Special to the Herald

Editor's note: The Big Spring Herald received the following press release issued by the U.S. Department of Education on Monday:

“Today, the U.S. Department of Education furthered the Biden-Harris Administration's whole-of-government response to the tragic mass shooting at Robb Elementary School by disbursing a $1.5 million School Emergency Response to Violence (Project SERV) grant to the Uvalde Consolidated Independent School District (UCISD). The proactive release of grant funds reflects the extraordinary and immediate needs facing UCISD and follows Secretary of Education Miguel Cardona's visit to the district on May 31 and June 1, 2022.

“Project SERV funds are authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and may be used for activities that help restore a sense of safety and security for the district's students, teachers, staff, and families, and that address specific needs of those individuals directly affected by the shooting. Such activities include mental health services for staff and students, and overtime pay for teachers, counselors, and security staff, and may take place over the summer in the form of additional summer programming.

“Secretary Cardona initiated the emergency funding through a letter to the district superintendent that outlines key assurances around the federal funding. In the days following the tragedy,

She was always so happy and full of life that she wanted everyone around her to feel the same. With her loss our family will always be missing a piece of our hearts. We are so thankful that God blessed us with one of his angels and we know that she is now finally Home.

were replaced by T.J. Stewart and Abigail Chavez. “The biggest thing that concerned me and upset me were the facts surrounding the May 16 meeting,” Moore said in a comment to press following the hearing. “In the first place there’s no question about whether that meeting was held without any proper notice as to the purpose of the meeting. The public would have no way of knowing that they were going to consider and take up the idea of moving the voucher program from Big Spring to Abilene. That notice was totally and legally insufficient for that purpose. Yet they went ahead and had the meeting.”

Moore also concluded that Blankenburg and Nabors decided to move the BSHA’s clients to Abilene prior to hearing evidence on the matter - including public comment - at the May 16 meeting.

“The ladies said they had done some investigation and things, but that’s not the way things are done,” Moore said. “You have a public meeting in a public forum and you have a period in which people are entitled to come up and offer testimony and engage in some debate, some give and take. There was never any investigation as far as I’m concerned that these ladies, or any of the board members, were aware of. Where they looked at the situation and said, ‘Well, theres some deficiencies in the way this program is being operated and we have taken steps to try and rectify that situations, to correct them, and we’ve been unable to do so, so as a last resort we’re going to move the administration of this voucher program to Abilene.’ I heard nothing like that. It just didn’t take place. I didn’t hear it because it didn’t take place.”

Additionally, Moore said moving the program to the Abilene Housing Authority could have negative effects on its clients.

“I’ve heard it said, ‘Well, everybody has smart phones, everybody has computers. The participants will not suffer in any way if it’s administered out of Abilene,’” Moore said. “On the other hand, I’ve heard nothing by way of the profile of the typical participant. You know, I don’t know how many of these folks even drive...how many of them have to rely on family or friends to get around...how many of them are disabled...how many of them may be on walkers or wheelchairs...how many of them may have learning disabilities. And to say that all of these people could be served just as well out of Abilene as out of Big Spring is, to me, absurd.”

The meeting was held in a crowded Big Spring City Council Chamber, with Moore the lone presiding authority on the panel. Following a brief prayer given by former Big Spring City Councilman Terry McDaniel, Moore laid out the situation, before allowing Nabors and Blankenburg to present statements and evidence in their defense.

Nabors first presented a prepared statement and then responded to the charges against Blankenburg and herself. In her statement, Nabors indicated that BSHA director Sharon Fritz impeded her duties by not providing requested information.

“Sharon Fritz invited me to get what I needed from the office, but when I tried, the locks were changed and I could not gain access to the building,” Nabors said. “To date, I still do not have the bylaws nor the policies and procedures for Big Spring Housing Authority.”

Nabors also said Fritz acted improperly in failing to have her paycheck authorized by the board of commissioners.

“According to the contract Sharon Fritz signed, she is required to give the board her pay invoice. The current committee did not receive any invoice, and Sharon Fritz signed her own paycheck with her own signature.”

Blankenburg was also given an opportunity to make a statement in her defense.

“The very first time sitting at the committee, we were verbally attacked by (BSHA Director) Sharon Fritz, wanting to make sure we knew who was running things, and we weren’t to tell her how to do her job. That wasn’t even in our minds to tell her. She’s not even on the committee,” Blankenburg said.

Blankenburg also expressed displeasure with John Scott and Scott Emerson for their actions at the meeting.

“Up jumps John Scott telling us how we were going to run the meeting and who does what, Scott Emerson, he couldn’t stay in his seat. He was practically in our faces, filming, so he could run bits of it on his Facebook page. I have never in my life been in such a poorly, poorly run meeting, and it was our first time there,” continued Fritz, who had been elected chairman of the BSHA board, and was nominally in charge of the meeting she described.

Nabors also opted to call former Big Spring Mayor Shannon Thomason, who Nabors and Blankenburg attempted to appoint as secretary and parliamentarian of the BSHA board, to present statements.

Thomason admitted he doesn’t have much experience working specifically with Housing Authority matters, he has other life and career experience.

“While I do not have experience administering PHAs, I do have decades worth of management experience and have dealt quite a bit with federal regulations in my chosen profession,” Thomason said.

Thomason attempted to question Moore regarding some of the charges against Nabors and Blankenburg.

“Mr. Thomason, if you have something you want me to consider you may tell me, but you’re not up here to question me about anything, okay?” Moore said in response to questions from Thomason.

Thomason also claimed moving the BSHA’s clients to the Abilene Housing Authority’s oversight would be less onerous on the clients.

“As it stands right now, program recipients and landlords in Big Spring have to drive to the PHA office to receive checks every month,” Thomason said. “Some of these folks are legally blind, have to make arrangements to get rides, and in fact, they can’t even apply to the program without going to the PHA office. The Abilene office...the Abilene Housing Authority...handles everything either via online or by phone. Any indications that the citizens of Big Spring would have to drive to Abilene to get their vouchers and the landlords to get their checks is patently false. They use something called Direct Deposit.”

Nabors’ and Blankenburg’s arguments did not convince Thomason, and, after going through some of the timeline and reasoning for his decision, he ordered them dismissed from the board before adjourning the hearing.

Secretary Cardona and other Department staff communicated with UCISD leadership and their Texas Education Agency colleagues and pledged to support recovery efforts in the district and community with a range of technical assistance, including direct access to Department personnel and partners who have helped other communities respond to and recover from acts of school violence.

“No community should have to experience a tragedy like this alone. While in Texas, I saw the Uvalde community come together in deep and meaningful ways to support one another and all the families who lost loved ones; and it is our turn to support them,” said Secretary Cardona. ‘In the hours and days since that tragic day, we have committed to providing the Uvalde community with every available resource they may require from the Department. Today’s release of these emergency funds is an initial step that will be followed by technical assistance and on-the-ground supports in the months and years to come.’

“The Department’s communication with UCISD acknowledges that the community’s needs and challenges in restoring the learning environment may change over time. Secretary Cardona committed that members of his team will provide direct support to the district in adjusting its Project SERV agreement to reflect these evolving needs. While funds may be used for a 12-month period, the Department stands ready to provide additional, longer-term assistance as requested.

“The Department’s Readiness and Emergency Management for Schools Center builds the preparedness capacity (including prevention, protection, mitigation, response, and recovery efforts) of schools, school districts, colleges, and their community partners at the local, state, and federal levels; and serve as the primary source of information for schools, school districts, and colleges for emergencies. The National Center on Safe and Supportive Learning Environments offers information and technical assistance focused on improving school climate and conditions for learning.

“For more information about the Biden-Harris Administration’s commitments to the Uvalde community, see the letter on the disbursed funds and Secretary Cardona’s statement immediately following the tragic events.”

Special to the Herald

Coahoma's Christian Everett and Shae Lang have been chosen from among the elite Texas high school softball players to play in the Texas Girls Coaches Association (TGCA) 1A-2A-3A-4A All-Star game.

Everett and Lang will represent the Blue team and some of their teammates will include Ballinger's Alina Pena, Holliday's ace pitcher Addison Lindemann, and Iowa Park's Paige Gallegos.

The two Bulldogette varsity softball players will face off against the Red Team, which will be led by Coahoma High School head softball coach Alexander Orosco. His assistant will be Holliday High School head softball coach Billy Arbogast. Red team members include Bushland's Chloe Cochran and Idalou's pitcher Belle Arguello.

Everett and Lang, who both finished their junior year at CHS, are three-year varsity softball players and were a vital part of the Bulldogettes' state runner-up finish in the 2022 UIL state championship tournament.

Lang's performance on the field at the state tournament landed her a spot on the State Softball All-Tournament 3A Team as an outfielder. She was also named to the 2022 All-District 5-3A First Team. Everett also received all-district honors for her work as Coahoma's second baseman. She was named to the 2022 All-District 5-3A First Team.

The 1A-2A-3A-4A All-Star Game will be held at the Workman SB Complex in Arlington, Texas at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, July 12.

By PATRICK GONZALES

Herald Sports Writer

Coahoma High School softball is recognized as one of the most dominant programs across the Lone Star State.

With one state championship on its resume and a total of eleven state tournament appearances, Coahoma knows how to build a strong tradition and legacy with its softball.

That tradition starts with its youth. The Coahoma Girls Softball Association is where the young girls of Coahoma play in, with hopes of one day wearing a Bulldogette jersey and playing for a state title.

In fact most of the players on this years state tournament team all grew up playing together through the Coahoma Girls Softball Association where I think its safe to say the results well speaks for itself.

This year the Coahoma Girls Softball Association formed its 6u and 8u All-Star teams at the end of its regular season to compete in a summer tournament.

Over the weekend, both all-star teams played in the Abilene USA Softball State Pixies Tournament where the young and future Bulldogettes competed against Abilene leagues and future district/regional rivals.

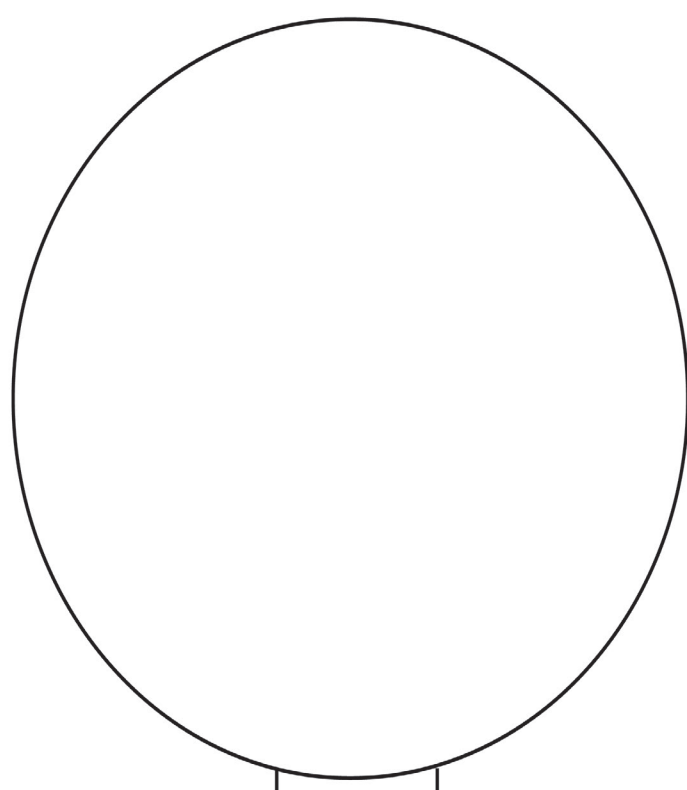

Congratulations to both the 6u and 8u girls all-star teams on great season and for representing Coahoma softball!!!! Coahoma's All-Stars are: Top row Lily Flores, Ryann O'Daniel, Kamreigh Watkins, Londyn Patterson, Henzley Clinkscales, Harley Hill, Braygn Wright, Char'leigh McIntosh, Haegyn Phernetton, Olivia Culpepper, Jasmine Avalos, Karl Whitehead, Bottom row: Harper Martinez, Leighton Brooks, Jurni Dunbar, Kaelyx Kemper, Dakota Born, Austyn Woodard, Paisley Melendez, Kinlee Bishop, Harper Phernetton, Kaiclynn Molina, Cadie Hudgins.

Opening lead — king of spades.

Good defense is probably the hardest part of bridge, and often the difficulty lies in poor partnership communication.

Consider this deal, which features exceptionally good defense. West leads the king of spades, on which East plays the queen. The queen play has a special meaning in a well-developed partnership: it guarantees a singleton or the jack.

Tomorrow: First things first.

Today in History

June 14, Continental Army is created

Today is Tuesday, June 14, the 165th day of 2022. There are 200 days left in the year. This is Flag Day.

Today's Highlight in History:

On June 14, 1775, the Continental Army, forerunner of the United States Army, was created.

On this date:

In 1777, the Second Continental Congress approved the design and Arthur Whitten Brown embarked on the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic Ocean. (Flying a Vickers Vimy bi-plane bomber, they took off from St. Johns, Newfoundland, Canada and arrived 16 1/2 hours later in Clifden, Ireland.)

In 1940, German troops entered Paris during World War II; the same day, the Nazis began transporting prisoners to the Auschwitz (OWSH'-vitz) concentration camp in German-occupied Poland.

In 1943, the U.S.

Supreme Court, in West Virginia State Board of Education v. Barnette, ruled 6-3 that public school students could not be forced to salute the flag of the United States.

In 1954, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed a measure adding the phrase "under God" to the Pledge of Allegiance.

In 1967, California Gov. Ronald Reagan signed a bill liberalizing his state's abortion law.

In 1972, the Environmental Protection Agency ordered a ban on domestic use of the pesticide DDT, to take effect at year's end.

In 1982, Argentine forces surrendered to British troops on the disputed Falkland Islands.

In 1993, President Bill Clinton nominated Judge Ruth Bader Ginsburg to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 2005, Michelle Wie, 15, became the first female player to qualify for an adult male U.S. Golf Association championship, tying for first place in a 36-hole U.S. Amateur Public Links sectional qualifying tournament.

Ten years ago: In dueling speeches in the battleground state of Ohio, Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney, speaking in Cincinnati, described the Obama administration as the very "enemy" of people who create jobs; President Barack Obama, going second in Cleveland, asked the nation to buy into his vision for four more years or face a return to the recession-era "mistakes of the past."
