Mainly About People

A Jew Persecuted— And a Low-Down Trick And a Word for Jews—

By H. N. F.

LEONARD KAPLAN, OF WEST Virginia, is member of the 1922 graduating class of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. He is of Jewish extraction, and if Senator Sutherland of West Virginia has the correct evidence young Kaplan has been the victim of persecution and many contemptible practices by members of the graduating class.

During his four years course, Senator Sutherland says the young man was subjected to many indignities and compelled to suffer many cruelties by his tormentors. It is said the annual year book of the Naval Academy was so designed that the picture of young Kaplan could be removed without defacing the book.

THE PICTURE OF KAPLAN was placed on page not numbered and the sheet was perforated near the binding so that it could be easily torn out.

Rear-Admiral Wilson, superintendent of the Academy when informed of what had taken place, announced that he had withdrawn a letter of commendation which he had addressed to J. L. Olmsted editor of the year book and had denounced the treatment of Leonard Kaplan as "a low-down miserable trick."

All this reminds the writer that it was a patriotic Jew in the city of Philadelphia in the long ago who assisted in financing the army of General George Washington in the days that tried the souls of the heroes of the Revolution; that there hasn't been a war since where Americans of Jewish origin have not been on the firing line; that there wasn't a Jewish family in the United States during the world war that had a son of military age who was not found wearing the uniform of his country.

IF THE ROLL OF THE ILLUStrious dead was called of those American sons of liberty who gave up their lives under the skies of France and Flanders the American Jew would not be ashamed but would be proud of the blood sacrifices that the children of Israel made in defense of democracy, civil and religious liberty and for the downfall of the sword in the hands of divine right to rule kaisers and kings. The writer has no brief to defend the Jew.

The Jew does not need either an advocate or a writer of briefs in his defense. His history is as old as civilization. His achievements are as old as history. He has his faults as all men have their faults, but the American Jew from colonial days to this morning dawn of the twentieth century has contributed his full share on battlefields and legislative halls to make this republic that which it is today first among the nations of the earth. For thousands of years they have been the victims of persecution; for thousands of years in other climes they have been robbed of their property and denied their inalienable rights and yet today they are foremost among the scholars, the artists, the writers, the thinkers, the scientists, the financiers, the traders and yea the humanitarians in every line.

PERSECUTION MAKES A PEOple self-reliant, industrious, shrewd, frugal and capable of making sacrifice. If the Jews and the Irish had never been the victims of persecution down the centuries these families of men on earth today would be fat and asleep and indolent and incapable or indifferent of the movement of the passing show. This should be an age of chivalry as well as tolerance.

Have the people forgotten the glories of the world-war and the blood sacrifices made by the sons of all nationalities and creeds who sailed over the ocean in defense of liberty and the rights of man? Have they forgotten the heroes of every creed who gave their all that the world might be free from the sword of imperial tyranny?

If they have, then they need another baptism in the pool of patriotism to cleanse them of their sins of ingratitude and to purge their souls of the poison of intolerance. Flowers for Rear-Admiral Wilson—officer and gentleman and patriot.

All Liquor Sales On Sea May Stop

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15. — An amendment to the ship subsidy bill imposing a fine of $10,000 on any ship of whatever registry on which liquor is sold on a voyage starting or ending at an American port, was presented late today to republican members of the house merchant marine committee.

Proposed as a sub for the Blankhead amendment which would deny any part of the subsidy to ships selling liquor, the amendment provides that upon imposition of a second $10,000 fine, the particular ship would not be permitted to enter an American port.

This plan, offered by Representative Edmond, republican, Pennsylvania, in hope of putting American ships on a parity with those of other nations not restricted as to prohibition, was taken under advisement by the committee.

American Party Men Welcomed by G. O. P. As Foes Hesitate About Future Act

Whether the drastic primary pledge adopted by the state democratic executive committee at Austin will be used in the democratic primaries in this county, or whether the Wichita county committee will defy the authority of the state committee and inscribe only the brief statutory pledge on the ballots is to be determined when the county committee meets in the office of P. B. Cox, chairman at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Mr. Cox is personally undecided on the matter. While he accords the state executive committee a good measure of authority in this respect, he is not prepared to express himself as believing that the county committee would not as a matter of expediency and law be justified by simply ordering the statutory pledge on the ballot.

Meanwhile leading republicans in the county are planning to make the most of the matter.

They are prepared to welcome with open arms members of the American party or members of the democratic party who do not measure up to the "simon pure" standards set by the state executive committee. This ruling, according to their interpretation, would banish from the democratic party those democrats who cast their votes for McGregor or Harding last election, as well as those who bolted Neff in the general election; and would cut out those republicans who normally enter the democratic primary and vote a state and local democratic ticket and vote the republican national ticket. These, together with the normal republicans in this county placed by some at 2,000, with a strong local ticket, would provide real competition if not an upset in the general election, they claim.

Voter Must Declare Self

Under the state executive committee's pledge the voter must not only declare his membership in the party and his intention of supporting its nominees, but must declare that he supported all the party's nominees in the last election, national, state, county and precinct.

It is expected that a number of leading democrats not members of the committee will meet with them Mon-

WOMEN FIGHT TO PUT THEIR LEADERS OVER

Feminist Candidate To Senate Seat In Minnesota

By Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 15.—Women are showing the greatest activity in the state-wide campaign preliminary to the state primary election in Minnesota next Monday, when the party candidates for United States senator, congress and state officers will be nominated.

The past week, however, has seen considerable activity by forces allied with Ernest Lundeen of Minneapolis, former congressman who seeks the republican senatorial nomination, in opposition to Senator Frank B. Kellogg and the former asserts this contest will be close.

Old Guard Opposed

Greatest interest in the state has been prompted by the contest in the third congressional district where Congressman Charles Davis, who has represented the district continuously since 1903, is opposed for renomination by Reuben Thoreen. The latter was endorsed by the republican district convention.

Of women candidates, Mrs. Anna Dickie Oleson, endorsed for United States senatorial nomination by the democratic state convention, has been the most active.

Miss Grace F. Kaercher of Ortonville, endorsed by the republican state convention for clerk of the supreme court, is making an active campaign. She is opposed for the republican nomination by Herman Mueller, incumbent, who was elected two years ago with non-partisan league endorsement.

Delegates Cheer As Rail Chief Promises Not to Interfere In Walk-out By Men

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 15.—By the vote of every delegate, the American Federation of Labor convention here today indorsed the nation-wide coal strike that since April 1 has kept a half million miners from work and also indicated by a demonstration its approval of the threatened walkout of more than 1,000,000 railroad workers.

Loud cheers came from all parts of the hall when B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes department of the federation, told the convention that the rail union chiefs would not interfere to stop a strike.

"It is believed," declared Mr. Jewell, "that the membership is prepared to meet the test and if they so decide, their decisions will be complied with."

The indorsement of the miners' strike was given by a rising vote. William Green, secretary-treasurer of the miners' union, declared the miners were in the fight to the finish and that it might be necessary to ask other unions for financial assistance.

The "one big union" plan advocated by William Z. Foster was rejected by the convention without debate, and later announcement was made that Mr. Foster would arrive here next week to hold a mass meeting a week from tonight.

Plans for unionizing unorganized workers also were made by the convention and a resolution in favor of an "intensive organization to combat the open shop, adopted."

Aside from the convention work the executive council of the federation gave its final consideration to the recent decision of the supreme court in the celebrated Coronado Coal case and prepared its report criticising the decision. The council decided not to propose any means for overcoming the decision on account of the convention having ordered a special policy committee to outline a program centering on the Coronado and other decisions.

Appointment of this committee, vested with broad powers, was authorized by the convention after hearing Senator LaFollettee, Wisconsin, and after indicating the approval of the congressional veto of supreme court decisions.

The executive council, it was learned, decided to find fault with Chief Justice Taft in the Coronado decision on the ground that the decision went beyond the case and that the court ventured to decide an "imaginary case," resulting in the destruction of principles which the council held are fundamental to unions.

No Advance In Coal Price During Strike

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Agreement with representatives of the National Coal association and the National Retail Coal Merchants' association upon a plan for preventing advance of bituminous coal prices during the strike was announced tonight by Secretary Hoover after a conference at the commerce department.

Anthracite coal operators, Mr. Hoover stated, have agreed not to advance prices of stocks now held above ground above the levels of the last week, which, he added, were lower than at the beginning of the strike.

Bituminous operators in fields where a price basis has not yet been established, Mr. Hoover said, will be "earnestly requested" to reduce selling expenses for spot coal to the Garfield price, including the standard selling expense plus such additions for increased costs as were justified in each individual case.

By Associated Press.

The combined membership of the unions affected totals 1,225,000 men.

"We would not feel the strike to be the only solution," said the statement, "if the attitude of management did not block all possibility of the other and better alternative." The statement criticised wage cuts made by he railroad labor board, declaring "it has so reduced standards that the strike becomes an act of self-preservation."

FOR THE WOMEN

"FOR the women—God bless them" is the favorite chanting of the political orator.

The women hear quite a bit that IS TO BE DONE for them IN THE FUTURE.

Here's something else that'll be done for them. Everybody has heard about the White House cook book. It was famous a number of years back. Young housewives have heard its glories extolled. But the young housewives and many of the old ones have mislaid this old cookbook. Times change. People want new things. New names and new dishes come to the fore. That's why "Your Growing Record News" always a 100 per cent newspaper for the woman and for the home, is starting publication of "Famous Recipes." One a day will be printed by Mrs. Warren G. Harding and other prominent women. Clip them out as they appear, arrange them in a note-book. They'll be valuable for reference. This series—just another step in the Record News forward drive to a better newspaper—will begin next Sunday. You do not want to miss any of them.

Senate Adopts Naval Reserve Bill

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The navy department plan to create a civilian naval reserve force similar to the national guard, was adopted today by the senate in accepting an amendment of the appropriations committee increasing the house provision of $30,000 to $3,000,000 to begin the work. Under the plan of the department, 3,000 officers and 10,000 enlisted men would be molded into a civilian reserve force paid for one month's service annually and be subject to call duty. Reservists would receive two weeks training annually on naval vessels.

New Constitution Drafted By Irish

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 15.—The draft of the new Irish constitution made public tonight on the eve of the Irish election gives, as the document itself states, force of law to the Anglo-Irish treaty and expressly declares that any provision of the constitution or any amendment thereto or any law enacted under the constitution, which is in any respect repugnant to the treaty, shall be void and inoperative.

The constitution thus embodies connection with the British crown as already established in the treaty and generally places the relations between Ireland and the empire on the same basis as Canada and the other dominions. The constitution requires every member of the Free State parliament to subscribe faith and allegiance to the constitution and swear to be faithful to the king in virtue of the common citizenship of Ireland and Great Britain and Ireland's membership in the British commonwealth of nations.

KLANSMEN GIVE $25 TO CHURCH

Archer City People Cheer Them

Filing silently into the crowded tabernacle in the rear of the First Baptist church at Archer City to the cheers of the congregation about 40 robed and hooded ku klux klansmen marched to the pulpit and delivered letters containing money and letters of commendation to the two preachers holding the Archer City revival, according to reports coming to Wichita Falls Thursday night.

The letters, handed to Rev. W. L. Ayers, pastor of the church, and Rev. Wootie Smith, evangelist conducting the revival, contained $25 in money and commended them for their work in Archer City, according to the reports here, confirmed by a long distance telephone message from Archer City.

Rev. Smith recently preached on the purposes and tenets of the klan as he thought them to be, and the letter to him informed him that he was right in his statement of the principles for which the klan stood, and commending him for his talk.

Following presentations of the letters and without a word the klansmen turned and marched from the church as silently as they had entered. The congregation sang "America" as they filed out.

Marching a short distance they were seen to enter a string of cars parked some distance away and drive away to the north, presumably driving toward Wichita Falls, according to the message from Archer City.

GUN CLUB TO SHOOT TODAY

Registered Meet Will Open At 9:30

The registered shoot scheddled for today by the Wichita Falls Gun club will begin at 9:30 o'clock that the entire program may be finished before noon.

The registered meet is held in connection, or instead, of the regular weekly shoot. Added money will make competition keen for all the shooters and a new system, the "Jackrabbit," will be the order of the day.

The new scale will enable all to receive a share of the money offered in the meet. A refund of possibly 10 cents will be made for each target broken, and the additional part of the purse will be divided into four places for the high men in each event.

The added interest created last week when the "sliding scale" was used brought many of the new members to the trap. This will probably be in vogue in the regular shoots, but the registered meets must be shot from the 16-yard rise line.

Two events of 25 target singles and one of 24 target doubles will be shot today.

Graham Sheriff Guarding Prisoner

Special to the Record News.

GRAHAM, June 15.—"Happy Conlee remains in the Young county jail tonight, and, take it from Sheriff John W. Saye, he will remain there, mobs regardless.

"I do not expect the mob back tonight, but if it comes Conlee will be defended," he declared definitely this morning after a mob of 100 armed men, seeking Conlee at the jail, dispersed with the threat that they would return for their man tonight. Up to a late hour tonight they had not returned.

The men were thought to have been from Oil City in the Bunger pool, where the death of A. A. Robinson, popular driller, from a couple of deep knife wounds resulted in the arrest of Conlee.

Robinson was one of the most popular drillers in the field here, and has been here some time. Conlee had been here only a short time, and is declared to be a "floater."

Although many different versions of the difficulty which ended fatally are given today, all seem to agree that the trouble arose over Robinson's objection to language alleged to have been used by Conlee in the presence of women.

Walking Sticks're Growing Too Strong In This Nec o' Desertland That They Need No Guide; Liquor Found In One

Not all walking sticks were made to walk with.

Some of them can almost talk, and Chief J. W. McCormick found one yesterday morning that was almost able to walk alone.

It is the chief's opinion that if there had been just an ounce or so more that the cane could easily have taken a stroll.

There wasn't anything so peculiar about this particular cane in question, except that it was much larger than canes usually are. This alone attracted Chief McCormick's suspicions.

Some fellows have a "nose for news" and others a "nose for booze," but just whether the chief's nose is fixed that way we have not learned, and he is really reluctant to state. Nevertheless, the chief followed the cane, more than the man who carried it, and shortly after he had spied it, it was in the officer's possession and the man was jailed.

The cause of all the disturbance was that Chief McCormick unscrewed the handle from the top of the walking stick and exhibited to the awed-eyed spectators who witnessed it almost a pint of choice liquor which the cane concealed.

It was a novel cane, in truth, but it has probably carried its last drink.

An investigation into the identity of the man, who was well-dressed and apparently prosperous, is being conducted by the police.

FATTY'S PLEA

FATTY ARBUCKLE is begging for money, he is begging to be permitted to return to the films. He has implored Funeral Director Will Hays to lift the ban. He had a palace for a home, a twenty-five thousand dollar auto and a good sized fortune when he was haled into a court of justice and introduced to the judicial rack. Accused of a heinous crime, there was no convincing evidence and yet he was forced to stand several trials for murder. There was evidence that Arbuckle was the victim of a frame up; that, like poor dogtray, he had permitted himself to be caught in bad company and as a result paid the price. He was acquitted and given a clean bill of health, but the lawyers got his palace, his twenty five thousand dollar car and his fortune.

It will be recalled that the woman who fired the charge against him was convicted of bigamy after Arbuckle's first trial and she didn't have the nerve to face him at the second trial. It was also clearly established by the witnesses that Arbuckle was a fat fool willing to spread high price foods for all the parasites of a spotted world that attached themselves on the fringe of his fat presence. Now he is broke and asks permission to go to work.

He says he never appeared in a spotted picture in his career, that he never appeared in an indecent picture and that he only asks for fair play and an opportunity to reestablish his reputation. The Nazarene on the cross granted full pardon to the thief who repented. Maybe Funeral Director Hays will grant a full pardon to Fatty Arbuckle in order that he may be permitted to return to his professional work and make atonement for past follies which marked the climax of a fat career in money-making and as an idol of millions of movie fans. Somewhere it is written, "To err is human, to forgive divine." Why not Fatty?

WHAT THEY PROMISE

JAMES E. FERGUSON promises the people if elected, to give them light wine and beer. Earle B. Mayfield promises the people, if elected "to have repealed the most nefarious piece of legislation that has been passed by congress in a century."

He had the Esch-Cummins act in mind. Lucian W. Parrish voted for the Esch-Cummins act and Woodrow Wilson, as president signed the bill. There is a republican senator. And the senate will be controlled by the republicans for at least six years to come. If Ferguson is elected his one vote cannot set aside the constitution of the United States. If Mayfield is elected his vote cannot repeal or amend a law.

It takes a new member at least six years to obtain a hearing unless he happens to be a Jim Watson of Georgia or a Tom Blanton of Texas. And if Watson of Georgia or Blanton of Texas have one law to their credit, its enactment has been overlooked by the writer. Successful national lawmakers are not made in a day, or a year.

CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

FEDERAL JUDGE JAMES C. WILSON has been given a clean bill of health by the Hon. R. M. Hall, of Amarillo, judge of the court of civil appeals. Judge Wilson did not need it but it will do no harm for him to place it in a scrapbook. Judge Wilson is a native Texan and his official record is without spot or blemish. He fought his way to the top. He was not rocked in a golden cradle nor reared in the lap of luxury. He was a vigorous prosecuting attorney and a very able member of the lower house of congress before Woodrow Wilson placed him on the federal bench. A man who climbs high is certain to have arrows shot into his back. It is the price one pays for success. Mediocrity has a sneaking contempt for genius.

If revealing her person affects a girl's character for the worse, let us thank God that men still cover their persons entire.

They can now measure the depth of the deepest sea, so they may in time plumb the depth of man's capacity for absorbing flattery.

The day of romance is over and the traveling man who registers from New York no longer inspires awe even in the remote villages.

DR. CRANE'S EDITORIAL

THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE

I DON'T want now to speak of the Russian government, of bolshevism or sovietism or whiskers. I wish to speak of the people. Bolshevism is as much a removable excrescence as whiskers and as dispensable as a soiled suit of clothes. I speak of human beings.

I have recently seen them, seen right into the heart of them, and I wish to testify that I am thoroughly in love with them.

I went to see the performance which is called Chauve-Souris, meaning bat; a fanciful name borrowed from the Moscow theatre and having nothing to do with the performance. There is about as much sense in calling this show Chauve-Souris as in calling you George W. Peckinpaw, in which there is no sense at all.

It is the most artistic and soul-refreshing theatrical performance, however, that I have seen in many a year.

It is pure play. Americans cannot play like that, with such perfect abandon, with such uncensored self-expression, and yet with such consummate art.

It is the most child-like thing imaginable, and whatever is child-like and well enough done to captivate us, is worth while.

The show was in Russian and I did not understand a word, which was a great relief, for if it had been in English I should have tried to understand and should have been irritated.

But the language was the universal language of mankind, the play of child-like people.

There was dancing. I had about made up my mind that I do not like dancing and thought it was because I was getting old and cranky, but I discovered that that is not the reason. I do not like society dancing, I see now, because it is artificial posing. It pretends to be play and is not. But the dancing at this performance was the kind of dancing children do. The actors threw themselves into their work soul foremost and it gave you the same sensation of gladness you get when you see children running about laughing and leaping, or when you see little lambs jumping up with all four feet at once.

Of course all this might have been silly and amateurish. All good art narrowly escapes the danger line of the ridiculous. But these Russian artists are masters of their craft. They dare play, they dare be simple, and they get away with it.

It seemed to me as I sat there that all the curtain and clouds of distance and lies had been swept away and that I was gazing at the uncovered heart of the Russian people, that great, deep, strange people, as Anzia Yezirska says, who are at once the menace and the hope of the world.

A CLOSED ISSUE

FORMER GOVERNOR JAMES E. FERguson's wine and beer proposition will not appear on the official ballot. It had one friend, the committeemen from San Antonio. He declared that the democrats of Texas should be given an opportunity to go on record. That man should be told that it is impossible to breathe the breath of life into a corpse that has been moulding in the grave for two long years. Harry T. Warner hit the nail on the head when he said:

"It had no business there. So far as prohibition is concerned it is a closed issue; the enforcement of the law is the only remaining point and in a majority of the counties there is an earnest effort to bring this about. The Dean law is a workable act. When one considers the enlarged prison population and notes the great number of indictments being returned over the state in which violation of the liquor law is charged, it is apparent that there is great activity."

As a matter of fact it should be up to the agents of the law in city and county to enforce all the anti-liquor laws. They were made to be enforced. Prohibition is a closed issue, but those who are making a living out of the prohibition issue on its continued agitation do not care to be divorced from their pay checks. There are economic questions which concern all the people and these should be pushed to the forefront.

THE GARDEN

Now gardening is faddish, and cheerily I toil and plant the luscious radish in dark and fertile soil; and my mam is caddish who would my raptures spoil. Yet always and forever there is the grouchy skate, who tries to say things clever, who leans upon my gate, and mocks my brave endeavor to keep my pea vines straight. "Oh, there are many killers to knock your garden cold," he says, "and bugs and millers, and perils manifold, and six-inch caterpillars, and cutworms fierce and bold. Too often I have seen them, where clinging herbage twines; and all these pests, between them, will kill your cherished vines, and though you Paris-green them, they won't take in their signs. Your sweat runs in a river, your face is turning green, your muscles throb and quiver, you've worked so hard, I ween; far better take your flivver, and burn up gasoline. For all your peas will perish, your cabbage will die, the succotash you cherish will burn up in July, and, with a sorehead bearish, you'll wring your hands and cry." And thus men cheer the fellow who strives to raise some peas; they stand around and bellow dire prophesies like these, until his streak of yellow gives him cold feet and knees.—(Copyright, 1922, George

POLITICAL UNREST

The Once Over
By H. I. PHILLIPS.

DUMM AND DUMMER REVEAL WHAT'S BEEN DONE ABOUT DISARMAMENT.

"What's been done about this disarmament thing?" asked Senator Dumm. "If I remember correctly there was a big conference at Washington a few months ago at which all the major powers agreed that anything larger than a pea-blower was an awful thing to have around the house, and pledged themselves to scrap their shooting irons at an early date."

"You're correct in your recollections, said Representative Dummer. "There was a conference at Washington the disarmament conference—and it got a lot of front-page publicity the world over. Secretary Hughes submitted a programme showing just how many warships each nation should tear up, and the diplomats accepted it with no more than the usual speeches."

"I remember the list of ships each nation agreed to junk was most impressive," said Senator Dumm.

"The scrap-iron dealers began to look forward to the biggest business in years," remarked Dummer. "I know the junkman who took the navy-scrapping thing so seriously he gave up his old automobiles, plumbing fixtures, and coal stoves. He announced that he was off the small stuff and would deal in nothing smaller than battle cruisers."

o o o

"Armies were to be scrapped too, as I remember it, and there was to be a ten-year holiday," said Dumm. "What's been done about it? Was all another false alarm, like prohibition?"

"I've been investigating," informed Dummer, "and I am glad to say that the disarmament conference wasn't a failure. All the various countries have already shown their good faith."

"But just what have they scrapped?" demanded Dumm.

"I have a list here," said Dummer reaching into his inside pocket and withdrawing a badly wrinkled sheet of paper. "Shall I read it?"

"What else would you do with it—curl your hair or something?" demanded Dumm.

o o o

"Well, take Japan," said Dummer reading from his notes. "Japan has not ignored the disarmament agreement. Six weeks ago she scrapped two water buckets on the armored cruiser Hanagawa Tooku III., and shot a dog mascot on the torpedo boat Oolong. Two weeks later she sank six naval cowboats, and only last week the Japanese emperor destroyed three beautiful oil paintings of the Mutus that hung in his palace. That's a good start, I think."

"Not bad," said Dumm, "but what about Great Britain?. I'm thinking Lloyd George will find a way to fool us."

"No," said Dummer, "My investigations show that England has kept the faith. The commander-in-chief of the British army has laid off two messengers, eleven first class privates, a lance corporal and a bugler since the disarmament aggreement was passed."

"How about the British navy?" asked Dumm. "Have they done anything about junking that?"

"Oh, yes," said Dummer. "By an order from the king Admiral Beatty has been compelled to scrap three buttons off his full dress uniform. This leaves him with only two, if my figures are correct. He has also been compelled to wear his cap straight. Within the next month or two I understand the British navy will start disarming by destroying fifteen pairs of oak oars."

"Fair enough," said Dumm. "How about France and Italy?"

"Each country fired three able seamen last week. Italy also chloroformed two cavalry horses."

"And what has the United States done?" asked Dumm.

"Well, if you'll not spread it around I'll let you know," said Dummer folding his notes. "It's not supposed to be generally known, but last Tuesday Secretary Hughes sent word to Secretary Denby that something must be done to keep good faith in the disarmament agreement at once. The secretary of the navy immediately burned fourteen old canoes and a middy's blouse."

DOGHILL PARAGRAFS

On Thursday morning of this week, Sidney Hocks suddenly found himself in a ridiculous predicament. He was passing the Rice Straw store. The proprietor was putting a new foundation block under one corner of the building, and asked Sid to hold the corner of the building while he went and got the block. Sidney, of course, so, and the proprietor went away and got busy talking, and did not return until nearly noon.

The Mucker
By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"But you, man!" exclaimed Mallory. "We can't leave you."

"Never!" said Anthony Harding.

"You'll have to, though," replied Billy. "That's part of the scheme. It won't work any other way." He raised his revolver and fired a single shot in the direction of the howling savages. "That's to let 'em know we're still here," he said. "I'll keep that up, off and on, as long as I can. It'll fool 'em into thinking that we're all here, and cover your escape. See?"

"I won't do it," said Mallory.

"Yes you will," replied the mucker. "It's not any of us that counts—it's Miss Harding. As many as can have got to get back to her, just as quick as the Lord'll let us. I can't, so you two'll have to. I'm done for—a blind man could see that. It wouldn't do a bit of good for you two to hang around here and get killed, waitin' for me to die; but it would do a lot of harm, for it might mean that Miss Harding would be lost too."

"You say my daughter is on this island you speak of, with Norris and Foster—is she quite safe and well?" asked Harding.

"Perfectly," said Byrne; "and now beat it—you're wasting a lot of precious time."

"For Barbara's sake it looks like the only way," said Anthony Harding, "but it seems wicked and cowardly to desert a noble fellow like you, sir."

"It is wicked," said Billy Mallory. "There must be some other way. By the way, old man, who are you anyhow, and how did you happen to be here?"

Byrne turned his face upward so that the full moon lighted his features clearly.

"There is no other way, Mallory," he said. "Now take a good look at me—don't you recognize me?"

Mallory gazed intently at the strong face looking into his. He shook his head.

"There is something familiar about your face," he said; "but I cannot place you. Nor does it make any difference who you are—you have risked your life to save ours and I shall not leave you. Let Mr. Harding go—it is not necessary for both to stay."

"You will both go," insisted Byrne; "and you will find that it does make a big difference who I am. I hadn't intended telling you, but I see there is not other way. I'm the mucker that nearly killed your on board the Lotus, Mallory. I'm the fellow that man-handled Miss Harding until even that beast of a Simms made me quit, and Miss Harding has been alone with me on this island for weeks—now go."

He turned away so that they could no longer see his face, with the mental anguish that he knew must be writ large upon it, and commenced firing toward the natives once more.

Anthony Harding stood with white face and clinched hands during Byrne's recital of his identity. At its close he took a threatening step toward the prostrate man, raising his long sword, with a muffled oath. Billy Mallory sprang before him, catching his upraised arm.

"Don't!" he whispered. "Think what we owe him now. Come!" and the two men turned north into the jungle while Billy Byrne lay upon his belly in the tall grass firing from time to time into the direction from which came an occasional spear.

Anthony Harding and Billy Mallory kept on in silence along their dismal way. The crack of the mucker's revolver, growing fainter and fainter, as they drew away from the scene of conflict, apprised the men that their rescuer still lived.

After a time the distant reports ceased. The two walked on in silence for a few minutes.

"He's gone," whispered Mallory.

Anthony Harding made no response. They did not hear any further firing behind them. On and on they trudged. Night turned to day. Day rolled slowly on into night once more. And still they staggered on, footsore and weary. Mallory suffered excruciating agony from his wound. There were times when it seemed that it would be impossible for him to continue another yard, but then the thought that Barbara Harding was somewhere ahead of them, and that in a short time now they must be with her once more kept him doggedly at his painful task.

They had reached the river and were following slowly down its bank. The moon, full and gorgeous, flooded the landscape with silvery light.

"Look!" exclaimed Mallory. "The island!"

"Thank God!" whispered Harding, fervently.

On the bank opposite they stopped and hallooed. Almost instantly three figures rushed from the interior of the island to the shore before them—two men and a woman.

"Barbara!" cried Anthony Harding. "Oh my daughter! My daughter!"

Norris and Foster hastened through the river and brought the two men to the island. Barbara Harding threw herself into her father's arms. A moment later she had grasped Mallory's outstretched hands, and then she looked beyond them for another.

"Mr. Byrne?" she asked. "Where is Mr. Byrne?"

"He is dead," said Anthony Harding.

The girl looked, wide-eyed and uncomprehending, at her father for a full minute.

"Dead!" she moaned, and fell unconscious at his feet.

CHAPTER XVII
Home Again

Billy Byrne continued to fire intermittently for half an hour after the two men had left him. Then he fired several shots in quick succession, and dragging himself to his hands and knees crawled laboriously and painfully back into the jungle in search of a hiding place where he might die in peace.

He had progressed some hundred yards when he felt the earth give way beneath him. He clutched frantically about for support, but there was none, and with a sickening lunge he plunged downward into Stygian darkness.

His fall was a short one, and he brought up with a painful thud at the bottom of a deer pit—a covered trap which the natives dig to catch their fleet-footed prey.

The pain of his wounds after the fall was excruciating. His head whirled dizzily. He knew that he was dying and then all went black.

When consciousness returned to the mucker it was daylight. The sky above shone through the ragged hole that his falling body had broken in the pit's covering the night before.

"Gee!" muttered the mucker; "I thought that I was dead!"

His wounds had ceased to bleed, but he was very weak and stiff and sore.

"I guess I'm too tough to croak!" he thought.

He wondered if the two men would reach Barbara in safety. He hoped so. Mallory loved her, and he was sure that Barbara had loved Mallory. He wanted her to be happy. No thought of jealously entered his mind. Mallory was her kind. Mallory "belonged." He didn't. He was a mucker. How would he have looked training with her bunch? She would have been ashamed of him, and he couldn't have stood that. No, it was better as it had turned out. He'd squared himself for the beast he'd been to her, and he'd squared himself with Mallory, too. At least they'd have only decent thoughts of him, dead: but alive, that would be an entirely different thing. He would be in the way. He would be a constant embarrassment to them all, for they would feel that they'd have to be nice to him in return for what he had done for them. The thought made the mucker sick.

"I'd rather croak," he murmured.

But he didn't "croak"—instead he waxed stronger and toward evening the pangs of hunger and thirst drove him to consider means for escaping from his hiding place and searching for food and water.

He waited until after dark and then crawled, with utmost difficulty, from the deep pit. He had heard nothing of the natives since the night before, and now, in the open, there came to him but the faint sounds of the village life across the clearing.

Byrne dragged himself toward the trail that led to the spring where poor Theriere had died. It took him a long time to reach it, but at last he was successful. The clear, cold water helped to revive and strengthen him. Then he sought food. Some wild fruit partially satisfied him for the moment, and he commenced the laborious task of retracing his steps toward "Manhattan Island."

The trail that he had passed over in 15 hours as he had hastened to the rescue of Anthony Harding and Billy Mallory required the better part of three days now. Occasionally he wondered why in the world he was traversing it anyway. Hadn't he wanted to die, and leave Barbara free? But life is sweet, and the red blood still flowed strong in the veins of the mucker.

"I can go my own way," he thought, "and not bother her; but I'll be dogged if I want to croak in this God-forsaken hole—Grand avenue for mine, when it comes to passing in my checks. Gee! but I'd like to hear the rattle of the Lake Street 'L,' and see the dolls coming down the station steps by Shidmore's when the crowd comes home from the Loop at night."

Billy Byrne was homesick. And then, too, his heart was very heavy and sad because of the great love he had found—a love which he realized was as hopeless as it was great. He had the memory, though, of the girl's arms about his neck, and her dear lips crushed to his for a brief instant, and her words—ah, those words! They would ring in Billy's head forever: "I love you, Billy, for what you are."

And a sudden resolve came into the mucker's mind as he whispered those words over and over again to himself. "I can't have her," he said. "She isn't for the likes of me; but if I can't live with her, I can live for her—as she'd want me to live, and, s'help me, those words'll keep me straight. If she ever hears of Billy Byrne again it won't be anything to make her ashamed that she had her arms around him, kissing him, and telling him that she loved him."

At the river's edge across from the little island Billy came to a halt. He had reached the point near midnight, and hesitated to cross over and disturb the party at that hour. At last, however, he decided to cross quietly, and lie down near her but until morning.

The crossing was most difficult, for he was very weak, but at last he came to the opposite bank and drew himself up to lie panting for a few minutes on the sloping bank. Then he crawled on again up to the top, and staggering to his feet made his way cautiously toward the two huts. All was quiet. He assumed that the party was asleep and so he lay down near the rude shelter he had constructed for Barbara Harding, and fell asleep.

It was broad daylight when he awoke—the sun was fully three hours high, and yet no one was stirring. For the first time misgivings commenced to assail Billy's mind. Could it be possible? He crossed over to his own hut and entered — it was deserted. Then he ran to Barbara's—it, too, was unoccupied. They had gone!

Little Stories for Bedtime

PETER HAS TO TELL HIS STORY MANY TIMES

Once you start a story you cannot call it back;
It travels on and on and on and ever on, alack!

That is the reason you should always be sure that a story you repeat is a good story. Then you will be glad to have it travel on and on and on, and will never want to call it back. But if you tell a story that isn't true or nice, the time is almost sure to come when you will want to call it back and cannot. You see, stories are just like rivers—they run on and on forever. Little Mrs. Peter Rabbit knew this, and that is why she advised Peter not to tell any one else the strange story he had told her of the dreadful creatures without legs or head or tail that had chased him in the Green Forest. Peter knew by that that she didn't believe a word of it. But he was too tired and sleepy to argue with her then, so he settled himself comfortably for a nice long nap.

When Peter awoke the first thing he thought of was the terrible creature he had seen in the Green Forest. The more he thought about it the more impossible it seemed, but he didn't wonder that Mrs. Peter had advised him not to repeat it.

"I won't," said Peter to himself. "I won't repeat it to a soul. No one will believe it. The truth is, I can hardly believe it myself. I'll just keep my tongue still."

But, unfortunately for Peter, one of the Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind had heard Peter tell the story to Mrs. Peter, and it was such a wonderful and curious and unbelievable story that the Merry Little Breeze straightway repeated it to everybody he met, and soon Peter Rabbit began to receive callers who wanted to hear the story all over again from Peter himself. So Peter was obliged to repeat it ever so many times, and every time it sounded to him more foolish than before. He had to tell it to Jimmy Skunk and to Johnny Chuck and to Danny Meadow Mouse and to Digger the Badger and to Sammy Jay and to Blacky the Crow and to Striped Chipmunk and to Happy Jack Squirrel and to Bobby Coon and to Unc' Billy Possum and to Old Mr. Toad.

Now, strange to say, no one laughed at Peter, queer as the story sounded. You see, they all remembered how they had laughed at him and made fun of him when he told about the great footprints he had found deep in the Green Forest and how later, it had been proved that he really did see them, for they were made by Buster Bear, who had come down from the Great Woods to live in the Green Forest. Then it had been Peter's turn to laugh at them. So now, impossible as this new story sounded, they did not dare laugh at it.

"I never heard of such a creature," said Jimmy Skunk, "and I can't quite believe that there is such a one, but it is very clear to me that Peter has seen something strange. You know the old saying that he laughs best who laughs last, and I'm not going to give Peter another chance to have the last laugh and say 'I told you so.'"

That is very true," replied Old Mr. Toad, solemnly. Probably Peter has seen something out of the ordinary, and in his excitement he has exaggerated it. The thing to do is to make sure whether or not there is a stranger in the Green Forest. Peter says that it came down the hill where Prickly Porky the Porcupine lives. Some one ought to go ask him what he knows about it. If there is such a terrible creature up there he ought to have seen it. Why don't you go up there and ask him, Jimmy Skunk? You're not afraid of anybody or any thing."

"I will," replied Jimmy promptly, and off he started. You see, he felt very much flattered by Old Mr. Toad's remark, and he couldn't very well refuse, for that would look as if he were afraid after all.

Frederick to Work Out Tax System

FREDERICK, Okla., June 15.—A survey, made by a joint committee of the chamber of commerce and Lions club, of city property will probably be a basis from which the board of equalization will work in equalizing city taxes, County Commissioner O. C. Ball announced Wednesday afternoon following the reading of the report.

Action will not be taken in securing equable adjustments until a reply, written by County Attorney F. H. Hurst, to Attorney General George F. Short, is received advising what adjustments will be legal.

The committee worked without knowledge of the assessment made by the county assessor and for the purpose that its observations might be helpful to the board.

FASHIONS

C'repe de Chine Fashions This Dainty Frock

For dressy occasions the little frock shown in the sketch would be charming, although it is simple enough to justify its use for general or every day wear. It is designed for a little girl of eight or ten years. It was made of a pale pink crepe de chine. The long waist, slightly rounded at front and back, is attacned to a finely accordion pleated skirt of self fabric and the pocket and belt are finished with hand embroidery done in self or contrasting color. The dress buttons in the center back and is a practical "tub" model. The rather wide sleeves short and cut in one with the frock, constitute a worth-while feature. The neck is finished with a soft collar of fine roll type, which may be of self fabric or of chiffon.

As a matter of fact, silk fabrics are almost as cheap this summer as the really good cotton ones, so that being silken clad is not at all the costly business that it once was, nor are silk garments any longer properly in the luxury class.

The design of the frock sketched could be used for making a neat shirting silk frock for a little girl. These silks come in the daintiest of stripes, checks, etc., and are no worth while for either children or grown-ups that no woman who makes clothes for her family should fail to at least look at and consider them.

One little shirting silk dress recently seen was trimmed with Irish crochet medallions and edging, the combination of this heavy lace with the silk being very pleasing. Others were trimmed either with bias bands of self fabric or bindings of ribbon in a color to match the stripe or design in the material.

SHRINE BILL POSTER TRAVELS TOO FAST FOR THIS TOWN

A. J. Davidson, who has charge of the billing for the Shrine circus was hailed in a small town near Wichita Falls:

"Heigh there, feller, stop I say. Stop! Yer exceedin' the seepd limit."

Davidson was blazing away about 50 miles an hour, but the old constable meant business, so he stopped and was haled before the court.

The judge: "What reason do you give for going so fast as you did?"

Davidson: "Well, you see, judge down in Wichita Falls Maskat just sent me a radio message that there are to have wildcats and bearcats at the Shrine circus July 1 to 8. They missed the wampus cat, so I'm in a hurry to get back and tell them they missed another attraction. Besides that, I got'ta finish putting up 25 circus posters by tomorrow night."

The judge: "You're fined $2.00."

Davidson paid his fine quickly and rushed out to finish his work.

SPUDDERS FALL SHORT WHEN SAND CRABS ESTABLISH NEW MINOR LEAGUE HOMER RECORD

Four Hurlers Fail To Stop Onslaught; Griffith Resigns As Manager Of Club; Bescher Injures Leg But Continues;—33 Hits Total 62 Bases—Won In Ninth

By "SPIKE" COOPER

Five circuit clouts in the fifth inning by the Sand Crabs yesterday afternoon was possibly the deciding feature in their 12-11 win over the Spudders. A total of seven all-the-way-round smashes accounted for more than half of the visitor's tallies. Not one of the blows came with a man on base.

The fifth inning bombardment came within one clout of equaling the minor league record which was established by Toronto and Montreal in a 12-inning game when six homers were accumulated. The feat of driving out three in succession has only been accomplished twice before in the history of minor league baseball, and has never been beaten.

But the fact that Galveston drove out five of the home-run blows in one frame is believed a new record for a single club.

There were many freak plays during the encounter and as many brilliant and flashing happenings.

The Spudders fought hard for the game, but the murderous attack of the Islanders was too much. The score was tied six times during the nine innings of play, but the ninth inning rally which netted three counters sent the Spudders one down and they failed to come back in their half.

Salm used four pitchers in an attempt to halt the tide of base blows which swelled up in front of the Spudders. Ruth, Mokan, Bowman and Wheeler were deafened by the pounding [illegible] barrage laid down [illegible] over by the Crabs.

Griffith Quits

Prior to the opening of the game Dave Griffith announced his resignation as pilot of the Galveston team. He did not state a definite reason for his action, nor did he intimate as to who might be his successor. The resignation will take effect, he stated, upon his arrival at [illegible] in Fort Worth for their next series.

Frank [illegible], elongated spitball [illegible] of the [illegible] went the entire route for the club despite his [illegible] hammering at the hands of the Spudders. He was wild and passed six [illegible] to the first station, but even this did not seem to dampen his [illegible]. [illegible] faced the storm with the [illegible] equanimity of a seasoned veteran that he is.

Another interesting feature of the game was that the two first basemen totaled nine put-outs. Beck was high with six, while Eibel was credited with only three. Homer Summa had two assists from center field.

Buddy Tanner and George Bischoff, league leaders, went hitless during the entire game.

Of the 33 base hits registered 15 were for extra bases and these totaled 62 cushions. Eight extra bases were added to the list by pilfering base runners, with Bischoff in the lead, stealing two sacks.

Seven of the day's batters connected safely three times. Hendricks was high man for the day, getting two homers and a double out of five trips to the plate.

Spuds Fail to Get In

Although the Spudders have a number of circuit-clouters on the payroll they were unable to break into this column. Repeatedly they drove at the fence and it often seemed that the ball would be driven out of the lot by the home nine. Fred Beck bounced one off the top of the boards in deep right that failed to clear by inches.

Flashing plays cut down numerous hits by both clubs, but the Spudders probably led in the robberies, stealing four that looked perfectly good until some Spudder glove suddenly appeared in front.

Distel opened the game with a pop fly to Beck. Moore singled into left, but was out stealing and Ruth fanned Hendricks.

Two Spud Runs in First

The Spudders went into the lead in their half of the inning. Adams drew a pass as first batter. Tanner fanned, but Bescher shot a line single into right that got away from Thrash and rolled to the fence, scoring Adams and sending Bescher to third. Summa scored Bescher with a single into left, but was caught off first after McDonald had flied out to left.

Tex lost Connolly's single and Summa recovered the ball as it rolled to the fence. Two beautiful relays and a perfect play by Bischoff at the plate caught the runner as he attempted to score.

Eibel walked. Brown shot a liner over second and White's great backhanded catch of the drive brought the fans to their feet. He pulled a bit of fast headwork when he tried to throw to Beck, that he might double Eibel off first, but his throw was a little wild and the runner safely returned. Thrash lined out to McDonald.

Fred Beck walked in the second, but failed to advance. White drove to the boards in center, Brown making a great catch of the drive. Bischoff fanned and Ruth popped up to short.

Crabs Tie It Up

The Crabs knotted the count with a couple of markers in the third. Witry grounded out, Ruth to Beck, and Devinney was passed. Distel singled to center and the pitcher went to second. Adams failed to hold the ball when White threw to second on Moore's grounder and the bags were thickly populated, saturated, so to speak. Hendricks then broke up the play house with a double into right center and two runners counted. Moore was out at the plate, Summa to Adams to Bischoff. It was a perfect play by all three. Connolly flied out to Summa.

Adams doubled into left center as he came up in the third. Tanner sacrificed him to third, but he was out at the plate when he started late after Distel had foozled Bescher's fast grounder. Summa sent Brown to the boards in center after his drive.

The Crabs were easily out in the fourth. Eibel flied out to Summa. Brown almost tore Tanner's glove off his hand with a line drive, but Buddy's one-handed grab was true. Thrash singled to center, but went out stealing on a perfect throw from Bischoff.

White Unties It

The Spudders again took the lead in the fourth. McDonald fanned. Beck lined one to Thrash who let another get away from him and measure the distance to the fence, Beck going to third. White doubled viciously against the fence in left and Beck counted. Bischoff grounded to Moore who tagged White out on the line. The catcher promptly stole second but Ruth flied out to Hendricks who made a nice catch in left center.

Oh! That Fifth

Then the riotous fifth. Witry was first up and whaled one over the fence near the foul flag in left. Devinney then crashed one, a long drive over the fence in deep left, for the second. Distel quieted the fans a minute when he popped to Beck. Scrappy Moore had blood in his eyes as he came up and whaled one over Bescher's boundary. This was too much for Babe. Then came Hendricks. As Steve opened, he lammed one against the top of the fence in center that bounded back almost to the infield and he had scored before Summa could recover the ball. Connolly followed suit with a terrific wallop over the right wall, straight into the wind. Eibel singled into right. The fans didn't want it to count since it did not register a homer, but he was caught off first by Bischoff and run down on the line. Brown fouled out to Bescher.

SPUDDERS—

The count was tied again in the sixth when the Crabs got another. Thrash shot his second single into center and went to second when Steve hit Witry in the back. Abe Bowman came to the rescue. He fanned Devinney, but Distel beat out an infield hit to Adams. Witry went to third, but Thrash was still there. Beck lost both runners, and Jimmie almost scored when Fred fell in the diamond as he headed for third after the interesting discovery. Moore then singled into right and Witry counted. Bowman fanned Hendricks.

The Spudders threatened to count in their half after two were out. Adams lined out to Thrash and Tanner popped up to Witry. Bescher shot a single to center and stole second, but hurt his leg sliding. He continued in the game, but was favoring his leg throughout. Summa walked, but Moore's great stab of McDonald's high bounder retired him at first.

"Hack" Gets His

In the seventh Connolly grounded out to Beck who made a beautiful stop on the line. Hack Eibel broke into the honor row with a long drive over left field for a tally. Brown flied out to Bescher and Thrash sent a Texas leaguer into short center, but Adams leaped his limit and speared the ball.:

Fred Beck threatened to get loose in the seventh when he bounced one off the top of the fence in right. White grounded to Devinney who caught Beck at third. Bischoff forced White at second when he grounded to Distel. Smiley swiped another cushion but Bowman left him stranded as he fanned.

In the eighth Witry flew out to Summa. Devinney popped to Beck. Distel doubled against the fence in left, but Moore popped to Adams.

Out in Front Again

The Spudders got back their lead in the eighth. Adams was out pitched to first. Tanner walked and stole second. Bescher popped out to Distel. Summa singled to center and Tanner registered. Homer then swiped second and counted when McDonald singled into left. Tex went to second on the play at the plate and scored when Beck singled into right. White was out when Hendricks went to the fence after a long drive.

Hendricks opened the ninth with his scond drive over the wall in right.

Connelly singled into right and Bowman finished his duties when he passed Eibel. Wheeler went in and Brown promptly advanced both runners with a sacrifice. Connelly counted on Thrash's infield out, White to Beck, and Beck could not hold Witry's drive down the foul line and it went for a hit, scoring Eibel. Devinney fanned for the last out.

The Spudders failed to come back in the last of the ninth. Bischoff flied out to left and Wheeler grounded to Distel who threw wild to first. Griffith had gone to catch for Witry and was behind the base on the play. His throw to second caught Wheeler as he attempted to advance. Adams walked and stole second, but was stranded when Tanner fanned.

SPUDDERS HAVE EYE ON CONNALLY

Manager Salm of the Spudders has his eye on some of the flingers of the different amateur baseball teams of this city. "Snipe" Connolly, hurler de-luxe of the Gulf, Ponds Laundry and several other teams, was seen in the park pitching to the hard hitting Spudders in their batting practice recently.

For two years, in the city leagues and in towns within a radius of miles, all the players know what the name "Snipe" means. "Snipe" is without doubt one of the classiest amateur pitchers that can be found in these parts. In the games of the City and Twilight leagues that "Snipe" has worked, his strikeouts total up to a sum of 135, which is a record that no other amateur flinger of this section is able to boast of.

The Spudder moguls are interested in the youngster and have invited him to display his wares before them. Connolly may have no desire of entering professional baseball, but he is able to see that he will learn much worth knowing by working out with a baseball nine like the Spudders.

WELL DRILLED 3 FEET IN SAND

New Producing Area Opened

Opening up the 1600 foot sand about two miles outside the present production of this depth, the McCalister, Brown and Grisham No. 1 Waggoner, was drilled three feet in to the sand, and Thursday afternoon was flowing at the rate of 30 to 40 barrels an hour, according to reports from the field.

The owners estimates on the well were 250 barrels, possibly more.

The heads were coming at four or five minute intervals Tuesday afternoon, with a strong gas pressure.

The new well is in section 34, about a half mile south of the shallow 500 foot pool, opened up a few months ago by the Petroleum Producers company, in section 33. It is southwest of the older pool in section 6 and is about two and a half miles south of the deeper producers in section 31.

TEST NEAR IN WISE CO. WELL

Down 3980 Ft. With 8-Inch Hole

Operations on the Decatur and Bridgeport Oil company's No. 1 Whatley, in Wise county, not far from Bridgeport, are progressing to a test of the line drilled more than a week ago at 3,980 feet, which has been making ten million feet of gas, since the formation was first drilled. Operations are continuing under personal direction of Mike McNamara, deputy oil and gas supervisor for the Young county and neighboring fields.

This well is believed to be the only well in the state of Texas to be carried to a depth of 3,980 feet with an eight-inch hole. The large hole and the large amount of gas alike make testing rather difficult.

There is considerable interest in the outcome of the well, because of its distance from any producing field, as well as for the strong showing of gas.

PRAIRIE PIPE LINE DECLARES DIVIDEND

By Associated Press.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., June 15.—The Prairie Pipe Line company today announced a quarterly dividend of $3 a share and an extra dividend of $2 a share payable July 31 to stockholders of record June 30.

STANDARD PAYS BIG DIVIDEND

Total Larger Than Last Quarter

Special to the Record News.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Dividends paid and to be paid by the Standard Oil group of companies for the three months ended June 30, will approximate $29,525,349, as compared to $28,355,349 for the first quarter of the year. The total for the six months will aggregate $57,880,698.

In the second quarter of 1921, dividends amounting to $29,131,727 were distributed, while in the first quarter of last year the total was $28,966,611. Since the dissolution of the parent Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, in 1911, the various companies now known as the Standard Oil group have paid $952,075,594 in dividends to the thousands of stockholders.

Largest Payment

Payments for the current quarter are the largest of any corresponding period of any year since the dissolution, with the exception of 1916, when National Transit paid $6,363,786 from accumulated assets to reduce the capital to 50 per cent, and the Colonial Oil company disbursed $250,000 in liquidation. The increase in the current quarter resulted from the increase of their outstanding capital. An Oil Company of California, Standard Oil company of Indiana, Standard Oil company of Kentucky and Standard Oil company of Nebraska, which companies increased their outstanding capital. An extra dividend of 3 per cent over the corresponding period of 1921 also was made by the Vacuum Oil company. The Prairie Oil and Gas company, on the other hand, reduced its extra payments in the current quarter.

The largest payment to stockholders was made by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Speed Record For Shallow Well Will Be Set Today With Completion After Only 2 Days Operation By Armstrong

Wednesday, June 14, the No. 23 Dodson of W. J. Armstrong started drilling.

Thursday, June 15, the No. 23 Dodson of W. J. Armstrong was rigged up to pump.

Today the pipeline company will owe W. J. Armstrong $12.50.

In a few days the production will be all "velvet."

Now if anyone has a drilling record that will beat this, they are welcome to produce it.

Armstrong, who has the shallow rights up to 750 feet on the Dodson tract, just east of the Victor refinery, Texhoma field, has opened up a 100-foot sand, which is believed to be the shallowest producing depth in this section.

The newest well got the top of the sand at 98 feet, after about a day and a half of drilling. It is making five barrels on the pump. Ten feet of sand was drilled.

Previous to this another well had drilled a sand, top 105 feet, which came in making five barrels, and is still making three barrels.

The new well is the first below 100 feet.

The previous shallow record for South Burk, or for anywhere in Wichita county was 200 feet.

Duncan Crude To Be Run Thru Direct Pipeline To Wichita Refinery After Connection Gap Is Fully Completed

Duncan crude will be run to a Wichita Falls refinery through direct pipe line connection within the next few weeks, W. M. Priddy having practically completed the securing of right of way for the gap existing in the present line which extends from here to Walters, Okla., for an independent pipe line to the Oklahoma pool.

The line will consist of the six-inch line of the Manhattan Production company, or its subsidiary, the Crude Oil Purchasing company, recently purchased, and a new line from the terminus of this line at Walters on to Duncan.

The line will be operated by a new independent pipe line company organized by Mr. Priddy as the American Pipe Line company, and its stockholders will consist largely of the local operators interested in the American refinery of which Mr. Priddy is president.

The building of the new line will be of considerable interest among local operators for Wichita Falls operators have played a big part in the defining and development of the Duncan pools.

FIVE MILLION FIRM ORGANIZED

Acquires Production In Ranger

FORT WORTH, June 15. — The Walker Petroleum corporation has been formed through the consolidation of the oil properties of the Bankers Petroleum company and the Consolidated Producers and Refiners company. The company is incorporated for $5,000,000, of which amount $3,090,000 has been issued and is outstanding.

The principal assets of the Consolidated Producers and Refiners was a 5,000-barrel refining plant located at Tiffin switch, on the Texas & Pacific railroad, near Ranger. From the Bankers Petroleum company the new organization acquires a considerable gas production in the Ranger field, near the refining plant, and a 355-acre lease in the middle of the Hart pool, located in Palo Pinto and Stephens counties. On this lease there are two wells now drilling and others to be started soon. The drilling wells are offsets to the discovery well on the Hart ranch.

GOOD WEATHER LOWERS WHEAT

Prices Drop on Market

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Lessened apprehension as to crop damage did a good deal to bring about lower prices today for wheat. The close was unsettled at 1 1-4 to 2 5-8c net decline with July 1.09 5-8 to 1.09 3-4, and September 1.11 to 1.11 1-8. Corn lost 3-4 to 1⅛c and oats 7-8@1c to 1 1-4c. Provisions finished unchanged to a shade off.

With more seasonable temperatures looked for to abate ill effects of excessive heat in the southwest, and with good rains reported in the northwest, holders of wheat began to unload after the opening.

There was a little better milling call here in the late trading, but prices rallies from the low point of the day were only moderate.

Beneficial rains in Iowa were largely responsible for sending the corn market downward. Besides, Illinois producers were said to be offering more freely new corn to arrive. Oats dropped to the lowest prices yet this season, heavy sales more than offsetting a brief show of strength caused by adverse crop reports.

Provisions were governed by the action of hig values.

National Lumber Men to Affiliate

By Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 15.—Initial steps toward the formation of a national organization of hard wood lumber manufacturers to be affiliated with the National Lumber Manufacturers' association were taken late today at a conference here of representatives of the hard wood manufacturing interests of the nation. The vote in favor of the proposal was unanimous.

An organization committee was named and instructed to report to Friday's session of the conference and outline the character of the proposed organization and the form for the constitution and by laws.

This action by the hard wood manufacturers marks the initiation of activities directed toward the establishment of adequate machinery to put into effect the program outlined at the recent conference between lumber manufacturers of the United States and Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

NEW YORK BONDS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Extensive buying of liberty issues, in which seven of that group sold at par or better, with new high records for the 3 1-2s at $100.30, and the fourth 4 1-4s at $100.10, constituted the main features of today's active and generally strong bond market.

Foreign government loans also were better, presumably as a result of the lowering of the Bank of England discount rate, although British offerings fared less well than French governments and municipals, in the rise of European issues.

Mexicans were most unstable, the 4s and both classes of 5s losing ground after early trading in which the 4s and regular 5s showed greater strength.

Speculative or underlying mortgages again featured the domestic railway list, notably Peoria and eastern incomes, St. Louis and San Francisco incomes, Erie general 4s and Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 4 1-2s. The firmer industrials and utilities included United States steel 5s and American telephone 6s. Total sales, par value, aggregated $13,459,000.

Among the latest underwritings a good demand was reported for the new Jugo-Slavia $25,000,000 issue.

STOCK ISSUES IN REACTION

Open Strong But Drop Sharply

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The stock market today experienced what is technically known as a "secondary reaction," prices of many favorite issues in the various speculative groups falling sharply after a firm to strong opening.

A very considerable part of the early buying evidently represented short covering, based on cables announcing a cut in the Bank of England discount from 4 to 3½ per cent, the lowest rate since January, 1914.

The cut in the British rate was the more surprising from the fact that Washington advices quoted treasury officials as opposed to any lowering of federal reserve rates in spite of numerous requests from branch institutions.

As soon as the early demand for stocks had been satisfied heavy selling orders appeared, especially in shippings and equipments. These soon extended to such leaders as Mexican petroleum, Studebaker, Baldwin and the independent steels.

Offerings of international mercantile marine common and preferred at extreme declines of 2 and 7½ points, respectively, were attributed to the poor earnings shown in the company's annual report and the less favorable outlook for subsidy legislation.

Reasons for the reversals in other issues were less apparent or convincing, but the list displayed its heaviest tone on news that the railway brotherhoods had taken a more aggressive attitude on the strike vote situation.

Final prices disclosed net losses of 2 to 6 points in the steels, prominent equipments, motors and rubber accessories, domestic and foreign oils and petroleums and shipping while such rails as Southern Pacific, Reading and New York Central forfeited 1 to 2 points. Sales amounted to 1,385,000 shares.

Call money opened and held at 3½ per cent throughout, that quotation being regarded as very reasonable in view of the heavy drain upon local reserves for federal interest payments. Time rates were easier for 30 and 60 day loans, but recent firmness for the longer maturities was maintained.

All the important foreign exchanges were strengthened by the action of the Bank of England, but Dutch, Norwegian and Danish remittances eased 3 to 15 points. Another sharp decline in the rate was ascribed to political unsettlement in that country. Far eastern rates failed to reflect the reduced discounts announced by the banks of Bombay and Bengal.

STORM SCARE FIRMS MARKET

Small Decline at Trade Close

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15. — After showing an easier tone during the greater part of the day, the cotton market turned firmer in the late trading on reports that storm warnings had been posted for Texas coast near the mouth of the Rio Grande. October contracts which had sold off to 21.28, or 34 points net lower and into low ground for the movement, closed at 21.51, a recovery of 23 points from the lowest. The general market closed steady at a net decline of 5 to 18 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points on July, but generally 2 to 9 points lower. Brokers with Wall street and up town connections were rather heavy sellers of October and December on the decline which carried July off to 21.46, and December to 21.08, with the general list showing net decline of about 30 to 34 points. The pressure then subsided. Last prices showed recoveries of 20 to 24 points from the lowest. A the low point of the early afternoon October showed a decline of exactly a cent a pound, as compared with the high price of last Saturday morning. Exports today were 21,546, making 5,452,552 so far this season. Port receipts 10,468; United States port stocks 831,304.

FISHING GOOD IN THROCKMORTON

All Creeks Alive With Big Ones

By H. N. F.

This is the twenty-ninth senatorial district. W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock is a candidate for re-election. Theodore H. King of Throckmorton has announced against Senator Bledsoe. There are 40 or more counties in the district and the census of 1920 placed its population at 148,000.

There are districts in east and south Texas which fall below 65,000 and others having less than 80,000. On a fair basis of representation the people of the district as now constituted would be represented by 2½ senators.

Theodore King has served two terms as representative in the lower house. He has a wide acquaintance throughout the big jumbo senatorial district, and he is hoping for an early decision of the test case instituted by democratic leaders who wish to have the senatorial redistricting law made operative in 1922 and not 1924, as the lawmakers provided.

Should the courts decide for the plaintiffs then Throckmorton will be in another district and Mr. King will not ask for the votes of the democrats of Wichita and adjoining counties. He will continue in the race as a candidate for senator as the representative of the people of the new district. Speaking of conditions in Throckmorton county, Mr. King said:

"Fishing is splendid. Break away from the office and come down to Throckmorton county. Don't forget it, the boys will give you the time of your life. All the creeks and branches are alive with fat fishes. Grass is as high as the head of a tall man. Live stock are fat and sleek. Frank Rhodes and the Davis boys and all their pals will take a day or a week off and make it interesting. They are feeling fine. They are getting good prices for their live stock. They own their own land. They are not renters. They own their own live stock and they don't borrow from the banks. Commission houses have no terror for them.

"They are at peace with all world with a smiling future before them. Business conditions are excellent in Throckmorton and adjoining counties. Farmers are looking forward to fine crops. There is plenty of moisture and no sign of drought anywhere. Why shouldn't the people be happy? No, I have no long winded platform. Give the people sane legislation and make business profitable if possible for all classes and conditions of men. There is nothing wild about my views and my pockets will not be stuffed with bills should the people of the district send me to Austin as their state senator."

Fireman Dies In Traffic Crash

By Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 5.—One fireman was killed and five injured, two probably fatally, in a collision between a fire truck responding to an alarm and an automobile here early tonight.

EXPECT FIRST WHEAT LOAD

Childress Already Has Initial Cargo

With threshing in progress in a number of places in northwest Texas and Oklahoma, and due to begin at once in several places in Wichita county, Wichita Falls grain dealers are set for the first load of new wheat either today or Saturday. The first wheat is expected to command a handsome premium from local grain dealers.

Threshing is in progress near Childress, near Granfield, Oklahoma and near Tipton, Okla., according to information reaching local grain houses. Childress got its first load of new wheat Wednesday.

The crops threshed so far are reported to have shown exceptionally good quality.

JAFFE LOSES $8.000 VERDICT

Negress' Contention Is Upheld

After they had deliberated two hours and five minutes, a jury of 12 of his peers returned a verdict against Harry Jaffe Thursday afternoon, and granted Katie Mae Deckard, negress, damages in the sum of $8,000.

The negress had sued Jaffe for $21,000 damages, claiming that he was the father of a mulatto child that was born to her in February.

To the special issues submitted to them, the jury answered all favoring the negress, answering "Yes" to the question of whether Harry Jaffe was guilty of an assault as alleged. The age of the plaintiff was found to be 14 at the time of the incident. Damages granted by the jury were divided into three parts, $4,000 actual, $2,500 exemplary, and $1,500 for support of the child.

Trial of the case began in the 30th district court Saturday and consumed the greater part of the time to Thursday afternoon. The case was submitted to the jury at 11:45 o'clock and a verdict was returned at 4:45.

Jaffe was present when the verdict was read by Judge Martin.

Crowds of interested packed the room throughout the trial, and there were quite a number of white women and white men present. When the argument of counsel began Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the court room was packed and the interest in the case was kept until the final argument had been made.

BUSINESS MEN APPLAUD FITTS

Many Take Floor in His Behalf

Busy business men, nearly 150 of them, members and guests of the Rotary club, paused Thursday to accord a veritable ovation to Police Commissioner Fitts, who was introduced as a guest of the luncheon, and give evidence of hearty approval of the cleanup by the police under his administration, mentioned by Harry Bray in his introductory remarks to the club.

Several of the members expressed themselves as heartily in accord with the police commissioner, although confessing their opposition to him in his first campaign, and promised full support in future.

The effort to secure a recall election against Mr. Fitts was mentioned, members expressing the belief that support of the officer in his work was one of principle and not politics or individualism—and a principle which the Rotary code bound them to support.

Among those expressing themselves were Harry Bray, Nat F. Grafton, J. H. McFall, and the club president, Pete Rogers.
