Julia Brown, Former Communist for F.B.I., to Speak in Lubbock Friday

Mrs. Julia Brown, author, lecturer, outspoken critic of the so-called "civil rights" movement and defender of the local police, will discuss the cause and cure of agitation and civil turmoil in a speech at Lubbock Christian College Mabee Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Friday night, October 24th. The public is invited to hear the talk entitled "I Too Have A Dream."

Mrs. Brown served for nine demanding years as an undercover operative for the F.B.I. in the Communist Party. Because she is a Negro, most of her reports dealt with the Communist influences within the civil rights movement.

She is not the same Negro lady that spoke in Lubbock in May of this year. Both the former speaker, Lola Belle Holmes, and the coming speaker, Julia Brown, are Negroes, and both served the F.B.I. as Communist Party members.

Mrs. Brown spent countless hours in Communist schools, learning of their plans to use her people as "cannon fodder for the bloody race war they plan to use to take over this country." She was also in many Communist front groups.

Mrs. Brown's "cover" was broken in 1962, when she testified as an expert witness for several days before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The Congressional Committee commended her for providing "much new and useful information on the implementation of 'united front' tactics."

Former Resident Dies At San Antonio

Mrs. Arlaffay Foley Childress was dead on arrival at a local hospital in San Antonio, Texas, where she resided. She was a former resident of Lubbock and a member of Bethel A.M.E. Church, where she was a soloist in the senior choir.

Last August 24 she worshipped at Bethel A.M.E. Church here and visited several friends, and was show many courtesies during her visit with her brother and neice.

Final rites were held Tuesday afternoon at Bethel A.M.E. Church in San Antonio with Sutton and Sutton Funeral Directors in charge and burial in San Antonio Cemetery.

Among survivors are her father, Samuel Huston Stevens, of the home; a sister, Mrs. Celestine Stevens of San Antonio; a brother, W. H. Stevens; a neice, Mrs. Fancy Lacy; seven nephews, two neices, two aunts and an uncle, all of Lubbock; and many friends here and in San Antonio.

She was a faithful servant of her church and will be missed very much. Her family and friends here were shocked by the news of her death. The family here attended the services.

She identified more than one hundred Red agents.

For the past seven years she had addressed thousands of audiences all across this country, warning them that "the Communists are not interested in helping Negroes, but are only using us and the so-called civil rights movement to advance their own goal of world conquest." Thousands have read her stirring autobiography, I Testify.

Mrs. Brown sounds a warning about the dangers facing this country and the need to support local police as a necessary part of remaining free. She also offers a positive program for restoring fundamental American principals and building a safer, freer, prouder Nation.

The speaker is being brought to Lubbock by the "Lubbock County Support Your Local Police Committee" whose local sponsors include: J. E. Hancock, Olen Beard, Dr. Patrick Pappas, F. B. Chris Christensen, Dr. Cadmen Chaffin, Dr. Melville Monte, Bill R. Neel, and Albert Smith.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at Chris' Rexall Drug in the Town and Country Shopping Center or at the L & H Drug at 34th and Slide Road. The admission is $1.00 for students and $1.50 for adults.

Lubbock Man Nabbed Again on Drug Count

A 43-year-old man who received a 10-year probationary sentence here in August, after pleading guilty of marijuana possession, was arrested on an alleged similar offense last Thursday night.

Charged in this incident last Friday was George Mims, of 3512 East 15th Street.

According to police, they had observed incidents and persons involving the defendant's residence and an adjacent vacant house between 7:45 p.m. and about 10:10 p.m. When a certain car left the residence, officers followed and arrested Mims in it, alone, at East 9th Street and Guava Avenue. A tobacco can, containing what

Austin—Monday, at a meeting in the state capitol, Governor Preston Smith said that "racial blindness and intolerance" in Texas "must be overcome."

This statement was made to the first meeting of the Committee on Human Relations, the first state agency created to work out the problems "between and among" various ethnic and racial groups.

The committee of 50 was charged "first and foremost to be concerned exclusively to the betterment of human relations and dignity of all our citizens."

"Not everything this committee will do and not all of its findings and recommendations will be met with unanimous approval. But, the contributions this committee makes to the welfare, the happiness and the relations among the people of Texas will demonstrate that it is not here to create waves in a placid area," the governor said.

"It is essential that conditions and problems be documented—warts and all—and that there be a thorough examination and evaluation of the symptoms, the effects and the costs."

"I have no preconceived notion of all the wrongs that need righting or of how we should go about righting them; but I would suggest that some of the identifiable problem areas are these: education, housing, employment, the administration of justice, public facilities and services and consumer protection and education."

"Human relation problems do exist in Texas. And that is why this committee is necessary. I pledge to you that I shall take any reasonable step to help bring about real and measurable improvements."

At this meeting, he said he was again asking all state agencies to re-examine their employment practices, and also stated that he already had instructed his staff to fill vacancies "with qualified persons without regard to race or ethnic origin."

He went on to add that minority groups already are working in the governor's office and for the secretary of state.

"The Believers" to Be In Municipal Auditorium Sunday Evening

"The Believers," appearing Sunday evening, October 26th in Municipal Auditorium here in Lubbock at 8:15 p.m.

"The Believers," off-Broadway musical hit presenting the black experience in song, dance and dialogue, will be brought to the stage of Municipal Auditorium by the original New York cast at 8:15 p.m. Sunday, October 26th.

Sponsored by the Texas Tech Artists Course, the performance will be the first major event to be offered by the Tech series this season.

Tickets, which are free to Tech students and $1.50 for Tech-related personnel, will be available to the general public in Tech Union beginning Thursday, October 23, at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for non-Tech students.

Featuring Voices, Inc., a repertory company of singer-actors paced by Ladji Camara and Roger Blank on drums, the musical traces the history of the black race through 200 years of travail, from Africa to the U.S., through slavery and the depression era to present-day Harlem. Many of the songs are original compositions by members of the group, several are traditional work songs and others are special arrangements of spirituals.

City Woman's Mother Dies at Dallas, Texas

Funeral services were held last Saturday morning at Dallas, Texas for Mrs. Clemmie Walker, mother of Mrs. Fannie Price, who is a long-time resident of Lubbock.

Immediately upon receiving word of her mother's serious illness, she left early Wednesday morning and her mother passed away after she arrived. As we go to press, only a few facts are available. Beside the daughter here, and a grandson, no other survivors are known.

Over There Wives To Meet at Reese

The Over There Wives Club will meet Friday, October 24th at the Mathis Service Club at 7:30 p.m. at Reese Air Force Base.

Along with the nomination of new officers for the club, a program on Interior Decorating will be presented.

All wives of military personnel stationed overseas are invited to attend this meeting.

For further information, contact Senior Master Sgt. Walter Anderson in the Personnel Office at Reese, Phone 885-4511, ext. 402.

Josephine Jackson and Joseph A. Walker, both of Voices, Inc., wrote the script and Barbara Ann Teer, an experienced actress and dancer, directed the production. Music is under direction of Brooks Alexander and costumes are by Robert Pusile.

The manner of presentation is entirely their own. Said NBC-TV critic Edwin Newman: "The Believers' has more talent on stage than the law should allow. It is genuinely moving and vocally irresistible."

Credited with pioneering the black theater in America, Voices, Inc., rose to national attention with the success of "The Believers" in its New York production which ran nearly a year at the Garrick Theater. This led to a national broadcast as a CBS-TV network special, an RCA Victor original cast album and numerous area telecasts and radio programs. In 1966, the Voices represented the United States at the Spring Theater Festival in Paris.

Youth Council Held

Amarillo—A meeting of selected youths from each center in operation in the 26 counties in which the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation works was held in the classroom at 1900 West 9th Street, Saturday, October 18th.

This was an answer of the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation to a called meeting by Governor Preston Smith set for October 24 and 25th in Austin, Texas.

The selected representatives of these disadvantaged youths will meet with the Governor and his staff to talk about the problems which they (the youths) are confronted with and to examine possible solutions. The meeting is to be on an informal basis, allowing each youngster ample input.

The purpose of the Saturday meeting was to let the youths, themselves, select their own representative.

Glen Curtis Barber, of 507 Ft. Worth St., Wellington Community Center, Wellington, Texas, was elected to represent this planning region.

Teresa Ross of 1313 N.W. 15th was runner-up. Teresa was from Our Community House Center here in Amarillo.

The representative will be the guest of a university student in a dormitory while in Austin.

EDITORIALS

It's Simple to Realize that We're All Brothers!

It is the hope of this newspaper that from time to time, we will be able to arouse the concern of our black community in order to be recognized in the city and area. Many seem to forget that the black man plays an important part in his community also in this day and time.

In looking at the black community, many will find some interesting facts, which would probably shock that hard-core white community that has forgotten, or chosen to overlook, his black brother. Perhaps it is worth calling attention of this to those who do not think in terms of all people.

Every citizen should be made to realize that government, at some level—city, county, state or national—through its bureaucracy, registers his birth, and licenses the physician who attends him; provides for his upkeep if he becomes an orphan or if his parents become incapacitated; provides him with school and compels him to attend it; tells him at what age he may leave school to go to work, and licenses him to practice a trade or profession, often prescribing the amount of training he must have and the degree of proficiency which he must achieve before he can practice it; prescribes the number of hours which he may work, and under what conditions of health, comfort and safety; provides the streets and highways over which he drives his automobile to work or to pleasure; provides parks, playgrounds and other recreational facilities for his holidays; marries him, divorces him, and compels him to pay alimony; gives him valid title to his property, and adjusts his civil disputes with his neighbors, fines, imprisons, or hangs him for breaking the law; and licenses the undertaker who buries him when he closes his eyes in death. Yet some whites firmly believe it only happens to them.

Thus, both literally and figuratively, the government infringes upon all life (no matter what race you are or the income bracket you are in) from the cradle to the grave.

Once More, It's HEW Time in Town

Next Tuesday, the 28th, the school trustees of the Lubbock Independent School District will meet with HEW representatives in Dallas to discuss further the status of the black community's schools.

Perhaps a through study of week before last issue of U.S. News & World Report concerning the fact that school bussing and closing of many black schools in other parts of the nation had not worked out. Surely if it hasn't worked out elsewhere, there is no reason why it should work here either.

It would be the hope of this newspaper, as we feel it is of many of our readers, that our school trustees will be able to convince HEW's representatives that the neighborhood concept is certainly the most desirable for Lubbock's school problems.

Black schools in the black community are just as important to us, as white schools are to the whites in the white communities.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin-Texas Aeronautics Commission has expressed concern that the new federal aviation legislation may shut off its revenues for state airport building aid which now totals more than $400,000 a year.

Proposed aircraft user charges would increase the general aviation fuel tax from two to seven cents a gallon, levy a licensing fee of $25.00 per aircraft plus two cents a pound for prop planes and three and a half cents a pound for jets, increase the passenger tax on airlines from five per cent to eight per cent, place a new five per cent tax on cargo shipments and establish a $3 per passenger tax on international travel.

Money would go to airport improvements and relief of congestion. Some $180 million a year would aid large, airline-served terminals and $25 million a year would be reserved for smaller airports like those helped by TAC funds. Based on population, Texas would get about $18 million annually for larger airports and $2.5 million for smaller ones.

Hitch, according to TAC Executive Director Charles Murphy, is this:

Federal act requires states to match air funds on a 50-50 basis. At present the source of funds TAC has for airport building is unclaimed refunds

Sacco-Vanzetti

One of the most moving passages in English literature is a letter written by an unschooled Italian immigrant fish peddler, Bartolomeo Vanzetti, to his son. The letter, written after Vanzetti and his friend Nicola Sacco, two Italian-born anarchists, were sentenced to death for alleged robbery and murder, still brings tears to my eyes.

"If it had not been for these thing, I might have live out my life talking at street corners to scorning men. I might have die, unmarked, unknown, a failure. Now we are not a failure. This is our career and our triumph. Never in our full life could we hope to do such work for tolerance, for justice, for man's understanding of man as we do by accident. Our words — our lives — our pains — nothing! The taking of our lives — lives of a good shoemaker and a poor fish-peddler — all! That last moment belongs to us — that agony is our triumph."

Sacco and Vanzetti were executed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1927, following a trial and six years of unsuccessful appeals, in what many Americans are convinced was a legally-condoned frameup. All the excitement and passion generated by that trial is brought to life in a brilliant book, The Case That Will Not Die (Little, Brown $12.50), written by Herbert B. Ehrmann, the last surviving lawyer in the case. Ehrmann, an honorary president of the American Jewish Committee, was a young lawyer for the defense during the trial. His book is far more thrilling than any who-dun-it, and one which delves deeply into the heart of our social system. Exposing the prejudice and unfair tactics of the presiding judge, the prosecution and the governor, Ehrmann points out, "Our civilization can protect itself against open attacks on its principles by those who deny them, but cannot long withstand desertion by those who affirm them." It is a message as vital today as it was four decades ago.

A beautiful supplement to Ehrmann's book is Ben Shahn: The Passion of Sacco and Vanzetti (Syracuse University Press, $10.00), with text by Martin H. Bush. The book includes Shahn's impressive mural on Sacco-Vanzetti at the University, as well as many additional watercolors, gouaches and photos and an essay by Shahn.

Bias On The Culture Front

Most people are familiar with the facts about job discrimination against Negro workers, but an indication of just how pervasive such discrimination is can be seen by the unofficial ban on black artists by some cultural institutions.

An instance of this is a current case before the New York City Commission on Human Rights. Two musicians with wide symphony orchestra experience—one was a cellist with the Pittsburgh Symphony for four years—are charging that the prestigious New York Philharmonic refused to hire them because they are black.

The Philharmonic says no, color doesn't have anything to do with it, they're just not "qualified." But since the men have such high reputations and since the orchestra has hired only one black man in its hundred-year history, that explanation isn't very convincing.

A look at other major orchestras reveals the same picture: one black musician in Cleveland, another in Boston, other orchestras with no blacks. The numbers of black symphony musicians in major orchestras can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

If there is anything Negroes have been known for in this country, it is musical skill. White Americans sing and dance to music written, played, or inspired by black writers and performers. In fact, one of the stereotypes black people have been subjected to is the myth that we're "born with rhythm."

How strange it is then, to hear the Philharmonic's music director explain to the commission that his 99 per cent white orchestra's audition standards take into account the "warmth that emanates" from a player, and his "rhythmic understanding." The stereotype is used against blacks, and then discarded when it comes to evaluating black musicians for jobs that supposedly value the very same qualities.

It is shameful for a major cultural institution, one that gives concerts in a beautiful new hall financed by public subscription, to cling to the color bar while other fields are in the process of discarding it.

To claim that there aren't enough qualified black musicians is an ugly untruth, especially when New York also has the Symphony of the New World, an integrated ensemble. About 38 of that orchestra's 90 musicians are blacks, and the group has had excellent notices in its five year history.

While the Philharmonic says it can't find qualified blacks and refuses to hire 2 eminently qualified musicians, the Symphony of the New World found 38. But while the Philharmonic gets fat contributions to give summer concerts in the parks, the integrated Symphony of the New World can't raise enough money to give concerts for school-children in the ghetto. Behind the red and gold facade of our major cultural institutions is the rotten stench of racism.

It extends to other fields, too. The movie industry depends on black stars like Sidney Poitier and Jim Brown to fill the movie houses, but the high-paying craft jobs behind the cameras are still lily-white.

The same story holds for television. The performers out front may include black stars, but behind the cameras, it's different. At the same time that radical barriers are crumbling and black performers, at least in the star category, are given the chance to play to prime-time national audiences, black craftsmen are frozen out of top-dollar jobs.

This kind of discrimination is hardest to bear at a time when black writers, artists, musicians, and actors increasingly come to dominate the nation's cultural life.

By far the most exciting plays, books and paintings these days are the work of black artists who are leading a cultural renaissance not seen since the 1920's. Their success will make it increasingly difficult for our cultural institutions to cling to outmoded racism.

Police Beat

This Is What We Keep Talking About!

Did you know that we don't have to travel outside our city limits to come up with some shocking stories which involve young people. We can find many things right here in our back yard, and, yet, no one wants to get involved in doing something about them.

Here is a story which happened last week:

Juvenile officers picked up a 16-year-old youth at Hutchinson Junior High School last Thursday after undercover officers bought three tablets, possibly containing LSD, from him Tuesday of the same week, and prior to that, two officers recovered a capsule believed to contain LSD from a 17-year-old girl Thursday morning.

Police also reported that they searched a house in East Lubbock Wednesday night and turned up with several pills that possible could be amphetamines.

Juvenile officers said analysis of a capsule bought from the 16-year-old youth earlier showed it contained LSD, and it was decided to pick him up after an officer made another "buy" Tuesday in the 3500 block of 50th Street.

The girl involved in this story admitted that she had never taken LSD, but had sold several tablets which were obtained at a party recently. The girl also happened to be expecting—a baby, what else?

What we are trying to say here is that our young people are not really getting our guidance. And, at the same time, some of you are saying that this reporter is constantly playing the same old record about our young people. Don't you agree that we need to watch them more than we are? Our young people are in trouble in many aspects. And don't believe that it always happens to the other people—that may be what the parents of these youngsters thought. It happens to all of us, if we give it the opportunity. Why don't we set better landmarks for youth to follow? They may not like it, but their disapproval now may mean the difference between prison and a decent life later, when they will really appreciate it! Think about that, parents and adults.

Aggravated Assault

A Lubbock woman was severely beaten up on a local establishment's parking lot one night last week. According to the lady, who was taken to a local hospital, a man came into the cafe where she was drinking coffee and grabbed her purse to see if she had a pistol. When he discovered that there was no pistol, he began to drag her outside and beat her badly.

She told police that she will definitely file charges against the man. What will the outcome really be? Will she really file charges? This remains to be seen.

House Burglary

Joe Hatchett, 1914 East Colegate Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone broke into his house while he was away by merely breaking a window and unlocking the latch.

Once inside, the person took two cameras which were valued at approximately $44.00.

Break In

In another similar incident, William H. Chatham, 2712 East Colegate Avenue, reported that someone also gained entry into his house by breaking a window and unlocking the window.

He said that missing from his house were about $280.00 worth of merchandise, including a television.

Like Mr. Hatchett, Mr. Chatham had no idea who could have taken the items.

Police Beat Prayer

Dear Lord, please let us learn how important it is for us to leave constructive landmarks for our young people to pattern their lives after. Amen

Tech Drill Team on Program at Wheatley Elementary School

Last Monday morning members of the Texas Tech Army ROTC Tyrian Rifles Drill Team demonstrated proper color guard procedures to fifth and sixth grade students of Wheatley Elementary School as part of the school's program of emphasis on Americanism.

After raising the flag, the team led the students in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Mr. Grover C. Colvin, principal, instructed students in proper ways to salute the flag.

Team members participating were Cadet S. Sgt. Russel McDonald, who had charge, and Jim Wright, Charles Mathis, Tommy Puckett and William Daniel, cadet corporals.

Mr. Colvin said the ceremony resulted as a suggestion of Mrs. Kay Gilliland, a Texas Tech senior who is doing student teaching at Wheatley.

Twelve Syphilis Cases Revealed Here By Tests

Several weeks ago, a report delivered to the City-County Health Unit revealed that of the 72 persons who were administered blood tests during the venereal disease clinic at the health centers, twelve of those tested had infectious syphilis.

The report further stated that four of the 72 had latent syphilis, a noninfectious strain.

According to Dr. David Cowgill, health unit administrator, he said 20 persons who have been in contact with the persons showing positive signs of venereal disease have been given a dose of antibiotics to combat the possibility of spreading the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hawthorne of Hubbard, Texas were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thompson and family. Joe is a nephew of Jim Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Burks of Houston, Texas were guests of the E. C. Struggs family last week. The couple were former students of the Struggs in their early school years, even before the Struggs were married.

Mr. Burks is a mail clerk and a deputy sheriff of Harris County. Mrs. Burks is now a retired school teacher. Their former home was Cameron, Texas. This was their first trip to the "Hub City" and they did report a wonderful time while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Carter of Pampa, Texas visited his aunt, Mrs. Delia Tennyson and family. Robert Lee is recuperating from a serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas "Toot" Sedberry visited relatives here the week-end. They reside at St. Joseph, Mo. They had an opportunity of worshipping with the Messiah Presbyterian Church last Sunday.

Jim Thompson is home from the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring, Texas and is reported doing nicely to the delight of his family and friends.

Also, J. H. Wilson was home for a few days from the VA Hospital in Big Spring. He is reported to be feeling much better.

Mrs. Ruby Neal left last Friday morning via bus for Gladewater, Texas to be at the bedside of her father who is a patient at the hospital in that East Texas community.

Homecoming Activities Underway at Dunbar This Week—To Meet Golden Tornadoes Sat.

The student body of Dunbar High are boasting about their Homecoming activities, which are underway this week. The crowning of the Booster Club's Sweetheart, Mrs. William Meridith, will be done at half-time Saturday afternoon when the Panthers meet a hard-fighting team from Lamesa, the Golden Tornadoes.

This will be another crucial game for the District 3-AAA title, since Lamesa must win over Dunbar and also Estacado to stay in the running. No team has yet won over both these teams in 2 successive outings and Lamesa is until now undefeated and untied. This promises to be a game really worth seeing.

On Monday of this week "Spirit Day" was observed by the student body at Dunbar, when they wore the "Maroon and White" emblems, decals, ribbons and other symbols. Like last year, students who didn't wear maroon and white Tuesday were fined and "jailed."

Today, Thursday, the football sweetheart was crowned in a special assembly. Miss Brenda Bagley was crowned sweetheart with Peggy Mayes first runner-up and Patricia Smith second runner-up. Music for the 8:20 a.m. assembly was furnished by the music department, including Mrs. Eula Faye Williams, choral director and Roy Roberts, band director.

A real sure fire pep rally will get underway tomorrow afternoon, Friday, at 2:30 p.m. with Mrs. Celestine Kyle as sponsor. Guest speaker at this occasion will be Mr. E. C. Struggs, former principal of Dunbar.

An Alumni Tea will be held on Friday also, from 1:00 until 1:30 p.m. All alumni and friends are invited to come by and be a part of this affair, which will be in the homemaking department, Mrs. Lottie F. Barron department head.

The big game will be held at 2:00 p.m. Saturday at Lowery Field when the Panthers meet the Golden Tornadoes of Lamesa.

Also on the field Saturday afternoon will be the marching band of Dunbar led by their head drum majorette Ruby Neal Phillips and featured twirler Gloria Jean Hall. Other drum majorettes are Michele

Crawford, Daphne Newton and Tanya Priestly.

The climax of the week-long activities will be held for alumni and students at Mae Simmons Community Center from 8 until 11 p.m. Saturday night where refreshments will be served.

Tiger Power Strolls On Toward the "Soul" Road

Snyder-The Tigers continue the outstanding play they had displayed earlier this year on the grid-iron. Since the painful loss to the Colorado City Wolves the Tigers have week-after-week increased their stroll toward the district goal. The Lakeview Chiefs fell to the Tigers by a 28-0 skinning. This past Friday the Tigers traveled to Brownfield to dehide the Cubs by a score of 47-0 in their first district outing.

Seniors Eddie Ray McClain and Lee McNair were hardly missed as the Tiger unit has such depth to back-up the starters. Steven Pierce, Butch Buchanan and James Nore performed as though they had been at the positions all year.

The Tiger defense has been making quite a reputation for itself in pass interceptions. Over the last two games the Tiger defense has

Estacado Downs Dunbar in District Tilt 10-0

Two greats in high school football met last Saturday afternoon at Lowery Field in Lubbock and at the final gun it was Matadors 10-Dunbar 0. Larry Miller, kicker deluxe and tailback contributed 4 points to the Matador victory with a 42 yard field goal and a extra point conversion on a TD by James Mosley, and increased his league leadership over David Garcia of Colorado City by 20 points. Miller now has 78 points on 7 TD's, 27 extra points and 3 field goals.

The formidable Golden Tors of Lamesa, with a 6-0 record, last Friday again claimed victory by defeating Colorado City 23-9. Still undefeated and untied, the true test is yet to come. They have yet picked off 8 passes. Leader in interceptions is "Racehoss" Harrison with four, in the last two games.

Quarterback Butch Buchanan has completed 6 of 14 passes for 250 yards in his contribution to the Tiger cause.

to claim a win over Estacado and Dunbar, who they play this Saturday, to stay in the running for the District 3-AAA North Zone title. As it now stands, the contest will be between the Matadors and the Tors, providing Dunbar doesn't do Estacado a favor Saturday.

In a non-league game, Estacado, the 3-AAA state champs, will play the 4-AAAA Hirschi Huskies Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Wichita Falls. The Matadors, after a 7-7 tie game with the Snyder Tigers, stand 5-0-1 and Hirschi stands 5-1.

Estacado Frosh Play Friday

The Estacado 9th graders will take on Slaton Jr. High at 4:00 p.m. Friday, October 24th at Chatman Field. After two rather crushing defeats the Estacado Frosh last Friday won over Evans Junior High by a score of 31-14, upping its mark to 3-2. While every member of the team contributed to this victory, special note must be made of the two TD's credited to Henry Easter, one to Larry Isaac, and, would you believe it, a kick for point after to each Freudenwich twin, Andy and Randy. Larry Isaac also scored an extra point on a field goal.

Kicking, Passing and Running Forward

The future Matadors, Estacado's freshman and sophomore teams are getting in some good games and warrant your full support.

Thursday, the 23rd, the Jr. Varsity will again play the Dunbar Kittens at Dunbar. In the last meet the Jr. varsity defeated the kittens 26-6. Last Thursday the Jv's scored a 51-6 victory over the visiting Coronado sophomores.

Brady Mattison, on a stolen ball good for 30 yards, made possible the only score of the game for Coronado.

Russell Coleman ran 70 yards and 65 yards for 2 TD's in the first period and again in the second period ran 40 yards for a third TD for the Jv's.

Olda Lewis, soph quarterback, made good a 30-yard pass to Billy Taylor for a TD and later Billy ran 15 yards for another.

Lawrence Gibson is also credited with 2 TD's, one on a crucial 10-yard run and in the 3rd period he ran 60 yards for another.

Paul Moody's interception for a 32 yard return was credited with another major score for the Jv's, while several points after were credited to the excellent kicking of Sidney Evans. Isabl Luna plowed over the tough Coronado line for a two point conversion last in the game.

Alderson Junior High News

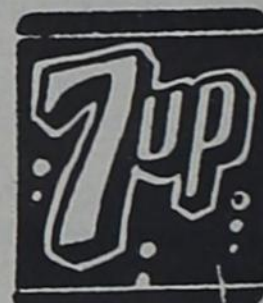

An assembly was held at Alderson Junior High last week during the homeroom period. Guest speaker was Captain Cox from the Juvenile Division of the Lubbock Police Department. His speech was based on the problems of increased criminal acts by teenagers.

There was a follow-up assembly this week dealing with "Youth and the Law." Ricky Alexander, president of Texas Youth Council, was moderator for a panel discussion of the problems that face the youth of today.

Both of these programs were planned to emphasize information in a pamphlet called "Laws Teenagers Should Know," which was distributed to Texas school students by Preston Smith, Governor of Texas.

Several of Alderson's seventh grade homerooms saw a film last week about "The Show-Off". This was another part of the orientation program for the students.

Friday, October 24th, at 8:20 a.m. the seventh grade students are scheduled to be given TB tests. A state law requires all students to be checked at intervals for tuberculosis. Anyone who doesn't take the school-sponsored test will have

Investigation of U. N. Asked Here

Showing their concern over the observance of U. N. Day on October 24, the Lubbock Committee To Restore American Independence Now (TRAIN) has issued a resolution urging an "immediate, complete, and objective examination" of the effects and purposes of United States membership in the United Nations. The Committee pointed out that anyone wishing more information on the true character and intent of the U. N. may write to T.R.A.I.N. at P. O. Box 4345, Lubbock. A special "U. N. Packet" has been prepared and is for sale for two dollars.

on the state's five-cent-a-gallon tax on aviation gasoline. Plane owners now leave some $46,000 a month in the state till rather than go to the trouble of filling out forms for refunds. However, with stiff new federal charges, it is feared they will start applying for all refunds they can get, thus leaving TAC with an "empty bucket," as one commissioner said.

Murphy said a state jet fuel tax of three to four cents a gallon would be necessary to raise as much as $2.5 million a year.

Meanwhile, TAC approved a $324,500 construction aid program for the next year, including these projects:

Dalhart, Commerce, McLean, Hale Center, Haskell, Hemphill, Pleasanton and Vega, $27,500 each; Taft, $26,000; Bridgeport, Giddings, Jackson County (Edna), Jasper, San Benito, Hearne and Van Horn, $10,000 each; Shamrock, $4,500, and Caldwell, $4,000.

Amarillo—We had some real cold days and nights last week and more are to come. To be sure you don't miss your paper (West Texas Times) each week, why don't you clip a coupon from the back of a recent paper and mail it to me along with your check or call me and I will come by and pick it up? That way, you will get it in the mail each week.

Did You Know That

Mrs. Jerry Hyman received word last week that her sister in East Texas was to enter the hospital? Let us pray for the sister and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Knapp have returned from their vacation, at the time of this writing I had not seen them, but I assume they had a wonderful time.

Of Course You Knew That . . .

The first semester is over in our schools and that some are happy and some, well, not so happy, over the grades they made. I will give you a report from Carver Junior High School next week on the happy ones, you will have to figure the unhappy ones out for yourself.

The Dons of Palo Duro High School won a good game from Coronado High of Lubbock. Quite a game, but I needn't say anything about the weather that night, right?

The West Texas Times is now being read in Quitman, Texas by Mrs. Clemmie Clark and in Riverside, California by Sgt. and Mrs. John Gentry—just prior to being torn up by Tiffany Dawn Gentry, their daughter.

I yet need boys and girls to sell the West Texas Times here in Amarillo. If you have a boy or girl, age 9 or older, and would like to get them in his or her own little business have them contact me by calling 373-9460.

Almo had an opportunity to visit his son, Major Edward Sedberry and his family, at Fort Hood, Texas.

The family and many friends, along with this column say; "Welcome home, 'Hog'".

Mr. and Mrs. Amaceo Johnson of Dallas, Texas were week-end visitors here. Their daughter, Karen, a student at Texas Tech, was happy to have her father present for "Dad's Day" celebration on the campus last Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. T. B. Reece were also among the family members.

Mr. Jeff Joiner is home from Methodist Hospital and seems to be recuperating nicely. This reporter and Emmitt Jamison had an opportunity of visiting with Mr. Joiner early Sunday morning. He was in a cheerful mood.

He wishes to thank all of his friends for their kindness.

Mr. M. Foster, father of Mrs. Eula Joiner, is a patient at Parkway Manor Nursing home here and is reported not doing so well.

Mr. Will McGruder of Los Angeles, California and Mrs. Willie Sheppard of Santa Barbara, California visited briefly in Lubbock last Sunday morning with friends here. Mr. McGruder, a former resident of Lubbock, and this was his first visit here in 27 years. He was completely surprised at the many changes. One of his daughters was a protegee of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Neal.

CHURCH NEWS

Johnson Chapel A.M.E. Church

Amarillo-Church school was well attended Sunday by both youth and adults. Mrs. Bryant brought a beautiful review of the lesson.

Our pastor, Rev. A. J. Davis, Sr., has been sick since returning from the conference, but reported Sunday from the pulpit that he was feeling much better.

At the 11:00 a.m. worship hour the pastor brought a very inspiring message from St. Matt: 5:1-5, "Blessed Are The Poor in Spirit, For Theirs is The Kingdom of Heaven."

The City Wide Ushers Union held their monthly service at Johnson Chapel at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, October 18th, with Rev. A. J. Davis bringing the message.

Carter Chapel Methodist Church

The third annual tea is well on its way. Reporting is just around the corner but individuals, groups, and churches still have time to be a part of this tea. Call SH 7-4640 for information.

The organizing of a gospel chorus will take place Saturday night. Under the leadership of Rev. Campbell, the choir will make its debut to the membership Sunday morning and to the public Sunday afternoon at the 23rd anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. O. D. Hollins of Lyons Chapel Baptist Church, October 26th at 3:00 p.m. The gospel chorus will be the traveling choir of Carter Chapel. It will make appearances with the pastor and hopefully soon will join the federation of choirs.

Sunday messages by the pastor will be: "The Motive Test," dealing with men wanting praises and God's warning about praise. Sunday evening the pastor's message will be "Knowing What You Know."

Mount Gilead Baptist Church

A "Kick-Off" Banquet will be held at the Plains Co-Op Mill, November 3, Monday, at 7:30 p.m. honoring our church's 52nd anniversary.

Tickets will be available soon. For further information, please contact our minister, S.R. Roberts.

The Mount Gilead Baptist Church is asked to worship with the New Jerusalem Baptist Church Sunday, October 26, in an appreciation service for Rev. and Mrs. A. Cleveland.

Twentieth & Birch Street Church of Christ

Plans are being made concerning a fall meeting. The meeting is now being planned by the brothers of the congregation.

Excitement is building for the 13th annual Lubbock Christian College Lectureship program. Completion of the beautiful Moody Auditorium makes it possible for the total program to be conducted on the L.C.C. campus for the first time. Dates for the lectureship will be October 26-30. Let us all plan to attend.

Those on the sick list this week include Sister Albrooks and Brother Pitts who remain ill. Their condition is well, as to be expected. Let us continue to pray in their behalf.

Sister Henderson, Sister McCormick and Sister Carroll remain on the sick list. Let us go by and see those members.

There are many kinds of "people who pour it on." Some want to see their name in who's who, while others are happy to see it on a new mailbox or on the Dean's List of an institution of higher learning.

The latter is what Mrs. Marilyn Gentry is most interested in. She has constantly made the Dean's List during tenure at Riverside University at Riverside, California.

The former honor graduate of Dunbar High School of Lubbock, Texas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Parrish of Amarillo, Texas.

She is presently enrolled in the Department of Business where she plans to complete her required subjects in order to graduate from college in June of this year.

The up and coming young lady is married to Sgt. John Gentry who is stationed at March Air Force Base, Riverside, California. John is also a graduate of Dunbar High School in Lubbock. ringing the bell

By Bob Tieuel

Tidbits of Afro-American history for busy newspaper readers: Living profiles—Mahalia Jackson, the little orphan girl from New Orleans, Louisiana, has come a long way. She is without doubt now, the world's greatest gospel singer. She was born on October 26, 1911, and people from all walks of life and those with and without musical training, enjoy the style and music that she knows best.

Mahalia left New Orleans and went to Chicago when she was sixteen. She had hopes of studying beauty culture or nursing but ended up with a job in a factory, earning a bit more than a dollar per day. The fees for one night's appearance now amount to more than ten thousand dollars.

One of the most amazing factors in the life of this famed gospel singer is that she has never had a music lesson, nor can she read musical notes and almost never sings a song the same way twice. As Dr. John T. King, president of Huston-Tillotson College and author of Famous Negro Americans, says of Miss Jackson, "when she opens her mouth, music just seems to pour out with a kind of charming power."

She has appeared as guest artist and soloist in Carnegie Hall and in such countries as Denmark, France and England. She sings her songs of faith in churches, concert halls, radio and television studios, baseball parks, arenas, and other such places. She has been invited to sing at the White House.

Mahalia has had fabulous offers to sing in night clubs like some other former gospel singers, but she says, "No amount of money, no matter how big, can tempt me to give to the devil what the Lord has given to me."

Although Mahalia Jackson's formal education is quite limited, this column wonders if she would have ever been known for what she is today: "The world's greatest gospel singer," if she had gone to college. One thing is certain: As was said of the trained and talented Marian Anderson, only one Mahalia Jackson is born every one hundred years.

Recent visits to downtown bookstores and newsdealers in the Permian Basin reveal that two books by black authors are currently on the best selling list in the nation. They are: Tell Me How Long, Has the Train Been Gone?, by James Baldwin and Soul on Ice by Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver. When you have finished, send the Bellringer your copy.

Final Rites Read Here Saturday for Oscar M. Iles

Funeral services were conducted Saturday, October 18, 1969, at 2:30 p.m. at Greater St. Luke Baptist Church for Oscar M. Iles, a long-time resident of Lubbock, Texas. Mr. Iles was a pioneer resident of the City of Lubbock.

He had been ill for some months, and had suffered several strokes. Only a few weeks ago, Mr. Iles had been transferred from the VA Hospital in Amarillo, Texas, where he had been a patient for most of his confinement, to the Parkway Manor Nursing Home here in Lubbock. He and his friends were all thrilled that he was home again, and everyone was looking forward to him attending another meeting of the Federation of Choirs, an organization that he had helped found here in Lubbock and had served as its president for many years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Betty Iles, of the home; one sister, Mrs. Leola Davis, of Houston, Texas; and a host of relatives and friends.

Active pallbearers Saturday were members of the Booker T. Washington Post, 808 while honorary pallbearers were the St. Luke Deacons and members of Knight of Pythian Lodge.
