Spraberry Well Is Indicated In Dawson County

Cities Service Oil Co. has reported a flowing Spraberry discovery at the No. 1-B Leveret, 10 miles northwest of Lamesa in Dawson County.

The oil flowed on a drillstem test of the Spraberry from 7,690-726 feet. Gas surfaced in seven minutes on the four - hour test, with oil surfacing in two hours. The project flowed 24 barrels of oil, natural, in the next two hours. Shakeout was .2 of one per cent drilling mud with no water. Gravity of the oil was 38 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 348-1.

After the tool was closed, the drillpipe unloaded 11.8 barrels of oil.

Open flowing bottomhole pressure on the test was 280-360 pounds, with 30-minute shutin pressure 2,698 feet. Top of the Spraberry was called at 7,430 feet on a datum of minus 4,366 feet.

The No. 1 - B Leverett was originally contracted to 12,500 feet for a test of the Ellenburger, and it is understood that the project will be deepened.

The drillsite is about 25 miles northwest of the Spraberry - Deep field in Southeast Dawson County, where the first Spraberry production in the Permian Basin area was opened.

NOLAN TEST

Wilshire Oil Co. No. 24-128 Spires, Nolan wildcat, is drilling ahead below 7,236 feet in lime and shale after making no shows on a Pennsylvanian drillstem test.

The test was run from 7,120-174 feet in a sandy lime section. The tool was open one and one-half hours. Recovery was 15 feet of slightly gas cut mud with no shows with 15 minute shutin pressure the same.

DRILLING NOTES

Hassie Hunt No. 1 Mary G. Gatlin, Southwest Scurry test, is drilling below 7,233 feet in shale.

American Trading No. 2-A Elmer Howell, Southeast Scurry Ellenburger test, is drilling in shale below 5,923 feet.

Superior and Intex No. 14-598 R. H. Jordan, Northeast Borden project, has reached 8,025 feet in shale and lime and is drilling ahead.

Pan American No. 1 Pauline Hamlin, Northwest Howard tester, is drilling below 4,330 feet in lime and shale.

Ohio No. 1 Gaskill, West Kent wildcat, is drilling in shale below 6,080 feet.

West Nations Meet On Treaty

LONDON (AP) — Deputy foreign ministers of the Big Three Western Powers meet again today to see what can be done about an Austrian independence treaty despite Russia's refusal to attend the conference.

Prospects for a solution to the six-year impasse were not bright. In rejecting the invitation to the meeting, the Soviets indicated they were standing pat on terms they have held to throughout the protracted negotiations.

Russian notes delivered Saturday to the American, British and French Embassies in Moscow also insisted the West must scrap its idea of an abridged treaty and accept the Soviet demand that the Trieste issue be considered along with any Austrian settlement.

Dispatches from Moscow said hopes for any agreement between the Soviet Union and the West were at about their lowest ebb.

Diplomats here privately suggested that the deadlock was due more to the cold war itself than to any inability to agree on the terms of a treaty. This view was supported by Austrian government officials, who unofficially indicated they believe Russia has no desire to get out of the country and no intention of doing so in the foreseeable future.

DROUGHT DISASTER HAY HERE

The first two carloads of government subsidized hay for drought areas were unloaded here early today. One car load shown on the trucks above was for Weldon Johnson who said it will feed his 700 head of cattle for about 30 days supplemented by meager grazing his pastures will afford. Shown from left are: I. L. Finley, PMA official here; Lindy Clark, feed dealer charged with responsibility of receiving, unloading, weighing and collecting for hay; Tommy Forrest, Junior Duke, Billy Wills, Chunk Smith, and Weldon Johnson. Income Taxes Become Biggest Issue In Presidential Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Who paid how much income taxes became a major issue in the presidential campaign today.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee, put Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican standard bearer, on a political spot by disclosing that he shelled out $112-980 to the federal government in income taxes in the last 10 years.

Stevenson, in effect, challenged his opponent to make a similar tax listing.

There seems no doubt at Eisenhower regional headquarters here that the general had earned much more than Stevenson's reported $500,052 income in the same period, but had paid much less in taxes.

The Democratic answer to the emotional $18,000 expense fund incident involving Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, the GOP vice presidential candidate, found no immediate reply in the Republican camp.

The Democrats' end-around political play appeared to have caught the Eisenhower advisers wondering how they could explain satisfactorily a ruling by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The bureau had made a ruling permitting Eisenhower to keep three fourths of the income he received from his book, "Crusade In Europe."

This ruling—similar to others in some like cases — premitted the general to pay only 25 per cent tax instead of the higher income rate, because he was held to be operating outside his usual field of activities when he furnished the information for the published volume.

Perhaps with something of this in mind, Stevenson laid down last night a summarization showing he had received a total income from 1942 through 1951 of $500,062 on which he paid income taxes of $211,980.

Eisenhower worked on campaign speeches at his home yesterday, after attending morning church services.

Aides of the candidate said there would be no Sunday comment on income taxes or any other topic.

Working on the speeches with Eisenhower were his top adviser, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire. They were to continue the task today.

Aides said Eisenhower had no appointments scheduled for today at his Hotel Commodore headquarters.

In the Democratic camp—apparently on instructions from Stevenson, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the vice-presidential nominee, said he would make a "full disclosure" of his personal income.

Sparkman made the statement yesterday when interviewed in Washington on the NBC television program, "Youth Wants to Know."

The nominee disclosed his assets and told what his earnings, outside of his congressional salary, were.

Sparkman, referring to Stevenson's statement that the two Democratic candidates would give out their income tax figures for he past 10 years, said he would do that "as soon as I can get to it."

Democrats thought the promised Sparkman "full disclosure" might be considerably more explicit than the heralded full disclosure of financial operations made by Nixon in a spectacular radio-television broadcast last week. These Democrats said Nixon failed to make any real accounting of his income as Sparkman plans to do.

The contrast between the Stevenson-Sparkman incomes and expenditures and the Eisenhower-Nixon incomes and outgo may be emphasized by the Democrats in the next few weeks of campaigning.

Eisenhower flies out of here tomorrow to Columbia, S.C., in a third invasion of Dixie territory where he hopes to harvest some electoral votes in the November election.

Chamber Gets Air Pledges

The Chamber of Commerce has received 25 replies this morning to their requests for air service pledges from Scurry County residents.

Leon Huff, chamber manager, said the pledges indicate 107 trips will be taken per month, 1018 air mail letters, 100 express packages and 2,635 pounds of air freight will be sent. Huff said he expects 100 to 200 more replies to come in.

Scurry county residents will be canvassed all this week, Huff said.

The chamber is seeking the pledges because Josh Lee, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, indicated that the county would probably get temporary air service if workers here would show that it would be profitable for an airline to land here.

The committee urged all persons who believe they might travel by air as little as once a year to fill in the pledge in the chamber offices. The pledges are not binding.

British Speed Demon Dies In Boat Explosion

LOCH NESS, Scotland, Sept. 29 (AP)—The jet-propelled speedboat Crusader blew to pieces in cloud of smoke and spray on Loch Ness today, carrying British Speed Ace John Rhodes Cobb to death at a three-miles-a-minute clip.

Cobb, out to break the world hydroplane speed record, was traveling at about 200 miles an hour, witnesses said, when the speedboat disappeared in a flurry of spray and was scattered in pieces about storied Loch Ness.

Cobb's wife saw her 52-year-old speed demon husband race to his death. She hid her hands in her face and turned away as the boat exploded. Cobb was picked out of the water still alive, but died a few moments later.

When the smoke and spray cleared, only four pieces of the wreckage could be seen from the shore, and these quickly disappeared beneath the waters of Loch Ness, fabled home of the horny-headed Loch Ness "monster."

The Crusader was roaring down the course toward the end of its first measured mile. The 31-foot speedboat, latest of Cobb's many racing vehicles, was skipping up and down over the surface.

"Suddenly," said G. E. Nicholson, a hotel manager who witnessed the accident, "it disappeared in a flurry of spray and disintegrated."

RoundupOfCommunists

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, (AP)—A roundup of suspected supporters of last week's abortive Communist revolutionary plot has netted more than 1,000 persons, informed sources said last night. Hidden arms caches still are being found.

The nation had been under a state of seige, a modified from of martial law, since Friday.

U.S. Gets Few Mexican Cattle With Ban Off

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Few, if any, Mexican cattle have gone into the United States since the ban against importing the animals was lifted.

That was the report today from the National Live Stock Producers Association's monthly magazine.

Cattle imports from Mexico had been prohibited since 1946 because of an outbreak of foot and mouth disease in the country. The U. S. Department of Agriculture had predicted that a half million head of cattle would be imported into this country during the first year after removal of the ban.

But the cattle producers' magazine said several conditions are retarding trading.

"One of the principal reasons," the magazine said, "is that per capita meat consumption in Mexico is 40 pounds a year, of which 30 are beef. Some 2,600,000 head of cattle are required annually to meet domestic consumption.

"Also, 19 packing plants were established in Northern Mexico between 1947 and 1952. These plants have become an integral part of Mexican economy and many officials believe that export taxes on meat may be lower than those for live animals in order to keep these plants operating at capacity."

The magazine said there were reports to indicate the Mexican government plans to tax exports of live cattle at $7 to $13 a head. The U. S. Tariff would be added at the rate of 1½ cents a pound for cattle weighing more than 700 pounds, 2½ cents a pound on weights 200 to 699 pounds, and 1½ cents a pound for those weighing under 200 pounds.

Another City On Adlai's List Of Texas Stops

DALLAS, Sept. 29 (AP)—A fourth Texas City, San Antonio, has been added to the speaking itinerary of Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, chairman of the Stevenson-Sparkman Campaign Committee of Texas, announced today that the fourth city will be added to Candidate Stevensons schedule and that the Illinois governor will be accompanied by Sen. Lyndon Johnson during his two-day campaign swing through Texas.

Gov. Stevenson will speak first at Fort Worth at about noon Oct. 17. Then he will visit Dallas, Houston and San Antonio during his two-day visit.

The site of Gov. Stevenson's Dallas address was not definite.

Truman Calls Gen. Ike Front For Lobbyists Of 'Special Interests'

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP)—President Truman today bitterly denounced Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's charges of corruption in government by calling him a "front man for an unholy crew" of lobbyists using that issue as "a political football."

Truman tore lose with one of his most scathing attacks on the Republican presidential nominee in a "whistle stop" speech at Fargo, N. D., where he told a trainside crowd they'd better hesitate about returning the Republicans to power if they "want to avoid a third world war."

Eisenhower, he said, "seems to be listening to some strange advice so far as foreign policy is concerned."

The President tackled the issue of corruption in his administration on his first formal whistle stop speech of his 8,500-mile, 15-day coast to coast tour. He said he had been "getting rid of wrongdoers" over the "opposition of Republicans in Congress."

Truman made an earlier rear platform appearance at Breckenridge Minn., where he spoke off-the-cuff.

Other "whistle stop" talks were down for Grand Forks, Larrimore, Lakota, Devils Lake, Minot, Berthold, Stanley, Tioga, Williston in North Dakota and Wolfe Point, Mont.

He said of the Eisenhower who once quoted Truman as saying Truman would support him for anything he might want, including the presidency, that the general has swallowed the propaganda of the special interests, "hook, line and sinker."

"He may not know it," Truman said of Eisenhower, "but he has become a front man for the lobbies.

"They are sending him around the country with advance agents to put up bill boards and balloons and pass out the confetti. They have plenty of money to put into these things. The Wall Street bankers are just pouring it out."

Truman said Eisenhower admits he's trying to win the election by "appealing to the people's emotions, not to their intellects."

"That 's why you won't find anything in most of his speeches except slogans, generalities and scare words," the President said.

"I think it's insulting to the American people to tell them they make up their minds according to their emotions, and not on the basis of the great issues that are before them."

Truman called Eisenhower a candidate "who has spent all his life in the Army and doesn't know much about what has been going on in the United States."

To the farmer he said:

"The last time you had a Republican administration your farm mortgages were being foreclosed so fast you couldn't count them."

"Are you covered by social security or railroad retirement?" he asked. "Are you counting on that to help you in your old age? Then you'd better look out. The Republican candidate for president said if the American people want security the best place to find it is in jail.

"Above all, let me ask you: Do you want to avoid a third world war? Then you'd better look out. The Republican party seems to be listening to some strange advice so far as foreign policy is concerned."

Truman said that Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, has everything required for the presidency, "great ability, experience in civil government, humility and deep feeling for the common people."

As for his own administration, Truman declared "the record is good."

"We've crushed the Communist conspiracy in this country," he said. "And we've stopped the advance of communism all over the globe."

He said the communists "have been stopped cold in Korea" and that they "haven't crossed another frontier since, anywhere in the world."

Murder Attempt Charge Sought Against Negro

The grand jury was called back into session this morning to investigate cases passed from its last session and to investigate felony charges filed since it last met.

One case being investigated today concerned Buck Shaw, 37-year-old Negro being questioned upon accusation of assault with intent to murder another Negro.

Shaw was arrested Saturday afternoon following an incident in the Negro section of town in which Jasper (Jack) Parker, 37-year-old Garland Negro was assaulted and wounded with a knife. The incident occurred about 6:30 o'clock, Merritt said.

Parker suffered a four - inch laceration on the left side of his neck and was taken to the Battenfield Hospital by Lloyd Merritt, sheriff, shortly after the incident. Merritt, who quoted the attending physician as saying the laceration lacked only about the thickness of pencil lead piercing the jugular vein, said he confiscated a knife, about a foot long from Shaw, who was arrested at the scene.

Parker said he and Shaw "had had a few words" and that he (Parker) had walked to the door of the place they were in when the assault occurred. Both men were to see the grand jury this morning.

Parker said he was living here temporarily while working on a repair job on a lease north of here.

Church Of Christ Is Allowed Sunday Service

ROME (AP) — The American-led Church of Christ last night held its first public services in three weeks as police temporarily lifted their ban on activities of the evangelist group.

Cline R. Paden, Brownsville, Tex., head of the church in Italy, said Italian authorities "let us understand this is only a temporary concession" that expired after last night's services.

NO RAIN IN SIGHT

September faded toward October Monday with blue skies, warm days and comfortably cool nights.

If there is any use to say—there was no rain.

Winds—what there were—were light, gentle and variable, mostly southeast.

Just like Sunday, the state and most of the nation was in a stable, high pressure system. Most maximum temperatures in Texas Sunday were in the eighties and nineties. Presidio was the hottest with 97 degrees and the lowest was Galveston's balmy 83.

For Tuesday—same thing again, the Weather Bureau said.

Allies Pound Hill They Lost Shortly Before

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Allied artillery and warplanes pounded Chinese Reds astride Big Nori on Korea's Western Front today. Counterattacking Communists won the peak yesterday from Greek soldiers after the Greeks accidentally were bombed by four U. N. fighter-bombers.

On the East-Central Front the Chinese brought up their own artillery and tanks to support a 1,500-man assault on eight Allied positions across a 10-mile stretch. They captured one hill position, but late reports said the other attacks were stalled.

U. S. F86 Sabre jets pounced on a flight of Communist MIG15s in Northwest Korea today and the Air Force said two Red warplanes were destroyed and two damaged. Three MIGs were downed yesterday.

Greek troops attached to the U. S. 3rd Division captured Big Nori early yesterday and staved off three Red counterattacks.

Then, just as the Chinese stormed up the hill a fourth time, four F80 Shooting Stars swooped down in support of the Greeks. The U. S. Eighth Army said some of the bombs fell short and exploded on the southern slope where the Greeks were fighting.

An Army spokesman described it as "one of those unfortunate things of battle."

Preliminary reports said only a few Greeks were hit. The spokesman said flatly it was the Chinese, not the bombs, that knocked the U. N. troops off the hill.

South Korean troops stuck grimly to Capitol Hill and Finger Ridge on the East-Central Front despite heavy Red attacks today.

The one hill captured by the Communists is four miles east of Capitol Hill, which is eight miles east-southeast of Kumsong.

House Committee Is Defending Construction Of African Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long-lambasted builders of the 421-million-dollar North African air base system found friends today in a House subcommittee.

The house appropriations subcommittee on military construction had some kind words for the military and civilian builders of the U. S. bases in Morocco and some admonition for critics—although the House members didn't mention the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Committee by name.

Following by a few months the sharp and critical report of the Senate group which charged waste and confusion in the construction of the African Airfields, the House committee issued its own things, that:

1. The "notoriety given the Moroccan air base construction" was based "in large measure on a fragmentary record."

2. As the House committee's investigation developed facts, "a picture appeared substantially different from the one previously placed before the public. The implication that little had been acomplished was false. By the time these hearings began in April, 1952, less than a year after ground had been broken, two giant airfields were in use, and a third was well on the way to a condition of use." (The program involves construction of five bases.)

3. "As far as the charges themselves were concerned it was seen that some were indeed based on fact and represented constructive criticism. Many, however, were exaggerations, or that type of half-truth which emphasizes faults only based either on falsehoods, gross and ignores the amount of work done and the difficulties under which the job had to proceed."

The bases are being built under direction of the Army's Corps of Engineers, which is headed by Lt. Gen. Lewis Pick, to specifications of the Air Force. The construction contract is held by a group of firms combined under the name Atlas Constructors.

The House subcommittee report took secrecy wraps off some details which indicated the size of the chain of bomber and jet fighter bases being built for American planes to help defend Europe and the Mediterranean "life line" if the Kremlin starts war.

One bomber field has a runway 14,000 feet long, 200 wide. Some of the fighter plane runways, which also can be used for medium bomber operations by such planes as B29s and the newer B47 jet bombers, have 9,000-foot runways.

The house group agreed there had been difficulties, that as one witness who came before it said, the program at one stage was "sick" but recovered. However, the committees' report and the two volumes of testimony that accompanied it set forth reasons for some of the problems encountered.

First, the committee contended there was the urgency and haste which existed when the projects were started. The Korean War had begun and it was feared a general war might be imminent.

"This was the state of affairs under which the work began rather than the calmer moments in which we evaluate decisions taken with the benefit of hindsight," the report said, adding:

"A most serious circumstance was the lack of advance planning."

The Army Engineers had not been notified of the great extent of the project until the emergency suddenly arose, although the Air Force had been considering the program since 1948.

Elsewhere the testimony also dealt with the contractors' difficulties in recruiting labor in the United States because the program was delayed until the building season here had made heavy demands on the labor market.

Texan Held In Fatal Shooting

DELTA, Colo., Sept. 29 (AP)—A 59-year-old farmhand from Tulia, Tex., was in jail here today as an inquest was held into the fatal shooting of Night Marshal John Stiff, 55, of Paonia, Colo.

Sheriff Leonard Wilcox said no charges had been filed against the Texan pending the outcome of today's inquest.

Wilcox said Stitt was shot yesterday when he went to the home of Mary Ruth Griffin, 20, to have her sign a complaint against the farmhand, who claimed to be the young woman's husband.

Paonia police had been told that the Texan had forced the Griffin woman at gunpoint to go with him on an auto ride. The young woman said she and the man ostensibly had been married at Cheyenne, Wyo., in 1950, but she said the ceremony was illegal.

State Not Asking Death Rap In Murder Trial Of Socialite

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 29 (AP)—The state said today it would not ask the death penalty for Mrs. Mary Jean Parsons, young Tulsa, Okla., socialite charged with killing her husband.

Mrs. Parsons, 21, sat quietly in the courtroom between her parents when her trial for murder opened today.

Her second husband, Lt. Richard O. Parsons, 24, was shot to death as he lay in bed in their El Paso apartment last Feb. 16. The couple had been married less than a month.

Mrs. Parsons, a blue-eyed blonde, came to court in a white sweater and blue skirt. A few times her mother, Mrs. Burton Fleeger of Tulsa, whispered to her, but the daughter said nothing.

Fleeger spoke to the prosecuting attorney, with a "Good morning, Bill," when District Attorney William E. Clayton of El Paso came in.

Clayton told a reporter before the trial began that he would not ask the death penalty.

Judge Arthur Tipps opened proceedings by having the roll of 178 veniremen called and then started listening to pleas on statutory exemptions.

Reporters noted that Mrs. Parsons, once very slender, had gained weight since the shooting.

Except for a sanity trial, at which she was adjudged sane, she has been, in quiet seclusion at a private sanitarium in Dallas, Timberlawn, since the shooting.

A venire of 350 was to be cut by pre-trial excuses—and 36 witnesses were expected to be on hand today when the trial started at 8 a.m. (CST) in Judge Arthur Tipps, 30th District Court. The case was moved here on a change of venue.

The legal batteries for both sides, meanwhile, were impressive. For the defense there were O. B. Fisher of Paris, Tex., chief of the defense staff; Leslie Humphrey and C. C. McDonald, well-known Wichita Falls attorneys; and H. A. Fryer and Coyne Milstead, both of El Paso. McDonald is a former secretary of state and assistant attorney general.

For the prosecution, there were El Paso District Attorney Bill Clayton and his assistant, Jack Fant; Wichita Falls Dist. Atty. Alan B. Haley and George W. Anderson, Haley's first assistant and district attorney-elect.

The case began last February when Mrs. Parsons walked into the El Paso police station flanked by attorneys and said she had killed her husband.

She had waited several hours after the shooting, she said, to phone her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Fleeger of Tulsa, to tell them of the shooting. Fleeger hired the El Paso attorneys by telephone after his daughter had told of the shooting by telephone.

The pretty, blue-eyed and nervous young blonde told officers she shot her husband after they had argued over financial help her parents were giving the newlyweds. Parsons, whose home was Pleasantville, N. Y., had objected because her parents were helping so much, she said.

The sanity trial was held last May in El Paso. Attorney Fisher then told a jury Mary Jean was insane when she twice pulled the trigger of a .22 pistol just inches from her husband's head.

A brother had testified that he told his mother, Mrs. Fleeger, that "Mary Jean is crazy," but added that the mother forbade him to ever say such a thing again.

Mrs. Parsons has been in the Dallas sanitarium while free on $50,000 bond.

CHECKING GUNS

Fulbright Opposes Raising Fund Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright said today both Republicans and Democrats are devoting too much attention to probing each other's political and expense funds.

"I don't think that any of these people on either side are dishonest corrupt politicians," the Arkansas Democrat told reporters. He added:

"All of this obscures the real fundamental issues of the presidential campaign and leaves the impression with the public that everybody is corrupt."

Fulbright was commenting on the special expense fund for Sen. Richard M. Nixon, the Republican vice presidential nominee, and the Illinois campaign fund of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, used to augment salaries of key state officials.

Fulbright said the charges and counter- charges "develop a name-calling and low-level campaign."

"That's bad enough in a campaign for a county constable," he said. "It certainly has no place in a national presidential campaign."

Fulbright said he agrees with Nixon that senators from larger states, such as California, do not have large enough salaries and expense funds from regular sources.

He added that members of Congress "are too sensitive" in voting on their own pay and allowances and this should be done by an outside commission of non-governmental leaders.

Reds Hard To Put On Trial In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese Communists are giving this nation's courts and judges their biggest, most painful headache in riotous trial scenes.

Like Communists the world over, Japanese Reds have developed special techniques when one of their number is arrested and accused of a crime.

Red defendants refuse to stand trial peaceably. Their lawyers insist on repeated delays. Once in court they use every weapon of psychological warfare to harass the judges—from technical appeals to direct personal attacks on court personnel.

Japanese judges, still remembering the days when they conducted hearings in the name of the demigod Emperor, are at a loss in dealing with this brand of trouble-making.

Under legal reforms imposed in postwar Japan, the courts have been stripped of their power to cite defendants or spectators for contempt of court.

However, this will be remedied in part by a newly enacted law which provides for minor fines and imprisonment up to 20 days for persons who disturb the order of the courts.

On Sept. 19 the courts began hearings of 248 Reds and sympathizers suspected of planning and executing the bloody May Day riots in Tokyo. One rioter was killed and about 200 injured in the melee, including rioters, police and some American spectators, in front of Emperor Hirohito's palace. About a dozen American-owned automobiles were overturned and burned.

The court decided to try the defendants eight at a time in separate chambers. That gave the Reds a welcome opening. They insisted that all 248 be put on trial in the same courtroom. They ignored the court's argument there wasn't a chamber in Japan that could handle that large a trial.

When the first eight hearings opened, the Reds were well prepared. Their lawyers carried briefs attacking everything from the jurisdiction of the courts to the number of police on hand.

The spectator sections were filled with friends and relatives of the defendants. The hearings quickly developed into disorderly mob scenes. The accused and their friends in the galleries heckled the court and screamed epithets at the unnerved justices.

One organized group surrounded Japanese reporters sent to cover the trials and beat them unmercifully.

One after another the magistrates adjourned the hearings for a week and retired to their chambers in confusion.

When eight more hearings were attempted the following day, the Reds repeated their performance with the same results—the trials were postponed.

Air Force Officers Crash Before Crowd

RUIDOSO, N. M., Sept. 29 (AP)—Two Air Force majors from Laughlin Air Force Base, Del Rio, Tex., died in a flaming plane crash here yesterday.

Scores of spectators watched as Maj. J. H. McElrath and Maj. Bart McKee crashed their training plane a scant 200 feet from them.

But the fiercely burning flames prevented any attempt at rescue. None of the spectators, gathered at the airport here for auto speed tests, was injured.

Five Concerts For Year Set By Association

The Snyder Civic Music Association will begin its season of five concerts with the initial presentation of a vocal duo next month, Mrs. O. J. Weber, secretary of the association, announced today.

The membership drive just completed brought in more than 600 members.

Booking arrangements for the five concerts were made Saturday by directors of the association following final reports from membership campaign workers. The series will include, in addition to the first program, the duo - piano team of Ferante and Teicher, the National Operatic Sextette, Benno Rabinoff, violinist, and Hugh Thompson, baritone.

The vocal duo, Roberts and Walker, are the original Gilbert and Sullivan duo. They won acclaim while traveling with a Gilbert and Sullivan troupe in England, and have later appeared on many programs in this country.

Each person who purchased membership in the association marked a ballot indicating his personal preferences in the type of programs to be presented here.

Membership tickets will be mailed within the next two to three weeks, Mrs. Weber said. A calendar indicating the dates of concerts will be included with each membership for the convenience of association patrons. No single concert admission tickets will be sold.

Drunk Driving Fine

A fine was paid in county court this morning for Mrs. Helen Fikes Shumacher, 27, of 1915 Coleman Avenue, by her husband, Roy Schumacher, when she pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under influence of intoxicating liquor.

Her fine was $50 plus court cost of $23.50.

The pilot of this Royal Air Force Firebrand fighter plane certainly made his presence known when he paid a visit to the British carrier, HMS Illustrious, during NATO naval exercises of "Operation Mainbrace." Here the Firebrand is about to foul the right wing on a flight deck fitting. The plane slewed into the 'island' with the wingtip broken off and the propeller damaged. The pilot, who was making his second approach after narrowly missing the mainmast on the first try, climbed out of the plane uninjured. He was flown back to his own carrier, the HSM Eagle, by helicopter.

Gunshot Wounds Bring Death To Four Persons Over State

(By The Associated Press)

Death by gunfire, coming in a flurry of shootings across the state, boosted the state's violent deaths to 11 for the week end.

Four persons met death from gunshot wounds and seven others died in traffic accidents as the automobile rang up its usual heavy toll.

Charles Holder, 24, Dallas, was killed and three other persons were injured when their car ran off a farm-to-market road near Paris, Tex., and smacked into a tree late Sunday night.

Saturday night in Fort Worth, a make-believe boys' gun-battle turned into the real thing and ended in tragedy. Joseph Howard Brewster, 14, was killed by another 14-year-old youth who had secured a real gun.

LUFKIN GUN FIGHT

One man was killed and three persons wounded Saturday in a shooting scrape at a Lufkin residence. Tommie Tatum, 42, was dead on arrival at a hospital. Wounded were Tatum's wife, Thelma, also 42, her son-in-law, Junior Sharpe, 23, no relation to Tatum and Tatum's stepson, J. R. Smith, 21, a son of Mrs. Tatum by a previous marriage.

Near San Antonio, Burt Joseph Tuttle, 44, was killed Sunday in an accident while he and his two sons were target shooting. Police said Tuttle, a plumber, had taken his family to a ranch south of San Antonio for an outing. His 10-year-old son, Frank Eugene, was carrying a rifle when he stumbled and fell. When Tuttle tried to help the boy up the gun discharged sending a bullet into the father's face.

GUN KILLS RANCHER

A. R. Shipp, 47, of Kent County in West Texas was found dead of a gunshot wound Sunday in the kitchen of his ranch home. Justice of the Peace L. H. Matthews withheld a verdict pending further investigation. Shipp's wife told officers she heard a shot and rushed into the kitchen as her husband fell dead with a head wound.

A head-on car crash near Lufkin Saturday killed two persons and injured five others seriously. Dead were Homer Thomas Brumbelo, 40, and Mrs. S. S. Frazier, about 45, both of West Columbia.

An aged Burnet woman was killed in a two-car smashup in downtown Austin Saturday. She was Mrs. Stella Wills, 81, a passenger in one of the cars. A negligent homicide charge was filed against Lt. Max G. Gibson of Bergstrom Air Force Base.

KILLED CHASING APPLE

Gisele Sarah Berrebi, 7, was killed in Houston Saturday when struck by a car while chasing an apple she had dropped. She was the daughter of Roger Berrebi, whom immigration authorities are trying to deport on the ground he was a Communist in Tunisia in 1937.

Dave Robinson, 72, was fatally injured when a car hit him at a Corsicana street crossing Saturday night.

At Dallas Earl Eugene Curtis, 41, a Negro waiter, died when his car crashed into a utility pole.

Broken Neck Doesn't Hold Up Wedding Plans

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Jean E. Bullbeau didn't let an auto accident that hospitalized her with a broken back upset her wedding plans.

She and T. Donald Williams, 19, a sailor stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Ill., exchanged marriage vows Saturday in the chapel of Syracuse University Hospital. The bride lay on a stretcher.

Mrs. Williams, who was injured two weeks ago, must remain in the hospital another month. Her husband has a week's leave and will be seeing her—during visiting hours.

Maryland boasts that there is no hay fever in Garrett County in that state.

Pays To Help Save Government Money

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—For years Wendell H. Davis watched the Army producing expensive and partly illegible copies of construction drawings for its thousands of field operations.

A civilian construction engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, he began to study the problem in 1947 and finally hit on a photographic method of making legible copies at only a fraction of the cost.

Davis' idea saved the government nearly a million dollars the first year it was in operation.

It made him the top money winner this year among Army civilian employes receiving cash awards for efficiency suggestions.

Uncle Sam gave Davis $1,606 — and then took $400 of it back for income taxes.

Davis, 52, now stationed at engineer headquarters here, is a native of Ruston, La. He spent much of his life in Chicago, Ill., where he studied engineering at the Lewis Institute. He plans to buy a farm in Illinois and settle down there when he retires. The award money will help to buy the farm.

A number of army employes have made more money out of their suggestions than Davis.

All-time top suggester is Richard Norian. While in charge of packing ammunition for the Chicago Ordnance District in 1944, he gave his superiors an idea which saved the Army five million dollars the first year and won him a $2,750 award.

He found that the inner packing containers for ordnance items shipped from the factories were sold as scrap for $23 a ton after they had been used. They cost $500 a ton.

Norian suggested simply that they ship the stuff back to the factories for re-use, instead of selling it.

The ways to economize devised by unknowns in the government sometimes seem so obvious that the system previously in vogue might have been called "Operation Bonehead."

Take the case of Paul A. Salvo, a young fellow in the Atlanta, Ga., office of the Army, who won $941. In his purchasing work for the Army he saw how much serious trouble the service had at that time in finding the lumber it needed.

At the same time the Army was getting its reservations cleared of forests by having private logging firms remove the timber.

Salvo simply said to the Army: Why not use your own timber and just hire someone to cut it and process it?

The employe suggestion system was first used in the Army by the Ordnance Corps in 1912. The Navy put it in operation in 1917 at the suggestion of Undersecretary of Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was adopted throughout the armed forces in 1943.

New destination will take it into the Ellenburger.

Bird Migration Seen At Night Sheds Light On Old Mysteries —

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—A lot of moonlight will be shed this fall on the age-old mysteries of bird migration.

The trick will be accomplished by amateur and professional bird watchers who answer an appeal from experts at the Museum of Zoology, Louisaina State University, to train telescopes at the full moon and report the birds seen crossing its face during the fall migration period now under way.

A telescope of 19 power or more must be used, and one that shows the whole face of the moon.

Moon watching for this purpose, done widely for the first time in the last few years, already, has yielded amazing information. George H. Lowrey Jr., curator of the museum, expects the observations of more than 200 volunteers this fall to provide still further details. Sightings will be taken from Northern Canada to Southern Mexico and in 46 states of the union.

Writing in Audubon Magazine, Robert J. Newman, assistant curator at the museum, related that Dr. Lowrey started the project in 1946.

Here are some of the things learned already:

Florida is not the popular migration path supposed.

Rarely do birds fly in flocks at night.

Instead of migrating all night, or migrating just after sunset and before sunrise, birds seem to rest in early evening and before dawn, and fly the most around midnight.

Birds sometimes fly southward in spring, and tend to ride prevailing winds to their destination.

Dr. Lowrey's first objective was to determine whether birds actually cross the Gulf of Mexico on migration as long supposed or whether they detour it as some recent theorists hold. He recalled that observations of birds flying across the face of the moon had been published half a century ago but had not been pursued because there seemed no good way of evaluating such information.

Taking his problem to Prof. W. A. Rense of the Department of Physics and Astronomy at Louisiana State, he got a solution. Mathematical formulas could be applied to tell the number crossing a mile of the earth's surface in an hour.

The observer jots down the apparent size of the bird, its speed, the clarity of the focus, and the direction and curvature of the bird's path. Directions and dimension are estimated in relation to the moon. A pamphlet telling just how to do it is available from the museum.

Going to Mexico, Lowrey saw indications that birds by the tens of thousands were hurtling through the night out across the gulf towards Texas and Louisiana. But he realized soon that the system contained far greater possibilities than checking on trans-gulf migration.

Friends in 30 localities around the country fed him information in 1948—a total of some 10,000 observations. Evaluating it took twice as long as getting it in the first place, but simplified grafs and methods have now speeded up this process.

It was the first time that the volume of migration could actually be studied, either by day or by night. A daytime observer sees birds, but doesn't know whether they actually are coming or going or just hanging around.

Oscar Hammerstein Will Portray Self In Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For the second time in his notable career, Oscar Hammerstein II is turning actor. But it's merely to further his lengthy romance with the theater.

America's most successful writer of lyrics and musical plays will portray himself in a film called "Main Street to Broadway." It will be a co-operative affair featuring most of the Broadway stars and benefiting the Council for the Living Theater. The latter is aimed at pumping life back into the legit theater, now undergoing one of its periodic illnesses.

Hammerstein was here to visit his grandchildren and the touring company of "Souh Pacific". I asked him about his two widely separated acting chores.

"The first was when I was a young man," he related. "I was stage manager for one of my uncle's plays, and the script called for the stage manager to come onstage and say a few lines. So I played myself. But the play only lasted three weeks. I don't know if my performance had anything to do with that, but it certainly didn't help.

"Funny thing, I always wanted to be an actor. I did a lot of it in college, where I could write my own material and direct and produce myself in it. But afterwards nobody would give me a chance to act. I guess my family, being so close to the theater, didn't want me to become an actor."

The man who wrote the words for such shows as "Show Boat" and "Oklahoma!" will again be playing himself in "Main Street to Broadway." He will do a theater lobby scene with his partner, Richard Rodgers, and their wives.

"The script calls for me to ask someone for a match," Hammerstein mentioned. "Which is very interesting because neither Dick nor I smokes."

Speaking about his favorite topic, the theater, Hammerstein admitted that the last season on Broadway was a bad one. "But I suspect there have been worse ones," he said. "Back in the '20s there were some good plays. But there were lots of others running that were pretty bad.

"That's the trouble with the stage today; there is no margin for error. A show has to be a tremendous hit or it can't last. You used to be able to salvage some money out of a show that wasn't a smash. But now a show that isn't acclaimed can close in three nights.

"Rising costs are another great problem. My uncle used to put on plays for $7,000. Nowadays the minimum for a straight play is around $70,000.

"The problem is also a creative one. There doesn't seem to be much design to the era we are living in. No wonder it is difficult for playwrights to find something to write about."

But he has no doubt that the theater will survive, as it always has. "Since the beginning of time," he observed, "there have always been people who wanted to show off, and there have always been people who wanted to listen and watch."

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Since the revival of "The Male Animal" on Broadway, the Snyder Little Theater has made a substitution in its schedule of plays for the year. "Petticoat Fever" is the new play which will be under consideration when the try outs are held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. Sunray Recreation Hall at the Sunray Gasoline Plant is the place. The play calls for Eskimo costumes, and there will be a place for a male actor with an English accent, according to Mrs. DON SHAFFER, who announced try outs.

Simultaneously with the announcement that J. Evetts Haley, Texas cowman and author, will address the board meeting of the District 7, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at Canyon Thursday, comes the announcement of Mr. Haley's new book. "Life on the Texas Range" is a book of range pictures taken by Erwin E. Smith. The running commentary was written by Mr. Haley. Another book presumably about Texas is making its debut this week. Edna Ferber's "Giant" will sell and provoke comment, whether or not readers agree about the fiction.

You may be surprised to learn that there is one place in the civilized world where it is not only proper but desirable to leave the spoon in your coffee cup. That place is the dining - car of a fast-moving train.

This bit of information comes, not from Emily Post, but from the Canadian National Railways. It was included in a recent feature on train etiquette which said. "A spoon placed in the cup will break the waves created by the motion of the train and keep the coffee from sloshing out of the cup."

Sloshing coffee has been a problem to railroads since the day the first diner set out on its maiden trip. What have the railroads done about it? One railroad adopted a straight - sided and flat bottomed cup which is said to eliminate part of the problem.

All Is Not Rosy In Home, Little Women Are Insisting

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP) — Out of 100 wives in two big New York housing developments, more than one-fourth like nothing at all about housework; more than half hold jobs, and the husbands of 63 per cent help with the housework.

Those facts came to light recently when the women answered a questionnaire.

Once they started talking, the women also disclosed that the husbands of about four-fifths do not get a regular night out; that one-half think their education failed to prepare them adequately for careers of home-making and that 84 per cent would not want to be a man.

The survey was conducted by Town and Village, a weekly newspaper covering Stuyvesant Town and Peter Cooper Village, huge postwar housing developmenst erected by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. on East Side Manhattan.

No one pretends that it gives the lowdown on the average American matron. Forty-four per cent of the women who participated are in the $5,000-$10,000 income bracket—and all have incomes of $3,000 or above. The average age of the women is 34 and the average number of children in their families is 88.

Twenty - six per cent reported they only partially enjoy motherhood. Five and a half per cent said they do not enjoy it. The remainder said that they definitely do.

Of the 52 per cent who hold jobs, 29 per cent work because they like it, not because of economic necessity. The rest reported they work partly because it is necessary and partly because they wanted to.

Sixty-three per cent have a regular family budget and stick to it. More than half save regularly.

Of the 69 per cent who hold college degrees, 91 per cent are married to college graduates. In most cases their husbands have more education. Eighty - one per cent plan to send their children to college.

All the women said they vote in national elections. Thrity-six per cent identified themselves as independents, 25 per cent each as Democrats and Republicans, 10 per cent as members of the Liberal party and 3 per cent as members of the American Labor party.

Sixty-five per cent said they did not believe that a man has any special advantages and 62 per cent said they did not believe a woman has any special disadvantages in the modern world.

Discussing home life, 80 per cent said they shared regular interests with their husbands; 37 per cent said they had no differences with their husbands, 21 per cent differed over relatives, 17 per cent over "rebellious attitudes," 10 per cent over disciplining the children, 9 per cent over sex.

Sixty-eight per cent said they took active pleasure in sex; 21 per cent reported only passive enjoyment.

Strawn Test Is Made On Well

Plymouth Oil Co. is believed to have possibilities of a Strawn discovery at its No. 1 Foster, Midland County wildcat.

On a one-hour and 45-minute drillstem test of the Strawn from 10,559-640 feet, gas surfaced in 15 minutes. The rate was estimated to be from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 cubic feet per day. The water blanket flowed out in one hour and 20 minutes, with oil flowing at the top in one and one-half hours.

Oil flowed for 15 minutes through a five-eighth-inch choke at the rate of 20 barrels per hour. Recovery was 1,080 feet of clean oil and 225 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud estimated to be 50 per cent oil. Gravity of the oil was 43.7 degrees.

Top of the pay was at 10,555 feet on an elevation of 2,894 feet.

Operator is now drilling ahead to test the Bend lime of the Pennsylvanian.

The No. 1 Foster is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 11-4-T&P.

MAMIE APPEARS IN ROBE

Mamie Eisenhower, wife of the Republican presidential nominee, greets a crowd of 200 persons before dawn when General Eisenhower's train made a stop to pick up ice on the way into the Southland. The pre-dawn stop at Salisbury, N. C., was not a planned "whistle stop" for the train, but the crowd, yelling "We Want Ike", forced the candidate and his wife to don bathrobes and come to the train platform.

Social Security Pensions Are Increased By High of $8.60

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—That old fellow who worked in your office until he retired a few years ago when he turned 65—

If his job was covered by the social security system he is due for a little increase this coming week in the check he gets each month from the government.

Congress raised payments to retired workers because the dollar was buying so much less than it was when the pension system was set up.

Your old friend is a widower with no children under 18 and earned $3,000 or more a year for some time before he retired, he has been getting a check of $68.50 a month. His October check will be $77.10.

If his wife is still living and is also over 65, they have been getting $102.80 a month. Now they will get $115.70.

Raises in pension checks will be $5 or 2½ per cent, whichever is bigger, but with a maximum of $8.60 a month.

The increases apply all along the line. Take a retired widower who has been getting the minimum check, $20 a month. He will now get $25. A man and wife in been getting $30, will now get $37.50.

These increases will total 325 million dollars in the calendar year 1953.

If the worker has died and there are survivors, their checks also will increase. Survivors under the law include widow, children under 18 and — in the absence of widow and children — aged parents.

Their checks are based on how much the worker earned and the number of years he worked on jobs covered by the pension system.

For example, a widow who has been getting the minimum check of $15 a month will now get $18.80. Maximum survivors' checks, paid if there are a widow and three children, will go up from $150 a month to $168.50.

People retiring after having worked at least 18 months since Jan. 1, 1951, get checks slightly higher than those who retired earlier.

The law was changed in 1951 so that workers are taxed on the first $3,600 of their annual earnings. Previously they had been taxed on the first $3,000.

Pension checks are increased for those who have worked, and have paid the higher tax, for at least 18 months.

Here is the way those differences will work out in the October checks for those who have been taxed on $3,000 and $3,600.

A retired widower who paid the lower tax will get $77.10 a month. The widower who has paid the higher tax for at least 18 months will get $85 a month.

A retired worker and wife under the old tax will get $115.70 a month. Under the new tax a couple will get $127.50.

If the worker in the higher pension group has died, his dependents will get higher checks. Widows, children — or aged parents if there are no other survivors — will receive from $18.80 to $63.80, depending on how much the dead worker earned for how long he worked on an insured job. The old range was from $15 to $51.40.

Wine Sales Are Up As Whisky Sales In Slump

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wine sales for the first seven months of this year were 7 per cent greater, by volume, than in the January-July period last year, but sales of hard liquors were down 8 per cent.

The estimates were made by the Census Bureau from confidential reports submitted by 431 wine and distilled spirits wholesalers in 28 states and the District of Columbia.

The survey was confined to "license" states which do not have state control or monopoly distribution at the wholesale level.

NOSE, THROAT,
and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

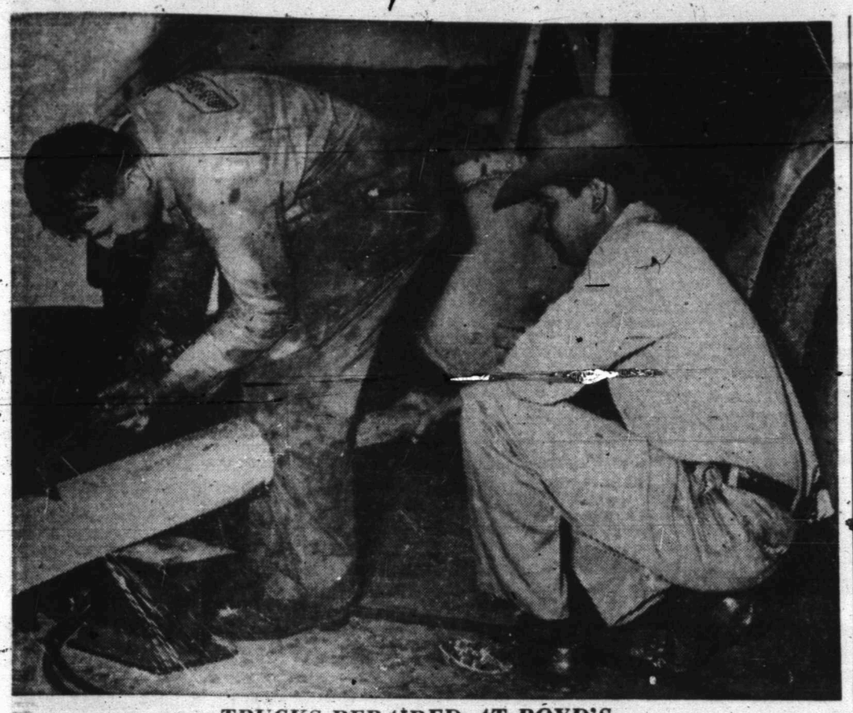
THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY



TRUCKS REPAIRED AT BOYD'S

Dry weather with the resultant shortage of tractor overhaul jobs has caused the shop department of Boyd's Farm & Ranch Store, located on the East Highway, to become an automobile and truck repair center. A. C. Morgan, left, and Bill Boyd, owner of the firm, are shown repairing a large diesel transport truck in the shop. (Lee Watson photograph.)

Better Farming Methods Will Be Demonstrated This Week

Two special better farming demonstrations will be given this week by Boyd Farm & Ranch Store on the East Highway to farmers and ranchers of this area, Bill Boyd, owner of the Allis - Chalmers tractor and implement agency, said.

First of the two will be a plowing demonstration on the Bill Sterling farm four miles west of Ira on the north side of the road to Lake Thomas. There at 10:30 Thursday morning the Allis-Chalmers WD tractor and three-bottom moleboard plow which won the national plowing contest recently will be demonstrated there, Boyd said.

The second demonstration will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Boyd Farm & Ranch Store. It will include a film showing a new method of harvesting and curing hay that gives farmers and ranchers five times as much hay in both tonnage and food value to livestock as can be saved by conventional harvesting methods, Boyd said.

The new method of saving feed is centered around a new ensilage machine which operates in the field to take advantage of the high food value and extra weight of green feeds, rather than waiting until the feed has dried.

"Not only does the farmer or rancher get many times as much hay and food value by the new method, the entire operation can be done by one man compared to the old method of bundling, shocking, and hauling that required a crew of high priced laborers," Boyd said.

Because of dry weather recently the shop department of the firm has supplemented automobile and truck repair, when tractors would have normally kept the shop full.

In the feed and seed department of the store, Boyd has recently received a big shipment of lawn fertilizers, that will insure better looking lawns next summer if used properly this fall and winter, Boyd said.

Texas American Legion Sets Sights On Goals For Membership In '53

AUSTIN, Sept. 29 (AP)—A budget of $124,655 for the new year has been adopted by the executive committee of the Texas American Legion.

The group made the budget recommendation yesterday and set a membership target of 96,308. The 1953 state convention was set for Beaumont, Aug. 7-9.

The executive committee voted to do all possible toward getting congress to authorize construction finish of a 2,000-bed veterans hospital at El Paso. An appropriations cut halted construction of the hospital for mental patients in 1949.

In another action, the group decided to use pink Texas marble for construction of its new state headquarters building now under construction in Austin. The Texas material will cost about $4,000 more than Missouri marble called for in the original plans.

Mexican Candidate Says He's Not Beaten Yet

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 29 (AP)—Losing Presidential Candidate Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman yesterday still refused to accept his defeat at the polls, but denied rumors he would head a revolt.

During a birthday fiesta at his home here, Gen. Henriquez told reporters: "I am at the service of the people; I will do whatever the people command."

Asked bluntly, "Will there be a revolt," he replied: "There will be no revolt."

One reporter pointed out that Congress already has approved the results of the July 6 elections, and has declared Adolfo Ruiz Cortines next president of Mexico. Gen. Henriquez replied sharply: "Congress has approved, but not the people."

Louisiana Has Adlai Support

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)— Four Louisiana Democratic party officials here for a six-state party strategy conference, say their state will vote the Democratic ticket in November.

One of the delegation labeled Louisiana Gov. Robert F. Kennon "our mugwump governor" because of his endorsement of the Republican Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

The group—Dr. George S. Long, brother of the late Sen. Huey P. Long; Leroy Chanler of Alexandria, William J. Erkison of New Orleans, Democratic state committee vice chairman, and Severn T. Darden, district attorney at New Orleans—arrived last night in the vanguard of party officials for the Southern Regional Conference opening today.

The Louisianians said they are shelving intra-party differences in the face of a determined effort by Republicans to win the November election.

"We raise Cain with each other in Louisiana but we unite for a common cause," Chandler said.

Dr. Long predicted that "regardless of our mugwump governor, we will give Gov. Stevenson a big majority Nov. 4."

Officials from Kentucky, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee and Texas League for three yeears, has planing conference.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 29 (AP)— More than 100 persons, including 12 minors, were rounded up in vice squad raids here yesterday as police carried on clean-up operations in newly-annexed areas.

Police Chief R. D. Allen said the work would continue.

Allen said most of yesterday's raids were in areas that had been warned previously.

Sparkman Says Funds To Have Little Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman says he doubts the "Nixon fund" controversy will have any great impact on the Nov. 4 presidential election.

The Alabama Democrat was interviewed twice yesterday, over CBS-radio last night and NBC-television earlier, about the $18,235 fund raised privately for California's Sen. Richard M. Nixon Sparkman's Republican opponent for vice president.

Asked whether he would accept such a fund, Sparkman replied:

"I personally would not."

He said he had never had a fund of any kind, not even a campaign fund. He said he has managed to save money each year since 1936, when he first was elected to the House. He moved to the Senate in 1946.

He said he did not want to pass judgment on the Nixon fund or on donations Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said he used to attract good men to appointive posts with the Illinois state government.

As to his personal finances, Sparkman said:

"I've made it a point all my life to put some of my money into savings. I've bought government bonds and they've matured. I've bought insurance certificates and they've matured."

As soon as he can find time, Sparkman said, he will release a breakdown of his income for the past 10 years, as Gov. Stevenson did yesterday. An article in yesterdays New York Times, Sparkman added, gives a general picture of his financial status.

The story, quoting Sparkman, lists these principal assets:

Life insurance of $50,000; about $20,000 in government bonds; some $10,000 in stocks; a $675 business investment; a $35,000 home in Washington on which about half of a $20,000 mortage is paid off; a home in Huntsville, Ala., built for about $4,500 in 1927 and paid up; a 150-acre farm near Huntsville bought for $3,000; about $4,000 in cash savings, and a 1950 Buick and a 1946 Chevrolet.

Sparkman said his wife's income is "her personal affair." He said Mrs. Sparkman is his office receptionist at a base pay of $4,500 a year and owns 49 per cent of radio station WAVU in Albertville, Ala.

Hurricane Heads To Sea; Another Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Charlie, the season's third, sped northeastward in the Atlantic off Nova Scotia today but Hurricane Dog was dead.

Charlie still packed winds up to 100 miles an hour near the center last night and was whirling toward the far northern shipping lanes at 15 to 20 miles per hour.

Meanwhile, Dog had dwindled to a squally wave with winds of only 30 to 40 miles an hour over a small area.

It was located about 600 miles east-northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and nearly 1,600 miles east-southeast of Miami, moving slowly in a west-northwest or northwest direction.

CUSTOM BUILT BOAT

R. T. Howard, left, and Harold Denson, look over a hand made boat built by Vaughan Trailer Co. here. Howard made the upholstered seats for the boat in Howard's Trim Shop on the East Highway. Denson furnished the 10-horse power Mercury motor for the boat. Bill Vaughan, builder, says his firm will make boats to order for anyone, and he expects a big business in that line as soon as Lake Thomas catches more water. (Lee Watson photograph).

Doctor Lets Fly At American Medical Association In Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The doctor-chairman of a presidential health commission said today organized medicine should cease "its current policy of proclaiming that it alone . . . can decide what the average doctor should think about the pressing problems of the day."

Dr. Paul Magnuson, head of President Truman's controversial "Commission on the Health Needs of the Nation"—whose formation has been sharply critized by some members of the American Medical Association—said in an address prepared for the annual Scientific Assembly of the District of Columbia Medical Society:

"From the bottom of my heart I want to say this . . . to every doctor in this country: It is our plain and simple duty as doctors to furnish leadership in every national, state and community effort to look into ways of improving health conditions in America.

"If we abdicate this responsibility; if, like Marie Antoinette, we say 'Let them eat cake,' then other elements in our society will take over and we will find ourselves under a distasteful system of medical care.

"If organized medicine is to retain its rightful place or esteem in uor society, it had better cease and desist at once from its current policy of proclaiming that it alone can decide whether there are any health problems in this country, and it alone can decide what the average doctor should think about the pressing problems of the day."

Magnuson did not define what he meant by "organized medicine."

He made the statement in relating his reasons for accepting President Truman's appointment last November to hear the commission under a directive "to make a critical study of the nation's total health requirements . . . and to recommend courses of action to meet these needs."

"I told the President," Dr. Magnuson said, "that I was unalterably apposed to compulsory national health insurance, and that I would never be a party to any scheme designed too further such a plan."

(President Truman has repeatedly advocated legislation that would provide such a national health plan under a federalized tax system. The AMA has spearheaded opposition to such a system, declaring it would mean "socialized medicine.")

"The President said," continued Magnuson, "he was not necessarily committed to any one plan—if any group could come up with a better series of proposals than the ones he advocated, he would be the first to support them if they would insure better health for all the people."

Magnuson said the commission—composed of representatives of medical, organized labor, farm, industrial, consumer, educational and other fields—would make its report and recomendations in the near future.

Fire Takes Mother And Four Of Her Children

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Flames which roared through a small frame house in a lonely mountain area wiped out the lives of a 25-year-old mother and four of her five children.

The father escaped but was critically burned in the blaze yesterday morning. The other child was staying with his great-grandmother.

State police listed the victims as Mrs. Imogene Bays, Gloria, 4; Evelyn and Terry, both 2, and Brenda Sue, 5 months.

The father, Teddy Mack Bays, 30-year-old electrician, hobbled a mile to report the blaze, clad only in a blanket.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

GALLUP POLL

Poll Shows Ike Is Holding Wide Margin In California

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., Sept. 29—Despite Gov. Earl Warren's fears that California is a "doubtful" state for the G.O.P., the latest Institute test of voter sentiment finds the Republican party today running well in the lead in California's presidential race.

Whether Gov. Adlai Stevenson's recent barnstorming tour of the state has changed sentiment remains to be seen. The bulk of today's survey was completed before his tour had ended.

The poll also does not reflect popular reaction in California to the revelations concerning Sen. Richard M. Nixon's $18,000 fund.

Institute interviewers put two question to each California voter in today's survey. One dealt with the choice of party in the presidential race.

The other asked each voter his preference as between Stevenson and Eisenhower. The vote on this latter question shows Eisenhower running from 4 to 5 points ahead of his party in California today.

Here are the results in California on the two survey questions:

"If the presidential election were being held today, which POLITICAL PARTY would you like to see win—the Republican party or the Democratic party?"

Fifteen per cent were undecided but a considerable number of them were willing to indicate which party they "lean" toward. Including these "leaners" the results are:

CALIFORNIA
(32 Electoral Votes)

Republican	54½
Democratic	40½
Still undecided	5

"If the presidential election were being held today, which CANDIDATE would you prefer — Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, or Stevenson, the Democratic candidate?"

Those who indicated a preference or a "leaning" divide as follows:

CALIFORNIA

Eisenhower	59
Stevenson	37
Still undecided	4

Comparison With 1948

It is instructive to compare today's poll on party strength with an Institute poll in 1948 at approximately the same date.

On Sept. 23, 1948, the Institute reported the following figures for California:

Dewey	46
Truman & Wallace	46
Undecided	8

When this is compared with today's standings, it can be seen that the Republican party is from 8 to 9 points stronger today in California than the Dewey ticket was at the same time four years ago.

In the 1948 election, Dewey recevied 47.4 per cent of the total vote cast in California.

* * *

DEMOCRATIC VOTE DROPS

Although the governor and both U. S. senators from California are Republicans, in presidential races the G. O. P. has not carried the state since the Hoover-Smith election of 1928.

Republican can take comort from the fact, however, that the Democratic percentage in presidential elections in California has declined steadily since the Roosevelt landslide of 1936.

Truman and Wallace — 52.6 per in 1948, partly because Henry A. Wallace's candidacy split the Democratic vote.

Still the combined percentage for Truman and Wallace — 52.6 per cent — was far below what Franklin D. Roosevelt customarily polled in California.

In California, the declining trend of the Democratic vote in presidential elections can be seen from the following table:

HOW CALIFORNIA HAS VOTED

	Democratic	Republican
1948	52.6	47.2
1944	56.8	43.2
1940	58.1	41.9
1936	67.9	32.1
1932	61.0	39.0

Includes 47.8 per cent Democratic plus 4.8 per cent Progressvie (Wallace) party.

* * *

THE "BIG 4" STATES

Of the "big four" states — New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California — California is at present the most Republican in the 1952 presidential race, judging by Institute surveys.

Here are the results previously reported for the other three states:

NEW YORK — Republican 50 per cent, Democratic 43 per cent, undecided 7 per cent.

PENNSYLVANIA — Republican 53 per cent, Democratic 40 per cent, undecided 7 per cent.

ILLINOIS — Republican 47 per cent, Democratic 42 per cent, undecided 11 per cent.

For the nation as a whole the figures are: Republican 51 per cent, Democratic 42 per cent, undecided 7 per cent. There is evidence, however, that most of the 7 per cent undecided are pro-Democratic in outlook.

If ALL of them went to Stevenson, the race nationally would be narrowed to 51 per cent Republican, 49 per cent Democratic.

GALLUP POLL

Poll Shows Ike Is Holding Wide Margin In California

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., Sept. 29 — Despite Gov. Earl Warrens fears that California is a "doubtful" state for the G.O.P., the latest Institute test of voter sentiment finds the Republican party today running well in the lead in California's presidential race.

Whether Gov. Adlai Stevenson's recent barnstorming tour of the state has changed sentiment remains to be seen. The bulk of today's survey was completed before his tour had ended.

The poll also does not reflect popular reaction in California to the revelations concerning Sen. Richard M. Nixon's $18,000 fund.

Institute interviewers put two question to each California voter in today's survey. One dealt with the choice of party in the presidential race.

The other asked each voter his preference as between Stevenson and Eisenhower. The vote on this latter question shows Eisenhower running from 4 to 5 points ahead of his party in California today.

Here are the results in California on the two survey questions:

"If the presidential election were being held today, which POLITICAL PARTY would you like to see win—the Republican party or the Democratic party?"

Fifteen per cent were undecided but a considerable number of them were willing to indicate which party they "lean" toward. Including these "leaners" the results are:

CALIFORNIA (32 Electoral Votes)
Republican	54½
Democratic	40½
Still undecided	5

"If the presidential election were being held today, which CANDIDATE would you prefer — Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, or Stevenson, the Democratic candidate?"

Those who indicated a preference or a "leaning" divide as follows:

CALIFORNIA
Eisenhower	59
Stevenson	37
Still undecided	4

Comparison With 1948

It is instructive to compare today's poll on party strength with an Institute poll in 1348 at approximately the same date.

On Sept. 23, 1948, the Institute reported the following figures for California:

Dewey	46
Truman & Wallace	46
Undecided	8

When this is compared with today's standings, it can be seen that the Republican party is from 8 to 9 points stronger today in California than the Dewey ticket was at the same time four years ago.

In the 1948 election, Dewey received 47.4 per cent of the total vote cast in California.

* * *

DEMOCRATIC VOTE DROPS

Although the governor and both U. S. senators from California are Republicans, in presidential races the G. O. P. has not carried the state since the Hoover-Smith election of 1928.

Republican can take comort from the fact, however, that the Democratic percentage in presidential elections in California has declined steadily since the Roosevelt landslide of 1936.

Truman and Wallace — 52.6 per cent — was far below what Franklin D. Roosevelt customarily polled in California.

In California, the declining trend of the Democratic vote in presidential elections can be seen from the following table:

HOW CALIFORNIA HAS VOTED

	Democratic	Republican
1948	52.6	47.2
1944	56.8	43.2
1940	58.1	41.9
1936	67.9	32.1
1932	61.0	39.0

Includes 47.8 per cent Democratic plus 4.8 per cent Progressvie (Wallace) party.

* * *

THE "BIG 4" STATES

Of the "big four" states — New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California — California is at present the most Republican in the 1952 presidential race, judging by Institute surveys.

Here are the results previously reported for the other three states:

NEW YORK — Republican 50 per cent, Democratic 43 per cent, undecided 7 per cent.

PENNSYLVANIA — Republican 53 per cent, Democratic 40 per cent, undecided 7 per cent.

ILLINOIS — Republican 47 per cent, Democratic 42 per cent, undecided 11 per cent.

For the nation as a whole the figures are: Republican 51 per cent, Democratic 42 per cent, undecided 7 per cent. There is evidence, however, that most of the 7 per cent undecided are pro-Democratic in outlook.

If ALL of them went to Stevenson, the race nationally would be narrowed to 51 per cent Republican, 49 per cent Democratic.

College Football Pictures Are Changing After First 2 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — The college football picutre, which has been hazy since the campaign got under way two weeks ago, should come into sharper focus when the smoke of battle clears Saturday.

Many of the early season results have been surprising—although not amazing—with many of the teams that the experts picked to cut a swath through their schedules instead barely staggering along.

Michigan State, for example, was accorded the No. 1 spot in the pre-season Associated Press poll to finish operations as the top-ranked team in the country. But the Spartans had to come from behind to whip Michigan, a have-not of the Big Ten these days, 27-13, Saturday.

But don't sell State short. Biggie Munn's lads have a habit of letting the opposition get away a-running only to come along at the end to pull the victory out of the fire.

Michigan State plays Oregon State in its second game at Portland, Ore., and should experience no such difficulty.

Then whoever would have thought that mighty Maryland, the stepchild of the Southern Conference, would be battered and bruised two weeks in a row and emerge with hairline decisions. After barely squeaking by Missouri in its opener, the Terps took a narrow 13-7 decision from Auburn Saturday.

Now they play Clemson, which also is in the process of atoning for its sins by not being permitted to play Southern Conference teams. Maryland also should win this handily.

Pessimists already are predicting an end to the longest winning streak in college football—Princeton's 23 games. But they're kindly waiting until two weeks hence when Charlie Caldwell's Ivy League champions battle Penn.

The reason for the doleful outlook is Princeton's unimpressive 14-0 victory over Columbia, and Penn's well-played 7-7 tie with Notre Dame.

In the Big Ten Conference, the title may be decided this Saturday—strange as it seems—when Illinois visits Wisconsin. Illinois is the defending champion, but some have ranked Wisconsin as a strong choice to dethrone the Illini.

In the Southwest Conference, the chances are very good that there will be a new champion. Texas Christian, the defending champion, not only has lost both its starts but hasn't even been able to find the goal-line.

With the demise of the Horned Frogs, Texas jumped into the favorite's role. The Longhorns must tangle with Notre Dame this week after walloping North Carolina, 28-7, over the week end. UCLA stopped the Horned Frogs, 14-0, Saturday.

The Pacific Coast Conference is running pretty much according to form with California the team to beat—just as it always is. The Golden Bears, with Johnny Olszewski handling the main offensive chores, looked good turning back Missouri, 28-14. They journey to Minnesota this week.

It's beginning to look as though someone might upset Oklahoma, the defending champion in the Big Seven. Kansas and Nebraska both have been impressive, while the Sooners were held to a 21-21 tie by Colorado.

Georgia Tech, which was ranked the No. 3 team in the country before festivities got under way, will have to produce against Southern Methodist to keep its lofty spot after making out a 17-14 triumph over Florida. Tennessee, which may give the Engineers a fight for the Southeastern Conference title, has a tough opponent in Duke.

The Rocky Mountain race may be decided when the two favorites—Idaho State and Colorado College play at Colorado Springs, while in the Missouri Valley, last year's winner Tulsa looks stronger and stronger.

Yanks Are 8-5 Favorites For 1952 Winners

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Champion New York Yankees today ruled a solid 8-5 favorite to overcome the National League Champion Brooklyn Dodgers in the 49th production of the modern World Series which gets under way Wednesday.

Neither manager—Casey Stengel of the Yankees or Chuck Dressen of the Dodgers—has officially named his opening day pitcher, but indications were that Allie Reynolds and Brooklyn's Joe Black would open festivities at 1 p.m. in Ebberts Field

Although it marks the eighth time the Yankees have participated in a fall series in the past dozen years, and the fourth time for the Dodgers, the 1952 classic will hold special interests. The Yankees, for the second time in history, will be gunning for their fourth successive world championship. The Dodgers will be seeking their first triumph after five reversals in as many attempts.

The National League entry for the first time since 1948 will go to the post reasonably well rested as compared to their rivals. The Dodgers clinched the flag last Tuesday while the Yankees had to wait until Friday, two days before the close of the campaign. For three years, the National League survivors were sorely pressed right down to the wire.

Most observors, however, pick the Yankees to whip the Dodgers in five or six games in this best-four-of-seven. The second game, also to be staged in Brooklyn, will go on Thursday. The conflict moves to the vast Yankees Stadium for the next three days and back again to Ebbets' Field for the sixth and seventh games, if necessary.

The records, of course, substantiate the Yankee backers eloquently enough. The vaunted Bronx Bombers move into their 19th series with 14 triumphs, 12 in the last 13. Three of their triumphs have come over the Dodgers, in 1941, '47 and '49.

Both clubs have good power, a tight defense and a strong bench. The Yankees, however, boast the stronger and better balanced pitching staff. Pitching scarcely can be regarded as the Dodgers' forte this year.

Hal Sayles Re-elected As President Of Long Horn League

ODESSA, Tex., Sept. 29 (AP)—Hal Sayles of Abilene was re-elected president of the Longhorn Baseball League for his fifth term here yesterday.

Members voted to raise the maximum monthly club salary limit from $3,000 to $3,400 at the league's fall meeting.

Roswell, N. M., voted to remain in the league, cancelling a tentative plan to switch several teams with the West Texas-New Mexico League.

The clubs changed the status of limited service men and veterans, the new rules allowing five veterans, eight limited service and three rookies.

All clubs will operate in 1953 on a 140-game schedule. The All-Star game was set for Midland next year, but no date was chosen. Still to be settled was the location of the Sweetwater franchise. It may remain in Sweetwater or may go to Del Rio or Ballinger.

5 Conference Teams Beaten

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Conference football teams for the second consecutive week failed to crash the win column. All five members were on the losing end last week.

To date the conference elevens have registered one victory out of 12 starts, which was by Abilene Christian three weeks ago against South Texas State.

Last week's results saw Abilene Christian succumb to the University of Chattanooga, 28-0, in an intersectional game.

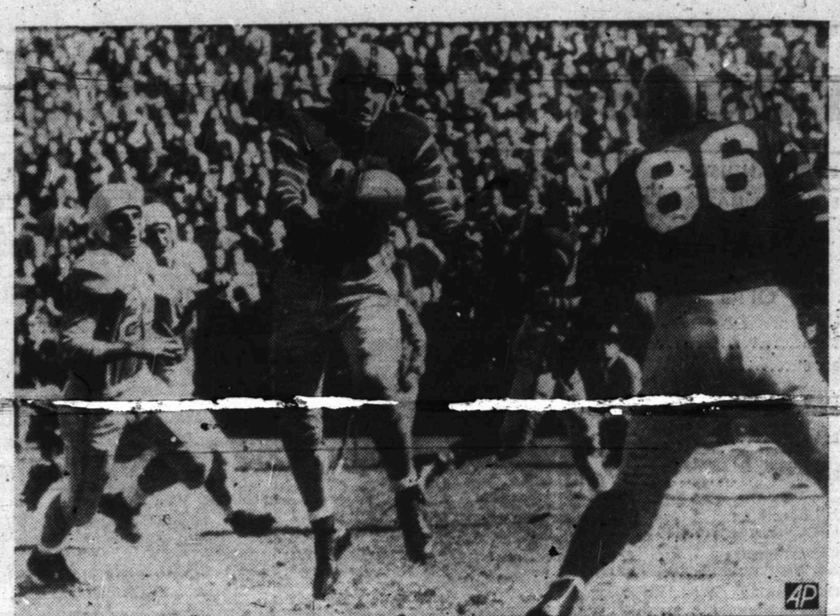
At home, Howard Payne fell before Sam Houston State, 38-0; Midwestern powered its way to a 21-7 win over Austins College; West Texas State nudged McMurry, 19-7, and Southwest Texas State swamped Texas A&I, 41-12.

Howard Payne opens the week's activities Friday night with a game at Ada, Okla. against East Central State and on Saturday three games are scheduled. Texas A&I meets Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio; Abilene Christian engages Midwestern University at Stanford; McMurry tackles Eastern New Mexico at Portales, N. M.

Dallas Catcher Sold

DALLAS, Sept. 29 (AP)—Dick Aylward, catcher with Dallas of the Texas League for three years, has been sold to Indianapolis of the American Association.

Dallas also has sold Pitchers Ed Varhely and Don Mossi and Infielder Frank Tornay to Indianapolis.



PRINCETON SETS UP SCORE

Pitchers' Year In Baseball Season Completed Last Week

(By The Associated Press)

The 1952 major league baseball season will be best remembered as a pitchers' year, something rare in this so called lively ball era.

A glance at the final batting averages shows only eight regulars in both leagues hit .300 or better.

Stan Musical of the St. Louis Cardinals won the National League title with a .336 mark, the lowest figure to top the league since Ernie Lombardi led the circuit in 1942 with a .330 average. Ferris Fain of Philadelphia won the American League crown with a .327 mark, the poorest since George Stirnweiss finished in front in 1945 with a .309 record.

Although there were only six 20-game winners, as contrasted to 13 in 1951, there were 98 shutouts pitched in the American League and 94 in the National.

The regular season came to an end yesterday with the interest centering on individual batting and pitching honors although fourth, fifth and sixth place were decided in the American League.

Philadelphia's surprising Athletics nailed down fourth place by trouncing the American League's pennant-winning New York Yankees, 9-4. The Washington Senators nipped Boston, 3-2, to edge out the Red Sox for fifth place. In other American League games, the runner-up Cleveland Indians smeared Detroit, 8-2, and the St. Louis Browns drubbed Chicago's third-place White Sox, 12-1.

The Brooklyn Dodgers turned up for their World Series meeting with the Yanks by battling the Boston Braves to a 5-5 12-inning tie. In remaining games, Philadelphia battered the runner-up New York Giants, 7-4, Cincinnati nipped Pittsburgh, 3-2, and Chicago turned back St. Louis, 3-0.

When the World Series ends the hot stove league will be kept active over debates regarding who should win the most valuable player, rookie of the year and manager of the year awards.

Pitchers Joe Black of Brooklyn, Hoyt Wilhelm of New York and third baseman Ed Mathews of Boston are the top candidates for the National's rookie of the year award. Catchers Clint Courtney of St. Louis and Sam White of Boston loom as the top prospects for the American League accolade.

Black and Wilhelm also are in the running for the National's most valuable player award. Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, Hank Saucer of Chicago and Stan Musial of St. Louis are among the top challengers. Bobby Shantz, the mighty mite of the Philadelphia Athletics, appears to have the inside track on the American League's award but may run into stern competition from Allie Reynolds, the 20-game "money" pitcher of the Yanks.

This was a bad year for major league managers. Six pilots were given the gate during the season and it looks like the manager of the year award lies between Casey Stengel, who piloted the Yanks to a record-tying fourth straight pennant and Charley Dressen of the Dodgers and Leo Durocher of the Giants.

Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Hank Sauer of Chicago shared the home run lead in the National at 37 each while Cleveland's Larry Doby won the title in the American with 32.

Sauer and third baseman Al Rosen of Cleveland topped their circuit's in runs batted in. The Cub slugger drove in 121 mates while Rosen knocked home 105.

Roberts was the major's biggest winnerf with 28 conquests. It was the most triumphs by a National League pitcher since Dizzy Dean won 28 for the 1935 Cardinals. Shantz was high man in the American League with 24. The only other 20-game winners were Reynolds, Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn of Cleveland.

Hope Held Out For Dodgers In World Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Far be it from an old National League partisan to offer false hope to fellow sufferers of recent years, but this might just possibly be the World Series where we give those American Leaguers their lumps.

We've been looking over the Dodgers' record for the season and are struck by a number of things which might bring cheer, the principal one of which is the strong indication that they no longer roll over and play dead when the going gets rough, but get rough, themselves.

The last time our champions were out West, you may recall, the St. Louis Cardinals were hotter than a depot stove and were threatening to move right in on the leaders. The Dodgers knocked them off four straight.

Then they went into that five-game series here with the Giants, when people were yelling that the panic was on again. They dropped the first two at the Polo Grounds, all right, but came back swinging to take two of the next three and ease the pressure to the vanishing point, they bashed the Phillies to win the pennant.

In other words, while it is quite true that our heroes built up the great lead they held late in August at the expense of the stragglers, it is equally in evidence that they refused to fold here in the past few weeks when the he-wolves were howling around their door.

That is, perhaps, the most hopeful sign. For another thing, the Dodgers were remarkably consistent when one considers the confused state of their pitching for much of the season. Maybe they don't have any pitching, as some American Leaguers claim, but somebody must have been out there with that rosin bag.

The Dodgers either were in the lead or were tied for the top on all but 16 days of the race. They held undisputed possession of first place from June 1 on. They never were more than 2½ games off the pace, having trailed the Giants by that margin on May 28. They held their longest lead, 10½ games, on Aug. 25 and 26.

Rough Games On Tap For Schoolboys

(By The Associated Press)

Ray of Corpus Christi, one of the championship favorites, gets the acid test this week in Texas schoolboy football.

Ray meets Port Arthur at Corpus Christi Friday night in a battle of undefeated, untied teams in Class AAAA.

Much has been heard of Ray this year, little of Port Arthur. But the latter is one of 15 unbeaten teams and should be a real trial horse for ambitious Ray.

Several other teams in Class AAAA will run the risk of having their perfect records smashed this week. Abilene plays tough Breckenridge, the Class AAA defending champion; Tyler goes to Texarkana to scrap the AAA Tigers; Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) meets Thomas Jefferson at San Antonio.

LUBBOCK LOOKS SAFE

High and mighty Lubbock, the AAAA defending champion, gets North Side (Fort Worth) and doesn't need to worry much Baytown, the acknowledged power of the South, rests this week.

Lubbock showed its rating was justified last week in beating a good Highland Park team of Dallas, 33-20. Tyler continued to climb in estimation by trimming Austin 21-14. Waco made a much better showing against mighty Temple of Class AAA than expected. Temple beat Waco, 27-19. Ray licked John Reagan of Houston, 18-0. Wichita Falls trimmed Borger, 34-0. All in-all the favorites got along as anticipated.

15 UNDEFEATED, UNTIED

The 15 undefeated, untied teams left in Class AAAA are Abilene Lubbock, Midland, Pampa, El Paso High, Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth), Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), North Dallas, Tyler, Wichita Falls, Miller (Corpus Christi), Beaumont, Port Arthur and Baytown.

Toughest Week End For SW Conference Looms Saturday

Associated Press Sports Writer

Four teams are undefeated as the Southwest Conference football campaign rolls into October with the biggest week in the circuit's history at hand.

Never before has the conference had so many top intersectional games on the home fields in one week end.

Saturday will see this gaudy schedule:

Texas vs Notre Dame at Austin.

Baylor vs Washington State at Waco.

Rice vs Louisiana State at Houston.

Texas A&M vs Kentucky at College Station.

Southern Methodist vs Georgia Tech at Dallas.

And added to that is the conference opener—Texas Christian vs Arkansa at Fort Worth.

HARD-ON-FANS

It will be difficult for any one fan to see two of the games but a lot will be trying it—such as watching Baylor-Washington State in the afternoon and hurrying to Dallas for SMU-Georgia Tech at night.

The only other afternoon game is the Texas-Notre Dame battle at Austin where the stadium was sold out weeks ago.

Participants in four of those top intersectional struggles are undefeated—Texas, Texas A&M, Rice and Baylor. Texas has the best record, having scored smashing triumphs over Louisiana State and North Carolina. The Aggies also have won two games. Rice and Baylor have played only one each.

GLAMOR AT AUSTIN

Notre Dame was tied by Penn, 7-7, in opening the season last week but this rubbed little glamor off the game with Texas. It will, however, probably make Texas the favorite to win. Georgia Tech is undefeated, having crushed The Citadel, 54-6, and beaten Florida, 17-14. Kentucky, lost its opening game to Villanova, 25-6, but came back last week to tie highly-rated Mississippi, 13-13. Louisiana State and Washington State winless records. LSU was licked by Texas, 35-14, and by Alabama, 21-20. Washington State took a 14-13 defeat from Stanford and was romped on by Southern California, 35-7.

The conference broke even last week in intersectional play. Texas whipped North Carolina, 28-7, and Texas A&M beat Oklahoma A&M, 14-7. Southern Methodist lost to Duke, 14-7, and Texas Christian fell to UCLA, 14-0.

HOUSTON UPSETS HOGS

Arkansas was upset by University of Houston of the Missouri Valley Conference, 17-7.

Rice threw fear into every camp by slamming Texas Tech, 34-7.

Baylor didn't play last week.

The Arkansas-Texas Christian conference game appears to be a tossup. Arkansas managed to beat Oklahoma A&M, 22-20, in its opening game but was quite impotent and lost its ace quarterback, Lamar McHan, against University of Houston. Texas Christian hasn't been able to score a point this season. The Frogs lost to Kansas, 13-0, in their opener.

Gulf Coast Officially Ends Season In Texas

HARLINGEN, Sept. 29 (AP)—The baseball season in Texas is officially over—Harlingen has won the Gulf Coast League championship, last title to be determined.

The Capitols took the Gulf Coast crown last night with a 6-1 decision over Port Arthur. It was Harlingen's fourth win in the best-of-seven series.

Harlingen finished second to Port Arthur over the full season route then took out Corpus Christi in the playoff first-round four games to three.
