V.C. Gunfire Hits 'Copters

United Press International
SAIGON (UPI) — A series of sharp firefights broke out just south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) today between U.S. Marines and North Vietnamese troops. Communist gunfire hit seven helicopters flying wounded Leathernecks from one of the battlefields.

In one action Communist troops opened another mortar barrage against the huge American Long Tom artillery pieces at Gio Linh which have been firing across the DMZ into North Vietnam. Other Communists attacked a Marine battalion at nearby Con Thien.

Superior American firepower was reported taking a heavy toll of Communist lives in the battles fought in the rainstorm, but final figures were not in. At least 130 North

Milk Market Boycott Now In 30 States

By United Press International
The National Farmers Organization milk market boycott, although having no apparent effect on the supply or price of retail milk, spread today into New England and to the Gulf of Mexico.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley announced the expansion of the cut-the-supply-to-raise-the-price effort from 25 to 30 states at the end of a day filled with the worst violence recorded in connection with the nine-day-old campaign.

Staley said the NFO had organized chapters in Massachusetts and Maine and had been requested to move into Vermont, Connecticut and Kentucky.

As hundreds of disgruntled farmers dumped milk rather than sell at prices they consider ridiculously low, a teenager was shot Thursday, a milk truck driver said he was abducted and loads of milk were contaminated.

More Negotiations
Staley said early today negotiations were "improving" between the NFO and dairy industry representatives and that the talks would be "greatly broadened" later today.

The dairy operators are willing to talk about the NFO demand for a 2-cent-a-quart increase in the price of bulk milk because "the pressure has been building on the industry," Staley said.

However, dairies in Chicago, located in the heart of the boycott area, said they actually had a surplus of supplies. Nowhere in the boycott area were major shortages reported.

It was learned Thursday that the South Dakota NFO had signed a contract with the Custer cheese factory of Custer, S.D., calling for a $1.05 per hundred weight increase in the price paid farmers.

Vietnamese were reported killed against light U.S. losses.

There was no immediate word as to the number of American casualties suffered when Communist machinegun and rifle fire ripped into the rescue helicopters. The rains were so heavy the wounded had had to wait for hours to be flown out.

Incomplete reports said 11 Marines were killed and 59 wounded in the ground action in which the Communists fired 50 rounds of 82 mm mortars into the Gio Linh defenses.

The fighting flared near Da Nang, nearly 100 miles south of the DMZ, and Marines in an action 32 miles southwest of the big base killed 61 Communists without taking a casualty. A force of 400 to 500 Communists attacked a Marine squad which held off the attack until reinforcements moved in to break up the Red assault.

The North Vietnamese have massed at least three full divisions in the DMZ which separates North and South Vietnam and have elements of two others in the mountainous area west of Da Nang. Marines there have clashed repeatedly with Communist troops trying to swarm across the zone into South Vietnam.

Nine Die In Head-on Crash at San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A station wagon jammed with 15 persons collided head-on early today with an auto carrying one man, and nine persons were fatally injured, including four children.

A witness said the auto with one occupant was weaving about the road just before the smashup and he saw it all in his rear-view mirror.

Seven persons died at the scene and two others died later at hospitals.

The victims were identified as Juan Pedro de la Cruz, 37, his wife Bertha and their 13-year-old son Sammy, all of (908 5th St.) Pleasanton, Tex.; the driver of the auto, Geneva Villarreal, 28, of (834 Jennings) San Antonio; and five members of the Pablo Jimenez family—Pablo, 35, his wife, who was 33, their sons Paul, 12, and Ernest, 10, and daughter Naomi, 12, all of Carrizo Springs, Tex.

Both Pablo Jimenez and Juan Pedro de la Cruz were Baptist preachers, police said. The Jimenez family moved from San Antonio to Carrizo Springs within the past year.

Four Hurt Critically
Jimenez' daughter Yolanda, 9, was critically injured, as were three other de la Cruz children—Ernestina, 13, Peter, 15, and Alex, 10. Two other de la Cruz children—Richard, 11, and Becky, 7, suffered minor injuries.

An unidentified woman, around 35, was critically injured. The station wagon full of people was going to their homes after a late church service.

R. L. Parsons, 24, was driving just ahead of the station wagon on U.S. Highway 80 on San Antonio's south side, just after midnight.

"As the second (oncoming) car met me, he started veering over into my lane," Parsons said.

IN JERUSALEM

Good Friday Pilgrims Trod Calvary Path

JERUSALEM, Jordan (UPI) — A Good Friday army of pilgrims today trod the path to Calvary, the hill of the crucifixion, braving the same bleak, stormy weather that chroniclers described when Jesus Christ died there.

The quiet army of the religious moved up a way lined now with garish souvenir shops and in sight of the barbed wire and brick barriers that divide Arab from Jew in this embittered, divided city.

The commemoration of Christ's death began Thursday night in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre where the Latin patriarch of Jerusalem washed the feet of 12 laymen in remembrance of Christ's washing the feet of his Apostles.

The church, which many Christians believe contains both the site of Christ's death and of his burial, was crowded for the ceremony.

Thousands Surround Church

Thousands of pilgrims remained outside although their number was diminished from previous years by the heavy rainfall. Hotel keepers even announced some cancellations because of the weather.

But special aircraft ferried scores of foreign visitors to Jerusalem from Beirut, Lebanon, where they were grounded

200 Sign for Street Paving Plan In First Three Days

Approximately 200 property owners have signed papers so far authorizing paving in the city's overall 140-block street improvement program.

City Manager Jim White said today the office opened Wednesday in City Hall for that purpose has been a busy place during the past three days.

The city manager said it is hoped to have sufficient signers within a short time to begin the first actual paving within the next month or 45 days.

White stated it is expected to take probably three months to complete signatures of property owners on the street paving to be done within the next year.

The office where property owners may sign up is on the main floor of City Hall.

Claude Shelton, representative of the Texas Securities Corp. of San Antonio, is in charge of the office which is open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Several Denominations
The church is divided among half a dozen often squabbling religious communities, including the Roman Catholic, Greek, Coptic and American churches.

Each controls parts of the structure and conducts services regularly.

The Church of the Sepulchre, called by the Greeks the Church of the Resurrection, was built in the Fourth Century by Constantine the Great.

Fire, war and earthquake have destroyed the church several times and the present building dates mainly from the last century.

The church, a huge structure, encloses the site of both cross and tomb following St. John's Gospel, 19:42, which said "The tomb was close at hand" to the crucifixion site.

Thant Asked For Cease-Fire Plans

S. Viet Curious Of Rumored Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — South Vietnam has asked U.N. Secretary General Thant to spell out his plans for a proposed cease-fire, informed diplomatic sources said today.

Thant was reported to have proposed the cease-fire as a prelude to direct talks between the United States and North Vietnam to decide the format for eventual peace negotiations.

Thant and official spokesmen maintained strict silence on the proposal. But U.N. sources said Thant had presented it to the United States, both Vietnam, Britain and Russia (co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Indochina) and India, Canada and Poland (the three members of the International Control Commission for Vietnam).

South Vietnam's reply, according to the diplomatic informants, was that it would welcome peace talks but that it had reservations about the terms Thant proposed.

They said Saigon's chief doubt was that a cease-fire could be policed by existing means, the control commission, for example, since North Vietnam has used past truces to build up for new operations.

There was no indication the United States or North Vietnam had replied to Thant.

The official North Vietnam press agency VNA recently said the United Nations had no jurisdiction in the Vietnam problem. The agency also said that the good faith and impartiality of Canada and India, the non-Communist members of the control commission were doubted by Hanoi.

In view of this, and North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's rejection of President Johnson's bid for direct talks last month, few diplomats expected a favorable answer to Thant from Ho.

Peking Admits Disease Raging

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist Chinese radio broadcasts admitted for the first time Thursday night pestilence is stalking the world's most populous country.

Shanghai Radio called for "masses" of doctors and nurses to act "in the present spring period of many contagious diseases erupting and flowing from place to place."

The health crisis rose as Peking Radio announced the formation of a "congress of revolutionary workers" in the Communist Chinese capital.

This followed the setting up of a congress of Red Guard backers of Communist party leader Mao Tse-tung and of a congress of peasant supporters. Like the others, the new congress appeared to be a new tool devised by Mao's comrades to tighten control over the "revolutionary rebel" forces in the leader's "cultural revolution."

The Shanghai and other Communist Chinese broadcasts heard here blamed the disease rampage on the medical workers not following Mao's orders for the care of the country's 700 million persons.

The radio admissions followed many reports by Peking's official New China News Agency and provincial broadcasts giving strong indications health conditions appeared to be deteriorating. Here in this British crown colony perched on the China coast, the dense refugee population appeared struck by the pestilence backlash.

Hong Kong was suffering an epidemic of German measles.

More than 2,000 cases have been reported so far this year.

The authorities blamed the outbreak on a religious taboo against vaccination and on madmen who caused by a draught-born famine.

A well-known Indian social worker, Jayapaks Naayan, said the people of Bihar are becoming "living corpses." He said the food shortage is so bad 40 million of the state's 50 million people have little hope of survival.

Narayan, currently aiding famine relief, said an acute water shortage was getting worse in Bihar. He said deaths from thirst will start mounting soon unless the central government steps in quickly with more aid.

In Gaya alone in the eastern state 350 of 419 persons stricken the past three months have died, the health officials said.

A jaundice epidemic also is spreading in Gaya, they said. The second disease has claimed 30 lives.

The health officials said many residents of Bihar refused vaccinations. Most peasants, they said, believe smallpox is a curse of Shetla, the goddess of smallpox, and they hide from medical teams.

LIONS FIND OUT Pampan's Top Backers Of Plains Eye Bank

Pampa has furnished more eyes to the Hi-Plains Eye Bank in Amarillo than any other Texas Panhandle city. Mrs. Betty J. Bullock, executive secretary of the bank, told members of the Noon Lions Club Thursday.

Mrs. Bullock, who regained her own sight by a pair of eyes donated to the bank, was guest speaker for the Lions, whose area clubs sponsor the bank.

"The main purpose of the eye bank," Mrs. Bullock said after the meeting, "is to act as a clearing house between the person donating his eyes after death and the individual ophthalmologist who will perform the transplant operation."

The eye bank receives eyes from people who have specifically requested that their eyes be removed after their death and used either in research or a sight-saving transplant.

"Since the first pair of eyes came to the eye bank in 1963," she said, "we have processed 43 pairs of eyes."

According to Mrs. Bullock, 84 people have been helped by the eyes with which the Eye Bank has worked.

"As many as six people can be helped with just one pair of eyes," she said.

Mrs. Bullock explained that there are three tissues in a donated eye that can be transplanted.

Two corneal transplants can be given, two sclera (the white part of the eyes) can be used to repair ruptures of the eyeball, and vitreous (the fluid in the eye) can be used for two vitreous implants, she explained.

The Hi-Plains Eye Bank was created to serve the Panhandle area, but eyes are shipped to ophthalmologists in other areas on an emergency basis.

"While we have a waiting list of patients in this area," Mrs. Bullock said, "eyes from our area could be sent elsewhere if their was the chance they would save eye sight."

Cases of patients on the waiting list, she explained, were of the nature that the operation could be performed at anytime the eyes were available.

"If we needed eyes for an

Demos, Republicans Give Own Views Of 90th Congress' Accomplishments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At the 10-week mark, Democratic leaders are pleased with the pace of the 90th Congress. But Republicans feel the session has been a flop.

The sharply contrasting assessments of the session's first two-and-a-half months were made at rival news conferences Thursday as House and Senate members left for a 10-day Easter vacation.

Most of the important bills are still in committee, but House Democratic leader Carl Albert predicted they would be reported out rapidly after the recess ends April 3.

Ahead of Schedule
"We are well ahead of schedule and I see no reason at this time why the Congress cannot adjourn by the first of August this year," Albert said.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, on the other hand, said the Democratic-controlled Congress is turning in a "near-zero performance."

Ford said the Johnson administration apparently did not know what it wanted, and as a result, Congress spent its opening weeks "wallowing in inaction."

Ford was joined in his criticism by Senate GOP leader

Everett M. Dirksen. The two Republican leaders held one of their regular "Ev and Gerry" shows in the Senate reception room.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield ducked the Easter duel by issuing his comments in a statement.

Notes Achievements
Mansfield said the 90th Congress had already compiled a record of "significant" achievements, with one House or the other acting on emergency funds for Vietnam, food for India, tax incentives for business, support for Johnson's aid plans for Latin America, and veterans benefits.

The Senate has also approved the Soviet-American consular treaty.

But still to come in the 90th Congress is action on draft reforms, a proposed 6 per cent income surtax, an increase in Social Security benefits, the 1967 civil rights package, and the President's "safe streets and crime control" bill.

The congressional spotlight thus far this year has centered on the House action to bar Adam Clayton Powell and the Senate hearings on misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd.

Dear Abby... Being 'On My Own' Is Not So Rosy

DEAR ABBY: I am in the United States Navy. I love the service, but most of all, I love my parents. Before I came into the service I felt I knew just about everything. I was sure my parents no longer needed me, and all I could think of was the day I would be "on my own."

The first time I realized how much my parents cared was the day they took me to the train depot to see me off. When my father said good-bye to me, he broke down and cried. I had never seen my father cry before, and I won't forget it as long as I live. I have had a lot of time to think, I never told my father I loved him, and I gave both my parents a hard time when they tried to guide me for my own good.

Now I write home every chance I get, and I am trying to make up for all the heartaches I must have caused them, and for my failure to be a better son. When my next leave comes up I am going home and get acquainted with my wonderful parents. I have written this letter in hopes that other thoughtless teen-agers will wake up before it's too late. Thanks, Abby, for letting me get this off my chest.

D. D. H.: SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I have nine grandchildren. I send each one a check for five dollars on his birthday, as well as at Christmas. I am distressed. One mother signs her children's checks, cashes them, and keeps the money herself. The children do not even know that I have sent them a gift.

Very soon a birthday is due. I love these children, my social security is small, but I still want to send these children money. How can I prevent the mother from grabbing it? The children are junior and high school students.

GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: If you can give the children the CASH, personally, do so. If you must mail your gift, conceal the five-dollar bill in a card, and ask each child to let you know how he has spent his money. The mother obviously cannot be trusted. So don't trust her.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER
FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 25

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is by far the best time for anything of importance today and tonight. The oncoming full moon suggests most of us can be very determined to have our way and respect of others. Some say or do that may get in the way of that. Impulsive force. Take time out to be thoughtful, considerate.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Personal duties should have your full attention now and avoid trouble before it starts. This could concern your health, also. Be sure to find a helping hand to those in trouble and show that you can be relied upon.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Handle those tasks that will increase both your personal and business matters. Today or you can get into trouble with bigwigs and the top sergeant at home. See to it that everything around you is running efficiently. Be active.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 23) — You know exactly what has to be done, so get busy and make a work schedule. You can be followed with ease. The moon is full and you can accomplish more than you had thought possible. Be efficient.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) — You have to be very careful where monetary matters are concerned, otherwise you can have big loss and be in a pickle later on. Use will power. Get your important bills paid — or at least partially.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Know what is truly vital to your welfare and on this day you can improve your health, appearance and come to better understanding with associates. Partner does not agree with you. Stand, avoid arguments.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Replace whatever is annoying to you with the opposite, be it people or the minutiae. Go to some real expert and get ideas. Make notes of your inspired thoughts. Then you can get right into them without forgetting what you had in mind.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — If you state what your ideas are to both congenial and loved ones, you find they cooperate with them very readily. Make notes of your inspired thoughts. Then you can get right into them without forgetting what you had in mind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Outside the agenda this Saturday, and be certain to carry through with promises made to others. Especially with close ties. Stop being so independent. Do some home chores.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Ideal day to get in touch with person either in or out of town and gathering information or advice you require. Talk over mutual aims, interests. Put those ideas of yours across clearly, also.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You can answer those questions that have been bothering you for some time. Stand, avoid arguments. Get your bills and other obligations paid. The social is important, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Astutely use by asking pointed questions and then being understanding. Get rid of that stalemate. Many conditions come into the open so that you know best what to do in the days ahead.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he, or she, will be one of the persons in life who has to adjust to many changes. He or she will be a person who must go out of the existence temporarily, since they will return when again feasible to God's plan. Although the future is hazy one, there is still much practical sense here and high character. Promising to the facts here. No patient as parents.

Don't overlook the use of orchids for floral arrangements in your home or apartment, says the Society of American Florists. A simple yet elegant design can be created, for example, by using only three cymbidium orchids with fronds in a small balanced maple scale of Early American style. The orchids may be inserted in the design by using small water picks available at your nearest florist, SAF adds.

Comely Dallas Student Wins Tomorrow's Homemaker Title

Miss Candia Lee Young of Bishop-Dunne high school, Dallas, has been chosen 1967 State Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Texas. She will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills. Winner over 31,500 senior girls in 905 of the state's high schools enrolled for this year's program. Candia lives at 2224 Swansee in Dallas. Miss Rebecca Lynn Foster, Memorial Senior high school, Houston, was awarded second honors in the state and will receive a $500 scholarship. Honorable mention went to: Ruth Anne Soustad, Amarillo high school, Amarillo; Linda Lark Wilson, Atlanta high school, Atlanta; Deborah Lynn Timberly, Avenger high school, Avenger; Glenda Elaine Lokay, Farmersville high school, Farmersville; Janice Ann Davis, Lake Worth high school, Fort Worth; Barbara Ann Stehling, Harper high school, Harper; Marilyn Garner, Moody high school, Moody and Mary Lelie Mitchell, Ozona high school, Ozona.

Awards were based on the 13th annual written Betty Crocker Knowledge and Attitude examination, prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Chicago. Enrolled for the examination on December 6, 1966, were 581,334 senior class girls in 14,753 of the nation's high schools. Miss Young now is eligible, with homemakers from the other 49 states and the District of Columbia, for All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow honors. Scores in the initial test along with personal observation and interviews during an expense paid tour in April to Washington, D.C. and Colonial Williamsburg will be factors in determining national awards. Faculty advisors will accompany each girl on the tour.

The All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1967 and runners-up will be announced at the annual American Table Dinner at Williamsburg. The All American Homemaker's scholarship will be increased to $5,000 with scholarships for second, third and fourth place winners being raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively. Each state winner's school also will receive a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica from Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. One of the many highlights of the tour will be a reception at Washington at which the girls will act as hostesses for United States Senators from their respective states and Representatives from their home districts. Candia Young lists as her favorite school subjects physics, English and French. Five-foot-five and with light brown hair and green eyes, she is on the honor roll and is a National Merit Scholarship semifinalist. She is active in such school programs as National Forensic league, the school paper, Young Christian students and she is secretary of her class.

The daughter of a Lt. Col. in the army, Candia lists as her most exciting event in her life so far participating in Operation Otomi, a project in which Mexicans and Americans work together to help the Otomi Indians of the Valle de Mesquital in Mexico.

"I lived with a Mexican family," Candia said, "and then went to live and work with the Indians. Seeing the cooperation and understanding which existed was memorable, but the greatest experience came from knowing the Otomi people, for, although they are among the most poverty stricken people of the world, their courage, gentleness and generosity often made me wonder if I, not they, was the poorer and if I didn't profit the most."

Candia lists Stanford University as her first choice for continuing for education. Her hope is to major in physics.

POLLY'S POINTERS Sister's Untidiness Cause For Concern

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I am 13 and have a twin sister who is five minutes older than I am. Just because she is older she thinks she can boss me around. We have a beautiful bedroom and I keep all my clothes nice and neat as I can bring my friends in to play records. Half the time I cannot do this because my sister's clothes are all over the bed, which isn't even made. She also has the nerve to want to wear some of my clothes because they look neater than hers. I think she is old enough to pick up after herself. She is setting a pattern for how she will keep house when she gets married. What can be done about this

—DEBBIE

DEAR DEBBIE — What does your mother say and do about your sister's untidiness? Many sisters have this problem so I am sure we will get many good suggestions for you. Watch for

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is to help Mrs. G. L. B. break her little boy's habit of eating toilet soap. A bottle of mild hot-tasting liquid for the nails of children who bite their nails is quite inexpensive. A few drops of this on the soap every day for about a week will tingle his tongue just enough to discourage his future soap snacks. He may cry a little but the liquid is perfectly harmless.

—MRS. T.L.V.

DEAR POLLY — I can remember what mom used to do to tick the problem of us kids biting a chunk out of a soap bar. She put the soap in a cover she crocheted to look like a turtle. No more soap-eating and more fun in the tub. Also a terry cloth cover could be stitched up to hold the soap. Have either an elastic or a drawstring at the top opening where the soap goes in.

—KATHY

DEAR POLLY — When my aunt was in the hospital I noticed that when the nurse's aid came in to rub her back with alcohol some of the cold alcohol always splashed on my aunt when the nurse pured it out of the bottle. I took two empty roll-on deodorant bottles, cleaned them thoroughly and filled them with alcohol. They worked beautifully and the nurses were very pleased. The job was quicker and not so wasteful.

repeated attacks against the 175 m American guns at Gio Linh but have been unable to knock them out. In the past few days the Communists have started using artillery for the first time to join their mortars and Chinese Communist rockets.

One of the more dramatic battles today came when the Marine squad, four men alone, fought at about 30 to 1 odds until a company of fellow Marines roared up with armored vehicles and attacked the Communists.

The fight broke out Thursday afternoon 375 miles northeast of Saigon and near the great Marine bastion at Da Nang.

American spokesman said at the same time a U.S. twin-engine transport crashed into a mountain near Da Nang's airbase, killing the pilot and eight members of a higher education study group from the United States.

Names Withheld

Names of the victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Spokesmen said the plane, en route from Saigon to the university city of Hue 20 miles north of Da Nang, ran into bad weather, made a quick landing at Da Nang and took off again. Marine searchers found the wreckage on the coastal mountainside this morning, spokesmen said.

It was the second U.S. plane to crash Thursday. Spokesman said an Air Force AC47 Dragonship, a World War II vintage twin-engine transport refitted as a gunship, lost power taking off from Bien Hoa just north of Saigon. It crashed in an open field, seriously injuring three persons but killing no one.

The Leatherneck squad's heroic attack formed one of a series of fire fights in the northern provinces of South Vietnam that resulted in the Marines killing 92 Communists, spokesman said.

The Marines in the other actions suffered three men killed and 11 wounded, spokesman said.

Absentee Voting Goes Slowly In Two Elections

Less than a dozen absentee ballots had been cast so far today in each of the two elections coming up soon in Pampa.

Four candidates are vying for two seats on the school board in balloting scheduled Saturday, April 1.

They are John Gikas, John Spearman, Dr. W. H. Greenlee and Mrs. Ben Fallon. Gikas, current board secretary, is seeking reelection.

There are three contests in the city commission election set for Tuesday, April 4.

Mayor Jim Nation Jr. will be opposed by Forrest D. Pitts in the mayoralty race.

A three-way contest is being waged by Leon Holmes, former city commissioner; Joe Taylor and Fred Carrothers in Ward 3.

Clyde Carruth, seeking reelection as Ward 4 commissioner, will be opposed at the polls by Elmer Radcliff.

Deadline for absentee balloting in the school election is March 28 and in the city election, March 31.

The ham radio network relays information as to where eyes are needed on an emergency basis and where eyes are possibly available. "The eyes are shipped by air."

"We have special containers to pack the eye in," she said. "The container is handed directly to the captain of the plane who takes care of it during the flight."

People wishing to donate their eyes to the Hi-Plains Eye Bank, she said, can contact either the office in Amarillo or any Lions Club member.

Pampa has 162 donors registered with the bank, according to Mrs. Bullock.

Joe Tooley, 1318 N. Russell, Noon Lions member, is president of the Hi-Plains Eye Bank and also president of the South-Central Association of Eye Banks of America.

He left two men who were with him at the scene and drove to where he could call for police and ambulances. Dozens of police and ambulance attendants and passersby worked an hour getting the dead and injured out of the wreckage or off the road and onto stretchers.

Attendants had to put two children to a stretcher to get them all quickly to hospitals. In the ambulances a child was put on the front seat of each, so more could be carried in one trip.

Villareal's body was pinned in the wreckage. The auto's motor had been jammed back to where the front seat was and the steering column poked through the roof of the car.

Obituaries

Mrs. Margie Morasco

Funeral services for Mrs. Margie Morasco of Amarillo, former Pampa resident, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church with the Rev. William Brennan, CM, officiating.

Mrs. Morasco died shortly before 9 a.m. yesterday in Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo from injuries incurred in a car accident about five weeks ago.

A rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in the Carmichael-Whaley Colonial Chapel.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Palbearers will be Bill Finkbinder, George Dillman, Bill Haley, Bob Jewell, Tom Braly and Glen King.

PHS Teacher Will Attend J-Seminar

Miss Elizabeth Hurley, Pampa High School Journalism instructor, will attend the University of Minnesota on a summer study grant in journalism, which has been awarded to 221 high school teachers from 39 states and the District of Columbia, the Newspaper Fund, Inc., announced today.

Miss Hurley will attend the June 14-19 session.

All recipients are advisers to school publications. The seminars are designed to strengthen journalism teaching capabilities.

Tuition, board, room, text books are provided for three or four weeks.

Schools where these seminars will be held are Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis.; University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.; University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore.; Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y.; and University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N.C.

The Wall Street Journal has financed these fellowships through gifts to the fund since 1959.

Thundershowers Predicted Here For Third Day

For the third day in a row, Pampa area residents may expect isolated thundershowers tonight, but the outlook for tomorrow and Sunday is only partly cloudy and mild.

Pampans who were in town today may have needed rocks to stay on the sidewalk because of the brisk southwest wind, but winds are expected to decrease tonight and become northerly by tomorrow.

Abraham Slates Talk Tomorrow

State Rep. Malouf Abraham of Canadian will discuss current legislature in Austin during the breakfast meeting tomorrow of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting at 7 a.m. in the Starlight Room, Coronado Inn, is open to the public. R. D. Wilkerson, committee chairman, said.

11 Pampa Churches Plan Special Easter Events

Church Notices

Holy Week activities of 11 Pampa churches include sunrise services, special worship programs, a gospel concert and Easter week masses.

In the 3 p.m. Good Friday liturgical service at St. Vincent's Catholic Church, members will participate in the reading of the passion of Christ, unrivalling of the cross and veneration of the cross.

The stations of the cross service at 7:30 p.m. today at St. Vincent's Church will follow the passion of Christ and trace the path of the cross from His condemnation to death and burial at Calvary.

The Holy Saturday Easter vigil, which starts with an 11 p.m. liturgical service at St. Vincent's Church, will end with a midnight mass.

Observances during the candlelit liturgical service at 11 p.m. will include the blessing of the new fire, blessing of the Easter water and a ceremony of renewing baptismal vows.

The Rev. Charles Welter, M., associate pastor of St. Vincent's Church, will celebrate the midnight mass.

The Rev. William V. Brennan, C.M., pastor of St. Vincent's Church, will celebrate the 6 a.m. and 9 a.m. masses, and Father Welter, the 11 a.m. mass Easter Sunday.

FIRST CHRISTIAN
The Rev. J. W. Duke, pastor, will conduct the 8:30 a.m. and 10:50 a.m. services Easter Sunday at First Christian Church.

The Rev. C. M. Grow, associate pastor, will assist in both services. Baptismal services are planned for both worship hours.

The youth choir, directed by Mrs. Stan Hill and accompanied by Mrs. Dan King will sing the anthem "Christ Arose" for their 3:30 a.m. music.

The adult choir, directed by Miss Rosemary Lawlor and accompanied by Mrs. John Gill, has chosen the anthem "Angels Roll the Rock Away" for the 10:50 a.m. service.

Mrs. Paul Reimer is soloist for the second service, when the Rev. Mr. Duke will preach on "The Assurance of Immortality." His scriptures are from John 11:25-26 and Acts 2: 22, 24 and 32. No afternoon or evening meetings are planned Easter Sunday.

FIRST BAPTIST
The Rev. Dan B. Cameron, First Baptist Church pastor, will preach the sermon for the annual community Easter sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. Sunday at Aspen Park.

The Rev. Joe Hawn, Calvary Baptist Church pastor, and president of the Ministerial Alliance, will read the scriptures. The alliance, assisted by the Pampa Trustees, is sponsoring the community service.

Ted James, First Methodist Church choir director, will direct congregational singing.

Others on the program are Dale Cain, invocation; Mary Jane Rose and Gail Craddock, special music and the Rev. Sam Hulsey, rector of St. Matthews Episcopal Church, benediction.

The service, which will have about 13 persons participating, will last about 30 minutes.

will preach on the topic "God Is Alive" in the 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. services Sunday.

The pastor selected "How to Grow as a Christian" for the 7 p.m. service, when the Chancel Choir will sing.

Sam Allen, First Baptist Church minister of music, will direct all three services and sing the solo for the 8:30 a.m. service.

In the 11 a.m. program he will direct the Chancel Choir in "Hail Glorious King." Mrs. Mack Hiatt, soprano, is soloist for the 11 a.m. hour.

Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Oh, Holy Jesus" at 8:30 a.m., "Three Easter Carols" at 11 a.m. and "The Road to Ammaus" at 7 p.m. services.

ZION LUTHERAN
Zion Lutheran Church members will celebrate Holy Communion in a Good Friday service at 7:30 p.m. today, with the pastor, the Rev. M. G. Herring, preaching on the topic "He Died."

During the Zion Lutheran Church Easter Sunday sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. a 30-minute film "Dawn of Victory," will be shown.

After the film and service, youths will serve a pancake breakfast in the fellowship hall.

The Rev. John R. Ferguson, who recently accepted a call from the First Baptist Church, Barstow, Calif. After he left here, Dr. Bayless became an evangelist, lived in Dallas nine years and conducted several revivals.

Before his retirement two years ago, he was pastor of Central Baptist Church, North Little Rock, Ark. for about 14 years.

He conducted about 74 revivals and had two books of his sermons published. He now lives with his son, Gordon B. Bayless, at 900 Terry Road.

Sunday school starts at 9:45 a.m. and Training union at 6:30 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Herring will preach the 11 a.m. Easter Sunday message on "A Cross to Glory," based on Luke 24:13-27.

Mrs. Melvin Herring will direct the junior choir in "I Know that My Redeemer Lives."

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF GOD
The First Assembly of God Church will present a gospel singing concert with revival beginning Easter Sunday and continuing through April 2.

Services are planned for 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Guest singers are recording artists Earl McMillin, tenor, of Hugonson, Calif., and Ronnie Actinon, pianist, of Gritley, Calif. They have appeared with the Statesmen Quartet, the Blackwood Brothers Quartet and other gospel singers.

BARRETT BAPTIST
Dr. C. Gordon Bayless, former pastor of Pampa's First Baptist Church, will preach at the Barrett Baptist Church 903 E. Beryl, at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. Bayless will preach in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. John R. Ferguson, who recently accepted a call from the First Baptist Church, Barstow, Calif.

After he left here, Dr. Bayless became an evangelist, lived in Dallas nine years and conducted several revivals.

Before his retirement two years ago, he was pastor of Central Baptist Church, North Little Rock, Ark. for about 14 years.

He conducted about 74 revivals and had two books of his sermons published. He now lives with his son, Gordon B. Bayless, at 900 Terry Road.

Sunday school starts at 9:45 a.m. and Training union at 6:30 p.m.

CHURCH OF GOD
The Church of God here has designated Sunday as Ruff Day in honor of the Ruff family who helped to pioneer churches of God in the Panhandle.

The late Rev. Cliff Ruff, his family and his brothers were some of the founders of the Church of God in Old Mobeetie.

The Rev. B. A. Ratchford, a retired minister living in Weatherford, and a son-in-law of the late Cliff Ruff, was the organizer of the Church of God here.

The Rev. Mrs. Ora Mae (Ruff) Frey of Fresno, Calif., a niece of the late Rev. C. C. Ruff, will speak during the Sunday program and conduct the revival.

Music will include congregational singing, quartets, trios, and duets, the Rev. O. E. Wright, pastor, said.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN
Easter worship is planned for 8:30 and 11 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church.

Preaching from the book of Acts, the Rev. Frederick H. Dawson, interim pastor, will complete his series on faith affirmations.

His topic is "I believe in the Resurrection of the Body and Life Everlasting."

Mrs. George Budd will sing "In the End of the Sabbath" as the offertory solo at 11 a.m.

No youth fellowships are planned this Sunday.

JEHOVAH WITNESSES
Jehovah Witnesses from this area will meet at the Kingdom Hall 944 S. Dwight at 7 p.m. to gather to celebrate the anniversary of the death of Christ.

More than two million members throughout the world in 190 countries will meet after sundown tomorrow to participate in a program of music, prayer, talks on the meaning of the service and the passing of the emblems of unleavened bread and wine.

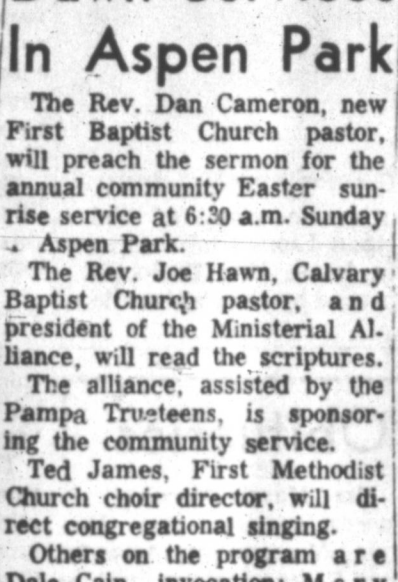

Jack Cobb, of Amarillo, a minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, will present the talk tomorrow.

LAMAR FULL GOSPEL ASSEMBLY
The Rev. L. V. Grace will present a drama in film, music and meditation at the Lamar Full Gospel Assembly Church at 7 p.m. Sunday.

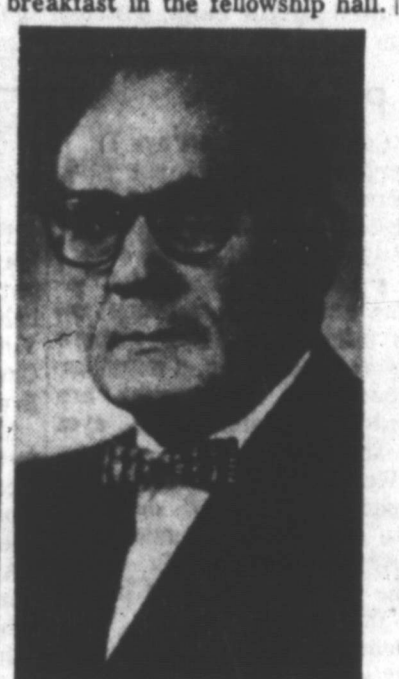

The church is located at the corner of Bond and South Summer. In the morning service, the Rev. Wesley Pollet, pastor, will preach on "A Bed, A Bier, and a Tomb."

LEFORS GOSPEL MEETING — The Church of Christ in Lefors is conducting a pre-Easter gospel meeting until Sunday, with Richard Williams, left, of Big Spring as evangelist, and Joe David Martin, right, of Pampa as song director. Services are held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. until Sunday.

LEFORS GOSPEL MEETING — The Church of Christ in Lefors is conducting a pre-Easter gospel meeting until Sunday, with Richard Williams, left, of Big Spring as evangelist, and Joe David Martin, right, of Pampa as song director. Services are held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. until Sunday.

Reality Lessons Confuse Current Concepts of God

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

One reason why many people today find it difficult to believe in God is that they have been taught to identify reality with objects that can be seen or touched.

This attitude of mind, increasingly prevalent in contemporary culture, leads the would-be believer to try to conceive of God in visual images which imply that He must be located somewhere in space and that He must be in some sense material.

But Christian theology flatly rejects any such concept of God. From New Testament times until now, the church has always taught that God is in no sense an object, and therefore cannot be conceived in visual or special images.

This ancient teaching has been dramatically underscored in recent years by popular theologians such as Bishop John Robinson, author of "Honest to God."

Concepts Vanish
The effect in many cases has been to force reluctant agnostics over the line into practical atheism. Told that they must abandon all visual images of God, they find that what they have left, instead of a non-visual concept, is simply no concept at all. The whole idea of God becomes meaningless to them.

This problem which may be the greatest obstacle to faith in our time, is tackled by a leading American theologian, Dr. John B. Cobb Jr., in the forthcoming issue of the Christian Advocate magazine.

Dr. Cobb, who is professor of systematic theology at the School of Theology, Claremont, Calif., draws on such philosophers as Alfred North Whitehead and Charles Hartshorne to suggest new ways of thinking about God that are readily intelligible to modern minds.

First, he suggests turning attention away from the world known through sight and sound to "the world given us in hearing."

"Suppose we are listening to stereophonic music in a dark room. Is the music an object? That is hardly a useful category. It can neither be seen nor touched, and it cannot be located as being at some one place. It fills the room and may simultaneously fill many other rooms as well. It is profoundly subjective in that it stirs our depths and permeates our whole experience. Yet it is profoundly objective in that it comes to us from without and has a pattern we do not determine."

"I do not mean to suggest that music is a particularly good model for thinking about God. I want only to indicate that the world given us in hearing is neither a world of objects nor wholly non-objective and beyond conceptualization.

"The presence of God is much more like the presence of music than like that of a rock or a machine. It is like that of music in being intensely subjective. But like music it is also objective in that it comes to us from beyond our own being and 'eternization.'"

Another helpful analogy, Dr. Cobb says, is that of "a vividly remembered past experience."

"We cannot usefully call the past experience an object in the simple sense. If it is located anywhere, this location is not in the world in sight and touch, but in the past."

Reflection Helps
"God, of course, is no more a past human experience than He is a symphony. But reflection on the kind of objectivity—not localized, not visible, and not manipulable—that a past experience has, may help us to avoid supposing that God must be an object in order to be objectively real."

"Like a past experience, God's actuality and nature are objective to our present feelings and wishes. God is 'there,' influencing us, whether or not we believe it, and the 'there' is not some particular locality—no there, out there, down there, or in there."

The realization that non-objects may be objectively real does not, of course, prove the reality or existence of God.

But it may help to remove a purely psychological difficulty which has become, for many people today, a roadblock to faith.

Some of the assembly speakers are Dr. Zelma George, Negro sociologist of Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. George A. Buttrick, theologian; Dr. T. T. Swearingen, TACC executive director, and Dr. Paul G. Wassenich, honors program director at Texas Christian University.

About 2,500 people are expected to attend the assembly sessions and workshops.

Christian Scientists Set Lesson-Sermon
Christian Science members will hear a lesson-sermon on "Reality" during their 11 a.m. Easter Sunday services.

The Bible reading verse taken from Isaiah is "The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light to thee; but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory."

4 CHURCH EDITOR WANDA HUFF FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1967 50TH YEAR

Bethel Assembly of God To Participate in Crusade

The Bethel Assembly of God, located on Hamilton and Worrell Sts., will participate in a district-wide Easter Crusade with 142 Assembly of God Churches in the West Texas District.

The Rev. William F. Blakely, pastor, said the church will have special services beginning Easter Sunday and continuing nightly through April 2.

Services Sunday are Sunday school, 9:45 a.m.; worship, 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Crusade speakers are the Rev. Haskell Rogers of Lubbock, and the Rev. and Mrs. Floyd Tate of Wewoka, Okla.

The Rev. Mr. Rogers is West Texas district council superintendent for the Assemblies of God. He will speak Monday through Wednesday nights.

Before becoming district superintendent, he was pastor of churches in Oklahoma and Texas.

The Rev. and Mrs. Tate will speak Thursday through Sunday nights. The Rev. Mr. Tate is pastor of an Assembly of God Church in Wewoka and is a gospel musician.

Pastor to Receive Honorary Degree
The Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of First Methodist Church, will receive an honorary doctor of divinity degree from McMurtry College during the college's summer commencement program Aug. 18.

Pastor here since June, 1964, he has served Methodist churches in Snyder and Littlefield.

He received his bachelor of arts degree cum laude from Southwestern University at Georgetown in 1945 and his bachelor of divinity degree from Southern Methodist University, Dallas, in 1948.

After-Easter Revival Set For Lefors

LEFORS — Dr. R. Luther Kirk, Pampa district superintendent of the Methodist Church, will preach an after-Easter revival at the Lefors Methodist Church Sunday through March 31.

The Rev. Mr. Kirk will also preach for the church's 11 a.m. service Easter Sunday.

The revival services will start at 7:30 p.m. daily except Easter Sunday, which will start at 7 p.m.

Tony McGowan, band teacher for Lefors schools, will direct special music Easter Sunday and during the revival. Both solos and ensembles will sing during the services.

Evangelist Sets Revival Services For Nazarenes
The Rev. Leon Wyss will be the evangelist for a series of services at the Nazarene Church here Tuesday through April 2.

Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. during the week and at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. April 2.

A graduate of Bethany Nazarene College, he entered full-time evangelistic work about five years ago.

A pastor several years, he has been a youth camp director in the Abilene district and the Abilene District young people's president.

While in college he was a member of the capella choir and the male quartet. During the services he will sing as well as preach.

Christian Scientists Set Lesson-Sermon

Christian Science members will hear a lesson-sermon on "Reality" during their 11 a.m. Easter Sunday services.

The Bible reading verse taken from Isaiah is "The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light to thee; but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory."

THE RESURRECTION OF CHRIST

"Now, upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulcher bringing the spices which they had prepared and certain others with them." Lk. 24: 1. Upon this same day, two of the disciples went to the village called Emmaus which was from Jerusalem about three furlongs. Luke 24: 13. "But we trusted that it had been He which should have redeemed Israel, and beside all this, today is the third day since these things were done." Luke 24: 21. "today," the "same day," and the first day of the week refer to the same — the day upon which Christ was raised from the dead; and that day was the first day of the week.

At this season of the year, all over the Christian world, people give more thought and attention to the resurrection of Christ than at any other time of the year. From a Biblical standpoint, (and we ought to be interested in what the Bible says), every first day of the week should be held in memory and observed by Christians as the day on which Jesus rose triumphantly from the dead, Hebrews 10: 25; Acts 20: 7.

Belief in the resurrection of Christ is essential to our salvation. One is not a Christian who does not believe this: "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved" Rom. 10: 9. "Who by Him do believe in God that raised him up from the dead and gave Him glory, that your faith and hope might be in God," 1 Pet. 1: 21. "Who was delivered for our offenses and was raised again for our justification," Rom. 5: 25. "And if Christ be not risen then is our preaching vain and your faith is also vain. If in this life only we have hope in Christ we are of all men most miserable." 1 Cor. 15: 14, 19.

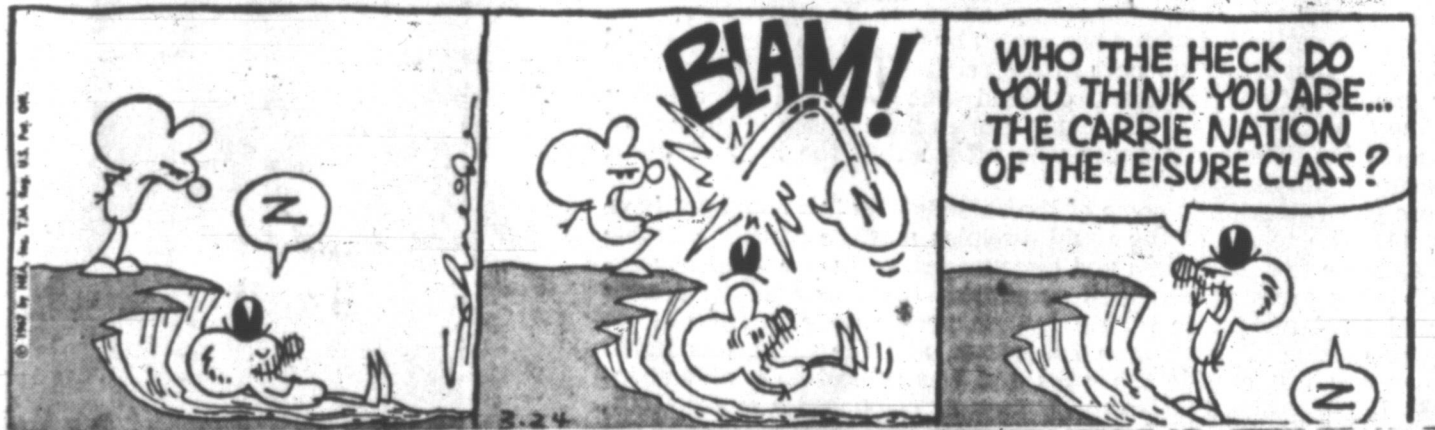

The resurrection of Christ is one of the central facts of the gospel. "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures." 1 Cor. 15: 3, 4. It is the belief of these facts and the response to the grace he has shown towards us by submission to his will that God saves us and promises life everlasting.

His resurrection is not only doubted but denied by many who preach a social gospel, and claim that it has no part in the religion of Christ. They join with other enemies of the Lord and contend that Jesus did not actually arise from the dead. All sorts of finespun theories have arisen in support of this contention. There are those who affirm that the body of Jesus was stolen away by his disciples.

Will you here give attention to some of the reasons why this could not have been done? (1) The terror of the timid disciples and the paucity of their number. They were few, friendless and discouraged, and were in hourly expectation of being arrested, crucified or stoned. (2) This was the season of the annual feast and more than a million people were in the city — many sleeping outside. There was a full moon, and the night was light. The sepulcher was just outside the walls and was subject to continual inspection. (3) It is possible that so many men as composed a guard, (60), would all fall asleep at once? (4) Pilate permitted the chief priest and the Pharisees to make the sepulcher as sure as they could. (5) Death was the punishment for sleeping on guard. A watch was only three or four hours. What could a few fishermen do against a well-disciplined well-trained military force? (6) Could all of this guard have been so soundly asleep as not to be awakened by the noise necessarily made in removing a huge sealed stone? (7) Either the soldiers were awake or asleep — if awake, why should they allow the body to be taken away — if asleep, how did they know that the disciples had taken it? (8) Why did not the Sanhedrin put the soldiers to question? For Pilate had delegated them authority. Why did they not insist that Pilate punish or force them to confess their secret? (9) If the disciples had stolen away the body, why did not the Sanhedrin punish them, or force them into revealing the whereabouts of the body of Jesus? If true, they had violated both Roman and Jewish law and deserve punishment. (10) Is it likely that the disciples would have stolen away his body by night and so soon afterwards shown themselves in Jerusalem? Would they not have hidden themselves or left Jerusalem to preach to people in some remote place from the city? Only a few days before, they had all forsaken him and fled. (11) Would the disciples steal away his body and contend all of their lives that he was risen? Would all of the disciples have suffered such punishment as they did, and all of them, save one, die for what they knew to be a falsehood? Men might believe a lie and then give their lives as a sacrifice for what they believe to be the truth, but how many will jeopardize their lives and eventually give them in the knowledge that they are dying for a lie? (12) If Jesus were not raised from the dead, he was a false prophet, a blasphemer and an imposter; and he would not be worthy, therefore of any consideration from us.

But Jesus was raised from the dead to give hope to a world that is lost in sin and despair. "For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, so shall we also be in the likeness of his resurrection." Romans 6: 5.

Baseball Is Better Than Ever, Says SF's Mays

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(NEA) — In the nine years since Willie Mays moved west to San Francisco the Giants have won but one National League pennant. Each of the last two years, they have finished in second place. This should be bitterly frustrating for someone as competitive as Willie.

"But I'm not disappointed," insisted Willie, shaking his head strongly. "This is a tough league. I think it's an honor to finish second with the kind of teams we got to play."

"You know, like they say, baseball's better than ever. The reason is that in 1951, when I first broke in, you only had one or two good pitchers on a club. Now you got a whole bunch of 'em can throw hard, and they use their relief pitchers more. The young kids you see now are much stronger."

"They're also bigger. Maybe they don't get the minor league training we used to, but the rare ones move up quickly. It takes an ace kid only a couple of years to make the grade up here."

Among the ace kids in camp is Ken Henderson, who would be called Willie's caddy. Ken's a 20-year-old, switch-hitting outfielder from San Diego who collected a $50,000 bonus in 1962, spent the summer of '65 as Mays' stand-in and now is back to stay. He'll either win a regular job in right or left field, or he'll be Willie's relief man in the late innings of safely decided games and double-headers. Ken is still awed to be on the same team as Mays.

"I couldn't see myself going up to Willie and asking him questions about playing center field," said Henderson, "but manager Herman Franks told me that's what I had to do. Willie won't come to you and of fer. He has to understand that you want him to help you. And then he's great. He tells me where to play the hitters and little things about fielding."

"Then, of course, there's his hitting. Willie's a great hitter, and I learn just by watching him."

Among the new veterans on the Giants is Norm Siebern, who has been on five different major league clubs, starting with the New York Yankees, where he played next to Mickey Mantle in the outfield. Mickey's the closest thing to Mays in baseball image today.

"I don't really know Willie because I've only been here a few days," said Siebern carefully. "But he's like Mickey on the club. You know he's the best ballplayer and he's going to have to do it if you go any-place. And so you just know he's the leader."

But where Mickey is generally gregarious with his fellow players, Willie has become in the later stages of his career more reserved. He still cackles in that high-pitched voice and trades insults with the older players, but in the privacy of the clubhouse, he sticks pretty much to himself. His confidant is skipper Herman Franks, who was a coach with the Giants under Leo Durocher when Willie arrived from Minneapolis as a rookie.

Franks, a blunt, independent man who has made a lot of money as a supermarket entrepreneur, is Willie's financial adviser. He's also his buffer with the public, insulating Willie when he wants to be left alone.

Willie'll hang around some with Willie McCovey, the slug-ging first baseman, but when the players scatter for the day, Mays reverts for his blue Imperial convertible and drives off with a set of golf clubs as his companion. He has been hooked on golf for a couple of years. He says he's terrible, but his score has come down into the 80s, and the game relaxes him.

Years ago, it used to be stick-ball — on the streets of Harlem near the Polo Grounds with the neighborhood kids as playing partners. "The kids around San Francisco," he said simply, "they're not like the kids around New York."

And the people of San Francisco, how do they treat him? "It's good now. The people didn't accept me at first. Di Maggio is still living there. He was my first idol. He was my first public relation. I'm out talking all the time now. I was home only one month this winter. There's many ways I could be."

Approaching 36, Willie can't imagine a life for himself without baseball. There has been some speculation he could be the first Negro manager in the big leagues.

"I don't think I'll ever be a manager," he decided. "I don't have the patience. If a player can't do something the way I want it done, I don't know how I'd be. But I think there's room for me in baseball. I like to teach young kids, especially in the spring, and I could do public relations. I'm out talking all the time now. I was home only one month this winter. There's many ways I could be."

The Giants, of course, prefer the way he has helped them since 1951.

WEIGHT LOSS HELPS

Stargell On The Beam

By United Press International That little pinch in Willie Stargell's waistline will keep him in steaks a while longer.

Stargell, who had trouble bending down to tie his shoelaces when he came to the Pittsburgh training camp weighing 235 pounds, was warned to knock off the fat and report at 215 by opening day or face a stiff slice in his pay check.

Wallop! Willie loves to eat and likes to eat well, as do most ball players. The money he saves by trimming down could pay his way into some fine restaurants.

Stringent measures have paid off, Stargell, now down to 222, swung freely and for distance Thursday as he banged out three hits and drove in five runs during Pittsburgh's 8-2 victory over Cincinnati. The big blow was a two-run homer in the eighth inning off Mel Queen.

Tigers Beat Orioles 8. In other exhibition games, Detroit shut out Baltimore 11-0; Boston topped Los Angeles 7-4; Kansas City stopped the Chicago White Sox 5-3; St. Louis ran over Minnesota 9-4; the Yankees routed the Mets 12-3; Houston whitewashed Philadelphia 3-0; San Francisco whipped Cleveland 5-3 and California edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Bob Veale and Juan Pizarro backed Stargell's hitting with eight shutout innings against Cincinnati. Tony Perez homered for the Reds.

Detroit scored seven runs in the fifth inning to bury Baltimore. A three-run homer by Willie Horton and Jerry Lumpsie's two-run triple highlighted the Tigers' 13-hit slugfest. Joe Sparr and Dave Wickensham combined for a four-hitter.

Russ Gibson's three-run pinch homer enabled the Red Sox to beat Los Angeles. Boston rightfielder George Scott suffered a concussion and face bruises when he crashed into the wall going after a John Kennedy drive.

Duncan Chavarria Homers. KC recovered from a three-run deficit to defeat the White Sox with the help of homers by Dave Duncan and Ozzie Chavarria. Pete Ward connected for Chicago. Jack Aker was the winner and Fred Klages the loser.

St. Louis capitalized on five unearned runs to trounce the Twins. Bob Gibson gave up only one solid hit in the first five innings he worked—a homer to Tony Oliva.

The Yankees rapped Met pitching for 15 hits, including four by Ray Barker, who hit for the cycle. Jack Gibbs also homered for the Yanks and Ruben Amaro drove in three runs.

Mike Cuellar made it 10 consecutive hitless innings in spring pitching as Houston turned back Philadelphia on a one-hitter.

Ken Henderson drove in Frank Johnson with a triple in the ninth and scored on Bob Barton's sacrifice fly as the Giants won their ninth Cactus League game. Henderson also hit a two-run homer in the fourth. Leon Wagner tagged a solo drive in the sixth.

California beat the Cubs in the ninth on a walk, Hector Lopez' single and Len Gabrielson's sacrifice fly.

Philly Tries To Take Royals In Playoffs Tonight

By United Press International Nate Thurmond is ready and willing to hand his problem to the rest of the National Basketball Association.

Thurmond, playing with a little cast on his injured hand, scored 22 points, took down 25 rebounds and blocked 10 shots Thursday night as San Francisco ripped the Los Angeles Lakers 113-102 for their second victory in as many games in the Western Division best-of-five semi-finals.

The St. Louis Hawks also took a 2-0 lead in the other semi-final, beating the Chicago Bulls 113-107 Thursday night.

In the only contest scheduled tonight, the Philadelphia 76ers will be host to the Cincinnati Royals in an Eastern Division semi-final. The teams split their first two contests. Boston leads New York 1-0 in the fourth series.

Thurmond, the big board man for San Francisco, was sorely missed when he was out of action although the Warriors lead so far in the first-place lead in the West. He still has trouble picking a ball off the floor and the cast affects his shooting somewhat, but he's been more than Los Angeles can handle thus far. In the opening game of the series, Thurmond scored 14 points and added 20 rebounds.

Team captain Elgin Baylor was far off form for the Lakers, failing to score a single basket in the second half and finishing with 16 points. Rookie Jerry Chambers had to pick up the slack, scoring 16 of his 18 points after intermission. Another rookie, Archie Clark, paced Los Angeles with 24 points.

Barry Leads Scoring Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer this season, topped the Warriors with 36 points before being benched with 3:18 to go when he and Chambers exchanged punches that nearly precipitated a general melee.

The third game of the series will be played Easter Sunday morning in San Francisco. St. Louis, trailing 67-79 after three periods, outscored the Bulls 34-20 in the final quarter to win the game at Chicago. Rookie Lou Hudson of the Hawks led all scorers with 29 points and Lenny Wilkens added 25 for the winners.

Bob Boozer was high for Chicago with 25 points and Don Kojis had 20.

The series shifts to St. Louis for the third game Saturday.

PHS Athletes All Busy Today

Most all of Pampa High Schools athletes were busy today and the baseballers will be even busier Saturday.

Coach Bobby Stephens slugs slugs were in Anadarko, Okla. today for a single game and meet the Indians in a double-header Saturday.

Pampa's track team was participating in the annual Amarillo Relays and the golfers were in Borger for the third round of district action.

Three Tied In Florida Golf

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Texan Homero Blancas, Air Force club pro Bob Keller and slender Tom Weiskopf all shot seven-under-par 65's in Thursday's opening round of the $75,000 Pensacola Open golf tournament but held only a one-stroke lead over a quintet of contenders going into today's second round.

Weiskopf, who used to play with Nicklaus at Ohio State, disagreed with the general consensus that the course was easy. "You still have to putt pretty good to make a 65," he insisted. "I tried 100 per cent out there on every shot. I couldn't have played better."

Eighty of the starting field of 144 broke par Thursday over the short, Pensacola Country Club course.

Defending champion Gay Brewer, amateur Ron Cerrudo, Jim Colbert, Paul Bondeson and R.H. Sikes all had six-under-par 66's as the golfers tore up the short 6,380-yard course.

Doug Sanders, disqualified here last year when he failed to sign his score card at the end of the second round, had a 69 Thursday. Then, not taking any chances, he signed his score card four times.

Jack Nicklaus, who has been complaining about his putting the past few weeks had a 71 and could be eliminated by a similar round when the field is trimmed to the low 70 and ties.

TAKE THAT . . . AND THAT. Things got a bit heated between the Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins. The Bruins' Ron Schock (23) was caught high sticking Montreal's Ted Harris (10). So Ted did what any red-blooded hockey player would do in the same situation. He went after Schock.

Pampa Lady Bowlers Leave Marks to Remember in Meet

Pampa's distaff bowler put Pampa's name in good standing last weekend in the Texas Woman's Bowling Association State Tournament in Corpus Christi.

Irma Beck and Terry Barrett rolled an 1145 series in class A to stand second in the doubles event to Betty Mask and Pat Cook of Amarillo who rolled an 1151 series.

Bobbie Loerwald is second in class B in the all events standing. Mrs. Loerwald has a 1654 total pins to Jan Chapman, of Irving, who has 1677 total pins. The Harvester Bowl team rolled a 2531 series and the Debits, also from Pampa, rolled 2394.

Other Pampa's scores in doubles bowling in class A: Mrs. Loerwald and Dorothy Osborne rolled 991; Eileen Greer and Marilyn Erickson, 946; In class B, Billie Johnson and Dee Watson, 1073 and Ina Reading and Keitha Clifton, 937.

In singles events in the open division Dorothy Osborne, 523; Irma Beck, 471; In class A, Marilyn Erickson had the best series of any of the bowlers with a 589; Terry Barrett, 494; Ina Reading, 485; Eileen Greer, 451; In class B, Mrs. Loerwald, 550; Dee Watson, 546; Keitha Clifton, 481 and Billie Johnson, 448.

GRAVITY, ACCORDING to Webster, is "that force which tends to draw all bodies toward the center of the earth," which happens to be the direction these skiers were headed in when caught by the camera. Be it the one-ski approach (top photos) or the head-down hurdle (center) or the sideways slide, the results were the same: what went up came down—with a bang.

SLY, OLD FOX Cougars, UCLA Battle Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Houston coach Guy Lewis laughed harder than anyone Thursday at the possibility of his Cougars upsetting top-ranked UCLA in the NCAA basketball tournament semi-finals here tonight.

But you get the idea that the affable Texan is the sly fox, hoping to get everybody in the right frame of mind for the upset of the year against Lew Alcindor and company.

The Cougars have their chance in the second game at Freedom Hall tonight, after North Carolina (26-4) meets surprising Dayton (24-5) in the opening game at 7:30 p.m. EST.

UCLA (28-0) is an overwhelming favorite to advance to the finals Saturday night and win its third NCAA crown in four years. North Carolina is a solid favorite over Dayton.

A sell-out crowd of 18,000-plus will be on hand to ring down the curtain on the 1966-67 college basketball season that has been dominated by UCLA and its 7-foot-1 superstar Alcindor.

"I don't think Alcindor can be defended," Lewis said during one of his few serious moments at a news conference Thursday.

"We have too much respect for their other four players to concentrate on him."

UCLA breezed past Wyoming 109-60, and University of the Pacific 80-64 to gain the semifinals. Houston defeated New Mexico State 79-50, Kansas 66-33 and SMU 73-75 en route here. Dayton, the Cinderella team of the tournament, won 69-67 in overtime against Western Kentucky, edged Tennessee 53-52 and Virginia Tech 71-66 in the NCAA elimination rounds.

North Carolina, after a bruising post-season Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, defeated Princeton 78-70 and Boston College 96-80.

All-American Elvin (Big E) Hayes, a 6-8 forward, carries the load for Houston. He averaged 28.7 points and 15.4 rebounds during the regular season, compared to 29.7 points and 15.3 rebounds per game for Alcindor.

Wilt Named League MVP

NEW YORK (UPI) — The players of the National Basketball Association have given recognition to Wilt Chamberlain's all-around development by naming the Philadelphia 76er center the league's most valuable player.

Of a possible 108 first place votes, Chamberlain received 80 and was named on 90 per cent of the ballots cast by performers on all 10 NBA teams. Each player listed three preferences in order.

Palmer's Really Back for Sooners

NORMAN, Okla. — It's been a long time, but he's back. Oklahoma's Ralph Palmer, senior from Pampa, got started on the right foot as a freshman trackster in 1964 but since then his track record became a long series of pulled muscles.

As a freshman, Palmer was a member of OU's 440-yard and mile relay combos which established new school frosh records. The mile relay mark of 3:16.2 still stands.

A quarter-mile specialist, great things were to be expected of him. Then the pulled muscles and other aggravating injuries plagued him for two seasons.

But last Tuesday, running in Oklahoma's first outdoor meet of the season, Palmer clicked off a 40.2 quartermile good for third place and Sooner Coach J. D. Martin beamed.

"I was really impressed with Ralph's performance. He can play an important part of track program this year if he continues to improve," Martin commented.

Palmer was a track and football standout for the Harvesters at Pampa High.

A pharmacy major, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer of 2232 N. Sumner.

Udall's Latest Folly

(California Feature Service)

No more flagrant instance of the capriciousness of Big Government run amok has come to light in a long time than the lawsuit recently filed by the federal government, at the behest of Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall, to force farmers in California's Imperial Valley to sell all acreage owned in excess of 160 acres.

As was the case in other farming areas of California where the archaic, 84-year old 160-acre limitation law was held to be applicable, the Imperial Valley farms were already irrigated before supplemental water was made available by a U.S. Bureau of Reclamation project. Common sense would argue that the law never was intended to apply in such circumstances.

But apart from the basic argument over intent, the Imperial Valley is a special case. The then Secretary of the Interior, in 1933, ruled that the limitation law did not apply to the Valley lands. Based on that ruling, growers have invested heavily in machinery, land and salt control measures, developing one of the most productive farm communities in the world.

Suddenly, in 1964, the Department of the Interior arbitrarily reserved the 30-year old ruling, and has filed the present suit, which if successful, would require the forced sale of more than half the farmland in the Valley. What purpose this major disruption of the Valley's economy would serve, even the Bureau of Reclamation cannot explain.

In the case of many crops, under today's conditions, the 160-acre limitation law makes as much sense as a law requiring all men to wear no larger than a size 7 shoe. Secretary of the Interior Udall's lawsuit should prompt Congress to undertake a long overdue revision of this unwearable, uneconomic legislation.

Rhodesia: The Jewel Of Africa

(Mankin, Edinburgh, Scotland)

By Richard C. Haw with a foreword by the Duke of Montrose. Flame Lily Books, Salisbury, 4 black and white plates. Price 25s.

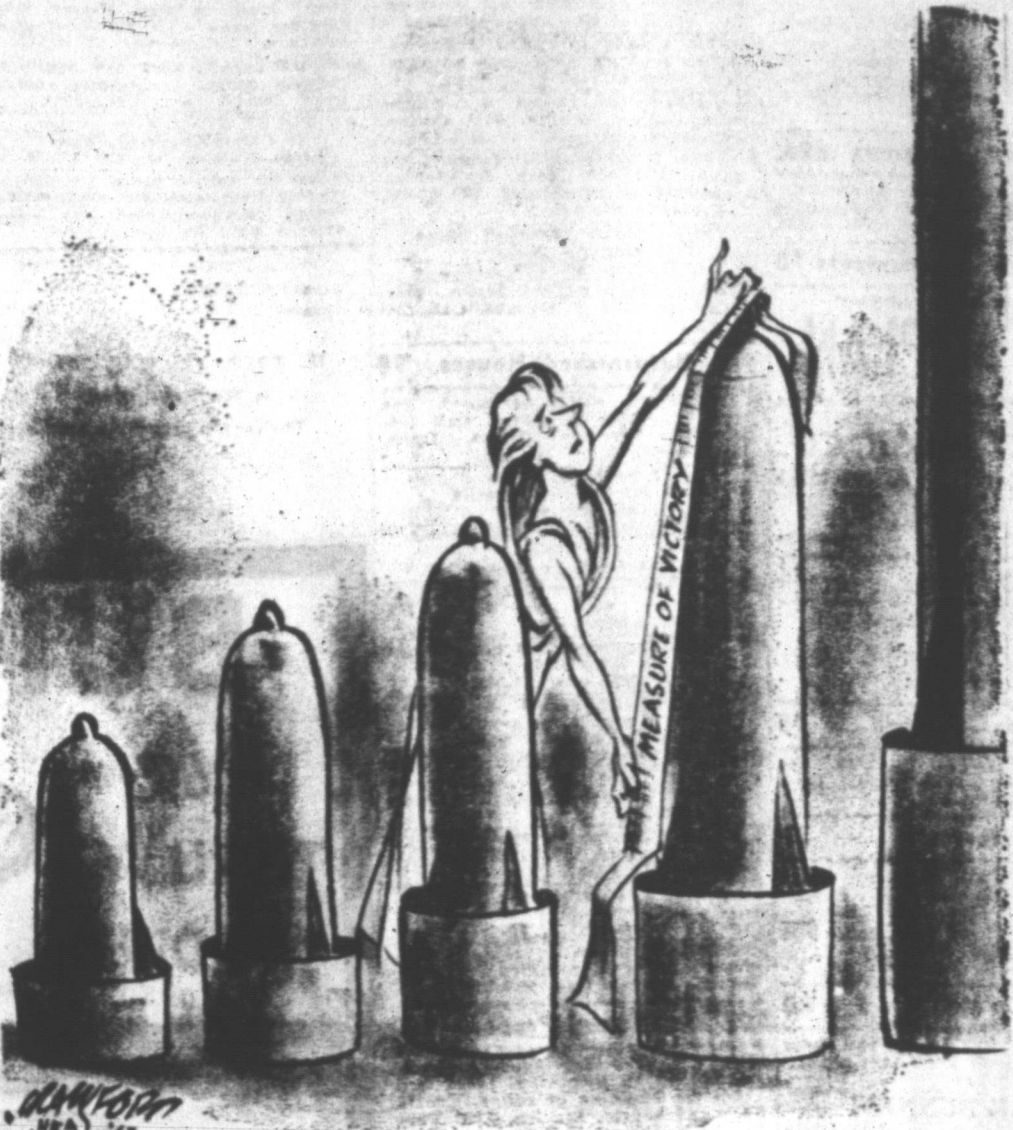

Of particular interest at this time is this descriptive book on Rhodesia, its opening up and development. Mr. Haw emphasizes the fact that it was the European pioneers who opened up the country and taught the value of labor to the Bantu. He draws the distinction between the United States of America (the might have added Canada as well) and Rhodesia: in the latter country the natives have prospered and multiplied.

He also reminds us that the Bantu themselves were newcomers to Rhodesia when the Whites arrived from the south and east, and so the Whites were not interlopers dispossessing a really indigenous population. The Hottentots and Bushmen who had been pushed out by the black race were the indigenous inhabitants. The Portuguese entered Rhodesia in the fifteenth century and, although by that time Bantu had settled there, many of the present tribes arrived, much later than this.

In regard to the building of Zimbabwe, Mr. Haw rightly asks why, if this was a product of Negro endeavor, "they were unable to sustain that degree of development" (p. 26). The mention in early Portuguese records of Arabs trading in the land of Monomotapa indicates the sort of source to which we must look for the origin of the Zimbabwean culture (p. 43). The pages following give a good summary of the various phases in the development of Zimbabwe.

This book is not solely concerned with historical and anthropological questions. It gives a broad and useful summary of Rhodesia as it is, including its agricultural and mineral wealth, and its flora and fauna. Mr. Haw concludes by setting out the political and constitutional position of Rhodesia in the present political crisis, and he leaves little doubt that the Rhodesian case is overwhelming especially in the light of conditions in the rest of Africa north of the Zambezi.

Difficult Choice

The Destabilizers

(The Wall Street Journal)

The key tenet of the New Economics — that the Government is actually capable of "fine tuning" the economy — has endured a certain amount of criticism, but not as much as it deserves. Now three economists with impeccable credentials have come forth to explain just how arrogant that notion is.

The trio, who testified recently before the Joint Economic Committee, are Paul W. McCracken of the University of Michigan, John Culbertson of the University of Wisconsin and Beryl W. Sprinkel of Chicago's Harris Trust and Savings Bank. Said Mr. Sprinkel: "The hallmark of the New Economics is that alert Government officials can consistently prescribe the proper public policies for maintaining economic stability (steady growth without inflation or recession). Despite the obvious political attraction of such a posture, there is little evidence that it can be successful."

"In fact, once the economy has achieved full employment of resources, thereby reducing the margin for error, an activist economic policy is very likely to be destabilizing."

Or, as Mr. Culbertson remarked: "Fiscal and monetary policies during the postwar period have been highly erratic, presumably a major source of economic instability in this country." During the Sixties the timing of changes in fiscal policy, between restraint and stimulus, "usually bore little relation to the changing needs of the economy."

Mr. McCracken, for his part, found Government economic actions had been wrong nearly half the time in the past decade.

Perhaps the destabilizing effect can be spelled out a little more. The biggest element in it, of course, is inflation. From the beginning of the Kennedy-Johnson Administrations the planners' bias has been unremittingly inflationary. Fiscal policy has consisted of heavy and rising spending accompanied by deliberately designed budget deficits. Throughout much of the period it was buttressed by an easy-money policy at the Federal Reserve.

Even so, it took a while for the inflation to produce a lot of visible instability. The reason is that until about 1965 the economy had an overhang of unused labor and plant; as these became more and more fully employed the wage-price spiral began breaking out. But to assume, as the New Economists did, that the relative price stability of the early Sixties would be permanent was a major error — a classic case of attempted management with "little relation to the changing needs of the economy."

Policy in the current conditions represents, we fear, another such instance. A good deal of money tightening has occurred, especially last year, but fiscal policy remains rampantly inflationary. Refusing to cut Federal spending, the Administration now proposes to tighten fiscal policy via the tax screws, specifically a 6 per cent surcharge on corporate and most personal income taxes.

It may never get enacted, to be sure, but the mere advocacy of a tax increase demonstrates how remote from reality the planning is. Whether or not it portends a recession, business has already turned down. To cite only a couple of indications, inventories are accumulating and January durable goods orders were off. The latter, according to the Commerce Department, reflects reduced bookings "in almost every major industry."

In these circumstances a tax increase would have economic validity only if it went hand in hand with sizable reductions in Federal outlays. As it is, it is inappropriate. Would it all have been much different if the planners had been less interventionist, less inflationist? We think so, and evidently at least some Old Economists agree. The difference can be quickly stated: Between stable and sustainable economic growth, on the one hand and, on the other, inflation plus slowdown.

More Of The Supreme Court's Justice

(Chicago Tribune)

For at least the fourth time this year, a confessed murderer has been set free in New York because of the Supreme Court's ruling that confessions may not be admitted as evidence if they were obtained without informing the accused of his right to counsel.

This time the beneficiary of the Supreme Court's exaggerated concern for criminals, one Jose Suarez, had admitted butchering his wife and five young children—a crime which in sheer numbers, is almost as appalling as the murder of the eight nurses in Chicago. When a prosecutor asked that the defendant be freed, Justice Michael Kern asked "most seriously" whether the confession was the only evidence which police had been able to gather in seven months of investigating.

The prosecutor replied that it was. Judge Kern said he therefore had no choice but to acquiesce. "It is repulsive," he said in doing so. "It makes any human being's blood run cold and his stomach turn to let a thing like this out on the streets."

Last fall Judge Kern freed another confessed murderer, a woman, under similar circumstances. When she thanked him, he replied: "Don't thank me. Thank the United States Supreme Court. You killed the child and you ought to go to jail."

In both of the cases which prompted Judge Kern's bitterness, the crimes were committed and the arrests made months before the Supreme Court published its famous (or infamous) ruling in the Miranda case. The effect of this and the earlier Escobedo opinion has been to rule out most confessions as evidence and, in addition, make it almost impossible to get any information from the defendant which might classify as admissible evidence.

This makes it hard enough for a police force to carry out its job of protecting the public. But the difficulty is compounded when the ruling is applied retroactively. Even a capable police force will have a hard time gathering admissible evidence when a crime is several months old. It is especially ironic to see murderers being set free under the Miranda ruling while Miranda himself, whose crimes were kidnapping and rape, is undergoing a new trial in Arizona which may lead to his conviction. Thus do the insidious ripples from the Supreme Court ruling spread across the country.

Pampa Student Chosen Vocational School Committee Member For OU 'Mom's Day' Second Semester Set in September

NORMAN, Okla. (SpI) — J. Michael Wise, Pampa, has been selected to serve on the publicity committee for the Mom's Day activities at the University of Oklahoma.

Mom's Day, an annual event on the OU campus, will be held April 29. Activities for visiting mothers include a tea in the president's home, a campus-wide choral singing contest, and various functions in housing units.

Wise, a freshman pre-medical student in the University College, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wise, 2401 Christine.

A galero is a broad-brimmed, golden-tasseled hat placed on the Pope on the head of a new cardinal.

All the meridians of longitude meet at the north and south poles.

The second term of Pampa's Vocational and Technical School is expected to start in September, after the regular school term begins. Cameron Marsh, high school principal, said Wednesday.

In the initial semester of 8 weeks which ended recently, 153 students finished the courses. When the classes started, 243 were enrolled.

Courses offered this past term were typing, shorthand, accounting, English, welding, machine shop, electronics, data processing, Spanish and mechanical drawing.

We will try to offer the same courses, plus some additional courses, if there is enough demand for them, Marsh said.

Any person not enrolled in Pampa schools may attend the vocational and technical school, he said.

Peon Claims He Worked 33 Years Without Pay

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — An illiterate peon — who claimed he was forced to work on a ranch near here for 33 years without pay—Wednesday filed suit against the ranch owner.

Abernicio Gonzales, who said he thought he was about 47, sought $40,000 in back wages from Joe Montoya, owner of a large ranch north of Albuquerque.

That amount is 50-cents a day for 33 years, with six per cent interest tacked on.

Gonzales claimed in his suit, filed in District Court, that he was held at the ranch by force, beaten several times for attempts to leave and seek work elsewhere, and kept in fear of his life.

The Mexican ranch hand said he made an agreement in 1933 with Montoya's father, Elias, who ran the ranch until his death about 10 years ago.

Gonzales said in his suit he first went to work for the elder Montoya in 1933 to repay $50 his mother had borrowed to pay for the wedding of an elder brother. He was 13 at the time.

Printing, publishing, and allied industries rank among the top five of the nation's industries in terms of number of employees and weekly earnings; the combined sales volume of the industries is approximately $16 billion annually. The scope and size of the industry demands college-trained executives, and the supply of qualified personnel falls far short of meeting the needs. For this reason opportunities are great, advancement is rapid, and salaries are outstanding.

Campus Pinup 12 Claims She 'Was Used'

GAINESVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Coed pinup Pamela Brewer said today she was just a nude pawn in a power struggle between the University of Florida and an off-campus humor magazine.

"I was used," said the 38-24 36 brunette who was forced out of the university Wednesday after a second photograph of her reclining nude on a Persian rug appeared in Charlatan.

"I'm pretty upset about it," said Pamela. "Even some of the school officials said they felt sorry for me because I was being used by the university to get at Charlatan."

Charlatan, a slick humor magazine published off campus, finds little favor among university officials, she said. The officials certainly read it, though, because every time her nude picture appeared there were swift repercussions.

The first time, last month, the university called a council and put Pam on probation after an all-night hearing centered around her picture—showing her bare breasted and smiling reclining on a Persian rug. She was cited for indiscreet behavior.

The second time, this week, the picture was much milder but the punishment wasn't. The photograph, taken the same time as the first, showed Pam nude again but her arms were strategically placed.

After the second picture appeared, Pam said, she was "wicked" from school by her parents who were told by school officials "I I were not withdrawn I would be expelled." Pam said her parents hadn't pulled the rug from under her feet. She said they decided to withdraw her "because if I were expelled I'd never get into another college."

The attractive sophomore had no immediate plans to return to her home in Springfield, Va.

59TH
YEAR

Saturday 104th Anniversary For First Awarding of Medal of Honor

Tomorrow is the 104th anniversary of the presentation of an award so exclusive that it has been bestowed on only 3,223 of the millions of persons who have risked or given their lives for our nation—the Medal of Honor.

It is the highest recognition an individual of the Armed Forces can receive for his "gallantry and intrepidity in combat above and beyond the call of duty," according to legislation determining its presentation. On rare occasions by special congressional act it has been awarded for individual exploits during peacetime.

Hundreds of pages have been written, listing and grouping the recipients. One count shows that of the total 3,223 winners, 2,207 have been to Army personnel. Another shows that in the 4th U. S. Army five-state area there have been 108 all-services recipients: Arkansas, 16; Louisiana, 19; New Mexico, 6; Oklahoma, 17; and Texas, 51.

This supreme recognition flowered from ideas conceived by a few persons during the winter of 1861-62 at the beginning of the Civil War, and on July 12, 1862, President Lincoln approved a Senate resolution authorizing the Medal of Honor for "Army and Voluntary Forces."

The first medals were presented seven months later on March 25, 1863, to the six survivors of the Mitchell Raid through Georgia, and by the end of the Civil War there had been 1,199 presentations.

Surprisingly, there were more Army recipients in the Indian Wars (419) than in World War I and World War II combined, when 95 and 293 respectively were awarded.

Medals of Honor received by members of the Army for the Spanish-American War numbered 30; for the Philippine Insurrection, 70; Boxer Rebellion, 4; Mexican Campaign, 1; Korean Conflict, 78, and to date in Vietnam, 8.

At first there were few legal definitions to guide the presentation of the Medal of Honor. But time brought about similar medals, changes in the military, and a rash of legislation on the Medal of Honor—also many inconsistencies.

In 1918 Congress made a set of perfectly clear rules for its award. Designated the "Pyramid of Honor," those rules established degrees of service to the country, each worthy of recognition, but only the Medal of Honor to be accorded supreme recognition.

Tire Pressure In 'Gray Area' Auto Industry States

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto industry sources said today tire pressures recommended for cars fall into "that gray area of compromises among safety, wear."

Industry spokesmen were reluctant to comment on changes in Washington Wednesday by a U. S. Bureau of Standards official that auto companies recommended tire pressures that were too low.

One source explained that so many factors were involved it would be difficult to answer such criticism without specific knowledge as to just what criteria were used to determine proper tire pressure.

"Tires run at pressures too low tend to flex too much, heat up to a high degree and tend to destroy the sidewalls," said the source. "On the other hand, tires with pressures too high ride hard, and at high speeds over even relatively smooth roads, tend to spin on the pavement and wear out rapidly."

In addition, he said, tires inflated at high pressures provide a smaller surface of contact with the road and reduce the traction for safe stopping.

Tires operated at low pressures provide more contact with the road and, thus give greater braking surface.

Apollo Given Fresh Start On Teams

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Preparing for a fresh start in the wake of the Apollo 1 fire, the U. S. space agency has disbanded all three-man teams of astronauts assigned as Apollo spaceflight crews.

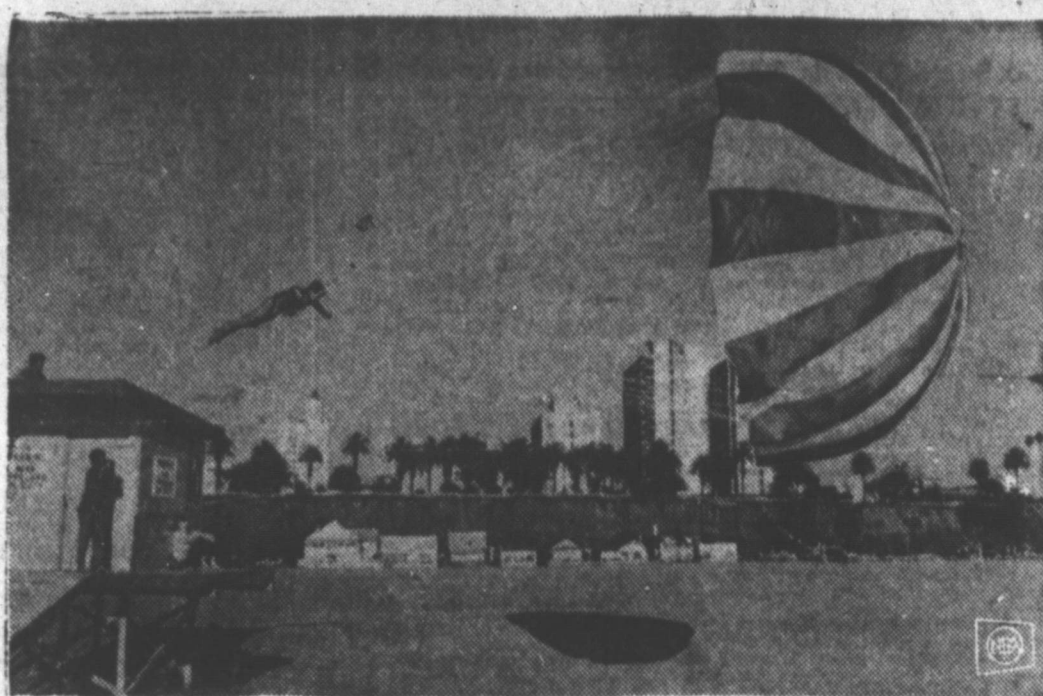

The action raises a possibility that new names might appear on the next crew lists. No such re-assignment of crews is expected until at least next month, after the space agency decides what spacecraft and program changes are needed as a result of the Jan. 27 tragedy.

Astronaut chief Donald K. (Deke) Slayton told UPI in an exclusive interview the crew designations were officially dropped shortly after the fire that killed Virgil Grissom, Ed White and Roger Chaffee.

"We don't have any crews assigned officially to any missions at the present time," Slayton said. "There's not much point in worrying about crew assignments until we know what we're going to do."

Slayton said he had no idea what the composition of the new crews would be or when they would be announced. Immediately after the fire the space agency suspended schedules calling for two, and possibly three, manned Apollo flights this year. Crews were assigned to all these flights, but no mention was made at the time they were suspended of dropping the crew assignments.

Water Development Board Report Out

Cities, water districts, and other entities considering new water supplies and vitally interested in the cost of moving water from alternative sources, will get some assistance from a newly published Water Development Board report.

The Board has just released Report 42, "Cost of Transporting Water by Pipeline." Lockwood, Andrews and Newman, Inc., engineering consultants to the Board, made the study reported on under direction of C. R. Marks.

Joe G. Moore, Jr., executive director of the Board, noted that publication of the report is part of the agency's policy of distributing information acquired during preparation of the preliminary Texas Water Plan.

"The information and results obtained in the report should provide assistance to engineers, cities, water districts, and numerous agencies when considering costs of transporting water," he said.

The report provides a means for obtaining preliminary cost estimates of the cost of moving various quantities of water different distances and through a

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Purcell, Graham & Co. says the bull market, now in its fifth month, still seems to be in full force without a sign it is running out of steam or approaching an end. The company feels a little back and filling may be necessary at the present time, but would not change its policy of remaining fully invested and making use of investment leverage where warranted.

Wright Investor's Service says selective profit taking is a more certain path of success in the stock market than trying to time the swings of "an ever-swinging stock market." The company advises selective purchase of clearly undervalued issues and sale of the same when they have made a substantial price advance and have become obviously overpriced on a wave of investment enthusiasm.

GOODBOY & Co. says the possibility of a business recovery later in the year should favor a higher trend in stock prices but that a major advance is likely to be held off until the severity and duration of the current economic adjustment can be more clearly defined. The company believes near term market optimism should be tempered with some caution.

Rifle Match Set Here Tomorrow

The annual Top O' Texas Junior Rifle match is scheduled to start at 8 a.m. Saturday at Recreation Park.

All area rifle teams with members under 19 years old may participate. Teams from Amarillo, Childress, Perryton and other Panhandle towns are expected to compete for team and individual trophies.

The public is invited to attend the match. Gray County 4-H rifle members will sell concessions.

Tripplehorn Listed Distinguished Student At Tarleton State

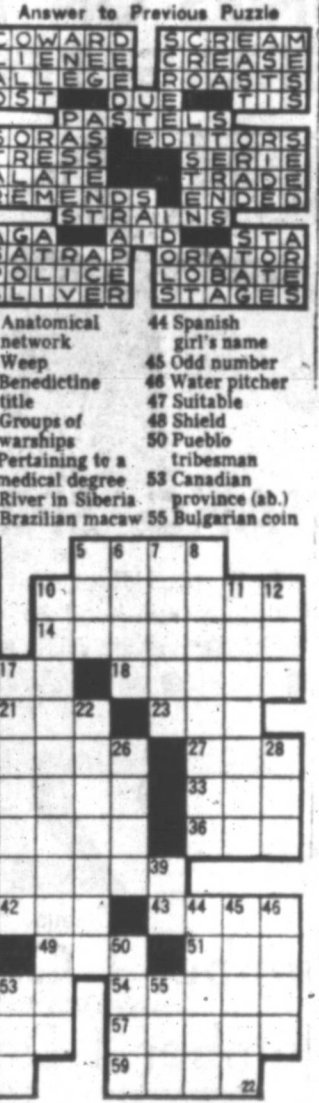

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (SpI)—John Tripplehorn, a junior at Tarleton State College from Pampa, has been named to the Distinguished Student List for the Fall Semester, 1966. Tripplehorn is a business administration major at Tarleton.

To be eligible for this list, a student must have a grade average of 2.25 out of a possible 3.00, be carrying at least 15 hours, and have no grade below "C."

Tripplehorn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim C. Tripplehorn of 1616 Charles in Pampa. He is a 1964 graduate of Pampa High School.
