Six Children Die as Cyclone Demolishes Building In Alabama

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 22. (AP)—A child was killed and at least 10 persons injured in a tornado which struck this city early tonight. The body of Floyd Stevens, about 10, was found near his home after the storm passed. Both his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stevens, were injured seriously.

The storm lasted only a few minutes, but reports of heavy damage were received from all sections.

STORMS STRIKE SOUTHERN POINTS

ATLANTA, March 22. (AP)—Freakish spring storms swept the south today and left seven dead, more than a score injured and heavy property damage.

From Texas northeasterly, a wide belt was drenched last night and today, and a tornado swept the Coosa river valley from Alabama across northwest Georgia and into North Carolina, dipping at widely separated points. Hailstorms and high winds were reported from various points.

Church Wrecked

The tornado at Merrellton, Ala., near Anniston, demolished a negro church used as a school building, killed five of the pupils and injured eight others, two seriously. One of those killed, John Henry Lee, was found half a mile from the church, and died a short time later.

The twister next struck at Maxwellborn, Ala., two miles east of Merrellton, and damaged a number of houses, but no one was injured or killed.

Continuing northeasterly, the twister dipped at Constanaula, Ga., demolished three houses and the Southern Railway station and injured five persons, none seriously.

House Reversed

The storm struck again two miles west of Calhoun, Ga., and turned a school building crowded with children around but none was injured. In that immediate vicinity three houses were demolished.

The storm next struck in the vicinity of Wilson, N. C., where many farm buildings were blown down, trees uprooted, power and transmission lines severed. So far as could be learned there were no casualties.

The sixth fatality was at Alpharetta, Ga., near Atlanta, where Claude R. Allen 52-year-old farmer, was killed by lighting. The rear of his home was demolished by the bolt and his small daughter and his housekeeper suffered severe shocks.

A tornado which struck at Charlotte, N. C., early tonight killed the seventh victim, Floyd Stevens, 10. About 10 persons were injured there.

EMBASSY RUM TO BE IMMUNE

Dry Agents and Customs Officials Get Orders

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—Prohibition agents, customs officials and police were warned by the treasury department today that they must adopt a "hands off" policy where diplomatic liquor, accompanied by an accredited attache of an embassy, is being transported.

The treasury confirmed issuance of instructions settling the question of what requirements foreign embassies and legations must comply with to make their liquor shipments free of police interference.

Since Washington police seized 60 cases of liquor consigned to the Siamese legation last week, while it was being transported by a private truck owner, the question of transportation of embassy liquor by such private truckers expanded until it involved the state, treasury and justice departments.

Out of the technicalities relating to the procurement of proper customs waivers by diplomats expecting liquor shipments three important directions stand out in the treasury's instructions. First, no permit may be issued for the transportation of intoxicating liquors by a diplomat; second, all liquors imported by diplomats should come into the port of Baltimore; and third, the ownership of the vehicle moving the liquor is not important, since an accredited diplomat accompanying the vehicle would be in physical possession of the shipment and since he is immune from arrest or molestation and the shipment under diplomatic immunity is free from search or seizure. Any officer who should arrest the diplomat or disturbs the liquor after proper identification would be liable to severe penalties.

ORPHANS TELL OF ATTENDING DRINK PARTIES

Girls Under 16 Describe Trips Across Border With 'Guardians'

REMOVAL SOUGHT

San Antonio Official Acts To Free Girls From V. of A. Home

SAN ANTONIO, March 22. (AP)—Testimony that money collected by orphans sent to the San Antonio "district" of the Volunteers of America was spent in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, on drinking "parties" in which orphans took part, was submitted today in district court here in the attempt of District Attorney Lamar Seeligson to remove 11 girls, all under 16, from custody of Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss Hopkins, who conducts the San Antonio branch.

District Attorney Seeligson said he was acting, not in his official capacity, but as a private citizen.

Parties in Mexico

Three girls who resided at the home told of drinking parties in Mexico in which they declared they participated with Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins. Charges of drinking in San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Galveston and Mexico were made against the couple. It also was charged that the inmates were poorly fed, that their beds were infested with vermin, and that children were beaten when they did not bring in enough money from soliciting on the streets.

One girl placed on the stand by E. B. Simmons, defense attorney, denied the charges made by the others. She admitted there had been a clash after an interview with Simmons in which the lie was passed between girls who had taken sides in the controversy.

Second Home Planned

The defense attempted to show that the entire situation had been provoked by R. B. Small, former husband of Mrs. Hopkins, once in charge of the home here, who was seeking to persuade girls from the home here to enter his institution. All the witnesses declared that Small drank liquor and that he was seen drunk at the home. One said she had heard Mrs. Small plead with him not to punish the children while he was drinking.

Annie Susil, 14, referred to as the best collector of the organization, testified that she worked the "West Side" here for collections. She told of a drinking party which she declared she attended in Nuevo Laredo with Mr. and Mrs. Small and Miss Lou Johnson, former matron at the home. The girl corroborated Marion Steimer, 15, another witness, in regard to a trip to Austin, Houston and Galveston with Hopkins and Mrs. Small before their marriage. Whisky was drunk before they reached Austin and at all places where they stopped, she said.

"All Were Drunk"

She was whipped once for not cleaning up her room right, she said.

Mildred Coppage, 14, now residing at the Home of the Good Shepherd, also told of the alleged drinking party in Mexico. She did not know the name of the town, but knew it was across the border in Mexico, she said. "It was night when we crossed and we were all drunk when we came back," the girl said.

She stuck to her story under cross examination by Simmons, defense attorney. She admitted that Small wanted her to enter a home in Corpus Christi but denied she had been told something was "to be started here." She was placed in the Good Shepherd's home because it had been charged at the Volunteer's home she had stolen $5 and taken it to her mother, the girl said. She denied the charge.

Moody Delays Action on 152 Bills He 'Inherited' From Legislature

AUSTIN, March 22. (AP)—Governor Moody has not made a dent in the 152 bills he inherited from the legislature when it adjourned a week ago, he revealed today. It will be next week before he files any considerable number of the measures with the secretary of state, he said.

The only measures he has decided, as yet, to approve include that raising pay of Texas rangers and a few others of local nature.

He has not even read the Wirtz bill, proposed as a measure of punishment for Democrats who voted for President Herbert Hoover last November, he said.

He hinted that he might veto the Greenville civil appeals court bill when he announced that he was assembling information from clerks of the other courts as to the necessity of a new one, and pointed out that two years ago he vetoed a bill establishing an appellate court at Wichita Falls.

The governor stated that he might call the special session to meet on April 22 instead of April 15, the date first selected.

Two Dozen U.S. Aviators Reported With Reb Army

War Ace Among Volunteers From United States and Canada Who Want Taste of Aerial Combat

JUAREZ, Mexico, March 22. (UP)—The rebel air corps announced today that 24 American flyers—including a world war ace—have volunteered for service in the Mexican revolutionary cause. General Gustavo Salinas, chief of the corps, said the flyers would be commissioned as soon as airplanes were available.

General Salinas commanded the Mexican federal air force until recently, having organized it in 1912. He holds a U. S. pilot license.

Canadian flyers eager to re-live thrilling experiences of the world war, also are offering their services, the general said, and expert machine gunners want to join the rebels. Many of the gunmen saw service with the British army in France.

An American flyer who expects to go to the rebel front within 24 hours said the rebels flew three airplanes from Texas to a landing field near Juarez a few nights ago. Seven automobiles furnished the lights to illuminate the improvised field so the machines could land, the flyer said. One of the planes was equipped for bombing. Other machines soon will cross to Juarez, the flyer said.

REBEL CAVALRY READY TO FIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

A heavy rebel cavalry offensive against the main Calles army at Torreon is reported in readiness at Bermijillo, about 30 miles north of Torreon and 100 miles south of the Mexican rebel base at Jimnies. Success of the rebel attack against Mazatlan remains doubtful.

Rebel General Villareal made a hurried inspection at Bermijillo last night and declared his cavalrymen mobilized and eager for action. Large supplies of foodstuffs for a thorough campaign were distributed to troops.

Cavalry units were to make the offensive, since insurgents had torn up the railway tracks in their retreat from Torreon to Jiminez.

City Disputed

Meanwhile, possession of Mazatlan, key city in the west coast campaign, is disputed in federal and rebel claims.

HEXER HELD IN DEATH OF GIRL

Powwow Doctor to Face Poisoning Quiz

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 22. (AP)—Charles A. Belles, self-styled "faith healer," tonight was arrested in connection with the death of 21-year-old Verna Octavia Delp, whose body was found last Saturday on the grounds of the Catasauqua Gun club.

The girl died of poison, the coroner's report stated, but the nature of the poison had not been determined.

With the arrest of Belles, District Attorney E. A. Gearhart says there will be a sweeping inquiry into the practices of powwow-ism in Lehigh and adjoining counties. Belles was jailed tonight, Gearhart announcing that a murder warrant will be sworn out tomorrow.

"Hexerism" entered into the case when two cabalistic notes were found pinned to the bodice of the girl's dress when the body was discovered and when it was learned that she and many of her relatives were believers in "powwow-ism."

The campaign centers around the efforts of Dr. Mary F. Bates and E. K. Whitehead of Denver to unseat Ed R. Mayer of Amarillo, president and organizer, as president.

The three comprise the directorate. Mayer charges the other two with attempting to wrest control from him, and is asking sufficient proxies from stockholders to keep him in office and to elect two other directors to supplant Dr. Bates and Whitehead.

Dr. Bates and Whitehead also have taken up the fight for proxies and have mailed blanks to stockholders, along with a circular opposing Mayer's policies.

ORIGINS PLAN IS PROCLAIMED

Hoover Issues Order For Immigration System

WASHINGTON, March 22. (US)—President Hoover today issued a proclamation declaring the immigration quotas as defined in the national origins act to become effective July 1.

He did so with a dramatic and frank statement that while he was opposed to the national origins plan and disliked the duty of issuing the proclamation, the president "must be the first to obey the law."

At the same time it was intimated that congress at the extra session may take action to either repeal the act or to postpone the date of the operation pending further study.

Hoover's Statement

The president's statement in connection with the proclamation follows:

"The attorney general has advised me that in failure of congress to suspend action, it is now mandatory upon me under the immigration act to issue the proclamation establishing national origins as the basis of immigration quotas. The proclamation must be issued prior to April 1 and will be issued at once. It will go into effect on July 1 unless action is taken by congress in the meantime.

"While I am strong in favor of restricted and selected immigration, I have opposed the national origins basis. I, therefore, naturally dislike the duty of issuing the proclamation and installing the new basis, but the president of the United States must be the first to obey the law."

Basis As of 1920 Origins

Briefly, the law provides that the number of immigrants which may come to this country after July 1, 1929, shall be a number which bears the same ratio to 150,000 as the number of inhabitants in the United States in 1920 having that national origin. Such origin is to be determined from statistics of immigration shown by successive decennial censuses. This would date back to 1790, instead of 1890 as at present.

Under the new quotas Austria would be allowed 1,413 immigrants as against 785 under the present law. Belgium would get 1,304 as against 512. Czechoslovakia, 2,874 as against 3,073. Denmark, 1,181 as against 2,789. France, 3,086 as against 3,954. Germany, 25,957 as against 51,227. Great Britain and Northern Ireland, 65,721 as against 34,007. Irish Free State, 17,853 as against 28,567. Netherlands, 3,153 as against 1,648. Norway, 2,377 as against 6,453. Poland, 6,524 as against 5,982. Russia, 2,784 as against 2,248. Sweden, 3,314 as against 9,561.

HOUSE ADOPTS BRIBE CHARGE AGAINST JUDGE

Presiding Officer of State Supreme Court Took Auto, Is Claim

ONE OF 11 CHARGES

Senator Rice Relates Offer Received for His Vote On Johnston

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 22. (UP)—While the Oklahoma house of representatives was voting an impeachment charge and considering others against Chief Justice Charles W. Mason, of the state supreme court, the senate was hearing that the Johnston impeachment trial was "infamous and foul."

Senator John L. Price testified before the senate, at the insistence of that body that he substantiate, if he could, a statement in a letter to Carl Magee, editor of the Oklahoma City News, that the Johnston trial was "infamous and foul" with senators having ample opportunity to sell their votes to the prosecution.

Bond Offer Described

Senator Rice testified that Democratic State Campaign Manager Seamans had offered him a "cut" of a $15,000 melon from the $150,000,000 5-53 road bond issue for his support in this matter.

Seamans, on the stand, said Rice's imagination had run away with him and that he had made no such proposition.

Rice also charged that Senator J. S. Pullen and Senator Reed both had been offered money to cast their vote for the prosecution cause. Reed denied this on the stand, however, but admitted that he could get some money.

The house tonight voted down a motion to strike out the fifth charge against Justice Mason. This charge alleged that he defrauded a widow out of her estate by filing a corrupt charge prepared by Supreme Court Commissioner Foster.

Jurist Impeached

Earlier tonight, the house had impeached Justice Mason on an impeachment charge alleging bribery in connection with the alleged acceptance of a $4,000 automobile from a man having litigation before the court. The vote was 65 to 23.

The house adjourned late tonight until 9:30 Saturday when it will resume consideration of the remaining 10 impeachment charges.

The senate late tonight adjourned until 10 a. m. Monday. At that time the inquisition into the Johnston trial will be resumed.

Mason Presided

Justice Mason was the presiding judge at the senate court of impeachment that Wednesday found Henry S. Johnston guilty of general incompetency and removed him from office as governor of Oklahoma.

The vote on the impeachment charge against Justice Mason was 65 to 23.

The charge upon which Judge Mason was impeached was number one of 11 charges voted against him, involving alleged corruption, influence, coercion, retaliation, conspiracy, malfeasance and incompetency.

Justice Fletcher Riley of the supreme court faces 10 impeachment charges, and Justice J. W. Clark faces 11 charges, all purporting alleged offenses similar to those charged against the chief justice.

The charges were reported to the house today by the general investigating committee that has been ferreting out the Johnston administration from cellar to attic.

The charges were filed by J. A. Patterson, chairman of the subcommittee, investigating the supreme court.

Auto Returned

The article upon which Mason was impeached also charged that he returned the automobile when he learned that the transaction was being investigated.

The 11 charges against Mason:

1. Acceptance as a bribe a $4,000 automobile.
2. Allowing other persons than members of the supreme court to write supreme court decisions.
3. Corrupt prevention of administration of justice in favor of friends.
4. Distortion of facts in the supreme court clerk's office.
5. Filing of a corrupt opinion prepared by a supreme court comissioner.

6. Conspiracy with a former chief justice to compel sale of the latter's property at an exorbitant figure.

7. Printing copies of a dissenting opinion excoriating a printing firm.

8. Participating in an injunction case restraining an attempted impeachment session of the legislature in 1927, from which he was barred by interest and bias.

9. Availing of "improper and unfair protection of the supreme court" to avoid prosecution of a contest of his election.

10. Conspiracy with "political lawyers" and expurgation and alteration of public records to conceal wrongful acts corruptly to the debauchery of the supreme court.

11. Guilt of incompetency, willful neglect of duty in encouraging lobbying and participation in "unethical, illegal, unlawful and terroristic acts of suppression."

Justice Riley was charged with attempting to delay justice in a case where a relative was involved; retaliatory tactics in an opinion written by Justice Clark, participation in the special session opinion, and general unfitness.

The charges against Justice Clark are practically the same as those against Riley with the exception of that of retaliatory tactics.

RICE CHARGES VOTES ARE SOLD

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 22. (UP)—The Oklahoma senate met tonight to hear Senator John L. Rice substantiate his charges that money was used to bribe senators to vote for the removal of Henry S. Johnston if he could.

It was charged that Senator Rice wrote the letter, charging the bribery, having it surreptitiously placed on the desks of the senators a few minutes before the ouster votes was taken. The letter was charged as an instrument of propaganda.

Expulsion Hinted

Senator Tom Anglin declared from the senate court late today, while the senate was considering the charge, that if Rice could not substantiate his charges, he would move his expulsion from the senate.

Charges that votes of some senators were purchased to secure the removal of Johnston as governor were made by Senator Rice in the letter, received today by Carl Magee, editor of the Oklahoma News.

The letter was written four hours before the impeachment vote was taken Wednesday but did not reach Magee until today.

Rice intimated that he could have sold his vote but that he preferred to "remain a poor man at peace with my soul."

The senator said he knew personally that a man could sell his vote. He criticized Magee for his editorial comment during the impeachment proceedings, termination of which was Johnston's removal by a 35 to 9 vote.

Letter in Full

Rice's letter in full follows:

"I am writing this at the noon hour and probably four hours before the vote on the impeachment will be taken.

"At present it looks to me like the wolves have got Henry S. Johnston. They have been on his trail since the day of his nomination.

"I personally know that if a man wants to sell his soul in this infamous trial he can receive the cash in exchange therefor, but I am not unmindful of the great truth expounded by the Great Savior when he propounded the great question: What does it profit a man if he gain the world and lose his own soul?

"I cannot help but think that you, with your knowledge and skill along lines of news gathering, are perfectly familiar with the foul tactics being pursued in the purchase of votes in this case.

"I know that I have had ample opportunity to sell out but I prefer to remain a poor man at peace with my soul.

"However, I do think that your dirty flings at men who are voting for conviction instead of self are so unworthy of your grand calling as to shame even you in your sober minutes."

SUFFERS 15 YEARS; THEN CAME NEW HEALTH, STRENGTH

"For over fifteen years I suffered with a generally run-down condition. There was nearly always a heavy 'pounding' in my ears, especially at night, and throbbing in my temples and neck during the day that I was told was caused from high blood pressure. A numbness in my limbs at times convinced me that my circulation was bad. I was very nervous, my kidneys were too active and I suffered continually with pains in my back and sides. I lacked energy and strength.

MRS. WINNIE SHERMAN

"I had very little appetite, and suffered so much after meals that I ate just as little as possible. My food soured, causing acidity and gas pains, and I was bilious and debilitated.

"I tried many different medicines and treatments with no lasting relief, and finally decided to try Sargon, and there was almost an immediate change in my condition. I ate anything I wanted, enjoyed my meals, and every trace of indigestion disappeared. I commenced to sleep fine at nights, my nervousness left me, as well as all numbness in my limbs. My strength and energy returned and I felt like an entirely different woman.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills ended my constipation, started my liver active and I am never bilious, nor do I ever have a pain or ache of any kind. They don't purge or nauseate, but are an important part of the treatment. I can never express my gratitude for the Sargon treatment."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Winnie Sherman of 2402 Terry street, Houston.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott strets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; and in Electra from Lough's Drug store.—Adv.

Both Sides Claim Victory After Jury's Verdict in Suit for Tax Fees

Both sides claim victory in the verdict returned late Friday afternoon by the jury trying the $13,399.16 suit of M. L. Tittle, former tax collector, against the county for delinquent tax commissions collected between December, 1919, and December 1922. The jury answered 27 issues propounded in the charge of Judge W. W. Cook, and attorneys on both sides claim that the answers award them the victory. Motions for judgment will be filed and argued next week, the lawyers announced.

Attorneys Disagree

T. R. Boone, attorney for the plaintiff, based his claim to the judgment partially on the jury's affirmative answer to the question as to whether the money had been turned into the county treasury by Mr. Tittle pending the outcome of pertinent litigation. The plaintiff will also base his claim on the fact the jury held that J. P. Jones, county judge during the period in question, had agreed to refund the money if the legal question involved was settled in favor of the collector, Mr. Boone explained.

On the other hand, Harvey Harris, special counsel for the county, asserted that the suit had been won by the defendant because the jury had ruled that the payment of the funds was voluntary and because it has held that the commissioners court had not agreed to refund the money. The defense contends that the county judge has not the authority to "give the county's money away," and that his statements have no bearing on the case. They relie chiefly on the answer in which the jury holds that no promise of a refund was made by the court.

The jury's verdict was read shortly after 5 o'clock, after a deliberation lasting most of Friday. The suit of Guy C. Raley, present collector, asking approximately $18,000 on similar grounds, was already well under way before the first verdict was rendered, much of the testimony for the plaintiff having already been completed.

Judge Made Promise

Roy Jones, chief deputy collector, testified that Judge B. D. Sartin, former county judge, had in November, 1925, in an open meeting of the commissioners court said, "You boys will get your money if the Bitters' case goes your way," when the question of turning in the contested commissions arose. On crossexamination, the witness said he did not believe any formal order was entered on the minutes of the court.

Clerk to Supervise New City Inventory

The city of Wichita Falls' new method of taking inventory will be put into effect on April 1 at the beginning of the new fiscal year, City Manager George D. Fairtrace said Friday.

Inventory this year will be taken by W. E. McBroom, city clerk and his aides, instead of the usual method of having the heads of each city department take stock of the city's assets, as has been the custom here in the past. The new method will save considerable time for the heads of the departments and also furnish a more accurate check on the standing of the city's assets and liabilities.

U. S. AVIATORS IN REVOLUTION

Rebel Cavalry Reported Ready to Fight

State Kellogg yesterday that rebels, apparently in small numbers, had attacked Mazatlan about 2:30 a. m., but subsequently had withdrawn. Rebels had cut the water supply, but the federal commander was sure that wells within the city walls were sufficient even for a siege.

On the other hand, rebel agents in New York announced receipt of a telegram reporting capture of the city by their comrades. The same announcement had been made earlier by rebel headquarters at Nogales, Sonora.

Ambassador Morrow repeated to Kellogg the Mexican government's assurance that there were not more than 2,500 insurgents in the whole of Sinalo and that Mexico City officials have no fears for Mazatlan.

General Escobar, insurgent commander in chief, remained in Juarez yesterday as units of his offensive were gathering at Bermijillo.

Two brilliant commanders will face one another when the main federal and rebel armies come to grips. Federal strategy now has divided the campaign into two separate zones.

General Almazan, federal commander who first put down the revolt in Vera Cruz and subsequently recaptured Monterey, has been named chief of the principal federal army at the head of 13,000 men.

Against the rebel threat in Sinaloa, General Calles has detached 6,000 soldiers under General Cardenas for the relief of Mazatlan and a mopping-up campaign in western Mexico.

In Washington it was made clear that the administration maintains a legal right to prevent firing of shots across the line by either federals or rebels. The United States would be prepared to take whatever steps were necessary to enforce this right, without considering its neutrality with the Mexico City government affected.

Suitor Attacks Girl's Brother Who Takes Hand in Affair

Met with blows from a base ball bat when he attempted to intercept love letters written to his sister, a 17-year-old boy was suffering from severe cuts and bruises to his head Friday afternoon and the would-be suitor was in jail for aggravated assault.

The youth and the swain came to blows on Fourth street early Friday, and the sister, observing, called first a doctor and then the police. The accused man, who is a cripple, pleaded guilty and was assessed a $25 fine and costs by Judge Irwin J. Vogel in the county court at law.

Sheriff Arrests Three, Seizes Liquor in Raid

Three persons were taken in custody and 20 one-gallon jars of whisky were seized Friday afternoon in a raid by members of the sheriff's department upon a residence on Buchanan street.

Two women and a man were put under arrest after the officers had discovered the whisky hidden in a trunk in a clothes closet, according to W. Warren Belcher, deputy sheriff.

COURT CLOSES SEEPAGE SUIT

$10,000 Verdict Given; Injunction Refused

Judge P. A. Martin Friday afternoon awarded Mrs. J. M. McGrath a $10,666 judgment against the Wichita Falls Water Improvement district No. 1 for alleged damages to her land southwest of Wichita Falls from seepage from an irrigation canal. At the same time the judge declined to grant an injunction against the district and against the city, asked by Mrs. McGrath forbidding the use of the canal and the city's aqueduct until they are lined.

The ruling, against which both sides gave notice of appeal, brought to a temporary close a prolonged controversy, beginning with a series of motions seeking to bar the suit, through a trial which lasted eight days, and a verdict in which the jury was forced to answer 71 separate issues. Both sides claimed victory by the terms of the verdict, and motions for judgment were argued before Judge Martin Friday afternoon.

H. R. Wilson and E. R. Surles, attorneys for the defendant, claimed in their arguments that the verdict of the jury, which found that 82 acres of the McGrath land had been injured to the extent of $130 an acre, had not fixed the liability upon the district. They argued that seepage from Lake Wichita had had a share in the alleged water logging of the McGrath land and that the district could not be held responsible.

E. W. Napier, attorney for Mrs. McGrath, in claiming the judgment and urging the injunction claimed that the remainder of the land will be injured unless present practises are discontinued.

Counsel for the defense announced that he would appeal against the judgment, and Mr. Napier gave notice that he would appeal the question of an injunction. The attorney explained to the court that it recognized the difficulty to the city of lining the aqueduct which brings in the city's water supply, but said his client would agree to an injunction giving any reasonable length of time for the completion of the work, so that the water system need not be in any way disturbed.

When you drive out your car is doubly safeguarded by Magnolene Motor Oils

Magnolene Paraffine Base Motor Oils, in addition to having the right consistency, give you the high quality indispensable to complete and safe lubrication.

Magnolene Motor Oils are made from Selected Paraffine Base Crudes from our own wells. Since we control our own crude oil supply, we are always able to procure crudes of highest quality. Our special refining processes maintain this high quality and give the various grades of Magnolene the required consistency for each lubricating need.

Magnolene Paraffine Base Motor Oils thus combine the right consistency with the high lubricating value of

Matters of Civic Development Discussed

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, March 22.—At the regular session at the weekly luncheon this week of the chamber of commerce a number of subjects were brought up for discussion. The president, H. E. Griffin, asked for comment and discussion on the condition of the Rock Island railroad crossing. J. J. Gallaher, chairman of the civic committee, stated that about one year ago request had been made to the Rock Island for some improvement, but little had been done, but that he would again take up the matter with them and endeavor to have the crossing improved. County Engineer Guy Johnston suggested the city officials pass an ordinance establishing grade on railroad crossings at both the north and west entrances to town.

Graham Stewart brought up the subject of improving the courthouse square and removing the fence. In this connection the committee on farmers' feeding and watering place reported through R. V. Tidwell, who suggested that some place off the square be established to give the farmers who trade in Graham a place to feed and water their teams. Mayor Eddleman stated that the farmers' market should be regulated by a committee of the chamber of commerce or torn down and removed. The matter was referred to the trade extension committee, H. L. Thornton, chairman.

Judge Parsley stated that in regard to the fence around the courthouse and improvements thereon he felt that the commissioners' court would concur in any such movement. The matter was referred to Mr. Gallaher, chairman of the civic committee.

A. A. Morrison reported for the airport committee that the tractor was now at work clearing land and that rapid progress was being made in putting the ground for the airport in good condition.

Judge Robertson of Throckmorton county, a guest, was called upon and stated that he felt sure the county of Throckmorton would gladly co-operate with Young county in connecting up their road system. Mr. Young of Archer City was also a guest. Senator McFarlane stated the opposition side as brought in the last session of the legislature on prison relocation. Guy Johnston, county highway engineer, announced that the contractor on surfacing the Jacksboro road would start work this week and on the west road in April. He also stated that there was a $35-per-day penalty on the contract on the east road and that this should insure speedy completion of this job.

"Merely duds," he said.

Hostetter is writing a book about Chicago's racketeers but he was not seeking publicity. He says so himself.

THE NEW CONSCIENCE

Daily Editorial

BIG BUSINESS has developed a conscience—and has found it in the balance sheet. It's cheaper to be right, than to fight confiscatory legislation.

The old school too often believed that every man had his price. But time and statutory retribution have shown that the price was eventually too high.

Insiders remember when monopoly and public service corporations not only controlled judiciary appointments, but dictated judicial decisions besides.

Judges and officials, who didn't jump to their whip-crack, were erased from subsequent caucus slates.

Railroad and power czars carried political bosses in change pockets, and manipulated party organizations with their slush funds.

Consequently, entire commonwealths were dominated by invisible government and popular welfare was thwarted at every hand.

We'd have half as much regulation, if we'd had half as much rapacity.

Every supervisory law in the codes was inspired by the very interests that now squirm in its handcuffs.

FEDERAL authority didn't turn policeman and swing the Sherman act until drunken greed and insolent predacity evoked its restraining influence. The racial tendencies of certain states—the Blue Sky laws—the Interstate Commerce commission and the Federal Trade board—are natural descendants of Grandfather Plunderbund.

They wouldn't exist, if special privilege hadn't once used so many black-jacks and brass-knuckles, or set up so many toll-gates along the routes of distribution and opportunity.

America has never desired to rob the victor of his honest spoils—but an ability to define their own field limits and foul lines.

Far-sighted capital recognizes the distinction. The greater captains of affairs generally realize a concurrent obligation to good citizenship and dividend production.

Nine concerns in ten understand that they can't fare so far if they don't play fair.

Trade bodies have for years proved their capacity for self-correction—to define their own field limits and foul line.

The triumph of the Rockefeller faction, at Whiting, was only possible because the leading bankers and fortune-makers of the United States voted their vast Indiana holdings for honorable business practice, and against the now repudiated principle that "success justifies its processes."

Never forget, it was big business, and not small investors that delivered this last rebuke upon the Continental Oil transaction.

There are still dirty tools and corners in the house of business. But the profit and loss account will gradually disclose and disinfect 'em.

President Hoover isn't disturbed at the prospect of continued consolidations and expansions.

Both he and the engineers of these colossal ventures know, that they can't build high if they don't build straight.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who warns another of threatening danger, renders a godly service."

When you know someone to be in danger, warn them in the spirit of helpfulness, but, do not be offended if your service is not appreciated nor your warning heeded.

One of these days some fellow is going to hurl himself into immortal fame by reaching his 95th birthday and telling reporters he knows nothing about practically everything.

The Fight for Fame

A RAILROAD brakeman in Pennsylvania, temporarily crippled by an accident some little time ago, took to microscopic writing for a diversion. Now he announces that he is able to write 46 alphabets on an ordinary grain of rice.

In case you're interested, he uses a pen with a very fine point, ordinary India ink, and a small microscope; but it is quite legible, once enlarged.

Doubtless this feat qualifies him for some kind of championship although it probably won't be a very lucrative one. However, fame, of a kind, he assuredly has, and deserves; who else, in all the world, can put so many letters in so small a space?

The varieties of fame that a man can get in this world are almost limitless. One man is known for his money, another for his ability to fight with his hands, another for his collection of used postage stamps, another for his political achievements, another for his good looks—and so on, in a never-ending procession. Some of this fame can be translated into cash and some of it cannot; but it is worth noticing that the cash value of it is seldom the thing that gives it its chief appeal.

The desire to be noticed by one's fellow men seems to be one of the most deeply-rooted of all human traits. The child shows it as soon as he is out of the cradle. Few men ever lose it. It is an illogical desire, apparently; to be famous does no one any real good. Yet we all want it.

Fame, even of the smallest and least enduring kind, helps a man to convince himself that he is not unimportant. It is one way of breaking through the walls of loneliness that isolate every individual. To know that other men are saying, "Well, there's John Brown—he's a good, capable man, doing his job better than most other chaps could do it in his place" is to feel that one has made some sort of impression on an unfeeling world. The desire to have that sort of thing said has led men to do all kinds of things, from winning great battles to eating three dozen griddle cakes at one sitting.

Most of us, unfortunately, have a deep well of pessimism in the secret places of our hearts. We know our own faults and our own limitations better than anyone else knows them; and this knowledge gives us moments of abasement when we wonder, despondently, whether such men as we are can possibly be destined for any high and noble end, either in this world or the next. We struggle for some sort of reassurance—and, in the struggle, we make ourselves work so that the total of our achievements can persuade us that we are better men than we thought.

So we fight for distinction, and sometimes this fight has strange results. But the underlying motive is always the same. The Pennsylvanian who printed 46 alphabets on a grain of rice was moving in the same direction as the scientist whose telescope discovered a new star on the edge of the universe.

The City of Confusion

THE ABILITY to see beneath the surface of current events is one of the most valuable bits of equipment a man can have in this modern world. Being valuable, it is also rare; and that, no doubt, is the reason for much of the confusion which grips people today—confusion that is reflected in such diverse things as politics and the drama, literature and the school room.

Thus we have had a rather bewildering spectacle during the last few years. Innumerable books are written to show the "hollowness" of modern life. Magazine writers, in platoons, explain that our current civilization is rapidly stifling everything that is fair and lovely. Some citizens demand that we join the League of Nations, or cry that we should scrap our army and navy forthwith; others, with louder voices, curse the league as an invention of unreliable Europeans and demand that we build the greatest navy on earth. Marriage is crumbling, says one group; marriage ought to crumble, says another. An eminent lawyer goes about offering to prove that man is a soulless machine; a college professor follows after, demonstrating that we need a new conception of God.

So it goes, day in and day out, extremely confusing and often rather tiresome. Obviously, a great many people, including many of those to whom we naturally look for intellectual and moral guidance, are greatly upset about something. What, in the name of Heaven, is an ordinary mortal, who wants to be reasonably optimistic and sunny about everything, to think of it all?

There is an underlying reason for all of this shouting and murmuring, of course; and it may be that we won't go far wrong if we blame most of it on the world war.

To be sure, the war has been over for 10 years, and we have been trying all those 10 years to forget it. But its real effects, nevertheless, are only beginning to appear. The changes in national boundaries and the fall of dynasties were not the really important things that the war accomplished.

Most of us did not anticipate the war. It came as a frightful surprise. For a long time it fairly struck us dumb. It was too stupendous and too awful for us to understand.

Then, gradually, came the realization that there must have been something dreadfully wrong with our modern civilization to make such a war possible. The war was the logical, inevitable outgrowth of the kind of social, economic and intellectual lives we had been leading. It was something that came upon mankind because mankind had not been wise or unselfish or noble enough to foresee it or avoid it.

Is it any wonder, then, that so many people are convinced that something is radically wrong with modern life?

Somehow we have got to start on a new track. It may be a long time before we discover just what that new track may be. Meanwhile we will continue to have a confusion of counsel, with fretful people crying out against everything from marriage to mass production. But all of this surface confusion is encouraging. It at least means that people are beginning to demand a new deal.

ESTELLINE VIEWS BASKET BALL "POLITICS"

Now that we are familiar with state basket ball politics, the method of bracketing teams for the meet is no longer a mystery. We have always been of the opinion that high school athletics should be kept strictly on a high plane of sportsmanship. Give the boys and girls who can play the best game the honor, with an equal chance to display their ability to win.

The state basket ball politicians decreed that Athens win the state championship. They matched them with two of the weakest teams in the entire state for the preliminary games. This gave them a "free ride" to the finals with just a few good workouts to keep the boys in trim. We doubt if Athens needed any help to win the state championship because they had a real team, but the officials arranged for the win easily.

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, March 22.—One dangerous occupation which thousands of New Yorkers see daily with little display of concern is that of ridding the subway tracks of papers and debris. Each day workmen are required to pick up the papers. They use long wooden hooks.

Two particular dangers face them. They have to be forever on the lookout for the fast approaching subway trains and must move dexterously about the rails, for there is the so-called "third rail," charged with electricity. Should they come in contact with this rail their lives would be snuffed out. Yet they appear to have on fears although, in a sense, the job of a subway janitor is as dangerous as that of a skyscraper ironworker.

What with the increase in thieves, robbers and crime in general, the latchstring has passed out of American life. It belongs to another generation when people were not afraid to leave their doors unlocked, and as a symbol of hospitality, left the latchstring outside for those who wished to enter.

There is one building in New York where the latchstring remains. It is the old structure that houses the Morning Telegraph, New York sporting and dramatic paper. A visit to this newspaper will reveal that the same old door and the same old latchstring that was in use 100 years ago in the building still remains.

The Telegraph, by the way, is housed in a building that once was a huge barn and, coincidentally, the newspaper now caters chiefly to the lovers of horses and horseracing.

Bill Guard, they call him, the dean, more or less, of New York press agents. He represents the Metropolitan opera house and, for that reason, holds a more exalted place than the usual Broadway scribbler. He is a friend of all the opera stars as well as the rich patrons of the opera.

His chief characteristic is his distinguished bearing and oftentimes he is mistaken for a duke or a count or one of those fellows who takes the part of the heroine's millionaire uncle in the movies.

Another nice characteristic about him is his generous attitude toward those music-starved individuals who haven't enough money to pay for a seat in the Metropolitan. Guard's office frequently is bombarded by people hoping to get passes into the auditorium and sometimes the line in front of his office is as long as one you find outside an employment office. And, as often as Guard can see his way to help the music-starved, his motto is, "They Shall Pass." But on nights when Jeritza is singing or during the Wagnerian cycle of operas, the house is so crowded with paying customers that Guard has to paste up a sign, "They Shall Not Pass," and on those nights the music-starved are turned away.

Sixth avenue is the street of employment agencies. During the lean periods, when jobs are scarce, they are often called the "unemployment agencies." You will find outside the agencies, throughout the day, large crowds of men scanning the bulletin boards anxiously and hopefully.

In the crowds of the unemployed can be found well dressed men as well as the tattered and torn. But I often have marveled at the sight of men with canes, spats and other wearing apparel and paraphernalia of the gentleman gazing intently at advertisements for bushelmen, electric welders, mechanics and even farm hands.

Detective stories in book form are enjoying such a huge vogue just now that one publisher, Doubleday-Doran, will bring out 32 such books this season. At least two other publishers will issue 20 such books apiece. Detective stories will be on the lists of almost every other general book publishing house.

The most prolific of the mystery and detective story writers is said to be Edgar Wallace, who thinks up new plots every week.

Manhattan may be an all-night town, but its neighboring borough, Brooklyn, seems to be an early-to-bed place. Brooklyn has been called the city of churches, the city of baby carriages and the city of quietude. It's more than that.

The Brooklyn Union Gas company and the Brooklyn Edison company made an attempt to find out when Brooklynites began to turn off their light and heat. The average hour was 9 o'clock.

As the title of a recent best seller goes, "believe it or not."

Student Followers of Sex Quizzer Shed Tears When He Says Farewell

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 22. (INS)—University of Missouri students do not intend to lose Dr. Harmon O. DeGraff, ousted sociology instructor as a campus leader, even if he is to leave the faculty under the edict of the university executive board for his part in the recent circulation of a sex questionnaire.

DeGraff met his course in the family for the last time today, and after he had left the room in tears in a futile effort to bid farewell to the students who had stood loyally by him in the recent affair, the members of the class perfected an organization by which they plan to secure offices for DeGraff near the university campus and retain him as a student adviser. Some arrangement for a salary for the deposed instructor is to be worked out by his followers, it is said.

Today's session of the class was filled with emotion. It found DeGraff in much the same state as he was Wednesday night when he broke down in an attempt to thank a mass meeting of 3,500 students who voted to ask the board of curators to reconsider its ouster action. And tears flowed down the cheeks of many of his students, too, when he bade them farewell.

DeGraff, with Dr. Max Meyer, head of the psychology department, and O. H. Mowrer, student assistant, was ordered removed from the faculty effective tomorrow, by the executive board of curators with final action on their discharge to be taken by the full board at Kansas City April 6. The student resolution urging their reinstatement will be taken up at that time.

Dr. Meyer was in charge of the plans for the meeting and was to have given an important paper.

U. S. Private Killed in Nicaraguan Battle

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, March 22. (INS)—Details of a clash between a United States marine detachment and a large body of Sandino bandits, near Jinotega, were brought here today by Capt. M. A. Edson, commandant of the marine detachment.

One marine, Private Michael Savilich of Jersey City, N. J., was killed and another marine was wounded in the clash. One of the bandits was killed.

The clash, which occurred Sunday, was described by Captain Edson as the most complete ambush experienced by the marines since they began campaigning in Nicaragua. He said the marines finally routed the Sandinistas and pursued them through the jungle, but were unable to overtake them.

Young Girls Today Not Half so 'Red' As They Paint Themselves to Be

Can the Modern Daughter Be Reared to Modesty? Folly of Trying to Judge a Man's Love by the Look in His Eyes—Is a Woman of 66 Too Old to Travel?

Dear Miss Dix—I have the best of husbands, a good home and two small daughters, and the thing that is worrying me sick is about the girls of today. Every time you look at the papers you read of some young girl doing something awful and everybody you meet tells you about how wild girls are, and I would rather die than have my daughters turn out that way. Do you think there is any way to bring a girl up to be sweet and modest and pure in these times?

—A WORRIED MOTHER.

Answer: Why, of course you can bring your little daughters up to be good women. Lots of mothers are doing that very thing right now and, as a matter of fact, girls aren't half so red as they paint themselves. Remember that it is the few wild women who get on the front pages of the newspapers and who are the subject of discussion among those who know them, while you never hear anything about the good ones who go along and behave themselves properly.

People talk a lot about the difficulties of bringing up children in this age as if the modern youngster was somehow different from all of the boys and girls that have preceded them and as if the rules for rearing children had changed. This is all nonsense. Human nature hasn't altered. Nor has life. There hasn't even been a new temptation invented since the Garden of Eden episode. Children have always been self-willed and determined on having their own way. Youth has always craved amusements and hankered after forbidden fruit. There has always been the sex problem and the drink problem and a hundred different ways to go to the devil.

So you don't face any more difficulties in rearing your daughters than your mother faced in rearing you, and it is up to you to have the backbone to teach your children to obey you and respect you and to have the energy to make your home comfortable and wholesome and respectable and the wisdom to teach your children the beauty and the profit of clean living.

The mothers whose daughters turn out badly are those who have made their homes places of turmoil and fighting out of which the children escaped to the streets to get a little peace from nagging, or the mothers who were so intent on amusing themselves that they had no time to devote to taking care of their children, or the mothers who were so weak that they never enforced any discipline on their children, or held them to doing the right thing because it was the right thing, or taught them any decent principles of living.

Not once in a million times do the daughters of a good mother turn out badly, and by a good mother I mean a strong, determined loving mother, who breeds the right principles in her children and who teaches them, by precept and example, to be honest and honorable in all their dealings.

So I am glad to see that you are worrying about your daughters while they are still mere babes in the cradle, because that indicates that you will worry to some purpose. Most mothers wait to worry over their daughters until it is too late. You can't control a girl who is 17 or 18 who has been spoiled and indulged and who has never known any law except her own sweet will, but you can start it on a 17-month-old girl baby and make of her what you will.

Every girl in these days has to be her own chaperon. Her mother can't watch her. Her mother can't go with her to the stores and offices where she works, but her mother can arm her against all the perils that she will meet so that she can keep herself safely.

In trying to rear your daughters properly, however, keep abreast of the times. Remember, that many of the old conventions are being scrapped and that things that used to be considered immodest and improper are now no longer taboo. Knee-length skirts, for instance, would a few years ago have been considered shocking. Now nobody notices them.

Nor can a girl who supports herself and who has demonstrated her ability to take care of herself in the outside world be treated as was the helpless little girl who had to ask mama for every new ribbon and depend on mama to do her thinking for her and take care of her.

So in rearing your daughters avoid being too strict with them as much as you would being too lenient. Teach them obedience, but also teach them to think for themselves and stand on their own feet. Teach them to be modest, but not to be prudes. Teach them to be gentle, but not to be weak. Teach them all the good, old-fashioned, feminine virtues, but also teach them how to take care of themselves in a modern world.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am 22 and I have fallen desperately in love with a boy of 20. I have let him know that I love him, and he seemed to be very much astonished. Said he only loved me as a friend and did not want to marry me because I am older and because I have been married—I am a widow. Still, his eyes tell me that he loves me. Must I give him up?

—S. M. L.

Answer: For heaven's sake don't be idiot enough to put any stress on what you think you see in a man's eyes. They are only mirrors in which you see what you want to see. That yearning look which you think you observe is probably caused by his thinking of the corned beef and cabbage he is going to have for dinner and doesn't in the least mean that he is longing for you. Women always interpret the look in a man's eyes wrongly and think he is soulful when he is merely hungry or wanting a drink.

Don't delude yourself into thinking that any man is hiding a secret passion for you that you can only divine from his eyes. When a man loves a woman she doesn't have to be a clairvoyant. He tells her about it.

I am an ardent believer in women having the right to pop the question and ask the man they want to marry them, but when the man says "no," they should be good enough sports to accept his decision the same as a man does when a woman turns him down.

Of course, they also have a man's right to persevere with the wooing if they have any reason to think that the man is likely to change his opinion. However, the over-persuaded seldom makes good husbands or wives, so my advice to you would be to let this young man go and turn your attention to some more promising prospect.

When a man tells a woman she is too old for him, and that he doesn't care for warmed-over affection, it is very evident that his feelings for her are platonic, not to say filial, and there is not much chance of that kind of love ever being fanned into a flame.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—The opportunity has come to me to spend six months or so in Europe with a small party for sightseeing and travel. This is a pleasant prospect, but I am a woman 66 years of age and my family and friends insist that going about, change of food, etc., would be too strenuous for me. I am usually well, but, of course, have not the endurance of a younger person. I am a city woman and used to going about. Do you think I dare to go?

—K. E. W.

Answer: Go, by all means. There is no hardship in European travel the way you propose to do it, and if you should have some slight spell of sickness there are good doctors and hospitals everywhere.

So far from injuring you, the change and the interest will benefit your health and the things you learn and see will not only make your life longer but will make it pleasanter as long as you live. I know women in the 70s and 80s who are inveterate globe-trotters. Travel is the solace of age and the one thing left out of which you can always get a kick.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, March 20. (US)—Ethel Barrymore, who loves cats, and has five beauties, took one to Boston with her. It acted lonely, however, that is, and she sent her maid out to buy a playmate, another little girl cat, to romp with and sing twilight duets.

Peggy Joyce is said to have possessed at one time, a large group of monkeys, cute ring tails, with tiny human faces. The neighbors thought they were impossible and complained, and Peggy said she hadn't ever noticed that they were. "Darlings" she called them.

Irene Castle used to carry "Rastus" around with her, dressed in little blue and white checked gingham dresses. Her mother made the monkey's clothes. They were sleeveless dresses with a tiny gingham ruffle around the bottom of the skirt. The monk took jewelry and hats off of every woman who called on the lovely Irene.

If every woman who buys a pet, a monkey or a parrot, a bird or a dog or cat, adopted a baby, think of the poor neglected children who would have a chance in the world! And whether she knows it or not, that's what is at the bottom of that impulse to take on pet animals—the desire for a real pet. After all there is no substitute.

A woman died the other day and left $10,000 to a monkey, with instructions to have a private room for the animal of the rest of its life. Think of wishing all that misery on a monkey!

If some deserted baby would try to break that will, in favor of itself, no end of enthusiastic assistance would be offered. Probably backed by the whole hearted approval of the monkey.

Some monkeys are nice folks, and some folks are such monkeys.

California grows rare specimens. One of them is a husband whose wife says he wouldn't buy her anything, not even medicine, while he sported 14 shirts and 16 ties "that matched." She had to wash them and he complained about her ironing.

She probably needed a new iron. Chicago grew a man who gave his wife a washing machine for Christmas and saved the price of it on his laundry.

The California lady says she endured the pain till her birthday came and then he bought a present—for himself.

But the copy books say that if you really love you want to give—not get.

Which doesn't preclude the possibility of giving a sock in the jaw and still keeping faith with the copy books.

FELT SO DIZZY SHE STAGGERED

Began Taking Black-Draught and "Felt Fine," Says Complexion Improved.

Columbia, S. C.—"Three years ago, I suffered with indigestion; was dizzy and felt dull so that I could not keep going," says Mrs. E. T. Sharp, 721 Seventh street, this city.

"I would stagger around from dizziness, and I felt wretched.

"I knew about Black-Draught, for we had used it in our home practically all my life, and so I began to take it for this trouble.

"I was yellow as gold. My color was awful.

"I began taking Black-Draught, night and morning, until I had taken four doses, and then I waited awhile, and took some more.

"I found it did me a great deal of good, for the poison left my system, and I began to have a good appetite. I would get hungry before mealtime. My complexion cleared up and I felt fine.

"I have used Black-Draught for years in my home for constipation. I have found it a splendid medicine for my children. I give it to them for colds, and constipation, and I notice that in a few days after they have taken it, they brighten up and enjoy good health."

"Dear Miss Brainerd:

Record News Sports Editor

A veteran and a rookie, both righthanders, will oppose the Oklahoma City Indians today in the first of a two-game series out at the orchard. George Payne, eminent master of the screw-ball, and Cy Wiltse, the big fellow from the Piedmont league, are slated by Skipper Jim to work the pastime this p. m. for our Spudders.

Smith will be delegated the task of chucking four or five innings in place of Harold Wiltse, the southpaw. Hal discovered after yesterday morning's workout that the shin which was hit by a batted ball by Rogell in the game with St. Paul Sunday shows evidence of injury more serious than previously anticipated. So Harold went to the hospital for treatment and it will be a few days before the star portsider will be able to take his turn on the mound.

Smith showed impressively in helping Wiltse beat the Saints and Payne worked a few innings Thursday to indicate he is ready for a few rounds at top speed.

Steengrafe Ready

Seasonable weather recently has enabled the hurlers to bear down and the Western leaguers will have a look at expert flinging Sunday as well as today. Milt Steengrafe, with Payne the only holdovers of the slab staff and Fred Stiely, the stocky fellow who turned in a well-hurled test last Saturday against the Saints, probably will work tomorrow.

Two changes from the lineup which opposed the St. Paul club will be made today. Debs Garms, the flashy shortstop from Abilene, will play that position and leadoff in the batting order in place of George Spiers. Dick Sullivan, the hustling fellow from Abilene, will displace his teammates of 1928, Cameron Best, in right field.

Jack Crouch, the boy from Joplin, will start back of the log, with Bob Snyder, the rejuvenated experienced maskman formerly of Kansas City set to work today or tomorrow. The remainder of the lineup is similar to that of the first spring games.

Liefield Leads Tribe

Lefty Liefield, recently coach of the Detroit Tigers and a great pitcher of yesteryear for the Pittsburgh Pirates, is the new leader of the Oklahoma City team. Owner Jack Holland of that club is said to have gathered together his usual fast array of veterans and promising youngsters.

Several Indians here for this series will be remembered by local fandom, including Pee Wee Lewis, ex-Texas leaguer, and Saltzgaver, Fitzpatrick, Groft and Darrow of last season's Sooner nine.

Today's game—and all exhibition contests—starts at 3 o'clock.

Two teams of yannigans played seven innings yesterday afternoon, following extensive bunting and hitting practice in the morning. The Colts, with Buster Jackson and Lefty Shamburg hurling, beat the Goofs, whose pitchers were Chief Moore and Roland Roberts, 12 to 10.

Roberts hit a home run and Allday and Best clouted triples.

Brick Eldred Plays

Brick Eldred played a couple of innings, the first time he has been in sham battle this year. Brick is gradually attaining playing condition and will be ready to take the right field job when called upon.

The lineups yesterday were:

Goofs—Norek, ss; Hooten, cf; Wright, 3b; Eldred, rf; Sullivan, rf; Lewis, 2b; Beck, 1b; Bean, 1b; Nebel, lf; Lawrence, c; Baxter, c; Moore, p; Roberts, p.

Colts—Garms, ss; Allday, 2b; Anderson, cf; Best, lf; Scharien, 3b; Orr, rf; Cox, 1b; Camalo, c; Bradbury, c; Jackson, p; Shamburg, p.

Hammet Vance, three-year letter man in football, was elected president. Frank Hunt, also a three-year letter man in football was elected secretary and treasurer. Again, it seems that J. Alvin Gardner has made an important baseball "discovery." Referring now to Jack Crouch, the catcher from Joplin of the Western association. Jack led the loop in batting last season and looks like he has every requisite for a successful receiver.

Dempsey, Fugazy Sign 2-Year Pact

Arenas Planned at Detroit And New York

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, March 22. (UP)—A new triumvirate was formed today to challenge the supremacy of Madison Square garden when Jack Dempsey signed a two-year contract to become Humbert J. Fugazy's partner.

The third member of the new combination is Ed Cole, former Wall street broker, who will handle the financial end of the arrangement. Cole claims the backing of a group of unnamed millionaires who are said to be ready to back any proposition undertaken by Dempsey and Fugazy.

Jack Gets First Check

The terms of Dempsey's contract were not divulged, but the former heavyweight champion is understood to have received a flat guarantee, with an additional percentage privilege. Dempsey received his first check today.

The arrangement does not preclude Dempsey's fighting again. Asked if the contract covered Dempsey's services as a fighter, Fugazy said there was naturally an understanding between them if Dempsey decided to return to the ring. Dempsey answered that he would discuss that later.

First Fight at Detroit

Detroit will be the scene of the first undertaking of the new partners. Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, has been signed to defend his title in a 15-round bout in the western city June 6.

Two arenas are planned by the new group—an indoor arena at New York seating 35,000 and an outdoor arena at Detroit. Work will be started on the Detroit structure in time to use it for the lightweight title match. Definie plans regarding the New York arena will be announced next week.

Spring Song

I heard a bluebird singing
"The Babe is coming home";
I saw a redbird winging
Across the fairway's loam;
I heard the duffers growling
Amid the bunker's jam,
I heard the wild fans howling
Where echoes answered Bam.

I saw a robin bobbin'
And chirping to its mate;
I felt my young heart throbbin'
With April at the gate;
I heard the brassies whistle,
I heard the basehits sing;
By budding rose and thistle—
"We've come again to spring."

Always Showmen

Three of the greatest of all showmen in their respective sporting trades have been Dempsey, Ruth and Hagen.

And as showmen all three of them continued to defy time. Dempsey, after 16 years of fighting, still had enough showmanship left in his punch to put the champion of the world on his back and keep him there for 14 seconds.

Babe Ruth, after 15 years of big league baseball, still had enough showmanship left in his wallop to hit three home runs in one game and break about 19 records in one series.

Hagen made a gallant stab for the U. S. open 16 years ago when Ouimet halted Vardon and Ray at Brookline in 1913.

Yet Hagen's showmanship hasn't slipped an inch at any time since. He was supposed to be skidding rapidly last spring when Compston beat him by 18 up and 17 to play. A week later Hagen won the British open. In the big four ball championship at Miami he was the big flash when his side was leading a forlorn hope. Three down and 6 to play against such a combination as Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, about as hopeless a job against this pair as any one could ever face, Hagen turns and wins four of the last six holes. He struck his most decisive blow at the big moment of the match at the final hole.

All this happened with the biggest golf crowd that ever saw a golf match in Florida looking on. Give Hagen a crowd and he will put on a show worth looking at.

One of his P. G. A. opponents told me a story of a certain match he played against Hagen. "I was 5 up," he said, "and Hagan was slipping fast. We had no gallery at the start. He looked careless and discouraged. Suddenly word went out that Hagen was being walloped. A big crowd caught us. From that spot on he played golf that no one could beat. He began putting on his show of miracle recoveries and long putts. Showmanship is the ability to put on some spectacular touch when a crowd is gathered. The ideal showman doesn't waste his "sweetness on the desert air" or before empty benches and bleachers. The sight of a large gathering steams up his soul and brings out the best he has. It is for this reason that Jack Dempsey in one fight can still outdraw any two fighters in a pair of shows. He has always given them a show, while most of the others have only given them a showing up. Hagen and Ruth have been around since 1913. Dempsey was swinging at chins a year later. His start dates back to 1912 or '13, when he was then an unknown kid. He might take a pasting from any one of several heavyweights today, but at least he would give the crowd a show provided the other party could be enticed within reach of a left hook.

The Next Showmen?

Four of the main showmen are getting along in years. Dempsey, Tilden, Ruth and Hagen are no longer young entries. Dempsey may be through for good. Tilden has no more than another year, with the odds against him. Ruth and Hagen can't touch off the fireworks forever. They have only a certain distance left, since both are around 35.

Who are to be the showmen to take their places in sport? Bobby Jones has been a crowd pleaser for a long time, and at the age of 27 he still has a long way left. Max Schemling seems to be the main hope among the boxers, as he is the only one of the lot who is aggressive, with a punch to throw.

The younger crop will have to wave some magician's wand to equal a crop that produced Dempsey, Ruth, Hagen and Tilden for one generation. May be the younger crop can make good. But the odds are against any such development taking place.

Add similes—As sore as a duffer who allows for a big slice and suddenly gets a big hook.

The best way to take the punch out of any golf shot is to forget that after all the club head is the object that assaults the ball.

Cryder of Shreveport and William McGinley of Fort Worth. Cryder won the trophy offered for members while McGinley won the trophy for guests.

I. F. Sheldon of Wichita Falls turned in low gross score, 82, in the members' play.

Three D's Calf Roper Takes Louisiana Derby

NEW ORLEANS, March 22. (AP)—Calf Roper, three year old colt of the Three D's stock farm, Arlington, Texas, won the Louisiana derby with $15,000 added today at Jefferson park.

CAUTION has been thrown to the four winds by Jere Hayes. The sports editor of the Dallas Times Herald, who it was noted recently in this column had become conservative over chances of the Steers, finally succumbed to the balmy breezes of spring. In the current Sporting News is a piece written by Jere in which he tells the world that the Dallas club must be figured very much as pennant contenders.

Jere says that critics and fans who have scoffed at the idea of the Bovines being in the hunt for the old bunting "are now scratching their heads and admitting that the Steers look like a pretty nice bet in the coming Texas league derby." Well, mebbe so.

The Steers DO look very good, at that. But pennant contenders? That's something else again.

◆ ◆ ◆

TAKE the Dallas club. The catchers first. Jack Mealey, due to be returned by the White Sox, and Josh Billings, of the 1928 club, are, as my grandpap used to say, fair to middlin'.

Davis, the first baseman, was a good ball player in the Southern association. Ray Flaskamper is a corking good shortstop. Skipper Milt Stock, Hap Morse, Mill Huber and Irvin Jeffries are other infielders. Huber probably will capably take care of third base. One of the other three should complete a satisfactory infield.

Jim Moore from Kansas City, Pete Jones from Baylor, Ray Pierce, the reformed pitcher, and several rookies are among the outfielders. That may be a whizz of an outfield. But it's all conjecture.

There seems to be quality among the pitchers. Homer Blankenship, Martina, Barnabe, Schuman, Harris and Les Cox are the veteran chuckers.

◆ ◆ ◆

AMONG Texas league graduates of 1928 who are making impressive showings in big league camps this spring is Homer Peel, the outfielder from Houston now with the Phillies. Peel, says Jimmy Isaminger, veteran Philadelphia scribe with the Phils down south, is playing excellent ball and probably will be retained by Bert Shotton.

Watty Watkins, Buff outfielder, also is playing quite regularly with the St. Louis Cardinals, and doing a very good job of it.

◆ ◆ ◆

ED KALLINA, first baseman, and Joe Luciana, second baseman, former Spudders, and Guerra, the ex-Abilene catcher, helped Tampa of the Southeastern league hold the Washington Senators to a 6 to 5 score.

◆ ◆ ◆

THREE and possibly four Texas leaguers of last year will be retained by the Detroit Tigers. In addition to Heinine Schuble, who seems set as the regular shortstop and Nolen Richardson from Fort Worth, making a bid for the utility infield berth, as noted yesterday in this palladium of comment, Frank Barnes is bidding for a pitching berth and Ray Hayworth for retention as a catcher. Barnes and Schuble were purchased by the Tigers from Houston for $50,000. Hayworth went up from Shreveport.

◆ ◆ ◆

GEORGE DISTEL, former Spudder shortstop, has signed with Spartanburg of the Sally league. Red Snapp will manage the Sherman club of the Lone Star loop. Nick Carter has been named as manager of the Childress club in the new Red River Valley circuit. The third Waner in baseball, Travea, cousin of Paul and Lloyd, has signed with Des Moines of the Western league. Bill Hallahan, former Buff hurler now with the Cards, was pounded hard by the Phils in his first start this spring.

Moore to Scrap Here Wednesday

Dempse Meets Baxter Calmes in "Farewell"

His "farewell appearance." That's the billing of Dempse Moore, Wichita Falls light heavyweight boxer, who is a principal Wednesday night in the feature event of Alex Ross' boxing show at the Palace theater. Professor Ross explains that this will be Dempse's last ring appearance here before going East, where it is said on April 1 he will box under the management of Jack Kearns, pilot of Mickey Walker, middleweight champion and former director of the ring affairs of Jack Dempsey.

Anyhow, it seems that Dempse faces rather a strenuous session Wednesday. His adversary will be Baxter Calmes, an elder brother of Bobby Calmes, the starry featherweight from Duncan, Okla. Ross says Baxter, a former light heavyweight champ of the A. A. U., is the sort of battler to give Moore plenty of opposition.

Braves Send Al Moore Back to International

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22. (UP)—Al Moore, one of the leading hitters of the International league last year was released by the Boston Braves today to Buffalo. Moore failed to come up to expectations. His departure makes it necessary for the Braves to seek new outfield material as the club is palpably weak in the outer gardens.

Sixth Place Seems Destination of Lenas

(This is the third of a series of articles on the American league pennant race this season).

By BILL SLOCUM

DALLAS, March 22. (US)—In the White Sox who finished the 1928 season in fifth place and the Sox of 1929 one finds little difference. In fact the lineup for the coming season comes much closer to the last year model than usually happens in big league baseball. And yet it is not likely that Lena Blackburne's team will finish as high as it did last season. Sixth place seems to be a more likely spot for the Chicagoans.

The answer is that the Detroit Tigers, who trailed the Sox in 1928, are rated as their superiors in the drive ahead.

Last season the White Sox started under the management of Ray Schalk and finished with Blackburne at the helm. They stepped along with much more life and effectiveness after the change was made. In fact they were in the fight for a first division berth until the closing week of the campaign when the Senators went into Comiskey park and put the final crusher on the Chicago ambitions. When the race ended the Sox were three games behind the fourth place Senators and four games ahead of the sixth-place Tigers.

Sox Lack Punch

Defensively the White Sox rate much better in their league than they rated in games won and lost. Their main defect was lack of a scoring punch. In hitting and run-making they excelled only the Red Sox, who finished in last place. Of the several new players who joined the club late last season and who are now battling for recognition at the Texas training camp only one impressed as a hitter. That was Shires, the new first baseman.

Blackburne has a small squad in camp. He is so close to the player limit set for June that he will probably start the season with no more than 25 players.

Veteran pitchers, most of them with the club for years, are again being relied upon to carry the burden in the coming campaign. Ted Lyons and Al Thomas are among the most capable flingers in the major leagues today, and Adkins showed considerable skill last year as a 30-year-old rookie serving his first full season in the top set.

Ted Blankenship was good and bad in turns, and the 39-year-old Faber was still able to take an occasional turn and perform creditably. Ted had a better record than Adkins or Blankenship last season and was close behind Lyons and Thomas in victories. Young Ed Walsh is a brilliant prospect with inexperience as his chief handicap this time, and Sergeant Connally remains as relief pitcher. These boxmen, with three rookies, make up the pitching squad.

Catchers Capable

Moe Berg and Clyde Crouse, who did all the backstopping last year, are back again and Chick Autry recently was obtained from Cleveland in the Falk deal. Berg, who took up catching less than two seasons ago, came along fast last season and it will take high class catching to oust him. Berg and Crouse both hit around the .250 mark.

The infield arrangement probably will be Shires at first base, Hunnefield at second, Cissell at short and Kamm at third. If there is any break in this layout it will be at second. Johnny Kerr, a hard hitter from the Hollywood club of the coast league, is the leading candidate. Both Redfern and Swanson, who are still with the club, played the position at times last season, but their hitting leaves much to be desired.

Shires made a pronounced hit with his all-around play and aggressiveness in the closing weeks last season and has displaced Clancy, the southpaw who had previously replaced Earl Sheely, now with the Pirates. Cissell and Kamm are fixtures and the former should improve as a result of his experience last year.

In the outfield Metzler is the class, and a fixture for left field. Hoffman, a hard hitter from the coast league, is battling Mostil for the center field berth. Reynolds is first choice for right field and he showed real skill as a hitter last season. Bill Barrett appears to have lost out as a regular and Bib Falk has gone after 10 seasons with the club. Three Texas leaguers—Moore, Blackerby and Watwood—are also battling for places.

Sixth place seems to be as much as the Sox can get.

DECATUR, Ill., March 22. (US)—Women will be admitted to Three-I league games this year for five cents, one nickel, according to a uniform league rule which was announced today. RAY GARDNER PLAYS

NEW ORLEANS, March 22. (UP)—The Cleveland Indians regulars defeated the scrubs, 11 to 3, in a five-inning practice game here today. Ray Gardner, recruit shortstop, who has been nursing a sore arm, went in as a pinch hitter for the yannigans and scored two runs with a triple.

PEORIA GETS RED KIDS

ORLANDO, Fla., March 22. (UP)—The Cincinnati Reds confined their training to one long workout today. ROUSH WITH YANNIGANS

SAN ANTONIO, March 22. (UP)—Manager McGraw ran the New York Giants through two brisk workouts here today, but omitted the practice game because of the soggy condition of the diamond. M'LARNIN WINS EASY DECISION

Jimmy Outfights Miller In Slow 10-Round Bout

By JOSEPH S. ROGERS

NEW YORK, March 22. (US)—Jimmy McLarnin, baby-faced Californian, won an easy ten-round decision over Ray Miller of Chicago tonight.

Miller, who knocked out McLarnin when they met the last time in Detroit, stalled through most of the rounds at the Madison Square garden tonight with the result that it was a poor scrap.

McLarnin was anxious to swap blows with Miller, but the latter insisted on clinching at every opportunity and made a very poor showing.

Miller's defeat makes the forthcoming bout between Sammy Mandell and Miller for the alleged lightweight championship look like a dud.

It looked as though Miller were afraid of Jimmy and only on very few occasions did Ray uncork his right which has caused so much terror in previous bouts.

McLarnin took the first three rounds by a wide margin. Miller opened up in the fourth and battered McLarnin all over the ring, but outside of this round, Miller made a very poor showing. Ray was warned five times for hitting low, but Jimmy never made a complaint.

McLarnin used his hard right whenever Miller gave him the opportunity. The willingness of Jimmy to mix it makes him a card to meet Joe Dundee for the welterweight title. Jimmy weighed 138¾ for tonight's fight while Miller was down to 133½. This advantage for McLarnin of 5¼ pounds Jimmy used to advantage.

Needed Drink Bad

AKRON, Ohio.—Grover Cleveland Johnson didn't care whether his drink was good or not—he needed one bad. So he went around draining anti-freeze mixtures from radiators of automobiles until he had about 15 gallons of the fluid. Then he got drunk and fell into the clutches of the law. Marshals made it so hard to get a drink, he said, that he had to tap radiators.

OLD GOLD CIGARETTES WIN FIRST IN TESTS AT YALE

In the recent cigarette test made at the University, OLD GOLDS were chosen by the students as the best. The cigarettes were masked by black labels so that the names of the brands were concealed. Each label was numbered. This was judged to be the most sporting way of testing the merits of the four leading brands. Some 208 Yale students were asked to smoke the four disguised brands without knowing their identity.

They were merely to choose, by number, the one that was most appealing to the taste.

The NEWS supervised the test on January 18 at various fraternity houses and in the NEWS office.

When the votes were recorded it was discovered that OLD GOLD (Cigarette No. 3) had won. Old Gold was given 63 first choices, which was 11 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 2, 34 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 1, and 53 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 4.

Health and Success Possible After Forty

Victor Hugo, who wrote some of his most important works after the age of 50, said: "Forty is the old age of youth; 50 is the youth of age." He also wrote the following lines:

"To rise at six and dine at ten,
Supper at six and to bed at ten,
Will make a man live ten times ten."

Cornaro, the famous Italian, who became ill at the age of 40 and was given up to die at 42, learned to live correctly after this age and not only recovered his health but was able to write a book upon how to live a hundred years which was published on his hundredth birthday.

There are many instances of eminent men who were considered failures both physically and financially at the age of 40 and yet who, through applying good rules of living, were able to become successful and famous after this age.

The middle life should really be an enjoyable period, for one has the experience of maturity and should have by this time overcome most of the petty problems of youth. This is sometimes called the dangerous age but it need not be so. Naturally, one has to be a little more careful than in youth because one does not have as great a reserve of vitality. The tendencies which must be guarded against are: Gaining weight, poor circulation and degenerative diseases, such as diabetes, Bright's disease, cancer and hardening of the arteries.

Middle aged people should make special efforts to avoid the poisons which accumulate from sluggish eliminative organs. A sluggish circulation is undoubtedly responsible for some of the changes of the ductless glands that are responsible for the gradual decline often seen after 40. These glands of internal secretion either become filled with toxic wastes or become hardened and fibrous and lose their power to secrete the necessary fluids which the normal metabolistic functions demand for their proper performance.

The one who becomes either fat or thin and wrinkled after 40 is the one who is having harmful changes taking place in the ductless glands. In the case of the thyroid, this gland becomes sluggish and no longer secretes its normal amount of thyroxin, which has an influence upon maintaining the normal body weight and appearance. This general condition of sluggishness can be overcome to a great extent by the cultivation of some interesting outdoor hobby or sport, such as golfing, fishing and yachting. I recall the case of a friend of mine who appeared about 20 years younger than when I had seen him about two years previously. Upon my asking the reason, he said that he had become very interested in yachting and had entered almost every race. This shows how a new interest and activity will often stimulate youth and vigor.

Here is my condensed formula for healthful living after 40. Sleep soundly on a comfortable bed, avoid worry, seek new interests in life, exercise moderately each day, eat less of the rich, heavy foods and more of the eliminative fruits and vegetables.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Massage Instrument

Question: Mrs. J. S. writes: "Recently I saw a small instrument that massages the body by hand and it looked very good to me. Wherever it is rubbed over the body it makes the skin very red, and that is said to be good for the circulation."

Answer: Such massage instruments are helpful in the hands of a skilled technician but seldom of much value to the layman, as he does not know how or where to use the instrument to accomplish systemic results. Where it seems necessary to stimulate the circulation to the skin of any part, such as the face, vibration accompanied by massage and hot and cold applications is helpful in bringing about a better circulation through the skin and face muscles.

Bran

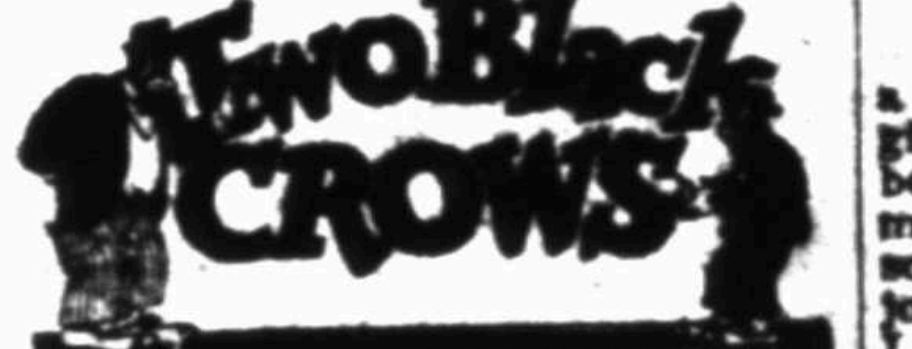
Question: A. A. writes: "Am engaged at a sedentary occupation and eat considerable bran for regularity of bowel movement. Kindly state if this food can cause irritation of stomach or intestines."

Answer: The continued use of bran may cause small cuts in the intestines and I do not advise its use where there is any intestinal inflammation. You should use plenty of green bulky vegetables in your diet and take calisthenic exercises each day.

Unjointed Hip

Question: R. S. W. writes: "I had a stroke of paralysis and my hip gives way; it seems as though a bone is out of place. I just can make it around with the aid of someone. It seems like I am unjointed in that hip. Do you think I will ever walk?"

Answer: You should have a diagnosis through the use of the X-ray as in this way you can find out exactly whether the bones are out of place or if only the muscles are weak.



MORAN AND MACK

MORAN: Don't yo' want to go to Mexico an' fight?

MACK: Who with?

MORAN: Th' Mexicans.

MACK: I don't know none.

MORAN: I'll introduce yo'.

MACK: Can't fight with 'em then.

MORAN: Why not?

MACK: Then they will be my friends.

MORAN: Well, this is just a friendly Mexican war.

MACK: What with?

MORAN: Muskets an' guns.

MACK: Yo' is th' kind of a man what would toss a guy down a well an' say it was a lovin' cup.

MORAN: I think yo' is a coward.

MACK: I coulda told yo' that in 1918.

Big Boy never has heard of a friendly war with guns. However, Egghead is determined to run an excursion train to the Mexican war. Women and children, half fare.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 22. (AP)—Opening advances on unfavorable weather reports and relatively firm Liverpool cables were followed by declines in cotton today under renewed realizing or liquidation, which appeared to be promoted by reports of an unsettled tone in the stock market, apprehensions of an advance in rediscount rates and weakness in grain. May contracts sold off from 21.15 to 20.77 and closed at 20.81. The general market closed steady at net declines of 18 to 30 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 4 points. Active months showed net advances of 10 to 16 points in the early trading on firmness of the English market, reports that spinners of American cotton in Lancashire had voted down the short time proposal, and unfavorable weather advices from the South.

The advance was checked by realizing and near month liquidation. March notices were reported representing several thousand bales. March eased off to 21.04 during the morning, or about 5 points net lower. Trading in that position ended at Midday, the last sale reported being at 21.12.

The general market, which had been rather unsettled by the near-month weakness, stiffened up a few points during the middle of the day. The bulge met increased selling, accompanied by rumors of an official statement regarding coming crop prospects, which were denied. The early afternoon break was followed by moderate rallies.

Prices weakened again in the later trading under renewed liquidation. The lowest levels of the day were reached shortly before the close, when May sold at 20.77 and the new October contract at 20.12, or about 20 to 30 points below yesterday's close.

Part of the selling was attributed to a feeling that present prices would have a tendency to encourage increased planting, providing weather conditions were favorable during April and May. The decline brought in sufficient trade buying and covering to steady prices, but closing quotations were within 2 or 4 points of the lowest.

Private cables reported covering and general buying in Liverpool on the southern rain news. Exports for the day, 21,878 bales, making 6,718,207 this season. Port receipts 17,818. United States port stocks, 1,783,507.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 22. (AP)—Issuance of large notices for delivery of March cotton in New York and a report, later denied, that the department of agriculture predicted that the next crop would be much larger than last year's caused a slump of approximately $2 a bale from an early advance in the cotton market today. July declined from 20.52 to 20.11 and closed at 20.14, or 23 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 21 to 23 points.

Firmer Liverpool cables and continued bad weather in the belt were reflected in an opening gain of 10 to 11 points here. Prices continued to advance for a time after the start, May selling up to 20.47, July 20.52 and October 20.36, or 14 to 15 points above yesterday's close.

The higher prices attracted realizing, which was augmented later by extensive liquidation and short selling promoted by the large notices in New York and the report of the agricultural department's prediction. Prices eased off rapidly under the flood of offerings and before the decline was checked active positions showed a loss of practically $2 a bale compared with the early highs.

A denial that the department issued any statement relative to the crop brought out some trade buying which was supplied at a rally of 7 to 10 points. The market weakened again in final trading, making new lows for the day, with May at 20.07, July 20.11 and October 19.98, or 38 to 41 points under the highs. Final prices were 3 points above the lowest. The March delivery went out at noon at 19.98, 17 points net down.

Wichitans Learn Facts on Seminole

But City's Traffic Roar Interrupts Account

Oil scouts, lease men, writers and others have told and re-told the story of Seminole, "the world's greatest oil field," but it remained for Roy C. Griffin, civic impresario and secretary of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce, to bring the story home to a group of doubting Wichitans Friday.

Griffin, a former West Texan and more recently a radio announcer in the Sooner state, declared he "had the figures" when he astonished some North Texas oil men with the following word-picture of Seminole:

"Seminole, meaning 'runaway,' has produced 260 million barrels of oil. That much oil would fill a lake five feet deep, two miles long and a half mile wide. Sixteen battleships could be placed on that lake and all the people in Seminole county could reside on the ships."

He said there are more than 60,000 people in the county, whereas in 1926 the city of Seminole had a population of 800.

"Or," continued the chamber of commerce executive, "Seminole's total production would fill a tank car train reaching from the Statue of Liberty, west to Chicago, thence to Den—"

Griffin's voice was drowned out by the roar of Wichita Falls traffic liberated by a changing signal. He departed shortly afterward for Oklahoma.

Calling of Loans in Chicago Disturbs New York Stock Market

BY BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 22. (US)—Disturbing advices from Chicago put the stock market lower, today. Quite heavy liquidation was experienced while the reserve bank of Chicago directors were in meeting but a rally took place toward the close that made up a part of mid-day losses.

Calling of loans in the mid-western capital was the first "bad news" received and as a subsequent break in stock prices occurred there, increasing offerings put active shares on the big board lower.

Steel lost over 3 points for the day, while Nickel dropped over 4, Anaconda over 2 and others from 1 to 4 points. Case Threshing declined 30 points on a few sales. Rails and oils turned irregular with the rest of the list, but remained quiet throughout. Call money held at 9 per cent with some out-of-town withdrawales reported. Turnover reached the 4,800,000 share level.

The money "racketeers" used Chicago to take the stock market for a "ride." Reserve board activties were centered there. As the directors of th. Chicago Reserve bank met, member banks were forced to call loans. Broakerage advices told of loans being called on some firm for the first time in more than a score of years. The resulting crash in stock prices out there quickly precipitated heavy liquidation here as it was feared that there would be an advance in the Chicago rediscount rate that would be followed by increase in our rate next Thursday. The statement from the meeting of "no announcement" was taken as meaning there was no change in the rate.

The rally that resulted was half hearted. While failure to change the Chicago rate strengthened the belief that the reserve fears to take drastic steps to curb stock speculation, it was realized that it is but a matter of time before it will be forced to do so.

Money developments and reserve activities overshadowed the increase in copper to 24 cents. This jump means further upward revision of estimates as to earnings of leading companies and enhances the likelihood of extra dividends from practically all producing organizations.

There is increasing interest in the new Phelps Dodge shares. Known as the "aristocrat of the coppers," Phelps Dodge has been an investment medium for many years for those most familiar with copper affairs and now that public market has been established, its stock is expected to take a leading place. It is to be expected that the shares will be listed on the big board before long.

However, individual stock developments play no part in the market when such happenings as took place in Chicago influence a selling wave. Apparently it is the desire of the reserve board officials to arouse as much nervousness among security holders as possible. Otherwise rediscount rates would have been advanced long since and by this time the credit structure of the stock market would be corrected and warranted upward move in the general list underway.

No one group was immune during the height of the liquidating wave around noon. The best support in the industrial list was evidenced in General Motors, American Can and Steel, but there appeared no inclination to fight the selling as accumulating orders were all put in on a scale down.

Quiet strength at the opening was a further reflection of the belief of traders that the reserve board was licked. It came in the face of increase in loans of $166,000,000 to a new high record. That a record high was established a month after the reserve "warning" was sufficient to cause far sighted traders deep thought. Until the wires from Chicago became flooded with unsettling news, the market indicated that aggressive pool work would be resumed in many issues during the day. Most of the groups interested in recently active stocks have liquidated a good part of holdings and take advantage of every period of strength to pass on more stock.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 22. (AP)—Steady values with some classes showing a little strength featured the trade in cattle here today. The supply was light and consisted mostly of slaughter yearlings and mixed loads of she stuff. Approximately 350 of the hog receipts on direct billing to local packers and about 1,200 of the sheep receipts billed through.

Steer sales limited to about two car loads of lightweight cattle tnat sold at $12, or fully steady.

No bulls of any consequence changed hands, but the odd head that cleared considered steady, with the better heavy ones around $8 and the common light ones around $6.50.

Slaughter yearlings active at strong prices with the week's advance. About five carloads sold at $13, packages selling up to $13.50.

The supply of cows was very light and consisted mostly of mixed lots. Packages of the best heavy cows cleared at $9 and butchers around $7. Very few canners included in the day's trade and most of them sold at $5.25 to $5.50, cutters at $5.50 to $6.

Stocker and order buyers took calves at fully steady prices. A four-carload lot sold at $10.35, the lot being calves of the rather common order. Good stocker yearlings sold at $13.25, and fair ones at $12. A few of the better heavy calves sold up to $12.50 and culls around $8.

Hogs strong to 15c higher, with rail top for one load at $11.10 and the best truck butchers at $10.40, bulk 175-2501pound butchers at $10 to $11; packing sows, $8.25 to $9.50; feeder pigs, $7.50 to $8.25.

Very few sheep offered on the open market. One deck shorn fat lambs sold during the morning trading at $14, or steady.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 22. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Opening hog trade around the 11-market circuit was fairly active to shippers at steady to 15c higher prices, but at several points the close to packers was slow at values weak to 25c lower than Thursday average. The day's extreme top of $12.10 was realized at Chicago. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 85,300, an increase of 30,000 over a week ago, but 14,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

Fed lambs found a moderately active outlet at steady to 25c higher figures, but Arizona spring lambs at Kansas City cashed at generally 50c lower rates. Aged stock ruled fully steady, the supply at most markets insufficient to accurately gauge prices. Fed wooled lambs in Chicago reached $17.50, while at Kansas City four double decks of Arizona springers averaging 78 to 81 pounds turned at $19.50@19.75. Total offerings were around 42,600, against 37,924 last Friday and 43,018 a year ago.

The supply of cattle approximated 11,500, a slight increase over a week ago and 2,000 more than a year ago. Trade was the usual Friday clean-up with no material price changes registered. Some weakness developed in the in-between grades of light yearlings which have been selling at relatively high prices. Demand at eastern dressed beef markets was slow with some price concessions being made. More liberal supplies the forthcoming week would result in price declines on most killing classes. Light weight steers and yearlings occupying an especially top-heavy position. Stocker and feeder classes were on a firm basis with prospects of a broad week-end clearance.

CHICAGO REVIEW

CHICAGO, March 22. (AP)—Persistent selling out on the part of the holders of future deliveries of wheat brought about an all-around tumble in grain values today. Most of the crop news was favorable, and talk was current that taken as a whole the present outlook for domestic winter wheat was really better than the average. It also was being contended that friends of higher prices for wheat already had discounted in advance the immediate market advantages expected to result from farm relief enactments.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 2¼c to 3⅛c net lower. Corn finished 1⅛c to 1⅝c down, oats unchanged to 1c off, and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 2c.

Final transactions in the wheat pit were at virtually the day's bottom level. From the outset, buying support for the market was poor, and came chiefly from previous speculative sellers who were in a position to collect profits.

Emphasizing the effect of bearish crop reports too were big primary receipts of domestic wheat, 1,015,000 bushels today against 772,000 bushels a year ago. In Kansas City alone, arrivals of wheat today were 183 cars, compared with 41 cars on the corresponding day last year.

For a while the corn market displayed considerable strength, but weakness of wheat led to general selling later and to pronounced declines. Shipping demand for corn here, however, was fairly active, and the cash trading basis was ½c to 1c higher, compared with May. Oats gave way with other grain, and September oats sold at a new low-price record for the crop.

Provisions, although firm early, were later pulled down by warehouse selling.

NEW CLUE ON VAN PHILLIPS

Benjamin Man's Son May Yet Be Located

Special to The Record News

BENJAMIN, Texas, March 22.—The first definite clue to the whereabouts of Van Phillips, prominent American rancher who disappeared from his ranch just across the New Mexico border last Jan. 5, has been unearthed by Clay Phillips, brother of the missing man, who is in the revolution-infested state of Chihuahua, Mexico, conducting the search, according to word received here today by D. A. Phillips, father of both of the men.

The report to Mr. Phillips here said the horse, saddle, bridle and boots which formed part of Phillips' equipment the day he mysteriously disappeared have been located at a ranch across the border from Deming, N. M., and that the bill of sale on the horse which the present owner furnished was signed by two Mexicans who are suspected in the alleged abduction.

Two Mexicans, it was said, were seen in the vicinity of the Carretas ranch, Phillips' property, a few days after Phillips disappeared. They were trailed by a posse led by Clay Phillips for several miles, but soon all trace of the party was lost. A hoof mark of Van Phillips' horse was clearly identified in the tracks left by the horses in the possession of the Mexicans, it was said.

The most recent clew has bolstered hope for the ultimate capture of the abductors, if not the slayers, of the missing American, according to the message received here.

Fiesta Sunday For Jewish Children

In celebration of the annual Purim festival, the Jewish Feast of Lots, the children of the Temple Israel Sabbath school will be entertained in the assembly room of the temple at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

Mrs. Sam Quicksilver, Mrs. Nathan Persky, Mrs. J. W. Ginsberg, Mrs. A. Marshal' Mrs. Paul Green and Miss Sadie Shain, teachers, will have charge of the program for the evening.

The children's observation forms a preliminary part of the annual celebration, which opens on Monday evening, March 25, with the reading of the Book of Esther, the book which recounts the events upon which the racial holiday is based.

The Purim is in commemoration of the deliverance of the Persian Jews from the hands of Haman, and carries great significance in the history of the Jewish race. The 14th day of the Hebrew month of Adar has been established as a day of "feasting and joy, of sending portions to one another, and gifts to the poor," as a token of the "triumph of the Jewish people over blind anti-Semitism."

Wichita's Home Talent Endows "Drama of Life" With Success

By FRIEDA van EMDEN
Written for The Record News

A large audience enjoyed Miss Genevieve Gilbert's allegorical pageant, "The Drama of Life," which was given under the auspices of the Lions club at the Memorial auditorium last night.

A tremendous lot of work and careful preparation went into this production and as so many took part in it, it would be like copying the program to enumerate the various numbers that pleased the eye.

Miss Gilbert was indeed lucky to come to a town where musical, dramatic and terpsichorean talent is as abundant as in Wichita Falls, for with the talent of the amateurs, a vehicle like "The Drama of Life" stands or falls.

The casting director could not have found a better prolocutor than Miss Marguerite Fisher, for instance.

Several of the dancers showed unusually good training, like Rose Marion Art, Charlotte Sutton, Betsy Ross, Winnie Miller, Virginia Hampson and scores of others. From the smallest child dancer up, every one gave their best work.

The settings were beautiful and impressive, the costumes colorful.

Outstanding scenes were the Puritans and the pantomine in the Garden of Shay.

Taylor Cash's Indian war dancers were, as always, a most impressive feature.

Dr. Parnell's mixed chorus sounded very well indeed, as did the Wichita Falls Choral club in their Russian numbers. Wichita Falls can surely be proud of its Maskat Shrine band, as well as of its Lions band. The brasses in the Maskat band are admirable.

A word of thanks should be expressed to the musicians back stage, under the direction of Mrs. Maurice J. Adams. Theirs was a herculean task, as they played for every dance or vocal number, the brunt of the performance rested on them.

This pageant was indeed a big and colorful ensemble, more than 300 names were mentioned on the program and as it went off without a hitch, the producers should feel very happy over the successful evening.

Bus Owners and Operators And State Officials Attend Banquet Here

Better Service for Public Discussed at Meeting; Rail Commission Holds Hearing on Sales

Approximately 50 owners and operators of bus lines in this section of Texas and Southern Oklahoma attended a banquet given by the Texas Bus Owners' association at the Kemp hotel Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

The meeting was one of a series being called in about 10 different districts of Texas for the discussion of organization problems common to all carriers, according to Guy Shields, president of the association, who acted as toastmaster. Emphasis is being placed, he said, upon the necessity of closer co-operation between various service lines for the better accommodation of the traveling public. Better articulation of schedules and observance of rules designed to afford the maximum protection to passengers were named as foremost objectives of the association.

C. V. Terrell, a member of the state railroad commission and Mark Marshall, superintendent of that body's motor bus division, were the principal speakers introduced. Mr. Terrell discussed the development of the bus line industry from the old horse-drawn hack service and the later jitney-drivers' transportation. Approximately 1,000 buses are now under the control of the railroad commission of this state, he said, and in the past two years more than 10,000,000 passengers have been carried by those lines without a death or serious bodily injury to a patron. "I know of no business of any kind which can show a record of such phenomenal growth in a like period of time," declared Mr. Terrell. He praised the courtesy and carefulness of operators as having contributed materially to the rapid expansion of the industry.

Mr. Marshall spoke particularly of rules and regulations which bus drivers are required to observe. Chief among those discussed by the speaker were that forbidding use of intoxicants, required stops at all railroad crossings, no smoking by drivers, no talking with passengers while the bus is moving, and proper distribution of the load.

J. C. Duval of Fort Worth, a member of the 41st legislature, complimented the administration of Mr. Marshall, stating that dealings with both the public and operators of bus lines have been eminently fair. The bus companies are paying more state tax per dollar of valuation than the railroads, the speaker stated. Mayor J. W. Akin spoke briefly on the importance of adequate transportation facilities to the building of a state.

A. C. Carrington, secretary-manager of the Texas Bus Owners' association, announced that the annual convention of the organization will be held in Dallas on April 15 and 16.

SALE OF LINES PLACED BEFORE COMMISSION

Hearings on two applications for sale and transfer of bus lines in this district were held Friday afternoon at the Kemp hotel before Mark Marshall of Austin, supervisor of the motor bus division of the state railroad commission.

The first application reviewed by Mr. Marshall was that involving the proposed purchase by the Wichita Falls Bus company of the Vernon-Amarillo bus line owned by C. C. Wells. The Wells line has been operating two cars daily each way between the two terminal cities. During the recording of data on the transaction, T. C. Wynne, president and manager of the local company, stated that should the deal be consummated by approval of the railroad commission, the use of heavy, up-to-date buses will be extended westward from Vernon as rapidly as the improvement of highways permits. It was suggested also that a closer schedule will be arranged to provide quicker through-trips to and from Amarillo by bus.

The second application asked permission for the sale by C. H. Bourland of Altus, Okla., to Goode and Roberts of Ardmore, Okla., of that portion of the Vernon-Frederick bus line lying on the Texas side of the Red river. The Goode and Roberts line extends from Ardmore to Frederick, and the proposed purchase of the Bourland line is to provide an extension into the Texas terminal. Both transactions given to Mr. Marshall for presentation to the state railroad commission were said to await only the state's approval for final completion.

During his remarks to the 40 or more owners and drivers present, Mr. Marshall expressed the opinion that the state authorities will very soon adopt a rule forbidding female passengers to ride on seat in the driver's compartment.

"You Can't Dictate Terms to God"—Crimm

Until you are willing to do God's will you will be eternally lost, Rev. B. B. Crimm, cowboy evangelist conducting the revival at Twenty-second and Yale, said Friday night when he preached on "What Can I Do to Be Saved?"

"Between any lost soul and God there is a contested point and before that soul can be saved it must surrender that contested point," Crimm declared. "God doesn't want an armistice. He wants a complete surrender.

"You can't dictate terms to God, for when you come to Him you must come with an unconditional surrender.

"Man's soul is the masterpiece of creation—it is God's masterpiece."

Rev. Ben Bell, pastor of the Sibley-Taylor Methodist church, led the congregation in prayer.

Four Million Turkeys, "Our National Fowl," were consumed in the United States last year.
Four Million, Five Hundred Thousand Automobiles, of the total production, were consumed by individual purchasers last year in the United States.
Knowing the value as we do, of "Turkeys for Food," and Dodge Brothers Cars for transportation, we are surprised that more Turkeys were not consumed and that at least Four Million of these automobiles were not Dodge Brothers cars.
