Monkeys Take Space Trip, Return Alive In U. S. Rocket

Surgeons Called Untrained

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Paul R. Hawley, director of the American College of Surgeons, says it is reliably estimated that one half of the surgical operations in the United States are now performed by "doctors who are untrained, or inadequately trained, to undertake surgery."

He says inadequately trained physicians are doing an increasing amount of surgery because every insured patient is a paying patient.

Hawley made the statements at a session of the Group Health Institute Wednesday.

He said one of the world's most distinguished surgeons told him that at least half his practice now "consists of attempts to correct the bad results of surgery undertaken in community hospitals by doctors inadquately trained in this field." He did not name the surgeon.

Hawley said the existing plans combining prepayment with group medical practice provide medical care of high quality.

He said, however, that nationwide extension of such plans could be dangerous "unless equal high quality of care could be assured."

Hawley said the success of the plans now existing is due to their ability to select the physicians who give the medical care.

Colorado High Graduates 87

COLORADO CITY — Colorado High School will graduate 87 seniors tonight.

Rosemary Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Thomas, is valedictorian with an average of 94.3. Emma Lee Blassingame, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Blassingame, is salutatorian with an average of 93.87.

Honor students include Mike Dorn, Kenny Simmons, Johnny Smith, Carolyn Shimer, Linda Hairston, Billie Ewell, Fanchon Nelms, Virginia Craighead, Nancy Beasley, Judy Dixon, Dorothy Blair, Cal Moore, Don Welter, Joe Merritt, Patricia Neff and Glenda Brown.

Miss Thomas, active in high school journalism, plans to attend North Texas College in Denton, and Miss Blassingame, president of Future Homemakers, plans to attend Tarleton State College in Stephenville.

Speaker for tonight's graduating exercises is to be J. B. Thomas of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Electric Service Co. Dr. Oscar Rhode, president of the school board, will present diplomas.

Four To Attend Highway Meeting In Raton, N. M.

Big Spring will have four representatives at the annual meeting of the U. S. 87 Improvement Assn. in Raton, N. M., Friday evening and Saturday.

The group plans to fly to Raton Friday afternoon. In the delegation will be Clyde McMahon, R. H. Weaver, John Currie and Bill Quimby. Weaver is a director of the association, and Quimby is chairman of its nominating committee.

Speaker for the meeting will be Gov. John Burroughs of New Mexico, a former West Texan. Gov. Burroughs is to speak at a dinner session Friday evening.

Objective of the U. S. 87 Improvement Assn. is to encourage the development of the highway as a four-lane road across Texas and New Mexico. The segment from Big Spring to the New Mexico line northwest of Amarillo already is programmed for four-lane construction.

U.S. Road Deaths Take Another Jump

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths on the nation's highways jumped in April for the fourth straight month. This reverses the downward trend in traffic fatalities recorded in 1957 and 1958.

The National Safety Council said today the toll for the first four months this year was 10,680 — a gain of 4 per cent from the 10,270 deaths in the same 1958 period.

The council estimated that highway accidents also brought disabling injuries to 400,000 persons in the four-month period.

STORM WARNING

Forecast of stormy weather was issued early this afternoon by the weather bureau at Midland. The bureau's emergency forecast:

"Scatered severe thunderstorms from 4 to 10 p.m. in area from the extreme portion of Lea County, N.M., downward to Pecos River and eastward through Upton, Howard and Borden Counties. Some of these storms will have large hail and damaging winds as well as heavy rain. These storms will be similar to those of Monday and Wednesday of this week."

Panel Cuts Arms Fund, Hits Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a blast at Pentagon rivalries, "confusion and duplication," the House Appropriations Committee today recommended $38,848,339,000 in new funds for the Defense Department.

In cutting $399,861,000 from the amount requested by President Eisenhower for the year starting July 1, the committee told the Army and the Air Force to cease bickering over who has the best missiles, called for a general tightening up on defense operations, and spoke of a growing Soviet military threat.

On the face of its action, it sided with the Army in its missile war with the Air Force by boosting Army funds and cutting Air Force money for missiles.

It approved funds to strengthen the Strategic Air Command, to shore up the Navy's antisubmarine warfare program, and to expedite work on atomic airplanes.

It disapproved the President's plans to reduce the strength of the National Guard and the reserve forces, but went along with his figures for active military manpower.

It refused the Navy's request for 260 million dollars to build a new aircraft carrier.

It voted to authorize the President to keep bombers in the air around the clock if necessary to prevent their destruction on the ground by a sneak attack.

These and other actions were included in a bill the committee sent to the House floor for debate next week.

"The nation must always be prepared for the worst," the committee said in a report written by Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex). "The threat is expected to worsen. As long as we are well prepared for general nuclear war, such a war is must less likely. The nation is prepared today to meet the military threat it faces."

Testimony taken during months of hearings behind closed doors, the committee said, "clearly indicates that there is something wrong in our present military planning, there is so much confusion and duplication" and too much bickering over "who gets what."

BIBLE FUND REACHES $402

Five additional gifts to help finance the high school Bible course were received today, boosting the total given this week to $402.

The course is sponsored by the Big Spring Pastors Assn. and is financed by private contributions. Funds were expected to be depleted at the end of the current school year and new gifts are being sought to assure continuation of the Bible classes next year.

Checks may be made payable to The Bible Class Fund or the Big Spring Pastors Assn. Send them to The Herald for acknowledgement.

Ike Won't Go To Summit If 'No Progress'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko "A measure of progress" must be made at the present Geneva East-West talks if Russia wants a summit meeing.

Eisenhower so expressed himself during a 30-minute White House meeting with Gromyko and the American, British and French foreign ministers.

Gromyko, without commenting on Eisenhower's call for progress, described the session as "a very pleasant and useful conversation."

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, described Gromyko's comment as "a tripartite declaration, thus saying in light humor that this was also their comment.

In a formal statement read to newsmen by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower expressed hope that the Geneva meeting "would lead to a better approach to the solution of the problems that confront us in Europe."

Hagerty said Eisenhower stressed the need for peaceful solutions to the problems of Germany's future and other issues now being debated. He added:

"The President likewise expressed the hope that on their return to Geneva the foreign ministers would be able to achieve that measure of progress which would make a subsequent meeting of heads of government desirable and useful."

Although he talked to all four foreign ministers, Eisenhower clearly was beaming his remarks at Gromyko. He was in effect reaffirming his determination to reject a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev unless the Soviets demonstrate good faith at Geneva by offering reasonable concessions to match the West's proposals.

Memorial Day Rites Planned

Community Memorial Day services have been scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday at the Memorial Center, east courthouse yard.

The services are being jointly sponsored by the veterans' organizations of Big Spring.

Conducting the brief memorial service will be Chaplain C. O. Hitt of the Veteran's Administration Hospital. Gold Star Mothers will place a wreath on the war memorial.

Participating groups will include the Disabled American Veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, The World War 1 Barracks, American Legion and Auxiliary, and the Gold Star Mothers.

Memorial Day has been designated for public recognition of the veterans of American wars with a tribute to the soldiers who did not return. The day will be observed also by a general closing of the business establishments.

A special invitation to relatives and friends as well as to the general public is being made to assist in honoring the war heroes of Big Spring.

All Quiet On The East-West Front

A U. S. Army convoy reaches the West Berlin checkpoint of Dreilinden after passing through East Germany territory without incident on the day once set by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as the deadline for western allies to clear out of Berlin. Big Four foreign ministers, currently discussing the German situation at Geneva, were in recess as they attended rites in Washington, D. C., for the late John Foster Dulles.

47 Will Graduate From Junior College Tonight

Howard County Junior College graduates another class of 47 sophomores today.

Presentation of the Associate in Arts degree will climax a dinner affair at 7 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building. Dr. J. W. Reynolds, professor of junior college education at the University of Texas and who is president-elect of the Assn. for Higher Education, will be the speaker.

Parents and friends of the graduating class as well as the members themselves are invited to take part in the affair.

After Dean B. F. Johnson makes the certification, Dr. C. W. Deats, member of the college board, and Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, will present the diplomas.

The invocation will be by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the welcome by Horace Garrett, president of board. Jesse McElreath, president of the student body, will respond. Music will be furnished by Patsy Potter arcompanied by Jack Hendrix, head of the department of music, and Glendene Philley, playing Debussy and Chopin selections. Benediction will be by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Reynolds has been long a friend and close observer of HCJC. Starting out as a high school coach and teacher in Arkansas in 1926, he began his college career as an instructor at Fort Smith Junior College in 1935. Later he served as professor of education at the University of Georgia and George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, and as visiting professor at the University of Chicago. He holds a bachelor's degree from Arkansas State Teachers College, a master of arts degree from State University of Iowa, and the doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

The Assn. for Higher Education, which he will head actively beginning Sept. 1, is the college and university branch of the National Education Assn. and has some 17,000 members in the U. S. and 24 other countries. He also is editor of the Junior College Journal and editor of the Texas Journal of Secondary Education.

Clean-Up Campaign Opens Here Friday

The annual spring house-cleaning opens in Big Spring Friday with Clean-Up Weekend as a prelude to Clean-Up Week, which begins Monday.

Actually, city and Chamber of Commerce leaders, sponsors of the operation, hope residents will complete most of their clean-up work during the weekend.

City trash trucks will start making the rounds Monday to haul away all the rubbish that is placed in customary garbage disposal areas. Officials have issued a special appeal for everyone to have his trash ready for removal when the trucks arrive. There are no plans for second trips to any area.

Along with a general clean-up, Chamber and city officials are stressing the values of a city-wide fix-up and paint-up effort. Repairs will not only improve appearance of the city—they also will add considerably to the value of any property, the campaign sponsors pointed out.

Cliff Fisher, chairman of the Chamber's Civic Development Committee, said virtually every home in the city is receiving a small clean-up, paint-up, fix-up brochure which includes a questionnaire for guidance of residents who participate in the campaign.

A checklist will assure a thorough clean-up, if followed. The brochure also contains schedule the city trash trucks will follow next week, Fisher said.

Five extra trucks will be used to haul off the rubbish, said R. V. Foresyth, city street department superintendent. The schedule calls for completion of the work in one week.

Places where garbage normally is picked up on Mondays and Thursdays will be visited by the special trash trucks next Monday and Tuesday. Areas where garbage collection occurs on Tuesdays and Fridays will be cleaned up next Wednesday and Thursday. Homes and businesses on the regular Wednesday and Saturday garbage routes will have their trash hauled away on Friday and Saturday.

The garbage trucks will continue on their regular schedules throughout the week, Foresyth said.

Senate Quits For Weekend, Delaying Daniel Tax Program

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate turned a second straight cold shoulder today to Gov. Price Daniel's tax program.

After a brief 20-minute session the senators adjourned until Monday without waiting for final House approval of the general tax bill.

The House accepted the governor's tax recommendations 78-65 near midnight after almost 12 hours of record breaking debate yesterday.

Daniel's aides and top supporters were up at daybreak today pushing for the final finishing touches needed to send the big tax bill quickly to the upper house.

Adjournment of the Senate meant that it will not reach the Senate until next week and committee hearings likely will not be slated before Wednesday or Thursday at the earliest.

The Senate Affairs Committee turned a cold shoulder yesterday afternoon to quick action on Daniel's deficit solving plans. One key bill to revise state bookkeeping procedures (HB 5) was detoured to the attorney general. A 10-8 vote blocked any action on a one-year franchise tax raise (HB 2) until the Senate gets the general tax bill.

As adopted by the House the proposed general tax bill calls for 149 million dollars in new revenue in 1960-61. It is designed to fill new money needs in covering the 332 million dollar House-approved spending bill.

"They've done a magnificent job," Daniel beamed after last night's action—the longest debate of the 56th Legislature. "If they give it final approval and send it to the Senate by Friday then senators will have equal time to work on the measure."

Today is the 11th day of the 30-day special session called specifically for taxing and spending.

Principally the tax bill, sponsored by Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, raises 36½ million dollars from a new 5 per cent severance beneficiary tax on natural gas and reduction of the present production tax from 7 to 5 per cent; 24 million by hitting interstate franchise taxes harder; 16 million on higher gross receipts taxes on public utilities; 21 million from a one cent a pack cigarette tax increase; 23½ million from added taxes to other tobacco products; 14 million by increasing the motor vehicle sales tax from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent.

Earlier the House turned back 84-60 the rival tax plan approved by the House Tax Committee. It was much lighter on oil and gas taxes and heavier on sales taxes. How much oil and gas taxes would be raised became the central issue of argument.

"I don't believe the state should be financed by an unfair tax," said Rep. Frates Seeligson, San Antonio, whose general sales tax proposals have never won widespread approval.

Mail Hauling Bid Date Set

Proposals will be received by the post office department until 3 p.m. July 8 for carrying mail from Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Colorado City, Sweetwater, Abilene and Fort Worth to Dallas, Elmer Boatler, postmaster has been informed.

Five trips must be made weekly by the carrier, leaving Odessa at 7:30 p.m. and arriving in Dallas at 4:30 a.m. The distance is 348 miles.

A similar proposal invitation is also posted for Lubbock to Fort Worth, five trips weekly, starting at 7:30 p.m. and terminating in Fort Worth at 3:30 a.m.

The post office is now accepting bids on local mail delivery, Postmaster Elmer Boater, announced today.

Boatler said the delivery is from the post office to the T&P Railway. Persons interested in bidding can contact Boatler at the post office. Bid forms may also be obtained from him.

He said that the bids will be accepted until June 10 on the job.

First Creatures In 'Round Trip'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Two monkeys returned alive today from a space ride in the nose cone of an Army missile.

The Army announced that both monkeys were recovered alive from compartments in the nose cone of a Jupiter missile fired from Cape Canaveral. The rocket had climbed to an altitude of 300 miles and flown at speeds up to 10,000 m.p.h.

The little female monkeys named Able and Baker are the first living creatures the United States has hurled into the farther reaches and brought back alive.

The Russians claim to have brought back two dogs by parachute last August from a ride 281 miles out. And the U.S. Air Force in 1953 recovered two monkeys after firing them some 40 miles high over New Mexico.

The feat represents a major break-through in the U.S. effort to put a man into orbital flight.

Scientists said instruments attached to the monkeys showed they suffered little ill effect from the stresses of blast-off and the weird experience of weightlessness.

Only the bare announcement that the monkeys survived was contained in the initial report received by the Army from a Navy ship which recovered the nose cone. This was near the island of Antigua 92 minutes after the Jupiter was fired.

Technicians explained that the delay was the result of the need to undo a mechanical maze in opening the passenger compartment.

It had been known previously, through radio signals from the nose cone, that the monkeys were alive and well one minute before their landing in the water.

But for the last minute signals failed, an occurrence not at all unusual as a space rocket drops below the horizon.

Only One Test Failed

"Both animals are alive and perfect with no injuries," the Army announced 6½ hours after the launching.

One important scientific check failed because of telemetry difficulties.

Able had been trained in response tests to push a telegraph key at the flash of a red light in her capsule.

The light was set to blink once each second during the flight. Medical scientists said Able became very proficient, in training, at responding.

The scientists especially wanted to know how she responded in the period of weightlessness. That would be important in relation to what might be expected of men released from the gravitational pull of the earth.

Instruments did record and relay information on heartbeat and breathing rate.

The rescue operation was carried out by the fleet tug Kiowa, on watch in the target area with two destroyer escorts, the Snowden and the Brough. The nose cone was reported to have come down within 10 miles of the recovery ship in the selected area 30 to 60 miles north of Antigua Island.

Project directors said poor radio communications with the Kiowa contributed to the delay in word that the monkeys had survived.

The word of the monkeys' condition came in a cable from Maj. Gerald Champlin, a medical officer stationed on the recovery ship.

"Able Baker perfect. No injuries or other difficulties," it said.

Ships Had Message Difficulties

The message was addressed to Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, commanding general of the Army Ordnance Missile Command who helped conduct today's Jupiter shot.

Barclay said the recovery ship had to relay its messages to a nearby destroyer which in turn passed the message to San Juan, Puerto Rico. From San Juan the message was cabled to Cape Canaveral.

The monkeys were hurled aloft at the tip of an Army Jupiter rocket at 2:35 a.m. The nose cone was recovered from the water near Antigua Island at 4:08 a.m. by a Navy ship. Their 10,000 m.p.h. journey into space took 15 minutes.

The report of little ill effects from the experience was given by Dr. Aston Gabriel, director of research at the Naval School of Medicine at Pensacola, Fla.

He said Able, a 7-pound rhesus monkey, showed only a little variation from normal in heartbeat and respiration. Able was chosen for the test because she was a primate of high enough order to provide data applicable to man.

Baker, a 1-pound squirrel monkey, showed only a slight increase in heartbeat.

The Navy ships and aircraft worked with the Army and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in conducting the experiment.

The recovery technique had been used successfully in three out of four previous missile launchings by the Army.

The ships and planes were waiting in the impact area before the Jupiter roared up from Cape Canaveral.

Rocket Of Space Probe Type

The recovery equipment included a large colored balloon, covered chemicals for marking the water, signal lights and a radio transmitter to help the waiting ships "home in" on the floating cone.

Shark repellant was released to protect Navy "frogmen" who dove into the ocean to secure lines for lifting the cone suspended beneath the balloon.

The Jupiter missile used in the experiment was the same type which the Army had used in two deep space probes launched for NASA. One of the two probes—Pioneer IV — became the first American satellite to orbit the sun after its launching on March 3.

The five-foot orange and blue balloon from which the nose cone was suspended was inflated by air bottles inside the nose cone.

The tug carried special equipment designed by Army scientists for the recovery operation.

Able, a seven-pound rhesus monkey, punched a telegraph key in a behavior test as the missile roared aloft in a burst of fire and thunder. Baker, a one-pound squirrel monkey, was heavily instrumented with electronic circuits to record the effects of space travel on body functions.

THEY WEREN'T ALONE

The space travelers were not alone in the huge nose cone as they started the 10,000-mile-an-hour flight.

Several small samples of animal and vegetable matter were aboard to provide a further reaction to radiation and weightlessness.

Included in the radiation study were specimens of yeast, corn, mustard seed, fruit fly larvae and human blood.

The eggs and sperm of several sea urchins were included in the experiment to evaluate the effects of acceleration, deceleration, radiation and weightlessness on the egg fertilization process. A similar test was conducted with a mold spore.

The monkey flight was vitally important to the seven men picked to be the first U.S. space travelers. Within two years, one of these is expected to follow the path into space pioneered today by Able and Baker.

The monkeys were expected to be in a free, or weightless, state for about 9 minutes during the 15-minute flight. It was during this period that scientists hoped to learn much about the weightless problem, expected to be a major headache for future spacemen.

Rough Sea

Bobbing like a cork, the Italian-owned "Black Beetle" offshore drilling platform rides out a rough sea during the 7,000-mile towage from Vicksburg, Miss., to its present drilling location off the coast of Sicily. At times the rig encountered waves up to 75-feet high, but its rugged stability kept it afloat and it suffered no damage. The $1,000,000 platform was designed and built for the Italian government by L. G. LeTourneau, Inc., of Longview.

Hundreds Watch As Dulles Is Buried

WASHINGTON (AP)—The body of John Foster Dulles was laid in its final resting place Wednesday in a massive official ceremony seldom matched in the history of this country.

Hundreds of U.S. officials and many from abroad watched as Dulles' casket was committed to a simple grave on a hillock in quiet Arlington National Cemetery.

A 2½-hour ritual was climaxed by a 19-gun salute, three rifle volleys, and the sounding of taps by a lone bugler. Dry-eyed and composed, Mrs. Dulles received the flag which had covered the casket during the funeral.

Then President and Mrs. Eisenhower once again expressed condolences to Mrs. Dulles, whose husband died of cancer Sunday after six years as secretary of state.

Today the galaxy of foreign leaders — including some who fought Dulles during his long diplomatic career—prepared to go their separate ways.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Britain's Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, scheduled a meeting with Eisenhower before returning to their Geneva conference temporarily recessed for the funeral.

Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, diplomatic representatives from 86 countries, and Washington's elite from the administration, Congress and the Supreme Court joined in the elaborate proceedings which started in the National Cathedral and moved to the cemetery in a 100-limousine cortege.

The cathedral—a huge, Gothic church atop a Washington high point—was filled with nearly 3,000 mourners for the Presbyterian funeral service led by the Rev. Dr. Russell P. Barnes, Secretary of the World Council of Churches. Dulles had been a Presbyterian lay leader.

At Mrs. Dulles' request there was no sermon and no eulogy.

At the cemetery gate there was another solemn service. While the procession waited, an Army band played "God of Our Fathers" and six servicemen moved the casket from the motor hearse to a black caisson drawn by six gray horses.

Led now by companies of servicemen on foot, the cortege moved at slow pace through the cemetery's winding roads.

At the grave site—on a hillside partly shaded by a yellow poplar tree—hundreds more gathered to witness the final military rites. Dulles was a major in World War I.

Members of Dulles' family and a few others, including President and Mrs. Eisenhower and Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon sat under a canopy by the grave. Others remained standing to the rear, sweltering under an 80-degree May sun.

Earth's Bulge May Be A Bit Bigger

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—New evidence from the Vanguard I satellite indicates a bulge around the earth's equator may be about 500 feet thicker than had been believed.

Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Vanguard project, reported this today. He said the finding may necessitate revisions in one of the major theories dealing with the earth's internal structure.

Before the new information, to measure about 13 miles.

Hagen said the new data should not be confused with a previously announced geodetic finding made possible by Vanguard — that the earth more closely resembles a pear in shape, rather than a sphere.

Hagen, now associated with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told about the bulge in an interview expanding on a brief reference he made to it Wednesday in a talk to the National Missile Industry Conference.

The new evidence about the bulge, he said, comes from observations of slight variations in Vanguard's orbit. Indicating that these variations are due to changes in the earth's gravitational pull at various points — especially at the equatorial bulge—Hagen said Vanguard had thus produced the first very satisfactory measurements of these variations.

He said old theories on the bulge are based on the "hydrostatic equilibrium" concept of the earth. This concept holds that the earth's core is molten and is surrounded by a flexible mantle hundreds of miles thick. The spin of the earth, according to this theory, causes the mantle to push upward the surface layers of the earth's crust as the earth spins.

But Hagen said the equatorial fatness indicated by Vanguard is considerably more than could be accounted for by the old concept.

Although there is no agreement, among experts, Hagen said a more plausible explanation is that such a bulge developed eons ago from the earth's spin, and that the mantle since has hardened and held the bulging shape.

Missing Family Is Back Home, Town's Happy

SILVER LAKE, Minn. (AP)—Earl Zrust, whose yearning to get away from it all set off a nationwide search, is back home and ready to get back in business.

"I started 12 years ago with nothing, and I guess I'm going to have to start from scratch again," he said.

Zrust, 30, disappeared with his wife and five children last December and was missing until three weeks ago when he was located working as a bricklayer in Reno, Nev.

He said he hopes to start several masonry projects next week in the area, but won't get back into the homebuilding business he left abruptly five months ago.

Since his return to his hometown, Zrust has been busy with his attorney trying to straighten out the financial tangle that resulted from his unannounced departure.

"While his disappearance caused a lot of anxiety and some inconvenience, it didn't really hurt anyone," said Joe Geylen, feed mill operator and mayor of this town of 600.

"Some of the folks here are a little hesitant to break the ice with Earl, but after they start talking with him, he's just the same as always," Geylen said.

The four houses Zrust had under construction when he left were completed by a local lumberyard. One of them was being built for Geylen.

Zrust hasn't mingled much with his old friends since his return, but his family apparently has picked up most of the loose ends. They were in church last Sunday and were at a school picnic a few days after they got home.

Zrust said he left because the pressure of the construction business was "making me nervous." He said working for someone else, as he did in Reno, had its advantages. "But you don't have the freedom you do when you're working for yourself. Now I'm getting anxious to get back to work."

Presbyterians Give Birth Control Okay

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— United Presbyterians have joined a succession of other Protestant churches in giving official sanction to birth control.

"The proper use of medically approved contraceptives may contribute to the spiritual, emotional and economic welfare of the family," says a resolution of the denomination's 171st general assembly.

The subject has long been a surce of keen friction between Protestants and Roman Catholics, who strongly oppose any artificial means of birth control.

In recent years several Protestant bodies, including the Methodist, Congregational Christian, United Lutheran, Augustana Lutheran and Unitarian Churches, have endorsed it.

The 3-million-member Presbyterian church, in the closing session Wednesday of its eight-day assembly, adopted a statement saying Christian marriage involves "both companionship and parenthood." It added:

"The sexual life within this relationship is given by God for the benefit of his children" and is not "an evil which needs to be justified by something else, as for example, by the procreation of children."

The church urged repeal of laws banning distribution of birth control information, such as those in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

In other actions on its final day, the assembly:

Urged abolition of capital punishment.

Hit at laws restricting groups promoting racial integration.

Protested federal grants to activities maintaining segregation.

Condemned laws either banning or requiring union shop agreements, under which workers must join a union. Eighteen states bar such contracts by so-called "right-to-work" statues.

Urged steps, including legislation, to prevent segregated housing.

Launched a program to curb alcoholism, and recommended "voluntary abstinence" from liquor.

Commended the National Council of Churches for its courage in facing issues by calling the world order study conference in Cleveland last fall, which advocated governmental recognition of Red China.

Described the Red China issue itself as having arguments on both sides, but expressed hope that the day soon will come when normal relations with China may be honorably established.

Tense conflict arose over confirmation of the Rev. Theodore A. Gill as president of San Francisco Theological Seminary. Despite charges that he questioned Christ's virgin birth, he was overwhelmingly approved.

The 975 delegates decided to meet in Cleveland next year.

Japanese Bridal Gown

Looking much better fed than most American models is this dainty Japanese girl who wears a bridal gown shown in one of the magazines of Japan. Lettering at the top of the picture gives a description of the dress. At left is a back view of the gown with its wide obi culminating in a huge bow. Wedding ensembles are being featured throughout the small country by shops and magazines since it is considered especially lucky to be married this year, due to the wedding of the emperor. The picture was furnished by Mrs. L. R. Georgen, 803 West 14th, who received it from a young friend in Japan, where Capt. Georgen was stationed for about a year and a half as an instructor in the Air Force.

Bridal Attire Featured In Japan's Shops Due To Emperor's Marriage

Lucky the young Japanese couples who are married this year, since it is the year that their emperor took a bride. Even luckier are the ones who were married on the very day that the royal nuptials took place.

Capt. and Mrs. L. R. Georgen, 803 West 14th, who were in Japan for about a year and a half, have recently received an account of the wedding, as told by a young Japanese friend. She wrote, "I go to see the wedding and such a beautiful marriage my eyes can never see."

Due to the Emperor's wedding, the shops in Japan are featuring wedding attire and the accompanying frocks for attendants or for wearing to social affairs, according to Mrs. Georgen.

Part of the bridal ensemble is a white hat which is worn atop a large wig which the bride dons on her wedding morning.

The hat, high-crowned, comes over the eyes to serve two purposes. It will prevent the bride from seeing any action of the bridegroom which might cause her jealousy; or it will perhaps hide the expression of jealousy in her eyes in case there should be such a look.

On the day of the nuptials, the bride arises early and begins to prepare for the ceremony. The wig, which each bride wears, is large, high and heavy, weighing about 10 pounds.

Among the wedding gifts, there is always to be found a bit of rice presented in some way; this is to insure that there is an abundance of the good things in the life of the couple.

A pine bough presented among the gifts brings a wish for good health and long life; saki denotes a wish for happiness.

Following the wedding ritual, the bride sips saki and passes it to the bridegroom; this is done three times and includes the male guests, each of whom takes a sip. The women never partake of the drink.

A mark of the good wedding guest is that he imbibes so much saki that he lies down on the floor and goes to sleep. That is an indication that he is enjoying the celebration, Mrs. Georgen explained.

Marriages are arranged in Japan on the basis of name or money, and may be set up by the family of the bride or the bridegroom, according to who is more powerful in either line.

If the bride's family name is older or more powerful, or if the group is wealthier than the bridegroom's family, it is the usual thing for him to take the bride's name and relinquish his title.

Parties For Lamesa Girl Continue

LAMESA (Spl) — Continuing the series of parties for Kathaleen Henderson, a luncheon Saturday and a tea Monday have been given.

Miss Henderson and Norman Brown are to marry this weekend.

Hostesses for the luncheon held Saturday in the Robert Koger home were Mrs. Koger, Mrs. Harold Caldwell, Mrs. R. C. Lott and Mrs. J. P. Senter of Lubbock.

Places were laid for about 14. Gift of the hostesses was an electric roaster.

MONDAY TEA

Following the regular luncheon meeting of the WMU of First Baptist Church Monday, a gift tea was held in the church parlor to compliment Miss Henderson.

The refreshment table was covered with an imported linen and lace cloth, and a green glass chalice held white fern and phlox to accent the wedding colors of green and white.

Othell McGee and Sue Lynch presided at the punch bowl, and 46 guests were registered by Kay Meares.

Mrs. W. J. Beckham played piano selections during the tea hour.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Good Self-Expression Makes Up For Beauty

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — "When you aren't beautiful and live in a community where beauty ranks first, you have to build compensatory values," Lia Waggner told me.

"It was horrible at first," she confessed. "My agent took me on interviews and I suffered while they picked my face apart. I know they didn't mean to be cruel. They were thinking in terms of the camera, but it had an awful effect on me."

"So often in a family of beauties one plain child will be miserable because of irregular features. Actually she may have more to offer than any of the others," I remarked.

"You have to discover these things for yourself," Lia agreed, as we chatted on the "Trackdown" set at CBS-TV. "I admitted that I wanted no part of the glamour race, and fortunately by being myself I have worked quite a bit on the stage and in TV."

Lia is married to actor William Schallert and has three sons.

"What attracted your husband to you?" I asked.

"Naturalness," Lia replied. "He said he liked me because I had no pretenses. And getting the man I wanted gave me more confidence. I know now that it is the over-all impression that counts in the long run.

"If you don't have the gift of beauty, compensate for it. Put your attention on your education or on learning to express yourself so that what you have to say is interesting.

"I discipline myself about keeping a good figure. I would love to eat the hot cereal I prepare for the children — but all that cream and sugar!" Lia laughed.

"I was fat once, but never again. It started when I was in England with my husband, who had won a fellowship. I wasn't granted a work permit, and so I had very little to occupy my time except eating — and I started to gain. When we came back to America everyone seemed to have forgotten us. For a while we lived on a very tight budget. I became a compulsive eater and got heavier and heavier."

"How did you become slim again?" I asked.

"I made up my mind to lose weight and I did. I ate a broiled hamburger, a glass of skim milk, an orange and raw carrots three times a day," Lia said quickly. "And I lost three pounds a week. It's an inexpensive diet and a healthy one."

Personality Counts

Lila Waggner feels that if you are not beautiful you should develop your personality and interests. "It's the over-all impression that counts," she says. She is seen frequently on CBS-TV's "Trackdown" and other series.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

MR. AND MRS. BILL MCREE left today to go to Portales, N. M., where they will see their daughter, Sharon (Mrs. Bill Cregar) receive her degree from Eastern New Mexico University.

* * *

Here for a brief visit Tuesday was MRS. ERNEST BUCKLEY and daughter, BETTY LYNN, of Fort Worth. Mrs. Buckley is the former Betty Bob (Bebo) Diltz. A former Herald staff member, she still keeps her finger in the pie by working part-time at the Fort Worth Press. Mr. Buckley, who trained at the old Big Spring Bombardier School here during World War II, is a consulting engineer in Fort Worth and teaches two evening classes at TCU. He has authored a book on practical hints for homebuilders, and it is due off the press soon.

* * *

A further report on the J. E. Hogans, who are touring Europe and who may be homeward bound within a week or two. Dixie writes from Garmish, the Bavarian winter-summer resort concerning their journeys:

"We spent some time in the old part of Rome and saw the impressive remains of the Colosseum which was finished in 80 A. D. It has been used for gladiatorial combat, a fortress, for passion plays and a quarry. . .We rode about half a mile on the Appian Way, the Roman road built in 312 B. C., and walked through about five blocks of the Catacombs. About 19 miles of the tunnels have now been explored and lighted, and some areas are three stories deep where early Christians lived.

We visited the Church of the Holy Steps and saw people crawling up them and praying. These are the stairs Jesus climbed when tried by Pontius Pilate; they later were moved to Rome.

The Trevi fountain is tremendous in size and beautiful. We tossed coins over our left shoulder. . .the legend is that this insures your return. This is the place that inspired the film, "Three Coins in a Fountain."

At the Vatican City the Sistene Chapel is indescribably beautiful with paintings on its walls and ceiling; the Vatical library is enormous and superlative; St. Peter's Cathedral is reason enough to include Rome on one's tour.

"We enjoyed Venice, including the singing of the Italian gondaliers as they glided into a huge circle in the main canal at 10 p.m. Venice was unusual, but we prefer solid sidewalks. Of course we bought some Venetian glass. In Florence we saw the huge bronze doors designed by Michaelangelo and described as lovely as "the doors of paradise." They were copied for the Browning Library at Baylor University in Waco.

"Our hotel here in Garmish is at the foot of Zugspitze, highest of the German Alps and also near Eibsee Lake. Although we can see tremendous amounts of snow on three sides of our valley, we are comfortable in summer cottons.

"American armed forces have leased five hotels for recreation of service personnel here. Our first morning at breakfast, someone asked Johnny: "Aren't you Dr. Hogan?" It was Connie Cushing Reque, sister of Mrs. Hubert Stipp. She and her husband, Col. Reque, were here on leave from near Verdun, France. We couldn't have managed plans like this coincidence. . .It was the last day of their vacation. They asked to send greetings to Big Spring.

"We also visited with Lt. and Mrs. Klaus Lehnert in Tutzing, about 40 miles from Garmish. We knew them when they were stationed at Webb. We love this warm weather and have decided to extend our stay here before going to the Swiss Alps."

Families Honor Engaged Couple

A family party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sandridge Wednesday evening was a compliment for Lynda Sneed and Don Cannon, who are to be married on June 6.

Miss Sneed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sneed, Sterling City Route, is the niece of the Sandridges. Mrs. Minnie Cannon, 206 East 18th, is the mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Gifts for the kitchen were presented to the couple from the group, which also included Mrs. Cannon's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Massey.

The backyard supper was served buffet style, with guests seated at small tables.

* * *

Miss Sneed was the honoree recently at another bridal party when 13 hostesses entertained at tea in the home of Mrs. A. F. Gilliland.

About 30 attended the affair, which featured the bride's colors, pink and white, in the garden flowers used in the decorations.

Miss Cross To Receive BS Degree

Shirley Cross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Cross, Vincent Route, Coahoma, will graduate on Sunday from Texas Woman's University in Denton with a BS degree in nursing.

Miss Cross has participated in the South Plains-Panhandle Club, Nursing Club, Ballroom Dance Club, Dormitory Chorus, The Nightingales, and has served as a fire warden. She has been a nominee for class officer the past two years, and she also participated in the Sports Show.

On the B-Average List both her junior and senior years, this year she was a runner-up for Redbud Princess. She has served as social chairman of Kappa Epsilon Mu, national chemistry fraternity and this year she has represented her class on the House and Uniform Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross and their daugher, Carolyn, will be in Denton to attend the graduation exercises. Also another sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gross, plan to attend the ceremonies.

Miss Cross is a 1955 graduate of Big Spring High School.

Gardeners To Assist At VA Hospital

Volunteers were asked for at a meeting of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. Gerald Cockrell.

Work will be done in garden therapy at the VA Hospital by those volunteering, it was explained to the group.

Date for the Fall Flower show was set for the first week in November; the staging will be done by the Spaders and the Planters Garden Clubs.

It was announced that the clean-up leaflets had been distributed by members of the various clubs.

Eleven were present for the meeting. Mrs. Travis Carlton, 1701 Harvard, will be hostess for the club at the June 25 session.

Recital Slated By Rainwater Pupils

Mrs. Champ Rainwater is presenting a group of her pupils in piano recital at 7:30 this evening at her home, 716 Hillside.

Included in the performers are Pam Lurting, Claudia Henden, Max Tarbox, Jennabeth Clinkscales, Annelle Fitzhugh, Mary Louise Boren, Jackie Crawford. Also, Dickie Hatch, Elaine Langley, Janet Jones, Cheryl Kasch, Sandra Crawford, Melissa Percy, Gene Ann Peacock and Terry Cauble.

Another recital is planned for Tuesday in the Rainwater home.

Dinner Is Given For Bride-Elect

An informal dinner, given Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. J. C. Pickle, was a compliment for Harriett Arnett, who is to be married June 6 to Roger Cook.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Arnett, 407 Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Cook, Harrold.

A pink and white theme was accented with the flower arrangements used in the entertaining rooms and in the lilies and pink carnations which decorated the dinner table.

Rich In Calcium

An 8-ounce glass of whole milk contains as much calcium as about seven pounds of potatoes or a pound of carrots. Thus the recommended allowance of at least three glasses of milk per day makes good health sense.

Miss Groebl Honoree At Luncheon

A surprise luncheon today at noon was given for Mozelle Groebl, when her mother, Mrs. Ted O. Groebl, and her aunt, Mrs. Norman Rea, entertained a small group of friends.

The occasion was the graduation of Miss Groebl from Goliad Junior High School.

School colors of black and white were featured in appointments. A black container in the shape of a mortar board held an arrangement of white gladioli, and places were marked by packages of suntan cream.

Included in the guest list were Winnie Greenlees, Linda McNew, Pat Armstrong, Karon Koger, Joan Jordan, Katie Bess Morgan and Telie Grooms.

Roberts Back In A Slump; Milwaukee Retains Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

After the opening game this looked like it might be the year Robin Roberts completed his comeback, but now it's already a long, long season for Philadelphia's right-handed veteran.

Roberts was The Associated Press comeback-of-the-year choice in the National League last season when he won 17 games for the last place Phillies. When he beat Cincinnati's Don Newcombe 2-1 opening day after a five-inning no-hit duel, there were thoughts of the old Roberts, who had been a 20-game winner for six consecutive seasons before becoming the NL's biggest loser in 1956 and 1957.

Now he's 2-4, clobbered once more by the home run ball as he lost his third in a row Wednesday night at Cincinnati 10-4. The club he had held hitless for five innings on opening day chased him within four innings with eight hits, three of them homers, and six runs.

That victory hoisted the Reds into a fifth place tie with the Chicago Cubs, beaten 4-1 at Los Angeles. First place Milwaukee retained a three-game lead by beating Pittsburgh 4-3 after San Francisco's second place Giants peppered St. Louis 9-4 in an afternoon game.

Vada Pinson, Frank Robinson and Ed Bailey hit the homers off Roberts. Robinson added another, his 11th, off reliever Fernando Rodriguez.

Bob Purkey, who had lost three straight, was the winner for a 5-5 record.

The Pirates finally ended their shutout slump at 21 innings with three unearned runs off winner Warren Spahn (6-5) with two out in the ninth.

Reliever Don McMahon came on for the final out, fanning Dick Schofield, in Spahn's 252nd victory. Ed Mathews 15th homer gave the Braves a 3-0 lead in the fifth against loser Vern Law (4-2).

A pinch single by Duke Snider, the Dodgers' one-time power guy who is 5-for-10 as a pinch-hitter this season, scored the winner for Los Angeles in a two-run fourth against loser Glen Hobbie (5-4). Don Drysdale (5-4) won it with an 11-strikeout five-hitter, losing a shutout when Ernie Banks hit his 11th home run in the sixth.

Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays and Andre Rodgers homered for the Giants as Johnny Antonelli won his sixth with Al Worthington's two-hit, shutout relief over the last four innings. Stan Musial and Lee Tate homered for the Cards. Gary Blaylock (2-2) lost it.

Mainstays For Cosden Team

Pictured above are three boys who are helping keep Cosden in contention for first place in the Texas Little League here. They are, left to right, Tony Saracho, a catcher; Paul Thomas, pitcher; and Gary Gressett, shortstop. Gessett was a member of the City All-Star team last year. As a pitcher, Thomas won seven games against no losses in 1958.

Good Things Came Late In Life For Hyndman

By STERLING SLAPPEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SANDWICH, England (AP)—The good things in golf have come late in athletic life to William Hyndman III.

At 43, he's a symbol for three million American duffers of what can happen if you don't give up hope and keep on hitting the ball.

With a little luck, some nerve, practice and money, maybe they can match the Hyndman story and in four years spring from obscurity and midiocrity into an international star.

"Until 1955 I never left Philadelphia," said Hyndman. "Now look at me—Sandwich, England, and the British Amateur Championship and two weeks ago Muirfield, Scotland, and the Walker Cup Matches.

"It took me 43 years to do it while it takes some of the kids only 19 or 20. But the wait has been worth it.

"Before I got here, I had to correct my golfing swing, change my grip, practice for thousands of hours, take beatings from kids a lot younger than I am and branch out from Philadelphia.

"Until 1955 I was too busy and I had to work too hard to leave Philadelphia. About that time my insurance agency began going good. That provided me with enough money to move about."

Hyndman got his first scent of fame in 1955 when he was a finalist in the U. S. National Amateur. The next year he was finalist in the North and South. In 1957 he was on the Walker Cup team and 12th in the National Open.

Last October he was on the U. S. team at the World Championships at St. Andrews and his final round of 71 put the Americans into a playoff with the Australians which the Australians finally won.

This year he was 8th in the Masters.

"But you know what? I still never won a single title outside of Philadelphia—not yet. But I am still trying."

Midland Humbles Carlsbad, 18-14

By The Associated Press

Plainview and Odessa couldn't play because of threatening weather in the Sophomore League Wednesday night but they weren't missed. The other six clubs got enough runs to keep the scorers working overtime anyway.

Three games produced 61 with the Midland-Carlsbad engagement doing most of it. Midland pushed over 11 runs in the first inning and went on to an 18-14 triumph.

Strangely Carlsbad outhit Midland, which had a moderate nine safeties to 14, but Potasher pitchers walked 10 and five of the Midland blows were extra-base jolts.

Carlsbad catcher Randy Booth was struck by a pitch and suffered a head injury and Manager Walt Dixon of the Potashers was thumbed out for objecting too strenuously to an umpire's decision. Booth will be out for four weeks or more.

Alpine whipped Artesia 15-3 to stay on top by three games in the South division. The Cowboys blasted seven runs across in the second and it was hardly a contest after that.

Officers Named By Bowling Loop

Officers have been selected in the Housewives Bowling league for the 1959-60 season.

Annette Campbell will take office as president while Frances Barber will serve as vice president, Wanda Warren as secretary-treasurer, Pena Elsberry as sergeant-at-arms and Edna Varnadore as reporter.

In final action Wednesday morning, Caprock blanked Zale's, 4-0; Truman Jones Motor won over Tom's, 4-0; and Warren's Clinic turned back Wasson and Trantham, 4-0.

Martha Coffee of Caprock had a 178 game high and Faye Brophy of Zale's a 462 series.

Ernestine Shroeder of Tom's toppled the only split, hitting the 3-10.

Standings:

Team	W	L

Prager's Team Is Tops In League

Prager's Men Store won the Merchants bowling league this season by picking off two of three games in the final week against B&P Distributors.

Alexander's Jewelry dropped a best of three count to Tom Conway and was one of three teams a half-game away from the title.

Snider's Gulf tripped Wilson Bros., 2-1, and Toby's pummeled Donald's, 2-1.

Snider's had high team game of 929 and high team series of 2574. W. E. Blanchard of Snider's rang up a 248 single game, followed closely by Keith Henderson, 246.

Ralph Wilson for Wilson Brothers collected a 580 high single series; Henderson had 575.

Wilson Brothers advanced in a playoff for the next second-third-fourth positions, 2-0, over B&P. But Wilson lost a similar verdict then to Alexander's Jewelry for second place.

Presentation of trophies will be in the Settles Hotel, June 3 at 8 p.m. New officers for the coming year are Virgil Long, president, Wade Bledsoe, vice president, and Earl Minton, secretary-treasurer.

Standings:

Team	W	L
Prager's	87½	47½

Charles Coe Sure Of U.S. Finalist

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Five Americans went into the fifth round of the British Amateur Golf Championship today with the expects forecasting that at least one of them will make the final.

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, captain of the American Walker Cup team, made the flat prediction:

"I am sure one of our boys will be shooting for the title Saturday."

Dodgers Rout Brave Nine, 23-3, In National Loop

The Dodgers bashed the Braves, 23-2, here last night in a National Little League baseball rout.

The Red Sox smothered the Red Caps, 23-13, in a closer game in the minor league.

Van Tom Whatley was winning pitcher and Paul Solden was tagged with the loss. The Dodgers had an abundance of extra-base hits. Allen Clanton, Pat Nelson, Ronnie Smith, Mike Deel and Whatley each slugged a double.

Larry Alexander smacked two homers for the Dodgers.

Wayne Bogen was the Braves best representative, clouting three two-basers.

Tigers To Oppose Dusters Sunday

The Big Spring Tigers and Webb AFB's Dusters clash here Sunday afternoon in perhaps the biggest baseball doubleheader of the season. Scene of action will be Steer Stadium.

Half of the proceeds from the gate will go the the Catholic Church, it has been announced.

The first game gets under way at 1:30 p.m.

The Tigers will be after their seventh straight victory. They have yet to suffer defeat this season.

Derby Open Field Poised To Begin

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The $20,000 Kentucky Derby Open begins today on soggy Seneca Golf Club course with a field of 87 top touring professionals and 13 amateurs entered. Leading contenders included Bruce Crampton of Synney, Australia; Bob Goalby, Billy Casper Jr., Jack Fleck, Don Fairfield, Don Bisplinghoff, Dave Ragan, Mike Dietz, Fred Hawkins, Chandler Harper, Bill Collins and Art Wall Jr.

Bowdry Takes New Role In Fight Ranks

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — A 22-year-old slasher from St. Louis, Jesse Bowdry, has vaulted into top contention for venerable Archie Moore's world light heavyweight title.

Bowdry took apart the erstwhile No. 1 light heavyweight contender, Tony Anthony, for a unanimous decision in a nationally televised 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

In a brutal but one-sided battle, Bowdry gave a tremendous boost to his No. 7 ranking by belting Anthony, a three to one favorite, all over the ring.

"We want the winner of the Moore-Yvon Durelle title fight in Montreal July 15," clamored Bowdry's co-manager, Eddie Yawitz.

On the other hand, Truman Gibson, president of National Boxing Enterprises, said his group would like to match Bowdry against Harold Johnson in Chicago Stadium July 29.

Johnson is rated No. 2 by the NBA, but No. 1 contender by Ring magazine which ranked Anthony No. 2 before the fight Wednesday night.

Whether or not it was reflected in the television cameras, this was one of the most vicious fights in the Chicago Stadium in a long while. Both battlers tore after each other with brutal intent to the delight of the 1,008 fans.

Bowdry proved to have far more guns than Anthony, whose reputed boxing skill and punching power had to be shelved in defensive maneuvering.

This was the seventh defeat for Anthony, of New York, in 46 matches. For Bowdry it was his 27th victory against three defeats, all by Chicago's Sonny Ray.

Bowdry got a 48-39 vote from Referee Faank Sikora; a 50-41 call from Judge Bill Doty and a 48-41 ballot from Judge Howard Walsh. The AP had Bowdry winning, 50-40.

Bowdry weighed 175 pounds against Anthony's 177. The net gate was $807.21.

Industrial League Opens On June 2

Play in the YMCA Industrial Softball league gets under way Tuesday, June 2, and continues through Tuesday, July 21.

Eight teams are entered into competition. They represent Foremost Dairies, Tidwell Chevrolet, Southern Life Insurance Company, Montgomery Ward, Aces Auto Club, Tarbox-Gossett Motor Company, Newsom's and Coca-Cola.

Teams will not be allowed to carry more than 18 players on their rosters. These rosters must be in the YMCA office before the teams play their first games.

The umpire-in-chief, who will be employed by the Y, will serve as commissioner of the league.

The top four teams in the standings will engage in a Shaughnessy playoff to determine the overall titlist at the conclusion of regular play. Champion and runnerup will receive a trophy at the end of the campaign.

The managers and the league umpire will vote on an all-star team immediately prior to the end of play. A YMCA sportsmanship trophy will also be awarded.

Embry To Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Pete Embry, All-Southwest Conference catcher from the University of Texas, yesterday signed a contract with the Chicago Cubs.

Jets Rap Cubs, 15 To 4, In American Li'l Loop

Baxter Moore pitched all the way, giving up only three hits here last night, as the Jets clobbered the Cubs, 15-4, in the American Little League.

It was the Jets' seventh victory against no defeats. The Cubs were getting their sixth defeat in seven outings.

Moore gave up one extra-base hit a double by Cub Bruce Bellamy, and two singles. He outshone all hitters by blasting a single, double, triple and a home run in the top of the fourth with two men aboard base.

The Jets led, 2-0, after the first inning and 6-3 after three-innings in going to the win.

The Cubs tangle with Cabot tonight, hoping to bring the second-ranked club down a notch. Cabot has a 5-2 mark.

Chapman, Casey Lead Pin Topplers

The Under 40 bowling league, which operates during the summer, opened play this week with eight teams participating.

Team Two stopped Team One, 3-1, and the Threes defeated Team Four, 2-1. Team Six booted Team Five, 2-1, while the Sevens gave away a 2-1 verdict to Team Eight.

J. O. Chapman, Team Five, issued a 237 game and 538 high single series, and for the women, LaVern Casey had 164-426 for Team Six.

Team Eight was high contingent with 574-1648.

Splits were converted by Elton Carlisle (3) 3-10; John Yates (2) 5-7-9; Sonya Lusk (2) 7-6-10; Weldon Tibbs (1) 5-7-9; Gerald Harris (5) 2-7; Helen Chapman (5) 5-6; and Ray Thomas (8) 5-6.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When Big Spring's Bill Thompson returned from a visit to the Rice Institute campus last weekend, he had awaiting him a letter from Metz LaFollette, the new head basketball coach at West Texas State, wanting to know why Bill hadn't signified his intentions to attend the Canyon school. The Houston visit sold him on the school there.

There was a time whe Bill was thinking about studying engineering in college. Now, it's likely he'll concentrate on a career in the business world.

Thompson didn't get to see Johnnie Frankie, Rice's new head cage mentor, in Houston. Don Suman, the retiring coach, escorted Bill around the campus and gave him the letter-of-intent he brought back with him.

Frankie was in St. Louis, trying to talk a 6-feet-9 athlete into enrolling at his school.

The eyes of all the racing world will be on Ruidoso Downs Labor Day, at which time the $100,000 Futurity will be run. It'll be the richest purse ever offered anywhere in a quarterhorse race.

There will be many other stake races at Ruidoso through the season, however.

The quarterhorses can enter such events as the $30,000 Quarterhorse Derby, the $30,000 Ruidoso Quarterhorse Futurity, the $10,000 Wonder Lad Stakes, the $5,000 Quarterhorse Championship Handicap and the $4,000 Quality Oil Company Purse.

The thoroughbreds will be going in such events as the $30,000 Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, the $8,000 Ruidoso Mile, the $8,000 Governor's Handicap, the $5,000 Thoroughbred Endurance, the $5,000 Thoroughbred Derby, the $4,000 New Mexican and the $3,000 West Texas Handicap.

That's $242,000 in just 13 races, more than the track used to pay out all season long.

Gil Dodds, who built a reputation as a top miler back in the late '40's, quit recently as track coach at Wheaton College in Illinois.

He'll become guidance and counseling instructor at Naperville High School in that state.

His Wheaton teams won 12 College Conference of Illinois titles in his 13-year tenure.

Preston (Pidge) Daniels, the former Big Spring High School infielder, has designs on attending a baseball tryout camp somewhere in Texas this summer and perhaps trying his luck with the professionals.

He says his throwing arm, which gave him some trouble in high school, is now in top working order.

Houston of the American Association has drawn in excess of 50,000 customers at home, more than the combined gate of the other two Texas entries in that circuit—Dallas and Fort Worth.

Bill Meek, the SMU football mentor, insists TCU has to be rated at the top of this year's Southwest Conference race.

Meek, however, says he'll have the best club he's ever had at the Dallas school, if all his players return and are physically able to play.

Plainview and San Angelo are still hurting at the gate in the Sophomore league and efforts, no doubt, will be made to move both clubs if the fans don't warm up to them.

Roswell reportedly is in line to get one of the teams. Big Spring could, conceivably, get the other if it had a decent park.

Alpine, the division leader, played in Plainview last Saturday night and only 104 paying customers went through the gate.

Inaugural 'Cap Appears To Be Wide Open Event

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC)—The Inaugural Handicap, a 5½ furlong dash will highlight the opening card of 12 thoroughbred and quarter horse races at Ruidoso Downs Friday.

This event seems to be a wide open race with the favorite being hard to tab. Little Timid, owner-trained by M. I. Cannon of Amarillo, was fortunate in the draw for post positions, has a world of speed and may be hard to catch.

Berto Barbone, representing the Circle K Stables of Albuquerque, has been showing speed with the best three-year-olds in California, can handle this track and was a winner here last year. Powder Monkey, belonging to the Middle Ranch from the West Coast, is a steady running sort, but was unfortunate in the draw — got the number nine post position and this may prove hard to overcome.

Hickory Red ran well at Sportsman's Park, Chicago, Ill.; Ahba's Bull must always be conceded a chance. Gallant Time, Late Evening, No Gal, and Fleet Sis have been training in splendid fashion.

A new form of wagering, familiar to all horse players, is being introduced at the "Downs" this meet—the "Quiniela"—in the last race.

Coaches Named At Sterling

STERLING CITY (SC)—Darrel Flynt and J. R. Dillard will handle the coaching situations here next year, the school superintendent announced today.

Supt. Jones said that Dillard will handle high school football and other sports on the junior high level. Flynt will handle junior high football and other sports in the senior high, both boys' and girls' sports.

Mrs. Margaret Crook will teach the subjects that were formerly handled by W. L. (Diddle) Young. Young has resigned from the Sterling coaching job.

Flynt attended the public schools in Big Spring and at one time served one of the Big Spring churches as its minister. Prior to moving to Sterling City, he was associated with the Garden City schools.

T Birds Decision Comets, 6 To 3

In the International Little League Monday night the T-Birds ambushed the Comets, 6-3, to stay afront the standings in that race.

David Robertson, starting pitching ace for the T-Birds, withstood a three-run first inning count before giving over to John Mercer.

Roberson allowed three hits and Mercer none for the game. Hank Pope went five innings for the loss allowing Chester Hamby to come on. Pope struck out six and Hamby three.

The T-Birds looked lively in the only double play. Pitcher Mercer threw to first sacker David Bahn who relayed the ball to third baseman David Roberson.

Larry Leonard and Mike Turner each slugged extra base hits, a double each, for the Comets.

The win kept the T-Birds in at least a tie with the Sabres.

WHITE SOX PROVING A JINX CLUB FOR CLEVELAND TRIBE

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the way Cleveland has managed to hold the American League lead is a surprise, imagine where the Indians might be if they could shake loose from Chicago's White Sox, the club they have a tough time beating, and Early Wynn, the guy they can't beat at all.

WYNN

Half of Cleveland's 16 defeats through the first quarter of the schedule have been from the second place White Sox. And three of those have been nailed by Wynn, who has won seven in a row from the Injuns since they traded him away a year and a half ago.

Cleveland's just a game in front after Wynn (7-3) and the White Sox went to work again Wednesday for a 5-1 victory over the Indians.

Baltimore, the only other club with an edge (3-2) over Cleveland this year, missed a chance to close in when Washington's Camilo Pascual beat the third place Orioles 6-0 Wednesday night with a two-hitter.

Last place New York squeezed past Boston 3-2 in the other AL game. Detroit was rained out at Kansas City.

Wynn, a 39-year-old right-hander, closed in on the top-20 group of all-time winners with his 256th victory, but needed Gerry Staley's relief help for the last two outs. Wynn is 21st on the all-time list of winners, four shy of Ted Lyons' 260. Wynn is tops among active pitchers, with Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, who won his 252nd Wednesday night, No. 25 in the all-time rankings.

The White Sox, who had lost three in a row, put it away with eight hits against Gary Bell (4-3). Two were homers, one a solo smash by Sherm Lollar and the other a one-on shot by Earl Torgeson in a clinching three-run sixth inning.

Pascual gained his first two-hitters after holding the Orioles hitless until Gene Woodling and Albie Pearson, a Senator until Wednesday, singled in the seventh. Harmon Killebrew upped his major league-leading home run total to 16 with a three-run blast in the first inning against loser Ernie Portocarrero (0-4).

The Yankees were hitless until the fifth, when Andy Carey socked a home run against loser Ike Delock (5-2). Bill Skowron hit a two-run homer in the seventh for the winning margin as Boston broke through Duke Maas's two-hit shutout bid on Pete Runnel's two-run homer in the ninth. Reliever Ryne Duren saved it for Maas (3-2) and the Yanks, who were out-hit 5-4.

Jim Cason Leader At Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—Jim Cason, the former professional football player from Harlingen, led the Brownsville Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament into match play today.

Cason fired a 2-under-par 70 yesterday to win medalist honors. He was the only player to crack par.

A field of 91 entered the tournament.

Boatler's Retains Metropolitan Lead

In Metropolitan Couples Bowling League play earlier this week, the pace-setting Boatler's contingent humbled the Kadnaps, 3-1; Nabors Paint Store turned back the Don't Knows, 4-0; and the No Names bombed Poncho's, 3-1.

Boatler's led in team scoring, with 839-2326.

Grover Cunningham of Boatler's had the high game among the men, a 246. Buddy Blanchard of the No Names responded with a series score of 636.

The women were led by Evelyn Ball of Boatler's, who posted 171-470.

Splits were converted by:

Luerene Hale, Nabors, 2-7; Dick Habrook, Don't Knows, 3-10; Curt Hale, Nabors, 5-6; and Marie McCullough, Don't Knows, 5-7.

One more week of play remains in the circuit.

Standings:

Solons Work Late Into Night To Get Daniel Bill Past House

AUSTIN (AP) — The House approved today Texas' largest tax bill in history.

It aims to raise in 1960-61 about $149,681,924. That's only about two million short of paying for the state's biggest spending bill, already passed by the House.

The tax bill (HB7) is almost the exact measure Gov. Price Daniel recommended when the 30-day special session began 11 days ago.

Late into last night, representatives moved almost mechanically.

More than 15 last-ditch amendments offered to change Daniel's plan went down to defeat one by one in the closing hours. It usually was a five vote deciding margin. This widened at the end. Temporary approval came on a 77-66 vote.

Natural gas taxes continually were bombarded with various proposed changes. Daniel's forces kept the increase exactly the way he wants it.

They also kept intact his corporation franchise taxes and new levies on public utilities, liquor, cigarettes, tobacco and motor vehicles.

The adopted changes reduce present minor taxes affecting the movie industry and city-operated bus lines.

"I don't think we're doing right," Rep. Max Smith, San Marcos, said. "We're spending too much money. The appropriations bill is 40 million dollars more than the legislative budget board recommended. The people don't want this big a tax bill."

Rep. Don Kennard, Fort Worth, said the big appropriations bill is needed to pay for improvements in state hospitals, correctional systems and higher education.

Daniel watched the final hours. At the end, he said: "The House has done a magnificent job. I'm proud of it."

He said the Senate now has more than two weeks to do its work.

Here's the Daniel-backed tax plan and what it will raise in 1960-61:

$35,414,095 with a new tax on 5 per cent of value on natural gas dedicated for future production through severance beneficiaries and reducing the present 7 per cent production tax to 5 per cent.

24 million dollars, a corporation franchise tax increase on interstate businesses.

16 million dollars with a straight 2.3 per cent gross receipts tax on telephone, water, electric, gas and other utility companies.

$1,200,000 to improve collection procedure on butane, propane and other special fuel taxes, but not changing the rates.

$21,084,741 by increasing one cent the present 5-cent a pack cigarette tax.

$23,600,000 through a new tax on cigars, pipe and chewing tobacco at the same 25 per cent rate levied on cigarettes.

14 million dollars by increasing the $1.40 per gallon tax on distilled liquor to $2.25.

$2,111,500 through doubling the 11 cents per gallon tax on wine.

15,018,814 upping from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent the sales tax on motor vehicles.

Taxes reduced and revenue lost were:

Sulphur from $1.40 a ton to $1.03, costing $1,781,266; movie theater operator's license fees reduced $76,000; movie admission taxes cut 5 cents to match federal taxes, $100,000; and refunding three-fourths of the motor fuel tax paid by bus companies operating within a city's limits, one million dollars.

MONKEYS

east down the Atlantic missile range.

The Soviets' famous space dog, Laika, died in 1957 while in orbit around the earth in Sputnik II.

Able and Baker rode in cozy cabins, strapped in separate sealed capsules. The animal and vegetable materials also were in individual compartments.

Informed sources reported Able was in a special chamber weighing in excess of 200 pounds in almost the exact center of the rounded nose cone, which was 75 to 80 inches wide at the bottom. Before Able's face was a small light that flashed at pre-set intervals. She was trained to push a modified telegraph key at each blink of the light in a psycho-behavioral test.

Able had been taught for weeks to make this behavioral response. Whether she would continue to do so in space, especially when her body was without weight because of the great distance from the earth's gravitional pull, was one of the things scientists wanted to learn. This monkey rested in a comfortable, fiberglass contoured couch.

APE IN CAPSULE

Baker was in a capsule fastened to the inside of the nose cone, about one inch from the shell. She was at the base of the cone, for easy access before launching.

The box was identical to that in which the monkey Gordo rode on its ill-fated trip last December. The compartment measured 10 inches in length, 13¾ inches in width and was 4¾ inches deep at one end and 7 inches deep at the other.

Baker wore a plastic helmet over a chamois cap. She and her helmet were strapped to a rubber bed.

Thermometers were inserted under her armpits to register body temperatures. A microphone was in a foam-rubber pad on her chest to detect heartbeats. Another instrument recorded her breathing.

Other devices checked blood pressure, pulse rate, and temperature and pressure in the chamber.

Both monkeys were strapped face down in their cylinders at the start of the flight, with their knees drawn up. This position provides the best resistance to gravity strains at the moment of launching. On re-entry, they would be face up as a result of the change in the nose cone's position.

The rhesus is a small, short-tailed yellow monkey of India. The squirrel monkey is a tiny, active, tree-hunting gentle creature with a long bushy tail. Its name is derived from its similarity to the squirrel in size and color. Both monkeys were raised in the United States.

Serves His Jail Time In Advance

Pete Sotello, charged with destruction of property, has served 36 days in the county jail since his arrest.

He pleaded guilty to the charge in Howard County Court on Thursday.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, recommended that the court fix punishment in accordance with the time he has been locked up.

So Judge Ed Carpenter assessed a 36-day jail sentence. Sotello was marched back down stairs and released from custody.

Sotello has a penchant, he told the court, for breaking plate glass windows. He allegedly yielded to that impulse April 17 and O. R. Bolinger's window was the victim. That was when he was placed in jail.

Indian Day Camp Restriction Lifted

First and second sessions of the YMCA's Indian Day camp have been opened to all boys in grades one through three, Everett Taylor announced today.

The camps had been restricted to Indian Guide members, but not enough Guides were available to fill out the roll. Registrations will be accepted throughout today and Friday for the first session which will be staged June 1-12.

The second session is scheduled for June 15-26 and the third session, still restricted to Indian Guide members, will be held June 29-July 10, Taylor said.

Mrs. John Foster Dulles leaves her home in Washington, D. C., to go to Washington National Cathedral for the funeral of her husband, the former Secretary of State.

'Seeliger's Folly' A Pioneering Auto

LOCKHART (AP) — Ever hear of "Seeliger's folly?"

Like Wilbur's airplane, it wasn't supposed to work. But it did.

The late Emil Seeliger, one of this Central Texas town's early do-it-yourselfers, heard in 1902 about horseless carriages appearing on eastern streets. So he decided to build one.

Seeliger, a blacksmith, dug up a one-cylinder engine which he placed under the seat. Three bicycle chains transmitted power to the vehicle's rear wheels.

The seat? That was the gas tank. The carburetor came from an old gasoline launch. Two dry-cell batteries served as the ignition.

Seeliger built the chassis and body from plans of a trap buggy.

A motorcycle furnished the wheels and a shotgun barrel became the steering column with bicycle handlebars attached.

J. Henry Martindale, writing for the Houston Chronicle, said Seeliger told him many years ago the contraption cost $125, including $60 for tires.

Finally, the blacksmith announced his horseless carriage was ready for a trial run.

A curious crowd gathered one hot July afternoon in 1904 for the tests. Everyone, including Seeliger, wondered if it would run.

And how it did! Road tests proved it would not only scare the dickens out of horses but would hit top speeds of 15 miles per hour.

But the big problem was fuel, which Seeliger's automobile consumed at the rate of 14 miles to the gallon. Drug stores kept gasoline but a town ordinance at the time limited dealers' stock to five gallons.

"Seeliger's folly" had its day. But in time it became consigned to the junk pile.

His blacksmith's shop became the town's first garage.

Baker Chapel Not Sponsoring Singer

Baker's Chapel Methodist Church is not involved in the appearance here June 8 of Little Richard Penniman, former rock-and-roll singer who now is devoting his energies to the ministry, the Rev. J. W. Birt, pastor, reported today.

The Rev. Robert Tieuel, pastor of Payne's Chapel at Colorado City, announced yesterday that his church and the Baker's Chapel were sponsoring the singer's appearance here. The Rev. Birt said the matter has not been submitted to his congregation.

Two Stabbing Suspects Freed

Berta Rene Aitman, accused of stabbing Anna Bell Jones with an ice pick, and Anna Bell Jones, accused of knifing Hugh Atiman, were both released from the county jail Wednesday.

Each posted $2,500 bond.

The two women were charged in complaints filed earlier this week. According to police, Berta Rene is the lawful wife of Hugh Aitman and Anna Bell is his girl friend. After Anna Bell and Hugh had engaged in the episode which sent Hugh to the hospital with a knife wound, Berta Rena came to the hospital to see him.

So did Anna Bell, the police report.

The women engaged in an altercation and Anna Bell was stabbed in the arm with an ice pick.

Both wound up in the county jail charged with asault with intent to commit murder.

Cars In Collision

An accident at 3rd and Goliad Wednesday involved a parked car, the police indicated. A car owned by Ellis Brown, 404 NW 7th, was parked when involved in the accident with a car driven by Elain Jackson, 610 State.

Dual Completion Opens New Pay Zone In Red Loflin Field

Dual completion of a well in the south part of Garza County opened a new pay zone in the Red Loflin field. In Howard, a well has been completed in the North Vincent (Canyon) field.

The General American No. 1-3 Koonsman finaled 191 barrels of oil from the Spraberry as a discovery. It also made 480 barrels of oil from the Strawn, but the Red Loflin field already has production from that zone, as well as the Ellenburger.

The Woodson No. 5 Pauline flowed through a ¼-inch choke for 24 hours and made 425 barrels of oil. It is in the North Vincent pool.

Borden

Cameron No. 1 Johnson, C NE SE, 4-32-5n, T&P Survey, made hole in lime at 4,628 feet. It is 10 miles northwest of Gail and contracted to 10,000 feet.

Midwest No. 1 Jones, in the 7-J field, ran tubing today after perforating from 8,000-08 and 8,014-18 feet. It is 467 from north and 1,980 from west lines, 468-97, H&TC Survey.

Camp No. 1 Beckham, three miles east of Ackerly, drilled at 8,140 feet today. Previously, it tested from 7,090-160 feet for an hour and recovered only 10 feet of drilling fluid. The site is 330 from north and 1,980 from west lines, 17-33-3n, T&P Survey.

Dawson

Forest No. 1 Harris, 12 miles southwest of Lamesa, penetrated to 11,925 feet in lime. It is in the Patricia field, 990 from north and 660 from west lines, Labor 16, League 268, Moore CSL Survey.

Texas Crude No. 1-20 Clay, 2½ miles west of the Patricia pool, made hole at 10,050 feet in lime and shale. The site is 660 from south and west lines, Labor 20, League 266, Kent CSL Survey.

Garza

General American No. 1-3 Koonsman flowed through an 18-64-inch choke for 24 hours and made 191 barrels of 41.3-degree oil in the Spraberry as a discovery. The well is 330 from north and east lines, 3-2, T&NO Survey.

Spraberry perforations extend from 4,916-40 feet. From the Strawn, it flowed 480 barrels of 41.5-degree oil through a ¼-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio for this zone was 1,000-1. It finaled through perforations 7,702-50 feet.

Glasscock

Stanotex No. 1 Scherz, C NE NE, 35-34-5s, T&P Survey, penetrated to 3,202 feet in lime. It is 16 miles south of Garden City.

Howard

Woodson No. 5 Pauline flowed through a ¼-inch choke for 24 hours and made 425 barrels of 45.5-degree oil without a trace of water. The well is in the North Vincent field 2,909 from south and 569 from east lines, 57-20, Lavaca Navigation Survey. Total depth is 7,580 feet, and top of the pay zone is 7,480. Perforations extend from 9,490-95 feet, and gas-oil ratio hit 415-1.

Williamson No. 1 King, a wildcat C NW NW, 33-31-1n, T&P Survey, was pumping to test today. Tests are in the Fusselman.

Williamson No. 1 Wade drilled at 7,045 feet today. It is a wildcat 6½ miles southeast of Big Spring, 29-31-1s, T&P Survey.

Cosden No. 1 Whitmire, C NE NE, 37-32-1n, T&P Survey, drilled below 9,307 feet today. It is four miles east of Big Spring.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Kilpatrick progressed past 8,430 feet in lime this morning. The site is in the Luther Southeast field C NE NE, 39-32-2n, T&P Survey.

Martin

Pan American No. 1-C Breedlove penetrated below 10,120 feet in lime and shale. It is a wildcat 657 from south and 685 from west lines, Labor 99, League 257, Briscoe CSL Survey.

Texas Crude No. 1-10 Kerry-Kim-Bo was bottomed at 12,446 feet and preparing to drillstem test today. It is 660 from south and east lines, 10-HA, Lanier Survey.

Mitchell

Staley No. 1 Crawford, in the Sharon Ridge field, made 31.31 barrels of 30-degree oil on final test. It is 330 from south and west lines, Section 11, O'Keefe Subdivision, Reiger Survey. Total depth is 1,738 feet, top of the pay zone is 1,617, and perforations extend from 1,692-96 feet.

Sterling

Hancock No. 3 Clark, in the Clark (San Angelo) field, made 28.38 barrels of oil on potential. Gravity of the oil is 30 degrees. Total depth is 1,335, and production is reached at 1,317. Perforation interval is 1,331-35 feet. Location is 996 from south 368 from west lines, 33-11, SPRR Survey.

Demo Revolt May Delay Farm Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—A revolt among potent House Democrats against mounting farm subsidy costs threatened today to delay indefinitely House action on pending new agricultural legislation.

The uprising developed in the House Rules Committee, which has the power—frequently exercised—to block House consideration of virtually any piece of important legislation.

Caught in the threatened blockade were two major farm bills approved by the House Agriculture Committee and ready for House action.

One would increase the government price support level for small livestock feed grains such as oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums. The other, regarded as a key farm measure, would attempt to stem the costly and mounting wheat surplus by raising price supports in return for reduced plantings.

The Rules Committee's attitude appeared to make certain continuance of a wheat program under the present law for another year. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is required to announce marketing quotas and acreage allotments for the 1960 wheat crop not later than Monday.

There remained a possibility that if Congress were to change the law within 10 more days, the changes could be made to affect next year's crop. But the Agriculture Department would need all the time beyond that to prepare for a July 23 referendum among the farmers.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee said that despite the delay he would push for House action on his committee's bill. He expressed hope a House vote can be set for next Thursday.

But Rules Committee action has been put off at least until next week.

Reports that farm legislation is in trouble in the House were confirmed by Reps. Richard Bolling (D-Mo) and Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. (D-Mass) both Rules Committee members.

County Employes To Start Holiday

County employes will enjoy a long weekend, starting Friday.

The county commissioners have ruled that the county offices can begin their Memorial Day holidays Friday. The holiday also applies to the county library.

Only the sheriff's office will be open.

The 118th District Court will be in session briefly on Friday morning to dispose of two cases which had been set down for that date.

* * *

Memorial day will be a complete holiday for the Big Spring Post Office staff. Only a few men will work at different shifts handling first class mail and newspapers which must be distributed. All windows will be closed down and no routes will be carried.

Forgery Alleged

Mary Loya, identified by officers as a young Latin-American woman who is soon to become a mother, was charged with forgery on Thursday in a complaint filed by the district attorney. She is accused of writing four worthless checks, each in the amount of $4, to which she signed the name of Mrs. Pauline Pearce.

Receives Surgery

Edith Gay, Chamber of Commerce secretary, received stomach surgery this morning at Malone & Hogan Hospital. Her condition was satisfactory at noon. She is expected to be hospitalized for about a week.

Ray Services To Be Friday

Floyd Curtis Ray, 55, who resided on the Knott Route, died in a local hospital at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday following an illness of about two weeks. Mr. Ray was a farmer by profession.

A resident of Howard County since 1919, Mr. Ray was born Oct. 4, 1903, in Throckmorton. He was married July 26, 1924, to Mittie Kennedy. His wife survives.

Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. S. M. Haney, Big Spring; and Mrs. T. R. Love, Big Spring; a brother, Robert Ray, McFarland, Calif.; and a sister, Mrs. L. Z. Shafer, Big Spring.

Services will be conducted at the River Funeral Home at 4 p.m. Friday, with the Rev. S. E. Eldridge in charge. Burial will take place in the City Cemetery.

Lake Road Being Paved

Paving crews are putting the topping on the Moss Creek Lake road today, Walter Parks, county engineer, said.

Paving on half a mile of E. 2nd was finished Wednesday.

Moss Creek road will be completed today. Part of the paving crew is on the old San Angelo road making the first oil shot and Friday will push ahead with the final surfacing on the job.

Paving has been completed on the seven mile strip of road in the Knott community on Tuesday.

Only a short piece of road in the Forsan area remains to be paved to complete the current county road schedule.

Williams Baby Dies In Hospital Here

A day-old-infant, Robert Dale Williams, died in a local hospital early today.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Williams, include a sister, Cathey Ann, two brothers, Murel J. and David Ray; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. E. E. Cox, Borger.

The infant was to be taken to Hamlin in a River Funeral Home ambulance today.

Woman Injured In Fall From Car

A Negro woman was treated at Big Spring Hospital Wednesday night after falling from an auto. She has been released, however.

Dorothy Whitehead was thrown from a car as the vehicle rounded the corner at 3rd and N. Gregg Wednesday night, the police said. Police officers are still looking for the driver of the car, but the woman has not fhrnished mhch information concerning him.

Water Usage Up

The city reached toward the six-million mark Wednesday in water consumption but didn't quite make it. The day's consumption hit 5,991,000 gallons, and this raised the total for May to 118,329,000 gallons.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy and warm through Friday. Widely scattered thunderstorms Panhandle, South Plains and Pecos Valley eastward.

NORTH CENTRAL, EAST AND SOUTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Partly cloudy and warm through Friday. Widely scattered mostly afternoon and evening thundershowers.

10,000 Texans Needed To Aid In 2 Approaching Censuses

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 10,000 Texans will be needed to count fellow Texans and their property in two approaching censuses.

The agricultural census, taken every five years is scheduled for next fall. It determines the farm population, and such data as the size of farms and how many cows and sheep and tractors are owned by each farmer.

The regular population census, taken every 10 years, starts next April 1. It also will show the kind of housing Texas folk have, how many sleep to a room and what kind of conveniences they enjoy or lack.

The farm census will require 2,000 enumerators in Texas. They will work under 134 crew leaders, who will get their directions from six field assistants to the Cencus Bureau's regional director in Dallas.

The population and housing census will require 8,500 enumerators working under 525 crew leaders. These crew leaders will take orders from 21 supervisors who will answer to the Dallas regional director, James W. Stroud. Some of the population census workers probably will have worked on the farm census.

A Census Bureau spokesman said the enumerators will be paid on a "piece basis" so that a diligent worker should earn $12 to $13 per day. Crew leaders will be paid about $15.50 a day, supervisors and field assistants about $24 daily. The exact amounts are yet to be determined.

Farm census workers must have a car at their command and will get 7 cents a mile for its use.

The enumerators in the farm census are expected to be busy two to three weeks; crew leaders will work a week or so more and field assistants still a little longer. Population census enumerators will be busy three to five weeks.

The enumerators in the farm census are expected to be busy two to three weeks; crew leaders will work a week or so more and field assistants still a little longer. Population census enumerators will be busy three to five weeks.

All the workers except Stroud, a career employe of the bureau, will be appointed by Census Director Robert W. Burgess.

Practically speaking, however, the jobs will be filled by the Republican party organization in Texas. It's the same for each state, and already many party leaders at local levels are beginning to line up the head counters.

Appointment of the farm census workers will take place late in the summer. Those to take the regular population census won't be named until late in the year or early next spring.

If the Democrats were in power they would name the census takers.

The political system actually saves money for the taxpayers, one census official said, explaining that if regular employment channels were used for filling the temporary jobs the cost would be greater.

Except for a wide area in South Texas, the farm census in the state will begin Nov. 18. Because of winter crops, it will begin earlier in the lower section.

The farm census will begin Oct. 7 in these counties:

Cameron, Hidalgo, Willacy, Starr, Jim Hogg, Brooks, Kenedy, Kleberg, Jim Wells, Duval, Webb, La Salle, Zapata.

It will begin Oct. 14 in these:

Maverick, Dimmit, Zavala, McMullen, Atascosa, Live Oak, San Patricio, Nueces, Refugio, Aransas, Bee, Karnes, Wilson, DeWitt, Gonzales, Comal, Guadalupe, Goliad, Victoria, Calhoun, Jackson, Matagorda, Lavaca, Fayette, Colorado, Austin, Brazoria, Wharton, Galveston, Ft. Bend, Chambers and Waller.

Applicants For Engineer Position Withdraw Names

The city is still in the market for a design engineer, but hiring one will probably be delayed for a while.

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said that the city now has only one applicant. Two men in nearby cities who talked to the City Commission about the job have both withdrawn their names from the list, he said.

At present, Steinheimer said that the city plans to wait until after the new director of public works comes on the job before trying again to hire a design engineer. The new public works man, Bruce Dunn, is expected to go to work June 15.

Dunn will succeed City Engineer Clifton Bellamy who is resigning to enter private business here. Bellamy is to work until Dunn arrives, however.

The design engineer's position was added only this spring as a part of enlarging the engineering department. The public works job is just a change in title and responsibility rather than a new position.

Until a design man is hired, Steinheimer said that Dunn will fill this job also.

'Winter Scene' In May

Hail piled up 2 inches deep on the level and deeper in the farm row middles south of Ralls, from a vicious hail storm described as the "worst in 40 years" which raked South Plains points in Texas. The hail, along with 1.25 inches of rain, fell within a 15 to 20 minute period, it was reported. In other areas of the South Plains hail as big as baseballs was reported.

Escaped Con, Sought In Death Of Sheriff, Gives Up Meekly

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An escaped convict, sought in an all-night manhunt for the slaying of a sheriff, stumbled from his hiding place in a wooded section at dawn today and meekly surrendered to police.

Gray - haired 50-year-old John Butler was still wearing the handcuffs with which he was manacled when he broke from a moving police car Wednesday afternoon after the shooting of Sheriff James R. Lauer, 52, of Northumberland County, Pa.

Wearing a muddy, white T-shirt and soaking wet blue trousers, Butler stumbled out of a foggy, wooded area just as a posse of about 150 policemen prepared to flush him out.

When Butler emerged from his hiding place with his arms held up in surrender, scores of policemen and newspaper photographers and reporters rushed down the hillside and coverged on him. He remained silent.

Later, however, when a policeman asked Butler if he knew what he did, the convict replied, "Well, I guess he's dead."

Butler also said he was sorry for what he did, police said. He protested that he had not meant to kill and called the sheriff "a friend of mine."

He was taken to a spot where he hid for nearly 14 hours, a heavily wooded area located in a marshy area at the foot of a slope, and later to the Allegheny County jail here.

He didn't have the death weapon with him and police were unable to ascertain what he did with it.

He was captured about 200 yards from where the shooting occurred just north of Pittsburgh.

Lauer was killed while scuffling with Butler for the sheriff's .38 caliber revolver in the back seat of the police car. The sheriff died of a wound in the abdomen.

Butler fled on foot into a heavily wooded area on the outskirts of Pittsburgh.

Lauer and a friend, Merlin Diehl of Shamokin, Pa., were taking Butler from Northumberland County to Western State Penitentiary in Pittsburgh, about 200 miles. Diehl was driving with Lauer beside him. Butler was in the back.

"Butler lunged forward grabbed the gun from the front seat between me and Lauer," said Diehl. "Lauer jumped in the back of the car and they were scuffling." Diehl added:

"I stopped the car to assist Lauer and opened the back door to help. At that instant this guy shot Lauer and said 'I'll shoot you too.' "

Diehl, who was unarmed, said he ran down the road to a nearby garage.

Some 200 armed policemen, volunteer firemen and civilians fanned out throughout the area but found no immediate trace of Butler, a former Girardville Pa., resident with a long record of armed robbery.

Butler was serving 4 to 10 years for the $720 holdup of a Roman Catholic Church rectory at Mount Carmel, Pa., in August, 1957.

He appeared in the Northumberland County Court at Sunbury, Pa., Wednesday to withdraw a petition for his release on grounds that he was illegally imprisoned.

Ike Seeks Pentagon Word On Antiaircraft Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reportedly wants a quick Pentagon recommendation on whether to keep the Nike-Hercules or Bomarc missiles — or both — as antiaircraft weapons.

Senate sources who reported this today said the President had instructed Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy to back up his recommendation with solid evidence.

The sources declined to be quoted by name. One of them said Eisenhower's instructions to McElroy stemmed from a meeting Tuesday between the President and GOP congressional leaders. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) was quoted then as telling Eisenhower that the Senate would "resolve the matter for you" if the President didn't act this week.

After Tuesday's meeting, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois quoted Eisenhower as saying there is no need for an immediate decision on the missiles.

A major row over the nation's aerial defense weapons has been going on for some time. It centers around claims by the Army and Air Force that each has a superior missile for shooting down attacking aircraft.

The Pentagon has not yet come up with an answer as to which claim is correct.

The Army is backing its short range Nike-Hercules missile, now a mainstay of the aerial continental defenses. The Air Force is pushing its Bomarc, a missile with a range described as something over 400 miles.

Congressional critics have charged that there is costly waste in developing the two missiles as rivals in the air defense program.

Lions Club To Celebrate 30th Anniversary Tuesday

The Big Spring Downtown Lions Club is making plans for a big birthday party next Tuesday evening.

B. M. Keese, president, urged members Wednesday to be 100 per cent in attendance for the 7:30 p.m. dinner at the Settles to help celebrate the 30th anniversary of the club.

R. A. Lipscomb, Odessa, director of Lions International, will be the featured speaker, and charter members and past presidents will be honored guests.

At the meeting Wednesday, members saw an Air Force film, "Sound of Freedom," which showed how the Air Defense Command maintains an alert and is able to send up interceptors instantly to identify and—if hostile—destroy invading crafts.

Bob James announced that he was being transferred from the Big Spring State Hospital to the Austin State Hospital by the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation. A visitor was Paul Crow, Lamesa, R. Roy Keaton, director general of Lions International, is due here this weekend for a visit.

High Winds Hit, But No Rain Falls

A roaring wind which sometimes hit gust peaks of 45 miles an hour, heavily clouded skies and distant lightning to the southwest made up Big Spring's share of the rough weather which lashed sections of West Texas last night.

Although there was a feeling of intense humidity and every indication of rain, no moisture fell in the city. The winds swept into the community around 10 p.m. They continued on late into the night.

No marked cooling of temperature accompanied the breeze. The low reading for the night was a stuffy 69 degrees.

Killian Quits As Ike Advisor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today the resignation of Dr. James R. Killian Jr. as special assistant to the President for science and technology.

Killian will return to the presidency of Massachusetts Institute of Technology from which he was on leave.

Dr. George Bogdan Kistiakowsky, professor of chemistry at Harvard University, was chosen by President Eisenhower to succeed Killian. He is a native of Kiev, Russia.

In an exchange of letters made public by the White House, Killian said he wishes to return to MIT by mid-July.

He said he was resigning for "compelling personal reasons" about which, he said, the President has had a warm understanding. There was no amplification.

In accepting the resignation Eisenhower told Killian it would be impossible to "overemphasize the vital importance of your work here, both to the future security of the United States and to the strength of our whole system of education."

Storms Hit Mid-U.S.

By The Associated Press

More severe thunderstorms, with tornadic winds in some areas, hit the middle part of the country during the night, following the weather pattern during most of the month of May.

Today's weather map indicated showers across wide areas of the country. Out of the predicted wet belt were the far northeast and the southern half of the country from the Rockies westward to the Pacific coast.

Wednesday night tornadic winds hail and rain were reported in areas in northern, western and central Texas.

Heavy rains in northeast Kansas and northern Missouri caused flooding in some areas. A tornado alert was sounded in southeast Missouri. Strong winds also whipped areas in South Dakota and Nebraska.

Earlier Wednesday tornado struck the area of Gillette, Wyo., smashing farm buildings, a hangar and four airplanes. No injuries were reported. A farmer was killed when struck by lightning during a severe thunderstorm in the Cadiz, Ohio, area.

Warm and humid air covered most of the eastern half of the country but it was cool in the northern areas from the Great Lakes region westward into the Pacific coast.

Dalai Lama Urges Spiritual Advance

TOKYO (AP)—The Dalai Lama of Tibet has called on the world's religious leaders to "struggle forward, hand in hand," toward lasting peace by narrowing the gap between spiritual and material civilizations.

The fugitive, 23-year-old ruler of Tibet was interviewed in Mussoorie, India, by three correspondents of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi. The Dalai Lama said that two world wars had failed to bring peace "because spiritual civilization had failed to keep pace with material civilization."

Red Light Saves Raft Of Motorists

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A red traffic light saved 50 motorists from possible disaster.

They were stopped on the Pacific coast highway Wednesday, waiting on the signal, when 600 tons of earth and rock crashed down from the 250-foot-high Pacific Palisades. Some of the cars would have been in the slide zone but for the light.

King Ranch May Lose Cuban Holding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' big King Ranch is among American investments threatened by the new revolutionary regime in Cuba, Correspondent Robert E. Baskin of the Dallas News wrote today.

Baskin said King Ranch property in Cuba would be affected by agrarian reform laws which Premier Fidel Castro reportedly plans to proclaim soon.

DEAR ABBY

A GREAT MYSTERY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My Sunday School teacher says that God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it.

Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by the car my mother prayed to you to let him live but you would not. My little brother was only two years old and couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to do. You could have saved my little brother but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you?

PETER

DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "JOB" and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and He will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and help make your Mommy happy again.

DEAR ABBY: I was a sailor for eleven years and lived in 24 countries but it took a country gal to show me how dum I was. I dropped into my hick home town for a visit and before I left town this kid says, "Hold it, Sailor, I'm going to have your baby." So I married her. We waited. The girl didn't lie. She HAD a baby. Two years later! So tell that soldier who thinks he got roped in not to be excited. The stork will arrive. That long-legged buzzard lives at our house. We have nine kids now.

A TAMED WOLF

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I want to help a couple of dear friends get married on the q.t. You see the gentleman does not have the approval of his children. (Their reasons are purely selfish.) This couple wants to know if they could make application for a marriage license without having it appear in the local newspaper. The lady is 67 and the gentleman is 73. Sincerely,

MUTUAL FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A clergyman or lawyer could answer this question for you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Have you any suggestions for getting our son to date a certain girl without telling him to? This girl is charming, has a wonderful personality and would be an ideal match for our son. He seems to prefer the type who is "loads of fun" and on the flirty side. How can we get him to realize that the more steady, perhaps quieter type of girl is more loyal in the long run? He is 18.

PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: A sure way to kill any possibility for a romance between the girl and your son is to start giving the girl a big build-up. If you want your son to become interested in her, arrange an "accidental" meeting and let him "discover" her for himself.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO PERPLEXED NURSE: I have news for you. Sometimes you have to bring up the father before you can bring up the children.

* * *

Father Sees Daughter Die

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A horrified father watched a three-ton ornamental brick wall crush his 13-year-old daughter to death Wednesday scant seconds after he had driven her to school.

Three stunned teen-age boys told police they had braced against the opposite side of the wall in attempt to rock or push a school bus parked within three feet of it. The collapse buried Gloria Rivera as a schoolmate talking to her scrambled to safety.

Gloria's father, Joe Rivera, was powerless to help as the wall fell with deadly suddenness.

Names of the three scared boys were not released but Principal Charles E. Poe of the J. L. McReynolds Junior High School said the tragedy should not be blamed "solely on any of the students."

"Our buildings are supposed to be constructed well enough to take a little horseplay that's bound to be going on in any school," Poe told newsmen.

Negro Pauses For Prayer At Execution

HUNTSVILLE (AP) —Milton Williams, a convicted rapist, paused before the state's electric chair early today, uttered a brief prayer, and then sat down to die.

The 28-year-old Williams, a Caldwell Negro, was convicted in August 1957 of raping a 19-year-old white woman.

He entered the death chamber today at 12:02 a.m., was strapped in the chair and received his first lethal charge of electricity at 12:05 a.m. At 12:07 a.m. he was pronounced dead.

Williams made no "last statement" except for his brief prayer while standing in front of the chair and to ask attendants how long the execution would take and would the electricity hurt him.

Attendants told him it would all be over quickly and that he would feel nothing. "I'll meet you in Heaven," he said when told that death would be quick.

Earlier in the evening, Williams asked the Catholic chaplain, Father Arthur Kaler, to ask Radio Station KSAM here to play two records for him on its 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. Negro hour. Father Kaler relayed the request and KSAM played "Mary, Don't Weep" and "I'm Going Home" for the doomed man.

Williams had been tearful yesterday when he was interviewed by Don Reid, Huntsville editor. Reid had told him, "Maybe you are being punished for something else. The Lord works in mysterious ways."

Williams broke down and sobbed, "I'm leaving it to the Lord. He knows I'm right."

Williams insisted until the last that he didn't get a fair trial and that he was innocent. He said the sheriff's department forced him to confess and that his own attorneys refused to let him testify.

His last meal last night was fried chicken, hot rolls, pineapple pie, soda water and ice cream. He said his only schooling had been while a prisoner here in Huntsville from 1950 to 1956 when he was serving a term for burglary.

Teacher Dies

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Charles Winslow French, 82, professor-emeritus of modern languages at Boston University and noted in the field of choral music, died Tuesday. French served two terms as president of the National Federation of Modern Language Teachers of America.

Graduate Taken From Bus, Told Her Parents Are Dead

MARATHON, Tex. (AP)—Pretty young Elidia Rodriguez, on what had been one of her happiest days, was taken from a Mexico City-bound bus here this morning and told her father was dead.

The father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Rodriguez, were following the bus, loaded with the Alpine, Tex., High School graduating class, of which Elidia was a member, to wave goodbye to the graduates.

Suddenly, another automobile darted from a side road and collided with the Rodriguez vehicle. Rodriguez was killed and Elidia's mother was injured.

The noisy, happy youngsters and their chaperones rode gaily on toward Mexico City, a climax to the graduation exercises that were held last night. Nobody aboard the big vehicle knew that an accident had happened about a half mile east of Alpine.

Alpine authorities, however, notified police here by telephone and Elidia was taken from the bus and hurried back to Alpine by sheriff's deputies.

It was the second traffic tragedy within a week to mar the graduation exercises. H. E. "Bill" Powell, the husband of the class sponsor, was killed a week ago in a crash near El Paso.

Another sponsor aboard the bus last night, Glenn Burgess, told the Associated Press from Sanderson, Tex., that "the kids are going on to Mexico City and try to have a nice trip." Burgess is a photo shop owner in Alpine.

Councilman Pays First Jaywalk Fine

SAGINAWN, Mich. (AP—Saginaw had inaugurated a campaign against jaywalking.

One of the first persons to be ticketed was City Councilman Richard Snyder. He walked against a red light Wednesday. He'll pay a $1 fine.

Attache's Wife Pleads For Asylum

LONDON (AP) — The British government today pondered the plea of a Soviet naval attache's wife for asylum for herself and small daughter to escape Soviet security men who rushed her husband back to Moscow under guard.

Mrs. Nina Dmitriev, 35, and her 5-year-old daughter Lena hid out with White Russian friends in London under the protection of Scotland Yard until her request is decided.

British officials said the plea was being considered on its merits.

Mrs. Dmitriev showed up at the Foreign Office Wednesday and agreed to meet with Soviet embassy agents who had been trying to track her down for four days. At the interview — in the presence of British officials — the embassy men failed to talk her into going with them.

Soviet security men rushed her husband, Capt. Aleksander Dmitriev, 38, out of London on a jet airliner bound for Moscow.

Just before Dmitriev, an assistant Soviet naval attache, boarded the plane British Home Office officials asked him whether he wanted to stay in Britain. "I wish to leave for Moscow," he replied.

The Soviet embassy refused to discuss the case.

Dmitriev, who speaks good English, knows Britain well. He worked in the Soviet embassy in London for a time shortly after World War II and only recently returned as assistant naval attache.

On Saturday he went with two other embassy officials to Hawkhurst, a country estate the embassy maintains in Kent.

Mrs. Dmitriev, who knows scarcely any English, told neighbors she and their daughter were joining the captain on Sunday. Instead she went into hiding.

When she failed to show up at Hawkhurst, Soviet embassy officials searched the Dmitriev apartment and finally reported her missing to British police. The British traced her and arranged for her to come to the Foreign Office.

Modern Living–'Shooting The Pool'

Construction of private swimming pools goes on apace, and an example of new methods of construction is this pool being built for the Dan Krausses by Balmorhea Pool Co. of Big Spring. Here, a special machine "shoots" gunnite to form a monolithic slab, increasing strength of concrete forms and eliminating expansion joints. Balmorhea Pool Co., operated by Jerry Worthy, now owns its own gunnite machine. Pictured at left above is Dan Kophenstein, Dallas, with Paddock of Texas and a real pioneer in the swimming pool business. His experience dates back to 1927, and years ago he had a part in building pools for such notables as Bing Crosby, Warner Baxter and Walter Winchell. He supervised the gigantic Olympic pool at the Shamrock Hotel, Houston, Kophenstein was here to assist Worthy (center) and Neil Rudd (right) in the intricacies of the gunnite operation.

U. S. 87 Widening Scheduled For July

Appraisal of right of way requirements for U. S. 87 north of Fairview has been completed by state highway engineer, Jake Roberts, district engineer, told the Howard County Commissioners Court Wednesday afternoon.

The highway is programmed for four-lane development from Big Spring to the New Mexico line.

Roberts said that the state hopes to begin paving on the Fairview segment sometime in July. The county is charged with obtaining the right of way easements for the land needed.

Roberts reported that the deeds for the right of way are now in Austin and should be in the hands of the commissioners in a short time.

If the improvement program is to be initiated in July, he stressed the urgency of prompt work in signing easements for land needed.

The north section of U. S. 87 from Fairview to Martin County line will be the first project on the U. S. 87 improvement program, he said. The segment from Fairview on into Big Spring will be next.

Roberts was in the city for a short time going over road problems and plans with the commissioners. He said that FM 700 paving bids will be opened on June 15 and that surfacing of the road will be pushed to completion when contract for the work is awarded.

Agreement To Lower Pipe Lines In Road Is Reached

Howard County Commissioners settled with the Mesa Oil Co., on the cost of lowering of six pipe lines the company has on the Hyman Road Wednesday.

The commissioners agreed to pay $500 of the expense of the project. The oil company will pay the remainder.

Originally the company has asked that the county pay the whole bill—nearly $3,000. Negotiations have been under way for sometime on the matter.

The Hyman Road is an extension of Howard County FM roads system to connect with a road built in Mitchell County.

It is an FM project but the county is charged with responsibility of obtaining right of way easements. Lowering of the Mesa Co. pipelines was a part of the easement problem the county had to settle.

Anderson Arrives For Commencement

FORT WORTH (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson arrived here last night aboard a Coast Guard plane.

Anderson will deliver the commencement address tomorrow at the University of Houston. He and Mrs. Anderson will return to Washington from there aboard the same Coast Guard plane in which they arrived.

Catholic Vets To Carry Jewish Banners In Parade

DETROIT (AP)— Catholic war veterans will carry both their own and the Jewish veterans' flags in Detroit's Memorial Day parade Saturday.

Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath. Michigan's Jewish war veterans, organized in 1894, said their regulations forbid parading on their Sabbath. They'll be absent.

Edward Kebalitis, commander of Michigan's Catholic war veterans, contacted John Nemon, commander of the Jewish group.

"Our marchers will be glad to carry the Jewish standard," Kebalitis said. Nemon accepted the offer.

Two Plead Guilty To Check Charges

Two pleas of guilty to worthless check charges were heard by Judge Ed Carpenter in Howard County Court on Wednesday.

Bascom T. Ashley, 46, drew a five - day jail sentence when he pleaded guilty to the complaint against him.

Marvin M. Murdock, 53, pleaded guilty to similar charges and was fined $50 and costs.

Steel Firms Accused Of 'Bad Faith'

WASHINGTON (AP) — David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, today accused the steel industry of bad faith bargaining and said contract talks so far have gotten nowhere.

McDonald said his union wants to avoid a July 1 industry strike and added "There is no reason for a strike to take place if reason and moderation prevail in genuine collective bargaining."

Contending that steelmakers want to keep record-setting 1959 profits for themselves without giving industry workers a share, the union chief said:

"Management still clings to the 'trickle down' philosophy where the major share of earnings and dividends repose in the hands of the few while a figurative bone is thrown to the mass of the people."

McDonald released in advance copies of an address prepared for a National Press Club luncheon. The same group last week heard the industry side of the current steel negotiations from Chairman Roger Blough of U.S. Steel Corp. Blough charged the union was seeking to spur a new round of inflation.

"The steel industry's cry of inflation is phony," McDonald said. "The industry is guilty of using a legitimate problem in an illegitimate manner.

"Certainly the steelworker, along with wage and salary earners as a whole, has increased his purchasing power in postwar years. But not at the expense of 'others,' as the industry charges. And not in the fantastic proportions of top management with its stock options."

McDonald said that if steelworkers are denied a pay boost, "the precedent of standing still will be reflected in the pay envelopes of virtually every major group of wage and salary workers in the nation."

The union leader said the initial three weeks of steel contract talks in New York "have gotten nowhere." Little more than four weeks remain before present contracts expire on June 30.

AT FORSAN

Dog Attacked By Rabid Fox

A new alert to owners of pets to have them vaccinated against rabies was sounded today.

Recently a fox came up boldly into the yard of the Roy Lamb residence at Forsan and attacked the dog. Lamb killed the fox and Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach sent it off to the state laboratory for a check. The report came back with a positive rabies report.

There have been other reports of foxes and skunks showing positive rabies on tests. Normally the fox is a shy and skittish animal and will run away. But frequently, when inflamed by rabies, they will come right up into yards and attack domestic animals or human beings.

The presence of rabies is taken by health authorities as reason enough to make sure that all pets are vaccinated against rabies. This is particularly important for dogs, cats, etc., in rural sections where the probability of contact with rabid foxes, skunks, etc., is far greater.

VFW Auxiliary To Sell 'Buddy' Poppies Friday

Granvil Miller, commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2013 in Big Spring, announced today that members of the post's Auxiliary will participate in the 1959 Buddy Poppy campaign, to be held here Friday.

"I am extremely grateful that the ladies of our Auxiliary are once again going to work with us in the sale of Buddy Poppies. I know that without their support, it would be difficult for our post to stage a successful campaign," Miller said.

Mrs. Dwight McCann, chairman of the Auxiliary Poppy Committee, has accepted the responsibility of getting sellers on the street. Headquarters will be in the Settles Hotel lobby.

"I feel certain that the citizens of Big Spring recognize that all of us have an obligation to those men who are still suffering in Veterans Administration hospitals and even here in our community.

"All of the money raised will go toward making life a little easier for the courageous veterans. All money collected except cost of the poppies which are made by disabled veterans will remain here in Big Spring for relief work among needy veterans and their dependents," the commander stated.

'Three Sons' Pause Here For Lunch

The Three Sons sandwiched in time for a sandwich here Wednesday.

There were four of them, however.

The popular musical trio stopped here for lunch at Coker's Restaurant while en route to Sweetwater for a one-night stand at the Sweetwater Country Club Wednesday night. They probably came back through here today; they are to play for a high school graduation dance at Midland tonight.

The Three Sons are Artie Dunn, guitarist; and Sam Fanara, accordion player. Dunn is manager and owner of the troupe. Accompanying the trio on their travels is their sound engineer, Gabby Hormann.

Dunn announced that a recording session will probably be slated this fall. This release will probably be an album entirely of oriental or Japanese music. "Sort of a Three Sons and the Rising Sun idea."

Latest album released by the trio is the stereo, RCA-recorded "Love in the Afternoon," which, according to Dunn, is selling well.

Tonight's program is the last of a month's tour of Texas. The trip has carried the Three Sons to night clubs and military bases, with stops at Houston, Sheppard AFB, and Lackland AFB. They played Midland Tuesday night, at the Midland Country Club, before coming through here.

Following the Midland engagement tonight, at which time they will appear with Wally Brown and the Hilltoppers, the Three Sons will go to Juarez, Mexico, for a two-week night club stand. From there, they will play a week at Albuquerque, N. M., before moving to Reno, Nev., for three weeks. After three weeks at Las Vegas, Nev., they will go to Los Angeles and the Ambassador Hotel, beginning Sept. 7.

Mrs. Mayes' Rule Is To Follow Recipes Closely, Then Improvise

Follow a recipe to the letter the first time or two you make it; then alter it to suit your own taste. This is the principle followed by Mrs. Warden Mayes, 1608 Vines.

But in order to improvise in cooking, one must have developed common sense in the kitchen. Mrs. Mayes' culinary experience began in childhood, when her mother guided her through the basic steps of food preparation. At sweet 16, she was beginning to master yeast breads, which remain her favorite area of cooking.

Back home in Dougherty, her mother baked bread almost every day and Mrs. Mayes would be following her footsteps today if she had a deep freeze, she states. Even so, she frequently makes yeast doughnuts and rolls; both recipes, which have been in her family for years, are shared here. She points out that the roll recipe departs from many in that hers calls for two packages of yeast instead of one. Her preference is for a faster rising roll.

Another tried and true recipe is the one for Fried Pies. A newer addition to her collection is the 24 Hour Salad, which she prepared for the salad luncheon enjoyed Tuesday by First Methodist WSCS; she is their public relations chairman. She is a member of the Sylvia Lamun Circle.

Her enjoyment of cooking is a trait prized by her husband, who is a chemical engineer for Cosden, and their sons, Brian, 6, and two-year-old Rex. She devotes some of her hours to playing bridge with a small group, swimming, and making part of her wardrobe.

Try Mrs. Mayes' recipes:

24 HOUR SALAD

2 cups white cherries, halved and pitted
2 cups diced pineapple
2 cups orange sections
2 cups quartered marshmallows
2 eggs
2 tbsps. sugar
¼ cup light cream
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine drained fruits; add marshmallows.

Beat eggs until light. Gradually add sugar, cream and lemon juice. Cook in double boiler until thick. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. Pour over fruit and mix lightly. Chill for 24 hours.

YEAST ROLLS

1 cup milk
2 tbsps. shortening
1-3 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
2 pkgs. dry yeast
1 egg
2½ cups flour

Scald milk and add sugar, salt and shortening. Set aside to cool. When milk is lukewarm, add beaten egg and sprinkle yeast on top. Stir until yeast is dissolved. Gradually add sifted flour, beating well after each addition. Pour into greased bowl and cover with damp cloth. Let rise until double; punch down and let rise again.

Turn onto floured board and roll to ½ inch thickness. Cut with a large biscuit cutter; brush with melted butter. Crease center with a knife and fold over. Place on a greased cookie sheet and let rise until double. Bake in a 400 degree oven.

FRIED PIES

3 cups flour
¾ tsp. soda
¾ tsp. salt
1-3 cup shortening

Add enough sour milk to make dry ingredients hold together. Pinch off a small ball and roll onto dough board into a circle. Place cooked fruit on one side of the circle. Fold dough over fruit and seal the edges. Fry in deep hot fat for about 1 minute. Turn when underside is golden brown.

For apricot pies, cook one package of dried apricots in water to cover. When apricots are tender, add 1 cup sugar and mash with a potato masher. Cool; add about 1 tablespoon to each circle of dough.

Makes about 40 fried pies.

YEAST DOUGHNUTS

1 cup mashed potatoes
½ cup sugar
½ cup shortening
1 tsp. salt
2 beaten eggs
1 cake yeast
½ cup warm water
1 cup milk, scalded
1 tsp. baking powder
7 cups flour

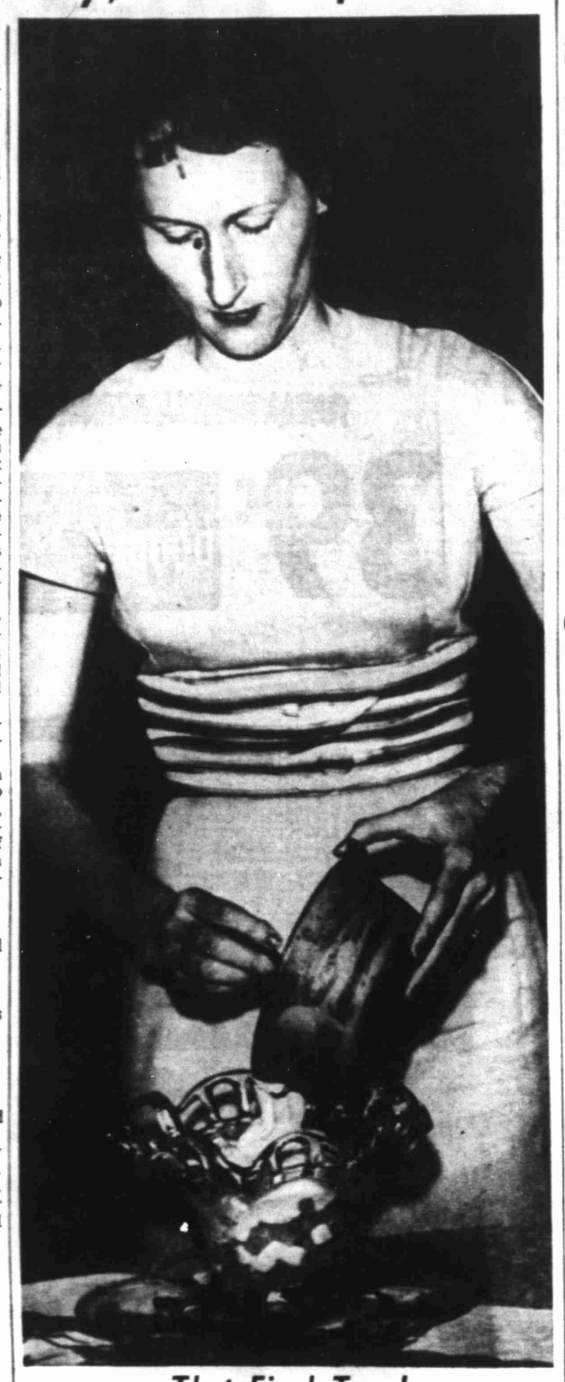
Cream potatoes, sugar, shortening, salt and eggs. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add yeast and cooled milk to sugar mixture. Sift baking powder into flour; add flour and let rise to double.

Punch down and roll onto floured board. Cut with doughnut cutter and let rise until double. Drop into deep hot fat (375 degrees), placing raised side down first. As soon as they are taken from the fat, dip doughnuts into prepared icing.

ICING

2½ cups powdered sugar, sifted
3 tbsps. cream
1 unbeaten egg white
½ tsp. salt
¾ tsp. vanilla

Mix together in large bowl.



That Final Touch

In preparing her contribution to the First Methodist WSCS salad luncheon, Tuesday, Mrs. Warden Mayes ladles a whipped cream sauce onto a luscious combination of cherries, pineapple, oranges and marshmallows. Instructions for the 24 Hour Salad are found in the accompanying story.

Canned Vegetables Can Be Epicurean

Pantry shelf vegetables can sometimes find a joyous reception if prepared in an Epicurean way. Here's one way to treat canned tomatoes.

STEWED TOMATOES WITH ARTICHOKES

Ingredients:

1 can (1 lb) stewed tomatoes
1 tsp. instant minced onion or 4 tsps. minced raw onion
⅛ tsp. garlic powder or 1 small garlic clove (crushed)
¼ cup sauterne or other white table wine
1 can (7 to 8½ ounces) artichoke hearts (drained)

Method:

Put tomatoes, onion, garlic and sauterne in s saucepan; simmer (do not boil) 10 minutes. Add artichoke hearts; simmer 5 minutes longer.

Serve in sauce dishes. Makes four to five servings.

Cheese Stars In Pretty Tidbits

Toasted cheese olive rounds are puffy little appetizers to keep in mind for your parties.

They can parade distinctively around a punch bowl when stand-up refreshments are being served, or they can be the extra tidbit that augments a vegetable or fruit salad luncheon.

Make up a large batch of these cheese rounds early, even to the stuffed olives that nestle on top. If you assemble them on baking sheets, then cover them with a damp towel and store in the refrigerator, they will remain fresh and appetizing.

Cut out two-inch white bread rounds. Toast on one side in a hot oven. With a sharp 1½-inch cutter, cut rounds from thin slices of natural cheddar cheese. Place on untoasted sides of bread.

Chop one 4-ounce can of buttoned mushrooms, drain and cook mushrooms lightly in 2 tablespoons butter. Sprinkle over top of cheese. Place a slice of stuffed olive in center and sprinkle with paprika. Toast in 350 degree oven until cheese begins to melt. Serve piping hot.

Cereal Gives Crisp Texture To Cookies

Cereal can provide that crunchy quality in cookies so cherished by youngsters and adults alike. It's a king-sized job keeping the cookie jar filled during summer vacation, which is almost here. Try this recipe:

CHOCOLATE NUT CRISPS

1 cup sifted flour
2 tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup oven-toasted rice cereal
Pecan halves

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Melt chocolate with butter over hot but not boiling water. Remove from heat; cool slightly.

Add sugar, mixing thoroughly. Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Stir in sifted dry ingredients together with oven-toasted rice cereal; mix well.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Press a pecan half in center of each cookie. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 12 minutes. Cool slightly before removing from baking sheets. Yields four dozen cookies.

Tea Sandwich

Marmalade has an affinity for cream-style cottage cheese. Just blend a small amount into the cheese and spread the filling generously between thin slices of Boston brown bread or pumpernickel bread. It makes a delicious tea sandwich.

For Pie Dough

Pastry flour makes excellent pie dough; but cake flour is not usually recommended for this use.

Fancy Cooking Gains Followers

AP Newsfeatures

The disappearance of the domestic and the bounty of America are combining to create a new breed of discerning eaters: epicures who cook the dishes they enjoy.

"Lucullus, Madame Pompadour, Louis XIV and Marie Antoinette were great gourmets," says Poppy Cannon, one of the new cook-epicures, "but any of them would have been helpless in the kitchen. The Duc de Richelieu has several sauces named in his honor—but in honor of his inspiration and appreciation, not his preparation. The only notable exception I can think of was Alexandre Dumas, who was not only a great epicure but a magnificent and daring cook."

"This country's great cooks, and good eaters are being developed right in their own kitchens, not in its restaurants, she says.

HELP YOURSELF

"It has come about as a matter of necessity," insists Miss Cannon. "We have lost our servitors, and in order to have great food you have to know how to make it yourself."

In another era it took years to evolve as a great chef, and most of them learned as they worked along with a skilled veteran. Today a beginner can take many short-cuts and has on hand a great many aids.

"In the first place, there is a wealth of literature on good cooking now," said Miss Cannon. "It is in books, in newspapers and in magazines.

"In the second place, there is a wealth of materials available for superb cooking. No king ever knew such bounty of foods which are available in and out of season. The average supermarket—the average, mind you—stocks about 5,000 different items, including such things as saffron, oregano and sesame."

Miss Cannon says that thousands of men and women have become such good cooks that "advanced" cookbooks now have the brisk sale which once was reserved for the basic cookbooks. A few years ago she authored a best-selling book on cooking short-cuts ("The Can-Opener Cookbook") which enjoyed a tremendous sale.

Now, in collaboration with Alice B. Toklas, a San Francisco woman who during 50 years of residence in France has become a world-famous cook, she is gratified at the sale of a book confined entirely to epicurean, exquisite dishes. It is called "Aromas and Flavors," and contains such lavish and rare recipes as a 17th Century secret for eggs pickled in wine and vinegar; a method to prepare a special salad vinegar with rose leaves and something Miss Toklas, with admirable understatement calls "Extravagant Mashed Potatoes" which calls for the use of a pound of butter with four potatoes.

START AT TOP

"You can do great cooking with very little material," confesses Miss Cannon, "but it is not as exciting and you need to know more about cooking if you don't have much to work with.

"I think a beginner can get started toward being a great cook with a quick and easy success right away. A lot of people were discouraged in the days when they started you making plain muffins—which were dull anyway—and finally moved you on to more fancy things. I think the way to start is with a souffle—it's not hard and it's dramatic and quick. Today with canned soups, frozen meats, mixes and all the short cuts, anyone who enjoys eating can start cooking at the top and keep on going from there."

SPICE VOCABULARY

OREGANO, an herb, is available in either whole or ground form. Green in color, it has a distinctive, strong flavor.

Oregano is compatible with pizza pie, spaghetti sauce, meat sauce, Swiss steak, beef stew, pork and veal, broiled and roasted lamb, poultry, stuffed fish; cheese spreads, gravies, cream and tomato sauces; beef soup, bean soup, tomato soup; vegetable juice cocktail; onions, peas, spinach, white potatoes, string beans.

Sweet Potatoes Like To Be Candied

Are candied sweet potatoes usually too sweet for your taste? If so, here are directions for a toned-down recipe:

HONEY-ORANGE SWEET POTATOES

Ingredients:

6 medium-sized boiled or baked sweet potatoes
4 tbps. butter or margarine
⅓ cup honey
1 tsp. grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice
⅛ tsp. salt

Method:

Remove skins from sweet potatoes; cut in half lengthwise. In a 10-inch skillet mix together the butter, honey, orange rind, orange juice and salt; heat.

Add sweet potatoes; simmer, basting often and turning once or twice, until syrup is reduced and thickened — about 10 minutes.

Spring Desserts Can Feature Fresh Rhubarb

Rhubarb is in the market now, which prompts the devotees to get out their pastry fixin's and make pie. The rosy stalks are sliced into pieces and cooked to be eaten as is, too. Another suggestion is to make the rhubarb the basis of a pudding.

Those disinclined to rhubarb by itself should consider the addition of apples in rhubarb pie; or blend in fresh strawberries with rhubarb for a pudding, this makes for a less tart flavor.

Here are two recipes featuring rhubarb:

FRESH RHUBARB PIE

Filling:

1 cup sugar
5 tbsps. cornstarch
1 tsp. salt
5 cups fresh rhubarb, cut in 1-inch pieces

Crust:

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ cup enriched corn meal
½ tsp. salt
2-3 cup shortening
6 to 7 tbsps. cold water
1 tsp. sugar

Heat oven to hot (400 degree F.) For filling, mix sugar, cornstarch and salt. (May use 1¼ cups sugar if rhubarb is exceptionally tart.) Sprinkle over rhubarb; toss lightly to mix.

For pie crust, sift together flour, corn meal and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water, a tablespoon at a time, stirring lightly until pastry can be formed into ball. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; let stand about 5 minutes. Divide dough into two parts; roll one part to form 12-inch circle; fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Add rhubarb filling.

Roll out other dough for top crust slightly larger than pie plate. Make slits in pastry to permit escape of steam. Moisten edge of lower crust. Place top crust over filling. Fold edge of top crust under bottom crust; flute to seal. Sprinkle sugar over crust. Bake in preheated oven (400 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes. Makes one 9-inch pie.

RHUBARB PUDDING

1 pound fresh rhubarb
¾ cup sugar
1-16 tsp. salt
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
2 egg whites
1-3 cup sugar
½ cup cream, whipped (optional)
8 whole fresh strawberries

Cut leaves from rhubarb and discard. Slice stalks into 1-inch pieces. Combine with the ¾ cup sugar and salt. Cover. Bake 1 hour in preheated slow 300 degree oven.

Measure ¾ cup hot rhubarb juice and ½ cup baked rhubarb. Soften gelatin in ½ cup cold water. Add hot rhubarb juice. Mix well to dissolve gelatin. Add remaining cold water. Chill until mixture is thick as fresh egg whites. Fold in baked rhubarb and strawberries.

Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat in the 1-3 cup sugar and fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into lightly oiled 5-cup mold. Chill until ready to serve.

Unmold onto serving dish. Garnish with whipped cream and whole strawberries, if desired. Serves 8 to 10.

FRESH RHUBARB PIE

Chop Tangy Pickle Into Main Dishes

Pickles have long been known as the tidbit foods that make simple salads and sandwiches taste so much better. Even Cleopatra is said to have considered them a royal treat.

But using pickles as an ingredient in main dishes is comparatively new. More than 60 million gallons of pickles will be eaten in this country during the year, according to a survey. And a surprising amount of these will, no doubt, be used in cooking.

Many otherwise bland dishes take on entirely new character and flavor with the addition of a little chopped pickle. Consider these possibilities:

Add a half cup of coarsely chopped dills to beef hash or meat loaf when you're mixing the ingredients.

Give bread dressing for fowl or pork roast a lift by adding one-fourth cup or so of minced sweet gherkins.

Coarsely chop any tart pickle, or garlic dill and stir into a creamed or buttered vegetable just before serving.

Add finely chopped pickles to butter or cream sauce used on baked or broiled fish. It lends a subtle dash of tang.

A Rebuke For Interference

In Little Rock three outspoken segregationists were defeated and three "moderates" were victorious in the school board recall election Monday. The main difference between the segregationists and the "moderates" was this: The first group wanted no part of integration; the second preferred "some" integration rather than have no schools at all.

The school board had refused to re-employ some 40 teachers who were presumed to be in the "moderate" camp.

The vacancies on the board created by defeat of the segregationists will be filled by the county school board, under terms of the "recall."

This was not necessarily a cross-section of Little Rock opinion on integration. Rather it was a rebuke to Gov. Faubus. People of any given community resent having a governor or other state official interfering in what they consider their own local affairs, and Faubus was guilty of interference in this instance in a particularly aggravating form.

Integrationists who interpret the results as a green light to rush ahead with all-out integration and attempt to capitalize on it are probably in for a rude awakening.

An Irreplaceable Commodity

The distribution of natural gas has in these postwar years become a tremendous interstate operation. States formerly dependent on coal and fuel oil for industrial and domestic uses have learned the convenience and relative economy of natural gas, and interstate pipelines and local distributing corporations in almost every state of the Union have developed a multi-billion-dollar business.

The essential ingredient in this amazingly successful operation is natural gas as it comes out of the ground in areas blessed with this resource. Texas has supplied more than half of the billions and trillions of cubic feet of this wonderful substance, which yields other valuable byproducts in addition to heat for industry and homes.

Texas has been the chief supplier of natural gas in interstate commerce for a number of reasons. First was its immense quantity and high quality. Second was its cheapness. Third (and perhaps most beguiling of all considerations, was Texas' favorable tax laws and the reluctance of the Texas Legislature to impose a realistic levy on the natural gas that flows so freely out of Texas to enrich the coffers of states and other political subdivisions which in many instances derived more taxes—up to three times as much—from Texas gas as the people of Texas themselves derived. (Yet in some instances consumers in other states have bought Texas gas cheaper than many Texas communities are able to buy it.)

The great interstate pipelines have found Texas "easy" to do business with. One result is that industries that might have come to Texas to take advantage of natural gas as a fuel could see no sense in changing their locations when they could buy the same gas where they were, thanks to interstate pipelines. Thus, instead of capitalizing on the opportunity to use gas as a powerful stimulus to our state's development, Texas has seen one of its greatest natural resources flow to the benefit of other states without taking an adequate toll in the form of legitimate taxes to bolster our own state economy.

Gov. Daniel has proposed to the Legislature, desperately seeking ways and means of staving off financial disaster, a rise in the levy on gas to 5 per cent, estimated to produce $36.5 million per biennium. For the benefit of Texas producers, he would lower the production tax from the present 7 per cent down to 5 per cent.

Thus the combined tax on gas would remain the same as now, 10 per cent.

There is no constitutional way of levying a tax on gas that goes into interstate commerce without making the same levy on that used within the state, but the author of the bill estimates the increase on gas would add only 5 cents a month to the extra cost to be paid by the average Texas household. The production tax is something else, and the two per cent reduction there should ease any pain the other hike would cause our producers.

Natural gas is an irreplaceable commodity. Our Texas tax coffers should receive more taxes from other states using our gas, which once gone is gone forever.

Praise In Europe For Secretary Dulles

GENEVA — No American since the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt has been given the tributes and eulogies that have been printed in the newspapers of Europe in praise of John Foster Dulles. The attention which the death of the former secretary of state has attracted both in the press and on the radio is in itself a demonstration of how important the leadership of the United States is today in this troubled world.

Columns upon columns of space, not only recounting the life of Mr. Dulles but appraising his many activities in international relations, give some idea of the impact of the news on the peoples of all countries. Perhaps this is because of the dramatic fight of Mr. Dulles against cancer, perhaps it is because of his courageous fulfillment of his duties almost to the very day he became disabled, and perhaps it is because of the discovery at last that the American secretary of state won the respect of mankind for his dedication to principle — but the acclaim has been universal.

Yet it is significant that, along with the praise, criticisms have been repeated in editorials and obituary analyses which illustrate how inadequate are the methods of communication sometimes between policy-making officials of the United States government and the press of other countries such as, for instance, Great Britain.

Thus, the London "Daily Telegraph," in an editorial entitled "Death of a Statesman," pays unqualified tribute to Mr. Dulles, but in its obituary article on another page repeats many misinterpretations of American policy in connection with the Suez crisis of 1956. The editorial says in part:

"Statesmen are remembered less for what they do than for how they do it. It is the public image they create rather than their policies that live in the mind of posterity. . . .

"Judged by this yardstick few would deny that Mr. John Foster Dulles, whose tragic death we mourn today, will be remembered by posterity as a great statesman. For perhaps no American since Franklin Roosevelt has so successfully created a public image which will be remembered long after his particular policies have been forgotten. He has stamped his name on history in the only way open to a secretary of state: by symbolizing and expressing in his person those fundamental attitudes to world affairs which dominated the period in which he held office.

"Subsequent events may prove him to have been mistaken in part or in whole. But they will never efface his imprint because while he was alive he convinced an overwhelming majority of his own countrymen and of the whole free world that his assessment of the East-West struggle was fundamentally right."

But the editorial goes on to question whether his "messianic attitude toward Communism may have denied the West advantageous moments for negotiation, notably at the time of Soviet disarray after Stalin's death when Sir Winston Churchill first advocated a summit conference." Doubt is expressed, on the other hand, in the same editorial whether "without this crusading approach and without Mr. Dulles' conviction of moral rectitude," the West could have maintained "the will to go on fighting the cold war."

In the London "Times," too, tribute is paid to the sincerity and dedication of Mr. Dulles, but again doubts are expressed on what are termed "the proper place of moralistic judgments in the shaping and conduct of foreign policy." The "Times" goes on to say that "the moralistic habit has not by any means been an American monopoly, but Mr. Dulles had it strongly and it served him well and ill."

The "Times" editorial repeats the fallacy which so many Britons accept today and which Mr. Dulles labored so long to dispel — namely, that recognition of Communist China is desirable even if it means the crumbling of the Western bastion of troops in Korea and Formosa and the collapse of the morale of our Allies in Southeast Asia. The same editorial revives the often misinterpreted version of the so-called "roll back" of Communism in Eastern Europe and again mistakenly attributes to Mr. Dulles a pledge or motive to use military force when in the 1952 presidential campaign he was really advocating the use of moral force for "liberating" peoples held captive by the Soviets.

In the "obituary analysis" on another page, coupled with the "Times" seeming lack of confidence in "moralistic judgments," there seems to crop out the traditional affinity in Britain for the materialistic side of things at the expense of moral values. Today, for instance, trade with the Soviet Union is a big passion in England and the Eccles trade mission to Moscow is front-page news. The "obituary" article likewise mentions resentments such as arose out of the Aswan Dam affair and the intervention in Suez by Britain and France which Mr. Dulles so staunchly opposed. The scars are still there. But someday, when the facts are fully disclosed, they'll be erecting a monument in London to John Foster Dulles as the man who saved Britain from a war in the Middle East that would have bankrupted England and brought on a guerrilla war with Communist auxiliaries which would have gone on for years.

Labor Control Bill In Sad Shape

WASHINGTON (AP)—The labor control bill, given a big sendoff by the Senate, is in sad shape now.

In the Senate on April 25 it got about the fattest endorsement any measure could hope for, short of a unanimous vote. The vote was 90-1.

Since both houses have to vote for a measure before it can become law, the Senate-passed bill went over to the House for action. There the Labor Committee held, and is still holding, hearings.

A massacre began:

1. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell wanted the Senate bill tightened up.

2. Big labor and big business both came out against it: labor because it says the bill is too tough, business because it thinks the bill isn't tough enough.

3. The 30 members of the House committee are reportedly split every which way on the kind of bill they think is needed.

So if some kind of labor control bill ever gets out of the committee for House action—chances are it won't—it's pretty certain any bill passed by the House will be different from the one the Senate blessed.

That would require House and Senate to get together and compromise on a single bill, since no bill can become law unless both houses agree on every detail.

Such a compromised agreement might be impossible to get before Congress quits this summer for the year.

Eisenhower and Mitchell want the House to include provisions left out by the Senate: to deal with blackmail picketing and secondary boycotts.

The AFL-CIO called the Senate bill a mess and a monstrosity. Its president, George Meany, said his organization would support legislation it considered appropriate for helping unions curb corruption.

But he said amendments written into the labor bill in the Senate would hurt union activity and hinder instead of encouraging democratic union procedures. The huge AFL-CIO promised a battle to get the Senate bill changed in the House.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Assn. of Manufacturers, like the AFL-CIO, have made a section by section analysis of the Senate bill.

The NAM said the Senate bill "fails woefully, in the opinion of experts, to meet the desperate need for curbing the monopoly power of union bosses." It wants unions put under antitrust laws and barred from any form of compulsory union membership. And it wants picketing and boycott bans tightened.

William Barton, the Chamber's general counsel, said his organization frankly would prefer no changes in labor law this year to seeing the Senate bill become law.

He said it would fool people into thinking an effective anticorruption measure had been passed when, he argued, such would not be true.

On top of all this James Hoffa, the Teamsters' Union president, angered Congress when he was quoted—although he later denied it—as threatening a nationwide strike if Congress passed a labor control bill he didn't like.

A Salute To The Kids

NEW YORK (AP) — The white card, embossed with a gold coat-of-arms, announced the date of graduation exercises for a high school in Virginia.

Inside, a smaller card bore the name, James D. Ream Jr.

Well, June is at hand. June is the month when, all over America, the high school band plays "Pomp and Circumstance," or some other march, and the seniors step up for diplomas.

These cards, however, the big one and the smaller one, represent something unusual, something special.

On a chilly night last December, I crossed the bridge into South Norfolk, Va., and found the Oscar F. Smith High School. Lights burned in the classrooms, the study halls, the auditorium, the library. The grounds outside were quiet and the halls deserted.

It was a little after 8 p.m.

Isn't that the hour when teenagers are supposed to be munching popcorn in the movies, or hot-rodding around town looking for a traffic accident to get hurt in?

There was an air of purpose about this school.

It was a night high school. The pupils all came from nearby Norfolk, where the regular schools had been closed in the dispute over federal court orders to integrate. In South Norfolk, authorities offered their facilities — at night—for all who wanted to use them.

Nearly 800 boys and girls did.

They had started at 4 in the afternoon, taken a half-hour break at 5:45, and gone back to work. The final bell would ring at 9 o'clock.

No truant officer compelled them to be in school. They were there because they were determined to get a diploma.

E. E. Brickell, the principal—whose own hours at that time were from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.—said attendance was running better than 95 per cent. Disciplinary problems? Practically none. And grades? Above average.

I asked if I could talk with some of the pupils.

He called in a pretty, serious-faced girl, Adelia Watson; and a tall, lean, clean-cut boy, Jim Ream. Both were seniors, both 17. Both hoped to go to college. Adelia Watson said she wanted to study interior decorating. Jim Ream grinned, said he expected to be an engineer, and would like to study engineering at the U.S. Naval Academy, if he could get the appointment.

Was it much of an adjustment to go to school at night? In effect, turning the days inside-out?

"Not too bad," said Jim Ream. "It's better in some ways. You can do your homework in the morning this way, while you're fresh."

Adelia Watson said she found it easier to study in the daytime, too.

Yes, they missed the sports, the social life, the extra-curricular activities that go to making the high school years some of the best in an American kid's life.

"But I guess nothing is too much to pay for an education," said Jim Ream. "It's worth it."

"What about your social life? Doesn't this cut in on your dating?"

Adelia Watson shook her head. "My parents don't let me do any dating on school nights anyway," she said. Jim Ream said he had been too busy, what with one thing and another.

When Jim Ream's card came the other day, announcing graduation day, I thought of him and Adelia Watson and hundreds of bright-looking, intent boys and girls in the classrooms that night.

So here's a salute to you, Jim Ream, and to you, Adelia Watson, and all your friends in the class of 1959. You're getting a special diploma in a few weeks.

And all of you are mighty special too, in my book.

Profit Plan Canned

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — It cost the city more than $2,000 to find out there's no great need for garbage cans in Gadsden.

When curb pickup of garbage began in 1955 the city bought 10,000 garbage cane for resale to the public. The cans cost $2.47 each.

Recently the city commission accepted the offer of a private appliance company to take the last 2,500 of the cans off the city's hands at $1.50 each.

RX For Wild Time

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP) — A thief who broke into a ranch home near Bisbee could have had a wild time with the loot.

Stolen were a .22 caliber rifle, two boxes of shells, three bottles of scotch whisky, six bottles of champagne and seven bottles of gin. And for the morning after, the thief took a pound of coffee.

Handicapped

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A 29-year-old Phoenix laborer awoke to find a burglar in his home.

But Feliciano Carr told police he was unable to chase the fleeing thief. The burglar had stolen Carr's pants.

Around The Rim

Nobody Does This, But Here's How

Now that college exams are about over at HCJC, I think I'll squeal on some of my chums who "managed" to pull through with good grades, but who, for some curious reason, didn't have to crack a book.

I don't want to come right out and say that there's cheating going on in college classrooms today; but there's a whole lot of dependence on planted reminders.

Most good students don't have to, and wouldn't resort to, cheat notes, as the students call them. Others have found out in the past that they can't pack enough information into a cheat reminder to recompense for the time wasted when studying could have been done.

And, now and then, there's the old boy who wasn't quite good enough with his subversive tactics and can never forget his last explanatory after-class session with the teacher.

It's extremely hard for an instructor to keep an eye on 20 to 30 students, and it is impossible to see each individual from one spot in the room. However, it is very easy to spot a cheater from the student's vantage point.

Here's some of the cheat's favorite tricks, as observed:

Writing pages datelined and headed as examination papers, with answers to questions most likely to be asked. If by chance the question is asked on test, the would-be intellect need only shuffle through his writing material as if in search of a clean sheet, withdraw the page with the appropriate answer and number the question appropriately.

Another more common bit of conniving is jotting down reminders on convenient books, a desk, an arm and even the soles of shoes. Some have been known to put a two-inch wide cheat sheet inside the shoe, and get informative peeps every time they scratch their big toes.

When a number of students are seated together in a crowded room, there is little or no difficulty in swapping exam papers with a nearby neighbor who also has the habit. The pages can be re-exchanged when each student has "borrowed" sufficiently and when the instructor is intent on matters at his desk. Unless a teacher watched for it, a full-length exam page could be passed from the back of the room, to the front and back through each student's hands.

Reading from open books under a fellow student's desk isn't impossible. However, they say that turning pages with a No. 10½ shoe is relatively difficult.

And there's the fool-proof method of slipping into an office and getting a replica of the examination. But that requires research in finding the answers; That's as bad as studying.

A good cheat must have nerve, else he can't keep a straight face up and suspicion down when the maneuvering gets tough.

I don't seem to have what it takes; I have a difficult time looking a prof in the eye when my conscience isn't clear.

Maybe I'm just a coward.

Oh well, it takes all kinds, they say.

No Chance To Get Chummy With Reds

Inez Robb, after a week in Moscow, is in Copenhagen where she will write a series of censorship-free article on her experiences in the Russian capital.

COPENHAGEN — What will the American tourist, who plunks down the considerable sum required to visit the U.S.S.R., see (i.e., be permitted to see) once he reaches Russia?

That depends, obviously, on who the tourist is and what he represents. I am convinced that the tourist who will see the most is the one who is combining business with pleasure, often for U. S. tax purposes.

I met dozens of American businessmen in Moscow, ranging from men traveling independently (again, as independently as one can travel in Russia) to groups such as the 45 Miami businessmen to whom Premier Nikita Khrushchev granted a two-hour interview in the Kremlin.

After bringing insistent pressure on Intourist, the Big Brother of us all who tour in the U.S.S.R., and after citing the promises of the Russian Embassy in Washington, lawyers in the Miami group were finally permitted to talk with Russian lawyers and judges (always, of course, under the all-seeing eye of Intourist interpreters), bankers with bankers, and builders with builders.

Actor Dean Murphy, an old friend of mine, finally was allowed to visit the Central House of Actors which roughly, and very roughly indeed, corresponds to Actors Equity at home.

Dr. George Boucher of Miami visited Moscow hospitals, whose equipment he described as 25 years behind the times, and watched surgical teams at work, whose technique he described as splendid.

I met an American engineer who had visited a ball-bearing plant. A New England manufacturer who buys cashmere, not vicuna, in Russia visited two woolen mills.

The Russians are frantically eager for foreign trade, particularly with Uncle Sam. Any American businessman who might possibly represent a contact for future trade may get to see his opposite number in the U.S.S.R. and visit one Russian plant in his particular field. The rest of us will see the sights, period.

An executive of the Libby-Owens Ford Glass Company had been taken to a glass factory for a long conference with its officials. In every instance American businessmen found the Russians fully conversant with the latest technical developments in the U.S.A. and with our technical publications.

Sally Victor, the American milliner par excellence, after considerable insistence, saw a few Soviet fashion designers and a fashion show which left her numb with disbelief. The sack has reached Moscow. But I, in turn, was not permitted to talk with a Soviet newspaperwoman.

Nor was I permitted to set foot inside a Soviet home, although friends in New York had asked me to get in touch with relatives. An empty apartment, yes. That I could finally see after pressure. But a home, no.

The American tourist who goes to Russia believing that he is going to have any chummy contacts with the Russian people is in for the surprise of his life. And the chances of getting into a Soviet home are approximately 1,000 to 1.

His best chances for contact with Russians are through the children, who adore American chewing gum. Happy is the traveler who goes armed with quantities of gum. He will be surrounded in the streets by polite children saying, "Goom? Goom?" and always offering in return a variety of the Soviet lapel badges turned out by the millions.

These are the only humans we have seen, said a British newsman of these children, after his first 36 hours in Moscow.

But the tourist, especially the American tourist suspected of carrying plenty of dollars, will have another chance for all too human contact. And that is with the very active black market all over the U.S.S.R.

Dulles, Master Of Concentration

WASHINGTON — Whatever else history may say of the late John Foster Dulles, he will go down in the books as a character; an unmistakable personality with an extraordinary drive of ambition, coupled with a capacity for the exercise of authority.

Observing him through the postwar years, this reporter would say that if one single trait helped to explain his remarkable career it was his power of concentration. No matter where he was or under what circumstances the problem in hand got his complete and undivided attention.

So complete was his concentration that he seemed never to put down the concerns of foreign policy. This is partly the explanation for his tirelessness—why in New Delhi or Bonn or Geneva or Tokyo he could go through a 14-hour day scarcely pausing between meetings. It also helps to explain his equanimity. He had so disciplined himself that every moment was given to the task in hand, with no time left for nonsense or the vagaries of temperament.

Recently in Bonn those who had seen him in January on his last mission recalled for this reporter what his discipline meant. He was in considerable pain from the resurgence of the cancer that took his life. But when he talked with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer or others in the West German government he gave no sign of his distress.

It was only when he had returned to the American Embassy, where he was staying, that he let down and that those close to him understood how much it cost him to carry on.

At press conferences and in the background dinner sessions we frequently had with him, particularly in the early years of his secretaryship, he was, above all, the superb lawyer out to make his case to the jury. With a shrewd sense of news values, his objective was to tell enough but no more than enough. The effects he achieved were almost all deliberates even when, as in his boast about brinksmanship, they seemed most indiscreet.

Meeting 12 or 14 Washington correspondents for a dinner session, he would come directly from his office. His rule was two old-fashioneds before dinner. He had a curious habit of stirring his drink with his forefinger. Each time he came to such a session it was with a sure knowledge of what he wanted reporters to learn and print.

Pressed hard in the give-and-take of questioning, his nervous tic—a twitching of the left eye—became evident. This same involuntary crack in his disciplined exterior was sometimes visible when he was under hostile interrogation by the Senate or House foreign relations groups. Dulles was particularly sensitive to the questioning of Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, long the ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and more recently its chairman. The two men scarcely concealed their mutual antipathy.

Perhaps because of the very intensity of his concentration on his own aims and ambitions, Dulles was lacking in empathy. It was difficult for him to project himself into the thoughts and feeling of others. This may well have been his greatest weakness in diplomatic negotiation.

He found it hard to realize that others could honestly differ with him and this was particularly true in the conviction underlying everything he did—that the drive of world communism had to be blunted if not destroyed. In his dealings with the statesmen of the world, his greatest failure was with Prime Minister Nehru of India. Nehru's determination to hold to a neutral course in an effort to avoid war and build up his country was simply incomprehensible to Dulles.

His greatest success was with Chancellor Adanauer of West Germany. The close personal relationship between the two men was the cornerstone of Dulles' policy of a revived and democratically motivated Germany. One of the reasons the Geneva conference of foreign ministers is stuck on dead center is that Dulles is not on hand to speak with the frankness of an old friend to Adenauer.

While he was highly sensitive to currents of opinion and concerned over criticism of his policies in an age of conformity, Dulles was not a conformist. He was never the hail fellow well met, the enthusiastic glad-hander. There was nothing in his personality of the slick Madison Avenue approach.

It was as an austere and dedicated apostle of righteousness that he moved unwearyingly across the world doing what he believed to be the task to which he had been called not only by background and training but by a higher call.

Actress Looks Back On Her Happiest Years

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "A day never went by without his telling me how much I meant to him. That's memory enough for me. What more could a woman want in life?"

This was a sad, serious Joan Crawford speaking of her life with soft drink magnate Alfred Steele, who died suddenly April 19. She is back in the haunts she knows well—the arc-lighted world of movie sets.

She looks as good as ever, the same freckled, unlined face, the disciplined figure even slimmer. But something seems different. Long the epitome of the movie star, she appears to have lost that one-mindedness about her acting career. The reason, perhaps, is that she found in her fourth marriage—her marriage of maturity—her greatest happiness.

"They were four wonderful years," she reflected. "I can't tell you how much they meant to me.

"Alfred respected me and what I had done. Always in press conferences he would refer to me as 'Miss Crawford.' Others might call me 'Mrs. Steele,' and he would in private. But he said I deserved to be called by my own name in public for what I had achieved.

"I tried to help him as much as I could. When we went into a new city, I'd find out how many bottlers there were and how much concentrate was used, etc. He was amazed and asked me how I knew such things. I told him it was just that old movie training of keeping my ears open and learning things."

They traveled 300,000 miles together, promoting Pepsi Cola throughout the world.

She is carrying on, having been elected to the firm's board of directors. Meanwhile, she is back to make her first film here in four years, "The Best of Everything."

TSCRA Directors To Meet At Abilene

Directors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn. will meet in Abilene on June 5, according to Charles A. Stewart, secretary-general manager.

Norman Moser, DeKalb, president of the 10,000-member group, will preside at the regular quarterly meeting which will bring approximately 100 of the Southwest's cattle industry leaders together. The meeting will be held at the Windsor Hotel.

TSCRA board meetings are open to the public, and Abilene members of the association are urging all cattlemen in the area to attend.

Western Officials Believe Berlin Crisis Due In 1961

By BRACK CURRY

GENEVA (AP) — Some Western officials believe the real Berlin crisis will come in 1961, not this year or the next.

They believe the Soviets will accept some stopgap agreement at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference that will continue the uneasy Allied occupation of West Berlin.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in their view, hopes that national elections in Britain, the United States and West Germany will bring in new administrations that will weaken or shatter the united Allied front on German issues.

Should Socialist governments replace the present Conservative administrations in Britain this year or next and in West Germany in 1961, far-reaching changes would most likely result in foreign policies of those two nations.

A Democratic administration in Washington in 1961 probably would change U.S. foreign policy little, but it might change it some.

The opening of these officials is that Khrushchev will not risk an armed clash over Berlin at this time.

Khrushchev's November ultimatum to the Big Three to get out of West Berlin in six months is considered by these officials as primarily a probing action to test the unity of the Allies.

Housewife Drops Mystery Novels, Becomes Lawyer

By GENE HANDSAKER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I'd been reading mystery stories every night. So I thought, 'Instead of spending my time with those every night, I'll go to law school.'"

That's how Mrs. Janie Hixon Courtright, housewife, mother and former schoolteacher, became a lawyer. But that's only half the story.

Her daughter, D. Dian Hixon, 26, former beauty queen of Santa Monica City College, began reading her mother's law textbooks and decided: "They were absolutely fascinating. I wanted to know more about the law."

Result: Next June 10, the day she is admitted to the bar, Dian will join her mother in the practice of law.

So far as they've been able to learn, there's no other mother - daughter attorney combination anywhere in the country, they said in announcing their partnership today.

The mother — wife of a Hollywood high school teacher, Clarence Courtright, and herself a former schoolteacher in her native Independence, Kan.—says she has read every one of Erle Stanley Gardner's novels starring the famed fictional lawyer, Perry Mason.

She took up law as a hobby, found the bar exam easy and says she loves legal practice.

Her daughter by a former marriage, "Dee Dee" is a blue-eyed blonde, 5 feet 5½ and 120 pounds. The first initial D. stands for a name Dee Dee has never used and won't reveal.
