Lunchroom Personnel Ready For Youngsters

An average of 900 individual lunches were served each of the 175 school days 1968-1969 term year, reports Mrs. Margie Slatten, supervisor of Olton's school lunch program. So actually, about 83 percent of the 1100 pupils in the three schools participated in the program.

All of the meals have met Type A requirements as established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Type A" means that the lunches are balanced. Each lunch includes at least a half pint of milk, a protein-rich food, two vegetables or fruits, enriched or whole-grain breads, butter or fortified margarine and a dessert.

In addition to the regular school lunches, facilities of the school lunchroom were used for 20 school-connected evening activities, Mrs. Slatten pointed out.

The lunchroom will open for the fall semester Aug. 26, Mrs. Slatten said, and the charge again will be 35 cents per meal for grades one through five, and 40 cents for junior high, high school and teachers. Visitors will be charged 50 cents. Visitors are always welcome.

Olton children drank enough milk at school to keep 30 average dairy cows busy during the 1968-1969 school year.

That fact is brought out from the term report of Mrs. Margie Slatten, supervisor of the local school lunch program.

She figures it this way: The 1100 pupils of Olton's three schools consumed an average of 900 half pints of milk daily, or about 475 pounds.

The average dairy cow produces about 18 pounds a day, so it takes 30 to produce a day's milk supply for Olton schools.

Because milk is so important to good health, the U. S. Department of Agriculture pays part of the cost of milk consumed by school children. So the actual charge to the student is four cents for each half pint of milk.

Milk is served with every lunch in the Olton school lunchroom. It also is offered at afternoon milk break and additional cows would be needed to provide this milk.

All school lunchroom employees are to meet in the dining hall of the school lunchroom at 8 a. m. Thursday, Aug. 21.

Students and parents are invited to come by and see the newly painted dining hall and kitchen. Lunch tickets will be available during registration.

Parents wishing drafts to be drawn for lunch tickets should sign new draft authority forms. School lunches may be paid for by the day, week or 20-day period. Menus will appear weekly in the Enterprise.

Full time employees on the lunchroom staff are J. D. Lively, and Mmes. Lanora Dennis, Florence Frazier, Jewell Huggins, Pauline Jones, Norma Lively, Margaret Gallagher, Oleta Priest, Alice Sherry and Winnie Swett.

Part time employees are Mmes. Maudie Stephens, Merle Sharp, Betty Hackler and Ann Grimes.

Substitute helpers are Mmes. Janice Walters and Mae Scheller.

Board Approves Budget, Appoints New Member

Gregory Named To Board, Bus, Gas, Milk Bids Awarded

In its last meeting before school opens for the 1969-70 year, the board of trustees appointed a new board member, adopted the proposed budget, accepted bids on two buses, accepted a gas bid and milk bids and approved the employment of five teachers Monday night.

Dan Gregory was appointed by the board to fill the unexpired term of Winston Bley, who resigned earlier this year. Elections will be held in April.

Bus bids were opened by president of the board, O. J. Neeley. Three bids were made on the 1964 Dodge and the 1962 Chevrolet. High bid on the Dodge went to D. E. Krause at $1207 and the Chevrolet was awarded to Bob Parks, Scoutmaster at Abernathy for $225.

Milk bids were made by three companies also, Borden's, Cloverlake and Plains Creamery. Identical bids of seven cents for chocolate and white milk were received from Borden and Cloverlake, while Plains bid seven and a half cents for chocolate and seven and one-fourth for white. Bid was granted to Cloverlake.

The one gas bid received was from Turner Oil Co., which was awarded the contract.

The board approved the employment of a junior high coach, Ben Cates, who will also teach social studies in junior high. Cates is 37 years old and has taught one year at Dimmitt, before returning to Texas Tech, where he is working on a Masters degree. He is a resident of Hobbs, N. M.

Ida Mae Powers of White Deer was approved for the position of choral teacher, while Mrs. Mike Smith was employed as first grade teacher. Mrs. Smith has taught second grade four years prior to accepting the position as first grade teacher in Olton.

High school math teachers approved by the board on a temporary basis were Paul Walden and A. R. Bostick. Mrs. Mary Foster's resignation as high school math teacher was formally accepted by the board.

basketball games, both high school and junior high.

In final action, Schultz reported to the board that a self evaluation of the Olton High School would be taken this year, in accordance with the standards set up by the Southern Association of Colleges, of which the school is a member. He said that a team made up of other members of the association would also come into Olton to help with the evaluation, later in the year. Only two schools in Lamb County belong to the association, the other being Littlefield.

Bookmobile To Stop Here

Mrs. Lorene Sooter, librarian, announces area stops for the High Plains Bookmobile library.

The library will stop in Hart Camp and Fieldton Friday, Aug. 22 from 1:45 to 2:30 and 2:45 to 3:30 p. m., respectively. The Bookmobile will be in Olton Saturday, Aug. 23 from 9:15 to 11:45 a. m.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Lloyd Graham

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. today in the First Baptist Church for Mrs. Lloyd Graham.

The Rev. John E. Lewis, pastor, officiated. Interment was in Olton Cemetery under the direction of Parsons Funeral Home.

Mrs. Graham died Tuesday in Plainview Hospital where she had been a patient since March 22.

The former Pauline Elliott, she was born Nov. 20, 1920 in Winsboro. She was married to Lloyd Graham March 3, 1940 in Hollis Okla.

A member of the Baptist Church since childhood, she moved with her family to Olton in 1953 from Ferris.

Survivors include her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Mack McGill; one sister, Mrs. W. A. Cornett of Groen; two brothers, A. L. Elliott of Wellington and Harmon Elliott of Muleshoe; and two grandchildren.

Bob Allford, who moved from Olton this week, was a nephew.

Pallbearers were Robert Williams, Cecil G. (Bill) Smith, A. C. Light Jr., Don Franks, Willie Gene Green, and Gerald Allcorn.

Hospital Hearing Attended By Olton Board Members

Hospital board members met Tuesday in Lubbock in a pre-hearing to determine points to be considered at a hearing tentatively scheduled for Sept. 16.

The hearing has been set in order that hospital board members may show cause for Medicare provisions being extended at Olton Community Hospital.

Medicare inpatient services for the hospital were cancelled May 9, 1969 by the Social Security Administration for failure to comply with rules and regulations set up by the Administration.

Prior to the cancellation, the hospital had provided hospital Medicare services under "special certification".

The allowance had been made because of the hardship for senior citizens to be hospitalized 25 miles or further from home.

Board members meeting with federal authorities Tuesday were Fred Thompson, Earl Spruiell, Dr. O. H. Jones and the hospital attorney, Graddy Tunnell of Plainview.

The need for extended Medicare provisions is even greater than in the past, Dr. Jones pointed out, since bus service has been discontinued to Olton.

The elder citizen must now rely on transportation by car to hospitals in Plainview, or further distance.

"Real interest on the part of concerned citizens could help," said Dr. Jones of the scheduled hearing.

"The more, the better," he said when asked if interested citizens could attend the hearing.

Routine Business For Councilmen

City councilmen met Tuesday night for the regular monthly meeting, in which they approved payment of bills with one exception, discussed a budget, taxes and condemnation of old houses.

Routine business was the only thing on the agenda for the night. A tax ordinance for the 1969 taxes was approved. Taxes will be assessed at 35 per cent of value at $1.50 per $100.

Bills were approved for approval with the exception of the aerial spraying which will be repeated at no extra cost to the city.

Condemnation of old houses was tabled until the city attorney could be contacted as to the procedure into the matter.

The preparation of a budget was discussed, but was tabled until after sales tax revenue is received by the city, at which time a budget will be drawn up.

Fire Destroys Two Barns, 750 Bales Of Hay Lost

Two barns and their contents were destroyed by fire Saturday evening on the Charles Reynolds farm operated by Charles Lewis.

Approximately 750 bales of hay, an air compressor, and a large number of trailer tires were completely destroyed by the blaze.

Also damaged in the fire of unknown origin, was a tractor, which suffered the loss of three tires. Paint on the tractor was ruined and other minor repairs will be needed.

Passers-by discovered the blaze shortly after 6 p. m. but the fire was out of control before firemen could arrive.

Volunteer firemen from Earth and Springlake were on hand, on a stand-by basis, should the fire spread to nearby buildings, the house, or butane storage tanks across the highway.

Water, Inc. Officials Renew Efforts To Import Water

Officials of Water, Inc. have pledged a continuing of efforts aimed at bringing the Texas Water Plan from the drawing board to reality. The plan, the basis for Constitutional Amendment No. 2, was defeated by a narrow margin August 5.

K. B. "Tex" Watson, Amarillo, Water, Inc. President, said the regional organization would "redouble its efforts" toward ultimate adoption of the plan. "West Texas must have supplemental water if we are to grow and prosper," Watson said.

Bill Clayton, Executive Director of Water, Inc., emphasized that "West Texans, particularly, should not take a defeatist attitude. We know the job can be done and we are dedicated to doing it," he said.

Water, Inc., one of the major organizations dedicated to seeking and finding a solution to the long range water problems of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, was in the forefront of the campaign for passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 2. In the areas served by Water, Inc., voters gave the Texas Water Plan overwhelming support. The amendment was defeated in Houston where a plurality of more than 50,000 votes was recorded opposing it.

Clayton said that in spite of the defeat, much progress has been made in Texas in a shorter period of time than in most states. He cited the California water plan which required six years from inception to approval.

by the California legislature, then five more years for public approval. Clayton said that in Texas, another proposed constitutional amendment could be submitted to the voters in November, 1971, and predicted that it will be accepted, even in areas such as Harris County where opposition was the heaviest.

Clayton said he felt the water plan would be passed by voters in 1971 for several reasons. He said that by mid-1971, studies now underway to determine the extent of surplus water in the Mississippi River would be far enough along to indicate determination of availability. Also he said, the Louisiana and Mississippi Delta study would have progressed to the point that "we can go to the people in that area and sell them on this idea."

Both Clayton and Watson expressed their appreciation to those who worked in promoting the Texas Water Plan, and they called on all who helped, financially and otherwise, to continue in the "uphill battle for water."

Last Rites Conducted For Ben Henson Tuesday

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Tuesday afternoon for Benjamin Harrison Henson, longtime resident.

Rites were conducted in the Assembly of God Church with Rev. W. V. Long of Amarillo and Rev. Gene Davis, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Olton Cemetery under the direction of Parsons Funeral Home.

A retired custom combine harvester, Henson was born Sept. 9, 1888 in Double Springs, Ala. He died about 11 p. m. Sunday in Lubbock Osteopathic Hospital.

He was married to the former Jewel Scott, Dec. 19, 1920 in Tecumseh, Okla. He moved to Olton from Maud, Okla. in 1929.

Survivors include his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Sonny Miller; one son, George Henson of San Antonio; one granddaughter and one great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Everett McBroom, Woodrow Frazier, Devorn Mandrell, Bill Austin, Bud Andrew, and Benny Moore. Honorary pallbearers were Ed Truelock, J. T. Grant, John Ratliff, Arthur Ratliff, F. B. Coleman, and Tom Seawright.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT
Southern States Industrial Council

In the 15 years since the U. S. Supreme Court handed down its controversial decision in the school cases, public education in many parts of the nation has suffered severely. The courts and other federal agencies have largely lost sight of the objective for which schools are built -- to impart an education, that is -- in their drive to compel association across racial lines and to obtain political benefits therefrom. The need today, therefore, is a rededication to the goal of education and an end to playing politics with children.

One of the most hurtful developments in the continuing school crisis of the last 15 years was the Johnson administration's decision to issue so-called guidelines. These prescribed the rate and methods by which Southern school districts were to alter their student bodies. No consideration was given by the Johnson administration to the wishes of parents and students or to their needs for specific types of schooling. Everything was subordinated to the demands of politics.

Doctrinaire liberals in both parties insisted that the Nixon administration order a general extension of the guidelines. A controversy raged both in and out of the administration, and a new policy statement has been released.

The practical significance of the new policy statement is still unclear. Administration spokesmen stated their opposition to "arbitrary dates and systems," but added that school districts would be held to deadlines except where there were "bona fide educational and administrative problems."

It is hard for the ordinary citizen and parent to make sense of this statement. Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-SC) has said it is an improvement, though it falls short of his desire for a "true freedom of choice plan." Liberals such as Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. condemned the new guideline statement. Liberal elements in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare seem satisfied that the policy statement doesn't change anything significantly.

Actually, the meaning of the policy won't be known until decisions have been made regarding specific school situations. School patrons can only hope for -- and would do well to declare their support for -- abolition of arbitrary dates and systems. The country, and the nation's school children, need relief from political and judicial management of public schools. School trustees cannot efficiently administer school tax funds if they have to spend all their time trying to meet complex formulas devised by HEW officials. Principals and teachers cannot give direction and instruction to student bodies if classes cannot be structured in such a way as to place students according to their ability.

The federal government actually is hurting a child if it pushes him into a particular classroom simply to carry out a sociological experiment or to respond to the dogmatic demands of militants. Irrespective of race, creed or color, a child in a public school needs and deserves a good education. Washington is in no position to determine the best school -- or best classroom -- for a student to attend and study in. School authorities need wide latitude in placing children, and should be free to make judgments on the basis of a youngster's cultural background and ability to achieve.

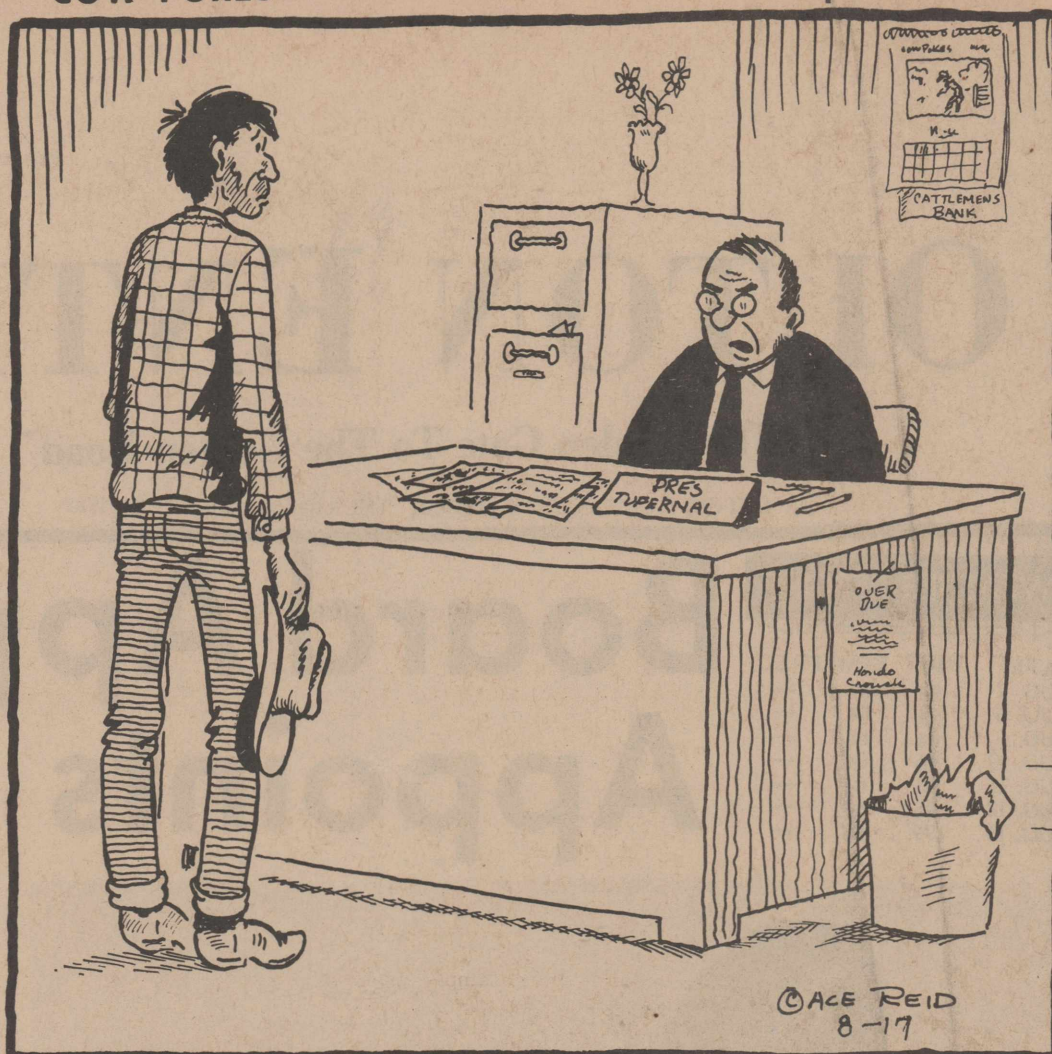

If a child who is a slow learner is placed in a class with a number of fast learners, he may become unhappy and fall behind. And, of course, vice versa. The Supreme Court in 1954 said that separate schools could not be tolerated because they resulted in psychological damage to the youngsters. After 15 years, school authorities can properly assert that merging of schools, simply for the sake of abstract social conceptions, causes even more serious damage to a youngster's development. And what of the poorly prepared teacher, with limited cultural development, who is assigned to a class where advanced 12th graders from cultural advantaged homes can correct their teacher's pronunciation and interpretation of lesson material?

If the nation wants to promote genuine education, therefore, it will continue to build pressure on the Washington level for a relaxation of HEW's guidelines. The ultimate objective should be to embrace the principle of freedom of choice in schooling and development of curriculum "tracks" that will allow different educational paths for students of different abilities.

Federal coercion certainly has no place in an effective educational system. The federal government has the power to enforce its rulings of course, but it should never forget that in doing so it may very well drag the whole nation down to a lower level.

Sue's Views

School Days

BY SUE CANNON

Summer has come and almost gone and here it is that time again!

Just two weeks and a few days and school begins! It just doesn't seem possible. Where did all the summer go?

We at our house haven't done near the things we planned to get done during vacation time.

But, you know, I've just about decided there's not much of a vacation left anymore during summer. Maybe it's because my kids are growing up.

All six of mine will be in school this year. My baby starts this year...he was six last Sunday.

I think he must be the smallest first grader ever! (But maybe that's just a mother's point of view.)

He is looking forward to school days with the usual enthusiasm of the pre-schooler, while some of the older kids had just soon school were at least a month away.

Of course, when he has to sit still for a few hours or gets a swatting like Greg did last year for running in the hall, he may decide that he doesn't think too much of school.

He may be like Brian Duncan after he got a spanking in church from his grandmother, Peggy Poteet.

She said he was acting up and she had to spank him, then his little sister Heather began to cry and she felt like she had just about had it...

After services, Brian pointed his finger at Peggy and so seriously told her, "If I'd had my pitty (pillow) this wouldn't have happened. That does it Nanny, De Brian is frew wif church! Wight now!"

A few days at school and the Scottie may be frew wif school...wight now!

My youngest begins school and this is my oldest girl's last year.

These eleven years have really gone by in a hurry. I guess that's a sign I'm getting old, but it just seems like a very short time ago that I was enrolling her in school.

Even though she didn't cry... I felt like it. Her big brown eyes looked like they would spill over at anytime, I thought. But she was content to let me walk out of the school building without any fuss. I'm wondering how Scottie will take it, when it is time for me to leave him. Probably better than I will!

He wanted to go to school so badly last year, he just couldn't understand why he couldn't.

It's going to seem sorta strange, not driving by and leaving someone with Mrs. Ira Limbocker, who has been the little boys' babysitter almost ever since we moved here five years ago.

School days were always happy days for me after a summer of working in the fields and not being able to visit every day with all my friends.

And I'm sure that some of the older children are looking forward to school beginning, if for no other reason...just to get to get out of irrigating, plowing, or shelling peas and canning corn and all that kind of stuff.

I probably have a few right here in my household that would trade a day at home this week for a day at school.

It's been canning time here this week.

Leslie Holladay Wins Scholarship

Miss Leslie Holladay was one of two performers in the 1969 "Texas" company to receive scholarships at the second annual "Texas Originals" held Sunday in West Texas State University's Branding Iron Theatre.

The scholarships were given in recognition of contribution to "Texas", professional attitude, dependability, ability and need.

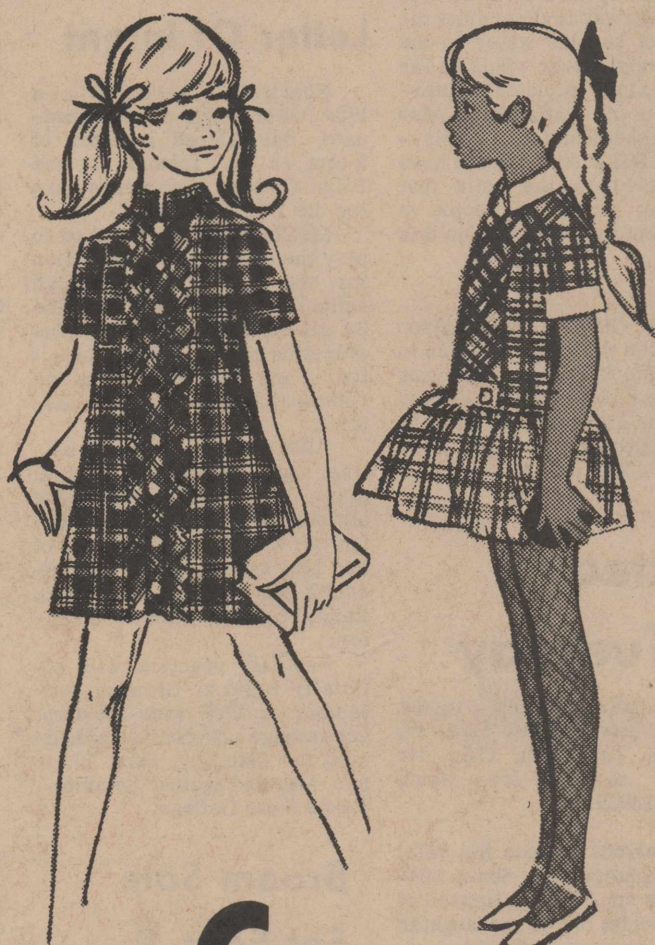

Rene Clemente of El Paso, a dancer in the "Texas" company won the "Texas" company scholarship.

Miss Holladay won a similar scholarship presented by KGNC radio and television.

The show, a parade of talent, included the courtroom scene from Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice", numerous vocal and instrumental selections, original choreography, and an art exhibition.

MRS. LONNIE DEWEY ADRIAN

Lonnie Adrian-Hellen Smith Exchange Double Ring Vows

Miss Hellen Ruth Smith and Lonnie Dewey Adrian pledged double ring wedding vows Saturday afternoon in the First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Bill Odom of Crosbyton directed the exchange of vows before an altar set with an arch candelabra entwined with greenery, bearing deep orange tapers. Brown straw baskets filled with mums, gladioli, Kil-lion daisies and dody mums in shades of orange flanked each side.

A large orange memory candle centering the altar table was lighted by the couple after being pronounced man and wife. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith of Hart Camp and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Adrian of Earth.

Candles were lighted by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kilmer of Lubbock, sister and brother-in-law of the groom.

Nuptial selections were presented by Miss Kathi Clayton of Earth, pianist. She also accompanied Carolyn Boynton of Hereford as she sang "I Love You Truly", "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length princess dress fashioned of white raw silk enhanced with appliques of lace daisies and seed pearls. Fashioned by the bride, it featured a portrait neckline and elbow length bell sleeves. Her chapel length train, edged in matching lace, was attached at the back waistline. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a Dior bow and she carried a cascade bou-quet of frenched daisies, pom pom mums, agapantha in shades of orange with accents of Bristol fairy.

Mary Bess Smith was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jan Amerson, Kathi Norfleet and Susie Adrian of Earth, sister of the groom.

The maid of honor's dress was fashioned of burnt orange linen and the bridesmaids' dresses were tangerine, apricot and beige.

The formal length gowns were styled with portrait necklines with a band of lace daisies around the hemline. They carried baskets of flowers in shades of orange.

His father, G. L. Adrian, was the groom's best man. Groomsman were Claude Holder of Earth, uncle of the groom, Gilbert West of Smyer and James Thomas of Earth. Ushers were Rick Cooper and Gary Lynn Davis, cousin of the groom, both of Earth and Ricky Bennett of Hart.

Guests were registered by Misses Marilyn Cade of White Face and Lucy Gunter.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith wore a blue silk dress with white accessories. The groom's mother chose a beige dress with lace accents and brown accessories.

The couple were honored with a reception in Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was laid with a ruffled, white net cloth over apricot, centered with a single candle and the attendant's flower filled baskets.

A miniature bride and groom topped the traditional three tiered cake decorated with touches of orange. Apricot colored punch was served from a silver punch bowl.

Presiding at the bride's table were Misses Quenette Redinger, Margaret Thomas and Karen Mills.

For travel, the bride chose a dress of green silk fashioned with high neckline and bell sleeves. She added brown accessories and a corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home after Aug. 20 at 1804 2nd Ave. in Canyon where they will attend West Texas State University.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Olton High School. She served as co-editor of the teen column, "Horse Tales", for the Enterprise and as assistant editor of the school yearbook, "The Mustang".

The groom is a 1966 graduate of Springlake-Earth High School and has attended South Plains College and West Texas State.

Out of town relatives attending were Mrs. Fannie Adrian of Amarillo, grandmother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Barrett of Quannah; Mrs. Josephine McWilliams of Wichita Falls; and Mr. and Mrs. George Heath of Lubbock.

IN COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Owen accompanied their daughter, Mrs. Naomi Holyfield of Lubbock, to Los Animas, Colo. for a four-day visit with another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jones. The Jones' daughter, Paula, accompanied them to Colorado.

Former Resident Wed In Colorado

Miss Mary Kathleen Preister and Wayne Aigaki were united in holy matrimony at the Chapel of Intercession in Northglenn, Colo. Aug. 2.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Preister and Mr. and Mrs. T. Aigaki, both families of the Northglenn area. The Aigakis are former residents of Plainview and Olton.

The mass and ritual were read by the bride's priest assisted by an Episcopal priest in a neighboring church.

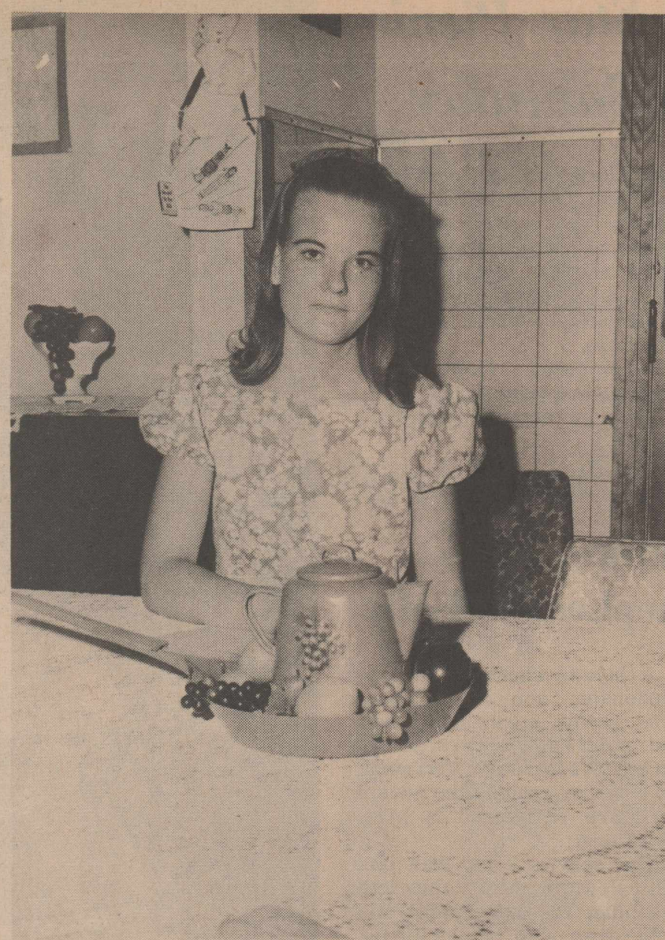

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional white gown with lace veil and train. She was attended by five schoolmates, dressed in formal length Empire dresses of pale blue.

The altar was decorated with white flowers blended with blue.

At the reception following, pink punch and the traditional wedding cake topped by a gold cross were served by friends in the Salvation Army. Two Sisters assisted with the reception.

The couple will be at home in Ft. Collins, Colo. where they will attend Colorado University, the bride as a freshman and Aigaki as a junior art major.

Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Campbell attended the wedding. Rev. Campbell served as pastor for the Aigaki family during their residence in Plainview and Olton.

Annual Eastern Star Picnic Honors Founder Saturday

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stewart hosted the annual Order of The Eastern Star picnic commemorating Dr. Rob Morris, master builder of the organization.

Dr. Morris was born near Boston, Mass. in August, 1818. He began work on the rituals in 1849. In 186 the first chapters were organized.

Present at the picnic Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Drexel Lawson, Mr. and Mrs.

Alton Cure, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cure, Mr. and Mrs. Cass Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Franks, Mrs. Bertie Lee Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Sides of Littlefield.

Sandwiches, Cokes and cookies were served.

Those present enjoyed playing "42".

Shower Fetes Stephenson Baby

A layette shower for Randy Stephenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Stephenson, was held in the home of Mrs. James McCoy Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. McCoy greeted the guests who were registered by Mrs. Loyd Langford.

The serving table was laid with a white lace tablecloth over blue. The centerpiece was a blue tree with babies sitting on the branches, flanked by blue candles. Punch with blue booties floating in it was served from a crystal punch bowl with cookies centered with plastic babies.

Hostesses were Mmes. McCoy, Langford, Newton Hilliard, David Dean, Hubert Kayler, Jerrell Young, Lynn Barton, Freddie Bell and Clyde Emberton.

Special guests were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Stephenson who was presented a corsage of white baby socks tied with blue ribbon, and his grandmother, Mrs. F. A. Ray of Plainview.

Nichols-Helm Vows Pledged In Plainview

The Garland Street Church of Christ in Plainview was the scene Monday evening for the exchange of wedding vows between Miss Sharon Kay Helm of Halfway and David Lloyd Nichols of Calabasas, Calif.

W. T. Hamilton directed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Helm of Halfway. Dr. and Mrs. Jack C. Nichols of Calabasas, Calif. are parents of the groom.

Musical selections were presented by Miss Susan Smith, soloist, and the Garland Street Church of Christ Chorus.

The altar was decorated with a white candle arch with white tapers. The pulpit was garlanded with gypsophelia and votive lights. Tropical palms and candle trees flanked each side and pews were marked with white iron standards garlanded with gypsophelia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of nylon organza with pearl encrusted, scalloped chantlance sabrina neckline and long pearl point sleeves, a top a lace trimmed skirt revealing lace ruffles. Her chapel length train flowed from the shoulders and her bouffant veil fell in tiers from a bandeau of Chantilly lace petals and leaves outlined in tiny seed pearls and highlighted with iridescents and crystals.

She carried a colonial bouquet of gardenias, white sweet-heart roses and velvet maiden hair fern showered with white satin love knots. For "something old", she carried in her shoe a three-cent piece which had belonged to her great-grandfather. Her dress was "something new" and her blue garter was made and given by Mrs. M. C. Church.

Preceding the exchange of vows, the bride presented her mother with a white rose. She paused in the recessional to give a similar rose to the mother of the groom.

Miss Cheryl Brown of Rodgers, N. M. was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lesa Helm, sister of the bride, and Miss Alice Baumgardner. Melissa Mayfield of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Roy Lee Mason of Plainview, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Candles were lighted by Loy Helm, brother of the bride, and Brian Helm of Sherman, cousin of the bride.

Feminine attendants wore formal length gowns of yellow dotted swiss styled with long full sleeves and Empire waists. The maid of honor's dress was accented with an avocado satin sash and she wore a headpiece bow of avocado satin with avocado illusion trim.

Bridesmaid's dresses were accented with yellow sashes and their headpieces were yellow. Each carried a single yellow rose tied with yellow satin ribbon.

Mark Nichols of Calabasas, Calif. was his brother's best man. Groomsman were Steve Nichols, brother of the groom, and Milt Martin of Tiffin, Ohio.

Ushers were Steve Mason of Plainview, Dan Judd of Muleshoe and Lewis Beville of Kress.

Fellowship Hall was the scene of a reception following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with an imported cut-work embroidered cloth belonging to Mrs. H. O. Bogle.

Traditional three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served from silver and crystal appointments. A floral arrangement of white and yellow with yellow candles formed the centerpiece.

Assisting with the reception were Mmes. J. D. Helm, A. E. Lewellen, A. J. Givens, James McCoy, Freddy Bell, M. C. Church, Steve Mason and Misses Irene King and Sue Church.

For a wedding trip to Hawaii, the bride chose a suit of light beige with brown accents and added brown accessories.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Plainview High School and received her degree in elementary education at Abilene Christian College. She was a member of CSO, Student Education Association and Zeta Rho social club.

The groom is a graduate of Caleville High School in California and is a senior physical education major at Abilene Christian College.

The couple will be at home after Aug. 25 in Leuders. The bride will teach in Leuders public schools this fall.

Capilliculteur Helps Hair Live Longer, Look Better

Charles' Barber Shop, in Olton, is equipped to handle any hair or scalp need from a hair cut to capilliculture, a 30-year-old European hair treatment that could prevent at least 80 per cent of all baldness.

One of Charles Sullivan's most popular services is hair styling, which is becoming more popular every day. Few things will help a man's ego as much as a hair style.

It makes his hair easier to manage and easier to look at. And it is good for both the scalp and the hair. At Charles', hair styling includes a shampoo and a professional sculptor cut.

Capilliculture is one of the newer aspects of Charles' professional hair treatment.

The 30-year-old practice, which has been slow getting to the United States, was developed in Europe by a company that tried to grow hair on bald heads.

When they determined that the dead nerve endings and blood vessels to the hair follicles could never be restored, the company used the information it had gathered to help people keep the hair they had.

Their findings showed that eight out of 10 cases of baldness were caused by malfunction of the glands which lubricate the hair.

When these glands begin to secrete too much of this lubricant (called sebum), the opening (follicle) for the hair gets more crowded and the hair gets thinner. Finally the hair stops growing completely and the nerves and blood vessels which feed it die.

Capilliculture takes the guesswork process for cleaning the scalp.

First, Sullivan will put biosebum on the customer's scalp to clean out the excess sebum. Then he massages the scalp to work the biosebum in and break up dandruff, which is caused by the alkaline properties of sebum.

Next, he dries the hair to further drive in the biosebum and to aid circulation through the scalp area.

A high-protein shampoo follows adding protein to the hair shaft to strengthen it and give it body.

When the customer leaves he feels much better about the condition of his hair and his scalp feels better than it has since he was a boy.

The treatment does not stop there. Sullivan sells a full line of chemically correct hair products to keep hair clean and healthy between visits to the shop.

He can also analyze the condition of anyone's hair on the capilloscope, which magnifies the hair from 200 to 1000 times.

If you want to be sure about the condition of your hair, if you want it styled or just neatly cut, call Charles Sullivan for an appointment at his new number, 285-2858.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Yea, I jump to conclusions, too!

That's in reference to my bubbling, bumbling statement in last week's column that my parents had come home.

They came home, alright, but they'll be gone again soon after you're reading this.

I still don't think they'll like living out there in that Sunshine State!

Gee, where has all the summer gone? Wasn't it just a few days ago that school was out? Here it is, about to begin again!

It's almost frightening to realize that this next graduating class is going to be the twenty-fifth since my time to walk across the stage.

That's cause for celebration, tho, a twenty-fifth anniversary. A few of us who are willing to admit that was "our year" have been taking a reunion. Talking is all we've done, tho.

You'd think that with only two dozen graduates, a class wouldn't be too hard to get together - especially when one-fourth of us live RIGHT HERE.

And now, chapter forty-seven in the memoirs of a scatter-brained reporter:

Did you ever get the feeling you were being followed? Especially in broad open daylight, in downtown Olton?

A few days ago I was walking to work and I got the strangest feeling someone was behind me. And it was right out there on the old "town square".

I wasn't about to look around for fear I'd see a "booger" but in a few minutes, up trotted my follower.

Know who it was? Some little white and black Heinz dog. He kept right up with me and even ran in the office door when I opened it.

Talk about 'fraidy cats!

Oh, yes, speaking of walking to work! I'm really getting my exercise. It's 379 steps from my front door at home to my desk at the office.

Of course, that's Mozelle-steps. Gene says I can walk faster than he can run and he's often fussing about me "going to a fire".

That's O.K., I tell him. I'll probably wear out but I'm not planning on rusting away.

Pioneer Gas Report Given

The Board of Directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company at their regular meeting held Tuesday in Lubbock, declared a quarterly dividend of 20¢ per share on the outstanding common stock, payable Sept. 3 to stockholders of record on Aug. 22, 1969.

The report for the second quarter operations of the company will be mailed to the stockholders about Aug. 13.

IN BROWNWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Keating visited over the weekend in Brownwood with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Grimes.

VISITS HOSPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Keating visited during the weekend in a Brownwood Hospital with Allen Glasscock, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Glasscock of Tulsa, recuperating from an appendectomy.

FROM WASHINGTON

Mrs. C. O. Holloway, of Kenniwick, Wash, has been visiting in Olton with Mrs. H. V. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Gray. Mrs. Holloway will be remembered as wife of the late Burnard Gray.

Cook-Out Fetes Youngsters

Boys and girls in the third and fourth grade Sunday School class of the Main Street Church of Christ were entertained with a cook-out Monday evening at the Bill Kelley home.

Hamburgers, hot dogs and homemade ice cream were served to approximately 24 youngsters and their families.

Teachers for the class are Mmes. Margaret Burrus and Juanita Thompson.

DINNER GUESTS

Dinner guests in the W. B. Dickenson Sr. home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dickenson Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Evans of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Franks, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stewart and Tony Miller.

WALDENS VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walden, Carol and Cindy were vacationing in the mountains last week. They spent some time in Silver City, and Farmington, N. M. and in Durango, Colo.

RETURNS HOME

Federal Loans Are Available

Federally insured loans for college students are available for students whose family income does not exceed $15,000. Eligible students may borrow up to $7,500 toward a college education and have the interest paid by the federal government while they are attending college. No payments are made until the student is out of college.

Students who would like to attend any college with assistance from a federal loan may get further information by writing or calling the Scholarship Advisor, Cooke County Junior College, Gainesville, Texas 76240.

SWIMMING TOO SOON

Swimming too soon after eating can be a hazardous habit, warns Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. A swimmer whose muscles cramp will be defenseless and may find himself unable to reach safety in time to avoid tragedy.

Capilliculteur Helps Hair Live Longer, Look Better

Charles' Barber Shop, in Olton, is equipped to handle any hair or scalp need from a hair cut to capilliculture, a 30-year-old European hair treatment that could prevent at least 80 per cent of all baldness.

One of Charles Sullivan's most popular services is hair styling, which is becoming more popular every day. Few things will help a man's ego as much as a hair style.

It makes his hair easier to manage and easier to look at. And it is good for both the scalp and the hair. At Charles', hair styling includes a shampoo and a professional sculptor cut.

Capilliculture is one of the newer aspects of Charles' professional hair treatment.

The 30-year-old practice, which has been slow getting to the United States, was developed in Europe by a company that tried to grow hair on bald heads.

When they determined that the dead nerve endings and blood vessels to the hair follicles could never be restored, the company used the information it had gathered to help people keep the hair they had.

Their findings showed that eight out of 10 cases of baldness were caused by malfunction of the glands which lubricate the hair.

When these glands begin to secrete too much of this lubricant (called sebum), the opening (follicle) for the hair gets more crowded and the hair gets thinner. Finally the hair stops growing completely and the nerves and blood vessels which feed it die.

Capilliculture takes the guesswork process for cleaning the scalp.

First, Sullivan will put biosebum on the customer's scalp to clean out the excess sebum. Then he massages the scalp to work the biosebum in and break up dandruff, which is caused by the alkaline properties of sebum.

Next, he dries the hair to further drive in the biosebum and to aid circulation through the scalp area.

A high-protein shampoo follows adding protein to the hair shaft to strengthen it and give it body.

When the customer leaves he feels much better about the condition of his hair and his scalp feels better than it has since he was a boy.

The treatment does not stop there. Sullivan sells a full line of chemically correct hair products to keep hair clean and healthy between visits to the shop.

He can also analyze the condition of anyone's hair on the capilloscope, which magnifies the hair from 200 to 1000 times.

If you want to be sure about the condition of your hair, if you want it styled or just neatly cut, call Charles Sullivan for an appointment at his new number, 285-2858.

West Texas Announces New School Calendar

West Texas State University joins a growing academic trend toward completion of the fall semester of school before the Christmas holiday period next year.

Dr. Walter H. Juniper, academic vice president, said the fall semester in 1970 will begin Aug. 24, three weeks earlier than this year.

Juniper said the change was recommended by the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System.

"The basic purpose is for uniformity of calendars among all state-supported schools," he said. "Not all schools will make the change immediately," he added.

Under the new calendar the fall semester will end Dec. 17, the spring semester will start Jan. 11, 1971 and will be concluded May 13. The 1971 summer session will begin May 31.

The plan also necessitated a change in the coming school year's calendar.

Juniper said the dates for spring semester final examinations will be May 25-28--one day earlier than announced in the previously published 1969-70 university catalogue--and the 1970 summer session will be from June 1 to Aug. 14, instead of June 8-Aug. 28.

In order to have the same amount of instructional time during each term of the 1970 summer sessions, Juniper said, the first term will be of six weeks duration with 80-minute-long class periods each day and the second term will be five weeks with 90-minute periods.

Cook-Out Fetes Youngsters

Boys and girls in the third and fourth grade Sunday School class of the Main Street Church of Christ were entertained with a cook-out Monday evening at the Bill Kelley home.

Hamburgers, hot dogs and homemade ice cream were served to approximately 24 youngsters and their families.

Teachers for the class are Mmes. Margaret Burrus and Juanita Thompson.

DINNER GUESTS

Dinner guests in the W. B. Dickenson Sr. home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dickenson Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Evans of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Franks, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stewart and Tony Miller.

WALDENS VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walden, Carol and Cindy were vacationing in the mountains last week. They spent some time in Silver City, and Farmington, N. M. and in Durango, Colo.

TONSILLECTOMY

Tyra Rankin, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Speer, underwent a tonsillectomy last week.

HAS SURGERY

Mrs. Will Graef, a former resident, is a patient in Clovis Memorial Hospital following eye surgery.

GRANDDAUGHTER VISITS

Sandi Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wells of Tulsa, spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adams.

VISIT PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Beasley, Larry, Dusty and Trey spent the weekend with Mrs. Beasley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Odis Meadows.

The biggest Labor Day event of the Texas Panhandle is expected to attract a record crowd when the nearly 350 boys of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch celebrate the silver anniversary of the annual Boys Ranch Rodeo.

More than 100 of the boys will compete under R. C. A. rules in the riding contests that will be held on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at 2:30 p. m. each day. Considered the only one of its kind in the nation, the rodeo was witnessed by approximately 10,000 people in 1968. Among those attending this year will be many of the Ranch's former boys and their families who will have a reserved section in the rodeo arena.

Other rodeo highlights will be the presentation of trophies to the Senior and Junior All-Around Cowboys, the crowning of a queen, and the appearance of the Boys Ranch Marching Band. Each of the Ranch's boys will have some part in the rodeo. Those not appearing as contestants will be in specialty acts, park cars, sell soft drinks and pop corn, or help with the numerous jobs connected with the rodeo production. Giant-size barbecue beef sandwiches will be sold to visitors who arrive early.

Tickets for the two rodeo performances may be obtained in advance at the Boys Ranch office, PO Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas, or by calling 372-2341. Reserved box seats are $2.50, and general admission is $1.50. Children and servicemen in uniform will be admitted for 75¢.

Statistics Show Older Driver Has Low Accident Involvement

The current reputation of the older driver is a myth. A national study shows that the older driver has less than his proportionate share of "all accidents", "fatal accidents", and "injury accidents". Even in highly populated areas, the older driver has low accident involvement.

Minnie Bell, Extension specialist for aging, reports these findings from a recent national study by Judge Sherman G. Finesilver, University of Denver College of Law. Judge Finesilver is an authority on safety and the older driver.

The older driver refers to those persons 65 years and older, Miss Bell explains. The study is significant in regard to insurance licensing and general acceptance as competent drivers.

Fatal accidents are a real problem of the elderly. Judge Finesilver believes this is due to the inability to withstand injury. The older driver is more likely to have a fatal accident than any driver from ages 35 to 64.

The two youngest group of drivers, those under 24 and those from 25 to 34, have higher rate of fatal accidents.

Dirty Filters Need Replacing

Dirty filters hinder performance of air conditioners. Most new air conditioners have permanent filters which don't need to be replaced, but do need to be kept clean.

Mrs. Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, tells how to keep a unit at top performance. Lift the filter out, shake off loose dust, then dip it up and down in hot sudsy water. The bath loosens and removes the greasy soot which the filter has captured.

Rinse, dry and apply a coat of special filter oil to help "trap" and hold additional soil, lint, and air-borne grime.

Disposable filters should be cleaned in the same manner, but since they will take only a couple of cleanings a season, it is necessary to replace them occasionally.

GRANDCHILDREN VISIT

Stanita, Kevin and Todd Wright, children of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wright of Denver City, spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Raines.

IN RUIDOSO

Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Jones, and Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Royce McFadden, Mark, Monte, and Melissa; and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hukill, Gregg and Kelli, were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones in Ruidoso, N. M. Friday through Monday.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Billy Carson was brought home by ambulance Friday from the Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt. Carson remains bed fast because of a fractured vertebrae.

IN LEVELLAND

Mrs. Elmer McGill was in Levelland last week with her sister, Mrs. Clyde Yearly, who is seriously ill.

RELATIVES VISIT

Visiting recently with Dr. and Mrs. Mike Smith and Robyn were Mrs. Smith's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Monte Bradley and DeAnne of Sedalia, Mo.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Is Ours a Bad Moral Code?

Commenting on the Kennedy-Kopecne tragedy, in the Washington Post recently, writer Nicholas Von Hoffman reviewed certain aspects of the careers of some other men in politics—men whose names had been linked with allegations of immoral conduct.

Of these individuals, he said, "They were not bad men, but they lived under a bad moral code. They lived under a code that forces them and millions of less conspicuous people to lie, dissemble and scratch false names on hotel registers."

Is it true that it is bad to live under a code which prohibits stealing, lying, killing, and adultery?

Are we wrong in requiring our national leaders to adhere to a code of conduct based on sound ethical principles?

Or has the nation sunk to the level that we must expect our leaders to disregard the laws of God and the laws of the land?

Or should our laws be made more lax?

Changing Code

Is the state of Connecticut right in recognizing the looseness of moral behavior in this generation by radically altering its laws against immoral conduct?

A special commission of the Connecticut general assembly studied the state's laws in this area and recommended that sexual activity between two consenting adults of normal mental competency be considered "no business of the criminal law."

The revised relaxed law—signed by Gov. John Dempsey last month—will go into effect in October, 1971.

But the question is: Is this progress—or is it a sign of deterioration?

Serious Questions

In the Kennedy case, not only the question of possible immoral conduct between the senator and the secretary persists, but also the question of whether the truth has been told, along with the admission that a girl was killed and that her body was allowed to lie in the wrecked, partially submerged car for hours—while the senator went away and slept.

His defense is that he was in a state of shock. But what about his two companions—Gargan and Markham? Were they in a state of shock, too? Or what explanation do they have for their failure to notify the authorities that a fatal accident had occurred and that the body of the victim was still lying in the wrecked car, hours later?

Have we now come to the place in this country that this kind of conduct can be condoned?

As the moral level of the nation sinks lower and lower, it is probably to be expected that actions that were thought incredible in other times will be considered acceptable—or, at least, excusable.

But the Bible says that there is a time coming when "there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known."

Our standards of permissible conduct may have changed.

But have God's? Individuals and nations rise or fall as they obey or disobey the commands of the Supreme Ruler.

Taxes On Liquors Less Than On Pop

Children often pay more taxes on a dollar's worth of soda pop than drinkers do on a dollar's worth of beer.

A drinker who has two beers over the bar at 50 cents each, pays only 2.6 cents state tax. Kids buying a dollar's worth of soft drinks will pay 3 cents to the state, and in most places, another 1 cent to the city.

The Texas House of Representatives has voted to increase even further that tax on soft drinks and other items, and at the same time to continue exemption of beer and liquor. Alcoholic drinks are given a satiny pillow treatment. (Even beer is exempt from the so-called Sunday Blue Law; under it, you can legally buy beer but not a bucket). Why this preferential treatment of alcoholic beverages? This is a question the people of Texas ought to ask their representatives in Austin, and they ought to demand an answer.

Alcoholic beverages cause more crime, more welfare, more admissions to mental hospitals, more automobile accidents — more public tax burdens than any other single item. Yet they are given preferential tax treatment.

Beer taxes have not been increased in 14 years. Liquor taxes have not been increased in 10 years. The House has voted to increase the Sales Tax from 3 to 3.5 per cent, and to include other services, such as haircuts. This tends to discourage haircuts and encourage drinking, quite the opposite to what we ought to be doing.

High Plains Research Foundation Completes Economic Study On Swine

Profit benefits to High Plains farmers in swine production were provided this month in the first completed economic study on swine production at the High Plains Research Foundation.

The first study showed that farmers could increase the price received for grain sorghum they produced to as much as $6.26 per hundred pounds if the sorghum is marketed through swine.

After 104 days on feed at the Foundation, 25 SPF pigs sold to the Jimmy Dean Meat Co., Plainview, at 206.4 pound average.

During the feeding test the average 40.4 pound feeder pig put in portable semi-confined pens March 20 gained an 1.60 pound per day on 541.2 pounds of feed for a conversion gain of 3.26 pounds of feed for one pound of gain.

The feeding ration cost $15.60 per pig for a nine cent cost per pound of gain, Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation director, said of the feed ration fed per pig, grain sorghum constituted 438.5 pounds of the total 541 pounds.

The price farmers would have received for the grain sorghum sold at harvest last fall was $1.70. Grain sorghum marketed through the pigs sold for $6.26 per cwt.

Using the same formula, Longnecker figured that if the pigs had brought 20 cents per pound, the grain sorghum would have been worth $3.31 per hundred pounds. "Therefore, if a farmer can figure he can make money with 20-cent hogs, we would encourage him to expand his farming operation to include swine production," Dr. Longnecker said.

The swine economic study utilizing portable pens continues at the Foundation with 225 SPF pigs ordered from the Jimmy Dean Pig Parlor. This study will compare five feeding rations. The pigs will be fed in four portable 50-head units and one 25-head pen.

The swine research study will be among those to be viewed during the September 11 13th Annual Field Day at the Foundation.

Signing Party Set Tuesday

South Plains College annual signing party has been set for 7 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 26 in the Student Union Building.

Students may pick up their annuals at that time and participate in a social which will include signing of the yearbooks and refreshments.

Over 400 attended the party last year and more are expected to attend this year.

Don Stroud, SPC art instructor, is sponsor of the "Caprock," the college yearbook. He will be assisted in the hospitality by Don Roberts, Student Union Director.

Liquor Taxes Fail To Pay For Related Crime

Beer and liquor taxes would have to be more than doubled just to pay for the cost of alcohol-related crime, according to a report by Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE).

The report on "Alcohol-caused costs, compared with taxes paid in by beer and liquor," says that 76 per cent of crime in Texas is alcohol-related. Crime costs, police, courts, prisons, etc., cost the State $150 million a year. Alcohol beverages' share of that, 76 per cent, would be $114 million. The industry pays in approximately $51 million in taxes, less than half that figure, according to the TANE report.

The report further states that alcoholic drinks cause 62 per cent of admissions to State mental institutions; 38 per cent of financial loss due to auto accidents; 93 per cent of the cost of picking up throw-away drink containers littering Texas highways; and that on-the-job alcoholism costs Texas industry $350 million a year.

Using the figures furnished by TANE, some 150 "Committees for Fair Taxation," located across Texas, are asking that beer and liquor taxes be increased, and that they be put under the Sales Tax. Texas beer taxes of $4.30 a barrel have not been increased in 14 years. Liquor taxes of $1.68 a gallon, have not been increased in 10 years. Both are exempt from the Sales Tax.

TANE is a non-profit organization, supported financially by Texas churches and by individual contributions. Results of its research into alcohol and drug problems are made available to the public. The organization's programs include publishing books for students and teachers, production of film strips, a free motion picture lending library, public school lectures and demonstrations, a 100-man speakers bureau, legislative information, research, and an annual seminar on alcohol and narcotics for teachers and church leaders held at Baylor University in Waco.

Although it is a Texas organization, TANE's books and audio visual aids are in use nationally and throughout the English-speaking world. Some have been translated into Japanese, Korean, and Spanish.

taking care of his wife. The judge said she had first claim on his earnings.

A similar principle applies to the family domicile. A man accused his wife of desertion, after she walked out on him. But in court, she pointed out that she had good reason for leaving: her husband allowed his mother not only to live with them but also to run the household with an iron hand.

Ruling in the wife's favor, the court said:

"When a man marries and founds a new family, he assumes new duties. When these conflict with his former ties, they must be held paramount. The very existence of the family depends on this principle. Whatever his filial obligations may be, a man may not bring his mother to reside in his new home. That place belongs to the wife."

Nevertheless, the law does not insist on total estrangement of a husband from his parents.

In another case, a man brought his ailing, elderly mother into his home—partly for the sake of sentiment, partly for the sake of economy. However, it was his wife, not his mother, who had full charge of managing the household.

Was this husband falling down on his marital obligations? This time, a court said no. The judge said that, although a wife does rank as Number One, she still must make fair and reasonable adjustments to reality—to make the marriage work.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beasley Sunday were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Beasley and children of Midland and J. C. Bell of Plainview. Diana Beasley is spending two weeks here with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clark returned home Sunday from visiting almost three weeks with their daughters and families. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blades, Colby, Harvey and Don in Rangley Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nichols, George and Elaine in Pinedale, Wyo.; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roy Straw, Rod, Roy and Scott in Gruver.

Mrs. Blades and boys came home with her parents and will be here almost two weeks, then her husband will come for her.

The Halfway 4-H Club met Tuesday. They enjoyed a picnic at the Seventh Street Park in Plainview and went swimming.

In their business meeting a nominating committee was appointed. Those named on the committee were Don Paul Bell, Leta Helm, Rebecca Baumgardner and Roger Pinkerton. Officers will be elected and installed at the next meeting.

Those entering record books in Hale County from the Halfway 4-H Club that will be in district competition are: Don Paul Bell, entomology; Roger Pinkerton, field crop; Leta Helm, horticulture; and Rebecca Baumgardner, home economics.

Mrs. John Baumgardner has completed three workshops on "Consumer Education" at Texas Tech this summer.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Alexander Wednesday and Thursday was Mrs. W. A. Stokes from Lubbock and over the weekend their son, Sherrill Alexander of Lubbock.

Mrs. S. M. Breland visited her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brothers and children of Clovis, N. M., several days last week. Her grandchildren, Dereatha and Ronny Brothers came home with her to visit for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Selby Young and Jay of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hollis Young spent the past week at Vallecito Lake, Colo. fishing.

John Baumgardner has been named to "Who's Who in America" in the South and Southwest regional listings.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hyman and Laurie of Amarillo visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burgess.

Gregg Couch of Anton was a guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Lucille Couch, last week. Sunday they were joined by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Couch and Brent of Anton, and Mr. and Mrs. James Couch, Doretta, Lorenda and Kayleen for dinner.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cure, Susan and Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Price attended the Collier family reunion at MacKenzie State Park in Lubbock. Approximately 50 attended.

The weekend before they attended the Clark family reunion held at the Springlake school house. Approximately 80 relatives registered from California, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Texas, Indiana and New Jersey.

The Collier reunion was Mrs. Price's relatives and the Clark family was Mr. Price's relatives.

Susan Cure is visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price and children of Clovis, N. M.

"Ladies Night" was held by the Halfway Men's Club Thursday night at the Community Center with the men's wives as special guests.

Lloyd Langford, president, served as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Robert Field of the Halfway Baptist Church gave the invocation. Entertainment was furnished by a six piece band from Hale Center, called "The Wrecking Crew". Approximately 35 people enjoyed the steak supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goree hosted a fellowship for the young people of the Halfway Baptist Church.

Those enjoying the hot dog supper with trimmings and games were Phillip Cox, Teresa Griffith; Diane, Dana and Dean Palmer; Connie and Yvonne Emberton; Randy, Leta and Larry Goree; Rebecca Baumgardner; Mr. and Mrs. Lewellen Hooper; Rhonda and Aubrey; Randy, Mark and Marilyn Gathers; the Rev. and Mrs.

Robert Field and Clyde; and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sisemore, Clarence and Beth.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ershel Johnson, Cynthia and Stevie Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roden, Jr., Vonda and Vicki of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bursleson.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Prater carried her mother, Mrs. W. H. Denison of Farmer's Branch, home over the weekend and attended the Denison family reunion at Carrollton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Harrell and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Harrell attended the funeral of their brother-in-law, Bill Gordon, police chief at Post, Monday afternoon in Haskell. Gordon died Sunday morning of an apparent heart attack after giving chase and re-capturing an escapee.

Mrs. Mona Calloway of Dallas is a guest of her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Sopher.

Finn Anvig of Oslo, Norway recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Doug Sopher and Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Vicker of Lubbock. Anvig became friends of the Sophers and the Vickers during World War II when he was stationed in Lubbock. He is employed by S. A. S. and is in the United States negotiating for 20 planes.

GRANDSON VISITS Visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farrar is their grandson, Dirk Jackson, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Jackson of Lubbock.

Bicycle Safety A Must For Young

Although summer is about over—as far as carefree young bicycle riders are concerned—bicycle safety is still a must for our Texas streets and highways.

And with school time approaching, many students will be pedaling their way to classes—and in many cases, in all kinds of weather.

The Texas State Department of Health suggests that you remember that there are rules and regulations for bicyclists. It's important that parents instruct their children in the "right" method of bicycling. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 600 bicycle riders annually lose their lives when in collision with motor vehicles. There are more bikes being ridden now than ever. Children learn to ride at an earlier age and more adults have taken to biking for exercise and recreation.

Failure to observe traffic laws contribute heavily to accidents involving bicycles, and more than half of the accidents occur at intersections.

For safety while riding, here are some tips for bicyclists: * A skillful bicycle rider always has his bike under control, has both hands free to steer and never rides too fast or too far.

* The cyclist must develop skill in balancing and pedaling to avoid swerving, hitting a fixed object or running off the roadway. Parents should make certain their children are skilled before sending them off into traffic.

* Hand signals should be used by cyclists as well as motorists.

* Bike riders should avoid crowding between cars or between an automobile and the curb at stop signs.

* Doubling up on one bicycle is dangerous and illegal.

* Never hold onto a moving vehicle and don't attach the bike to a vehicle.

* Always ride single file.

* Trick riding or strutting is always dangerous. Riders of hi-risers are especially cautioned against making the bike rear up and riding on back wheels only, or jumping the bike over obstacles.

DAUGHTER VISITS

Panhandle South Plains Fair Sets Annual Appaloosa Show

The second annual Appaloosa Horse Show, offering $1,000 in premiums, has been slated as another feature of the big 52nd annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here Sept. 26.

Ken Cook, of Silverton, extension agent for Briscoe County, will be superintendent for the event. Bill Phinley and Mack Heald will be assistant superintendents. Bob Middleton will serve as ring steward. Tommy Buckner will handle the chores of secretary, and Jack Kyle of Santa Rosa, N. M. will be the judge.

The show has been approved by the Appaloosa Horse Club, Inc., of Moscow, Idaho, the Texas Appaloosa Horse Club, and the Golden Spread Appaloosa Horse Club.

Entry fees are $7 per horse for halter classes, $12 per horse for performance classes, and $3 per horse for youth classes. Entries will be accepted from 7 a. m. to 8:45 a. m. on the day of the show. Competition will begin at 9 a. m.

In halter and performance classes, cash awards of $5, $12.50, $10, $7.50, $5, and $3 will be awarded to winners from first through sixth places.

Halter classes include 1966, 1967, 1968, and 1969 stallions; stallions foaled in 1965 and before; 1966, 1967, 1968, and 1969 mares; mares foaled in 1965 and before; 1966, 1967, 1968, and 1969 geldings; geldings foaled in 1964 and before; plus grand and reserve champions in stallion, mare and gelding divisions. Youth classes include showmanship in halter, western pleasure and barrel racing.

Performance competition will include western pleasure, junior and senior reining, pole bending and barrel racing. Banners and trophies also will be awarded in all classes. The 1969 fair, slated Sept. 22-27, is offering a record $37,235 in premiums.

Topping the Fair Park Coliseum stage will be a country and western variety spectacular featuring Marty Robbins (Sept. 22-23), Charley Pride (Sept. 24-25), and Buck Owens and his Buckaroos (Sept. 26-27). Roy Clark will emcee all twice-daily shows. Gentle Ben, Peggy Ann Nielsen, comedian Mike Caldwell, and the Congregation will also be featured.

Tickets are priced at $2, $3, and $4 for 7:30 p. m. shows, and all persons will be admitted to 3 p. m. matinees for one-half price.

Canning, Freezing Bulletins Available From Littlefield

In spite of adverse weather conditions, many people are having fresh vegetables and fruit from their gardens now.

Canning and freezing of these fruits and vegetables provide good food during the winter months. Some people prefer canning or some do not have freezers so it is up to the homemaker to decide how she will preserve foods.

Proper preservation guides should be used in order to have quality products. The food must be of good quality in order to have good quality after taking it from the freezer or jar. Using salt that is labeled canning or pickling salt is recommended. This salt does not contain preservatives. Products may have a cloudy look if a regular table salt is used. Pure salt can be obtained in some local stores.

Canning and freezing bulletins can be secured from the home demonstration agents office in Littlefield. Call 385-4004.

PINEAPPLE A HIT

Attract listless summer appetites with fruit in family meals, suggests Extension consumer marketing specialist Gwendolyn Clyatt. Fresh pineapple is sure to make a hit, and is available in local market at moderate prices. One cup of fresh pineapple furnishes almost half of the daily requirement of vitamin C. A two-pound pineapple will yield about six servings.
