

Mother always picked the publisher out as being a pretty bright boy in his day, but we are sure that once in a while she was disappointed in her son's downright stupidity.

His tendency to occasionally fall into something or perform some act that was outside the realm of understanding has not, we are sorry to report, been outgrown.

The latest witless performance took place in the publisher's office just last week. It was associated with the mysterious appearance of mice, which came from nowhere and bounded across the floor and along the wall as though they owned the place.

Conventional mouse traps probably were the best answer, since no housebroken pussy cat was immediately available, but when one of the small rodents scrambled into the open door of the office safe, the opportunity was too good to resist.

"I've got 'im!" shouted the publisher as he slammed the door with a bang and twisted the lock shut. To this man, who fancies himself as being able to reason things out, it seemed entirely plausible that the mouse would either (1) suffocate within a few minutes, or (2) die of starvation and thirst within a few days.

At any rate, the publisher believed it was a safe bet that there was one less mouse to worry about as a result of his quick action. Time wore on, and in a couple of days a need to open the safe arose.

We spun the combination, twisted the handle, and slowly opened the door, wondering just where our dead mouse would be located. We half expected a bad smell.

Instead, the little varmint was sitting there on a pile of papers, looking at us with his beady eyes. His sides were sticking out as though he had just finished a tremendous meal, which indeed he had.

Around him were thousands of tiny bits of paper he had chewed up while having nothing else to do, awaiting his ultimate fate. Suddenly, he darted out and was gone in a wink, while the publisher stood there astounded.

Insurance policies were his main bill of fare, it appeared, and several were gnawed to ribbons. Other documents worthy of protection in an iron safe were also nibbled on.

We couldn't understand how he had managed to live so well, but after digging through the debris for a few minutes we found out the reason. A year or so ago we had stored a pan full of milt in the safe.

The idea was to get it someplace where the mice wouldn't eat it up.

There was a time a while ago that we felt left out when the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads revealed its tremendous interstate road system. The closest such roads to us are Highway 66 north and Highway 80 south. We were disappointed that Highways 60, 70 and 84 were left out in the cold.

However, there are some real disadvantages to being located alongside one of the new routes, believe us. The main one is that instead of getting cut in on all the lucrative business that rolls over the roads, you stand a good chance of getting cut out.

Safety first is the battle cry of the interstate highway planners, and they are leaving no stone unturned to avoid every possible access to the roads that are not absolutely necessary.

By-passes are being built around nearly all towns, and in many cases businessmen who were licking their chops at the thought of doubling or tripling traffic are waking up to find out there won't be any traffic at all.

Also, even where a business manages to get near the big highways, the question is, how is he going to tap the traffic? "Limited access" just about means no access at all compared to what we have been accustomed to in the past.

There will be millions of dollars in valuable property going up in smoke before the roads are put into use. At least, that is our prediction.

Farwell Firemen Set Thursday As Meeting Night

Members of Farwell's volunteer fire department adopted a set of by-laws at their second meeting last Thursday night and also set their weekly meeting time for 7 p.m. each Thursday.

Fire Chief Otis Huggins says that three more persons joined the department last week, bringing the total membership up to 14. More members are still needed to meet the 20-member minimum, he adds.

Newcomers to the department Thursday were Jack Williams, George Magness, and Ernest Hillock. Other members of the organization are Mem Sprowls, Cary Joe Magness, Smokey Gast, Fred Curtis, Mitz Wollack, Stanton Thigpen, John Sharum, Pat Patrick, Bill Dollar, Wilfred Quickel, and Huggins.

The group will continue to meet in the city hall until the fire department is ready, Huggins says.

Steers Go to Friona For Second District Clash

Woe Befalls Team In 3-A Opener

Morton's Indians struck fast and hard Friday night to knock the Farwell Steers from the ranks of the unbeaten.

They did it quite handily, too, rolling over the stouthearted, but flu-weakened Blue and White, 25-0.

It was the first conference game for both teams, and by winning, the Indians installed themselves as favorite for the District 3-A championship. For the Steers it was the first loss in six starts this season and it was also their first conference loss since jumping to the Class A ranks last year.

In spite of the fact that 20 members of the 29-man squad for Farwell had suffered with the flu last week (eight of them remained at home) the Steers seemed to strengthen as the game progressed and the Morton offense was held in check during most of the last half.

The Indians got a quick jump on the Steers when they scored touchdowns on their first two plays from scrimmage.

The Steers took the opening kickoff and after moving to a first down, were forced to punt. The Indians took over on their own 44 and Halfback Eddie Thompson shot through the Steer line, going 56 yards for a tally.

Both the extra point attempts failed and the 12-0 lead held until late in the second period.

In the second quarter the Farwell defense tightened up and the Indians were forced to work for their yardage. Too, the Steer offense started to move for the first time and it looked briefly as though they might still make a game of it.

From his own 40, Halfback Larry Pike took the pigskin and almost broke into the clear before being halted on the Morton 40. The last man in the Indian secondary brought him down.

The Steers then moved to the 28 before being stopped and that was the nearest they came to scoring during the night.

With a little over one minute remaining in the first half, Butch Narin scored the Indians' third touchdown on a 32-yard gallop around right end. This time the extra point kick was good and Morton had a 19-0 lead at halftime.

Early in the third period, Narin added the Indians' final score of the night on a five-yard plunge.

From that point, the Steer defense kept Morton's speedy backs in check, but the damage had already been done.

Roberts County Deputy

Announcement was made this week by Sheriff Chas. Lovelace that Jim Roberts has been hired as a full-time deputy sheriff for the county. He is to begin his new duties on November 1 and will be stationed in Friona.

Roberts, who has been a county and city officer in Bovina for the past six months, will be the first full-time county law officer in Friona. Prior to going to Bovina, Roberts served as a part-time county deputy in Friona and was also a city officer.

Approval of another full-time deputy in the county was given by the county commissioners' court last week. Roberts will be the second county deputy who devotes all his time to county law enforcement. The other deputy is Tom Atkins of Farwell.

A replacement will be hired for Roberts in Bovina, the sheriff says. In Bovina, the deputy's salary has been divided equally between the county and the city. Sheriff Lovelace hopes to fill this position by November 1.

Jim Lunsford Buried Thursday

Word was received here Wednesday, October 16, of the death of Mr. J. B. (Jim) Lunsford of Lubbock, former resident of this community and a brother of Charles Lunsford of Farwell.

Mr. Lunsford lived here many years and will be remembered here for his great love of religious singing. He attended all the old time singing conventions for miles around and also played the accordion at these gatherings.

Funeral services were held Thursday, October 17, at the Church of Christ in Olney, with interment at Westover. Mr. Lunsford was 77 years of age and had been a member of the Church of Christ for many years.

Survivors include his wife of the home in Lubbock; three daughters, Mrs. Rosa Mae Martin of Lubbock, Mrs. Willie Dickson of Levelland, and Mrs. Mary K. Hansard of Roswell, N. M.; two sons, Raymond of Olney and Edward of Lubbock; four brothers, Charles of Farwell, and Nelson, Square and Bill Lunsford; and 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Rundell Re-Opens Cosden Station

Cecil Rundell has re-opened the Cosden service station on Highway 60 in Farwell. It was formerly operated by W. L. Roberts.

Rundell, who opened his doors for business Monday, announces that the business will be known as Rundell Service Station and that he will continue to handle Cosden products.

The Rundells also have under lease the 3-D Drive-In.

Two Plead Guilty In District Court

Two criminal cases were tried in district court at Farwell Tuesday afternoon, and both persons pled guilty as charged and were sentenced by Judge E. A. Bills.

Pablo Baca, Clovis, was convicted of stealing money at a place east of Farwell and was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary. Bill Dawkins, Anton, was placed on probation for two years on a forgery charge.

He forged a check on A. J. Wolton, farmer near Friona, last spring. The check was passed in Friona.

Both Baca and Dawkins had been indicted by the last Parmer County grand jury.

The Tuesday court session was the first in Parmer County

Meadors-Stewart Plan Offices On Highway 70

Clean-up work is underway this week on a lot adjacent Highway 70 in eastern Farwell that will be the location for Meadors-Stewart Company's local office.

The Clovis firm, a Buick-Chevrolet dealer, announced plans to open here last week, and named Walter Hardage, long-time local car dealer, as manager of their office.

Max Meadors, in making the announcement, said both Chevrolet and Buick new cars will be sold through the local office, as well as Chevrolet trucks and pickups. A lot west of Magness Real Estate will be put into use, and the offices will be in the Magness building.

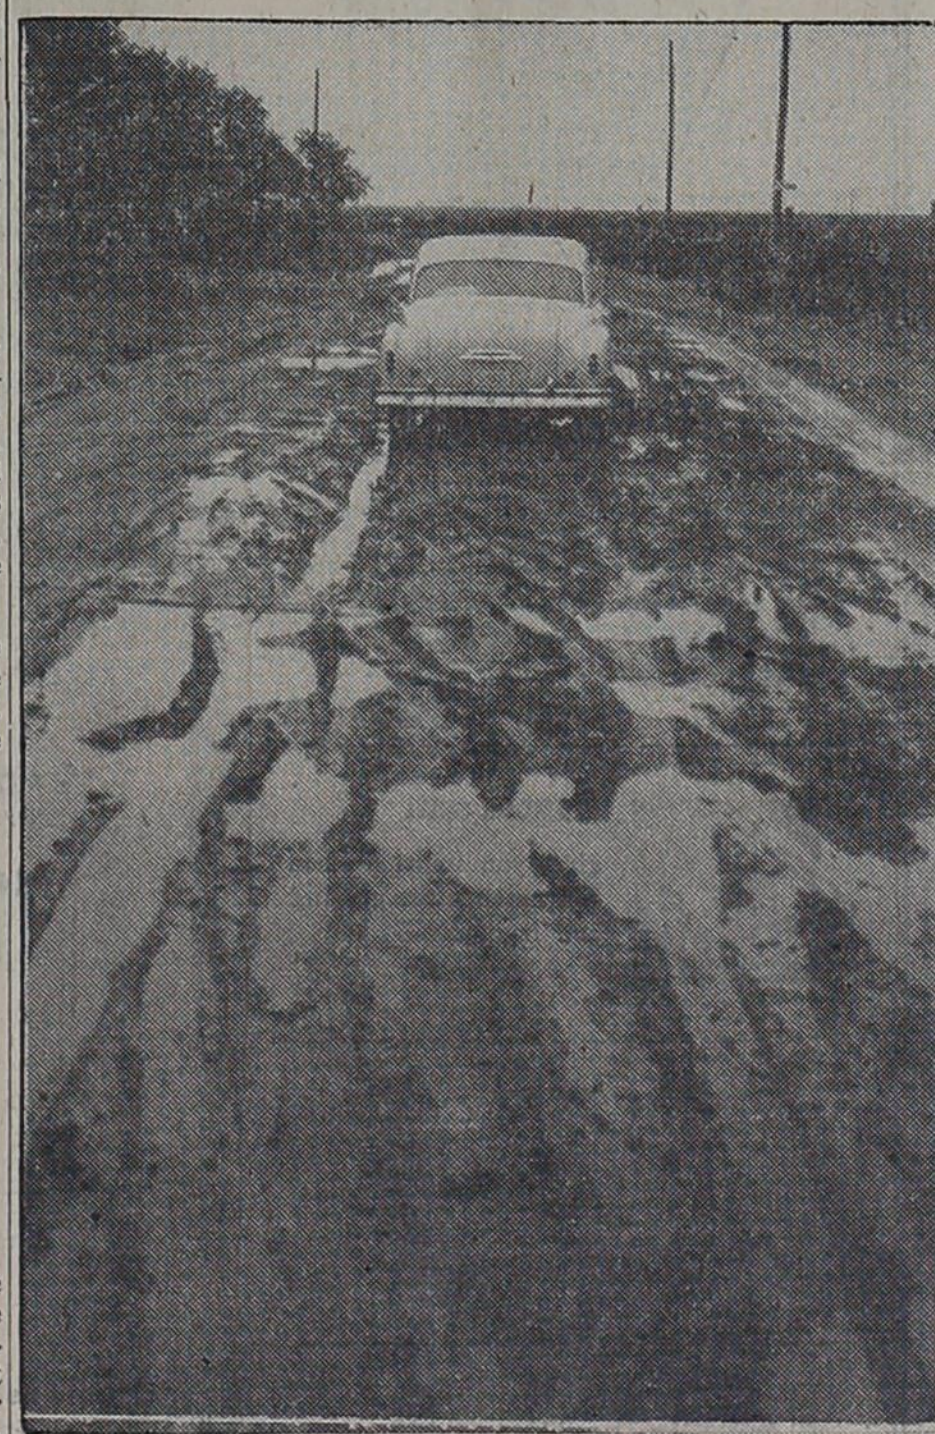

New car showings are due next week, and unless more bad weather interrupts plans, a showing will be held for the new models.

Junior Football Tonight

The junior high football game between Farwell and Lazbuddie has been re-scheduled for tonight at the Farwell field. It had previously been set for Monday night but was postponed because many of the boys were down with the flu.

In the game, which is to begin at 6:30, the Farwell team will be seeking its fourth straight win of the season. They hold shutout victories over three opponents, Sudan, Springlake, and Morton thus far this season.

The game with Bovina, which was scheduled to be here last Monday night and was also postponed, will be played the first week in November, says Coach Shelby Jobs.

CHEER UP, BOYS—A typical site all over towns in this area is like the one shown above in Texico. The continuous rains have made travel on all unpaved roads in town somewhat tedious. Texico residents have something to look forward to in this respect, though, as plans are to pave every street in the town five years from now. Presently, Texico has 23 blocks of paving, being paid for with a city gasoline tax, says Mayor Scotty Levins. When the bonds are retired the more than 40 blocks remaining can receive the black-topping in one big project. Although five years away, the immense project will probably make Texico the best-paved town of its size in the area.

Wolverines Champs

Exploding for six runs in the top of the seventh inning, the Texico Wolverines broke a tight ball game wide open to defeat House 14-7 in the finals of the two-county softball tournament Saturday afternoon at Clovis Jaycee Park. Teams from Curry and Quay Counties participated in the annual affair.

It was the seventh straight win for Coach Paul Frederick's Wolverines and they closed out their season with an unblemished record.

The game was played in a heavy mist and walks figured greatly in the number of runs for each side. The Wolverines jumped to a 5-0 lead in the first inning when the House pitcher yielded six free passes and one hit.

A hit batsman, three walks, and two hits gave the House team five runs in the second inning to tie the score and they took the lead, 7-5, with two more runs in the fourth inning.

Texico battled back to tie the score with two runs in the fifth inning and then went ahead when they scored once in the sixth. House threatened in both the fifth and sixth innings, but two double plays retired the side after the Cowboys had men in scoring position.

The Cowboys' moundsman issued eight free passes in the last inning when the Wolverines took their commanding lead.

Jerry Trower pitched the win for the Wolverines, allowing five hits, while his teammates connected for six hits.

The Texico team made its way into the finals when they pounded out a 13-4 win over Logan in a first round game of the tournament Friday. The Wolverines were never threatened by Logan, as Trower allowed only two hits.

Texico's girls team, the Whirlwinds, played one of its better ball games of the year in their opening game of the tourney, but lost to House, 5-4. The Cowgirls had to come from behind with two runs in the sixth inning to win.

Texico took a 2-0 lead in the first inning and had increased it to 4-1 after three innings of play. However, the Cowgirls scored one run in each of the fourth and fifth innings, before adding the winning tallies in the sixth. The Whirlwinds outthrew the opponents 5-4. Janel Seale was on the mound for the losers.

All persons interested in the Texico-Farwell swimming pool project are asked to be on hand at the regular meeting of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. It will start at 7:30 in the City Hall.

The meeting will consist of routine Chamber business, and swimming pool workers will be there to head a discussion on that project, says Wilfred Quickel, Chamber secretary.

Jess Landrum, swimming pool promoter, asks that those persons wanting to help with the final fund-raising drive be on hand. "More workers are needed if the goal is to be reached by January 1, Landrum says.

He also asks that those persons who have any suggestions on the project be present. "Many people express their interest in the project and state their ideas privately, but when a meeting is called, they're never on hand," Landrum says.

"At this meeting we would like to have a good representation of people who will give us their ideas and take an interest in helping to reach the $15,000 goal," he adds.

Landrum especially asks that persons interested in helping with the drive in Texico be at the meeting.

Children of the Methodist Church will make a canvass of houses with the "goblins" Thursday night, October 31, but instead of the expected "trick or treat" fare, the youngsters will be asking for funds for UNICEF, to further the needs of sick and undernourished children of the world.

The little ones of the church will meet briefly before they make the canvass.

According to the sponsors of the program, money given through UNICEF goes a long way toward providing needs of those who are helped. "$1 provides 500 glasses of milk and $1 buys 400 fish liver oil capsules. This year milk powder and fish liver oil capsules will assist nutrition programs in 46 countries," according to information on UNICEF.

"When a pint-sized goblin knocks at your door on Halloween, and asks your help in assisting less fortunate children of the world, we hope you will become a part of the program by giving," say the local sponsors.

Farwell Juniors Plan Chili Supper

The junior class of Farwell High School announces that they will have a chili supper Saturday night, October 26, beginning at 6 p.m. Proceeds will go for the class candidates in the Halloween carnival, November 2.

Chili, crackers, catsup, tea, coffee and pie will be served by the class members. Mothers will prepare the food.

Adults can eat all they want for $1. Children under 10 years of age can eat all they want for 50 cents. Children over 10 years will be charged the same as adults.

Hoover Dam, 726 feet, is the highest in the world.

Texico Faculty Attending State Teachers Meeting

Classes were dismissed at Texico School Tuesday afternoon to enable the faculty members of the school to attend the state teachers meeting at Albuquerque this week. The meeting started Wednesday and will continue through Saturday.

All of the Texico teachers were to be in Albuquerque for the meeting, according to Aggie Jones, superintendent. Classes will resume Monday.

Prissy Crume Is Recuperating

Priscilla (Prissy) Crume is apparently going to have a normal life as a result of surgery to correct a heart condition that had existed since birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Crume of Hereford are pleased with the progress of the five-year-old child since the operation on Friday. The surgery was performed in Children's Hospital in Dallas, where Prissy is still confined. Her mother remained with her in Dallas and her father returned home Sunday.

While in Dallas, the family also visited with Crume's brother and family, the Paul Crumes.

Flu Cases Lessen As School Resumes

Classes resumed at Farwell School on Monday of this week and the number of students out with various type illnesses is dropping each day, report school officials.

On Monday, 88 students were still out of school, but on Tuesday the number was down to 70, 13 percent of the student body. School officials hoped that attendance would be back to normal by the end of the week.

The excessive number of flu cases last week caused dismissal of classes from Wednesday through Friday.

The U. S. Mint at Philadelphia has been in continuous operation since 1793.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Two Good 'Uns

Two of the three proposed amendments to the state constitution which Texas voters will be marking ballots on November 5 deserve the support of every thinking citizen.

The other amendment, which has to do with expanding the state employee retirement system, needs more study than can be given here, and will be taken up in a succeeding editorial. It is of a rather technical nature.

Amendments which we are wholeheartedly in favor of are the ones which would set up a state-wide water program and increased state assistance to the aged, the blind, and dependent children.

H. J. R. No. 3, which has to do with the water program, first and foremost is a self-perpetuating and liquidating program that will not cost the taxpayers anything. It is the simple granting of authority to the state to sell $100 million in bonds, which would be in turn loaned on local levels wherever water development projects may be needed.

This is an approach to the long-time water problems of the state that is essentially local in nature, and therefore much to be desired over programs of state or national scope that so often fail to take into consideration local conditions.

This would be a new source of money for this very community, for example, should it need to expand its water system. Cities, counties, and other legal divisions could borrow to build dams, drill wells, lay pipe lines, or any other facility needed for water. They would repay with interest to the state from revenues arising from these improvements.

Limitations: No loan could be for more than one-third of the total cost, or $5 million, whichever is less.

There has been much talk about a water program, but nothing has been done. This is the most sensible approach yet offered. Let's accept it.

ing state expenditures for old age assistance, aid to the blind, and aid to dependent children from $42 million to $47 million per year, and slightly increasing the limit allowed to individuals.

The maximum payment out of state funds to each needy aged person could be as much as $25 per month, (increased from present $20), but state contributions could not rise above $21 unless matched by federal funds—which they probably will not be.

This year, 224,311 persons in the state were receiving an average of $44.77 each in monthly old age assistance, 23,267 families with needy children were getting an average of $71.03, and 6,477 blind persons were receiving an average of $48.65 per month.

True, there are always abuses to programs such as this. Undeserving as well as the deserving get some of the money. However, there is no gainsaying that the state and federal aid program is a humanitarian effort, and, in spite of its abuses, is worth continuing. Those who take advantage of the public's goodness will eventually have their own reward anyway.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE, ON WAY OUT

Drab, forbidding orphanages where abandoned children used to be sent, may soon be a thing of the past. A United Nations study on institutional care of children deprived of normal family life has pointed the practical way to achieve the best environment for them.

Adoption or permanent foster home placement is considered best. If that is impossible, the institution should be made up of small, family-like units in cottages with houseparents.

TEXICO BAPTIST NEWS

C. C. Morgan, Pastor

Attendance for Sunday School and training union was good considering the weather and illness over the area. One hundred and forty-five attended Sunday School and 45 were at the training union classes.

YWA met Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served at the beginning of the meeting. Jo Ann Brown was in charge of the program.

Present for the meeting were Christie Bowers, Barbara Chapell, Connie Tharp, Phyllis Kelley, Jo Ann Brown, and the director, Mrs. Buddy Pearce.

WMU met Wednesday afternoon at 4 at the church with the president, Mrs. R. L. Day, presiding.

The meeting was opened with the song, "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us." Mrs. S. G. Billington was in charge of the Bible study. She used as her text the 23rd chapter of Psalms.

Present for the meeting were Mesdames Lucy Brown, S. G. Billington, C. C. Morgan, Barney Kelley, Stella Lancaster, R. L. Day, Ray Tharp, Joe Morgan, J. O. Ford, and John McCauley.

Sunday was laymen's day in the local church. R. L. Douglas Sr. presented the special music for the morning and Harry Donahay gave a short message. Nathan Tharp was the main speaker of the morning worship hour.

Nine members of the local WMU attended the mission institute for WMU at the First Baptist Church of Clovis on Monday, October 21.

The women assembled at 12 for an African style luncheon. In the afternoon, Mrs. Eva Inlow, state WMU worker, gave an address. Mrs. Walker Hubbard from Portales, gave them plans for teaching their books on foreign missions. The name of the book is "Continents in Commotion."

WMU members from the local organization who attended the

SCHEDULE OF SERVICES

Sunday School 9:45 a.m.
Morning Worship 11 a.m.
MYF 6 p.m.
Evening Worship 7 p.m.

Members of the beginner, primary and junior departments of the church will have a "UNICEF Trick or Treat" Halloween party at the church tonight (Thursday) at 6 o'clock. The children will then "trick or treat" in costumes to gather funds for helping sick and undernourished children in various parts of the world. When these "goblins" knock at your door, please respond with nickels, dimes, etc., to help in this expression of humanity.

In a time of tension, unrest and suspicion among so many people of the world, it is encouraging that the children have not yet lost their heads and hearts to fears and doubts. Let us as Methodists of the "Siamese Cities" express our hope and faith by sharing in this program. Mrs. W. H. Graham Sr. and her helps in the children's department will be in charge of the evening's activities.

Official board will meet in regular session on Monday night, November 4, at 7:30 in the church basement. This past Monday we did not take action on our new building as there were only 10 men present. We did authorize the converting of two rooms in the basement into a fellowship hall. Work will begin on this project within the next few days.

MYF's will meet this Sunday evening at 6 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham Jr. for an informal Halloween social and program.

The recent wave of illness cut into our ranks quite heavily last week, but we expect the attendance to rise with the recovery of our people.

Evening services begin each Sunday at 7 at which time the pastor is preaching a series of sermons on "Methodism—Beliefs and Practices." The sermon this Sunday evening will be on "Sin".

H. M. Baggarly in The Tulsa Herald often "hits the nail on the head" when he discusses human relations. Printed below are his observations on one's attitude toward his fellow man. It's something to think about!

DID YOU EVER notice the reaction of people to news about their neighbors?

Word is received that a couple has married.

One smiles his congratulations.

Another, with a sarcastic grin, remarks, "I'll bet they had to." OR PERHAPS news is received that so-and-so has left town to accept a new position.

Again, one expresses his delight that so-and-so has bettered himself.

And the other quips, "I've been expecting him to get the axe."

THESE LITTLE dramas, with slight variations, go on over a hundred cups of coffee every day.

Behind them is something deeper than the subject of the moment.

Behind them is an attitude towards humanity.

One person displays a neighborly love for people in general. He tends always to give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt. Unless he has definite reason to believe that the facts are to the contrary, he looks for good news when he hears information concerning a fellow human being. He assumes that the couple did not have to get married. He assumes that the person is changing jobs because of an opportunity to better himself. When the first baby is born, he never searches his memory or the newspaper to see when the couple was married.

And if the baby was premature, he gives the couple the benefit of the doubt.

IT ISN'T A question of guarding one's tongue, of watching one's words.

Rather it's an attitude to be developed.

If one is determined to like other people, it will never occur to him to say something unkind. If he hears an unkind word, the natural thing will be to rush to their defense. There will be no tongue-biting to keep from saying what is within one's mind.

THESE COMMENTS are idealistic. We are all off the same bolt and all have the same old uncharitable tendencies. Yet they're something for all of us to ponder.

We had a pleasant telephone visit with Mrs. Riley Boss Monday and have a recipe to pass on to you readers. If you clipped the recipe for apple-celery salad that appeared in The H. D. Agent's column last week, then you will want the directions for Mrs. Boss says it makes a delicious salad, with this particular dressing to add to the flavor.

SALAD DRESSING

1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2/3 cup sweet milk
2 tsp. flour
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. prepared mustard
Mix all ingredients except mustard, cook until thick, stirring constantly. Cool, add mustard, then add to fruit and serve immediately.

Mrs. Boss says the dressing can be refrigerated and kept for future use.

NEWS FROM LAZBUDDIE

By MRS. CLYDE MONK

Former Residents Tell Of Island Living Conditions

The following is part of a letter from Mr. and Mrs. David Estes which was received this month by the Pete Mimms family. Mr. and Mrs. Estes taught school two years in Lazbuddie and we think bits of the letter would be of interest to their friends here. They are now teaching school on Kwajalein, one of the Marshall Islands.

We are here and are very happy in our new situation. Everything is much better than we expected and there is more to do than you can imagine. We already have a collection of shells. Although Kwajalein would only stretch from your house to the corner by Shirley's house (two miles) if it were straightened out, it is a very challenging place. It is all made of coral which is the dead bodies of millions of tiny coral polyps.

We are only 20 feet from the ocean at high tide. Our house catches the breeze just right but we keep EVERYTHING that will rust, mildew or corrode in the hot locker. We even get rust on our clothes and the floor!

We live in a duplex which has large rooms and is made of concrete blocks. Our living room is about 20' x 20' and it has sliding doors opening out onto a lanai (porch) which is 10' x 20'. Everything is furnished, but it costs $90 per month. We are learning to skin dive and to sail a lightening (18') sailboat. We have a bomb crater out on the reef behind the house (big enough to put your house in) and it is always full of beautiful tropical fish when the tide goes out. We also see many beautiful fish when we go swimming in the lagoon. We can't eat them because too many are poisonous. They eat certain kinds of coral growth which may or may not be poisonous, depending upon the season.

We also have "killer clams" which sometimes weigh up to six or eight hundred pounds, but most only weigh three hundred pounds. This lagoon is the only place in the world where they grow.

Our school buildings are very poor and we have limited supplies, compared to Lazbuddie. Our working hours are shorter though (because of the heat). School is out at 3 p. m. and there is no bus to drive.

We do not have the energy here to do as much as we did there—almost everybody is in bed by 10 p. m. unless there is a party or something.

Carrell Family Attends Funeral

The Thomas Carrell family attended the funeral of Mr. Francis Lee Jackson at Dimmitt last Tuesday. Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Carrell are sisters. Mr. Jackson was 29 years of age. He is survived by his wife, Twila Ruth and three children, Jimmy Eugene, 3 months; Marsha, four years; and Kimber, age seven.

Clifford Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Oland Kirby and two children, Debbie and Jan, and Mr. and Mrs. Hulon A. Kirby and daughter, Sharon Kay, all from Palo Alto, Calif., brothers of Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Carrell, were here for the funeral and remained here for a few days to visit with relatives.

Mrs. Barnes Leads WMU Program

W. M. U. of the Baptist Church met Monday afternoon at the church building for a program on royal service. Mrs. Wesley Barnes had charge of the program which was entitled, "An Open Door." Parts were presented by Mrs. Alton Morris, Mrs. Ira Wimberley, Mrs. E. A. Redwine, Mrs. Wesley Barnes, Mrs. F. W. Greene, Mrs. Raymond Houston and Mrs. Allen Grusenford. Mrs. Weldon Slayton was also present.

Tuesday—Lima beans and ham, mixed greens, mashed potatoes, sliced pickles, hot rolls, butter, milk, peach halves.

Wednesday—Chicken with dressing, gravy, cranberry sauce, English peas, enriched bread, milk, apricots.

Thursday—Pinto beans, hamburger bake, buttered cabbage, steamed rice, cornbread, butter, milk, chocolate pudding.

Friday—Salmon loaf, green beans, hominy, sweet potatoes, hot rolls, butter, milk, ice cream cups.

Has 80th Birthday

Mrs. Ella Warner was honored with a birthday dinner in her home on Sunday, marking her 80th year. Helping Mrs. Warner to celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Amerson and Mr. and Mrs. Orby Jarmon and Gene Paul, all from Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. "Chick" Ottwell from Springdale, Ark.; and Mrs. Lorene Wilson and Leon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Light from Olton were weekend guests in the Bob Kimbrough home.

FFA Float Wins Prize At Friona

Lazbuddie FFA boys and their teacher are to be complimented on the attractive float they entered in the Friona Maize Days last Friday. "New Products Through Student Research" was the theme of the float. A first prize was awarded this float in the school division on originality.

The float was made up of a mock chemistry work table where the boys were working and then showing the new products that can be produced from maize through this research. Some of the products shown were syrup, flour, and starch.

Mrs. Joe Cox Is Shower Honoree

Mrs. Joe Briggs was hostess this past week to the Thursday afternoon sewing club and a surprise pink and blue shower for Mrs. Joe Cox.

Cupcakes iced in pink and blue, and pink lemonade were served to the following: Mesdames Ted Treider, Beardean Broyles and Becky, Don McDonald and Donnie, Larry Treider and Tamra, Gene Phillips, Sandy and Chuck, Joe Cox and Fontella, and the hostess, Mrs. Briggs. Sending gifts were Mesdames Andy Brown, Everett McBroom and Gene Smith.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Splawn were Mr. and Mrs. Woodie Splawn from Whiteface; Mrs. Glen Splawn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Splawn and children, Arthur, Kenneth and Pam, and Benny Splawn, all from Muleshoe; Mrs. Bill Collins from Clovis; and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Brown and girls, Sandy, Judy and Jody.

Has Party

Darla Jan Spittler was honored on her sixth birthday in the home of her parents Sunday afternoon. Games were played and refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream were served to Kirby and Debbie Burch, Trev Ford, Ragena and Rhonda Treider, Loretta White, Beverly, Brenda and Mack Black, Denise Spittler and the honoree.

Mr. and Mrs. Y. B. Mayfield are spending this week in the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. A. Parham, before returning to their home in Friona. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Scott and Ronald spent the weekend in Dodson with his mother and sister.

On the back of the float was a huge triangle to represent the mountain of surplus maize. In this triangle were the letters "F. F. A." made of maize heads colored silver with the surrounding heads copper-colored.

The school won a second prize on the window display that was made in the Ethridge-Spring insurance agency. This was an arrangement of silver-colored maize heads and open cotton bolls and surrounded by plumes of Pampas grass. The floor in front of the wall decoration was covered with black and orange, the school colors, and some of the agricultural exhibits from the school fair were on display. It also showed 10 large heads of maize representing 6,500 pounds of maize to the acre, showing a net income of $17, while on the other hand, 10 ordinary heads of maize with a yield of 3,500 showed a loss of 90 cents per acre, thus proving the necessity of good management.

There will be a football game here at home this Friday night with Happy and it will be a conference game.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lancaster visited Thursday in Olton with her sisters and families, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Robinson from Muleshoe were Monday guests in the Bill Lancaster home.

The Lazbuddie School has not been hard hit as yet with the flu, but there are very few families in the community that have not had at least one in the family who has been sick with it, and in some cases the whole families have been ill. ## Low Temperatures, More Wet Weather Puts ? on Crops

More wet weather—plenty of it—has put a big question mark over crops of the High Plains during the past week. The soggy days returned last Thursday, and soupy weather closed in for almost six straight days before breaking temporarily Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Coming with the dreary days were low-hanging clouds that produced an almost continual mist. Rain fell, too, although gently, and most points got their second round of showers in as many weeks. During the period, rainfall measured up to and slightly over one inch generally.

Farmers, already edgy with late crops, weren't happy over the weather that was no good for anything but wheat and ducks. They are exceedingly anxious to proceed with their often-interrupted harvest. Millions of dollars of grain sorghum is standing in the field, awaiting reaping.

Other millions are at stake in the cotton crop, which could be a good one or a very poor one, just depending on what the weather does in the next few weeks.

County Agent Joe Jones reports that the rain is damaging cotton some. "But it's too early to tell just how much we're being hurt, and it will depend on how the weather turns out," he says.

Cotton that is open is staying too wet to pull, and the moisture is believed to be hurting grade some, as reports of staining have been heard. Also, the rain and fog is keeping plants green and soggy, delaying late-season maturity, and yet the weather is too cool for the plants to go ahead with their normal boll-opening activity.

No frosts have been reported, and for this cotton farmers are glad. Some of the fields are beginning to pass the crucial stage where a freeze would be very damaging, but still, the bulk of the crop needs warm, dry, sunny weather worse than anything else.

Grain sorghum producers are complaining about the rain primarily because of the fear that a sudden freeze might send portions of the crop to the ground. A freeze that would kill the plant and weaken the stalk might easily let the big heads fall over and be impossible to recover with a combine.

This is especially true in the case of this type of weather where icing and high moisture content would add weight to what the stalk has to bear already, and also because sudden squally winds might increase the threat of falling.

Then too, prolonged wet weather always brings with it the threat of pre-germination—sprouting of the grain in the head. That would really be hard for farmers to take. However, the coolness of the weather may preclude this eventuality.

Wet heads are usually more susceptible to diseases, also, and farmers recall 1955 when serious infestation of a fungus-type disease affected the yields of late-season feed. The fungus was especially troublesome in the "green head" varieties that mature later and carry a high moisture content. Light grain was the result of this trouble.

One other worry of continuing rain at this stage is that of causing discoloration to the grain itself. Color is one determinant of the grade of the grain and is reflected in the price it brings on the market.

All the news is not bad, though. Farmers having sowed wheat are excited about early prospects for this crop. Fall-planted wheat is getting its best start in years on the High Plains, and the crop looks as if it knows it.

Prospects for much early-season pasture are good, and are already showing up in the price of calves and yearlings that will be due to hit the range within coming weeks.

Most farmers believe that grazing wheat down when it goes off as fast as it has this year is almost necessary to protect against a serious freeze that might turn rank wheat back in the late winter or early spring.

Dryland wheat for the first time since 1949 is looking the equal of wheat that has been either pre-irrigated or watered up, producers declare.

Hartzog Attends Meeting

Directors of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association held their meeting this week in Amarillo. Seventeen directors and committeemen were present from 12 of the 17 counties in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

R. G. Peeler, Hereford, President, and Frank Moore, Plainview, legislative representative, reported to the board on the recent commodity group meetings in Washington which they attended. Peeler indicated that another conference of the commodity groups would be held in Omaha in November.

The Association is supporting a "Surplus Reduction Farm Plan" which in general calls for a uniform level of support for all commodities; government programs for all commodities to have a uniform expiration date; and, a percentage of cultivated acres to be retired from production.

Bill Nelson, executive vice-president, indicated that farmer interest in a series of county organizational meetings had been very encouraging with 250 attending in one county, and the average attendance being near 75. One-hundred-two local grain elevator operators are cooperating with the grain producers by deducting two pounds per thousand from farmer deliveries and depositing it to the Association in support of a program of research, legislation, and market development.

Arlin Hartzog of Parmer County attended.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Those in charge of the Farm Bureau parade float for Maize Days wish to express their appreciation to Jonnie Hand for her willingness to substitute for Wilma Norton as Farm Bureau queen. Miss Norton and her entire family were down with the flu. Miss Hand, second place winner in the queen contest, represented Farm Bureau in the parade, and promptly came down with the flu that night. We hope both of these girls are feeling better by now.

A recent publication in a nearby weekly paper quoted some farmers who had visited Washington as commending some of our legislators for having allowed 80 per cent loan value on farm commodities that must be temporarily stored in the open because of shortage of storage space approved by USDA.

The fact of the matter is that Texas Farm Bureau requested and got approval for open storage at a critical time four or five years ago when some elevator operators would buy, but would not store, commodities during harvest periods.

The provision, obtained by TFB President Walter Hammond, directly through then President Harry Truman within a twenty-four-hour period, in many cases opened storage facilities to the farmer. It has since, by Farm Bureau resolution, been requested and obtained each harvest season.

Beginning November 1, $1 will be charged non-Farm Bureau members for handling farm-used tractor gas refund papers. It has been 50 cents for non-members heretofore, and will continue to be 10 cents for members, which amount covers actual postal costs for the service. This filing and notification service is one of the most exacting operations of the office, and requires a complete review of the files at least every 15 days, to determine whether you have responded to your first notice.

We believe the new charge is very nominal, considering the time and relative expense of rendering the service. The charge will be made whether the papers are executed in the office or not, as there is no charge for the notary service.

Consider this: He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer shall be abomination." Proverbs 28:9.

Expect Large Yields

Larger yields than had been expected are believed to be in store for most grain sorghum growers this year. High Plains Farm and Home reports this as the opinion that seems to be showing up in the few, scattered, early reports of harvest.

Wet weather has stopped the harvest cold in its tracks, but on the sidewalks and in the coffee shops there is considerable talk that indicates farmers who have checked their early cuttings are surprised and encouraged with the yields.

More poor weather could change the picture drastically (see story on rain), but so far, it looks as if the Parmer County area will set a new record this year in per-acre average yield.

Better farming, more favorable weather through the growing season, and hybrids are primarily responsible.

County 4-H Party To Be At Hub

The Hub community building will be the scene of a county-wide 4-H Club party on Saturday evening, October 26, starting at 7:30.

All 4-H Club members in the county who are 12 years of age and over and their parents are invited. Each member may also invite a guest to the party.

Each girl is asked to bring three sandwiches for the refreshments and each boy is asked to bring 20 cents to help pay for pops.

THE PARMER FARMER

By W. H. GRAHAM JR.

While we haven't received anything of a documentary nature from the Water District office in Lubbock on the subject of deep-lying fresh water fields, the subject hasn't been idle in our minds.

Over the weekend we got a chance to visit a wildcat oil test on location, and although we were clumsy in drawing from our limited knowledge of oilfield jargon to intelligently converse with the drillers, we obtained what was to us at least some interesting information.

This test is 11 miles north of Silverton, at the foot of the Caprock country, and is in a canyon southwest of Palo Duro Park. The rig had drilled to a depth of about 6,000 feet and was testing for oil and gas when we arrived on the scene. Understandably, the drillers were pretty vague about progress on their test in a zone they hoped would produce oil or gas or both, but they made no attempt to hold back anything they knew about the first few thousand feet down.

Actually, it was a surprise to us to know that they often pay little or no attention to what they drill through or into as they are going down. They don't really get interested until they get to the area in which they think a strike is possible.

In other words, it is completely possible for a crew to drill through a fresh water zone of considerable strength and not even be aware of it. The geologist in charge of the testing said cuttings of formations passed through were better indicators of whether water was present than anything else.

What will happen to this sesame that is getting drenched in the shock? That's what sesame farmers are wondering as their oilseed crop sits in the field, awaiting fair weather that will dry it and make way for threshing.

Upon questioning, he did recall passing through a "fresh water strata" at about 3,300 feet, but because the men were interested in probing much deeper—they did not stop to check on the pressure, if any, of the strata.

The man said the water he checked was not highly mineralized as is much water from such depths and that he believed it would be entirely satisfactory for domestic or irrigation use should there be enough of it.

He also told us that he knows of one instance of a well near Wink where water from about the same depth was tapped in a well unsuited for oil production, and that the owner sold the water, which flowed artesian, to oilfield rigs and also used some for irrigation. With his hands, he indicated that the stream of water from this well was about six inches in diameter.

Now, don't jump at conclusions. We don't mean to reverse our opinion that very little water, if any, is available for practical development from such depths.

But, on the basis of this story we encountered, and on the basis of others going around, it wouldn't hurt to look into things a bit further before we write off as hogwash the theory of other reservoirs besides our prolific Ogallala.

A deferred grazing system with properly used supplemental pastures is essential for maximum range recovery, advises A. H. Walker, extension range specialist. Perennial grasses are slow to recover and heavy grazing can hurt more now than during the drought periods, says the specialist. His advice . . . breed back into the livestock business instead of restocking by buying back. This method will give good range plants an opportunity to come back.

"The Place Where Most People Trade"

Friona, Texas

Kathy, our just three-year-old granddaughter, was riding with her daddy the other day in his car that has a hole in the muffler, or something, and makes a queer racket. Her daddy said "Just listen to that motor," and Kathy, who is a true daughter of the Parmer County Pump Company owner, said "Is it pumping any water yet?"

will be over. It will save more corn and time, and cost less.

According to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service 1957 Irrigation Survey for the High Plains of Texas, Parmer County has 360,000 acres under irrigation. That's the most they list for any county. Lubbock County is second with 350,000, and Castro is third with 320,000.

Clothes Closet Crowded?

Do you have to cram all of your clothes into one small closet? If you do, perhaps a good fall closet cleaning with an eye toward a different arrangement will help solve your problem.

Extension home management specialists suggest starting at the top of the closet with hats. A square hat box uses the shelf space to better advantage than a round one. Find a box as large as the shelf will take so more than one hat can be tucked into it. Liberal use of tissue paper keeps the hats in good condition. If shelf room is limited, perhaps a second shelf can be added.

Lower down, the rod for hangers might be changed from a single one, the full width of the closet, to two shorter ones installed from back to front. This arrangement adds space and Mute evidence of what the weatherman's "soup" has done to farming this fall, at just the time when activity should be at its highest, is this silent combine. The water filled road leading into the turn-row and the heavy fog that shroud this picture are graphic reminders of why the combine isn't running. The picture was made on a farm atop Parmerton hill.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER BY JUNE FLOYD

For a very different and tasty meat dish, try this recipe for Bacon Burgers. They may be served with vegetables, salad, and dessert of your choice at noon or in the evening.

Bacon Burgers

1 lb. ground beef
1 cup bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1/3 cup catsup
1 cup grated cheese
1/4 cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons minced onion
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
12 slices bacon
Combine all ingredients, except bacon, and shape into 12 patties. Use 1/3 cup of mixture for each. Wrap each meat patty with a slice of bacon and fasten with a toothpick. Bake in shallow pan in hot oven for 45 minutes. Serve piping hot.

A new item, which will soon be on the market in most variety and hardware stores, is an ironing caddy. Every homemaker should have one or more. They can be used for hanging freshly ironed clothes or for drying garments made from drip dry fabrics. These caddies are made of lightweight aluminum and fold for storing.

There is space for 20 garments on each caddy. Besides being used as aids in the laundry, they can be used when you have guests as the clothes valet. The nationally advertised selling price will be about $3.

For creamy fudge for Christmas gifts for service men or women, children attending school, or family eating, try this recipe. It is foolproof. There is no cooking to a hard crack or soft ball stage, or any other "loophole" whereby it might not turn out just right.

Don't keep waiting for oil to be discovered on your land—join us in buying royalties under land that is now producing oil. PRODUCING ROYALTIES, INC., Great Plains Bldg., Lubbock.

Place 1/4 pound oleo, 4 cups of sugar, and one tall can evaporated milk in heavy saucepan. Bring to boil, then cook nine minutes. Turn out fire and stir in one pint marshmallow cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and one 12 oz. package chocolate chips. Stir until the marshmallow cream and chocolate chips have completely dissolved and pour into buttered dish. Place in refrigerator and cut into desired size pieces before it has completely hardened. Nuts may be added with the chips, cream, and flavoring.

A picture in a recent issue of a Household magazine showed a pretty doorway greeting fashioned around two ears of corn. Why do we limit our doorway greetings to the Christmas season? The recent Maize Days celebration in Friona was an example of what can be done with locally grown products. Why not take a little time, imagination, and ingenuity and fashion your own doorway greeting? Some of the things which can be used for beautiful fall arrangements are cotton burs, maize heads, stalks of soy beans, of guar, okra pods, and weed seed pods of different kinds.

These can be used in their natural color or can be sprayed with color paint. Cockle-burs would probably make pretty additions, too. Then there are all different kinds and colors of leaves. There is really no need for your greeting to be a carbon copy of any other.

Did any of you homemakers, who are farmers' wives, take time to study the displays in the window of Hurst's Department Store and Bi-Wize Drug in Friona over the weekend? There was a wonderful opportunity for you to learn how your husband can tell when driving by a field of maize what variety it is.

A careful observation of the size, shape, and growth characteristics of the heads clearly indicated which variety each of the group of heads was.

The Bi-Wize window display was a short course in the production of hybrid maize seed. A little time spent in studying these two displays would have cleared up a lot of the "fog" most of us go through when the men start talking about the different varieties of maize being grown locally.

ACCIDENT, CALL THE DOCTOR

This is a cry that may not be heard so often 20 years from now because of a survey which has been made by the World Health Organization of the U. N. It was found that accidents cause more deaths among children and adolescents than do communicable diseases.

A farmer in Pakistan would have to spend his entire earnings for six months to buy the modern plow Americans can provide with a contribution of just $11 to the CARE Self-Help Program, 660 First Ave., New York 16, N. Y.

Entries Sought

Wanted: A maid of cotton. For the eighth consecutive year, the South Plains Maid of Cotton committee, in cooperation with the National Cotton Council, is conducting a search for a young lady who likes to travel, meet people, and to win friends at home and abroad for the American cotton industry. George Brassell, Jr., chairman of the 1958 South Plains Maid of Cotton committee, in announcing the opening of this year's contest, stated, "This is by no means a beauty contest. The Maid of Cotton, as a representative of the 13 million people in the American cotton industry, has a tremendously important public relations job to do, and is chosen on the basis of poise, personality and background, as well as appearance."

Among the qualifications required of an applicant for South Plains Maid of Cotton, she must be between the ages of 19 and 25; at least 5 feet 6 inches tall; never have been married; not wear glasses, and have been born in a cotton-producing state. In addition, the South Plains Maid of Cotton must have a home residence in one of the following South Plains Counties: Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Howard, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Parmer, Swisher, Terry, and Yoakum.

Applications together with photograph, must be submitted to the South Plains Maid of Cotton committee, P. O. Box 561, Lubbock, not later than 12:00 noon, Monday, November 11, 1957. Official entry blank may be obtained at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, 902 Texas Avenue or through directors of Plains Cotton Growers Association.

This year the South Plains Maid of Cotton contest will cover two days, November 18 and 19, 1957. The South Plains contestants will take part in a program which will include coffee, luncheons, a parade, the Cotton Ball at the Lubbock Country Club on Monday, November 18, and the glittering finals on Tuesday evening, November 19, at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

The young lady selected as the South Plains Maid of Cotton becomes an automatic finalist in the National Maid of Cotton contest in Memphis on January 2 and 3. She will be presented a $1,000 cotton wardrobe and receive an all-expense-paid trip to Memphis for herself and the chaperon of her choice.

The winner of the national contest will be flown to New York City for a month's stay in preparation for her role as fashion and good will envoy for the cotton industry. She will receive good-grooming and modeling tips from experts in these fields and again be completely outfitted with an all-cotton wardrobe. This wardrobe will include some 40 garments created expressly for her by leading American designers.

Corn
Risks Rise

Corn growers, who have the cussedly dry and hot summers of the High Plains, in addition to ear worms and corn borers to worry about, are getting more grief from nature this week. Their crop, although it's a good one, likes a lot of being in the bag. Over 75 percent of it is standing out in the field getting drenched, and until a dry spell comes, there's no way of getting it out.

The moisture isn't expected to damage the grain to amount to anything, but the tall stalks could easily be toppled in the present condition, and farmers are understandably impatient to get their pullers in operation. Yields are believed to be promising—but no one really knows, yet.

Sheep raisers who have marketed wool or unshorn lambs during the 1957 marketing year may make application for an incentive payment due them under the National Wool Act by bringing their sales receipts to the ASC office.

1957-CCC Loans

Grain producers are reminded that landlords and other lien holders are required by law to release all liens before a CCC Loan can be approved in the local ASC office. Lien waiver forms are available at the elevators in the county and the ASC office for the convenience of the farmers, that they may pick up and have signed by the lien holders to save delay in processing the loan after they have received the warehouse receipt.

Large Supplies of Grain

It is estimated that about 418 million bushels of grain sorghum will be harvested this year. This is more than double last year's crop and is 72 percent more than the record crop of 1955. The production of corn is average. The oat crop is 20 percent larger than last year, and the barley crop is 17 percent larger than last year. As a result, we can expect lower feed prices during the feeding year of 1957-58.

Leaflet Available
On White-Seeded
Sorghum Hybrid

A white-seeded sorghum hybrid, showing a favorable performance when compared with the other hybrids, has been developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the USDA. Seed will be available in limited quantity for the 1958 crop.

This new hybrid, RS 630, is the first white-seeded hybrid released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. In 25 tests in nine states, it yielded 67 bushels per acre—higher than any of the other hybrids tested. It is a medium-early grain sorghum hybrid that matures in 90 to 100 days after planting. The head is well above the upper leaf and dries readily, thereby permitting harvesting soon after the grain is mature.

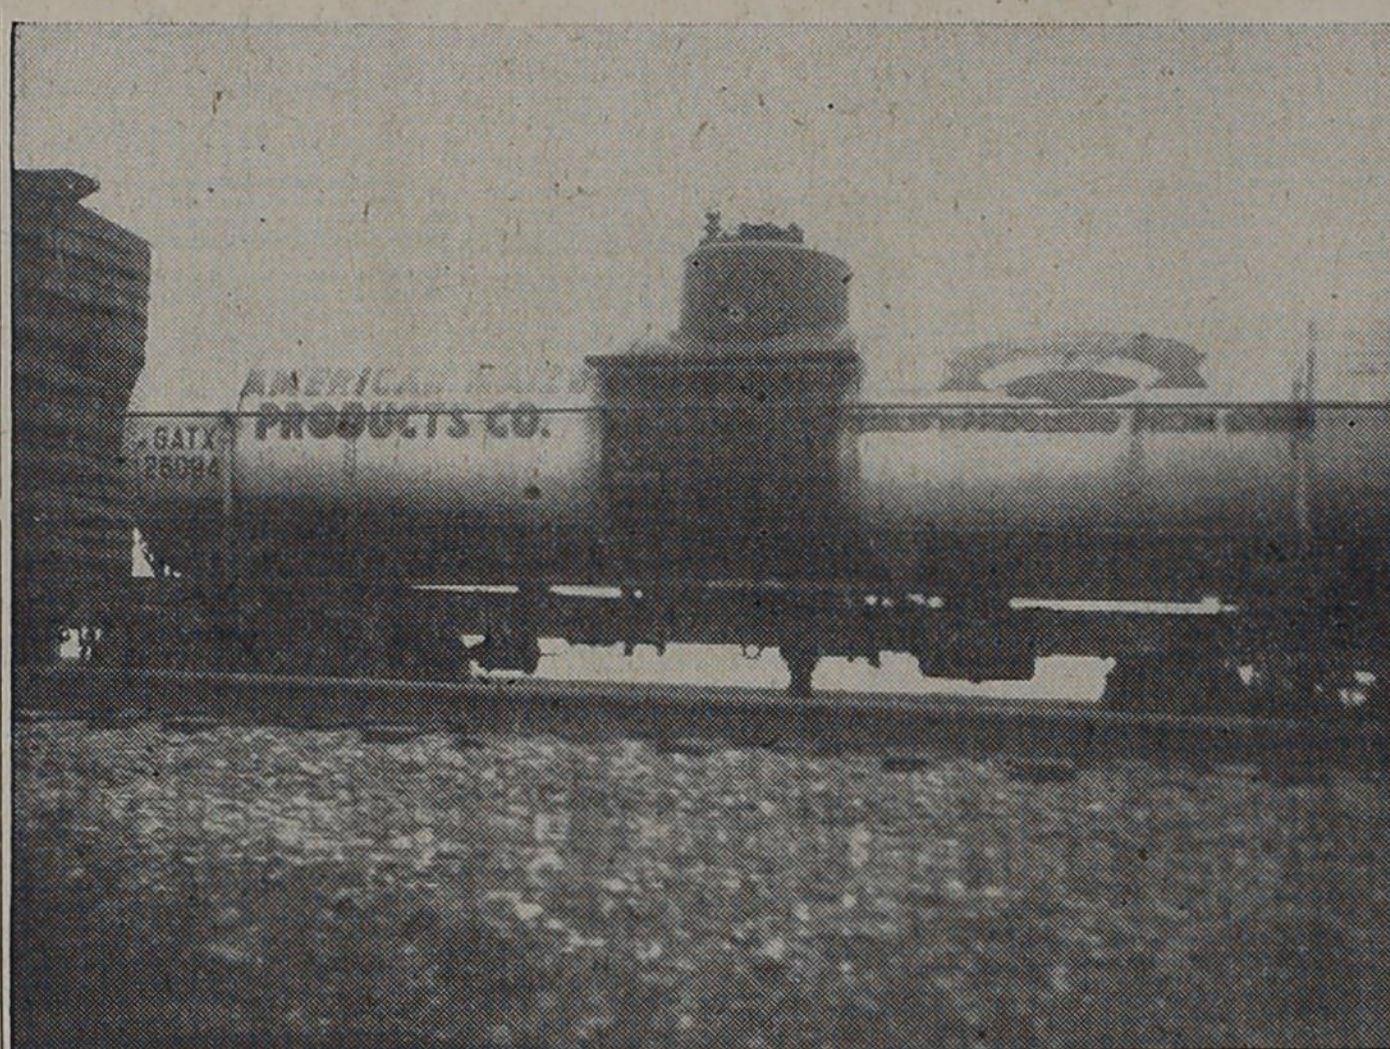

A recently released leaflet, L-362, gives detailed information on this new hybrid. It contains sections on parentage, yield record, production of certified seed and gives a complete description. This leaflet may be obtained from the agricultural information office, College Station, Texas.

Where'd it come from? That's what area grain sorghum growers wonder about this and other tank cars that occasionally pass through as part of Santa Fe trains. "American Maize Products Company" reads the label on the car, but High Plains Farm & Home hasn't found anyone who has ever heard of the company, or where they are, or what products they manufacture.

In Panama, it costs $42.20 to buy the contents of the woodworking tool kit CARE buys, packs and delivers to carpentry apprentices and needy craftsmen at a total contribution price of $25.

One of those "Adult Only" shows came to town recently. Some of our leading citizens condemned it, but went anyway to see how bad it was, then complained because the naughty parts were cut out.

The girl down to the new dress shoppe was showing Widow Barnes a dress she said was perfect for "after 5." Miz Barnes allowed as how at her age all she needs after 5 is a nightgown.

An irrigation conference of interest to farmers, agricultural leaders and the irrigation equipment industry has been scheduled November 14-15 at the Lubbock Hotel in Lubbock.

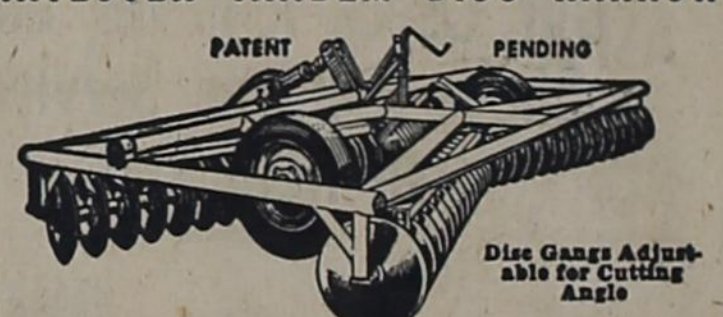

This conference is being sponsored by the newly-formed Texas Inter-industry Irrigation Council and irrigation specialists from throughout the nation will be on the program.

Jack Z. Anderson, administrative assistant to President Eisenhower, will highlight the conference. He will talk on "Irrigation Farming—a Key to Better Living."

Dr. E. N. Jones, president of Texas Tech; Dr. W. N. Williamson, assistant director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station; and C. I. Wall, president of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., Amarillo, will preside over the conference sessions. Other noted authorities on irrigation included on the program will be Guy Woodward, educational director of the Sprinkler Irrigation Association, Salt Lake City; Dr. Ivan D. Wood, irrigation consultant, Denver; Dr. Moyle Williams, chief agricultural economist, National Plant Food Institute, Washington; E. V. Dignan, vice president of the U. S. National Bank in Denver; Dr. T. R. Timm, head of department of agricultural economics and sociology, Texas A&M College; Dr. Robert Hagan, chairman, department of irrigation, University of California; Dr. Marlowe Thorne, head of agronomy department, Oklahoma State University; J. W. Pruitt, irrigation farmer, Inverness, Miss.; and other officials from leading irrigation equipment companies.

Carnival Planned At Farwell School

Plans are in the making for the annual Halloween carnival at Farwell School, and the gala event will be held on Saturday evening, November 2, this year.

Further details of the carnival are to be announced later, but candidates for the carnival royalty have been selected by the classes in the high and elementary schools, and each class is planning ways of making money for their entrants.

Candidates for carnival king and queen from the senior class are Mitchell Walls and Naomi Hubbell. Prince and princess candidates from this class are Billy Smith and Martha Smith.

Junior king and queen candidates are Belva Christian and Johnny Lovelace and prince and princess entrants are Dickie Williams and Jo Anne Schell.

Representing the sophomore class as king and queen entries are June Ritchie and David Berggren. Judy Herington and Barthel Ford are the prince and princess candidates.

Emalee Tucker and Tommy Barker are the freshman students who will be vying for the king and queen honors at the carnival.

FROM HOSPITAL

Confined to the hospital Thursday through Sunday of the past week was W. E. Woods, who was suffering with pneumonia.

Mrs. Woods reported on Wednesday of this week that Woods is "getting along just fine."

Mrs. Howard Crook Is Hospitalized

Mrs. Howard R. Crook, who is now hospitalized in Clovis Memorial Hospital, was reported to be "quite a bit better" Wednesday of this week.

She is suffering from the flu and an attack of asthma, and had been under an oxygen tent. She was confined Saturday of last week and it was not known at the time of the report just when she would be released.

Lisa Atwell From Hospital

Lisa Atwell, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Atwell, was hospitalized Sunday and Monday of this week with a severe throat and ear infection.

Mrs. Atwell reported Tuesday of this week that Lisa is doing "a lot better."

HAS SURGERY

C. M. Crow was reported to be "getting along pretty good" Wednesday of this week, after undergoing surgery at Clovis Memorial Hospital. Crow entered the hospital Thursday of last week and was dismissed Monday.

Choral Clinic Is Saturday

Farwell School's mixed chorus will be among the 250 voices combined in a mass choral presentation next Saturday evening to climax the first annual choral clinic sponsored by Eastern New Mexico University.

Schools planning to participate other than Farwell include Hereford, Friona, Morton, Clovis, Portales, Dora and Eunice. Choral clinician for the all day affair will be Frank McKinley, director of choirs at North Texas State College, Denton. He is a former member of the famed Westminster College choir. Directing the clinic will be David W. Scott, assistant professor in music at ENMU.

McKinley will work with each of the participating groups during the morning and a mass choral rehearsal is scheduled for the afternoon. The day's activities will be concluded with the public performance in the University Gymnasium that evening. Admission will be 50 cents, and everyone is invited.

Mrs. Erma Jobs is director of the 40-voice Farwell chorus, which is the first mixed chorus Farwell has had.

Theatre Starts "Family Nights"

FARWELL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Ebb Randol, Minister
After laboring with the church here for many years and then being engaged at other places, we are happy to return to the work here.

It shall be our desire not only to work with the Church of Christ, but also that we be part of this community and that we might help in making this a better place to live and rear our families.

Our schedule of services are as follows for the present:
Sunday a.m., Bible classes for all ages at 10 a.m., followed by preaching and communion services beginning at 10:50 a.m.

Sunday evening services will be at 7 p.m. and Wednesday evening services are to be at 8.

Members of the Church of Christ have purchased 1100 acres of land (known as the Flying B Ranch) 17 miles west of Las Vegas, N. M., which has been named "Blue Haven Youth Camp." We have facilities to care for 100 children during the summer months. Also, camp sites have been sold to members of the church who wish to build cabins there. This Saturday (October 26), there will be a gathering there featuring a venison barbecue at noon. The youth camp was in operation this past summer. Your writer is one of the directors of this camp.

Sermon topics for this Sunday, October 27, will be "Hastening Lot" for the morning services, and "To You" for the evening hour. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

He led the Steer backs in yardage with a total of 50, and he was also a defensive spark-plug. Twice Berry halted Morton drives with pass interceptions. Both came in the final quarter, once on the Farwell 30-yard line and again on the Steer 40.

The Steers fumbled three times during the game and lost the ball each time. However, on two occasions the Indians fumbled on the next play, giving the ball right back.

Following one Steer fumble, Morton moved the ball to the three-yard line, only to see Farwell make a goal line stand. After four plays from that point, the Steers had pushed them back to the 17.
