Dub Clark of San Angelo will again be the auctioneer.

And there are going to be brothers and sisters competing against each other in the lamb show. For example there are the Asbills—Thelbert, Jack, Aubrey and Mary Ruth. They're all feeding 4-H lambs and competition is keen among these three brothers and their sister. Then there are also the Schraeders, Bill, Dennis and Betty, more 4-H entries.

Among the Glasscock 4-H Club members showing lambs will be Thelbert Asbill, two crossbred lambs, one bred by John Reed and one by Cook and Hardy; Jack Asbill, one finewool bred by Clyde Berry; Aubrey Asbill, one finewool bred by I. L. Watkins; Mary Ruth Asbill, one finewool bred by Cook and Hardy; Jimmy Davee, one crossbred lamb bred by Foster Bros., and one finewool bred by F. S. Price; Ralph Schaefer, two finewool lambs, one bred by John Schaefer and one bred by I. L. Watkins; Clifford Stevens, one finewool bred by Clyde Berry and one crossbred bred by John Reed; Kenneth Smith, one finewool bred by Clyde Berry, and one crossbred by John Reed.

Frank Cline, two crossbred lambs both bred by Jack Cook; Bill Schraeder, one finewool bred by A. W. Schraeder; Dennis Schraeder, one crossbred bred by Carl Hightower; Betty Schraeder, one finewool bred by A. W. Schraeder;

David Harris, two finewool lambs both bred by B. A. Harris; Eddie Price, two finewool lambs, one bred by V. L. McWhirter and one bred by F. S. Price; Don Phillips, three finewool bred by Floyd Phillips, and one crossbred bred by Hamlin Elrod; Doug Parker, one finewool bred by Weldon Parker;

Kenneth Robinson, one finewool bred by Bill Robinson; Frank Murphy, one finewool bred by Clyde Berry and one crossbred bred by John Reed; Paul Harrison, one finewool bred by J. H. Harrison; Gary McDaniel, two finewool lambs both bred by Ronnell McDaniel.

Kremlin Has Named 31 New Envoys Since Stalin's Death

By TOM WHITNEY
Associated Press Staff

Since Joseph Stalin's death Moscow has named 31 new envoys abroad, a count yesterday disclosed. New men, many direct from Moscow, have gone out to represent the Kremlin in most of the countries with which Moscow has relations.

Some of the more important assignments have gone to men who made their careers in high levels of the Communist party and have had no previous diplomatic experience. The changes made in satellite countries, especially, look like a tightening of party control over those countries. Six satellite countries have received new Soviet envoys in the post-Stalin period. The Soviet representatives in those countries look less and less like diplomats, more and more like Kremlin proconsuls. It has become Moscow policy to replace career diplomats in satellites with tough, experienced men from Nikita Khrushchev's central committee.

Since Stalin died 10 months ago there have been two changes in each of three countries—China, India and East Germany. Single changes affected the United Nations, Austria, Yugoslavia, Poland, France, Afghanistan, Australia, Iran, Mexico, Greece, Romania, The Netherlands, Israel, New Zealand, Syria, Lebanon, Canada, North Korea, Ethiopia, Egypt, Turkey, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Iceland and Bulgaria.

A few of these shifts may be in the nature of a purge. A few others might have been made as routine reassignments. But the broad scope of the moves suggests the Russians, in implementing new tactics and policy since Stalin's death, have had to send out new men. Simultaneously their predecessors have returned to Moscow for reinductration.

Second Victim Dies

HOBBS, N. M., Jan. 30 (AP)—F. L. Berry, Plains, Yoakum County, Tex., died here late yesterday—the second victim of a two-car collision near here Thursday. State police said Elvin Leon Littrell, 29, of Borger, Tex., died yesterday from injuries received in the smashup. State police said Littrell's car smashed into Berry's on a curve.

Changing Tastes Wreak Havoc In U.S. Wool-Textile Industry

By JOHN B. KNOX
BOSTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. America have wrought far-reaching changes in the country's wool-textile industry.

For evidence consider the fact that the giant American Woolen Co. has mapped out a wholesale reorganization and some 130 lesser known wool-textile mills have folded completely. Forty-eight thousand textile industry jobs have disappeared since 1948.

American mills used 748 million pounds of clean, raw wool in 1946. They used 463 million pounds in 1952.

What's the reason?
The current report of the Boston conference on distribution sheds fresh light on the wool-textile problem.

In it, A. W. Zelomek, president of International Statistical Bureau, Inc., says:

"Between 1922 and 1952 American families increased their food purchases by 224 per cent and their clothing purchases by only 82 per cent. Unfortunately for the apparel man, you have to replace yesterday's steak, but you can make do with last year's suit."

Tobe Collier Davis of Tobe and Associates, Inc., New York business statisticians, says: "Although his family is larger, the average American spends less for clothes. Out of his new, bigger income he spends less than 8 per cent for everybody's clothing needs, two percentage points less than he spent before the war."

James B. Lee, a Danbury, Conn., hatter, has concentrated his attention on what's happened to the clothes buying of American men.

"Since 1929 our adult male population has gone up 10 per cent and our spending power has increased 250 per cent. Yet in that same space of time, the cuttings of men's suits have declined by 22 per cent," he says. "One male consumer out of 10 doesn't even own one year-round suit. The average number of suits owned by everybody is barely two. Only a third of the male population has a sports jacket."

"These . . . are . . . devastating comments on the fact that the American male has elected to spend his wealth in channels other than clothing . . . There is something like a revolution going on in the men's apparel field. . . . The American apparel industry is going casual.

Agreeing with Lee about the shift to casual clothes are Harry L. Dalton, vice president for sales and public relations of American Viscose Corp.

Dalton sees in casualness a stimulant to the use of some of the nearly 30 synthetic fibres now on the market.

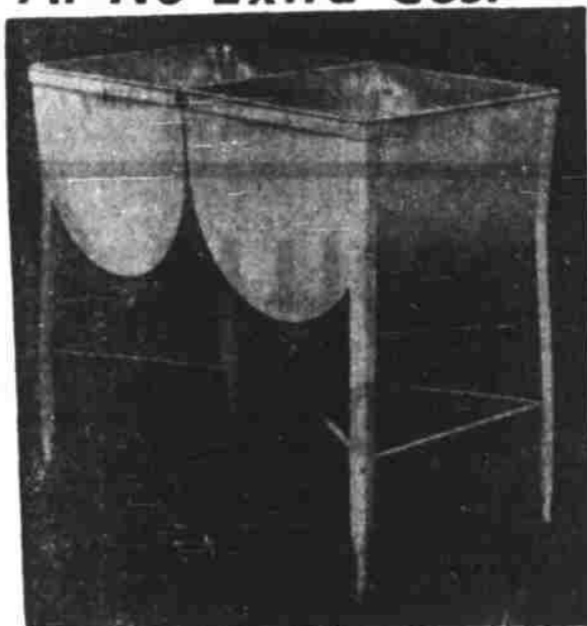

"The large apparel market for manmade fibers prospered on the revolution in the family wardrobe in the last few generations. . . . In the generation from 1920 to 1952 the consumption of all textile fibers in the United States exactly doubled. Cotton and manmade fibers captured most of that increase."

He will place about 75 lambs, four steers and six capons. One of

Nation's Press Divided Over Wisdom Of Bricker Proposal

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The nation's newspapers are almost as badly split as members of Congress on the controversial Bricker amendment to limit treaty-making powers.

An Associated Press sampling of editorial reaction, some of which preceded the latest compromise maneuvers, indicates the press is divided roughly along these lines:

Four out of 10 are against the Bricker amendment; three out of 10 are for it; and another three out of 10 are hopeful of a compromise or take no specific stand.

The author of the amendment, Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), wants to fence in the government's treaty-making powers by constitutional amendment in order to protect domestic rights and laws. His amendment is being debated now in the Senate. It provides that: 1. A treaty in conflict with the Constitution "shall not be of any force or effect." (There isn't much dispute about this.)

2. A treaty shall become effective as internal law in this country "only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of a treaty." (Most of the argument spins around this part and its "which clause.")

3. Congress shall have power to regulate all executive or other agreements with any other country or international organization. (There's considerable controversy about this, too.)

President Eisenhower has said he is "unilaterally opposed" to the amendment.

As some newspapers see it, the amendment could prevent a dangerous intrusion on the nation's domestic affairs. Others view it as an equally dangerous hobbling of government authority to deal with other countries.

The big New York newspapers show much of the division of editorial opinion reflected through the country as a whole.

The New York Times says: "It would . . . destroy the balance of power, would cripple the ability of the United States to act effectively and decisively in moments of crisis and, without giving our people any worthwhile additional protection against unwisdom or evil design, would place our country in a dangerously weakened position in the community of nations. This is not a matter for compromise or evasion. The Bricker amendment ought to be defeated."

The New York World-Telegram and Sun says: "The danger is there and our Constitution should be strengthened to safeguard against it."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "The Bricker amendment would preserve the constitutional power of Congress to legislate in this (treaty) field. Without the amendment the President could usurp that power."

Other typical editorial comment: Kansas City Star: "In its present form, most emphatically, the much controverted Bricker amendment should not pass . . . The proponents . . . go entirely too far and unnecessarily."

Chicago Tribune: "In opposing the Bricker amendment 'in its present form,' Mr. Eisenhower has cast his weight against 'the overwhelming majority of Republicans in the Senate and the great body of Republican voters. The reasons he cites for his antagonism are ill-informed and unconvincing. They leave a question of whether the President knows what he is talking about or believes what he says."

Washington, D.C. Post: "It may be safely assumed . . . that the Senate will stand with the President. We think it is also clear that the people will be with the President if they understand the issue. . . . Imagine, if you can, the country approving a constitutional amendment that might prevent the United States from carrying out its atomic energy-for-peace plans that have been almost unanimously applauded!"

Dallas, Tex., News: "To the argument that no President would seek to override the Constitution by agreement or treaty, we have had experience to the contrary. . . . Only the several states can change the Constitution. Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam have taught us that it should be changed."

Des Moines, Iowa, Register and Tribune: "The United States already has more trouble than any other major power in getting a treaty approved. . . . If Sen. Bricker succeeds . . . he will make an already difficult process a complete nightmare and destroy the very basis of the Constitution itself."

Leonard Rites Are Set Today

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Methodist Church at 3 p.m. today for William Decker Leonard, 62, Big Spring resident for the past 17 years.

Rev. Jordan Grooms, the pastor, will officiate, and burial is to be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nailey Funeral Home.

Mr. Leonard was killed Friday morning when his car went out of control and overturned on the Big Spring-Andrews Highway about nine miles east of Andrews.

He was born Feb. 22, 1891, in Navarro County. He lived in Stanton prior to moving to Big Spring.

Survivors include his wife, four sons, Leon and Leroy Leonard of Odessa, Lawrence (Bud) Leonard of Big Spring, and Edgar Leonard of Sweetwater; three daughters, Mrs. Christine Williams of Brownsville, Mrs. Beattie Lee Michael of Hollywood, Calif., and Mrs. Bernice Hodnett of Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. Jack Walker of Fort Worth, Sally Fribble of Houston and Daisy Bowden of Brownwood; one brother, Bill Leonard of Los Angeles, Calif.; and 16 grandchildren.

Palbearers will be Otto Wolfe, B. S. Hubbard, Henry Bugg, Bill Kuykendall, Glenn Brown, O. C. Lewis, Claude Hines and Eck McClure.

Thelma Parish, 24, told police she was coming up the stairs from the basement when she saw a large, brown-skinned man standing in a doorway without any clothing. The nurse said she thought he was carrying a towel.

"His eyes were popping out and he had a wild look," Miss Parish said.

Miss Anna Blanton, superintendent of the hospital, rushed out of her office when she heard the nurse scream. Miss Parish said the man jumped over a railing and off the porch. Police found a man's footprints in a nearby flower bed.

Miss Parish was one of the nurses who saw another nude prowler on the hospital grounds last September. She said it was not the same man last night.

The city was alarmed last fall by a series of nude prowler incidents and the unsolved rape-murder of a young mother.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Virginia Davidson, 65, Hobbs, N.M., died in a hospital here today of accident injuries suffered yesterday in a two-car crash on State Highway 9 seven miles northwest of Seminole.

Other diseases treated included chicken pox, 5; gastroenteritis, 10; hepatitis, 2; measles, 4; mumps, 11; strep throat, 4; whooping cough, 1; and gonorrhea, 1.

Nude Prowler Eyed In Dallas Hospital

DALLAS, Jan. 30 (AP)—A nude prowler appeared again in the Bradford Memorial Hospital early this morning frightening a nurse and starting a manhunt.

Thelma Parish, 24, told police she was coming up the stairs from the basement when she saw a large, brown-skinned man standing in a doorway without any clothing. The nurse said she thought he was carrying a towel.

Thomas Asks Re-Election As Commissioner

Pete Thomas announced Saturday that he is seeking the Democratic nomination for the office of county commissioner of Precinct No. 2.

In entering his name in the primaries, Thomas expressed "appreciation for the opportunity you have given me to serve as your commissioner."

"The accomplishments which have been made have been possible only through your cooperation. Every improvement that I have helped to bring to Howard County has been due to the encouragement and patience of my friends."

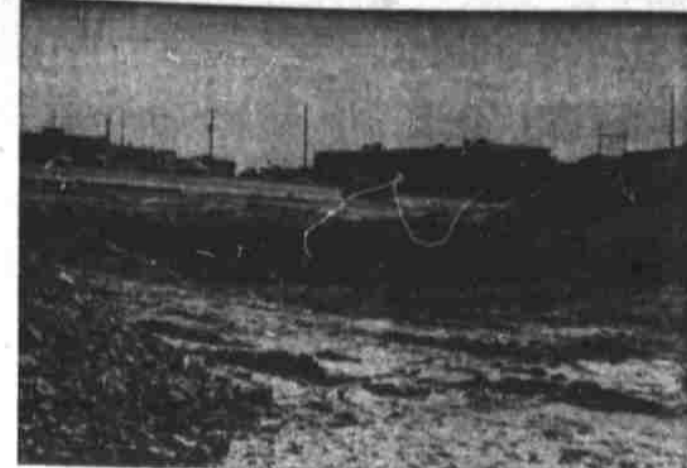

"I would like to continue to serve as your commissioner of Precinct No. 2. I feel that my experience has helped me to gain a better knowledge of what is needed in the county."

"I will continue to cooperate with the State Highway Department for better roads and highways in Howard County. This policy has resulted in 14.2 miles of surfaced lateral roads to be built in Precinct No. 2 this year. I will try to serve you to the best of my ability."

WASHINGTON WEEK

Economic Situation Keeps Mouths Busy In Congress

By ROGER D. GREENE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The great mystery of the what-is-it gripped the nation's capital this week as Republicans and Democrats hotly debated the state of American business.

Is it a dip? A downward wiggle? A recession de luxe? Nobody seemed to know, for sure. Republicans were busy posting signs that read: "Road under construction. Drive with care." Democrats had their own version: "Danger—hard bumps ahead."

President Eisenhower in his annual economic message to Congress, spoke of a "minor readjustment" and said with guarded optimism that it seems likely to be "brief and self-correcting."

Eisenhower pictured the nation as "marvelously prosperous," despite some unemployment, and pledged a vast federal pump-priming program in the event of a serious recession.

Ike's advice: Keep on a steady course. To businessmen—no drastic cutbacks that might trigger a chain-reaction slump. To consumers—don't hold back on buying in the hope that a wave of falling prices might wash up some prize bargains.

By Friday, the U. S. Census Bureau came up with official figures that are almost certain to start the pot boiling harder than ever in the week ahead. The bureau reported:

Unemployment—up half a million on Jan. 9 as compared with a month earlier, estimated jobless total on Jan. 9 was 2,360,000. Post-war peak: 4,684,000 in February 1950 following 1949 business dip.

Today new statistics indicated that since Jan. 9 total unemployment may have reached or passed 2 1/2 million although the rate of layoffs has slowed.

The White House: President Eisenhower, three minutes late, hurried into the crowded room for his Wednesday news conference.

While reporters tensed for the usual hurried note-jotting, Ike donned horn-rimmed glasses, grinned, and said he had a few things he thought might be of interest.

"One thing that certainly interests me and I hope you," he said, "is coffee."

Then he said nobody seems to know just what is going on—the recent soaring coffee prices—but it's a bad situation for all of us.

Friends Rush In To Help Neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hull have had a new lesson in what friends can mean.

Last Monday when their barn caught fire, friends rushed in to help in a vain attempt to extinguish flames. Although city firemen, driving the county truck, arrived within about 10 minutes after receiving the call, the barn was too far gone to prevent it from burning to the ground.

While Mr. and Mrs. Hull were being grateful to firemen and others who helped, friends pitched in and raised a substantial collection which was given to the couple to help cushion the loss of the building, feed, etc. The Hulls live in the Center Point community seven miles northeast of here.

Implement Firm To Hold Special Event
Taylor Implement Company is to be host to farmers and their families in this area on Wednesday for the annual "John Deere Day."

There will be a series of events, starting at 1 p.m., said W. F. Taylor. First item is to be a demonstration. At 5:30 p.m. there will be a supper, followed at 7 p.m. by a program featuring four short films and a feature. These include "The Safety Pin," a safety sequence; "The Job Ahead," showing new methods and machinery for boosting equipment; "What's New for 1954," a look at John Deere implementation; "Oodles in Farming"; and the feature, "Mr. Christmas."

Mexico Stores Corn
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30 (AP)—The government food subsidy agency reports that the new corn crop is so heavy that it has to be stored in churches and movie houses. Mexico generally has to import corn from the United States but appears likely to be able to supply all her own needs this year.

James Roosevelt Not Conceding Despite Aired Adultery Charges

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 30 (AP)—James Roosevelt, political candidate, stood apart today from James Roosevelt, allegedly adulterous husband, and chose to remain as a candidate for Congress. Despite nationwide headlines telling the story of his wife's separate maintenance suit allegations of his infidelity with 12 women, Roosevelt gave no indication of withdrawing as a Democratic candidate in California's 28th District in the June primary.

"Certainly I'll run," he told a reporter. "My plans haven't changed at all. I intend to go ahead about my affairs as usual, meet all my commitments and see what happens."

"What happens," politically, apparently isn't clear as yet to politicians. "I don't believe anyone should pass judgment on a matter of this nature without knowing all the facts," said Paul Ziffren, California Democratic national committeeman. "It is true that when a man becomes a candidate for public office his private life becomes the subject of inspection. Roosevelt is no exception."

Roosevelt's announced opponent for the nomination, Ned Redding, Los Angeles city public utilities commissioner, commented: "I feel certain that the voters will not overlook Mr. Roosevelt's personal background."

The district Democratic council meets Feb. 9 to decide on endorsing a candidate. Its chairman, Los Angeles City Councilwoman Rosalind Wiener, said "I am neutral at this point."

The sensational case broke yesterday after Mrs. Roosevelt's Schneider Roosevelt, 38, filed her suit in Superior Court here, charging Roosevelt with adultery with three women named as co-respondents.

Attached was a photographic copy of a letter Roosevelt wrote her in 1945 in which he admitted adultery with nine other women. These incidents are outside the two-year statute of limitations on adultery but, her attorneys said, were included to strengthen her case.

Mrs. Roosevelt asks that the 46-year-old son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt pay her $3,500 a month for support of herself and their three children. She says he is worth 2 million dollars.

Roosevelt on Jan. 18 filed a separate maintenance suit against his wife, alleging she caused him mental anguish and distress. The question of why Roosevelt signed such an astounding letter, along with another of the same date offering Mrs. Roosevelt half his property and half his net income if she decided to separate, may be answered Monday. He is planning a press conference for that day.

He appeared last night at a Democratic cocktail party and dinner dance in the Pasadena Athletic Club, honoring his father's birthday anniversary today, and declined to talk about the marital scandal. But he was willing to talk about his determination to remain as a political candidate. The crowd of 500 gave him hearty applause when he spoke, only about the memory of his father.

A reporter who encountered Roosevelt's brother, Elliott, today told him of "Jimmy's" public appearance last night and Elliott commented: "He's a brave man."

He had planned to fly nonstop to Miami but landed at Cross City because of a fuel shortage. "I may have set some sort of a record," he said upon landing here. "But I don't know how far apart those places are. Do any of you know?"

An Eastern Air Lines navigator figured the distance at 2,432 miles. The record Fuhrman was out to beat was either a 2,265-mile mark from Los Angeles to LaGuardia Field, N. Y., established May 1, 1951, or 2,563 miles from Oakland, Cal., to LaGuardia field (as measured by the same Eastern navigator) set Sept. 15, 1953. Both flights were by Max Conrad of Minnesota in a Piper Cub.

Fuhrman wasn't sure which record was the established one, but thought he would have to outdistance 2,600 miles to set a new one. The Aircraft Yearbook does not show an official record for the Seattle-Miami hop.

"It doesn't make much difference, anyway," he commented here. "I had a lot of fun and I think I got people interested in light planes."

He flew a Cessna of less than 145 horsepower. "I had a couple of sandwiches, but I only ate one — the ham," said the rancher from Tremonton, Utah. "I've still got the ham and egg. I didn't get very sleepy, either. I brought along some benz-drine, but didn't use it."

He said he ran into bad weather in Idaho and again over Alabama. "I had to go up to 17,000 feet and do a lot of backtracking to get around a cold front near Montgomery. If it hadn't been for that, I'd probably have made it non-stop to Miami, he reported.

He planned only an overnight stay here, then will leave for home by short stages.

'Flying Farmer' Hopes He's Set Distance Mark

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 30 (AP)—D. A. (Del) Fuhrman, 44-year-old "flying farmer" from Utah, flew from Seattle to Cross City, Fla., non-stop and he would be happy if someone told him he set a record today.

He had planned to fly nonstop to Miami but landed at Cross City because of a fuel shortage. "I may have set some sort of a record," he said upon landing here. "But I don't know how far apart those places are. Do any of you know?"

Fanfani's Cabinet Dumped After Ruling Italy 11 Days

By FRANK BRUTTO
ROME, Jan. 30 (AP)—Crisis-ridden Italy dumped her third government in six months today. Premier Amintore Fanfani's 11-day-old Christian Democrat cabinet fell when the Chamber of Deputies voted 303-260 against him on the confidence motion.

Parties of the right and left joined in the opposition. The outcome was no surprise. It had been forecast since Fanfani represented his pro-West, anti-Communist program of social reform to Parliament four days ago.

U. S. State Department officials in Washington were openly concerned over Fanfani's fall. They feared it foreshadowed continued political instability in Italy which might benefit the nation's powerful Communist party, the biggest west of the Iron Curtain, in critical months ahead.

Fanfani hastened to President Luigi Einaudi to submit his resignation. He conferred 90 minutes with the 79-year-old President. Departing, he refused to answer reporters' questions.

The presidential secretary announced Einaudi had asked Fanfani to maintain a caretaker cabinet while the President seeks a new Premier.

A switch of 22 votes would have given Fanfani the green light. Communists, Pietro Nenni's fellow traveling Socialists, moderate Socialists of Giuseppe Saragat, neo-Fascists and Monarchists ganged up against Fanfani.

The 46-year-old Premier, youngest since Benito Mussolini, received only the votes of his own Christian Democrat party and five from the Republicans.

The Liberals—12 of whose 14 deputies were in the chamber—Fanfani's fall followed the resignation on Jan. 5 of Giuseppe Pella's Christian Democrat government. Pella lasted five months.

New Compromise On Bricker Plan Readied

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A new compromise on the Bricker constitutional amendment on treaty making was in President Eisenhower's hands today with the strong possibility he may signal for an end to the strife that has split the Republican party.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), whose original proposal was vigorously assailed by Eisenhower as hamstringing presidential powers to deal with other nations, was reliably reported to have agreed conditionally to accept the compromise.

Bricker was said to have insisted, however, that he would go along with the compromise only if Eisenhower either approved the new proposal—worked out in a bipartisan conference—or agrees not to oppose it publicly.

Some of the President's closest friends were known to be urging him to give a go-ahead signal for Monday, reserving the right to suggest changes in language if Senate debate brings out some flaws not now apparent.

As it was delivered to the President by Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, the compromise was said by those who have seen it to include portions of previous proposals made by Bricker, Knowland and Sen. George (D-Ga.).

The compromise would amend article VI of the Constitution to provide that treaties "in pursuance" of the Constitution should become the supreme law of the land. Knowland suggested this approach rather than the Bricker plan of adding an amendment.

The compromise would include the first section of Bricker's proposal that "a provision of a treaty which conflicts with this Constitution shall not be of any force or effect."

With some changes, drafters of the compromise agreed to pick up a section proposed by George, which read originally: "An international agreement other than a treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only by an Act of Congress."

The drafters then adopted from Knowland's previous proposal a clause requiring roll call votes of the Senate on the ratification of treaties.

Rites Set Today For Mrs. Shell
Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p.m. today at the Park Methodist Church for Clara Ferris Shell, 67, who died Friday in a hospital here.

Rev. E. C. Armstrong, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nalley Funeral Home.

Mrs. Shell, a native of Virginia, has no surviving relatives. Pallbearers will be J. L. Webb, J. B. Hollis, Ed Booth, Coy Turner, J. W. Brigrance, and Clarence Arends.

Rules Get Approval By Bar Association
The Howard County Bar Association Saturday adopted a resolution approving rules established by Judge Charles Sullivan for the district courtroom in the new courthouse.

Rules include a ban on smoking and the judge has said no spectators will be allowed in the counsel area inside the railing. The bar association also approved a recommendation that plaintiff's lawyers be seated at the counsel table closest to the jury box in the new courtroom.

Truman Asserts Bricker's Plan Is Reactionary

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 30 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman today described the Bricker amendment as a vicious one that "would absolutely ruin any attempt of the President to carry out a foreign policy for the United States."

He said the measure sponsored by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) seeking to check the treaty-making power of the chief executive, was "an attempt on the part of the isolationists to put the country back into isolationism, and it must not happen."

"No man who has been President could stand for that Bricker amendment," he added.

Asked what the effect would have been, had the Bricker amendment been effective at the time of the Korean situation, Truman replied: "I don't think it would have had any effect at all."

He added that President Eisenhower has the same viewpoint, "and any first class lawyer who is informed on foreign affairs would take the same attitude."

In reply to a question whether charges of some Bricker amendment proponents that the Yalta and Potsdam agreements had committed the nation morally, the former President said:

"The charges on the Yalta and Potsdam conferences are made without foundation in fact. Had the agreements made at Yalta and Potsdam been carried out by the Russians, there would have been no 'cold war.' The treaties referred to in those agreements would have been presented to the Senate for ratification at the proper stage before arrived at. Those agreements called for treaties with Italy and Austria. The treaty with Italy has been ratified. And proper arrangements were made for a government of Germany under a four-power commission which called for a united Germany and not a separated Germany. There was nothing wrong with the agreements made at Yalta and Potsdam, and the situation that finally developed was not the fault of the governments of the United States and Great Britain. It was the fault of the Russians, who did not keep the agreements."

U.N. Official Leaving Post

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 30 (AP)—Byron Price, assistant Secretary General of the United Nations, is retiring Monday at the age of 62 after serving seven years as the highest ranking American in the U.N.

In his last days as head of the U.N. department of administrative and financial services, Price disclosed his broad philosophy about the U.N.

"The U.N. will never succeed because of the dreamers and the zealots," he said. "If it succeeds it will be because of the work of hard-headed men who knew what they wanted and who made sacrifices for it. This operation should be run on a business basis."

"Considering everything that has happened, it was best for the U.N. to settle down in New York City. New York is a big, unfriendly city, where the U.N. was exposed to the blasts of the isolationist politicians and press. It has gone through that test very well."

Price is proud of two achievements here. First, he helped rid the U.N. of American Communists, for which he was attacked by the Reds all around the world.

Second, the U.N. under his supervision saved one million dollars on its permanent headquarters. Only two associates knew this until the work was done.

Price planned to leave in 1952 when he reached the age of 60 set by the U.N. for retirement. But Trygve Lie, then Secretary General, had authority to make an exception. He asked Price to stay and help with the various problems, including the American Reds. Price decided he would not let the Reds say they had driven him from office so he agreed.

Three Pastors Will Transfer

Three pastors in the Big Spring district have had a change in assignment as the result of unscheduled openings in the Northwest Texas Methodist conference.

The Rev. E. C. Armstrong, pastor of the Park Methodist Church, has been assigned to the Grace Methodist Church in Abilene, said Dr. O. W. Carter, district superintendent. He will be succeeded by the Rev. Jesse Young, pastor at Adrian for the past five years.

The Rev. Royce Wommack, who has been pastor at Coahoma will go to Baird. He will be succeeded by the Rev. Weldon Tucker, who has been at the Nolan Church.

The Rev. Leroy Baker goes to the White Deer Church in Snyder. Replacing him at Snyder will be the Rev. E. D. Thompson, Abilene, who has been minister of the Grace Church.

To Lead Revival
Rev. Maple Avery, pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, will conduct a revival at Grand Canyon College, Phoenix, Ariz., this week. He will leave for Phoenix after services this evening and will return to Big Spring early next Sunday.

GENE CARPENTER
Starter For Red Raiders

ON TECH CAGE TEAM

Gene Carpenter Proving Able Successor To Nolen

LUBBOCK, Jan. 30 (SC) — Need to replace a 6 foot 10 basketball player? Coach Polk Robison of Texas Tech has found the solution to that problem. Grow one. Red Raider fans worried when Koffy Paul Nolen of Alvarado, Tech's leading scorer for three seasons, graduated last spring. Durward Bolding of Mansfield, the Raiders' only other varsity center, was only 6 feet 5—five inches shorter than Nolen, now with the Washington Generals. But among the freshmen, there was center Eugene Carpenter of Big Spring. Robison thought Carpenter looked taller than the 6 foot 5 height he checked in with. Sure enough, Carpenter had grown nearly two inches. By the time this season rolled around Carpenter was crowding 6 feet 8. And as Carpenter has increased in height, he has also gained in ability. Carpenter's improvement since his freshman season has been so great that Bolding has been moved to a forward and the sophomore has been a starter in every one of Tech's 15 games. With his favorite hook shot, Carpenter has been deadly enough to rank fourth nationally among the field goal percentage leaders. He's hitting better than half of his shots, 51.6 per cent to be exact. That's the best in the Border Conference. An excellent rebounder, Carpenter is pressing teammate Jim Reed of Pine Bluff, Ark., in that department. The big soph is averaging 12.2 points per game. Carpenter was Tech's high point man in a defeat by Baylor, one of the Raiders' two losses this season. Robison, himself a Tech ex, has a fellow alumnus to thank for Carpenter's early development. Lawrence McCulloch, Raider cage star of the '40s, now Odessa Junior College mentor, coached Carpenter at Big Spring High School. But Gene lettered only his senior year. He had just begun to grow.

Odessa To Train In Own Stadium

ODESSA, Jan. 30 (SC) — The Odessa Oilers will stage their 1954 spring baseball drills at home, it has been announced. The Oilers are due to name their field manager within a week. Pepper Martin of Big Spring has been pilot of the Odessans for the past three seasons.

Park Hill Winner By Score Of 40-4

Only one of the co-leaders in the Ward School Basketball League saw action Saturday morning. Park Hill, unbeaten now in four games, blasted College Heights by a score of 40-4. College Heights trailed at half time, 22-3. Central Ward, the other pace setter, was not scheduled. Only three games were played this weekend. East Ward and Kate Morrison postponed their game due to the fact that Charles Hadderton, the East Ward coach, could not be on hand. East and Kate Morrison will probably play sometime during the coming week. In other games, West Ward defeated Alport, 15-11 and Washington Place won over North Ward, 11-8. In the Park Hill-College Heights battle, Zay LeFevre paced the winners with 14 points. Donnie Everett, Jack Richbourg and Gordon Bristol each scored eight. In four games, the Spartans have scored a percentage of 45.5 of their field shots, while holding the opposition to 8.25 per cent. Bobby Evans, Den Hayworth and Homer Mills each scored five points in West Ward's win over Alport. Charles Madry had five.

Lamesa Lashes Brecks, 58-42

LAMESA, Jan. 30 (SC) — Lamesa's Tornados vanquished Breckenridge, 58-42, in a District 1-AAA basketball game played here Friday night. Robert Weaver paced the winners with 18 points. Lloyd Foe of Lamesa chucked in 11. Sonny Everetts scored 13 for Breckenridge. Lamesa also won the B game, 62-44. Lineups, listed with points each player scored: LAMESA — F. Jones (1-2-4), Hill (1-2-4), Foe (4-3-11), Hale (2-0-4), Weaver (5-6-16), Dunn (2-0-4), Reeves (2-1-5), J. Jones (2-0-4), Burnett (1-0-2), Chapman (3-0-4). BRECKENRIDGE — Everetts (4-5-13), Ford (0-0-9), Bates, (1-0-2), Dandy (2-5-9), Parrott (1-4-5), Beasley (2-0-4).

ABC Relays Set Apr. 3

The tenth annual American Business Club Relays, one of West Texas' best track and field shows, will be held Saturday, April 3. The local service club originated the events and annually offers a list of prizes as big as any meet of comparable size in the state. Last year, a record field competed for the team and individual trophies. Amarillo won first place in a spirited scramble with Abilene. In the past, such standouts as Leon Lepard and Bobby Jack Gross, both of Big Spring; Joe Childress, Weidon Holley, Troy Moody and Byron Townsend, all of Odessa; J. Frank Daugherty of Oilton; Jim Blaine of Imperial; Doyle Brunson, Sweetwater; Stanley Bull, Amarillo; Dean Smith, Graham; Buddy Goode, then of San Angelo and now of Big Spring; Jimmy Samuelson of Brady and others have competed here. Last year, the Relays were held on Easter eve but the date was moved forward this year to avoid conflict with a similar show in Amarillo. The Permian Relays will be staged in Kermit on the same date but only AA and A schools are due to compete there. Joe Bailey Cheney of Brownwood will probably again serve as starter of the local meet. The ABCs annually not only supplies trophies for the meet but provides all necessary help to run off the events.

Don Stevens Shines As Hawks Turn Back Clarendon, 79-68

Howard County Junior College's Jayhawks, looking to better advantage than they have all season, defeated Clarendon JC, 79-68, in a West Zone basketball game here Friday night. The outcome was protested, though, on the grounds that the appointed officials did not show up. A special committee was appointed by the president of the Texas Junior College Conference to decide on the matter. Don Loyd, coach of the Clarendon club, asked for the forfeit. Harvey Palmer of San Angelo was to send two officials here. When they failed to put in an appearance, two spectators — Don Crockett and Darrell Flynt — were appointed and did what observers said was a very competent job, under the circumstances.

Internationals Decision French In Soccer Match

The WAFB Internationals downed a stubborn French squad by a narrow 1-0 score Saturday afternoon at Steer Stadium as the European MDPAC cadets from Webb opened their own local soccer season. The cold weather which kept spectators to a minimum seemed to have no effect at all on the hardy Scandinavian and Central European footballers. The only tally of the day came early in the first half when Belgium's Collart booted a fast goal out of a melee of heads and legs twenty yards to pay dirt. Although the Frenchmen did most of the offensive work in the first half, they couldn't seem to lay the orb in scoring position. The second half, although there was no score to it, was mostly in the hands (or legs) of the internationals. Making up the four-nation international team were: Cadets Rasmussen, Hansen, Voetmann, Christensen, M. A. Hansen and Udal of Denmark; Cadets Dumer, Monnot and Collart, of Belgium; Cadets Jansen and Steffansen, Norway and Cadet Van De Voort of The Netherlands. Comprising the French roster were: Cadets Piron, Fortin, Degiean, Bomme, Vignaux, Leo-

Cage Playoff Is Scheduled

A Shaughnessy playoff will decide the YMCA City Basketball League champion of 1954, Supervisor Pete Cook said Saturday. At the present time, Tennessee Milk and Clark's are tied for the top spot, each with a record of six wins in seven starts. Three rounds of play remain. Feb. 9 will be the final night of regular season action. The schedule: Tuesday, Feb. 2 — Clark vs Hardesty Drug; Tennessee Milk vs Phil-Serv 66; Coca-Cola vs Draginits. Friday, Feb. 5 — Tennessee Milk vs Draginits; Phil-Serv 66 vs Hardesty's Drug; Clark's vs Coca-Cola. Tuesday Feb. 9 — Phil-Serv 66 vs Coca-Cola; Clark's vs Draginits; Tennessee Milk vs Hardesty's Drug. According to present plans, the playoffs are down for Feb. 11 and 16. One defeat will eliminate a team. The team finishing first in the standings will oppose the fourth place quintet and the second place team will oppose the third five in the standings in first round matches.

Cavazos Is Named Athlete Of Year

HOUSTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Bobby Cavazos, 190-pound Texas Tech back, is the winner of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce 1st annual amateur athlete of the year award. Everett E. Baker of Houston, chairman of the Jaycee's state sports committee, announced today the results of a statewide poll among sportswriters. Members of the Texas Sportswriters Assn. had been asked to cast ballots on the basis of the sportswriters' contributions to sports, sportsmanship, ability and determination. Cavazos climaxed his collegiate football career New Year's Day by scoring three touchdowns in Tech's 35-13 victory over Auburn in the Gator Bowl. The son of a King Ranch foreman at Kingsville, Cavazos is majoring in animal husbandry. The Lubbock junior chamber will present Cavazos a trophy at a later date.

Garrett Winner In Gloves Test

Bob Garrett, Coahoma High School football star, won a division in the Abilene Golden Gloves Tournament Friday night over Benny Matney, Cisco Junior College. The two are middleweights. Garrett floored Matney twice in the third round and had the Cisco hanging on at the end. David Hodnett, another Coahoma entry, was knocked out in 1:17 minutes of the first round by Richard Farrell of Sweetwater. The two are lightweights. The two boys were taken to Abilene by Coach Winifred Talley. Royce Acuff, a former Big Spring resident, now attending ACC, won by a TKO in the third over Billy Walker, Midland.

Bob Berry Fund Started By Paper

GREENVILLE, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Greenville Banner will accept funds for the Bob Berry Memorial Fund. The fund was started by six East Texas State College lettermen to aid the hospitalized wife and son of Berry who was killed Dec. 19 when a blaze destroyed his home in Johnson City, Tenn. Berry was trapped in the flames after first seeing to the safety of his wife and children. Berry is a former athletic director and track and football coach at East Texas who left the school in 1951 to enter private business in Johnson City.

WAB DUSTERS, SWEETWATER FIVE TO PLAY IN FORSAN BENEFIT GO

FORSAN, Jan. 30 (SC) — A March of Dimes benefit basketball game between the Webb Air Base Dusters of Big Spring and Bennie's Reporters of Sweetwater will be played here the night of Saturday, Feb. 6. The feature attraction is down for 7:30 p.m. There will be a preliminary game between girls' teams of Westbrook and Forsan. The Sweetwater club is captained by Bonnie Ruthford, former Howard County Junior College coach and himself a stellar cager. Joe Holladay, who leads the committee shaping up the plans for the double header, said admission fees for the evening would be $1 adult and 25 cents students. All proceeds from the show will be turned over to the Howard County March of Dimes campaign. Last year, Forsan raised over $300 toward the polio fund drive.

AMPLE FISH IN THOMAS

When Lake J. B. Thomas is opened to fishing in May, sportsmen should have ample targets for their hooks. The lake has been stocked with little less than half a million fish. Luke Proctor, superintendent of the State Fish Hatchery at Angelo, said that the total furnished the Colorado River Municipal Water District stood at 437,100. Of this number, 4,100 were introduced into the lake after its first catch in October of 1952. These were good sized fish because at that time the hatchery was having to reduce stock due to severe drought that affected its water supply. Last year, 433,000 fingerlings were introduced into the lake. Breakdown on the classes of fish for the two years, said Proctor, was 391,500 bass, 22,500 cat, 11,000 bream and 12,000 crappie.

Steers Recover To Lash Tigers

SNYDER, Jan. 30 (SC)—A Big Spring team that had appeared listless in a game the previous night descended upon the Snyder Gym 'loaded for bear' and proceeded to powder the Snyder Tigers, 53-37, here Friday evening. After trailing, 9-8, in the first part of the battle, the Longhorns leaped to the fore and led, 17-10, at the end of the period. A big 21-point second quarter, in which rangy Wiley Brown blistered the hoop with four field goals, gave the Steers all the advantage they needed. Brown played far and away his best game. His mates did a fine job of feeding the ball to him and he wound up with 21 points. Charley Clark, his team mate, poured 19 points through the nets. Jimmy Bennett led Snyder with an even dozen points. He was held to two field goals. The win was the second for Big Spring in eight conference starts and elevated them out of the cellar. Snyder's B team won a 54-35 verdict in the opener. Joe Liberty had ten points for Big Spring in that one. Sellers led Snyder with 16.

Coahoma Rallies To Win, 56-48

COAHOMA, Jan. 30 (SC) — Forsan's Buffaloes sprinted to an early lead over Coahoma and held it for a half but the District 23-B pacesetter found the range in the third period and went on to win, 56-48, here Friday night. Sket Williams led the Bulldogs to go out in front to stay. In that period, Williams scored two field goals and a gratis pitch as the Coahomans banked 14 points to ten for Forsan. Albert Oglesby, Red Brunton and Johnny Baum all played stellar games for Forsan. Oglesby led his team in scoring with 19 points. The game's top point-getter was Coahoma's 20 points. Coahoma also won the girls' game, 43-34. Buchanan counted 18 points and Houston 13 for the winners in that one. For the losers, Mary Fletcher banked 16 points and Ann Green 11. Forsan led, 24-19, at half time but could score only two points in the third period.

Winger, Haas With 199's Tie For Thunderbird Lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 30 (U)—Bo Winger of Oklahoma City, with a four-under par 68, and Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, with a 69, wound up in a tie at the end of 54 holes late today in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Tournament, with total scores of 199.

Haas, 38-year-old veteran and former intercollegiate champion, came on with a rush to tie Winger, 31, himself a former college star.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Most of those who saw Robert Burrow, Lon Morris' talented post man, and Frank Phillips College's Keith Lane in games played here gave the nod to Burrow. Lane looked to advantage against the court shorts but Burrow expelged against all kinds of competition. . . Midland High School already has its baseball team out for drills. . . Coach Don Grevelle has six lettermen, including Rusty Rutledge, back from last season's squad. . . Midland, by the way, may be included on the tour of the professional golfers as early as 1955. . . They're planning a tournament that would include the biggest names in pro golf over there. . . There's talk Army and the Texas Aggies will meet on the gridiron as early as 1957 and Baylor will face Maryland as early as 1955. . . Tommy McAdams, of whom big things are expected in a football way here this fall, has about decided to forego basketball practice on the advice of his physician but he's getting his legs in shape for spring grid drills. . . Tom-Tom has his arm out of the cast. . . He broke his elbow in the Yleta football game back in November. . . There's far fewer high school basketball teams in Texas now than there were a decade ago. . . The Reason: Consolidation of school districts. . . Coach Pat Pattison's total pay as Lubbock High School before he quit, was supposed to be closer to $12,500 per annum than to $10,000. . . Joel Hunt, who was quite a back himself in his time, says Baylor's Long Gene Dupre belongs with the all-time great running backs in the SWC.

Jack Kafoed, a Miami columnist, tells this story about John L. Sullivan, the old-time Heavy-weight boxing champion: John L. strutted into a restaurant and ordered a lobster. The waiter brought one which had only one claw. "What happened to that thing?" Sullivan asked. "I guess he must have been in a fight," the waiter observed. "Take him away and bring me the winner," roared John L. with a sweep of his mighty arm.

A quote uttered by Freddy Hawn, the St. Louis Cardinal scout: "Oklahoma produces more good pro baseball prospects than Texas because its high schools do not have spring (football) training. I noticed an improvement in Texas baseball when high schools went a year or two without spring football."

Pony-Steer Game Played Beyond Limit

It wouldn't have made any difference in the final outcome but the officials who worked the Jan. 9 basketball game here between Big Spring and Sweetwater were wrong in letting the contest's second overtime period go three minutes. . . The rules state the first team to get two points ahead wins the game. . . Big Spring twice took one-point leads in the second overtime period, when Randy Hickman had a gratis pitch and Al Kloven hit a field goal sandwiched around two free tosses by Sweetwater's Dale McKeethan. . . Then, when the Mustangs' Harold Green hit a two-pointer, the Ponies went ahead to stay. . . Horace Rankin, a stellar athlete for both Big Spring High School and HCJC a few years ago, is back visiting in these parts after a tour of duty with the U. S. Marines in Japan. . . He played a regular backfield position with the service football champions in the Far East. . . McMurry had designs on hiring HCJC's fine young cage mentor, Harold Davis, last year but knew it couldn't meet the asking price. . . James Lee Underwood, the local schoolboy golfer, whose game is coming around again after that collar bone injury, will probably attend HCJC a year before going on to Baylor to study law. . . The Midland Longhorn League entry will play Sunday night baseball in the future, provided there is baseball over there this summer. . . Did you know it is written in Odessa Outfielder Leo Eastham's contract that he gets his free agency after every season? . . . That way, he can make his own deals, which is one way of beating the reserve clause. . . Is Bill Defee seeking an honorable retreat from his coaching commitment at Amarillo High School? . . . He was supposed to be an applicant for the East Texas State College coaching job.

Extrovert Coaches Are Criticized

The sixth annual Odessa Invitational High School Tennis Meet takes place March 26-27. . . A recent edition of The Sporting News says much of the trouble with crowds at basketball games this winter can be blamed upon the coaching. . . Doug Mills, the director of athletics at the University of Illinois, gives vent to his feelings on the matter through the Sporting News. . . Says he: "The first and fundamental cause of bad reaction (of the crowds) is the extrovert coach. If the coach is going crazy on the bench, baiting his opponents and the officials, how can he expect the crowd to do anything but follow his example?" . . . HCJC's Harold Davis is the calmest man I know on a coaching bench. . . He and the Hawks have taken their lumps recently but he accepts defeats graciously. . . Randy Hickman, a promising Big Spring High School eager, attended grade school in Vernon. . . For those who have asked and for those who are interested, tickets for the Harlem Globe Trotters' appearance in Odessa will go on sale at the school administration building there Monday morning. . . They are priced at $2.50 and $3. . . Incidentally, the Junior Chamber of Commerce here has received communications from Abe Saperstein, owner of the Trotters, requesting a local booking. . . The Jaycees are interested only if the outfit featuring Goose Tatum would show here. . . Coach Carl Coleman of Big Spring has about given up the idea of trying to book a Texas football team to fill out the Steers' 1954 schedule and is seeking opponents in both Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Piersall Ready

BOSTON, Jan. 30 (U)—Outfielder Jim Piersall, agreeable to "play anywhere they want me," today signed his 1954 Boston Red Sox contract. Rated as one of baseball's greatest defensive right fielders, Piersall will move over to center next season to make room for Jackie Jensen, the slugger recently obtained from the Washington Senators.

Tavern's Lead Is Reduced

Jet Tavern saw its Men's Bowling League lead shrivel to two games after absorbing a 2-1 reversal at the hands of runnerup Gregg Street Cleaners here the past week. Jet Tavern has now won 37 and lost 20 games. Gregg Street Cleaners is 35-22. Couden is third, with 33-24; Evans State Drug fourth, at 31-28; Frank Sabbath Insurance fifth, at 29-32; Big Spring Herald sixth, at 25-32; Lee Hanson's seventh, at 23-34; and Team 5 last, at 14-43.

In other matches, Couden took three games from Team 8; Evans State Drug swept a series from Lee Hanson's; and Frank Sabbath Insurance lost a 2-1 verdict to Big Spring Herald.

G. K. Herbeck posted high game with a 211. R. C. McDaniel had a 201 and Crockett Hale a 200. Hale had high series with 557, followed by Ray McFadden with 555. Gregg Street Cleaners boasted high team game with an 828. Evans State Drug has a 2,395 for the top series.

Bearcats Lose To Knott Five

GARDEN CITY, Jan. 30 (SC)—Targe Lindsey's Garden City Bearcats gave the Knott Hill Billies all they could handle before losing a 58-43 District 23-B verdict here Friday night.

Garden City trailed at half time, 30-21, but pulled to within five points of the visitors at one stage in the third period. Woody Long topped Knott's efforts with 20 points. Knott also won the girls' game, 48-18.

Tourney Honor Goes To Bice At Odessa

Although the Big Spring Yearlings didn't chalk up an impressive record at the Odessa tournament this weekend, Center Jimmy Bice was selected on the all-tournament team.

The locals dropped two out of three games played, gaining their only victory off San Jacinto of Midland with a score of 53-39.

The win came in the last game in which Big Spring participated, and the Yearlings led all the way. First quarter score was 16-8, halftime score was 25-21, third quarter was 38-25.

Earlier in the day Big Spring lost to Crockett of Odessa with a 50-23 score. A loss was also recorded in the first game played Friday night.

Bice was presented a gold basketball trophy during the half-time of the Odessa-Lubbock battle as an award for his position on the all-tournament team.

The gift was in appreciation for the coach's accomplishments during the 1953 football season. In picture at left, Coach DeWitt Weaver of Texas Tech is shown as he spoke at the annual football banquet sponsored by the Lions Club. Other coaches and members of the football team also were honored at the banquet Saturday night.

Lions, QBC Honor Grid Team, Coaches

Football fans jammed the Settles Ballroom Saturday night to hear Coach DeWitt Weaver of Texas Tech laud Big Spring High and Tech football players and see movies of the 1954 Gator Bowl game.

Occasion was the Lions Club's annual Football Banquet, honoring local grid teams. The Big Spring Quarterback Club took advantage of the opportunity to reward coaches, as well as pay tribute to players.

Watches also were presented to the coaches, by Don Richardson on behalf of Zale's Jewelers. Coach Coleman presented the ward school trophy to Earl Penner, coach of West Ward, winner of the city conference.

Weaver told of the qualities of a good football team, mentioning spirit, determination and cooperation, all elements he said players for both Big Spring High and Tech demonstrated in highly successful 1953 seasons.

Steele players were introduced by class and position. Two Tech players—Rick Spinks and Vic Spooner—also were present.

Others accompanying the Tech coach to Big Spring were Bob Kellog, assistant coach; Joe Kelly, sports editor for the Lubbock Avalanche Journal; and Dutch Wiginton, chairman of the Lubbock Quarterback Club. Wiginton introduced Weaver.

Jones presented Mrs. Frank Martin, co-chairman of the Big Spring QBC, and Elmo Phillips, secretary. He lauded Tommy Hart, Herald sports editor, for contributing to a great extent to high morale of the Big Spring team.

Gil Jones, a member of the Lions Club, was master of ceremonies. Movies of the Gator Bowl game, in which Tech defeated Auburn, 35-13, included sidelights of the Gator program.

Awards made to the coaches were the results of a public subscription conducted by the Quarterback Club.

Baseball Talk Dying Down

Like the doctor who commented "the operation was a success but the patient died," Bobby (Pepper) Martin was about ready to return the Big Spring problem to the Longhorn League.

"The idea to field a Big Spring team in the league is a great one," Martin stated Saturday. "The only trouble is, I need at least $10,000 to get started here, and there's no way in sight to get it."

Sixth Longhorn Bites The Dust

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (U)—Ed Kelley, last year's starting Texas right halfback, became the fifth Longhorn player declared scholastically ineligible for the 1954 season, pending final action.

Dawson And Mitchell Gain Deep Wildcats

Wildcat prospectors were spotted this weekend in Dawson and Mitchell counties, and an outpost location was staked near a recently completed Pennsylvania Reef discovery in northeast Martin County.

The new Martin venture is Stanoind No. 1 Odessa Davenport, about 4 1/2 miles northeast of Stanoind No. 1 C. M. Brown which recently was completed for 24-hour pumping potential of 16.59 barrels of oil and 409 barrels of water.

The new Mitchell County prospector has been spotted by the Hanley Company of Midland. It is the No. 1 W. I. Barron, 1,900 from west and 2,001 from north lines, 36-25-T&P survey. Location is about 3 1/2 miles northeast of Loring on an 80 acre tract, and depth is scheduled for 7,500 feet.

BUT NOT IMMEDIATELY

Atomic Force Could Compete With Oil As Source Of Power

By BILL SANSINO
TULSA, Okla., Jan. 30 (AP)—Power plants using atomic energy may be competing favorably in the next 10 years with those burning oil, a nationally known petroleum executive predicts.

"There is plenty of evidence that uranium will be sufficiently abundant in the world to be used as fuel," he said in the report published by the Independent Petroleum Association of America magazine.

Hot water, sugar, detergents and soda water are some of the things scientists are pouring into oil wells in an attempt to find better secondary recovery methods, especially where waterflooding is used.

Biggest Year Foreseen For The Oil Industry

TULSA — The biggest year in history is ahead for the petroleum industry of the United States during 1954 as measured in demand, production, refinery runs, and wildcatting, the Oil and Gas Journal said in its annual review and forecast issue last week.

Wildcat drilling, however, will continue to increase, as the Journal reports that operators have scheduled 11,218 exploratory wells for 1954. Thus exploratory tests will constitute 23 per cent of total drilling, bringing wildcatting to the highest point in history—1.56 wells, or 1.4 per cent, above 1953.

The location of the injection well may determine the amount of oil to be recovered. Carter Oil Co.'s research center here X-rays miniature model fields made of sandstone containing oil to learn the best arrangements.

No Change Seen In Depletion Allowances

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Best guess now is that Congress won't make any change this year in the tax depletion allowance on oil and gas income.

Information from the House Ways and Means committee — which would have to initiate any such proposal — is that it won't take any action to alter the present 27 1/2 per cent depletion rate permitted for income tax purposes.

Oil operators in the past have opposed any reduction of the 27 1/2 per cent rate.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who in 1951 offered an amendment to make the rate 15 per cent, has not said whether he'll renew the proposal.

Earlier this week Chairman Reed (R-N.Y.) of the Ways and Means Committee announced complete approval of an amendment to the "hobby loss" section of the tax law which he declared would remove a "present restrictive limitation on the development of our natural resources."

The section, as previously applied, seriously interferes with oil, gas and mineral exploration and development," Reed said.

ACTIVE RIGS SHOW DECLINE

DALLAS—A total of 2,806 rigs were active in oilfields of the United States and Canada for the week of January 25, 1954, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company.

Completions Easing Off

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Oil well completions continued to slip this week. They dropped to 165, down 11 from last week, the Texas Railroad Commission reported today.

Atom Spies' Lawyer Dies

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Emanuel H. Bloch, attorney for executed atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg who faced disbarment for some of his activities in the case, was found dead today.

Bloch was a appointed guardian for the two sons of the atom spies and remained such until his death.

The Supreme Court may hear arguments sometime in April in the Phillips Petroleum Co. case. The court reversed an earlier decision not to review the finding of lower courts that the Federal Power Commission has jurisdiction over field sales of natural gas made by the company.

Deep Locations Set New Record For One Week

More deep wildcats and outpost prospectors were spotted in this immediate area during the past week than during any other week on record. Six such projects were staked, four in Howard County and two in Martin.

The No. 1 Glass will go to 10,500 feet, and operations are to start at once. Drillsite is C SE SE, 23-38-1n, T&P survey.

The other Martin project, an outpost to a recent Pennsylvania Reef discovery, is in the extreme northeast part of the county about a mile south of Ackerly. It is Stanoind's No. 1 Davenport, scheduled for depth of 10,000 feet by rotary. Location is C NW NW, 14-34-3n, T&P survey.

The area around the recently discovered Luther Southeast Field got two prospectors during the past week. One is Lone Star Drilling Company's No. 1 J. O. Haney, about a mile southwest of field production, and the other is R. J. Zonne No. 1 Rubye Simpson et al, some three miles east of the field.

In Northeast Howard County an 8,400 foot wildcat was spotted. It is Russell Maguire No. 1 Chandler. Located some 13 miles north of Coahoma and east of production in the East Vealmoor Field, this wildcat has a drillete of C NW NW, 11-25-H&TC survey. It is on a 4,800 acre lease which belongs to Skelly Oil Company.

A wildcat was spotted in Central-North Howard about midway between production in the Oceanic and Vealmoor fields. It is Earl M. Craig's No. 1 Muse and Newsom, which will be drilled to 8,700 feet for a test of the Pennsylvania Reef.

Prospect May Top Zone This Week

The rotary drill at Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company's No. 1-C Spencer should bore into the top of the Siluro-Devonian formation, from which oil is sought, sometime during the coming week.

The No. 1-C Spencer is in the Luther Community about 12 1/2 miles northeast of Big Spring. Drillete is about a half mile east and slightly north of the Southeast Luther Field discovery well, the same T&P survey.

Oil Publication Is Largest By Ad Standards

For the fifth consecutive year, The Oil and Gas Journal is the largest magazine in the world as measured by number of pages of advertising, according to the annual compilation made by the magazine Advertising Age.

Baptists Leader's Widow Is Honored

DALLAS, Jan. 30 (AP)—Children of Mrs. Joel H. Gambrell, widow of a former statewide Baptist leader, gathered in Dallas today to honor her on her 90th birthday anniversary.

Since the No. 1-A Spencer was completed, the field has added one more producer—Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1 Helen Virgil Little. This producer, about a mile north of the 1-A Spencer, made initial flowing potential of 548 barrels of oil.

At the present four projects are being drilled in the field vicinity. Deepest is the No. 1-C Spencer, definitely outside the proven area, location being C SW SE, 11-32-2n, T&P survey.

A northwest outpost to production in the field is Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1 E. N. Phipps, now drilling at 7,225 feet in lime and shale. This project, C NE NE, 10-32-2n, T&P survey, is west of the No. 1 Little.

Texas Retail Level Competition Viewed Keen In Forecast

DALLAS, Jan. 30 (AP)—Fort Worth department stores sales dropped 21 per cent in the week ending Jan. 23 compared with a like period a year ago, the Federal Reserve Bank reported here today.

The only gain was 1 per cent in Houston, the bank reported. For the entire district the drop averaged 18 per cent.

...for that Rainy Day!

The wise man doesn't wait 'til the rain falls before he gets himself an umbrella. Same sound sense applies to financial "rainy days." The money you meant to save—but didn't—won't do you a bit of good. Only money that will count is what you DID save... regularly, systematically, every pay day. Let your ever-growing savings account be your "umbrella"... and you can take life's "rainy days" in your stride.

First National Bank In Big Spring

Moslem Sect Weighing Portly Aga Khan Against Costly Platinum Or Substitute

By HAROLD K. MILKS
KARACHI, Pakistan, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Ismaili Moslems are weighing the Aga Khan again here this week—this time against about $300,000 worth of platinum, actual or simulated.

The Aga Khan, portly spiritual leader of the sect, is flying to Karachi tonight for the public weigh-in Wednesday before more than 50,000 of his 20 million followers.
His weight has become a symbolic guide to charity and betterment plans of the Ismailians. At last reports three weeks ago, he tipped the beam at 206 pounds.

Injured Girl Returned
Ida Lou Camp, 13, injured in a car mishap which claimed the life of her father, Grover C. Camp on Dec. 31, was to be returned Saturday from Stephenville. She has been under treatment in a hospital there for a broken pelvis. Ida Lou will be taken to Coahoma where her mother, also seriously hurt in the mishap, is convalescing at the home of relatives. An Eberley-River ambulance will bring her to Coahoma.

Celebrating his 70th year as head of the Ismaili Moslems, he will ease into the golden throne of a special scales set up at the center of a stadium the size of a football field while his jubilant followers pile blocks of the precious metal—or a substitute if he so decides—on the counterbalancing platform.

Advertising Matter Postal Rates Hiked
Effective Monday, by-mail advertisers will have to guarantee three cents instead of two cents return postage on the individual pieces of advertising matter they post.

Advertising Matter Postal Rates Hiked
That and two other minor changes in postal rates were announced Saturday by A. A. Porter, superintendent of mails for the Big Spring Postoffice.
The other changes are: Forms for the notification of publishers of changes of address go up from two cents to three cents. The "penny receipt" is abolished. In the future, if a patron wants a receipt for a piece of mail, it will cost him two pennies.

His followers already have contributed more than two million dollars for the platinum jubilee. But leaders of the Aga Khan's jubilee committee were reticent as to whether actual platinum—quoted at $92 an ounce in New York markets—will be used.

"His royal highness instructed us not to spend any money on platinum," said the committee's leader. "So we are unable to say until he arrives exactly how the weighing will be handled."

Pending a final decision, the committee has made arrangements with Swiss banks to borrow 206 pounds of platinum plus a small reserve—just in case the Aga Khan has gained weight. The plan was to fly the metal to Pakistan secretly and return it the same way—to avoid loss in buying and then selling such a large quantity.
One report here said the platinum has already arrived and is being held in government strong boxes.

K-F Club To Hear Talk On Foreign Policy

An address on the nation's foreign policy will be given for members of the Knife and Fork Club at their next meeting, scheduled for Thursday evening.
The speaker will be Dr. Gale W. McGee, historian-lecturer and radio commentator. The dinner program will start at 7:30. Members are advised that reservations must be turned into the club secretary by Wednesday noon.

With a rich background of history study, Dr. McGee is billed to give a penetrating, yet down-to-earth appraisal of America's international policy.
Born in Nebraska, Dr. McGee received degrees from Nebraska State Teachers College, the University of Colorado, and the University of Chicago. For nine years he has been a university professor with service at Nebraska Wesleyan, Iowa State College, Notre Dame and at the University of Wyoming. He had been widely received in the Middle West and Rocky Mountain areas for his straight approach to word problems. He has just written a book, "The Founding Fathers and Entangling Alliances."

Narrow-Gauge Rail Line's Purchase Is Voted By Texans

DENVER, Jan. 30 (AP)—A group of Texas and Colorado men has decided definitely to buy the narrow gauge railroad line running 46 miles from Durango, Silverton in southwestern Colorado.
The line, last narrow gauge passenger route in Colorado, is operated by the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad.
William Kostka, Denver advertising man, said today plans to buy the line were completed at a dinner last night. The group announced earlier this week it was negotiating with the Rio Grande to buy the line and operate it as a tourist attraction.
Three Houston men, Lucien Cullen, J. W. Anselm and Dick Sanders, are in the group. No purchase price has been mentioned. A. E. Perlman, Rio Grande executive vice president, has estimated salvage value of the line at $250,000.

Columbian Carbon Co. Plans Louisiana Plant

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Columbian Carbon Co. announced today it will build a new oil process carbon black plant in St. Mary's Parish, near North Bend, Louisiana. Eventually the plant will have an annual capacity of 60 million pounds.
The company is one of the world's largest makers of carbon black. It has plants now in Louisiana, Texas, Kansas, Arkansas and New Mexico.

Mothers' March Provides $943

The "Mothers' March on Polio" here Friday night added well over $900 to the March of Dimes fund, Mrs. Alton Underwood, chairman reported Saturday.

Mrs. Underwood said that an unofficial total calculated Saturday morning accounted for $948.09. "We were well pleased with the results," she said.

The "Mothers' March on Polio" was conducted by the various Parent-Teacher Association units in the city. Members of the P-TA units collected March of Dimes contributions in residential areas between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. Friday. Lighted porchlights provided signals for the P-TA members to visit residences in their designated areas and pick up the MOD contributions.

The "Mothers' March on Polio" was the final major event on this year's March of Dimes calendar.

Gilliland Attends El Paso Bar Meet

District Attorney Elton Gilliland of Big Spring attended the annual meeting of the El Paso Bar Association Friday.

Held at the same time was a meeting of directors of the State Bar Association. Everett Looney, Austin state bar president, presided at the latter.
Gilliland said several attorneys from Midland and Odessa also attended the event, which annually attracts lawyers from throughout Texas and New Mexico. State bar director from this district, which corresponds to the 19th Congressional District, is Lloyd Wicks of Rails.

John L. Lewis Up To Eyebrows In Big Assortment Of Subjects

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—John L. Lewis hasn't called any big coal strikes lately but that doesn't mean he's losing his grip. In fact the president of the United Mine Workers and the man chiefly responsible for engineering the surge in labor union membership in the '30s is busier than ever. Lewis, who will be 74 Feb. 12, wears his years lightly. He is up to his famed, fluffy eyebrows in a wide variety of affairs, some of which seem to have little to do with problems of the coal miners.

Four months have gone by without his exercising his option to negotiate new wage rates for the miners. How long he'll wait before starting a new pay boost campaign, nobody knows. It may depend on whether there is any pickup in the lagging coal business. There are some rumors that

FILED IN COUNTY COURT
Montgomery Ward Company vs R. E. Cline, suit on account.

Lewis may team up with David J. McDonald, president of the million-member CIO United Steelworkers, for a joint pay increase drive in the coal and steel industries. Steel contracts expire at midyear. But when warm weather arrives Lewis probably would have more trouble negotiating such an increase than he would in the winter-time when fuel demand is high. While biding his time, he is interesting himself in other affairs. One is his current backing of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) in its New York waterfront war with a new AFL union with the same name. The old ILA was thrown out of the AFL when it failed to satisfy AFL demands for a cleanup. Crime investigators had accused the union of harboring criminals. The present all-out scrap for labor control of the waterfront pits the new AFL union, backed by AFL President George Meany, against the old ILA, backed by Lewis. Meany and Lewis had a falling out years ago, and still treat each other as enemies.

A man often figuring in Lewis' plans is Cyrus Eaton, the Cleveland financier. About six months ago, Eaton acquired a controlling interest in the West Kentucky Coal Co., the largest nonunion coal firm in the country. Now the company is negotiating for a contract with Lewis' United Mine Workers (UMW) and an agreement is expected soon.

There have been rumors among some mine owners that Lewis put up money with Eaton in this venture, but there is no evidence and well-placed sources consider it extremely unlikely. Lewis is chief trustee of the UMW health and welfare fund, financed by mine owners. When money began accumulating in the fund—the reserve now is 100 million dollars—its investment became a problem. So the UMW bought an interest and deposited a large amount of the fund's reserves in the National Bank of Washington. Lewis' brother, A. D. Lewis, and the UMW's chief attorney, Welly K. Hopkins, became directors of the bank, which is third largest in the nation's capital. Barnum L. Colton became the bank's president. The other day when Robert R. Young surrendered control over the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, a large coal carrier, the man taking over was Eaton. Named as new directors of the C&O in the shake-up were Colton and Roger H. Ferger, president and publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

So Lewis is a busy man with a finger in a lot of pies. He operates from a specious, mahogany-paneled and leather-upholstered office in UMW headquarters here, a building which once housed an exclusive private club. He's usually wreathed in smoke from a big cigar.

G. E. Gilliam Candidate For Commissioner

G. E. (Red) Gilliam is to be a candidate for the office of commissioner from Precinct No. 2. He addressed his statement to the citizens and voters of Precinct No. 2, noting that his announcement was subject to action of the Democratic primaries. "My wife and I are home owners and taxpayers in Big Spring," he said. "All the real estate we own is in Big Spring."

"I will co-operate to give Howard County a business administration and I sincerely believe I can be of service to Howard County as a commissioner again. Several years ago it was my privilege to serve you two elective terms in this capacity. I also served two elective terms as County Judge for Winkler County before I was elected County Commissioner back here in my home county. "I believe this experience will equip me to better serve the people of Precinct No. 2 and Howard County. "I hope to see each of you personally before election day and I assure you I will appreciate your consideration when you vote."

Marilyn Carpenter, Ray Fortson Exchange Vows In Evening Rites

A silvered archway with silver leaves and greenery created the setting for the exchange of nuptial vows between Marilyn Carpenter and Ray Fortson Saturday night.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Carpenter, 207 E. 6th, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fortson, 1108 Sycamore.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien read the double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church.

A basket of white gladioli, candelabra and palms were used in church decorations.

Darrell Mock was organist. Jackie Shirley sang "Because," "Always," and "The Lord's Prayer." Other music was "No Other Love," "Thine Alone," "I Love Thee," and "Wedding March" from Loebengrin by Wagner and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn. Mrs. Harold Hitt read the poem, "Love," by Ray Croft.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin and Chantilly lace. The strapless white satin bodice was pointed at the waist and the lace jacket was fashioned with long sleeves and a high stand-up collar.

Her jewelry was pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and her "something old" was a lace handkerchief.

She carried a white orchid and carnations on a white Bible.

Mrs. Hitt was matron of honor. Mary Felts was maid of honor and Elsie Jane Bridges of Breckenridge was the bridesmaid. All three wore gowns of blue and silver iridescent taffeta fashioned with low pointed necklines and cap sleeves. The gathered skirts had pleated panels in front. The attendants wore head-dresses of white velvet with carnations and carried bouquets of white carnations sprinkled with silver.

Bo Anderson was best man. Ushers were Eugene Carpenter, brother of the bride; Joe Fortson, brother of the bridegroom, Tommy Shirley and Robert Johnson, nephew of the bridegroom.

Virginia Carpenter, sister of the bride, and Jo Ann Gordon, lit the candles.

A reception was held at the church. The table was laid with a white satin cloth and centered with the attendants' bouquets. The three-tiered cake was adorned with a miniature bridal couple.

Serving were Mrs. Lois McElreath and Mrs. Mary Cain. Benita Silgar, cousin of the bride of Odessa, was in charge of the register.

Also in the houseparty were Sharon Creighton, Gloria Coker, Andre Lou Sledge, Judy Reagan and Janet Carpenter.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. C. B. Sears, grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Bridges and John L. Breckenridge; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Silgar and Billy Glenn of Odessa and De Wayne Blackshear of Lubbock.

For traveling the bride wore a navy blue linen suit with navy and light blue accessories. The couple will live at 400 Park. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College and is employed by the YMCA. The bridegroom is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is employed by the Post Office Department.

MRS. RAY FORTSON

DRESS PARADE

It's as much fun to dress smartly at home as when you're stepping out and it's wonderful for the morale! Mrs. B. R. Newsom takes this as her motto when she wears her cute TV pants with tunic top.

The black cotton trousers have orange cuffs for contrast and the sleeveless orange top is styled with a pointed collar. Two gold keys dangle from the narrow black tie belt.

Mrs. Tip Anderson Sr. was hostess at a coffee for the Ladies Society of the BLF&E in a green and black cotton dress, which hugged the waist with a velvet belt. The skirt of the two-piece ensemble had unpressed pleats. Jewelry accents were gold.

Brown trim on the lapels and the cuffs of the push-up sleeves were smart detail on the beige wool sharkskin suit Mrs. Felix Jarrait wore. She chose a beige and brown blouse, brown leather shoes and bag and beige gloves. Her jewelry was gold bracelet and earrings.

Mrs. O. M. Waters wore copper and brown-toned jewelry to set off her beige suit, styled with full sleeves that gathered into wide cuffs. A brown blouse and brown alligator belt and shoes completed her ensemble.

Mrs. W. O. Underwood, March of Dimes chairman, looked partyish at the MOD dance in a black cocktail dress. A small print in fuchsia and green on a black background peeked from under an over skirt of stiff black net. A stand-out neckline of black net gave an off-the-shoulder effect. Mrs. Underwood wore long black gloves and pearl and rhinestone jewelry.

A little pearl dangled from the hat Mrs. Harold Hanson wore with her navy peg top skirt and powder blue tissue faille blouse to a reception. The skirt had a set-in belt with a huge buckle in back and the blouse was crisply smart with stiffened cuffs and stand-up collar. Accessories were navy.

A black hat of soft felt trimmed with a row of rhinestones gave the costume look to the sleeveless black dress Mrs. N. I. Jones wore. A row of rhinestones encircled the boat neckline. Made of black velvet and imported German silk, the dress had a black velvet belt at the waist of the circular skirt. Rhinestones on the hat looped over and dangled on the left side. Glitter trim was repeated in jewelry and rhinestone buckles on black suede shoes.

Luther HD Club Meets With Mrs. Underwood

The Luther Home Demonstration Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Ida Underwood.

Mrs. Earnest Williamson gave the devotion and Mrs. Jim Zike presided at the business meeting. Recommendations of committees were adopted.

The roll call was answered with "My Favorite Magazine and Why" by twelve members and four visitors. Visitors were Mrs. Bonnie Puckett, Mrs. W. L. Rawlings, Mrs. Ann Lloyd and Mrs. Luther Underwood.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Hap Wilson. The date of this meeting has been changed to Feb. 9, instead of Feb. 11. All members are urged to attend. There will be a demonstration on variety meats.

Mrs. Jerry Musgrove Is Feted At Shower

Mrs. Jerry Musgrove, the former LaDelle Johnson, was honored at a shower in the home of Mrs. Eck McClure.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Bee Arnold, Mrs. Shirley Walker, Mrs. Charles Simmons, Mrs. Bud Green and Mrs. Lee Jenkins. Mrs. R. O. Weathers, Mrs. Artie Williams and Mrs. H. H. Davis. Thirty-five attended.

Create Own Designs In Ceramics At HCJC

If you feel the urge to go creative you might like yourself out to Howard County Junior College Monday morning and register for the night course in ceramics.

Under the direction of Leon Sparkman this course is open to anyone who can spare three hours a night two times a week — 7:10 p.m. on Monday and Wednesdays.

The work is done completely by hand; no molds are used. Although an indoor kiln is used for firing, Sparkman plans to do some experimental outdoor firing next semester. This is called the primitive method.

There were three students in the class last semester — Mrs. Max R. Ritchie, the wife of a sergeant at Webb, and Ignacio Mendoza and Santos Torres. They are planning to continue. They have done lamp bases, ash trays, and mixing bowls.

Mrs. Ritchie just completed a pair of bisque lamp bases which are replicas of totem poles she photographed in Wisconsin and Minnesota. They are in pastel colors but she explained that when they are glazed they will turn darker in color.

Faculty Frolics Open Thursday

Members of Big Spring school faculties will let their hair down Thursday and Friday to present the Faculty Frolics of 1954 in the high school auditorium.

Eighty teachers and principals will perform in skits, musical numbers and monologues to benefit the treasuries of the local units of the Texas Teachers Association and the Classroom Teachers Association. Proceeds will be used to send delegates to professional conventions and to further the profession.

The curtain will rise at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the schools. Prices are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for elementary school children.

Directors for the frolics from each school are as follows: Mrs. Katie West, West Ward; Betty Joyce Gray, Park Hill; Mrs. Dorothy Davis, Kate Morrison; Mrs. Hamilton, Washington Place; Mrs. Vernay Cook, Central Ward; Colleen Slaughter, Senior High School; Jack Everett, Junior High and Mrs. Joann Thompson, Airport. Other schools participating will be East Ward, North Ward and South Ward.

Airport P-TA Will Serve Lunch Tuesday

Members of the Airport P-TA will serve lunch at the school Tuesday. The proceeds will go to the March of Dimes.

At a recent meeting it was voted to buy a complete set of rhythm band instruments for the lower grades and to sponsor two boys for the soap box derby.

Mrs. George O'Brien Sr. was guest speaker. Mrs. L. D. Spradling's room won the room count and gave the program.

Mrs. McNeil was appointed hospital chairman for the Founders Day tea in February. The group also appointed a nominating committee for the election of new officers.

Doris Daniels Installed As Worthy Advisor Of Rainbow Girls Saturday

Doris Daniels was installed worthy advisor of Big Spring Assembly 60, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, at a ceremony Saturday evening at Masonic Hall.

Other officers installed were Pat Tidwell, worthy associate advisor; Gwen Gafford, charity; Betty Peterson, hope; Marylee James, faith; Sherry Chastel, chaplain; Peggy Hogan, drill leader; Sharon Lewis, recorder; Kenda McGibbon, treasurer; Barbara Coffee, musician; Jamie Hale, director; Billie Jean King, love; Jackie Johnson, religion; Gerry Gardner, nature; Barbara Shields, immortality; Annette Boykin, fidelity; Freida Donica, patriotism; Alice Ann Martin, service; Linda Heflin, confidential observer; Ruth Ann Abat, outer observer; Mrs. Tracy Roberts, mother advisor and Mrs. Kitty Anderson, choir mother.

DORIS DANIELS

Installing officers were Mary Ella Bigony, worthy advisor; Joyce Anderson, marshal; Sally Cowper, musician; Susann Reynolds, chaplain and Jane Robinson, recorder.

The officers were introduced to the assembly by Miss Anderson, each officer entering the room through an arch intertwined with roses and fern. Decorations throughout the room followed the theme, "Melody and Love."

Before the speakers' stand and on the recorder's desk were hearts and flower arrangements. Musical notes marked the officers' stations and choir places.

On the platform with the installing officers was Judy Daniels, sister of Miss Daniels. She was dressed in a formal like her sister's. She was chosen as mascot for the term.

Members of the choir installed were Linda Coker, Sue Everett, Candace Dickinson, Doreen Robertson, Rita Rae Gale, Mary Sue Hale, Jacqueline Smith, Mary Beth Stratton, Cecelia McDonald, Margaret Fryar, Lucy Thompson, Carol Foster, Sandra Sloan, Jennie McEvers, Belva Jo Wrenn, Nelda Williams, Betty Cain, Mollie Griffith, Joyce Horn, Sylvia Mendolla, Tommie Jo Williamson and Pat Hinson.

Members of the advisory board installed were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Hull, Brad Ware, Carl Bradley, Ervin Daniels, Irene Barnett, Mrs. Florence Read, Mrs. Beulah James, Mrs. Roy Sloan, Mrs. Clyde Gafford, Mrs. Annie R-y Howard, Mrs. Inez Magee, Mrs. Kitty Anderson, Mrs. Amanda Hull, Pyrie Bradshaw and Mrs. Ina Richardson.

As part of the installation Judy Daniels presented her sister with a white satin heart and six of the new officers formed a circle around the two girls and presented the new worthy advisor with sweetheart roses which she tied into the heart. For this ceremony Miss Bigony sang a sweetheart song.

Girl Scouts To Have Drama Course Tuesday

A dramatic workshop for Girl Scouts and Girl Scout leaders has been scheduled for Tuesday in Big Spring according to an announcement made here by Mrs. Larson Lloyd. The workshop will be held in Sweetwater Monday.

OLEDA SCHROTTKY

Mrs. Lloyd pointed out that all Girl Scouts and Girl Scout adult workers are invited to attend the workshop to be conducted at Girl Scout Little House and at Booth-Oaks Camp in Sweetwater.

The workshop is scheduled from 10 a. m. - 3 p. m. Scouters are to bring their own lunch. The drinks will be free.

Oleda Schrottky, dramatic consultant on the national staff of the Girl Scouts, will conduct the workshops. She is the author of many colorful pageants and ceremonies produced by Girl Scout councils and troops across the nation. Miss Schrottky is an authority on creative drama for children.

Girl Scouting, she points out, offers an opportunity for informal dramatic training to its more than 1,500,000 girl members of all races and creeds. In her capacity as dramatic consultant, Miss Schrottky travels all over the United States and its possessions giving courses in public speaking and creative dramatics.

Her varied career has included acting and teaching as well as lecturing and writing. She has appeared with the Provincetown Players in several productions. A graduate of Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis., she has studied at the Curry School, Boston, Mass., the Yvette Guilbert School of the Theater, New York University, and the Riverside School of Pageantry.

Miss Schrottky is the representative of the Girl Scout national organization on the National Movie Review Board, of which she is the present chairman. Formerly on the faculty of Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., where she was college speech and dramatics instructor, she is a member of the American Education Association, American National Theater and Academy, and Delta Gamma Sorority, and on the board of the Waldorf Schools. She also holds membership in and is past president of the New York Story Teller's League and has been affiliated with the Junior League Drama Institute.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

You Can Turn Liabilities Into Assets, Says Anne

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When the Topper series was scheduled for television many prominent stars were considered but the pilot film made by Anne Jeffreys and her husband Bob Sterling, was so impressive the series was sold after the first audition.

"It's terribly hard work," Anne told me recently when I visited her on the set at CBS, "but I love it."

"She has so much energy that at 4 o'clock when I am about to limit my calories I'm back to normal. I find counting calories the most pleasant way to diet because you can have anything that really tempts you so long as you keep track of what you're eating. For instance if I want a big, rich slice of chocolate cake I mark down 350 calories. Maybe for dinner I'll have just two poached eggs and a glass of skim milk to make up for it but this way of dieting suits my temperament."

LAST CHANCE FOR BOOKLET
 Here's your last chance to order Lydia Lane's new booklet, "1954 Diary for Beauty." With this booklet, which features valuable beauty information on all phases of glamour and appearance, you'll be on the road to a more attractive impression.

Featured in the new booklet, along with photographs and autographs of such stars as Donna Reed, Irene Dunne, Jean Simmons, Ava Gardner and Leslie Caron, you'll find a special diet, a chart to analyze your beauty needs, a formula for finding your correct weight, a calorie chart, plus information on hair, complexion, hands and body contour.

Afne talked about how important it was to express yourself in all things. "If you allow yourself to conform when your heart isn't in it—to be pushed around—you won't be happy. And you can't enjoy life, or even look pretty, when there is inner conflict," she explained.

"Courage has been a big thing with me. I've gambled and I've taken chances but I've never regretted them," Anne continued. "I came to Hollywood without even knowing one person. But mother came with me and backed me up when I felt low. She was determined for me to be an actress."

"Did you have a hard time getting started in pictures?"
 "No," Anne confided. "In a few weeks I got a part with Nelson Eddy and Jeannette MacDonald in 'I Married An Angel.' I made 34 pictures here. Two of them were westerns. But I never really established myself until I was in the Broadway musical 'Kiss Me Kate.'"

"My hair was always a great problem," Anne went on. "It was baby fine, and never would do what I wanted it to. So I let it grow long. Now I wear it in a chignon and I don't bleach it. I don't curl it and when I dress it in the morning it stays neat all day. And you know, I get so many compliments on my hair, and the way I wear it has become established with me. If you adjust to your limitations and have the courage to make the most of them you can turn your liabilities into assets."

"My hair comes down to my waist and I take care of it myself," Anne announced with pride. "Another thing I used to worry about," Anne continued, "was my skin. It's the kind that gets freckles when I'm in the sun but never tans. There is nothing I can do about this so I make an adjustment and get the color I want my complexion to be from makeup. I use such a thin film, and I never powder over it, that it has a natural effect."

Offers Beauty Advice

Anne Jeffreys, popular motion picture actress now being starred in the CBS "Topper" Television series, tells Lydia Lane how she turned beauty liabilities into assets.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Why Do People Bluntly Hurt Afflicted Children?

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
 In my travels recently, a woman whose small daughter has seriously crossed eyes told me a shocking story.

The woman explained, at the outset, that she was well aware of her little girl's eye condition, and was following her oculist's instructions for care before attempting surgical correction.

Recently, she took the child down town. In the course of the trip and shopping, no less than fourteen people remarked, in the child's presence, on her physical handicap.

"Why in the world," the mother asked me, "do people go out of their way to hurt children that way?"

I don't know the answer, any more than I know why some people do the very opposite—turn their heads away when a crippled or otherwise "different" child passes them on the street.

Dr. Morton Seidenfeld, a psychologist with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, contends that this problem of social prejudice against disabled, or "different" children "has grown out of a prolonged desire of mankind to rid itself of problems that it feels unable to cope with in a more acceptable manner."

Within the memory of most adults living today, people turned away when they saw a baby who had been born with a cleft lip because they did not like to look. Now, due to improved surgical procedures, the baby with a cleft lip can be helped to normal appearance by surgery within the first year of his life, with only a barely visible scar line as evidence of the deflection.

drop, Anne is still full of pep and ready for anything," her husband Bob told me.

"I am a great believer in vitamins," Anne confessed, "and at 4 o'clock I take my pills and they fortify me." Anne looked at her husband as much as to ask, since he knew the secret, why didn't he use it.

"Tell me more about these pep pills," I asked.

"I get them from my doctor," Anne confessed. "I think it's a great mistake for one to take vitamins without checking first to find out what your system needs. When I had my metabolism taken I discovered that I needed a grain of thyroid which I now have every day."

I asked Anne if she had a weight problem.

"I was born in North Carolina, but I've had to revise my Southern eating habits," Anne confessed.

"Did you find this change difficult?" I asked.

Anne, who is very exacting, said: "Let's put it this way—I find it very rewarding to change my habits. You can't look pretty, if you don't feel well so now I eat for health and I never allow my weight to get out of line more than three pounds."

"If I diet for three days and

HI-TALK

By Libby Jones

BILL EARLEY

An assembly was held in the High School auditorium Wednesday morning to present the '33 Steer football team with two beautiful trophies. John W. Culwell, superintendent of Schools at Breckenridge and president of District 1-AAA, presented the trophies: A life size gold football for having won the district co-championship, and a silver football of identical size for being state finalists in the state AAA playoffs. Both trophies are being proudly displayed in the trophy case.

The assembly was opened with the National Anthem played by the BSHS Band, followed by the invocation given by Bill Earley, Robert Angel gave a talk on the "Viewpoint of a Player." Talks were also given by Mr. Culwell and Omar Jones, and Supt. W. C. Blankenship acted as Master of Ceremonies. Coach Carl Coleman introduced the members of the Steer team and told a little about each player. The assembly was closed with the cheerleaders leading the student body in the Alma Mater.

The winners of the essay contest, "What the American Flag Means to Me," were announced and awarded cash prizes at the assembly Wednesday. Richard Hughes took high honors by winning $7.50 for first place in the senior division and $30 for first place in all three divisions. First place winners of $7.50 in the junior and sophomore divisions were Barbara Elmore and Ruth Ann Abat. Winners of the second place awards of $5 each in senior, junior, and sophomore divisions were Candace Dickenson, Billie Norris and Donovan Smith. Third place winners of $2.50 each in the three classes were Nancy Conway, Lois Spivey, and Bettie Anderson.

Thirty-seven students were listed on the "A" honor roll for the first semester. They are Ruth Ann Abat, Joyce Anderson, Robert Angel, Audrey Arnold, Dorothy Arge, J. T. Baird, Alvin Baker, Mary Ella Bigony, China Carroll, Sally Coyner, Joe Davies, Beverly Edwards, Nina Fryar, Bobby Fuller, Patsy Grant, R. B. Hall, Mary Ellen Hayes, Doyle Leroy, Mary Ivey, Libby Jones, Leroy LeFever, Donald McCarthy, Joyce Nix, Frances Reagan, Clardia Reed, Tommy Roberts, Brownie Rogers, Glenn Rogers, Barbara Smith, Donovan Smith, Louis Stipp, Mary Beth Stratton, Joy Towery, John Westbrook, Tommie Joe Williams and Harris Wood.

The High School choir gave a performance for the ABC Club at noon Friday. The choir will also sing in the high school auditorium this afternoon at the program commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Texas school system.

The Student Council seems to have been pretty busy during the past week. Last Saturday night they sponsored the Twirp Week dance, which netted the March of Dimes donations to more than $250. The VIC Club journeyed to Lamesa Thursday night to play the Lamesa VIC Club in basketball and volleyball games.

A basketball pep rally was held in the gym Thursday morning. Coach Bonner introduced the "A" team players, and James Ray and Charles Clark co-captains, were called on to say a few words. The Steers played Breckenridge in a home game that night and furnished the many spectators with a thriller of a game, although the final score of the game was four points in Breckenridge's favor.

For our character sketch of an outstanding senior this week, we want to tell you a little about Bill Earley. Bill has been an asset to BSHS by keeping a high scholastic record and playing on the Steer football team. He is a member of the Student Council and the Key Club, of which he is program chairman. Last year Bill was chosen as a Who's Who representative, an honor based on scholarship, leadership, character and service.

ULTIMATE IN TAILORING
City-Wise Suit Combines Fashion With Discretion

The name MonteSano has long been associated with the ultimate in styling and tailoring, and his suit shown today is convincing evidence of his right to this reputation. MonteSano showed it in dark grey worsted flannel, an admirable fabric for the lines of this model, so city-wise in its appearance. In his inimitable manner of combining all the high points of fashion with distinction and discretion, he here puts forth the cuffed, shorter sleeve, the rounded shoulder with bulk just below it, the dandified cutaway front, the sharp-edged peg pockets.

Cotton Has New Face For 1954

The French say "trompe loeil" in English, it's "fool the eye." And that's what cottons do today. They fool the eye with new textures, weaves and finishes which make them hard to recognize as cottons.

In this group are tapestries, heavy cotton damasks, cotton honans and embroidered cotton satins, reports the National Cotton Council.

Cottons distinguished by this new styling are featured by outstanding designers in every type of daytime apparel. Dresses, suits, ensembles and coats are made doubly significant by the newness of their cotton fabrics.

The boxy-jacketed suit in tapestry cotton ensembled with a chiffon chambray overblouse is indicative of this trend.

Cotton honan, in plain colors, bold plaids and clear-tinted checks, has a crisp hand and slub texture that gives new interest to the classic lines of the daytime coat dress.

Rich, Eastern colors in a cotton woven to resemble a sarl in alternating stripes and dobby-woven coin dots is as much at home for day as date. A distinguished designer uses it for a tiny, short-sleeved jacket ensembled with a slim skirt, and a date frock.

Leaf and floral embroideries traced on cotton satins in either tone-on-tone colorings or in multi-colored patterns definitely belong to the "are these cottons?" class.

FRED KEATING AND TEST PLOTS
... Can Chemicals Make Our Soils Behave?

Chemical Aids To Soil Object Of Tests At Experiment Farm

By JOE PICKLE
Can chemistry restore some soil characteristics native to the virgin soils of this area?
And if so, will they result in greater yields? And will the operation prove profitable?
These are some of the questions which a new series of tests at the U. S. Experiment Farm is seeking to answer. Last year test plots involving application of K-186 (Krillium) and other chemical soil conditioners were started here. They may be continued for several years.

One of the chief things which Fred Keating, superintendent of the farm, and others hope to learn is whether commercial soil conditioners will prevent caking and crusting of the soil. They also hope to learn if they will cut down on evaporative loss of moisture.
In this area, native soils normally possess enough humus and other organic matter to maintain a natural mulch. This makes for rapid absorption of moisture, a soft texture through which seedlings can sprout easily, and consistency that reduces loss through evaporation.

Constant cropping has, in many instances, resulted in a gradual crusting of land. It is not uncommon for farmers to scratch mechanically the surface of their fields before germinating seeds can send sprouts to the surface. This same crusting has stepped up evaporation of soil moisture.
Last year the tests were run on a control basis and utilized irrigation, something out of the ordinary for the dry land station here. This was, Keating explained, to gain a definite check on absorption and upon moisture retention.
"Of course you can't tell much on the basis of a single year's test," said Keating, "but it was clear that absorptive quality of the treated plots was much higher than the untreated ones."
In the case of K-186, water soaked in twice as rapidly as on untreated plots. There was no noticeable difference in yields, however.
On a more extensive scale, tests will be conducted in the upper fields on a strictly dryland basis. There are two units with 18 test plots of 6-ft. diameter. These will be fallow and will be used to check evaporation loss. This will be done by use of a "moisture" meter, more technically an ohmmeter. Under each plot is buried at different levels a series of plaster Paris blocks with wires connected. At the top the meter is attached, and the less the moisture in the plaster block at a certain level, the greater the electrical resistance. By correlating the readings with actual soil samples, Keating and aides will be able to determine the amount of moisture in the plot at any given time.
Adjacent to these two units are corresponding ones 50x22-ft. identically treated, but which will be cropped. This will afford to check on yields and also crop moisture requirements as well as evaporative losses.
Some of the blocks have normal cultivation, treated with K-186 and untreated. Some have a stage mulch treated with K-186 and untreated. Others have a cotton gin trash mulch treated with K-186 and untreated. Still another has ultratreat PR 51 plus K-186 and untreated. Then there is a block with cotton gin trash mulch treated with PR-51. Three other plots have been treated with conditioners Nonic 218, Lorol 24 and CMC 120.
One peculiar thing about application of the conditioners, some of which are used as powder and some as spray, is that they tend to fix the soil quality at the time of application. For example, if the soil is lumpy, the conditioners are apt to fix it in a lumpy stage. If soil is soft and porous, it is apt to remain in that state.
Keating is hopeful that the tests will show some definite reduction of evaporation. That could be tremendously important because of the high evaporation loss in this area. In November, for example, evaporation loss of exposed water was 2.99 inches and in December 3.32 inches. Soil moisture loss naturally is not that high, but it is high enough to critically effect yields.
At the present, cost of the conditioners would be prohibitive. Keating thinks that if any prove practical, the costs might come down sufficiently to make their use economically feasible.

WIT FROM THE HEART

Modern Valentines Feature Chuckles

By WAYLAND YATES
The heart, formerly seat of the emotions, is becoming a well of wit.

Witness: The Valentines you'll see on the greeting card racks around town, just waiting to convey the 20th Century Romeo's sentiments to the object of his affections.

If you look long and hard, you might find one of the emotional variety, such as the hundred-year-old heart throbber which proclaimed that the cure for a "love-sick mind" wasn't in medicines or drugs but in consent of the lady fair to "be my Valentine."

Mostly, though, you'll find cupid getting a lift with a lift. Such as in this jingle with a tingle:

"While we're young
And in our prime,
Stop wasting time!
And swapping harvest moon for diaphan, the 1954 femme fatale can respond:

"You're the only guy
In the world, by gosh,
For whom I'd gladly
Do the wash!"

Although the verses are "the littest, little bit silly," the greeting card makers say the old Valentine meaning hasn't really been changed.

Cupid's modern victims have the same "giddy feeling," the Valentine publishers claim. They just describe it with a Valentine message that chuckles.

Besides, if a guy's really serious, he'll probably invest in one of those heart-shaped boxes of candy which probably is as sweet as even the old-fashioned kind of mass-produced poetry.

And no telling what kind of credit a feller might get if he dispatches one of the current "special" cards for Valentine's Day.
This variety has a "tree of hearts" and in every heart you can insert a coin, dime size.

Then there is the jig-saw model. The swain takes it apart and ships the pieces to the fair young maiden. Her heart all a flutter, she has to piece it together again before reading his pulse-pounding jingle of love.

The candy is expected to be one of the most popular Valentine's Day items around Big Spring. One dealer has laid in more than 1,000 pounds for the season, and he thinks it'll be gone by Feb. 14.

If it isn't, he's stuck, for the candy makers are sticking to tradition. They refuse to abandon the old heart-shaped box for Valentine giving, and the retailers say Valentine's is the only time there's any demand for that kind.

Today's Valentines are designed for the various age-groups, too. You can get 'em for kids, grown-ups and middle-sized folks. For sweetheart, son, daughter, wife, in-laws, mother and niece. Or for the ill or the well.

The pictures for the most part match the poetry. Pop-ups are popular and you can get cards that enclose handkerchiefs, wax orchids, lapel pins and earrings.

So don't worry about the commitments, if you don't wish to make any. Just send her a joke for Feb. 14. She'll love you for it.

Tickets For Scout Circus Are Being Sold Rapidly

Initial reports have indicated a good response to ticket sales for the Boy Scout circus set for Feb. 11 in the high school gymnasium.
The first distribution was for a block of 3,000 tickets. Some units have sold out, and as a result, circus planners have printed another 3,000. Proceeds above actual expenses of the show will go back to the Cub, Scout or Explorer units which sold the tickets.
The program is built around Cubbing and Scouting activities, skills and recreational events. There will be a Noah's Ark by the Cubs, and an Indian Village.

Various Scout units will give first aid demonstrations, have a carpet race, go through a bike drill, put on signalling, build human pyramids, demonstrate some Explorer Scouting, camping and pioneering, together with games and the grand finale.

The poster contest, bent on advertising the Lone Star district's first circus, has drawn keen interest, according to John Freeman, Best posters will be placed in downtown windows sometime this week.

Chairmen working on the circus with the boys are Sam McComb, arrangements; Dr. W. A. Hunt and John Freeman, posters and finance; Dan Krausse, circus director; Gill Jones, announcer; Jake Morgan, notification and scheduling; D. M. McKinney, unit preparation; S. M. Smith, ringmaster; George Mclear, properties; Sam Santog, judge; Dr. J. E. Hogan, health and safety.

C-City Lions Hear Report On Hawaiian Trip

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. James E. Payne, Colorado City clubwoman, spoke to the Lions Club here Friday telling of a recent trip to the Hawaiian Islands.
Mrs. Payne sailed on the Navy hospital ship USS Haven and returned on the Navy's Mars. A group of 16 women made the trip at the invitation of the Secretary of the Navy, Robert Anderson, with the stated purpose of acquainting civilians with the Navy and with Navy personnel, and of allowing Naval officers contact with civilian viewpoints. Mrs. Payne of Colorado City and Mrs. Toddie L. Wynne of Dallas, were the only Texas women to make this cruise, which was the sixth such cruise to be offered to women civic leaders.
Mrs. Payne said that the eight-day stay in the islands had given them all a keen awareness of the explosive situation in the Far East and "perhaps we will complain a little less when we have to give up a few things so that the military can remain strong."
Mrs. Payne told the Lions that "our travel did not displace a ny cargo or persons—the Haven usually comes in full and goes back empty, and the Mars usually flies out full and back empty." The group paid for their meals and for the laundering of linens, Mrs. Payne said.
Mrs. Payne was impressed with the desire of the islanders for statehood. Riley Allen, a native of Colorado City and now editor of a Honolulu newspaper told Mrs. Payne that the islanders pay all of the taxes paid by U. S. citizens, and are governed by the same laws, but do not have equal representation.
Mrs. Payne was also a speaker at the Kiwanis Club and the Jaycees earlier in the week.

Express Company Plans To Handle Orders For CARE

Orders for CARE overseas aid packages can be placed at the local Railway Express Agency office here beginning Monday, A. L. Lott, agent, has announced.
The Railway Express Agency has agreed to accept CARE orders at all of its 2,000 principal offices throughout the United States as a public service. The express company will handle the orders without any charge to the international welfare organization.
"I feel that in offering the use of its principal offices and personnel to CARE, Railway Express, which will celebrate its 115th anniversary on March 4, is giving a birthday present of significance to CARE," said A. L. Hammell, Railway Express president.
Express agents will be kept fully informed about the kind of food, textile and self-help packages CARE delivers to the people of more than 40 countries throughout the world.

The question, "Truth Without Faith" will be the theme, and keynote speakers will be the Rev. Richard J. Walsh, New York City; Rabbi Morris Adler, Detroit, Mich.; and Dr. James I. McCord, Austin.

Former Resident Is Judging Team Coach

The Texas Tech wool judging team that won first place in the contest at the National Western Livestock Show at Denver was coached by Nathan Allen Jr., Tech's wool specialist.
Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Allen, 2112 Scurry, Big Spring. He has been on the Texas Tech faculty for several years and has served as judge at a large number of the West Texas livestock shows.

Leaves Hospital After Treatment

GARDEN CITY — Mrs. Lillian Marks Carter, 70, pioneer Glasscock County ranchwoman, who has been quite ill for the past three weeks has been removed from a Big Spring hospital to 308 1/2 West 20th Street in that city where she will make her home temporarily.
Mrs. Carter is the mother of Mrs. Nathan Allen and Mrs. Frank Covert of Big Spring, and Mrs. Ben Schafer, Mrs. Blamarch Schafer and Roy Carter Jr., of Glasscock County.

Postal Receipts Up

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (P)—Postal receipts of 121 Texas cities rose to $70,700,000 in 1953, a gain of 7 per cent over 1952's level of $66,100,000. The year-to-year comparison showed increases for all of the five largest Texas cities. Houston led with an 11 per cent gain.

After 100 Years, Education In Texas Has Come To New Challenge

One hundred years ago today, the Texas school system became part of the law of our state.

This does not mean that there had been no education in Texas prior to that point. Indeed, teaching of sorts had been carried on for 150 years but most of it was spasmodic or in limited private and parochial academies.

Nine years after Texas became a state, a group of officials declared their determination that the state should have educational institutions of numbers and excellence surpassed by none.

A $2 million nest egg, carved out of $10 million the United States had paid to Texas for contested territories which are now in New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming, became the nucleus of a permanent school fund.

Yet, some of the problems of today seem like echoes of a century ago when there was a clamor for teachers, and the subject of adequate pay was one of frequent appeal. Today, out state is adding more children to the scholastic rolls each year than there were altogether at the start.

In the beginning of the state school system, three to four months schooling was an objective. Today the minimum foundation program assures every scholastic at least nine months of school.

Then the basic problem was to get some education; today it is to get better education. Our age is no longer the leisurely one of the horse and buggy with its frontiers skirted by hostile natives.

The products of 100 years of education are incalculable, but the residue possesses the seeds of righteous challenge. Like 100 years ago, our problems cry out for a devotion of purpose and purse.

Confident Living—Norman Vincent Peale Success Is In Store For Those Who Unlock The Power Within

I want to tell you about an interesting experience on a golf course. I like golf, but am unable to play often. I'm pretty much of a duff, and on this particular day got into the rough.

While he helped find my ball he said, "Doctor, I would like to talk to you about myself some time."

"O. K.," I told him, "why not start talking right now while I look for this ball?"

He poked his rake around in a pile of leaves and started off. "I'd like to get somewhere, I'm not satisfied with where I am or what I'm doing or anything about my situation. I want to get somewhere."

"That's fine," I answered. "Where do you want to get?"

"Well," he said, somewhat bewildered, "I don't know. I just never thought about it definitely like that."

"What can you do best?" I asked him. He hesitated for a moment and then replied, "I really don't know what I can do best."

"Well," I persisted, "what would you like to do?" He looked blank. "I—I just don't know. I've never figured that out either."

I was hard on him then because I thought he needed a good self-analysis. "Now look," I exclaimed, "you tell me you want to get somewhere and then when I ask you where you want to get, you tell me you don't know what you can do best, or even what you would like to do."

I had a talk with him some time later and he told me: "I haven't much education or background. I come from a poor family. I just haven't any opportunity."

decent people; they're not in jail, are they? The people in this community think of them as fine people. Aren't they?"

"They certainly are," he protested. "Well, then, why do you talk your background down? The only real problem you have is that you are a bit short on money, but I've known boys with money who can't stack up to you. You have every opportunity any American ever had. You just have to get organized within yourself."

Conversations like this went on until I had him built up to a proper appreciation of himself. He began to realize that he was somebody. And besides he began to practice faith with sincerity.

In one of our talks, I told him: "You have a good capacity in that brain of yours, boy. There is something in it."

The answer to that was simple: "By praying and praying until you acquire the self-confidence you need, and then ideas and creative concepts will emerge from that brain of yours."

He took that advice and has been praying and studying and working, and just recently he was made a foreman in his plant. His employer told me that eventually this boy will become their best supervisor because, "He comes up with more creative ideas than any man I have on the job."

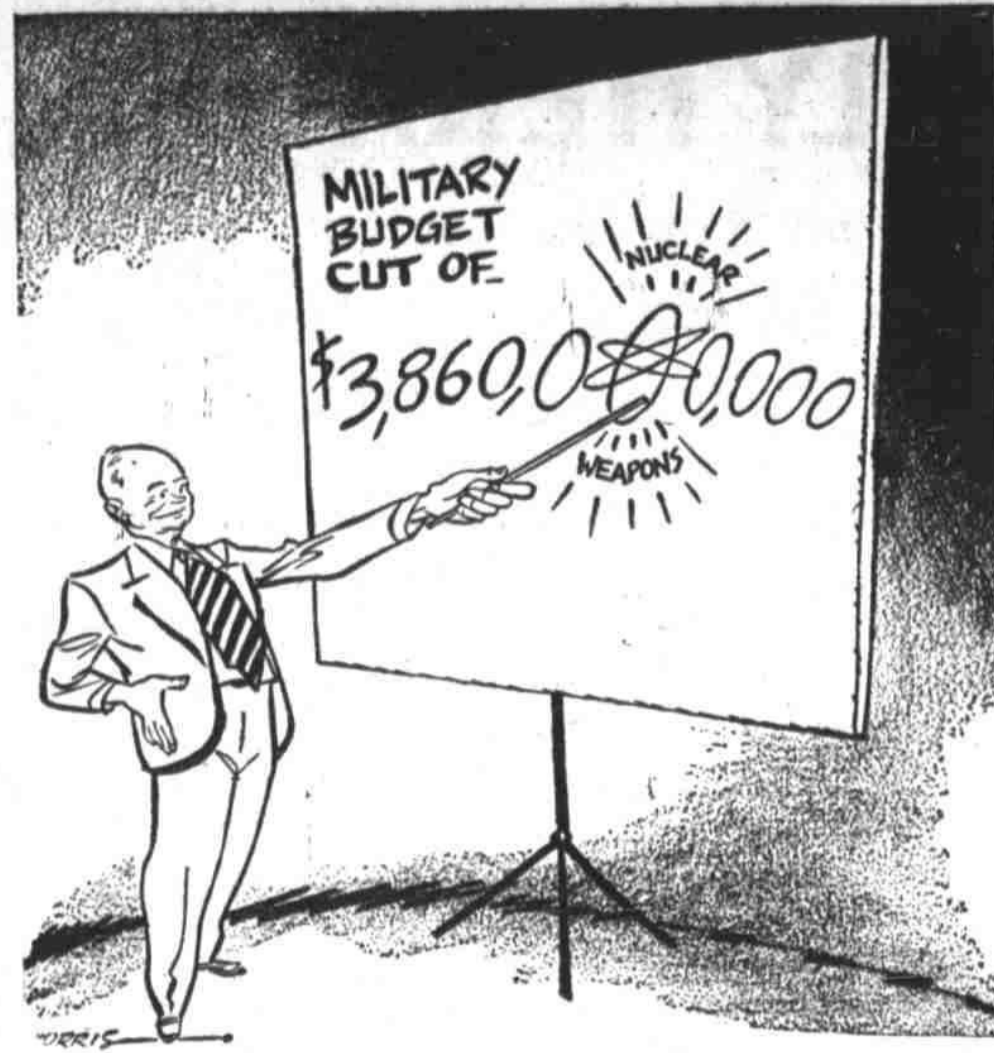

One of the greatest facts about you is, as the Bible tells us, "The kingdom of God is within you." But it is up to you to get it out and into operation.

What do you mean, poor family and no background? I asked. "They're good, they're good people; they're not in jail, are they? The people in this community think of them as fine people. Aren't they?"

Research, Development Of New Products Appear Destined To Form New Frontier

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's Economic Report fits the mood of the country and American history. It's an ode to growth—ever outward, ever upward.

Research and new products take the place of the geographical frontier. "The urge to improve living standards exercises a strong and continuous pressure on our society."

This long-term upward tilt in U. S. production and employment is the country's great protection today against a recession. Therefore, no emergency measures are proposed to Congress.

The Truman administration believed in a government policy of "hands-in." During a period of business readjustment, the Democratic-Republican coalition would be do something positive.

The Eisenhower policy is "hands-ready." The report says: "The best service the Government can render to our economy, besides helping to maintain stability and insuring a floor of protection for the population, is to create an environment in which men are eager to make new jobs, design new products and develop new markets."

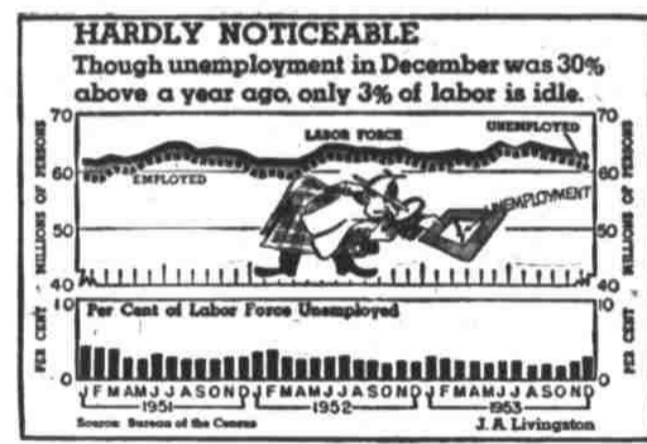

Wall Street's behavior is a good augury. In the middle of a business readjustment, investors have been willing to bid up stock prices. "Although security prices are not always reliable guides to subsequent business developments, they sometimes reflect changes before they are recorded" by other statistics.

At his press conference on Wednesday, President Eisenhower distinguished his philosophy from that of the Truman administration by saying that he is a conservative when it comes to economics. The report helps to explain that distinction.

Economic Hypochondria Is A Condition We Need To Avoid

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

It really is not much exaggeration to say that the country could "talk itself into a depression." There's the old saying that bad news travels fast, and it would appear that when some sort of decline in business occurs, there are always the prophets and reporters to spread the bad news, letting it grow with the telling.

Let a fellow say he has to "pull in his horns" and he's got his neighbor thinking that he, too, has to tighten the belt. First thing you know, everybody around has closed down the shutters. It can be dangerous.

Trouble is the scare-story people frequently are too prone to broadcast fiction and fancy, without looking into the facts. A number of sound business leaders have warned against such, but one of the most effective warnings I've seen lately was in a piece called "Do We Have Economic Hypochondria?"

He is obsessed with his health and is sure it must get worse. In fact, he's disappointed when a common cold fails to become pneumonia. Right now, says the booklet, too many people are yielding to Economic Hypochondria. Then it cites the fancies that people have taken up, as contrasted to the facts in the case.

Fancy—Consumers are already so hard hit by unemployment, high prices, high taxes, that they can't save a dime. Fact—There has never been so much money in the savings banks, and never before so many individual depositors.

Fancy—The average low-through-middle-income family is up to its ears in installment debt and repossessions are becoming the rule rather than the exception. Fact—The president of the Commercial Investment Trust has stated that loans are in excellent shape, payments being made promptly. Biggest loan expansion came with Korean War, now paid off.

Fancy—People have almost stopped buying motor cars and one manufacturer recently laid off more than half the employees.

Fact—Competition is getting tougher, true, and production always falls off in the second half, but the industry's 1953 sales were up a million cars over 1952. This year will bring a big replacement demand from buyers of new cars replacing those of '47-'50.

Fancy—People aren't buying much because they are afraid of the future.

Fact—They have been buying more, rather than less, with 1953 sales calculated to be up 5 1/2 per cent over the year before.

Fancy—The recent building spree has pretty much exhausted the demand both for new houses and new plant structures.

Fact—Surveys among local builders in hundreds of cities indicate new starts may be down 10 per cent this year, but families are getting larger and so are houses. Any slackening in plant construction will be equaled by the $5 billion to be spent this year on new roads. Total state and local spending has been at the rate of $6 billion, and is increasing.

Fancy—Government spendings have kept the economy seemingly prosperous, but the big cuts being engineered will remove this prop.

Fact—The cuts are very slight. Federal spending for goods and services dropped during the past two quarters only from a rate of $33.5 billions a year to $31.5.

And so it goes. It's not easy to accept all the national figures when a drought keeps coming in. But the facts show that the economy of this country shouldn't be talked into a state of pneumonia even if it has a few symptoms of a cold. —BOB WHIPKEY

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Some Would Be Happy To Place America Back In Role Of 20's

WASHINGTON — Once the President elected to come down firmly and unequivocally against the Bricker amendment, the outcome of the contest was never seriously in doubt. For two-thirds of the Senate to vote against the President on so crucial an issue would have been for all practical purposes the end of the Eisenhower Administration.

But the action of the Senate will mean only that the issue is temporarily off stage and in the wings. The organized pressure for such a restraint on the power of the Chief Executive to make foreign policy will continue.

The Administration's initial error was in underestimating the strength of the pressure particularly in the Republican Party. One can easily oversimplify what this pressure means. But it is hardly an exaggeration to say that it represents a resurgence of the extreme nationalism and isolationism which took America out of the current of world affairs after 1920.

And the pressure is being generated by many of the same elements that after the end of World War I, when the mood of most people was one of weary disillusion or indifference, worked to keep the United States out of the old League of Nations.

In a large sense the contest over the Bricker amendment is the familiar crisis of distrust. The ultra-nationalist, go-it-alone mentality regards all foreigners with dark suspicion, convinced they must be plotting against kindly, simple old Uncle Sam. More important, this suspicion is carried over to the Americans who must deal with these tricky foreigners—the Secretary of State, our diplomats, those striped pants, cookie-pushing boys who live in exotic foreign climes.

After 1920 the role of his great and powerful nation in foreign policy was negligible. We isolated ourselves from the contamination of the wicked world. Carrying on the day to day business between our government and other governments was difficult as Congress questioned the right of the President to make executive agreements.

Then as now the suspicious nationalists and isolationists insisted these agreements violated the Constitution. They should be submitted in the form of treaties so the Senate could accept—or more likely reject—them. The leading authority on international law of the time, John Bassett Moore, was moved to write: "The conclusion of agreements between governments, with more or less formality, is in reality a matter of constant practice, without which current diplomatic business could not be carried on. A question arises as to the rights of an individual, the treatment of a vessel, a matter of ceremonial or any of the thousand and one things that daily occupy the attention of foreign office without attracting public notice; the governments directly concerned exchange views and reach a conclusion by which the difference is disposed of."

"They have entered into an 'international agreement'; and to assert that the Secretary of State when he has engaged in routine transactions of this kind, as he has constantly done since the foundation of the government, has violated the Constitution because he did not make a treaty would be to invite ridicule. Without the exercise of such power it would be impossible to conduct the business of his office."

Recently this reporter was in a solidly Republican community where support of the Bricker amendment among leading citizens was obviously strong. Part of the justification for it went as follows: "Well, it can't be finally adopted for three years so it can't hurt Eisenhower; and we've got to have it for after that so we won't get any more Yalians."

The Administration failed to realize how this feeling has been built up. One of the most effective persuaders for the Bricker amendment has been Clarence Manion, former dean of the law school of Notre Dame University and now head of the important commission instigated by the Eisenhower Administration to sort out and allocate the functions of the Federal and state governments.

Contrary to a report coming from one of the President's close advisers, Manion has told friends that no one has ever asked him to modify his views on the issue. He addressed a big rally of women from around the country advocating passage of the amendment and his talks for the cause have taken him in the past year or two into each of the 48 states.

From Senator Wayne Morse, the Oregon independent, has come a proposal for getting this angry drama off the stage. With a cheerful smile he says he will move to send it back to the Senate's Judiciary Committee where it can be reconsidered along with the proposed changes. This says Morse amiably, will keep the Republicans from fratricidal warfare. But they are not altogether happy with that solution since it will be neither victory nor defeat but merely postponement.

Amusing Facts About Names

A letter from Dr. Ray Hulbert brings up the subject of names. He writes:

"While my father (named Hulbert) was a boy, he lived in a neighborhood with two families named Hull and Burt. During my own boyhood we lived within a mile of three families named Trout, Herring and Sea."

"When we moved into the next county, we came to know a Wolfe who married a Lamb. The bride was not living at home, but with her uncle, Mr. Fox."

"In St. Joseph, Mo., I saw the sign of a dentist named Dr. Toothaker. I know a physician named Dr. Slaughter and an osteopath, Dr. Rench. One day I mentioned to a friend that a Miss Cole had married Mr. Wood, and he said, 'They must want to keep the home fires burning.'"

Thank you, Dr. Hulbert! A letter with amusing facts is always welcome. I venture to suggest that other readers know about people or families with interesting names. If you have something of this sort to tell me, why not drop me a line? Just address your letter to Uncle Ray in care of this newspaper.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

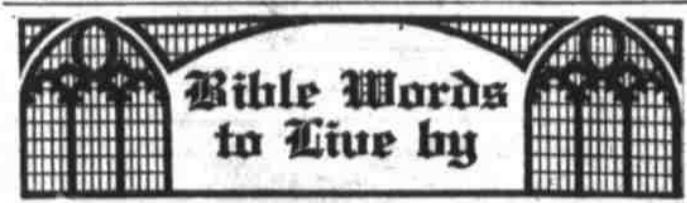

A famous Texas hostelry and historical landmark was opened on this day in 1859.

It was San Antonio's Menger Hotel, which played a prominent part in the early history of Texas.

The original cost was $16,000, with H. H. Kampmann as the builder. It had not been started as a hotel, but as a brewery. But apparently the merchandise appealed to customers, for the owners shortly realized that they must provide some sort of accommodation for the guests who came, stayed too long and then did not want to leave.

The Menger's history is colorful. A president of the United States vacationed there. In its restored bar an agent of the Federal government discussed a plot to keep Texas out of the Confederacy. A representative of Louis Napoleon talked with a Confederate general named Jo Shelby, who led his Missourians into Mexico to espouse the cause of Maximilian. Among the weekend guests at the Menger have been Robert E. Lee, Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft.

The hotel has been modernized, but without removing all of its historical touches. The bar, for instance, is very much the same as it was in 1860 when Zach Miller's father stopped there en route to Oklahoma, or when Sally Scull "vetted her whistle" while her cowboys rode herd on rampaging longhorns.

I JOHN 4:21—"And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also."

To me this is one of the most beautiful and significant verses in the Scriptures because it is indicative of the fact that love is always a creative experience. It is never an isolated emotion. It always has consequences. If we love God, then something must happen in our lives and in the lives of those we touch. Love turns our hearts inside out. It channels our feelings into concrete deeds. It tolerates the weakness of those who live with us. It breaks habits which have gained mastery over us. It changes a house into a home. It lifts a relationship into a companionship. It deepens an offering into a sacrifice and a responsibility into a mission. Something always comes of love.

Novelist Ernest Hemingway, who for a time was thought to have perished in a plane crash recently, can have his literary characters experience hair-raising ordeals and come out alive, and still insist that he is being realistic with his pen. Hemingway, himself, is his own example. Prior to the plane crash mentioned above he had picked up a silver knee cap as a result of action on the Italian front in World War I, got 52 stitches in his head after being hit by a truck during a London black-out, got hit by several shells during Franco's revolution in Spain, was given up to death from blood poisoning after a hunting accident in 1949, and once got floored by a falling skylight in a bathroom.

Love Is The Reason

Love is the reason Calamity Jane (Doris Day) and Wild Bill Hickok (Howard Keel) are looking so happy in this scene from the Warner Bros. Technicolor musical, "Calamity Jane," which shows tonight and Monday at the Jet Drive-In.

Not Very Trusting

Jody Lawrence doesn't seem to like that gleam in Anthony Dexter's eyes in United Artists' "Captain John Smith and Pocahontas," which shows today through Tuesday at the State Theatre.

Howard Hughes Top Romeo In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A long list of luscious lovelies can testify to Howard Hughes' rating as Hollywood's greatest off-screen Romeo.

If he ever published the story of his romances, not even Errol Flynn would qualify to write the foreword. Certainly no man, boy, producer or Vine Street wolf ever dated so many beautiful women and kept his bachelorhood.

The list of his Julietts runs from Billie Dove in the silent flickers to Debra Paget in Cinemascope. It includes Ginger Rogers, Yvonne De Carlo, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Cyd Charisse, Terry Moore, Mona Freeman, Jean Peters, Faith Domergue, Mitzl Gaynor, Joan Fontaine, Katharine Hepburn and scores more. Some were starlets, others established stars. Some were chorus girls, models, checkroom cuties.

All fit a familiar pattern: When Hughes dated them they were young, beautiful and usually unsophisticated.

"When they start looking older Howard starts losing interest."

He has kept six or seven happy lovelies on the string at the same time. With few exceptions each has been certain that she was the one—and only one—who would get him to the altar.

Hughes was married once, in 1925 to socialiste Ella Rilee of Houston. But he was divorced—and some friends say disillusioned—in 1929.

Since then it's been practically a parade. A favorite story involves Lana Turner. When Hughes told her marriage was out, she is reported to have pouted: "But Howie, I have our 'HH'."

Strapped "HH" Hughes' supposed reply shows either a great sense of humor or unusual thrift:

"Why don't you marry Huntington Hartford?"

Hughes has denied this story was true.

Jean Peters, quiet and beautiful, has been the most loyal of all Hughes' girl friends. She knows about the others but apparently doesn't care. Hughes is the only romance in the Hollywood life of the onetime Ohio State co-ed.

Many think Terry Moore is now No. 1 in Hughes' affections. He even taught her to fly. But he is just one of many Moore boy-friends.

"She's got Howard chasing her simply because she just tells him to go to hell whenever she feels like it," reports one informant.

During her recent trek to Korea, Hughes kept trans-Pacific phones buzzing. The night before she left, I happened to be at Terry's house. In the space of an hour, a person she said was Hughes called her four times from La Vegas.

On the last call, she broke off with: "Sorry, Howard, I hear my date at the front door now."

A young, handsome collegian came in and Terry introduced us. He was Bob Kneaston, son of Billie Dove, an old Hughes flame.

What is Hughes' attraction to women—other than those millions? One glamor girl, who can have her pick of millionaires, indicates that he appeals to the maternal

Sadie Is No Lady

But that doesn't stop Aldo Ray from trying to date Sadie (Rita Hayworth) in this scene from "Miss Sadie Thompson," which shows for four days starting today at the Ritz Theatre. The film, based on the famous story "Rain" by Somerset Maugham, is in Technicolor and three-dimensions.

'Sadie Thompson' Stars Rita, Ferrer

"Miss Sadie Thompson" is coming to town for four days starting today. The film, starring Rita Hayworth and Jose Ferrer, will show at the Ritz Theatre. It is in both Technicolor and three-dimensions.

Miss Hayworth has the title role, that of a lady of extremely questionable reputation, in this film version of Somerset Maugham's "Rain." Joan Crawford played the same role in an earlier version some years ago.

Ferrer has the role of the fanatic lay missionary who causes Miss Hayworth so much trouble in the South Sea islands. Aldo Ray has the role of Marine Sgt. O'Hara who falls in love so much with

'War Arrow' Due At Ritz For 3 Days

Jeff Chandler plays an Indian fighter in "War Arrow," which shows Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz Theatre. Maureen O'Hara has the lead feminine role as the presumed widow (her husband is missing and thought killed) staying at fort, for whom Chandler falls.

'Mighty Joe Young' To Show At Lyric

"Mighty Joe Young," RKO film of several years back, comes back again to show Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lyric Theatre. Starring in this film are Terry Moore and Ben Johnson as well as the 10-foot ape which provides the terror in the film.

'Mr. Scoutmaster' Currently At Terrace

Showing tonight and Monday at the Terrace Drive-In is Clifton Webb as "Mr. Scoutmaster." Webb has the role of a harassed writer of children's radio and TV shows who has gotten out of touch with his audience and decides a little experience with children might do him a little good.

'San Antonio' To Show Saturday At Terrace

A film about Texas during the start of the Civil War days when it was not always clear who was Yankee and who was Confederate is to show Saturday night only at the Terrace Drive-In.

'Fighting Lawman' Showing At Lyric

Wayne Morris wears the badge of a United States marshal in "The Fighting Lawman." Allied Artists picture which shows today and Monday at the Lyric Theatre.

Morris attempts the arrest of four bank bandits. Three escape but one is arrested. Three years later the jailed man dies during an attempted prison break. While at death's door, he tells Morris that his sister, Virginia Grey, can tell him who the other three men were.

John Ford and Merrian C. Cooper

John Ford and Merrian C. Cooper produced this film, which required three years to make, about a giant ape brought from Africa in captivity who out-muscled ten of America's toughest wrestlers and also, maddened by heekers, destroys a Hollywood night club.

George (Foghorn) Winslow plays an orphan Cub Scout who tags along and whom Webb's wife, Frances Dee, wants to adopt. It is a Twentieth Century-Fox production.

Paul Whiteman To Have Hour Show On Thursdays

An hour-long musical program starring the dean of modern American music, Paul Whiteman, starts this week on the ABC radio network.

The program will be heard on Thursdays, on KBST, from 8 to 9 p.m.

Whiteman will be supported by his latest protege, singing star Shirley Harmer. The program will serve as a showcase for professional and embryonic professional talent that Whiteman has discovered on his tours around the country and through his show, Paul Whiteman TV Teen Club, a 5-year favorite. All the youngsters will be

Violence Mocks Armistice Line Between Israel And Arab World

By LYNN HEINZLING
JERUSALEM, Jan. 30 (AP)—The 1954 shepherd in the Holy Land carries a rifle instead of the traditional crook.

Violence and bloodshed mock the armistice line which separates Israel and her Arab neighbors. Misery, hate and fear blanket the Judean hills, sacred to three great Western religions.

What lies ahead for this ancient land, which has known so much bloodshed?

Dr. Raif Aballama, acting secretary general of the Arab League in Cairo, chose his words carefully: "I do not believe there is a king or president in the Arab countries who could even propose peace with Israel. He would be overthrown in 24 hours."

A high Israeli official, who requested anonymity, said: "The prospects of peace are nil."

The rocky hills of Palestine have felt the tread of many armies. Now they are the cockpit for a bitter and dangerous struggle between the infant state of Israel and the Arab world. For the present the principal weapons are political and economic, but the guns and tanks are oiled and ready.

There has been no true peace since the establishment of Israel as a homeland for the Jews in 1948 plunged the Middle East into a brief, but bloody war. The armistice achieved by United Nations mediator Dr. Ralph Bunche in the spring of 1949 has been violated repeatedly by both sides. Indeed, violation of the armistice is almost a daily occurrence.

More than 800,000 refugee Palestinian Arabs, driven, enticed or frightened into flight in 1948, still sit in sullen despair on or near the borders of the new state.

In all that time no leader has arisen on either side of the rusty barbed wire to lead the way back to peace. Israel has created a string of rural settlements along the border with Jordan. They are both farms and defensive outposts. Jordan's British-trained Arab Legion and Syria's armed forces have been on the alert since the Israeli attack on Kibya, Jordan, Oct. 14, in which 62 men, women and children were reported killed.

The armistice line, drawn between the opposing armies when hostilities ended, goes through the most thickly populated region of old Palestine. At Oalqilye, now now Jordanian administration, it compresses Israel's width to eight miles. Israel faces Jordan along a 330-mile line. The Syrian, Lebanese and Egyptian borders with Israel are 47, 49 and 165 miles long respectively and the relations there generally are more relaxed.

Designed for a short period between the cease-fire and the final peace which did not come, the armistice line does curious things to its neighbors. It cuts off wells from Arab villages, separates owners from orange and olive groves, leaves some villages without mosques or schools and, in a few cases, cuts through villages, dividing fathers and sons.

Few, if any, Middle East observers expect war to break out in the near future. Israel, with probably the strongest and toughest army in the region, is busy with her development program and economic problems. The Arabs are counting on wiping out Israel with their economic boycott.

All trade with Israel is banned by the Arab countries and there is a developing secondary boycott of foreign firms which establish branches in Israel.

Perhaps the most unexpected aspect of the whole complex problem of Israel and her neighbors is the fact that veteran diplomats and international experts watching this highly emotional conflict have not given up in despair.

They know that the Arab League's highly pessimistic views on the prospects of peace are based on one of the elemental political facts of life in the Arab world today. Assassins struck down King Abdullah of Jordan in 1951 for negotiating with Israel. Since then no Arab leader has dared to make a conciliatory move or deviate publicly from the league's firm line. This calls for implementation by Israel of United Nations resolutions providing for partition of Palestine into Arab and Jewish states with economic union, repatriation of the refugees and internationalization of Jerusalem.

The Israeli viewpoint is based on the contention that the Arab states are using the refugees as a political tool to reach their ends and that the present situation serves Arab interests better than peace by strengthening Arab unity. Israel and her Arab neighbors agree on only one thing: no peace is in sight for the Holy Land.

Newspapers Reach New Circulation High In Year Past

NEW YORK (AP)—Editor and Publisher, newspaper trade publication, says daily newspaper circulation in this country reached an all-time high in 1953—almost 54½ million.

E. and P., in last week's issue, said the year's end found 1,785 dailies in the United States—a decline of one from the previous year.

The publication gave the following breakdown:

An increase of 521,671 in the number of copies sold daily by newspapers, setting a new high of 54,472,286 net paid copies.

Daily circulation increased .97 per cent, with morning papers having the edge.

Daily circulation for 327 morning papers rose to 21,412,474 copies, an increase of 252,947 or 1.2 per cent.

Of 1,458 daily evening papers, there was a circulation increase of 268,724 copies bringing their total daily circulation to 33,059,812.

A loss of .57 per cent in Sunday circulation, the total for 544 papers being 45,948,554—a decline of 261,582.

Of all the dailies in the nation, 1,043 were in cities with less than 25,000 population. The small-city papers had a total circulation of 6,693,336.

MEN IN SERVICE

DARRELL ROYCE GASKIN

Darrell Royce Gaskin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gaskin of the Cauble Community, is now in the Marine Corps. He left Big Spring last Sunday for San Antonio and is now supposed to be in San Diego, where he will take boot camp training.

Gaskin, 18, was on the Forsan High School football team last year, playing the position of end. The team was defeated in the district playoff. He was also a staff member of the school paper.

A farewell party was given for the youth in Forsan last week, and he was presented a golf bag. Interested in agriculture, Gaskin worked for Ed Fisher on a poultry farm in the Elbow Community.

His grandmother is Mrs. H. W. Grantham of Knott.

HERBERT W. CHOATE

Pvt. Herbert W. Choate, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Choate, Big Spring, is now taking basic training in the Antiaircraft Artillery Replacement Training Center at Fort Bliss, near El Paso.

He will be there eight weeks, studying fundamental infantry subjects like army drill, rifle, machine gun and bazooka marksmanship. Choate will then be assigned to a technical training school.

State Farm Income Dropped In 1953

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Texas farm cash income fell 300 million dollars in 1953, totalling 1.8 billion dollars compared with 2.1 billion in 1952, the University of Texas Business Research Bureau reported today.

The 15 per cent decline reflected a discouraging and sometimes disastrous year for many of the state's farmers, research associate Alfred G. Dale said in a story written for the bureau's Texas Business Review.

Wheat farmers suffered the largest setback percentage-wise, their income dropping 36 per cent below that of 1952. Next largest decline was in cottonseed, down 434 per cent.

Farm income from cattle slipped to 32 per cent below 1952's level, and corn was down 30 per cent. Other products showing losses were cotton, down 15 per cent; calves, 24; rice, 21; milk and milk products, 13.

The crop showing the largest farm cash income gain from 1952 to 1953 was peanuts, 70.72 per cent. Oats gained 47 per cent; flaxseed, 24; rice, 21; and grain sorghum, 9.

Porter May Tell Plans For Primary

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Local republican leaders said today they hope to learn their party's plans for this year's primaries when national committee member H. J. (Jack) Porter addresses a Lincoln Day dinner here Feb. 12.

Porter's subject will be "The Future of the Republican Party in Texas, with Emphasis on 1954," and he is expected to discuss cross-tilling of Democratic candidates.

Slack Resigns Post As RRC Examiner

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Charles T. Slack has resigned as engineering examiner for the Texas Railroad Commission to join an oil and gas consulting firm here Feb. 1.

He will specialize in reservoir engineering studies, reserve reports and secondary recovery design for the firm of Pinkston, Miller and Keithly.

Youth Fatally Hurt In Crash; Uncle In Ambulance Mishap

FORT WORTH, Jan. 30 (AP)—Jimmy O. Dunn, 19, was fatally injured in a car crash early today and his uncle was injured for the second time when the ambulance taking him to the hospital was involved in a head-on crash.

Dunn was dead on arrival at a hospital here after the car in which he and his uncle, Ralph Dunn, 25, were riding went off the highway and overturned a mile and a half north of Burleson.

Two ambulances went to the scene. The ambulance transporting Ralph Dunn collided with a car driven by Ike Moore, 66, of Burleson near the Sycamore Creek bridge on the southeastern edge of the city.

Dunn, sitting on a cot, was thrown through the windshield. He suffered a broken leg, severe face cuts and internal injuries in the two crashes.

Wayne Byars, 30, driver of the ambulance, was hospitalized for cuts and internal injuries.

Tourists Stay Longer In Texas During 1953

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Tourists from out of state stayed a little longer and spent a little more money in Texas last year than in 1952, the State Highway Department said today.

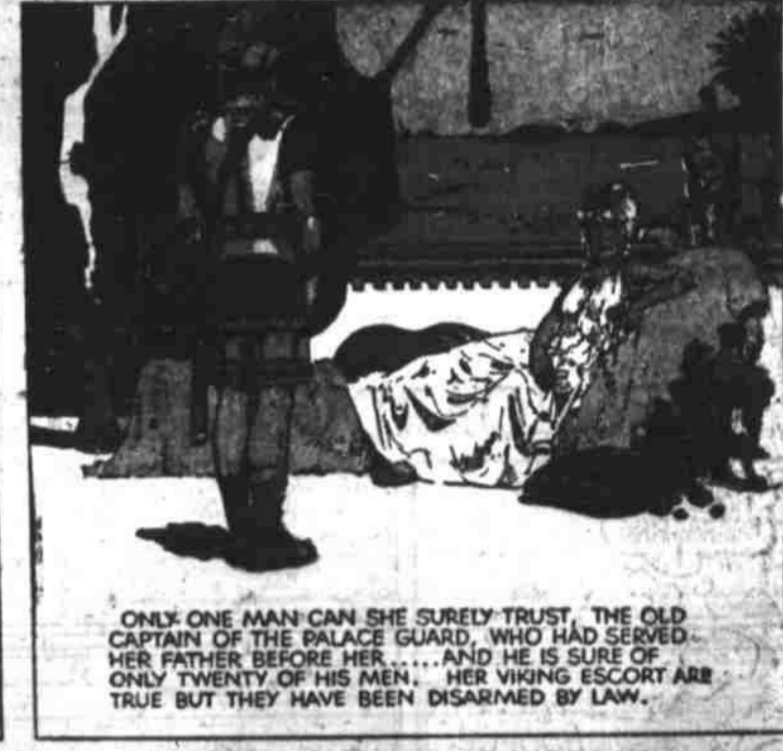

October was the most popular month to visit the Lone Star State. Tourists preferred the cool months of April to the hot ones of July, apparently, staying in Texas an average of 6.6 days during the spring month compared with 4.9 days during the mid-summer month.

WELL, IT'S COMFORTIN' TO KNOW NOT UNBOUNDED FAITH YOU'VE GOT IN ME, MR. MCKEE!

OH, DADDY... THIS IS A LOVELY WRITE-UP OF WASH! LISTEN...

Mr. Tubbs, rising young philanthropist, and prominent executive of McKee Industries, a local firm.

EXECUTIVE, MY FOOT!

placed only one string on his gift—that in the event of financial reverse, he be allowed to sleep in it, undisturbed.

questioned as to rumors that he is being groomed to head his firm, Tubbs pointed out that the elderly incumbent, a Mr. McKee, has proven adequate so far.
