TO INCREASE BORDER PATROL DIFFERENTIAL RATES ILLEGAL

SEVENTEEN CARS OF MUNITIONS FOR FORT SAM HOUSTON.

Several Troops of Cavalry Will Be Sent to Mexican Frontier to End Smuggling of Arms.

San Antonio, Tex.—That the war department is rushing several large consignments of projectiles and other artillery ammunition and supplies to San Antonio, where the Third and Fourth regiments of field artillery will be stationed as part of the maneuver division under the command of Major General William H. Carter, became known as a possible fact in certain quarters at Fort San Houston on Tuesday. A good sized train would be required to handle the shipments were they kept together en route, but the information is that they were shipped out of Philadelphia in consignments of three and four cars each. Seventeen cars of artillery supplies, consisting principally of projectiles, have been started in the direction and the present arrangements is to keep the projectiles in the local yards on the cars. In case they should be quickly needed the time and expense of loading will thus be saved.

Increase Border Patrol.
Washington.—The present patrol of the Mexican frontier will be increased in a few days by several troops of cavalry from the mounted horses now being assembled in the southern border states.

It is announced at the war department that the increase will amount to six or seven troops of cavalry who will be added to the patrol of the Rio Grande in order to prevent the smuggling of the munitions of war to the Mexican revolutionaries.

It is announced at the war department that the increase will amount to six or seven troops of cavalry who will be added to the patrol of the Rio Grande in order to prevent the smuggling of the munitions of war to the Mexican revolutionaries.

The increase in the patrol of the Mexican frontier will be made at the expense of the department of Texas.

Previous to the receipt of this request the department had not intended to augment the southern patrol. There are already stretched along the frontier three regiments of cavalry, one regiment of infantry and two companies of the signal corps.

Because of the great extent of the boundary line, more than 1,000 miles in length, the patrol of the frontier is a mammoth task. Constant reports are reaching Washington of the smuggling of arms and ammunition across the river, and it is the intention of the American government to stop this practice. That part of the boundary in the Southwest which is marked as an arbitrary line is regarded as adequately patrolled at present.

The Soil Preparation.
Austin, Tex.—J. W. Neill, director of farmers' institutes for the state agricultural department, returned Monday from an extensive trip to the South west, including the counties of Bee, Victoria, Lee Witt, Karnes, Wilson, Atascosa, Washington, Lee, Austin, Wharton, Matagorda and others. He is state lecturer and found the farmers very much interested. In many places he found that the farmers have prepared their soil early and thereby follow the new idea of soil preparation, with the result that their crops are well advanced. This was true of corn and truck gardens. Others are behind and are waiting for rain, and will not be able to do anything until rain does come. He thinks soil preparation has done wonders.

DECLARED BY JUDGE JENKINS TO BE A DISCRIMINATION.

System of Commission is Declared to Be Wrong in Basis and Lengthy Opinion is Given.

Austin, Tex.—The court of civil appeals, Third district, in an opinion by Judge Jenkins, Wednesday reversed the district court of Travis county in the Galveston Chamber of Commerce vs. Railroad Commission of Texas, by taking down the proposition that the so-called Houston-Galveston differential is, in effect, a discrimination against Galveston and therefore unlawful. The court assumes that this differential is enforced for the purpose of depriving Galveston of certain alleged natural advantages and refuses to recognize the necessity of any charge for transportation service between Houston and Galveston.

The court does not, however, undertake to pass upon the reasonableness of existing rates nor does it say anything to lead shippers to believe that there is anything in Galveston's contention that the abolition of the differential would mean a reduction in rates.

All Galveston has ever wanted was a free haul each way over the fifty miles intervening between Houston and Galveston, regardless of what the package or common point rates might be, and that is what the court of civil appeals undertakes to say Galveston should have. Galveston would not complain at a maximum rate of $1 per ton package one way, for instance, and so said rate applied to Houston as well as Galveston.

In a few words, the court's opinion means that shippers can not have any benefit of the low rates prevailing for the hauling of coals or iron ore, because to permit them to enjoy these low rates is to discriminate against the beneficiaries of the higher rates prevailing in Galveston.

The opinion handed down by Judge Jenkins makes about 18,000 cents, including the pleadings of the appellant, the railroad, chamber of commerce, the answer by the appellee, the state railroad commission, the findings of the lower court, the findings of fact by the court of civil appeals (Judge Jenkins) and the conclusions of law. The greater portion of the very bulky opinion is contained under the latter heading, while the first four classifications are included in the first seven typewritten pages of the opinion, the conclusions of law as handed down by Judge Jenkins require twenty-six typewritten pages for elucidation.

Suit for $20,000.
Houston, Tex.—A suit have been filed by the Union National Bank of Houston to determine the rightful owners of $20,000 deposited in the bank in 1910 by James T. Stewart in the name of "Rex O." sometimes known as "Rex O. (the)" address unknown. It is alleged that the money was placed in the bank and since that time Stewart has died in Opelousas, La., and that claims have been made to the money by Jimmie Stewart Brock and J. B. Brock, who claim that they are the sole heirs to the money.

For Summer Battle Practice.
Washington.—The departure of twelve battleships of the Atlantic fleet from Calumet, Cuba, Monday for Hampton roads is in accordance with the program of the navy department for the fleet's movements. When the vessels reach the station, the fleet will go to the Norfolk navy yard several at a time for docking. Afterward they will go to the Southern drill grounds, thirty miles south of Cape Henry, for their annual summer battle practice.

Don't Use a Scarecrow

To Drive Away the Mail Order Wolf
You can drive him out quickly if you use the mail order houses' own weapon—advertising. Mail order concerns are spending thousands of dollars every week in order to get trade from the home merchants. Do you think for a minute they would keep it up if they didn't get the business? Don't take it for granted that every one within a radius of 25 miles knows what you have to sell, and what your prices are. Nine times out of ten your prices are lower, but the customer is influenced by the up-to-date advertising of the mail order house. Every article you advertise should be described and priced. You must tell your story in an interesting way, and when you want to reach the buyers of this community use the columns of this paper.

Let Us Be Your Waiter

We never tire of helping others when they ask for good job printing. We can tickle the most exacting typographic appetite. People who have partaken of our excellent service come back for a second serving. Our prices are the most reasonable, too, and you can always depend on us giving your orders the most prompt and careful attention. Call at this office and look over our samples.

MAKE YOUR APPEAL

to the public through the columns of this paper. With every issue it carries its message into the homes and lives of the people. Your competitor has his store news in this issue. Why don't you have yours? Don't blame the people for flocking to his store. They know what he has.

The Buyers' Guide

The firms whose names are represented in our advertising columns are worthy of the confidence of every person in the community who has money to spend. The fact that they advertise stamps them as enterprising, progressive men of business, a credit to our town, and deserving of support. Our advertising columns comprise a Buyers' Guide to fair dealing, good goods, honest prices.

WHERE INDIANS WORSNIPPED

B.C. 2000

By MABEL LOOMIS TODD

CENTURIES before the benevolent if an autocratic way of the Incas, in the days of prehistoric Peru, Pachacamac, "creator god of the world," "the who animates the universe," "world adjuster," was worshipped by primitive Indians. And despite the magnificent temple of Tahuantinsuyu, that marvelous and enigmatic structure near Tlucaca, 12,000 feet above sea level, and the splendors of Qorikancha's golden courts at Cuzco, the Pachacamac temple by the sea was regarded as more awe inspiring than either of the others. To its oracles all pilgrims flocked. But during the period immediately before the Spanish conquest these three rivaled one another in richness and sanctity.

Little is left of the old glories today. Walls rise, still showing bits of mural painting, preserved in the hot and dry desert air; indications of terraces remain, of courts and avenues, a labyrinth of city streets, and thousands of skulls white, the surrounding sands, awesome reminders of the multitude who formerly lived and worshipped at these ruined shrines.

Peru has few merely tourist visitors, and of these fewer still see Pachacamac, the trip from Lima being considered long and hard. But for one accustomed to the saddle and hills of South America can be otherwise seen. Pachacamac is comfortably accessible.

The simplest route is by the excellent electric cars to the pretty suburb (Thornton), beyond Miraflores, where horses should have been ordered in advance to await the traveler.

Over roadside walls of mud or adobe brick wild nasturtiums clamber in a riot of color, bare, high hills rise at one side, the battlefield of San Juan, famous in the Chilean war, and here and there a populous hacienda are passed before the open country is reached. A mile or two of jungle-like swamp follows, rich in interest for lovers of birds and growing things. But beyond this fertile angle one may wander along the hard sand beach for nearly all the remaining miles. Sea birds in such myriads that the sun is actually darkened as they fly up at our approach, seven or eight lines of superb Pacific rollers breaking in thunderous surf, a rampart of high sand mountains just back of the beach—and in two or three hours appear the familiar walls and dun-colored remains of Inca occupation.

For Pachacamac has been the scene of several superimposed civilizations, whereby its study is rendered more confusing than that of other ancient shrines. The many graves, and their contents were seemingly at variance—chronologically inconsistent—with fragments of pottery and implements found near by. But it is certain that pre-Inca Indians had here their chief temple, and that when these all-conquering nobles with their hordes of willing workers arrived triumphantly upon the scene, so far from trying to wipe out the old faith they treated it with much respect, perhaps from prudential motives, building their great temple to the sun on the hill above, but still permitting, even encouraging, continued worship of the creator god, Pachacamac, so that the temple's religious prestige did not suffer under the Incas.

The Sun temple seems to have been built to include this earlier sanctuary, which shows an amicable relationship between the older cult and that of worship of the sun which the Incas ultimately imposed on conquered tribes.

A beautiful site these early dwellers chose for their rites. Although desert bounded on north and east, the temple themselves set in sand by whose encroaching drifts they are now half covered, toward the west rolls the blue Pacific, and southward lies the green and fertile Valley of Lurin, watered by its river of the same name, off whose mouth rise rugged islands, the wings of myriad sea birds flashing in the sunshine as they dip and circle and soar about the lofty cliffs.

Only 2 1/2 miles wide at the coast, the little Lurin valley narrows rapidly toward the interior. A mile and a half distant lies the village, on the same side of the river as the ruins. Only 500 inhabitants now belong here, but perhaps 2,000 can be counted in the whole parish. Modern Pachacamac holds about 900, its parish 3,900. Trees of many kinds abound—the willow (Salix) always prominent, with cane (cannib) and trees bearing the chirimoya, palta, lucuma and other fruits. In old days maize and cotton were extensively cultivated here and in many of the earliest grave seed pods of cotton have been found. It still grows easily in a soil surprisingly rich when irrigated. A nearby hacienda, apparently containing the most extensive of the ancient burial places is chiefly devoted to the study of birds and brown stalks of this plant.

The most scholarly and reliable authority upon Pachacamac history is undoubtedly Dr. Max Uhle, now head of the new National museum at Lima. To him is due elucidation of many puzzling anachronisms in this rich region, and it was our good fortune to be accompanied on this trip by Doctor Uhle—to whom every wall and angle and brick has absolute significance.

The name of the creator god, as applied to sanctuary, town and river, came into use only about 170 years before the Spanish conquest. No older name has yet been found.

Burial places always bring rich returns to those who can interpret their annals. Here is an enormous number of graves, not less than 60,000 to 80,000, among them a few wall-like cells, much cruder and earlier than the majority. Graves are found in the open, in houses, in temples, most of which have, years ago, been rifled for the gold, silver and gems supposed to be interred with the dead.

Previous to the Inca conquest probably at least two civilizations met a Pachacamac—the culture of the highlands and the newer customs of the coast. After a cemetery had been used for a long time the temple was destroyed; even the sort of civilization itself was changed. A third epoch shows a cultural decline, inferior but supplanting, despite the general advance of the world at large. The founding and growth of the Inca empire was one of the last great events of pre-Spanish centuries.

Although Pachacamac graves were so rich in articles from which the story of the past can be read, larger outlines of life and custom may be traced in the ruins of town and temples.

Approaching from the north one sees the convent, still called by its ancient name, Mamacoma ("mother," as applied to the name), and a subject of especial study by Doctor Uhle. In the land of the Incas colchate wheat were not uncommon, and were generally attached to some temple of the sun. The mamacoma was secluded on three sides, the front only facing plain and sea, with entrance openings. No fewer than 200 of these nuts lived here, and they were obliged to pass through the inner and outer sanctuary of Pachacamac to reach the sun temple.

From the convent it is best to pass on to the former, a huge structure 400 feet long, 130 wide and covering two-thirds of an acre. Once there were terraces on three sides, each 20 feet high, but the sand has so blown in and over and about them that they are really discernible now upon only one. Its approaches are by five low and narrow "grades," slightly over three feet high and six in length; the walls once covered with polychrome frescoes, rich in color and extremely ancient, though traces of design still remain.

The top of the temple is a large plateau, 230 feet by 120. It was at least once rebuilt before the Inca period, and may date from about B. C. 2,000; but it is not, in any event, later than B. C. 1,100.

The valley, and indeed the entire region, was ruled by a chief at Pachacamac, who had the right to enter the temple of the highest deity, as at a later speech, the Inca might do at Cuzco. At the center of the north-west front the holiest shrine was placed. We can follow shapes and sizes in hall and gallery, the walls of the large hall in ruins, but still showing that they were 12 feet high. The old "history" probably stood here to receive the envoys of chiefs, after they had walked on probation for his entire year to come into his presence.

A fast of 20 days was required before entering the first court, and a week of abstinence for the upper court. As little nourishment as possible was taken during this time and an abstinence life in all particulars was enjoined.

The ecclesiastical dignitary received the envoys with covered head, praying after hearing the messages. Pizarro disdainfully called it "having speech with the devil," when the old man retired to an adjoining cell.

Even this has arrived at some interesting and surprising conclusions as to the necessity and extraordinary sanctity of this temple. As the shrine was completely demolished by Hernando Pizarro, brother of the conquistador, the "sanctuary" have been peculiarly the object of early fancifulists as less than of treasure hunters, which despite the rainless climate made it a more complete ruin even than others in Peru. Smaller than the later sun temple of the Incas, it was more serene. Not only painted in many tints, it was also, quite certainly, incrustated with precious stones and gold presented by the Inca Huaina Capac.

Of the ancient city at least one-quarter was occupied by the temple district and the "sanctuary" was divided by cross streets, 12 and 16 feet wide, with corners and buildings of palatial proportions. In the city are four hills, the walls enclosing it all completely. On the northwest these barriers were from 11 to 13 feet high and in general 8 feet broad, although this was in places increased to 15. Vast crowds must have filled the city at many times, for the wide adobe house-tops and walls, which were used constantly by pedestrians, are worn perfectly smooth on certain thoroughfares by the constant passing of multitudes.

Outside the city walls is widespread desert, one will distant only half a mile, not less than 20 feet wide and 475 yards long, still curving around the despoiled riches it once protected.

Of all this great ruined area the sun temple itself is most conspicuous, rising 300 feet above the general level on a section of grass, four on the northeast and northwest, five on the southeast.

The modern history of this most interesting region begins with the journey of Hernando Pizarro, ordered by his more famous brother in 1533 to conquer the empire of Pachacamac, and his most sacred idol, in presence of the whole people assembled, raising a cross upon the debris. Thus began the decline of what was once so splendid and so vital a part of the early life.

After taking Cuzco Francisco Pizarro came in 1534 to Pachacamac, holding wild orgies in the sacred courts and still further horrifying a people already crushed and outraged.

The final struggle came, however, and the depopulation of the entire valley began, in the wars of Manco Inca, who in 1552 gathered all the Indians in a futile death struggle with Spain. After that the sands blew in and over the old faith, actually and metaphorically, Franciscans, Augustinians, Jesuits came successively to the valley, and its distinctive history was past.

But the loss of archaeological vision has made the old days live again, has vitalized the ancient faith and brought before modern eyes the actual daily life and worship of these prehistoric tribes, whose whitened skulls still cluster about their violated shrine.

who has the stub of a cigar in his mouth. He is most demurely. He wishes that all men were really worn "like and equal," as asserted in the preamble to our constitution. To prove that he is the equal of it he better than all others he elevates his feet whenever wherever and upon whatever he chooses.

This man of whom we have a glimpse here, always stands on his feet and never on his head, philosophically speaking, there is more blood in the lower than in the upper portions of his body, consequently he finds with his feet stronger than with his head. When he has a downright hard job of thinking before him, as in the present instance, he invariably raises his feet. In that way his blood gravitates naturally out of his feet and his heart has less labor in sending it to his brain where it quickens his thought. The good nature of a man who puts his feet on the table is frequently augmented in the distance by the manner.

GIRLS PLAY INDOOR BASEBALL

Sport Fast Taking Place of Basket Ball Among Chicago Young Women.

Chicago's indoor baseball has been invaded by the girls of Chicago, and the sport is fast taking the place of basketball, which for years was supreme as the exercise and amusement for girls in their recreation work.

When indoor baseball was first brought into prominence here in 1917 it is doubtful if George W. Hennessy, of Chicago, who is credited as the originator of the game, ever thought it would develop as a pastime for girls as well as boys and men, but such is the case.

To the girls of West Park No. 1 goes the credit of probably the superior gathering of indoor baseball players in Chicago and vicinity. The girls are coached daily by Miss Frenze, and it is due to her general knowledge of the game that her class has developed into such expert players. The many daring feats which are attempted by the sterner sex in their classes on the wooden diamonds are duplicated to a "T" by the young girls. What's more, they have become very adept at the game, and without any thought of injury or accident they slide to the bases, romp around the out of the way, and push each other out of the way, just as boys, when the score becomes close.

CONVERT BURNS TOBACCO

Another Confesses Stealing Chickens When He Was a Boy and Pays for Them.

Brookville, Ind.—As the result of religious fervor aroused by a revival at Buena Vista, Howard Jackson, who raised a fine crop of tobacco last year, decided that the use of the weed was wrong and burned all that he had. He also threw his lodge pins into the fire and renounced his allegiance to several secret organizations. Another citizen made public confession to stealing some chickens many years ago for a boy's midnight feast, and paid for the fowls.

MEN WHO THINK WITH THEIR FEET ELEVATED

BLOOD THUS MADE TO GRAVITATE TO THE BRAIN WHERE IT QUICKENS THOUGHT.

St. Louis, Mo.—"Hello, Mark!" called a man on a Mississippi river steamer, who sat with his feet elevated on a table in front of him as Mark Twain approached.

"Your face seems familiar," returned the Hannibal humorist, "but I don't seem to recognize your feet!"

Many persons are recognizable to their intimate friends because of the appearance of their feet. However, they are so accustomed to putting their feet on the table, the desk or even the wall, that those who know them best usually see their feet first. This gentleman, whose pedal extremities show so prominently in the accompanying picture, may be easily recognized by his feet. He is a half-fellow-well-nut sort of a person, whose hat is set at a rakish angle and

MEMORY BAD MIND GOING

But Mrs. Perry of Rolita, Built Up Her Shattered Nervous System By Taking Cardui.

Rolita, Tenn.—"I suffered with sick headache for three years," says Mrs. Lizette Perry, in a letter from this place. "I was so nervous at times, I could hardly bear it.

I had the blues, and everybody thought I was losing my mind. My memory was bad. I had pains in my side, and I was hardly able to go.

I would have been in my grave if I had not taken Cardui. Now I am stronger than I ever was before, and I feel like a new person.

I am thankful for what Cardui has done for me. I wish all women who suffer would take Cardui, and be happy and healthy."

Cardui's success in benefiting and curing sick and ailing women is due to the fact that it is a building tonic for the nerves, as well as for the physical system.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, which act gently and sympathetically in a natural way, it does its work safely, reliably, and without bad after effects.

Fifty years of success prove these facts.

Isn't it reasonable to believe that Cardui will help you? Ask your druggist.

It is certainly worth trying.

All Snakes Are Killers.

But all snakes, great and small, are killers. All of them eat creatures which they slay. Now eat vegetable food of any kind. Not all they eat animals which they slay. That is one reason, no doubt, why they have always been detested and dreaded by human beings.

PRIZE STOCK BURNED ALIVE

TEN ACRES SMOLDERING ASHES AND CARCASSES OF ANIMALS.

Loss of Prize-Winning Stock Almost Irreparable—Loss Estimated at $350,000.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Fire which started among the commission men's horse and mule barns on the south side of Exchange avenue, North Fort Worth, Tuesday morning swept ten acres of buildings, pens and sheds as bare as the bald prairie and left the ground covered only with smoldering ashes and half-roasted carcasses of a thousand or more valuable horses, prize-winning hogs and high-grade sheep and goats.

No such disastrous fire in connection with the live stock industry has ever been recorded in the Southwest. The financial loss is placed at above $250,000, roughly estimated. The loss to the owners of the standard-bred stallions and mares, mules, hogs and sheep is almost irreparable.

It is believed that the flames were started by a lighted cigarette or cigar carelessly tossed in a pile of hay. The statistics were operated by the following:

C. R. Teem Mule Company, Altman Bros., J. Crouch & Sons, A. B. Halbert & Son, W. O. Rominger & Co., Fort Worth Horse and Mule Company, of which Charles Hicks is president.

Killarney Girl, a $1,000 saddle mare, owned by R. W. Phillips, of Russell, was burned. Phillips & Evans lost fourteen head of horses valued at $5,400.

Pollard & Farquhar of San Antonio lost Konantz, valued at $5,000 and two other show horses valued at $1,000 each.

C. Burnett of Bowie lost his stud, Shady Acton, valued at $1,500.

G. C. Gay of Coleman lost a standard bred trotter valued at $3,000.

J. W. Bursey of Fort Worth lost Barco D, a $500 2-year-old stallion.

J. S. Hendricks of St. Jo, Tex., lost a $1,000 horse.

Clip Shepard of Phoenix had ten stallions and jacks and thirty-five head of horses in the Fort Worth Horse and Mule Company barn. He estimates his loss at $5,000.

Gil Whittington had forty horses in the same barn and thinks all were burned. Mr. Whittington, who is manager of the barn, said perhaps one hundred horses and mules were burned in his barn alone.

B. E. Doris of the earth side had 100 mules in the barn, valued at $175 each, and Dave Hanly's loss is about the same.

Farquhar of San Angelo lost three horses valued at $3,000 each.

J. D. Faught of Hobart, Ok., lost thirty-five head of horses and mules. He was on Highway of Enid, Ok., lost forty-five head valued at $15,000.

Sackrider of Enid lost thirty head.

D. E. Baker of Watauga lost a $500 horse.

J. T. Triplett of May lost four horses valued at $2,000 each.

W. H. Hagber of Rising Star one $1,000 horse, and J. W. Triplett of Cisco a $250 colt.

Rominger Bros. are unable to say how many of the 300 head of mules in their barn were rescued.

Sebe Burnett of Fort Worth has found only two of the sixty-five head of horses which he had in the Fort Worth horse and mule barn.

Armour & Co. saved 75 per cent of the 2,000 hogs in their pens.

J. H. Dudley of Plano lost a car of hogs which he brought to market Monday night. It is estimated that 200 sheep were burned.

C. C. Cook of Fort Worth lost ten head of heavy horses worth at least $200 each.

Cook & Wright of Fort Worth lost fourteen head of horses worth $200 or more each.

Dr. Flowers of Dallas lost some fine registered Tawwhiths.

Fate of the Americans.

El Paso, Tex.—Much fear is being expressed as to the fate of fifteen Americans who were taken prisoners by the federal troops at Casas Grandes a week ago. Whether the men are confined in the little unscrubbed adobe jail in the town or whether they have been more severely dealt with is causing conjecture. It is the opinion of some that the men have been shot.

RETURN 37 INDICTMENTS

Grand Jury Reports on Election Sales in Vermilion County, Illinois. Corruption at Danville.

Danville, Ill.—The Vermilion County vote probe grand jury adjourned Wednesday until April 17. It returned thirty-seven indictments and made the most scathing report to Judge Kimbrough that was ever heard in a courtroom in this state. The report says that an astonishing state of political corruption exists in Danville; that vast sums of money have been used in corrupting voters; that evidence has been suppressed before the grand jury, and by a well-planned conspiracy to conceal crime by wholesale perjury, it has been difficult to obtain evidence on which to indict.

The report further says the grand jury has not had the support of the sheriff and his deputies in the investigation and the judge has apparently been in sympathy with those suspected of crime against the ballot. The report says the political corruption has found encouragement in the acts of the public officials, notably in the appointment of election commissioners by a county judge. It says an unreasonably large fund was contributed for election corruption in the last campaign.

An appeal is made to the citizenship of the city and county to demand the enforcement of the laws governing elections, and the judge is asked to remove his appointees from the election commission. Politicians and public officials are condemned for obstructing the work of the grand jury; also those who have committed perjury to protect fellow criminals, as they are termed.

A resolution was also adopted asking the legislature to pass a law disfranchising a man for life who was convicted of selling his vote the second time.

BIG EXPRESS STRIKE

United States and Wells-Fargo Join Adams Express Drivers in Strike 5,000 Out.

New York.—Thirty-five hundred employees of the United States and the Wells-Fargo express companies threw in their fortunes Saturday with the 1,500 striking drivers of the Adams Express Company. This total was increased by the drivers of several smaller concerns, but the employees of the American and National companies stayed by their wagons.

Mayor Gaynor was astounded when he learned that his peace proposals had been overruled by the Jersey City men at a midnight conference.

Many drivers ordered out in the strike were dissatisfied with the turn of events and a meeting has been called to discuss the matter.

Should the general teamsters walk-out be ordered, an threatened labor union say it will be the greatest strike ever called in New York.

Solid Cars of Crated Spinach.

Houston, Tex.—Two solid cars of crated spinach in two days from one little station may seem like "some greens," but that is the record of Simonson, in Fort Bend County. There are about twenty-eight acres of spinach at Simonson, and there will be five or six cars yet to be shipped.

Potatoes at Eagle Lake.

Eagle Lake, Tex.—The stand of potatoes through this section is the finest that has ever been seen. With a favorable season from now on to fully one thousand cars of potatoes will be shipped out of the Eagle Lake bottom this year. The crop is expected to go out about April 25 and by May 1 the crop, generally speaking, will be moving.

Bleachers Burned.

Washington.—Fire Saturday night early wiped out the grandstand and bleachers of the American League baseball park. Before the flames were checked they had destroyed the old Freedman's Hospital and threatened for a time the largest lumber yard in the District of Columbia. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

Ex-Governor Bloxham Dies.

Tallahassee, Fla.—Former Governor William D. Bloxham died at his home Thursday. He was a Confederate veteran and had been Florida's secretary of state, member of the house of representatives, presidential elector in 1869, supervisor general and state controller. In 1855 he was tendered the post of minister to Bolivia, but refused.

Death Sentence for Morrison.

London.—Stilke Morrison Wednesday was found guilty of the murder of Joseph Burrow and sentenced to death. The police tried to connect the tragedy with the Houndsditch anarchist burglar gang. The trial was one of the most sensational and longest drawn out that has been held in London.

Relief Sent to Starving Chinese.

Washington.—Continuing its attempt to relieve the distress of the starving millions of China, the American National Red Cross Wednesday called $2,000 more to the stricken people. The money came from popular subscriptions and was sent to the American consul general at Shanghai for distribution.

Mexico City Shaken Up.

Mexico City.—Two slight earthquakes were registered Saturday, lasting thirty seconds.

NOT A CRIME TO ROB HER HUSBAND'S PANTS

WIFE HASN'T MORAL RIGHT TO DO SO BUT SHE CAN'T BE PUNISHED.

Toledo, Ohio.—Without being required to offer any defense to a charge of stealing $760 from her husband, Mrs. Florence Phillips of Maumee, was acquitted by a jury in common pleas court here. The indictment charged grand larceny. The court held she had no moral right to take the money from her husband's trousers pockets, but that she could not be punished under the law.

Report also comes of a Philadelphia judge who recently made a similar decision when William McCaffery appeared as complainant against his wife, Nellie McCaffery, whom he had accused of going through his pockets while he slept and abstracting $5.

In making his complaint McCaffery announced:

"It is not that I object to losing the $5. Judge, but this thing occurs three or four times a week, and I would like to know some manner in which I may stop the pilfering."

Judge Helcher, a married man himself and father of a large family, told McCaffery that there was but one thing for him to do, to discharge the women, as the money in a husband's pocket belonged as much to the wife as to the husband.

"Then judge," asked McCaffery, "I have a perfect right to her purse and to her money?"

"Oh, no, she could have you arrested if you did that," said Judge Helcher, "but there are several ways of stopping the difficulty. You see, the judge continued, 'I have had some experience myself—now you mustn't take that literally, but I have solved the problem. There are several ways. In the first place you might hide your trousers when you go to bed. Of course your wife might find them. Again you might go to bed wearing your trousers, then again each night you might leave your money in the keeping of some friend before you return home. You might purchase a safe for your home and refuse to let your wife know the combination."

"But the safest and surest way to have your money when you get up in the morning is to sew it in the inside of your pajamas each night. Sew it on the back of your night clothes and then always sleep on your back."

"McCaffery left the court room with the approved intention of purchasing a strong box, declaring that he could not accept the more reasonable solution of the magistrate as he never slept on his back."

SHARKS STOP A STEAMSHIP

Sailors Held Man-Eaters With Knives But They Could Not Drive Them Away.

Port Lincoln, South West—Sharks delayed the progress of the Royal Mail steamship Harpis, which arrived here, and for three days a dread and life and helpless because of a school of about 20 man-eaters that hovered about her stern. So it was that the ship was forced to stop at the point of the pierhead and began humbly ranted in the property. Sailors were prepared to cut out any shark that was seen to approach the ship. It was on an instant and soon the water was red with the blood of the fish, the men defending themselves with the butchers.

The sailors refused to make further attempts at driving the sharks away from their first experience. At the end of three days, deprived of food, the sharks departed and the propeller was freed.

Two-Ton Magnet Saves Sight.

Terre Haute, Ind.—A two-ton magnet at Ross Polytechnic institute was used to extract a steel splinter from a man's eye after an oculist had tried in vain to remove it by surgical operation and at the same time save his sight. The patient was almost blind when the magnet, and his head was turned so that the direct drawing force would be applied to the eyeball. The splinter was quickly to the surface of the magnet.

The Hair Band

A BAND for the hair every hour of the twenty-four is the latest fashion which milady is devoting herself heart and mind. Apparently we have just discovered the neatness and beauty of bands for the hair, which should have been brought home to our intelligence long ago.

For wear in the daytime, the plain band of black velvet or other ribbon, harmonizes with hair of every color, and lends a sparkle to gray hair which is particularly beautiful. Manufacturers are making bands of many varieties to harmonize with most of the shades of hair, of which there are innumerable gradations. These bands are for daytime wear, all about two and a half inches wide. They are finished with a flat bow and fasten with hooks and eyes.

For evening, wide lustrous ribbon, tulle net and swagged fabrics are used. The rosette is fastened just above the tip of the ear. Velvet ribbons in vivid shades of green—in coral and cerise, as well as black, are used with ornaments of rhinestone.

Even at night, wide soft ribbons are worn when the hair is put in rollers or on pins, to conceal them and render the head slightly. The back hair, braided in two loose braids, is tied to the end with a yard length of wide, soft ribbon. The braids are brought about the head with one length of the ribbon. The other ribbon is tied in a small bow a little to one side of the center of the brow. The band in the hair, finished with bow or rosette, is universally becoming. From babyhood and style in the hands may vary, but the band, like the hair, is always correct. It is a finish to the coiffure, useful and beautiful.

DECORATIONS FOR BRASS BED GOOD FEATURE IN LINGERIE

Idea That Makes for Comfort and Adds to Appearance of Room.

New Undergarments That Can Be Laundered Quickly and Easily Anywhere.

Brass beds look charming and attractive and often brighten an otherwise dark bedroom, but many people complain that they are far colder than an ordinary wooden bed that has a high head and footboard to protect them from drafts. To overcome this objection a clever woman devised a scheme which not only corrected this defect, but also added a decorative note to the room.

The hangings and window seat were made of gray chins, having garlands of pink roses scattered over the surface. She bought more of this material and made covers that slipped easily over the brass rods at the head and foot of the bed. These were finished at the bottom with dainty frills of the material. A frill was fastened around the mattress, which showed beneath the bedspread.

The covers were found not only to add much to the general comfort, but were also useful in protecting the brass from the usual darts and scratches that are apt to come with the daily wear and tear of a much used room.

They were made to be removed easily if required for special occasions.

NIGHTDRESS.

The new garments come in every weight from the heaviest silk crepe to the flimsiest crepe de chine, built into nightgowns, chemises, corset covers, combinations and petticoats. They are shown in white and colors and many are substantially embroidered in self-tone silk.

Another idea for the traveler or the girl away from home is the Italian silk undergarment. It is most familiar as an undershirt, but so popular and practical has it proven that it has been adapted to cover the entire lingerie wardrobe—Washington Star.

How to Choose a Teapot.

The real secret in choosing a teapot, he it made of silver, crown drape or even the humble but useful brown "brown" is this: Never buy a teapot with the foot of the spout low down in the body of the pot. Let the spout be set high in the body, then you can fill the pot well up, without the tea dribbling over, as it never fails to do when having a lowbuilt spout close to the teapot's foundation. Far too many fancy articles are made, and sold more fit to stand among chimney piece ornaments than to brew and pour that welcome beverage which cheers, but does not inebriate.

THE GREAT HEREAFTER

By PASTOR RUSSELL of Brooklyn Tabernacle

TEXT—It shall come to pass in the last days that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow into it.—Isaiah 11:2.

Our text has not yet been fulfilled, but we believe the beginning of its fulfillment to be near. It pictures Messiah's kingdom, for which Christian people have long been waiting and praying. "Thy kingdom come; they will be done on earth as it is in heaven"—the same kingdom for which the Jews so long waited and are still waiting. Our text relates not to the spiritual part of the kingdom, which the Gospel church is called to share, but to the earthly part of the kingdom, which belongs to the natural seed of Abraham. A great mistake has been made by many of us in the past, in that we have not discerned and acknowledged the two Israels, spiritual and natural, and the separate rewards and blessings apportioned to these by the Divine promises of the Scriptures. Both are to be used of God in fulfilling the promise made to Abraham—in blessing all the families of the earth.

After the completion of Messiah, Head and Members, on the plane of glory, the New Covenant will be inaugurated with Israel, as the Scriptures distinctly teach (Jeremiah xxxi. 31-34). Our text, therefore, speaks of its accomplishment until the last member of the elect Church of Christ shall have passed beyond the vale.

In the symbolic language of the Scriptures a mountain is always symbolic of a kingdom. Hence the mountain of the Lord's house means the kingdom of God and that royal house or family recognized by him. For instance, we read that David sat upon the throne of the kingdom of the Lord and that God made a covenant with him, "even the sure mercies of David"—viz., that none but his seed, his posterity, would ever be recognized as the Divinely appointed representatives of God in kindly authority and power. In other words, Messiah was to be the offspring of David, the great antitypical David (Beloved), who must come from seed to seed, and from the root to the ends of the earth.

The Messiah-King on the spirit plane, the Son of God (and like God invisible to men, as are also the angels), is the antitypical David and the antitypical Solomon, the wise, the great, the rich. In the days of his flesh, the Son of David according to the flesh, though begotten of a divine life not tainted by any human imperfection. He was, therefore, holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners. His faithfulness to the will of the Father made him subject to all of the experiences of suffering and death, as expressed in his own words. The cup which my Father has poured for me, shall I refuse to drink it? His obedience unto death, even the death of the cross, demonstrating his loyalty to the last degree and he received the high reward appropriated. "Him hath God also highly exalted and given a name that is above every name, that the name of Jesus every knee should bow, both in heaven and of things in earth."

We have before our minds the antitypical house of David, Messiah's kingdom, the royal priesthood divinely prepared. As a kingdom it will be at the top, above all the kingdoms of the spirit and of things in earth. The spiritual kingdom (invisible to man as are angels and indivisible), but it will include also an earthly kingdom, (composed of "Israelites indeed.") At their head as princes in all the earth will stand the resurrected Ancient Worthies, perfected as men among the laws of mankind, by obedient to the laws of the kingdom, may attain to with eternal life. These Ancient Worthies are enumerated in the Scriptures—Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, the prophets, etc., and described by St. Paul in Hebrews 11:35-40. To these belong the earthly promises of the Old Testament. They never heard of the heavenly or spiritual promises. Their loyalty will find its reward in the fact that they will come forth from the tomb no longer blemished and imperfect, but fully, completely restored to the perfection originally enjoyed by father Adam. Additionally these will have the special guidance and instruction of Messiah (head and members) in all the affairs of mankind. Thus as the Master said, speaking of that time, "Ye shall see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and the prophets in the kingdom (Luke 13:28).

God's kingdom will be represented in the earth by Israel, especially by these saintly men of Israel, resurrected perfect, who will be the special appointees and representatives of the glorified Messiah's rule.

Humankind for 6,000 years has been learning "the exceeding sinfulness of sin," its downward tendency in every sense of the word.

As a consequence, the world is losing confidence in itself. All, whether politicians or judges or governors, great or small, or one party or another, are all accused of being tainted with the same stick of selfishness. The Bible clearly indicates that this distrust is not without reason, and that the great time of trouble to come upon every nation (Daniel 7:23) will be the direct result of this loss of confidence.

Just suppose the suffragettes had control in Mexico.

Oh, it seems so hard to die, To that we'll all agree.

If a man gets into a jacket in politics, what would the same position be called when occupied by a suffragette?

Maybe one reason of the ground hog's rush back to his den this season was that he heard some market quotations on hogs.

If you'll look carefully through all the historical data concerning Job you'll find that he never undertook to run a newspaper.

We were just thinking that if we were taking joyrides through the azure blue that we wouldn't just now head our "autogoplane" in the direction of Mexico.

Dr. Moore has been making regular visits to Kerrville for some time and has treated quite a number of patients, who express themselves as being well pleased with his treatment. He cures all diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat that are curable. If incurable he will tell you and will not take your money. He positively cures granulated sore eyes, without caustics or the knife, straightens cross eyes, removes growths from the eyes, nose or throat. His consultations and examinations are free.

No Need to Stop work.

When your doctor orders you to stop work it staggers you. "I can't," you say. You know you are weak, rundown, and falling in health day by day but you must work as long as you can stand. What you need is Electric Bitters to give you strength, and vigor to your system to prevent breakdown and to build you up.

Don't be weak, sickly or ailing when Electric Bitters will build you up. The first dose thousands have taken for their glorious health and strength. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at J. A. Heymans.

Married

Mr. Lewis Caldwell and Miss Emma Prockers are the ones who have lately entered into the blissful bonds of matrimonial tie.
Lewis arrived here from Concho County Tuesday, and we thought he would have a very cheerful mood at his wedding. His bride, our suspicion, were allayed Wednesday morning while they were all jointly pursuing the same tenor of our way. The news reached us that cupid had again won the game. The marriage ceremony took place at the home of the bride in Junction Tuesday morning and was conducted by Rev.
S. L. Batchelor. The happy young couple left Wednesday for their new home at Ruth, Concho County.

The bride is a most estimable and accomplished young lady, and well fitted to be queen of the home.

Lewis is well known here
having made this his home but a short time ago, and numbers his friends by his acquaintance. He is a worthy young gentleman of high integrity and well deserving of the good fortune which is his.

We wish for Mr. and Mrs.

joys and the richest portion of earthly prosperity.

SYNOPSIS.

Senator John Calhoun is invited to become secretary of state in Van Zandt's cabinet. He declines, but he agrees to go and discuss the matter with the president. He sends his secretary, Miss Leake, to call on the baroness, who is the wife of the British ambassador. She is the baroness's home, a carriage drive up and down the street. She is the baroness's home, a carriage drive up and down the street. She is the baroness's home, a carriage drive up and down the street.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Continued.

Yet she was the same. She seemed slightly thinner now, yet not less beautiful. Her eyes were dark and brilliant as ever. The clear features of her face were framed in the net of her heavy locks, as I had seen them last. Her garb, as usual, betokened luxury. She was robed as though for some fête, all in white satin and pale blue fines of stones woven fairly at throat and wrist. Contrast enough she made to me, clad in smock-bordered drapery of buck, with the leggings and moccasins of a savage my left tacking had prepared for weapons.

"I see, madam," said I, smiling, "that still I am only asleep and dreaming. But how exquisite a dream, here in this wild country! How still here am I, a savage, who introduces the one discordant note into so sweet a dream!"

I gestured to my costume, gestured about me as I took in the details of the long room in which we stood. I swear it was the same as that in which I had seen her at the same hour in Montreal! It was the same I had first seen in Washington!

"Impossible! I am deceived? Ah, but do I not know? Did I not see? Here were the pictures on the walls, the carved Cupids, the candelabra with their prisms, the chairs, the couches! Beyond yonder satin curtains rose the high canopy of the embroidery-covered couch, its fringed drapery reaching almost to the ceiling of the carpet.

that no woman in the world should be happy if I could help, I slipped in the body of the slipper a little line or so that I had written when you did not see, when I was in the other room. 'Twas that took the place of Van Zandt's message, after all. Monsieur, it was fate. Van Zandt's letter, without plan, fell on my table. Your note, sent by plan, remained in the slipper."

"And what did it say? Tell me at once!"

"Very little. Yet enough for a woman who loved and who expected. Only this: 'In spite of that other woman, come to me still. Who can teach you love of woman as I can?' Helena! I think it was some such words as these."

"I had not thought any one capable of that," said I.

"Ah, but I repented on the instant! I repented before night came. In the twilight I got upon my knees and prayed that all your plan might go wrong—if I could call it plan."

"But again I could only turn away to ponder."

"See," she went on; "for myself, this is irreparable, but it is not so for you, nor for her. It is not too ill to be made right again. There in Montreal, I thought that I had failed in my plan, that you indeed were married. You held yourself well in hand; like a man, monsieur. But as to that, you were married, for your love for her remained; your pliege held. And did not I, repenting, marry you to her—did not I, on my knees, marry you to her that night? Oh, do not blame too much!"

"She should not have doubted," said I, "I should not go back and ask her again. The weakest of men are strong sometimes!"

"Ah, now you are but a man! Being such, you cannot understand how terribly much the faith of men means for a woman. It was her need for you that spoke, not her doubt of you. Forgive her. She was not to blame. Blame me! Do what you like to punish me. Now, I shall make amends. Tell me what I best may do. Shall I go to her, shall I tell her?"

"Not as my messenger. Not for me."

"No? Well, then, for myself? That is my right. I shall tell her how proudly faithful a man you were. Come," she said, "I will bargain with you, after all."

"Any bargain you like, madam."

"And I will keep my bargain. You know that I will."

"Yes, I know that."

"Very well, then. I am going back to Washington."

"How do you mean?"

"By land, across the country; the way you came."

"You do not know what you say, madam. The journey you suggest is incredible, impossible."

"That matters nothing. I am going. And I am going alone. No, you cannot come with me. Do you think I would risk more than I have risked? I go alone. I am England's spy, yes; that is true. I am to report the more I see, the more I shall have to report. Besides, I have something else to do."

"But would Mr. Pakenham listen to your report, after all?"

"None so doubtful for a concept. I am not going to tell him, but I shall tell him I saw Mr. Pakenham. I shall tell him I saw Miss Elizabeth Channing. I shall report also to her. Then I shall have done my duty. It is not so."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

For All Spring Blood Diseases and Ailments

Possesses medicinal merit Peculiar to Itself and has an unequalled record of cures. Take it this spring, in usual liquid form or tablets known as Sarsatabs.

Spring Humors are due to the impure, impoverished, devitalized condition of the blood brought about by the unwholesome modes of living during the winter, too close confinement, too little outdoor air and exercise, too heavy diet. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures them and builds up the whole system.

J. A. DAWSON Kerrville Texas

Sunday night a large crowd surprised Miss Zudie Nichols at her home on Kjac and, a very pleasant time was spent for several hours with both vocal and instrumental music. (Of course there were some that thought that the sweetest music was choir music usually rendered as duets in the corner.)

Will W. Arnett preached at Evergreen schoolhouse Sunday. There was a far attendance at Sunday school. Superintendent made a splendid talk on the subject of Temperance. He always has good things to say and says them in an interesting way. Many of our people don't know what they miss by not coming out Sundays. Don't stay at home or go visiting, come to Sunday school.

We see it here, we see it there and everywhere, a never ceasing bevy of people going westward, northward, southward, ever seeking for a better land. This spirit has gotten into our good neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Wooten. They started on the 15th on the long trip to the cold climes of Montana, nearly two thousand miles from here. Our people learning of the contemplated trip gathered in a large mass Thursday evening at the Wooten home and gave them a most fitting farewell party. Various games were indulged in, splendid music was furnished by Otie, Lottie and Felix McWilliams; a supper fit for the highest was given and a time of unalloyed pleasure was the lot of all. Johnnie Wooten is one of the staunch and dependable young farmers, a man whom all delight to call neighbor and friend; and his wife, a fitting companion, is a favorite in this community. All regret very much to see them go, and the wish is unanimous that their lots may be filled with blessings and a happy home may be theirs wherever they may locate.

marred the call of a neighbor on Mrs. W. P. Suanth of Manville, Wyo. who said: "I sue to do me Dr. King's New Life Pills has cured me of obstinate kidney trouble and made her feel like a new woman." Easy but sure remedy for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 25c at J. A. Heymanns.

PROTRACTED MEETING
To avoid conflicts in our protracted meetings I hereby give notice that our meeting this year will begin on the evening of the 25th day of June, and close on the evening of the 25th. Bro. C. R. Nichol, of Clifton, will do the preaching, and we expect to have good song services at each meeting. Everybody invited to come and enjoy this meeting with us. Bro. Nichol is one of our best evangelists. Come and hear him.

—JOHN S. DURST.

We Are CASH Buyers of

Hides Wool Mohair
Furs Pecans Beeswax

We wish to announce the opening of our new branch house at Menard, where we expect to do a larger mohair business than any of our houses. We operate at 46 & 48 South Main St., Saint Louis. Cor. Clark & Main, Brownwood, 30 Chadbourne St., San Angelo, also Lampasas, Brady and Menard. We claim to be the most extensive accumulators of hides and furs in West Texas. Mr. Guy Morgan is our Local Manager at Menard. Let him see you before disposing of your products in our line. By so doing we will make it largely to your interest.

Forced To Leave Home.
Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There is a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson of Columbia, Ark., when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds. It's surely the king of all cough and lung cures. Thousands owe their life and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Asthma, Croup, all throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. J. A. Heymanns.

Big Revival Meeting
Rev. S. L. Batchelor announces a big revival to begin at the Methodist Church in Junction on Friday evening April 21. Rev. M. J. Allen, a former pastor, but now West Texas Conference Evangelist, will assist in the preaching and a great meeting is expected. Everybody come, bring someone with you, and let all Christian people unite their efforts for good in this meeting.

A Dreadful Sight
to H. J. Barnum of Freeville, N. Y., was the fever sore that had plagued his life for years in spite of many remedies he tried. At last he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve and wrote: "It has entirely healed with scarcely a scar left." Head Burns, Boils, Eczema, Cuts, Bruises, Swellings, Corns and Fles like magic. Only 25c at J. A. Heymanns.

Fresh pies and cakes to the new restaurant.
