STATE AID FOR COUNTY ASKED

County Superintendent A. A. Bullock has been busy this week preparing state aid applications for Scurry County schools. He calls attention of all trustees whose schools are applying for aid to the fact that they must sign the applications before October 1, and urges that they call at his office at once and do so.

Appropriations are made by the state totaling $5,000,000 every two years, or $2,500,000 per year. Last year Scurry County's part of this amount was about $18,000. This year it will be raised to approximately $20,000,000, according to Mr. Bullock.

All applications are sent direct to the state department of education, where they will be considered according to school improvement, taxable values in the districts, and other factors. Appropriations are based on teachers' salaries over a period of six and one-half months.

Spur Eleven to Meet Ottis Moore's Squad at 3:30 O'clock in 1929 Season's Opener.

The gridiron season will be ushered into Snyder this (Friday) afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when the high school Tigers meet the Spur eleven on the local field.

Although not a conference encounter, the fans are expected to be out in full force to see how Coach Ottis Moore is whipping the old-timers and rookies into shape for the first tussle that counts in the averages—that with Rotan Friday of next week at the fair grounds.

The lanky captain who dealt misery to opponents while he wore a Simmons University uniform has made football believers out of some of the letter men who weren't so good and out of some of the greenhorns. He has made them believe that they are good but not too good; that they can make a showing in the conference only when they buckle down and hit hard every minute.

So the Tigers will be buckling down this afternoon. They know little of the strength of the Spur delegation, which is coached by Gene Taylor, who assisted at Post last year.

These are those Tigers: J. T. Trice, tackle; J. T. Jenkins, guard; Buddy Martin, halfback; J. L. Huestis, quarter; Cloyce Drinkard, tackle; Andrew Jones, end; Dan Trice, center; N. R. Clements, guard; Albert Carlton, half; Dodson Smith, center; Austin Erwin, end; Billie Lee, half; Grady Ferguson, quarter; Mack Winston, guard; Bedford McClinton, half; Jack Isaacs, guard; Creston Fish, quarter; Johnny Beggs, end; Earl White, half; C. W. Pettit, guard; J. W. Green, tackle; M. M. Clark, half; Buck Howell, half; Travis LaRue, tackle; Weldon Alexander, center; Bob Webb, end; Shadrick McGinty, end; Peewee Williams, end; Burdine and Clark, tackles; Willard Lewis, guard; Joseph Andrews, guard; Jack Howard, tackle; Willie Burney, tackle.

Coach Moore and his assistant, W. N. Corry, announce that practice will be held behind closed gates, through which the sightseeing world may not enter, on the afternoons of Tuesday and Wednesday each week. This ruling was made in order to keep out so many spectators, who often get in the way of players, and to make privacy possible for working out special plays. The public is welcome on all other days.

Scurryly Speaking---

SNYDER High may not have the best football team in the district this year, but it's certain that she has one of the best coaches in this section.

Ottis Moore will get the most out of his men because he knows football, men and sportsmanship. Anyone who watches the 40 youngsters hop around out on the field every afternoon must know that right here is a team to be reckoned with before the district averages are totaled.

It will do Coach Moore, those 40 youngsters, and the entire school a ton of good to see lots of Snyder business men out on the sidelines when the whistle for the first game of the year is tooted at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

It will be a testing time for everyone concerned. If you are out there traipsing up and down the lines each time the Tigers gain an inch or a yard, it might help a lot.

The Business Men's Luncheon Club believe in Coach Moore and his squad so strongly that they appointed an athletic committee to work with them in every way possible.

But several hundred committees of one can help a lot more than all the club committees combined.

IT takes a lot more than talk to assure success for a community fair. The Scurry County Fair Association, knowing this, have their heads together on details of next week's exposition.

They are making it a point to keep the stray ends of things from dragging—to have everything ready for everybody when the fair gates open Thursday morning. The easiest way to help them out in this idea is to bring in exhibits early. Slouchy booths are a dishonor to any fair, and they are usually caused by lots of late arrivals.

Some folks who were down in the mouth a couple of weeks ago about county fair prospects are finding it hard to discover griping material these days. Practically all of the department superintendents are looking for exhibits at least as big as last year's, and one or two are predicting notable enlargement of their sections.

After all is said and done, there should be no power under heaven to prevent exhibits, crowds and interest from mounting to a new high level next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Let's bring the whole blooming family.

PROPHETS who really make a business of prophesying are interesting fellows. That's one reason why the Bible has charm aside from its inspired nature.

But the prophet who estimates cotton crops is the most interesting of all. He is seldom right, but when he is right he gets a lot of free publicity. When he's wrong, the public just says "I told you so," and proceeds to forget his words of wisdom.

A few weeks ago the Hermleigh Herald editor estimated the Scurry County cotton crop for this year at 27,000 bales, based on the opinion of a friend of his. He was evidently balled out about it from more than one source, for he took off about half of his estimate in the next week's paper.

Prophets who estimated 17,000 bales three weeks ago were almost given the horse laugh by the wiseacres. Now the average opinion seems to be that the total will be near that amount with fair weather conditions.

One old-timer believes the crop could hit the 30,000 mark with just the right conditions for the next two months. The Bible says: "The fool thinketh himself to be a wise man, but the wise man knoweth himself to be a fool."

Maybe the Hermleigh editor was not so un-Solomon-like, after all.

Friday 13th Fails to Hoodoo Snyder Folk

Meow! Crash! "Don't walk under that ladder!" "Pick up that pin or you'll have bad luck."

Black cats, broken mirrors, folks who walk under ladders, and those who pass up pins lying on the sidewalk are evidently taboo in Snyder, for The News has heard of no one having a siege of bad luck yet.

Friday the thirteenth might be a hoodoo day in some localities, but it passed almost unnoticed in Scurry County's capital. If we're wrong, and somebody has already started out on a seven-year run of luckless days, we'll be glad to apologize next week.

It's rained some more, at any rate.

TRAGEDY MARS LOCAL FIESTAS

The four-day celebration of Mexican Independence Day in Snyder was tempered with tragedy Saturday, when Antonio Meza, Mexican youth, was accidentally killed at the home of Abel Berentes, in the north part of town, Saturday. Young Meza died as the result of a concussion of the brain, following an accidental fall to the concrete floor while he was boxing with another Mexican youth. He was known to many Snyder people, having assisted Berentes here with his tamale selling for some time.

The celebration was attended by Mexicans from Midland, Sweetwater, and intermediate points, who formed probably the largest group of the kind ever assembled here. Included in the guest list was Lauro Yzaquirre, Mexican consul from Sweetwater, who addressed the "fiesta" attendants at Wolf Park Sunday. Several Snyder people attended the fiesta at various times, taking part in the programs and eating the "hot stuff." A group of Spanish students from the local high school, taught by Miss Maurine Cunningham, sang "America," assisted by Mexican girls, before the crowd Sunday afternoon.

Originally scheduled to be held two days at the Berentes home and two days at Wolf Park, the fiesta headquarters were moved to the park following the death of the youth Saturday. The celebration continued until Tuesday.

Many Mexicans wearing flags of their country were seen on Snyder streets during the celebration. This year's celebration was the one hundred and nineteenth, in commemoration of Mexico's declaration of independence from Spain September 15, 1810.

Tax Rolls in County Increase by $288,318

Tax Assessor Sterlin Taylor reports that the state and county tax roll has been checked and approved by the commissioners court and the tax department of the state comptroller's office. It shows a valuation of $7,335,989, an increase of $288,318 over 1928. The roll is now in the hands of the tax collector, who will be ready to issue 1929 tax receipts on October 1.

Scurry County tax roll was third in the state to be filed with the comptroller's office, this being the second time in three years for Scurry County to be third.

All work on the 1929 tax roll was done by the tax assessor except $56 for typing.

Many blonds are only chemical attractions.

WINSTON SAYS EXHIBITS GOOD

Harrie Winston, superintendent of the livestock division of the Scurry County Fair, is confident that exhibits in his department will be the largest in the fair's history. He is making extensive arrangements to house cattle, hogs, sheep, horses and mules in larger number than ever before, and reports that breeders all over the county will show their stock.

The superintendent urges that livestock be put in their places as early as possible Thursday morning. The deadline is 10 o'clock.

In the cattle division of the department, of which J. J. Koonsman is superintendent, Herefords, red polls and Jerseys, all registered, will be shown. Eleven divisions under the swine section, of which Tom Huffman is superintendent, will be given prizes.

In the sheep division, where L. N. Perriman will be superintendent, Rambouillets and Delaines will be admitted, and special prizes will be given for the grand champion ram and the grand champion ewe.

John Spears, superintendent of the horse and mule division, is expecting good entries to try for the eight types of prizes in his fair section.

Hollingsworth Meat Market Is on Square

G. G. Hollingsworth is proprietor of the new meat market opened Wednesday at the Mollie and Me Grocery, east side of the square.

Mr. Hollingsworth has had charge of the meat market at the Pat Brown Grocery for some time, where he was pleasing many customers. He is an experienced butcher and meat cutter, and will be pleased to meet his patrons and friends in his new location.

UNION LOSES BULLARD FAMILY DURING WEEK

This week Union community will lose one of its good families. The Bullard family, who have resided here for the last 18 months, are moving to San Angelo, where Mr. Bullard has a position awaiting him. These people have played an active part in church and community affairs while living here. The community extends its regrets at losing this good family and hopes for them happiness in their new home.

TIGER TRAINER

This is the man who makes Tigers from town boys and country boys. His name is Ottis Moore; his title, coach of the Snyder High football team; his immediate purpose, to see that he puts a fighting bunch of youngsters on the field against the Spur High eleven this (Friday) afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

RAPT ATTENTION * * * Dumb Ladies in Ring * * * GIVEN BATTLERS

Tables were pushed aside. Late diners left their last delicious bites of ice cream to melt away. Thirty men gave rapt attention as Referee C. Wedgeworth announced the battle of the century between experience and inexperience. Into the improvised ring were ushered two dumb, immodest ladies, bolstered with hoops and bands.

Bob Warren, vender of magazines and drugs, was called from the spectators' group. W. O. Logan, dealer in good advice and bad stories, was given the high sign. The two combatants stepped gingerly toward the silent ladies. Pat Bullock and Willard Jones were designated as time keepers. John Erwin, Judge C. R. Buchanan and O. P. Thrane were called to the judges' seats.

"The judges will please decide whether experience, represented by our druggist friend, or inexperience, represented by this innocent young man, is master," instructed the referee. "Go to it, boys!"

From a bundle beside each lady the battlers took mysterious somethings dotted with buttons, straps and laces. Twenty-eight men were no longer giving rapt attention. Possibly it was the sight of corsets that gave them the laughing sickness. It took eight and one-half minutes for experience to prove its mastery. But, alas, the judges declared, after Mr. Logan, at Mr. Bullock's suggestion, pointed out that certain articles of women's wear are taboo, that the decision must be carried over until next week.

Two counsellers were appointed for each combatant, and it was announced that a six-cornered debate would decide the issue next Wednesday at the Manhattan Hotel at 1 o'clock. Mr. Warern will be assisted by Ralph Ricks and P. W. Cloud; Mr. Logan by Munger Lewis and J. C. Smyth.

Thus was ushered in the third meeting of Snyder business men after the summer recess. The Manhattan Hotel was the scene of the luncheon and program, Wednesday at 1 o'clock.

It was unanimously decided to continue the luncheon club under the name of the Snyder Business Men's Luncheon Club, and to leave the doors open for all business and professional men, whether they have or want affiliation with Lions International or not. At the same time, Lions may

Two Correspondents Added to News List

Two new correspondents have been added to the News' list this week. We are pleased to announce that Miss Gladys Thurmin is now regular correspondent for Dunn, while Mrs. Jim Kelley will furnish news from Hermleigh.

Although these news gatherers are efficient, and will furnish personal, school and church happenings as complete as possible, they cannot do their best unless folks in the communities phone them or see them personally when they have news items.

This is just another step in The News' effort to give this county a representative paper. Tell your friends about these two new features.

TO LECTURE ON COW TUESDAY

"The Stepmother of the Human Race—The Cow."

With that interesting subject as his background, H. S. Mobley, practical southern farmer and noted lecturer, will speak at a community meeting in the courthouse next Tuesday at 8 p. m. Everyone in the county is urged to hear this helpful talk, which will be freely illustrated with large lecture charts and demonstration material. Admission will be free.

"Make the Cow Your Partner" will be the keynote of Mr. Mobley's lecture. He appears here under auspices of the agricultural extension department of the International Harvester Company.

Mr. Mobley was national chairman at Washington of the Farmers' Organizations' Legislative Committee during the discussion and adoption of such laws as the Farm Loan Bank, parcel post, Smith-Lever Bill, etc. He discusses dairying, diversified farming, home building, community development, better rural schools.

The lecturer is not a theorist. He advocates only those things he has tried himself and found profitable. He knows dairying and dairy cattle. He operates a dairy farm, has 30 head of fine dairy cattle, sells the butter fat for cash and markets the skim milk through calves, pigs and chickens. He has been talking dairying and community building all over the south.

Covey Teaching in School at Lubbock

John R. Covey and family left last week for Lubbock, where Mr. Covey will teach in the Lubbock High School for several weeks. He will be an instructor in the English department. Superintendent M. H. Duncan of the Lubbock schools invited Mr. Covey to substitute for a teacher in that school last week-end in the absence of one of the regularly elected teachers.

The Snyder man for the last two years was principal of the local high school.

B. Y. P. U. SOCIAL GIVEN AT JOE WILSON HOME

On Tuesday evening a B. Y. P. U. social for Union Chapel community was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson, in honor of the Bullard family, who are moving this week to San Angelo.

School time was carried out in the social by the games that were played. After the games refreshments were served to a large number.

GREATEST FAIR IN HISTORY OF COUNTY TO START THURSDAY

FIELD MAN FOR HOME FEEDING

H. L. Gantz, field editor of the Farm & Ranch, Dallas publication, was a Snyder visitor Tuesday. He was on a return trip to his home in Comanche after gathering material for the popular farm magazine from West Texas and Oklahoma for some time. Mr. Gantz will be remembered as the writer of a special article in Scurry County a few years ago, when he covered agricultural and livestock progress here from every angle.

The field editor is intensely interested in the idea of Texas farmers and ranchers feeding their stock from their own crops rather than sending them to market to be fattened. He points out that the feeder-breeder organization perfected at Midland recently is one of the biggest steps yet taken by cattle raisers of the state.

The Farm and Ranch has been an advocate of the "feed them at home" movement for some years, and its representative was pleased to hear that Scurry County is learning this profitable lesson along with other sections of the state.

Ladies' Department Booths Open Early

Booths for all divisions of the ladies' department at the Scurry County Fair will be open on Wednesday, September 25, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., instead of Thursday, as printed in the fair catalog. This announcement was made by Mrs. Joe Caton, general chairman of the ladies' department.

The chairman explains that it will be necessary that the exhibits in this department be brought the day before the opening of the fair in order that they may be arranged properly.

Cafe Opens at Day's Stand on Week-End

Day's Sandwich Shop, on the east side of the square, is being converted into an up-to-date cafe, which will serve meals, short orders, sandwiches and drinks at all times of the day. The small space which has been occupied for some time by the sandwich shop has been considerably enlarged, and will now extend toward the back for more than twice the original distance.

Mrs. J. E. Day will continue in charge of the cafe. Complete new equipment is being placed in the building, and the place is being entirely repainted for the new business.

Monday has been set as the opening day.

SCHOOL OPENS FOR FLUVANNA

Delay in receiving the weekly news from Fluvanna last week caused omission of the details of school opening in that town Monday of last week. With Superintendent E. O. Wedgeworth in charge, the high school, and grade school began work with a total enrollment of 235 pupils, the largest number ever registered for the first week of classes.

Sixty pupils were enrolled in high school and 175 in the grammar school. Increased attendance is due largely to the addition of three outlying districts to the Fluvanna consolidated district this year. With the Faver district consolidated last year, students from five communities now attend the Fluvanna school. More than 100 more will probably enroll before the term is out, bringing the total near 350.

Teachers in the high school are: Superintendent E. O. Wedgeworth, science; E. H. McCarter, principal, teacher of mathematics and athletic coach; S. T. Matherly, history; Miss Chloe Collins, Spanish and home economics. The home economics course has been added this year.

Grade school teachers include: Principal Cleo Tarter, seventh grade; Miss Winnie Houston, sixth grade; Bob Greer, fifth grade; Miss Hazel Spikes, third and fourth grades; Miss Mary Ely, second grade; Miss Myrtle Turner, first and primary grades; Mrs. Mamye Polk, music; Miss Vera Stavely, art.

All busses transporting children to and from school will be driven by teachers. Faver's bus was used last year, but the remaining three are new Chevrolets, purchased recently. Following are the districts, with bus drivers for each: Hackberry, Bob Greer; Faver, E. H. McCarter; Moore, Cleo Tarter; Snelling, S. T. Matherly.

A new school building, for which $50,000 has been designated, will be started as soon as the bonds can be disposed of and contracts let. It is planned to complete this building by November, when the last of the students are expected to enroll, according to John Stavely, president of the school board. In the meantime, Fluvanna is going forward toward completion of the best year in its school history.

Entertainment Features Secured: Friday, Snyder Day, to Have Conference Ball Game.

General rains during the past two weeks have given the Scurry County Fair, which is to be held in Snyder next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, promise of being the greatest exhibition in the county's history. The drouth which prevailed in most parts of the county until Monday of last week will prevent some agricultural exhibits from measuring up to par, but heavy entries in other departments will offset this loss if early indications are reliable.

Everything will be in readiness on Thursday morning for opening of the fair grounds, at Wolf Park, according to J. W. Scott, fair manager. Booths are being constructed, the grounds are being put in first class condition, and details are being attended to by superintendents of the various departments and their assistants.

Entertainment for the three-day affair will be featured by the Roscoe Armstrong Company of artists, who will give three acts, on the trapeze, on the slack wire, and in a trick Ford. The Ford act is said to be a 15-minute wow, with a tail spinning, back firing, bucking, sputtering, dying, blowing up car as the base of operations. Two performances daily will be given by this company.

The first conference football game of the season for the Snyder High Tigers will be played at Wolf Park Friday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, against Rotan High school. With the Spur game, which will be played this Friday afternoon, behind them, the squad is expected to turn back the invaders with a story of defeat at the hands of a hard-hitting, well-generalled eleven.

The Snyder Band, under direction of J. W. Crowley, will give concerts throughout the fair. A number of other attractions have been arranged that will guarantee entertainment for every hour of the three days.

No charge will be made for parking cars inside the fair grounds, according to the management. A complete list of charges for the exhibition will be found in the fair ad on page eight of this issue.

Several Snyder cars, led by the Snyder Band, made an advertising tour of the county Thursday. Fluvanna and Dermott were visited in the morning, the tour beginning from the square at 7:30. The lunch hour was spent in Snyder. In the afternoon the motorcade went to Hermleigh, Dunn and Ira. Fine crowds were promised at all these places, and Superintendent W. C. Hooks of the Dunn school agreed to turn his students out early in order that they might greet the motorcade.

All superintendents urge exhibitors to have their products in early. The fair catalog gives deadline hours in all except the ladies' department, in which Mrs. Joe Caton wishes to have all entries before 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon preceding the fair in order that the booths might be arranged by Thursday morning.

Friday, September 27, has been set aside as Snyder Day. All business houses will be asked to close in the afternoon and Superintendent C. Wedgeworth will dismiss school at noon to allow the children to attend.

Girls' and Women's Clubs Getting Ready

Miss Jessie Lee Davis, the county home demonstration agent, reports that exhibits from girls' and women's clubs throughout the county will be complete at the Fair next week.

Prospective exhibitors crowded the demonstrator's office in the court house until late Saturday night, and then she failed to help all those who were waiting for her services. Again during the early part of this week, despite the bad roads, women and girls sought assistance, and even more are expected to be in the office tomorrow and early next week.

Senior A's Organize And Elect Tuesday

The Senior A class of the Snyder High school, sponsored by Miss McLeod, was formally organized Tuesday morning. Cloyce Drinkard was elected as president. Other officers chosen were: Robert Garner, vice president; Treva Hart, secretary-treasurer, and Paul Claybrook, reporter.

The American beauty rose was selected as the class flower. Colors chosen were red and white. The last-term motto, "Toiling and not complaining," was preserved.

There are 15 members in the class, and it is looking forward to its happiest and most successful year.

New Filling Station On Highway Is Plan

Henry Howard, who has conducted a filling station business on the highway in the east part of town, just west of the Santa Fe tracks, has purchased the property across the street from the Church of Christ, and will erect a second station on this site.

The house on the corner lot is being moved south 75 feet this week to make room for the new business.

To The Voters of Scurry County:

We, who have in the years past had part in putting over affairs for the public benefit, such as county fairs, barbecues, picnics, and school athletic programs, have been confronted with the serious problem of not having grounds and equipment for our needs for such occasions. Each time we have found it necessary to beg, borrow, ask for and do all kinds of ways to make it possible to put on our programs.

However, we have always found the most hearty cooperation among all whom we have had to ask, and in almost every instance where materials or grounds have been tendered for such purposes it has meant more or less imposition on such parties tendering same. You need to look into this situation very little to see that these parties who contribute in this way are being asked to do more than their part toward our public benefit program.

Even though it has been possible in the past to secure such concessions, we realize that the time is not very far off when such grounds as are suited for our needs can not be had very readily. Due to the general progress of our county, these desirable tracts are being cut up into small tracts for new homes, and each year private owners are less anxious to contribute the use of such tracts for those purposes.

In view of these facts, if we are to keep step with the progress of our country, we should begin to give some thought to plans whereby we may own our grounds and equipment for our public benefit needs.

With this as our purpose, we, the undersigned, after giving considerable thought to our needs, are of the opinion that it is a matter of public interest, pride and concern that we begin to make plans for a permanent program in this direction, and that we need first to acquire a tract of land suitable for our various needs, where we can begin to make permanent arrangements. After considering the various ways in which this might be done, we believe it the best plan for the public to buy this land and own it for our own public benefit instead of some stock company owning it and commercializing their efforts.

This can be done at the very small cost of only five cents on the $100 taxable rendition. In connection with this plan, it must be considered that we have non-residents owning vast properties here, all of whom are being benefitted by our efforts, who would in no way except by this plan contribute to our public benefit program. According to our tax records, they will pay about one-third of this amount, and as we feel that it is the most practical thing to do, we have asked the Commissioners Court to call an election on Tuesday, October 1, 1929, for the purpose of asking our citizenship if they are willing to contribute this small amount o five cents on the $100 valuation toward making an investment which should always be worth what it cost, and more, in the future, and by so doing make it possible to carry on our public benefit program along with our general progress.

Our plan is that the county buy and maintain a tract of land suitable for the various needs; then let the various organizations have lease privileges for their purposes. They can then finance their programs and build their necessary equipment from year to year as they succeed.

The Commissioners Court will advertise for this tract of land. Different tracts may be submitted, and the commissioners will choose the one best suited to our needs.

We are very anxious that each voter understand the purpose of this election. When deciding the way you expect to cast your vote, answer the question whether or not we shall have our county fairs, picnics, barbecues, county athletic meets, and other public benefit affairs; if so, shall we own our grounds or equipment or shall we continue to beg and borrow from year to year.

We, the undersigned, ask that this be given your careful consideration. We need to get started on a permanent program, with the best interest of our county before us, helping in every way possible to build up our county interest. We will all have to work together to accomplish the best results. If this plan is acceptable, we ask that you not only vote but work, that it might be possible to make this first step in carrying out this program.

Sine Cure Club Begins Fall Meets

The Sine Cure Club held it's first meeting for the fall season Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harris, with Mrs. Harris as charming hostess.

A profusion of autumn flowers in the entertaining rooms were very attractive. Bridge games were played and at the conclusion high score prizes were awarded to Mmes. W. R. Johnson and G. A. Hagan.

A salad course was served to Mmes. J. Anderson, Wayne Boren, R. H. Curnutte, A. D. Erwin, G. A. Hagan, W. R. Johnson, W. B. Lee, O. P. Thrane, Verne McMullan, H. G. Towle, A. J. Towle, and Miss Cecil Strayhorn, members; guests: Mmes. Ivan Dodson, Forest Sears, L. O. Smith and Miss Neoma Strayhorn.

Business Women's Club Meets Tuesday

The Business and Professional Women's Club had a very enjoyable meeting Tuesday evening in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

After a delicious two-course dinner, Mrs. Woodie Scarborough, vice president, called the meeting to order, as Mrs. C. R. Buchanan, president, was out of town.

A business session was held during which a short program was rendered. Miss Marilu Rosser gave a talk on conditions in New York the past summer, and Mrs. Joe Caton told of an interesting article which appeared in the "Independent Woman."

Those present at the meeting were: Mmes. Melvin Blackard, Joe Caton, J. M. Claunch, Louise Darby, A. G. Eiland, Billy Franks, Mabel Y. German, R. E. Gray, A. P. Morris, O. P. Thrane, Woodie McClinton, W. R. Merrill, C. C. Eager, Edna Tinker; Misses Lucille Carpenter, Mattie Clark, Effie McLeod, Blanche Mitchell, Marguerite Persons, Marilu Rosser, Mae McClinton, Elva Lemons, Joe Hailey and Eloise Scott.

Miss Rosser spent the summer in New York and her talk gave her listeners an insight as to the amazing state of affairs which existed there this summer. She stated the following interesting facts:

"The steady stream of people toward New York City is not decreasing, but still those who have lived in the city for years say that there are more vacant rooms on Broadway than there had been in quite a number of years. New York is your friend as long as you have the money but when it's gone, it's a hard place in which to exist.

"The Waldorf-Astoria has sold its present site on Fifth Avenue and Thirty-Fourth Street. Its furnishings were sold at public auction in the early spring. The old building is to be torn down and a new Waldorf to be erected in New York's most fashionable district.

"Food is very high, and very hard to find southern style. The 'Dipdrug' is gaining popularity very fast. The nickel seems to go farther there.

"The wealthy people are leaving their homes on Riverside Drive and are moving toward Long Island, where there is plenty of congestion and noise. On East River, exclusive apartments are being erected where slums and city debris once were.

"The shows on Broadway still have silent movies, while most are well equipped with vitaphone. Musical comedies are very uncertain this year, for the public seems hard to please. Ziegfeld's 'Show Girl,' starring Mrs. Al Jolson and Dorothy Stone, had a brilliant opening.

"On Easter Sunday, seats in the wealthy churches were sold weeks before the day. St. Patrick's and St. Thomas on Fifth Avenue are very striking edifices to an outsider. Also the Little Church Around the Corner is very interesting and very demure in its quaint setting. Most of the churches dismiss Sunday school during the summer.

"The Holland Tunnel, from New York to New Jersey, which is under the Hudson River, is a masterpiece of art in its class. Two engineers gave their lives before it was completed. When driving through, all car lights must be extinguished and one car cannot pass the one ahead. The air is rather cool here and the walls are tiled. Policemen are stationed every 10 feet. A toll of one dollar is taken on both sides."

These were only a few of the interesting facts stated by Marilu.

Picnic Honors Guest From Out of Town

Miss Thora Cotton of Dallas was honoree at a picnic given Thursday evening of last week by a jolly bunch of boys and girls.

The crowd motored to the picnic grounds, south of Dunn, where many delicious eats and watermelons were enjoyed.

The party was composed of Misses Lucy Bean, Pauline Boren, Eleanor German, Olla Lee Cauble, Faye Joyce, Ruth Belle Boren, Polly Porter and the honoree; Messrs. J. P. Strayhorn, Elmer Spears, Otis Moore, Sykes Curry, Ivan Elkins, John Erwin, Herman McPherson and Tom Carr.

Miss Cotton, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Kate Cotton, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Cotton, returned to her home Saturday.

CORRECTION

In a last week's society article, it was stated that Mrs. Erwin was hostess at a lovely bridge and forty-two party. Mrs. Billy Lee was also a hostess at this party.

Miss Dixie Ruth Smith Is Bride of Wilson Hartgrove

The marriage of Miss Dixie Ruth Smith, daughter of Mrs. Dixie Smith and granddaughter of Mrs. D. C. Howell, to Wilson Connell Hartgrove of Paint Rock, took place Wednesday morning, 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother.

The lovely home was interspersed with baskets and vases, containing fern and beautiful pink rose buds. Dr. G. S. Hardy, pastor of the Snyder M. E. church, South, performed the double-ring ceremony which united the young couple in marriage.

Miss Smith was a student at Simmons University, Abilene, summer of 1928, and attended Texas Christian University, Ft. Worth, last year.

Mr. Hartgrove is the son of Mrs. Cora M. Hartgrove, Paint Rock. He also attended Texas Christian University last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartgrove left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Santa Fe and various other points. They will be at home this fall at the Hartgrove Ranch, near Paint Rock. Mrs. Hartgrove wore a traveling costume of mixed brown tweed and had accessories to match.

County Federation Holds Meeting Here

The Scurry County Federation of Clubs held its first meeting of the year Saturday afternoon in the county court room, with eight organizations being represented.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. J. Nelson Dunn, the retiring president. In a few sentences, she presented to the assembly the incoming preisdent, Mrs. W. W. Hamilton, who then took charge and conducted the business session.

The delegates were enthusiastic over their plans for the fair, their own club work, and that of the federation.

A motion carried that the county federation begin and sponsor a woman's exchange. A committee composed of Mmes. Lee Stinson, Earl Fish, Allen Warren, and J. G. Carroll was appointed to formulate plans and work out the details of the project.

A program committee was appointed, composed of Mmes. Joe Caton, Roland Bell and Joe Wilson. Mrs. Hamilton, president, introduced the new club officers and in a very interesting talk expressed the wish that Scurry County women become friends by meeting and working together in the County Federation. She also stated that it would be the aim of the club to look upward to self-improvement and improvement of the homes and living conditions.

The following motto was given:

"Who enters here must have without
All envy, malice, gloom and doubt.
For joy and faith and the door stands wide;
For grief and need there is no room inside."

After the meeting, there was an old-time handshaking, the ladies became acquainted and a "gab fest" prevailed for awhile.

Surprise Birthday Dinner Given at Ira

A few friends and relatives of Mrs. Drew Clark met at the home of Mrs. Gene Carlile of Ira last Sunday, each with a dish of goodies, from which a wonderful dinner was prepared.

When everything was ready to serve, Mr. Carlile went for Mrs. Clark and family to come over and spend the day with them, not knowing the surprise that awaited her. When the door of the dining room was opened, the first thing Mrs. Clark saw was the big heart in the middle of the table, in pink over white, bearing these words: "Mother's Birthday," standing by the birthday cake of white with pink candles. Around the table stood Mrs. Clark's father and mother, two sisters and two sisters-in-law.

No one can describe the look that came to Mrs. Clark's face. She laughed awhile and then sat down and cried awhile, either for joy or because she knew she was getting old. The tables were filled to overflowing with all kinds of good things, plenty for everyone and lots left. When 42 persons had gathered around the table, the blessing was asked by Gene Carlile. It seemed as if the group was at a picnic. The day was spent in making music, croquet and forty-two playing, joking, etc.

The time came all too soon for going home. Each one declared it to be the greatest day spent in a long time. Everyone wished Mrs. Clark many more happy birthdays.

Those present to enjoy this festival were: Mr. and Mrs. Drew Clark and their five children, including one married, Mrs. Sam Smallwood of Ira; Mrs. Clark's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Autry; two-sisters-in-law, Mrs. N. W. and L. T. Autry, all of Snyder; two sisters, Mrs. T. A. Duke and Mrs. R. A. Hardee, and their families of Ira; Aubrey Herington and wife; a nephew of Mr. Clark's from Colorado; Miss Mathews of Cisco; Miss Haines of Colorado; Walter Parish and family and Gene Carlile and family.

Fords Entertained By Chevrolets

During the recent Lipscomb meeting held at the Methodist church here, the Epworth League of that church enjoyed a very interesting contest.

With Misses Mariwade and Mildred Harless as captains, sides were chosen, one side representing the Chevrolets and the other Fords. The side losing was to entertain the winning side. It was a close race at the beginning but before it was all over the Fords were absolutely leaving the Crevrolets behind.

On Tuesday evening the Fords were honored with a party in the basement of the Methodist church. The Chevrolets did some "high entertaining."

Various games and contests were enjoyed, after which sandwiches, soda pop and many other delicious eats were served.

The following Chevrolets and Fords were there: Misses Pauline Walton, Dorothy and Nanie Bess Edgerton, Doris and Melva Doak, Aileen and Rubye Curry, Brentz Anderson, Rosalia Walton, Mariwade and Mildred Harless, Gwendolyn Gray, Dineween Bridgeman, Mavis Webb, Ida Sue Wallace, Grace Avery, Raline Smith, Charline Ely, Lucille Brown, Janice Thompson, Adelle Baugh, Martha Gray, Hazel Bannister, Ruth Yoder; Messrs. Twentieth Century Club Meets Tuesday

The Twentieth Century Study Club met at the home of Mrs. H. E. Rosser Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Rosser as hostess.

Roll call was answered by the club creed being given in unison. Mrs. H. J. Brice was mistress of ceremonies and a presentation of the new club officers was made.

Mrs. Allen Warren, president, delivered a message to the members, after which a talk on "What we ought to give our club this year," was made by Mrs. P. C. Chenault. A vocal solo, "My Inspiration Is You,' was sung by Mrs. Fish. "An Introduction to Folk Lore" was an interesting part on the program, by Mrs. J. Nelson Dunn.

Golden glow and other flowers, which carried out the club colors of white and gold, made the entertaining rooms very attractive. The colors were also emphasized in the lovely refreshments.

The members present were: Mmes. H. M. Blackard, Ollie Bruton, H. J. Brice, P. C. Chenault, T. H. Duff, W. J. Ely, C. E. Fish, I. A. Griffin, W. T. Raybon, Joe Strayhorn, Allen Warren, W. M. Scott, B. M. West, R. W. Webb, O. S. Williamson, J. J. Taylor and J. Nelson Dunn.

Unique Party Given Friday Evening

"Come on and get your aeroplane. Get ready for the races." This was heard Friday evening at a very unique party given by Mmes. J. P. Nelson and Melvin Blackard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dorwood.

Miniature airports, containing aeroplanes for tally cards, were very clever. Each guest took an aeroplane, on which was written the name of the airport from which their race should start. Prizes, daintily wrapped and tied with red, white and blue ribbons, were placed at head table and then after the first game, they were removed to foot table. Each table was an airport and after each game, the prizes would advance to another port. Those winning high score at head table after the prizes had been to all 10 ports were winners and were presented with the packages. Booby prizes stayed at the foot table during the entire game.

When the race had ended, Mrs. R. H. Curnutte and Warren Dodson had landed at head table, won high score, and were the lucky ones. Lewis Blackard and Mrs. Ivan Dodson were at foot table and were winners of the booby prizes.

Committee Discusses Conserving Soil and Water in Texas

Says Problem Is Most Vital Before Farmers Today; Will Be Studied in Detail.

Soil and moisture conservation was recognized as one of the greatest problems facing farmers in all sections of the state by the Texas Committee on Soil and Water Conservation, which met at Waco July 20. A number of recommendations were made by this organiztion to O. B. Martin, director of the Extension Service of the A. & M. College of Texas, who is chairman of the Southwestern Soil and Water Conservation Conference.

Mr. Martin, in turn, submitted the report to the Texas Agricultural Workers' Association in meeting at College Station, on August 1, and recommended that it be adopted as the major program for the association for the coming year. The recommendation of Mr. Martin was adopted unanimously by the association.

J. P. Jamison, instructor in vocational agriculture in Snyder High School, has received a letter from J. I. McGregor, secretary-treasurer of the association, which terms the present effort to put the soil and moisture conservation program before the farmers of Texas, "the first organized movement of all forces for the betterment of our farm conditions in Texas."

The full report of the conservation committee, as mailed to Mr. Jamison, follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON TEXAS SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION

Pursuant to the objects of its creation, the Texas Committee on Soil and Water Conservation met at Waco, Texas, July 20, and herewith presents its recommendations.

Recognizing the obligation placed upon it by the Southwest Soil and Water Conservation Conference at College Station, July 21, the Texas committee has undertaken to set forth policies and plans for state and county action, in harmony with the general policies adopted by the Southwest Conference, and reference is here made to the reports of the resolutions and program committees of that Conference as the basis of the recommendations herein made.

The fundamental importance of soil and moisture conservation to a program of permanent agriculture is accepted as axiomatic, and the Committee concerns itself primarily with devising ways and means of the carrying into effect of the recognized means of conservation, namely, terracing, re-sodding with grass, and reforestation, each in its proper place and in its proper relation to other essentials of a permanent system of agriculture.

Recommends Definite Program

To carry a soil conservation program to a successful fruition, the committee further recommends that a soil rebuilding and soil maintenance program, including the use of clover crops, crop rotation, manures, commercial plant foods, and other approved practices be followed.

The achievements of the goal at which we aim will demand and justify the coordinated efforts of the entire citizenship of the state, with ample opportunity for a specific service by certain groups, both in the state and in the county or community, and it is the aim of this committee to define as far as practicable the functions of each group in such a coordinated program, without, however, setting any limitations on the activities of any person or group other than that such activities shall be in harmony with the general policies herein set forth.

It is recognized that the basis of the entire conservation program is the demonstration as conducted by the Extension Service of A. & M. College, and since extension workers are practically limited to demonstration methods, it is further recognized that other agencies should back up those demonstrations by every legitimate and feasible means, thus sharing the burden of the extension service and adding to the results obtained.

Extension Service

In view of the recommendation of the Southwest Soil and Water Conservation Committee to the effect that the Extension Service continue leadership in the program of carrying to the public the best information available on soil and water conservation and in making use of the service and cooperation of all agencies which may be of assistance we recommend:

That the Extension Service of Texas through its county agents create in each county a soil and water conservation committee, with such personnel as will invite and secure the active cooperation and assistance of such individuals and all such agencies as can give assistance in making effective a well planned county and state extension program relating to soil and water conservation, such as teachers of vocational agriculture, chambers of commerce, active farmers oranizations, bankers, county school superintendents and rural teachers, the commissioners' court, local press and the Federal Farm Loan Associations.

It is further recommended that the county extension program as it relates to soil and water conservation consists of such demonstrations as will result in the greatest area of land being protected from erosion in the shortest period practical. In planning and carrying out county programs based on demonstrations we suggest the following for consideration:

Continue demonstrations in the use of terraces and field crops in the prevention of soil and water losses; continue instruction in terracing; including the use of the level and rod, and the construction and maintenance of terraces; continue Four-H club demonstrations in terracing and in forestry; and establish Four-H club demonstrations in permanent pastures in connection with live stock and soil conservation.

The Experiment Stations

Continue and expand experiments on the losses of soil, water, and plant food; the best methods of terracing and farming terraced fields, including the use of large implements; study character of rainfall, slope of land and character of various soils as related to soil and water losses; study type of crops and economically sound rotations with reference to maintenance and improvement to soils; and make available all information as rapidly as acquired or interpreted, as a basis for future recommendations of extension and other educational forces.

Higher Educational Institutions.

Teach terracing and other practices pertaining to soil and water conservation to the extent that existing facilities will allow, in the agricultural departments of all state institutions of higher education, including the teachers colleges which maintain agricultural departments.

The Forest Service.

The encouragement of the growing of timber on essentially timber growing soil; on sub-marginal soil where timber will produce a larger net revenue than other crops, and on soil, irrespective of quality,, where a forest cover is deemed necessary to prevent erosion.

Vocational Agricultural Division State Department of Education.

That the vocational teacher of agriculture co-operate in making effective in his community the county soil and water conservation program; that part of courses in vocational agriculture dealing with soil and water conservation and improvement should include sufficient work in terracing that teach member of the class attains proficiency in laying out terrace lines and in construction of the terrace.

Regional Chambers of Commerce.

Foster any legislative program deemed advisable for the promotion of soil and water conservation; advise with local chambers of commerce in assisting and co-operating with county agents in making county programs effective; prepare and distribute posters, and foster prizes for stimulating conservation work.

Local Chambers of Commerce.

Enlist the interest and co-operation of town and city men in the support of state and county conservation programs; foster county prizes for stimulating the consummation of conservation programs; assist in conducting tours to demonstrations; assist in the procuring of farm levels and terracing implements in communities.

Texas Bankers Association.

Through its agricultural committee encourage banks and loan agencies engaged in production credit to encourage and insist that those arranging for production credit terrace fields and grow soil building crops; request attendance of borrowers at meetings on conservation of soil and water, as well as on other subjects relating to better and more prosperous agriculture; and in every possible way to encourage soil and water conservation.

Federal Land Bank of Houston.

Continue the promotion of conservation methods through National Farm Loan Associations as a means of making the farm safe security for the farm home and for the community.

Joint Stock Land Banks and Other Land Loan Agencies.

Such as do not have it already, incorporate into the deed of trust a clause requiring the terracing of all rolling lands upon which loans are made; join actively in state and county programs for soil and water conservation.

Railroad Agricultural Agents.

Actively co-operate with county and state conservation committees with special attention to the counties along their respective lines.

The Press.

Continue educational and inspirational work on soil and water conservation; continue publicity through announcements of programs and usual follow-up of news stories on local, county and state achievements in soil and water conservation.

Educational Agencies of Commercial Concerns

Co-operate in state and county demonstrations and programs in terracing and crop production.

Implement Agencies and Local Dealers.

Co-operate with state agencies in demonstration of implements in conservation work, and assist county committees in carrying out programs on soil and water conservation.

Commissioners' Court.

Work out with county committees agreements on the disposition of water as between the farm and the road, with the understanding that the rights of the individual and the rights of the county are of mutual importance, the aim being to maintain farm soils as sound economic units, maintain land values, without which the roads would become of slight value; and as far as is compatible with the construction and maintenance demands of the roads, hire or rent county grading equipment to farmers for terracing, at a rate that will protect the county from loss.

Tariff Bill Ready for Cruel Senate

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah is shown above, fondling the new tariff bill as a father might a child before sending it out in the cold, cold world of the United States Senate. It seems from the expression on Senator Smoot's face that he fears his colleggues may make a different bill of it before they pass it—if they do.

Says Sleep Is More Vital Than Edibles

By T. BENJAMIN FAUCETT

Although people have been sleeping ever since the beginning of the world, even our most learned medical authorities still differ on the scientific definition of it. Beyond telling us that it is an unconscious state during which we relax our muscles, breathe more slowly and deeply, have a slower puse and less pressure in the bood vessels, the physician isn't able to explain what sleep actually is.

Have you ever stopped to think that sleep is so important that we may go without food for a much longer time than without sleep? Even the loss of a single night of rest has a marked effect upon most persons, while any of us may fast for several days at a stretch without harming the body. In fact, many authorities claim that short, regular facts are very beneficial because of the rest that they give to the overworked digestive system.

There are some persons who are able to get along on a small amount of sleep, but the great majority of people require the normal eight-hour rest to be at their best. Napoleon, Wellington, and Frederick the Great kept going with very little sleep, while Edison has spent a most strenuous life with only four or five hours of slumber each night. The few times during which Edison has varied this program were when he was concentrating upon his inventions. Then, he often went without rest for two or three nights, but after the invention was perfected he would immediately retire and go into a sound sleep for 20 or more hours.

Sound sleepers require fewer hours of sleep than light sleepers, but even those who seep soundly should get eight hours of rest. As people in good health usually sleep very soundly and with a minimum of dreams, this indicates that persons in ill health should get all the sleep possible. Strange to say, those in poor physical condition most often suffer from nervousness and sleeplessness; so persons who really need the greatest amount of sleep get very little of it.

The different parts of the body do not sleep with the same degree of soundness. It is well known that it is much easier to awaken a person by scratching his toe than by tweaking his nose. The head sleeps more soundly than any other part; so it seems natural that parts farthest from it would be less unconscious and more able to send their sensations to the brain during sleep.

If you are in perfect health it should be easy for you to awaken at any required time without the assistance of an alarm clock. All that is necessary is to make up your mind just when you want to arise and then actually believe that you can do it. By living regular hours it should become just as easy for you to make your mind wake you at a regular time every morning. When such regularity becomes a habit you will find it a simple matter to adjust the habit to any desired time. This may seem rather far-fetched, but it's sound psychology, just the same.

People show their strength of mind by the manner in which they arise in the morning. The indecisive person may awaken at the desired time, but prefers to loaf in bed awhile. This has a depressing and weakening effect on the human body. Cultivate a decisive mind by arising at exactly the appointed time, and you'll always feel better for having done so.

There will be no traffic jam at the Scurry County Fair if the city council can help it.

Two extra men have been placed at the disposal of City Marshal J. A. Woodfin for handling automobiles on the Fair grounds September 26, 27 and 28. These helpers will serve from about noon until the crowd begins dispersing at night.

there is no substitute for excellence—

¶ ESPECIALLY is this true in the printed matter used by a business firm. The message may be ever so well gotten up. Its thought may be expressed in faultless English, and the statements made in logical sequence, but if it is presented on a poorly printed letterhead, with poor paper, poor printing, indifferent workmanship, much of its effect is lost.

¶ THE reader cannot overlook the slovenly introduction he receives to the content of the message, and he invariably discounts all it contains.

¶ THE printed matter used by the average firm today is the smallest item of expense and none can afford to have it other than the best. Cheap printing never pays. It is poor economy to buy it and poor business to use it.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

Lindbergh has lots to look forward to, for he is wedded to-Morrow.

Weather prediction for next week: Fair (Scurry County) and warmer.

The only way most men can get the last word, says an impertinent exchange, is to apologize.

Lamesa is to have a milk plant soon. Snyder is to have an extra cotton plant next year, it is rumored.

"Hot stuff!" cried the Americanos who lunched with the Mexicanos during their Independence Day celebration.

Texas is losing its prescription liquor taste, declare state authorities. The corn crop was evidently better than reports indicated.

Little Johnny, after being captured by the bold, bad bandits, Readin' an' Writin' an' 'Rithmetic, says it's all bosh about being lots of fun to live with hijackers.

The drouth may have showed up some holes in Scurry County pocketbooks, but it took a heavy rain to show The News where the holes in its roof were located.

Pessimism Pete says lots of folks won't come to the Scurry County Fair because there won't be any carnival on which to spend the money they owe on things they bought in 1928.

A farmer friend of The News suggests that a few Snyder merchants should clean up their own buying lists before hopping on the country folks for patronizing mail order houses.

That Oklahoma farmer who found that newspaper advertising could sell his entire sweet potato crop at a big profit evidently believes that one potato sold through advertising is worth two that buyers don't know about.

Our Washington correspondent is convinced that neither Congress nor the American public cares much whether their penitentiaries are put into civilization's van or not. The beauties of America are certainly not to be found behind iron bars nor behind the foreheads of some of our legislators.

How Much for Gas?

If you begin a trip in the morning, how much will you figure for your gasoline bill? If you figure on the price which generally prevails in Scurry County, you may need to add to or deduct from your budget quite a bit before you return to home, sweet home.

The American Automobile Association has started a campaign whereby it is hoped to bring about more uniform gasoline prices. On a recent day telegrams to this association showed 77 different gas prices in seven states. The price ranged from 12 cents a gallon to 45 cents a gallon for "regular" gas. Sometimes there was a variance of as much as five cents between stations located only two miles apart.

Today it's a case of a motorist not knowing one mile what gas will cost the next, and when starting out he hasn't any idea how to figure in this necessary part of his traveling bill.

The A. A. A. believes the governments and the gasoline producers can get together and fix a price that will be something like uniform all over the country, in spite of varying state gasoline taxes. They may be sure, says an exchange, of earning the thanks of something like 25,000,000 motorists if they do.

Newspapers and You

A newspaper is the most unique institution in the history of the world. It is the only business enterprise, conducted upon business lines and in perfectly legitimate manner, that actually serves the progressive life of the state more than all other institutions of the country put together and this service is rendered without thought of cost to the public or the state. It is still more peculiar in that regardless of the profit that it makes for is owners it returns even more profit to the community.

"There is no newspaper in South Dakota today that is not making far more profit for the community and the state than it does for itself. And this profit to the community is the result of a service in news and editorial space freely given in the interest of public progress.

"Trust Them"

"The best way to ruin boys and girls is not to trust them. We should put them on their honor." So says Rev. Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the Chicago Temple and known as a friend of youth, who goes on record as favoring "sparking nooks" in houses of worship.

The Windy City pastor probably goes too strong when he would add "sparking nooks," but certain it is that youth has been started downgrade many times because he was mistrusted and treated like an infant.

While we are quoting others, it might be worth while to use this pointed editorial from the Midland Reporter-Telegram:

"Moving pictures and novels in the last few years have delighted in picturing modern college students as a gay, uproarous and somewhat self-indulgent crew. We have heard many tales of 'petting,' drinking and whatnot on the campus.

"Good Housekeeping magazine recently decided to investigate. It sent Rita S. Halle out to look into the matter at first hand. Miss Halle, having investigated thoroughly, reports as follows:

"There is far less drinking in the colleges now than there was a decade ago. Not more than a tenth of one per cent of the co-eds of the country are guilty of improper conduct. All but an insiginificant minority of students, both men and women, are in college to study, and have neither time nor inclination to dissipate.

"You might bear that in mind the next time someone regales you with wild stories of flaming college youth."

The Man's Life

By EDGAR A. GUEST

He planted a vine and he planted a lawn,
To be at his duty he rose with the dawn.
He fathered his children with wisdom and care,
He gave them such joys as his pocket could spare,
And when life was ended, they honored his name,
So what does it matter that wealth never came?

He toiled in his gardens at evenings, and sat
In the cool of the breeze with his neighbors to chat.
He sometimes went fishing with friends, tried and true,
He shared in their games when his labors were through.
His own people loved him, and when the end came
What did it matter that he had missed fame?

Oh, most of us live out our lives just as he.
We keep a small garden, a lawn and a tree.
We toil for our children, we neighbor and play
And build our careers in the common-place way.
And if at the end we are mourned by the few
We may have done all God had wished us to do.

A Whispering Campaign in the Senate! As Senator Simmons clashed with Senator Smoot over the tariff, they could scarcely be heard. Both are known, as the "inaudible statesmen."

Senator Smoot, though tall and of commanding figure, is gifted with a very weak voice. He looks at his audience, makes some rather awkward gestures with his hands, and seems not in the least perturbed that his listeners can hear nothing.

The refrigerated air in the Senate chamber made some smart aleck suggest "a Whispering Campaign in an ice box." It might well be called a fight between the cucumber (Smoot) and the horseradish (Simmons).

The Democrats and western farm Senators on the Simmons resolution to make income tax returns of tariff-seeking industries available to the Finance Committee. Farmers were gleeful at that, for while they want tariffs, they have no incomes to report.

When the Senate gets through with Shearer there will be no wool left. Senator Borah charges his offense was "a criminal conspiracy against the best interests of the people of the United States." Too bad Senator Walsh of Montana is not on the committee. Should the "bloodhound" of the oil scandals take charge of the prosecution, Mr. Shearer may as well reserve qparters in the District jail.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME : By NEA Service

Washington Letter

By Helm News Service, Inc.

Washington, Sept. 18.—It is unfortunate, perhaps, that a thrill must be short-lived. What excites us today is a matter of indifference tomorrow and bores us the day after.

In this respect, the public does not differ from the individual. This week's sensation is forgotten over the week-end, and Congress takes its cue from the electorate.

For years the public has been vaguely conscious of the fact—and Congress well aware of it—that Federal penitentiary facilities were inadequate and the conditions at our penal institutions abominable. It required disastrous riots and the needless sacrifice of human lives to wring a howl of disapproval out of the public, with the usual resultant echo from Capital Hill. Congress woke up and had a spasm or two, but the public relapsed into its usual state of apathy and Congress promptly rolled over and went back to sleep. Maybe during the course of a decade or two another epidemic of wholesale murder and arson will inspire the public to again hammer Congress into a state of temporary consciousness on this subject.

For a vastly greater number of years the stench of the paid lobbies in Washington has permeated even the most remote rural districts. Legislators, of course, were fully cognizant of the horde of parasites that had plagued the legislative life of Congress for generations, but the public, not coming into direct contact with this under-cover gang, permitted Congress to profit by its lethargy, and for want of public pressure Congress accepted the situation as one to be tolerated as a necessary element offficialism.

Then, about two years ago, the congressional alarm-clock went off, and Congress promptly worked itself into a fever heat over the project of exterminating this leech of paid propagandism. A year ago last February, Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, of Arkansas, introduced in the Senate a bill to compel lobbyists to register with the secretary of the Senate and file monthly statements of their expense account, all under a heavy penalty for failure to obey. The bill was passed by the Senate, and what at that time appeared to be a certainty that the House would concur sent the whole parasitic brotherhood into full retreat with a great and growing fear in its heart. But public clamor abated, as usual, and the bill died a natural death in the House.

And now, the bugles have sounded reveille again—somewhat ahead of schedule, according to precedent. This time not only loud enough to get Congress out of bed—or, at least, to shunt the congressional mind off its present self-imposed task of feeding paregoric to collicky, overgrown, industrial babies—but to reach presidential ears with a resultant White House blast of protest so emphatic as to flabbergast the whole political camp.

It seems that a certain gentleman has brought suit against a few of the nation's largest shipbuilding concerns for back pay. The amount involved is said to be around two or three hundred thousand dollars. According to the plaintiff in the suit, the services rendered for this humble wage was the gathering of data from official quarters and seeing that it was laid before certain interested parties lest they, in their ignorance, would be led astray by the radicalism of woefully misguided pacifists. According to one of the defendants, the plaintiff was hired merely to "observe" the Geneva conclave of powers during its consideration of the problem of general naval limitation and was promptly paid off and fired when there was nothing further to "observe."

It strikes a lot of us here in Washington that while the precipitous voluntary testimony of either of these witnesses may be the truth, there is certainly justification for a suspicion that it falls short of being "the whole truth and nothing but the truth."-Big business has never been accused of being an eleemosynary institution, nor does there seem to be anything in the records to indicate that big business has ever cultivated the habit of depleting its treasury every once in a while to the extent of about a quarter of a million dollars to compensate some missionary for preaching a gospel other than that of the inviolability of its own treasure chest.

Three hundred thousand dollars is looked upon here as rather munificent compensation for a few weeks of either snooping or observing. However, it may be warrantably inferred that W. B. Shearer was employed by the shipbuilding concerns to attempt to influence public opinion and public officials in favor of larger armaments and to oppose international agreements for the limitation thereof. It appears to many that Mr. Shearer's job was that of convincing Congress and the people that it is necessary to keep the shipyards busy. If that was his commission, and if the Geneva conference developed into a fiasco and Congress voted for 15 new cruisers against the remonstrance of President Coolidge as a result, even in part, of his genius and ability, then he is certainly more than modest in demanding only $200,000 or $300,000 for his services.

It cannot be denied that American citizens who believe in being prepared for war have the right to urge upon Congress and the country the need for a great navy. But a very different aspect is presented by efforts on the part of any interest or person to prevent the consummation of an international agreement sought by the government of the United States. When private American interests and individuals, with a selfish and monetary interest of their own at stake, undertake to prevent the carrying out of such a policy, they may be said to be walking on dangerously thin ice over very deep water.

From Berlin comes a report which would seem to indicate that they know more about the Shearer activities abroad than we do at home. It is said that intense interest has been aroused there in the charges made in America that Shearer was employed by shipbuilding corporations to defeat the Geneva conference on limitation of naval armaments. All the newspapers there used large headlines and devoted much space to telling about the case.

A dispatch to the Berlin Mittag Zeitung from Geneva said that the Shearer affair was beginning to overshadow interest in the business of the League of Nations. The correspondent alleged that Shearer's activities were well known in newspaper circles at Geneva and that if the government circles in Washington and London "would listen to newspaper gossip here, they would learn of some astounding facts about the man with the five-franc pieces."

The correspondent adds that there is a general belief at Geneva that Shearer, in fact, was largely responsible for the 1927 conference fiasco. It was understood there that he represented the Big Navy League.

They may know abroad, but no one seems to know here, just what is meant by "the man with the five-franc pieces." It is innuendo, of course, but it has sufficient mental penetrative power to give substance to the suspicion that "there is something rotten in Denmark"—or elsewhere. The odor is certainly not agreeable, and it would seem to behoove someone to locate and bury the carcass, followed by a drastic fumigation of the political atmosphere in America.

However, utterly indefensible as was the employment of Mr. Shearer by the shipbuilders, and undoubtedly justifiable as was the indignation of President Hoover at the secrecy involved, it is insisted here in Washington that the problem of national defense is far too important to be solved in an atmosphere of hysterical exaggeration. After Mr. Shearer and his type have been taken care of, it still remains that the most powerful forces of propaganda in this country have been and now are against even a navy adequate for defense. It may be true that they are legitimate forces, but it would be ridiculous not to recognize their existence and folly not to perceive that the country must wake up its mind only after weighing both the big-navy propaganda and the arguments on the other side.

Undoubtedly the real friends of an American Navy adequate for national defense will welcome the most searching investigation the Senate can make. It is convincingly argued that the most open publicity for all propagandists should be commanded and all propaganda by any manufacturer of arms prohibited. It is not to be questioned that in the long run the American people will have the judgment and discrimination to discount the value of propaganda on both sides and build enough ships to keep this country safe, no more and no less.

IN WORLD OF SPORTS

THERE'S VERY LITTLE TO CHOOSE BETWEEN ATHLETICS AND CUBS, LIKELY RIVALS IN 1929 WORLD SERIES, SAYS MARTIN

BY PHILIP MARTIN

A WORLD series battle that should go down in history as one of the toughest baseball fights staged between two teams is what the impending contests between the Cubs and Macks appear to this writer

It would be hard to rival the scraps of old days between the Giants and Athletics and other traditional foes, but the balance of the teams commandeered by Mack and McCarthy forecasts close scores

Topping Mack's mound stars is George Earnshaw, the right-hander who was the first of the big leaguers to win 20 games this season. Wise baseball men say George is the best right-handed pitcher in the game today. Earnshaw, pitching to that array of right-handed Cub batsmen, should hold a distinct edge on Root, Bush or Malone, the Cub flingers, even though the Cub pitchers have several right-handed batters in the Mack outfit to work on.

In fact, the big guns of the Mack machine are right-handed batters. We refer to Foxx, Simmons and Bing Miller. Throughout the season several of the good right-handed pitchers of the American League have not been so easy for these lads. Young Wes Ferrell of Cleveland stopped them in their tracks four times and they have had trouble with Sam Gray, George Pipgras, Charley Ruffing and others.

THE infields are fairly well balanced. In the opinion of this writer, the Macks have a distinct edge at first and short where Foxx and Boley perform. The Cubs have an edge at second and third, in Hornsby and McMillan.

The outfields are well balanced fleet, hard-hitting Kiki Cuyler to Bing Miller. Cuyler has been leading both leagues in stolen bases and has been hitting well above .300 this year. Cuyler will be crazy to perform in this series, as Donie Bush kept him on the bench during the world series between the Yanks and Pirates because of personal reasons. With any kind of luck Cuyler is going to be one of the bright stars in the series.

George Earnshaw, star with the Athletics, and Guy Bush, Chicago ace moundsman (below), are likely to face each other in the coming world series.

Hack Wilson might have a slight edge on Mule Haas. Simmons must be given the call, however, over Stephenson. We prefer the MACK has two other fine flingers in Grove and Walberg. We fear the Macks are going to run into trouble in the game that Walberg pitches, even though his record for the season is exceptional.

In our opinion Malone and Bush have good chances to win their games. Malone has a hard ball that is a beauty, and when he's right he is death to right-handed batsmen. He has a sharp curve as well, and Foxx, Simmons and Miller have shown weakness against that sort of pitching.

The Cubs have a slight disadvantage in the fact that their big first sacker, Charley Grimm, probably will not get into the game. Riggs Stephenson also is slightly disabled, suffering a hernia during a recent game.

IN the catching department everything must be given to the Macks. Mickey Cochrane is the generator in the Philadelphia engine. He inspires confidence in the men who play with him. It is almost impossible to ruffle his sinister calm. Mack could use Perkins in one of the games, but we doubt it.

The teams, on paper, appear to be evenly matched. If it isn't a great series, blame it on the paper.

THE HERMLEIGH HERALD SAYS:

Three Inch Rain Falls

A three inch rain falling over a period of hours soaked all the country around here Monday night and Tuesday.

Though a little late in the season for cotton, it will almost assure a plenty of feed and revive pasture lands. There is quite a bit of cotton which will be greatly benefitted even at this late season.

Maize Patches Make Feed

After all our worry concerning the apparent burning of the feed crop, the average maize patch has produced more or less feed. Most farmers will make feed to do them, and there are a few fields of very excellent maize.

The younger feed crops will revive since the rain, the older maize will sucker out and make a lot of bundle feed, even now.

Clyde Rea-Miss Giles.

Our own Clyde Rea and Miss Giles of Whitewright were married at the bride's home last week. These fine young people are both well known here. Mr. Rea is a son of our own B. Y. and Mrs. Rea. Miss Giles is a former teacher in the public school here.

The Herald joins with the rest of the community in extending congratulations. The couple have been at home here since Tuesday.

Pastor to Superannuate

Rev. M. H. Hudson, Methodist pastor here, will superannuate at the close of this conference year, he says. His health is such that he cannot care for his pastorial work during the bleak months of winter. He and Mrs. Hudson are broadly known, and much loved all over the country for their deep spiritual lives and devotion to their work.

THE COLORADO RECORD SAYS

Buford Has Next Conference

The next workers' conference of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association is to be held at Buford on Sunday following first Tuesday in October, Rev. A. D. Leach announces.

Ginnings Pass 1500 Mark

Ginning receipts in Mitchell County had advanced well on the second thousand bales Thursday at noon, with a total of 1497 bales reported ginned in the county up to date.

Oil Driller Meets Death

Word was received late Thursday of the accidental death of Horatio S. Cook, Colorado oil driller who was fatally injured when the Star rig at the Merrick-Bristow well No. 9, on Hooks lease, in Howard County near Forsan, collapsed. Vic Martin is contractor on the well.

Attend Singing Convention

A fair representation of Coloradoans attended the semi-annual meeting of the Four-County Singing Convention in Roscoe last Sunday.

The Saturday session of the convention was rained out, but a good crowd was present for the Sunday program.

T. H. Westbrook of Colorado was elected president of the convention, and Sweetwater was selected as the meeting place on the second Sunday in March next year.

NEWS FROM THE ROSCOE TIMES

Hail Ravages Crops.

A hail which covered a large territory around Roscoe last Saturday night did considerable damage to cotton and feed stuff. It has been estimated that something like seven or eight thousand acres of cotton was completely destroyed. This acreage would probably have produced 1,000 bales of cotton. The hail started about Inadale and followed a strip about two miles wide all the way down north and east and extended three miles southeast of Roscoe. Most of the cotton in the hail district will be a total loss.

Rains since Wednesday night, September 4 have amounted to three and a half inches in Roscoe. The entire territory has been well covered with the exception of the country south of Maryneal.

Lions Entertain Teachers.

The Lions Club Thursday entertained the teachers in the public school at luncheon at the Plaza Hotel. The purpose of the occasion was to welcome the teachers to our city and to get better acquainted with them.

New Manager at Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Sullivan of Spur and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bledsoe, of Haskell, have taken charge of the Plaza Hotel and will operate it in the future. The change was made the first of the week.

Quite a bit of improvements will be made on the building. Hot and cold water will be put in every room and there will be both tub and shower baths. All of the rooms are being overhauled in general.

ITEMS FROM LYNN COUNTY NEWS

Rain Totals More than Three Inches.

With from three to five inches of rainfall since last Saturday at noon, Lynn County is again thoroughly soaked. The drouth was broken when a downpour began at about five o'clock Saturday afternoon and continued for almost an hour and then quieted down to a gentle drizzle that continued until after nightfall. The precipitation Sunday morning had amounted to 1.36 inches, according to [illegible]. In the north portion of the county and possibly in some other localities the precipitation had been much heavier. Showery, cloudy weather continued, and on Monday night another heavy downpour visited the county, the total precipitation in Tahoka from Saturday afternoon to Tuesday afternoon amounting to 3.19 inches. The rainfall in the southern and the southeastern portions of the county Monday night was much heavier than it was here, according to all reports we have had.

Hail Visits Lynn County.

During a terrific rain and electrical storm that visited Lynn County Monday night, considerable damage from lightning was done near Draw in the southeastern portion of the county, according to reports reaching here Tuesday.

"I am an advertisement canvasser. Have you any small wants I can advertise?"

"Certainly not. My servant should not have admitted you. I have told him repeatedly that I do not see canvassers."

"Then dismiss him and advertise in our paper for a better one."

"Will you give me a penny for my thoughts?"

"Do I look like a garbage man?"

BETTER ROADS TO FARMS SEEN

A nation-wide movement to "get the farmer out of the mud" and relieve traffic congestion on the main trunk-line highways at the centers of population; through the paving, with low-cost surfaces, of the country's farm-to-market, or back-country, roads will be launched at a conference or convention of farm and motor organization leaders, governors and state and county officials, engineers and contractors, to be held at West Baden Springs, Indiana, October 28 to November 1.

Approximately 2,000 men active in road construction and in advancing the national program for farm and traffic relief will get together for the five days for a thorough discussion of highway improvement and the best means of financing and expediting road construction in the back-country districts on roads that are still dusty, muddy, rutty and more or less unusable during most of the year.

One entire session will be devoted to a thorough discussion of the joint co-operative research investion now under way by the United States Bureau of Public Roads at Washington and the Asphalt Association of New York, with a view to developing improved low-cost types of pavement construction for the farm-to-market roads.

Farm organization officials declare that the deplorable condition of the farm service roads, which the majority of farmers must use in getting to and from their farms to the paved highways, has become a serious matter. Without discounting the value of the highways connecting the cities, farm organizations feel that it is high time an effective movement were started for paving these other roads. While the farmers of the United States are paying seven per cent of the taxes for state and local highways, less than three per cent of the farms are reached by paved roads. Today approximately 5,000,000 farmers are still living in the United States 2,484,822 miles of unimproved highways.

A young couple, who had just recently married, had received lots of nice wedding presents after establishing their home in a suburb. One morning in the mail they received two theater tickets, together with a note which read: "Guess who sent these."

At the duly appointed time, the young couple went to the theater, returning late in the evening. To their astonishment everything in the house of any value had been carried away. On a bare table in the dining room they found this note: "Now you know."

The visiting card is of Chinese origin.

At the closing of the session the following resolution was offered: Viz, That we endorse the Robison Public School Bill now pending. All citizens were asked to vote. It was unanimous. Therefore, we ask our Senators and Congressman to support the bill.

The writer was asked to notify our Senators and Congressmen of the action of that religious body, joined by the citizens of the town.

To Customers Upon Whose Crops We Have Mortgages

—You will soon be selling your 1929 crops, and in order that there may be no misunderstandings or later embarrassments we are sending out this general letter to let each customer know that we are expecting the entire proceeds of cotton sales to be applied on your indebtedness until the full amount is paid.

—The law does not give the mortgagor the right or privilege to hold out any part of the proceeds for picking or any other purpose. Our suggestion in this connection is that you bring us the check you receive for your cotton and cotton seed, and permission may then be given to retain a reasonable amount for picking.

—In regard to the sale of livestock under mortgage, the mortgage in each case covers the increase so that when any increase from livestock under mortgage is sold the proceeds from such increase is expected to be applied on the indebtedness.

—Mortgages held by us cover not only the original note but also any subsequent advances and all indebtedness of the mortgagor.

—We think that in most cases these matters are thoroughly understood by our customers, but it is to avoid any misunderstandings that this letter is written.

Play at State Fair to Be in Age Costumes

"The Red Robe," auditorium attraction at the State Fair of Texas, is a costume affair, displaying the styles, furniture and habits of the period of Louis XIV of France and Cardinal Richelieu. It is said to be one of the most brilliant music plays ever produced in this country.

Walter Woolf, the leading man of "The Red Robe," who scored such a hit in "Countess Maritza" at the 1927 State Fair, has reached his zenith in this production. Two other stars of "Countess Maritza" will also be in "The Red Robe," Majorie Peterson and George Dobbs, dancing team who were popular at Dallas at the 1927 State Fair.

The new Baker Hotel box office has been opened and mail orders for "The Red Robe" seats are now being sold. The new box office has six windows, and facilities to handle the largest crowds in the shortest possible time. Ticket sales to date have been very gratifying, according to State Fair officials.

With lightning flashing and peals of thunder resounding through the Dome, Senator Norris brought up the Vare case. After three years of delay he insisted the Senate take final action on the seating of Vare. Sooner or later Mr. Vare appears to have an ouster coming. Norris would have it so he could get a new job before the snow flies.

With the formation of the United States of Europe, Great Britain will probably not be so particular about naval parity with the American United States. Looking not so far ahead in this fast-mving age, we may have to build a navy equal to that of all Europe combined.

pay their annual dues to the international organization, and continue as members of the joint Lions and luncheon club. The decision carried with it the clause that non-Lions will pay nothing whatsoever into the club except the monthly fee decided upon.

A second unanimous decision set the monthly fee at $4 per member, which will cover luncheon fees for members and their guests, and incidental local expenses.

The two decisions were made after Abe Rogers had presented them as recommendations from the board of directors, who were in session Tuesday.

P. W. Cloud and Munger Lewis were given a warm welcome into the new luncheon club. At the suggestion of President Wedgeworth, three members—Abe Rogers, Jimmie Smith and Henry Rosenburg—volunteered to serve on the social committee for a quarter of the year. Mr. Smith suggested that the club give J. W. Crowley, band director, their undivided support.

J. W. Scott, Scurry County Fair manager, called on the club to support the motorcade which went on a county-wide fair advertising tour Thursday. An athletic committee composed of P. W. Cloud, Earl Fish and Ralph Hicks was appointed to cooperate with school officials in putting over a big athletic program for Snyder High School this year.

Work has been started on the highway between Spur and Dickens, and with the completion of this gap in the road the T. T. T. will have 19 miles more of first class road.

EIGHTEEN BASKETBALL CANDIDATES MEET HERE

Candidates for the boys' basketball team and Coach Stark held their first meeting Wednesday afternoon. There were 18 men present. Five old men were present from last year's team who will be back with us this year. Seven of last year's junior team are in the ranks. Some new material, transferred from China Grove, reported.

Hunter Swan, one of last year's men, was unanimously elected captain for the season of 1929-30. Coach Stark then discussed with the boys the plans for the coming season, especially the financing of the team.

Under the leadership of Coach Stark, one of the best teams in recent years is expected in the Dunn school. Some of the players are light, but in weight only. The players from the junior team have had about three years' experience, and are expected to comprise the bulk of the team. Coach Stark intends to begin strenuous practice next week, and hopes to have the team in tip-top condition at the opening of the season.

The basketball men will be given letters this year for the first time in the history of basketball at Dunn.

SENIOR GIRLS ORGANIZE BALL TEAM FOR SEASON

The senior girls' basketball team of Dunn met Thursday to organize for the coming year. Seventeen girls attended the meeting. Much spirit and interest was shown. With this number to choose from, Dunn has a good chance of being the winning team for this year.

Myrtle Casey was elected captain. Myrtle is a good player and a good sport, and the girls are glad to have her as their captain. Miss Vernelle Stimson, teacher of Spanish and science, was elected business manager.

New suits were discussed, but no definite decision was made.

Miss Gladys Thurmin, who will be our coach, discussed what things determined a good sport and some good habits we should form to make good players. She is planning on starting practice early in order to get her team in good practice.

DUNN BOOTH FOR FAIR BEING PREPARED EARLY

J. C. Beakley states that plans are well under way for Dunn's booth at the Scurry County Fair, which is to be held in Snyder September 26, 27 and 28. It will be remembered that this community was awarded third prize last year. It is rumored that they will be satisfied with nothing less than first prize this year. The choicest products are being carefully selected.

Misses Gladys Thurmin and Vernelle Stimson, two new teachers, are assisting the fair committees.

CHINA GROVE YOUNGSTERS ENJOY BIRTHDAY PARTY

The youngsters of China Grove community enjoyed a birthday party given at the home of Leonard Allen last Tuesday night in honor of Miss Vernice Hairston's seventeenth birthday. Due to the rainy weather, only a few were present, but these reported a wonderful time. Card games furnished the entertainment.

Grain Outlook Said To Be Best in Years

Probably the largest yield of small grain this county has ever had is being prepared for by farmers of this section. With fair weather conditions through the winter and early spring, the acreage being planted to wheat, rye and barley should establish a record in early summer.

These predictions are based on the present movement of small grain seed in Snyder and nearby towns. Seed men report the sales during the past 10 days more than in the history of their business.

W. H. Clements, veteran feed and grain man in Snyder, says that condition of the ground here is ideal for sowing now.

THREE ARTISTS IN THREE DIFFERENT ACTS

Trapeze—Slack Wire—Trick and Bucking Ford

—There are Funny Fords and Bucking Fords. But this is the daddy of them all—a Trick Automobile that does a real tail spin, back fires, dies, sputters, blows up, rear like a bucking broncho and runs in a circle without anyone at the wheel to steer it. This clowning auto hands out only one laugh, but that is continuous and lasts 15 minutes.

—This same company will introduce a number of acrobatic stunts to round out their program, including a trapeze act and a slack wire performance.

—This company has shown in the largest cities in this country. It's a wow!
