It's Whoop-T-Do time again

No place on earth, besides Iowa Park, has a Whoop-T-Do celebration. And nobody on earth, besides in Iowa Park, has more fun than people have at the annual Whoop-T-Do.

Sponsored by the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, the Whoop-T-Do was initiated to give former Iowa Park High School students something to do on homecoming weekend, between Friday night's football game and Saturday night's banquet for the Alumni and Ex-Student Association. Recognizing that all organizations like to hold fund-raising projects, and realizing that those projects often are pleasurable activities, Chamber directors decided on starting a carnival-like activity and calling it the Whoop-T-Do.

The first Whoop-T-Do was held on the old fair grounds. But it was moved to the 100 block of East Cash where the surface was paved, parking did not hamper business in the shopping center and more utilities and facilities were accessible.

Thirty-one booths have been assigned for this year's Whoop-T-Do. The activities range from a pillow fight to an arts and crafts exhibition. There'll be rides, food, games, drink, food, raffles, queens, food, raffles, singing, drinks, cake walks, food, posters and food.

The 23 Study Club will sponsor a sidewalk art show. Artists will be offering their wares for sale. Also, a silent auction will be held for one of Jack Steven's paintings.

The Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Association will sponsor a "people's choice judging" from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., next to the Friendly Door.

The annual turtle trot is open to any youngster in the fourth grade and younger to enter their prize turtles. To be held at 10:30 a.m. in front of the Chamber of Commerce office, whenever the turtles stop trotting and a winner is named, his owner will receive $20 in silver dollars from Tanner-Aulds Funeral Home. Entries must be marked for identification.

Throughout the day, various organizations will provide entertainment for the crowd, on a scheduled basis. These will include school bands and choirs, a bluegrass band, square dancers and Danny and the Red River Revue.

Organizations who will have booths along East Cash include: Rotary Club - ice melting contest
Evening Lions - pitch and throw games

WHICH ONE WILL REIGN? - The four candidates selected by the student body for Iowa Park High School homecoming queen are, from left, Darlene Taylor, Marianne York, Lindy

Neely and Paige Watkins. Coronation will take place at 7:30 Friday evening, just before the kickoff of the Iowa Park, North Side football game in Hawk Stadium.

Hawks to 'try again' against Steers Friday

The old saying might apply to Iowa Park's scheduling of Fort Worth North Side two successive years as its opponent for the homecoming football game.

It could also apply to the Hawks' so far winless season record.

The Steers dampened homecoming festivities somewhat last year when they out-scored the Hawks 39-21 in an offensive battle. The two teams amassed a total of 767 offensive yards.

North Side is one of the better football schools in Fort Worth. The Steers, who have a long history of this year with a 14-7 defeat of Trimble Tech last Friday. Trimble edged the Hawks 27-21 in the second game of this young season.

The Steers lost their opener to Western Hills, but have defeated Trimble, De Soto and Lincoln. Iowa Park's losses have been to a pair of 5-A schools, Trimble and Rider, one of the state's top class AAA schools, Breckenridge, and a cliffhanger (7-6) loss to Burkburnett.

Returning to the field tomorrow night after missing two games because of a knee injury will be the leading Hawk carrier, Jim Smith. He carried the ball 21 times against the Steer defense last year and gained 134 yards.

Smith was averaging five yards on each of his 40 carries until he was sidelined against Trimble Tech.

The senior will resume his familiar role at tailback, and Chris Nethery will return to the fullback slot where he played prior to Smith's sidelining.

Nethery is averaging 6.8 yards on his 39 carries so far this season, having gained 245 yards. backfield has been healthy since the second quarter of the Trimble game. But all is not well in the Hawk health field.

On the sideline tonight, but hopefully able to return when the Hawks open conference play two weeks later, is tight end Steve Harris. The big senior suffered a shoulder separation after catching his second pass in the third quarter against Rider Friday night. Harris is the leading Hawk receiver this year, recording four catches for 51 yards.

Kevin Parker, who carried 11 times and gained 74 yards against Rider as the starting tailback, is doubtful for tomorrow night. He suffered a sprained ankle and his ability to play against the Steers won't be determined until tomorrow, according to coach David Baugh.

Alternating with Smith at tailback will be Lynn Fulfer and Greg Untalan.

Prior to the 8 p.m. kickoff, the homecoming queen will be crowned in ceremonies.

Pep rally set this afternoon

The pep rally for tomorrow night's homecoming football game will be held at 5:15 this afternoon in Hawk Stadium, according to the cheerleaders.

The rally will be held prior to the start of the junior varsity game against Wichita High.

Former cheerleaders will be special guests.

IOWA PARK LEADER

Vol. 13, No. 4 IOWA PARK, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS 76367 THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1981.

Aldermen approve $1.6-million budget

The city council Monday night approved its budget for the new fiscal year, which begins today, and set the tax rate without any changes from those figures discussed at previous public hearings.

Total expenditures anticipated for the coming year would be $1,622,792, of which $152,240 would be for debt service to retire general obligation and revenue bonds.

The tax rate was set at $1.05 per $100 evaluation at 100 percent value. Of that, 16-cents goes into the debt service retirement.

Votes approving the tax rate, increases in sanitation collection rates and increasing fees to tap sewer and water lines were all 3-1, with aldermen Herman Mahler voting against. Alderman Charlie Lee was absent.

Considerable discussion was held on funding some money for the city library. The subject arose both during a public hearing on budgeting expenditures from the federal revenue sharing fund and prior to voting on the annual budget.

Mrs. Dutch George, chairman of the library board, reminded council members she had appeared earlier and again explained the board intentions to construct a new building on the site of the old Park Hotel.

She asked the council to budget $45,000 for the project, with the balance of construction funds to come from donations from citizens and grants from foundations. Total cost of the structure was estimated between $185,000 and $200,000.

Aldermen voted to allocate $20,000 for the fund, of which $5,000 had already been pledged from revenue sharing money.

Mayor Johnny Crawford explained he could not support allocating of the $61,838 revenue sharing money anticipated to be received during the fiscal year, because he could not be sure it would be released by the federal government. Recent budget-cutting talk from Washington D.C. was given as his reason.

The money allocated for the library, other than the $5,000 from revenue sharing, would include $5,000 each from the street department building budget and water tower improvement fund, and $5,000 revenue sharing fund carryover.

Crawford said money budgeted from revenue sharing for repairs on the water towers would hold down the tax rate, because the work had to be done. To give $45,000 to the library from tax revenues would require an eight-cent increase in the tax rate, he said.

Council members approved a change of the county tax appraisal board from eight members to nine. It is expected that all the other tax entities in the county will vote the same, except the city and school district of Wichita Falls.

FIRE SUB STATION

Steve Mowery, train master from Wichita Falls, was on hand to answer questions concerning frequency and size of trains which pass through Iowa Park, and wound up being asked if his company would contribute toward building a fire sub station in the south part of the city.

Alderman Bill Gilmore told Mowery that the city was being forced to protect the south side of the city with fire equipment, and it would be a "friendly gesture" by the railroad to pay part of the cost.

For the first eight months of 1981, an average of 13.5 trains have passed through the city each day, Mowery reported. The trains are approximately 1.25 miles long, if they are coal trains.

Gilmore said the fire sub station would cost the city between $50,000 and $90,000 to construct.

Aldermen later approved purchase of three vacant lots at the intersection of Diamond and FM 368, at a cost of $6,500. And they also approved advertising for bids to construct the building.

Also approved were the extension for one year a lease of grazing rights at Lake Buffalo by Howard Klinkerman.

at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Theme of the banquet will be country and western, and the meal will be prepared by the Iowa Park MuleSkinners.

Barry Mahler will be master of ceremonies. Decorations are under direction of Mmes. Gus Rich and Bud Mercer. Entertainment will be provided by Danny and the Red River Revue.

Kenneth Via, association president, will assist Mahler in recognizing classes and awarding door prizes. The person who travels the farthest and the family with the most members attending will receive special recognition.

Special recognition will be given to classes whose years end in "1", such as 1951.

Other officers include Mrs. Ruth Gard, treasurer; Mmes. Eva Nell Cook and Carolyn Richter, secretaries; James Richter, first vice president and Tim Hunter, second vice president.

Activities planned for former students

Former Iowa Park High School students will be talking for at least the year to come, if they participate in everything planned for them at this year's homecoming.

There will be a registration booth for all former students at Friday night's football game.

Saturday there will be a place where they can rest and visit during the Whoop-T-Do. Between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., the Friendly Door (formerly the old hardware store on the corner of Cash and Wall), will be open for exes. Refreshments will be served.

Another visitation period will begin at 5:30 p.m. Saturday at the high school library. Mmes. Kenneth Via, Jerry Gholson, Eddie Worthy and Barry Mahler will be in charge. Mrs. E.T. Patterson, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Homer Blalock, publicity chairman, will greet guests and direct them to the library.

The annual Alumni and ExStudents Association banquet will begin

Amity Study Club establishes theme

The theme for the Dec. 15 program, "Christmas Around the World" will be the connecting link with the International Affairs Department. Hostesses will be Mrs. Joe Howard Williamson and Mrs. Lee Hale.

Mrs. Jerry Denton, leader for the evening, will introduce Mrs. Glenn Schell, a guest, who will present a program on Christmas traditions around the world. Members will answer roll call by telling how they found out about Santa.

Miss Llerena Friend of Wichita Falls will present a program on famous women of Texas. Mrs. Steve Montz will give the meditation and Mrs. Jim Bob Merrick will serve as chairman of the hostesses.

The March 16 program planned in keeping with the Crime Reduction-Hands Up division of Public Affairs Department, will feature a slide presentation by John Brown, safety officer with the Department of Public Safety, on "Nobody's Victim", which will deal with self defense for women. He will be introduced by Mrs. Leo Thames, program leader.

Mrs. Lee Hale will contribute the meditation, and for roll call members will bring a list of emergency or hot line phone numbers in Wichita County. Hostesses will be Mrs. Larry Watts and Mrs. Don Rice.

Mrs. Erwin F. Soell will install officers for 1982-84 at the April 20 meeting hosted by Mrs. Steve Montz and Mrs. Joe Vickers. The service will tie in with the theme "Value of Leadership" as well as the Leadership Division of the Education Department. Mrs. Joe Howard Williamson will contribute the meditation.

The club will close activities for the year May 1 at the second annual book review and luncheon. The first book review and luncheon meeting was held in the spring of 1981 and featured Mrs. V.Y. Rejebian, a renowned book review artist, and a luncheon prepared by Amity Study Club members which netted approximately $600 for the Iowa Park Library.

Club members instructed in Japanese arrangements

Mrs. Vernon Gilbert conducted a workshop on making Japanese flower arrangements for the Iowa Park Garden Club in a meeting held Friday morning at Texas Electric Reddy Room.

She took advantage of classes taught in Japan while she and her husband lived there during an Air Force assignment, and showed club members her certificate written in Japanese which she received upon finishing a course in flower arranging.

Mrs. Gilbert said that Japanese have a special corner, the Tokanoma corner, in their homes for prayers, scrolls and flowers. She explained that all of their flower arrangements are a fingertip with elbow on table, so that guests can see each other.

She gave tips on preserving flowers such as adding two tablespoons of sugar to frogs for tulips, daffodils, iris, or any other soft or hollow stem flower. Other tips included breaking instead of cutting mums and hydrangeas. She also advised submerging flowers in water up to the blossoms immediately after cutting them and setting them aside in a cool dark place for two hours, and rubbing dry salt into stems of poppies and dahlias.

During the program, Mrs. Gilbert made several Japanese flower arrangements.

Mrs. W.A. George presided for a short business meeting. It was voted to use the Eastern Star Lodge booth this year at the Whoop-T-Do and sell homemade ice cream, cookies and brownies. Members volunteered to make ice cream and others were requested to bring the cookies and brownies; they were also assigned hours to work and reminded to be at the lot next to the Iowa Park Public Library Friday at 9 a.m. to decorate the float for the homecoming parade that afternoon. Mrs. Norman Deason is float chairman.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. George Boles and Miss Ethyle Kidwell. Mrs. Danny Bohannon was a guest.

$1,000 REWARD - Vandals Thursday night inflicted a $4,000 expense to Iowa Park school district taxpayers when they broke into Bradford Elementary and virtually ruined the offices. School trustees have authorized a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the culprits. The entire south wing was flooded and tempera paint was poured over records, machines, student records, the floors, desks and splattered on the walls of the principal's and secretary's offices and teacher's work room. School officials think the vandals should have been easy to spot, because anyone handling that much paint should have had some on their clothes, under fingernails and on their bodies. Water from a stopped-up sink in the west end of the hall was found running out the east door when the building was opened at 6 a.m. Friday. Students were not allowed into the building until 9 a.m., while workers mopped the water.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

One of the things I miss most at high school football games these days is the cheering of the student body and crowd.

No, I'm not talking about any lack of applause and encouragement for the players on an individual basis, because that is good. Nor am I attempting to say that the cheerleaders aren't doing their part. They are the hardest working group of students on campus.

There just isn't an organized cheer anymore because no one apparently knows the words of a cheer in order to participate. There is good response to the old cheer of "Two bits, four bits."

Only a few years ago, the Hawk fans would, just as the team was approaching the stadium from the field house, chant "Go, Hawks, Go." It would kinda make the hair on the back of your neck stand up and was great for enthusiasm.

Apparently, the problem is that old, standard cheers which have been used over the years are no longer in use. And I think I have the reason for that.

It's not the fault of the cheerleaders. They are using some cheers that have been practiced over the last three or four years, and mainly use cheers that come from the cheerleading school.

Obviously, I've never been to a cheerleading school. But they are commercially-operated activities, and in order to keep leaders from all the schools returning, they've got to come up with new stuff, year after year. And that's what the cheerleaders learn and bring back with them.

These new cheers are good rhymes and real cute. But memorizing them is something else. The thing the teachers at the cheerleading schools are forgetting is that the student body isn't there, learning.

From time to time, I attend college football games, or see them on television. It seems the cheers are known by all the student body, and that they have been handed down through the years. Even the fans not sitting in the student body join in.

Nothing sounds better in a football stadium than the entire student body of Aggies from A&M. That thundering noise would make a fullback want to run through a brick wall.

I'm not suggesting that our cheerleaders change a thing, nor am I criticizing them. As I said, they are hard-working students and they do an outstanding job.

But I must admit that I miss those simple chants and cheers I used to hear, in unison, from my home stand at football games.

Rider edges Hawks, 28-13

Seldom will you see the fans of a losing team smiling after an athletic contest.

But that was exactly what happened as Iowa Park supporters filed out of Wichita Falls Memorial Stadium Friday night, even though the scoreboard showed Rider winning, 28-13.

They were smiling, and commenting, because they recognized the considerable improvement of both the Hawk offensive and defensive play over the previous season losses. They recognized that Rider has more than double the enrollment of IPHS, and among those enrolled is the best running back of all Wichita Falls athletes: Greg Owens.

"They played as good as they could," commented one "Mean Green" backer. He felt, as do most fans, that a loss is not nearly so difficult to take, if good effort is given by his team. And it was.

Playing injured and short-handed, the Hawks made only one major mistake the entire evening. They didn't lose the ball a single time on fumbles or interceptions. One lone penalty was the mistake, and it led to a stalled drive on the Raider 14 yard line late in the opening period.

The defense held the fast, big-play Raider runners to only six runs of 10 yards or more, among the 45 rushing plays Rider called. The longest was a 33-yarder.

Owens, who led all Wichita Falls backs in rushing last season, gained 116 on 21 carries. Most of his success was on option pitchouts around end in the second and third quarters.

Rider picked up 16 of its 22 first downs in those two periods.

Wayne Hodges had his best night of the season. The junior quarterback connected on four of his five pass attempts, and the offensive line kept the Raider defenders off Hodges, a chore unmatched so far this year. Hodges finished with a plus three yards rushing, where he has averaged losing seven yards on 16 times he was tackled in the earlier games.

Chris Nethery ground out 98 yards on 19 carries against the Raider defense. He was alternating at tailback with Kevin Parker, who gained 74 yards on his 11 times with the ball. Parker, who had a 28-yard run in the first period, entered the game with only eight carries on his varsity record, and a net two yards gained.

A strong southerly wind Friday night had an effect on portions of the game. Each time Rider kicked off to the north, the ball went out of the end zone, holding down any runback opportunities. The two longest passes Rider completed, 26 and 37 yards, were with the wind.

And it was the wind which held the Hawks one point short of what they should have registered. Jeryl Brixey's kick after the second touchdown was high enough, and with less wind, long enough. But the ball stalled at the crossbar, and dropped short. It appeared almost that the wind had blown the ball back toward the field.

Rider scored on its first possession. The 55-yard drive was aided by a 37-yard pass to the Hawk 18, from where it took six plays to punch over from the one. The Raiders attempted a faked kick to run for a two-point conversion, but it failed.

Iowa Park drove from its own 23, after the following kickoff, to Rider's 15, but a holding penalty took the ball back to the 25. Four plays later, Rider took over possession on its own 14.

The hosts appeared to be on the march again, after connecting on a 26-yard pass. But Owens fumbled and Steve Harris claimed the ball on Rider's 38, with 28 seconds remaining in the opening period.

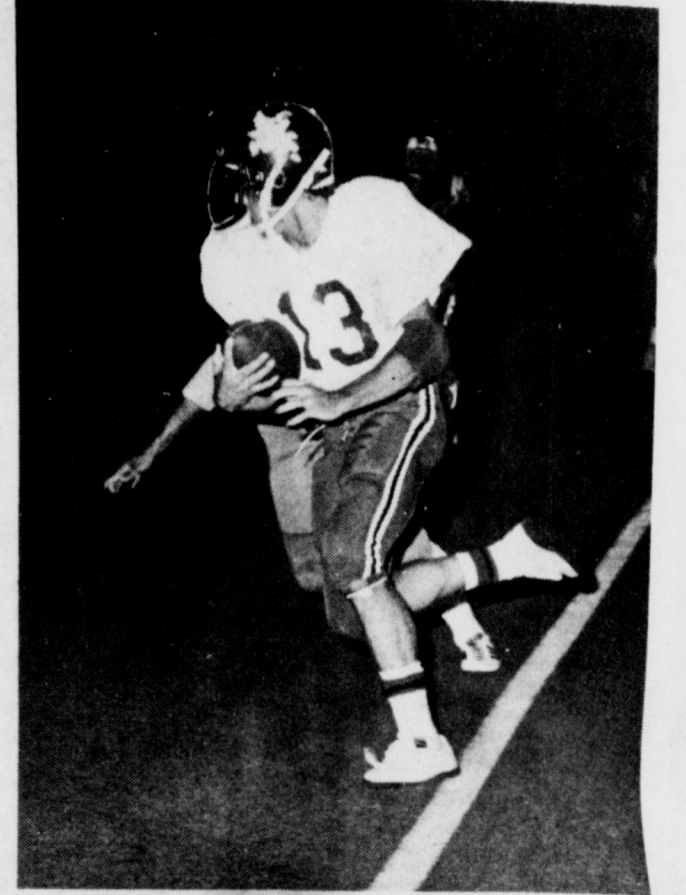

Nethery and Parker alternated carrying the ball to the Rider nine, and it was there that Hodges threw his first pass of the evening, hitting Harris over the middle as he crossed the goal line.

When Brixey split the uprights with the PAT kick, the Hawks went ahead, 7-6. That was the first time this season the Raiders had trailed in a game.

The lead lasted a little over nine minutes, because the Raiders mounted an 87-yard drive that ended with a one-yard touchdown plunge, and then passed for the two-point conversion. The half ended with Rider leading, 14-7.

Rider amassed nine first downs and gained 110 yards rushing and 15 passing during the third period, and the Hawks could come up with only one first down.

The hosts scored once during that period, and were on their fourth and final scoring drive as the quarter ended. Their third touchdown climaxed a 78-yard drive, and the last one was a 53-yard drive.

Rider was given good field position for the last TD when the Hawks, trailing 21-7, gambled on fourth down when they needed only two inches, but came up short at the Rider 47 yard line.

With just under three minutes remaining in the game, Brixey covered the second Rider fumble on the Hawk 41 yard line. Nethery and Mac Weaver alternated at carrying the ball because Parker has been sidelined with a sprained ankle.

But the two bruising backs took the ball to the Rider 21 yard line where, with 29 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock, Hodges completed two passes in succession. The first was a 15-yarder to Rob Hausler and the second was to Steve Fairchild in the end zone, with 15 seconds remaining in the game.

what promises to be the highlight of the 1981 District 13-AA season.

And, with the 'Jacket coach bringing a career 30-8-3 and 1-1 season record into tomorrow's contest, the Eagles from Holliday will be providing a long list of incentives for Boyd to shoot for in their upset bid.

The undefeated Eagles moved to the number 10 spot on the Associated Press list of Class AA teams this week, joining the Harris Poll which also has Holliday in the same spot.

"I look for Boyd to be healthy and ready to go," Eagle head coach Don Lucy said. "I don't know how well they've played so far, but I know they will be ready for us."

Student commended

Holliday High School senior Cynthia C. Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Parker and Robert Davis of Archer City, was commended recently for her participation in the National Merit Scholarship program, according to principal Bill Lee.

Miss Davis was one of 36,000 participants across the nation receiving the letter of commendation. These participants scored high, but slightly below the students in their respective states who qualified as Merit Program semifinalists, according to a spokesman for the program.

Band Club to meet

The Holliday Band Club will meet at 7:20 p.m. Monday in the high school band hall, according to Dyanne Lee.

Parents of band members are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Boyd has struggled through preseason this year, tying favored Decatur in the season opener, then beating Lake Worth before losing against Southlake Carroll. They were open last Friday.

The 'Jackets are defending District 13-AA champs, and handed Holliday a 33-26 loss in the district opener last year in Boyd. In that game, senior quarterback Scotty Hightower made several remarkable throws, completing two for touchdowns on fourth and long situations from 25 and 31 yards out.

Hightower isn't back, but the 'Jackets are confident with his replacement, Tim Sipes. With three returning starters on both offense and defense from a team that went 10-2 and earned a bi-district championship before bowing to state champion Pilot Point, Cartwright has shifted several players to new positions, which might be a factor in their poor record thus far this season.

John Humphreys, (6-1, 190) a first-team all-district tight end last year, is now at the tailback slot. He is joined by former tackle and all-district linebacker Tony Warner (6-0, 205) who moves to the fullback position.

Warner's move to fullback will provide a classic matchup with Eagle defensive ace Joe Chase, who admits having little trouble in preparing for Friday's game. "He hit me pretty hard in last year's game and almost broke my nose," the senior linebacker and Eagle captain said. "I am looking forward to seeing him one more time."

Other switches made by Cartwright include moving split end Alvin Baker, who caught a pair of touchdowns in last year's game, to flanker, and right guard Duane Watford to center.

The 'Jacket line is small, averaging a little over 160, but Cartwright feels their aggressiveness and the size of the backs will balance the offensive attack.

"Even though we're not big on the line, we are quick and aggressive," said Cartwright. "I feel that we have excellent wide receivers who can catch the ball real well and who have a lot of experience."

As for the quarterback situation, Cartwright is even more confident. "We have good depth. Sipes is an excellent option quarterback who throws the ball well," Cartwright said.

"I think he throws as well as Hightower and may even be a better runner," Lucy added.

Game time is at 8 p.m.

Leftover season tickets for the Holliday Eagle home games will be sold on an individual reserved seat basis, according to Pat Holt, secretary.

Reserved tickets for tomorrow night's homecoming game will be on sale until 4 p.m. that day in the superintendent's office.

Named to the nominating committee for new officers were Jesse Stoddard, Joan Stone, and Helen Kosciol.
