At Monday's meeting Trustees put LULAC Scholarship on hold

The local LULAC chapter will not be able to award a scholarship during this year's graduation ceremonies unless last year's recipient, Carrie Blair, receives her scholarship money that was announced in the ceremony last spring.

This action came as a result of a motion - passed 5 to 2 by the Colorado ISD trustees Monday night following a lengthy and often heated discussion of whether announced recipients of LULAC scholarships have been awarded all their scholarship money. Trustees Yolanda Molina and Diaza Garza voted against the motion.

Besides the scholarship money for Blair, the administration and some board members had also questioned the scholarship money to Charlie Ortiz in 1991 and Mary Ann DeLoera in 1990.

Local LULAC member Sara Ortiz told the board Monday night that Ortiz had received all his money ($500) and DeLoera had only received $150 of her scholarship money because she had not attended an accredited school.

She emphasized all along that Blair knew she was not to receive her money until this coming school year because Mrs. Ortiz said "Carrie was not supposed to graduate until this year but finished early by going to summer school."

However, in a letter to Supt. Don Nimmo, Carrie's mother, Debbie Blair outlined the chain of events since Carrie was announced the scholarship winner.

Mrs. Blair said Carrie was told that she would receive $250 per semester to go to Western Texas College in Snyder and when she went to enroll, the money would be in the financial aid office.

However, when Ms. Blair went to enroll, no money had been sent to WTC by LULAC - either by the local or national office. She said she questioned Mrs. Ortiz and was told deadlines had been missed and all the money - $500 - would be awarded in the Spring Semester.

However, the money was not there at enrollment time in the spring either.

Mrs. Blair again questioned Mrs. Ortiz and the letter stated that she was told it would be available for the 1993-94 school year when she enrolled at Angelo State.

Mrs. Blair further stated in the letter that she "doubted" Carrie would ever receive her money.

Representatives of the LULAC National Educational Service Centers in Washington, D. C. said Tuesday afternoon that all scholarship information must be in their office by March 31 preceding the start of school in the fall and if that deadline is missed - the local chapter must wait until March 31 of the next year before applying for scholarship money. They also said they have been unable to match local funds dollar-for-dollar and "70 to 80 percent is about all we can do at the time."

GETTING READY: After many hours of preparation the Christmas in April project is set for this Saturday, April 24. Workers prepare this house at 333 16th for painting Saturday as they are scrapping off the old paint for the new paint job it will get Saturday. Shown in front of the CIA sign are Jan Lemons, Ricardo Ramirez, Deanie Elliott, Wesley Elliott, David Smith and Robert Sanchez. Workers are reminded that if they have not received an assignment, then they should report to the Chamber of Commerce at 8 a.m.

Trustees act on curriculum

The curriculum report at the Colorado ISD board of trustees meeting Monday night included three recommendations and one of the three was voted down on a three to two vote.

A proposal was made to do away with the "Top Ten Graduates" and replace it with a three-tiered system with designations such as magna cum laude and cum laude but trustees Billy Bridgford, Diana Garza and Roxie Strain voted against it while Larry Blassingame and Jesse Munoz voted for it. Trustee Yolanda Molina had left the meeting earlier.

Other recommendations approved included a revision of the honors courses and changes in the pre-registration packet and the student handbook.

The trustees had earlier voted to rescind their actions take in February and March concerning the honors class designations due to the fact they were not following board policy in those actions.

The trustees accepted the resignations of high school principal James McSwain who has taken a high school principal's position in Texarkana, homebound teacher Kaci Householder, high school counselor Ray Pope who is taking a position as a counselor for TDCJ in Lamesa, high school English teacher David Woods and Ann Brown from the cafeteria staff and Lu Ann Hertenberger as secretary in the special education department in the administration building.

The school calendar for next year was approved with school slated to start this August 17 and dismissed on May 27, 1994.

May 1 Special Election

Early voting for the May 1 election continues through April 27.

The Colorado ISD business office located at 1132 Hickory will be open this Saturday for early voting from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Voting for this period in the city elections will be in the Colorado City and Loraine city halls during regular business hours.

Early voting for the Loraine ISD will be at the Superintendent's office from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day.

For the Westbrook ISD, early voting will be held at the School Tax Office located at the corner of Old Highway 80 and Main Street. Hours are 9 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Colorado ISD voting for the two-week period will be at the Business/Tax Office, 1132 Hickory, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day.

Early voting for the Hospital District will be conducted at the Hospital in the Administrative Offices between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Voting for United States Senator will be at the Mitchell County Clerk's office on the first floor of the courthouse.

The office is open from 8 until noon and from 1 until 5 p.m.

Loraine senior student recovering

Loraine High School senior Jason Shy remains in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital today following an apparent suicide attempt Sunday night from an overdose of prescription medicines.

Shy was air-lifted to Lubbock Monday morning and Tuesday afternoon Shy's father, Monte, said he had been taken off of oxygen and was breathing on his own and all signs indicate there will be no permanent damage to Jason.

"All the test results have been very favorable," said Mr. Shy. "He's coming along real fine and was alert when many of his senior classmates visited him today."

"Please tell everyone his mother and I greatly appreciate all the prayers and kind words of support we have received," said Shy. "We know now that some good will come out of this experience - again, we thank everyone from the bottom of our hearts."

Loraine superintendent Gary Buckingham said the school had provided counseling for all the students in the school who had requested it.

Cotton deficiency payments made

Upland cotton who participated in the 1992 acreage reduction programs have received about $3,354,000 in remaining deficiency payments, according to Don Stewart, of the Mitchell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"Eligible producers have received 20.3 cents per pound for cotton," Stewart said.

He explained that the farmers became eligible for deficiency payments when the national weighted average market price for cotton during calendar year 1992 fell below the 27.9 cents-per-pound target price.

Nationally, the calendar year weighted average price was 52.6

cents per pound for upland cotton.

"The payment rate must equal the difference between the target price and the higher of the average price or the national average loan rate," Stewart said. The 1992 upland cotton loan rate was 52.35 cents per pound. Since the loan rate for cotton is less than the average price, the cotton payment rate is based on the difference between the target price and the average price.

ASCS official Stewart said total payments to farmers who requested advance deficiency payments when they enrolled in the 1992 programs will be reduced by the amount of advance payments already received.

SCHOLARSHIPS

They also said that all scholarship money is sent directly to the recipients.

During the discussion over the scholarships, Nimmo and trustee Larry Blassingame asked if there was anyway both parties could get together and work the problems out. Blassingame emphasized that he hated that any student would lose any scholarship money regardless of the amount but said the students had to know whether they would get the money and when.

Sara Ortiz was asked after the meeting if there was a way for the parties to work the problems out and she replied "it is now a full-fledged LULAC thing - from the local to the state and national level."

Harrison hosts Womens Group

The Susan Everman Baptist Women's Group of The First Baptist Church met in the home of Billie Margaret Harrison on Monday, April 12.

Margaret Bodine presided. Earline Sellier led the calendar of prayer for missionaries observing birthdays on April 12, using a purse theme representing ways people give to the Co-operative Program.

The group voted to make flags representing the 129 counties served by Southern Baptist missionaries and to assist in getting the WMU Centennial quilt hung in the foyer of the church.

Invitations were issued to the Associational Prayer Retreat at Circle 6 Ranch on April 16-17 and members were urged to attend the Texas UMU Convention in Houston on June 13th and 14th.

Doris Carter was program director and introduced the study "Together We Give," a study of the Cooperative Program, a unique distinctive of Southern Baptists for working together around the world. Frances Cooper told of Ed and Julietta Sanders and Virginia Dearen discussed Curtis and June Boland in Cheyenne, Wyoming. Both couples told of the ways the Cooperative Program and two special mission offerings annually provide for all their needs.

Members attending were Earline Sellier, Anna Staats, Doris Carter, Virginia Dearen, Frances Cooper, Jean Edwards, Margaret Bodine, Betsy Aycock and the hostess.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Greeting's Mitchell County:

We are the Scott family, we have recently opened a new business in your community. We call it Scott's Acres you know it as Bernards.

We have just moved to Colorado City for the first time. Tim and Paula are from Winslow, Arizona. Scotty and Mancy are from Granbury, Texas.

Tim and Paula have been married for 40 years. They have three sons, two daughter-in-laws, and eight grandchildren.

After forty-three years on the road, Tim is finally a retired truck driver. Paula has been working with the Indians and the arts for 12 years. She operated Meteor City, Arizona for five years. Scotty is a millwright for Nuclear Power Plant Construction, recently completing a plant in Glen Rose, Texas. Mancy is presently employed by Mitchell County as the Literacy and Education instructor for the Probation Department.

We hope that you will take this time to welcome us into your community and accept us for what we are: just good simple folks looking for a quite clean community to settle in and retire. We hope to take this time to clear any confusion concerning any relationship or affiliation with any other Scott family who has ever lived in or done business in Colorado City in the past. We are not related to anyone from this area.

We will be having our grand opening Friday, April 23 at 8:30 a.m. We hope you will all come to meet us and join in our new beginning in Colorado City all of you are welcome to attend.

Sincerely,
Mancy Scott

An Open Letter:

To the person or persons who took the flower arrangements from the Chesney family cemetery lot:

In the last three weeks, I have had not one but two flower arrangements taken from the Chesney cemetery lot.

I would appreciate whoever took these arrangements finding something more constructive to do with their time.

Sincerely,
Frances Chesney

COLORADO CONVERSATIONS

BY BARBIE LELEK

My biggest apologies to Sam Miller, a little 4th grade girl that I left out of the UIL results. Sam was included in the picture memory team that won 4th place. She also placed 6th in spelling. Congrats Sam, and I'm sorry!

The kids at Kelley Elementary had a fun end to their day last Friday. They had a pep rally to get them ready for their Iowa achievement tests which they are taking this week. They had several wonderful cheerleaders, Renee Marshall (2nd grade teacher), Mary Petty (nurse), Adele Morgan (pre-K teacher), Susan Smith (1st grade teacher) and Allie Beth Beauchamp (Kindergarten teacher). They were all so funny. I especially liked Susan's purple hair do! Laurie Lowrance made a good twirler too! She tried to put on a "wonderful" performance for the crowd but Susan (changed into a twirler!) mocked her show!! The pep rally was very fun for everyone, the kids screamed and took part in competition yells, saying "We can do it, yes we can, we can do it how about you? With the other side coming back even louder saying the same thing. The theme of the pep rally was "DO IT". The cheers were interrupted by several skits. Betty Potter and Mona Crockett were explaining to Wilma Reynolds that she should have eaten a good breakfast before the test. Wilma and Betty told Mona she should have gotten a good night's sleep before the test. Betty just didn't want to "do it" so they had to call in SUPER STUDENT!! Super Student (Mr. Espinoza dressed as Bluefoot) went around the room sprinkling the students with a magic dust (glitter). Isn't it nice to have a principal who will dress up for the kids like that? I think he was the tallest Bluefoot we have ever had!

Does your baby suffer from colic? I heard a way this weekend that sounds funny but works to help ease the pain both for the baby and for the poor mom! My niece's baby wouldn't stop crying so another aunt called the Snyder hospital. The nurse there told them to set the washing machine on spin and place the baby (in her infant seat) on top. She soon stopped crying and so did the adults!! NOTEMy niece lives in Snyder that's why they called the Snyder hospital instead of the Mitchell Co. hospital. I have no doubt that our nurses also know a good colic trick!!

Well did ya meet the midnight deadline for your income tax return? We got ours in at 11:30 p.m. Tim said he was the only one at the post office so I guess everyone did better than us! Doesn't it kinda irritate you that you have to work hard to barely get by and then have to pay more to the government? It does me! And just think Clinton wants to add another tax (value tax for health care). I'm about taxed out, how about you?

Riley tickets on sale

Tickets are presently on sale for the Jeannie C. Riley show to be presented at Fort Wood on Saturday, May 15.

This appearance by the Nashville recording star is being sponsored by the Mitchell County D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program of the Sheriff's Department.

Tommy Dill serves as the D.A.R.E. officer for Mitchell County.

All the proceeds will go to the program.

Jeannie C. Riley's name is synonymous with the 1968 hit "Harper Valley P.T.A." which still holds the record for the biggest one week jump on the Billboard charts for a song. It jumped from number 81 to number 7 in one week.

Tickets for this show are $10 in advance and can be purchased at Fort Wood Cafe, Wood's Boots, Dairy Queen and the Mitchell Co. Sheriff's Department. Tickets at the door will be $12.

LATE BREAKING NEWS FLASH!! Congratulations to Melissa Williams and Beatrice Morales who qualified for Nationals Competition with their "Bridge the Gap" program.

Congratulations also go out to the Mitchell County 4-H Rifle Team who won 1st Place in San Angelo last weekend.

The Boy Scouts are hosting their first annual scout show. This is a carnival type event. There will be all kinds of fun and games to do and play. This will be held this Sunday, April 25, from 1:00-4:00 at the ag barns. The tickets are $2.00 each and you can play 5 games with each ticket. You can get your tickets from any scout or call 728-2341 or 728-8887. Let's go have some fun and help out the scouts.

TU Electric introduces new environmental program for this fall

Teenagers may drag their feet about cleaning their rooms, but they've been responding with enthusiasm to a program in selected schools across the nation that teaches them how to clean their world.

TU Electric will bring this new environmental program to Texas for the first time this fall, as a pilot in five junior high schools. The company plans to make it available to more than 100,000 seventh grade students throughout its service area over the next five years, beginning in January 1994.

Called "In Concert With the Environment," it is a science curriculum course designed to teach students how their everyday use of energy affects the environment. By using a new concept called EcoWatts, students can calculate the environmental benefits of energy conservation and learn specific actions they can take to create harmony between their energy use and the environment.

The interactive computer-based program was developed two years ago by EcoGroup, Inc., to be used in partnership with electric utilities. Through the participation of 17 utility companies, it has reached approximately 70,000 students in 250 schools in 15 states from New York to Hawaii.

"One of the greatest challenges we face is meeting the energy needs of our increasingly technological society while continuing to protect the environment," said TU Electric Manager Linda Bean.

"TU Electric has been a leader in the electric utility industry in the development and application of environmentally beneficial programs at our facilities. This educational program is a continuation of our long-term commitment to support programs with the potential to preserve the environment," she said.

"By encouraging energy conservation, the program also meets the company's goal to keep growth in peak electrical load down in order to reduce the need for future generating facilities," Bean added.

The five pilot schools, representing a cross-section of TU Electric's service area, will be announced in May and training for the classroom teachers will be conducted this summer by TU Electric's Consumer and Education Services staff.

The course provides students comprehensive information about how natural resources are converted into energy for the home, transportation and other uses and how these conversions affect the environment. The students will exercise skills in investigate techniques, computer literacy and report and goal writing.

Materials include a motivational video, teacher lesson plans, student handbooks, energy use surveys, a computer learning station for students to use to process their results, a personalized energy and environmental report and an action plan that outlines ways students and their families can benefit the environment.

EcoGroup has customized these materials to reflect the energy use, fuel resources, residential electric rates and weather data in this part of Texas. Actors in the motivational video will be students from the Arts Magnet High School in Dallas. It is scheduled for production later this month.

To make the relationship between energy and the environment more clear, "In Concert With the Environment" employs an entirely new concept for measuring environmental impacts called the EcoWatt Benefit. These units are gained anytime an action is taken to use less energy more wisely, including adding insulation, increasing vehicle fuel efficiency, using less hot water, car pooling and recycling.

Students learn how EcoWatt Benefits can result in cleaner air, less water resources depleted, less landfill space being used, fewer trees harvested to produce paper products and other positive results.

The potential EcoWatt Benefits available to each student are calculated in a report which is generated based on responses to the household energy-use survey. The report shows how many dollars can be saved and how many EcoWatt Benefits can be created by changing the way they use energy.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

It happens every year. They meet, talk about by-gone days, then eat and go home. But, for those several hours, the old Col Tex refinery springs to life again. In that short period of time, in their minds, once again Col Tex is the biggest industry, with the highest payroll in Mitchell County.

There are now alive only eighty-nine men and women who can say they drew Col Tex paychecks. When they and their families convene for the annual reunion conversations frequently begin with the words, "Do you remember." The affair is filled with laughter and some tears.

The meeting brings together Col Tex folks from as far away as Kansas and Dallas, as well as those from right here at home. The clambake vividly brings to life memories that sometimes have been undisturbed for decades.

"I see an ol' boy over there that I hired when he wasn't dry behind the ears," the late Lee Lavender told us during the 1983 reunion. "He told me he was a welder and I said, 'Son, if you can work I'll hire you, but I won't give you a job as a welder 'til I can see what you can do.'"

"And he finally made one of the best welders we ever had," Lavender added. The welder was Lefty Windham.

Lavender had gone to work at the refinery on July 1, 1929, and stayed on thirty-three years and nine months. He retired as the maintenance foreman in 1962.

He remembered how men would be lined up outside the gate during the depression, hopeful they could land a job, even if only for a day. At times, shoving matches would break out.

"It go so bad I wouldn't even go out there anymore. I'd have the chief clerk go out and I'd tell him to get me five or six or however many men I wanted," Lavender recalled.

Years later, after the war, servicemen were returning home and they too were looking for jobs. Sometimes they would stop by Lavender's house, asking for a job.

"There's one right there who did," he said, nodding in the direction of Bob Ramage. "He came by my house and I hired him and he was one of my machinists."

Actually, the refinery was glad to have able-bodied men to hire. During the war, "We had to take 'em all ages. You just had to take what you could get, even 4-Fers," Lavender said.

Over the years the pay scale at Col Tex improved. Eli May had been born and raised in Mitchell County and in 1929 he was hired by Assistant Superintendent Earl Gunn.

"I did anything there was to do," May told us. "That included digging ditches and pipe fitting. The pay was .50 cents an hour. Later that same year, when the stock market crashed, May's pay was trimmed back to .45 cents an hour."

"During the depression, I've seen twenty-five to thirty men around the gate out there, waiting to go to work for twenty-five cents an hour," he said. Through the years, May worked his way up to the pumper's helper.

"Col Tex pioneered asphalt in West Texas and I was the first asphalt pumper they had," he added proudly.

In time Col Tex employees voted to form a union, but their agreement with the company included a no-strike clause.

"We never had a strike either," May said. "The union we had would ask for so much (money) and they (management) would offer something else and we would take that; then come back next year and ask for some more."

Despite what May called "a pretty good safety program," there were accidents.

"One Christmas a guy by the name of Loy got killed. They let some stuff get away at the treatment plant and it went into a septic tank and the machine was off and it killed him," May said.

And May recalled the death of another man, Joel McEwen. "During a freeze on one of the units, a valve blew off the bottom and that gas blew around there in front of the furnace and Joel went in there to cut it off and it burned him pretty bad. He finally died."

During the reunion each year, a memorial is given and the names of those who have passed on are read. It's an emotional time, as well it should be.

Nowadays, when one drives by the old refinery site, it's a pathetic site. Weeds, a few storage tanks and a loading dock remain. More importantly, when reference is made to the refinery, it's not in superlative terms, instead, words such as "contamination," "pollution" and "superfund site" are heard.

Even in its heyday, however, the refinery was frequently maligned as it emitted odors that didn't endear it to some towns folks.

Lee Lavender: "We belonged to a bridge club and ladies used to ask me, 'How can you stand that smell out there Lee? Doesn't it make you sick?'"

"And I would say, 'No, it doesn't make me sick; it smells like ham and gravy to me.'"

That's the way most Col Tex employees remember the refinery. Their reunions will continue as sadly their numbers decline. But for one day each year, The Col Tex refinery will once again be the biggest show in town.

Lady Wolves are district runner - ups

Led by a win in the 800 meter relay, the Lady Wolves finished as the District 6-3A runner-up. The Lady Wolves scored 137 points to district champion Crane's 158. In addition to the 800 meter relay, consisting of Nikia Jackson, Freda McKnight, Elaine McKnight and Crescent Ross, the Lady Wolves qualified in seven other individual events for the Regional Track Meet to be held in Odessa, April 30-May 1.

Seniors Crescent Ross, Elaine McKnight and Christi Hulme played important roles in the Lady Wolves effort. Ross was crowned as the district's 100 meter champion for the fourth year in a row. Her time of 12.56 was her best of the year and is also one of the top times in class 3A in the state. For the sixth track meet in a row, Hulme won the discus throw with a throw of 137-6. Her effort broke her old school record of 135-2 and is the best throw in 3A this year. She will be making her third trip to Regional and hopes to qualify once again for the State Meet in which she finished fourth in 1992. McKnight picked up ten points by winning the 100 meter hurdles in a season best time of 17.37. She also ran on the 400 meter and 800 meter relays and finished fifth in the shot put with a throw of 29-5 1/4.

Freshman, Krissy Crawford

rounded out the winners by winning the high jump with a leap of 5-0. She also ran on the 400 and 1600 relays. And was 6th in the long jump. Other underclassmen qualifying for Regional were sophomores Jeanette Ceballos and Misty Hall and freshman Freda McKnight. Ceballos took second place finishes in the 3200 and 1600 meter runs. Her times of 13:06.2 (3200M) and 6:06.84 (1600M) were her best of the year and will also stack up well against the regional competition. F. McKnight finished a close second in the 200 meter with a time of 26.63, her best of the year and also one of the area's best. She also finished 4th in the long jump with a jump of 16-6. Hall's throw of 34-3 1/2 in the shot put was second only to defending state champion Alicia Thompson's (Reagan County) throw of 45-8. Hall also placed fifth in the discus with a throw of 85-0.

The Lady Wolves finished third and fourth in the 400 and 1600 relays respectively despite running their best times of the year. Crawford, McKnight, McKnight and Ross ran a 52.46 and finished a disappointing third. The 1600 meter relay consisting of Jackson, Crawford, Jini Sparkman and Shakei Ausbie also turned in the best effort of the year with a 4:29.43.

Others who scored important points for the Lady Wolves included: Christina Mendoza, in the 100 meter hurdles, finished fourth in a time of 19.38 and she also finished fifth in the triple jump with a season best 31-7 1/2. Cynde Aguilar finished fourth in the 300 meter hurdles with her best time of 53.37. Sparkman was sixth in the 400 meter (70.6) and fifth in the long jump (15-6).

"Overall we had a very successful day and stayed in a fight with Crane the entire meet. Almost every kid we had performed better than they had all year. I was very pleased with the way we competed," said Coach Wayne Alexander.

Team results: 1. Crane - 158; 2. Colorado City - 137; 3. Greenwood 128 1/2; 4. Sonora - 71; 5. Reagan County - 61; 6. Kermit 32 1/2.

Homemakers attend conference

Representatives for the Colorado High School Chapter of Future Homemakers of America attended the 1993 State Leadership Conference along with 5500 members and advisors from Texas. "FHA/HERO: A Circus of the Stars" was the theme of the 1993 meeting was held in the George R. Brown Convention Center, Houston, Texas, April 16-17, 1993.

Attending from Colorado High School was Melissa Williams, Beatrice Morales and Belinda Arispe.

Members motivated individuals to swing into action by developing skills for life through character development, creative and critical thinking, family communications, practical knowledge, and vocational preparation. Dynamic keynote speakers and presentation by members highlighted the two day conference. Interest sessions on leadership skills, time management, positive self image, self defense, communications, sexually transmitted diseases and other critical teen issues were held for members to attend.

Future Homemakers of America is an organization sponsored by the Vocational Home Economics Education division, Texas Education Agency, with Judith A. Heithery, Director and Sharon Reddell Pierce, State Advisor.

HEALTH NEWS

Most streptococcal (strep) infections are generally common and easily curable. However, in the past five years physicians have noted an increase in more serious "invasive" strep infections, which affect the entire system, not just a localized area.

"The increases we've seen in more serious strep infections make it extremely important for people to get prompt medical attention for infections, persistent sore throats or wounds which are red and swollen," said Chuck Barton, M.D., medical director of Methodist Hospital's Adult emergency Center.

Dr. Barton gives the following symptoms and summary of the more serious forms of strep infections.

Rheumatic fever-Recent outbreaks of this inflammatory condition, which is preceded by strep throat, have been reported across the country. Symptoms begin to appear one to two weeks after an untreated throat infection and include weakness or shortness of breath caused by inflammation of the heart; uncontrolled movement of the limbs and face; lumps under the skin; raised, red skin patches and joint pain that moves from one joint to the other. "Prompt treatment of strep throat can prevent rheumatic fever," Dr. Barton said. "Sore throats with fever that last more than 24 hours should be evaluated by a physician."

Strep-induced toxic shock-This strep infection often starts with a simple skin abrasion, but within hours can overwhelm the body, causing blood pressure to drastically drop and damaging vital organs. The chances of contracting this strain of strep are slim-only 3,000 cases are reported nationwide annually. Symptoms of strep-induced toxic shock include a patch of skin or wound that is red or swollen, extreme pain following a minor injury, chills, diarrhea and high fever. This type of strep infection can follow chicken pox, open sores provide an entry for the germs.

"Let's Talk"

By Dennis Gloyna, External Affairs Manager

Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas

Last week, the Texas Telephone Association (TTA) made public a commitment to invest more than $1.4 billion in Texas. This would be over and above the normal construction budgets of TTA companies.

A commitment of this magnitude ought to make big news in Texas. Right? Well, chances are, you haven't read much about the $1.4 billion offer, even though big-city newspaper publishers have known about it for months.

Makes you wonder what gives? And perhaps more importantly, what do these newspaper publishers have to do with blocking a commitment that could bring jobs and technological improvements to Texas?

Texas deserves to know why they've been kept in the dark about an effort by big-city newspaper publishers to kill one of the biggest economic boosts Texas has ever seen.

Here's the background so you can decide yourself.

Telephone companies in Texas, including mine, are seeking changes in the way they are regulated. The TTA does not support total deregulation. For example, continued Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas regulation of basic local telephone service is essential.

The rate you pay telephone companies for local service is low today, and must continue to remain affordable. The TTA proposes to freeze these low basic local rates for four years.

So, where's the catch?

Telephone companies in Texas are seeking the flexibility to compete in areas where competition already exists. We want the financial incentives to invest in advanced telecommunications technologies; like Distance Learning which links teachers with distant classrooms over the phone lines; and Telemedicine which allows health care professionals to video conference with patients and educators to share medical expertise. Services like these are examples of how telecommunications stands ready to improve the quality of life for all Texans.

Enter the "Big-City" Publishers.

For some five months now, the newspaper industry, led by publishers of papers owned by out-of-state media conglomerates, have raised false concerns about the TTA proposal. They called it a deregulation proposal. It's not. They said telephone company profits are financing foreign investments. That's not true. The newspaper bosses are wrong to make such ludicrous, unfounded accusations.

In an attempt to appease the newspaper moguls, state leaders called for meetings between the telephone and newspaper industries to settle their differences. A reasonable idea.

But, we've been trying to get representatives of these publishers to sit down and talk since November. They refused to do so until just recently and have done little more than drag their feet.

Their strategy? It's been reported in their own words. A paid newspaper industry lobbyist is quoted one day saying his group would continue to seek a compromise with telephone companies. Then, speaking before the Texas Daily Newspaper Association the same lobbyist is quoted saying: "We need to slam these guys. Let's take these guys out." So much for the publishers' motives.

Why are they fighting progress?

Money. The newspaper bosses have used a massive lobbying effort and scare campaign to protect their own self-interests. They see any change in telephone regulation as a direct threat (although unfounded) to their classified advertising profits. As long as they can stall the talks, they can continue to keep any competitive threat at bay.

The publishers would have you believe this is a complicated issue between two large interests that needs to be studied for another two years. Let me simplify the debate, since they won't.

Phone companies are ready to invest $1.4 billion in a fiber optic system that will bring jobs and new business to Texas. Sure, that will help grow our business, but don't forget, we're also willing to freeze basic phone rates to ensure that our local customers are protected.

The TTA group has negotiated in good faith. TTA representatives attended every meeting held, and tried to work with the publishers in every way reasonable. We said "yes" to rate freezes and even to local network competition.

The newspaper publishers, on the other hand, did little more than to delay any progress serious talks could have produced. They offer no vision for Texas. Let's hope their message to Texans wasn't spoken by their paid lobbyist when he said, "Let's take these guys out." H-m-m-m.

"Do some homes really save more energy than others?"

Yes, just look for an Energy Action Home with a heat pump. It's built to save energy and provide year round comfort.

In summer, the heat pump pumps heat out of your house and replaces it with cool air.

In winter, it uses the solar heat trapped in the earth's atmosphere to keep your house warm and comfortable, even on the coldest days.

Which means you save on energy, natural resources and your monthly bill.

So, if you're looking for savings, look for the Energy Action sign.

CARD OF THANKS

Card of Thanks

Friends like you have made my hospital stay a lot brighter with your cards and flowers, phone calls, and since I have been home you have brought food, gifts and cards on my birthday.

You are the best friends anyone could ever have.

May God bless each and every one. I love you all.

EVERYONE WELCOME!

We Encourage You To Re-Elect Our Incumbent Hospital Board Members...

- Marion Bassham
- Jay Craddock
- Sybil Stevens

Here are 5 of the many reasons why we should re-elect our Incumbent Board Members:

1. In October 1990, the Hospital owed approximately $1,000,000. Today the Hospital is debt free with $2,000,000 in cash and assets totalling 3.6 million dollars.
2. Growth of Home Health Agency from 20 patients to 100+ patients.
3. Upgrade of Ambulance Service to Para-Medic status.
4. Implementation of Rural Health Clinic providing for maximum Federal reimbursement to Mitchell County.
5. With assistance from our local physicians, the Board has been able to recruit specialty physicians and needed physicians' assistants for our local doctors and our community.

Vote For Our Incumbents!

COOK'S CORNER

By Barbie Lelek

I enjoy writing this column because of the neat people I get to meet. This week you will also have the opportunity to meet Elaine McMichael. Elaine was born and raised in Tyler. She graduated from Emmett Scott High school. She went to college at Prairie View A&M College, near Houston to obtain a bachelors degree in Home Economics. She later moved to Nacogdoches where she taught Homemaking at E.J. Campbell high school. Soon after arriving in Nacogdoches, while visiting the local churches she met her husband to be, Alfred McMichael. They were married August 28, 1941. Alfred, who was in the Army, was sent over seas in 1942. Elaine stayed in Nacogdoches and continued to teach until his return in 1946. The couple moved to Los Angeles. Elaine taught Kindergarten/primary education for 33 1/2 years. She also attended the University of Southern California where she received her master of science degree in education. Alfred was in the construction business for many years before he went to work as a doorman for Century Towers, an exclusive highrise. They both retired in 1981. After their retirement the couple divided their time traveling between Texas and California. Elaine had an elderly aunt in Texas they would check up on and Alfred's mother was ill in California. This was their way of life for three years until Alfred's mother passed away in 1984. They returned to Texas to live in Mitchell County where she had come to play every summer as a child. Elaine is the granddaughter of D.W. Wallace after whom Wallace School was named and our new prison facilities as well.

Elaine is on the Mitchell County Child Welfare Board and is a member of the North Loraine Extension Homemakers Club. She was also active in LINKS, a predominately black service organization. They attend the Loraine First United Methodist Church.

She enjoys writing and decorating. She used to play Bridge quite often but doesn't get to very much now.

She says Alfred likes to say he taught her how to cook but basically she learned from her mother and grandmother. She learned alot about nutrition in college.

When I asked her about a cooking goof she said "Oh boy, I could probably fill a book!" While she was in college one of the requirements for the Home Economics course was to kill a chicken and prepare it. Her's got up and walked off!

Elaine's Helpful Hint: Always dust from the top, down. Then run the vacuum afterwards. To make things easier on yourself, assemble your cleaning utensils together so you don't have to walk yourself to death going back for something. Also finish one room completely before you begin another-don't hop all around the house.

Chicken Breasts Supreme

6 medium sized chicken breasts (with or without skin, as preferred)
2 medium sized onions (sliced or chopped, as preferred)

Garlic

Rosemary

Lemon Juice

Margarine 1/4 stick or less

Cream of Mushroom Soup

Wash chicken breasts and pat dry; season with garlic as desired, onion, and a sprinkling of rosemary on each piece. Brush with the lemon juice and place in a glass casserole baking dish which has been rubbed lightly with olive oil or other "no cholesterol" oil. Dot with tiny bits of margarine before covering the chicken with the cream of mushroom soup. Bake in 375 degree oven approximately 1 1/2 hours, or until tender and lightly browned.

Green Bean Casserole

2 lbs of green beans (fresh, canned or frozen)

Cook until crisply done with a few pieces of ham hock or salt pork.

Make a cream sauce of:

1/4 stick Margarine (or less)

Egg Beater "eggs" (the equivalent of 4 eggs)

Pepper, Salt, Paprika, Parsley, Chopped Onions and Durkee's famous sauce.

Elaine McMichael

Add your favorite shredded cheese (one flavor only or a mixture such as swiss, cheddar and mozzarella)

Remove the beans from the ham or salt pork and drain almost dry. Divide green beans into three portions. Place first 1/3 of beans in a lightly greased baking dish. Pour 1/3 of cream sauce over this layer of beans. Add second 1/3 portion of beans to dish; pour second 1/3 of cream sauce over the beans. Add the last 1/3 of the beans to the baking dish, and pour the remaining portion of cream sauce over the beans. If desired one may top the casserole with shredded onion-rings, or toasted pecans or a thin layer of shredded cheese.

Bake in oven at 350-375 degrees until the casserole is firm.

The cream sauce is very easy to make: Stir the "egg beater" eggs together with the other ingredients listed and adjust to your personal taste by adding spices and seasonings until it is to your liking.

Special note: Cooks who are concerned about the fat content of their dishes can adjust the fat content by using low calorie cheeses, and "light" margarines and by omitting ham, salt pork or chicken skins from these dishes.
