TORNADO DAMAGE - A weather spotter reported seeing a tornado on the ground just south of Loraine Monday morning. Shortly after that, the Loraine ISD Ag Barn was hit, suffering major damage. If the pipe frame is any indication, the whole barn was exposed to quite a bit of force during the storm.

Tornado damages Loraine ag barn

As a severe thunderstorm rumbled through Mitchell County Monday morning, no one was expecting a tornado to be part of the cloud. Around 9 a.m. on Memorial Day, a weather spotter reported a tornado on the ground southwest of Loraine, and the school's ag barn was severely damaged as were a few residences around town.

Sheryl Givens, a substitute teacher for Loraine ISD, was getting ready for field day with students out in the old gym on the LISD campus. She said that tornado sirens started going off, and she and other staff members ran with the elementary students to the new gym where they gathered under the bleachers for safety.

Thanks to the quick thinking of educators, all Loraine students were safe and sound. All students were accounted for and there were no major problems.

When asked if Givens could see the sheet metal from the ag barn flying around, she said no. She said that she just kept her head down and concentrated. See TORNADO, page 5

Rising tax valuations are explained by appraiser

Rising valuations are a topic of conversation around town, and many people don't understand how those valuations are set. While appraisal districts set valuations on property of all types, the state of Texas does have a say as to whether appraisals are set at a rate in line with market values.

Every other year, appraisal districts in Texas are subjected to one of two forms of audit by the state: Property Value Studies or MAP reviews, according to Chief Appraiser Linda McSpaden of the Mitchell County Appraisal District.

In 2013, the local appraisal district passed a property value study, as it has the last two studies. This means that the state of Texas finds that the local district is appraising property values within 5% of where it should be.

Several factors are used as markers for the state to make its determination, and for residences the determination is based on fair market value. The state looks at the amount residences are selling for to determine market value. Residences are required to be appraised at 100% of fair market value by local districts.

OBITUARIES

Mavis C. Marsh 1945-2015

COLORADO CITY--Mavis C. Marsh, 69, went to be with her Lord on May 18, 2015, after a brief illness.

Born July 29, 1945, Mavis was the daughter of the late Charles and Martha Haney McNeal in Woodland, Maine. Mavis was a family woman who was deeply rooted in her community. She was a life-long member of the Calvary Baptist Church in Colorado City. She worked for many years as a bookkeeper in the area, keeping the books for many businesses including the Colorado City Independent School District, the Mitchell County Hospital, and Integracare, where she worked until she couldn't work anymore. In her spare time, Mavis enjoyed bowling, going for long walks, doing things with her friends, and doing anything she could with her grandchildren, sometimes spoiling them.

Mavis is survived by her two sons, Gary Marsh and wife Michelle of Round Rock, and Franklin Marsh and his wife Terri of Big Spring; six grandchildren, Rebecca Mince, Emily Marsh, Hannah Marsh and Justin Marsh of Big Spring, and Peyton Marsh and Zachary Marsh of Round Rock. Also surviving are Mavis's siblings, Carolyn Wilcox and husband Edward of Apache Junction, Arizona; Thelma Powers and husband Charlie of Old Orchard Beach, Maine; Deborah McNeal of New Sweden, Maine; Robert McNeal and wife Cheryl of Colorado City; and David McNeal and wife Theresa of Voorhees, New Jersey, as well as many nieces and nephews.

Mavis was preceded in death by her parents and four brothers, Charles Sheldon McNeal, Wilson Gary McNeal, Wilfred McNeal, and Melvin McNeal.

Visitation for Mavis was held on Friday, May 22, at the Kiker-Seale Funeral Home from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

A funeral service was held at the Calvary Baptist Church in Colorado City at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 23rd, with interment following in the Colorado City Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, Mavis has requested donations to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Danny Galey 1945-2015

COLORADO CITY-- Danny Galey, age 70 passed away on Thursday morning, May 21, 2015 at Hendrick Hospice Center in Abilene following a short illness.

Danny was the middle son of three boys born May 19, 1945 in Sweetwater to J.L. Galey and Mabel Whittaker Galey. Danny has been a life-long resident of Colorado City, where he attended, graduated, and eventually retired from teaching at Colorado High School, where he worked for over 15 years. Danny had a passion for cars. His job at the high school was as an Auto Technician teacher. He owned a mechanic shop in Colorado City for a number of years, and he was a member of the CC Riders car club. He especially loved the older cars. In his spare time, you could find Danny outside playing with his grandkids, whom he spoiled rotten. If mom said no, just ask pe-pa and it quickly became a yes. He spent his Sundays watching Nascar always rooting for Jimmy Johnson. When not spending time with his grandchildren, Danny could be found out running or maybe even cycling. Chances are if there was a marathon in the area, he was in it.

Danny was a wonderful father, brother, uncle, grandfather, and friend. He is survived by his daughter, Janine Galey; his grandchildren, Delynn Womack, Tyler Heavin, and Kylee Galey; as well as his brother, John Hubbard Galey and wife Becky; several nieces and nephews; and a long-time friend, Mary Lou Costabile.

Danny is preceded in death by his parents, J.L. and Mabel Galey; his brother, Jimmy Galey; and a granddaughter, Denise Heavin.

Services were held on Sunday, May 24, 2015 at 2:00 p.m. in the Kiker-Seale Chapel with Geory Martin officiating. Burial followed in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Services have been entrusted to the Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

Aida Valenzuela 1949-2015

COLORADO CITY-- Aida Valenzuela, 66, went to be with her Lord on Friday, May 22, 2015. She was born on January 8, 1949, the daughter of Ventura and Concha Carrasco Calderon in Big Spring.

The majority of Aida's working life was spent working at Fuller Foods, where she retired as a shift manager after over 17 years. Her fun loving attitude made her a joy to work with and all of her customers loved seeing her when they came in to do their shopping.

Aida was a free spirit who took joy in life to its fullest. She was an independent, spunky, and spontaneous woman who loved to joke around, but could be blunt or even serious when the situation called for it. She was one of the spearheads of the Blue Santa donation program that is put on by the Colorado City Police Department. She found great joy in dancing, especially the cumbia. When not working or doing any of her many volunteer activities such as Relay for Life and her part in the St. Ann's fall festival, Aida was working on spoiling each of her grandchildren, and many of the neighborhood children.

Aida is survived by her two sons, Frank Briseno and Catherine Maeder of Lubbock and Andrew Briseno and Misty Pineda of Colorado City; four grandchildren, Sebastian Briseno, Aston Briseno, Aedan Briseno, and Azlyn Briseno; one sister, Lupe Garcia of Big Spring; and a brother, Ventura Calderon Jr. of Big Spring.

A visitation for Aida was held in the Kiker-Seale Chapel at Kiker-Seale Funeral Home on Monday, May 25th from 6-8 p.m. with a rosary being held at 7 p.m. A funeral mass for Aida will be held at St. Ann's Catholic Church of Colorado City. Interment will follow in Mitchell County Cemetery.

OPINION & COMMENTARY

TUMBLEWEED SMITH Buzzards in the house

Willy Dilworth of Brenham is chief tax appraiser for Washington County. It is his job to place a value on property. "I get some strange requests," he says. "A guy from New York who owned some land here called me and asked me to raise the value on his property, even though it was under water. Very unusual, but I accommodated him."

Willy has to see the property to determine its value. Sometimes he runs into some unusual situations.

"I went out to a friend's property, walked up to the back door, knocked on it but got no answer. I could hear music playing in the house, so I assumed they were there. Cars were there. So I knocked on the door again then went to the front of the house and knocked on the front door. Still no answer."

"So I came back to the back of the house and just as I got to the door where I had just been moments ago, I noticed a five gallon bucket turned upside down. Coiled up on the top of the bottom of the bucket was a very big rattlesnake. It took a while to register that the snake was dead. The head was missing. The people in the house had killed it the day before and put in on the bucket. It was still bright and colorful and it was still scary. The damaged part was covered up by the rest of it. Stuff like that will ruin your day. The people who owned the house thought that was real funny."

Occasionally, when he's in a rural area he has to deal with dogs. "The owners who say 'my little Fifi won't bother you' don't know their dogs because little Fifi is the one that's chewing on your ankle."

He says he has seen a few ducks and geese that make good guard animals. "Swans are pretty bad, too. And they're big enough they can hurt you."

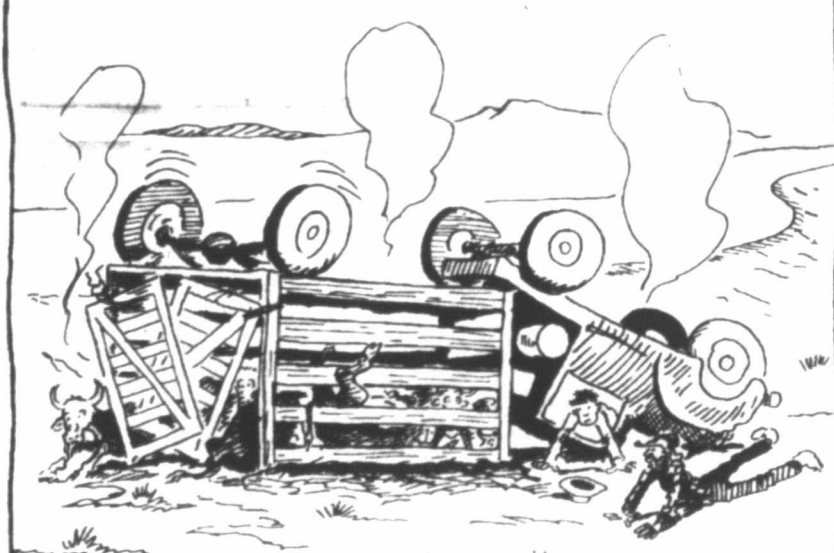

Once, Willy had a big surprise.

"One of the local taxpayers asked me to go check a house out on his property that he had just bought. We probably had a value on it that was higher than he thought it should be. So I went out there. The guy said the house was in pretty bad shape and the door was open, so watch out for critters. Whenever the occupants moved out they left old furniture and there was trash in the floor. I'm walking around pretty carefully because we don't know what else may be in the house. And I'm looking for things like snakes, coons, possums and armadillos. I'm walking around and I turn into a hallway and just about the time I'm going to go into a room on the left, the room to the right of me just erupts with sound. It's full of buzzards. There was a hole in the roof of that room and they had been living there. There is nothing like seven or eight buzzards coming up out of the floor in the room beside you. And it was a big stinking mess. During hot weather buzzards defecate on their feet to cool them off. When they feel threatened, they throw up as they're taking off. I've never had that happen to me before or since. It was hard not to put an extra value on that house."

So you want to leave the hospital emergency room? Good luck with that...

By Teresa Beckmeyer

Senate Bill 359 has recently been brought to my attention. This bill is sitting on the Governor's desk waiting to be signed. I thought it was important for you to know what this bill will allow in order for you to exercise your right to call the Governor and ask him to veto this bill if you choose to do so.

As the law stands now, a judge's orders are needed to detain someone for reasons of admittance to a mental health facility. SB359 will remove this requirement.

It will allow a peace officer to take a person who has been admitted to a facility into custody without a judge's order. A facility as defined by the bill means a hospital, an emergency room, an inpatient mental health facility, a local mental health authority or a free standing emergency medical care facility.

It also allows the facility to come up with and implement a written policy that provides for the facility or a physician at the facility to detain a person who voluntarily requested treatment from the facility or who lacks the capacity to consent to treatment. The bill allows for detention of the person if they express a desire to leave or attempts to leave before the examination or treatment is completed based on belief only by a physician that the person has a mental illness.

There is also a provision in the bill that will allow the facility to hold a person for four hours from the time that they decide to leave. During that time, the facility can decide whether or not to have a peace officer take the person into custody without a judge's order. The bill also allows the facility to be totally released from any liability for the policy which governs this procedure.

Welcome to the hospital emergency room. You can check out anytime you like, but you may never leave.

The numbers to call the Governor's office are as follows: 512.463.1782 direct number. If you cannot get through on this number call 512.463.2000 and ask to for the Governor's Office.

Read the text of the bill here <http://www.capitol.state.tx.us/BillLookup/Text.aspx?LegSess=84R&Bill=SB359>

Are you listening to me? The parable of the sower

By Monte Wilke

Jesus was a carpenter, but most of His illustrations were from agriculture. A familiar one is called the Parable of the Sower, where the seeds fell and what happened to them. But in His explanation Jesus said that the seeds are words, and the places the seed fell are the heads and ears of listeners. This puts a whole different slant on it.

Some of the seed fell on the hard path and did nothing but provide bird food. There are some people with heads so hard, opinions so set, minds so closed that you cannot tell them anything. This applies to students, employees (employers!), husbands (even wives!), drivers and politicians. Their ears are concrete blobs sticking out of a marble head. The only thing they listen to is their own inner voice and selfish demands. These words are snatched away and destroyed.

Other seeds, other words, fell on rocky areas. There was a little soil, and they grew for a while, but there was just not enough there to insure a crop. Overcoming obstacles is a major part of one's education. We do not remain in kindergarten, all classes cannot be easy. And there are those who try, but give up too easily and remain failures their whole lives.

Other seeds, words, fell among the thorns. It had an equal chance with competition. But things grew alongside them, (within them) that crowded out the reception of the study. "Things" became more important than thoughts. They began to look at what others have, instead of realizing what they could attain. They produced no visible results.

And then there are those who listen and succeed. Christ makes no distinction in grade or productivity levels, but praises those who have shown growth because of the words that were given. A "passing grade" was not 50%, but 30! If they made a D or C, if they produced anything at all, if they just made minimum or low wages, they were counted successful.

There were others who did twice as well, but they did not get twice the praise. They were just included in the success and productivity group. They listened to instruction, realized that others had something valuable to say, sent down deep roots and sent up tall, searching stems, and had a glorious harvest. They must have been the B students, or what we might call average income people.

Then there were those (we do not know the ratio of each group) but they were super-learners, high achievers. They heard the same words, had the same opportunities, but they had more than three times the success rate than the lowest students or workers, and almost twice as much as the next group. They are the magna cum laude students, the wealthy top, those who have achieved success in their field; no matter how much they earn.

What can we gain from instruction, in the school or on the job? A great deal. It does not depend on the seed, but on the head. If we have an open and receptive mind, if we try at all, or give it super efforts, we are counted in the group of those who bear results. The difference is worth the effort.

the state contest will be announced at the TASB conference in October.

Ronnie Kincaid said that every one of the 42 school boards in Region 14 receives nomination forms in February, and CISD's board chose to submit Spencer's nomination. A committee of board members is formed and certain criteria must be met, such as being a certified superintendent, being an active superintendent with TASB, etc.

According to Kincaid, once nominees have been sorted for criteria, the committee picks a winner. "I've never been through it, but I know that the committee is looking for a strong leader, someone dedicated to providing a quality education to Texas' students, and someone able to build a working relationship with the staff of the district," he said.

"He (Spencer) is constantly looking for opportunities that will help our students and our district succeed," Neff said. "His energy and forward-thinking abilities improve CISD daily."

"I was very honored and humbled to just be nominated by our school board. These are the folks who put in numerous volunteer hours to ensure the success of all students at CISD and should also be commended for their dedication and service," Spencer said. "To be chosen by the Region 14 committee that represents 42 school districts is also a great honor, and I will always do my best to represent Colorado City."

"We have an awesome school district with so many great things happening for our community and our students, and I am just proud to be a part of it," he said.

A VICTIM OF THE STORM? This telephone pole on Cypress St. caught fire Monday morning, and members of the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department were called to put it out. A retired employee of TXU said that lightning probably struck the pole causing the blaze.

on getting students to the safety of the gym.

"My daughter has spina bifida, so she doesn't run too well. I grabbed her and put her on one hip and grabbed another kid and took off running. We were yelling at all the kids to run to the gym," Givens said. "We had students crying because they were scared, but no one was hurt."

The mother of two young daughters said that her mother works in the LISD Cafeteria. "She called me and said they needed me to help. The electricity was out and they still had lunch to feed," Givens said.

A slight change in menu resulted in students having hotdogs instead of pigs in a blanket, but all were fed. When the generator finally ran out, the lights went out and students enjoyed hotdogs by flashlight, lantern, phone light and pretty much every kind of light school officials could pull together.

Loraine released students early at 1 p.m.

Even though late spring is not the busiest time for livestock show animals, there were two goats and two calves in the school's ag barn when the cloud blew through. All were fine, and some good neighbors made sure they were penned up in the part of the facility that is still intact.

Ricky and Teresa Bailey's home, located just about a quarter of a mile from the ag barn, sustained quite a bit of damage, as the sheet metal porch was ripped off and the carport was ripped away. A piece of corrugated tin was flying around in the air and managed to be blown through the wall of the Baileys' home as well.

Doyle Mitchell reported that he barely managed to escape a pole sign that had blown off of a pole as he made his way to the alarm station to warn residents.

The National Weather Service has said that the damage may have been caused by high straight winds, but those who were out in the storm tell a different story. "So to me, if it comes out of a cloud and it is spinning and touches down and does damage, it is a tornado," Mitchell said.

Whether straight winds or tornado, one thing is clear, the residents of Loraine were fortunate that the damage was somewhat limited. No injuries have been reported.

He plans to attend Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls to earn a Bachelor of Science degree in Radiologic Technologies.

She hopes to further her education by attending a physician's assistant program to become a certified PA.

TAXES

a concern over rising valuations, but the state of Texas says the local appraisal district is appraising properties within 5% of fair market value.

McSpadden said that residential properties has been selling higher in the last two years, making market values rise and property tax valuations increase as well.

"It's simple, basic supply and demand. Everybody expected prices (of homes) to drop when the price of oil fell, but it hasn't happened yet. It's still a seller's market," she said.

McSpadden added that she hopes to see a decrease in market values in the future. "It may happen later this year or in early 2016, but it hasn't happened yet," she said.

While no one enjoys paying higher tax bills, the local appraisal district is keeping within the state's guidelines. Other counties have not, and they are facing strict penalties.

McSpadden said that buyers and sellers set market values by buying and selling. The Texas Comptroller is required to assess each appraisal office in the state every two years. If that appraisal office doesn't set valuations at between 95 percent and 105 percent of market value, it receives a failing grade from the comptroller.

The Howard County Appraisal District received a failing grade for the past two cycles. Now, if the Howard County office doesn't meet the state-mandated appraisal targets, school districts in Howard County will suffer.

Part of the state's formula for determining funding to school districts is based on tax appraisals at the local level. If the appraisal district does not meet the target set by the state, less money is appropriated to school districts within the county. So, it is in the best interest of the children of Mitchell County for the appraisal district to keep in line with what the state mandates.

At this time of year, appraisers at the local office are conducting informal hearings, and citizens can come in and discuss valuations with appraisers.

McSpadden reminds taxpayers that deadline to make protests is Monday, June 8th. She urges citizens to call the appraisal district if they have questions. Formal hearings will be conducted June 22nd and 23rd. The office is operating with new software, so citizens may have questions about the new format. "I would like to stress that we want citizens to call us if they have questions. It gives us a chance to look at their properties in depth," she said.

Sandy Fryar, sister-in-law of Lion Sylvia Clanton and Master Gardener, paid a visit to the Colorado City Lions Club last Friday. Fryar recognized several familiar faces in the audience, and she spoke a bit about gardening.

Fryar is a certified Master Gardener, meaning she took appropriate courses to become certified. She joked all true gardeners have three things in common: 1. They have a decorative compost container in their kitchen. 2. They prefer nurseries over shopping in the mall. 3. They prefer fertilizing over getting a manicure.

The Big Spring resident said she was inspired to garden by her grandmother who taught her a lot about nature and a lot about God. She said she always enjoyed a friendly rivalry with her father-in-law, as they would argue over who had the best tomatoes.

Fryar said that, as humans, we are genetically engineered to love dirt. She pointed out that children love to play in the dirt.

One of the points stressed by Fryar was to remember individuality. She said that the design of people's garden or yard should represent their own tastes and styles. She said that there are no set rules, and people should do what they like.

Because she and her husband, Larry, have such a large yard, they opted to cut down on the amount of grass by putting in rocks and minimal flower beds. She suggested using xeriscaping plants that are well-suited for sun.

Planning a garden is essential before planting can begin, and Fryar said that soil testing is done for a small price by the AgriLife Extension service.

Fryar brought plants to give to Lions Club members, and she suggested gardening as a form of therapy.

"It's fun and therapeutic," she said. "I wish y'all would just come and sit on my back porch with me."

Lady Wolves advance to regionals finals against Comanche

History was made in wins over Presidio

BATTER UP— Lady Wolves junior catcher Madie Gutierrez is set to hit one of her two home runs last week against Presidio. She had a 3 run blast in game 1 and a two run homer in game 2.

PITCHER— Senior Cassie Sutton turned in another solid performance last week in Odessa. In game 1 she gave up 1 run on 9 hits and in game 2 she allowed Presidio only 8 hits.

After struggling to scratch out just seven hits in Game 1 of their regional semifinal matchup with the Presidio Lady Devils, Colorado City catcher Madie Gutierrez said the Lady Wolves were anything but pleased with the way they hit the ball on Friday evening at "The Corral" at the Ratliff Sports Complex.

In fact, they were downright disappointed in their performance.

"Our hitting was not that good in that first game," said the junior catcher. "We knew we didn't do as well as we should have. After the game, we talked about it and made up our minds that we weren't going to play like that again."

Much to Presidio's unhappiness, the Lady Wolves didn't.

Colorado City posted three first-inning home runs on Saturday morning on the home field of the Odessa High School Lady Bronchos and rolled to an easy 12-7 victory that capped a two-game sweep of Presidio in their best-of-three playoff series and, more importantly, earned the team its first trip to the Region 1-3A softball finals since 2012.

"We knew we had to do better," said senior Cassie Sutton. "This team is focused on doing whatever we have to do to win."

The thing they did best on Saturday was shell Presidio starter Vanessa Rohana — early and often.

The Lady Devils, who advanced to the regional semifinals after finishing the regular season as the District 4-3A runner-up, actually staged the first threat of the game. After Diana Olivas had reached base via a fielder's choice to get the first inning started, Presidio shortstop Danielle Spencer blasted a double to the wall to put runners on second and third with one out.

Sutton worked her way out of the jam, however. The C-City ace got Clarissa Carrasco to fly out to Alexa Garza in right, and then struck out the next batter to retire the side.

Presidio wasn't as lucky in the bottom half of the first. The Lady Wolves sent 12 batters to the plate in the frame en route to pounding out eight runs on seven hits.

Chloe Castillo led off the Lady Wolves' first-inning barrage with a double. Moments later, Gutierrez turned on the C-City fireworks show by turning a 2-2 pitch over the outside corner of the plate into a long two-run home run to left field.

"I was just trying to hit it hard," said Gutierrez, who also slugged a home run in the Lady Wolves' win in Game 1. "I wasn't trying to hit a home run, but I'll take it."

Brittany Munoz kept Rohana on the hot seat seconds after Gutierrez's ninth homer of the year by drawing a walk.

Sutton turned up the flame from there. The C-City clean-up hitter, she upped the Lady Wolves' lead to 4-0 on the first pitch she saw, hitting it over the wall in left for a two-run blast.

One batter later, Alexis Munoz followed Sutton's homer with a solo shot to left-center that extended the C-City lead to 5-0.

The first-inning fireworks were far from finished.

After Sutton and Munoz had posted back-to-back homers, Baylie Lindsey drew a walk and stole second base. She moved to third two batters later on a single to short left by Garza, and she came racing home moments later on a run-scoring hit by Castillo.

Gutierrez closed out the Lady Wolves' first-inning run from there. She staked Colorado City to an 8-0 cushion with a two-out single that scored both Garza and Castillo.

Gutierrez, who drove in four of Colorado City's eight runs in the frame, finished the game by going 3-for-4 from the plate.

Presidio battled back in the top of the second. Rohana clubbed a three-run home run with two outs and helped the Lady Devils fight back to within 8-3.

Colorado City, now 25-6 for the season, got the three runs back in the bottom of the fourth with a small-ball approach. The Lady Wolves went up 11-3 by stringing together four hits — two of which never left the infield — and a walk.

Munoz opened the C-City fourth by legging out an infield single to short. She moved to second one batter later on a hit by Sutton. Both Munoz and Sutton moved into scoring position seconds later on a passed ball.

Alexis Munoz and Lindsey made Presidio pay for the miscue. Munoz pushed home the first run of the inning by lifting a 1-1 pitch to left for a sacrifice that enabled Brittany Munoz to score from third.

Lindsey followed with an infield single that scored Sutton. Lindsey later scored on a two-out single off the bat of Garza.

Presidio managed to get one of the runs back in the top of the fifth on a solo home run to center by Spencer.

Colorado City added another run in the bottom of the fifth. Gutierrez led off the inning with a single to left. She later scored on a hit by Sutton, who went 3-for-4 from the plate and finished with 3 RBIs.

Down 12-5, the Lady Devils managed to push across two runs in the top of the seventh.

Sutton said the key to the Lady Wolves' romp in Game 2 was simple: they made the adjustments they needed to at the plate. That, she said, spurred everything else.

"We were focusing on getting base hits and hitting ground balls," said Sutton, who allowed Presidio just eight hits in the contest. "The home runs were great because they got the momentum going our way. Once we got started, we just played with a lot of confidence."

Lady Wolves' head coach Ami Martinez agreed.

"We talked about the adjustments we needed to make after Game 1 and the girls showed up and did what they had to do," she said. "Because of that, we're still playing. You can't say enough about how these girls realized what they had to do and then went out and did it."

Much as they did in Game 1, too.

Finding themselves looking up at a 1-0 deficit midway through the series' opener, Colorado City put together a late run and claimed a 4-1 decision over the Lady Devils.

After both teams had failed to score in the first two innings, Spencer gave the Lady Devils the upper hand in the bottom of the third. The PHS standout capped a 3-for-3 performance at the plate with a towering home run to center.

Rohana did her part at keeping the Lady Wolves' hitters off balance, too. The PHS pitcher held Colorado City to just three hits — and no runs — in the first three innings.

The momentum switched sides in a hurry in the top of the fourth, thanks to Gutierrez.

Down 1-0, Sutton led off the Lady Wolves' inning by beating out an infield hit. Alexis Munoz then drew a walk to put runners on first and second. Gutierrez gave Colorado City the lead from there by hitting a high, towering three-run home run over the scoreboard in left.

Castillo gave Colorado City an insurance run in the top of the sixth with a two-out double to left that scored Makaylah Rivera, who had walked to lead off the frame.

Sutton, who led the C-City offensive attack by going 3-for-4 from the plate, turned in a solid outing in Game 1 in the pitcher's circle. She held Presidio to just one run on nine hits while going the distance.

Students in 3rd through 12th grades have the opportunity to hone their volleyball skills this summer. The HIKI NO Summer Volleyball Camp will be held June 16th through 19th at the CMS Pit, and all eligible students are welcome to participate.

Three sessions are scheduled so that each age group can benefit from the camp. Session 1 for 3rd through 5th graders will be held from 9 a.m. to noon, Session 2 for 6th through 8th graders will be held from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m., and high school aged athletes will meet from 4 to 7 p.m.

Cost is $75. Each participant will learn the fundamentals of serving, passing, defense, blocking, setting and practice game situations. Campers registering before May 29th will receive a free camp t-shirt.

Every session will teach skill training and all sessions will include court play. "Everyone attending the volleyball camp will learn how to play every position, so that they develop into a well-rounded player," Coach Kaleigh Wright said. "Having the athlete

Baseball camp to be held

Pre-registration is underway for the 2015 Wolves Summer Baseball Camp, and kids kindergarten age to incoming 9th graders are eligible to participate. Colorado ISD Baseball Coach Brantlee Lemons and staff will be instructing campers.

Forms for pre-registration will be distributed at Kelley and Hutchinson Elementary, as well as Colorado Middle School, for the camp which is set to be held June 1st through the 4th. The Mitchell County Sports Complex will be the site of the camp, and cost will be $40 per camper.

On Monday, June 1st, late registration will be held at the field from 8:30 to 8:55 a.m. The younger age group, kindergarten to 2nd grade, will participate in camp activities from 9 to 10 a.m. each day. From 10:30 to 11:45 a.m., 3rd, 4th and 5th graders will receive instruction. The last group of the day, 6th through 9th graders, will have camp from 5 to 6:30 each evening.

Forms and money can be turned in until the last day of school. Students at Kelley should turn in form to Mrs. Lemons, Hutchinson students should take forms to the office, and students at middle school are asked to give forms to Coach Lemons.

Cost of the camp includes a t-shirt for each camper.

LOCAL NEWS

GREAT LOSS – A mother, three children and the family's German Shepherd were traveling in this SUV, pulling a camper that they planned to use as a temporary home once they arrived in Arizona. They were traveling westbound when the camper got too close to the guardrail and caused the SUV to overturn and the trailer to go over the overpass just east of Colorado City. Unfortunately, the accident Friday afternoon left them without a vehicle or camper trailer. The good news is that all were treated for only minor injuries.

YUMM, YUMM GOOD! Brigada Hiser and Cate-lyn Johnson enjoyed Dutch-oven cobbler and ice cream during the Lake Colorado City State Park Open House last week. The Friends of the LCCSP group held the open house to give people a chance to see what the park has to offer.

SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY – Newly elected city councilmen for the City of Colorado City were sworn in during the city council meeting last week. Those taking the oath of office were: (l-r) Craig Jolley, District 2; Keith Hiser, District 5; Sammy Contreras, District 1; and Mayor Jim Baum.
