Local woman recovering from injuries

An 84-year-old Iowa Park woman remains in Bethania Hospital, recovering from injuries sustained in a two-car accident on US 287 Thursday afternoon.

Mary Fern Corder had apparently become confused while driving her 1984 Thunderbird, and was traveling toward Wichita Falls, but was in the west-bound lane, shortly after 2 p.m.

As her car approached Rifle Range Road, a near head-on collision occurred with a 1994 Mercury Cougar being driven by Tina Michelle Lucas of Wichita Falls.

The left front of both vehicles collided.

Mrs. Corder was not wearing her seat belt, according to the accident report, and sustained massive head injuries, a broken shoulder, shattered elbow, several broken ribs and broken bones in one foot.

She was transported by ambulance to Bethania, where Tuesday she was reported to be in good condition. Her room number at the hospital is 602.

The driver of the other vehicle and her female passenger also were transported to a Wichita Falls hospital, where they were treated and released.

Neither was seriously injured. DPS Trooper Joe Clement credited the fact that both were using their seat belts, and both airbags deployed, preventing further injury.

'Refinery home' recalled

By MYRNA SMITH

"Sure, I remember how the house looked where I was born. It had three rooms with a chimney in the middle of the house with three holes so there could be a flue pipe to carry smoke from stoves in each of the rooms," replied Wayne Williams when asked about the house that is part of the history of Iowa Park.

Williams, a life-long resident of Iowa Park, was born at 410 Bank St., in one of the houses that were built by the original Wichita Valley Refining Co.

He is a true Wichita County product. His father was born on what is now FM 369 S. about half way between the old Iowa Park Road and FM 367. He doesn't know for sure the year his Williams grandparents came here, but he knows it was the very early days of Iowa Park.

When Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams, bought the house in 1924, the refinery had changed owners and was then owned by Texhoma Refining Co. Two years later the refinery again sold to Continental Oil Co., and soon operation was ceased.

Their house was just across the street from the refinery that was located where Park West Shopping Center, Wal-Mart and Smith X-Ray are today.

Wayne was born in 1929. "I don't remember the year, but I do remember that my dad helped to demolish the buildings. I remember real well seeing him pull down the tall tower that had a dome on top", he said.

His father worked for Wichita County and they cleared the area for the future fair grounds and buildings.

"I watched the WPA (Works Progress Administation) employees build every building on the fair grounds. I saw them mold the rock for the foundations of the buildings and for the fence," Williams said.

In 1936 the Williams house was enlarged and remodeled. The house is still there and occupied. There were four houses in the 300 block and two houses in the 400 block of Bank Street. Four of the company houses are located on Park Street.

Wayne and his brother, Norman, delivered milk on their bicycles and sold it to customers for 18 cents a quart. Their daddy staked their milk cow in a pasture at what is now Aldine and Pacific.

Wayne tells this story with a bit of chagrin. One morning when he was delivering milk before dawn, he was riding down the middle of the street, not far from where he now resides. A woman was walking in the middle of the street, but he could not see her and evidently she didn't hear or see him. He knocked her down and fell off his bicycle.

When he realized what had happened he was on the ground with the bicycle on top of him and the woman he struck was on top of the bicycle. He remembers that the late George Jones who worked at the Red and White Grocery Store came along and helped them up and took the woman to her home. He never did know why the woman was walking in the middle of the street.

Wayne began working for the post office when he was 12, delivering special delivery mail on his bicycle. The post office was to become his lifetime career.

He remembers one time he had a special delivery for a family at the edge of town. They were scared, because they just knew it must be a death message by it being special delivery. They didn't want Wayne to leave until they opened it. It was not bad news.

Sometime a person he made a delivery to had bad eyesight, or he would be very nervous to get that kind of message and Wayne would have to read the message to him.

He said he always had money when some of the other kids didn't because of his job. He always made extra money on special days, like Christmas and Mother's Day. Sometimes he would make $15 a month.

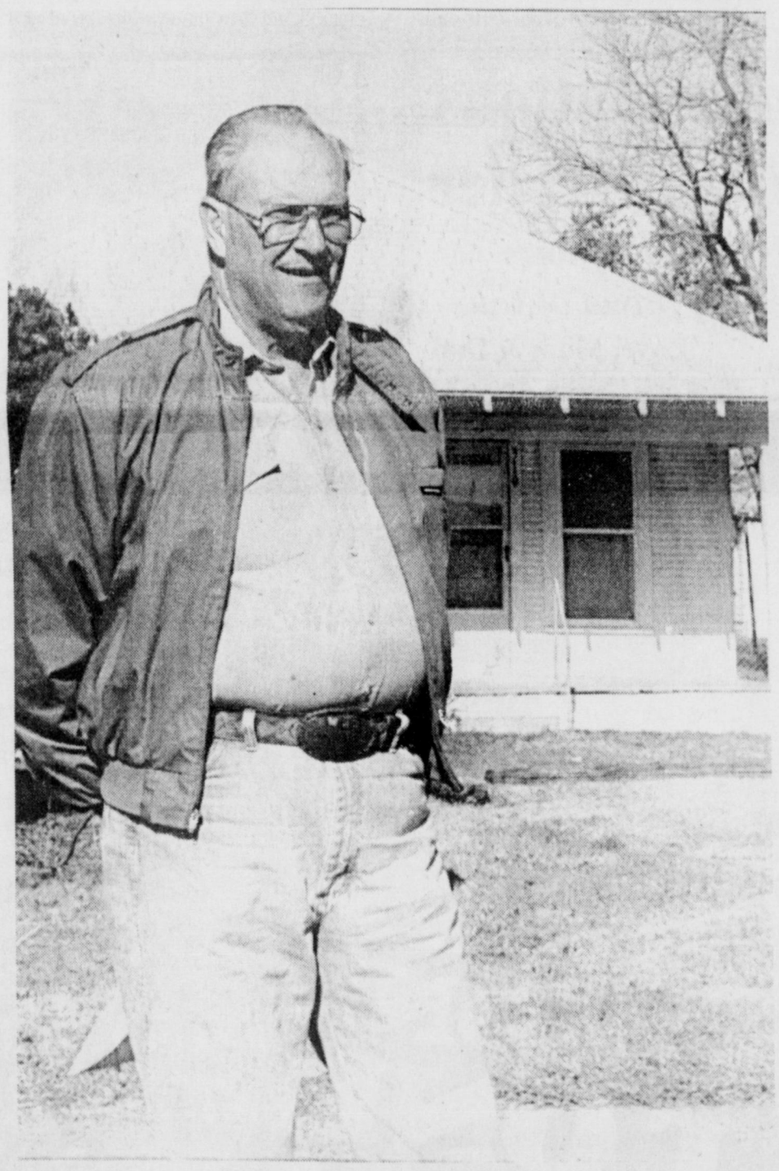

Williams remembers when Cash Street was paved to just east of the high school and how nice it was to ride his bicycle to school on pavement.

When he was in high school he had to be at the post office by 7:45 a.m. to see if there were any special deliveries. He had to check again at 1:30 p.m. and at 5:20 p.m. he would have to meet the Zephyr as it came through.

After Cash Street was paved the next he remembers was Yosemite to Alameda and then Wall to Alameda.

"The ice house at the end of Cash Street was a hanging out place for several of us. We would go down there in the summer and just hang out. Sometimes I would go in the ice house

Chamber to announce annual award recipients at banquet

People sitting in the audience Saturday night in the high school cafeteria will be the first to know who is being recognized for their contributions to their fellow citizens during 1994.

Those recognitions are always the highlight of the annual Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce banquet, which is to get underway at 7 p.m.

Under the policy of the Chamber, it is possible that as many as four individuals and one business could be recognized. It is up to the anonymously-appointed committee members to decide who, if any, qualify for the honor.

Besides the award announcements, the evening will also include a catered steak dinner prepared by the MuleSkinners, an outstanding speaker, and the installation of new Chamber officers.

Advance tickets are on sale at the Chamber office, Park Cleaners, Hughes Pharmacy and Iowa Park Leader, at $10 per person. Tickets purchased at the door are $12.50.

Keynote speaker Saturday will be Jack E. Powers, director of Human Resources for the Cryovac Division of W.R. Grace & Co. He is one of the few remaining key figures in Cryovac who has not retired since the company decided to build its facility here in the early 1970s.

Cryovac was the first business to be recognized by the Chamber when it initiated the Outstanding Business of the Year award, in 1989.

Others that followed were State National Bank, the City of Iowa Park, Entex Fabrication Inc., and Dutton Funeral Home.

The Chamber began recognitions in 1971, when the late Gladys James was named Outstanding Citizen of the Year.

Others who followed, in order, were Dr. Gordon Clark, Mrs. Frank Harlin, Ralph Beall, Wayne House, Darrell Dick, Mrs. Lita Watson, Mrs. Charlie Lee, Bill Steger, Gordon Griffith, Buck Voyles, Bill Gilmore, H.M. Nipper, and the entire Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department membership.

Other recipients have included Grover Cleveland, Frances George, James Barrington, Dr. Erwin Soell, Robert Palmer, Bob Hamilton, Michael Price, Ruth Welch, Sheri Kennedy and Joe Hughes.

The first recipient of the Outstanding Senior Citizen award west presented to the late Fenton Dale. Following him were Mrs. W.F. George, Arch Hughes, Charlie Metz, Bertha McDonald, Mrs. Otis Gay, Mrs. James Sewell, Lester Brooks, Riley Thompson, Olive Blalock, Pauline Singleton, Carl Sullivan, Ida Mae Lehman, Raymond Good, Tommie Smith, Betty Lowe, Wayne House, Virgil Woodfin, and Myrna Robinson.

Virgil Woodfin was the first to receive the Outstanding Agriculturist award, which was presented in 1978.

Following Woodfin were Loys Barbour, Ray Hicks, Rex Wells, Barry Mahler, Robert Wilcox, Stanley Williamson, Freddie Daume, Denny McCarthy, Marvin Klinkerman, David Robnett, Gene Jordan and Richard Hill.

The first Outstanding Educator award was presented to John Sibley, in 1979. Those following included Ethyle Kidwell, Linda Ayres, Bob Dawson, Earnie Reusch, Patsy Todd, Carol Edwards, Joni Whitis, Greg Miller, Jim Gotcher, Helen Roberts, Carole Venhaus, Kenneth Davis, Carolyn Richter, Dorothy Palmer and Linda Gray.

Board may amend transfer policy

Iowa Park school trustees will consider amending the district's policy concerning student transfers from City View, when the board meets at 7:30 this evening in the junior high library.

Iowa Park and City View have long had an agreement that the local district would accept City View students who apply, because that district does not have a high school.

In his pre-meeting message to board members, Supt. Glen Mitchell explained that growth of enrollments and the need of additional classrooms at IPHS are causing concern.

The four-paragraph amendment states:

"Beginning January 13, 1995, the Iowa Park CISD will no longer accept transfer students who are not enrolled in the Iowa Park CISD on that date, except transfers may be accepted for younger brothers and sisters of transfer students.

"Transfer students will be notified in writing by January 17, 1995, that transfer requests for the 1995-96 school year will be denied for any student involved in any type of discipline or attendance problem during the remainder of the 1994-95 school year.

"The Iowa Park High School Principal, Assistant Principal, Assistant Superintendent, Superintendent, and the Board President will serve on a committee to review all transfer requests for 1995-96 of students who are enrolled in Iowa Park Schools on May 25, 1995.

"The committee will review discipline or attendance problems and recommend transfers to the school board at the June board meeting," the amendment states.

Despite the proposed amendment, one transfer for the balance of this

No quorum, no meeting

For the first time in recent memory, Monday's regularly-scheduled meeting of the Iowa Park city council was cancelled due to a lack of quorum.

Mayor Wayne House apologized to the six persons in the audience, explaining no action could be taken with only two aldermen present.

Aldermen present were Virgil Woodfin and Bob Hamilton.

House said he had been aware that Bud Mercer and Johnny Crawford were out of town, but shortly before the meeting he said Mark Raby had called on the telephone to say he had pressing business and could not attend.

It was decided to hold only one meeting this month, instead of two, and that will be on Monday, Jan. 23.

Cook of the Week

Jean Johnson is a math teacher at Iowa Park High School, and has also taught at Midwestern State University and Vernon Regional Junior College. She has worked for Iowa Park CISD 22 years.

Jean said that she enjoys working with students. "I have fond memories of all of my former students and am especially proud when one excels later in life," she said. "Some of my former Trigonomentry students may remember when I would prepare Dessert Crepes topped with bananas, strawberries, and whipped cream for their classes," she added. This practice continued for about 10 years.

The daughter of Mrs. Elvy Sargent and the late Elvy Sargent, Jean is a graduate of Iowa Park High School, and has both a Bachelors and a Masters degree from Midwestern State University.

She is married to Thomas Johnson, owner and broker of Texoma Realty, which has offices in Iowa Park and Wichita Falls.

They have three children and five grandchildren.

Their daughter Kathy is married to Brad Payne and they have two boys. They live in Lubbock, where she teaches at Texas Tech in the Department of Human Sciences.

Thomas Johnson, Jr. is a CPA in Dallas. He is married and has two daughters. His wife Michele has a medical practice.

Frank Johnson is a high school teacher and coach in Plainview. He is married and has a son. His wife Tammy also teaches in the Plainview school system.

Jean's hobbies include machine knitting, sewing, and computers.

The recipes Jean brought in are for foods she prepares for special occasions. She espeoially likes recipes that can be made in advance, and each of these recipes fall into that category.

Jean related a special story that goes with one of the recipes. "When Kathy went away to Texas Tech, we started shipping (by bus) the Mahogany Chiffon Cake to her for her birthday," she said. "When the boys went away to school, they also expected 'the cake'. It has now become a family tradition, and we have shipped this cake to our children and their spouses almost every birthday since."

Lehman re-elected president Highland Cemetery Assoc.

Garland Lehman was re-elected president of the Highland Cemetery Association Board of Directors at a meeting Sunday afternoon at the RAC.

Other officers and board members elected for 1995 were Lowell Short, vice president, Reat Spruiell, treasurer, and Robert Wilcox, secretary. Laverne Owens will serve as parliamentarian.

Members of the board include Herb Adcock, Pat Aulds, Larry Dutton, Frances George, Erna Mahler, Harold Phillips, Don Richter, Lewis Jackson and Wilcox.

Pat Aulds will chair a committee to develop a plan for expansion on adjacent property south of the cemetery that was donated by the George family. Serving with her will be Frances George and Mrs. Spruiell.

The property is very visible from the expressway and can be developed into a beautiful entranceway to the cemetery. Ideas or donations will be welcome by this committee.

Lehman reviewed the past year's accomplishments at the cemetery. He told members that all records are now on the computer, that a security door has been installed at the office, and a large, fireproof safe now protects the records.

New water lines have been laid, with plans for more new ones in the future. A new lawn mower has been purchased, and the work area back of the Pavilion has been improved and secured.

Lehman also announced that new chair covers for the Pavilion have arrived. He praised the board of directors for their spirit of cooperation the past year.

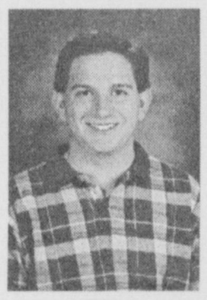

General membership meetings of the association are held the second Sunday of January, April, July and October at the RAC. Membership is voluntary and no dues are required. To add your name to the membership list and receive a newsletter, call 592-4412.

Attendance at the meetings is encouraged and donations are always welcome. They may be sent to Highland Cemetery Association, Box 12, Iowa Park, Tex, 76367, or they may be taken by the office at the Pavilion located in the cemetery. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Donations of $100 or more can be noted on individual plaques with a person's name engraved on it. These plaques are arranged inside the Pavilion and provide an impressive display on the north wall. Many families specify donations to the Cemetery Association as memorials at the time of death.

Participation in the association by the officers and board of directors is strictly voluntary and every effort is made to improve the operation, efficiency and appearance of Highland Cemetery.

Some work is donated by association members and individual families. This keeps expenses down and makes for a neater and more beautiful cemetery.

Congratulations Brandon Herder

Q. Is the moon ever actually blue?

A. The moon does occasionally appear blue because of the dust conditions in the atmosphere. The most famous widely observed blue moon of recent times occurred September 26, 1950, owing to dust raised by Canadian forest fires.

As I See It...

By Bob Hamilton

From where I sit, the only person who draws more criticism in the coffee shops than the tax man is the weather forecaster.

Take, for instance, the forecast we had last week that snow and freezing rain was eminent. It didn't happen.

And it was something about the same the previous week. Again, it didn't happen.

"I don't know why they keep giving forecasts when they're always wrong," one of my friends commented.

"Why do they keep making forecasts when they're always wrong?", he asked.

Lacking the time, I didn't attempt to give my opinion. Likely it wouldn't have been accepted anyway.

But I feel for the weather profession. I know they work at it. Their forecasts aren't arrived at by throwing darts at a chart, I can assure you.

I spent two years with weather people when I was in the Air Force. No, I wasn't involved directly in any part of their work, other than making sure they had the equipment and supplies they needed.

I was one of the supply personnel in 7th Weather Arctic Weather Central in 1951-52 in Anchorage.

After being there a few months, I had informed my mother by letter that I was going to call on a particular day, to make sure she would be there.

Wanting to impress her about the work of my squadron, I visited with one of my forecasting friends at his desk, which was covered with charts and all kinds of data. I asked him what the weather was going to be like in Hereford, Texas on the day I was to call.

"Gosh," I remember him replying, "I can't tell you for sure. That area on the immediate East side of the Rocky Mountains is impossible to predict."

I was crushed and disappointed. Now I couldn't make that impression on my mother.

My forecasting friend explained that the weather patterns can change on short notice this side of the Rockies, because as the weather systems from the West pass over the mountain range, there were just too many variables that could effect what would happen once the systems passed over them and entered the plains area.

Back to those recent forecasts that didn't come to pass. I regularly watch for satellite pictures on local and national weather television channels, and the scenes I saw very well supported the forecasts that were given.

And those predictions of snows and freezing rains did happen, but they were one to two counties from here. The systems were redirected slightly, it seems.

I've developed several theories over the years about weather patterns. Some are supported by knowledgeable people in the weather profession, and other theories I'm told are possible, but not supported by their training.

For instance, I believe it's a fact that weather systems are effected by bodies of water, rivers and lakes. I've never bothered to check it out, but I believe the average rainfall at homes on the shores of Lake Kemp will be greater than at homes in Seymour, only a few miles away.

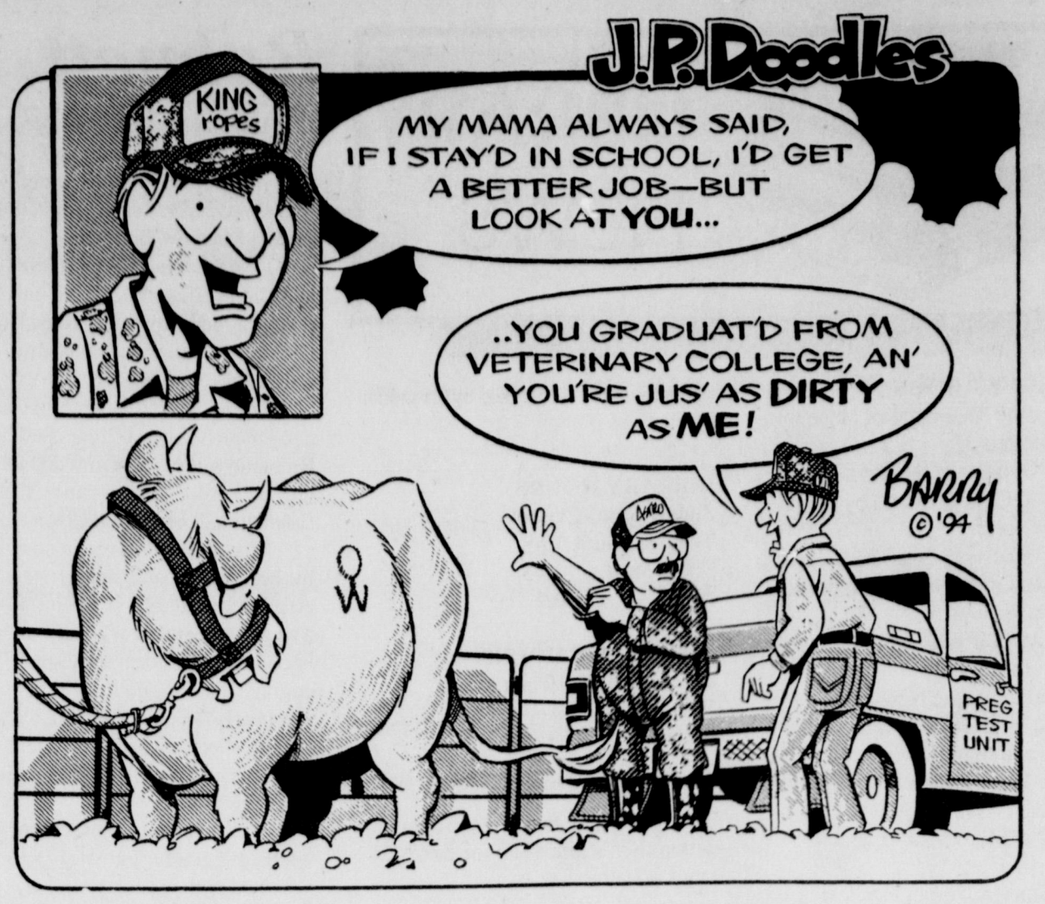

And carrying that theory further, I'm quite sure Burkburnett will average more rainfall over any given year than we measure here in Iowa Park.

Also, it appears to me that temperatures rise in advance of any weather system, regardless of it being winter or summer.

I once asked a weather man if the higher temperature was caused by a form of energy, such as static electricity. He admitted the increased temperatures happen, but wouldn't come out and say it had anything to do with static electricity.

Anyway, I'm of the opinion that weather forecasters regularly are the subjects of a bum rap.

I know one thing: I'd rather have them than not have them, right or wrong.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

Old man winter has delivered some cold temperatures to the Texoma area. Certain care practices can help protect your valuable lawn and landscape plants from freeze damage.

Your first line of defense has always been the utilization of hardy, research-proven plant material which is adapted to the local region.

A hard freeze which persists for an extended period will always remind gardeners which plants are hardy and of course which plants are not.

Plants such as St. Augustine turf, wax leaf ligustrum, and live oak can take it on the chin when hard freezes hit. The most damaging freezes follow dry soil conditions and last for prolonged periods.

Does anybody remember what happened in 1983?

A dry summer followed by an extended period of very cold temperatures took its toll on landscapes in Texas and Oklahoma. You can still see live oaks in Wichita Falls with trunk damage from the devastating effects of the 1983 freeze.

Weather conditions are out of our control. However, we can help reduce the damaging effects of freezing weather by following these winter lawn and landscape care guidelines:

* Use only hardy, recommended landscape plant material. Check with local nursery professionals or your local Texas Agricultural Extension Service office before purchasing plants. Recommended, up to date plant lists are available.

* Don't forget to water. Most people tend to put the garden hose up for the entire winter. Even though the grass is brown and deciduous trees are bare of foliage the root systems are still very much alive.

Regular irrigation in the absence of rainfall every two weeks will help your lawn and landscape plants tolerate severe cold.

Remember, dry freezes are by far the worst for your plants.

If an extremely hard freeze of 15 degrees or lower is predicted, you can protect cold-sensitive St. Augustine by applying water to the lawn prior to the freeze. The water will freeze at 32 degrees and serve as an insulating blanket. The plant tissue will remain at 32 degrees without getting any colder.

* Use mulches around bedding plants, trees, shrubs, and other plant material. A two-inch layer of mulch will conserve soil moisture and insulate plant root systems.

* Move container plants in the garage or storage shed prior to extremely hard freezes. Even cold tolerant plants are more vulnerable to freeze damage in above-ground containers.

* Plants do not experience wind chill factors. However, your dog, cat or other animals certainly feel the pain. Provide adequate protection from the elements for your pet.

school year has been recommended by Supt. Mitchell. He explains the student, Patricia Wieting, a sophomore, moved into the City View district from Iowa Park in September.

Bids will be considered to replace roofs damaged by hail at Bradford Elementary and the junior high.

Other topics on the meeting agenda include:

* presentation of the 1993-94 School District Report Card to the public;

* consider bids for band equipment;

'International Awareness' topic of Amity Study Club program

Dorothy Palmer introduced the program on "International Awareness" at the meeting of Amity Study Club members Monday evening in the home of Patricia Costello. Annetta Reusch was co-hostess.

Mrs. Palmer had previously invited each member to bring articles from other countries and tell why they were significant.

She opened the discussion by showing an antique golf club from Scotland.

Other articles included a large rope basket from the Philippines, a collar from Poland, a music box, rug and rug beater from East Germany, a shawl, candles, nutcrackers, and crystal figurines from West Germany, jewelry from Belize, music box from Serento, perfume from France, children's book from Australia, a hat, barrette and doll from Russia.

Also, Mary McIlroy showed a collection of pitchers from Czechoslovakia and related several historical points of interest about that country.

The meditation was given by Mrs. Reusch, who read an article on New Year's resolutions from The Optimist International Creed and also "12 Things to Remember" from "Whatsoever Things".

Linda Crumbliss gave the Federation Counselor's report. She reminded members about the Texas Women's Library in Austin which depends upon donations for funding.

Members participated in the Project for the Month by bringing supplies for Iowa Park school children.

Following a brief business session, members were served refreshments by the hostesses.

Burkburnett's boomtown days described

During a meeting Tuesday night, members of Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha made final plans for presentation of the Diana Award. This award is given by ESA to women outside the sorority.

President Pat Bradley called the meeting to order and read an invitation from the ESA chapter in Hurst inviting members to the District VI meeting to be held Jan. 22. The opening and closing thought was given by Skeeter Erwin. Bradley and Erwin were co-hostesses for the meeting.

Boomtown Burkburnett was the topic of the program, "Boot Scootin Through Texas - Small But Interesting Places," presented by Romona Vaughan.

She told members that Burkburnett is one of the most famous Texas boomtowns.

The name was given to the post office at the request of President T.R. Roosevelt after his 1905 wolf hunt in this area with rancher Burk Burnett.

The townsite was laid out in 1907 by Joseph Kemp and Frank Kell, surveyors and promoters of Wichita Falls.

The first oil discovery was by Chris Schmoker in 1912. A 2,200 barrel gusher was brought in on the S.L. Fowler farm about a mile from this site on July 19, 1918. In three months, 200 wells had been completed in Burkburnett. A forest of derricks, money and oil flowed freely. The town was made famous in 1941 by the movie "Boomtown," starring Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy.

In 1881, West Texas experienced a terrible drought. The settlers in the Burkburnett section apparently made no crops at all and worked at anything they could get. Cattlemen began moving their herds into the area and, in 1879, cattle were herded to Fort Worth for shipment. In 1882, the railroad was brought to Burkburnett.

The Burkburnett Boom was ushered in by the Fowler Wildcat Number One on Sunday, July 29, 1918. The story most often told about the well is that Mrs. S.L. Fowler dreamed that oil was beneath their stock ranch. She told the story so often that her husband was persuaded to drill. Before the well came in, it became known as "Fowler's Folly." When the news reached others, everyone tried buying the surrounding land. By January, the Burkburnett oil field seemed to cover an area of more than 450 square miles. Not only had the entire town been covered, but drilling had spread in every direction in the county. By this time, there were between five to eight thousand people living there.

The price of crude oil went down and production fell off. People who had become wealthy in oil moved to larger places. Conditions looked bad and people wondered if Burkburnett would become a ghost town.

Today, Sheppard Air Force Base is a big influence on the economy of Burkburnett. The town has changed from the Boomtown days, but it is a nice place to live.

The next meeting will be a social, and members and their guests will attend Backdoor Theater.

Garden Club has meeting at library

Members of the Iowa Park Garden Club met Jan. 2 for the purpose of dismantling Christmas decorations at Tom Burnett Memorial Library which they had put up Nov. 28.

Decorating the library at Christmas is one of the many projects of the club each year. They decorate a tree both upstairs and one downstairs, provide the centerpieces, lights and greenery, and decorate the fireplace mantel, stairway banister and tables.

At the Jan. 2 meeting Freddye Skinner, vice president, conducted a short business meeting.

Nominating committee members, Frances George, Nete Williams and Reba Snow, gave their report. The slate will be voted on at the Jan. 13 meeting.

Members also voted to purchase a brick from the "Clean and Green" project as a memorial for longtime member, Avis Wilson, who died in December. The brick will be laid with others at the RAC flagpole.

Arts and Crafts Assn. has monthly meeting

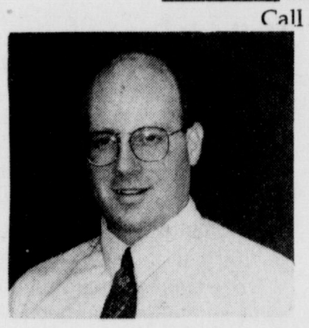

Twenty-six members attended the monthly meeting of Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Association, held Tuesday evening at the Recreational Activities Center (RAC).

During the meeting, in which Cindy Lane presided, the minutes were read by Sheri Kennedy, and Shirley Hicks gave the treasurer's report. The door prize, a country rabbit made by Cindy Lane, was given to Kathy Guy.

Melba McIlroy was named secretary to replace Sheri Albus who resigned.

For the program, Adell Marlar taught members how to make bows for rope love knots.

to cool off," he said.

He remembered the old road from Wichita Falls to Electra used to come to Wall Street and turn north at the R.L. Redin service station, that later was the J.W. Thomas service station and go to Alameda and turn west to Electra. He said there were some wrecks and some near wrecks at the sharp corner on Wall, especially the truck drivers were not expecting it.

When Wayne was making special deliveries E.E. Wallis was postmaster and the post office was located in Tommy Key's Texas Realty building on Cash Street. There was a bakery where Bangs and Thangs is now.

That made it handy for Wayne. He would buy a dozen doughnuts and before he got to his home on Bank Street they would all be gone, except maybe two for his mother. Do doughnuts make tall Texans, I wonder, because Williams fits the description.

He said the bakery used to make bread and deliver it fresh to the grocery stores in town twice a day.

Wayne graduated W.F. George High School in 1947. He was married to Phletious Lemond Sept. 9, 1950.

After graduation he had gone to work for the post office as sub-clerk, working up the mail and putting it in the boxes.

One morning while working the mail he saw an official looking letter addressed to him. It was his draft notice for Korea.

Instead, Wayne enlisted in the Air Force and received his military leave of absence. During his four years of service as classified personnel, he went overseas, but never saw action.

He returned to Iowa Park in 1956 and went to work at the post office in Wichita Falls until 1961 when he began work here Jan. 1, as assistant postmaster. Pete May was postmaster and later T.E. Gilbreath served as postmaster. For a period of time Williams served as interim postmaster, but retired nine years ago as assistant postmaster.

He helped move the post office from the building on Cash Street to the location at the corner of Park and Wall, where the Bank of America branch is now. Later he helped move it from that building to its present location back on Cash Street.

After he returned to Iowa Park he realized a childhood dream. "Of all the things I've done I loved being a volunteer fireman more than anything, unless it is eating", he said seriously.

He served as a volunteer fireman 19 years, retiring five years ago.

Wayne remembered one time when he was growing up (before there was a well equipped fire department and was not too well organized), a two story house caught fire in the attic. His dad and some neighbors got everything out of the house before the fire department got there.

Another time the Capehart Feed Store caught fire and he happened to be in the area. "Whoever turned in the alarm did not make the location clear and the firemen thought it was the Capehart house and went there while the feed store burned. Of course, there were no two-way radios at that time either," Williams commented.

He serves as a deacon in First Baptist Church. "A highlight for me was the 75th anniversary of the organization of the church," he said.

The bell that had been in the tower of the old wood frame church building erected in 1891 had been stored since the next building was constructed in 1925.

The bell was brought out once but stored again. It had been stored at Thompson Tool Co. Wayne's father worked for Thompson Tool at the time and borrowed a hoist truck to haul the bell to the church, placing in on the north side of the building so members could ring it if they wanted to.

The kids loved it. Wayne chuckled as he related that the kids were out there ringing it and Henry Jones, who was city marshal at the time, got up to go out and make the kids stop. He was told "just sit down that is one of the reasons it is out there".

In 1976 the bell was given a permanent home on a stand that is between the building that was erected in 1925 and the one that was constructed in 1967.

Williams has taught Sunday School, but now attends the Adult 5 Men's Class. Mrs. Williams is secretary of the high school department.

They both usually go with the Baptist group to do mission work in the summer when they work on or build new buildings, or help those churches that need help in other ways. He has been going since 1971. They used to always go to Colorado, but now most of the time they go to Oklahoma.

The Williams tried several years to adopt a child, before they had a chance. Finally they were notified they could adopt a baby boy. He is Kyle, who lives in Wichita Falls where he is a carpenter and bricklayer.

One year and one week after they adopted Kyle, they had an opportunity to adopt again. This time it was a girl, Kim. She is Kim Haire and lives in Vernon, where she is a night clerk at one of the motels.

They also have seven grandchildren.

Wayne has two things in his living room of which he is especially proud.

A beautiful roll top desk that Wayne repaired and refinished sits against one wall. He was told that the desk belonged to an early-day veteran of Iowa Park, Dr. V.R. Wigley.

Williams has a well-equipped workshop, but he says the desk is really about the only thing he has seriously worked on.

The other item he is duly proud of is part of a train, an engine and freight car that he and Norman were given when they were children. It has a special place in front of the fireplace.

With 11 straight wins, Hawks to open district

Hawks head coach Tim Clark said at the start of the season that this year's team was the deepest team he had ever coached and that on any given night any one of his players was capable of stepping up and having a big night.

With its 11-game winning streak on the line Monday night against Hirschi, David Waterbury stepped up for Iowa Park and helped the Hawks to an 84-80 overtime victory over the Huskies. The win made it an even dozen in a row for the Hawks, who improve to 17-3 overall heading into district play against Jacksboro tomorrow night.

Waterbury, a 5-8 junior guard, came off the bench and scored 10 of his game-high 24 points in the final 2:12 of regulation, then hit a big three pointer in overtime (his fifth of the game all coming in the second half) to give his team the lead for good.

The Hawks fell behind 15-13 after the first quarter then fell 10 points back at 26-16 with 5:25 left in the first half. Rudy Hawkins' slam with 4:50 left ignited the crowd and seemed to get Iowa Park going as the Hawks trimmed the lead to 31-27 following a layup by Nick Black with 3:24 left on the clock in the first half.

Hirschi maintained the 3-point lead at 37-34 heading into the third quarter, then went back up by 10 at 46-36 with 5:44 left in the period. Trailing 50-41 with 3:16 left on the clock, Waterbury drained a pair of three-point bombs to pull the Hawks to within 3 at 50-47, but a 6-2 Huskie run over the remainder of the quarter left Iowa Park trailing 56-49 with 8 minutes left to play.

With the Hawks trailing by 8 at 67-59 with 2:27 to play in regulation, Waterbury again hit a pair of three-pointers sandwiched around a pair of free throws by Rylan McNeil, the second one from the left baseline with a hand in his face tied the game at 69-69 with 59 seconds left. The next trip down the floor following a Hirschi miss Waterbury converted a three-point play to give Iowa Park a 72-69 lead with 32 seconds still showing. A Hirschi bucket with 18 seconds left made it 72-71. Waterbury made the front end of a one-and-one with 17 seconds left before Hirschi's J.J. Jackson's 8-foot leaner with 2 seconds tied the game at 73-73 as regulation time expired.

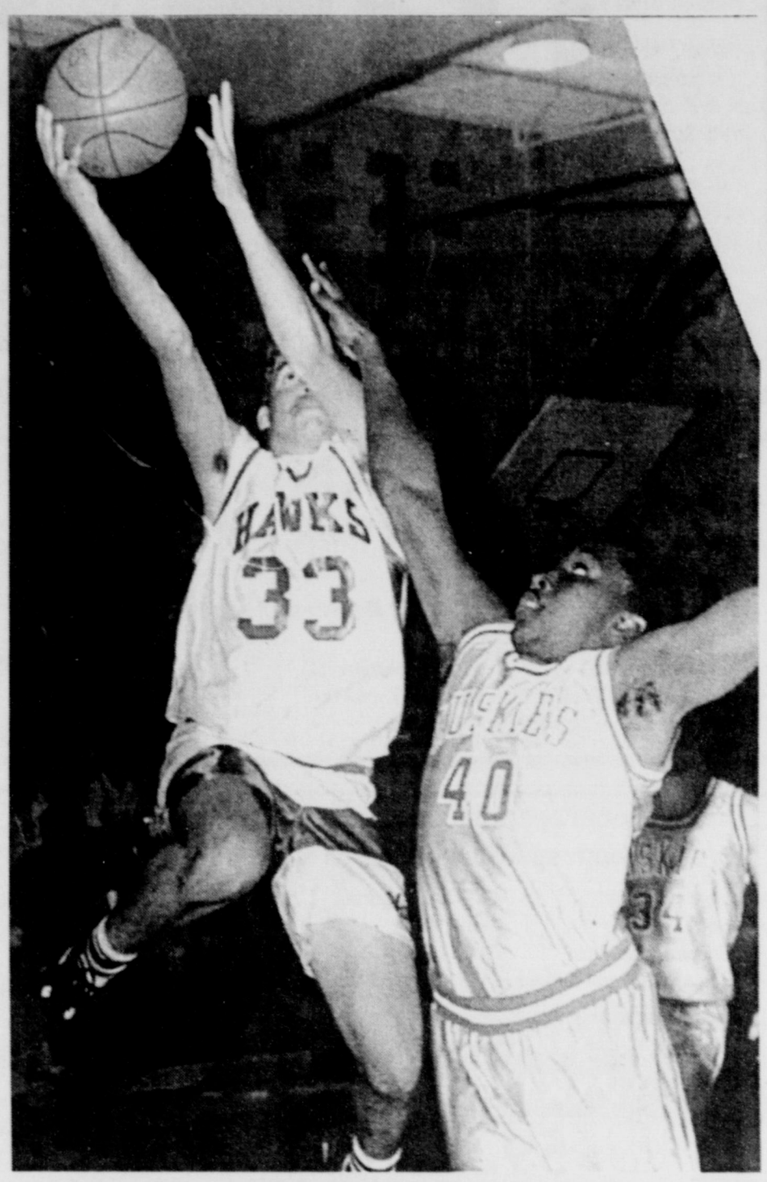

The Huskies scored first in the extra period but Waterbury answered with his fifth three-pointer of the night to give Iowa Park a lead it would never give up as the Hawks outscored Hirschi 11-7 to pull out the 84-80 victory.

It wasn't just the David Waterbury show as three other Hawks reached double figures including John Lucas who finished with 15, while Black and McNeil added 14 points apiece for Iowa Park.

"This was a big win for us in more ways than one," Clark said. "It kept us on a roll heading into district plus it gave us a chance to play in a close game and pull out a win. We've only been in four close games all year, most of the others have been blowouts. It also showed we could stop a team that was quicker than we were.

"You've got to take your hat off to David," Clark added. "He made some clutch shots down the stretch and when a guy's got the hot hand like he had tonight, you've got to leave him in there."

"I just felt it," Waterbury said. "The fans got into the game and that really picked me up. It was just one of those games. I'm glad we didn't let them down."

RYLAN McNIEL DRIVES FOR BASKET AGAINST HUSKY

Lady Hawks fall by two to Graham

The Lady Hawks have their work cut out for them for the remainder of the first half of district following a pair of tough losses during the past week.

Iowa Park opened district play with a 75-64 loss to the top-ranked Lady Rabbits from Bowie on Friday night, then came up just short against Graham Tuesday as the Lady Hawks fell 57-55 to fall to 11-11 overall and 0-2 in district play.

The Bowie game featured two of the best players in the state as Rene Hanebutt poured in a career high 52 points for the Lady Rabbits while Dusti Welch finished with 30 to pace Iowa Park.

After an 8-8 first quarter, Bowie outscored Iowa Park 29-12 over the next 8 minutes with Hanebutt accounting for 17 as the Lady Hawks were outscored 14-2 over the final 3:35 of the first half.

With Bowie leading 37-20 to start the third quarter, again the Lady Hawks went cold from the floor as the Lady Rabbits went on a 12-2 run to take a 49-22 lead with 6:15 left in the period.

That's when the Iowa Park defense stiffened and held Bowie without a point for 5:16. During that span, the Lady Hawks cut the lead to 49-34.

Bowie built the lead back up to 21 at 64-43 with 4:33 left to play and just when it looked like this one was going to turn into a blowout, the Lady Hawks once again came back, this time with a 12-0 run to narrow the lead to 9 at 64-55 with 2:16 remaining.

But Bowie (20-1 overall and 1-0), made 9-of-10 free throws down the stretch to prevent the upset and held on for a 75-64 win.

Joining Welch in double figures for Iowa Park was Jodi Young who finished with 17. Randi Tigrett added 8 points for the Lady Hawks.

"We knew going into the game it would be tough but we wanted to scare the pants off them and I think we did just that," coach Ronda Havins said. "I'm real proud of all the girls for the effort they gave out there."

"We just need to keep improving," Welch added. "Bowie's the best team we will play all year and we showed everybody we could play with them. It would have been nice to win the game, but just coming back like we did was a great feeling. With everybody playing together and all the people cheering like they were we were having fun out there."

In Tuesday's game against Graham Iowa Park looked to rebound and get on the winning track but it wasn't meant to be as the Lady Blues, 12-8 overall and 2-0 in district held on for a 57-55 win.

The Lady Hawks opened the game by winning the first quarter 10-9 with Welch, who finished with 28, scoring 8 points in the period.

Graham went on an 8-1 run to start the second quarter to take a 19-11 lead with 5:42 left in the first half. Iowa Park chipped away and closed the gap to 24-22 at the half.

With three Iowa Park players in foul trouble including Young, Briana Stalker and Tigrett, the Lady Hawks were forced to give up some easy baskets in the third quarter and tied the period at 12-12.

The Lady Blues led 41-35 with 5:37 left in the game but three straight buckets by Welch and a big three-pointer by Amanda Thompson gave Iowa Park its first lead at 44-43 since leading 10-9 at the end of the opening quarter.

Graham built the lead back up to 6 at 56-50 with 31 seconds remaining when Jina Wallace, who finished with 19, hit a pair of free throws. Young's three-pointer at the buzzer made the final score 57-55.

"I thought we came out a little flat after the way we played in the Bowie game," Havins said. "We have to be up for every game. We have to get after Jacksboro Friday night to try and get back in the race for the first half."

The Lady Hawks will travel to Jacksboro Friday to take on the Lady Tigers in a game scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m. with the varsity Boys to follow.

Dispute results in arrest

When officers were called Sunday to the scene of a disturbance in the 400 block of South Texowa, the result was a man being arrested, and he later filed assault charges against a woman.

Police were called to the scene at 3:35 p.m., where two persons were reportedly shouting at each other.

Troy Herman Edenfield, 28, was arrested on a charge of public intoxication. He was released at 8:45 p.m., according to the police blotter, after posting a $130 cash bond.

Monday, Edenfield went to the police station and filed assault charges against Vonna Bailey. She had not been taken into custody as of noon Wednesday, however.

Three male youths reportedly spent Thursday night in the juvenile detention center in Wichita Falls, after allegedly assaulting another youth in the 400 block of Valley Drive.

One 14-year-old and two 15-year-olds reportedly entered a home in that area and assaulted an 11-year-old male.

However, police said, the following day the alleged victim refused to press charges against the trio, police said.

A resident of Woodbriar Apartments told police Monday that someone had taken some $5 worth of gasoline from the victim's automobile, apparently the night before.

Municipal Court Judge Jim Tompkins issued a committal order against Steven Lee Swanson, 23, during a court hearing Tuesday. Swanson was later transported to the county jail.

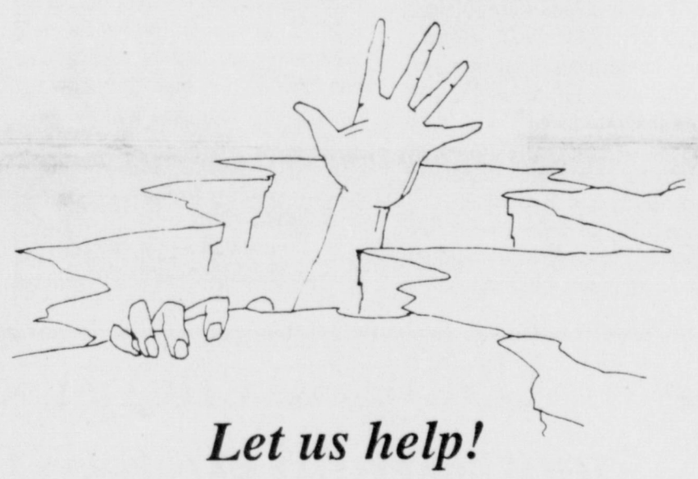

The commitment was reportedly ordered when Swanson failed to pay fines on two charges: failure to maintain financial responsibility and no motor vehicle inspection, plus failure to appear in court on both charges.

Total fines against Swanson were $976.

Local officers assisted a county deputy sheriff Friday evening recover approximately $10,000 worth of computer hardware and software, reportedly stolen from the Cryovac plant, at a residence in the 300 block of East Ruby. No charges reportedly have yet been filed in the case.

Did you know? The State of Arkansas was once owned by the federal government - it is a public domain land state. When a person received land in what is now call the State of Arkansas, they were issued what is called a "Land Patent." Parcels of land were obtained through buying the land, military warrants, homesteads, scrip acts, and many other ways. The records of land transfers or "land patents" can often times open the doors to the mysteries of the past for genealogist, historians and other interested descendants.

I am proud to announce that our first quarterly is ready for distribution this week. Members will receive their copy at the meeting this Saturday. Non-members may receive a copy by contacting one of the members listed above. A small charge is required from non-members. Anyone interested in joining the News Letter Committee needs to contact the president at 438-2807. Anyone interested in joining the society, or receiving more information may contact Sandi Koonce at 592-2007, or any member you may know.

Using an energy-efficient geothermal system this winter, your heating bills could drop 60% or more!

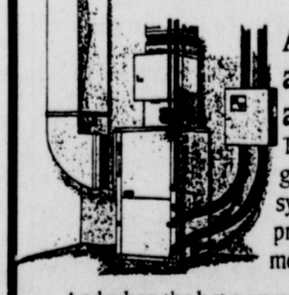

The answer to finding energy-saving, safe, comfortable and pollution-free heating for your home can be summed up in one word: Geothermal.

Compared to other forms of heating, a geothermal system is 300%–400% more energy efficient. That means a geothermal system provides 3–4 times more energy than what it uses. That's real-life savings of 60% or more on your monthly heating bills.

How a geothermal system heats your home.

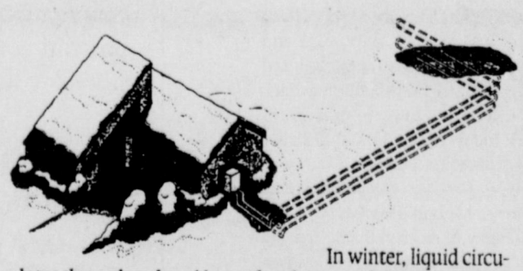

Just a few feet under the ground, the earth's heat remains at an amazingly constant year-round temperature. A geothermal system collects this heat from the earth and moves it into your home during the winter. Not only does this geothermal system supply your family with constantly warm heat, but the process is quiet and pollution-free as well. Plus, there's no unattractive equipment that has to sit outside your home.

A geothermal system also heats your water and cools your home!

The ultimate in efficiency, heat generated by a geothermal system heats your home and provides you with supplemental water heating, too!

And when the hot summer weather arrives, one flip of a switch turns your geothermal heating system into a geothermal cooling system. The geothermal unit extracts heat from the air inside your home, and returns it to the earth. In the process, the heat removed from your home is used to heat your water . . . absolutely free!

In winter, liquid circulates through a closed loop of underground thermal plastic pipe. This liquid collects the earth's heat, and the geothermal system efficiently transfers it to your home.

This process is completely safe and reliable. And, unlike electric resistance, propane, natural gas or fuel oil, a geothermal system moves energy rather than consumes it. That's a savings of energy and money.
