Hearing Recessed In Lake Sight Fight

Colorado City and Mitchell County Water Steering Committee and their attorneys arrived home Friday after a recess of Texas Water Commission's hearing on the Colorado River dam site.

Attorneys Charles Griggs of Sweetwater and Frank Ginzler, Mitchell County attorney and their witnesses now await reopening of the hearing on Monday, Jan. 4, in the capital city of Austin.

The state water commission recessed the heated hearing at the end of Thursday's testimony in the controversy between Colorado River Municipal Water District, opponent to the district's choice of Coke County for a proposed $12.8 million dam and mammoth lake.

Lined up for the amended application for a TWC permit to move lake plans from Mitchell County to Coke, are the CRMWD and their attorneys, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, certain Upper Colorado River interests.

Opposed to the permit are members of the Lower Colorado River Authority, the city of Austin, Runnels County irrigators, Gulf Coast Irrigation interests and the county of Mitchell.

Hearing, first postponed from October to Dec. 14 opened Monday in Austin. A recess for Tuesday was called because of a funeral in the family of Senator Charles Herring, attorney for the city of Austin.

Monday's testimony was largely from Col. E. V. Spence, general manager of CRMWD of Big Spring. Monday afternoon was given over to cross-examination of Spence by lawyers for the opposing forces. Griggs questioned Spence for half an hour of the two-hour question and answer session.

First round was won by Spence and the CRMWD when the water commission denied attorneys plea that the application for an amended permit.

Funeral is pending for Edgar B. Gentry, 72, who died at his home here, East Fairmount St., at 7:20 a. m. Saturday.

Born April 19, 1892, he had lived in Colorado City for many years and had been ill for a long time.

Kiker & Son Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. Last rites will be held in Central Baptist Church of which he was a member, with time to be announced.

Survivors are his wife, Trudy, of the home address; three sons, Archie of Midland, Wayne of La Grange, Ore., and J. D. Gentry of Merkel; a daughter, Mrs. Maurin Molder of Jall, N. M.; 16 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Colorado City cemetery.

MEDALLION ROOM

Employees Of Co-op Host Holiday Party

Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, Inc. employees celebrated with their annual Christmas party and program here in the Medallion Room at the Co-op building, Thursday evening.

Holiday turkey dinner was served buffet style. Gifts for children under 12 were presented by a guest, Santa Claus.

Two five-year label pins of sterling silver were presented by Martin Murphy, Lone Wolf Board president of Hermleigh; to Lindon Solomon of Cuthbert and Raymond Althof of Roscoe, members of the Lone Wolf Co-op Board of Directors.

Program for the evening also included the invocation by Gwan Strange, introduction it could meet Health Department standards.

W. L. Eads, engineer with Fresse, Nichols & Endress, testified Thursday that cost of the dam, 12.8 million, would include purchase of land, relocation of highways, recondition or relocation of pipelines, and raising of 20 producing oil wells on platforms above the proposed lake.

Plans, Eads said, call for a dam so constructed that water would rise over the emergency spillway only about every 100 years.

When the hearing is resumed, Jan. 4, Robert S. Gooch, Ft. Worth engineer, is expected to testify concerning yield of the proposed lake and its estimated salt content.

At least seven witnesses will appear to be heard for opposing forces Mayor of Colorado City, Dr. John H. Chinn, County Judge Elmer Martin and Ford Merritt, city manager, will appear for Mitchell County's Water Steering Committee.

HOME DISPLAY CONTEST

Judging Light Contest Set For Tuesday Night

Home lighting contest deadline day is Monday at 5 p. m. with judging to take place Tuesday night, sponsored by Jaycees with Sanford Bowlin as chairman.

Contest entries are to be listed at the Chamber of Commerce office before 5 p. m. Monday to be eligible for three prizes donated by Texas Electric Service Co.

A yard light installed will go to the home lighting contestant whose entry is judged best. An electric blanket is second prize, an electric clock will be given as third prize.

New entries are those of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Carroll, 1343 Walnut St.; Mrs. Morris Sloan, 902 East 13th St.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kzell, 1911 Vine St.

Also entered in the contest are the homes of Mrs. Mae Fuller, 2209 Vine St., and of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Latimer, 149 West 11th St.

Earlier entries were those of Mrs. A. C. Benson, 423 East 15th St.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Holbert, 305 East 19th St.; and the fifth grade room of Mrs. Jack McKenney in Hutchinson School where children of the class have decorated and lighted a window.

Entering the contest Saturday morning were home lighting displays arranged at 1705 Pete Warren home, 1530 Dallas St., the home of Mrs. Dal May, 943 Walnut St., and the Charles Root home at 204 East 8th St.

Need for warm used clothing of all sizes and for warm bedding exceeds the clothing given to the depot, to date, Rev. Rogers said.

Used clothing pickup night for the Christmas Basket project proved to be somewhat disappointing, reported Mrs. Mary Lee Moore, director of the gift-clothing depot, Saturday.

Weather was freezing Thursday night with the low reading at the season's record cold, 16 degrees. Boy Scouts and Jaycees who acted as pickup crews to homes with porch lights on, met with less success than in most seasons, Mrs. Moore said.

Boxes for the depot may be taken until Dec. 25 to the Earnest Building and will be picked up by Jaycees upon requests made to the clothing depot telephone number, RA 8-4566.

All clothing, shoes, bedding will be given to homes where the need is greatest. Christmas Baskets of food, bought by the Ministerial Alliance, will be delivered Christmas Eve.

Money for the food project is also welcomed by the ministers who hope to make Christmas happier in less fortunate homes here.

Also entered in the contest are the homes of Mrs. Mae Fuller, 2209 Vine St., and of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Latimer, 149 West 11th St.

Earlier entries were those of Mrs. A. C. Benson, 423 East 15th St.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Holbert, 305 East 19th St.; and the fifth grade room of Mrs. Jack McKenney in Hutchinson School where children of the class have decorated and lighted a window.

Entering the contest Saturday morning were home lighting displays arranged at 1705 Pete Warren home, 1530 Dallas St., the home of Mrs. Dal May, 943 Walnut St., and the Charles Root home at 204 East 8th St.

MOTHER OF RANCHER

Funeral In Illinois For Mrs. Ellwood

Mrs. E. Perry Ellwood, 91, Colorado City, and John F. Ellwood of Daytona Beach, died in her sleep Thursday night at her winter home, Daytona Beach, Florida.

She was the mother of L. L. Ellwood II, of Ellwood Spade Ranch, and grandmother of Perry Ellwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood and their son left Saturday at noon for DeKalb, Illinois, where funeral services were tentatively set for Monday in the Ellwood Illinois residence.

Interment will be in the Ellwood family mausoleum in DeKalb.

Born May Gurler, May 29, 1873, and was married in 1899 to E. Perry Ellwood, son of the late L. L. Ellwood. It was the first L. L. Ellwood who established the famous giant ranch at Spade and was one of the widely-known original promoters in the manufacture of barbed wire.

Mrs. Ellwood was a member of the Mother Church in Boston of the Christian Science Church and of the Scientist Church in DeKalb. She was long active in garden clubs as a director of the Lake Geneva Garden Club, member of the Daytona Beach Garden Club and of the Garden Club of America.

Two sons, one daughter, 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchildren survive her. Her sons are L. L. Ellwood II.

Calvary Baptists Plan Cantata, Tree

Calvary Baptist Church will observe White Christmas Sunday evening at 7 p. m.

Youth Choir, with 15 voices directed by Mrs. Neil Rogers, will present a Christmas cantata "Within a Little Stable" by Robert Graham. Mrs. Mike McKinney will play the piano accompaniment.

Primary Sunday School pupils will act in a costumed pageant as the cantata reveals the Nativity in song.

After the cantata, White Christmas offerings will be brought to the tree. Offerings will go into the Calvary Baptist Church building fund.

There will be stockings with candy for children 12 and under, said Rev. Neil Rogers, pastor, in announcing the Sunday evening program.

Showing off on the part of the weather did not deter Christmas shopping in town. Some merchants said that the snow flurry Friday actually attracted shoppers to town, Saturday.

Stores will be open until 9 p. m. Monday. Some merchants plan to remain open late each night from now until the night of Dec. 24 for convenience of last-minute shoppers.

Sleet Slows Traffic Here

Colorado Citizens busy dreaming of a White Christmas got encouragement from a glaze of sleet and light snow here Friday.

Winter, not due to arrive officially until Monday, Dec. 21, moved in on Colorado City Thursday.

Thursday saw the thermometer at official weather station do the fanciest nose-dive of the season. Reading plunged 50 degrees Thursday from a high of 69 to a low of 19 degrees.

Friday, the weather gave an even flashier performance. Low at the official weather station on courthouse lawn was 17 degrees, said Robert Lewis of the City Fire Department. Other readings in various points recorded lows of 15 and 16 degrees at breakfast time Friday.

Just before five o'clock Friday afternoon freezing rain sleet, and some snow took time about putting frosting on the weather cake. High for Friday was an official 27.

Glazed sidewalks, icy streets and frosted windshields and car windows made travel in and around town hazardous late Friday. Intermittent sleet fell until 10 p. m. but a warming trend followed to raise the Saturday morning temperature to an exact 32 degrees.

Highway conditions throughout most of Texas were dangerously slick. The Texas Highway Department warned all drivers.

Buses in and out of town were running about 30 minutes late Friday and Saturday because of blizzards as far south as Austin and Waco. Dallas and Ft. Worth area highways were reported to be extremely hazardous after heavy sleet.

Texas & Pacific passenger train from El Paso, enroute to Ft. Worth, arrived in Colorado City about 11 a. m. Saturday. Train schedule calls for a breakfast stop here in Colorado City.

Passengers from six coaches and the train crew flocked to all downtown coffee and eating spots almost four hours late. The train was loaded with holiday travelers including many men on Christmas leave from Ft. Bliss in El Paso.

Prediction for the weekend was for more sleet and rain and for temperatures above the freezing mark. Skies were still overcast at Record Press time.

Showing off on the part of the weather did not deter Christmas shopping in town. Some merchants said that the snow flurry Friday actually attracted shoppers to town, Saturday.

Wilder, Sr. Rites Here Thursday

Graveside rites for William Harold Wilder, Sr., were conducted by Dr. Ralph Graham at 11 a. m. Thursday in Colorado City cemetery.

Wilder, 60, died at his home, 1118 Westview Drive, in Abilene early Wednesday. He was the father of William Harold Wilder Jr., husband of the former Miss Jean Rogers. Born in Hobart, Okla., July 18, 1904, he was married to the former Miss Fern Taylor in LaCrosse, Kan., June 12, 1929. As chief surveyor for Amarado Petroleum Geophysical Corp. in Tulsa, Wilder

Dear Santa

Dear Santa,
I am too young to write to you, so I asked my Mummy to write this letter for me.
You see, I am only four years old. I hope to go to kindergarten next year so I can write you all by myself.
I have been a very good boy. I'd like for you to bring me a set of guns, a jeep and lots of candy. Also bring some toys to my cousins in Odessa and in Panama City, Fla. They have been good boys and girls.

Also, please remember my Grandma and all the little boys and girls, all over the world. I love you, Santie.
Love, Joey Landeros

Dear Santa,
I would like a Johnny T.O.M.A. The one man army gun and also I would like a Varson Motor to go on my bicycle.
I would also like a "Banana Bicycle Seat," a Big Blower and a tool set.
And bring me a surprise that I would like to play with.

CONVERSATION CORNER

THIS IS the time of year when all the trees outside stand barefoot in their underwear... empty of leaves barren of nests... visited only by the vagrant wind.

All except the evergreens. Some of the evergreens are dressed in jewels of lights strung like bright beads across the bosoms of their fragrant branches.

Inside the house, the evergreen trees stand like queens of the hall... wearing diadems of stars... braccials of pearls, necklaces of rubies, emeralds... all sprinkled with silver... and sequins.

This is the time of the year.

THIS IS the time of year when the dark of night outside comes earlier each day... shorter and shorter the day... longer and longer the staying over of night. Monday is the shortest day of the year outside.

Inside the house it is lighter than ever! There are lights in the kitchen, lights in the hall, lights in the den and the guest room... all!

This is the time of the year.

THIS IS the time of year for fullness... the full pantry... the full refrigerator... the full stockpiling... and full hearts.

Not everywhere, of course. There are empty tables... empty-eyed children... and empty hearts.

But this is the time for fullness in the world most of us know. This is the time for remembering the fullness... the richness... of God's Grace... for helping make Christmas Baskets full.

This is the time of the year.

THIS IS the time of year when love glows like a lighted candle, shielded from the cold blast of adversity... of disappointment... of bereavement.

This is the time of year for singing "Away in a Manger..." This is the time for words too often left unsaid. This is the time for shining and singing... and sharing.

This is the time of the year.

THIS IS the time of year when the little town seems friendlier... more aware of each other's separate joy and heartaches.

"Children coming home?" we say as we pause along the streets. "Ready for Christmas?" we shout as we hurry about.

This is the time of year for families... for family fun and recalling... family worship in spirit... in song... in truth.

This is the time of the year for the earth's best holiday. It began... as a Holy Day.

THIS IS the time of year when there's special joy in being glad for neighbors, friends, acquaintances... and perfect strangers... expecting Christmas company... or planning to be company, themselves.

Joe and Martha Earnest will go to Midland Christmas afternoon for evening dinner in the home of their sister Fannie Bess Sivalls (Mrs. Don) and her family.

Evelyn and Perry Bowles plan the family traditional dinner for the Bowles son and daughters... and their children.

THE A. G. (RED) BALLARDS will spend Christmas in Austin with their only daughter Joyce Ann, her husband Jo Edd Bostwick and their daughters Joanna and Jennifer. Red leaves Saturday and Mrs. Ballard will join the family Tuesday.

RENDERBROOK RANCH home of Myrtle and Otto Jones two VFP (Very Favorite People) will be filled with Christmas guests.

Expected from Wichita Falls is their daughter Pauline Kayser, whose sons Ray Baylor U. Senior, and Richard, junior in University of Texas will join her here.

Jones, daughter Frances Croslin of Lubbock will have three of the Croslin children with her since her son Lowell is now in Lima, Peru, with the Alliance for Progress. Lloyd Croslin Jr. will be here, Eddie, aged 12, and the Croslin daughter Carolyn.

THE JAMERSONS, Myrtle and Wayne, will spend Christmas in Plainview as houseguests of their son Jerry Jameson and his wife Donna (nee Reeves).

Jerry and Donna have the most beautiful news... to be made public in February, by the way.

BILL & JOSIE RANDLE will leave Wednesday for Lubbock where they plan to greet Santa Claus at the home of their daughter Ann, her husband Edd Davis, and the Davis children Randy and Jill.

The Elliots, Elizabeth and Lewis, will feast their daughters and their families in their home. Coming from Waco are daughter Shirley and her husband Bryan Wilkinson and their children. Daughter Esther Saunders and children will be here from Irving.

Joining the family party will be daughter Frances, her husband Charlie Godwin, and their daughters; daughter Ruth Cooper, her husband Bill and their family.

LENA PORTER is among the lucky parents to have "children" home for Christmas. Expected here Saturday night for a holiday visit were her daughter Fannie Bess, Capt. Eddie K. Norris Jr. and their sons Skipper and Dale, all of Homestead AFB in Florida.

The Albert Spivey home already has a holiday guest—their son Jimmy Spivey of Crane... and may have another Mrs. Spivey's son Marvin Wilkerson of Houston. Marvin's attractive Japanese wife and their little daughter are now in Japan for a visit with her family... first she has made home in nine years!

SEEN LATELYS included Mrs. Oliver Lipps getting beautiful for holidays... Ditto Mrs. A. J. Hooks and Mrs. Homer Jameson... who was telling the most amusing story of how she was bottle-feeding a little calf abandoned by his onery mama.

Saw Lucy Thomas (Mrs. Luke) on the shopping scene... Joe Burnest and Ray Webb, coffee-breaking... Ditto Chief Leon Yeager and Sheriff Lewis Claxton, wreathed in their nicest smiles.

Everywhere, everywhere... Smiles of good cheer... All over creation... It's that time of the year.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Speech Students Will Present Play

Students of Colorado Junior High School Speech Classes will present their annual Christmas program Tuesday at 3:00 p.m. in the School auditorium.

Highlight of the program will be a play entitled "The Gifts" by Dorothy Clark Wilson.

Director for the play is Mrs. Arnel Smith, speech teacher at Colorado Junior High School.

"History and tradition," said Mrs. Smith, "are silent as to what happened to the gifts of the three wise men to the Christ Child—gold, frankincense and myrrh. In imaginary scenes from the boyhood of the Master we see his disposition of these gifts."

"These scenes are presented with humility and reverence, knowing that no one of us can presume to give an adequate interpretation of his personality, yet proudly conscious that in so far as we are like Him, His spirit lives again in every one of us."

Characters for the play are Keaton Grubbs, part as the boy; Christy Stubblefield, the mother; and Johnny Matthews, Carolyn Clark will play the part as a woman. Part of an old man will be played by Ross McKenney and Jim Dockrey as a slave.

Other players are Randy Parker, a merchant; Sally Smith, the reader; and Robert Sanchez, Ronnie Witten, and Roy Banta, three wise men.

Prompter for the production will be Mattiea Cradfield.

Following the program, the entire student body under the sponsorship of the student council will participate in a White Christmas offering. The public is cordially invited to attend.

FFA State President Visits Here

Guest speaker for the Colorado High School assembly Tuesday afternoon was Calvin Brent, Future Farmers of America state president.

Brent's topic for the assembly was Americanism and Education. He stressed the fact that citizenship is more important than entertainment. He spoke concerning the purposes and different phases of the FFA organization.

"He thought agriculture has made America the great strength it is today," and will continue to do so," said Brent. The speaker emphasized to the assembly that we should appreciate all the things that we have in America.

In closing, Brent said, "Improve yourself and the full advantage of your education." Brent is a graduate of Crosbyton High School in Crosbyton.

HD Agent Speaker Lions Cracker Day

"Cracker & Water" day was celebrated by Lions Club members here Dec. 5 as the pay off for losers in the annual Lions light bulb sale.

County Home Demonstration Agent, was speaker for the Friday noon program.

Program for the day followed luncheon which began as a divided affair. Members of the Sinners Team in a recent bulb sale were seated to a feast of crackers and water. The penalty was result of a "gentlemen's agreement" and was to have been paid by the losing side in the sales contest. Saints team, however, relented and invited Sinners to help themselves to the regular menu (steak) after impromptu speeches by Sinners captain, Dr. Ralph Graham, and by captain of the Saints, Rev. Darris Egger.

Introduced by Arlene Morris, Lions' president, Miss Wood told Lions and their guests of her duties as HD agent—duties, aims, responsibilities, requirements and satisfactions.

In addition to a college degree in Home Economics, she said, "A Home Demonstration Agent must like people." In the past months, she added, she has worked with about 800 people. "December is the peak month, of course," she said.

Next to people an HD agent must "like travel," Miss Wood said. Home Demonstration Agent here averages traveling 20,000 miles a year, she told the club.

"A Home Demonstration Agent must like to chaperone young people," she said as she listed the various trips to district events, state events Texas A&M short courses and summer camps.

Miss Wood and Buddy Logsdon, county agent, supervise a total of 134 Mitchell County 4-H Club boys and girls. The Home Demonstration agent is advisor to 10 Home Demonstration Clubs in this county and meets with each HD Club at least four times each year.

Preceding the speech by Miss Wood, Speech Department students made two short health addresses, sponsored by the Mitchell County TB Association in connection with the annual Christmas Seal Sales campaign.

Pam Roberts had as her subject "Dangers of Smoking." Keith Jones discussed the importance of TB seals to public health and the war against tuberculosis.

Myra Robinson gave an effective reading of the famous poem, "The Man With a Hoe," by Edwin Markham.
