NEW BUILDING EFFORTS

Housing shortage soon may be ending for newcomers

Inc., of Amarillo today began an eight weeks advertising campaign for home buying prospects via The Dispatch's classified page.

A check with Ault-Conode, Inc. by phone yesterday disclosed that such homes are financed through the Farmers Home Administration or any other financial route the buyers want to take. The firm builds homes in the $12,000 to $25,000 price class offering buyers a wide range of design options.

Such an advertising campaign several months ago brought about 50 queries for new homes in Guyman, Okla., to the Amarillo firm and the firm, which built about 50 homes in the Texas Panhandle area in 1971, is in the process of constructing an additional 50 in the same area and in Guyman this year.

A district sales manager for National Homes, a national custom cut home construction firm with headquarters in Lafayette, Ind., visited Post recently checking the market and home sites.

Others interested in new home construction here and in possible construction of apartments for rentals, including such niceties as a swimming pool for all apartment dwellers, do not have their plans firmed up enough as yet for announcement.

50TH ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Nazarene Church plans homecoming

The Nazarene Church of the Nazarene, 211 S. 11th St., will commemorate its 50th anniversary Sunday, Aug. 6, with special services throughout the day, according to the Rev. J. L. Davis, pastor.

Today morning service will be with the Gospel Singing Society of Dallas singing at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Charles Peters, pastor, will be teaching the Sunday School lesson to all the members in the sanctuary. Evening worship service will be at 7:30 with Dr. Lyle Eckley, district superintendent, speaking, and the Gospel Singing Westernaires singing.

A covered dish luncheon will be served in the fellowship hall at noon, with the Gospel Singing Westernaires presenting a concert of music from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The evening worship service will begin with special music at 7 o'clock. The special speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Marvin McDaniel, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Greenville, Tex. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M.

A. McDaniel of Post. The pastor of the local church extends a special invitation for all to attend any of these services throughout the day.

The Post Church of the Nazarene was organized in 1922 following a "rapid fire success" revival held for the South Side Community Church here by the Rev. George Brannon, a ministerial student in Bethany Peniel College (now known as Bethany Nazarene College), Bethany, Okla.

The Rev. Mrs. Minnie Echols came in 1924 to serve as the first pastor, with the worship services being held in the homes of members until a building was completed at 111 North Broadway in 1925, and the church formally organized.

In 1938 the building at 111 North Broadway was traded to the First Baptist Church for their building at the corner of West 10th Street and Avenue K. In 1950, this building was moved to the west side of the lots and a new sanctuary was erected. The old building was used as a Sunday School annex until 1967 when it was replaced by a modern educational unit adjoining the sanctuary.

The church has grown from a small group of 21 members to its present membership of 89. This past year the Sunday School averaged 81 per Sunday in attendance.

The church's giving, for all purposes, was approximately $24,000 and of this amount 15 per cent was given to World-wide Missions.

The present pastor is the Rev. A. D. (Tommy) Davis, who resides with his family in the church parsonage at 905 West 13th St.

Consolidation is the reason

Local school costs will continue to climb for the 1972-73 school year, but local school taxes will be cut 15 cents to taxpayers, Supt. Bill Shiver has told Post Independent School District trustees in a preliminary report on the school district's budgetary needs for the new year.

That sounds unbelievable, but it is true nonetheless. The reason is the consolidation of the Justiceburg School District with the Post school district has boosted the tax roll for the combined district from $41,972,365 last year to $52,303,302 this year.

Shiver has indicated that local school taxes will be increased under the proposed budget by $71,350.45 from $608,592.47 for the year just completed to $679,942.92 for the new school fiscal year which will begin Sept. 1.

The tax rate, at the same time, can be reduced from $1.45 per $100 taxable property valuation to $1.30. Shiver told trustees the $71,350 additional in local tax funds are needed for:

1. $35,519.27 to replace the surplus with which the school district entered the last tax year. The district enters the new tax year without a surplus.

2. $23,000 for the new educational program being introduced into the school system this year. This money pays for the additional supervisory cost of the changeover.

3. $1,000 for increase in custodians' salaries.

4. $1,300 for increase in salary of girls basketball coach.

5. $800 additional for lunchroom workers.

6. $1,000 increase in computer cost for the bookkeeping system.

The state paid more of the computer cost last year as Post was a part of a state-wide experiment in computer bookkeeping.

7. $8,731.18 for capital outlay and salary for possibly one excess teacher to take care of any classroom overcrowding.

Of the $679,942.92 to be raised through local taxes, $579,391.35 is for the local maintenance budget and $9,551.57 is for bond and interest payments on the school district debt.

Actually, counting all state aid received, the new school district budget totals $921,441.02 this year, an increase of $54,000 over the total school budget of $868,314.79 for this last school year.

The $54,000 increased need is broken down as follows:

1. $22,000 for automatic teacher pay raises written in by the state legislature several years ago, an escalation which was programmed for 10 years.

2. $22,000 for costs of the new educational program.

3. $6,000 for a new special educational (teacher) unit, paid for by state funds.

4. $3,000 for an additional special educational aide, paid for by state funds.

The budget breakdown also shows a slight reduction in debt service from $80,681.61 last year to $79,755 for the new year; a slight increase in lunchroom expenses from $44,124.78 last year to $45,982 for the new school year; and an approximate $16,000 reduction in the athletic fund budget as requested by Supt. Shiver from $65,942.81 last year, of which $49,581 was a local subsidy from school taxes, to $49,987.35 for the new school year of which the local subsidy is estimated at almost $11,000 less or $38,628.98, and an unchanged amount of $2,660 for vocational educational travel.

The school district is certified for $30,728 in federal education aid for the new school year, as compared to $40,826 for last year, but Shiver pointed out that a considerable amount of last year's federal money is being carried over for use this year in the schools' new educational program.

Beginning next week, The Dispatch will print a series of articles written by Supt. Shiver to explain the new educational system being introduced into the local schools this fall after a year of preliminary work.

A LOT MORE THAN NEW PAINT

OS ranch house to be completely renovated

The historic old O. S. Ranch House, where the O. S. Ranch Benefit Art Exhibit will be held on the weekend of Sept. 30-Oct. 1 in conjunction with the O. S. Ranch Benefit Steer Roping, is now getting a whole lot more than the promised fresh coat of paint and a new white picket yard fence.

It is being completely renovated along with one of the ranch's original two bunkhouses. The bunkhouse being renovated is the one where Garza County was organized and the first county election held.

The other bunkhouse was renovated and enlarged some time ago. Giles C. McCrary, owner of the ranch, told The Dispatch that the ranch house is being "jacked up" to permit putting in a permanent foundation to replace the original cedar posts which have supported the big house for more than 60 years.

A new concrete porch floor also is being poured. The porch extends around the house on all four sides.

The interior of the ranch house also is being renovated and restored and will be completely refinished.

McCrary said two cisterns near the ranch house also are being reconditioned and made operative again.

Vaudy Zachary, Lubbock contractor who has built several Post homes in recent years, is doing up pieces of the ranch house work should be completed by the end of August, which will provide just a month to get the ranch house ready for the quite unusual art exhibit, which will see some 30 of the nation's leading cowboy and western artists offer their paintings and sculptures for exhibition and sale as a benefit for West Texas Boys Ranch.

McCrary said in recent weeks a number of the participating artists have come through to visit the ranch. Several other visitors have stopped in Post to see the ranch house after learning of the fall art exhibit planned at the ranch house.

FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT COMPLEX

15 cent tax hike will pay county's share three years

The Garza County Commissioners Court has decided to finance the county's estimated $44,125 share of the new law enforcement complex and jail through tax warrants which will be paid off in three years or less.

This will mean a boost of 15 cents in the new county tax levy. The First National Bank of Post has offered to purchase the warrants at a 4 1/2 per cent interest rate.

County Judge Giles W. Dalby told The Dispatch yesterday that Architect Stanford Whittaker of Lubbock believes the county will be ready to "break ground" in about six weeks on actual construction.

Action to take the state's new certificate of obligation financial route instead of using up time and expense on a small bond issue came last Friday morning when the court voted its choice by a 3 to 2 vote.

Commissioners Ted Aten and Herbert Walls voted originally for the bond issue and then when the tax warrants method carried Walls said he would switch his vote to make it 4 to 1, Judge Dalby told The Dispatch.

Aten told other members of the court he wanted to be on record as favoring a bond issue because he had promised voters in his district he would favor a bond issue if the federal grant was approved.

Aten, however, promised his full cooperation in the project.

Earlier in the special session, the court had voted unanimously to accept the federal grant. The acceptance of the grant then was forwarded to the State Criminal Justice Council in Austin.

The commissioners court at the same session employed McCall, Parkhurst and Horton, a Dallas law firm, to handle all the legal matters in connection with the warrants.

Judge Dalby said the legal fee would not be over $1,000 and might be as little as $300 depending upon the amount of paper work involved.

The court at its regular meeting Monday, Aug. 14, will pass a resolution to authorize publication of a notice to bidders for the construction. No date to open these bids has been set.

Judge Dalby told The Dispatch the architect will have plans available for bidders by Sept. 10.

FBI agent here to see prisoner

An FBI agent was here yesterday interrogating Terry Wayne Travis, 26-year-old Missourian being held in county jail here on charges of assault with a prohibitive weapon and car theft in connection with an early morning crime spree here July 17.

Sheriff J. A. (Jimmy) Holleman returned here with Travis from St. Louis last Thursday. Travis had been arrested in St. Louis on a hold order from Holleman.

Travis was reported "not to have had much to say" in his session with the FBI agent.

Travis failed in his effort to kidnap Ken Marts when Marts wrestled the revolver away from him. Travis and two juveniles with him are alleged to have then stolen a station wagon at the Julian Smith home which later was found abandoned at Big Spring.

SS payments in Garza to go up

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Garza County at a rate of $89,000 per month at the close of 1971, John G. Hutton, social security district manager in Lubbock, said today.

The 20 per cent increase recently passed by Congress will automatically raise the monthly payments to $107,000 effective with the Oct. 3, 1972, checks.

Of the 886 social security beneficiaries living in Garza County, 566 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 238 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 82 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

DECISION MAY COME FRIDAY

More federal funds seen for librarian

Chances appear bright today that the librarian's salary in the Post Public Library here will be paid for via federal funds for another 12 months, Mayor Giles C. McCrary has told The Dispatch.

The SPAG executive committee will meet in Lubbock Friday to go over applications for federal funding in the continuation of the Emergency Employment Act.

Funding legislation for a full 12 months continuance has successfully passed Congress and is now on President Nixon's desk, McCrary said.

McCrary, who is the second vice president of SPAG, said that the governmental units which participated in the program last year in the SPAG area appear assured of continued financial support.

The 14-county SPAG area received $72,000 in funding last year through EEA and can expect at least that much again this year.

There is a possibility that the SPAG area will receive up to a 25 per cent increase in funding.

An increase in area funding might enable Garza County also to secure funding for a second deputy sheriff. Some unused funds were granted the county in the spring for the remainder of the current year, which will end Aug. 17, to finance a second deputy. McCrary said the amount of (See Library, page 8)

14 amendments to be voted on

Texas voters will have a list of 14 proposed constitutional amendments to vote on in the November general election, and The Dispatch will publish the text of all 14 amendments, beginning with today's edition.

Voters are urged to take the time to read the text of these proposed amendments because they are important to the future of Texas.

Some are purely local in nature, and others have a statewide impact if adopted.

Briefly, here are the 14 amendments:

No. 1. Would provide annual salaries of $8,400 for members of the legislature.

No. 2. Would abolish the Lamar County Hospital District.

No. 3. Would require commissioners courts to put all justices of the peace on a salary basis rather than a fee basis.

No. 4. Would establish a constitutional revision commission as a first step toward drafting a new Texas constitution.

No. 5. Would grant an additional property tax exemption for disabled veterans.

No. 6. Would exempt not less than $3,000 of the value of residence homesteads for all persons 65 years and older.

No. 7. To provide that equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of a person's sex, race, color, creed, or national origin.

No. 8. Would provide four-year terms for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller, treasurer, land commissioner, and other state office holders.

No. 9. Would except directors of soil and water conservation districts from prohibition against dual office holding.

No. 10. Would revise provisions on the time of proposing amendments and change the method of publishing them.

No. 11. Would provide a salary of $22,500 for the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house.

No. 12. Would allow state employees and other persons to serve on governing bodies of political subdivisions without forfeiting salary.

No. 13. Would increase the maximum interest rate on state bonds.

No. 14. Would permit commissioners courts to reduce the permanent school fund and provide for per capita distribution of money obtained from the reduction.

The background and "pros" and "cons" of each of these amendments will be published in The Dispatch between now and the election in order that readers may be better informed as to their content.—CD

Where nothing seems to work

The Dispatch has received a letter from Joe Malone, general manager in North America for the Irish Tourist Board, in which he points out that many Americans, potential travelers to Ireland or otherwise, are of the opinion that what they see, hear and read about Northern Ireland in fact relates to the whole of Ireland.

The letter from Mr. Malone assures us that in spite of what is going on in Northern Ireland, the Republic of Ireland is still the same warm, welcoming and peaceful country it always was, and "we are anxious to impress this message all the more on your fellow countrymen."

We see Mr. Malone's point. During the two and a half years the slaughter and bloodshed has been going on in Northern Ireland, the Republic of Ireland has enjoyed peace and stability, with the exception of the burning of the British Embassy in Dublin.

However, the fact that Ireland offers a trouble-free, and attractively economical, vacation to Americans, and that there is a geographical distinction between it and Northern Ireland, does not concern us nearly as much as the senseless murder and terror that is continuing in Northern Ireland where the stage is carefully set for disaster.

Almost every day the news from Northern Ireland includes a sentence like, "The death brought to 452 the number of persons killed since sectarian violence began in 1969."

Ulster's, or Northern Ireland's, present situation—on the brink of all-out civil war between the two religious groups, Protestants and Catholics,—must be blamed on Irish Republican Army (IRA) terrorists. They have spurned reasonable offers made by William Whitelaw, the conciliatory British administrator. They have broken the ceasefire they arranged with him. And they persist in the mad belief that they can drive the British army out of Ulster and join the province, which is two-thirds Protestant, to the Irish Republic.

This editorial is not meant to suggest that Catholics or even IRA men are wholly responsible for turning Northern Ireland into a charnel house. Protestant extremists and 50 years of misrule and discrimination by the Protestant majority played their part.

And, although the British are fed up with the death of their soldiers in Ireland, no conservative government in London is likely to abandon one million Protestants who are vociferous in their loyalty to the crown.

Meanwhile, the murder and terror goes on and, as in every instance of its kind, many victims are women, children, the aged, and poor, the helpless. If it comes to an all-out civil war, these people will suffer even more.

The awful thing about Northern Ireland is that there seems to be no way out. Everything has been debated. Every decent thing has been tried. Nothing works.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

There's a new doll on the market. It's called a welfare doll. You wind it up and it doesn't work. How true! Certainly there are people who are deserving of welfare, and they should have it. But on the other side of the fence are those who do not need welfare but apply and get it just to keep from working.

"JUNIOR GRAY Starts a Colt" is the title of an article by Ray Davis in the June issue of "The Western Horseman," and I doubt if Junior ever again gets as many different pictures of himself in one magazine article.

I'm sorry that I am just now getting around to writing something about the article on Junior, but I bought the magazine off a local newsstand just before I went into the hospital in late June. While I was away, the magazine disappeared from my desk, and I've been all this time locating another one. In fact, I had to send to Lubbock to get one.

NOT ONLY DOES the Ray Davis article tell how Junior starts the training of a young horse when it arrives at his stables at Graham, Tex., but the article also uses pictures (23 in all) to illustrate the training process.

Junior, a native of Post, is a professional horse trainer who trains horses for nearly every event, and cutting horses are his specialty. He received horse experience at an early age, working for several area ranches and developing a special talent with horses. He enjoyed the gentling and training so well that he has made this his field of endeavor.

WHILE I'M NO horseman, I enjoyed the article because I've known Junior ever since he was knee-high to a colt. The only thing I found wrong with the magazine article was why, with so many pictures of Junior, they didn't run one of his wife, Carolyn, and their daughters, Caren and Cam.

I'll be glad to let anyone who wants to read the article on how Junior starts training colts have my copy of "The Western Horseman," and if the copy that I disappeared off my desk reappears, I'll have two copies of the magazine available to anyone who'd like to read them.

THE STORY is going around Washington that Martha Mitchell got a fan letter from a hippopotamus. It read, "As one big mouth to another."

The Inland Printer magazine says a Chicago printer recently sent a request for payment of a past-due account to a city school in Indiana. He got the check all right, but with it came this letter: "In reply to your request to send a check, we wish to inform you that the present condition of our bank account makes it almost impossible. Our shattered financial condition is due to state laws, federal laws, county laws, city laws, corporation laws, mother-in-laws, brother-in-laws, sister-in-laws and outlaws."

"Through these laws, we are compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, gas tax, light tax, sales tax, excise tax, even our brains are taxed. We are required to get a teacher's license, administrator's license, business license, car license, hunting-fishing license, truck license, not to mention a marriage and dog license."

"We are also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, unemployment relief, gold-diggers relief, also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including Red Cross, Blue Cross, Black Cross, Purple Cross, and double-cross."

"For our safety, we are required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglary insurance, robbery insurance, accident insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance, and fire insurance."

"Our business is so governed that it is no easy matter for us to find out who runs it. We are inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, dejected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until we provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need of the human race."

"Simply because we refuse to donate to something or other, we are boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed until we are almost ruined."

"We can tell you, honestly, that except for the miracle that happened, we could not enclose this check. The wolf that comes to many doors nowadays just had pups on the unloading dock at our warehouse. We sold the pups and here is the money."

Burlington shows earnings gain, record sales for third quarter

NEW YORK — Burlington Industries, Inc., today reported an 18 per cent increase in net earnings and a 10 per cent increase in sales for its third quarter, compared to the same period last year.

Net earnings for the quarter ending July 1, 1972, were $12,583,000 or 47 cents per share, compared to $10,617,000 or 40 cents per share for the same quarter last year.

Consolidated net sales for the quarter ended July 1, 1972, set a new quarterly record of $471,024,000 compared to $428,653,000 for the same quarter a year ago.

Net earnings for the first nine months of the fiscal year were $36,228,000 or $1.36 per share on 26,636,000 average shares outstanding, compared to $35,963,000 or $1.36 per share on 26,366,000 average shares outstanding for the same period last year.

Sales for the nine months were $1,355,046,000, or 4 per cent above sales of $1,298,910,000 for the comparable period last year.

Charles F. Myers Jr., chairman, and Ely R. Callaway, president, said: "The increased sales and earnings in our third (June) quarter confirm continued strength in home furnishings markets and improved demand generally in apparel fabric markets. Our earnings have not yet fully reflected the improved demand, partially as a result of the substantial costs of major manufacturing equipment and product changes begun about 12 months ago. About two-thirds of these costs for the development and expansion of knits, action wovens and start-up of new home furnishings products have now been absorbed."

Earnings for the third fiscal quarter and the first nine months of 1972 include, respectively, about 6 1/2 cents and 17 1/2 cents per share of investment tax credits under the Revenue Act of 1971.

Results for the third quarter and the nine months of 1972 include the acquisition of National Upholstery Company on a pooling of interest basis from the beginning of the current fiscal year. National Upholstery sales were about $7 million for the nine months, and the pooling had no effect on per share earnings.

The Board of Directors of Burlington Industries, meeting here today, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, payable Sept. 1, 1972, to shareholders of record at the close of business of Aug. 4, 1972.

EQUIPMENT FOR PRESCHOOLERS

While driving down a residential street last week, I noticed how hard all the children playing and remembered that it was to me.

There are many reasons why parents seem to forgo play for many reasons. It is important that play is like adults' work, and that play contributes to the child's development.

Children in different bodies, shows them in different ways and teaches them with others and teaching them to grow into inventive and creative people.

Active, physical play is important. It is the active, physical play that gives them the ability to grow into inventive and creative people.

Play falls into four major categories: active, physical play; imaginative play; social play; and quiet play.

Active, physical play is the most important. It is the active, physical play that gives them the ability to grow into inventive and creative people.

Imaginative play is the second most important. It is the imaginative play that gives them the ability to grow into inventive and creative people.

Social play is the third most important. It is the social play that gives them the ability to grow into inventive and creative people.

Quiet play is the fourth most important. It is the quiet play that gives them the ability to grow into inventive and creative people.

COMPUTER MIX-UPS

Another mix-up can occur when a customer pays part of a purchase in cash and charges the rest. With the billing forms used, it is easy for a key punch operator to misread a statement and charge the customer for the full purchase instead of just what is owed.

The worst mix-up is when new mistakes are made while trying to correct old ones. A customer who tries to stop billing on an account until it is put in order often can wind up with a service charge and his name on a delinquent payment list.

A consumer can do some things to protect himself from the computer's tantrums, however. Make sure to use a credit card plate whenever possible.

Check and make sure the figures on your sales slips are clear and correct. Save those duplicate sales invoices and compare them with the monthly statement. Always return the bill form or punch card with the check to insure you get credit for paying.

If you do come up with errors on your account, notify the bill sender as soon as possible. If you phone in your complaint, know and remember who you talk to so you can find them again if the situation isn't solved. If you write, don't further confuse the issue by enclosing a bill payment or other correspondence. Don't pay for any part of an incorrect bill or merchandise you didn't get.

Allow enough time for a mistake to clear up. It can take two billing cycles for the adjusters to mark down a mistake and correct it. But remember, you have a legal right not to be harassed over bills that aren't yours. So be on the look-out for mistakes and speak up if you find them.

With an ever increasing number of organic and natural food stores popping up all over, I have become increasingly concerned over the homemaker's knowledge about the stores and what they offer.

Advocates of organic foods claim that these foods help cure diseases and increase one's life span.

This is just not so. While these stores are fun to browse through they are, more often than not, more expensive.

Some organic food enthusiasts say that these foods are nutritionally superior, better tasting and safer because they're free from the "poison" of chemical fertilizers and toxic sprays. But these claims are false.

A plant's genetic make-up determines its food value. And the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that there's no proof that fruits and vegetables produced without chemical fertilizers contain more vitamins and minerals.

This means that there can be no difference in the nutritional value of plants grown with chemical fertilizers and those grown with organic fertilizers.

If pesticides aren't used, insects and diseases infest crops, thus causing a poor appearance of organic foods as compared to other produce.

Besides looking less glamorous, organic fruits and vegetables usually cost two or three times more than non-organic foods.

Foods aren't "poisoned" by chemical fertilizers and toxic sprays, as organic food proponents say.

Experts continually check produce for its level of pesticide residue. The permissible residue level is well below any amount that might produce undesirable health effects. Markets aren't allowed to sell any food with a chemical residue level that exceeds this permissible mark.

Producers of organic foods use only organic fertilizers such as manure and compost. They also rebuild the soil by a system of long-range crop rotations.

But facts show that modern scientific agricultural methods maintain soil fertility and even lead to increased crop yields.

All fruits and vegetables aid in maintaining good health by contributing vitamins and minerals to the diet.

So whether they're organic or non-organic, these fruits and vegetables are healthy.

Postex Plant engineer and wife honored on his retirement date

W. C. (Clyde) Knowles of 102 West 5th St., and Mrs. Knowles were honored with a picnic at the City-County Park at 6:30 p.m. Monday on the occasion of his retirement after 20 years as Postex Plant engineer.

Approximately 55 co-workers attended the picnic and looked on as Vic Slater, Postex Plant general manager, presented Knowles a 20-year service pin and a certificate. He was also presented a boutonniere of money and his wife a corsage of money.

A barbecue dinner was served. Knowles came to Post from Alabama. He and his wife will continue to make their home here.

A Salad Supper

Sounds harmless enough, doesn't it, with visions of physical fitness followers munching on lettuce and carrots, sipping tomato juice.

A salad party is neither harmless nor healthy, but is another of the current drug fads making the rounds with youngsters. A group gets together after raiding their family's medicine cabinet at home and throw all of the accumulated pills into a bowl. Sitting in a circle around the bowl, they take a capsule or pill, swallow it, until all of the pills are gone. Then they wait to see what kind of reaction they have.

They have no idea what they are taking and the family medicine cabinet can offer them a whole range of potent drugs which are to be taken only a physician's supervision as directed for a specific condition. When taken randomly, they can cause any number of side effects ranging from the relatively minor to the very severe. Hypersensitivity or drug interaction further increases the danger.

Check your medicine cabinet. Throw out any old unused medications. Make sure that your children understand that no medications are to be removed by them because of the potential hazard to their health.

A "salad" party is a new form of "Russian Roulette". It could be fatal.

ables remain an important part of our diet. The main thing I feel you should remember about the natural food stores is that they are much more expensive. However, these stores do offer an exciting and fun-filled afternoon to the creative and independent homemaker.

Weight Watchers Week in Post is to be Aug. 7-12

Mayor Giles C. McCrary today signed a proclamation proclaiming the week of Aug. 7-12 "Weight Watchers Week" in Post, and urging all citizens to join considering the benefits of their program.

The occasion is also the third anniversary of "Weight Watchers of West Texas."

Weight Watcher classes were brought to Post early this year, the first classes beginning Feb. 2 upstairs above City Hall, with approximately 50 members.

The weekly meetings bring people together with a common bond—that of trying to get off excess weight and keep it off by "re-educating" their eating habits and eating sensibly.

The weekly classes are open to men, women and young people. The public is invited to visit the first hour of the weekly classes during Weight Watchers Week. The meetings are held at 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 10, during this special observance.

The wedding date has been set for Sept. 9 at the Trinity Baptist Church in Post.

Shower is held for bride-elect veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Revaccination is not compulsory, but is an extra precaution."

Armstrong notes that the Texas and Texas Animal Health Commission are also encouraging all equine owners to revaccinate as an added safety measure.

Other reasons for the revaccination effort are that (1) Texas is a high risk area and the only state where VEE has occurred, and (2) confirmed cases of VEE have already occurred in Mexico this year and the disease appears to be moving northward.

As far as the vaccination of foals and pregnant mares is concerned, Armstrong points out that there has been some change, according to recent hearings at an International Conference on VEE in Kansas City, Mo.

At the conference it was resolved that foals of immune dams in high risk areas should be vaccinated when three months of age and again when weaned at about six months of age. Unvaccinated pregnant mares in high risk areas should be vaccinated regardless of pregnancy.

In addition to VEE, the veterinarian stresses the need to vaccinate animals against the Eastern and Western strains of equine encephalomyelitis. Once animals are vaccinated for these two strains, a booster shot should be given every year.

Armstrong advises that all vaccinations should be given by a veterinarian. He also encourages horse owners to move their animals as little as possible to reduce the risk of spreading VEE.

The disease will remain a threat until late this fall when cooler weather suppresses mosquito populations. The mosquito is the main carrier of the disease.

Though Guam is not an American state, the people who live there are U. S. citizens.

Sea snakes are usually members of the cobra family.

DOUBLING YOUR PLEASURE!

Birth certificates are required for beginners

AUSTIN — When the month of August rolls around, hundreds of Garza County mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school begins.

Parents with youngsters beginning school for the first time this September look forward to school with a little more excitement, and many mothers whose first-born are going off to school may be a bit bewildered by it all.

In addition to the million - and - one chores that must be performed in getting the youngster ready for school—new shoes, clothes, health examination—most school districts require proof of age for beginning students. A certified copy of a birth certificate is usually requested, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

This fall there will be a quarter-million new first graders in the schools throughout Texas, with the total public school enrollment expected to reach 2.8 million. Continued growth of the school population is expected for the next two to three years, according to the Texas Education Agency.

Anticipating the rush of birth certificate requests, the Records and Statistics Section of the Texas State Department of Health has been prepared for it. Requests already are pouring in.

It takes a sizeable staff just to open the thousands of letters received daily, let alone search out a requested certificate, remove it from the thick volume, make a certified copy, mail it out and then return the original certificate to its proper place.

Years of experience have eliminated nearly every bottleneck. The operation is smooth and fast. Usually the copy is mailed within a day or two after the request is received.

One bottleneck still remaining, however, is the individual who makes the last - minute request. Parents are requested to stop now and write for a certified copy of either the city registrar where the child was born or the county clerk in the county of birth.

If you write the Texas State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, 410 East Fifth St., Austin, Texas, be sure to include the child's name, place of birth, date of birth, and the parents' name (including the mother's maiden name.) The State Health Department fee for a certified copy of the birth certificate is $2.00.

Dr. Clinton also pointed out that Agriculture Economics will be offered on Tuesday evenings in order that adults in the community may take advantage of a course related to farm and ranch development and economic problems.

Western Texas College names art instructor

SNYDER — Appointment of Michael L. Thornton as art instructor at Western Texas College has been announced by Dr. Ben Brock, dean of the college.

Thornton, a 1966 graduate of Rotan High School, attended East Texas State University where he received a B. A. degree in 1970, with a major in painting and a minor in graphic arts. He graduated from Texas Tech in May 1972 with a M. F. A. degree, having majored in jewelry and minored in enameling.

While working on his master's at Tech Thornton taught studio courses, consisting of design, free-hand drawing, enameling and jewelry; survey courses pertaining to design for non-majors; and education courses for education majors in the crafts area.

It's far better to begin at the bottom and work up than to start halfway up and stay there.

The Most Popular and Eloquent Speaker In Post

By Bernard S. Ramsey

Without the least taint of immodesty I can say to you that you will find the MOST POPULAR AND ELOQUENT SPEAKER IN POST at the First Christian Church every Sunday! He is without peer—but let me get myself "off the hook" quickly, by telling you something about this tremendous elocutionist. He was born in an article—quite some time ago—in either TIME or NEWSWEEK or LIFE magazine. You might say the article—which was written in parabolic form—was somewhat vitriolic. It was "taking to task" a certain member of the Board of Regents of the University System of a certain state for his rather shameful, disgraceful, irresponsible and exceedingly harmful conduct as a Regent in the state's University System—and before you were finished reading the article (or parable), his name was spelled out clearly.

With a considerable amount of paraphrasing this highly uncomplimentary little parable fits that popular and eloquent speaker of the First Christian Church. Remember now, the election or appointment of a Regent is a highly-to-be-desired position. The term "regent" itself denotes a noble, kingly, position of influence, authority and rulership. Here is the paraphrastic description of this person:

My diction is perfect. My words are clear and concise. I capture the attention immediately. I speak loudly and clearly. Squalling babies; whispering and misbehaving adults do not phase me in the least—I have trained myself so thoroughly I do not even hear them... and I can overcome almost any other distractions. To be perfectly honest, I specialize in overcoming any good that might occur at a regular meeting. I am very devious. I wait until they think everything is going to be all right, then I show up! I can dampen their enthusiasm in an instant! I can stop them cold!

I have a very deadening effect on the whole proceedings. I really enjoy this part of my job. When the regular participants on the program look out and see me sitting there, they get very depressed. Their voices become weaker and they begin to grope for words—but not me—my speech is always ready. When they look at me with consternation, that's when I know I'm really getting my message across, loud and clear!

My only fear is that someday someone is going to sit down on me real hard—and that's going to hurt. When they do, my voice will be silent and my battle lost. The only way they can shut me up is to sit on me good and hard, and just keep sitting there!

You should know who I am. You are intimately acquainted with me. I AM EIGHTEEN INCHES OF A CHURCH BENCH! A FOOT AND ONE-HALF—more or less! I AM AN EMPTY PEW—EIGHTEEN INCHES! HOW HUMILIATING!... But you see, I just don't care any more; it doesn't matter to me that I'm a part of the increasingly larger WOOD PILE, the preachers of Post "rant and rave" in utter futility every Sunday—I don't care what happens to God's kingdom on earth! I couldn't care less about what happens to his church in Post. EIGHTEEN INCHES!... How degradingly humiliating! WOOD PILE, INDEED!... But if they think they can insult me, they couldn't be further from the truth—I AM STILL THE MOST POPULAR AND ELOQUENT SPEAKER IN POST!

Vocational education is coming this autumn

A new program is being initiated at Post High School this fall. It is a program designed to bridge the gap between school and the world of work.

The Post Independent school District has entered into a cooperative agreement with Texas Rehabilitation Commission whereby a vocational education training class is activated on the Post High campus. The services of the vocational rehabilitation are extended to the eligible members of this class while they are still enrolled in high school.

The curriculum of this class gives priority to the development of vocational adjustment skills. Academic skills are emphasized only as they have a functional relationship to specific jobs or occupations. Areas of emphasis include vocational evaluation, planning and suitable on-the-job training. Job training stations may be secured for a full day or a half day, or any part of a day depending on the maturity of the student.

Other areas that are stressed are personal and social adjustment on and off the job. The curriculum includes such items as how to apply for, secure and hold a job; development of acceptable adult behavior patterns; learning of specific job assignments and how to become a productive employee.

The walls of the classroom are expanded to include the community. Local businesses in the community become the classroom as the student goes to an on-the-job training station where he can be trained in the practical skills necessary to hold a job.

The student is assisted while in the vocational education training unit by both a vocational adjustment coordinator, who is appointed by the school district, and a vocational rehabilitation counselor, who is assigned by Texas Rehabilitation Commission, to work with him.

Jerry L. Hickman, the vocational rehabilitation counselor from the Lubbock Special Programs office, works jointly with the school staff in providing vocational adjustment services to the eligible student-clients.

When a student in the vocational education training class, after a specified period of time, has proved himself capable of holding a job that is commensurate with his abilities, has demonstrated favorable personal and social adjustment, and has developed acceptable adult behavior patterns, he becomes eligible for school graduation and a diploma.

King and Hickman, along with Bill Shiver, superintendent, and James Pollard, high school principal, have the joint responsibility for developing this program in the Post High School. Hickman is assigned to work with King in Post one day each week and on call as needed.

Anyone interested in placing one of these students for part or full-time work experiences, may contact King at telephone 795-2770.

High Plains cotton crop condition ranges from 'poor' to 'excellent'

LUBBOCK — Condition of the High Plains cotton crop early in the last week of July ranged from "poor" to "excellent" and averaged out overall to about halfway between "fair" and "good", according to a survey of area ginners and producers conducted by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., during the week of July 23.

Standing acreage in the 25 counties in PCG territory at the first of July was estimated to be 2,602,000 by the joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange Estimates Committee, and information from the recent PCG survey generally supports that figure. However the PCG Exchange Committee was to meet again Aug. 2 for a re-evaluation of county-by-county acreage figures and to compile the seasons first projection of prospective production volume. The committee's findings will be released Sunday, Aug. 6.

The last week of June and the first two weeks of July brought widespread damage to the area crop from hail, wind and ascochyta (wet weather) blight. But dry, sunny weather followed over most of the area and has continued since about July 15, to the benefit of crops in all except extreme southern counties which are again in need of rain.

Agronomists at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock note that blight and wind damaged cotton now appears to be well on its way to recovery in almost every instance. Dr. Lavon Ray, head of cotton research at the Center, said "Some fields have definitely had stands and potential yields reduced by the excessive wet weather and blowing sand, but most are improving with every day of high temperatures and with continued good weather and a normal frost date stand a good chance of making an acceptable crop."

Generally speaking, moisture conditions in dryland areas are a definite plus factor. Excepting most of Howard and Martin counties and parts of Dawson county, dryland cotton has an excellent chance of producing half a bale per acre without additional rainfall. With more rain, much of the dryland crop could turn out 400 or even 500 pounds per acre. Howard, Martin and the southern end of Dawson county, where much of the cotton wasn't planted until about June 20, will need more rain in the near future and a normal or late frost date if production is not to suffer.

An unusually high incident of verticillium wilt beginning to show up in many irrigated cotton fields may work against a high yielding year for cotton on the Plains. Dr. Ray stated, sandy land cotton and fields planted to highly wilt resistant varieties are escaping the "vert" threat, he said, but most other irrigated cotton is being affected.

"Wilt infested cotton badly needs continued hot, dry weather," Dr. Ray continued. "With dry weather this cotton will go ahead to make a good crop, but should we have another wet, cool spell within the next week or ten days yields could be severely reduced."

As usual the end of the "cotton story" on the Plains in 1972 will again be written by mother nature.

Library—

EEA funds coming to Texas under the new funding bill is known, but they will be distributed through the regional associations of government according to an unemployment formula applied to the various areas.

Post Public Library trustees have been hopeful of securing the financing of the librarian's salary for another 12 months after which time the board is hopeful that the city and county funding of the library will enable the salary to be paid directly from local funds.

A four-day meeting was held in San Antonio last week at which EEA regulations governing the use of the federal emergency employment funds were studied. Considerable more paperwork will be required for the federal funding this year, it has been indicated.

So much so that County Judge Giles W. Dalby was on the phone to Washington last week trying to get explanations of the regulations so the county could determine if it could handle the deputy sheriff's funding application.

Lack of judgment in spending money causes more family trouble with facts.

Walt Arnold wins 'big' at Frontier Days rodeo

Walt Arnold of Silverton, formerly of Post, was the "all around cowboy" at the 76th annual Frontier Days rodeo in Cheyenne, Wyo., last week, winning the most money in two events.

Arnold picked up a total of $3,819 in calf roping and steer roping.

Also competing in the roping events at the big Cheyenne rodeo were Jim Prather of Post and Tim Prather of Snyder.

A total of $106,471 was awarded at the end of the rodeo, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said. Ted Smalley, 41-year-old veteran of Burk Burnett, Tex., won $5,038 in calf roping, the richest event at the rodeo, by finishing second in the second go-round of competition, and second in the "average."

Event "average" winners included Hugh Chambliss, Santa Rosa, N.M., $1,526 in saddle bronc riding; Rusty Riddle, Mineral Wells, Tex., $1,751 in bareback riding; Larry Rohrig, Rifle, Colo., $2,239 in bull riding; Jack Witcher, Miles City, Mont., $3,853 in calf roping; Bob Marshall, San Martin, Calif., $3,405 in steer wrestling; and Allen Keller, Olathe, Colo., $4,756 in steer roping.

Both Arnold and Keller will be seen here Sept. 30-Oct. 1 in the second annual O. S. Ranch Benefit Steer Roping.

Organ grinder and his monkey to be added attraction at September Fair

LUBBOCK — The Panhandle South Plains Fair will be turning back the pages of yesteryear with a free attraction guaranteed to please young and old alike this year.

Tony, the organ grinder, and Chris, the wonder monkey, will be entertaining on the grounds throughout the weeklong run, slated here Sept. 25 - 30. The two will be milling around the grounds for about six hours daily and also will present a free 15-minute show each day at 7 p. m. on the outdoor stage adjacent to the Merchant's Building.

At the turn of the century, the organ grinder visited nearly every city in the nation. The distinctive sound of the organ and the comic antics of the little monkey with his brightly colored clothes brightened the day for everyone.

Time has taken its toll, however, and there are only a few organ-grinders left.

Tony is no stranger to West Texas, having spent a few months working in the oil fields at Snyder during the oil boom days. He became interested in monkeys about 1953, bought himself a 3-month-old Capuchin, who became the "star" of the act.

Another free attraction, plus three horse shows, a pigeon show, bantam show, tropical fish and rabbit shows, women's industrial arts, creative arts, fine arts, livestock and agricultural exhibits also are on the card for this year.

$51,404 bond sales total first half

During June there were new purchases of Series E and H U. S. Savings Bonds amounting to $2,180 according to J. B. Potts, county chairman for Garza County. Sales for the first six months totaled $51,404 or 40 per cent of the 1972 goal of $130,000.

Texas sales during the month were $16,451,782 compared to $15,781,727 during June of 1971, a rise of 4.2 per cent, while year-to-date sales totaled $108,024,525 for 53 per cent of the 1972 goal of $202.3 million.

New purchases of E and H Savings Bonds over the nation during June amounted to a record $532 million, 9.5 per cent above sales during June of last year. Sales for the first six months were $3,247 million, 16.6 per cent above 1971. Exchanges of Series E for Series H Bonds amounting to $170 million were reported for the first six months of 1972, 34 per cent above the $127 million exchanged last year.

SOUTHLAND NEWS School gets ready with remodeling, repainting

By TOMMIE WILKE

Hello out there in newspaper land. Another week has gone by — where and how do they go so fast? It is just a matter of a couple of weeks and school will be starting in Southland, at least for the teachers followed shortly by the opening of the doors for the students. The teachers will start on the 14th of August and the kids will start flocking in on the 17th. My goodness, can it really be?

Speaking of school, let's talk a little about "ye ole schoolhouse"! It has really been getting a "going over" these past weeks. All the rooms have been painted in beautiful colors with matching woodwork, and the floors have been sanded and refinished. A few of the rooms are getting new furniture and the halls have been lightened considerably with shades lighter point. The auditorium will be getting a face lifting after school starts and it really needs it. I understand that the lunchroom and the gym are getting a thorough cleaning and fixing up too — so if you are over this way, why don't you drop in at the school and see it all for yourself.

Mrs. Ed Lieske, Billy Angle and Mrs. Bertha O'Keefe have just returned from a trip to Marlin, Tex., where they spent a week vacationing.

Everyone in this and surrounding communities were shocked and very much saddened when we received the news on Tuesday morning of last week that a very dear friend, Billy Lester, had died en route to a Lubbock Hospital from Mercy Hospital in Slaton where he had been a patient since the day before. Billy was one of those persons who believed in helping whenever and where ever he could. If there was something to be done in the community, he was one of the first ones there and he was a faithful supporter of our school. Billy was only 47 years old, just in the prime of life, but his hour arrived and he had to go. We will all miss him so much. May God continue to comfort his wife, Doris, and his sons, Gary and Gregg, his mother, Mrs. W. P. Lester, his brothers, Winston, Joe and Troy, and his sister, Maurine Duff.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Crawford and Debra were Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wayne Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Maner and boys, all of Lubbock. Little Shane Clinton spent Sunday night here with his grandparents.

Ben Vernon, brother of Mrs. P. W. Crawford, who recently suffered a severe heart attack, is out of the intensive care unit now and the doctors will be putting in a permanent pace-maker for him this Thursday.

Ben Vernon, brother of Mrs. G. D. Ellis, underwent surgery this past week for the removal of two blood clots in his brain. He came out of the surgery real fine and is doing pretty well at this time.

Coach and Mrs. Danny Kennedy and daughter returned last Wednesday from coaching school and a trip to Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Davis spent several days this past week in nice cool Ruidoso, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dunn spent this past Sunday in Palo Duro Canyon Park.

Guests in our home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McMinn and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Zieschang.

Got a card from the F. W. Callaways the other day and they are staying at the Ponderosa Camp on Rt. 1, Antonito, Colo. It must be beautiful up there, nice and cool with good fishing streams. If you are up that way, why don't you stop in for a visit? Bet they would love to see you! Wish I was up there right now.

Until next week, here's a little something to ponder on: "There is no disappointment we endure one-half so great as that we are to ourselves."

FHA emergency loans on hail losses may be available, Tower says

AUSTIN — U. S. Sen. John Tower has reminded farmers who recently suffered severe hail losses to growing crops that they may be eligible for emergency loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

Tower said he had been in contact with Lynn Futch, state director of the FHA in Texas, about the emergency loans that are available through FHA for continuation of farming operations.

Widespread hail damage was inflicted recently in the High Plains region of Texas and many producers lost cotton and milo crops to wind and hail from spring and summer storms.

"Loans of this nature will assure Texas farmers of an opportunity to produce an alternate cash crop and thus keep a portion of our state's largest industry in operation," Tower said.

The land of promise can be found in any democratic nation just prior to election time.

Texas alligators making comeback

AUSTIN — The alligator in Texas is making a comeback.

Thanks to a combination of state and federal laws which make the interstate transport and the possession of alligator hides illegal, more and more Southeast Texans are reporting the big reptiles in their ponds and lakes.

This resurgence of alligator populations is not confined to Texas. Other southern states are reporting population increases for the alligator, and one state, Louisiana, has even proposed removing some of the restrictions on killing 'gators.

If the population continues to increase and expand its range, a limited harvest might become feasible.

At the present, however, past losses still need to be recovered. The alligator comeback is heartening news to conservationists who just a few years ago feared that the great beasts were being driven to extinction by poachers and disappearing habitat.

The habitat is still disappearing, and biologists say alligators as well as other species of wildlife will suffer as a result. However, poaching activity was effectively stymied by the new laws governing the possession of alligators and their skins. It is a criminal offense to keep a live alligator without a permit and to possess a hide except as a finished product.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department estimated that there were approximately 10,000 alligators in Texas in 1966, with a slow decrease in the numbers. At one time in Texas alligators probably numbered in the millions.

No one knows how many 'gators there are in Texas now, but a survey taken last fall in several southeastern counties indicates that more than 90 per cent of Texas' alligators are less than six feet long. Since six feet is the criterion biologists use to separate mature and immature alligators, this preponderance of juvenile alligators indicates a veritable alligator population explosion.

Parks and Wildlife biologists say the alligator in Texas still has some way to go before it is solidly established again, and too much pressure could still threaten the alligator. Also, it takes a long time before six-foot alligators become 13-foot alligators.

But the biologists are optimistic now about the 'gator's chances, if the reptiles are allowed to continue at their present rate of growth.

Girl dragged to death by horse

JAYTON — Funeral services are held here last Thursday for arbora Nell Grice, 17, who was pronounced dead on arrival at a state hospital about 9:30 p. m. Sunday of last week. Witnesses said the girl and her other were practicing barrel racing near the Keat County court-in-Jayton when her horse frightened by a dog and threw at the girl's hand became entangled in a rope on the saddle horn and she was dragged more than 100 feet before the horse could be stopped. Miss Grice would have been a senior student at Jayton High School.
