CRAIG RUNNER-UP

Tourney Finals Place Golf Crown On Yates

Champion of the 16th annual Invitation Golf Tourney, Richard Yates, 24, of Corpus Christi, Texas, won the title Sunday afternoon. Yates, 1963 Texas Amateur Golf champion, member of Texas Tech golf team, took out a birdie on the 18th hole to win the match 2-1.

Tommy Craig, last year's champion from San Angelo, and opponent this year with his quarrying days, went down to Yates in Sunday morning semi-finals 2-1.

Craig won the right to battle Yates in the finals by a semi-final victory of 3-4 over Bernardus, former of Big Spring.

Local golfer Craig has won the championship in invitation tourneys over three times and has been runner-up each year for the past three seasons.

Yates, who is grandson of Mrs. A. G. Furrow of Lorene, and nephew of Country Club president Grady Furrow was one under par through 17 holes to Craig's one over. A tricky shot by Yates along his long tee shot had landed on the bad side of a bunker. Yates, Texas Tech student who lives in Corpus Christi, Yates, 1963 Texas Amateur Golf champion, member of Texas Tech golf team, took out a birdie on the 18th hole to win the match 2-1.

Craig's tee drive had a better break. Heeded for a cornered tree Craig's golf ball hit a can and bounced on the fairway in good position. Craig's putt hit the lip of the cup then took a bounce to end his birdie hopes and church the win for Yates.

Consolation match went to Sweetwater, high school senior Mike Uecker who took the game 1 up after 12 holes played with Son Powell of Big Spring as his opponent.

Don Benson won the trophy and prize for first flight play. Benson defeated Buddy Gunn of Sweetwater 5-4.

Second flight honors went to Harold Preston of Lorene up over Lynn Hamilton, also of Lorene.

Third flight victor was G. K. Fletcher of Snyder who bested C-City's Jess Boin 3-1. Jim Edison went down to Haskell Spivey of Big Spring to give Spivey the 1 up fourth flight prize. Charles Morrow, local golfer, was master of the fifth flight after downing David Maberry, Big Spring, 1 up.

In the final play between Yates and Craig, which started with Yates 2-up, Craig's putting set him back three times. An 8-ft putt missed by a sad little inch cost him the chance to go 1-up on Yates on number 1 hole. A 3-ft putt lost on number 2, after crack-jack tee shot, set him back again.

Both Craig and Yates parred number 3 hole. Number 4 was taken by Yates with a bogie after his second shot went out of bounds and he two-putted. Both golfers parred number 5 when Craig mis-

EXPLOSION DEATH

Widow Files Suit Seeking $175,000

Attorney for the widow of Wayne Gates Daniels has filed suit against Lone Wolf Electric Co., Inc., seeking $175,000 damages.

Petition of suit names Dorothy Daniels, a widow, and Sharon Gay Daniels, her minor child 4 years of age, as plaintiffs. The petition on file in the office of the district clerk alleges damages sustained by plaintiffs as a result of the wrongful death of their husband and father, Wayne Gates Daniels, June 13.

Daniels, an employee of Lone Wolf Electric Co., Inc., died instantly in an explosion, June 13, while doing some work on a pickup truck's bed with an acetylene torch. The fatal explosion scene was Colorado City Electric Co., Highway 208.

Plaintiffs Mrs. Daniels and her minor daughter, allege in their petition to the court that the wrongful death was the result of the negligence of the defendant, its agents, servants, and employees, which negligence was the proximate cause of such wrongful death and damage to the plaintiffs resulting therefrom as basis for this suit.

Petition further states that Dorothy Daniels and Sharon Gay Daniels, sole surviving child of Wayne Gates Daniels, are sole beneficiaries entitled to recover damages in accordance with the Wrongful Death Statute of the State of Texas.

Daniels is described in the petition of suit as 38 years of age at the time of death, "in good health and having a life expectancy of 37.7 years, gainfully employed and in reasonable probability would have remained so through his lifetime."

He would have, the suit on file pleads "continued to contribute to support and maintenance of the plaintiffs and to discharge usual duties of husband and father in the nature of advice, protection, love, care and counsel."

Damages of $175,000 and court costs are asked. George Leonard, attorney of Sweetwater and formerly of Colorado City, is attorney for the plaintiffs.

Lone Wolf Electric Co., Inc., the defendant, is described in the petition as "a corporation organized under laws of the State of Texas. Service of process may be had on Raymond Perdue, its manager, as agent for the defense."

Subpoenas have been served on four Lone Wolf Electric, Inc. employees calling for See Damage Suit Page 2

Historical Sites in County Listed by State Agency

Mitchell County Historical Committee will hear suggestions for Texas Official Markers in this county at their next quarterly meet.

Mrs. Deolice Parmelee, director of research for Texas Historical Survey, has prepared a six-page prospectus listing possible sites to be considered for official Texas Markers. The suggestions were mailed to County Judge Elmer Martin.

Suggestions for Mitchell County Markers include both historical sites and a list of colorful early-day personages in town and county history. Among places listed for consideration are the C.M. Adams store and home, All Saints Church, John Birdwell's saloons.

Of All Saints, Mrs. Parmelee writes "Already has a historical building Medallion, needs a plate." Started with Bishop Garrett of Dallas turning soil for cornerstone while a raging sandstorm threatened to unfrock him, March 1885.

Of Birdwell's saloon, first in Colorado City, she writes "Birdwell covered his bar with a wagon sheet and invited Rev. O. F. Rogers to preach the first sermon ever heard in town, early in 1881."

Colorado City eventually had 34 saloons, Mrs. Parmelee's outline notes, "and that many churches, too."

Another thing probably not known to the average present-day Colorado citizen is that a ferry across the Colorado River, near Cuthbert, once put mail route into "far reaches of West Texas," Mrs. Parmelee points out.

Other sites mentioned are Seven Wells and the old St. James Hotel "scend of the famous St. James Ball with 1800 bottles of iced champagne at Cattleman's Association convention held in Colorado City in 1885."

"The hotel burned down overnight and needed goods. Leaders were left open on the counter so cowmen could charge out their own merchandise.

Buffalo tracks in front of Mitchell County museum "need a narrative and descriptive markers to show the meaning of the block and tracks." "The block was cut from Seven Wells before Luke Champion was built. Tracks made by Buffalo coming to water at Seven Wells are said to have been made before 1880."

Names illustrious to town annals and stories handed down from generation include that of A. P. Bush Jr., rancher and president of the Stockraisers Association who "traveled all over the world on behalf of the beef industry, had two university degrees... lived in splendor before he sold his holdings and left. Died on the Isle of Pines." See Historical Page 2

Cosden President Marks 25th Year

Raymond L. Tollett, president of Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., celebrated his 25th anniversary with Cosden last Wednesday.

Cosden is a wholly owned subsidiary of American Petroleum, Inc. which last year purchased the company along with the Colorado City refinery owned by Cosden, Col-Tex. Tollett is now in charge of all of American Petroleum's refining operations. The company has recently put new emphasis on petrochemical manufacture, too, a field in which Cosden was a pioneer for this area.

has worked since he was 12. Panhandle Oil Co. Next, he worked for Clint Murchison, drop-out who went back to school after a year and graduated as valedictorian of his class in Wichita Falls. Son of tenant farmers he worked as telegraph messenger, roustabout in the oil fields, team driver, truck driver, clothing salesman, newspaper handyman. He had to turn down an appointment to the United States Military Academy when he could not afford to buy his first required issue of clothing. Tollett accepted, instead, a business college scholarship. His first office job was with Weight of engineering evidence, Perry said, was so "preponderantly in favor of the Robert Lee site that there was no other logical choice when the economics, yield and quality of water was considered.

Perry also said that the CRMWD board was instructed to furnish to Mitchell County backers a copy of the engineering report made by Freese-Nichols and Endress, consulting engineers, so that Mitchell County citizens might better understand basis for the decision switching to the Coke County site permit request.

Comparative figures included these figures with Mitchell County site figures given first, Coke County figures following: Drainage area, 2,223 square miles to 2,695. Capacity, 404.00 acre feet as compared to 489,000. Dependable safe yield, 24.3 million gallons per day for Mitchell site and 47 million gallons a day for Coke site. Cost per million gallons of dependable yield, $488,100 as against $272,000. Pipeline figures added to cost were set at $567,000 for Mitchell, $365,000 for Coke.

There was Mose Carter, former Galvestonian, who "became a legend in his own time for his tipsy days in court." Carter was a lawyer, Dr. Peter C. Coleman, noted physician and college regent, "came to Colorado City at a time when the saloons in the saloon district at midnight meant a summons for him within minutes."

Judge C. H. Earnest, Mrs. Parmlee's suggestions noted "was one of the earliest lawyers. Became wealthy banker. Pairs still live in Colorado City."

A. W. Dunn, first merchant in Colorado City and builder of the first "home above the ground." Judge Jeffress, Judge R. H. Looney, veteran of Terry's Texas Rangers; Harry Landers, a sheep rancher from Vermont who kept a journal of weather and events for nearly half a century; Charley Laskey who first had a bakery cart, then a bakery, then a bank; Clay Mann, who ran the famous 80 brand; John and Wright-Moore, famed Buffalo hunters; Judge Riley H. Allen, early probate judge, are among other names Mrs. Parmlee includes for marking of home or business site.

Rev. O. F. Rogers, Winfield Scott, C. C. Slaughter, George W. Smith, Capt. A. H. H. Tolar, Gus O'Keefe, George Waddell, 80-John Wallace, Dick Ware and the Wulffen family are all included in the prospectus prepared in Austin. Names of Frank H. Kelley and of Dr. C. H. Root are two included "from a later generation."

Winfield Scott home, oldest brick home still standing here is occupied and owned now by Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Majors, 425 Chestnut St. The attractive red brick cottage was built by the early-day/cattleman, Scott.

Judge Jeffress homesite was scene of the first social affair ever held in Colorado City.

Finally, Mrs. Parmlee suggests as other locally famous old sites to be marked for posterity, the site of the Jim Lane massacre and the kangaroo court which followed the shooting after a party in Duth Jake Maurer's saloon; the Mahon family homes; Lone Wolf Mountain, home of Lone Wolf, chief of the Kiowas; the posthole oil wells along the Colorado River; and Itan which was originally named by surveyors "Satan Flats."

organized Cosden Petroleum Co., persuaded Tollett to become secretary-treasurer of Cosden. The date was July 16, 1939.

In April 1940 Tollett was named executive vice-president. In June he became president. Tollett has long been active in Big Spring civic, school scouting, YMCA and charities. He is a member of a number of petroleum organizations and has served Western Refiners Association as chief.

Big Spring Daily Herald, in detailing Tollett's 25 years with Cosden said of him "he proceeded to lift the flouring company from rags to riches." In 1944, under his presidency, the company paid its first dividend in six years.

Before Cosden lost its corporate identity, through sale of the company by W. R. Grace to American Petrofina, Inc., sales has been pushed into the 90 million dollar bracket from the 6 and a half million in sales back in 1940.

Tollett, himself, did a small resume of progress at Cosden in his featured column "Mr. T. Talks" in the Cosden Copper, employee publication, for July 17 edition.

After citing pay increases as compared to wages in 1939 and 1940, Tollett writes, "Although I have had no promotion since June 1940, my salary has been increased from time to time. It has always been understood by Cosden directors that in order for me to maintain my standard of living my pay had to be more than I was worth."

His hometown paper, Big Spring Herald, took a different view in a recent issue.

"From the start of his Cosden association," the Herald stated, "he has been a leading citizen and a driving force in many of the good things which have come this way."

Home From Germany

Mrs. Albert Janke, left, listens intently to her daughter's description of some of the sights she beheld during the past 19 months when she and her husband lived in Eppelheim, Germany. Specialist Fifth Class and Mrs. Wayne Cook, the former Janice Janke, are visiting her parents and brother at the Villa Inn where Janke is manager. The Cooks arrived just in time to help the staff of the Villa celebrate the motel and restaurant's first birthday Monday. Cook is bound for Ft. Benning, Ga. and Officers' Candidate School next month. Mrs. Cook will remain with her parents until he completes his schooling in February.

GUESTS OF ALBERT JANKES

Wayne Cooks Visiting Here After Return From Germany

Specialist Fifth Class and Mrs. Wayne Cook, guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Janke of the Villa Inn, arrived from Germany last week just in time to help celebrate the first birthday of the local motel.

The Cooks have been living in Eppelheim, Germany near Heidelberg where he was stationed with Headquarters United States Army, Europe, for over two years. Mrs. Cook, the former Miss Janice Janke, has been in Germany for the past 19 months.

Following a thirty-day leave to be spent in Colorado City, Cook will report for Officers' Candidate School at Ft. Benning, Georgia for six months training from August to February. Mrs. Cook will remain here with her parents.

A visit with the couple reveals their interest in people and the customs of other countries. They enjoyed living during their stay in Germany. The Cooks lived in an apartment building in Eppelheim where they spoke German as well as English and learned many interesting things about the German people and their way of life.

The Cooks also visited Bavaria and Luxembourg as well as touring most of West Germany.

"West Berlin is the most beautiful city we have ever seen," said the young couple, "until you reach the wall which is so depressing." They describe the Western sector of Berlin as a completely modern city, clean and well-planned which has risen from the utter destruction of war days. West Berliners are extremely friendly, they say, and very proud of their city.

Mrs. Cook also visited East Berlin on a tour bus. Her husband was unable to accompany her because of clearance problems. She said that the tour was interesting, but "you see only what they want you to see." The guided tour is most selective in its route through the city. Mrs. Cook said, proudly displaying a number of new buildings but unable to conceal the large areas still in ruins.

Asked about the wall, the Cooks told of the coils of barbed wire, Spanish crosses, and mine fields leading to the actual wall from the Eastern sector. The wall itself, they say, is embedded with jagged pieces of glass, and studded with sentry boxes and searchlight towers. Mrs. Cook told of seeing on her last Berlin visit, that the wall is being moved forward at the checkpoints to the actual border line between East and West.

Specialist Cook remarked that the border guards are a very elite corps, handpicked from guard units along the Russian border. He said they are carefully screened to be certain they have no relatives or friends in Berlin before they are assigned to duty there.

The Cooks were married five years ago in Odessa where Mrs. Cook, a native Texan was graduated from Odessa High School and where both attended classes at Odessa College. Mrs. Cook was assistant society editor of the Odessa American for a year before her husband's enlistment in the service and transfer to California. Cook is a graduate of Highland High School, Albuquerque, New Mexico, and has been a student of the European Division of the University of Maryland. His ambition is to complete his college studies in the field of law. He plans to make a career of military service.

A Matter Of Being Selfish About Water

You can't blame the citizens of Colorado City, Westbrook and all Mitchell County for being disturbed about the proposed switch of the long planned Colorado River reservoir from Mitchell County to Coke County.

Decision by directors of Colorado River Municipal Water District to move the dam and lake comes after all segments of Mitchell County have worked in close harmony and cooperation with the CRMWD for the project.

Colorado City, for example, joined in the original application for the Colorado River reservoir (at the original Mitchell County location), sent a delegation to Austin to support the application, provided leadership in cementing support for the project, took the initiative in assisting CRMWD officials in obtaining cooperation from landowners in the lake area, provided assistance in other phases of the project that included right of way acquisition in a beneficial manner for the CRMWD on its pipe line to Sun Oil complexes in the Silver area.

Now, the CRMWD exhibits the attitude that it should and can move the reservoir location out of the Colorado City area without Colorado City citizens reviewing their attitude toward the project. The CRMWD apparently has taken for granted that Colorado City would smile approvingly at the change and, at least, one enthusiast for the Coke site stated privately that Colorado City would be "selfish" if it opposed the move.

Maybe so. But Colorado City and Mitchell County—just like any other community—should be selfish in definite manner when concerned with their own interest. In fact, when you examine the record sheet, other communities of West Texas probably have been just a bit more selfish and zealous for their particular interests than has Colorado City, mostly for success.

The problem of water in West Texas is a serious one. It is a problem for all West Texas, as well as the individual communities.

It is a problem, too, that deserves cooperation between communities, necessitates an overall view.

At the same time, it is a problem that requires serious study in proper conservation, fair and rightful apportionment of water rights, appraisal of the needs of the area.

Therefore, the selecting and approval of a reservoir on the Colorado River is serious business as much as it is big business. And, in particular, it is serious business for Colorado City.

Water, with its prime importance for Texans, has many ramifications—charted and uncharted legalities, certain political ties, engineering specifications and financing.

Just what are the fair rights of Colorado City in this particular lake project are not all fully known to our local leadership. But they should be studied and determined, then, made the basis for action.

We do not propose that Colorado City seek to block the change in location of a lake merely to be obstinate, no more that we would advocate stopping any equitable and worthwhile water conservation project in West Texas.

Neither do we propose, that Colorado City roll over and play dead just to be a good neighbor.

The directors of the Colorado River Municipal District emphasized the fact that one or two dam sites they have considered in Mitchell and Coke counties are the last—the final for all time—on the Colorado River in West Texas.

By its very nature, this water is Mitchell County's very own—more than any other community now being considered in the CRMWD project. And every effort should be made to see that the rights of Mitchell County homes, businesses, industries, farms, and ranches are protected in best manner possible for now and the future.

Colorado City by its record has proved through the years a working partner with all interests for water conservation. It is one of the few communities across the nation that has joined hands with industry in a unique partnership for building Lake Colorado and Lake Champion.

Colorado City cooperated in the building of Lake J. B. Thomas on the upper watershed, although the lake was outside our particular community.

Colorado City, by the record of word and deed, has been exemplary in its cooperation and assistance with all agencies in the building of this proposed new Colorado River reservoir.

So, let no person or group consider that Colorado City and Mitchell County is being anything but an earnest good citizen when it now, in the face of a new turn of events, seriously questions and investigates how this project will effect its rights and future, even its very life.

Awareness Needed in Accident Toll

Our friend Alvin H. Jackson, conservation technician with Soil Conservation Service here in Mitchell County, has pointed out a few timely facts concerning safety on farms and ranches.

His comment is timely because this week is National Farm Safety Week and, also, because of the knowledge that accidents take a serious toll in rural areas just as in highly industrialized communities.

In fact, as Jackson points out, the larger communities are working consistently and constantly for accident prevention because of a more realistic appraisal of the costly toll in accidents.

Factories and large industrial plants have their safety programs and institute working regulations designed to eliminate all accidents possible. It is no less important to institute safety measures on the farm than in factories. An injury received on the farm hurts just as bad as one received in a factory—and is probably longer in receiving medical attention.

During this nationally designated week would be a good time to take a look around the farm and try to eliminate all safety hazards possible, then follow up throughout the year to keep safety hazards at a minimum.

IT'S AMAZING!

Committee Outlines Education 'Catch-up'

BY YERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association
A costly plan for "catching up" with other states in the field of higher education has been outlined to Texas by the Governor's Committee of Education Beyond the High School.

It will take considerable money to accomplish just one of the major tests of excellence in education—bringing Texas faculty salaries up to the national average. More is needed for libraries and research facilities.

To help achieve goals in those three fields, the committee recommended that further college construction be delayed. By using present classrooms and laboratories more hours a day and more days a year, this saving can be accomplished, the committee felt.

Gov. John Connally conceded that it will take new taxes to finance the program which he has termed his No. 1 interest. Neither he nor the committee recommended a financing plan. Committee did say the Legislature should double college tuition, so students and their parents would share more of the cost of education.

Plan calls for expansion of the junior college system, and wide use of vocational training to prepare students for skilled and semi-skilled technical jobs in industry. Coordination, to eliminate duplication between state colleges, would be placed in the hands of an 18-member board appointed by the governor. Board would take over duties of the present junior college division of the Texas Education Agency and the Commission on Higher Education. This would put junior and senior college and university supervision in a single group.

Goal would be to make junior college training available to all, and to raise its level of excellence so all junior college training available immediately transferable to senior colleges.

Committee, headed by H. B. Zachry, San Antonio construction executive, is taking its case to the public in a series of meetings with business leaders in their communities.

CUT AGAIN—Another 28, 602-barrel cut in daily oil allowances was ordered by the Texas, Railroad Commission as it held August production to 26.5 per cent of the capability of the wells. Two large purchasers complained they are over-supplied with oil and unable to sell it.

POPULAR PLACE—Texas State Capitol is being invaded daily by both Texans and out of state tourists who come here to pay tribute to the history of the state. Men, women and children—about three times as many children as parents, it seems—literally crowd the Capitol's halls their numbers reaching as many as 1,200 a day.

One of the most popular stops on the informal tour (there are no guides) of State buildings is the State Archives and Library, just across a walkway from the Capitol. There, renewed artists Peter Hurd and his son-in-law Peter Rogers are executing a mural of Texas, history, featuring remarkable likenesses of Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston and Anson Jones, as well as Davy Crockett and William B. Travis. The mural depicts the conquistador as well as the cowboy.

Visitors are invited to pull up a chair and watch the artists at work, and they do. They are also treated to a newly-arranged re-creation of a room from Gov. Elisha Pease's (1853-57, 1867-69) mansion. Furniture was donated to the archives when former Gov. Allan Shivers bought the venerable mansion.

Public Pier—Paris and Wildlife Department will advertise a second time for bids for concession rights on the new State fishing pier at Port Lavaca. Only one person submitted a bid July 1 after 13 said they were interested.

CHANGE DUE—Texas Animal Health Commission will decide on July 27 on a new commission director to replace Dr. R. G. Garrett of Taylor who plans to resign.

Decision will be made at a meeting to be hosted by Chairman Ed Knolle of Sandia at his Knolle Jersey Farm in Jim Wells County. Knolle said there have been several "well-qualified" applicants for the post, but declined to list them. However, it has been rumored that a staff veterinarian with the commission, Dr. S. B. Walker, will be favored.

There is a provision for expenditure of $22 Million nationally on the part-time, work-study program. Texas could expect to get $4,300,000 for the work-study program in Texas schools.

There is also a possibility that Texas could get one of the regional training centers for the Job Corps, to help improve our national parks. Many of our parks benefit from the old Conservation Corps Camps in the 1930's. Another part of the bill is designed to help low-income urban and rural community families. DESPITE ENFORCEMENT

Phony Remedies Still Dupe Many

There have been more medical advances made in the past 50 years than in all the previous years of recorded history.

Many diseases have been conquered and many more brought under control. Yet even in this "Golden Age of Medicine" the American public is still being victimized by fakes and swindles in the health field.

The older American makes up a substantial proportion of that part of the general population which is duped in this manner.

It's easy to believe in medical fakes when you're sick, frightened, or alone. And it's just as easy to fall for phony cosmetics that promise to restore youth and beauty.

The Food and Drug Administration, whose mission it is to enforce the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, has this to say about the phony remedies promoted for some of the ailments which affect older people:

Arthritis and Rheumatism: The severe pain of these diseases makes the sufferer an easy target for the charlatan. Early treatment by a competent doctor is a "must," since it can help prevent crippling. The doctor will also prescribe the most effective pain relievers. But there are, as yet, no drugs which truthfully can be labeled as a cure. Be wary of weasel-worded promotions that don't actually promise a cure—but nevertheless imply it.

A source of authoritative information: The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, 10 Columbus Circle, New York 19 New York.

Cancer, Surgery, X-ray, and radiation cure many cases of cancer when it is diagnosed and treated in the early stages. Loss of time can have tragic consequences.

Cancer research is making great progress—but beware of unproved remedies. Beware, too, of the phony who promotes his product to the public and claims the medical profession is against it and him. He will lead you only to blasted hopes, wasted savings, and disaster.

Your doctor keeps up with what is being done in cancer research and will refer you to a specialist, if necessary. An authoritative source of cancer information is: The American Cancer Society, 219 East 22nd Street, New York, New York 10017.

SENATOR REPORTS

Self-Help Theme For Anti-Poverty

BY U. S. SENATOR RALPH W. YARBOROUGH

Our Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee reported out favorably the Johnson Anti-Poverty Bill by a vote of 13-2. As a co-sponsor of the bill and a member of the special Senate Committee that helped write, amend and shape it, I am very pleased by this heavy favorable margin.

I want to report to you on how the Anti-Poverty Bill—formally called the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964—will effect Texas.

There are several parts to the bill. It includes a Job Corps with residential conservation camps in large population areas, a work-training program to help young people continue their education and training through grants paying part of the job cost, and a workstudy program to help students get on-campus, part-time jobs.

There is a provision for expenditure of $22 Million nationally on the part-time, work-study program. Texas could expect to get $4,300,000 for the work-study program in Texas schools.

There is also a possibility that Texas could get one of the regional training centers for the Job Corps, to help improve our national parks. Many of our parks benefit from the old Conservation Corps Camps in the 1930's.

Another part of the bill is designed to help low-income urban and rural community families. Texas could expect under this section of the bill to receive about $11 million to aid communities in developing job counseling programs, and assistance in vocational training, rehabilitation and housing.

Still another important provision in the bill calls for expenditures on adult basic education, to help adults over 22 years of age with less than a sixth-grade education train themselves to hold jobs. Some $2 Million would be allocated to Texas, which has 879,000 adults over 22 with less than a sixth-grade education.

The Anti-Poverty Bill is designed for self-help. It will encourage individual advancement. It will encourage and assist in local community planning. Much of the bill centers its efforts on young people; to give them hope that they may share in the American society as productive citizens.

It allows for almost a Billion dollars to be spent in the War on Poverty, all of it already included in the budget submitted by President Johnson. More than twice this amount has been saved by the government in improved management practices in the Defense Department alone this year.

He said there is a definite upturn along the Mexican border in the whitening population which sagged last year prompting a closed season.

FOR TEXAS HUNTERS

Robust Potential For State's Game

BY J. WELDON WATSON
Texas Parks and Wildlife Department

The Texas animal kingdom at mid-summer has an overall robust status, but some remedies will be in order before it can pass a complete fall physical.

Here's the way E. A. Walker, assistant director for wildlife for the Parks and Wildlife Department, sizes up the outlook:

Deer as numerous as ever, and apparently thriving despite hardship pockets caused by drought.

Wild turkey had a good hatch in most sections and seem adequate.

Quail are generally plentiful, but continued extreme dryness during remaining hot months could be costly. Mourning dove seemingly increase over last year.

White-winged doves have rallied from low count last year.

Antelope numbers are down based on first West

Texas census, but next count awaited to determine regulations.

Walker said the fall harvest, based on present indications will be average or better.

"It now looks like another good deer season," he said. "But as every hunter knows this is critical time and a great deal depends on weather conditions from now until fall. There is no question that our deer population (estimated at 2,225,000) is healthy."

"But some parts of Texas are still very dry. It's simply a matter of enough food and water to sustain the herds, particularly in the heaviest populated areas."

Walker said both the ground nesting game birds—wild turkey and quail—seem to have had a good hatch.

"Quail are more sensitive to weather changes, however, and we just never know until the summer extremes are over," he said.

PIANNING 1990—A large number of Texas cities with populations of less than 50, 000 are planning now for the year 1990 by developing a blueprint for progress under a Federal-local program being administered by the State Health Department.

Under this program, a city can obtain studies of current facilities and projections of future needs in every area from economic and sociologi-

Coffman assisted Country Club president Grady Furlow in presenting trophies and prizes to winners Sunday afternoon in the club house.

Tournament Winner And Friends

Winner of the Championship Flight of the annual Colorado Country Club Golf Tournament, Richard Yates of Corpus Christi, chats with other golf fans during the barbecue Friday night on the lawn at the local club. Others pictured are Russell Coffee of Austin, Mrs. Grady Furlow of Loraine, wife of the club president and aunt of the golf champion, and Ed Rothwell of Colorado City. Yates, a student at Texas Tech in Lubbock, has been a guest of his grandmother, Mrs. A. G. Furlow, Sr., of Loraine, with whom he has visited each summer, for many years.

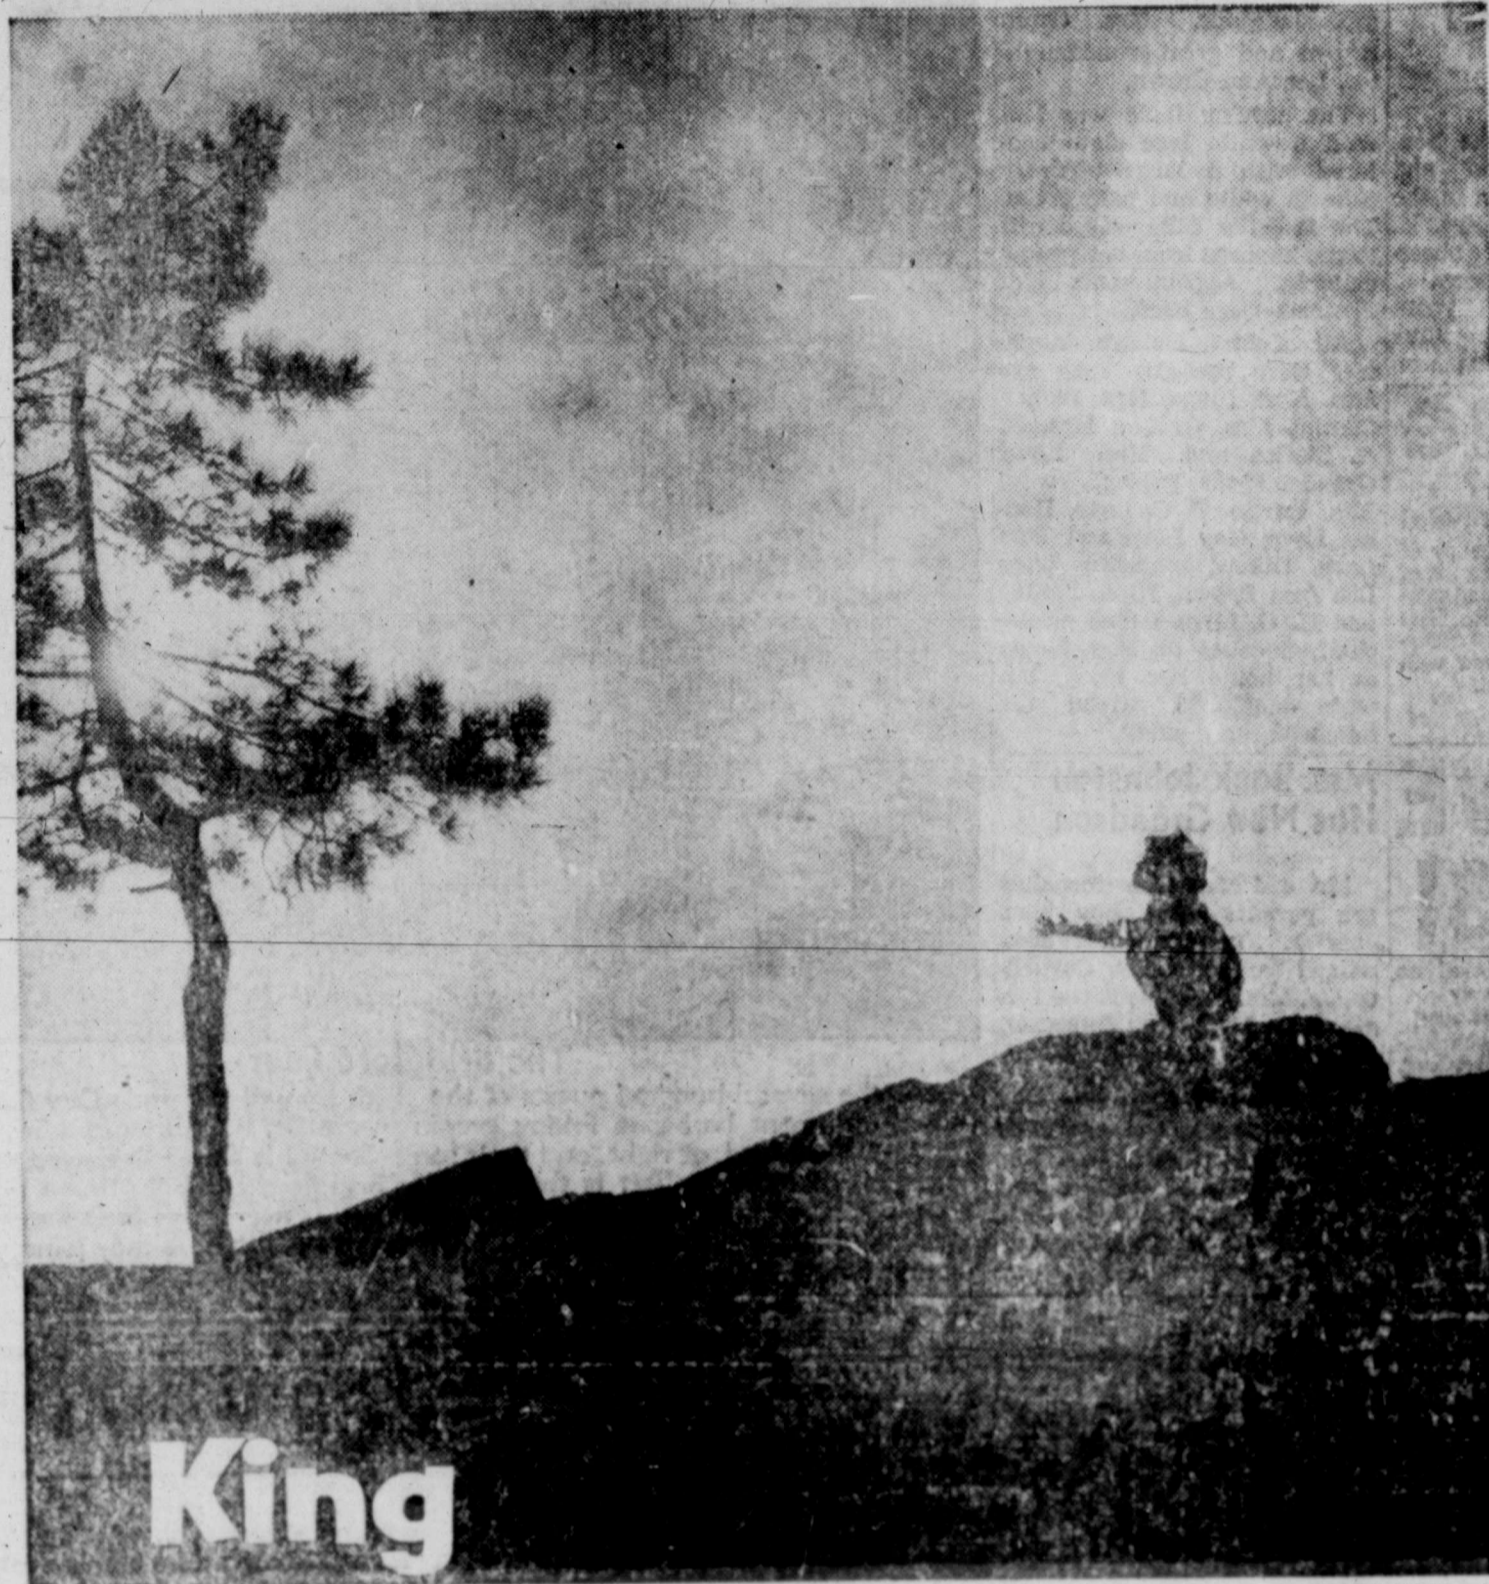

Loraine Residents At Barbecue

Among guests attending the Country Club barbecue Friday night were left to right, Mrs. Ray Preston, Grady Furlow and Preston, Loraine businessman. Furlow is current president of the Colorado Country Club and was official host, along with Luther Coffman, golf tourney chairman, for the annual golf tournament and barbecue Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Other golfers and families attending the tournament from Loraine included Woodrow Pratt, Harold Ray Preston, Lynn Hamilton, Keith Hamilton, Tim Hamilton, and David Redwine.

Big Spring And Benson

King

What boy hasn't played at, or dreamed of being king of the mountain? Children—yes, and all too many adults—seem to find security in imagining themselves "the biggest thing in the world" . . . able to vanquish all comers.

With real maturity comes the realization that we aren't quite "the biggest thing in the world." And very often the foundation of true maturity is true religious faith. For faith asks not that we be "bigger and better" than others, but rather that we search everlastingly for the very best that we, as individuals, have in us.

Is "something big" missing from your life? Seek your faith. Help your children to seek theirs. Worship—this week—at your church or synagogue.

CONVERSATION CORNER

SOMEBODY'S always managing to make everybody dissatisfied. Some fellow named John Oxle Fulton has figured out that people have almost no spare time any more.

Way he tells it, the average working man or woman has less leisure time left after a 40-hour week than did his ancestors of 1850 who averaged about 70 hours a week of work.

"To a far greater degree than any other civilization in history, we are slaves to the clock," he writes.

COULD BE true. Only there are those of us who do not work for the clock. We just watch it.

Not that you can always count on a clock. Every watch we've ever worn or clock ever watched has some hours lost longer than other hours. Ever notice?

Longest hour of the day is that one between 4 and 5 any afternoon. Specially in summer. Five is getting-off time. And a little after 4 is when hands on the clock have a way of thumbing their noses. Instead of saying tick and tock like a reliable clock should, they start yawning in your face.

WRITER who is so worried about our lack of leisure says people should spend their free time doing something "which is truly satisfying."

"An hour or two of genuine leisure can do more for your nerves and more for your soul than a dozen go-go-go weekends," he advises.

Leisure time is something you can not afford to waste, he holds. And right there he got our dander up. In our books, leisure is supposed to be fun. Of what earthly use is leisure time, in the first place, if you can't have fun wasting it?

DESCRIBE what a person does with leisure time and you've about described that person.

Other people have a perfect right to work hard at playing. Playing any old thing they like—golf, tennis, bridge, canasta. Your free time is your own. It's a free country.

Anybody who wants to knit, crochet, embroider, patch, darn, sew is welcome to use her own spare time that way. Not ours. Our spare time is saved for wasting.

LEISURE should not be wasted on the industrious. Leisure time should be doled out only to the lazy who know how to appreciate it.

Not just anybody can learn to be lazy. It takes practice, patience, perseverance and a knack for unwinding. It also takes a philosophical attitude about what other people think—or even say.

If you're the type whose conscience hurts every time you just sit down with your shoes off, then leisure probably makes you so miserable you get up and go mow the grass. Wax the tile. Or paint the lawn chairs.

IF, on the other hand, you take delight in doing nothing . . . nothing a-tall beyond thinking of this and that . . . then you are a true leisure lover.

Next to doing nothing, reading satisfied us lazy loafers the most. So long as there is one good book in the world left to read why in the name of goodness should anybody want to work at playing? Or work so hard at working, either?

There again we come to the crux of the problem of trying to advise people how to lead the fuller, richer life. What's play to one is work to another. Wasted time for one is jump worthwhile to another.

SO, any time you can catch yourself a little spare time the thing to do is decide on your own whether YOU think you're wasting it.

It's yours . . . all yours . . . that little hour or two of leisure like an oasis in the desert of duties to the left and responsibilities to the right of just about anybody. Enjoy it. Your own way.

Which must have been what the man was trying to say in the first place.

Shell peas if you'd rather
Do that than just sit.
Or go mend the fence—
It won't hurt a bit.
Take your own leisure, I'll take mine
Doin' nothin' but nothin'—
It suits me just fine.

COUNTRY CLUB golf tourney brought out several hundred leisurely people headed for the barbecue tables. Saw the Bridgford family—Emily, Dr. Dave, their ranching son David and their dentist son Dr. Billy Bruce, just back from England. Both David and Bill are exes of MCK (Mrs. Coffey's Kindergarten) a way back when. They're both dark and handsome. Smart, top!

Other faces clubbing that night were those of Najline and Gerald Gordon . . . Jackie and Luther Coffman and his brother Tom of Graham . . . Raymond and Virginia Fuller and daughter Judy . . . Dick Gregory Jr. . . Elnor Cowan (Mrs. Ken) . . . Cute little Jackie Fortune Benson and her husband Don . . . Mildred Wilkinson (Mrs. Ben) . . . A. L. McSpadden . . . Rubilee and Ray Noble and their youngest, Betty . . . Mrs. Son Powell of Big Spring . . . Callie Craig (Mrs. Bill) . . . Blue Goodwin . . . Bob Carver . . . and Bob May.

HERE as guests of the Albert Janes are their pretty daughter Janis and her husband Wayne Wood. The couple is just back from Germany where he was on two-year duty with the Army. He's been reassigned to Georgia after his leave. Janis is a former society reporter for an Odessa daily, by the way. Blonde. And intelligent.

SAW Shana Noble Bassinger and her husband Hubert on the shopping scene . . . Ditto Roy Davis Coles.

Brief encounters brought little chats with the Max Bernans, just back from New York and the World's Fair . . . and with Mrs. Jack Richardson in a happy mood because younger daughter Jetta Richardson is visiting her brother Jerry Richardson, minister of a city Church of Christ in Winston-Salem, S.C.

Jetta made the trip by air and will accompany Jerry and his family to the World's Fair during her five weeks as their guest. Jerry is another pride and joy of the old MCK days. He played the triangle in the rhythm band with gusto when he was four.

THE OSCAR MAJORS family, along with the Coit Butlers, had special reason to enjoy the golf tourney last weekend. Here from Sweetwater visiting during the matches and parties were Danny Majors, grandson of Elsie and Oscar, his little wife Linda (Butler) daughter of the Coit Butlers, and the Majors children Shelley and Marcom.

Thursday evening, the day before the tourney opened, the Majors entertained with a backyard barbecue with their son Dr. Marvin Majors, his wife Marie and his younger son "Butch" (Bradford Majors) who is in C-City while on leave from his U.S. Navy post in San Diego, as guests along with Dan's family.

OFFICE visitor Gwen Carter Wistrand (Mrs. Dick) proved to be special fun. She's a very special person, our coordinator of city recreation. And a lively conversationalist.

Other droppers-in have been Mary Barber (Mrs. Dell) . . . Bob Ratliff . . . Edith Wilkerson, Loraine teacher . . . Pete Warren . . . and Allen Sheppard of the SCS office.

P.S. Some of the nicest meetings of all are chance meetings. Like having the district judge, Austin McCloud, join you at a lunch counter, for instance, and order up another cheeseburger with fresh peach icecream as a dessert after-thought.

Talked national affairs, international crises and then settled the November election in a very fine way indeed. It always aids the digestion to converse with a fellow Democrat who agrees nobody on earth can lick LBJ this year.

SOOTHING SIGHT . . .

If you have a few minutes one of these days soon, a drive through Ruddick Park will be a soothing view for your sun-baked eyes. The rock lined tiers of the old out door amphitheater are strikingly arrayed with colorful flowers— from top to bottom.

I'm no horticulturist. Neither am I a prize winner in the Garden Club. But I appreciate flowers and their natural beauty . . . and this new beautification project within our city park is a wonderful example of how we can enhance our town with just a little thought, planning and care.

City Manager Ford Merritt and all the others of our municipal staff — who conceived the flower garden idea, planned it and, now, care for it — deserve a nod of thanks. May we all do more of the same.

Shifts Are For Summer

The edgy-going, easy-fitting shift was a favorite with young seamstresses taking part in the annual 4-H Dress Review Friday afternoon. Each girl added something of a personal touch to the basic design to make it strictly her own. Melonie Erwin, left, chose a dark print of red and blue; Anne Pritchett, a matching headpiece; Melinda McCloud, contrasting purse, shoes and hair bow; Elaine Winn, small red and white print; Carolyn Moore, a bright red and blue cotton print. The girls are all first year 4-H club members who constructed their dresses during the recent 4-H Clothing Workshop.

Youthful Models At Dress Review

Among the models at the 4-H Dress Review were these five young ladies, all wearing dresses of their own creation. Left to right, they are Leada Sanderson, Cindy Childs, Stella Grant, Connie Carter and Caron Russell. Though simple in design, their garments showed the time and effort spent by the models who are all first year 4-H members. Dresses shown are a printed linen-cash shift, green print shift, melon-colored A-line shift with lowered waistline, floral patterned shift, and a shift of nautical printed cotton.

News from the Library

The following previews are from books on the shelves of Mitchell County Federation Library which are suitable for teenage girls, according to Mrs. Boyd Dozier, local librarian. The library is now observing summer open hours 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Thursday hours are 12:30 to 5:30.

SUSAN, HOSPITAL AIDE by Alice Ross Colver—This is the story of a college undergraduate who spends an interesting, worthwhile and profitable summer working in a well-known New York City hospital. The author says: "Susan is a very real girl whom I had the good fortune to meet and come to know during an illness in Presbyterian Medical Center last year. Her enthusiasm for her work, her account of her experiences in it, the people she met in all walks of life and from all nationalities, the responsibilities under which she grew to a new understanding and purpose, even her varied dates and, finally, the send-off party given for her before her departure—all seemed to me to make a story that would be an inspiration to other girls, whether they are or are not seriously considering nursing as a career."

CHALLENGE FOR ANGEL by Frances Priddy—Losing her steady is not exactly a matter of celebration for any girl, but in Angel Dustini's book, brooding about it is definitely for the best. In fact, a "broken" heart is something she wouldn't wear to a dog show! Handsome, conceited Randy is there, of course, exhibiting his boxer.

The crowd, fortunately, helps Angel to avoid him. Less fortunate is the fact that they both enter their pets in the newly formed obedience class, although now the problem is how to shrug off Randy's cutting remarks about Shazam, Stormhill All Shazam—a beautiful, lovable, crazy clown of an Afghan Round known otherwise in the neighborhood as "The Abominable Showman." He is too big and spirited for exercising on a leash, yet off the leash, he runs away—which is what Angel would like to do when she learns that Randy has invited a crowd of friends to the show to witness his dog's fine performance and the "untrainable" Shazam's disgrace.

STRANGER IN THE HOUSE by Zoë Sherburne—The air was full of the smell of fresh gingerbread when Kathleen Frazier came home from school. For years their housekeeper, Alma had prepared the family for an approaching crisis by baking gingerbread, and now Kathleen instinctively braced herself. Even so she was stunned by the news Alma had for her and her eleven-year-old brother. After nine years in a mental hospital, their mother was coming home.

The next months were just as difficult as Kathleen had feared. Although Mrs. Frazier was completely well, she remained a stranger in the house. Kathleen had always turned to Alma for help and guidance; now no one appeared to know, or care, what she was doing. There was no one to advise her about her feelings for Bruce or her friendship with clumsy, but likeable Swede. Then, on the night of the cast party for the school play, everything came to a head, and Kathleen and her mother finally broke down the barrier between them.

Here is a courageous and moving story of a family surmounting a shattering experience and gradually coming together again.

THAT'S MY GIRL by Janet Lambert—Parri is convinced that her cousin Davy would just confide in her she could help him solve all his problems. Davy, who is now a plebe at West Point, is just as convinced that interference by Parri is the last thing he needs.

Davy's roommate is a moody, unhappy young man named John Robinson, the son of a United States senator. Davy has just about given up trying to understand John, but when John decides to go AWOL, Davy feels that it is his duty to stop him from making a mistake that could ruin his life.

And to Davy's amazement, who should come along at exactly the right moment, but Parri. Parri proves her usefulness in other ways and Davy begins to think that his young cousin is not so bad after all. Parri, of course, has her own active life, playing a leading role in the high school play, which her producer father, Josh McDonald, directs. She attends a West Point plebe dance, and is becoming quite the budding belle.

first professional job as a school nurse involved her in much more than she had anticipated. She came to Kimberly, California, eager to plunge into her life's work, only to find herself acting as teacher, nurse, social worker and campaigner for a new school building. In addition, the doctor in charge, Stephen Archer, proved so demanding she was ready to quit, except for her own stubborn pride and loyalty to the children.

As a nurse she saved the life of a girl bitten by a poisonous spider. Her quick action helped save a man wounded in a knife fight and a woman stricken with a heart attack. But Dr. Archer rarely acknowledged her capacity to work wonders with inadequate resources, to react calmly and skillfully in a crisis.

When she joined him in a vigorous campaign for a new school to replace Jefferson Elementary, she found herself embroiled not only in a fight against bigotry, but also in a struggle to understand this young doctor who was both a forbidding figure of authority and a man who inspired her love.

WALK INTO THE WIND by Adrien Stoutenburg—When her parents decided on a trial separation, Fay Mulligan and her mother move from Chicago to a studio home on the ocean in northern California. Here Mrs. Mulligan hopes to realize her belated artistic ambitions.

Fay, a sensitive, introspective girl with dreams of being a poet, is a high school junior. Lonely in her new environment, she craves friends but is too shy and too proud to make an effort to find them. At first she scorns her noisy classmates on the school bus, but then she becomes acquainted with Hedge Carling's neighbor boy and one of the school's star athletes.

Now Fay's adventures really begin... the automobile accident Fay inadvertently causes, in which Hedge injures his knee and has to wear a cast... the barbecue for her classmates and her father's unexpected arrival... the stormy night when Arles, Fay's lamb, disappears show... and the result of her father's pending big deal in business.

... the outcome of her mother's entry into the local art
