Witness says MacLeod was once 'top 20' teacher

ODESSA (Special) — An elementary teacher accused of strangling his wife and burying her severed head and hands in their Lubbock back yard was honored as one of the city's top 20 teachers in 1983, his former supervisor testified Wednesday.

Arthur Lee MacLeod, 36, being tried on a charge of murder this week in Odessa, for the May 21, 1985 death of his wife, 35-year-old Evelyne Feather MacLeod earned top peformance reports for his sixth grade teaching and won accolades from other educators, testified Clarence Priestly, principal at Bozeman Elementary School, where MacLeod worked for seven years.

But also included in MacLeod's file were two unsubstantiated reports that he drank on the job, Priestly said.

The principal also told jurors MacLeod was not at work on May 20 or May 21 the day that Mrs. MacLeod was slain and witnesses observed a man dumping an object — later found to be a woman's corpse — off a remote road south of Lubbock.

The murder trial was moved to Odessa after a motion for a change of venue because of excessive publicity in Lubbock was granted. Judge Tryon Lewis of 161st District court is presiding.

Also on Wednesday, the owner of a Lubbock plant nursery identified MacLeod as the man who purchased two plants from her the Saturday before lawmen unearthed a woman's head and hands under two similar plants.

Mary Lee, owner of the Little Red Riding Hood Nursery in Lubbock, told jurors MacLeod purchased two Arizona Cypress from

U.S.-Soviets resuming arms talks

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators resumed talks on limiting nuclear and space weapons today, with the chief Soviet delegate carrying details of Mikhail S. Gorbachev's proposal to ban all nuclear weapons within 15 years.

"Of course we will introduce those proposals today because we feel those proposals are the key points for our discussion," Viktor P. Karpov told journalists before the U.S. delegation arrived at the Soviet mission.

Karpov added, "We are prepared to discuss them with the United States as far as we are entitled."

Gorbachev's plan, announced Wednesday night, calls for halving the superpowers' strategic missile arsenals and eliminating their European-based medium-range rockets within eight years, followed by a universal nuclear weapons freeze and, finally, worldwide nuclear disarmament.

Terry Shroeder, spokesman for the U.S. negotiators in Geneva, said Wednesday that the Kremlin proposal would be "studied carefully." There was no immediate response to Karpov's statement from the American negotiators as they arrived to begin the fourth round of arms parleys in 10 months.

Max M. Kampelman, the chief U.S. delegate, said after the two sides sat down at the negotiating table that "the American delegation is here in a constructive spirit anxious to find an accommodation."

Freight decision delayed

A final decision regarding if a Waco-based freight line will be able to begin serving Snyder and Scurry County has been postponed by the Texas Railroad Commission until Jan 27.

An RRC decision regarding the request was scheduled this past Monday, but a spokesman with the state agency said Wednesday it was putoff "apparently because the examiner needed to check further details."

Brian Schaible of the RRC's office of information services said the request had been posted in the Texas Register by the Secretary of State's office, a requirement of all RRC agenda items.

This must be done at least a week before it may be considered by the three-member state regulatory agency.

Central Freight Line of Waco has made application to purchase the operating rights of Santa Fe Trail Transportation Co., an affiliated of Santa Fe Railroad.

The initial RRC examiner's recommendation regarding the proposal was that it be granted.

If this is the ultimate RRC decision, Central will be allowed to haul freight along U.S. Hwy. 84 as it passes through Snyder. The route will include from Lubbock to where 84 intersects with I-20 at Sweetwater.

"DRACULA" — Dracula and Lucy Westenra — portrayed here by Lance Aldridge and Lisa Kimmel — are the principal characters in the SHS Drama Department's production of "Dracula." Dracula 'original' to open 3-day run

By NOBLE B. YOUNG
SDN Staff Writer

Snyder theatre goers will witness the premier of an original production Saturday evening with the opening of the SHS Drama Department's, production of "Dracula."

Working directly from Bram Stoker's novel of the same name, drama students Tim Curfman, Kyle Hawes, Brad Vincent and Richard Lack have written the stage play.

According to drama teacher Jerry Worsham, the commitment to "Dracula" came about in response to his students' desire to do some sort of original production.

"Dracula" was chosen as a vehicle for several reasons including the story's ability to hold the interest of the students.

Also, according to Worsham, most of the available adaptations of "Dracula" are "really terrible."

Work on the production began last October with the initial idea of producing a Halloween show.

That idea proved unfeasible, however, as the students realized how time consuming the project would be.

Curfman has served as editor-in-chief for the writing part of the project and actual work on the stage play began with his study of the novel and writing of scenes for the stage.

As Curfman completed a scene, he would bring it into the theatre where the 30-plus cast members would act it out.

In those sessions, the actors as well as assistant editors Hawes, Lack and Vincent were allowed to make suggestions for additions or deletions.

In most cases, the process of acting out and rewriting the scene was repeated three or more times.

"Dracula" has been presented once before by the SHS department, but Worsham notes the 1986 version has only the barest resemblance to the show produced in November of 1981.

That show, derived from a script authored by a San Francisco playwright, focused almost exclusively on the relationship between Dracula and Lucy Westenra.

In contrast to most productions which feature a cast of eight to 10, the SHS "Dracula" will feature a cast of 30 with several subplots and characters generating major interest.

Curtain time for the three-act drama will be 8 p.m. Saturday, Monday and Tuesday evenings in Worsham Auditorium.

Tickets are priced at $5 for reserved seats and $3 for general admission. Reservations may be obtained by calling 573-6301.

Probation, restitution follows plea

A 37-year-old former Snyder resident has been sentenced in 132nd District Court after pleading guilty to charges of theft in an amount greater than $750 and less than $20,000.

Michael Dow Mayfield — now of Malakoff — was placed on felony probation for 10 years and ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $9,409 after entering a guilty plea to the charge.

He was indicted for that offense in January in connection with the August 1985 purchase of supplies for the Yellow Rose Restaurant here from the Sysco restaurant supply company.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Instead of raising the price of postage, why don't they just use smaller stamps?"

According to someone who didn't have much else to do, the average American male is 29.6 years of age. He is five-foot-nine and weighs 173 pounds.

Mr. Average wears a size 40 regular suit, a size 7 ¼ hat, and size 34 pants. His shirt has a 15½ neck and 33-inch sleeves. His shoes are 9½ C or D.

What is the average American female? She is 32.2 years old, five-foot-four and weighs 143 pounds. She wears a size 10-12 dress, size 7 hat, size 10-12 skirt, and shoes that are 7½ B.

The big difference between the average man and the average woman has to do with the shoes. The average man has a brown and black pair, while the female has an assortment.

We suspect the reason women collect shoes instead of dresses is the shoe size rarely changes.

This week marks the end of the first semester of classes for Snyder students. It's been an eventful year, but kids are what make it all worthwhile.

One Snyder mother had instructed her first grader to come straight home from school. For weeks, however, he was late arriving home.

"You get out of school the same time every day," his mother said. "Why can't you get home at the same time?"

The youngster told the mother that it all depended on the cars. Naturally, she asked what cars had to do with his arriving home on time.

"Well," the youngster explained, "the crossing guard who takes us across the street makes us wait until some cars come along so she can stop them."

Folks over at Lou's Kiddie Kottage get a kick out of hearing preschool students' version of familiar songs.

Right after the Christmas holidays, one youngster sang, "Old MacDonald Had A Farm, G. I., G. I. Joe."

Two assault cases noted Wednesday

A 14-year-old Snyder youth is now facing possible prosecution on two counts of sexual assault on a child in connection with an incident reported here Sunday.

Two women called Snyder police Wednesday afternoon and reported that their daughters — both 7 years of age — had been assaulted by the juvenile.

The assaults are alleged to have occurred while the boy was babysitting the two girls Sunday evening.

Detectives investigating the case said Thursday morning that medical tests were scheduled to determine if the girls had been assaulted.

The cases have been referred to the DA's office.

Q. — Are any school districts taxing cars and trailers in Scurry County other than Hermleigh?

A. — Trailers or mobile homes are taxed statewide under the law. Automobiles and light trucks may be exempt, however, and only Hermleigh taxes these locally. A spokesman with the State Property Tax Board said "not that many" taxing entities statewide still tax motor vehicles. A notable exception, however, is the City of Dallas.

Ship blaze

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Fire broke out aboard a ship in drydock early today, injuring three people and trapping 13 others inside the boat, officials said.

Authorities moved to rescue crew members from the burning Pioneer Contractor, officials said.

The fire at the Lone Star drydock, in the Todd Shipyard on Pelican Island, began shortly before 6 a.m., said Elizabeth Houston, a dispatcher for the Galveston Fire Department.

Shrimp ban

HOUSTON (AP) — The annual May-to-July ban of shrimping off the Texas coast may be called off this year after a federal fishery council agreed to recommend the ban be lifted.

Texas shrimpers won the preliminary battle by convincing the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council that the ban, in effect since 1981, is discriminatory against Texas shrimpers and driving them toward bankruptcy.

Advocates of the ban say the closed season allows small brown shrimp to grow to a larger, more profitable size. The closed zone extends from 10 miles to 200 miles offshore.

Housing growth is expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apartments and starter homes will begin giving way to more luxurious houses as the Baby Boomers mature in the coming decade, a private population group says in a study that offers good news for some homebuilders, and bad news for others.

It's good news for builders of large, single-family homes who can look for a booming market among a generation that includes many two-income couples unencumbered by the expense of children.

But the outlook isn't so grand for apartment owners who will be faced with a shrinking supply of young adults newly on their own — the group most likely to want to rent, according to the study published Wednesday by the Population Reference Bureau, a private research organization.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My problem is growing, and I am going crazy. My husband pursues the following throughout the year: hunting, fishing, football, basketball, baseball, golf, softball (two teams) and bowling!

I am home with two children. One is 3 1/2; the baby is 5 months old. Some of my friends say, "Go to work; you've got to get out of the house and do your own thing." Wrong! I tried it when my firstborn was a year old. I worked as a secretary for peanuts, came home dead tired and had to do 90 percent of the work at home because either my husband wasn't home or he was watching sports on TV.

Thank God he doesn't drink or chase other women. He does bring home a good paycheck, but Abby, I'm tired of being ignored while he's away at a game or participating in one.

I considered hiring a sitter and taking classes, but that's expensive, and besides what I really want is a family life with him and our children. I've told him how I feel about this and he doesn't argue or get angry, he just ignores me.

I'm attractive, I'm a good housekeeper and cook, and I'm good company.

I hate to give him an ultimatum, but I have such deep resentment building up inside me. What should I do?

MARRIED WITH NO HUSBAND

DEAR MARRIED: It's not enough to tell him how you feel; he already knows that. Tell him that if he wants a family he will have to join you in marriage counseling because although you love him dearly, your marriage is coming apart at the seams. If he refuses, go without him. You need professional help now. Don't wait until this selfish man is too set in his ways to change.

DEAR ABBY: Should hairdressers be tipped for their services? A friend says no, because hairdressers are professionals, and professionals would be insulted if they were offered a tip.

Right or wrong?

GENEROUS TIPPER

DEAR TIPPER: Wrong. In this part of the world, hairdressers, like waitresses, need their tips in order to survive. If a tip is an insult, I say insult 'em to the max.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ENGAGED TO BE MARRIED IN BELLEVILLE, ILL.: Yes, I wrote a booklet titled "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," but the best advice I can offer a bride is: See your doctor (and preferably a gynecologist) for a physical checkup and authoritative answers to all your questions before marriage.

If birth control is desired, it should be planned before the wedding. This includes Catholic girls, too, as the rhythm method should be clearly understood to be successfully practiced. (Too many young wives, who had planned on working for a few years, discover to their horror that they got pregnant on their honeymoon.)

Many couples experience shock and grief on learning that they are unable to consummate the marriage due to some slight physical abnormality that could have been easily corrected by minor surgery.

Motherly advice from Aunt Liz or "tips" from one of the girls are fine, but before a bride keeps her date with the preacher, she should keep one with her doctor.

Shuttle landing delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space officials canceled the shuttle Columbia's return to Earth today because of clouds and light rain over the landing strip here.

"We will wave off for 24 hours ... you're no-go for the de-orbit burn," Mission Control told the astronauts, who have had more than their share of hard luck.

The crew received the bad news just 19 minutes before they were have fired braking rockets to start the descent.

Columbia's liftoff four days ago was postponed seven times because of mechanical and weather problems.

There was only one landing opportunity here today, and NASA said another attempt will be made Friday, when conditions are expected to be better.

Commander Robert Gibson requires clear visibility here to find the 15,000-foot, canal-flanked concrete runway as he tries for the first shuttle landing at Kennedy Space Center since Discovery blew a tire and damaged its brakes on touchdown nine months ago.

NASA had directed the seven astronauts to come home today, a day early, to help the agency maintain a tight launch schedule of 15 shuttle flights this year.

Sorority has guest speaker with 'Growing Up' topic

Beta Sigma Phi met on Jan. 7 at the Snyder Country Club with Jacalyn Lowrance presenting the program, "Growing Up! What It Is and How We Do It."

Lowrance focused her program on growing and changing during the middle years of life. Beginning with the age of 25, each stage in one's life was discussed up to the age of 50. The group was reminded that life is not the same at 45 as at 25, nor are the people the same. The conclusion of the program was, "At 50 there is a new warmth and mellowing. Friends and family become more important than ever, and so does privacy."

Following the program, president Sue Sewell conducted the business meeting. Jackie Buckland read the minutes and Dena Ellis gave the treasurer's report.

Mickey Baird, ways and means chairman, announced that the Valentine Ball will be the evening of Feb. 8 at the Snyder Country Club. Tickets are $15 a couple and may be purchased from a member. There will be no ticket sales at the door.

Brenda Hedges gave a report on the chapter's local service project, noting that monies were used in the community to help others during Christmas.

The next meeting will be Jan. 21 in the home of Mary Lou Scott. The couple's Crazy Bridge social has been scheduled for Jan. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Snyder Country Club.

Your Birthday

Jan. 17, 1986

Strong new ambitions will stir in you in the year ahead. You'll raise your sights and aim for bigger targets. Success is likely, but you'll have to earn it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The heavy demands of others on your time and talents today are likely to severely restrict your mobility. A resentful attitude will only make matters worse. Major changes are ahead for Capricorns in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Unsound plans will misfire today and could even cause you additional complications. Take time to lay out a blueprint that will work.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An extensive price tag is no assurance of quality today, either in merchandise or pleasurable activities. The more you spend, the less you may get.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are too forceful or assertive today, it will turn the very people whose help you need most against you. Use your smarts and be tactful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be optimistic regarding the outcome of events today, but also be logical. Don't embellish reality with rosy brushstrokes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to be extra cautious in your commercial affairs today. Don't allow anyone to push you into something that requires more study.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Agreements you enter into today must provide equal benefits to both parties. If the deal is lopsided, it will shortly collapse of its own weight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be willing to help others today, provided it's your own idea. But you might resent being asked to do things you didn't think of first.

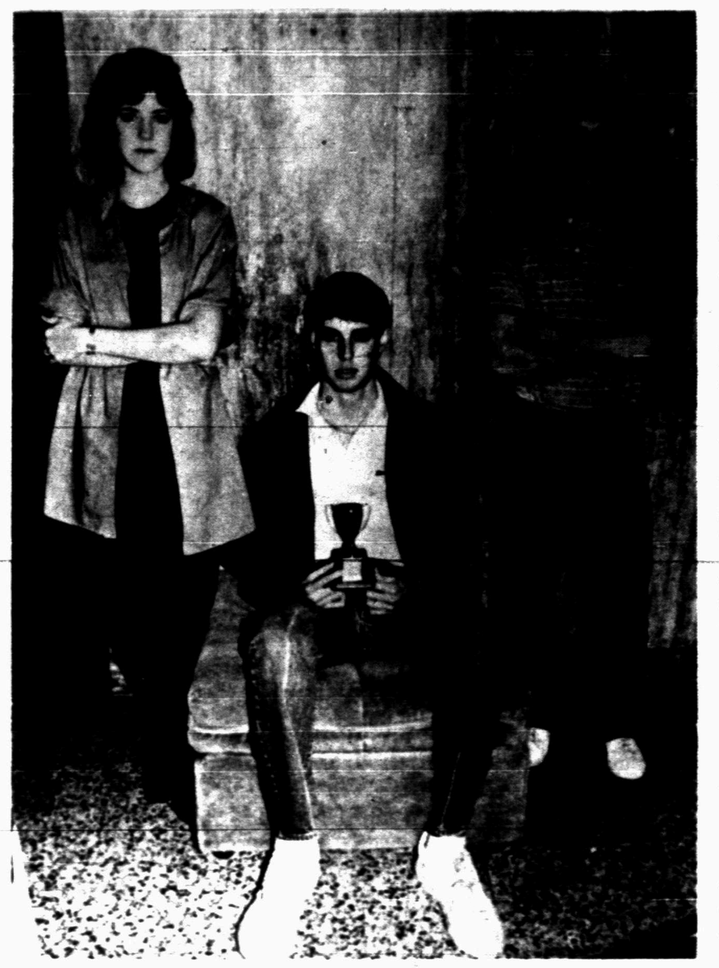

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today, guard against tendencies to be overly possessive of the one you love. Instead of drawing this person closer to you, it will push him or her away.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For the sake of harmony on the homefront today, avoid bringing up issues that put you and your mate in opposing positions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your productivity could be at a low ebb today. It won't be due to an absence of good ideas, but because you'll want others to execute them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of those days where you may only get what you truly earn. If you're looking for something for nothing, it's likely you'll be disappointed.

Three men are buried as police search for suspect

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Jorge Gomez was excited about his wedding in April and Robert Smith, equally as much since he was going to be best man.

On Wednesday, the two 18-year-olds were buried side-by-side, a week after their charred bodies and that of another friend, Jaime Ayala, 22, were found in a burned car outside of Brownsville.

They had been shot near a house, their bodies placed in a late-model Chrysler LeBaron, which was driven near a dirt road and set on fire.

A funeral Mass was celebrated Wednesday morning for Gomez and Smith at Christ the King Catholic Church.

Ayala's service was conducted in the afternoon in the same church.

A priest, who conducted both services, told Ayala's family and friends that they should realize the three were in better hands.

Homeless shiver in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A rare cold snap with temperatures in the 20s has turned survival "from just miserable to impossible" for thousands of people still living outdoors, four months after earthquakes destroyed their homes.

"You just can't imagine how cold it is if you don't live this way," Jesus Gonzalez Lopez said Wednesday, sitting outside a canvas tent that is home to his family of eight.

A 10-month-old girl wrapped in blankets and towels lay on the ground beside him, shivering despite the morning sunshine.

Gonzalez, one of an estimated 40,000 people living in official shelters or tent camps, smiled weakly at the federal Health Department's advice to eat a high-calorie diet and keep warm during the cold wave.

"Such advice always comes from people who have food to begin with," he said as traffic whizzed past on the busy Paseo de la Reforma.

His five other children, ranging in age from 4 through 15, emerged from the tent pulling blankets or ill-fitting, donated sweaters around them.

Nine people have been found dead, according to the government, since polar air pushed into the Valley of Mexico on Saturday. All were found outdoors by police, but there was no indication the victims were among the "damnificados," as those left homeless by the Sept. 19 earthquake are called.

The dead were found by a police rescue squad that operates in winter weather each year among the poor and chronically homeless.

Mexico City's all-time record low was 24 degrees, set on Jan. 11, 1914. On Jan. 12, 1956, the temperature dropped to 25.

Few homes have heat in Mexico City.

Protestors disrupt transit service

DALLAS (AP) — About 20 demonstrators hoped to tie their struggle for handicapped rights to the civil rights movement by blocking two downtown streets with wheelchairs and chaining themselves to buses on Martin Luther King's birthday.

While the four-hour protest over the lack of buses with wheelchair lifts succeeded in calling attention to the problem, it also agitated non-disabled citizens who called to ask police to arrest the protestors who were mostly from out of state.

Seventeen people were arrested on a misdemeanor charge four hours after they began creating havoc Wednesday by jamming traffic and delaying bus service, police spokesman Bob Shaw said.

The streets were cleared in time for rush hour traffic.

George Cooper of Irving was the last to be arrested, as police used chain-cutters to unchain his wheelchair from a bus about 4:40 p.m.

The protestors had wanted to remain in place until midnight in honor of King because they considered their plight to be a matter of civil rights.

PUC grants $53.4 million AT&T hike; some rates cut

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite objections from its chairwoman, the Public Utility Commission has given AT&T Communications a $53.4 million rate hike that includes a 2.5 percent cut in the cost of some long distance calls.

Chairwoman Peggy Rosson said the company, which claims Texas losses of $45 million in 1985, did not prove it needed a penny more. She also opposed the level of business service rate hikes needed to cover the toll call reduction.

"I'm very concerned about raising other costs so rapidly, 145 percent in one fell swoop," she said. "The very small reduction in basic long distance does not outweigh that sufficiently."

The increase also includes higher prices for operator help.

The 2.5 percent cut covers intrastate long distance calls of 106 miles or more.

Company spokesman Phil Bode said the $53.4 million hike is not enough. The company wanted $114.5 million.

"We didn't come here asking for the amount we asked for because we didn't need it. It's less than we asked for and we're disappointed," Bode said.

Commissioners Dennis Thomas and Jo Campbell outvoted Ms. Rosson and approved the hike.

The increase will come from increases of up to 145 percent for outgoing WATS and private line service, a $1.05 charge for operator assistance on credit card calls — up from 35 cents — and a $1.55 charge for operator help on station-to-station calls — up from $1.10.

Also approved was a 50-cent charge for long-distance directory assistance calls. Two free calls will be allowed per month.

The PUC action effects only intrastate rates.

Thomas said the 2.5 percent toll cut should be the beginning of cheaper long distance service for Texans.

"We'll begin to see some of the benefits of divestiture and some of the benefits that competition can bring about," he said.

AT&T, which favors long distance toll cuts, claims it is being hurt in Texas by unregulated competitors with lower prices.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TEXAS UTILITIES ELECTRIC COMPANY hereby publishes NOTICE that, pursuant to the provisions of the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Public Utility Commission's Substantive Rule 23.23(b)(2), it filed an application on January 14, 1986, with the Public Utility Commission of Texas seeking authority to refund to its customers a prior over-recovery under its fixed fuel factors (base rate fuel component) in the amount of $78,002,807 as of November 30, 1985, including applicable interest, and to reduce its current fixed fuel factors.

Texas Utilities Electric Company has proposed that the refund be made and its fixed fuel factors be reduced effective with customers usage beginning with the billing month of March 1986. The proposed change in fixed fuel factors is expected to result in a $233,413,145, or 11.88%, decrease in fuel revenues for the twelve months ended September 30, 1985, adjusted only for customer growth. All customers and classes of customers whose electric service rates include charges for fuel cost pursuant to Texas Utilities Electric Company's Rider FC, entitled "Base Rate Fuel Component," and all territories in which Texas Utilities Electric Company provides electric service through its Dallas Power & Light Company, Texas Electric Service Company and Texas Power & Light Company divisions will be affected if the application is granted.

A complete copy of said application is on file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Public Utility Commission of Texas as soon as possible. Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

Treatment isn't always helpful

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 35-year-old husband hurt his lower back and was out of work for eight months. During that time, he had a treatment to his back called chymopapain. He was told the treatment would be minor, with no complications. Well, his reaction was that he could not move for four days. He still can't tie his own shoes or slip on his pants in the morning, he's so stiff. Did this treatment affect his organs? Is his injury permanent?

DEAR READER — The injection of chymopapain is a new method to relieve the pain of a herniated disc in the back. It is supposed to allow patients to avoid surgery. Evidently, in your husband's case, the treatment was ineffective. Although the injection cannot directly affect his internal organs, it can permit continuation of pain and stiffness if the disc remains herniated. I think your husband needs to see a neurosurgeon or an orthopedic specialist who specializes in back disorders.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 59-year-old male who has had open-heart surgery with complications. I am getting along fine, except for one thing. Being single, I have been dating a lovely lady. We both enjoy sex, but I can't get any erections. Could the pills I'm taking be causing the problem? Should I talk to my doctor about it?

DEAR READER — My answer to your question is an unequivocal "yes." Although your performance problem may be the result of arteriosclerosis, medicine may contribute to the difficulty. By all means, talk this over with your doctor, and if he throws up his hands in dispair, seek another opinion.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had a stapedectomy in each ear 20 years ago. One morning last year, I woke up deaf in one ear. I have had constant loud ringing, pain that comes and goes, a pinching feeling, a feeling that something is moving in the ear, and also some dizziness and a lot of discomfort when lying on that side. My doctor says nothing can be done. This is driving me nuts!

DEAR READER — Stapedectomy is a procedure to remove the small bone (stapes) in the middle ear and replace it with a plastic substitute. Directly after surgery, patients may experience dizziness and headache for several days. However, symptoms that recur after 20 years are unusual. Because ears that are repaired can go bad, I suggest you see an ear specialist who is familiar with middle-ear problems. If you cannot be helped by another operation, at least the otolaryngologist could prescribe medicine to help your pain and dizziness.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had an operation in both knees and have new kneecaps. I go for a walk every day. Is that good for my knees?

DEAR READER — As long as they give you no discomfort, I assume it is. What advice does your surgeon give you?

What are the benefits of VITAMIN E? Dr. Gott's new Health Report tells what's true — and what isn't. Send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Vitamin E.

Key games coming up...

Westerners are in the hunt, but need to win on the road

At 2-2 for the young Western Junior College Athletic Conference season, Western Texas College's men aren't in a panic situation but they need to get their feet under them quickly.

The Westerners showed the effects of a month-long layoff when they lost to New Mexico Junior College 83-81 here Monday night. Western had a couple of chances to put the game into overtime, but missed two last-moment shots. More telling, however, was that the Westerners pulled within two points with about five minutes to go in the game, but could never catch the Thunderbirds.

"We finally started to play in the second half but when you are down like that it takes so much energy you can't come back in the end," said Coach Phil Spradling. "We just didn't do the things we had to do."

Western will play only its second game in a month Saturday, when the team takes off for Clarendon. The Westerners stay on the road to play Frank Phillips in Borger next Monday, then entertain nationally-ranked Midland on the following Thursday.

"These games will be real important for us," said Coach Spradling.

Midland's 4-0 record leads the conference while South Plains is close behind at 4-1. New Mexico's win over Western on Monday lifted the Thunderbirds to 2-1. Western, Odessa and Howard are all locked up at 2-2 apiece.

Midland is ranked No. 2 in the latest NJCAA poll. The Chaparrals, defending WJCAC champions, are 18-0 for the season.

Tonight, the Westerners are idle while much of the rest of the WJCAC is in action. A key game pits South Plains at Hobbs to play New Mexico Junior College. In other contests, New Mexico Military (0-4) is at Odessa and Frank Phillips (0-3) is at Midland.

Clarendon, 5-8 for the season and 1-2 in conference play, is idle.

To make a run at the conference title, Western will have to get strong inside play from 6-9 sophomore Cliff Langford, good outside shooting from Alvin Lee, a steady all-around game from James Dawn and some much-needed help from Alvin Hicks.

Hicks, a 6-5 sophomore with major college potential, averaged over 20 points early in the season but has dropped off to 14.7 now, and scored only 2 points in Monday's loss to NMJC.

Spradling will also have to have continued improvement from El Teal, good showings from John Lewis and George Moore, and some help inside from off the bench.

Playing team ball is the key for the Westerners.

Dusters face Ranger in non-WJCAC game

RANGER – Western Texas College's Dusters were to play their fifth game in eight days here tonight.

The Dusters, hoping to extend their 15-6 season record, take on Ranger in a non-conference game at 6.

The contest puts the Dusters at the start of another extended road trip. They play Ranger tonight, challenge the Lady Bulldogs in Clarendon on Saturday, then go to Borger to play Frank Phillips next Monday.

Clarendon and Frank Phillips are both conference opponents.

Western is 2-1 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play, tied with South Plains and Frank Phillips, and one game behind the nation's No. 1 ranked Odessa Lady Wranglers.

Western has won three straight ballgames, including Monday's WJCAC victory over New Mexico Junior College, 88-70.

In the only women's conference game scheduled tonight, South Plains (13-6, 2-1) is at Hobbs, N.M. to play New Mexico JC (14-7, 0-2).

MEET THE ATHLETES

KEVIN SCROGGINS

Kevin is a 6-6 sophomore from Chicago, who is one of the best leapers on the Western Texas College men's basketball team.

He played in seven games as a freshman, averaging 3.4 points and 1.4 rebounds.

He has seen limited playing time this season, averaging 2.6 points in eight games.

"Kevin really started improving at the end of last season. He's one of the best leapers on the team and he can be a real asset if he keeps working hard," said Coach Phil Spradling.

Julie Lyon has ambitions on being a high school coach, but right now, she is hoping to work her way into the Duster lineup at Western Texas College.

She graduated from Morton, where she helped the Indians to their first girl's district basketball title in 30 years. She averaged 20 points and 12 rebounds and was chose Most Athletic Girl at Morton High School.

She is a physical education major.

Lyon a 6-0 freshman, has seen limited playing time for the Dusters this season.

Tech wins again; Hogs falter in ot

by The Associated Press

Neither Texas A&M nor Texas Tech was expected to be undefeated after four Southwest Conference basketball games, but there they are - and they'll clash in Lubbock in a televised match Saturday afternoon to leave one team alone at the top of the conference standings.

The Aggies defeated Texas, previously unbeaten in league play, 55-54 Wednesday night, while Tech knocked off Baylor 62-48.

Both Tech and A&M are 4-0, and the defending SWC champion Red Raiders have 11 straight victories in conference play.

In other games involving league teams Wednesday night, Texas Christian pulled into a tie with Texas for third place at 4-1 by defeating Southern Methodist 63-54; Houston took an 87-85 overtime decision over Arkansas in a game between two previously winless teams in SWC play; and Rice defeated Sul Ross 93-50 in a nonconference contest.

Texas Tech 62, Baylor 48

Center Kent Wojciechoski scored a game-high 15 points for Tech.

"The game was a lot closer than the final score. You hear that a lot of times when you have a four, six or eight point game, because the team behind has to take some extra shots and take some extra chances," Texas Tech coach Gerald Myers said.

Texas A&M 55, Texas 54

Texas led 29-28 at halftime and 46-40 with 8:17 left and held a 54-50 edge with only 1:51 remaining. But Todd Holloway went the length of the floor with a steal to cut it to 54-52 and then Gary Lewis made another quick steal and fed Don Marbury for the tying goal with 1:09 remaining.

In the waning seconds, Texas' John Brownlee missed a short jumper and the rebound before Marbury came down with the ball and called a timeout with five seconds left.

Holloway took the inbounds pass and was driving down the side when he was fouled by Patrick Fairs with two seconds remaining.

Holloway made the first shot to give the Aggies the lead, but missed the second attempt. However, Lewis intercepted the inbounds pass to seal the Aggies' seventh straight victory at home this season.

Houston 87, Arkansas 85 (overtime)

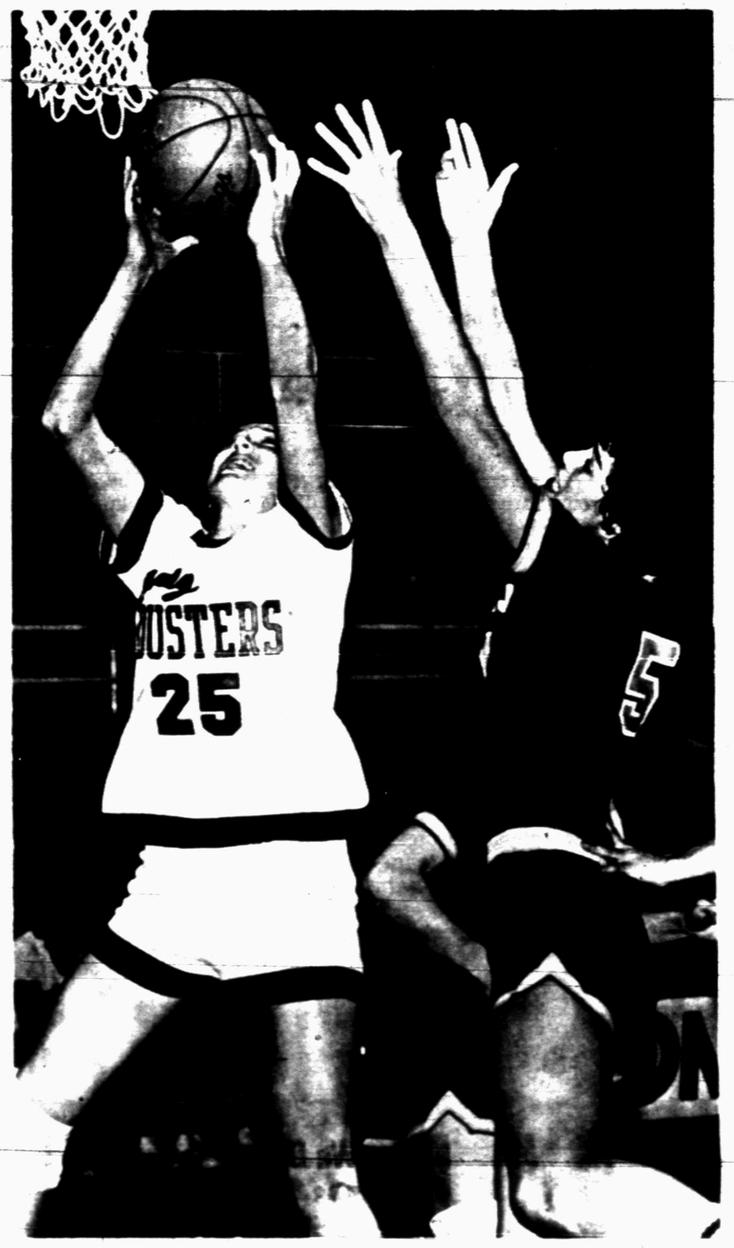

Arkansas' loss was the first time since 1971 that the Razorbacks have lost three straight games in Barnhill Arena.

Arkansas led 55-50 midway through the second half, but Houston scored the next seven points to take the lead.

Rickie Winslow's 15-foot jump shot gave Houston a 69-67 lead, but Arkansas' Kevin Rehl sent the game into overtime with his 18-footer with seven seconds remaining.

Houston's Cougars never trailed in overtime. A layup by Alvin Franklin and a soft jumper by Jerry McGee gave Houston a quick four-point advantage.

Wilt Chamberlain, playing for San Francisco, made 113 field goals in a seven-game playoff series against St. Louis in 1964 to set an NBA post-season record.

VIE IN RANGER TONIGHT – Western Texas' Dusters take on Ranger in a non-conference game at 6 tonight in Ranger. The Dusters then join the Westerners this Saturday for a conference date in Clarendon. Tigers look for fan support when Pecos arrives Friday

Coach Larry Scott's Tigers have an important District 2-4A game coming up with Pecos this weekend and he wants to make sure the community knows about it.

"We'd like to have the fans come out and watch the game. Pecos has a good team and this is an important game for us," said Scott, whose Tigers entertain the Eagles at 8 p.m. Friday in Scurry County Coliseum. "They are one of the real dark horses in the district. They beat Monahans (66-49) the other night. We're looking for a tough game."

Snyder and Pecos are sitting third and fourth in the District 2-4A standings. Snyder is 4-1 in loop action while Pecos is 3-2. Both teams are clearly still in the hunt for post season play.

Scott said the Eagles make teams play good defense.

"They run a real good offense. They do a lot of screening and one-on-one or two-on-two moves. They never seem to run the same thing down the floor. They call set plays everytime," he said.

Snyder has won four straight ballgames since losing its 2-4A opener to Lamesa. The Tigers are 13-4 for the 1985-86 season. Pecos is 9-7.

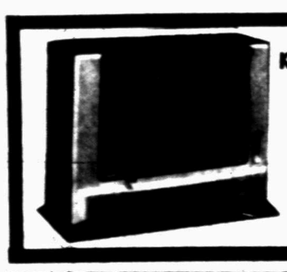

In other 2-4A boy's action-Friday, Andrews is at Sweetwater, Lamesa at Fort Stockton and Lake View at Monahans.

While Coach Scott's troops are at home Friday, Ken Housden's Lady Tigers will be on the road to Pecos. The girls will no doubt keep a sharp ear listening for news from Andrews, where Sweetwater and Andrews square off. Sweetwater is 7-0 in conference play while Andrews is 6-1.

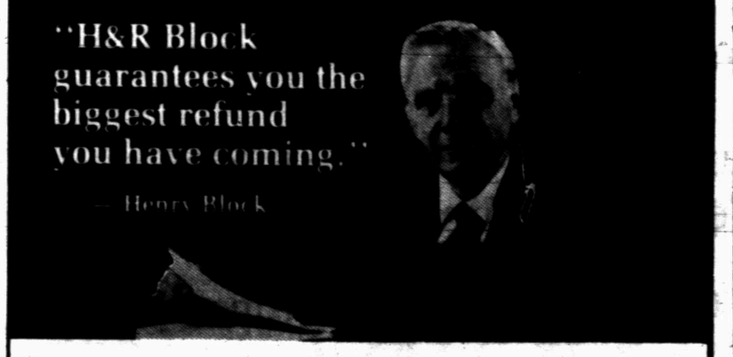

Snyder is 5-2 and still has games scheduled with both Sweetwater and Andrews down the road. The Tigers, in fact, host Andrews next Friday.

Pecos girls, meanwhile, are winless in district play, with an 0-7 record.

Both Snyder varsity games will be preceded by junior varsity contests at 6:30. Tickets at either site are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

It's all in a name...

From Itasca Wampus Cats to Lanier Voks

By MIKE TOWLE
Fort Worth Star Telegram

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - There's a particular species that lives in Texas, yet will never be found listed in a high school biology book.

The species groups together creatures as diverse as antelopes, bumblebees, dragons, foxes, gobblers, kangaroos, mules, ricebirds, sandcrabs, wampus cats and yeguas.

Mascots: They are the colorful symbols that over the years have been picked by high schools to embody athletic pride, community spirit and school identity.

There are more than 1,200 public and private high schools in Texas, sharing 167 different mascots or nicknames. Even with the diversity of available mascots, however, almost half of the state's high schools have mascots listed among the 10 most commonly used in the state. In such cases, mascot choosers apparently prefer familiarity to originality.

Based on information provided by the 1985-86 "Texas Coaching Directory of College Athletics," the 10 most common high school mascots in Texas are Eagles (103 schools), Bulldogs (84), Tigers (76), Panthers (57), Wildcats (56), Mustangs (48), Lions (46), Indians (36), Pirates (35) and Hornets (35).

If sheer originality is used as a yardstick, it's hard to top the Wampus Cat of Itasca High School, located about 60 miles south of Fort Worth. No one seems to be really sure what a Wampus Cat looks like or if it actually exists.

"It is a cross between a bobcat, mountain lion, black panther and tiger," said school secretary Nancy Bowman, quoting from a letter she sends out in response to queries. "Some say the Wampus Cat is a legendary animal, like the Big Foot creature, while others say it was real but is now extinct.

"Back in the late 1920s, the student body was given the task of choosing a symbol that would do our school proud. One night, after a hard-fought football victory, the team was rejoicing in the locker room when one excited player, Trav Burke, shouted, 'Well, we were really Wampus Cats tonight.' Silence fell over the steamy room. Everyone knew the mascot was born."

The Wampus Cat is mentioned in a best-selling book - "Semi Tough," authored by Dan Jenkins. Jenkins mentions the cat as well as other unusual mascot names when referring to a fictitious high school basketball tournament in Fort Worth.

The mascot of Masonic Home and School, in Fort Worth, is the Mighty Mite. Although Masonic home also uses Mason as a nickname, the phrase "Mighty Mites" has been around since the football team's glory days of the 1930s.

"The first time I heard of it was in 1938," said Dr. Miller Mosley, a former football player at Masonic Home and now a physics professor at Texas Christian University. "We had a pretty small team," Mosley said. "Our biggest fellow was about 165 pounds. The name probably came from the newspapers, although I don't think anybody paid much attention to it."

An alumnus of Fort Worth Polytechnic said the Parrot was chosen as the school's mascot because of the famous line "Polly wants a cracker." And Poly is the commonly-spoken abbreviated version of Polytechnic.

Other unusual mascot names across Texas are the Port Lavaca Calhoun Sandcrabs, Taylor Ducks, Brownsville Saint Joseph Bloodhounds, Floydada Whirlwinds, Hutto Hippos, Progreso Red Ants, Trent Gorillas, San Antonio Central Catholic Buttons, Van Vandals, San Antonio Lanier Voks, Beaumont South Park Greenies, Mason Punchers, Munday Moguls, Somerville Yeguas and Knippa Purple Rockcrushers.

The Beaumont South Park Greenie refers to a figure that resembles an elf, or leprechaun. It does not refer to amphetamines or any other type of pill.

Most snow skiers know what moguls are - bumps of snow on ski slops. Those moguls are not to be confused with Munday's Moguls, which refers to a group of warriors that settled in northern India more than 500 years ago.

Somerville's choice of Yegua (pronounced Ya' - weigh) honors an Indian tribe that inhibited the area. It's also the name of a creek that runs into Lake Somerville.

Then there's Lanier's Voks. What is a vok? It's a mechanism attached to the older generator systems (since replaced by alternators) of old model cars. Supposedly, the old engines wouldn't start or run without voks.

Knippa's Purple Rockcrusher is "a mean-looking dude," said Dan Bielfeldt, the school's principal and athletic director. "It's a man with a hammer who's smashing rocks on an anvil," he added.

In some cases, a school's choice of mascot is only natural considering the name of the school (or the town the school is in). These include the Winters Blizzards, First Baptist Saints, Frost Polar Bears, Hamlin Pied Pipers, Shamrock's Irish, Farmersville Farmers, White Deer Bucks, Buffalo Bisons, Cherokee Indians, Eagle Pass Eagles, Crane Golden Cranes, Hereford Whitefaces, and Whiteface Herefords.

At some other schools, the nicknames-mascots symbolize a local trade. There are Freeport Brazosport Exporters, Pampa Harvesters, Robstown Cotton Pickers, Diboll Lumberjacks, Pearland Oilers and Roscoe Plowboys.

Landry confirms it...

Hogeboom asks to be traded

DALLAS (AP) - Tired of "the aggravation of the bench," Dallas Cowboys backup quarterback Gary Hogeboom has asked Coach Tom Landry to trade him to another National Football League team.

Landry said Wednesday night, in an interview with Dallas television station KTVT-TV during halftime of the Dallas Mavericks-New York Knicks basketball game, that Hogeboom formally asked for the trade during a meeting earlier in the day.

After being named the No. 1 quarterback prior to the 1984 season and starting 10 games, Hogeboom played only sparingly last season behind Danny White, who regained the job after Dallas failed to make the playoffs in 1984 for the first time in a decade.

The Dallas Times Herald reported that Hogeboom made the trade request during a 10-minute meeting Wednesday in Landry's office at the Cowboys' practice facilities in suburban Irving.

"I don't want to be on the bench anymore," Hogeboom told the newspaper.

"I think Coach Landry knows that it's time for me to play and maybe it's time for me to go elsewhere. I don't want the aggravation of the bench anymore. I feel I can play quarterback, even if it means going to another team."

Hogeboom said he would prefer to be traded in the next six weeks.

"I don't want to sit around and rust for two months. If I'm going to be traded, I need to go. I need to go now," and Landry knows that. I need to be with another team so I can start competing for the starting job. I don't need to be sitting here," he said.

Landry said he would try to meet Hogeboom's request after completing his evaluation of the club's 1985 season.

The Times Herald quoted Hogeboom as saying he was informed by Landry last September that either he or White would be traded before the 1986 season.

"Gary wants to play elsewhere if he can't play here," Landry said. "He feels strongly about it. We will do what we can do. This is not the time that you just go out and make trades, but we will give it some thought."

Landry added, "I will help Gary the best I can. That is where I am headed. But I will also ask for something that will help us. We must still have the best interest of the team in mind."

Landry said Hogeboom would have a good chance to start with the Cowboys "before it is all over with ... but you get impatient. He feels this (a trade) would be best for him. Gary feels he has paid his dues, he feels he's ready to play, and he wants to go where he can play."

McEnroe shocked at Nabisco Masters

NEW YORK (AP) - A year ago, he was the undisputed king of tennis. Today, John McEnroe is struggling to find that magic touch.

"I'm not moving as well as I normally do. I'm not serving as well. I'm not hitting the ball as solid. I'm making too many mistakes, and my concentration isn't what it used to be," McEnroe said Wednesday night after being ousted from the $500,000 Nabisco Masters tennis championships by hard-hitting Brad Gilbert.

Ivan Lendl has none of those problems.

"I feel good about my game," Lendl said after blasting fellow Czechoslovak Tomas Smid 6-1, 6-0 in his first-round match in the season-ending tournament at Madison Square Garden. "I feel that if I play well, everything is going my way.

"If I don't play well, I keep trying and eventually start playing better."

Gilbert's 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 victory over McEnroe made sure that this year's tournament final won't be a repeat of the last three, when Lendl and McEnroe clashed for the title. Lendl, the reigning U.S. Open champion and top-seeded in this select 16-player field, won in 1983, while McEnroe was victorious the last two years.

"I've had a lot of great experiences here (at the Garden), and I'm just embarrassed at the way I played," McEnroe said.

Also advancing into the quarterfinals with victories Wednesday were Tim Mayotte, who stopped Yannick Noah of France 6-4, 6-4, and Anders Jarryd, who outlasted fellow Swede Joakim Nystrom 0-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Tonight's quarterfinal pairings will send Ecuador's Andres Gomez against Johan Kriek and Wimbledon champion Boris Becker of West Germany against French Open winner Mats Wilander of Sweden.

Men's league

Clayton Riley notched 26 points and Greg Gafford added 19 as Haney's defeated Hines Construction in men's league basketball action Wednesday night.

David Jackson and Marvin Jackson scored 24 and 15 points respectively for Hines, which was tripped up 79-74.

In other action, Tommy Trammell and John Murphy rolled 17's to stake Brooks Oil Well Service to a 62-44 win over Frontier. Ron DeBruin scored 15 for the losers.

Also, Patterson Drilling clipped Sisson 76-60 behind the 18-point efforts of Richard Willis and Larry Braziel. David Sisson scored 20 points and Greg Hayes 16 for Sisson.

Monday, Haney's plays Brooks at 7, Sisson takes on Hines at 8 and Patterson and Frontier match up at 9.

Snyder Men's League games are played at Travis Gym. The public is invited.

Texaco: federal relief needed in order to appeal decision

HOUSTON (AP) — Texaco Inc. had no choice but to seek relief from a Texas law requiring a $12 billion bond before appealing a landmark damage award won by Pennzoil Co., Texaco Vice Chairman James Kinnear says.

"Texaco has full confidence and we will pursue all legal remedies there (in Texas), but in order to do that, we have to stay alive," Kinnear said Wednesday from the company's headquarters in White Plains, N.Y.

But Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox, joining the fight over which state has jurisdiction in the multibillion-dollar dispute, says Texaco tried to sidestep state courts by asking a federal judge in New York to reduce the bond.

Last week, U.S. District Judge Charles L. Brieant ruled Texaco should post no more than a $1 billion appeal bond and barred Pennzoil from trying to collect the record $11.1 billion won in a state district court in Houston.

Pennzoil, claiming Texaco had not exhausted all legal remedies in Texas before going to the federal court, has appealed Brieant's decision to the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York.

Texaco, the nation's third-largest oil company, has said it might be forced into bankruptcy proceedings if forced to pay the judgment, or post the entire $12 billion bond needed to appeal.

"The sum of it is that we had no choice but to seek federal relief to appeal in the Texas courts," Kinnear said.

Kinnear said the governors of Florida, Delaware, Oklahoma, Kansas and Wyoming all had filed briefs with Brieant supporting Texaco, which has operations in those states.

"They want Texaco to have the right of appeal and not to be forced into bankruptcy to achieve it," he said. "The attorney general of the state of Texas wrote a letter to the federal judge claiming that Texaco believed no justice could be had in Texas. That is absolutely untrue."

Mattox on Wednesday asked the 2nd Circuit for an expedited hearing on the bond issue, spokeswoman Elna Christopher said. Smaller companies have had to post bonds according to the 94-year-old state law, which requires the entire judgment, plus interest and court costs, Ms. Christopher said.

"If the law is on the books and it has been upheld, everybody ought to have to obey it," she said.

Pennzoil has enlisted a constitutional law expert from Harvard University to help with its appeal. Texaco has retained a scholar from the University of Texas at Austin.

The two companies had tried for two weeks to settle the dispute out of court. But talks collapsed last week after Pennzoil's directors unanimously rejected a cash merger proposal from Texaco. Details of the offer were not released.

Texaco Chairman John McKinley has said he would be willing to renew settlement negotiations. Pennzoil Chairman J. Hugh Liedtke has said he would be willing to resume discussions when Texaco makes a serious proposal.

Shortages are felt along East Coast

BOSTON (AP) — Seafood wholesalers and restaurateurs along the East Coast say fish supplies are drying up and prices are zooming because of a strike that has tied up scores of boats at the nation's richest port.

"For me, to get a hold of northern fish such as scrod, flounder and haddock is extremely tight," said Buddy Levine, who buys about 2,500 pounds of fish a week for Collins Fish and Seafood Inc. in Miami.

"When I can find it available, those who are breaking the (picket) lines are charging outrageous prices for it," he said.

Two-thirds of New Bedford's 1,200 fishermen have vowed to stop fishing until boat owners back down from their demands for a larger percentage of catch profits. Owners of the port's 150 boats say poor catches and skyrocketing costs are cutting deeply into their profits.

Since the strike began just after Christmas, the price of haddock at the Boston fish auction has jumped from $1 per pound to $3, about 20 percent higher than this time last year, said Ed MacLeod, director of the Northeast region for the National Marine Fisheries Service.

Sole reached $5.60 a pound in Providence, the highest Rhode Island Fish Co. owner Steve Shallcross said he's seen in his 30 years in the business.

"Especially, more than anything, it's scallops," said Richard Jaus, a manager at the Hayes Fish Co. in Amherst, N.Y., a suburb of Buffalo. "They're hard to buy and very expensive. We just haven't been using them at all."

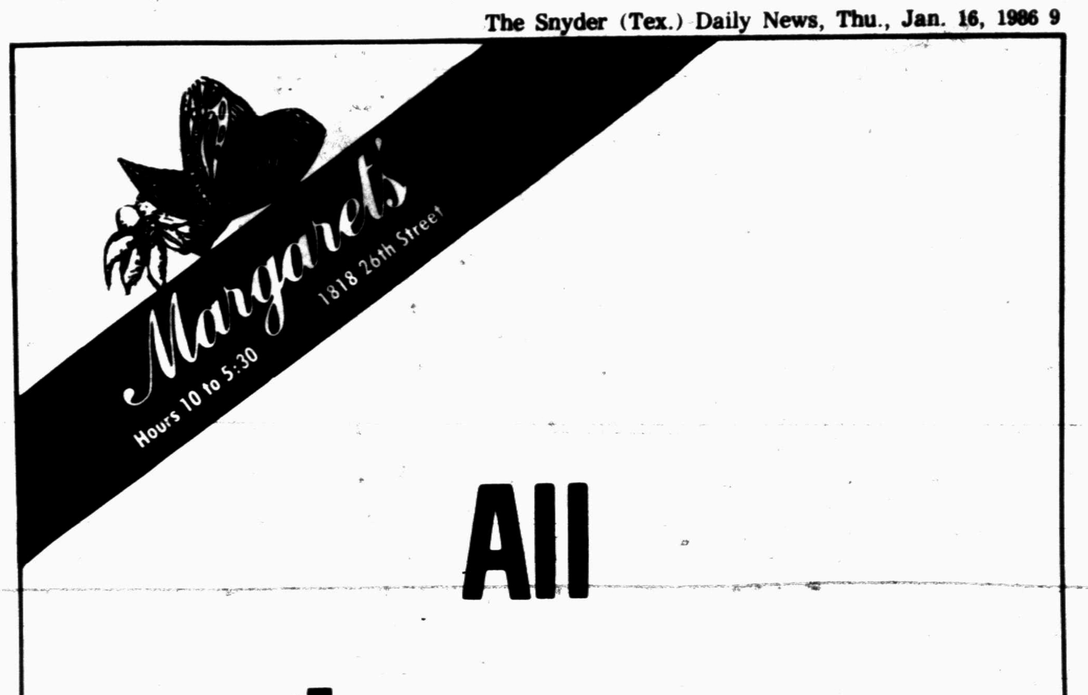

Fishery officials say New Bedford supplies 75 percent to 90 percent of the nation's sea scallops and a significant portion of many other seafood.

C.E. Pittman of Pittman Seafood in Dover, Del., said he couldn't get sea scallops from Massachusetts, and Shallcross said he wasn't bidding on sea scallops because of their price, which reached $6.90 on Wednesday.

But scallops weren't the only problem, Shallcross said. "Whatever is landed anywhere else (than New Bedford) is worth a fortune."

New Bedford was second only to Gloucester in pounds of fish landed in New England in 1984, the most recent year for which data is available, said Robert Hall, a statistician in the Gloucester headquarters of the NMFS.

However, New Bedford's $109 million catch made it the nation's richest port.

Administration is willing to bargain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is willing to negotiate on its proposal to repeal the deduction for state and local taxes but will insist that any tax-overhaul bill have lower rates and cost business less than does a plan approved by the House.

And if anyone expects President Reagan to do an about-face and support a deficit-reduction tax increase, forget it: "You can bet the farm he won't," Treasury Secretary James Baker said Wednesday, adding the same applies to any special levy on energy.

"The president doesn't think we ought to have a tax increase, period," Baker said in an interview with The Associated Press. "There still is ... plenty of leeway, latitude for reducing federal spending" to bring down the record deficit, he said.

The secretary said Reagan will get personally involved in the battle when the Senate considers tax overhaul this year. "He's not going to abandon tax reform" even though he finds considerable fault with the plan passed by the House in December, Baker added.

"I think we will get a better bill out of the Senate," he said. "But whether it is sufficiently better we'll have to wait and see."

Baker was most insistent about business sections of the House bill. Although the president's original tax plan would have shifted about $100 billion of the tax burden from individuals to business over five years, the House plan would shift $140 billion — a move the administration insists would damage the economy and hurt U.S. competitiveness abroad.

"We can't live with the depreciation provisions" in the House bill, which limit business' ability to recover money spent for buildings, machinery and equipment, Baker said. The administration will insist that the legislation not increase the cost to business of raising capital, he added.

On other topics, Baker:

—Refused to confirm or deny the United States is exploring a major international initiative to drive down interest rates.

West German Economics Minister Martin Bangemann quoted Baker as saying the United States will propose such an effort at a meeting of finance ministers Saturday in London. Bangemann said Baker "is very much interested in having everybody lower interest rates. He wants that discussed and possibly decided" at the weekend meeting.

—Defended his plan to step up lending to developing countries. The secretary said the proposal was not behind schedule in being implemented even though no private bank has put up any of the $29 billion Baker has sought for 15 developing countries over the next three years.

"The important thing from our standpoint is that there be a viable approach to the debt problem," he said. "So far, nobody has suggested any alternative save writing off the loans, which I don't accept as an alternative. That is an admission of defeat."

Principal to testify in his own behalf

LIVINGSTON, Texas (AP) — A former principal accused of killing a football coach over the affections of the school secretary will testify on his own behalf, his attorney said.

Defense attorney Dick DeGuerin told potential jurors Wednesday that Hurley Fontenot, 48, will testify in his murder trial. Fontenot, former principal of Hull-Daisetta Woodson Junior High School, is charged with the April 12 shooting death of coach Billy Mac Fleming, 38.

"You will have an opportunity to hear from him and observe from his candor and demeanor whether he is telling the truth or not," Fontenot's attorney told potential jurors.

Polk County prosecutors and DeGuerin gave possible jurors a preview of the witnesses and testimony they expect to present during Fontenot's murder trial. The jury selection process continues today as prosecutors and defense attorneys question the remaining 34 potential jurors.

State District Judge John Martin dismissed four jurors Wednesday.

Testimony in the trial is scheduled to begin Monday.

District Attorney Peter Speers told prospective panel members the final 12 jurors will "have to resolve conflicts in testimony between witnesses."

"Most people are going to conceal the fact they committed a murder," Speers said. "Most people, if they have any sense, are not going to confess and they are not going to commit murder in a place where anybody can see it."

He said prosecutors will use circumstantial evidence to show that Fontenot killed Fleming.

DeGuerin said the jury should be "more curious, more doubting" when considering circumstantial evidence.

"It's not enough that the circumstances are consistent with guilt," DeGuerin said. "It's whether it goes beyond a reasonable doubt. It's if it leads to Mr. Fontenot's guilt and no one else."

Investigators allege Fleming was Fontenot's rival for the affections of Laura Nugent, 36, a teacher's aide and school secretary both men dated and wanted to marry.

Fleming was last seen alive April 12. Ten days later, his body was found in a densely forested area southwest of Livingston in Polk County, about 50 miles away.

Fontenot has pleaded innocent to the murder charge, saying he was in Houston when the coach disappeared.

Spokesman denies report that crash was drug related

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The manager of former TV star and rock 'n' roll idol Rick Nelson denounced published reports that the airplane crash that killed Nelson and six others may have resulted from a fire ignited by "free-basing" cocaine.

Federal officials say they have not determined the cause of the New Year's Eve crash of the Douglas DC-3 in Texas. But Greg McDonald, Nelson's personal manager, insisted Wednesday it was not related to use of cocaine.

"We know why the plane went down," McDonald said, blaming a broken gasoline-heater fuel line.

"The passengers were asleep. Rick Nelson and his girlfriend were asleep under a blanket when the smoke occurred," he said in a telephone interview from his Palm Springs home.

McDonald attributed his information to pilot Brad Rank, who was released Tuesday from St. Michael Hospital in Texarkana, Texas. McDonald refused to say where Rank could be reached.

Free-basing requires mixing cocaine with flammable ether or ammonia. After the chemicals evaporate, the "free-base" cocaine is usually smoked in a glass pipe held over a steady flame.

"That's pure nonsense. Rick Nelson didn't do free-base," McDonald said of the reports in The Washington Post and Dallas Morning News. "He was a sweet guy and he didn't have those kinds of problems."

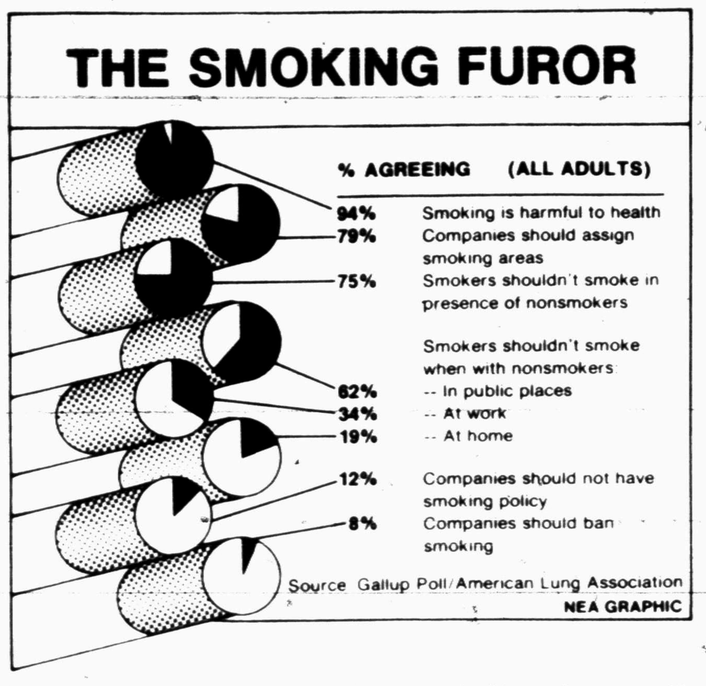

The 42-year-old plane was carrying Nelson and his band from Guntersville, Ala., to a concert in Dallas when it crashed near De Kalb, Texas.

Autopsies indicated Nelson, 45, his 27-year-old fiancee, Helen Blair, four band members and a sound man died of smoke inhalation and burns, National Transportation Safety Board Chairman Jim Burnett said.

The Dallas newspaper quoted NTSB chief investigator Rudy Kapustin as confirming the board was investigating the possibility of a drug-related fire.

In Washington, D.C., Kapustin referred inquiries Wednesday to NTSB spokesman Ira Furman, who said: "We consider the possibility of anything."

The board has no evidence now to support a drug-related fire, he said.

Smoking is no longer the "glamorous" thing to do. Most adults agree it's harmful and smoking on the job or in public can be done in restricted spots.

Huge deficit triggers spending cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction law is moving from the talking stage to real spending cuts, with federal officials saying they will delay space shuttle improvements, make college students dig a little deeper into their pockets and protect President Reagan's "Star Wars" plan by slashing other Pentagon programs.

Across the government, there will be "all but a freeze" in hiring, Office of Management and Budget Director James C. Miller said Wednesday in announcing the cuts, which were triggered by a record-breaking $220.5 billion deficit.

He said the administration would try to avoid furloughs and layoffs as the government adjusts to the first round of cuts required in the budget-balancing law.

"The administration's firm position is that we're going to meet these challenges in a way that minimizes disruptions," Miller told a news conference.

Miller and Rudolph G. Penner, director of the Congressional Budget Office, released a 400-page document detailing how much each agency must reduce spending this year for the government to reach the required $11.7 billion total cut.

Overall federal spending was estimated at $996 billion this year. But Social Security, interest on the national debt, welfare programs and military personnel accounts have been exempted from the cuts, so the $11.7 billion cut is coming from just $224.1 billion in planned spending.

Wednesday's announcement was the first step toward imposing the across-the-board spending cuts required by Gramm-Rudman, sponsored by Sens. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and Warren Rudman, R-N.H. The law mandates gradually smaller deficits until a balanced budget is reached in fiscal 1991.

Miller and Penner predicted that without the cuts, the 1986 deficit would be about $220.5 billion — far above the law's target of $171.9 billion and $8.6 billion over the record set in fiscal 1985.

Congress limited the automatic cuts this year to the $11.7 billion, but the deficit estimate underscored that deep cuts or tax increases will be needed to meet the $144 billion deficit target for fiscal 1987, which begins Oct. 1. The automatic cuts take effect if Congress and the president fail to agree on spending cuts or tax increases to meet the target.

The fiscal 1986 cut technically does not take effect until March 1, following review by the General Accounting Office and an order by the president. But some agencies already were holding back hiring, purchases, travel or making other adjustments. Federal employee pay cannot be reduced, although Congress did not allow a pay increase either this year.

Domestic programs subject to cuts were trimmed back an average of 4.3 percent under Gramm-Rudman.

President Reagan earlier exempted uniformed personnel cutbacks, so the Pentagon would be cutting about 4.9 percent from most other programs to save its share. The limited flexibility in the law would be used to protect Star Wars research, the Pentagon said Wednesday.

The entire budget of $2.7 billion for Star Wars will be protected because Congress already cut that program so deeply, said Robert W. Helm, the Defense Department's comptroller. The president originally had requested $3.7 billion for Star Wars.

To cover the Star Wars expense, other research would be reduced by an extra amount, Helm said.

"Literally every aspect of the defense budget has been touched by Gramm-Rudman," he said.

"If you want to go to a bottom line ... we have now deliberately underfunded the fiscal 1986 program," Helm said, noting there would be less money for ammunition, spare parts, training and weapons purchases.

The B-1 bomber, the MX missile and Trident submarine will not be protected and thus will face the average 4.9 percent cut in their budgets, he said.

Helm said the Pentagon would have to reduce actual spending for operations and maintenance by $2.9 billion; procurement of weapons by $864 million.

Texas might lose $45 million in aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas will probably be able to absorb the first wave of budget cuts under Gramm-Rudman without cutting services, says the head of the state's federal liaison office here.

Texas will likely lose as much as $45 million in federal money in fiscal year 1986, the first year the law is in effect, John Hanson, director of the Texas Office of State-Federal Relations, said Wednesday.

"That can probably be absorbed at the administrative level" through such strategies as not replacing personnel, Hanson said.

Hanson said his office was still in the process of analyzing the effect of the budget-cutting law on Texas.

A group of congressmen and a federal employees union have challenged the law in court.

Texas Republican Sen. Phil Gramm was one of the primary sponsors of the law, which sets target deficit levels beginning in FY 1986 and requires automatic, across-the-board cuts in unexempted federal programs if the projected deficit exceeds the target by more than $20 billion.

The FY 1986 target is $172 billion. On Wednesday, the Congressional Budget Office and the administration's Office of Management and Budget both predicted an FY 1986 deficit of about $220 billion.

Gramm-Rudman sets progressively lower deficit targets aimed at balancing the federal budget in 1991.

The law requires cuts in both domestic and defense spending and exempts such programs as Medicaid and Social Security.

Hanson said an earlier assessment of state impact by Federal Funds Information for the States appeared to be accurate.

FFIS, a research group that serves the National Conference of State Legislatures and the National Governors Association, predicted that Texas would lose about $43 million in federal money in fiscal 1986 and $300 million in fiscal 1987.

The FY 1987 cuts will be a problem, said Hanson, because the axe can be expected to fall heaviest on service programs where Texas depends more on federal money.

"That is going to hurt the state," he said.

Gramm has said that the measure will help the state by improving the economy. He said lower interest rates could be expected to encourge new plant construction in the Sun Belt and create more jobs for Texans.

Cancer clinic to open in Bahamas

NEW YORK (AP) — A controversial cancer clinic is ready to reopen in the Bahamas and also begin operating in Mexico, six months after it was closed for dispensing drugs investigators said were contaminated with AIDS virus.

The Immunology Researching Center, Ltd., in Freeport, Grand Bahamas, "may reopen in two or three weeks," its director, Lawrence Burton, said Wednesday.

The clinic was closed July 17, 1985, after Dr. Gregory Curt of the National Cancer Institute charged that the blood-derived drugs Burton was dispensing were contaminated with the AIDS virus. Investigators at the Centers for Disease Control later confirmed that the drugs contained active AIDS virus.

The Bahamian ministry of health has agreed to let Burton reopen if he adheres to a variety of conditions to assure the safety of patients, said Dr. Vernell T. Allen, chief medical officer of the ministry.

Among the conditions is a requirement that the drugs be tested for acquired immune deficiency syndrome and hepatitis B, she said in a telephone interview from Nassau. She had no comment on when the clinic might reopen.

As many as 1,000 people could have been exposed to the AIDS virus in Burton's drugs.

her May 18 and the two joked about MacLeod's difficulties in keeping plants alive.

"The only problem is that I kill them," MacLeod said as Lee helped him carry the plants to his car. He told her he had planted shrubs in the same place before and none of them lived she said in response to questions fom Lubbock County District Attorney Jim Bob Darnell.

"Perhaps the third time will be a charm," Lee recalled telling him.

Retired high school counselor Jewell Foster testified MacLeod had inquired about purchasing a chain saw from her the Sunday before his wife was killed.

Foster said she advertised the chain saw for sale in a teacher's newsletter and MacLeod called wanting to know about it she said.

"He asked me if it was any good," Foster said.

But when MacLeod came by her home on May 19 to test the saw, he cut himself on the leg and Foster took him to the hospital for stitches. When he returned to Foster's home later MacLeod did not have enough money to pay for the saw she said.

During testimony today, a staffer of a Lubbock temporary employment agency through which Evelyn MacLeod got work told jurors that she could not reach Mrs. MacLeod the weekend before her body was found.

Instead, she spoke with an unidentified man with a shaky voice who said "that she was not there and that he did not know where she was and she would be back in two weeks," the woman said.

Lubbock attorney Quinn Brackett is defending MacLeod.

Cosmetology grad qualifies for olympics

Pam Nagel, Western Texas College cosmetology graduate now living in Houston, has qualified to represent the United States in the July, 1986 Transplant Olympics to be held at Ohio State University. Recent tryouts were held in Fort Worth.

In order to qualify, Nagel won several medals including two gold medals in the tennis competition and one in the shot put. She also earned three silver medals, each in ball-throw, .50 meter freestyle swim and .50 meter breast stroke.

The National Kidney Foundation of Texas sponsored the Second Annual Transplant Olympic tryouts at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Tryouts were held to qualify individuals for the 1986 games in Columbus, Ohio. Individuals with the best results in track and field, swimming, golf and tennis will attend the July games.

Some 18 gold and silver medals were given to transplant patients who attended a banquet dinner in Fort Worth following the tryouts.

Nagel lost both kidneys to disease when she was a teenager.

She received a successful kidney transplant in March of 1984, after several years of dialysis.

After completing the cosmetology course at WTC she moved to Houston to accept a position as hair stylist.

Nagel had been training for the Fort Worth tryouts for the past several months. Her coaches were Stan Weatherred, building trades instructor at WTC, and David Jones, recreational director at TSTI in Sweetwater.

Nagel's ultimate goal is to qualify at the 1986 games in Ohio to compete in the 1987 International Transplant Olympics to be held in Innsbruck, Austria.

Many ailments caused death

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — An 87-year-old nursing home patient died of colon cancer, the spreading of that disease, the effects of a stroke, heart disease and general old age, the woman's doctor testified in the trial of the nursing home.

Dr. Weldon Kolb testified Wednesday he found no evidence that infection or starvation caused the death of Elnora Breed.

The woman died Nov. 20, 1978, at an Autumn Hills nursing home in Texas City.

Kolb, who practices in La Marque, said he treated Mrs. Breed for 27 years up until the time she was admitted to Autumn Hills.

Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers Inc. and four of its current and former employees are charged with murder in Mrs. Breed's death.

The state claims Mrs. Breed was the victim of neglect and that she died of starvation and infection caused by poor nursing care.

But Kolb, who testified he was aware of Mrs. Breed's progress after she entered Autumn Hills, said he could not support the infection theory.

He also defended an order by another doctor for Mrs. Breed to receive a daily diet of 600 calories.

"Under the circumstances of her general failure to accept nutrition and to assimilate it, I think the diet was generally appropriate," he said.

Mrs. Breed died, he said, of "a culmination of the effects of a series of three major cancers of her colon with probable retroperitoneal metastasis, plus the effect of longstanding cerebral arteriosclerotic disease and coronary arteriosclerotic disease."

In earlier testimony Wednesday, a nursing expert said a study showing an epidemic of bedsores at Autumn Hills was inaccurate and biased.

Davina Gosnell, an associate professor of nursing at Kent State University in Ohio, also disputed claims by another nurse that patients at the nursing home were victims of poor care and abandonment.

Prosecutors earlier in the trial called Sarah Burger, a nursing consultant who has worked extensively with the elderly.
