A detour into fiction that may not be altogether stranger than fact.

Mary Q. Occupant roused herself from the "soap opera" on television as one of her two pre-teen daughters yelled from the next room.

"Mother you promised to take us to the park to meet our friends at 3 o'clock and it's five till three," the youngster admonished.

"Okay, okay," snarled Mary. "Just give me time to get on my feet," as she hastily popped a couple of tranquilizers into her mouth and splashed in a swallow of water.

Once in the car, the youngsters complained that they would be late. Their friends might be gone already.

Mrs. Occupant put more weight on the accelerator. A stop sign flashed into view, but it looked like a clear street, and Mary jabbed the accelerator again. The car shot past the intersection as the brakes squealed on a car approaching from the right intersection. No harm done.

"Mother" yelled the kids. "There was a stop sign."

"We made it didn't we? Forget it," Mary snapped.

The park entrance loomed ahead. Speed limit, 20 miles per hour, said the sign. Mary eased off to 35, rounded a bend, and pulled into a no-parking area. The kids were there, and just a few minutes late, after all.

In the evening, Mary Q. Occupant looked over the headlines and half-heartedly listened to a news commentator. The big news was a demonstration in some far-off city.

"Why don't these kids today have any respect for law and order?" Mary demanded, as she switched channels to a variety show.

John G. Resident was in a foul mood when he arrived home from the office — but at least he was glad it was Friday and he wouldn't have to go on the job tomorrow.

The evening paper's headlines had almost given him apoplexy. "Those dimwits in Washington have defeated that bill we've been trying to get passed," he complained as he sat down to the evening meal with his family. His two young sons didn't look up as they methodically attacked their food. Those dimwits in Washington — that had become a familiar expression around the house.

The next day, Saturday, John was up bright and early.

"What you say we run out to the lake and fish awhile this morning and then take in the big game this afternoon," John suggested, addressing his two sons. There was no argument, of course.

"But John, today is election day and we ought to vote," his wife reminded.

"I haven't got time and in the second place it wouldn't do any good," John declared. "That bunch of thieves and con men we've got in office already have the election bought."

Later, at the game, John was determined to show the boys a good time. He signaled to a popcorn vendor and then turned to buy a program just as a color guard marched by with the flag, and the band played the Star Spangled Banner.

"Everybody is standing up," one of the boys chided.

"I gotta get these things now or we'll miss the kickoff," John said, as he continued the transaction.

In the evening, John also turned to the late news. Somebody had burned a draft card and a flag had been ripped off a staff in some far away town.

"Why don't this younger generation have any patriotism?" John muttered as he dozed in his easy chair.

Today In History

Today is Sunday, Aug. 25, the 238th day of 1968. There are 126 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1944, in World War II, Allied troops liberated Paris.

On this date: In 1689 Iroquois Indians attacked Montreal and killed its 200 inhabitants.

In 1718, Frenchmen founded New Orleans.

In 1828, Uruguay's independence from Spain was declared.

In 1833, a volcanic eruption in the Dutch East Indies created tidal waves that took a toll of about 36,000 lives.

In 1941, British and Soviet troops invaded Iran in World War II.

In 1950, the U.S. government seized the nation's railroads to forestall a strike.

Ten years ago — 25 persons died from contaminated water in New Delhi, India.

Five years ago — Troops and police in South Vietnam arrested at least 600 students in an effort to crush opposition to the government.

One year ago — American Nazi party leader George Lincoln Rockwell was assassinated by a sniper in Arlington, Va.

THE WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Friday, 96 degrees; low, 68 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Saturday, 69 degrees; precipitation, trace.

Northwest Texas: Considerable cloudiness tonight and widely scattered thundershowers in west and north, except none in north Panhandle.

FIRST BALE — Wayland Huddleston (right) receives congratulations from D. T. Pierce, manager of the Paymaster Gin, for bringing in the first bale of cotton in 1968. The interested third party is Wayland's 18-year-old son, Timmy.

First Bale To Scurry Gin

Wayland Huddleston, who lives on the Lubbock Highway, brought in the first bale of cotton for the year Friday, Aug. 23, at the Paymaster Gin. His bale was six days earlier than the one brought in last year by Leland McCarty.

Huddleston, a native of Scurry County, said the cotton is the Paymaster 181 variety. It was planted April 27.

"I checked last Sunday and none of the bolls were open," Huddleston said. "It all came open within the past week."

He said he got the first bale off a 10-acre tract four miles south of Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Although it is dryland cotton, the field could produce a bale and a half per acre.

Huddleston has been farming since 1936. He owns 480 acres and has another 160 acres rented. He has 265 acres in cotton with another 80 acres in maize. The Scurry farmer credited the Texas Employment Commission with "finding me hands" to harvest the crop. He estimated he will be ready to strip the cotton within three weeks if it doesn't rain.

Wayland is a two-time winner. He came in with the first bale Aug. 12, 1963 from the same patch of land. It also was ginned at Paymaster and was one of the biggest bales ever produced here, weighing almost 600 pounds. The bale he brought in Friday produced 326 pounds from 2,240 pounds of bolls.

Huddleston is married to the former Nolita Matthews, also of Snyder. They also are parents of a daughter, 5-year-old Tina.

60 Texas Soldiers Stage Protest

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—Sixty Negro soldiers stationed at Ft. Hood protested today against possible movement to quell civil disturbances and Military Police put 43 of them in the stockade, a spokesman at this Central Texas fort said.

The spokesman said the protest was orderly.

A large number of troops, estimated at about 1,000, were taken from Ft. Hood to Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, the nearest large airfield, during the night.

Presumably they will be on standby for possible use in the event of threatened disturbances at the Democratic National Convention at Chicago. But military authorities restated their policy of secrecy regarding all troop movements.

The spokesman said, "Beginning at approximately 2400 hours (midnight Friday), a group of 60 Negro soldiers from various units at Ft. Hood conducted a non-violent protest against possible employment in civil disturbance control."

The spokesman reported that Maj. Gen. John Boles Jr., commander of the 1st Armored Division, and key members of his staff met with the protestors for an hour.

After that, the spokesman said, some of the protestors dispersed.

Service Saturday For Mrs. Hatcher

Funeral service was held Saturday at 4 p.m. for Mrs. Loyd Hatcher, 52, who died early Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor of First Baptist Church where Mrs. Hatcher was a member, officiated at the service in Bell-Seale Chapel.

Graveside rites and burial will be at 2 p.m. Sunday in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale.

Gains Reported From Czech-Soviet Confab

By JOHN WEYLAND
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Talks between Czechoslovak and Soviet leaders apparently ran beyond schedule today, suggesting a snag even while broadcasts from Czechoslovakia reported its leaders had won significant concessions.

A radio station identifying itself as Czechoslovakia One reported President Ludvik Svoboda had concluded "an honorable agreement" with the Russians. It offered no details.

A broadcast on the wavelength of the clandestine Radio Prague said Alexander Dubcek, the Czechoslovak Communist party chief whose liberalization program prompted the Soviet-led invasion Tuesday night, "is to resume his functions in the next few days."

Shortly after 3 p.m. traffic was stopped on the highway leading from the Kremlin to the airport in preparation for the departure of Svoboda's delegation.

Then, without explanation, the highway and bridge were reopened and a crowd which had been waiting to see the motorcade was dispersed.

Dubcek and Premier Oldrich Cernik, both of whom had been restricted when Russian troops occupied Prague, were reported to have joined Svoboda's delegation for the second round of talks today.

Exchanges in the opening session Friday were described by Soviet news media as "frank," a word that in Communist usage here means disagreement.

Reliable Communist sources reported the arrival of Dubcek, the Communist party chief, and Cernik, the premier, whose whereabouts had been a mystery since their detention three days ago in Prague.

Communist diplomatic circles also reported some optimism about progress of the talks, but further details were not available.

An eight-man delegation including two men identified as willing to collaborate with Soviet occupation forces in Czechoslovakia arrived Friday, led by Czechoslovak President Ludvik Svoboda.

Svoboda has pledged to seek the withdrawal of the Soviet bloc occupation forces and reportedly refused to accept a puppet regime hand-picked by the Kremlin.

The 65-year-old Czechoslovak president, who holds a Soviet hero's decoration for military services in World War II, received a warm welcome in Moscow Friday. He has been spared in Soviet press attacks on liberal Czechoslovak leaders.

Perhaps significantly, the Soviet press did not repeat Friday or today the charges it leveled two days ago against Dubcek. He was accused then of encouraging counter-revolution, the most serious Communist crime.

But Pravda did denounce Czechoslovak Communists who have refused to collaborate with what the Kremlin calls an effort to rescue communism in Czechoslovakia. It said "their subversive activities have gone unpunished too long."

UF Board To Meet

A board meeting of the United Fund has been scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 27, at 2 p.m. The budget committee, under direction of Ben Brock, will study budget proposals for the coming year.

AID VICTIMS — From left, Jaycees Ronald Stoltz, Mickey Nunley and Bob Clifton were weary but happy about midnight Friday as a six-hour "radio-thon" to raise money to provide homes for the storm victims at Hermleigh neared its conclusion.

Drive By Jaycees Produces $6,500

The campaign of the Snyder Jaycees to raise $9,000 to provide homes for tornado victims at Hermleigh neared its goal Friday night after a six-hour "radio - thon" with donations of money, materials and labor totaling $6,500.

The $6,500 figure includes $1,500 from a couple of the victims themselves as well as pledges of materials for the new foundations for the houses and labor.

Jaycee President Mickey Nunley expressed appreciation "for all of the support" given the Jaycees by citizens of Scurry County.

"We're still about $2,500 short of the original goal of $9,000," he said, "and any further contributions will be greatly appreciated." Contributions still may be sent to either the Snyder National Bank or the West Texas State Bank in care of the Jaycee Hermleigh Disaster Fund.

The money will be used to pay for four houses to replace ones destroyed in a tornado that devastated the area west of Hermleigh last May 24. Other expenses include the cost of moving the houses from Muriel Drive to Hermleigh and cost of construction of new foundations.

"We don't have anything else planned at this time," said Nunley, "but we're looking at a couple of different projects to bring in more money."

Jaycee officials were pleased with "the tremendous response" to the "radio-thon" which was broadcast from 6:30 p.m. Friday until 1 a.m. Saturday from Rogers Inc. on the west side of the downtown square.

Killed In Crash

KENNEDALE, Tex. (AP)—Richard Campbell, 27, of Arlington was killed Friday in a one-car traffic smashup three miles south of Kennedale on school road.

Ike Suffers New Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered new attacks of irregular and rapid heart beats early Saturday, his doctors at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital announced.

"After a very good day and night, Gen. Eisenhower again had a recurrence of marked cardiac irritability this morning with frequent extra beats and two short episodes of very rapid heart action. He is now resting comfortably but remains in critical condition."

Walter Reed doctors have explained that the term heart irritability means irregular and rapid heart beats, which is considered a dangerous symptom for the 77-year-old five-star general fighting to overcome effects of his seventh heart attack.

Saturday's medical report was the first indication of renewed difficulties in Eisenhower's battle for survival over the past 24 hours. Medical bulletins Friday emphasized that the general remained in critical condition but said his condition generally was stable.

The word "encouraging" had appeared Friday in a condition report.

DEAR ABBY: While on a business trip several months ago, I met a very attractive married woman. (I am also marrited and have a family). I admit I became quite involved with her. I won't say it was "love," but it was a very romantic encounter for both of us.

We've kept in touch thru letters and telephone, and I invited her to meet me again at my expense. I am not a rich man, but I own my own business, and can well afford it. Out of the blue I receive a letter from this woman's husband telling me he'd found the letters I had written to his wife, and that she has confessed EVERYTHING. Now he demands that I write him a letter assuring him that I will never see his wife again. He also asks me to assure him in my letter that I will not leave my wife and family for her. (I never intended to).

I am at a loss as to how to handle this. I am definitely thru with his wife as I want no trouble. What is your advice?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Don't put anything in writing, but do consult your lawyer. He can tell you what to do and what not to do, which is even more important in this case. A man needs a lawyer to advise him of his rights — especially when he's wrong.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What can a woman of 42 do to get a compliment out of her husband? I have spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hair-do. No comment. I bought material and made myself a beautiful outfit in his favorite color — blue. No comment. I use cosmetics artistically and even searched for a subtle perfume I thought he'd like. No comment. Everyone else tells me I am a fine looking woman, he never says a word. I know he loves me and our chidren, but sometime I think, "oh, what the heck!"

NO COMPLIMENTS

DEAR NO: You're lucky. Some women get plenty of sweet talk from their husbands, and nothing else. By the way, when was the last time you complimented HIM?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman whose husband had a good job, was "smart" but he evaded filling out forms because he could neither read nor write!

He could be a victim of a disability called "DYSLEXIA." This occurs in people of all intelligence levels, but more often in those of superior intelligence. For some unexplained reason it affects twice as many boys as girls. The most baffling part of the problem is that dyslexic readers have high I.Q.'s, show facility in math, have normal vision, and show no signs of brain damage and appear healthy in every other way.

Dyslexia can be detected by simple kindergarten tests, and if detected early the child can be helped with SPECIAL training, and no amount of ordinary tutoring will produce results.

Dyslexic readers see "saw" for "was" and "no" for "on"; they also confuse alphabetical look-alikes.

A team of Johns Hopkins medical scientists is presently tackling the problem. It is estimated that this disorder afflicts about half a million children in the United States.

For further information about this subject, write to The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 2023 West Ogden Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, 60612. Sincerely, Indianapolis reader.

Two SNCC Officials Sentenced

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)— Two officials of the Dallas chapter of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) were assessed 10-year prison terms Friday night after being convicted of destroying private property valued at more than $50.

Ernest McMillan, field secretary for SNCC and Matthew Johnson, his chief aide, were charged with leading a group of 40 to 50 youths on a raiding party against an OK Supermarket July 1. Police said some food was destroyed and sections of the store's interior were smashed.

Negroes had been picketing and demonstrating at the supermarket chain's stores. Their complaints included a claim that the stores should be owned by Negroes because most are located mainly in Negro areas of the city.

Following the July 1 raid on the store, McMillan was the chief negotiator with the chain and obtained an agreement for the owners to sell the store to a group of Negro businessmen.

After the five-man, seven - woman jury set their sentences Friday night McMillan and Johnson were remanded to the county jail in lieu of $10,000 appeal bonds.

Road Funds Bill Signed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has signed into law legislation authorizing a $21 billion national highway program over the next six years and expanding the interstate expressway system.

The measure provides $12.3 billion in new money for the Interstate and other federal-aid roads and also allocates about $9 billion of previously-voted funds.

In addition, it extends the highway beautification program, a pet project of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's, and establishes a greatly broadened system of relocation payments for persons and businesses displaced by road projects.

The Texas White House announced today the presidential signing.

The bill adds 1,500 miles to the 41,000 miles already allocated to the interstate system.

The date for completion of the interstate system is extended two years, to June 30, 1974, by the legislation.

The highway beautification program, while extended, is given only a new $25 million one-year authorization by the measure. Johnson had asked $85 million annually for three years.

Lasses Compete In Little Miss Contest

DALLAS (AP) — About 100 girls ranging from 3 to 12 years were due in Dallas Saturday for the start of the annual Our Little Miss Contest.

Competing for the titles of "La Petite" and "Our Little Miss" will be entries from the United States and six foreign countries.

Schools

Parent - Teachers Association; William J. Hartsfield, president of the local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association; Gene Williams, president of the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association, and Joe Williamson, local insurance agent.

President Ted Crenwelge will greet the teachers on behalf of the board of trustees and Supt. Hood on behalf of the administration.

Dr. John English, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, will give the invocation, Jack Gorman, principal of Travis Junior High School, will lead the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and J. D. Smith, director of SHS choirs, will lead the group in singing the National Anthem.

At 1 p.m. faculty members will go to various workshops and other sessions to prepare for the opening of the new school term. Workshops are scheduled in elementary science and in elementary physical education.

The various meetings will continue throughout the day on Tuesday.

Pre-school for first grade pupils is scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Wednesday. Also on Wednesday, there will be a social studies workshop for secondary teachers in the high school cafeteria.

Although enrollment figures will not be known until school actually gets underway, 157 "newcomers" have been registered in local schools. There always is a shuffle during the summer months and some on the rolls here last year are known to have moved to other districts. However, indications are that more have moved in than out.

Of those already registered who did not live in Snyder last school term, 98 are in elementary grades, 31 are in junior high grades and 28 are in senior high grades.

Father Shoots 3 Daughters

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 63-year-old father ordered his three young daughters to kneel and say their prayers in a Dallas hotel Friday, then shot all three in the head and killed himself, police said.

One of the girls, Phyllis Cannon, 9, died a few hours after the shooting. Pamela Cannon, 13, and Patricia Cannon, 11, remained in criticial condition late Friday night.

Officers said the father, John Overton Cannon of suburban Irving, had been shot in the right temple at close range and that a .32-caliber revolver was clutched in his right hand.

Investigators said Cannon had gone to the home of his estranged wife early Friday afternoon and picked up the girls, ostensibly to buy school clothes.

Pamela told officers they had checked into the hotel room and the father ordered them to kneel and say their prayers. She struggled with him and was shot in the head but managed to get to the hotel lobby.

Safety Officials Predict Road Deaths

AUSTIN (AP) — The Department of Public safety estimates 46 persons will die in traffic accidents in Texas during the Labor Day weekend.

Lt. Col. Wilson Speir, acting DPS director, said a special "Operation Motorcide" will be activated from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 30, to midnight Monday, Sept. 2. During this period, all uniformed DPS officers and equipment will be used to enforce traffic laws.

Fires Extinguished

City Firemen extinguished grass fires at Avenue Z and Thirtieth Street and in the 400 block of Twenty - third Street Friday. The first call came at 5 p.m., followed by the second one at 5:30 p.m.

Texas Delegation To Back Johnson For Nomination?

By GARTH JONES

ABOARD TEXAS CONVENTION SPECIAL (AP) — Surprise still rippled through the 13 cars of the special train carrying the Texas delgation to the Democratic National Convention today regarding the possible renomination of President Johnson.

First word of the news broke, caught some delegates completely off guard.

"I talked with a couple of close friends in the White House this morning," said one delegate Friday, "and they said nothing about it."

State Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, the ranking official aboard the Santa Fe special, said he had heard no plans to that effect.

The train was due in Chicago about 9 a.m. today.

Gov. John Connally and national committeeman Frank C. Erwin both said in Chicago Friday that there was sentiment in the Texas delegation to put Johnson's name in nomination.

The President has said he will neither seek nor accept the nomination.

The special train, loaded with delegates and newsmen, left Temple Friday morning. It picked up the Oklahoma delegation at Oklahoma City.

Texas delegates were worrying about the unit rule controversy Friday night even as the convention Rules Committee voted to eliminate it.

The 104-vote Texas delegation was bound by the unit rule by the state Democratic convention.

Speculation mounted today, both on the train and among observers already in Chicago, that the Texans would stage a floor fight against the unit rule vote of the Rules Committee.

"We may be in trouble on the unit rule," said a close Connally associate shortly after the train got under way for Chicago. "The governor made such an appeal that we will come out all right on the platform," he said. "We are in good shape on credentials, since that committee refused to recommend seating of the challenging delegation.

"But the unit rule is our big worry now."

The delegation is bound to the support of Connally as a favorite son by virtue of the unit rule.

"If the unit rule gets thrown out, which we understand might happen, where will we be?" the Connally associate said on the train Friday.

Connally made a strong plea before the Platform Committee in Chicago Thursday for a strong plank commending the Vietnam policies of the Johnson administration.

The governor hinted that the Texas delegation might nominate Johnson unless Vice President Hubert Humphrey is nominated on the first ballot Wednesday.

Erwin also said Friday that the delegation might write Johnson's name unless Texas is permitted to cast all its 104 votes under the unit rule. He made the statement before the Rules Committee voted to eliminate it.

It has been supposed that the delegation would vote mainly for Humphrey once released by Connally. But Connally and Erwin have been implying that Humphrey may not get the Texas votes unless he goes along with Connally on the unit rule retention.

The Texas delegation has its first Chicago caucus Sunday afternoon.

Connally said he might tell the delegates then that he is no longer a favorite son. On the other hand, Connally said earlier this week: "I may never release them...They may not want to be released."

A group of supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., met the train at Chicago. They called for an open convention and carried signs which read: "McCarthy Can Win."

Hospital Auxiliary Celebrating 10 Years Of Service

OFFICIALS — Mr. A. Z. Glover is chairman of the board of managers, Mr. Cy Miller, (seated) is hospital administrator, and Mrs. A. C. Floyd is president of the Hospital Auxiliary.

HOURS COMPILED — Mrs. Skipper Joyce has the most hours of service in the auxiliary membership with over 4,222; Mrs. Roger Mize is hours chairman, and Mrs. W. B. McSpadden, newest member of the auxiliary has just started her volunteer work

On March 13, 1958, some 60 women, Texas Hospital Auxiliary Association leaders, and county and hospital officials met at Martha Ann Woman's Club for a discussional meet on organizing an auxiliary of the Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Dr. E. A. Rogers spoke briefly concerning the need for such an auxiliary. "We have a fine hospital here, one to be proud of, and I believe such an auxiliary would make it even better by adding that personal touch."

The hospital board later had a meeting and agreed that an auxiliary would benefit the institution.

On April 10, 1958, the Ladies Hospital Auxiliary held its first general meeting and orders were taken for uniforms, followed by election of officers and committee chairmen. They were: Mrs. Carl Herod, president; Mrs. P. W. Cloud, first vice-president; Mrs. Herman Doak, second vice president and membership chairman; Mrs. Walker Dabbs, membership co-chairman; Mrs. Skipper Joyce, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Brown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ross Carroll Jr., Mrs. Inez Brown and Mrs. D. M. Cogdell Jr., directors.

Mrs. G. W. Ferguson, ways and means chairman; Mrs. Ross Carroll Jr., co-chairman; Mrs. Bill Eiland, public relations chairman; Mrs. James L. Kincaid, co-chairman, Mrs. Clyde Hall Jr., social chairman; Mrs. Leland Herod, hospital volunteers chairman; Mrs. Robert H. Hardgrove, co-chairman; Mrs. Max West, budget chairman; Mrs. Lee Smyth, co-chairman; and Mrs. H. J. Brice, parliamentarian.

April 20, 1958, was the big day when the Ladies Auxiliary started their volunteer services at the hospital, wearing their cherry colored uniforms. Evidently this organization started with a strong wheel, and is still going strong, as no spokes have fallen out as they roll down the road to success. In February of 1959, the auxiliary purchased a porto lift for the hospital and an intercom system, enabling the locating of doctors, nurses and guests much simpler.

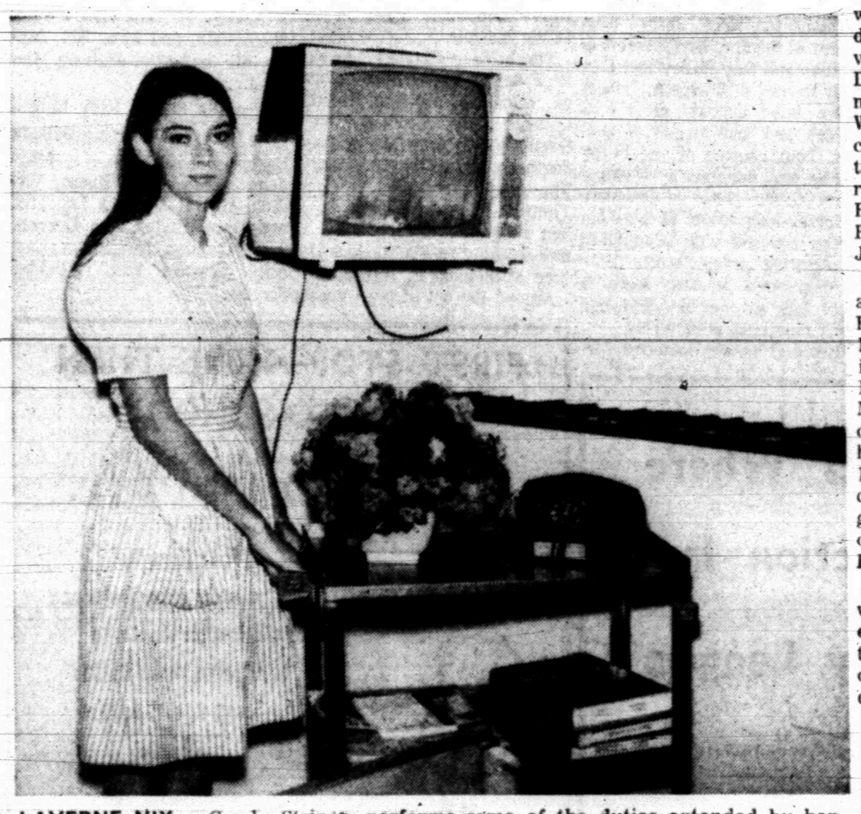
In 1959 the auxiliary also sponsored the organization of a junior auxiliary, known as "Candy Stripers." The girls work under close supervision of a sponsor, a member of the auxiliary. Basically their tasks are to extend any service to the patient and family which would make the hospital stay as pleasant as possible. . no task too small. The Candy Stripers carry the load during the summer months, according to a member of the auxiliary.

Although there are several charter members of the Ladies Auxiliary there is always a greater need for larger membership and anyone interested in joining, offering their volunteer services are ask to call Mrs. V. T. Tracy, or contact any auxiliary member.

In observing their 10th anniversary, over 69,076 volunteer hours of service is credited to the Ladies Auxiliary.

One little known part of the auxiliary is the "Remembrance Fund," with Mrs. Sam Joyce, chairman. If a friend is in the hospital and one does not wish to send flowers, money may be donated to the remembrance fund in his name along with the donor's name to the "Memory Book." This book is on display in the front hall of the hospital. This money is used only for life-saving equipment.

All money made by the organization is used for hospital equipment and making the facilities of the hospital a more pleasant and modern institution in every way. Their long list of contributions are to long and varied to compile.



LAVERNE NIX a Candy Striper, performs some of the duties extended by her group. Shown here in a patients room she offers books, mail, TV, telephone and delivers flowers.

THE SNACK BAR, recently enlarged and decorated in turquoise and tangerine is a busy place at the hospital. Miss Soles, Mr. Makin United In Double Ring Church Ceremonies

Miss Adaleen Soles and Ronald Makin exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony at First Methodist Church on Saturday August 10 at 4 p.m. Dr. John English officiated.

Music was by Mrs. Bob Womack, organist, and Kathleen Mott, soloist.

Guests were seated by John Ross and John Puckett of Los Alamos, New Mexico.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Paul Harris, 2902 El Paso Street, Snyder, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Makin of Joseph, Oregon.

Presented in marriage by Paul Harris, the bride wore a street-length dress of hand clipped Chantilly lace over A-line sheath of peau de soie with wedding ring collar of bridal satin and scalloped edge of the lace at the edge of the elbow length sleeves and around the hemline. She wore a matching shoulder-length lace mantilla, and carried her father's Bible with her corsage of gardenias.

Miss Linda Gayle Miller of Snyder was maid of honor. Ray Gardi of Los Alamos, N. M. was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in fellowship hall. The houseparty consisted of the bride's two sisters, Mrs. Jackie Tylor, Wilbraham, Mass. and Mrs. Colleen Stewart, Fort Worth, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Eloise Sole of McAllen, Tex. Also assisting were Miss Debbie Taylor, Miss Cheryl Taylor and Miss Paula Sole.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School, attended TCU and graduated from West Texas State College, Canyon, and is a teacher in Los Alamos School. The groom was graduated from high school at Joseph, Oregon and the University of Oregon.

The couple will make their home in Los Alamos, N. M.

For a wedding trip to Austin, San Antonio and Carlsbad, the bride chose a silk and wool suit of beige with white accessories.

Hasbrouch House, George Washington's headquarters at Newburgh, N. Y., (1782-83), was acquired in 1850, becoming the first property in New York's present system of historic sites.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT MACK TAYLOR

Green-Taylor Rites Read At Timpson, Tex.

Miss Trina Gay Green of Hugoton, Kansas became the bride of Albert Mack Taylor of Timpson, Texas, Saturday evening July 27th, at eight o'clock in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Timpson.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fowler T. Green of Hugoton and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Taylor of Timpson.

Dr. Charles P. Pitts, president of Dallas Baptist College was the officiating minister as the vows of the double ring ceremony were repeated before an altar setting of branched candelabra decorated with English ivy. Miss Genevieve Screws of Shreveport, Louisiana and Miss Belinda Casey of Houston, Junior bridesmaids, lighted the candles. The aisles leading to the altar were decorated with Nile green satin bows and English ivy.

Two fables holding guest books outside the sanctuary were draped with ivy and accented by a tree candelabra. They were attended by Mrs. Dovie Casey of Houston, aunt of the bride, and Miss Barbara Lauratis of Dallas, friend of the bride and groom.

The program of classical romance music for the wedding was selected by the bride and superbly played by organist, Mrs. Arthur Horton of Timpson. Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, the love song, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from the opera "Samson and Delilah," was played. The traditional wedding march was played upon the entrance of the bride.

Miss Green was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned of blush pink bridal satin and Spanish ecru lace encrusted with seed pearls. The neckline was designed with a v-shaped outline and the sleeves were long and pointed at the wrists. The skirt formed a cathedral length train. Her full length veil was edged in the same lace and pearls as her dress.

The bride carried a Spanish lace fan decorated with a crescent of phalaneopsis orchids, streamers of ivy and satin ribbons and ropes of pearls. She wore an opera length strand of pearls, a gift of the groom and two antique rings belonging to the groom's grandmothers.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Sandra Fortenberry McFerrin of Amarillo, as matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Osborn of Columbus, Ohio, Miss Sally Langston of Timpson and Mrs. Jerri Doyle Shook of Dallas. Bridesmaids in absentia were Miss Marion Duncan of College Park, Maryland and Misses Orietta Novoa and Ivonne Allegrio of Temuco, Chile. Flower girl was Miss Tina Michalsky of Buna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Michalsky. Ringbearer was Master Rial Taylor of Timpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor.

The attendants wore long gowns of Nile green chiffon fashioned with empire waist and bell sleeves and short white kid gloves, a gift of the bride. Their head pieces were garlands of English ivy.

They carried Spanish tulle fans decorated with gardenia and ivy crescents and streamers of satin ribbon and ropes of pearls.

The flower girl was dressed in an ankle length Nile green dress, matching the bridesmaids' dresses. She wore a garland of ivy on her head and carried a basket woven of yellow sweetheart roses.

The ring bearer carried the rings in a small Spanish Chest encrusted with yellow roses and ivy.

Dave Taylor of Timpson, brother of the groom was best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Worsham of Snyder, Ken Everett of Dallas and Roy Bailey and Carroll Barnes of Timpson. Ushers were Mike Screws of Fort Worth and Will Green of Dallas, both cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Green chose a designers original long dress of green crepe covered with a tunic of contrasting green lace. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue lace gown of classic design with matching accessories.

Honored guests included Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burns and Mrs. Ada Taylor, grandparents of the groom and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Screws and Mrs. Victoria Green, grandparents of the bride.

The reception was held in Young's Banquet Room and catered by the Fredonia Hotel, Nacogdoches. Both the bride and groom's tables were covered in white and decorated with garlands of English ivy. Magnolia leaves were used at vantage points throughout the room.

A four tiered cake decorated with white roses and leaves and topped with white wedding bells centered the bride's table. A wedding punch of fresh fruits and juices was served. Centering the groom's table was a chocolate cake which was served with coffee.

The bride's table was presided over by the groom's aunts. Miss Maydelle Burns cut the cake and Miss Doris Burris served the punch. Miss Virginia Grove, friend of the bride and groom, cut and served the groom's cake. Bridesmaids assisted in servering coffee.

Small tulle bags of rice were displayed near the entrance on a table decorated with a candelabra-compote containing an arrangement of white daisies, English ivy, and white tapers.

Instead of the traditional throwing of the bride's bouquet the attendants and house party drew charms tied to ribbons from the cake carrying out an old Spanish custom. The girl drawing the miniature wedding ring is traditionally the next bride.

For travel the new Mrs. Taylor wore a navy and white tunic suit with navy accessories. The orchid center of her bridal bouquet completed her ensemble.

After a honeymoon in West Texas and Mexico the couple will reside in Snyder, Texas where both will teach in the public schools.

The bride graduated from High School in Sterling, Colorado, attended Wayland Baptist College, and received her Bachelor of Music Degree from Southern Methodist University. The groom graduated from Timpson High School and Stephen F. Austin College and is now working on his Masters Degree at Stephen F. Austin.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mrs. Nan Taliaferro, Jennie Lee and John, Miss Lisa Doyle, Miss Martha Dickey and mother Mrs. C. W. Dickey, and Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Green of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fortenberry, Suzanne and Steve of Lubbock; Mrs. Darla Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Casey, Jr., Belinda and Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Screws, Shirley, Sandy and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Williver, and Mrs. H. H. Berwick of Houston; Mrs. Elford Nix of Baytown; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Patton of Sterling, Colorado; Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Drummond, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Drummond, Mr. James Blackwell and Miss Carolyn Greene of Shreveport, Louisiana; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Screws of Carthage; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Drewery of Nacogdoches, Texas; and Miss Diane Bolwin of Nederland, Texas; Mr. H. H. Barass Mr. and Mrs. James Parker, Mrs. Darby Gramling of Center, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Taylor and sons, Tommy and Clay of Marshall, Texas; Mrs. Rohte Gene Everett and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Stoddard of Garrison, Texas.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Taylor were hosts at a dinner at the Fredonia Hotel in Nacogdoches Friday evening for Miss Trina Green and Albert Mack Taylor following the rehearsal for their wedding Saturday, July 27.

Twin brass compote-candelabra holding white daisies, English ivy and white tapers were placed on the dining table in the Thomas J. Rusk Room. Ivy, daisies, and greenery were used as a runner extending the length of the table.

Place cards containing hand-painted golden wedding bells marked the places for Miss Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler T. Green, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Pitts, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McFerrin, Mr. and Mrs. John Shook, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mickalsky.

Also the Misses Sally Langston, Cheryl Osborne, Belinda Casey, Genevive Screws, Maydelle Burns, Doris Burns, Virginia Grove, Barbara Lauratis, and Dave Taylor, Ken Everett, Jerry Worshm, Ray Bailey, Carroll Barnes and Michael Screws.

Sharrylon Kay Ator, Jerry Vestal Exchange Double Ring Marriage Vows

The First Methodist Church was the setting for the Saturday, Aug. 10 wedding of Miss Sharrylon Kay Ator and Mr. Jerry Vestal. Bill Fox, Dean of men at SMU, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Ator, 2209 Forty - fourth Street, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Vestal, 2901 Thirty-fifth Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin and French imported net lace, fashioned with elbow - length sleeves and portrait neckline. A small cluster of crystal and pearl beads accented the bodice. The removable chapel train was fastened at the shoulders and was accented with an overlay of lace. Her headpiece was satin and lace with cathedral length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses adorned with Frenched mums. For something old she wore a string of pearls that belong to her grandmother.

Chris Stevenson of Snyder was maid of honor and Mrs. John Holmes of Irving, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Jan Hegi of New York, Beth Vestal, of Snyder, both sisters of the groom, and Vicki Dean of Snyder. They wore identical attire in full-length gowns of mint green saki. The modified empire bodices were accented with green velvet ribbon which formed a bow and fell to the hemline. Their headpieces were matching green tulle held in place by a Dior bow. They carried white and yellow daisies with sprays of English ivy.

John Collier of San Antonio was best man. Groomsmen included Steve Crowell of Midland, Charlie Tennyson of Colville, Wash., Jim Herzberg of Houston and Terry Hines of Ada, Okla.

Phillip Ator, brother of the bride, and Bucky Walters of Dallas seated guests. Rickey Ator, brother of the bride was ringbearer. Tom Kincaid and Drew Bullard lighted candles.

Miss Diane Hargrove was organist.

Branched candelabra holding white burning tapers graced the alter. Tiered taper and Emerald foliage were used on either side of the kneeling bench.

A reception was held in fellowship hall. The table was covered in ecru lace and centered with a silver candelabra entwined with daisies and English ivy. Appointments were in silver and crystal. Mrs. Steve Crowell and Miss Cheryle Stevenson presided at the table and Miss Empress McFarland registered guests.

For her wedding trip to Wyoming, the bride chose a black and white tweed dress and coat ensemble with black patent accessories, and her corsage of gardenias.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Snyder High School and is a junior at SMU. Mr. Vestal is a 1965 graduate of Snyder High School and a senior at SMU where he has received such honors as Blue Key and Cycen Fjodr, senior honoraries, University Men's judiciary chairman of sophomore counciling program, Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity, Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Mr. and Mrs. Vestal will reside in Dallas this fall and continue their education at SMU. Mr. Vestal will be director of Auxiliary Housing with the Dean of Men.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their home on Friday evening.

Objective About Eleanor

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT-An American Conscience. By Tamara K. Hareven.

What Dr. Hareven has undertaken here is not a full biography, but a historian's study of Mrs. Roosevelt's public life as an idealist and reformer, champion of the underdog and finally, "First Lady of the World."

Most adults remember Mrs. Roosevelt's later years, and particularly her work for the United Nations and the Human Rights Commission. But only the older generations can recall what a dynamic, ubiquitous, controversial, famous person she was years ago.

The author has dug deeply into the record for a full account of Mrs. Roosevelt's public activities, beginning about 1920. There are detailed accounts of her reaction to the Depression, her influence as the First Lady among many of the New Deal agencies, her war work, her support of the United Nations relief funds and children's funds, her contributions to the drafting of the Declaration of Human Rights, and her efforts many years ago in behalf of civil rights and the war against poverty.

Dr. Hareven is careful to point out that her subject created strong reactions — adulation from her admirers and ridicule and abuse from her critics. In being as objective as possible, Dr. Hareven has reported on Mrs. Roosevelt's mistakes and limitations as well as her accomplishments.

The author finds that she "adopted causes as they came along," but that there was "an underlying pattern of unity; her concept of humanistic democracy, social justice and her endorsement of the welfare state as a means toward an equitable society."

The book is well documented, with 34 pages of notes citing great many sources, including the writings of Mrs. Roosevelt herself.

Double Ring Wedding Vows Unites Miss Williamson, Mr. Owen In Marriage

Miss Barbara Gayle Williamson became the bride of Mr. Jerry Wayne Owen in double ring ceremonies held at Colonial Hill Baptist Church on August 17 at 8 p.m. Rev. Miller F. Robinson, pastor, officiated at the candlelight service.

The altar was centered with a brass arched candelabrae holding 15 white burning tapers decorated with emerald green foliage, white daisies and blue statis, matching brass tree candelabrae were used on either side. Emerald green foliage was used in the background.

Jan Williamson, cousin of the bride presented traditional wedding music at the organ and accompanied Kay Pitner who sang, "Whither Thou Goest," "Walk Hand In Hand," and "Wedding Prayer."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williamson, 2701 Thirty - fifth Street, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack O. Owen, Eunice, New Mexico.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a delustered satin gown fashioned with scalloped Sabrina neckline enriched with pearls and hand-clipped Chantilly lace and long lace sleeves with scalloped edge. A lace panel adorned the A-line skirt and lace and pearls detailed the attached chapel train topped with matching bow. Her elbow-length veil of pure silk imported illusion was held with a queen's crown of pearls, enlivened with teardrops. She carried a cascade designed bouquet of Frenched white mums centered by a white Cattleya orchid with ivy leaves on a white Bible. The bride presented a long stemmed red rose to each mother.

Mrs. Mike Williamson of Dallas attended her cousin as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Joe Chapman of Plano, Mrs. Buddy Shaw of Lubbock and Sherry Williamson, sister of the bride was junior bridesmaid. Kim James of Ira, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. The matron of honor was attired in an A-line floor-length dress of blue nylon swiss over tafeta with long bell sleeves. A blue satin panel was held to the square cut neckline with a bow to form a train. Bridesmaids, junior bridesmaid and flower girl wore identical costumes, only featuring short sleeves. They wore headpieces of blue silk illusion held with a crown of seed pearls.

Candlelighters were Jay Clark, cousin of the bride and Mitzi Autry. Her dress was identical to the bridesmaids.

The mother of the bride chose a mint green lace dress with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a yellow silk suit with matching accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Mr. Randy Owen of Eunice, N. M. attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Tim Williamson of Fort Worth, brother of the bride and Mike Williamson of Dallas, cousin of the bride. Ushers were Floyd Sims of Eunice N. M. and M. Owen of LaMarque, cousin of the groom. Joey Harvey of Eunice, N. M. was junior groomsman.

A reception was held in fellowship hall. The table was laid with an organdy cloth, centered with silver candelabra with white tapers and a nosegay of daisies and blue statis fashioned after attendants bouquets. June Westfall presided at the four - tiered wedding cake, and Mrs. Bob Barbee of Ira, cousin of the bride, registered guests.

When leaving for a two-week wedding trip to Mexico City and Acapulco, the bride was attired in a three - piece Lester Paul creation of silk worsted. Accessories were silver patent and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home at 2415 D Avenue L., Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and a senior at Texas Tech majoring in elementary education. The groom graduated from Snyder High School, attended South Plains Jr. College, Hobbs, Junior College, and now attending Texas Tech.

Parents of the groom hosted a rehearsal dinner on Friday evening in the banquet room of Phillips 66 Cafe.

Out - of - town guests were from Bastrop, LaMarque, Lubbock, Plano, Dallas, Fort Worth, Tex. and Eunice New Mexico.

Chilled Brosch With Cucumbers

1 can (1 pound) sliced beets
1 can (10½ ounces) beef consomme, undiluted
2 cups buttermilk
Juice of 1 lemon, strained
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
Salt and white pepper to taste
1 small cucumber, pared and finely diced

Drain beet juice into a container (about 1½ quarts). Add consomme, buttermilk, lemon juice and sugar; mix well. Cut beets into narrow strips and add more sugar if needed to give a sweet-sour taste you like. Cover and chill. Serve in chilled bowls and pass cucumber to be spooned into soup. Makes 6 servings.

Sliced Porkette

2 to 2½-pound boneless smoked pork shoulder butt
¼ cup cider vinegar
¾ cup water
1 bay leaf
6 whole cloves
1 teaspoon celery seed

Remove all wrappings from butt. Place in small shallow pan (11 by 7 by 2 inches). Pour the vinegar over the butt and add the water, bay leaf, cloves and celery seed to the pan. Cover very tightly with foil. Bake in a 325-degree oven until fork inserted in butt turns easily — 1¼ hours (about 35 minutes per pound). Drain thoroughly. Serve sliced, hot or cold. (If you use it for baking and you won't need to use the foil.

Unemployment Claims Stable In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Unemployment insurance claims remained stable in Texas last month, the Texas Employment Commission said today.

The commission said there were 92,921 claims, 100 more than in June. July 1967 claims actions totaled 113,146.

During July the commission paid $2,109,323 in jobless benefits, up $149,359 from July 1967. The increase in payments, despite the decrease in claims is account for by the recent increase in maximum weekly jobless benefits from $37 to $45.

Retail Sales Booming In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite increased income taxes and inflation, retail sales are still booming in Texas, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Dr. Graham Blackstock wrote that sales gained 3 per cent last month over June and 12 per cent over July 1967.

For seven months, sales were up 10 per cent from last year.

"Texans, it seems, are not to be deterred in their shopping. Neither are Americans generally, who likewise spent 3 per cent more in retail purchases during July than in June, and 10 per cent more than in July a year ago. The confidence of the buying public is obviously high," Blackstock said.

A partial answer for the increase in sales despite inflation and the 10 per cent income tax surcharge is that the tax increase did not fall until mid-July.

Another partial explanation is that consumers are dipping into their savings to compensate for decreased income due to the surcharge, the writer said.

"Incomes are rising, too, and this fact helps to offset both the tax increase and inflation. But it cannot be a lasting factor, because inflation is growing faster than income," he said.

Consumer credit also has accelerated in each of the last four calendar quarter, Blackstock said.

In Texas, July's sales growth over June was 5 per cent in durables and 2 per cent in non-durables.

Automobile sales are 17 per cent over the same period of 1967.

Texarkana Lays Plans To Resist HEW Guidelines

By RUTH ANN LAUGHAN

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — If the Texarkana, Tex., School Board abandons freedom of choice school desegregation, Dr. Mitchell Young, a Texarkana surgeon, says he'd lead a movement to abolish the independent school district.

Young, 38, says 2,500 taxpayers have signed a petition asking an election to dissolve the district if the board goes on with its plans to merge Dunbar high school and Texarkana senior high. Dunbar is primarily Negro and Texarkana Senior high is mostly white.

"We don't want to abolish the school district if we can find another way," said Young, who has nine children. "We don't think it's in the best interests of the city." Four of Young's children attend Highland Park Elementary School and one goes to Pierce Junior high.

He said he might pull the petitions on the school board vote to call a halt in Texarkana to what he terms a power thrust of the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) to control education through aid to face whenever it's accepted.

Young predicts many Texarkana school patrons will be delighted happiness with your freedom of choice is achieved in Texarkana. About 10,000 pupils in Texarkana, Tex., Young said.

School Board President O. D. Kinder said the schools would not be crippled if the local tax boycott comes, but he had no immediate plan of action.

"That's something we'd have to face whenever it occurred," he said. Kinder said he presently has no "gut ass more interested with this group," referring to the organization led by Young.

Kinder said the open opposition to the two desegregation plan numbers about 350. He added, however, that the group has not influenced the board in its decisions.

Young, who claims 7,000 Texarkanans are members of a newly incorporated organization, Freedom, Inc., said his fight against HEW has spread to 16 states. Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, Florida, Oklahoma, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, South Dakota, Connecticut and New Hampshire.

Membership is expected to climb to one million by September, according to Young, who reported a roll of 50,000 in June.

Young said the membership includes some Negroes, at least 150 in Texas.

A Negro mother in sympathy with Young's group said, "I thought my daughter should be able to go to the school she wants to. She doesn't want to go to the white school, but she's forced to go.

The woman said transportation to a formerly all-white school is a problem for Negroes. "There are no buses provided, and some people have seven or eight children," she said.

Young, a graduate of the University of Arkansas Medical School, is no stranger to HEW.

"Dr. Young has done everything he possibly could to prevent the integration," said John Palmer, assistant information director of the Dallas regional HEW office. "He's had a flow of letters to the President and to congressmen and to everybody he thought would be influential," he said.

"I would say that the (Texarkana) school district has felt the effects of his efforts," Palmer said, "and it has a tendency to make negotiations more difficult," he said.

The Texarkana, Ark., school board and HEW are still negotiating. The Arkansas board has asked for more time to overhaul the desegregation plan which HEW recently turned down.

Young maintains that he and members of Freedom, Inc., are not opposed to integration. "We are for freedom of choice which will bring about integration peacefully over a period of time," he said. "We are fighting to prevent the government from gaining complete control of education in this country."

The freedom of choice advocates have sent, Young said, approximately five million letters urging congressmen to uphold freedom of choice by supporting an amended $16 billion appropriation bill for HEW. The amendments, tagged to the bill by Rep. Jamie Whitten of Mississippi, would prevent HEW from receiving its appropriation unless freedom of choice is recognized.

The bill, with its amendments, has cleared the house and is expected to reach the Senate floor in September, Young said.

Protests against the federal government could take on the guise of an income tax boycott, Young said. He explained that members of Freedom, Inc., "might not pay our federal income tax until April 15 and then make token quarterly payments."

Junior Editors Quiz on OSTRICH

QUESTION: Is it true that an ostrich buries his head in the ground when alarmed?

ANSWER: No, this is just a fable. One of the reasons for this false notion is that the ostrich, largest of living birds, has a very bulky body, but only a thin, scrawny neck bare of feathers. From a distance, you see the body, but the thin neck may be hardly visible and you might think the head was underground. The ostrich is a magnificent runner, stretching out its long legs with an enormous stride. Streaking off like this, the bird can outrun a man or a horse. But the poor old ostrich is not very smart and can't get over the silly notion that it should run in a circle. Result: a group of horsemen, coming from different directions, can easily surround the bird and kill it with arrows, spears or guns. There used to be great flocks of ostriches in Africa and Asia. They got along well enough until there was a demand for the soft, elegant-looking ostrich plumes. Now they are scarce in their native countries. However, ostrich farms have been successful in South Africa, Algeria and Argentina as well as the United States.

(Beth Wheaton of San Carlos, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 each plus AP's handsome, World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Fluvanna Pupils Register Tuesday

FLUVANNA — Students planning to attend the Fluvanna School are urged to register Tuesday, Aug. 27, according to an announcement by Winn Talley, the new superintendent. He said seniors will register between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m., juniors between 10 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon, sophomores between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m., and freshmen between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m.

The annual teacher's workshop is set for Friday, Aug. 30. School officially begins at 8:30 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 3.

Holidays are scheduled for Nov. 28 and 29 (Thanksgiving), Dec. 20 through Dec. 30 (Christmas), Jan. 1 (New Year's), and April 7 through April 11 (Easter). There will be a teacher's meeting all day on Friday, April 4.

The school year concludes Friday, May 23 with graduation set for 8 p.m. on that day. School will dismiss at 2:30 p.m. on the days holidays begin.

Any days lost due to inclement weather can be made up during the Easter Holidays. There are 117 students on the census roll.

Talley, the new superintendent, came here from New Home where he was superintendent for the past three years. He attended grade school at Hermleigh and high school and junior college at Texarkana. He also was educated at Hardin-Simmons University and Texas Tech and coached five years at Colorado City from 1956 to 1961. He is married to the former Billye Landers of Robert Lee. She will teach in the first grade. They are parents of two boys, Rob, who will be a senior, Ronney, who will be in the 5th grade, and a daughter, Marsha, who will be a 7th grader.

The Fluvanna School also will have a new principal Bill Anders, who also came here from New Home. He will teach math in addition to his supervisory duties. New teachers include Gerald Harper (social science and chemistry) and his wife, Sally, who will teach English. Both are from San Angelo.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Law: Profession of a Thousand Faces

The Opelousas (La.) World and Miss Lain award a new Mercury protable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Carol Hebert for his request:

"It is my deisre to become a lawyer. Could you please give me some information about this career?"

A. — LAW IS A SINGLE PROFESSION, BUT NOT A SINGLE CAREER. It is diversified into perhaps a thousand different opportunities and occupations. Here's a "taster" of careers in law:

MOST LAWYERS are lone practitioners, or members of a small - to medium - size law firm (in any size community), advising clients of their legal rights and obligations; drafting legal documents; acting as trustees, guardians and executors; negotiating settlements out of court; representing clients in court and before quasi - judicial and administrative agencies of government.

AT THE OTHER END OF THE PRIVATE PRACTICE POLE are partners and associates in giant 50 plus — member law firms (only a fraction of the profession) located in large metropolitan areas. These firms usually have the largest corporate clients because they can offer a variety of services under one roof.

ADDITIONAL AVENUES. Government lawyers help develop and administer laws (federal, state and local); they are usually in specialized law because they work for a particular government agency. Other lawyers become judges, politicians, lobbyists, "house counsel" employees of a company, law professors, research workers or writers. Some do not practice law, but use their legal education as valuable background to become administrators in business or government, F. B. I. agents, credit investigators or probation officers.

SPECIALIZATION. The majority of practicing lawyers are engaged in general practice, but others concentrate in a particular branch of the law, such as: corporation, criminal, labor, trial, patent, real estate, and estate work, personal injury cases, maritime law, or law related to a particular industry.

OUTLOOK. Law is unlikely to become obsolete as the increasing red - tape of business and government requires expert legal counsel for transactions which used to be considered routine. Salaried opportunities will be best for high ranking graduates from widely recognized law schools. Other new graduates may have a little trouble finding top salaried jobs but eventually do well in private practice — particularly in small towns and expanding suburban areas. The general population growth, and increased use of legal services by law- and middle-income clients will also add to the long-term growth of this procession. Increasing demand is particularly expected for specializations in corporation, patent, administrative, labor and international law.

PAY SCALES. Typical annual income for experienced successful lawyers in private practice is about $15-35,000, but the range for lawyers in general is fantastic: $8-200,000!

EDUCATION: As a rule, seven years of full-time study after high school are necessary, although some law schools have shorter programs. For precise plans contact law schools; a list is available from the Association of American Law Schools, 1521 New Hampshire Ave. NW, Washington, D. C. 20036.

HEADSTART. Talk with lawyers . . . apply for a job as an office boy (or girl) or typist in a law firm . . . visit courtrooms . . . read everything you can find on a career in law — ask your librarian to help you research it. For still more information, write to the American Bar Association, 1155 E. 60th St., Chicago, Ill. 60647.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

A very great injustice has been done by the Snyder School Trustees in connection with the Football Insurance program this year. The insurance policy this year has the first $50 expense payable only by 50 percent; the other half to be paid out of other insurance, or by the parent. In practical terms of football, this means that a parent is going to have to pay $25 for even minor injuries. Very few X-rays are made for less than $45 or $50, and treatment of even minor injuries runs very high these days. Also, most insurance policies will not pay on interscholastic athletic injuries.

This expense should be absorbed by the school system, I feel, and not by the parents. The boys playing high school football are giving their all for the school; it is a complete abdication of responsibility on the part of the trustees not to take this expense. It is the very least that they can do to reciprocate.

I hope that others will make their feelings known to them. It should also be emphasized that this question has nothing to do with the athletic department, and the fine staff of coaches in the school system, but is a basic policy question from on high. Had this been made public sooner, there would have been a great many objections.

Hold Key To First Ballot Nomination

CHICAGO (AP) — Southern favorite sons and large uncommitted Northern blocs hold the key to whether Hubert H. Humphrey can win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, The Associated Press poll showed Friday.

More than two-thirds of the 521 votes from the 11 Deep South states are held by favorite sons, while there are still large numbers of uncommitted delegates in New Jersey, California, Illinois and New York.

The poll, based on primary results, public pledges and AP delegate checks, gives Humphrey a solid first ballot strength of 849 votes—compared with 1,312 needed to win the nomination. Only solidly committed delegates are included, not those leaning to a candidate.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota continues to trail Humphrey by about 375 votes with 475, while Sen. George S. McGovern has 35. Gov. Lester G. Maddox of Georgia, the fourth declared candidate, has none pending the seating and selection of the disputed delegation from his home state.

A total of 419½ votes are held by favorite sons, 828½ are uncommitted and 13 are scattered.

Humphrey's biggest pickup this week has been 11½ votes in Maine after Sen. Edmund S. Muskie abandoned his favorite son candidacy and supported the vice president. More of the state's 27-vote delegation is expected to support Humphrey by next week.

The major McCarthy gain came when Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa endorsed the Minnesota senator, who picked up 8½ previously uncommitted votes in the state. McCarthy also gained three previously uncommitted votes in Michigan.

Texas Road Deaths Show Slight Drop

AUSTIN (AP)— Traffic accidents have killed 1,948 persons in Texas this year, down 1 per cent from the 1,964 fatalities recorded by this time last year.

The Department of Public Safety said the deaths occurred in 1,641 fatal accidents, up slightly from the 1,641 during the comparable 1967 period.

PITCHER'S MARATHON

Yankees, Tigers Tie, 3-3

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you don't think this is the year of the pitcher you can't expect any help on your side of the argument from Detroit Tiger or New York Yankee hitters. Far from it.

They flubbed a chance—10 of them in fact to disprove the statement in a dandy five-hour example of futility Friday night before a 1 a.m. curfew forced an end of activities in a 19-inning, 3-3 tie.

That marathon struggle—longest in the American League this year—came after the Yankees used Tom Tresh's two-run homer for a 2-1 victory in the opener of a doubleheader.

All told, the twin bill consumed a little more than eight hours and 28 innings—equivalent to a tripleheader plus an inning. And the second match was all for naught. It will be replayed in its entirety as part of a doubleheader Sunday.

The loss and standoff, however, didn't do a thing to the Tigers' seven-game lead in the American League since runner-up Baltimore was a 4-3 victim of Boston.

In other AL games, Oakland routed California 9-4, Chicago slipped past Minnesota 4-2 and Cleveland whipped Washington 6-2.

Roy White's eighth-inning homer, his 12th of the year, tied the nightcap for New York and set the stage for a brilliant spell of relief pitching.

Lindy McDaniel, who took over for the Yankees in the ninth, hurled seven perfect innings before he was lifted for a pinch hitter. Dooley Womack checked the Tigers the rest of the way.

Meanwhile, Detroit's John Hiller, who came in after White's homer, yielded only four hits before he was replaced by Don McMahon in the 17th.

Tresh's 11th homer of the year in the opener came after Joe Pepitone singled off loser Earl Wilson, 10-11, in the second inning.

Wilson, who hit a fifth-inning homer—the 30th of his career—was forced to leave the game in the sixth when he was struck on the right shoulder by Pepitone's liner.

Stan Bahnsen, 12-9, scattered six hits in picking up the victory.

A line drive off pitcher Dave Leonhard's glove proved to be Baltimore's undoing. Jose Tartabull's smash enabled Joe Foy to score from third in the fifth inning and winner Juan Pizzaro, 6-4, made it stand up.

Boston took an early 2-0 lead, but Baltimore tied it in the third on Frank Robinson's homer, Boog Powell's single and a three-base error by Floyd Robinson.

Dalton Jones homered for Boston in the next inning, but Paul Blair tied it back up again with a solo blast in the bottom of the fourth.

Rookies Joe Keough and Sal Bando had two-run triples to power Oakland past California.

Keough's hit sparked a three-run uprising in the first inning, then Bando's three-bagger in the seventh clinched the triumph after the Angels had pulled to within 5-4.

Sandy Alomar's base running and a sacrifice fly by Duane Josephson in the eighth enabled Chicago to stop the Twins. Alomar singled, stole second, took third on Dean Chance's wild pitch and then scored on Josephson's sacrifice. Tommy Davis singled in Pete Ward, who had doubled, for an insurance run.

The Twins had tied it in the sixth on Tony Oliva's two-run homer.

Cleveland rookie Mike Paul had to rely on some strong relief pitching by Eddie Fisher for his first major league victory, after losing his first six.

Fisher came on in the seventh and tamed the Senators except for Frank Howard's 36th homer of the year in the ninth.

Three Share Lead At Philadelphia

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The old adage that golf knows no age was never more evident as the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic started its third round today with three leaders.

Jim Ferrier, 53-year-old native Australian now a U.S. citizen; Bobby Cole, a pink-cheeked 20-year-old South African, and Billy Casper, who approaches a round of golf much the same as a banker does a day's work, were deadlocked with 36-hole totals of 137, seven under par.

It was no surprise to see Casper at the top of the field of 156 starters. The 37-year-old veteran has won four tournaments this year and earned $146,895. He's usually where the money is.

Ferrier and Cole, however, are longshots.

Ferrier was runner-up in the 1931 Australian Open, 17 years before Cole was born. Casper was wearing diapers.

Asked what he is doing still competing with players who could be his sons or grandsons, the greying Californian replied: "You can chase the little white ball long after you've stopped chasing everything else. You get old fast enough without looking for it. I can play in the Seniors later."

Looking fit at 6-foot-2 and 180 pounds, Ferrier shot a 34-35—69 over the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course Friday. Cole, who tied for second in the opening round, fired a 35-35—70 while Casper carded a 34-35—69.

They led by a stroke over Charlie Sifford, Labron Harris and Terry Dill.

Ferrier admitted he played old-fashioned golf.

"I chipped and pitched and putted well," he said. "That always has been the whole game of golf. That's how Julie Boros (48 years old) has been winning all that money. I see old man Boros stumbling around out there and winning money and it keeps me playing."

Boros didn't make the cut. Jack Nicklaus was at 142 while U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino was at 141.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Here are the scores after the second round of the Philadelphia Golf Classic at the Whitemarsh Country Club:

Tiger Coach Sees Bright, Dark Spots

"Right now it looks like we've got more dark spots than bright spots," declared Coach Wayne Tyrone Saturday at the conclusion of the first week of drills by the Tiger football squad.

The athletic director said he was pleased with the running backs and the split ends.

"They are our more mature boy. Most of them are lettermen and were expected to look good," he pointed out.

Tyrone said one of the quarterbacks is slowed with a knee injury, but will improve when the knee gets better.

"We need to have at least two good quarterbacks," he said, "and it looks like we'll have them."

While the head coach was pleased, generally, with the backs, he expressed worry over the line.

"The offensive line looked better than the defensive line," he said, adding, "We've got to develop some good, big boys — there's a lot of room for improvement in the bigger linemen."

While most of the injuries to date have been minor, there have been a couple of serious injuries in crucial spots. Steve Ray, a promising line candidate, had to drop out of football due to a concussion. Another big lineman — Ray Ellis — sustained a slight concussion and his future status remains in doubt.

"We only had nine seniors when we started so this looks like a rebuilding year," Tyrone said. "We hope we can develop some sophomore linemen."

He said the team will get a "fairly good test" at 8 p.m. next Friday when Stamford comes here for a scrimmage. "We'll get the acid test the next week when we have another practice session at Midland," he concluded.

The Tigers will continue two-a-day drills until school begins Thursday, then switch over to regular 1-a-day school routine.

Richmond Vs. Wakayama

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — When the Wakayama, Japan, baseball team bids "sayonara" to this Pennsylvania community, it hopes to take along a little souvenir of America—the Little League World Series trophy.

Wakayama meets Richmond, Va., Saturday in a nationally televisied match to determine the world's Little League champion.

Both teams reached the finals with a display of hitting, pitching—and spirit.

For the Richmond team, boosters were everywhere, flooding the Williamsport area with confederate flags and rebel cries.

Manager Yoshio Kono of Wakayama will probably lay the team's title hopes in the lap of his star pitcher, Hideaki Highashide.

Highashide fired a two-hitter in the team's opening game, a 14-2 walkaway over Wiesbaden, Germany.

Roger Miller, the Southerners' one-man gang, will be their starting pitcher. In Thursday's 8-5 victory over Sherbrooke-Lennoxville, Que., Miller hit three homers and drove in seven runs.

IN HIGH GEAR — Chi Cheng (right) is in high gear just after leaving the start of the 100 meter dash in the Women's AAU Track Meet in Denver. Iris Davis (center) of Tenn. State Univ., came in to finish strong behind the winner Cheng. Linda Adams (left) of Topeka, Kan., took fourth place in this heat. Miss Cheng, from Pasadena, Cal., was clocked in 11.2. Gimpy Joe, Jets Bombard Atlanta

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

You've got to hand it to Joe Namath the way he performed with his right arm while testing his gimpy left knee for the first time this season. Gino Cappelletti didn't do badly with his toe, either.

Namath, the New York Jets' passing wizard, and Cappelletti, the Boston Patriots' fild goal specialist, were among those who starred on Friday night's five-game pro football exhibition program.

Namath passed for two touchdowns in completing 12 of 20 passes for 140 yards as the American Football League's Jets downed Atlanta of the National League 27-12.

Cappelletti contributed field goals of 49 and 48 yards in leading the Patriots to a 19-17 victory over the Miami Dolphins in a game matching AFL teams. In another AFL tilt, the Houston Oilers crushed the Buffalo Bills 37-7 while in the NFL the Detroit Lions downed the Baltimore Colts 14-7.

In another inter-league game, the NFL San Francisco 49ers defeated the AFL Denver Broncos 22-6.

Namath, who complained of pain in his left knee and sat out his team's first two exhibition games, played almost three quarters against the Falcons at Birmingham, Ala. In addition to his TD aerials, the former Alabama star fired a 15-yard pass to George Sauer to set up another touchdown.

The Patriots, who had scored only one touchdown in losing two previous games, parlayed Cappelletti's golden toe and alert fumble coverage to down the Dolphins.

Boston found an easy route to a pair of scores after its strong defense recovered bobbles by Miami's Bob Griese and rookie Kim Hammond. The latter lost the ball at the Miami 35 late in the second quarter and fullback Jim Nance scored the first touchdown of the game on a 28-yard run with eight seconds left in the half.

Reserve quarterback Bob Davis led undefeated Houston to its fourth consecutive victory. He worked the entire second half and completed three touchdown passes, one a 60-yard bomb to Ode Burrell. It was Buffalo's first loss in four exhibition starts.

Detroit's defense throttled Baltimore scoring opportunities five times in the first half and turned a blocked field goal attempt into a 66-yard touchdown. The pivotal score came in the first period when linebacker Mike Lucci blocked Lou Michaels' field goal attempt. Cornerback Dick LeBeau scooped up the loose ball and raced 66 yards down the sideline for the TD.

The 49ers struck for 16 points in the second quarter against Denver in registering their first victory of the season. John Brodie's passes set up a pair of one-yard touchdown plunges by Ken Willard.

Let Youth Play—Avery

CHICAGO (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, sees no reason to abandon the Olympic Games this year because of the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Brundage, after receiving phone calls from "all over the world," issued a statement Friday in the wake of rumblings against participation by Russia and satellite countries in the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City, Oct. 12-27.

"The world, alas, is full of injustice, aggression, violence and warfare, against which all civilized persons rebel," said Brundage.

"But this is no reason to destroy the nucleus of international cooperation and good will we have in the Olympic movement," he said.

"These games are contests between individuals and not between nations," Brundage stressed. "We invite the youth of the world, who certainly are not responsible for its evils, to accept our regulations and to participate, and we hope the youth of the world will accept.

"If participation in sports is to be stopped every time the politicians violate the laws of humanity, there will never be any international contests."

The possibility of a boycott was raised Thursday when Everett Barnes, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said "there might be debate" soon because of the Russian occupation of Czechoslovakia.

Memphis Ends Cinderella Bid

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Unbeaten Memphis, which has yielded only two runs in 27 innings, meets once-beaten New Orleans in a semifinal game of the Region Four American Legion baseball tournament today.

San Antonio and upstart Arlington face off in the other semifinal match.

Memphis finally ended Arlington's Cinderella bid Friday with an 8-1 victory, the first loss in the tournament for the underdog hosts.

FOR HANK AARON

Bat Speaks Eloquently

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Aaron, the Atlanta rough-hitter, speaks nervously and swings a big bat.

Aaron was honored before the Braves-Philadelphia game at Atlanta Friday night and he was so nervous he couldn't finish his remarks.

He felt right at home with a bat in his hands, however, as he drove in four runs, three with a homer, in leading the Braves to a 6-0 victory.

St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 3-2 in 11 innings, Cincinnati topped the New York Mets 4-2, Houston edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and San Francisco trounced Los Angeles 8-3 in other National League games.

After receiving a car, a truckload of gasoline, a truckload of soft drinks and many other gifts, Aaron thanked God for giving him the ability to play baseball and thanked those who had anything to do with or turned out for his night.

"I had a lot of other things I wanted to say, but I couldn't get them out," Aaron said after the game. "I was really nervous. I had to take a pill this afternoon to relax."

Once the game started, Aaron proceeded to make the Phillies nervous. He drove in the only run Pat Jarvis needed with a grounder in the third inning and clinched it with a three-run homer in the fifth. It was his 23rd of the season and 504th of the career.

Orlando Cepeda's two-run homer in the sixth tied Pittsburgh for St. Louis and the league-leading Cardinals won it when Mike Shannon was hit by a pitch and Phil Gagliano tripled.

Alex Johnson's RBI single, his third hit of the game, drove in what proved to be the winning run for Cincinnati against the Mets. Mack Jones singled in the first two runs for the Reds and relief pitcher Clay Carroll singled home the final one.

A two-out single by Norm Miller with the bases loaded climaxed a three-run ninth inning and carried Houston to its fifth straight victory. The loss snapped Chicago's winning streak at four games.

Rusty Staub's single off reliever Phil Regan drove in the first Houston run and Doug Rader's double brought in the tying run. Ron Santo clouted a solo homer for the Cubs.

Los Angeles jumped on starter Bob Bolin for three runs in the first inning but Mike McCormick came on to allow just two hits in the final 8 1-3 as San Francisco sent the Dodgers to their seventh straight loss.

Willie McCovey and Ty Cline drove in two runs apiece for San Francisco. McCovey climaxed a three-run rally in the fifth inning by singling home the tie-breaking run.

Gun Club Shoot Set

The Canyon Gun Club was to have a trap shot — a dove hunter special — at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 25, at the club range.

Rules call for any load of shot at 25 birds from 16 yards distance. Trophies will be presented to the top shooters. The public is invited to attend.

SEALAB III, UNDERWATER, USA

Aquanauts Slate Experiment

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The world's most ambitious undersea living experimentdesigned to help man conquer the vast continental shelves—begins this fall off the coast of Southern California.

Forty aquanauts, divided into five teams, will descend 620 feet to their Sealab III home beginning in mid-October. Each team will stay below for 12 days at a depth nearly twice that of France's record 328-foot Conshelf IIIK experiment in 1965.

Sealab III is the third phase of the U.S. Navy's man-in-the-sea program and is "designed to place man—to live—in this new land of tremendous wealth," said Capt. Walter Mazzone, commander of the program headquarters in San Diego.

The first Sealab experiment in 1964 allowed four men to live 11 days at a depth of 193 feet off Bermuda. Sealab II lasted 45 days in 1965 off nearby La Jolla, Calif., with three 10-man teams living 15 days each at a depth of 205 feet.

The Navy has said that by 1970 it hopes to establish living quarters where aquanauts can live for 30 days or more on continental shelves, where the average depth is 600 feet. The Sealab III habitat is a prototype for future Navy undersea living experiments in other oceans.

Data from the program also will be helpful in a long-range Navy plan to construct permanent ocean floor bases housing up to 1,000 men.

Key to the Sealab experiments is saturation diving, bringing the pressure inside the cylindrical habitat equal to that of the surrounding area.

The Navy began experimenting with saturation diving after the discovery that the length of decompression time remains constant for divers after they've been under water 24 hours.

Aquanauts spend four days in a decompression chamber after their lengthy underwater stays —the same period required for a one-day dive to the same depth.

In the Sealab project, a pressurized elevator capsule transports aquanauts between the habitat and the support vessel decompression chamber on the surface.

Gradual decompression is necessary to prevent the bends, a painful and sometimes fatal affliction resulting from gas bubbles in a diver's tissue or blood.

Sealab III, which may cost in excess of $10 million compared to its $1.8 million predecessor, will try to make submarine life more confortable.

The steel habitat has been modified for the third dive. There are two new rooms, 8-by-12 feet attached to each end of the 12-by-57-foot cylinder. They are used as a diving station, complete with hot showers, and an observation and storage room.

A chief complaint of Sealab II divers was the cold water in which they often worked for more than an hour. Water is expected to be as cold as 42 degrees for the Sealab III crew.

Divers will have hot water pumped through their wetsuits via an umbilical cord to the habitat. In addition, one man will be chosen to test a nuclear-powered outfit. The device, employing a plutonium-238 fuel cell, produces 42¢ watts to heat water circulating in tubes woven in the diver's underwear.

One of man's best underwater friends—a bottlenose porpoise called Tuffy—has been assigned to keep the aquanauts company as he did in Sealab II.

Tuffy worked as a messenger between the habitat and the support vessel, delivering mail and supplies. He also was trained as an undersea lifeguard, locating divers who acted as if they were lost and carrying life lines to them.

In Sealab III, Tuffy will have help from another porpoise, two California sea lions and a harbor seal.

The aquanauts include five men from foreign navies and nine U.S. civilians.

Sealab III objectives include development of salvage techniques, research in oceanography and marine biology and tests of human performance in an alien environment.

Secondary goals, however, may be more vital to national welfare. They include obtaining technology which might hasten exploitation of the ocean for food, minerals and recreation.

Military aspects include testing man's capability to work through construction of a dry, air-filled repair facility 15feet in diameter and 26 feet tall.

Sealab III aquanauts will eat preprepared meals—TV dinner style. The fresh-frozen meals will be heated in electronic ovens. They'll have six-day menus, eating the same meal only twice.

Social Life Varied For Democrats

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — There are discotheques named "Hubert" and "Eugene," scores of parties in private homes and a public one that will go more or less nonstop, plus a McGovern family tea and a Muriel reception.

That's a sample of the social side of the Democratic National Convention next week. It also includes banjo bands and that old standby, the hospitality suite.

The Democrats have so many delegates and alternates—more than 50,000 that it's hard to get them all under one roof at one time, except at the convention hall.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's people have decided to concentrate social power on a Humphrey Hospitality Parade Center and "Hubert" cabaret in a strategic first floor Continental Room location in the headquarters Conrad Hilton Hotel.

It will keep marathon hours from 10 a.m. until after the night convention sessions end, with Humphreys dropping in and a continuing show by performing stars.

"Eugene," the popular New York night Club that has been promoting Sen. Eugene McCarthy's campaign, moved to Chicago to open 10 days ahead of the convention. It's operating upstairs at a North State Street night spot, "Your Father's Mustache," with "Continuous performances by celebrities for McCarthy from 8:30 p.m. to 4 a.m. daily."

The McCarthy forces also have recruited a host of private families to give brunches, suppers and cocktail parties. Some 50 of these are scheduled and every delegate is getting an invitation to at least one of them. McCarthy hopes to drop in wherever he can.

While all this goes on, candidates wives have separate action.

They all get to go to a luncheon-a-day, Monday to Thursday, put on by the Democratic National Committee.

Special Election To Fill Pool's Term

DALLAS (AP)—Voters in the western half of Dallas County ballot today in a special election to fill the unexpired term of the lat U.S. Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex.

County Clerk Tom Ellis said he expects 25,000 to vote out of the 191,000 eligible in the 3rd Congressional District.

Seeking the seat are Pool's widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Pool, 51, and Jim Collins, 52, the Republican candidate who was to have faced Pool in November's general election. He is a businessman.

The unexpired term is for four months.

FRANK BEARDSLEY, played by Henry Fonda, shares drink with his date, portrayed by Louise Troy, at a Japanese restaurant. The scene is from the hilarious "Yours, Mine and Ours," which opens Sunday, Sept. 1, at the Ritz Theatre, through release by United Artists, a Transamerica Corporation. The film is in Color by Deluxe.

Nixon Flies To Islands

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — Vacationing Richard M. Nixon left his Key Biscayne hideaway Friday and flew by seaplane to an undisclosed island "either in the Bahamas or the Keys," an aide said.

The Republican presidential nominee boarded a private chartered yacht and will remain afloat until late today or Sunday, Ron Zeigler, a staff member, said.

Nixon spent Friday morning with his staff going over reports on the Czechoslovakian crisis, getting bulletins on the condition of ailing former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and consulting on various matters, Zeigler added.

He said the GOP standard bearer will stay in or near Key Biscayne "well into next week" barring unforeseen developments.

NEW MANAGER — Clyde Rhodes, formerly of Ropesville, has moved to Fluvanna to manage the new Fluvanna Agricultural Co-operative with total assets of over $135,000. Here, Clyde stands in front of the former Planter's Gin, which was purchased by the Co-operative from Sweetwater Cotton and Oil Co.

New Co-Op Runs Gin At Fluvanna

FLUVANNA — A new cooperative — the Fluvanna Agricultural Co-operative — has been organized by 82 stockholders in the northwest part of Scurry County.

Receiving its charter Feb. 26 of this year, the Fluvanna Agricultural Co - operative collected money and dated its stock June 1. The organization has purchased the Planter's Gin at Fluvanna from Sweetwater Cotton and Oil Co. and will operate it this year.

General manager of the new cooperative is Clyde Rhodes, who moved to Fluvanna about three months ago from Ropesville in Hockley County, where he held a similar position with Farmers Co-Op. He also will manage the gin.

"We'll gin cotton, and we have a store license for tires, batteries, refrigerators, feed, seed, fertilizer and insecticides," said Rhodes.

The Fluvanna Agricultural Co-operative is still selling some stock. Common shares cost $25 per share. Each shareholder is entitled to one vote.

"We've added some machinery at the gin and have modernized it," said the manager. "Also," he added, "we've changed the cotton classing service from Abilene to Lubbock. Cotton will be hauled to the Farmer's Co-Op Compress in Lubbock for storage."

The Fluvanna Agricultural Co-operative also is associated with the Growers Seed Association, a co-operative organization in Lubbock that supplies quality seed at special rates, Rhodes pointed out.

Officers of the Fluvanna organization are Dee Pylant, president; Ray Herring, vice president; Glenn Toombs, secretary; H. A. Flournoy, treasurer. Directors are L. C. Drum, H. D. Holmes and Bob Tidwell.

A remodeling job has been completed in the former office of the Planter's Gin and it will be used as headquarters for the new cooperative.

"I will be glad to meet anyone who would like to gin here and have his cotton classed in Lubbock," the new manager said. Rhodes stated that he will be glad to answer any questions concerning the new organization.

"The co-operative belongs to the farmers and people who patronize it, and we hope they will take advantage of it," he said. Total assets of the Fluvanna Agricultural Cooperative were estimated at about $135,000.

Rhodes is a graduate of Olton High School. He attended Hardin-Simmons University, where he competed in basketball. He is married to the former Nelda Thurman of Colorado City. They are parents of a 9-year-old girl, Becky, and a 20-month-old boy, Chris.

Leaders For Round-Up Are Named

The local area chairmen for the eighth annual Cattlemen's Round - Up for Crippled Children have been appointed by Charlie Morris of Abilene, general chairman.

Named to correlate the work of stockmen of this area in meeting the goals of the Round - Up are Scott Casey, Weldon Johnson, R. H. Odom, Jr. and Harrie Winston.

The Round - Up, to be held Sept. 30 at Abilene's Ranchers and Farmers Livestock Commission, annually raises approximately a third of the non-profit center's annual budget of some $370,000.

Morris pointed out that WTRC officials are looking forward to a particularly good Round-Up this year to "take up some of the slack in our belts."

"We stockmen like to think that the WTRC is here for our convenience, because we care enough to support it. The stockmen of the Southwest haven't ever let us down yet, and we don't expect them to this year."

He noted that construction is now underway on a new $107,000 physical therapy wing for the center to help meet its current patient load. "The center just keeps right on growing, and we hope the Round - Up will grow right along with it," he said.

During the Round - Up, stockmen donate livestock of all kinds to be sold at special auctions, the largest one being the cattle sale in Abilene. Persons interested in donating livestock to the Round-Up are asked to contact one of the area chairmen. WTRC officials and volunteer helpers will transport the animals to the WTRC's own pens in Abilene and feed them out until sale time if the donor wishes, Morris said.

If all Antarctica's ice melted, the level of the earth's seas would rise enough to flood coastal cities. The Statue of Liberty would be engulfed to nose level, and one - third of the Washington Monument would stand underwater.

Sgt. Tarpley Gets Second Purple Heart

EL PASO — Army Sergeant Michael S. Tarpley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garvis Tarpley, 1109 Johnson, Big Spring, received his second award of the Purple Heart Aug. 6 during ceremonies at William Beaumont Hospital, El Paso, Tex.

Sgt. Tarpley received the award for wounds received in action while serving in Vietnam.

Sgt. Tarpley, presently a patient at the hospital, entered the Army in December 1966 and completed basic taining at Ft. Polk, La.

The 20-year-old soldier was graduated from Snyder High School in 1966 and was employed by Safeway in Snyder, before entering the Army.

He also holds the Air Medal and the Bronze Star Medal for heroism. is wife, Gayle, lives at 3005 Forty - first Street, Snyder.

Barnes Heads Legislators

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes became the youngest man ever to be elected to the presidency of the National Legislative Conference Friday.

Barnes, 30, is also the first man from the South or Southwest to hold the office in the organization comprised of legislative leaders from each state.

Now in his second term as Speaker of the House, Barnes is the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor.

The conference approved a rules change Friday specifying that an elected official serve as president. Previously, the conference presidency has been alternated each year between an elected legislator and a staff member of a state legislative service.

NEWSMAN'S WIFE, BABY

Eyewitness To Red Invasion

Editor's Note: Louise Rehak, wife of The Associated Press correspondent in Prague, was at the Alcron Hotel with their baby daughter when Czechoslovakia was invaded Tuesday night. Rehak, remaining at his post in Prague to report the news, has since sent the wife and baby to safety with a convoy of 400 Americans fleeing Czechoslovakia.

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — My daughter Annabeth loved the invasion. She is six months old and crazy about odd noises. So when the planes came over low early Wednesday morning she woke up with a bright smile expecting a new game.

I kept her up playing because a warm baby is a great comfort on a night of chilling terror.

Her father had run in with the first news and left to find a telex. So I knew, at first, what the brief radio announcements were.

Quiet, desperate voices were broadcasting, not knowing how long they would have to explain the unexplainable to their countrymen.

The voices begged the Czechs to be calm and not, I guess you could say, to commit suicide. I didn't think that warning would be necessary. I thought the Czechoslovaks would be as paralyzed as I was.

I thought they would sit quietly waiting for Russian loudspeakers in the streets. But it wasn't loudspeakers, it was shots. The first, I think, came about 4:30 a.m. On Venceslas Square a block from our hotel.

It was a shock, but not a surprise. A few rifle shots, two machine-gun bursts whose rifle?

But the real surprise came right after that. Cars raced through the night with their horns blaring and you could tell they were Czech. It sounded to me like suicide. That noise didn't last long.

There was no one downstairs who could or would translate what the radio announcers were saying and it seemed indecent just to stand looking at the suffering on the faces of those who listened.

So the wife of another newsman and I stayed upstairs with Annabeth. Our excitement and the more and more frequent noise of machine guns kept her playing happily all night. We were grateful to be kept busy in those long hours.

I think we were learning the first lesson of siege: how to wait.

I was still expecting a reaction of quiet defeat. I was surprised at 6 a.m. at the number of people moving along the streets. Then I saw the lines beginning to form at the nearby dairy, the butcher's and the vegetable shop. I wondered how you choose which line to stand in. But they were still moving fairly quickly that morning.

The lobby was filling up with people and a few of them began translating information, or misinformation, from the radio. We were surprised that the telex and phones were working. I moved down to the lobby to hear the news. The baby loved that too. She likes crowds.

And I believe the baby was really welcome among so many yearning eyes, forlorn foreigners begging for news and strained Czechs burdened with all their questioning. None of us knew what was happening, and Annabeth was the only one enjoying it.

Gov. Reagan Signs New Drug Bill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California judges will have flexibility in punishing first-time marijuana and dangerous drug users under a bill signed into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Up to now, a youth convicted of possessing marijuana for the first time had to be given a felony sentence with a prison term of one to 10 years.

The new law will permit the judge—beginning in November to determine whether the conviction should be a felony or a misdemeanor, which carries a jail term of up to one year.

At the same time, the measure allows the judge to assess a felony penalty for first-time users of LSD and other dangerous drugs. Under present law, that crime is a misdemeanor only.

"The new law marks a step forward in recognizing the tremendous danger posed by the illicit traffic in dangerous drugs," Reagan said in announcing Friday he had signed the bill sponsored by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

"It also improves a judge's capability to deal with different types of marijuana offenders," Reagan said.

Judges and prosecutors had testified in committee hearings that they subverted the present marijuana possession law in some cases because they didn't feel a young man or woman, experimenting with marijuana for the first time, should forever bear the stigma of a felony conviction.

In many cases, those youths were permitted to plead guilty to lesser offenses, such as the misdemeanor crime of being in or near a place where marijuana was being smoked, the law enforcement officials said.

California had an alternate jail sentence for first-time marijuana users until the 1961 legislature removed it.

The use of marijuana and drugs has risen markedly since then.

President Retires At Columbia U.

By BOB MONROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Grayson Kirk has retired as president of Columbia University where he was a major target of the student rebellion that rocked the Ivy League campus last spring.

Kirk told the president of the board of trustees in a letter made public Friday that one reason he was stepping down was "to ensure the prospect of more normal university operations during the coming academic year."

As acting president the trustees named Dr. Andrew W. Cordier, dean of the school of international affairs and a former career diplomat. He said he would stress "the human values and participatory possibilities of university life."

The first reaction from student activists, whose main goal has become the restructuring of the university to allow greater student and faculty participation in policy making, was that the change made little difference.

Josie Duke, press secretary of the radical strike committee, said the change "doesn't make any difference. . . . It's not going to calm down anything that may happen this fall. Our demands were political not personal."

Mark Rudd, 21, who spearheaded the uprising that began last April, said Cordier reflected the same "unsatisfactory" views of the university and he predicted Columbia would have difficulty resuming normal operation this fall.

Faculty leaders available for comment generally adopted a wait-and-see attitude on the appointment of Cordier while a community leader in neighboring Harlem said their battle was with the institution not Kirk.

It was student demands for an end to Columbia's ties to the Institute for Defense Analyses and for abandonment of an $11.5 million gym planned in Harlem's Morningside Park that sparked the initial student revolt.

As the demonstrations grew protesters occupied five campus buildings. After eight days Kirk called on city police to clear the buildings and a number of students and police were injured in the resulting clash.

More than 700 persons were arrested during the demonstrations and the students have demanded amnesty for all—a demand the administration has been adamant in refusing. Most of the cases are still in court.

BRUSH CONTROL AND SEEDING — Jack Martin stands in an area where the cedar was grubbed and seeded to grass.

Terracing, Grass Seeding Work Achieved In District

Sam Chorn has completed a field of parallel terraces on the south side of the highway between Snyder and Hermleigh. Helen Bowen has completed two fields of standard terraces on her farm north of Camp Springs.

Jack Martin is grubbing cedar and mesquite on his stock farm near Ennis Creek. He is getting a good stand of grass in the grubbed areas where he seeded last year. Buford Browning reports that he is getting a stand of grass where he grubbed cedar and seeded to grass. Seeding is a good way to get desirable grassed started in the grubbed areas.

A pond was staked for Van York on his ranch in the east part of Borden county.

Now is a good time to consider planting winter cover crops such as barley, oats, rye, vetch and winter peas in blank rows and other bare areas that do not have a protective cover. Cost-share assistance is available through the ACP program for establishing winter cover crops.

Every livestock farmer and rancer should know his grasses. By knowing his grasses, one can tell whether the better grasses are increasing or decreasing. One can have a good cover of undesirable junk grasses and our range could still be in poor condition.

If you had a cow that was not producing a calf or producing a sorry calf, you would get rid of her. It is just as important to know grasses so that you can manage your rangeland to get rid of low producing grasses, and increase desirable, productive grasses. SCS technicians assisting the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District are glad to assist farmers and ranchers in identifying their grasses.
