Commissioners Approve Proposed Library Plans

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Architect's Drawing

PROPOSED NEW BUILDING to house the Mitchell County library was unveiled by architect Howard Allen of Lamesa. Looking over the drawing is Mrs. George Witten, chairman of the library board, and George Womack, a member of the board. Mitchell County Commissioner's Court voted acceptance of the temporary plan in action Tuesday.

County Would Pay Half Cost

Mitchell County Commissioner's Court voted unanimous acceptance of architect's plans for a proposed new building to house the county library.

Allen and Allen, architectural firm from Lamesa, submitted the plans which would be subject to modifications to meet requirements of the Texas State Library.

Financing for the proposed structure would come half from Mitchell County and half from a program of aid from the state.

The state program matches the county funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

Local funds must be on hand before the state financial aid may be received by the county.

If the program goes along as planned, construction on the building could begin possibly in 1966.

In giving their unanimous consent to the library expansion program, the commissioner's court noted that adequate library facilities were necessary for future cultural and economic growth in Mitchell County.

Contributions from interested citizens in the county are hoped for to supplement county funds on the proposed library building.

County Judge Elmer Martin emphasized the importance of library facilities to industry seeking sites for location.

It is hoped that county funds may be available by the latter part of 1965. At this time application could be made for the state aid.

The present plans for the proposed structure call for a total of 5,040 sq. ft. of floor space. The structure would measure 56 by 90.

It was noted that the preliminary proposed plans face possible alteration by the Texas State Library before they would receive final approval.

The proposed brick structure would have a capacity of Local groups had called for a clean up drive earlier this year to improve the appearance of the city.

In their last regular session the City Council took action to set the last week of April as the period to emphasize clean up work throughout the community.

Mrs. Don Guitar, manager of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, urged a community wide effort during the clean up campaign period. She noted, "The entire community will benefit from a program such as this which prevents fires, safeguards health, promotes safety, builds good citizenship and retains and builds Colorado City's reputation as a progressive town."

Mayor Signs Proclamation For Crusade

Mayor John Chinn, M.D., proclaimed April 25 through May 1 as Cancer Control Week in Colorado City and urged support of the American Cancer Society's Crusade for Tuesday, April 27.

In his proclamation the Mayor called attention to the fact that cancer will eventually strike one of every four persons, if present trends continue unabated. He emphasized that one half of all cancer victims can be cured but only if the patient receives prompt diagnosis and immediate treatment."

Over one hundred workers will be busy in Mitchell County helping with the Crusade which is devised to educate the public. Let this be a "Tell Your Neighbor Crusade." Fight cancer with a check up and a check.

The magnitude of the problem of cancer needs to be recognized here in Mitchell County, for if the present rates continue, one out of every four persons will be struck by cancer; almost every family in our city will have experience with this dread disease. Yet one half of all cancer cases can be saved, but only if the patient receives prompt diagnosis and immediate treatment.

By virtue of the authority invested in me, I proclaim April 25 to May 1 as Mitchell County Crusade Week. And it is my desire that our friends and associates will carry on the "Tell Your Neighbor" Crusade, visiting you in your homes, and distributing life-saving information through

BRIDGFORD GUESTS

London Girls Say Texas Is Fantastic

By RUTH COFFEY
Editor Women's News

Fantastic is Texas.

Texas is fantastic in every possible way, when viewed through the eyes of two attractive visitors who live in London, England.

Dark-haired and charming Miss Monica Brand and tall, vivacious blond, Miss Phyllida Benson were in Colorado City last week as guests of Dr. Bill Bridgford and his parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Bridgford, 512 East 13th St.

The modish young Englishwomen, both "career girls," met Dr. Bill Bridgford when he was on duty with the Air Force stationed in England as Captain Bridgford. They and their friends showed the captain from Texas all of the city of London.

Miss Benson is a member of the editorial staff in the London offices of Vogue Magazine. Her friend Miss Brand is employed by Southerly's, a London firm of art auctioneers. Both girls wanted first to visit the United States and second to see Texas.

"Texas is fantastic," said Miss Brand. "It really is. Of course it is nothing at all the way we had imagined and expected Texas would be like," the brown-eyed visitor admitted.

Asked what they had expected Texas would be like, both girls answered "Oh, we had imagined cowboys riding horses to little towns with saloons and stores!"

"We thought we'd see cowboys wearing pistols in holsters everywhere," Miss Benson laughed.

"We had no idea Texas would be so varied . . . so diversified," Miss Brand said. "Texas cities, Houston, Dallas, Ft. Worth are fantastic," the two Bridgford guests agreed.

They flew from New York to Houston to visit friends there April 9. Then they met Dr. Bridgford in Dallas Monday, April 12. Their Colorado City host-to-be showed them Dallas, then Ft. Worth.

"Dallas is fantastic," said Miss Benson. "It is such a beautiful, such a big city with so much to see."

And did they see the world famous establishment known as Neiman-Marcus?

"Fantastic!" they said. "Absolutely fantasict! A marvelous

English Girls Visit Texas

COLORADO CITY and the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Bridgford were visited last week by two young Englishwomen from London. Pictured with host, Dr. Bill Bridgford, are Miss Monica Brand at left, and Miss Phyllida Benson, at right. The visitors were intrigued with West Texas in general and with ranches, cattle, rodeos, horses and barbeque in particular.

Senior Girl Scouts Plan Charm Talk

Girl Scout Day Camp training sessions are announced for adult leaders by Mrs. John Morgan, Day Camp director.

First training session will be in Community Center, West 10th St., Tuesday, April 27 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Baby sitter services will be offered mothers of young children and each Girl Scout leader is asked to bring a sack lunch.

"Skills Day" has been set for Thursday, May 6, at Camp Boothe Oaks, the Girl Scout camp near Sweetwater. Hours for that training session are 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

lous experience to visit the store we've read and heard so much about!"

Topping all the marvelous first-time experiences they enjoyed while here, both Miss Benson and Miss Brand decided, was their visit to a "real ranch." They were honor guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Bridgford Jr. at a barbeque party on the Bridgford Ranch near Mary Neal.

What did they think of Texas barbeque? It tasted "fantastic." So did the Texas-style pinto beans and the rest of the Texas feast, Thursday night.

"I could eat it every night," said Miss Benson with a mischievious sparkle. Matter of fact, the girls got to eat more barbeque the very next night. Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Bridgford entertained with a party and barbeque [illegible] at Spur Lake, Colorado City cottage.

Other weekend plans for the visitors called for a visit to the Quarterhorse show sponsored by Western Riding Club here Saturday; the Junior Rodeo in Sweetwater's coliseum; Easter Sunday dinner with Dr. Bill Bridgford's aunt in Sweetwater; and a short stop to see a Saturday morning cattle auction sale here in Colorado City.

Sunday afternoon the London lassies left Abilene by air for San Antonio. After a sight seeing visit there, they were to fly to Mexico City. They expect to see Taxco and Acapulco, too.

After Mexico, the two will fly back to New York City, then home to England. They have been in the United States since September. In New York, Monica works for Christie's [illegible] staff for England's Queen's Magazine before she joined the Vogue staff in London and later in New York.

Monica flew to this country, Phyl took a boat. The girls spent three weeks in Boston before they tried New York. Asked "Why Boston first?" Miss Benson laughed. "Well, it was one of the earliest cities. And it's still famous in England as a tea party scene."

They expect to fly home together May 29.

They expressed the warm hope that some day they'll see Texas again. "Even without cowboys shooting — like they do in the cinema and on television — we love Texas," one of them said. "It really is fantastic," said the other.

There would have been two cowboys shooting and riding [illegible] had Bill had his day night, had Bill had his way. His plan was to have Joe Maddox and David come riding up fast shooting (blanks) as the English girls arrived.

David Bridgford balked. "We'd never see two good cow ponies again," he said. "It's a fine and funny idea. But the answer is 'No.' "

Proper Pasture Usage Aids Stock Farmers

Pasture proper use is one of the main principles that should be applied by livestock farmers in pastureland management in the Mitchell Soil Conservation District says Don McClennen soil conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Pastureland is an area planted to perennial grass and these grasses treated so as to receive maximum yields from the land. These pastures can be dryland or irrigated. Dryland pastures may be fertilized, shredded or mowed, and grazed in rotation.

Irrigated pastures may be fertilized, watered, shredded or mowed, and grazed in rotation. Properly prepared and managed pastures can produce 2 or 3 times as much beef as an unimproved pasture. Pasture use (good management) enables a stock farmer to get the most from his land in pasture.

Pasture use involves not grazing the grass in the spring until after early booting stage, controlled grazing, fertilization, rotation grazing and proper irrigation water management if available. These practices make a pasture pay off and keep paying off. Proper pasture use is perhaps the most important principle in managing pastures so as to keep them productive and to give satisfactory returns from labor and investment.

The opposite of pasture proper use is overgrazing; this a stock farmer should avoid on any of his pastures. Overgrazing is a poor practice, it increases run off water, shortens the life and reduces the vigor of the sod plants and robs the soil of fertility.

Pasture proper used can be achieved by proper stocking, good management of grass and keeping feed reserves or other forage resources available to provide feed for livestock whenever normal growth is inadequate.

Proper stocking is regarded as the largest number of livestock that can safely graze the pasture each year, for a specific number of days, without causing a downward trend in grass production and grass quality. If grass is to be adequate in years of low production, then there must be excessive amounts ungrazed grass in years of high production. There is no reason to believe that overuse in one year can be compensated by under use in another year.

Therefore grazing should be light enough at all times to maintain a good ground cover and insure a vigorous sod.

For grassland management to be economical a livestock farmer must gear together, the development of a good pasture, a safe stocking rate (number of livestock), pasture proper use, and the production of supplimental feed.

If any one of these factors is permitted to exceed or lag behind the other, grassland farming may become uneconomical.

Southeast Asia. Government is there is no incentive for Red China or North Vietnam to agree to an honorable peace, which would grant self-determination to the peoples of Southeast Asia.

Because of the current situation, the Johnson Administration has escalated the war in Vietnam to show that we are not going to agree to the domination of Asia by Peking. Washington has made it more than clear that negotiations are a possibility as long as there is a chance that a negotiated peace can be achieved without a sell-out to Red aggression.

Had Hitler been shown such determination at Munich, the world might be a far better place to live in today. Our "peace-lovers" should remember this.

Make it clear that if he lets you down, the support lets up. But try first to train him; discuss what you expect of him, give him a deadline, and praise even the slightest sign of thrift.

DEAR DORIS — My only child is now 13 and I feel that I can get a full time job again. I am a registered psychiatric nurse (Great Britain) and have always had skill at handicrafts, which I have certainly not allowed to get rusty.

Would it take much extra training for me to quality for work in the field of occupational therapy? I would enjoy this work, remembering from my mental-nursing days how much good can be done.

Nurse

DEAR NURSE — Many hospitals now give courses to train the occupational therapy assistant in the mental health field. Your past training and your own skill will be a valuable asset.

DEAR DORIS — When I ask Tom to do anything around the house he starts yelling and arguing. We have five children and I work from nine to four, before coming home to start in on things here.

He won't even cut the grass. He won't do anything for his mother who is a widow of 75. He won't look at the children's schoolwork. He is too busy watching TV.

I often thought of taking the children and living with my mother, as I can't go on this way.

Working Mother

DEAR WORKING — A look at Tom's background would probably reveal a child with no chores to do; a teen-ager allowed to run wild and with no sense of responsibility for home; obviously with a mother who demanded nothing (and still does).

So it doesn't even occur to him that marriage is a sharing — of everything; and that you win your children's love and friendship through companionable interest in what they do.

Are you equal to raising this extra large little boy? A trained counsellor at this point might just give you the insight and moral support which could save your marriage.

To Manners On Leaving— As a lady guest leaves, and she bids gentlemen good-by, they rise. If a man leaves, and comes around to shake hands, the men rise to do so. If he just waves a good-bye from the door to the room as a whole, people merely wave back and speak. Unless it's the boss or a dignitary. Or somebody else important, like the guest of honor.

Not Another Munich

The uproar over the use of non-lethal gas in South Vietnam has implications, for more significant and dangerous for the American people than many officials in the government are willing to admit.

On the surface, the huuabaloo was ludicrous. The gas, a riot-control weapon, was being used to prevent serious injury to innocent men and women who happened to be near Viet Cong troops. Instead of using heavy weapons, gas was utilized in areas where the Viet Cong was suspected to have infiltrated.

In spite of this, rather innocuous situation, liberal and left-wing circles in the U.S. and elsewhere in the Free World latched on to the gas angle for dear life. The Labor Party in Britain let go with a loud howl as did our so-called "liberal" congressmen in Washington.

Somehow riot gas was equated with the poison gas of World War I. After that the illogic was carried still further by citing that international conventions which outlawed poison gas.

It is noteworthy that in the furor over gas, the Communists lagged far behind our liberal friends in protesting about the situation. The Communists were only able to resort to the boldface lie that the gas in Vietnam was poisonous. The liberals admitted that the gas was nonpoisonous but then went about trying to prove that the use of riot-gas was as heinous as poison gas.

One often hears the liberal-types decrying bigotry and mob psychology, but it is hard to find a better example of Goebbels like behavior than that displayed by our left-of-center friends.

In some respects, the furor over gas was a bit comical because the liberal dogooders put themselves in a position where it would seem more moral to blow people up with bombs than to harmlessly gas them.

However, the ridiculous aspect of the gas uproar hides its sinister side. Many people in this country and overseas who want the U.S. to sell-out in Vietnam did not have the courage to say so in so many words. But when a bogus issue like the gas affair came along, they eagerly jumped aboard the old Munich-style bandwagon.

When Czechoslovakia was being sold down the river at Munich, the argument of the peace-lovers was that the sell-out would insure "peace in our time."

The following year this reasoning proved illusory when Hitler started World War II by thinking that Poland would be handed to him as was Czechoslovakia.

A sell-out in Vietnam would merely open up the dikes for further Communist expansion in Southeast Asia. Will the peace-lovers like Senator Church and Morse urge sell-outs in Malaysia, Burma, Thailand, India, etc., when these countries have their Viet Cong-type wars? And where are the sell-outs to end? When the Communists are at our doorsten?

The dilemma of the Johnson Administration is that the Communists have everything going for them in

"THIS COULD LEAD TO WAR..."

DEAR DORIS
advice from Doris Clark

A Place For Father

DEAR DORIS — My fiance lived with his aunt because his mother had a long illness. When he was 13 his mother died. Later his father remarried.

Our problem is just who should be "parents of the groom" at the wedding. His aunt and uncle are the ones who raised him. Is there any way that both his uncle and father could have an equal standing in the receiving line?

Engaged

DEAR ENGAGED — Yes. In the receiving line, your mother is first, then could come the aunt, with your mother explaining, perhaps, that "This is the aunt who raised Michael". Then attendants, bride groom, more attendants, or whatever order you decide.

Both father and uncle of groom could stand not on the receiving line, but close to its other end, to share honors with your father in taking care of wedding guests, serving refreshments, introducing one to another and performing other hosting duties.

DEAR DORIS — I go out with the sweetest boy in the world and he is 22. All of the other girls my age bring their boy friends into the house with them to stay after their parents go to bed.

Now my parents don't want me to start until I am older. I am 14. What they don't seem to realize is that we can do just as much outdoors as we can in the house if we want to, and that won't stop us. I love my parents and I also love this fellow. What should I do?

In Love

DEAR IN LOVE — Try with all the good sense you can muster to understand why your parents are holding out about this.

Boys and girls are attracted to one another physically; they tend to think this means love, or at least a go-ahead for necking. They are not ready for the sometimes overwhelming urgency of their attraction. Nor for its unstable nature.

Everyone should value protection and rules. And should play in their own league. To you, this means abandoning a 22-year-old man, as well as sitting up alone (indoors or anywhere) with any date.

DEAR DORIS — My nephew, 22, has been on social assistance since school days. Three months ago we let him come to stay with us, and said we would carry him until he accumulated some money to go on his own.

I finally got him started putting something in the bank. But he missed banking anything for the last two pays, I was so disappointed.

He only needs coffee and cigarette money. What do you say? Give him till summer time? He doesn't even realize it takes a lot of everything to run this house, with eight children in it.

FOLLOWING TRADITION

Creighton Is Governor In Office For A Day

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. — A new governor moved into the chief executive's office in the capitol this week — but only for a day.

Following tradition, Gov. John Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith left the state Tuesday — clearing the way for Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Senate president pro tempore, to take a 24-hour turn as governor.

Creighton invited home folks from Callahan, Clay, Denton, Eastland, Jack, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Stephens and Wise counties to his "inauguration."

He also turned out the usual volume of proclamations and commissions — and received praises of his colleagues.

Creighton, 36, an attorney, brought along his pretty wife, Sue, and three children to the governor's mansion.

MEDICAL SCHOOL VETOED — Governor Connally vetoed the bill authorizing Texas Tech to establish a medical school in Lubbock.

Connally said that not enough study had been given to the idea and that he preferred that his recently created college coordinating board be the supreme authority in new college programs.

Veto drew critical attacks from West Texas proponents of the school, including Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Sen. H. J. Blanchard, both of Lubbock.

COMMISSION NEARS PASSAGE — After a two-week delay, the Senate was ready to take final action on the bill to create a "Little Hoover Commission" to cull waste and inefficiency from state offices and agencies. Bill is sponsored by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria and Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado.

An amendment which Patman considers crippling was tacked on by Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo. Amendment makes the lieutenant governor and the speaker chairman and vice chairman of the commission, replacing a provision that the members would elect the commission leaders.

DISTRICTING GUIDELINES SET — Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham says the House Districts Committee aims to get a congressional reapportionment measure to the floor by May 1. Mutscher is chairman of the committee.

Three optional plans for state House of Representatives redistricting also are due from sub-committees by May 1.

Committee has adopted these tentative legislature redistricting guidelines:

Population variance between districts should be held to a maximum of 15 per cent over and below the mean average;

"At least one attempt" will be made to eliminate "flotorial" districts;

Small counties without population sufficient to justify a representative of their own will not be divided;

Two or more representatives will not be allowed to run at large in two or more counties.

Committee also approved Senate-passed bill to permit up to 15 per cent population variance in forming legislative districts.

House Speaker Ben Barnes is optimistic that the Legislature can solve the thorny redistricting problem without need for a special session.

AMENDMENTS GET PRIORITY — State representatives returned from their brief Easter Vacations to find two proposed constitutional amendments high on their work assignment list.

Governor Connally finally got the balky House Amendments Committee to clear for debate measure to increase terms of governor and other officials elected statewide from two to four years.

Committee also approved redistricting pain-easer calling for increase of State Senate membership from 31 to 39, but stripped from it provision to lengthen upper house terms to six years.

Pressure for submission of both measures to Texas voters (in November and August 7 elections, respectively), were intense.

NEW LAWS ADOPTED — Dozens of bills have been given final passage in one house and sent to the other for further action.

Two bills by Rep. Dick Cory would authorize commissioners courts in all but the largest counties of the state to give county officers raises of up to 20 per cent.

Sen. Don Kennard's bill to create a North Central Texas Airport Authority in Tarrant County, which is opposed by Dallas, was passed in the Senate, but the House version ran into a filibuster by Dallas delegation members in the committee hearing. Bill by Sen. W. T. Moore would authorize Texas A&M to accept James Connally Air Force Base for the state and establish a technical institute.

POLL TAX REPEAL FAILS — Proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax fell four votes short of getting the necessary two-thirds in the House of Representatives. But measure was kept alive by a parliamentary maneuver.

Rep. Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi is sponsor of the bill.

BUDGET WRITING TOUGHER THAN EVER — Appropriations bill conferees failed to make the April 15 deadline set by House Speaker Ben Barnes for completion of their work.

Despite any sharp differences between House and Senate bills, the budget-writing job in general is tougher than ever this year. That's because of creation of new state agencies and transfers of duties — particularly in hospital and water fields — plus impact of federal programs just being evolved on state finances.

LOAN BILL ADVANCED — Legislation which opponents cahrge would mean the highest interest rates on loans in the nation for Texans received tentative Senate approval 16-14.

Measure by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg would allow annual interest rates on installment loans of $9 per $100 up to $6,500. An amendment, finally accepted after strong objection, exempted small loan companies from terms of the bill. Another amendment exempted mortagage loans on real estate.

NON-CITIZEN AID PROPOSED — Proposed constitutional amendment to make old age assistance to non-citizens who have lived in the U. S. for at least 25 years received heavy support in a House committee hearing.

Rep. Joe J. Bernal of San Antonio, sponsor of the bill said only three other states require citizenship for such assistance. Many thousand long-time Texas residents, who have not qualified for citizenship for such assistance due to language or other barriers, have no income at all today, Bernal told the committee.

COLLEGES GET FEDERAL FUNDS — With $11,200,000 presently allotted for distribution in federal grants for college construction in Texas, the Texas Commission on Higher Education already has requests from 24 more colleges and eligibility established for 12 junior colleges.

Applications received amount to an additional $12,500,000 of construction requests under the 1964 Higher Education Facilities Act. Grants pay for 40 per cent of the actual cost of new construction for approved college facilities.

RAIN-MAKING STUDY URGED — John T. Carr Jr., weatherman with the Texas Water Commission, says long-range experiments in weather modification should be undertaken in Texas, even though at present conditions do not seem favorable and existing methods are expensive.

Carr says that ideal conditions for rain-making are infrequent in Texas. However, experiments have shown there are effective methods to bring about rain where it would not have fallen naturally and to increase the yield of rain-clouds.

SHORT SNORTS — Bill to authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue $100,000,000 more in Texas Water Development Bonds was heard by the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee and assigned to sub-committee . . . George W. Hill, executive director of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, has resigned effective July 1 to become president of the Southern Heritage Foundation . . . SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

With A Splash

A chap from a paint company phoned the other day and asked me to write an article on house-painting. At first I was a little nonplused, as I have never painted a house in my life.

Then I remembered the ham. One time the hog farmers asked me to write an article about pigs. I agreed.

My wife snorted, "What do you know about pigs?"

"Exactly," I retorted. I sat down and wrote an account of the life and times of a hog that for sheer ignorance of the subject has never been surpassed. But the hog farmers liked it. And that Christmas I received a twelve-pound ham from a packing company, as a gift.

While I was chatting with this paint man on the phone, my mind began to race along these lines. "If a little feature on hogs produced a beautiful ham, surely a few hundred words on house-painting would be good for a house. Or at least some paint. And I have to paint the trim on my house this spring. So . . ."

While it is a fact that there isn't likely a man in North America who has spent more time not painting houses than I, it is not quite true that I have never painted a house. At the same time it is not quite true that I have painted a house.

Let me explain. One summer in a period of acute mental depression, I spent my entire vacation trying to paint the trim on the ancient sagging bean of first and second mortgages we'd just bought.

It was during the first nauseating bloom of the do-it-yourself sickness. The whole country was full of sweating, cursing, frustrated men struggling to assemble everything from golf carts to 50-foot yachts from their "handy home kits."

I was hooked too, I decided to paint the house myself. Achieve personal satisfaction back in my wife's praise; save all that money.

There didn't seem to be much to it. "A few gallons on paint and you won't know the old place. Probably double its value." I rented a ladder, bought brushes, paint, and turps, as we old house-painters call it.

The house trim was about 60 feet off the ground. I climbed up to have a look at the old paint. Half an hour later, my wife came out to call the kids and found me there clinging with both arms and both legs to the top of the ladder, white as chalk, moaning piteously. She had to call the fire department to get me down.

I lowered my sights and decided that, for that year, it would be enough to paint the window frames on the ground floor.

First, I had to scrape, where it was blistered and cracked and peeled. Did you ever try to scrape flint? In hell? It was the hottest summer in 30 years.

I'd scrape for half an hour, clear a patch four inches by four, then climb down, dripping and go in and fetch a cold beer. As I emerged, instaneously, three or four neighbors would emerge from hiding behind the hedges and join me, tongues hanging out.

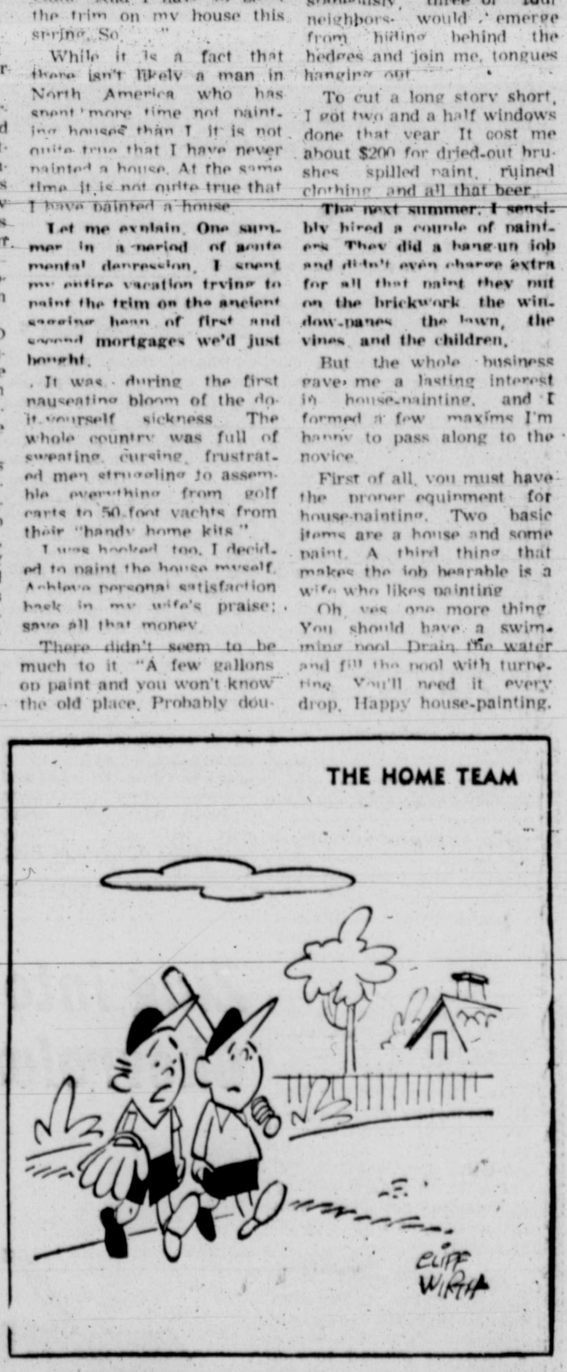

To cut a long story short, I got two and a half windows done that year. It cost me about $200 for dried-out brushes, spilled paint, ruined clothing, and all that beer.

The next summer, I sensibly hired a couple of painters. They did a bang-up job and didn't even charge extra for all that paint they put on the brickwork, the window-panes, the lawn, the vines, and the children.

But the whole business gave me a lasting interest in house-painting, and I formed a few maxims I'm happy to pass along to the novice.

First of all, you must have the proper equipment for house-painting. Two basic items are a house and some paint. A third thing that makes the job bearable is a wife who likes painting.

Oh, yes, one more thing. You should have a swimming pool. Drain the water and fill the pool with turpentine. You'll need it every drop. Happy house-painting.

"Fifty to nothing! I can see I've got a lot of work to do on my curve ball!"

"There comes a day in every man's life when he can do something a little extra for his team. Jones, your day has come..."

Many catches of small bass, crappie and blue gill were reported using worms as bait.

One out-of-town fisherman took home an extra good catch of black bass landing eight weighing a total of 30pounds.

Lake Colorado City

Parties of fishing enthusiasts frequented Lake Colorado City over the holiday weekend and many fine individual and strings of fish were reported caught.

Ruth Coffey's CONVERSATION CORNER

[illegible] ladies have come to a point [illegible] where they [illegible] protect [illegible] their faces strictly to keep the sun off their bald-ing spots. Or to keep off the rain. What silly reasons.

WOMEN buy hats for the lovliest reasons. They buy the color. Shape. Or the dare-devil feel of something different. Becoming or not.

Put a man in an old hat and he's the happiest, most contented man you ever saw.

Put a woman in an old hat and she'll flat stay at home. Maybe even sit down and cry until she gets a new one.

No masculine creature of any age ever fully understands that. Or partially understands it either. And we can prove it.

COMING out of church Sunday we heard an urgent voice. It sounded puzzled. Perhaps frightened. It asked:

"Mother," said the voice from the throat of a scrub-bed-up little boy, "What's happened? Why are all the ladies wearing their funny hats today?"

Well, Son, Shirt tails may come and shirt tails may go. But Easter hats go on for ever. And there's nothing funny about what's inside 'em. Their price tags are plumb serious.

SAW our Ruth Grantham (Mrs. J. V. Boen) and Jane-lle, her glamorous daughter-in-law, wife of her son, James, and Ruth's adorable little granddaughter, Jan, in a lacy Easter bonnet, leaving Sunday School.

James and his family live in Big D but spent Easter Sunday here in CCity.

CAROLYN HOWELL, senior in the University of Texas, spent at least part of her weekend holiday trying on spring play clothes.

She is daughter of Inez and Grayden Howell and is a mighty attractive gal.

SEEN LAFFLIN Included Jack, ex Jackie Smith and their two gloriously blonde daughters.

Saw Nadine Gordon (Mrs. Gerald) wearing hot pink.

Also Lucy Thomas (Mrs. Luke) another cat-lover — and Nancy Brock, nine-year-old blonde daughter of the Earl Brocks.

Met for the first time Charles Black, husband of the former Carolyn Bilberry. The Blacks, who live in Post where he teaches and coaches, were here to celebrate Easter with her parents Betty and Luna. With them, naturally, was their four-year-old son Chuck.

HEAR TELL from a long time C. G. favorite Gal named Addie V. Payne (Mrs. Jimmie) that another alumnus of MCK, Mrs. Coffey's Kindergarten is doing all right for himself.

Melton Willbanks, son of Ina and L. R. Willbanks, who are former CCitians, is projects engineer on a new satellite program. He, his wife and their children Shirley and Scott, live in Cayonga Park, Calif. Melton, however, travels frequently, and is recently back from Hawaii. He was once a fine MCK rhythm band drummer.

THE ROOTS, Maxie Lee and Charles, had as Easter holiday guests a very important gentleman — their one and only grandson, Charles Ray Dillard who was making his first visit in the home town of his parents the Ray Dillards. The baby's mama is the former Anna Lee Root. The young Dillards live in Denton.

Also at home for the holiday weekend was Judy Root, University of Texas sophomore.

IN CCITY visiting their parents the Jess Craddocks and Mrs. Sam Wultjen were Bob and Maxine Craddock Wultjen of Richardson and their son, and daughter, Luke and Lucy.

Irene Norman, who teaches in Brownfield, and her mother Mrs. J. D. Norman met Sara (Norman) and Rodney Lee and their children at the Coleman home of Jane (Norman) and Barney Popnoe for Easter.

Pauline Kayser Jones, head of the Spanish department in Wichita Falls High School, spent the weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jones, at Renderbrook Ranch. Also here was Mrs. Lloyd Croslin (Frances Jones) of Lubbock.

Expected home this week is Mrs. Mac Fuller who has spent several weeks visiting cities in California.

Daughters of King Meet in King Home

Daughters of the King Sunday School Class, First Methodist Church, met in the home of Mrs. Walter King, Thursday afternoon.

Present were the class president Mrs. Rube Haet, Mrs. H. T. Coles, Mrs. W. J. Chesney, Mrs. H. L. Jamison, Mrs. Vada Wells, Mrs. Pearl Durham, Winn and King.

PEOPLE AND CULTURE

Guatemala Is Theme For Self Culture Club

Self Culture Study Club members met Thursday afternoon in the Westbrook home of Mrs. Leroy Gressett, club member.

"Neighbors Here and There," the club's study theme for 1964-65, was continued with the program "In Guatemala."

Mrs. Gressett was also leader for the program which was opene by the reading of Proverbs 31 by Mrs. Mabel Erwin.

"The People and Their Way of Life" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. E. L. Tiller.

"In Guatemala City, the capital, you may see men and women wearing the same styles you might see in New York or Paris. You will also see the brightly colored native dress," Mrs. Tiller said. "People speak mostly Spanish and some English but in isolated places the native language is still spoken."

Guatemala was settled, she explained, about 3,000 years ago by the Mayas, one of the most intelligent and industrious tribes of American Indians. The Spanish came later, bringing European religion, art and styles of dress.

Majority of Guatemala's people are farmers with corn one of the leading crops, Mrs. Tiller said. They also grow and eat fruits like mango, papaya and anona.

National musical instrument of Guatemala is the marimba, made by scooping a large gourd and using a shell to make music.

Mrs. A. A. Herrington discussed "Social and Cultural Development. Public school is free in Guatemala, she said, and the law requires all children between seven and 14 to attend. "However, many children do not attend becaus of a shortage of teachers and classrooms. About 65 out of every 100 persons in Guatemala can neither read nor write," Mrs. Herrington said.

Guatemala has complete religious freedom. The Roman Catholic Church has by far the greatest number of members, however.

Guatemala Indians are famed for their weaving of cloth, the speaker told club members.

Cadas Merida, best known for his water colors based on art of the ancient Mayan Indians, is Guatemala's most famous painter, Mrs. Herrington said. Jose Batres Montufar is the country's best known romantic poet.

Mrs. Herrington concluded her paper with a discussion of the country's government, political parties, struggles against Communist rule. A new law outlawing Communism went into effect in 1956, she said.

Preceding the formal program, the club sang the Federation song with Miss Ruth Hightower at the piano. Mrs. Earl Brown, club president, presided during the business session.

The hostess served a refreshment course to Miss Hightower, Mrs. Tiller, Mrs. Herrington, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Carl Knieff, Mrs. Coit Butler, Mrs. James Buck, Mrs. Wilfred Fox, Mrs. Erwin Whitmore, and Mrs. Mabel Erwin.

Mrs. Whitmore will be hostess for the last meeting of the regular club year, Friday, May 21. Members plans, that day, a report from the State Federation and a tour of City gardens.

Herman Parsons Attend Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Parsons and daughter, Melanie, were in Canton, Saturday, to attend funeral services of his uncle, Milbert Reece. In Dallas, they were guests in the home of Mr. Parsons' sister, Mrs. Sherewood Noxon. They returned to Westbrook, Monday.

Mighty Proud . . .

Time now to start walking mighty proud every time we pass by . . . or go into the Mitchell County Courthouse.

Time for everyhody to start tipping the hat to county Commissioners for the modern changes they've wrought.

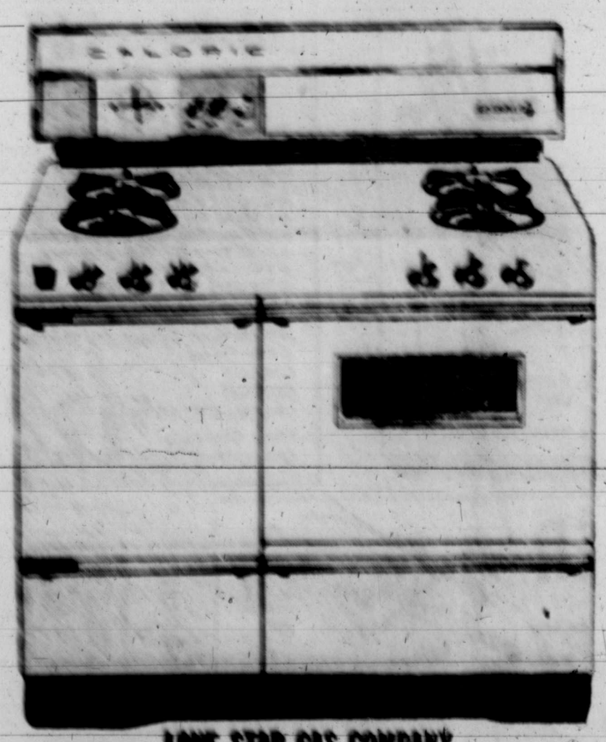

Almost complete now, the changes given the old house the new look . . . inside and outside.

There's even central air conditioning and sound-proofing—both plumb necessary these days.

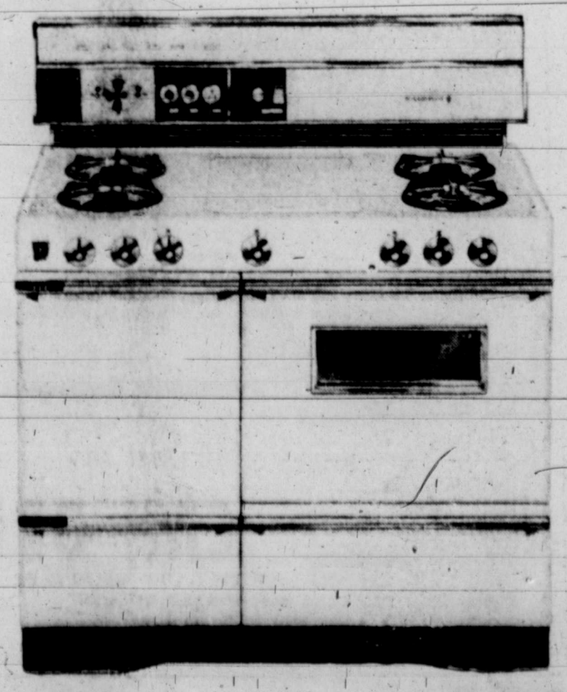

Time for all citizens, old and new, to rear back and realize . . . The old gray place just ain't what it used to be . . . Thanks to county official planning . . . and progress.

SLIDES OF PERU

Pauline Jones Kayser Is Hesperian Speaker

Guest speaker, Mrs. Pauline Jones Kayser of Wichita Falls, presented the program for Hesperian Study Club members Friday afternoon when they met in the home of Mrs. Otto F. Jones, Renderbrook Ranch.

"A Report on the Texas-Peruvian Partners of the Alliance" was subject of the address by Mrs. Kayser who first reviewed the history of the "Partners of the Alliance."

Tribute was paid to James H. Boren, a Texan in the State Department, who conceived the partnership program and now has set up 32 partnerships between States of the United States and areas in South and Central America.

"This far-sighted program," Mrs. Kayser said, "is credited with much of the friendship between Latin-American and United States communities and is a real deterrent to inroads the Communists are continually trying to make into the affairs of these countries.

"Under this small impact-type projects — such as furnishing lanterns for night literacy classes, beginning rabbit-breeding to improve both the economy in the sierra and the nutrition, supplying desks or roofs or small libraries for schools are completed," Mrs. Kayser continued.

Projects too small to warrant loans from the Agency for International Development — but in which the people have a real interest — are finished in record time, she said, on the community level.

Mrs. Kayser showed colored slides of the first trip made by "Partners of the Alliance" to Peru. Slides of the work done last year at Zurite, Pallo, Markjo Grande and La Artajea and other communities in Peru, were shown by the speaker.

Chapters of the Pan-American Student Forum in Texas high schools have been particularly active in furthering the aims of the Organization of American States through the "Partnership" program.

Mrs. Kayser, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Jones, is sponsor of a chapter of Pan-American Student Forum as head of the Spanish department in Wichita Falls High School.

As a member of the Executive Board of "Partners of the Alliance" she made a trip to Peru in August-September 1964. Edward Marcus of Dallas is chairman of the board of directors and James E. Egan of Austin is vice-chairman.

Mrs. Charles C. Thompson presided during a business session before the program. Mrs. Bennett Scott gave the Student Loan Fund report and asked that Mrs. Edgar Majors serve on the loan fund committee during the 1965-66 club year.

Mrs. Ralph Graham reported progress of the yearbook committee. Club members voted approval of a revised constitution and bylaws committee report.

Three guests, Mrs. Kayser, her sister Mrs. Lloyd Croslin, of Lubbock, and Miss Louise Willwater, of Abilene, were present.

Members attending were Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Lynn Halbert, Mrs. Majors, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. J. A. Sadler Sr., Mrs. O. L. Simpson, Mrs. J. D. White, Mrs. E. H Winn, Mrs. Sam Wulfjen, Mrs. M. E. Miller, Miss Mable Smith and Miss Clydine Stickney.

MRS. CARVER, SPEAKER

Zetagathians Study Message Of Easter

"The Message of Easter" was program theme for members of the Zetagathian Study Club Thursday afternoon.

Hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. William S. Rhode who entertained the club in the Mural Room at Baker Hotel.

Mrs. Rhode also introduced the speaker, Mrs. Bob Carver, who discussed "The Message of Easter." The speaker chose for the basis of her discussion Phillips' Translation of the New Testament. As her text she used Luke, chapters 23 and 24.

Mrs. Carver climaxed her talk with a poem titled "What Does Easter Mean to You?"

Refreshments were served to a guest, Mrs. Bob Wulfjen of Richardson; to a new Zetagathian member, Mrs. Travis Toland; and to members Mrs. Warren Anderson, Mrs. Robert Aycock, Mrs. Jay S. Craddock, Jr., Mrs. Jim Edison, Mrs. R. F. Fee, Jr., Mrs. L. S. Girvin, Jr., Mrs. Larry Kinard, Mrs. Curtis Latimer, Mrs. Sam L. Majors, Jr., Mrs. Ray Noble, Mrs. Bob Reily, Mrs. Bob Robinson, Mrs. George O. Witten, Mrs. O. B. Trulock, Jr., Mrs. Joe Burchard, Mrs. Carver and the hostess Mrs. Rhode.

Next regular club meeting is set for Thursday, April 29, with Mrs. Anderson as hostess, Mrs. Robinson as leader, and Mrs. Reily as speaker.

The program theme will be "Education," one of this club year's series, "Pointing Up Potentials." Mrs. Reily will discuss "Modern Methods."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor of Colorado City Record:

On Monday and Tuesday of last week we attended the wonderful Mesquite District Convention in your friendly city.

We stayed in Baker Hotel and afforded every kindness and courtesy. The food there and at the Civic House was most delicious. (We never ate more delicious rolls than at your Civic House!)

We enjoyed seeing our beloved friend Mrs. Jene Steakley . . . thought Mrs. Don Guitar was lovely . . it was a privilege to visit with Mrs. Dona Reed . . . Mrs. Arlene Morris, Mrs. C. P. Gary, Mrs. A. L. Greer and Mrs. Willie Whitmore . . . and presidents of Colorado City clubs were the kindest hostesses ever. Rev. Graham was fine. Your library and librarian are a credit to any city. We did some shopping and found your business houses to be most courteous. The Baptist Church is beautiful.

I grew up at Dunn so I felt sincere happiness and that I had come back home. All in all it was a great two days.

And again thanks to Colorado City and to you, for a truly superb convention.

Most sincerely,
Kewpie Taylor Duncan
(Mrs. Carl Duncan)
Aspermont, Texas

Editor's note: Mrs. Duncan is Mesquite District chairman of the Home Life Department.
