HALE-RAMSEY MURDER CASE GOES TO JURY

Gilliland Wins Fight For Title To Marine Lease

$1,000,000 Property in Burk Field Ordered Returned.

A judgment ordering the return to the Gilliland Oil company of the Marine lease, one of the most noted in the Burkburnett field, has been ordered by United States District Judge James C. Wilson of Fort Worth in the case of receivers of the Gilliland Oil company vs. the McMan Oil and Gas company.

Announcement to this effect was received here Friday by T. R. Boone, attorney for the Gilliland interests.

The case, involving a property for which $1,000,000 was paid when the boom was waning in 1921 and which involves a recovery of approximately $2,000,000, was one of the most important pieces of oil litigation recorded in the north Texas fields.

Sale Made in 1921.

The suit grew out of a sale made by the Gilliland Oil company in 1921 to the McMan Oil and Gas company of Tulsa, Okla., of the holding of the Gilliland Oil company in Texas. These consisted of 198 acres of land, lying just west of the townsite of Burkburnett. At that time, these properties consisted of 60 odd producing oil wells, together with a large casinghead gas plant, with contracts for casinghead gas in the northwest pool. The property was known as the Marine lease and was credited as one of the best in north Texas. The Gilliland Oil company at this time was financially embarrassed and the McMan Oil and Gas company paid a flat price of $1,000,000.

In 1922, P. J. Hurley and John J. Satterthwait, receivers for the Gilliland Oil company, appointed by the United States district court, brought suit in the United States district court for the northern district of Texas to recover the properties from the McMan Oil and Gas company. Suit was filed in the fall of 1922. The case was tried before C. G. Whitten of Abilene, special master in chancery, appointed by the United States district court, and the trial of the case lasted until the fall of 1923. In the spring of 1924, the master made his findings in the case, that a judgment be rendered in favor of the receivers of the Gilliland Oil company for the return of the property, monies and proceeds from the property. This aggregated a recovery of approximately $2,000,000.

Supports The Master.

The telegram from Judge Wilson to Mr. Boone advises that his decision in the case is to enter decree recommended by the master and instructing that a decree to be prepared.

The receivers of the Gilliland Oil company were represented in this case by T. R. Boone and Leslie Humphrey, of the firm of Bullington, Boone, Humphrey & King, of this city; Robert H. Richards, of Wilmington, Del.; Etheridge, McCormick & Brombert of allas; and Atkinson, Rombauer & Hill of St. Louis. The defendant was represented by the firm of Carrigan, Montgomery, Britain, Morgan & King of this city; John Rogers of Tulsa, Okla.; H. H. Rogers of San Antonio and A. B. Flanary of Dallas.

BONDS GIVES UP FOLLOWING LONG FLIGHT

Taken in Custody at Gatesville After Fleeing Temple

SHOT POLITICAL FOE

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Albert Bonds of Bell county surrendered late Friday to Coryell county officers at Gatesville, in connection with the fatal shooting of City Marshall Wiley Fisher of Temple, according to unconfirmed reports received by Williamson county officials at Georgetown and given by them to the Austin American Friday night. The officers stated the reports had not been verified.

Both Travis county and Williamson county officers were watching for Bonds Friday afternoon, following the report that he had left Belton coming in the direction of Austin.

FISHER KILLED ON STREETS OF BELTON

BELTON, Tex., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Police Chief Wiley Fisher of Temple was shot and killed shortly before noon here Friday as he stood beside his wife and three small children of Mrs. George Burtchell, who was killed in an automobile accident near here Wednesday night.

A complaint charging murder was filed against Former Sheriff Albert Bonds by District Attorney Few Brewster immediately after the shooting. Bonds fled in an automobile heavily armed and Sheriff John R. Bigham this afternoon posted a reward of $100 for his arrest. Bigham said that Bonds might try to go to some other county to surrender, but he had not been heard from at 2 o'clock. The shooting occurred at 10:20 in front of the Eads Undertaking company parlors, where the body of Mrs. Burtchell was held.

Political Differences.

The shooting was the result of political differences of long years standing. Fisher having actively opposed Bonds, in the latter's three campaigns for sheriff. As the result of a circular letter signed by Fisher and distributed during the recent campaign Bonds filed a criminal libel complaint against Fisher.

Witnesses said that when Fisher saw Bonds approaching, Fisher was standing beside his wife at the curb and had one foot on the running board of his car, preparing to get in already having assisted the three children of Mrs. Burtchell into the car. When he saw what was about to happen, he cried to his wife in a loud voice, "Look out," and gave her a violent shove just as the first shot was fired, it was declared. The assailant then hurried away in his car and attendants at a garage where he stopped to buy gasoline said that Bonds told them, "I have just bumped Wiley Fisher off." District Attorney Brewster declared.

Editors Cut Up With Gusto As Dinner Appears

The 1926 convention of the Northwest Texas Press association got off to a late start here Friday, but it made up for the initial delay by carrying out one of the best programs it has ever known. From the short business session at 1:30, the editors witnessed the Spudders take the league leading San Antonio Bears to a crushing defeat at Spudder park, and in the evening, with a number of local people, enjoyed a regular old time banquet with lots of fun and banter and some clever performances, which was aptly described by one of the speakers as "a typical Wichita Falls banquet."

A business session had been scheduled for the morning, but late arrival of some of the principal speakers and participants necessitated the postponement of the session until afternoon.

At 12 o'clock the editors were the guests of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce at luncheon and were heartily welcomed to the city and invited to make themselves at home and "ask for what they wanted."

The afternoon business session opened with President E. L. Covey of the Advocate at Goree, in the chair. Mayor R. E. Shepherd made a formal address of welcome, and was responded to by George L. Inglish of the Stamford Leader.

The president made his annual address and announcement of committ-

MISS WICK NOT INJURED

Message Received Friday By Parents Announces She Is Unhurt

Nell Wick, Wichita Falls girl who was a passenger on the ill-fated plane which crashed last Wednesday near Folkstone, England, killing two persons and injuring several others, was not hurt in the fall, according to a cablegram received here late Friday afternoon by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wick, 1508 Thirteenth street.

A brief message reaching this city from the central offices of the company operating the plane stated "Nell Wick unhurt in crash." This contradicted Associated Press dispatches which listed Miss Wick as among the injured; but it is accepted by Mr. and Mrs Wick as authentic. The parents believe that Miss Wick sailed Saturday on the Berengaria for New York, her original schedule having called for this. She will be back in Wichita Falls within the next two weeks.

Miss Wick, who had spent several months touring Europe and studying in Paris, was on her way from the French capital to London when the passenger plane was forced down by engine trouble and demolished.

Mr. and Mrs. Wick sent numerous cablegrams to various London points Thursday and Friday in an effort to get news of their daughter, but not until late Friday afternoon did they succeed in getting any definite information.

Roosevelt Estimates $40,000,000 Is Cost Each Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Theodore Roosevelt estimates that election expenses in the United States amount to $40,000,000 in a presidential year, and is convinced that the convention system has been proved superior to the primary system in nominating candidates.

As things stand, a poor man has no chance whatsoever in the primaries, he said.

LINK POLICE WITH CRIME

Canton Detective Said to Have Aided With Bootleggers

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Investigators into the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News, slain five week ago tonight, declared tonight that new evidence, sufficient not only to connect a Canton detective with bootlegging activities, but possibly to link him with the murder, has been obtained.

They said an arrest might be expected soon, but did not indicate upon which charge it would be based.

Investigators declared today they had ample evidence to break down the statement of Floyd Streitenberger, detective on the Canton city police force, concerning the whereabouts of Louis Mazer, charged with the murder the night of the Mellett slaying. Streitenberger was to have been sought for questioning this afternoon, but was found to have left the city. It was at first feared he had fled, but a check up showed he had gone to another city to bring a prisoner to this city.

RALEY LOOKS TO TREASURY CHAIR IN '28

Wichita County Collector May Be Candidate For State Office

HIS SERVICES ASKED

Guy C. Raley, nominated and in effect elected for the third time to the post of Wichita county tax collector on July 24, last, may be a candidate for the high office of state treasurer in 1928, he indicated Friday.

While stating that it was still a year and a half before it would be necessary to announce his intentions definitely, assurance that the matter is being given serious consideration was seen in his brief statement, "I may run."

He said Friday he had received requests from friends that he make the race, and had been given indication that strategic points in west Texas and the cities of Fort Worth and Dallas might be favorable to his candidacy. "It is a long way off yet," he declared, "and lots of things can happen."

For Four Years.

Mr. Raley has served Wichita county as tax collector for the past four years, having been a business man of the city prior to that time. His election as the democratic nominee for that post again last month is virtual election in November, which will mean, in its turn, that at election time in 1928 Mr. Raley will have had almost six years as tax collector of this county.

During his tenure of office here he has made himself one of the most popular tax collectors in the state, and is at present president of the Texas State Tax Collectors Association. He will leave Wichita Falls Friday of next week for Corpus Christi to preside at the annual convention of the organization which meets there September 1, 2, and 3. Returning, he stated Friday, he will probably attend the state democratic convention at San Antonio on September 7.

Continual Praise

Mr. Raley has received continual commendation from the state comptroller's department on the manner in which the business of the office here has been handled, and in last month's primary election he received a good-sized majority over two opponents, being the only Wichita county candidate for whom there was more than one opponent to end his race without a runoff.

Thomas of Dallas, who returned from Colorado to enter the campaign, stressed the importance of every democrat in Texas, what ever his views, voting in the run-off primary.

"It would be well," said Mr. Thomas "for every man and woman in Texas to recall the long and toilsome struggle of the race for the right of suffrage. Everybody condemns a slacker in war. The government suffers much from the slacker in time of peace—from the bad citizenship of good women and splendid men.

One Near Death While Second Is Behind Bars in Pueblo

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 20.—(AP) The efforts of a youth of 21 and his little brother, 14, to emulate western "bad men" of a by-gone day, ended at noon with Leslie Gonce, the younger of the pair, lying in a hospital at the point of death, while his older brother, Forrest, was in the county jail, waiting to be taken to the penitentiary to serve 20 to 30 years for robbery.

Leslie was shot by Deputy Sheriff Charles Fiscus when he refused to surrender, and according to the officer, attempted to draw a revolver. The child sought by posses for a week, was located in the business district here just before noon. A special deputy sheriff and a deputy federal prohibition agent talked with him, endeavoring to persuade him to surrender. The boy refused to do so.

Officers from the sheriff's office arrived and Fiscus demanded that Leslie surrender. Instead of complying, the boy reached into his open shirt for a revolver, Fiscus said. Before he could fire the deputy sheriff shot three times, the bullets striking the lad in the chest and neck.

Fire Prevention Week Set By Governor In Proclamation Friday

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The week of October 3-9, was designated fire prevention week by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson today.

She pointed out in her proclomation that in 1925 fire exacted a toll of 284 lives and more than $20,000,000 in properaty.

Her proclamation:

"Year by year the destruction of property by fire in America has been mounting until the total annual loss is now more than $500,000,000. This means a waste each doy of an average of $1,370,000 of resources which we can ill afford to lose.

"But far worse than the destruction of valuable property is the toll of human life though fire. The average number of persons burned to death each day in the United States is stated to be 48.

"In our own great state of Texas last year there was more than $20,000,000 in property and 284 lives destroyed by fire. A most conservative estimate is that 85 per cent of fires are from preventable cause.

"Now, therefore, I, Miriam A. Ferguson, governor of Texas do hereby designate October 2-9, 1926 as fire prevention week.

"City officials, civic and commercial organizations, school officers are urged to arrange meetings and exercise for the study of fire prevention problems, and for impressing upon the public the seriousness of the waste caused by fire.

Then, one night when Tony breaks an engagement with her, Merry lets Derrick Jones, a college boy who lives next door, make love to her as he often has in the days before she met Tony. Later on, when Merry confesses this to Tony, she explains that she did it to "get even" wit him for breaking an engagement with her. Merry's oldest sister, HELEN, marries BILL HEPWORTH. GASSIE, the second oldest, marries MORLEY KAUFMAN, a rich broker for whom she worked for many years. JINNY, aged 16, the youngest of the sisters, takes Derrick Jones away from Merry under her very nose, and Merry finds herself without beaus, for the first time in her life.

So when BILL ERSKINE, a bachelor friend of Morley Kaufman's, pays her attention, she is pleased and flattered. He is a traveling man, and he sends her all sorts of lovely gifts from the towns that he "makes" on his trips. The night before Christmas she asks Bill to lend her a thousand dollars to buy herself a share in Lillie's beauty shop. She explains that Morley Kaufman's sister, MURIEL, thinks it's "smart" for a girl to own her own shop, and Merry yearns to be "smart" above all things. After some argument Bill writes a check for the thousand. The next morning Merry answers the door bell, thinking that Bill is calling at the house. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

"I Will Not Have It!" Moms All But Screamed In Her Fury.

CHAPTER XXVII

On the porch stood a small, freckled messenger boy, holding a green pasteboard box that was almost as tall as he was.

"Mrs. Locke?" he asked, squinting up at Merry with white-lashed eyes.

"Miss Locke," Merry answered, and took the box.

But the flowers in it were not for her.

They were poinsettias—a whole dozen of them. And among their gorgeous red velvet blossoms and dark leaves was tucked a tiny envelope with Mom's name on it.

"Moms! Somebody's sent you flowers," Merry called, carrying them out to the kitchen. "Poinsettias, with stems a yard long!"

Moms was sitting at the table by the window, peeling potatoes. She looked up as Merry came into the warm, sunny room.

"Now, who do you suppose was fool enough to send me all those expensive flowers?" she sniffed. "Fatty, I suppose."

"Fatty" was what she always called Bill Erskine, behind his back. She had refused point-blank to invite him to Christmas dinner today.

Merry had been furious with her, about it. But she was glad now that Bill wasn't coming until late in the afternoon. She felt so sick and dizzy that it was a relief not to have to dress.

"Yes, they are from Bill," she said, opening the little envelope for her mother. "'Merry Christmas for Moms,' he says."

Moms' lip curled scornfully.

"He flatters himself—calling me 'Moms'," she said, with a grim laugh. "I'll bet he's pretty nearly as old as I am! I'll tell him so, too, some time when I happen to be in the mood for plain speaking—'Moms,' indeed! I like his nerve!"

She got up and began to baste the two chickens that she was roasting in the oven.

"I just wish I had the money he paid for those silly flowers!" she said over her shoulder. "Put them in that pail under the sink, Merry. We haven't a vase in the house half big enough for them."

She turned scarlet-faced from the heat of the stove and surveyed the poinsettias with a cold and calculating eye.

"I never knew a man to throw money around the way that Erskine does!" she remarked. "He must have all of it that he needs."

"He surely has," answered Merry, thinking of the check that was folded in her handbag upstairs.

Suddenly she drew a quick breath and a look of horror swept over her face.

"Ye gods and little fish-hooks!" she cried. "I haven't bought any Christmas present for him! I meant to get something for him—and then I just forgot it, I guess! Oh, my soul, what will I do?"

She made a movement with her hands, almost as if she were ringing them.

"I remembered everybody else," she moaned.

She had. She had remembered to buy a clock for Moms, a fancy powder-puff for Cassie, a salad set for Helen, a flapper belt for Jinny. Jinny! Perhaps Jinny could help her out! She probably had bought some kind of gift for the infatuated Derrick.

"Jinny!" Merry called at the top of her voice. "Jinny, what are you going to give Derrick for Christmas?"

"A bill fold." Jinny's soprano voice floated down from upstairs, where she was making beds and dusting. "A leather bill fold, why?"

"I want you to give it to me, instead," Marry answered her. She was halfway up the stairs by this time.

"You see," she explained, going into Mom's bedroom. "I forgot to get anything for Bill Erskine—"

"And you want me to give you Derrick's present so you can give it to him?" asked Jinny, getting the idea at once.

Merry noodded briskly.

"Well, you must think I'm crazy!" Jinny retorted, with a withering look. "You must think I come from the place where the woodpeckers eat up the railroad station every night! Why should I let you have Derrick's present for your Willy-boy? Why didn't you buy him something yourself?"

"I told you I forgot," Merry reminded her gently.

"Well, that's your funeral, not mine," answered Jinny, beating the pillows into shape.

She straightened the window curtains, picked up a thread from the carpet and went out of the room, humming to herself.

Merry followed her across the hall to their own little bedroom. She went to her and put her arm around her.

"Jinny, please let me have that bill-fold, darlingest," she pleaded. "You've known Derrick so long that he's sure to understand the whole thing when you explain it to him. But if I don't give Bill a present I'll never be able to square myself with him. He'll think I don't care a bit for him."

"Well, you don't, either!" Jinny came back at her. "If you did you would have bought him a Christmas present, wouldn't you? The trouble with you, Merry, is that you're never honest with men friends. Even Derrick says you're as two-faced as a totempole!"

"Derrick!" Merry cried. "He's a fine one to talk, isn't he? I suppose he didn't start playing around you about a week after he asked me to marry him, did he? He's not two-faced. Oh, no!"

But she knew that it was useless to argue with Jinny any longer.

She went downstairs to help Moms set the table for dinner.

* * *

Even if she had bought a Christmas present for Bill, she could not have given it to him that day, as it turned out.

For at 2 o'clock, just as she was sitting down to dinner with Moms and Jinny, she began to feel sick. Not just hot and dizzy, as she had been all morning, but dreadfully sick.

Pains shot through her chest and stomach. Pains that took her breath away, and made her double up like a jack-knife.

The meal grew cold on the dining room table while Moms and Jinny got her upstairs and into bed. She writhed and twisted and cried out in her agony. The ginger-tea that Moms forced down her throat only seemed to make her worse.

"I'm dying! I'm dying!" she declared in gasping shrieks. She thought that she was.

But Moms knew better.

"No, you're not!" she said firmly. "But you will if you don't swallow some more of this ginger-tea! You're having one of those stomach attacks that your father used to have when he was alive, that's all! Now, open your mouth and take this, and no more nonsense!" She held the ginger-tea to Merry's colorless lips and made her drink it to the last scalding drop.

"You've just eaten something that's upset your stomach," she added, nodding her head wisely. "You probably had lobster salad, or some such thing last night. I'll tell you, you never know what you're taking into your system when you eat in one of those restaurants!"

But Merry shook her head and moaned. She knew only too well that it was not food that had made her ill. She knew perfectly well that it was last night's liquor that had laid her low.

"Never again!" she groaned.

"What's that you say?" Moms asked sharply.

But Merry pretended not to hear her. Her lids were closed and her lips were open as she breathed. All the apple blossom color was gone from her face, leaving it a greenish white.

"Merry never drinks, does she?" her mother asked Jinny, when the two of them sat down to their warmed-over dinner a few minutes later.

"No, indeed," answered Jinny, who thought that she was telling the truth.

Merry spent the next few days in bed.

She had caught cold, and she was afraid that she might not be able to go to the New Year's day party that Cassie and Morley Kaufman were going to have. So she stayed at home and let Moms "doctor" her with hot grease, cold compresses and calomite tea.

She was the only one in the family who had been invited to the party. And she knew that it was not because she was Cassie's sister that she was invited. It was because she was a friend of Morley's friend, Bill Erskine!

"Cassie's getting to be a snob, if you ask me," she said on New Year's eve. She was sitting up in kimono and slippers, watching Jinny dress to go out.

"She always was one," answered Jinny, slipping one of Cassie's cast-off evening dresses over her sleek little red head. She smiled at her dazzling reflection in the old mirror above the dresser.

"I certainly expect to have some time on this brawl tonight," she chanted happily. "Some of Derrick's fraternity brothers are giving it and they've got a case of gin. How many bottles is that?"

"Twenty-four," Merry told her. "But you don't drink, do you?"

Jinny's shining brown eyes met hers in the glass and winked at her.

"Something tells me I'm going to tonight," she said cheerfully.

"Don't you do it," her sister warned her. "You never know what kind of stuff you're getting these days. And, anyway, Jinny, it'll make you sick and dizzy, and you won't look pretty. Women look horrid when they're drinking."

Jinny only raised her arched eyebrows.

"I certainly love the way I look in this green dress," she murmured. "If only I had an evening cape and a gold cigaret case, and an honest-to-John orchid to wear I'd be perfectly, madly, wildly happy!"

She waved her hand and dashed down the stairs to join Derrick, who had been hanking his horn in the driveway for the past 10 minutes.

Merry went to bed at 10 o'clock.

At 12 the sound of whistles and horns announcing the new year wakened her for a moment, and then she dozed off again.

Several hours later she woke up again.

Her room was still in darkness. She stretched up her arm and switched on the light above her bed. The clock on the table beside her showed that it was 5 o'clock. Across the room Jinny's bed was still empty.

Downstairs she heard a door close, and then the sound of an automobile in the driveway below the windows. Then angry voices talking in a loud jumble in the lower hall of the house.

She got out of bed and ran halfway down the stairs.

There was a light in the hall and Moms stood at the foot of the stairs. She was fully dressed in her black gown and apron and she was staring at Jinny, who had just come in.

Merry stared, too.

Jinny was a different creature from the sparkling, lovely little girl who had waved her hand and run out of the house a few hours before.

Her eyes were glassy and there was a lop-sided smile on her little mouth. One cheek was smeared with rouge and the other was dead white. In one of her hands she carried a bedraggled bouquet of flowers that had once been white and were now a brownish yellow.

"Ring out wil' bells to the wil' sky," said Jimmy, poetically. "The year is dying in the night! Ring out wil' bells, and let it die!"

Merry saw tears spring into Mom's blue eyes.

"That wretched boy next door has got her drunk. That's what happened!" she said quietly. She seemed to know that Merry was standing behind her on the stairs. "That dreadful boy that I trusted with my daughter."

She went over to Jinny, took her by her little shoulders, and began to shake her violently.

"You bad little thing! Coming home to me like this at the break of day! I won't have this sort of thing going on, I tell you! I will NOT have it, I tell you. I'll put you in the detention home first!"

Jinny laughed in her face. A foolish laugh.

"Ring out, wild bells!" Said Jinny.

Merry goes to Cassie's party. "Little Muriel!" repeated Merry. "She's every bit as old as I am, I'd like you to know. If you're her big brother, you might be mine, too. If it's wrong for her to drink, it's just as bad for me to, isn't it? You'll be surprised at Bill Erskine's answer in Chapter 28 tomorrow.

M-P EXPANDS IN RIO VALLEY

Active Construction Will Stretch Rail Below Houston Section

HOUSTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Considerable expansion of Missouri-Pacific railroad interests in the Rio Grande valley was indicated here Friday in a statement from S. R. Safford of Houston, executive vice president.

Besides filing an application with the interstate commerce commission for permission to acquire the San Antonio-Southern, it develops that the Missouri-Pacific intends to construct additional facilities.

Plans have been made, Mr. Safford said, under one of the applications to the I. C. C. to construct 18 additional miles of line extending from a point on the Gulf Coast lines near Raymondville in a general southeasterly driection to a point near the Hidalgo-Comeron county fla-away. Certificate of public convenience and necessity is sought for this extension, Mr. Safford said.

Another application for certificate of public convenience and necessity has been filed before the commission for an extension of the San Benito and Rio Grande Valley railroad from a point near Fernando in Comeron county, running in a general easterly direction approximately six miles, and another line of railroad from a point near San Benito in the same county, running in a general southerly direction approximately 18 miles to a connection with the Rio Grande railway.

"In seeking to purchase the San Antonio Southern railway," Mr. Safford said, "The Missouri-Pacific lines are carrying out their progressive policy of forming closer alliance with other lines and preparing to better serve and develop continguous territory by providing the most satisfactory transportation facilities."

ACCEPTS RIDE; IS ASSAULTED

Dallas Woman Is Victim of Drunken Friend Late at Night

DALLAS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A harrowing experience of assault in a lonely woods and a mile ride over rough roads clinging to the tire rack of an automobile was related to police here Friday by Mrs. Mollie Phillips, 28.

Her presence of mind in repeating over and over the license number of the automobile as she clung to the tire rack, enabled her to give this information to officers, and by this means they traced her assailant today and arrested him.

Mrs. Phillips' night adventure in the power of an apparently insanely drunk man, began when she accepted a ride from the man while on her way home last night from a theatre. About five blocks from her residence, she said, the man drove his automobile up to the curb and offered to take her home.

Talked Nice

"He talked so nice that I thought I would be safe in riding the short distance with him," Mrs. Phillips said.

Instead of taking her home, the man, after having the battery of his automobile changed, drove madly out into the country.

"When about three miles from Dallas he drove into a road off the main highway near a woods," she told police. "He there attacked me and told me he was going to kill me if I did not submit. I begged him to take me home, but he slapped me and when I struggled he struck me over the head with a whisky bottle. He then choked me and tore my clothing.

"I struggled with him as long as I could, but he beat me until I could fight no longer.

"He declared he was going to leave me in the woods. I begged him to take me back to town, but he started to drive away without me. I managed to climb on the tire rack at the rear of the automobile and for nearly a mile I clung to the rim begging him to stop. He drove rapidly over rough roads and nearly bumped me off.

Tried to Run Over Her

"Finally he stopped and told me to get my purse and hat from the car and to hike down the road. I got my things and was standing at the car begging him to take me home when he attempted to run over me. I ran behind a tree to escape the car.

"He got out of the car and told me he was going to kill me. As he returned to the automobile apparently to get something, I ran away, fearing he would kill me."

Mrs. Phillips said she walked until she came to an oil station. The man in charge closed the place and took her home in a truck.

The alleged assailant was traced through the car license number and located at his home in South Dallas. He denied that he was the man, but Mrs. Phillips identified him. He gave his name as Frank Bevill. A charge of criminal assault was lodged against him.

T. C. U. PROFITS BY CONTRACT

Burk Burnett Land Oil Development Means $75,000 a Year

FORT WORTH, Aug. 20.—(AP) Texas Christian university will profit to the extent of $75,000 a year from the carrying out of the contract for gas development of Burnett estate lands lying in the Carson county section of the Texas Panhandle it is believed by E. W. Clark, one of the trustees who signed the lease on the 58,200 acres of land originally owned by S. Burk Burnett, now dead.

Under the terms of the lease, C. W. Sears of Wichita and Alfred J. Diescher of Winfield, Kan., obtained rights to gas on practically one-half of the Burnett lands in the Carson county area. Receipts from the leases are expected to total about $150,000 the first year, of which one-half goes to the university here.

In addition, almost as much again is expected by the university from the natural gasoline produced from the gas.

Bodies of Man And Girl Sought

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 20.—(AP) Two bodies, one of a mysterious man about 32 years old and the other of a beautiful 18-year-old girl were sought in the waters of Salado creek Friday morning by deputy sheriffs who fear the couple were drowned following a disturbance at a road house Thursday night.

The man, believed to be insane and a fugitive from justice, from another state, is thought by officers who searched the woods for the couple Thursday night to have been keeping the girl prisoner in a shack in the woods. For several nights recently, according to officers, the strange couple have appeared at the road house southeast of city, the man apparently having the girl completely under his control.

WESTERN MAN FACING DEATH

Seattle Father Convicted of Slaying His Pretty Daughter

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 20.—(AP) Wallace Cloyes Gaines, charged with slaying his daughter, Sylvia, faced the gallows today. He was convicted of first degree murder in superior court here last night, and the jury fixed the penalty at death by hanging.

As the verdict was returned the prisoner collapsed, but quickly regained his composure, leaving the courtroom under guard erect and indifferent.

"It sure was a body blow," was his only comment.

Gaines' attorneys immediately presented motions for arrest of judgment and for a new trial.

The conviction of Gaines brought to a close a trial that has attracted more attention than any other criminal proceeding in the history of Seattle, the state's case against the defendant was circumstantial there being no eye-witnesses to the slaying.

Sylvia Howard Gaines, 22, pretty and a graduate of Smith college, Northampton, Mass., was killed the night of June 16. Her battered body was found the next morning on the shore of a lake about two miles from the Gaines' home.

The state contended that the girl was killed as the result of an attempt on her part to end an unnatural relationship with her father, and witnesses were introduced to show that a clandestine affection existed between them.

Clarendon College Expects Enrollment To Break Records

CLARENDON, Aug. 20.—Clarendon college is expecting the largest enrollment in its history judging from the unprecedented number of reservations already made by new students who have not attended this institution before. The summer session that has just closed enrolled 210 students for summer courses, 31 of whom asked for teachers certificates at the close of the work. Many of the teachers of the neighboring towns took advantage of the summer courses offered this year and did credit work towards degrees on account of the college having been given senior ranking recently.

DUGGAN ON TAX, CROP NEEDS

ARTHUR P. DUGGAN is president of the West Texas chamber of commerce. His contention is that diversification and tax equalization constitute the two greatest problems before the people of West Texas. If diversification and tax equalization constitute the two greatest problems before the people of West Texas, then they constitute the greatest problems before the people of all Texas.

President Duggan opened his statewide campaign for tax equalization at Marfa, where he addressed a very large audience. He stressed diversification, declaring that Texas today has 7,000,000 more acres in cotton and 50,000 more than five years ago.

During the same period, he said, the number of farm owners have decreased by 19,000 and there are 250,000 less milch cows in Texas than in 1920; 2,500,000 acres less feed crop and only one brood sow to every three farms in Texas today. Furthermore, Texas is sending out of the state $30,000,000 for dairy products, $85,000,000 for pork products and $187,000,000 for food and feedstuffs. Yet, West Texas is said to be the best food and feed producing section of the country.

Tenancy, cotton and illiteracy go hand in hand, declared this president of the West Texas chamber of commerce and he quoted illiteracy statistics showing that the cotton states lead the nation in this regard. He made the announcement that his organization was squarely behind the diversified program begun last year and would push the program throughout his administration.

It is planned to reduce the cotton acreage, encouraging production of grain sorghums, which Duggan described as the backbone of West Texas wealth. Tenancy is the curse of any country. Any one crop is in a sense criminal in a commonwealth like this or in a republic like the United States.

Now why should $250,000,000 a year be expended by Texas farmers for dairy products produced in other states, for pork products produced in other states and for feedstuffs grown in other states. Diversification is the salvation of the Texas farmer and tax equalization should be stressed in every campaign of education that is made under Texas skies.

Four years ago a tax equalization measure was introduced in the lower house of the Texas legislature. It was defeated by a few votes. Two years ago another tax equalization measure was strangled in committee. There are powerful interests ever arrayed against tax equalization and the great land owners of the state do not take kindly to the proposition.

There are owners of blocks of city property who do not take kindly to the proposition. Really, the 40th legislature should do something along modern lines. There should be a sane bill introduced early in the session and then the friends of tax equalization should pound the senators and representatives until the measure has been enacted into law.

THEY NEED THE MONEY

ACCORDING to the state board of control budget estimates are $89,000,000. According to state house gossip the board was staggered when it found that its tentative appropriations aggregated $39,000,000 or $8,000,000 more than those of two years ago. According to a member of the board of control, it is impossible to provide both adequate salaries and sufficient buildings in the same budget and the board "is trying to work out what might be termed a compromise and make a start toward paying a living wage in the state government and at the same time give buildings for education and for the care and treatment for our unfortunates."

Then why reduce the tax rate? Why continue to pay miserly wages to state employes? Why provide to provide the money for a building program for the institutions of higher learning and other institutions of government.

Texas is one of the richest states. Texas has tremendous resources. Texas needs tax equalization. Texas should get away from the old ruts and the antiquated system which has been in vogue these many years.

In direct lax words the constitution says that taxation shall be equal and uniform. It isn't. Why not make it so?

YES, HE IS A CANDIDATE

THE farmer has no better friend in the country than the president said Arthur H. Rule of New York City, general manager of the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers, Inc., one of the largest national co-operative organizations.

President Rule said it after a long interview with the president of the United States at the White House in the Adirondack mountains. Tell it to the wheat growers of the west. Tell it to the corn growers of the west. Tell it to the cotton growers of the south.

There is going to be a large wheat surplus. There is going to be a large corn surplus. There is going to be a large cotton surplus.

There are political farmers who say that the president and his administration should advance the money to store the surplus wheat, the surplus corn and the surplus cotton in order that a high price may be obtained by the farmers for all three of the staples after the surpluses have been stored.

These political farmers who never farm with their hands, are satisfied that it can be done. They are convinced that the president has the power to do it. They know that congress should do it. Politics is a funny game when it isn't a fascinating or a brutal game. Now Peter should be taxed to pay Paul whether Peter likes it or not.

PINCHOT MAY RUN

GIFFORD PINCHOT may make the race in Pennsylvania as an independent candidate for the United States senate. He was a contender for the republican primary nomination and ran third. His race cost him $195,000. George Wharton Pepper's friends spent $1,500,000 and Pepper ran second. W. B. Vare's friends spent a million dollars and he ran first and is the nominee.

Vare is for beer.

Pinchot has no use for beer.

Pepper was a 50-50 candidate. That is, he was half dry and half wet but for law enforcement.

William B. Wilson, the democratic nominee is all dry. If Pinchot wishes a dry from Pennsylvania in the senate, he should go all the road and become a supporter of Wilson.

Pinchot is an aristocrat. Pepper is an aristocrat. Vare came from the house of garbage. Wilson was a breaker boy in a coal mine in his youth. He is a man through and through.

BORAH HAS A WORD

SENATOR W. A. BORAH of Idaho is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. He read the appeal of the Tiger of France. It wounded Borah but it did not anger him. This is some of the things he said:

"Cancellation cannot be based on any just demand on the part of creditor nations against the United States, but solely upon whether or not it can be brought about so as to help in a real construction of Europe and the advancement of the cause of disarmament and peace. This constant charge of injustice and usury on the part of the United States is simply not only unfounded in fact, but dishonest in purpose."

There are millions of Americans who will accept the verdict of Borah. There are additional millions of Americans who will applaud his verdict. Let the creditor nations disarm before they talk cancellation. Let them disband their armies. Let them dismantle their navies. Let them show they are eager, nay, sincere, for world peace.

SOUTH'S CHIVALRY PASSED

IS southern chivalry dead? Has it departed from the land of the fathers of the Texas revolution. Are the men of the present unworthy sons of the illustrious sires? Mrs. Edith Wilmans was a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. She received 1,580 votes out of a total of some 825,000. She appeared before the executive committee of the democratic party at a session held in the city of Dallas and asked for a recount of all the ballots cast in the 250 counties of the state. And the male brutes ignored the petition.

Questions from the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

How Can a Man Tell Before Marriage Whether a Girl Will Spend or Save Her Husband's Money?

Dear Miss Dix—I am in love with a girl who is of the kind and generous type, but I fear she is extravagant, for, although she makes a good salary, she thinks nothing of spending her money to the last cent.

Now, do you think that a man with a small income will be safe in marrying a girl of that type? Will she continue her old habit of throwing away the money her husband will have to provide for her, or would she consider her duty as a wife and save?

JAMES.

ANSWER:

Nobody in the world, James, can tell which way the cat is going to jump when it comes to the question of what a girl is going to do about money after she gets married.

I have seen girls who threw papa's money away with both hands become tight-fisted and squeeze every nickel until the buffalo howled in anguish before they let it go when it was their own money that they were spending.

Before marriage they couldn't wear anything that didn't come out of the little French shops in the big department stores. After marriage they haunted the basements looking for bargains.

I have seen rich girls who had been lapped in luxury all of their lives, and brought up with extravagant tastes, make the most thrifty and economical wives if they married poor men. And I have seen poor girls that have had to count their pennies all their lives become spenders and wasters who threw money away as if it grew on trees and their husbands had nothing to do but reach up and grab off as much as they wanted.

So you never can tell. Even when the girl earns her own money you cannot judge by the way she spends it how she will handle her husband's finances. Because a girl puts all that she earns on her back is no indication that she is a spendthrift, and that she will blow in her husband's pay envelope for glad raiment.

A girl's clothes is an investment. They enhance her good looks and thereby increase her chances of attracting the attention of men and making a good marriage. After she has made her catch it is another story, and many an erstwhile swell dresser becomes a swell patron of the savings bank.

Such being the case, and there being no earmarks by which a man can tell beforehand about whether a girl will make a wife who will be a nickel nurser of a bargain-sale fiend, about the only way you can forecast what one will do is to take the amount of intelligence she has into consideration.

If she is silly and vain and lacks common sense, she will not be likely to change. Little things will mean much to her. She will have to have what she wants to have. She will never learn the fine art of handling money.

But if she is an intelligent girl, with plenty of good, hard horse sense, she will know how to spend and save intelligently, and she will listen to reason on the subject.

But that kind of a girl will not be treated unfairly about money so don't marry her unless you are willing to go 50-50 with her on the financial proposition.

SOLVING A DARK MYSTERY

When you can say for a story that it is funny and that, moreover, it is the recital of an actual occurrence, I claim it carries with it a double value. I think this story is funny, and I have knowledge that the thing happened substantially as it is here set down:

Achmed Abdullah, the novelist and short story writer, is an Afghan, a descendant of an old and noble family of Afghaniston and a son of a former governor of Kabul. He was educated in Europe, and has lived and adventured pretty much all over the world. Being a natural linguist, he has picked up tongues as he went until today he knows as many languages and jargons as probably any living man knows.

With the rank of captain he was on recruiting service once for the British army in Cairo. To him came an Egyptian officer of police to ask his aid. It seemed that two native constables had picked up in the bazaars a black man whose nationality was unknown and whose purposes were unfathomable, seeing that he could not be made to understand the questions put to him by his captors.

It seemed that for several days before his arrest the prisoner had been lurking about the bazaars, a butt for gamins and the despair of those who ought to interrogate him regarding his antecedents and his intentions. As much for his own protection as for any other motive the police had locked him up. Now the expert assistance of Capt. Abdullah as translator was solicited.

Abdullah accompanied the puzzled functionary to the prison. In a corner of a cell crouched a huge black man staring with apprehensive, sullen eyes at the newcomers. It was evident that he was of some African stock; also it was plain that he was in a badly frightened state. He was clad in a nondescript costume of tatters which he had picked up somewhere—the sandals of an Arabian, a Turkish fez and the ragged remains of a donkey driver's white robe.

Being admitted to the cell, the volunteer interpreter proceeded to fire simple questions at the captive, first in French, then in Afghan, and then in Ishantee, in Turkish, in Tibetan, in Greek, in Chinese, in Persian and in Batu. There was no response; the black merely continued to glower at him dumbly. So then Abdullah tried him in some of the tongues of the Sahara Desert and in the clucking dialects of one or two Congo tribes and finally in Zuleuse, with which he was also more or less familiar. Still the hunched up figure gave no sign of understanding.

In despair Abdullah gave it up. "I wonder," he said aloud himself in English, "what in thunder you are, anyway?"

With a bellow of thanksgiving the prisoner leaped to his feet.

"Boss," he whooped, "I'se a Free Will Baptist!"

And so he was—a country darky from Alabama who had shipped on a tramp steamer out of New Orleans, had deserted off the African coast, swimming ashore naked, and had for days past been dodging about the native quarters, growing hourly more bewildered and more desperate in these strange surroundings.

DON'T NEED CLEANING

Women Bathers at Fort Worth Kick At Pre-Showers

FORT WORTH, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Women visitors to Fort Worth's five municipal swimming places—four pools and lake Worth beach—object strenuously to taking the pre-plunge shower than do the men, attendants say. Some of them are most beligerent.

It is explained, however, that the women are not afraid of a cleansing but that they resent the imputation that they need one. The rule which requires the shower, is a general one and will continue to be enforced, it was stated Friday.

"Beautiful Slayer" Wins Divorce From Faithful Husband

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Beaulah Annan, knowns as the "most beautiful slayer" three years ago when she killed an admirer in her apartment, today obtained a divorce from "faithful Al" Annan, who stood by her through the trial in which a jury acquitted her.

She was the second woman who had been tried for murder to get a divorce in two days. Yesterday, Margaret Sethamier, who killed her sweetheart Benjamin Barr in 1919, when she said his love cooled, was divorced from Maurice Bloomberg, a Rock Island, Ill., railroad man.

Mrs. Annan, a former Kentucky girl was as smartly gowned as she was when she appeared before the jury which heard how she was playing the phonograph after she had shot Harry Kalstedt which she said was done in self-defense.

BALKED AT ALTAR

Cupid's Plans Go Astray; Age And Youth Are Lectured.

PARIS, Mo., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Cupid's plans went awry here yesterday and an April and December wedding was indefinitely postponed.

Sebastian was taken home by his mother while his 72-year-old fiancee was lectured by her son on the trials of matrimony.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

A BOY ALL BOY

There's a brand new knife and a brand new nail,
And a brand new mark in the brand new hall.
For he had to see if the knife would cut
And he had to know was it, steel or not?
Oh, they do such things that it's hard to see,
Why they do such things, why a boy must be,
Like a boy just seems, when his tricks annoy—
But it all proves this, that the boy's all boy.

And the time will come when he'll wonder, too
Why he used to do what he used to do,
Why he didn't look, why he didn't think,
When he lost the cap, when he spilled the ink,
I have seen a few that were not that way,
And they played like girls when they used to play,
But to tell the truth, though they broke no toy,
I rather longed for a boy all boy.

For the boys grew up, as the children will
And the nice little boy was a nice boy still,
But the boy all boy, with his flag unfurled
Was fighting on the great big world.
Yes, he made his mark as he made it then,
And the boy all boy seemed the nobler plan,
For a boy all boy makes a man all man.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

Leo.

Today's planetary aspects are quite propitious, and the signs denote that there may be some pleasant surprise in store, something quite unexpected, but none the less gratifying. Anything that calls for energy and effort can be essayed under the favorable influences that prevail and success is assured along all lines of honest endeavor. Speculation and hazardous risks are doomed to failure. In the late afternoon, the influences will not be as actively favorable, but recreational amusements will afford much pleasure and all reunions will be marked by an excensional degree of congeniality and enthusiastic co-operation. It is also an auspicious occasion for travel.

Children born today will, during infancy, enjoy fairly good health. If, however, the best results are desired, unusual care should be exercised in alimentation and their environment should be wholesome. Not until just on the verge of adulthood will they experience any serious ailment, and the outcome at that time will very largely depend on how their constitutions were built up in early childhood. In disposition they will leave much to be desired. They will be, in their teens, querulous, selfish and self-centered, and very ambitious, and more pleasure seeking than acquisitive of information. Only by percept, and practical example, can these unfortunate characteristics be eliminated.

If today is your birthday, your temperament is difficult, and no one finds it easy to get along well with you. This condition, and it is a deplorable one, is largely attributable to your criticism and fault-finding. No one seems able to do anything, or say anything, to please you. Belittling others' efforts, and magnifying your own, is a sure way to lead to estrangement. The superior attitude on your part is all the more regrettable, as you posses some very fine traits, which, if allowed free play, would make many friends for you. Your judgment is generally good and you possess great power for either good or evil. You are, although opinionated, quite adaptable, and ready to change your course whenever you see storms ahead. You are fond of music and like a bright and attractive home, although your disposition does not help to make it so.

Successful people born this date are:

Oliver H. Perry, naval officer.
John Fritz, manufacturer and engineer.
William Pepper, physician.
William H. Dall, naturalist.

"You Win," Writes; Leaps to His Death

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A card bearing the words "Mrs. Whitney—you win: Tan-Tan, tout est atteint (all penned)" was left behind by Gaitan Ardisson, an aged sculptor who leaped to his death from a 100-foot water tower on the Long Island estate of Mrs. Harry Pane Whitney.

Tan-Tan is the nickname of the 74-year-old sculptor's son Gaitan Ardisson Jr., who found the card in his father's pocket after the body was picked up yesterday.

Ardisson had been assistant and advisor to Mrs. Whitney in her sculptural work for 14 years. His son said he had been troubled with neuritis.

What was meant by the sculptor when he wrote "Mrs. Whitney you win"—could not be explained, Mrs. Whitney is at Newport.

LOVE IS BUT A GAME.
Puppy and Calf Variety
By Claire Shepard

A Puppy of romantic mould
Among the fields and meadows strolled.
His heart oppressed, in curious fashion,
By frantic throes of puppy-passion.
For lo, his love.... I have to laugh..
Was for a gentle-visaged Calf!

A Holstein, she of noble stock
That antedated Plymouth Rock,
While he, of Pa and Ma as well
Knew naught that he could fitly tell,
Yet bravely he addressed that Calf
And said, "Please be may better half."

Calf-love by puppy-love was stirred!
She sighed, and mooed a gentle word:
"Oh, would I could thou, pleasant mutt,
I'd marry thee right gladly, BUT
Such odd espousals must not be ...
'Twould mean a dog's life, dear, for me.

"And you would certainly be cowed
By all my folks they are SO proud.
My Pa especially I fear,
A bully man, but quick ..... Oh dear! .....
He'd never own me as his dotter.
You're a hot dog, but Pa is hotter!"

Guessed Right.

Stranger: "Getting out reports, eh! And what will you be working at this afternoon?"

Gangsters' Bullets Claim Another

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Gangsters bullets that have been turned upon associates of Phillip Piazza, slain vice lord of Chicago Heights were used again today. This time Joseph Nerone Ormaroni, 37, said to have been a nephew of Piazza died when seven shots had entered his body.

Nerone had attempted a counter attack for his hand clutched a revolver from which two shots had been fired. He was killed as he stood by his automobile in front of a barber shop.

His diamonds worth a small fortune were not taken.

Police believed the motive centered about rivalry between liquor gangs.

COUNTY MAY ENTER FIELD

Jefferson Officials Consider Possibility of Oil Career

BEAUMONT, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Whether Jefferson county will go into the oil business was not determined at a special session of commissioners court here Thursday. Authorities who attended the meeting differed on the question of leasing a road through the heart of the Spindletop oil fields.

Assistant County Attorney Charles Groce declared that the county had only the surface rights to the road. David O'Fiel, local attorney, declared that if it seemed expedient, Jefferson could either entirely close the road or make it narrower and lease part of it to oil companies.

In support of his contention, he offered an application for a lease from a client, John T. Spencer, who in addition to paying the county a substantial royalty from the wells, also offered to maintain title to the lands and hold the county harmless against any claims.

If some way could be found whereby the county would lease the road, it would mean millions of dollars in Spindletop royalties. A large number of producing wells are only a few feet from the roadbed and in some instances parts of derricks are located on county property.

In presenting the case, O'Fiel referred to several cases of note in Texas where by virtue of litigation either the city or county has received full rights to property given them.

He declared that even if the road was not entirely closed, it could be narrowed to about 18 feet since the right of way in some places is from 40 to 60 feet wide.

U. S. Gas Calls Go Up 50,191,000 Gals. At The Garden

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Gasoline consumption in June, compiled by the American Petroleum Institute from statistics available in 30 states, amounted to 366,508,000 gallons, an increase of 50,191,000 gallons over June last year. News of the Fields

RONDEAU, WAGGONER

The No. I-C test of Henri E. Rondeau in setcion 3, block 13, S. P. R. R. survey in Wilbarger county, one mile south of the same operators 1-B test in section 52, abandoned last week as a dry hole at 2,008 feet, topped a sand at 1,925-27 feet Thursday night which is bailing considerable oil and a little water. This sand is 35 feet higher than in the Tidal Oil company test, one mile west in section 37 and it is thought that this is a stray sand just above the big pay generally found in that district or in the Phillips (Landreth) pool. The contractors are proceeding cautiously ahead and expect to pick up the real pay sand within the next 15 or 20 feet. Several company men are on the ground watching progress on this test.

M-FAIN, NIGGER CREEK

Murchison and Fain drilled out the cement plug Thursday on their No. 1 Rossen Fee in the Nigger Creek field of Limestone county and the well responded with a 2,000-barrel output from sand at 2,840-2850 feet. No. 2 Rossen to the west of No. 1 is on the sand and pipe has been cemented at 2,840 feet.

HUMBLE, MOSS

The Humble Oil & Refining company is drilling at 1,554 feet and getting to an interesting depth on it's No. 1 Moss, in the southwest corner of the north 40 acres of the east 200 acres of the west 400 acres of section I, H. T. & B. survey, abstract 190 in Archer county.

PARKS-PRIDDY, CARTER

The No. 1 test of Park and Priddy on the Carter Bros. land and in the southeast corner of section 93, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county and to the south of the Sunshine state pool, bailed dry from sand at 1,563-65 1-2 feet and the operators are coring ahead.

KENTUCKY ET AL,

The test of the Kentucky Oil company and Roxana on the L. F. Wilson land in Archer county in the southwest corner of block 24, section 118, A. T. N. C. L. survey, failed to pay off in the top sand at 1,150 feet and the hole will be deepened to where the lower sand is expected to produce between 1,500 and 1,600 feet.

TURBEVILLE

The No. 2-C well of the Texas company in block 172, Carson survey and in the new Simms pool in Archer county, which was drilled in Wednesday afternoon and swabbed and flowed 380 barrels the first 15 hours, increased it's output and in six hours Thursday placed 250 barrels of the precious fluid into the tanks, going on record as the best completion in this district for some time.

JOHNSON ET AL,

To the south and west of the producers in the new Simms pool in Archer county approximately 3,000 feet, and near the center of block 173, Turbeville land, Carson survey, D. O. Johnson, Jno. Harris, Homer Donohoo and the Consolidated Oil company are plugging their disappointment as a dry hole at 1,620 feet, since the test did not encounter the oil bearing gravel.

SUNSHINE HILL

ELECTRA, Aug. 20.—A few more days and the Sunshine Hill activity will show whether the discovery well is a freak or the sand will open up a large territory adjacent. Six tests are now drilling, one of them being on the sand and bailing will start sometime Friday. This is the Clark, No. 2 which is being drilled by the same company that brought in the discovery well. Like the first it was made over from an old well which was deepened about 100 feet.

W. J. Riggs, drilling the Clark No. 3, is due to reach the sand before the end of the week. This hole is down 1600 feet today and should reach the sand within 250 feet. Pink Hammond who is drilling an offset to the south is down 1630 feet and will reach the pay at about the same time as Riggs. The race between these two concerns has been a pretty one. First one would lead and the other a few feet and then the other would pull ahead, according to the formation and the lack of drilling. Early Thursday morning Hammond had a fishing job but the bit was pulled out in a few minutes.

Bridwell and Heydrick are drilling their No. 2, at 200 feet and their first location is down past 11000 feet now. Their offset will carry the productive area further away than the others if they strike the sand.

John O'Niel is rigging up over an old hole further away towards the crest of old Sunshine Hill.

Stidham and Thrasher, 300 feet north and 1000 feet east of the No. 1, are rigging up.

Due to the excitement of the Sunshine area little attention has been paid to the old Red river lease which may be revived as strongly as the Sunshine area. The McMann Oil company has deepened an old hole from 1200 down to 1900 feet and have been swabbing better than a 100 barrels a day from it. Yesterday it was making nearly 12 barrels per hour when it was first put on the pump. It looks good for 200 barrels production. The Gulf has made a location across the road from the well. While this new territory is liable to cause considerable excitement most are of the opinion that it will not come up to the Sunshine area because the acreage is in the hands of four major companies, whereas the Sunshine Hill development is split up among several independents.

NEWS FROM OLNEY

OLNEY, Texas, Aug. 20.—Progress throughout the Olney district oil fields was slow last week, due to heavy rains and the usual summer vacation slump.

While several pool wells were completed no unusual excitement was caused among oil men here.

The Simms Oil company brought in a well in the Roger pool, pumping 100 barrels after striking the pay dirt at something less than 880 feet. The well is six miles southwest of Olney.

Two completions were made in the Thomas field, near Archer City. Gates-Bacon-Lee No. 6 pumped 50 barrels after getting sand between 1146 and 1167 feet, while Marland No. 2 finding the sand between 1175 and 1182 feet, pumped 60 barrels a day.

A number of promising locations were made. Moran No. 4 on the G. P. Stewart land, David Dawson survey in the new Farmer pool has started drilling and has now reached 150 feet, it has been reported. The well is 300 feet east of No. 3.

A derrick is being erected on the location made for Texhoma No. 1 Routan in Young county. It is in the T. B. and L. survey, section 181, 150 feet from the north and 50 feet from the east lines of the east 50 acres of the south 80 acres.

Murchison and Fain No. 3, B. Logan, in Archer county, is being rigged up. The location is 600 feet east of No. 2 B.

The Texas company's No. 14 on the Bearden farm, J. H. Hopkins survey, is making 175 barrels on the swab from a 21 foot sand, struck 10 days ago at 1085 feet.

Drilling permits for the Olney district, composed of Jack, Archer and Young counties, have been light the past week, according to G. W. Tilley, deputy oily and gas supervisor.

RANGEL AND 5 MEN PARDONED

Governor Releases Mexican General After 12 Years in Prison

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Gen. J. M. Fangel and five of his companions who have served about 12 years each for the killing of Candelario Ortez, Dimmit county deputy sheriff, while leading a revolutionary band against the government in Mexico were granted full pardons Friday by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Those pardoned are General Rangel, Abram Cisneros, L. Vasquez, Charles Cline, Jesus Gonzales and Pedro Perales. They were convicted of murder in Bexar county.

Recommended by Board.

The pardons were granted on the recommendation of the board of pardon advisers, according to the governor's proclamation, and the American Federation of Labor, was influential in obtaining the clemency, according to Benito Rodriguez, attache of the Mexican consulate at San Antonio, and C. N. Idar, general representative of the American Federation of Labor.

General Rangle was sentenced from 5 to 99 years and had served 11 years and had 14 years to his credit. He held a clear record and has been a trusty in the prison. He was 55 years old when convicted.

Abram Cisneros was sentenced from 5 to 99 years for murder and Leonardo L. Vasquez was sentenced 5 to 50 years while Charles Cline, a Bostonian was sentenced to life imprisonment, as was Jesus Gonzales, while Pedro Perales was sentenced from 5 to 25 years.

Reception Planned.

Mr. Idar stated that he and Rodriguez would leave immediately for the penitentiary at Huntsville, and that the six men, remainders of the band that was opposing the Madero revolution would be received at Mexico City by President Calles. He said he understood that a big reception has been planned for them in Mexico City.

Jacob Rubiola was influential in obtaining the clemency, Mr. Idar said.

Mr. Rodriguez said, "When I visited General Rangel in Huntsville in March, he told me that he and his companions in the penitentiary were just as blameless for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Ortiz as the governor herself; that he did not see the killing or he wouldn't have permitted it, and that the man who saw it was unable to prevent it as it was done in an instant; that the man who killed Ortiz is now dead. He said that he could have run away at any time but was confident of Governor Fergusons' sense of justice."

TODAY'S RECIPES

Corn Pancakes—One can corn or two cups corn cut off the cobs. One cup milk, two eggs, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon baking powder, two cups flour. Bake slowly on griddle.

Cream of Onion Soup—To make enough for six persons scald in double boiler one quart skimmed milk, and keep hot while preparing the onion, etc., which is to be added.

Six onions are boiled in enough water to cover them and they are cooked hard for twenty minutes, then drained off—keeping the liquid, which is thickened by adding the pulp of one of the onions which has been run through a sieve and then had stirred into it one tablespoonful of whole meal.

This should be seasoned by adding one tablespoonful salt, one salt-spoonful pepper and one tablespoonful chopped parsley.

Bring this to a boiling point and add to the hot milk in the double boiler. Do not boil, but serve immediately.

Banana-Raisin Sandwiches—One cup raisins (seedless), three bananas, six slices of bread, peanut butter or butter.

Butter the bread, slice the bananas in thrie slices lengthwise and lay on three slices of the bread. Mash the bananas down well with a knife and spread evenly, then cover with the raisins which have been previously washed in warm water and drained. Place the other buttered slice on the filled ones and cut any desired shape. Peanut butter may be used on one slice and butter on the other if desired.

DRESS UP THE SUNROOM

You can dress up the porch or sun rooms with Japanese lanterns which are being used to a considerable extent now. The coloring in the lantern is very delicate and the light comes through in very soft tones.

SUGGESTIONS

When dressed for "company" wearing white shoes and stockins, do you ever find that your shoes are spotted after preparing refreshments for your guests? If so, try this woman's plan. She says: "One day, dressed for company, I made lemonade. To my disgust my clean white shoes and stockings got spots on them so one day later I took some spare scraps of white oil cloth, cut them into ovals about eight inches by six inches, bound with bias tape and put rubber straps to slip over my shoes. Now I can work without spotting my clean shoes by wearing my 'shoe aprons.'"

If you have many doors and keys to fit, tie little strips of linen tape to each of your door keys. Print on them in ink the location of the door that each fits. The time will be saved that is usually spent in "trying" keys in various locks.

Women who like things a bit different will be interested in service plates of metal which reproduce old pewter. They are unusually handsome and are matched by salt and pepper cellars, tall and graceful in shape.

Dun Reports Business Good

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

Statistical records continue to testify to the further satisfactory progress of trade. Bank clearings for August which measure the volume of bank settlements, are unprecendented in amount, and approach closely the heavy aggregate for the early months of the year. The July foreign trade settlement both as to imports and exports, reflect further expansion in the merchandise movement abroad. Manufacturers are bettering their schedules, and wholesale distributive trade shows signs of improvement. Business is emerging gradually from its mid-summer quasi-inactivity. Purchasing for autumn requirements already has commenced, and the present outlook is very favorable. The vacation period which always serves to impair normal retail distribution, is almost over. Sales during the week were retarded in some parts of the country by the inclement weather; nevertheless, department store business thus far this year is in excess of the record for the same period in 1925.

Weekly bank clearings $8,209,159,000.

BUY HERE EASES FUEL

1,000,000 Gallons Bought By Sinclair in Local District

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 20.—The purchase of 1,000,000 gallons of high test gasoline in the Wichita Falls group district by the Sinclair Refining company, has relieved that grade of motor fuel, but it has not strengthened the general midcontinent spot gasoline materially.

Despite a general holding of spot prices on the part of major refiners, the quotations on U. S. motor grades have softened. The dumping of much material is held responsible by sales managers. Natural gasolines are stronger than straight run materials.

Midcontinent refiners report consumption large, and that movement of gasoline is greater then production. Stocks are also declining.

Kerosene continues strong and scarce. The Standard Oil company of New Jersey, has advanced the tankwagon price one cent in South Atlantic states, or an average of 17 cents a gallon, and Sinclair Refining company met it in that area, and in Standard Oil company of New York and Atlantic Refining company territories it advanced it but one-half cent.

SMACKOVER ON DECLINE

Important Discoveries Are Needed to Bring It to Fore

Unless some major extension is discovered the Smackover field of Union and Ouachita counties, in Arkansas, will decline into a small field class. At the beginning of 1926 it was averaging 150,000 barrels a day and the first of July found the output down to 125,000 barrels daily, and it is still dropping off.

In southern Arkansas the quest for more oil is continuing, but with very unsatisfactory results. Refiners who have become accustomed to running Smackover crude are competing with each other for the storage production, and many premiums are reported.

Heavy drafts have been made on Smackover storage this year and each month sees stocks lowered. The field has produced since its discovery and to July something like 182,000,000 barrels of oil.

Lisbon is the newest area in Arkansas and yielding the highest gravity, an average of 37, but its output is not great. It is confined to sections 9 and 18 og 17-16. The oil comes from the Nacatoch sand, around 2,050 to 2,100 feet. Its peak was 11,068 barrels in May.

On July 1 there were 4,168 producing oil wells in Arkansas, Smackover had 2, 231 of them, with Louann, the light oil area, possession 903 of first sand; 1,241 from the second sand; 717 from the third sand. El Dorado had 454; Lisbon 191; Nevada 48 and Stephens 244.

ABOLISH DUELLING

Unitas Adopt Resolution Calling For Cessation

VIENNA, Aug. 20—(AP)—A resolution abolishing duelling for all time has been adopted at the congress of Unitas, the most important league of Austrian Catholic students in science. Duelling was described as being beneath the dignity of humans and as not being the best means to defend honor.

Affiliated German Catholic associations have been appraised of the resolution.

SPUDS SLOUGH SANTONE, 15-4

Fussell Hurls Unbeatable Ball, LaFayette Busts Apple

The San Antonio Bears, apparently after having flirted with the top position all season, were kicked further under yesterday at Spudder park by Wichita Falls. The slugging Gardner outfit sloughed the huge Tiny Owens and Williams for a total of 21 base hits to cop a 15 to 4 victory in the series opener.

George LaFayette, Spud first sacker, led the willow attack with four hits, including a home run over the double tiered right garden parapet, and a two-bagger. Turgeon Jenkins and Fussell each contributed three blows to the Bruin downfall.

Mitze's macemen were powerless before the left-handed slants of the diminutive Fussell in eight innings of nine. Fussell had one bad round, the sixth, when everything seemed to go wrong with scratch hits taking the value of two-sack socks and the south Texans ploughing over for their quartet of markers.

Twin Bill Sunday

The second game of the series is carded today with a double header on the boards Sunday. Tom Estell is Manager Carl Williams' probable mound selection this afternoon. Tomorrow's double header starts at 2:30.

Start in Hurry

Fussell turned the biffing Bruins back in order for a starter and the home guard tore at Owens in the latter half of the first with a volley of base bingles that sent three runners shuffling across the platter. LaFayette opened with a rift between first and second. He was forced by Turgeon, but Jenkins dropped a single in left and Lamb followed with a streaking shot to the same sector scoring Turgeon. Tut drew up at third and Lucy cantered to second on the throw-in. Benton whipped a drive over second, scoring both. Tiny tightened down then and the next two batsmen bounded out to the inner works.

Fussell skidded into a jam after one was out in the second when he walked Segrist and Phipps slammed a soaring double against the right field boards. But the midget wronghander struck out Golvin, purposely passed Wirts, choking the runways and clamped the door shut in Owens' face. The big fellow bounded to Benton who tagged up on a forceout of Phipps. Fussell singled after there was one away in the Spud half of the round but LaFayette and Turgeon hoisted out.

Benton erupted with a full bloom double to deep center in the third after it looked like the Spudder bat pile had become mighty cool for a sunny August afternoon. There were two down. Fitzgerald was next up. Lanky Howard did exactly what should have been done. He took the trick with a lusty ace to center, Benton scoring with time to spare. DeFate closed with a rocket to Rabbitt.

Tony dropped a wind-tossed pop fly back of third base in the fourth, but retrieved the miscue on the next play, taking Phipps' lurid liner to short and doubling Segrist off first with a swift throw to LaFayette.

Came the sixth, one solid smack, a base on balls and a trio of phezz hits spoiled the party for Fussell. Flash popped to Jenkins, then Rabbitt outfooted a dragging bunt between the box and first. Bodie aviated to Fitz and Segrist pulled a pass. The base on balls made it two on and two out. Phipps struck a sour note, dashing a single to left that sent Rabbitt scampering home. 'Twas the solid smack. Golvin followed with a floozy pop to left center that Fitz made a gallant chase after but arrived too late, drop-kicking the ball on first bounce almost to the fence. The blow went for two-bases and two runs, both Segrist and Phipps tabulating. Wirts followed with a flopping roller that may or may not have been foul, and may or may not have taken off a corner of first base. Anyhow, she went as a two-bagger, Golvin legging it to the dish with the tying run. Fussell spiked further advance by fanning Owens.

The knot was loosely tied for the Spudders charged back in their half of the sixth and shelled big Tiny from the promontory and copped off another four-run lead. Lapan, LaFayette and Turgeon tore up the port palings with regulation-sized two-baggers. Jenkins and Lamb tagged up with one-basers. It was a heated barrage broken only by Fussell's infield out and not quelled until Williams, another Bear right-hander, was commandeered into service.

But this Williams person was punched full of holes in the seventh. He walked a pair and Fussell batted one of the walkees in with a sharp single to right. Then LaFayette closed in with his lofty homer over the right field wall, scoring two ahead of him. The boys weren't through yet, because Turgeon and Jenkins just naturally had to add another single apiece to their slugging averages. Both safeties slithered between first and second and Turgeon scored on Lamb's infield out.

The boys had on their hitting tuxedos and just naturally couldn't be checked. They busted right back in the eighth and counted a couple more for good measure on successive singles by DeFate, Lapan and Fussell, a base on balls and a sacrifice fly to center raised by Turgeon.

Romonoff Challenges Dutch To Return Match But Burly Monkey-Man Inquires 'Why?'

Billy Romonoff, New York welterweight mat speedster who lost to Dutch Mantell here Thursday night when it appeared he had victory cinched and in his clutches, Friday issued a challenge to the Dutchman for a return match.

Romonoff won the first fall in their Thursday tussle but lost the second on a sneak trip and slam to the middle with a knee. He apparently had Mantell beaten in the try for the deciding fall when the unrestrainable one kicked him in the stomach, knocking him out.

As far as straight wrestling was concerned, Romonoff had it all over Mantell. He declared yesterday he was firm in the belief he can beat Mantell any day in the week and if given a return go with him will beat him fairly and squarely without resorting to foul tactics.

In the Thursday match, it was agreed that absolutely nothing but the strangle hold, gouging and biting was barred.

Had Romonoff not turned his back on Mantell during an argument with the referee he may never have lost a fall. On points, he had had the better of the wily Dutchman up to that time.

Mantell yesterday said, "No, why should I wrestle him again? I've already beat him."

DURNED CATS WIN ANOTHER

Wee Dickie Holds Buffs to Four Hits in 5-1 Victory

FORT WORTH, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Dickie Kerr allowed his big league stripe here Friday afternoon when his masterful pitching defeated the Houston Buffaloes 5 to 1. There were numerous breaks during the game but they were fairly evenly divided. The Cats were behind Wee Dickie and the combination was irresistible.

Jacobus was unusually wild, walking seven men, often when the Buffaloes could ill afford to issue a pass.

Kerr lost his temper just once, when Umpire Fanning called him out at the plate when he believed he had not been tagged. He had stretched a single into a double and evidently his heart was set on scoring.

Beth Barely Avoids Licking by Eleanor

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Elizabeth Ryan of California, conqueror of Helen Wills and tournament favorite, barely escaped defeat today in her quest of the women's national tennis championship. It required all the pluck and determination of the 36-year-old veteran to ward off a brilliant driving attack by Eleanor Goss of New York. Miss Ryan won the patch at 3-6, 6-4, 6-0.

Other favorites earned their semi-final brackets with less difficulty, although Mrs. Molla Mallory of New York and Mary K. Browne of California were both extended to deuce sets in their matches.

Miss Browne, with a victory over Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., 7-5, 6-1, earned the right to face Miss Ryan tomorrow, while Mrs. Mallory vanquished Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin of Springfield, Mass., 7-5, 6-0.

TY TAKES TWO

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Detroit knocked the Athletics out of a second place tie by winning both games of a doubleheader here today. The scores were 4-2 and 5-4.

Earl Whitehill pitched good ball to land the opener. He held Philadelphia to six hits. George Dauss hurled well after relieving Wells in the third inning of the night cap and was credited with the victory. Score:

Gardner Seeks New Spud Talent In Southern Loop

Pres. J. Alvin Gardner checks out this morning for Memphis and other Southern Association cities in a hunt for 1927 Spudder material.

The Wichita Falls baseball magnate has several deals pending at the moment and is making the trip with the purpose of closing out the transaction in person.

Gardner has several players spotted expecting to purchase them outright, he said, providing major league clubs don't outbid him.

Title Fight Tickets Range From Three Dollars to $27.50

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20—(AP)—Tickets for the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney championship boxing bout to be held in the sequi-centennial stadium September 23, will be placed on sale next week. Prices will range from $3 to $27.50. In making this announcement today, Jules Aronson said that Tex Rickard, New York promoter of the fight, would come to Philadelphia Monday to establish publicity and ticket selling offices.

Several individual protests against holding the fight were made by clergymen today, but there has been no organized movement against it. In voicing his opposition, the Rev. George B. Pence, president of the Presbyterian Ministers association of Philadelphia, said he felt sure that some of the religious organizations would "express themselves strongly" in the matter.

Jack's Big Car Wanted By Kearns

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey today awaited possible materialization of rumors that a writ of attachment for a $15,000 motor car belonging to the Dempsey family was on its way to the training camp. This report reached the champion's camp yesterday and hinted that Jack Kearns, one-time manager of the champion, had sought such procedure as a preliminary step in his $333,333.33 suit against the heavyweight champion.

The report was not looked upon with any perturbation by Dempsey, those close to him said. They pointed out that the automobile is the property of the fighter's wife, Estelle Taylor Dempsey.

Corbett Boxes Osteen Here Monday In Fight Resumption, Says Don

Wichita Falls boxing activities, unofficially announced the first of this week as starting again last night, in truth is to resume Monday evening at the American legion arena, according to statement made by D. M. Wofford, fight promoter, yesterday.

A lively card, said Wofford, is being lined up with Pat Corbett returning after a year's absence from the local ring with a newcomer, as far as Wichita Falls is concerned, in the feature fight. Corbett meets Jack Osteen, lately of Denver, a tough and fast-stepping welter who although never appearing in a Wichita Falls ring before has defeated a number of fighters well known in north Texas and Oklahoma ring circles.

Corbett returns after a successful tour through the middle west and Pacific coast where he met and defeated a number of the nation's leading welterweights.

Osteen, incidently, who has relatives in Wichita Falls, comes heralded as an exceptionally strong crowd pleaser. For a period he worked under Tex Rickard, it is said, in Madison Square Garden fights, later going to Denver where not long ago he won a newspaper decision over the dangerous and speedy black, One-Step Watson. Before going to Denver, Osteen is said to have fought in Kansas and Oklahoma where among others he defeated Bernie Irvine, Sid Young and Leonard Fox, all of whom have fought in Wichita Falls and are comparatively well known here.

Tyler Slugger Hits Sixtieth Home Run

TYLER, Texas, Aug. 20.—(AP)—"Big Moose" Clabaugh, Tyler outfielder, East Texas league, tied the home-run record for organized baseball here Friday when he hit his sixtieth four-bagger of the season in the game with Paris. The drive was made in the eighth inning and easily cleared the fence. The record is held by Tony Lazzeri of the New York Yankees. He made the record while playing with Salt Lake in the Pacific Coast league in 1925. Clabaugh has two more games to play this year.

Dallas Cops In Extra Session

Brainard and Williams Bat 6-5 Victory Over Shippers

DALLAS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Dallas poled a 6 to 5 victory over Beaumont Friday by championship tactics. It took ten innings, however, to show the Exporters the way to go home.

Rhino Williams, lame Steer, inserted as a pinch hitter in the tenth with the score 5 to 4 in favor of the Exporters walloped the sphere to right field and brought in Gross and Brainard.

Beaumont players had scored two runs in their half of the tenth. With the game apparently gone by the boards, the Steers cavorted up with much confidence. Moore walked, Gross was hit by a hurler, and Brainard singled scoring Morse. Then came Williams' timely hit won it.

Royal Leader To Make Auto Tours Through America

PARIS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The people of the United States soon are to see one of the most handsome and astute members of European royalty—Queen Marie of Rumania.

At the end of next month the queen will leave for New York. It is her hope to visit each of the 48 states of the union and probably the chief cities of Canada. She will not adopt an incognito but will travel as a queen. Therefore, he will be unable to visit the homes of citizens as a formal guest and will put up at hotels, except when in Washington where she probably will lodge at the Rumanian legation.

She desires to travel through the United States as much as possible by automobile so that she may obtain an intimate view of American life.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet and irregular again today the bulk of business being attributed to further evening up in preparation of next Monday's government crop report. After selling off early to 16.65, December rallied to 16.78 and closed at 16.72, the general market closing steady, net two points higher to two points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of two points to a decline of four points, but the market was unfavorably impressed by the relatively easy showing of Liverpool, and prices showed net losses of about two to five points in early trading.

A private crop report estimating the condition at 63.4 and the indicated yield at 15,860,000 bales may have led to some selling at the start but offerings were comparatively light, and prices steadied in the forenoon on another private report estimating the condition at 62.3 and the indicated yield at only 14,908,000 bales.

October sold up to 16.82, while January rallied from 16.75 to 16.84, net advances of about four to nine points on the general list, but the day's weather news evidently made rather a favorable impression on sentiment and prices eased off again during the afternoon. October sold off to 16.69 and January to 16.78. Closing prices were within three or four points of the lowest.

The average of six private reports so far published pointed to a condition of 65.3 and an indicated yield of about 15,351,000 bales. The average of the same reports issued toward the end of July made the condition 69.3 and the indicated yield 14,942,000 bales. The difference between the various private figures on the indicated yield was regarded as promoting uncertainty with reference to the showing of next Monday's bureau, and some brokers considered the comparatively small volume of business as suggesting that accounts had been pretty well evened up for over the week-end and the approaching report.

Exports for the day were 25,216 bales, making 219,064 so far this season as against 156,289 last year. Port receipts today 14,874. United States port stocks 65,754.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The cotton market was quiet today, being under the influence of the bureau report due Monday. There was little disposition to enter upon new commitments, and such trading as developed was principally in the way of evening up transactions. Although the opening was slightly easier in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables, prices losing 1 to 4 points in the initial trading, the market soon rallied owing to the numerous reports of damage to the crop by insects particularly in Texas. Prices gained 6 to 13 points from the lows and reached levels five to nine points above the close of yesterday. Following this morning bulge, the market fluctuated narrowly for the rest of the session, advancing on a few buying orders and receding on small selling. Near the close the market eased off on long liquidation and on a rumor that a well known private authority would estimate the crop at 16,100,000 bales. The close was near the lows, showing 2 points net decline to 2 points up.

The first trades showed losses of 2 points to gains of 2 points. Price eased off slightly after the start to 16.69 for October and 16.59 for December or 3 to 4 points under yesterday's close. These were the low points of the day.

The market soon rallied, however, on covering and October traded as high as 16.80 and December 16.72 or 11 to 13 points up from the lows and 8 to 9 points above the previous close.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The stock market alternately blew hot and cold today as control of the price movement shifted from one speculative group to another. Prices pointed upward at the opening, fell back around noon when United States Steel common broke below 150, rallied in the early afternoon, turned heavy again around the end of the fourth hour and rebounded again at the close. Many of the popular industrials established their lowest levels of the week during the session.

Renewal of selling pressure was influenced largely by three factors; the report that steel mill operations this week had fallen below 80 per cent for the first time in several months; that announcement that several large operators who had been working for higher prices were sailing for Europe within the next few days, and rumors questioning the solvency of a large financial institution inside the financial districts. The buying, on the other hand, represented much short covering by professional traders.

At their low prices of the day, such recent favorites as U. S. Steel, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, United Cigar Stores and United States were selling 7 to 10 points below their recently established high records, while General Motors at 197⅝, was nearly 30 points below the year's top, but it rallied above 200 at the close.

A sudden demand for Delaware and Hudson, which carried that issue up over 7 points to 174¾, the highest price since 1912, over shadowed all other developments in the rail group.

Call money ruled unchanged at 4½ per cent with funds again in plentiful supply.

Time money and commercial rates held steady. Foreign exchanges displayed a firm undertone. Demand sterling ruled steady around $4.85½ but French francs were nearly five points higher around 286½ cents. Japanese exchange touched the highest rate in four years at 48 3-16 cents, or within 2 cents of gold parity.

An advance of 1½ to 2¾ cents a bushel in active wheat futures, based on unexpected strength in foreign markets and a large export demand, featured the commodity markets. Cotton closed practically unchanged, with trading being limited largely to evening up transactions, pending publication of the government report on Monday. Sugar and coffee prices were firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Exporters and millers competing gave the wheat market a lively hoist today. Fully 1,000,000 bushels of North American wheat was bought for shipment to Europe in addition to as much more the day previous. Closing prices here for wheat were unsettled, 1⅜ to 2⅜ net higher, with corn ⅛ to ⅝c up, oats at ⅛@¼ to ⅜c advance, and provisions unchanged to 17c down.

A still greater volume of export business appeared feasible today, if exports could get the wheat. Mills, however, were sharply after good grades and exporters had a difficult time in consequence. Meanwhile it was announced that exports of wheat and flour this week from the United States and Canada totalling 9,419,000 bushels against 5,325,000 bushels a year ago, comprised by far the biggest part of world's shipments. Even aside from the large export business in evidence, the market for wheat available to be used at once was distinctly tight with word at hand that weather northwest is further delaying the spring wheat harvest, while domestic, while domestic winter crop arrivals are rapidly being reduced.

Indications of a big shrinkage of wheat yield in France were given particular notice. Heavy profit taking sales had only a moderate effect and most of the day's advance was held at the last.

Corn and oats owed their firmness chiefly to wheat.

Provisions reflected the course of the hog market.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Hogs, 16,000; higher; heavy sows $10.65@11.15; heavy hogs $11.85@13.15; medium $12.50@14.00; light $12.85@14.10.

Sheep 8,000; higher; western lambs $14.25; natives $14.25@14.50; fat ewes $6.00@6.50.

EDITOR'S CUT

tees, and explained that owing to the delay and absence of some of the speakers, a portion of the program would be carried over to Saturday.

Sam Roberts of the Haskell Free Press substituted for Fred Story of the Childress Post, who was absent in leading a discussion on "Systematically Covering the Local Advertising Field."

Ben Myers of the Electra News led a discussion of "Systematically Covering the Local News Field," and in this several interesting comments by members were made. Both discussions were interesting and instructive and took all available time for the afternoon. All other matters scheduled were postponed to Saturday.

In the afternoon the editors witnessed the battle between the San Antonio Bears and Wichita Falls Spudders, pennant contenders in the Texas League.

The most interesting and enjoyable feature of the day's program was the banquet, tendered the editors by the Wichita Daily Times and Wichita Falls Record News, at the Wichita club in the evening. The banquet started out, as all banquets do, with a rather tasty feed; and huge mountains of stiff formality and reserve, which vigorous speakers proceeded to plow down with free and easy speeches.

Leading in the onslaught were H. W. Standley, advertising specialist of Dallas, Hubert M. Harrison of the chamber of commerce, and Mayor Shepherd.

There were other entertaining parts of the program as well. Mayor Shepherd and Mrs. Shepherd entertained at song and piano, the mayor leading in group singing and Mrs. Shepherd accompaning on the piano. Mrs. J. S. Pittman gave an impressive reading and followed with a clever song, her husband accompanying her on the piano.

Other speakers for the evening were E. L. Covey, Jack Barnard, Col. Gray, formerly of the New Orleans Times-Picayune, who was a visitor with the editors; Robert L. Baldridge, president of the Texas Press association, also a visitor; Harry Cauck of Quanah; Ed Howard, Ben Williams and Will Edwards.

The banquet lasted through several hours of fun and amusing entertainment, and the editor adjourned for a busy time on today's program.

Several addresses are scheduled for today's session, including those not taken up Friday. There will be one talk of unusual interest—that of Richard H. McCarty, who will deliver the annual oration. Ben L. McDonald of the Burkburnett Star will conduct a question box and will be assisted by A. W. Cline of the Bowie Blade.

The matter of the selection of a convention place for 1927 will also be taken up today as well as the election of officers.

Meade Perfects Bond; Is Released

Charles Meade, held on a charge of robbery with firearms in connection with the episode on Taylor street on the night of July 17 when Charles Marshall of Tulsa was shot and killed perfected a bond of $5,000 Friday, W. W. Meade and A. L. Henson, both relatives, signing the bond with him. The perfecting of the bond released Meade from the county jail where he has been held since July 18, when he was picked up by city police and underwent a purported identification by Henry Marshall as one of two men who are alleged to have held him up as he drove into his garage on the night of the shooting. Although Marshall states that to the best of his knowledge there were only two men in the garage at the time, the body of Charles Marshall, his cousin, was found later with five bullet holes in his body, near the place, and J. F. Lindley was arrested the day after at Seymour with a bullet wound in his hand, brought to Wichita Falls and charged also with complicity in the alleged hold-up.

Meade's bond was first set by Justice of the Peace R. V. Guinn, and later affirmed in a habeas corpus hearing before Judge E. G. Thonton of the 30th district court.

Final Expense Accounts Filed

The last of the candidate's expense accounts prior to the holding of the second primary election was filed with the county clerk Friday by Ray Blancett, candidate for constable, precinct 4, listing disbursements at $69.10.

Friday was the last day on which accounts might be filed, according to the law.

VAG CHARGE FILED

Complaints of vagrancy were filed in the court of Justice of the Peace O. L. Gribbs Friday naming four members of a carnival troop now in the city. The complaints were filed at opening of court Friday and shortly after bonds of $12.30 each were forfeited when the defendants failed to appear. The total of the bonds forfeited was $49.20.

Soviets Honor "Black Pope" in State Funeral

The body of the man credited with many sensational executions under the Soviet regime is seen being carried through the Red Square, Moscow, by a group of men high in power, including Stalin, third from the left. AIR MAIL IS SPEEDED UP

Men Set Records in Carrying Packets Over Country

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. — (AP)— Through a dark night, made blacker by menacing storms and gales, two pilots of the United States air mail drove their planes westward into daylight for a new record of five hours and 27 minutes for transmission of mail from New York to Chicago. A third pilot, taking off here in a murky sky, completed the triumph by landing St. Paul shortly after noon with a cargo of mail started from New York a scant ten hours before.

Fights Gale.

Pilot Earl Ward, who only a few weeks ago helped to establish the previous record between New York and Chicago, started from New York at 3:17 o'clock this morning with the night mail which should have left New York at 9 p. m. He ran into a stiff gale above the Alleghaney mountains but penetrated it and soared over Bellefonte, Pa., at 5:22, landing in Cleveland shortly after 6 p. m., with a mark of three hours and three minutes from New York.

At Cleveland the mail was tossed into the plane of "Bill" Williams, who pressed on westward and landed his cargo in Chicago at 8:44 a. m., less than five hours and a half after it had been started from New York.

At Maywood field, between gusty showers, Pilot Ed Ballough of Charles Dickinson's Chicago-Twin cities mail line, took off at 8:54 with the northwest mail contained in New York-Chicago cargo. Before 1 p. m. he landed at St. Paul, completing a record of a few minutes more than nine and a half hours from New York.

The previous air mail record between New York and Chicago was five hours and thirty-six minutes and that was made on the eastbount voyage where the fliers profited by favorable winds not encountered on a westward trip. The record for the west found flight is upward of six hours, postal officials said.

The schedule from New York to Chicago calls for eight hours and forty-five minutes while the schedule from New York to St Paul is thirteen hours and thirty minutes.

The two records set today are complimented by a seasonal record chalked up yesterday by the Salt Lake City-Cheyenne air mail which George Pomeroy, pilot, carried in two hours and 57 minutes. The distance is 417 miles, and the average flying time is 3 hours and 15 minutes.

HOPE IN MEXICO.

Believe End to Religious Strife May Be Coming.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Considerable hope has been aroused, with what justification remains to be seen, that the religious question may be solved, as President Calles has suggested in a communication to the Catholic episcopate, by bringing the matter before congress with a view to securing a constitutional amendment, or before the supreme court for a decision amending or modifying the religious clauses of the constitution.

FERGUSONS TO TEMPLE

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and James E. Ferguson will leave Saturday morning for Temple, where Saturday night they will make their first speeches of the run-off campaign. They will be accompanied by their daughter, Miss Dorrace.

Governor Ferguson has indicated the Temple speech will be the only one she will deliver. Mr. Ferguson will make four other speeches.

SUPPORT FOR MOODY

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—State Senator Charles R. Floyd of Paris and Hawkins Scarbrough, judge of the Navarro county district court, in letters to Dan Moody's headquarters here have pledged him their support in the run-off primary, Ernest May, assistant attorney general said Friday.

Judge Scarbrough actively supported Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in the first primary.

BRIDGE CLOSED

BURKBURNETT, Aug. 20.—The Red river toll bridge was damaged Thursday night by the caving in of the sand on the Oklahoma side loosening two piles. Traffic was held up for half a day for repairing. The vehicles and cars were allowed to pass about 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

Houston Worker Worried Over Domestic Affairs.

HOUSTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—After firing three shots into the wall of a telephone booth Friday to impress William T. Neale, a friend, on the other end of the telephone line, that he was committing suicide, Ben J. Herbelin walked unwounded to his desk, got another pistol and shot himself through the head. He died almost instantly.

The shooting occurred in the office of a compress and warehouse company in Harrisburg, a suburb, where Herbeline was employed as superintendent. Two fellow employes, R. L. Dalberg and B. T. Christensen, witnessed the suicide, they told Justice Overstreet. Neal said Herbelin was worried over domestic affairs.

ABILENE, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Hon. Joe Burkett, campaigning in west Texas for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's gubernatorial candidacy, this evening announced cancellation of all dates for places in the Panhandle north of Kress and announced speaking dates at Clyde, Baird, Putnam and Cisco for Thursday, Aug. 26 at Rising Star, Brownwood and Brady on the following day. GANG FIRE DROPS A FOE

Another Chicago Man Is Laid Low By Machine Gun Load

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Gangsters swept a withering fire into the closed sedan of Joseph Nerone here early today, killing him before he could empty his own revolver at his foes, who, it is reported may have used a small calibre machine gun in the slaying.

Nerone, the fifth of a group of Chicago Heights rum runners, died on one of the five famous "death corners" in Little Italy, where "Blackhand" shootings were common a few years ago.

Shortly after the slaying Pete Genna, brother of three slain leaders of the liquor gangs here, was arrested and held on suspicion although police could not connect him with the shooting. Genna was reported to have fled to Italy when his brothers were slain in a rum war. Another brother, Sam, is here. Pete Genna said he only recently returned from Italy.

Nerone was a nephew of Phillip Piazza, alcohol czar of Chicago Heights territory, who was slain by gun fire in front of his cafe a month ago, and but a few days after James Lamberto and his woman companion were shot from ambush. At the time of Piazza's death, police said 10 men were marked for death, and today they remarked that six more would go before the present chain of slaying would be considered ended. No evidence of legal nature, however, is available to substantiate the claims of police. Frank Camera, Hammond, Ind., is the other victim of gangsters' bullets, who was killed shortly before Piazza.

Nerone was in his sedan near a curbing when his slayers sped by opening fire. He drew his gun, stepped to the running board and fired but two shots before a string of leaden pellets punctured his forehead, dropping him to the curbing.
