Heavy Damage Is Caused By Strong Winds

More Moisture Is Forecast In This Area For Today

Although rain, hail and wind resulted in many thousands of dollars in damage in scattered areas in Texas, the benefits could be counted in terms of brightened crop prospects today.

W. I. Marschall, district extension director at San Angelo, called the rain a "million dollar rain," the Associated Press reported. He said the moisture was "perfectly timed" for ranchers and farmers in the area.

Prospects Are Bright

On the South Plains, the additional rainfall gave the area around Lubbock one of its richest ground seasonings in recent years and helped promote bright prospects for the 1949 cotton crop. Twisting wind during the rain storm Monday night took its toll in form of damage to farm houses and other outbuildings in the area from Shallowater to Monroe, and in Slaton, Ropesville and Petersburg areas. Apparently, no one was seriously injured.

The total precipitation measurement for the two days, as reported by the U. S. Weather bureau station near Lubbock, was 1.22 inches, increasing precipitation for the year to 6.31 inches and giving the South Plains one of its richest moisture seasons since 1941, when the area received 6.95 inches of rain the first four months of the year.

Showers Are Forecast

Accordingto the forecast for this area, clouds will begin to break up late this afternoon and tonight. Partly cloudy weather was forecast for Thursday. The long range forecast predicted scattered showers late Friday, or Friday and Saturday.

Lubbock's minimum temperature was 51 degrees this morning.

The Associated Press reported heavy rain continued in much of Texas today—and without the damaging hail and wind which accompanied yesterday's rain.

The heaviest fall apparently was at Brownwood in Central Texas, where the downpour threatened to flood low-lying residential areas.

Fall Reported Heavy

Brownwood's rainfall since Monday night totaled 5.20 inches, most of it yesterday and last night. The high water there apparently reached its crest about 1 a. m. today, after which it receded. No water

It's "Play Ball!" Tonight

Opening Clash Of '49 Season With Pioneers

Clovis Will Face Don Hensiek With 14 And 10 Record

By JOE KELLY
Journal Sports Writer

It's "PLAY BALL!" in Lubbock tonight!

Lubbock's Hubbers and Clovis' Pioneers square off at Rosenthal field at 8 p. m. to lift the lid on the 1949 season of the West Texas-New Mexico league.

Prospects were a bit dark early today, what with recent heavy rains and leaden skies promising ever more. But at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, George Schepps, general manager of the Lubbock club, announced "the game is definitely on. It'll take a lot more moisture than this to cancel out our opening night."

Mayor To Start

Starting on the mound tonight will be a righthander, Mayor W. H. Rodgers, who will attempt to throw a curve to City Manager Steve Matthews. In the middle, trying his best to loft one over any one of the fences will be John King, formerly a rampaging hitter in the Texas league.

The pre-game festivities will start at 7:50 p. m. and will take approximately 10 minutes. After that the umpires will call out the ageless signal for starting baseball games and Clovis will come to bat.

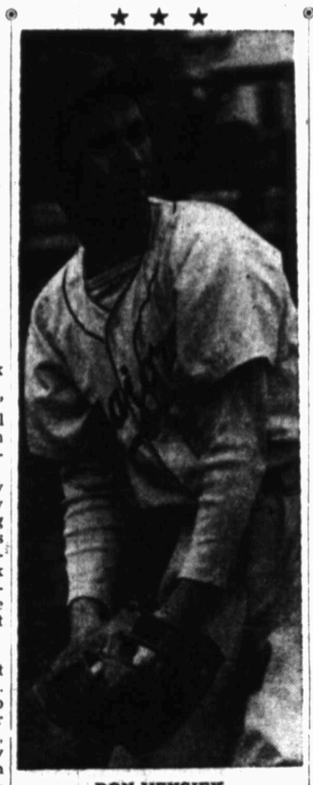

They will face Don Hensiek, a tall righthander with a 14 and 10 record last year for Wassau of the Wisconsin State league. He was the early choice of Manager Jackie Sullivan, who had his roster trimmed last night at the last minute.

Clovis Slates Matthews

Opening for Manager Paul Dean's Clovis crew will be George Matthews, a tall southpaw, who compiled a 14 and 15 record while chunking for the Pioneers last season. Matthews is one of the few veterans remaining on the Clovis club.

Both teams will present names unfamiliar to Lubbock ball fans and the Hubber infield has been entirely rebuilt within the past 48 hours. Gone are Virgil Richardson at first base, Jackie Wilcox at shortstop and Frank McAlexander were taken off the playing list last night, along with two

LAW ABOLISHES WOODS' POST

Gilmer-Aikin Bill Given House Okay

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, April 20.—Gilmer-Aikin legislation abolishing the post of State Supt. L. A. Woods was passed today by the House, breaking a deadlock of three weeks standing.

The vote was 85 to 30, sending the measure, already cleared by the Senate, back to the upper chamber for concurrence in amendments.

The action broke the back of a minority opposition which staged a "walkout" in a spectacular attempt to stall the sweeping educational reform program.

Jester Praises Solons

The measure was readied for final passage less than an hour earlier by a vote of 85 to 17.

The House then recessed until 2:30 p. m., when it was scheduled to take up the second of three Gilmer-Aikin proposals, a measure setting up the financing arrangement for the education program.

Gov. Beauford Jester, who had urged passage of the plan as an emergency, said he was "naturally very pleased at the action and very proud of the legislature."

He stood outside the House chamber as members left upon recessing, happily nodding and greeting backers of the legislation.

Quick Action Taken

The stage was set for final House action on the bill by Sen. James E. Taylor of Kerens when the lower chamber voted down, 88 to 27, a complete substitute plan offered by Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City, a leader of the opposition.

His substitute bill would have retained Woods' post as an elective office.

Action came swiftly after the House quelled a "walkout," an attempt by a minority opposition to stall the sweeping reorganization plan by simply staying away from business.

The House ordered the sergeant-at-arms to round up absent members. To transact business, 100 of the 150 members of the House must be present.

At 11:12 a. m., more than an hour after the lower chamber reconvened, it was announced that a quorum was present.

The House then ordered a direct vote on the Taylor bill, cutting off debate.

Inmates Of Jail

The 30 known dead were reported to be inmates of a jail at Traiguen. They perished when the building collapsed.

Twenty bodies were recovered early today from the ruins of the jail and the search continued for 10 more bodies in the ruins of the four-story building constructed in 1913.

The town of Angol reported 30 per cent of its buildings were levelled

The owns of Temuco, Los Sauces and San Rosenlo also were reported to have been hit hard. Other towns in the path of the quake were Valdivia and Chillan.

Dreaded Civil War Explodes Near Nanking

Serious Fighting Rages; Reds Are Launching Attacks

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, April 20.—The dreaded Chinese civil war exploded all along the Yangtze river front tonight.

Communist attacks were started at several points. Gunfire could be heard and for the first time of the war seen from the capital.

Pukow, across the river was under attack. Kiangpu, on the north bank seven miles southwest of Nanking, was hit. Serious fighting was reported by government sources opposite Wuhu, 60 miles southwest of here. Hsiaokan, 35 miles north of Hankow, was the focal point of the Red 43rd army.

Quick Landing Feared

A top ranking Nationalist general expressed fear the Reds may try a quick landing in this vicinity, trapping Nationalist officials in the capital.

The general feeling at the moment is that Wuhu is the government's weak point. The river front there provides a good landing area.

A high ranking ministry of national defense source said the Red attacks seemed to be directed at all Nationalist positions on the north bank of the river. There are only a few Nationalist pockets left on the north bank.

Proposals Are Rejected

Earlier Premier Ho Ying-Chin told the Chinese parliament the government had rejected Red peace proposals in their present form.

Ho told the legislators that the Communist plan would not provide for lasting peace, a member disclosed after the secret parliament meeting. The legislator quoted Ho as saying the terms were those laid down by a victor.

The premier stressed the fact that the Red terms were not in keeping with efforts of the government to seek peace.

The premier said the Nationalists had asked the Communists to reconsider their demands for immediate surrender of the government. National peace delegates in Peiping have been instructed to convey the government's answer to the Communists at once, Ho said.

Officials Evacuating

The Communist ultimatum to the government to surrender expires at midnight (10 a. m. CST).

Several Nationalist leaders already have left Nanking. All mi-

Kirk Will Get Moscow Post

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—Vice Admiral Alan G. Kirk today was appointed ambassador to Moscow.

Kirk is being transferred from the ambassadorship to Belgium. He also has been serving as minister to Luxembourg.

At Moscow, Kirk will succeed Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith who was relieved recently to take command of the First Army in New York.

Kirk, 60, is a native of Philadelphia and now a legal resident of Connecticut.

Served In Navy

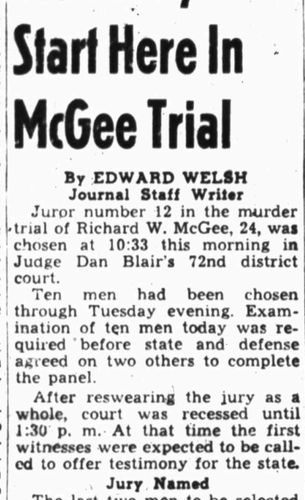

He was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1909 and served in the Navy until 1946 when he was appointed ambassador to Belgium.

During World War two, he participated in the Allied landing operations in Sicily as commander of the amphibious force of the United States Atlantic fleet. He was one of a group of Allied officers who prepared and directed naval phases of the cross-channel invasion of France.

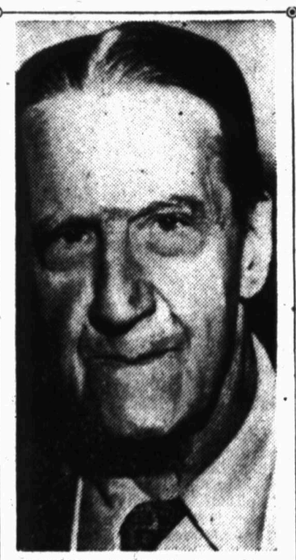

As envoy to Belgium-Luxembourg, Kirk has been concerned chiefly with American relations with western Europe and has not been identified with the more violent phases of the "cold war" with Russia.

Journal Staff Writer

Juror number 12 in the murder trial of Richard W. McGee, 24, was chosen at 10:33 this morning in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court.

Ten men had been chosen through Tuesday evening. Examination of ten men today was required before state and defense agreed on two others to complete the panel.

After reswearing the jury as a whole, court was recessed until 1:30 p. m. At that time the first witnesses were expected to be called to offer testimony for the state.

Jury Named

The last two men to be selected were H. E. Pope, of Lubbock, and George W. Brassell, jr., of Slaton.

Others on the jury are:

A. G. Richardson, Route 6; M. P. Marchbanks, Route 1; Douglas A. Carlisle, 1516 Twenty-Seventh; Albert Ellis, Route 6; Wade W. Hash, Route 5; A. Weir, Box 300, Route 2, Slaton; H. H. Murray, Route 1; Jack Bennett, 1508 Twenty-Eighth; H. D. Stanley, 2107 Sixteenth; and H. L. Powell, Route 3.

Airmen See Duel; Other Warships Arrive At Scene

SHANGHAI, April 20 — Communist shore artillery today crippled the British sloop Amethys in the Yangtze river and drove off the destroyer Consort before she could help the smaller vessl.

The helpless Amethyst, with at least 20 wounded or dead among her crew of 148, was aground on Rose island 60 miles northeast of Nanking tonight. Not far away swirled the first attacks of the resurging Chinese civil war.

The Consort, fighting shore batteries for almost 50 miles, reached Kiangyin tonight with 17 of her crew wounded. She was joined by the frigate Black Swan which had doctors and medical supplies aboard.

The British cruiser London also was expected to reach Kiangyin.

Fliers out of Nanking witnessed the running duel between the Consort and Red shore batteries.

No Activity Spotted

From the air the observers were unable to spot an activity aboard the grounded Amethyst. Her flags, they said, were still flying.

Chinese naval sources, which reported 20 casualties aboard the Amethyst to British quarters in Nanking, denied any shots had been fired by Nationalist gunners along the south shore of the river.

The foreign airmen, who were not further identified, said the Consort, which left Nanking in the morning, may have stopped at the Amethyst to pick up casualties before proceeding downstream toward Shanghai.

The airmen said no fire was observed in the vicinity of the Amethyst but that smoke was rising from Communist positions opposite the island on which the sloop was grounded.

The Amethyst carried a complement of eight officers and 14(men. She is comparable to a American light destroyer and dis places 2,000 tons.

Plying The River

British warships have been flying the Yangtze regularly to Nanking for several months. United States warships have stayed off the river since the civil war lines reached the Yangtze banks.

4 Burglaries Tuesday Night

Four burglaries and several thefts were reported to law enforcement officials this morning for investigation.

Loot in the burglaries totaled only $11.05, a preliminary report to police indicated.

Singley Machinery company, at 1012 Nineteenth, was broken and entered by a rear window. H. E. Singley, jr., informed Pete Hubbard and Homer Harrison, police patrolmen, $7.05 that was in a drawer under a cash register was taken.

Singley pointed out a .38 pistol and a new 30.06 rifle that the burglar or burglars had moved but left in the store. The pistol was one his father had carried as sheriff at Wellington several years ago. Exit was through the same window that had been raised after a glass in it was smashed.

Kattmann's Fine Foods, at 1801 Nineteenth, was broken and entered through a window and $4 was taken from a cigar box, the police said. Efforts to open a cigaret vending machine failed, after the machine had been pulled out from the wall and a knife and a meat cleaver apparently had been used on it as tools.

The police were advised of the Kattmann burglary by Moore's Bonded patrol. Investigation into the case was being continued, police said.

Door Glass Broken

Nothing apparently was removed from John's Service station, at 1504 Thirteenth, burglary of which was reported by Moore's Bonded patrol. Glass in the front door had been broken, allowing manipulation of a night latch. That place had been ransacked, police said. The burglaries were links in a chain of breakings and enterings that included two narcotics jobs this week. Also, W. C. Davis, manager, said, nothing apparently was taken by burglars who broke into and ransacked Super Dog drive-in at 1102 Nineteenth.

County Court Case Scheduled For Trial

A jury panel was to report this afternoon to County Judge Walter Davies for trial of E. J. Herbst, 40, of near Idalou on a charge of drunk driving, it was announced. The charge was filed in December.

A jury of which Murrell R. Tripp was foreman late Tuesday adjudged James Brown, 28, a Lubbock negro, innocent of sale of beer and gin.

A fine of $75 and court costs were assessed after Samuel Raymond Pangburn, 61, had pleaded guilty of a charge of drunk driving.

Spy Probe Of UN Proposed

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — Senator Mundt (R-SD) proposed today that the House un-American activities committee try to learn whether spies and saboteurs are being funneled into the United Nations organization.

Mundt said he has been pushing committee members to start an investigation and they seem favorably disposed."

The South Dakotan was a member of the committee before shifting from the House to the Senate this year. The present members were not available for comment because the House is taking an Easter holiday until next Monday.

Case In Point

Mundt mentioned the case of Valentine A. Gubitchev, a Russian on the UN payroll.

The FBI has arrested Gubitchev and Miss Judith Coplon, a Justice department employe, and accused them of conspiring to steal secret information from the U. S. government. They are awaiting trial.

The fact that arrests were made in the Gubitchev case, Mundt told reporters, suggests the need for a complete check-up by Congress to determine:

1. Whether UN headquarters at Lake Success, N. Y., is a "hiding place for Soviet espionage agents and other undesirables."

2. Whether UN is issuing "super-passports" that have more authority than those of the U. S.

Parents Accused Of Starving Third Child

Attorney Asks Bodies Of Two Children Be Dug Up For Probe

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 20.—An investigation into the deaths of two children of an unemployed roofer and his wife was planned today after the couple was accused of starving a third child.

State's Attorney John S. Boyle said he would seek a circuit court order to exhume the bodies of two of the couple's four young children who died in infancy.

A coroner's jury recommended that the parents, Martin King, 43, and Eileen King, 35, be held for grand jury action on a manslaughter charge, in the death last week of their four months old daughter, Kathleen.

The jury said Kathleen's death was "due to starvation, toxic absorption and bronchial pneumonia caused by exposure and lack of food," which, the verdict said, resulted from neglect by her parents.

Kathleen's body was found by a health department worker in a crib in the King's apartment. Dr. Harry A. Leon, coroner's physician,

Red-Sponsored World Peace Conference Opens In Paris

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, April 20 — A Communist-sponsored world peace conference opened here today with a plea for the formation of peace committees throughout the world to carry out the congress' plans.

The French Communist atomic scientist, Frederic Joliot-Curie, told the 1,800 delegations from 52 nations:

"We will show the warmongers that they have to recon with us. We fight this fight with the certainty of victory."

Joliot-Curie said an atomic war would be "terrible even for its initiators" but that the atom bomb or other atomic weapons would not be the decisive favor in the fighting. He is the head of France's atomic energy commission.

Unlike a world peace congress held in New York last month, this one opened with no anti-Communist pickets outside the meeting place and no evidence of any special police precautions.

Joliot-Curie was the first speaker following the reading of names of the preparatory committee which he headed.

West Texas Demos Planning Barbecue May 7 At College

West Texas Democrats' big $10-a-plate barbecue to be staged on the Texas Tech campus, Saturday, May 7, is expected to attract the largest gathering of party leaders of any similar event held in the area, it was indicated by reports received by the arrangements committee Tuesday.

Indicative of the interest in the affair over the territory, Chick Gardner, prominent Odessa business man and party leader, visited Lubbock Tuesday and reported approximately $1,000 worth of the barbecue tickets would be purchased in Odessa and vicinity.

Gardner turned in a $100 check for tickets for a group of his friends and carried approximately 100 more tickets to be disposed of at Odessa. He and Judge Paul Moss are co-chairmen of the barbecue for the Odessa area.

Featuring the barbecue will be a talk by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

Gardner, who has attended two previous party gatherings, both $25-a-plate affairs at Austin and Corpus Christi, said he had received inquiries from a large number of persons in his section of West Texas asking about tickets for the local barbecue.

Importance Of Talk Stressed

"I believe Secretary Brannan's talk will draw the largest crowd of the three party dinners in Texas," Gardner said. "His talk will certainly be of great importance to the people of Texas, especially in West Texas, because of the new provisions of the national farm program.

"I like the barbecue idea better than staging a formal dinner," Gardner added. "It's typical West Texas and the program is sure to offer a lot for people who would not otherwise want to attend a dinner like those held in Austin and Corpus Christi."

In addition to Secretary Brannan, a large number of party leaders from over Texas and from Washington are expected to be here for the event.

Oklahoma's Indians Pow Wow Via Radio

NORMAN, Okla., April 20 (U.P.)—There are still no white men in Oklahoma, as far as one radio program over University of Oklahoma station WNAD is concerned.

The program, called "Indians for Indians," was started here eight years ago. It has since become one of WNAD's most popular features.

Don Whistler, principal chief of the Sac and Fox tribe, is originator, producer, director and master of ceremonies of the program presented solely for the benefit of Oklahoma tribesmen.

Whistler estimates 3,000 Indians, representing every tribe in Oklahoma, have appeared on the program series.

Whistler says white men are completely ignored as program material.

"We try to avoid white man song and speeches and each week feature tribal music and news of interest to Indians," he said.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid coddition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

Read What They Say!

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds."

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100% per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

Housewife's Heroism Credited With Saving Child From Well

DES MOINES, Ia., April 20 (U.P.) A housewife's heroism was credited today with saving four-year-old Betty Johnson from the fate suffered by Kathy Fiscus.

Mrs. Norene Jamison was hanging out her wash in her backyard yesterday when neighbors told her that blue-eyed Betty had fallen in a nearby well.

Mrs. Jamison ran to the scene and found a group at the well trying to lower a rope to the frightened child. Betty had tumbled into the 18-foot well when the cover gave way beneath her weight.

But she fell in such a way that she became wedged between the well wall and some pipes just as she plunged into the water at the well bottom.

Mrs. Jamison had the rope tied around her own waist, and neighbors lowered her into the well.

"I found Betty wedged between the wall and the pipes, with water up to her mouth," Mrs. Jamison said.

"I braced myself on the pipes and raised her until she was waist high in the water."

Firemen Finish Rescue

But her strength was ebbing, and another neighbor, Martin Vasser, descended head first into the well as neighbors held his feet. Vasser, a tall man, tried to pull the woman and child out, but he couldn't make it.

So he held Betty while Mrs. Jamison rested. Firemen arrived and lowered a rope, which Mrs. Jamison tried to fasten around the child. But each time it slipped off.

Finally, Mrs. Jamison managed to lift Betty high enough so that firemen could reach her with a rope and pull her to safety. Then they hauled Mrs. Jamison to the surface.

She estimated that she was in the well a half hour before firemen arrived.

Tipping is to be abolished in the Russian zone of Germany.

Sealing Fleet To Start Hunt

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, April 20, (U.P.) — Twenty or thirty sturdy Newfoundland sealing ships will sail soon out of the harbor, decorated with bunting and cheered by crowds on the dock, tooting whistles and brass bands.

It's a big event for St. John's when the sealing fleet leaves. The ships meet with several others from Novia Scotia off the southwestern tip of Newfoundland, and then they all head for the Strait of Belle Isle between northern Quebec and Newfoundland. There great herds of seals are in their whelping season.

The seals fall into two categories: the hoods and the harps. Harp "pups" are the ones usually caught by sealers. The harps are mild, frightened seals who come from the Hudson's Bay area. They flee at the scent of man, leaving their young behind to their own fate.

Hoods Are Vicious

But the rugged hoods are vicious and will fight to the death to protect their young. They live in rough, heavy ice, and come from the treacherous shores of Greenland.

The spotted green and brown harps are about six feet long when full grown. Their fiercer relatives, the hoods, are gray with brown spots and nine feet long when fully grown. There are as many as 100,000 seals in one pack.

The sealers pay particular attention to harp "pups" or "white coats." They're white as snow, with soft, unspotted fur, weighing about five pounds. They live a rather easy life in the strait, basking in the sun on the ice and gently fanning themselves with their flippers, while their parents are out fishing. The parents make a "blow hole" in the ice, and dive through it to go fishing.

Planes Spot Herds

Early sealers in the strait made their catches with nets, but that practice was done away with in the early 19th century. Gaffs or heavy boat hooks are now used to club the "white coats."

The modern age has entered the sealing busines with airplanes being sent out as spotters. The planes radio the location of seal herds to the fleet. Sealers leave their ships at dawn, taking along hard biscuits to munch through the day. They don't return until dusk. Sudden storms have caused many of them to lose their ships and freeze to death on the ice.

But they have no worries about being short of fresh water for drinking. All they have to do is knock off a chunk of iceberg and melt it. Almost all sealing ships get their water supply in this way.

South Africa plans drastic action to check ravages of an unwelcome "immigrant" from Jamaica, the West African drywood termite, which has caused millions of dollars worth of damage in some coastal towns.

LANSFORD, Pa., April 20 (AP)—Thirteen anthracite miners, who called a sitdown strike to protest alleged pay dockages, remained 500 feet underground today.

The miners, who have been in the Lehigh Navigation Coal company's No. Six mine since 7 a. m. (EST) Tuesday, spent the night in a mine shaft waiting shanty after a hot dinner sent down from the surface.

A spokesman for the group said their grievance centers around eight men who claim their pay was docked for allegedly leaving their jobs before the scheduled quitting time.

"We intend to stay here," the spokesman said, "until the company adheres to the verbal agreement on quitting time in the west side of the mine, and until these pay dockages are restored."

A company spokesman said the sitdown interrupted plans to seek settlement of the issue through conciliation channels.

"Liger", Rejected By Parents, Leaves Many Scars At Home

SALT LAKE CITY, April 20 (U.P.)—The home of Mrs. Joseph L. Sloan looks something like a hurricane-wracked jungle. The laundry man won't come any more. Chairs, tables and curtains bear the scars of what remains of "jungle warfare."

When friends guess lions and tigers must have been battling in the living room, they aren't so far from wrong. For the entire home is a liger nursery.

A liger is a hybird feline whose mother is a tiger and whose father is a lion. Only one has ever been born in the United States. It was this playful animal—Shasta—that turned Mrs. Sloan's home into a jungle.

Shasta may as well have been an orphan. Her tiger mother rejected her and her father would just as soon eat her as horsemeat. Shasta had to find a friendly world if she were going to survive.

Shasta Arrives

It was the same May day of her birth in 1948 that Sloan, who is zoo superintendent, came home with something tucked under his arm for his wife.

That was the beginning of a long friendship between the liger and her foster mother.

But it wasn't all peaches and horse meat for either Mrs. Sloan or her new liger baby. Taking care of a human baby was easy compared to raising a liger.

She soon found the animal that weighed in at a feathery one-pound and 12-ounces at birth was more like a human baby than one would imagine.

Shasta was treated lige one. She got a milk formula patterned after a human baby milk formula. Shasta had a difficult time getting rid of digestive gas. So Mrs. Sloan even took her affectionate little liger over her shoulder and burped her.

Lots Of Work

Like any baby, Shasta meant all sorts of work to Mrs. Sloan. There were blankets to wash. And there were bottles to sterilize. And also Shasta maintained that four-hour eating schedule. Then Shasta would crave cuddling between meals and naps.

And there were the newspaper men, curious neighbors and newsreel photographers. Taking care of Shasta's public was like being a pres secretary for a movie star.

And the pampered pet took nothing but the best. When she switched from a milk formula to meat, she refused to feat fat. Shasta turned her whiskers up at a big package of hamburger bought for her.

So for the next few weeks Shasta ate Mrs. Sloan's T-bone steak, and Mrs. Sloan and her family had Shasta's snubbed hamburger.

Likes To Play

As Shasta grew in size she turner her waking hours into playful terror for anyone who didn't want to play with a liger.

Mrs. Sloan will never forget the laundry man, even though she hasn't seen him since, Shasta would chase anyone who would run. The liger ran after the laundry man until he finally jumped on top of the dining room table to get away.

Then when Shasta had nothing better to do she would chew away at Mrs. Sloan's rugs. The animal would exercise her teeth further on a wooden table Mrs. Sloan once prized. At night she'd delight in pulling off the couch cover.

Shasta's greatest sport was playing with two-year-old Tamela Douglas down the street. The liger and the child became fast friends.

Back To Zoo

But at four months Shasta was growing too big for her living room jungle. A tearful Mrs. Sloan let her husband take Shasta back to the zoo. At the zoo, Shasta didn't want to leave Sloan. The grief-stricken small animal meowed a human-like cry for two weeks behind hars.

Even now the animal likes to hug Mrs. Sloan through the zoo bars.

Shasta's tiger mother and lion father are expecting another liger in May. And Mrs. Sloan says she doesn't know what household fixtures she'll lose this time.

Soviets Tighten Up On Berlin Blockade

BERLIN, April 20. (AP)—Amid all the rumors that the Russians may be planning to lift their Berlin blockade, they tightened it today.

Communist police in the Soviet sector closed off more streets on the borders of the western allied sections to make their squeeze even a little more effective.

U.S. Airforce officials, discounting all rumors that an early end of the blockade may be in sight, said the allied air lift will be continued even if the blockade is removed.

"We would be very foolish to discontinue the airlift until guarantees of free land transport were signed, sealed and delivered," said a spokesman. "And evep if that should come to pass the airlift still would be worth keeping because we have learned a lot about air supply with it, and are still learning."

BUYS HIS OWN GOODS

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U.P.)—Battestino, J. Later he discovered the box had been consigned to none other than himself and it had cost him $12.25 above the tax to get his own property.

STOPPED THE MUSIC

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (U.P.)—Charles Burton, jr., who wandered around town for seven hours after escaping from the city police with his arms handcuffed behind his back, walked into the police station and asked the desk sergeant if he would please remove the cuffs. Burton had been arrested after he had beaten a cafe pianist for refusing to play his request.

WHAT MADE LINDA LOSE HER LOOKS?

*It may very well be a Borderline Anemia

It's no help to a happy marriage when a wife is forever fatigued and out of sorts—when a faded, forlorn look has taken the place of her youthful beauty.

Yes, and so often this loss of energy and color stems from faded red blood cells. If you're too pale and tired, you may have a Borderline Anemia, due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency. Medical studies show that up to 68% of women—many men and children—are the victims of this blood condition.

Weariness and pallor have many causes—always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, remember: Ironized Yeast Tablets can help you reclaim your vitality and healthy good looks. They are specially formulated to help build up faded and fagged-out blood cells. To feel better—look better—act alert and alive—try IRONIZED YEAST TABLETS!

Examined the new DE SOTO? You won't know what's happened until you do!

"The Car Designed with YOU in Mind" is changing a lot of minds!

CROWDS of people have visited our showrooms since the first announcement of the new De Soto. It has been very interesting to watch their reactions.

First of all, of course, they walk all around the car and admire its smart, low lines and its sleek appearance. They tell us they like its looks because it is "modern but not modernistic."

But the big surprise comes when they open those wide doors and step inside. The roof does not hit their hats. There's lots of headroom. The steering wheel doesn't hit the driver's knees. And because the luxurious seats are chair high, you can see everything without craning your neck.

Get in. Front seat or back, they're both wider. There's more leg room for all passengers, too. And you get all this extra space without sacrifice of convenience, because the outside dimensions of the new De Soto are not increased. You can still park with ease. And you needn't rebuild that garage.

Before you make any decision about any new car, come in and let us show you De Soto's many great features including Tip-Toe Hydraulic Shift with Fluid Drive, that lets you drive without shifting. Compare this car with any other at any price . . . for beauty, comfort, safety and value. Then decide.

Purple Tree, Purple Cow Cocktail Latest In Gin Mill Decor To Make Patrons Happy

By JOHN ROSENBURG
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 20—Ever see ping elephants galloping about the walls of your favorite saloon? Or whistling platy-puses? . . . Snakes? . . . Bullfrogs?

Whether you have or not, don't be surprised some day soon if next to the beer taps there stands a purple tree flapping long, leafy arms in sundry directions.

A tree, it seems, in any of six different colors, is the latest thing in gin mill decor.

This little innovation, guaranteed to drive the customers to drink, was dreamed up by Walter Margulies of the designing house of Lippincott and Margulies.

Margulies insists a room must have "personality" to make its occupants happy.

"Naturally, designs vary with the type of room," he said. "A coffee shop, for instance, should have a bright, clean 'good morning' look and a dining room a restful, refreshing appearance."

Intimacy Counts

When it comes to barroom, he says, it's "intimacy" that counts. A motif that simulates friendliness, comradeship and even love.

To aid creation of this atmosphere, Margulies "planted" his first tree in Park Avenue's staid Vanderbilt Hotel, which was built by Alfred G. Vanderbila, Lusitania victim.

"Mayor O'Dwyer once worked in the old Vanderbilt cocktail lounge as a bartender," Margulies said. "And it was at the Vanderbilt that he met and fell in love with his wife, a switchboard operator."

The decor of the tap room in those days was Chinese. It was furnished with oriental rugs, lacquered chairs and tables, and hung with brocade drapes and Chinese tapestries.

"The tree we put in the Vanderbilt cocktail lounge sets the theme for the whole room," Margulies said. "It is a purple tree made of plaster, papier mache and asbesto. The leaves are purple ceramic and silver."

Margulies said the room, now called The Purple Tree, was renovated at the cost of $61,000. He claimed it upped business 107 per cent in the first three months it was open. Oneof the drinks served is the purple cow cocktail.

Encourages Drinking

"We've kept a close check on the customers," Margulies said, "and we've noticed that the atmosphere created by the tree and other design changes in the room encouraged drinking. However, we also noticed that the average patron, although quite gay, seemed less inclined to become noisy and demonstrative. He keeps to his own table, thoroughly enjoys himself and annoys no one."

He said the "intimate" air of the room also favored romance, a mood the managers seemed to favor.

A pre-opening advertising ditty ran:

"Don't sit under the Purple Tree
With anyone else but me; with anyone else but me."

Stove Blast Kills Mother, Children

BALD KNOB, Ark., April 20 (AP) —A young mother and her three small children died when fire destroyed their three-room farm home near here.

The mother was Ruth Van Winkle, 23. The children were Donny and Bonnie, 15-month-old twin brother and sister, and Violet Sue, four months.

State police said the mother apparently used kerosene to start a fire Tuesday in a wood-burning stove. An explosion occurred, and flames spread rapidly.

Dallas Fare Hike Is Rejected By Council

DALLAS, April 20 (U.P.)—A fare hike sought by the Dallas Railway and Terminal company was flatly turned down by the city council here yesterday.

Denial of the rate increase was recommended by J. W. Monk, supervisor of public utilities.

The transit firm sought to raise adult fares from eight to ten cents, children's fares from four to six cents, and express fares from 10 to 12 cents. The change would have eliminated the eight cent token system.

Australian movie audiences slumped 40 per cent in 1948.

Waste Wood May Help Cattle Feed Problem

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 20 (U.P.) —Sawmill waste and culled trees may become molasses feed for hungry livestock in northeastern Minnesota.

Robert E. Wilson, Minnesota commissioner of iron range resources and rehabilitation, said cellulose of unused wood waste appears to be one answer for the recurring feed shortage in the area.

The Forest Products Laboratory of Madison, Wis., has been working at the project, and has come up with a molasses spread for cows' hay and green silage.

The laboratory got a carload of aspen slabs and edgings from Wilson and went to work. Chemicals changed the wood to edible sugars, which in turn were concentrated into a thick molasses.

People in Milan, Italy, are latest to report seeing "flying saucers."

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

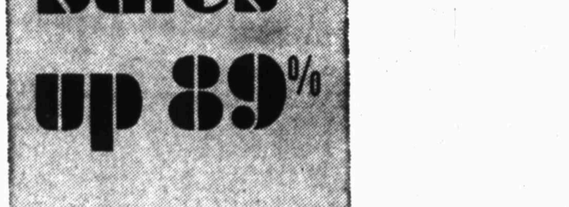

Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 33¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Mrs. B. H. Moore was elected president of Lubbock Woman's club during a brief business session preceding a tea Tuesday afternoon in the Hilton hotel. Mrs. Moore will succeed Mrs. R. O. Bennett, who had been re-elected president, but who resigned.

Dr. A. B. Cunningham, Lubbock novelist, was main speaker of the afternoon, discussing the process of writing a novel and illustrating his points by references to his latest book, "The Victory of Paul Kent."

Many people are unable to get away from other people long enough to write, Dr. Cunningham stated. He said that he writes each morning from 7:30 until 12 o'clock, encouraging no disturbance.

Approximately 60 club members and their guests attended the tea. Mrs. Bennett poured, and other members of the house party included Mesdames Moore, H. H. Bidwell, Edwin Boedeker, R. C. Badgett, W. B. Sides and Bert Douglas. The nominating committee report was presented by Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher.

SUNSHINE CLUB ATTENDS COFFEE

One hundred twenty guests called at the coffee given by Sunshine Study club Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. E. H. Armstrong at 3304 Twenty-third. Club members were in the houseparty.

The serving table was arranged with copper appointments and a centerpiece of iris and desert spoon.

Piano numbers were played during calling hours by Mrs. John Oldham.

"HAMLET" IS ON SCREEN

Members of Shakespeare club attended the moving picture, "Hamlet," for the program of their meeting Tuesday afternoon. The group gathered at the home of Mrs. Charles Whitacre, 1905 Twenty-ninth for refreshments. Seventeen attended.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Husband Who Was Second Choice Disturbed Over Thoughts About First Love Of Wife

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am recently married and love my wife very much, but she was in love with another man long before I met her, and I am sure he is the only man she ever really loved.

As I started courting Myra I soon fell in love with her, but I realized that she was still in love with John, who had married someone else. She admitted once that given a chance to choose between John and me, she would hesitate before deciding on either of us; but anyway, we did get married.

Since we have been married she has again admitted that if she and John were single she would hesitate before marrying me; but she says that she is content with our marriage and that I should forget about him, as he is married and nothing shall come between us.

TREASURE WIFE. DESPITE ANXIETY

SHE explains that she didn't get exactly the man she wanted for a husband, but that she doesn't feel badly about it and is more than willing to make the most of our marriage. Also she says she loves me, although not as much as I love her; and as the days go by, this fact of her "lesser" love for me is greatly disturbing.

I feel that I am second-best in her life; and I continually brood about this, although Myra says I shouldn't. She says I am looking for trouble, which isn't necessary. But I argue that if she loved me enough to marry me, she ought to care enough to eliminate any desire except to love and cherish me to the fullest.

Somehow I regret having married Myra; and yet if I had the choice to make again, I would still marry her. Perhaps your reply will help us, and possibly others who face a similar problem.

(Signed) T. R.

ATTITUDE MAY KILL CHANCE AT HAPPINESS

DEAR T. R.: It seems to me you are setting about to kill any chance you ever had to win Myra's wholehearted devotion. You were willing to marry her, knowing that you were second best; and you admit that you would do it again on the same terms, if they were the best you could expect. So what are you kicking about? You don't make sense.

During courtship you were willing to accommodate and overlook Myra's enshrined attachment to a "lost love," provided she would be your wife, or grant you the privilege of permanent married companionship, to solace your heart-hunger for her. In effect, you were asking title to love and cherish her to the fullest.

She set no trap, took no false stand, was honorably honest about her divided sentiments, which might allow no more than "half a loaf" in return for your devotion—and you agreed to settle for that. It was only after the deal was closed that you began to haggle morbidly about John.

BETTER EARN LOVE THAN BLEAT FOR IT

THUS as I see the picture you are being a nuisance, trying to gouge more love-tribute from Myra than she honestly feels; more than she promised; and more, indeed, than you are willing to cultivate—by consistent example of rational loving-kindness — now that you have her in double-harness.

You are making ugly self-defeating use of her past confidences, which were an expression of trust in your supposed decency, when you re-hash them as excuse to beef about your inferiority feelings. And each time you do so, you are giving her cause to actively dislike you, and to regret having married you.

Your "sick" behavior indicates that she shouldn't have married you; and if you don't correct it, the marriage probably won't last long. So, for advice, go to work on yourself, with psychiatric help, to get the kinks out of your twisted thinking. M. H.

Dream Of Night At The Opera

"One Night In Venice" Is Seen By Party In Austria

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor of Lubbock Avalanche and Journal publications, writes today of the opera in Vienna where she has spent a few days on an European tour which will be concluded next month.)

VIENNA—A night at the opera in Vienna is the dream of every music enthusiastic and it was our privilege to enjoy two such nights. The magnificent State opera house was badly damaged during the closing days of the war and the operas are held in the People's opera house.

Since our seats to "Tosca" were second row, we had an excellent view of the Vienna Symphony orchestra, as well as of the crowd, seated in boxes and on the main floor. The first night was a disappointment as to crowds but the second night saw a capacity audience for the presentation of Strauss' lilting operetta, "One Night in Venice." Eddie, our driver, says the people usually devote one night a month to an evening at the opera or at a wine garden.

It's said that everyone over here plays some kind of a musical instrument. The musicians in the orchestra were mostly young men and all were in business suits, with the exception of the young conductor who wore white tie and tails and came on with quite a flourish, stepping from his podium, where he seated himself to conduct, to shake hands with the concert master.

WE hurried to the entrance hall after the first act, but were disappointed when we didn't see anyone munching rolls, a tradition in the Volksoper. However, on the second evening, we saw the roll munchers and we also sat in audience that howled merrily at the comic lines in the operetta because they understood what was being said and, while we didn't understand, it was rather wonderful to hear the laughter and to see people enjoying themselves.

The Tarantella, a gypsy dance that features the third act of "One Night in Venice" was the most graceful ballet we have ever seen. The girls were beautiful of face and figure and wore brilliant costumes and they and the dance was executed with much speed and flashing of tambourines.

AN Austrian accordionist played and sang in the dining room at the Bristol hotel one evening. The English speaking waiter said he was a member of the opera before the war.

Our German words are terribly limited, being made up chiefly of "thank you," "what is this?," "good morning," and "good evening." Fortunately our driver spoke excellent English and Mrs. Smiley had learned enough to converse about such things as ordering meals, shopping and asking directions.

Since we have been in Europe, we have come to the conclusion that an international language would do much to break down barriers. For instance, in the beauty shop we couldn't tell the operator on which side we part our hair and how we wanted it set. Since one of the girls understood a little English, we got by all right, but we have wished time and again during these days over here that we could talk to these people and have them understand us. We would like to ask ten thousand questions.

THE continental politeness is a little wearing after so long a time. When we met the husband of an Austrian woman who lived near Mrs. Smiley during her residence in Vienna, we saw our first example of Viennese manners. He clicked his heels, bowed from the waist and brushed our right hands with his lips. It was rather disconcerting to say the least; especially when the act was repeated when we said goodbye.

The Austrians shake hands each time they meet, even if it is half a dozen times a day. When we left the Bristol hotel this morning after we said goodbye to five waiters, to the man behind the mail counter, to the woman who runs the magazine stand and to the man who places himself near the American MP who stands guard at the entrance. We had already told the hotel desk clerk goodbye and thanked him for his wishes for a pleasant journey and a happy return some day. We would like to come back to this city after it has been restored; it already has a part of our heart.

A sleepy corps of Ko Sharis have returned from their annual Easter trip to Santa Fe, filled with memories of an exciting holiday and a perfect initiation.

The group of girls is likely to be remembered in Santa Fe by the local telegraph officials there, because almost every one of the club members got at least one telegram from "family, friends, or very special friend."

Flowers were blossoming profusely on the lapels and shoulders of some of the girls Sunday morning. The spectacular orchid worn by Billye Hopping was from Bob Watson. . . Police said they had found nothing in the woman's room which they could use as a basis for reconstructing the fall.

$40-A-Day Just Too Much For Suite In Hotel, Says Oilman

DALLAS, April 20 (U.P.) — Oilman O. J. Perrin continued today to protest in district court that the Baker hotel should not evict him from his $40-a-day suite.

Perrin claimed as his suit opened late Tuesday in 101st district court that he had been a hotel resident for 15 years, and had spent $12,000 redecorating and improving the suite.

He said that he had made a verbal agreement with Fenton Baker, president and general manager of the hotel, in 1934 which gave him a lifetime lease on the five-room suite.

"The price he named at the time was $500 monthly," Perrin said, "and I agreed."

In July, 1947, Perrin alleged Baker ordered him to pay $40-a-day or move. He said he had been paying the higher rent under protest.

Perrin's suit asks $18,210 in damages and an injunction to prevent the hotel from trying to evict him or charge him rent in excess of $500 monthly.

Browns, Athletics Notch Triumphs

Feller Fails In First Bid

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Feller's failure is the most disturbing note of the major league baseball openers which otherwise read like a carbon copy of 1948.

A year ago Bobby pitched a two-hit shutout opening day as the Cleveland Indians rushed into a six-game winning streak. Before they stopped winning, they were world champions.

Yesterday Feller was yanked after two innings because of wildness and a sore arm. He yielded one run as the Indians lost to the upstart St. Louis Browns, 5-1. Ned Garver scattered seven hits to beat the champs before 12,817, the Browns' largest opening crowd in 15 years.

Sewell Beats Cubs

"Throwing too hard too soon gave me a little trouble," Feller said afterwards. "Three to five days rest and a few warm days should have me back in shape."

Otherwise things were normal. Rip Sewell of Pittsburgh resumed his favorite job—beating the Chicago Cubs. He scored his 10th opening day triumph, 1-0. Lou Brissie, the Philadelphia A's brilliant second-year man, repeated his 1948 rookie job of spoiling the opener for the Boston Red Sox, 3-2. Larry Jansen of the New York Giants continued to find it tough to whip Brooklyn, losing 10-3 under a deluge of homers by Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Carl Furillo.

With Outfielder Joe DiMaggio on the bench in street clothes, the New York Yankees shaded Washington, 3-2, on a ninth inning home run by Tommy Henrich.

The crowds were slightly off but some of the smaller parks were the sites of yesterday's games. The total for Monday and Tuesday was 257,459 as compared to 331,783 in '48. However, the remaining openers Friday, including an expected 70,000 at Cleveland, should better last year's 16-game total.

Indians, Sox Lose

Both the Indians and Red Sox, picked 1-2 by 112 of 120 baseball writers participating in the annual Associated Press pennant poll, were beaten. It was an old story for the Sox who dropped five of their first six starts a year ago.

The Athletics' Brissie, the boy with the war-shattered leg, was hard pressed in the late innings but a great catch by Sam Chapman of Bobby Doerr's long drive in the eighth got him out of trouble.

Eddie Joost hit a game-winning homer off Joe Dobson in the seventh inning to square the A's at 1-1 for the season before 19,897 at Shibe park.

Cleveland's pitching staff, tabbed "best in baseball," used Feller, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Satchel Paige against the Brownies. Feller gave only one hit, a triple by Jack Graham, but walked three.

Groth Gets Homers

The largest crowd was 53,435, a Briggs stadium opening record, that came to see the Detroit Tigers thump the Chicago White Sox, 5-1. Rookie Johnny Groth, the Buffalo sensation, broke in the right way with a pair of home runs on successive times at bat against Al Gettel. Hal Newhouser, who whipped the White Sox last year, did it again, with a three-hitter.

Brooklyn started off as though it meant to wrap up the flag in July by numbing the New York Giants with a power attack. Joe Hatten gave up 10 hits, coasting home, as the Dodgers rocked Jansen, the Giants' ace. A crowd of 34,530 set a new Ebbers field opening mark.

Bouncing back from Monday's shutout by Ken Heinztelman, the Boston Braves whipped the Philadelphia Phillies twice, 4-3 and 11-2 before a Patriots' day crowd of 30,337.

Cincinnati capitalized on errors to whip the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1. All the Reds' runs were unearned and came on errors by Nippy Jones and Tommy Glaviano. The Cards' Harry Brecheen was the mound victim. The crowd at Cincinnati was 32,118.

Golden Tornadoes Drop Odessa, 5-1

LAMESA, April 20 (Special) — The Odessa Bronchos were the fifth to fall in succession to Lamesa's Golden Tornado baseball nine Tuesday in Odessa, 5-1. The victory put Lamesa in control of the District 3-AA flag race with five wins and one loss.

Defeated in their first conference tilt by Odessa, the Tornadoes have come back strong The winning pitcher for Lamesa was Righthander Bill Hart. He gave up only two hits while his teammates were hitting Oscar Roth for seven safeties. Hart has won two games, losing none.

Leading the hitting for Lamesa was Walter Massengale, catcher, he collected three base hits to spark the offensive.

The game was played under cloudy skies, and was delayed by rain. The next tilt for Lamesa is with Abilene here next Tuesday.

Crowd Of 2,500 Expected At Tussle

Albuquerque, Lamesa Set For WT-NM Loop Opener Today

LAMESA, April 20. (Special)—Albuquerque and Lamesa baseball clubs, waiting for a favorite nod from the weatherman, were set to open the West Texas-New Mexico League baseball season here this afternoon at 3.

Lobo Field was expected to accommodate a crowd of 2,500 for the opening game, providing moisture wasn't falling. That possibility appeared slight, the weatherman predicting cool, cloudy weather, but void of rain.

J. R. "Cutch" Leuenberger was to open pre-game activities at 2:30 p. m., introducing players of both teams to the crowd. Mayor Sam Richardson was slated to pitch the first ball. And the Dukes and Loboes were set to be the first two teams playing a 1949 WT-NM loop game.

Most stores were to close shortly before the game. Lamesa, once called the "biggest little town in baseball," still has a host of rabid rooters, despite dismal seasons at times.

Won Six Pre-Season Tilts

The Loboes this year have their eye on the pennant. They are bolstered with six straight exhibition game victories and entertain strong first division hopes under Manager Jay Haney. Haney hopes for last minute reinforcements to make the club even stronger.

Frank Calo, a veteran catcher who hit .346 with Gladewater last year and purchased from that club, was due to arrive in time to work the opener. Calo is expected to solve the mask problems. Dallas also promised a righthanded pitcher here in time for today's game.

Haney has named veteran Stan Grzywacz, a righthander, to toil the opener. He will be seeking his 32nd league mound triumph over the Dukes. His opponent probably will be Virgil Butler, recently optioned to the Dukes by Oakland.

Probable Lineups

The box office at the field will be open at 12:45 p. m. today, with tickets on sale downtown until 1:45 p.m.

The Dukes, with Manager Hershel Martin, are due to arrive here in the morning. Martin, playing centerfield again, guided the Dukes to a first-place finish last year.

Probable lineup: Albuquerque, Attyd, 3b; Dawson, lf; McClain, rf; Maul, 1b; Martin, cf; Mulcahy, c; Suhrman, 2b; Okrie, ss; Butler, p. Lamesa, Rheinghans, rf; Haney, cf; Pinto, lf; Coats, 1b; E. Melillo, 3b; Buckel, ss; Calo, c; H. Melillo, 2b; Grzywacz, p.

Talbert Downs Jake Broyles

HOUSTON, April 20 (AP) —Seeded entries in the 15th annual River Oaks Invitational tennis tournament get tougher competition in the second round of play today.

National Champion Richard Gonzales faces Bobby Curtis, former Southwest conference singles champion and national intercollegiate doubles champion at Rice Institute. Second seeded Ted Schroeder tangles with Felix Kelley, University of Texas ace.

Gonzales yesterday downed Leo Laborde, Baytown, Tex., 6-0, 7-5, and Schroeder defeated W. M. Dickey, Houston, 6-1, 6-2.

Falkenburg Gets Win

Bob Falkenburg, Beverly Hills, Calif., seeded fourth, ousted Howard Startzman, University of Texas, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2. Third seeded Bill Talbert, New York City, downed Jake Broyles, Texas Tech, 6-3, 6-3.

Curtis beat John Baker, Texas Christian university, to advance to the second round, 6-4, 6-3.

Virginia Kovacs, seeded second in women's singles, walloped Bettie Gray, Houston, 6-0, 6-1, as this division got under way.

FINAL TECH NETTERS ELIMINATED TUESDAY

HOUSTON, April 20 (Special)—Texas Tech's Jake Broyles and Carl Schmidt were eliminated from the River Oaks Tennis tournament field Tuesday.

They joined Glen Ivy and Ed Scudday, both of whom had been eliminated on the opening day of play Monday.

Billy Talbert of Wilmington, Del., the nation's No. 4 ranked amateur, was hard-pressed to beat Broyles 6-3, 6-3.

Bob Kamrath, Houston, eliminated Schmidt, 6-1, 6-1.

Talbert, two-time finalist in the akes meet and one of the favorites this year, didn't find Texas Tech's No. 1 boy, Broyles, a push-over. The easy-going Delaware ace extended himself on several occasions to gain the necessary margin over the Lubbock netman.

Kamrath, long-time leading Houston amateur, easily disposed of Schmidt. The latter appeared to be off his usual game and offered only slight resistance.

Texarkana, Wichita Big State Winners

(By The Associated Press)

Texarkana, Greenville and Wichita Falls made opening night in the Big State league pay in the standings if not at the box office.

Rain washed out the Austin-Temple tilt last night and cut attendance at the three games played almost to zero.

Texarkana spoiled the opener for Sherman-Denison's defending champions, 4-3. Wichita Falls did better by its homefolk, beating Gainesville, 5-4, and Greenville did the same for its fans with a 6-3 victory over Waco.

Wichita Falls came from behind twice to nip Gainesville, two runs in the seventh inning turning the trick. A single by Roger Isringhaus brought Cecil McClung and Jack Bradsher across the plate.

Bowling Meet Set Saturday

Fifth annual West Texas-New Mexico Bowling association tournament begins Saturday, when eight groups start team competition at 5 p. m. Other flights will take to the alleys at 7:30 and 10 o'clock at Lubbock Bowling club.

Announcement was made Tuesday that three teams from Amarillo will not compete because of the large number of entries in the tournament, but the Amarillo teams represented will probably be stronger due to the cancellation.

The tournament will begin Saturday at 5 p. m. when the eight teams take to the alleys and two more shifts will bowl that night. Singles and doubles will be played on Sunday. The same procedure will be followed the three weekends of the tournament, and before the tourney ends more than 360 bowlers are expected to participate.

The Avalanche-Journal is sponsor of the kegling tournament and trophies will be presented to team, individual, and doubles winners in each of the three classes of the tournament An additional award will be made to the all-events winner.

In addition to the trophy prizes, winners will also receive money for their efforts. The complete list of money prizes to be paid or the amount of such prizes is unknown at present.

Bowling at 5 p. m. Saturday are Pabst Blue Ribbon, Midland, Class B; Reclamation, Tucumcari, N. M., Class C; Walton's Men's store, Lubbock, Class B Lubbock Bowling club, Lubbock Class B; Santa Fe Rangers, Amarillo, Class B; Santa Fe Flyers Amarillo, Class C; Dowell's Saratago, Amarillo, Class B; and Panhandle Insurance, Amarillo Class B.

The Eastern Intercollegiate League Golf championship will be held at Annapolis, Md., on May 14.

India is buying 350 locomotives from Canadian makers for about $40,000,000.

Events To Be Held At Tech

Athletes from 18 Texas Interscholastic league districts will be represented at the Region One track and field meet Saturday at Texas Tech. Preliminaries are at 9 a .m. and finals begin at 1 p. m.

Schools from Class AA, A, and B will be competing in their different divisions for berths in the state meet at Austin May 6-7. Approximately 700 athletes will participate in the state track and field show, and the boys get there by being in first or second place in one of the events at the regional meet.

Districts represented at the regional Saturday will be Districts 1, 2, 3, Class AA; Districts 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, Class A; and Districts 1 to 10, Class B. This region is one of nine in the TIL track program.

Favored to win the team title is Amarillo, by virtue of victories in the West Texas Relays at Odessa and the South Plains Relays here last week. The Sandies are strong in every event and should have the power to take the meet.

Winner the last five years, Lubbock is not expected to be a threat in the meet. Last year the Westerners made it five in a row, scoring 53-1/3 points to 38 for second place Amarillo.

Injuries and sickness have hampered the local cindermen all season, and the prospects for victory seem very dim. Last week Charlie Williams did not enter the South Plains Relays in order to aid a pulled leg muscle which has bothered him all year. But this week he should be ready to go, and his presence will bolster Lubbock chances in the dashes and the 440-yard relay. Alfred Adair was hampered by a throat infection last week, but he should be all right before Saturday.

The Class A winner last year was Seminole, and Panhandle took the Class B crown. Lots of competition is expected in these two classes with Class B having the most districts—10. The complete list of teams will not be known until meet time, but approximately 400 athletes will participate.

Finals will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday. In each event AA, A, and B schools will be trying for records in their own class.

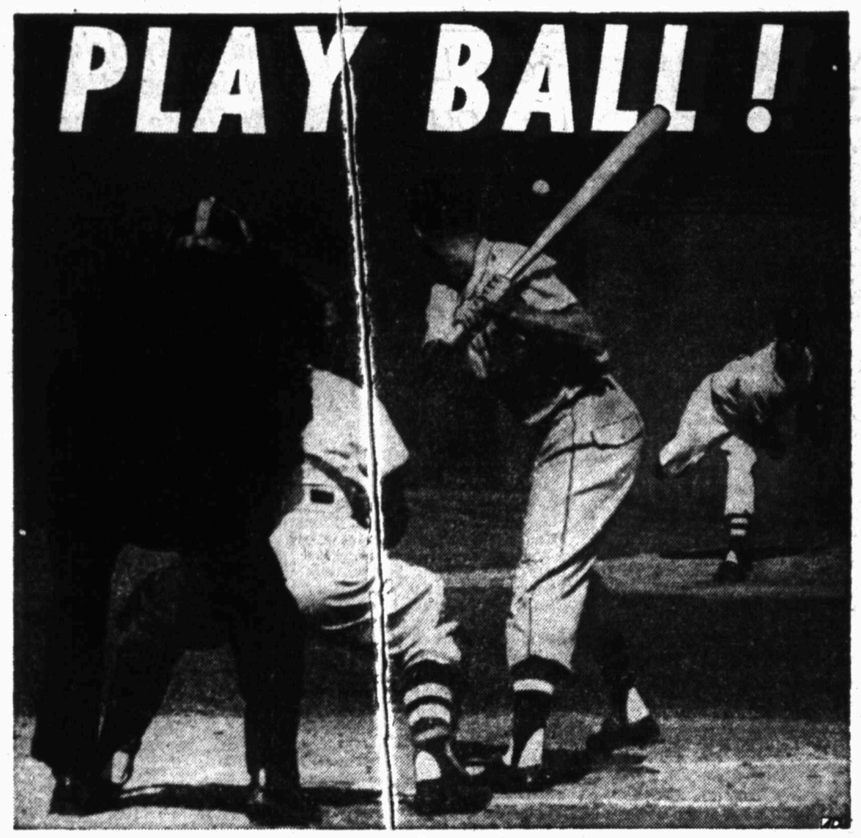

Kilgore, Marshall Gain Initial Wins

(By The Associated Press)

Opening night victories in the East Texas baseball league were chalked up last night by defending champion Kilgore, Marshall, Paris and Bryan.

Rain delayed the Marshall-Longview contest in Longview and drizzling rains fell during the other three games, cutting attendance.

Kilgore, behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Ross, defeated Henderson 6-2, in Henderson. The Drillers scored one run in the fifth, three in the seventh and one each in the eighth and ninth frames.

Lubbock, Brownfield Clash Slated Today

Lubbock High school's first conference baseball game may be postponed again, depending on the condition of the Chapman field diamond. Scheduled to be played Tuesday, the game was reset for 4 p. m. today at the local diamond.

A wet, soggy field caused cancellation of the District 1-AA opener for the Westerners, and if the game is not played today a doubleheader will be played Saturday.

Brownfield and Plainview started the action in the lower half of the district last week. Plainview took the contest, 12-1, and seems to have lots of power. The same Plainview team will play Lubbock Thursday afternoon at Chapman field diamond.

Coach Fred Taylor will probably start Jimmy Richards against Brownfield today in the event the game is played, and Jimmy Hamilton will draw the starting assignment Thursday.

Other probable starters are Morris Turner, catcher; Jessie Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second base; Powell Hinson, third base; Bob Brown, shortstop; and James Burgess, Jimmy Sexton, and Garnet Reeves, outfielders.

Tulsa Nine Bounces Oklahoma City, 7-6

(By The Associated Press)

It was "rain, rain go away, come again some other day," for all but Oklahoma City and Tulsa in the Texas league last night.

Oklahoma City might well wish it could have joined the refrain. The Indians lost again, to Tulsa, 7-6, for their seventh straight setback.

The same teams that would have met last night tangle tonight. So nothing was lost—except at the boxoffice.

The Indians came close to breaking into the victory column, but a four-run outburst in the ninth inning fell one run shy. For Tulsa, the victory sent it into a fifth place tie with Houston.

PONY NETTERS WIN

Stance Key To Golf Balance

CHAPTER III

STANCE GIVES YOU BALANCE

THE foot movements of a high class player during the course of his swing are made so quickly and smoothly that they quite often are taken for granted by everybody except the most observant student of the game. It is possible to play good golf from the hips upwards, but you must have good form from the hips down to be a really first class player.

Those who are observant enough to notice the footwork of the top players will come to realize that balance is an important part of every golf shot. They will realize also that it is impossible to attain balance without the proper foot action during the course of the swing.

There is more involved in the correct stance than positions of the feet. When I have taken up what I consider the ideal position for hitting a golf ball I feel as though I were a tripod with my two feet and the clubhead as the three points of contact with the ground.

While that is the best comparison I can think of to describe my position at the ball, it isn't entirely correct. The weight of a tripod is evenly distributed between its three points of contact with the ground, but in the ideal position at the ball the weight is evently distributed between both feet.

Weight Means A Lot

None of your weight should rest on the clubhead point of contact. That will be true if the weight is back through the heel as it should be. You should never feel the weight is forward on your feet if you have taken up the correct position.

Looking at the ideal golf posture from the rear the most noticeable feature of it is the prominence of the golfer's posterior. The derriere, if I may use the name women's fashion magazines have for it, definitely protrudes.

Yet at the same time the line from the waist up to the back of the head is a straight one. There should be no bend or curve to the back.

Both knees should be flexed at all times. What's more, they swing in toward one another. This bending, however, isn't exaggerated. You shouldn't feel that you are knock-kneed, for instance.

This position should give you the feel that you possess a firm foundation which at the same time permits you a freedom of movement in your shoulders, hips and arms. There should be nothing in your position at the ball to prevent you from keeping perfect balance at all times and having a free swing.

MOST beginners don't take the time to set themselves up at the ball with the correct stance. The idea is to get a good firm grip on the ground and yet not be rooted there. Strong and supple legs are just as important to good golf as strong and supple arms and wrists.

Another common mistake among beginning golfers is that they stand too far away from the ball during the address. Yet in the ideal position you should feel that you are away from the ball rather than over the top of it. You can avoid the feeling of being over the ball by not curving your back from the waist as I have described above.

There is some confusion in the minds of many golfers as to the relationship between the positions of the feet and the various clubs.

Whenever I discuss the stance with a golfer he will invariably ask, "How far apart are the feet?" There is no way that I can tell you exactly how many inches apart your feet should be for the various clubs that is something which varies with the individual.

Actually, there are sixteen positions for the feet. Or as many positions as there are clubs in your bag. Beyond giving you a few general hints as to how to go about finding out what they are, as far as you are concerned there is nothing I can tell you which will solve this problem. It has to be worked out by the trial and error method.

Make Stance Comfortable

The type of stance you take on any shot should insure good balance, be comfortable and provide a good firm footing. You should be anchored firmly to the ground, but at the same time be able to make an easy shift of the weight to the right leg going back.

There are three basic stances. The others are variations of these, according to the club being used on the shot.

The basic stances are the square, the closed and the open. In the square stance both feet are equidistant from an imaginary line which should parallel the intended line of flight. In the open stances your left foot is slightly withdrawn from the imaginary line parellel to the intended line of flight. For a closed stance your right foot is dropped back slightly from the imaginary line parallel to the intended line of flight.

What ever stance you use, however, take a comfortable position opposite the ball. The weight is evenly distributed between both feet. The weight on each foot is back through the heel from the ball. You should never feel that the weight is forward on your feet.

Place the feet so that a line across the toes would parallel the intended line of flight. Turn the toes outward slightly. The distance between the feet is determined by the type of shot being made.

Let me caution you not to make the mistake many golfers make of using a stance that is too wide. There is a definite tendency on the part of novice golfers to place the feet too far apart.

This has the effect of restricting the hip turn in both directions. The best way to measure your stance is to place your feet apart about a little less than the width of your shoulders for the square stance, used for a five iron shot, and make your adjustments and variations from there. Turning the toes of both feet slightly outward will also aid you in making an unrestricted turn during the swing.

PERHAPS you will understand the relationship between the positions of the feet and the clubs if I start by explaining the positions of the feet for short iron shots. A good key to the variation of your stance in iron play is to remember that as the numbers of your irons increase, 1, 2, 3, etc., the width of your stance decreases and also opens.

The five iron is the dividing iron between short irons and long irons, and most of the top players use a slightly opened stance for the short irons up to the five iron. From there on up through the long irons, the four, three, two, and one, however, the stance increases in width and becomes squarer.

In taking up your positions to play the short irons the feet are fairly close together. The left foot is withdrawn slightly from the imaginary line parallel to the line of flight, forming the open stance.

The left toe is pointed out and the hips have been faced slightly toward the objective. The weight is equally distributed between both feet. The knees are flexed and bent in toward each other slightly.

This stance is used on short iron shots because it enables you to keep your left side out of the way while contacting the ball on going on through the follow through to the finish. The reason is that the swing is so short that it is impossible to take a full turn with the hips to accommodate the hands and arms with space to swing through.

The stance I favor for long irons, fairway wood clubs and the driver is a closed stance, particularly for the fairway wood clubs and the driver. The reason is that this stance gives you more traction and balance. It enables you to strike the more powerful blow required to get the most out of those clubs. In order to get real distance with them you've got to be firmly anchored.

Another reason for favoring this stance on these shots is that it enables you to turn your body more freely. Freedom of body turn permits you to lengthen the arc of your swing for the longer shots.

Remember to turn both toes out slightly. This will aid you to keep your balance during the full swing and at the same time insure full freedom for the body turn.

When playing a tee shot, a fairway wood shot or a long iron shot I get a little something extra into them by the manner in which I utilize my right foot. Some say that I dig my right toe in when hitting a tee shot, but that description isn't correct because it isn't my toe I dig into the ground.

At address for the above mentioned shots I dig in with the cleats on the inside edge of the sole of my right shoe. This gives me a feeling of solidity to hit from and as a result I get more distance by giving a little shove with my right foot as the club approaches the ball.

YET I don't dig in so solidly that my foot is ever locked to the ground. Nor does my "digging in" interfere with the proper motion of the feet and the shifting of my weight during the swing. Maybe it will take you a little time to get on to the use of the little wrinkle I have described above, but it is the little variations which give me my extra power.

In the relationship between the stance and the arms the left arm is extended and the left elbow is not locked, but straight. Once the grip is assumed with the left hand the left arm automatically becomes part of the shaft.

The shaft of the club should be visualized as a rod from the point of the left shoulder to the clubhead with one hinge and that being the left wrist. In placing the right hand on the club make sure that the right arm is limp and that the right elbow is pointed down.

At the address there is no straightening of the right elbow. In order that the right arm will be limp and the right elbow down, one must list slightly from the right side. By list I mean that the right shoulder must be dropped and the hips faced slightly to the left.

Brown, James On Ring Card

Another match has been completed in the Jaycee fight card at Chapman fieldhouse April 26, and Dickie Brown, Amarillo, has signed to meet Gene James, Lubbock, in a heavyweight bout.

Scheduled to start at 8 p. m., the boxing program will have two four-rounders, two six-round bouts, and the 10-round final event.

Scheduled to arrive in Lubbock today is Jean Mougin, former French lightweight champion, who will meet Bill Henderson in the 10 round final event.

Henderson will be out to avenge his only professional setback, which came at the hands of the Frenchman. Mougin will be accompanied by his manager, Andre Dupre, and Dickie Griffin, matchmaker for the bouts, who will set up his training camp here for the fight.

A former 1948 Golden Gloves regional heavyweight title winner in his hometown of Amarillo, Brown was defeated by James the same year in an exhibition match. But Brown's manager has said that his fighter will score a knockout over James before their match is finished.

Also signed to appear on the same program with Henderson and Mougin are Sammy Galvan and Chino Alonzo, lightweights, who weigh 135.

Both boys have been fighting main events, and their match will be a six-round semi-final event. Alonzo, whose home is in Douglas Arizona, fought a semi-final match in El Paso Monday night and is supposed to spar with Henderson at O. C. Foster's gym today. He has had successful fights in California and comes to Lubbock well recommended.

Galvan, from El Paso, was defeated twice by Henderson, and his fight with Alonzo should be a perfect match since both boys have about the same ability.

Ticket sales for the fights are expected to move more briskly as fight time draws nearer. At present only 50 ringside seats remain, and approximately one-third of the reserved seats are sold. Plenty of general admission seats are available, but persons planning to attend the fight program are urged to buy their ducats early to save loss of time at the gate. Only a certain number of tickets will be sold, and when they are gone no more admissions will be accepted.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Tonight marks the beginning of the 1949 West Texas-New Mexico League baseball season, a thrill-packed 140-game schedule that will extend from the opening game four months and 16 days. The playing season opens tonight and ends Sept. 5 with a doubleheader. Then, for the first four teams, come the Shaughnesy Playoffs; and the winning two teams go on to play another series. For that winning team the season is not over. It must play the Lone Star League winner in the Little Dixie Series. So the championship club will have played more than enough baseball to last until the following spring.

But we're glad to see the season arrive. It isn't officially spring until baseball comes of age. The national sport didn't get it's name from lack of interest. In fact, there probably is more interest in baseball and baseball results than in any other non-participant sport. Readers demand the box scores, the daily results of all leagues possible, the up to the minute standings, facts and figures on the players, information on those who used to be here, and on those who have played against Lubbock teams. We're glad to say that everything is being done to bring all this information to you. Complete box scores will be the rule this year, rather than the exception.

It represents time, trouble and money on the part of the paper, but we know that you consider it well worth while. So do we. Box scores contain a wealth of information to the student of baseball, information that no short, short story in front of a line score will impart. The box score is the bible of baseball men and probably is read more closely than any other portion of the daily baseball news. We're happy to have them back on the sports pages.

All of which get us away from tonight's scheduled opener here, when the Clovis Pioneers meet the Lubbock Hubbers. There's a lot at stake in this game. First of all, it was Clovis that beat the Hubbers a year ago tonight in the first game of the season. Manager Jackie Sullivan would like to get revenge for that. Then there's the opening day attendance trophy. That's important, as we pointed out earlier. A team is no better than the support it receives and there's no better way of letting this fine Hubber squad know you're behind them down from the start than to come out and pack the grandstand and bleacher seats tonight.

Lubbock has won the opening day trophy for attendance three years in a row. The Lubbock Baseball Club, profoundly grateful for this evidence of support, has made it a matter of pride. Mrs. Sam Rosenthal wants to keep it. Jackie wants to keep it. The players want to have it stay here. It's been a year now since Sammy Rosenthal, the guilding light of the Hubbers, passed on. The attendance trophy first game here in 1947 and he won it because he set his heart on bringing it here. It wouldn't be a bad way to start the season off in 1949 to have a victory over Clovis and to get the trophy again; especially for Sam.

Mrs. Rosenthal requested that we be sure and inform you that if rain should wipe out tonight's game, you tickets for the opening night game would be good for any other game on the schedule. Moreover, tickets will be on sale all day at the Hub Clothiers, in the club office, at the Hilton hotel and from any member of the Jaycees. They also will be on sale at the ticket windows in the park tonight. You won't be donating to charity; you'll be seeting a good ball game that's worth every cent of your ticket price.

If Jackie Sullivan appears to have more gray hairs and less hair it won't be a trick. He's been worried sick the past few days. Jackie has had to make up his mind which players among the veterans had to go and it hasn't been easy. You'll n tice tonight that Frank McAlexander, Jackie Wilcox, Lloyd Pearson and Oscar Kuver aren't in uniform. Under league rules, the Hubbers may have only six veterans. They were carying 10. It does not mean that these four are the ones that will go, any more than that the nine men starting the game are certain fixtures. There'll be more changes before the season grows much older.

We haven't seen Nelson Davis, Buddy McCallum or Charley Willis in action in the positions in which you'll see them tonight. All we know about them is what we've heard—and two of them might remain. McCallum went to Odessa as a utility man and earned a starting berth. Davis spent all last year with the Pioneers. He must have something. Willis is no stranger to the outfield, having played it in semi-pro ball, although he's a pitcher with the Hubbers. It's a patchwork lineup that takes the field tonight, but it has enough power and finesse to win. And we think that it will be an interesting team to watch. We know we'll see you there tonight.

Fenton, LaBell In Feature Go

Rod Fenton and Pierre LaBell tangle in the final event of the double main bill tonight at Sled Allen's arena, and in the first main bout Buck Weaver takes on Steve Nenoff. The preliminary is at 8:15 p. m.

After wrestling 45 minutes to a draw last week, Fenton and LaBell were not satisfied with the outcome and asked to be matched again this week. So the promoter is giving the boys an hour to settle their difficulties this week.

LaBell proved to the fans last week that he could match blow for blow with Fenton and fight just as rough as the Canadian.

Top man on the totem pole round here has been Weaver, and no one has had much luck in defeating him recently. But the bald Nenoff has been in the fight game as long as the smooth, scientific Weaver and can be expected to put up a good showing.

This match could easily steal the spotlight away from the other fights because both wrestlers have lots of experience and ability.

Two old timers get together in the first event when Billy McEuin and Hy Sharman meet in the 20 minute opener. These two men are about the same size and are well experienced in the mat game. McEuin has been the third man in the ring quite frequently, but he is not heavy enough for most of the men who wrestle in this area.

Tickets are on sale at Wylie's Drug today until 5 p. m.

Disabled Vets Fashion Limbs For Other Handicap Victims

CHICAGO, April 20 (U.P.) — A group of disabled veterans here, understanding what it's like to be handicapped, are busy fashioning artificial limbs for persons crippled at birth or by disease.

They study under the GI bill of rights in the city's only school of its kind, the Chicago School of Plastic Surgical Prosthetics, incorporated not-for-profit several years ago.

The veterans learn how to blend sculpturing, modeling and casting to make replacements for facial and body parts. They make life-like noses, eyes, ears, breasts, cheeks, mouths, hair scalps, hands or portions of a hand, and metal skull plates which brain surgeons use for persons with skull defects.

The hands are soft, skin-like, with cuticle, fingernails and imbedded hairs. Ears can be bent forward and released to spring back into place. They have moulded elastic calves to restore contours to legs of polio victims.

Many Charity Patients

Fourteen veterans turn out as many as 100 facial and limb replacements a day. They serve many charity patients because they feel their products should be within reach of anybody.

When a patient comes in, photographs and color charts are made and a synthetic material chosen to match his skin. Once the original mould is made, replacements are easy to make, the veterans say. The average one lasts 10 or 12 months.

The biggest headache, according to the school's director, is summer's tan. If a farmer gets a nose or cheek replacement, it will not tan like the rest of his face. So, some order a winter nose and a summer nose.

Unfortunately, nothing has yet been devised to make prosthetic ears turn red in winter, as a normal ear does, the official said. However, researchers are reporting on new lacquers, tins and dyes which might prove superior to those now used.

Rubber Latex Used

Industry also advises the school of its newest findings in the fields of synthetic resins and other artificial materials. Rubber latex is the basic substance now used.

So far, no work has been done at the school in making toes and feet because "these don't usually show." Students are primarily interested in "cosmetic effects."

Ears and hands are among the most difficult portions of the body to make because they must match their opposite partner, the students say. An ear usually takes a week to make, a hand several weeks. A nose takes two or three days and more imagination and creative effort may be put into fashioning it, they believe.

Prosthetic work supplements plastic surgery work. Sometimes because of a co-existing disease or age, doctors prefer replacing them with living tissue.

THE BEARD INSURED

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U.P.) — The Harvard Dramatic Club is taking no chances with Monte Wooley's famous beard. After they signed the actor to appear in their production of "the Man Who Came to Dinner," they isured his beard for $5,000. Under the policy the beard is protected against "fire, theft, hail or tornado."

All In A Lifetime — Life's Big Moments

Retailers, Lenders Stricter On Credit Than U. S. Requires

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)— Many retailers and lenders are being stricter on their installment credit terms than government regulations require.

The Federal Reserve board, reporting this today, said the stricter terms are most notable in sales of older model used cars, furniture, radios, television sets, and some household appliances.

The control regulations fix a minimum down payment of 33 per cent for autos and 15 per cent for other articles, and a maximum payment time-limit of 21 months. Dealers are free to require a greater down payment and faster payoffs.

Although installment credit outstanding is now at a record total of about $8,000,000,000, it is only about four per cent of current income left to individuals after personal taxes, the board also said in its monthly bulletin.

Control Called Helpful

That compares with a ratio of slightly over three per cent in the depression year 1932, seven per cent in prewar 1940, and about 17 per cent in wartime 1944.

The 1946-48 increase of $2,000,000,000 a year in the volume of installment credit outstanding was described as a situation where "new debt is being created at a much faster rate than old debt is being repaid . . . crowding purchasing power by drawing on the future."

The board renewed its call, supported by President Truman, for continuance of power to control installment credit beyond the scheduled June 30 expiration date.

It called credit control "a helpful, supplementary tool as a part of a program of credit policy to help maintain a stable, high level of economic activity."

Prisoner And Officer Killed

WELCH, W. Va., April 20 (AP)— Silas Clark shot his way out of a county jail here yesterday but he took a policeman's life and lost his own in the attempt.

Clark, 38-year-old negro from Keystone, W. Va., shot and killed veteran policeman Boss Johnson, about 50, after he was cornered in the basement of a nearby home.

Jailer Shot

Jailer T. N. French was also shot earlier when he tried to grab Clark's gun as the prisoner was forcing his way out of the jail. French was critically wounded in the abdomen.

Clark, who had been sentenced to two to 10 years in the state prison on a bogus check charge, was killed by another policeman in the basement gun battle.

Senate Will Push Housing Bill Vote

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 20 — Senator Cain (R-Wash) proposed today to let the citizens of individual communities decide at the polls whether they want public housing in their areas.

Under a Cain-sponsored amendment to the long range housing bill, such dwellings, financed in part by federal funds, could not be built in any community unless the people approved the project at a referendum election.

The Senate made the Cain proposal its pending business as it prepared to start voting on a sheaf of amendments to the bill.

Senator Myers (D-Pa), the acting majority leader, served notice that the Senate would be kept in session until about 7 p. m. (EST) if there was any indication a final vote on the bill could be reached tonight.

Foes Argue Socialism

One of the most controversial provisions of the bill is a section authorizing construction of 810,000 public housing units during the next six years.

Foes contend that part of the program would socialize the building industry. Backers of the measure argue that private industry is not interested in building low-rent homes for lowest income families, and that the government must step in and help.

Under the bill, the federal government would contribute as much as $308,000,000 annually for up to 40 years to help finance the proposed public housing projects. Most of the cost would be met out of the rents collected, along with contributions from local governments.

The projects would be owned and operated by so-called local housing authorities, set up by community governments.

The bill as drafted would require local governments to (1) demonstrate a need for public housing in the area and (2) approve the project plan before the community could apply for federal aid.

Cain's amendment would make a referendum the third step. He said such elections would "prevent over-zealous city councils from embarking on such a project too rapidly," and on the other hand "prevent small groups from exerting pressure" to block public housing.

Another provision of the bill would authorize a five-year slum clearance program. The federal government could contribute up to $500,000,000 in grants and make available $1,000,000,000 in loans to cover two-thirds of the cost of the program. Local communities would have to meet the balance of the cost.

More Burglaries

second, investigators said.

R. Huber of 2416 Seventh informed police that a radio had been stripped from his car.

A bike valued at $45 was reported stolen from Melvin Conner of 1000-block Sanders.

An Amarillo man, R. L. McCreight, told police he had been robbed about 3:30 a. m. by a man he said he had met in a bus station and invited to his hotel room to "have a few drinks."

McCreight told officials the man, whose name he said he did not know, took a 54-point diamond ring valued at $300, a wrist watch valued at $105 and a billfold containing approximately $40 from him. Officials said he did not give much description of the alleged assailant.

Hit With Bottle

"The complainant had been hit with a bottle," officials said, and was cut about the face and head. Taken to the West Texas hospital for treatment, the witness later was released to return to his room.

McCreight told police the suspect had told him he (the unidentified man) was going to Plainview on the next bus. There apparently had been quite a scuffle in the hotel room, Sgt. L. D. Blakney said.

Police said they would welcome any information that would disclose to them identity of a man who allegedly attempted to "pick up" a 10-year-old George R. Bean school girl twice Tuesday, early that morning and again at noon.

The girl reported the first attempt to the school's principal, W. Kary Mathis, who advised her to secure the license number of the man's car if he should make a second attempt.

School mates of the girl secured a license number when the second attempt to lure the small girl into the car was made. The child's father and police, who questioned the owner of the car to which the license number was registered, expressed the belief that some mistake was made in the number reported. The man was released without charge after questioning.

The car failed in every respect to tally with the description of the car in which the girl said the suspect was driving.

Police cautioned parents to advise their children to report such instances elsewhere and if possible to secure some specific evidence upon which to base an arrest. Other instances similar to those yesterday have been reported over past months.

Prospects For Crops Bright

actually got into the homes in northern Brownwood.

Other heavy rainfalls, all for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. today, included Austin, 2.55 inches; Galveston, 2.05; San Antonio, 1.98; Waco, 1.48; Houston, 1.14, and Big Spring, 1.13.

The rain covered almost all the state.

There was no doubt it was a welcome rain. Rains in Texas this year have been spotty, and not heavy. The current heavy rains come at a good time to put the soil in shape for spring planting, or give a healthy boost to crops already planted.

Expected To Continue

The rains are expected to continue through tomorrow in East Texas, but may end tonight or early tomorrow in central and West Texas.

Other rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m.: Corsicana, .70; Abilene, .08; Dallas, .50; Beaumont, .39; Fort Worth, .56; Palestine, .78; San Angelo, .31; Victoria, .78; Mineral Wells, .81; Junction, .45; Tyler, .25, and Dalhart .19.

For the Rio Grande valley and some of South Texas, the rain, hail and wind late Monday and early Tuesday spelled thousands in damage.

There was considerable hail damage at San Angelo and the heavy rains marooned oil well crews in the Susan Park oil field.

But Marschall said the moisture was welcome, despite the hail. He said it was "perfectly timed" for ranchers and farmers in the area.

Rain ranging upward from 1.71 inches at Big Spring Tuesday left land in this area in the best shape since 1941.

Hail Also Reported

There was a threat of too much rain to the low residential sections at Brownwood. Hail was reported in the two-day period from as far south as Del Rio on the Rio Grande to the high plains country of West Texas.

One fatality was recorded. A farmer was killed by lightning near Hereford.

City crews were alerted at Brownwood, where water in Adams branch was pouring over the banks.

C. L. Dowell of the lower Colorado river authority said at Austin that heavy hail had been reported between Liberty Hill and Bertram.

A seven foot rise was reported on the Llano river at Llano and the LCRA said the North Concho at San Angelo was reported on a 19 foot rise.

Buildings Damaged

Approximately 10 buildings, including farm houses, barns, irrigation houses and other outbuildings, were damaged in the area extending from three miles northeast of Shallowater to the Monroe area.

In addition to damage on the L. W. Utley farm, three miles east of Shallowater school; the nearby J. O. Bumpass farm; the L. T. Frizzell farm in that vicinity; the Wilson Dickson farm three miles south and three miles east of Monroe and the Ralph Hayes farm three miles northwest of Slaton, as previously reported, damage on the South Plains included:

A tenant house on the R. E. Fielding farm, three miles south and two miles east of Monroe, was blown down.

A new four-room cottage owned by Johnny Hunter, who resides roughly two miles east and a half-mile south of the overpass between Monroe and Lubbock, was heavily damaged. The property was located in the Grovesville community.

Home Is Damaged

The porch of the T. Z. Goodjoin house, located approximately four miles east of Shallowater, was blown off. The residence itself was considerably damaged.

The R.E.A. reported also that the roof of a barn in the suburban section south of Lubbock, located near Fifty-second street, west of Ave. Q, was blown off.

Officials said that a house of the J. R. Baker farm about four miles southwest of Petersburg was blown through an R.E.A. line there. Complete information was not available.

There were numbers of cases where sheet roofing on barns and houses was blown off, it was said, and numerous interruptions in electric service were caused by boards and sheet iron which blew through power lines.

R.E.A. crews had covered a considerable portion of the county by late Tuesday, it was reported, and, with the exception of isolated cases, service had been restored by the middle of the day.

R.E.A. officials said they had not estimated damages done to their lines, and that they did not know what property damage in the above areas would amount to.

Bodies

said the child weighed five pounds, eight ounces, but she should have weighed 14 or 15 pounds.

Coroner A. L. Brodie said he would seek an order for the exhumation of the bodies of Martin King, who died July 21, 1940, when four months old, and Helen Mary King, who died March 18, 1941, when 12 days old.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, recommended the exhumations. Another child, Margaret Ann, born Dec. 11, 1942, died Feb. 10, 1943, of an intestinal obstruction. The King's fifth child, Theresa, 4, was turned over to juvenile authorities after their parents were arrested last week and charged with manslaughter in the death of Kathleen.

Wildlife Depleting, Expert Tells Rotary

Texas' supply of game birds, furbearers and fish is depleting due to predatory game, lack of food and protection and over-hunting, R. E. Calender, wildlife specialist of the Texas Extension Service, declared in a talk at the luncheon of the Lubbock Rotary club in the Hilton hotel today.

Calender, who exhibited stuffed species of various game birds and animals, said Texas wildlife is a crop of the land and its farmers and ranchers but thereafter it belongs to the state. The only authority the landowners has is the trespass law and then he must have his land enclosed.

Game resources are on a downward trend but may be corrected if game protection measures are taken, Calender said.

Leroy Land was program chairman and introduced Calender. S. E. Cone was presented an honorary membership in the club in token of the group's appreciation of his recent contribution to the Lubbock Cerebral Palsey clinic.

Dave Duncan, Big Spring; Taylor McCasland, Portales, N. M.; N. S. Griggs and Herman Ford, Amarillo; Sam Hord, Fort Worth; Harriman Watson and Sam Davis, Ralls; Ed Hearn, Little Rock, Ark., and Lamar Young, Dallas, were out-of-town visitors.

other Hubbers, so that the local squad could get down to the league limit of six class men.

The outer garden also has sown a new crop, with only Chick Fowler in leftfield remaining. Al Duarte, starting his fith year in baseball and his fourth in this loop, will be in centerfield. Charles Willis, a rookie hurler, will replace Joe Wisniewski, suffering from flu, in rightfield.

Clovis Also Changed

Mike Dooley, a 1947 favorite here, returns to take over catching chores. Jim Prince, who was the minor league batting king with Midland in 1947 returns to play first base. Walter "Buddy" McCallum, a limited service player with Odessa last year will be at shortstop and Nelson Davis, purchased only Monday from Austin will be at third base.

Clovis also has made some changes, but such familiar faces as Jess Jacinto at second base, Wiley Moore in centerfield, Chuck Novotney at first base, Ray Bauer in centerfield and I. B. Palmer, former Lamesa player, at third base return.

Newcomers to the Pioneer lineup are Jim Sinovick in leftfield, Leslie Earl behind the plate and Buster Harliss at shortstop.

Sinovick formerly was with the Chicago Cubs, who sent him to the Wisconsin State League and the California League last year. He hit .318 for Visalia, Calif., last season.

Tickets Still Selling

Earl is a 19-year old receiver on option from Los Angeles. He played with Class D clubs in Ohio and North Carolina last year, hitting an even .300.

Harliss is a rookie is 22 years old and possesses a strong throwing arm. He comes from Springfield, Mo., and is on trial for the first few days.

Oliver Kuver, a righthanded pitcher, and Lloyd Pearson, a lefthanded outfielder also were taken off the playing list by the Hubbers last night. The Hubbers were carrying 10 class men and are allowed only six. The loser may be kept, or they may be sold or traded.

In the meantime, a last minute ticket rush was expected as the Jaycees, who are selling tickets for the game, is favorable, despite the prediction of rain last night, a record crowd may be on hand.

He assailed the Marshall plan as "installing a blockade" against trade between eastern and western Europe. The consequence, he predicted, would be depression and unemployment.

N. J. Governor Is Re-Elected

NEWARK, N. J., April 20.—(AP) Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll scored a better than two-to-one primary election victory Tuesday in his campaign renomination by the Republican party.

Although Driscoll's win was expected, his opponent, Robert L. Adams, virtually a political unknown, piled up a surprising vote total.

Unofficial returns from 3,612 of the the state's 3,709 election districts gave Driscoll 191,991 votes to 81,475 for Adams, a Somerset county official making his first bid for state office.

The incomplete returns showed Driscoll carried 18 of New Jersey's 21 counties. The three counties in Adams' column are in rural areas. Driscoll recently suspended a state order fixing a minimum price on retail milk.

Runoff In November

Driscoll's opponent in the November general election will be state Sen. Elmer H. Wene, a former U. S. representative, who was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Wene, prominent chicken breeder who has the backing of Frank Hague, state Democrat leader and Democrat national vice-chairman, drew 106,691 votes from 2,091 districts.

The New Jersey gubernatorial race will be one of the nation's top election battles in the fall. Virginia is the only other state naming a governor in 1949 and its contest usually is settled in the Democrat primary.

be called as a witness.

Events in the trial of McGee are expected to move swiftly as the state seeks to have the death penalty imposed on him. Although no list of witnesses has been revealed it is expected that District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and his special assistant, George Dupree will call members of the slain man's family and neighbors who were residing in the Colonial Apartments at the time of the fatal shooting.

Shot In Neck

R. L. Allston, 42, manager of the South Plains Associated Grocers, died of a bulelt wound in his neck inflicted by a shot fired through his kitchen door on the afternoon of July 7, 1948. McGee, the man charged by indictment with the killing, was known to have made several threats against the life of Betty Jane Allston, 18, whom he had met while attending North Texas State Teachers College, Denton. It was also alleged that the boy had made threats against the lives of other members of the Allston family because he was not allowed to keep company with the girl.

After the shooting McGee was seen leaving the apartment building where Allston was killed. He forced a bell-hop, Bill Garrett, to drive him to Brownfield by brandishing a loaded pistol. From Brownfield he made his way to Austin where he was arrested just 30 hours after the crime. When captured he had a loaded .38 calibre revolver in his pocket.

Insanity Plea Slated

The defense attorneys, Burton S. Burks, Lubbock, and Col. E. A. Simpson, Amarillo, are going to plead insanity in an effort to escape the death penalty. They will bring in as evidence the 24-year-old boy's background of treatment in mental hospitals and his inability to hold jobs because of irresponsible actions. Several doctors and psychiatrists are listed among the defense witnesses.

After the final juror was named this morning Judge Blair dismissed the 24 still remaining on the list of prospects. They were paid off as were the others who had been excused from duty. A total of $532 was paid to prospective jurors who were excused or were not called for service.

Austin Officers Expected

Judge Blair hinted that he would expect both sides to adhere closely to the facts of the case and avoid unnecessary and expensive delays. No purpose would be served either for the state or the defense by such actions, he indicated.

A news-wire brief stated that four peace officers from Austin who arrested McGee after his flight from Lubbock were on their way to be present at the trial.

Others who came to the trial this morning as friends or relatives of the defendant or the slain man's family were: Mrs. Joe Hale, Dumas, an aunt of Richard's and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Tarkington, Amarillo. Mrs. Tarkington is the sister of R. L. Allston Mrs B. C. Linn, Lubbock, mother of the widow, has also been present during the trial.

Other officers elected were R. E. Dennis, vice-president; C. A. White, secretary-treasurer; and G. P. (Pat) Cunningham, member of the board of directors of the district association. The chapter's next regular meeting and rehearsal is scheduled for May 3.

End Of Secrecy On Arms Issue Urged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 20—Forceful sentiment built up in the Senate today for stripping all secrecy from the proposed arms-for-Europe program.

Both friends and critics of the North Atlantic security alliance called for the State department and the Senate foreign relations committee to lay the re-armament plans wide open to the public. They gave their views to reporters.

Secretary of State Acheson plans to place a confidential report on the arms plan before the foreign relations committee on Thursday.

Unofficial reports say the re-arming of North Atlantic nations will cost about $1,250,000,000 in the first year. Details of the program have been kept secret.

Senator Morse (R-Ore) urged that the State department and foreign relations committee disclose "all the facts" before the Senate opens debate on the North Atlantic treaty.

"I think," Morse sid, "the entire Congress and people should have all the facts concerning the pact including the facts as to the military costs. I say that as a supporter of the pact."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) said it is necessary that the Congress gets "the whole picture" at one time.

"I think the world should know where we stand on words as well as action," Ferguson said. He added it would be wholesome to bring out the arms program along with the treaty.

"This is a positive program to outlaw war," Ferguson said, "and its military implementation is important or we'll have another negative treaty."

Senator Malone (R-Nev) was suspicious of the entire proceedings, as he has been throughout the pact discussions.

"This is just their customary practice," he said, "to sell a bill of goods through their propaganda machine before giving it to the public."

He said the State department wants to "jam the program through the Senate" without disclosing all the information about it.

'Coconut King' Killed In South Philippines

MANILA, April 20: (U.P.)—Reports from Basilan island in the far south Philippines said today that W. D. Robinson, 68, known as the coconut king of Zahboanga, had been shot to death Monday by a discharged Moro employe of his plantation at Lamitan.

Robinson bought and developed a 100,000-tree plantation after spending his honeymoon in the Philippines as a young man. During the war he and his wife, the former Anne Hodges of Dallas, were forced to live three years as refugees in the hills.

Electra Mayor May Go To Court To Keep Town From Becoming "Conditional Stop"

WICHITA FALLS, April 20 (AP)—Electra's mayor is ready to battle the Fort Worth and Denver railroad again to keep his city from becoming a "conditional stop" on the line.

The railroad plans to make stops with its Zephyr at Electra and six other North Texas and Panhandle towns conditional after May 1.

Yesterday railroad officials and chamber of commerce officials met at Henrietta to discuss the order.

"We will meet them in the courthouse if they want to break the agreement we made last November," Electra's Mayor T. Leo Moore said last night.

Agreement Is Cited

"We had a definite agreement," he continued, "with the F. W. & D. C., and the city of Electra will have the support of practically every town that will be effected by the new ruling." Moore said the agreement made by Robert L. Boyt, general passenger agent of the line, with the cities involved, was to keep service at all stops now made by the Zephyr.

In November Moore issued threats of new city restrictions on rail traffic and a court injunction to halt operation of the new schedule.

Hoyt, whose offices are in Fort Worth, explained that the northbound streamlined Zephyr would stop at Decatur, Bowie, Henrietta, Chillicothe and Electra to discharge passengers from Fort Worth and beyond and to take on passengers to Amarillo and beyond.

Plans Are Revealed

Passengers from Wichita Falls northward may board the train for passage to Claude and Clarendon and beyond. Wichita Falls is a regular stop on the line, but passengers will be unable to board the train at Bowie, for instance, to ride to Wichita Falls.

Only if they are going to Clarendon or further north may they ride the Zephyr.

The schedule is reversed for the southward trip, except that passengers from Trinidad, Colo., or Channing and Claude.

Princess Elizabeth Will Be 23 Thursday

Birthday Won't Slow Studies For Britain's Future Queen

LONDON, April 20. (AP)—Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to Britain's throne, will be 23 years old Thursday.

Even on her birthday, training of the young mother for the role of queen will continue. She will have a place of honor at the king's luncheon for British commonwealth statesmen, assembled from the far corners of the dwindling empire which is her heritage as the eldest daughter of George VI, who has no son to succeed him as king.

Attendance at affairs of state, with their pomp and protocol, is as much a part of her heard schooling as the study of economics and the multiple other things a queen must learn.

Knows Responsibilities

A fun-loving young woman who likes to dance and sparkle in her pretty clothes, proud of her infant son who may succeed her on the throne, the princess is keenly aware of what her position demands of her. The people praise her willingness to meet those responsibilities. They idolize her five-month-old prince-son as "good old Charlie."

Two years ago when she was 21, Elizabeth broadcast a pledge to the empire:

"My whole life, whether it be long or short, shall be devoted to your service and our great imperial family, to which we all belong."

In another speech she told them: "The strength of our country—or of any great country—lies in the home and the family." She is meeting that responsibility, too.

Married 17 Months

Since she and Prince Philip were married 17 months ago they have lived in apartments in Buckingham palace. Finishing touches are being put upon a home of their own at Clarence House, adjoining old St. James palace.

Studiously, the spotlight of public approval is shared with her baby. Scarcely a formal photograph appears, now, that does not include Prince Charles.

Her tasks leave little time for the recreation an average housewife would enjoy. But at a recent charity ball she danced every number, mostly in her husband's arms.

Thursday night, of course, there will be a private observance of her birthday at dinner, with a distribution of gifts.

Bank Worker Turns Bandit, Gets $2000

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 20 (INS)—A 16-year-old junior bank clerk suddenly turned bandit Tuesday, held up a fellow teller at a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia and escaped with $2,000.

Police launched a province-wide search.

Teller William A. Slater told police that after the youth had put on his hat and coat, ostensibly to go to lunch, he stepped up to Slater's cage, drew a revolver and ordered, "hand over that pile."

"You're fooling," Slater replied.

In answer, the boy pushed the gun against his stomach, and Slater handed over the money.

The young bandit backed out, still brandishing the gun.

It was Vancouver's second bank robbery in three weeks. April 1 a bandit took $3500 from the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch but was shot dead while he tried to flee with a child as a human shield.

World Mourns Jewish Leader

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — The body of Dr. Stephen S. Wise, world-famed Jewish leader and military defender of liberal causes, will lie in state today in the Free Synagogue which he founded 42 years ago.

The noted, 75-year-old rabbi, who spent a lifetime preaching for peace, freedom and tolerance, died latte Tuesday in Lenox hospital.

He had undergone an operation early this month for what the hospital called a "malignant stomach ailment."

His body will remain in state through Thursday. Services will be Friday in Carnegie Hall.

Death of the crusading rabbi, who was president of both the American Jewish congress and the World Jewish congress, stirred sorrow around the world.

Progressive Pioneer

A pioneer of many progressive movements, Wise was a central figure in the long battle for establishment of a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

From rostrums here and abroad and in the hearing rooms of lawmakers, the blunt, outspoken rabbi fought in behalf of civil rights, labor welfare legislation, racial equality and world unity.

In recent days, he had become deeply troubled by the trend of international nations. He said it appeared that this country's leadership was bent upon war rather than peace.

He strongly criticized Soviet policies, but said the alternative war would be the "tragedy of tragedies."

Members of both faiths flocked to his "Free Synagogue," at 40 West 68th street, where he held services on Sunday as well as on the Jewish Sabbath.

Born In Hungary

Wise helped found the American Jewish congress 30 years ago, and also was a founder of the Zionist organization in America.

Born in Budapest, Hungary, Wise was reared in New York City. He was educated at the City College of New York, Columbia university, Syracuse university and the University of Oregon.

His wife, Mrs. Louise Waterman Wise, died Dec. 10, 1947.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 20 (U.P) — Nobody believed a youth when he entered the offices of the Central Scientific Company and announced: 'This is a stickup."

The assistant manager, Arthur W. Hall, said there wasn't much money in the office anyway. The firm does most of its business by checks.

Straw Vote Taken On Location Of Proposed New Courthouse

Citizens from all parts of Lubbock county last night filled to capacity the District court room on the second floor of the county courthouse, in spite of inclement weather, to discuss the proposed new Lubbock county courthouse and to give their individual opinions regarding location of the new structure.

The meeting, attended jointly by members of the County Commissioners court and the Lubbock City Planning commission, in addition to other local citizens, was strongly reminiscent of the old New England "town meetings," with each person attending entitled to full and complete expression of his personal opinion, and with equal vote for all.

'Straw Vote' Taken

If those who attended were truly representative of Lubbock county residents as a whole, then probably the most important accomplishment of the meeting was the revelation, through a "straw vote" taken among those present, that the two preferable locations for the new courthouse are, first, just west of the present structure and as adjacent to it as is feasible, thereby preserving as much of the courthouse park as possible, and, second, on the site of the old courthouse, after the old structure had been razed.

Actual count last night on the two possibilities gave 27 votes to the first; and 24 to the latter. A third alternative, to locate the new building west of the driveway which skirts the west side of the present building, got three votes.

Members of the Commissioners court voted for the first of the three possibilities, in spite of the fact that previously they had favored locating the new building farther west of the old courthouse, so that the west line of the structure would be but approximately 65 feet from the Texas avenue sidewalk. In the plan they had favored originally, parking space for 26 cars was to be located both north and south of the old building, with additional parking space between old and new buildings for persons employed in the courthouse.

After County Judge Walter Davies called for individual comment and discussion, K. N. Clapp, chairman of the City Planning commission, pointed out that "this is the only chance we have for a downtown park," and that the value of such a park cannot be valued in mere dollars in years to come. He stressed the importance of retaining as much of the park as possible, suggesting that the new courthouse be built as close to the old building as is practical.

Old Building Said Needed

George Berry, who some three years ago served on a committee to plan for location and construction of the new building, pointed

SPCA Okays Use Of Bull Snake In Act

BALTIMORE, April 20 (AP)—The Maryland SPCA has put its stamp of approval on the way Zorita uses her nine-foot African bull snake Elmer in her "interpretive Grecian dance."

President of the state Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animales, Miss Mary Butler Shearer, personally visited te night club where Zorita is appearing.

She said Tuesday she could see nothing cruel about the act. "After all, snakes like to curl around things," she added.

Zorita (Mrs. Catherine Pittello, 27, of Queen's, N Y.) was fined $50 and costs by a New York magistrate for performing a similar dance several weeks ago with a python.

At that time, Zorita explained the reptile's mouth was sealed with transparent tape. The bull snake may open its jaws whenever he feels in the mood.

"Elmer has sharp little teeth," the dancer explained, "but het wouldn't bite me.

"I need Elmer, just as I need my costumes. I wouldn't tear up my costumes. Would I hurt Elmer?"

Air Force Expected To Give A Decision On LAAF In Few Days

High-ranking Air Force officials left Lubbock late Tuesday afternoon armed with full facts required to reach a decision regarding reactivation of Lubbock Army Air field on a permanent basis.

Their departure followed an afternoon conference with members of the Lubbock City commission and members of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Air Force Affairs committee.

The Lubbock men were assured th t definite announcement will be made "within the next few days" relative to establishment of the field as Lubbock Air Force Base.

The visiting Air Force men expressed unreserved pleasure and satisfaction at what they had found in Lubbock.

Eugene M. Zuckert, asistant to th Secretary of the Air Force, management division, remarked that "the past 24 hours have been a revelation to me. I have been amazed at the growth, the progress and community spirit evidenced in Lubbock.

"At the pace you move, if this were Washington, I would think you are all headed for a nervous breakdown," he remarked in light vein.

The final announcement, to be released from Air Force headquarters in Washington, is expected to reveal (1) whether or not the base will be reactivated, and on what basis; and, if so, (2) definite dates by which rehabilitation will be begun as well as the time of arrival of the first permanent base personnel and students for the twin-engine advanced flying school.

Departing in a B-17 following the conference were Zuckert and

Open House Is Set On Friday

Final plans for the 13th annual Texas Tech Home Economics Open House have been completed and the doors will open to the public at 2 p. m. Friday, according to Mary Welch, senior from Winter Valley, who is general manager of the event.

The Open house is held each year in order that the general public may become better acquainted with the work that is being carried on by the Home Economics department at Tech. It is held in conjunction with the Engineering show and the regional Interscholastic league meet so as many high school students and teachers as possible may attend. Over 4,000 persons attended the event last year and plans for an even larger crowd have been made for this year's show.

Exhibits To Be Featured

Each department will feature exhibits which best show the type of work that it teaches. The home management department under the direction of Ruth Ann Fehr of Nazareth, will feature two modern kitchens, one all gas and the other all electric. The electric kitchen has an automatic electric sink with a disposal unit. There will also be an electric range, refrigerator and home freezer.

The nursery school has children's books, toys and books for parents on child development for visitors along with furnishing a tour of the nursery school plant. Hostesses will explain the aims and proceedures of the school.

Visitors will also have a chance to judge the foods and nutritions department for themselves by sampling the hot breads which the students will serve during the open house.

THE QUESTION

Are you glad or sorry that men do not follow style trends to the extent that women do?

THE ANSWERS

CLIFF SHERLEY, 1316 Twenty-sixth, drug clerk at John Halsey Drug store: "I'm glad they don't. It would cause too many change in their clothes and so on and so forth. I'm glad the men's clothes are just like they are."

R. O. LOWE, Lubbock route 4, farmer: "Well, I believe I'm glad, because of the financial end more than anything else. I like men's clothes because they're common and not too fancy."

JOHN D. HAYGOOD, 1920 Ave. N, owner of Haygood's Office Supply Co.: "Personally, I'm glad that they don't go to the extrem like women do, but I'm glad that men have seen the light and put some color into their dress."

ROY HOUK, 610 Ave. O: "I'm undecided, I guess. I think men outght to wear what they want to, just so it's somewhere close to fitting the occasion. Men do follow style trends, but not to the extent that women do."

ROLLIN HERALD, 2122 Twenty-fifth, owner of Herald Photo: "Glad! Economy is a much larger consideration than style, in my mind. I'd like to see more color in men's clothes, but that shouldn't require style changes."

GARLAND MAPLES, 705 Thirty-first, manager of Corcorran's Men's Wear: "I'm glad that men do follow the trends to the extent they do. I like to see new trends and like to see men follow them. I think one of nicest trends is that of pastels in shirts. I wish men were a little more along that line. They don't follow style trends to the extent woman do, but I would like for them to follow them more, because it creates a little excitement, something different, and, you might say, 'something new has been added.'"

California Observing Its Most Colorful Period Of Centennial

By RUTH L. SCAMMON
United Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20—California, the land of the "Days of '49" and the Gold Rush, is celebrating the most colorful year of its three-year centennial.

Although the Golden State has undertaken the sizeable task of celebrating its 100th birthday during 1948, 1949 and 1950, the days of the "49er" are best known to the rest of the nation.

California is the only state that needs three years to observe its centennial. The reason is that there were three distinct periods in its statehood, the first of which drew a gold-fevered population from throughout the nation and the third, formation of a state.

The centennial program has been set up this way by the California Centennials Commission:

1948—Discovery of gold.
1949—The gold rush.
1950—Statehood.

Discovery Celebrated

Last year, the success of the commission in co-ordinating a three-year program was proved when hundreds of people in small mountainous gold mining communities and elsewhere through the state held their own celebrations of the discovery of gold.

The observance started the first part of last year with a pageant and a full blown parade, complete with Hollywood movie stars, in the little town of Coloma in El Dorado county where gold was first discovered by James Marshall in a mill race owned by Capt. John Sutter.

Thousands of persons trekked to the small community, population 170, which was probably more people than the mountain town had seen since the gold miners flooded the territory in 1849.

This year the state's communities will again hold celebrations, this time commemorating the gold rush. As a key feature of the centennial celebration for 1949, the centennials commission has compiled an historical caravan on wheels, California's duplicate of the Freedom Train.

To Travel Widely

This traveling museum will be driven during 1949 and 1950 from Mexico to Oregon. The caravan consists of a priceless collection of original documents and objects that highlight series of 14 exhibit sections, each dealing with a specific period in the state's colorful history.

The rare historical items, ranging from a brass plate Sir Francis Drake affixed on California's shores in 1579 to the gold spike that linked the first transcontinental railroad, in two specially constructed steel buses.

An eight-day celebration is planned in Monterey during late August and early September to celebrate California's first constitutional convention. A specially written and produced pageant will be presented at that time.

Next year the centennial celebration will be climaxed by a giant celebration of statehood on Sept. 9 which will center in San Francisco. It will be one of the only major celebrations to be centered in a large city as the centennials commission is attempting to carry centennial observances to the small towns and areas where state history was cradled.

Method For Heart Operations Tested

CLEVELAND, April 20 (U.P.) — Surgeons soon will be able to close down the human heart for as long as 15 minutes without killing the patient and make repairs on its inner valves, two nationally-known heart specialists predict.

Drs. Claude S. Beck and Roy Scott said techniques to do this have already been tested on experimental animals and hinted the procedure will be applied to humans within a few years.

"Operating within the human heart is not a fantastic idea," Dr. Beck said.

The brain needs a continuous supply of red blood containing oxygen while other portions of the body can do without it for longer periods, he pointed out.

To close down the heart and repair it, Dr. Beck said blood is withdrawn from the veins, fed oxygen outside the body instead of in the lungs and then routed into the brain while the heart rests.

Dr. Beck compared the human heart to a mechanical pump with "sticky valves."

"Within our lifetime, surgeons will be able to go into the human heart and fix up the valves so they won't leak or block the flow of blood,' he said.

Garland came to the United States at the age of 15 from his native Dungannon, Ireland, and in the next 60 years became prominent in the industrial and civic life of Pittsburgh.

NEW YORK, April 20 — It is not enough that American women go around carrying cheese boxes for purses; wearing dog leashes for belts. Now the Carpet Institute is trying to suggest that they chop up their rugs for hats.

Perhaps it was a gag—one hopes so. And there was considerable talk about the New York Heart campaign contributions—but the carpet people went so far as to have a bunch of top milliners whip up some carpet hats. And they went so far as to have a carpet hat show. At a big New York hotel with models and music.

It seems doubtful, however, whether this will take hold. One—at least—of the milliners involved is against it.

"I was asked to make a hat, and I did, because of the Heart charity," said Nicole, the modiste, "but I certainly hope it's a gag.

"Why put something on your head that you're supposed to put your feet on? There are enough pretty things off the floor, and besides the carpet hurts your head. I know that trying to sew it together broke one of my machines $18 worth."

However, if you really want to do something with that old moth-eaten Wilton in the attic—go ahead. The worst you can achieve is a headache and the need of a shambpoo.

Sister Kenny Centers Will Be Administered By Medical Man

MINNEAPOLIS, April 20 (AP) — Sister Elizabeth Kenny, originator of a treatment for infantile paralysis, today announced she had relinquished administration of the foundation bearing her name.

The foundation operates seven centers in the United States for treatment of the disease.

Sister Kenny has been replaced by Dr. E. J. Huenekens, a Minneapolis pediatrician who has practiced medicine for 40 years. He is also a clinical professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota medical school.

Chief significance of the change, Dr. Huenekens said, is that the foundation "now has medical auspices and a change of atmosphere." Sister Kenny is an Australian nurse.

Treatment Established

She will make her home here where her treatment got its first real recognition by medical men. She will serve as a consultant, but only at the request of Dr. Huenekens, he said.

Sister Kenny said "my mission to the United States has been fulfilled in every possible way. That is, my contributions have been investigated and evidence of scientists support my clinical observations."

She said that owing to her work, "it is possible to give a satisfactory treatment in the acute stage of the disease where previously no treatment was thought advisable, and a much more satisfactory treatment has been presented for the convalescent stage."

Other Muscles Worked

Briefly, the Kenny treatment consists of attention to other muscles of the body as well as those paralyzed. Previous treatment, Dr. Huenekens said, was more concerned with the paralyzed muscles.

In the Kenny treatment, hot packs are used, muscles and tendons are stimulated and muscles and nerves are "retrained." Contracted muscles are also stretched.

Dr. Huenekens said he hopes to work "in close cooperation" with medical schools, medical societies, the National Foundation for Infantile paralysis and the American Medical association.

He said that whereas portions of the Kenny treatment have been adopted by the medical profession, all of the methods are not being used. He said he will seek to encourage their use.

He emphasized that the Kenny method is only a treatment — not a cure — and that it does not completely do away with the necesity for surgery in some cases.

Conflict Unnecessary

Dr. Huenekens said that there has been reluctance among medical men to accept the treatment partially because its originator was not a professional colleague.

"There is no real necessity for this conflict or conflict with the national associaton," Dr. Huenekens said. "I hope to end the feeling of antagonism."

Sister Kenny is 62 years old. She has done research work in infantile paralysis since 1911. She came to the U. S. in 1940 and was permitted to demonstrate her treatment here. The board of public welfare of Minneapolis first provided funds for her treatment in 1940.

She said she does not intend to become a citizen of this country and may visit Australia from time to time.

Thirty-one Kenny technicians give the treatment in Minneapolis, Chicago, Pontiac, Mich., Buffalo, N. Y., Jersey City, N. J., Los Angeles and San Francisco. The foundation recently withdrew from a clinic at Centralia, Ill.

Supreme Court May Decide On Press-Radio Law In Baltimore

By DON JENNINGS
United Press Staff Writer

BALTIMORE, April 20 (U.P.) — Lawyers generally seem to feel that eventually the U. S. Supreme Court will be asked to decide on the validity of Baltimore's "gag rule 904."

Imposed by the Baltimore courts, the rule places limitations on the publication and broadcast of crime news. Newspapers or radio stations, for example, are forbidden to report that a person in custody has confessed a crime, or that the accused has a criminal record.

The rule's first major application came when five radio stations were cited for contempt of court after broadcasts involving the arrest of Eugene James for the knife-slaying of an 11-year-old girl.

The court said the publicity given James' confession and criminal background lessened his chances for a fair trial. The defense contended that the court, by imposing the ban, was "censoring" the news and trespassing on the right of free speech and freedom of the press.

(James was convicted after a non-jury trial and has been sentenced to be hanged.)

Four Stations Fined

Judge John B. Gray, jr., ruling that an abridgement of press freedom is justified when the latter "conflicts" with the right to a fair trial, convicted four radio stations and imposed fines ranging to $500. The fifth station, located just outside the Baltimore city limits, was acquitted in the absence of proof that its broadcast actually was heard, within the jurisdictional limits of the court—that is, the city of Baltimore.

The convicted radio stations finally took the case to the Maryland court of appeals at Annapolis and indicated that in the event the verdicts are sustained, they will appal to the U. S. Supreme Court. The Maryland court has set preliminary arguments tentatively for about mid-May.

Meanwhile, opopnents of Rule 904 took their fight into the Maryland legislature—and lost again.

State Senator P. G. Stromberg, who publishes several Maryland newspapers, introduced a measure that would have prevented the courts from imposing rules abridging" freedom of the press.

Senate Kills Bill

The Baltimore courts, Stromberg said, "are trying to be catcher, pitcher and first baseman at the same time."

After Senate President Joseph R. Byrnes stepped aside as presiding officer for the moment to caution his colleagues against "passing rules interfering with the courts," the senate killed Stromberg's bill by a vote of 17 to 11.

Assistant State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro, the man who prosecuted the contempt cases against the radio stations, said at a Baltimore business men's meeting that he thought the case will wind up in the U. S. Supreme Court and will result in a split decision.

He added: "The decision, I believe, will have a far-reaching effect."

Bodies Brought To Court As Evidence

EASTON, Pa., April 20 (AP) — A jury is not often shown the corpus delecti as evidence in a court case.

Anthony D. and Helen M. Mitchell were seeking to prove that 500 of their ducks had been killed by oil from a broken pipeline of the Tidewater Pipe Co., Ltd., Bradford, Pa.

The two litigants, who said the ducks were killed by oil which flowed from the severed line into the Bushkill creek near their farm, brought a pile of the dead fowl into court.

Three Hurt In Movie Mishap

HOUMA, La., April 20 (AP) — Thirty-nine persons were hurt when a movie theater plaster ceiling fell last night.

Manager Everett Talbot of the Park theater in this little French cajun town said the acoustic ceiling collapsed in one great sheet.

The early evening audience of about 100 persons had only scant warning, he said.

Noise Is Heard

"I was just entering the house and heard a cracking," he explained. "It got louder and louder for a minute, then the entire ceiling seemed to come down."

A National Guard unit which was ready to start its weekly training period raced to the scene and held back hundreds of spectators as rescuers searched through the plaster-splattered debris.

Houma is a seafood and oil center about 40 miles southwest of New Orleans.

Woman Is Hurt

The Ellender Memorial hospital said the most seriously injured was Mrs. Amos Lapeyrouse, wife of one of the theater owners, who received a compound fracture of the leg.

Six others were hospitalized for minor injuries, hospital attendants said, and 32 more were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Manager Talbot said the theater owners had been unable to determine why the ceiling "caved in."

The theater is only six months old. It has a seating capacity of 1,200.

FIREMAN TOO CARELESS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—The fire marshal's office said 29-year-old Ralph L. Germano, a fireman, may have been smoking in bed and set fire to the mattress Germano succumbed to burns.

The Rules Apply To Everybody But John

COLUMBUS, O., April 20 (AP)—The man who taught Ohio State university students how to become happily married was being sued for divorce today.

Dr. John F. Cuber, former director of OSU's marriage counseling clinic, was sued for neglect by Mrs. Esther Cuber in the court of domestic relations.

The university said Dr. Cuber resigned four days ago to accept a visiting professorship at the University of Southern California.

Bureau Chief For Associated Press Will Address Meet

Noland Norgaard, chief of The Associated Press bureau in Oklahoma City, will discuss both press bureau journalism and the duties of a foreign correspondent in the general sessions of the Southwestern Journalism congress to be held at Texas Tech April 29-30.

The congress, which is being held at Tech for the first time in 13 years, will feature approximately 20 of the top journalists in the nation. The speakers will discuss journalism problems with student delegates from the 13 member schools of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana during the two day meet.

Served Overseas

Norgaard is a native of Colorado. He joined The Associated Press in Denver in 1935. For the next five years he served as statehouse correspondent in Denver.

After a brief time on the AP cable desk in New York City in 1940, Norgaard was sent to London via Lisbon. From March, 1941, until October, 1942, he was stationed in London, covering various phases of the war including the blitz of the city by the German Air Force and the parachuting of Rudolph Hess in Scotland. He was still in London when the American troops arrived after Pearl Harbor.

In 1942 he joined the British and American forces comprising the Central Task Force for the invasion of North Africa. He landed with the troops at Arzew near Oran on Nov. 8 of that year. Later he flew on to Algiers and covered Gen. Eisenhower's Allied Force Headquarters until January.

Also Accompanied British

For the remainder of the African campaign, Norgaard divided his time between covering British and American troops movements. Late in 1943, he accompanied the British when they took Pantellaria island near Sicily. He was with the British Eighth Army during the Sicilian campaign.

After Sicily, he went to the American base of operations in Naples and finally finished the war in Italy. After the end of the war he was sent to Germany to cover the war crimes trials in Nurenburg. While he was there he visited several displaced person's camps.

In 1946 after five and a half years overseas, Norgaard returned home to the United States and was appointed chief of the Oklahoma City bureau.

Many Persons Ill As Experts Try To Study Smog Conditions

DONORA, Pa., April 20. (AP)—More than 90 persons were ill today and a dozen others had left town as government experts tried to duplicate smog conditions suspected of causing 22 deaths last fall.

Doctors reported numerous cases of hoarseness, sore throats and coughs as the public health service sought for the third day to determine if the suffocation cases last October were caused by a combination of smoke and fog.

Through the tests, the government agency hopes to prevent a recurrence of the October tragedy.

As a result of the deaths last fall the zinc smelters of American Steel & Wire Co., were closed down. They were re-opened last Monday so that resulting fumes could be observed in connection with the tests.

Symptoms Similar

Dr. William Rongaus, Donora borough health officer, said the effects reported by residents yesterday were "like the early symptoms during the smog."

Some persons have left town for the period of the test, particularly those suffering from asthmatic and heart ills. These were particularly vulnerable last October.

Worst sufferer yesterday was the little town of Webster, just across the Monongahela river from Donora. Prevailing winds blew from Donora toward Webster yesterday and citizens there said they got the full effect of the fumes issuing from the zinc plant.

The Webster Society for Better Living, which had asked the government to make the test, held an emergency meeting last night. Members agreed the test, perhaps, was succeeding "too well." There was some talk of asking the government to call it off but no action was taken.

Many Leave Town

Allen Kline, secretary, said the society advised Webster parents to keep children home from school or take them out of town until the test is over. If they do so, Kline said, the society would take responsibility for absences."

Kline said 25 Webster folk had sought medical treatment and about half of them had left town. A Webster nurse said she treated two persons for nausea and headache. She said she received phone calls from 56 others reporting similar troubles.

Dr. Rongaus said 12 persons reported "smog symptoms" to him. He said he did not believe the fumes sufficiently strong to cause any serious danger.

A similar opinion was expressed by George Clayton, chief of the health service field party making the test. Clayton said, however, the fumes "undoubtedly are strong enough to cause discomfort to some individuals."

Should the saturation become dangerous, Clayton said, the government's test would be halted at once.

Aside from the exodus of some persons, both Donora and Webster were taking the experiment calmly. Most of them appeared to be willing to put up with temporary discomfort if it would bring them safety in the future.

Broken Ankle Might Delay Aly's Wedding

CANNES, France, April 20. (AP) It looks as if Prince Aly Khan is going to be late for his own wedding.

The son of the fabulously wealthy Aga Khan is reported to have broken an ankle while playing with his children Saturday. Friends said today the accident would cause postponement of his wedding to actress Rita Hayworth at least a month.

French law makes Aly eligible for the hand of Miss Hayworth May 7, one month from the day he was divorced by his British wife.

It is predicted in Belfast that the official name of Northern Ireland soon will be changed to Ulster, as many now call it.

Man Faces Task Of Easing Old Age, Now That Life Is Longer

PHILADELPHIA, April 20 (U.P.) —Science has made great strides in increasing man's life span. Now, one of the biggest problems facing the medical profession today is making those added years healthful and useful.

That was the opinion of more than 800 physicians from all over the country who gathered here for a medical conference on the problems of advancing years.

Throughout the meeting, the warning was sounded again and again that something must be done to give men and women not only long life, but a healthy, happy and useful old age.

The sad truth is that man's life has been evtended beyond his present capacity to enjoy it as a useful citizen, the medical authorities agreed. For in prolonging life, science also prolonged suffering and misery—all the chronic illnesses and disability which plague mankind in the twilight years.

New Era Possible

The situation sounds gloomy. But most of the authorities agreed that if old age infirmities are conquered, the world will enter into a golden era, peopled with older, more mature and wiser men and women who may be able to devise a world of peace.

Geriactrics—the study of old age and its ailments—is largely unexplored. But authorities warned that the problems and disorders of "the second forty years of life" must be tackled now.

There are now more than 10,000,000 people in the United States more than 65 years of age and the population of old folks is growing rapidly with each passing year. In another decade, millions more men and women will become vulnerable to the tragedy doctors refer to as the "semi-parasitic existence" common in the later years.

"Longevity is here," Dr. Edward J. Stieglitz of Baltimore and Washington told the meeting. "We are indeed entering an 'age of age.' But old age with continued vigor, usefulness and enjoyment of life is attained only by a few. Prolongation of life in the relatively unfit may some day jeopardize the survival of the fit. The problem of chronic illness is urgent."

Early Start Advised

Most authorities believe the problem must be attacked in the early years.

Dr. Stieglitz said emphasis must be placed on the long list of chronic illnesses, the insidiuous degenerative ailments which have been growing more prevalent and account for disability among the aged. Most of those illnesses begin in the middle years.

Dr. Chauncey Leake of the University of Texas said young people as early as high school should be taught how to grow old, that is, how to cultivate hobbies and intellectual curiosity, and how to develop a systematic regimen for physical and mental hygiene. Dr. Leake said the country should have an "old age program" similar to the child care program.

He also urged increased research on drugs which may help the aged by preventing the disorders to which old people are subject. But he dismissed hope for an "elixir of life" or miracle drug which will prolong life or youth. "Hormones don't do it and won't do it, even if a lot of people seem to think so," he added.

'Happy While Single' Starts Argument

TV Like Anything Else, Says Hal; Women Get In Last Word

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 20—Is television any more than keeping your mouth a-wide and your eyes a-gleam?

I don't know for sure except I've been on the darn thing. That is, I've been on a television program.

Just how to talk to the rest of you who haven't had this adventure I'm not sure.

Life has passed you by. And I, like a good fellow, want to tell you what it's like.

Two Ways To Meet It

I would say there are two ways to meet television—male and female, I am male. That is the downstairs technique. You sit there on a couch until the program starts.

Ah, but if you are female! That is a different matter. That is the technique above. The lady goes upstairs and gets herself overhauled—as if a simple thing like that would surprise you when she came back down.

And guest men? Well, I was a guest man. There I was and what was I to say?

All of a moment there you are with two or three cameras pointing at you waiting for you to say something important. And all you can think is "what will posterity think?"

Posterity Must Wait

And posterity isn't on the program—that is one thing that isn't scheduled yet.

You are between two girls and you are supposed to be talking about a book called "How To Be Happy While Single."

Finally you wind up trying to defend this idea:

"Everybody has to be lonely in this world, but marriage makes it possible for two people who like or respect each other to be less lonely together."

After that I lost all sense of television. I was up to my ears in female argument. Not an unfamiliar position, either, for a man married nigh on twelve happy years.

Cong. George Mahon, Brig. Gen. James B. Newman of the Air Forces Engineers; Col. Gabe Dissosway of the headquarters, USAF; Major A. J. Lanier and Capt. R. S. Rivers, USAF, representing Lt. Gen. Edwin Rawlings, comptroller of the Air Force, who was unable to make the trip.

Major Gen. Robert Harper, commander of the training activities of the Air Force with headquarters at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., and his party left aboard a C-47 transport for Barksdale. In his party were Major William F. Shanklin and G. W. Lenehan, civilian engineer.

Col. G. B. Dany headed the party from Randolph field which returned in a B-25. With him was Maj. Jackson Reed.

The officials were entertained at a luncheon at Lubbock Country club, after which discussion of problems incident to reopening the base was accomplished.

Among Lubbock men present were Mayor W. H. Rodgers, City Commissioners John Spikes, W. B. Price, E. K. Hufstedler and Clarence Whiteside; Homer D. Grant, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Spencer A. Wells, Homer G. Maxey, Chas. A. Guy, Parker F. Prouty, Don Davis, Earl Collins; A. B. Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and George Bond and Jim Crook of the chamber staff; and Lt. J. E. Crites, LAAF maintenance officer.

Previously, Monday night, the party was entertained at an informal barbecue at the Buffalo Lakes cabin of A. B. Davis. Tuesday morning, members of the various Air Force groups conferred with each other, inspected Lubbock Army Air Field and toured portions of the city.

Discussion centered largely around housing and kindred problems attendant upon bringing into Lubbock a military and civilian population of 3,300 to 3,700 men needed in the operation of a twin-engine bomber school.

Negro Family Is Found Dead

BOSTON, April 20 —A family of four was found dead in their Roxbury district apartment in what police Captain Frank Russell described as a triple murder and suicide.

The dead, all negroes, were: Edgarton G. McFarlane, 28, his wife, Mamie, and their two children, George, 16 months, and Modessa, two years old.

Captain Russell said McFarlane apparently beat his wife on the head with a hammer, strangled his two children with his hands and then shot himself in the head.

A note found in the apartment read:

"God will bless them. Only way out. Had to do it."

Captain Russell said all four had apparently been dead from 18 to 20 hours when the bodies were discovered.

Police were summoned when relatives called on the McFarlane family and received no response to their raps on the door.

Neighbors said McFarlane was employed as a rubber worker.

Courthouse

out that by retaining the old courthouse building, lesser county offices, which now are renting office space in Lubbock, could be housed in the old building at a saving, whereas if the old building were torn down, rental expenditure would have to continue or the offices would have to be housed in office space in the new building which has been designated for future expansion of the more important county offices.

Mrs. H. F. Godeke, who also served on the planning committee about three years ago, spoke on the necessity for increased library facilities which could be provided in the old courthouse building if it were retained.

Numbers of other suggestions and opinions were advanced, among them incorporation of the old building with the new, closing of the streets circling the courthouse, widening of these streets to step up traffic flow through them, and renovation of the exterior of the old courthouse so that it would blend harmoniously with the new building.

Chas. A. Guy, a member of the City Planning commission, commended the assembled group for its effective and democratic spirit in conducting the meeting, pointing out that it was in many ways similar to the New England "town meeting" discussions.

Members of the Commissioners court who attended were Judge Davies, Pat Corley, Ottis Isom, R. O. Short, and George G. Green. Members of the Planning commission present were Clapp, Guy, W. L. Bradshaw, J. D. Hassell, jr., Steve Matthews, C. J. Griggs, Homer D. Grant, R. L. Oldham, and J. H. Murdough.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Woman Who Informed Police Of Lonely Heart Doings Guarded

DOVER, Del., April 20. (AP)—State police disclosed today they are keeping in protective custody a young woman credited with supplying the initial break in Delaware's "lonely hearts" slayings.

State Police Col. Herbert Barnes previously announced that Mrs. Inez Brennan, 43-year-old brunette, signed a statement admitting she plotted the deaths of two elderly men and later burned and buried their bodies with the aid of her three sons.

Barnes hinted that the first break in the case came from Mrs. Dolly Thompson Dean, 26-year-old former nurse's aid who had accompanied Mrs. Brennan to her farm after an operation last year.

Informer Feared Harm

The state police official said Mrs. Dean, who left the Brennan farm recently, told him of "strange doings" at the Brennan place but added she had not reported her fears to police because she was afraid she might be harmed.

Questioned by reporters about Mrs. Dean's whereabouts, Barnes said "we are taking care of her," adding "I am not ready to release any other information about this young woman."

In announcing Mrs. Brennan's statement, Barnes said she met Wade N. Wooldridge, 70, of Bedford, Va., and Hugo Schultz, 66, Epsom, N. H., through lonely hearts correspondence and lured them to their deaths to rob them. Police are investigating a number of letters they found on the Brennan farm.

Barnes said Mrs. Brennan admitted shooting one victim and ordering her youngest son, Robert, 15, to shoot the other.

Son Refused To Shoot

Robert has signed two statements, Barnes said, one detailing the shooting of Wooldridge and the second telling of Schultz's death.

Robert was quoted by Barnes as saying he shot Wooldridge last October at his mother's order, and adding his mother and half-brothers, Raymond, 23, and George, 19, buried the body in a pigpin.

The state police official said Robert in his second statement said he went to Schultz's New England farm with his mother and that she shot Schultz after Robert refused to do so.

Barnes quoted Robert as saying Mrs. Brennan sold most of Schultz's goods, loaded his body on his truck and the family returned to Delaware.

Barnes said Schultz's body was buried beside Wooldrdige in the pigpen. Later, he added, both bodies were dug up, burned and the remains scattered on a city dump.

Charges of first degree murder have been filed against Mrs. Brennan and Robert in the Wooldridge death, Barnes said. Raymond has been charged with being an accessory, the same charge which is to be filed against George, now in the Army, Barnes said.

MEET THE MANAGER—Raymond A. Burford, manager of Baldridge bakery, is a native of Lubbock county, having been born near Idalou July 21, 1909. He was educated in Lubbock schools and attended Texas Technological college. He had worked for Baldridge bakery part time greasing pans and doing odd jobs since it had opened in 1924 at 1118 Broadway, in the back of a grocery. He had worked as a route salesman during summer vacations and in 1928 the late Joe Baldridge assigned him to a route full time. In 1929 the bakery moved to 809 Ave. H, and in 1933 it doubled its space at that location. Burford continued as a route salesman for eight and a half years, until 1937, when he became assistant manager. In 1939 the bakery moved into its present quarters at Nineteenth and Ave. N. Mr. Baldridge was in poor health and Burford continued to function as assistsant manager, gradually taking over additional duties. Mr. Baldridge died in 1941 and Burford became general manager. Burford is a past president of Lions club, a director in the Texas Bakers association, a member of the board of Lubbock Community Chest, a member of Lubbock Country club. One of his favorite pastimes is home movies, and he likes to watch football games. Mr. and Mrs. Burford and two children, Ricki Allan, 5½, and Judy pat, 4½, live at 3020 Twenty-second. Fire Fighters Hope For Rain

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 20 (AP) — The weatherman held out some slight hope of relief today for fire-plagued north Arkansas.

While the official forecast was for mostly cloudy weather with scattered thundershowers, a member of the weather bureau staff here said "there might be some real rains."

About 200 rangers and volunteers, battling a week-old series of fires in the heavily timbered, mountainous section near the Missouri border, have been hoping for a drenching rain to solve their problem.

Nearly 300 new fires were reported by aerial observers before darkness closed over the smoke-obscured area late yesterday.

Rangers Optimistic

Despite the seriousness of the situation, district rangers directing the fight are optimistic, reported R. M. Henry, Arkansas forestry department fire control officer.

He said the men in charge in the most harassed area, the Salem-Hardy section of Fulton and Sharp counties, had expressed confidence that with "any reasonable luck," they'd be able to control the fires.

In southern Missouri, across Arkansas' northern border, the situation seemed to be under control, Missouri Forester George C. White said.

Thousands of acres have been burned over in the two states. No estimate has been made of the damage, which, except for a Missouri sawmill, apparently has been confined to wooded areas.

Endurance Fliers To Try For 1008 Hours

FULLERTON, Calif., April 20. (AP)—What's six more days aloft to record endurance fliers Bill Barris and Dick Riedel, who haven't touched the ground for 36 days.

They plan to bring their single-engine monoplane, Sunkist Lady, down Tuesday after remaining in the air for 1,008 hours—six full weeks.

Thursday they broke the existing endurance flight mark of 726 hours, set 10 years ago. They explain they want to make their flight long enough so their record won't easily be broken.

Since they cracked the old record, Barris and Riedel have done most of their flying over the desert near Indio to avoid fog.

To refuel, the Sunkist Lady swoops low over airports while cans of gasoline are handed up from a speeding jeep.

Incidentally, two World War II combat fliers announced at Yuma, Ariz., they intend to take off Thursday in an attempt to crack the endurance mark. They are Bob Woodhouse, 36, and Woodrow Jongward, 28.

Washable Rayon Used For Summer Wear

Knit Dresses Provide Women With Sturdy, Smart Costumes

By SALLY SWING
United Press Staff Writer

PARIS, April 20—The American tourist, who is looking for a Paris dress she can throw in the corner, crumble in a suitcase, walk on and still wear with a flair between times, can find it this season.

It's a knit, says Anny Blatt, pointing with pride to Mrs. Charles Feathers of San Francisco. Mrs. Feathers walked in this week in a 10-year-old Blatt costume, to order another one.

They hardly ever wear out, Mrs. Blatt said.

Dresses Look Smart

If it goes out of style, just reblock it to a new shape.

And the way she and her colleagues are doing them this season, the knit dress looks as smart at a cocktail party as it does at the races.

A lace-patterned wool knit sewed over matching pastel tulle to keep its shape, and selling for $350, is one of Mme. Blatt's favorite dressy knits of the season.

A number of summer knit costumes are made up in a special new washable rayon for coolness with practicality.

"All our work, from the manufacture of the yarns to the make-up of the dress is entirely supervised by my organization," said Mme. Blatt, a blonde, energetic businesswoman.

Ownes Wool Factories

She owns wool and rayon factories and her experiments with new types of yarn have led her into whipping up one fabulous gold glass evening dress. She's currently planning a new line of nylon knit sweaters and skirts.

Each dress ordered from this salon is kint by hand to the measurements of the individual customer by trained knitters who work at home. The knit pieces are then sewn together in the salon. A complete dress takes a knitter between one and three weeks of full time needle clicking, Mme. Blatt said.

The majority of knit costumes shown are simple in design, with gently swinging skirts, V necklines and otherwise smoothly classic lines.

Panama's Government will spend $3,000,000 on public works this year.

ODE TO SPRING

A guy with a case of Spring fever
Enjoys life more than an eager beaver!

WE WERE monkeying around the other day with Spencer Wells so, naturally, stopped by the new Hemphill-Wells building, now under construction on the corner of Avenue J and Thirteenth street.

Like everybody else in town, we had noted the new structure and especially its size. But it wasn't until we piled onto the construction elevator and traveled up to the third floor for a look-see that we realized how big the project really is.

That new building — three floors, a mezzanine and a full basement covering a quarter block—is a tremendous thing. And when it gets into operation it is going to make a terrific impact upon the retail business life of Lubbock.

The new store, as modern as tomorrow, is going to be important to the people who own and operate Hemphill-Wells company.

But, in addition, it is going to be important to every retail store operator in Lubbock. To a lesser degree, it will be important to the people who are in the business of purveying meals, gasoline and oil, picture show tickets, toothpicks and almost everything else.

For the new Hemphill-Wells store is going to bring into Lubbock shoppers who have not come here before—or, if they have made occasional visits to Lubbock in the past, will make more frequent trips in here in the future.

In short, the larger, beautiful new store will extend Lubbock's retail trade area outward from its present fringes; it will bring in from today's fringes more people than have been coming here in the past—and when that happens, every merchant in town will get a crack at their trade while they are here.

THIS TREND is fully recognized by Mr. Wells, his principal associate, Jake Hassell, and the executives of Hemphill - Wells company.

Further, they are losing no sleep over the prospect.

They believe their enlarged store, with many new departments, will increase their over-all volume to the point where their investment will pay off handsomely to them. If it does, they will be well satisfied.

The fact that their new store will bring in added trade to other concerns is perfectly all right with them. They believe that any strengthening of the Lubbock business picture is good for them and good for everyone else in the long run.

Somewhere around two years ago, Sears, Roebuck & Co. opened its fine new store on Thirteenth street.

That store undoubtedly extended Lubbock's retail trade area and while it brought a large increase in volume to Sears, it helped, rather than injured, other retail stores in Lubbock.

What happened in connection with the Sears store will happen again in connection with the new Hemphill-Wells store.

Competing merchants who are "on their toes" will benefit, along with the Hemphill-Wells people.

ANY NEW commercial enterprise of the importance of the Hemphill-Wells undertaking affects a community in many more ways than the average citizen realizes.

If, as is anticipated, the new store extends Lubbock's trade area, it also will increase outside business here in lines not connected with the department store business.

Doubtless, too, the opening of the new store will cause other concerns to enlarge and improve in order to keep pace.

Hemphill-Wells today employs around 110 people. Jake Hassell, the store's chief operating executive, expects to increase the personnel to around 150 in order to man the new store as it should be manned. That will mean something to everybody who sells insurance, professional services, automobiles, food, etc.

It will mean more, as competing stores expand.

Thus, as Hemphill-Wells opens its new store come January, 1950, there will be a big splash in the center of the pool which is Lubbock retail business. But the waves and the ripples resulting from the splash will run outward and on outward for a considerable distance.

The Hemphill-Wells undertaking means considerably more to all of us than the mere fact that Spencer Wells and Jake Hassell are fixing themselves a whale of a place to do business and are adding to the Lubbock business mural a new and brighter picture.

It means more dollars loosened here annually, for everybody to scramble for.

Joseph Houston Bryant and Dr. Frank Junnell, of Texas Tech, who used to be a radio guy himself, whooped and hollered and, publicly, caused us no little mental anguish.

Well, this is to inform one and all that a no less radio figure than Merlin "Deac" Aylesworth, former president of National Broadcasting Co., has said the same thing—in last week's edition of the magazine "Look."

Mr. Aylesworth, the guy who built NBC, is presumed to know a little about radio and the trend of television. He says, as we said last January, that television will put radio in the boneyard and before very long.

We await further guffaws from the Messrs. Bryant and Junnell—if any!

BY DREW PEARSON: REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE MANEUVERS TO REGAIN LOST SUPPORT

Soft Soap Flows At Meeting For Freshmen Demos

WASHINGTON — The Republican national committee has sent out a frantic warning that, unless G.O.P. acts quickly to offset the bad publicity over its alliance with the Dixiecrats, it may jeopardize the re-election of three stalwart Republicans — Taft of Ohio, Capehart of Indiana, and Donnell of Missouri.

The G.O.P. national committee also is pleading with senators to sign a cloture petition limiting debate on civil rights when it comes up again. All 42 Republican senators must sign, the committee warns, to show their good faith for their previous compromise with the south over the filibuster. This would leave only 22 signatures for the Democrats to round up — which, the committee predicts, the Democrats would have trouble getting. If the Republicans contributed twice as many as many signatures as the Democrats, the G.O.P. committee reasons, the blame for failure to act on civil rights will fall directly on the Democrats.

PEARSON

So far, the national committee admits, the Republicans have taken a beating in the press for their compromise in the filibuster. As an example of negro reaction, the committee cites the editorial bitterness of the Afro-American, a leading negro newspaper which hitherto always has supported the Republican ticket.

"We made a grievous mistake in supporting the re-election of a Republican Congress," declared the Afro-American after the Republican-Dixiecrat deal. "Twice in the past week have the actions of the Republicans in the Senate showed us how grievous was our error."

The committee points out that most newsmen believe it is impossible to muster the necessary 66 signatures to shut off a civil-rights debate, as required under the compromise agreement. That is the reason the committee urges every Republican senator—to a man — to sign the gag petition.

Not only will this save the re-election of Taft, Capehart and Donnell, argues the national committee, but it will cut into the Democratic vote in Kentucky, California, Illinois, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Maryland and New York — where there is a heavy Harlem ballot.

Note: The letters sent out to G.O.P. senators by the national committee were signed by Val Washington, himself colored. He is assistant to national G.O.P. chairman Hugh Scott.

Merry-Go-Round

Sen. Millard Tydings, the dapper Democrat from Maryland, was bustling around the Senate floor the other day as if conferring on matters of state. He hustled from one senator to another, whispering earnestly. The truth was, he was trying to get rid of some free tickets to the race track. Speaker Sam Rayburn has been proudly displaying a cashier's check for $40,000 which he raised for the Democratic party during a Jackson Day speaking tour of Texas. That ain't hay. . .The editors of Saturday Evening Post consider Minnesota's bo onder, Sen. Humphrey, as presidential prospect, have assigned feature writer Rufus Jarman to write a detailed profile — to be published probably in two articles.

IN a bid for Democratic unity, party leaders threw a private dinner the other night for freshmen congresmen and turned on the soft soap.

Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, blamed the Republicans for all the trouble over civil rights.

"The Republicans are to blame," he crackled, "because they formed a coalition with the Dixiecrats to block a change of Senate rules."

The purpose of this, he said, was to "prevent passage of the civil-rights program."

Pep talks were also given by House majority leader John McCormack and Speaker Sam Rayburn who declared that the Republican party is "split worse than the Democrats" and called the Democratic party the "party of understanding."

Truman Sticks To Knitting

President Truman, who was suntanning in Floria while his suporters took it on the chin in Congress, will not repeat this again soon.

His new policy of sticking close to Capitol hill was made clear recently to West Virginia's two Democratic senators — Harley Kilgore and Matt Neely — who invited the President to attend a forestry festival in West Virginia next October.

"Until this congress gets its work out of the way," Truman replied, "I'm going to stay here and fight for my program."

He intends to do this by personal contact with senators and congresmen, he added, and this will have first priority over all other engagements.

PLAYBOY cabinet member — charming Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, kicked upstairs to become No. 2 man in the Commerce department, left a mess behind in the Pentagon that will take weeks to straighten out. As undersecretary of the Air Force in charge of the reserve program, Whitney neglected his duties. The once champion polo player spent too much time playing golf and attending parties when he should have been at his desk. "Sonny's" promotion to the Commerce department was a reward, not for what he had done but for what he had given — to the Democratic campaign fund.

Without benefit of prayer — Congresman Rogers of Florida has reprimanded Secretary of State Acheson for not opening the North Atlantic pact-signing ceremonies with prayer. In a letter to Acheson, Rogers pointed out that the pact was signed in the hope of keping peace, yet no appeal was made to the Prince of Peace.

Communists on wane — The Italian Communist party is in serious financial trouble. Inside reason is that Moscow has drastically curtailed the money it has been pouring into Italy to finance Communist operations. Italian Communist leaders are boiling mad because they believe the money that once came to them is now going to the French Communists. The American embassy reports the Italian Communist party, once the world's largest, has lost some 600,000 members in the past four months.

Military Men Divided On Air Force Bomber-Fighter Issue

NEW YORK, April 20 — One of the outstanding angles in this rassle for funds by the armed forces is that any number of experts can play. You don't have to know much. All you need is a point of view, depending on whether you are four-square for Army, Navy or Air Force.

RUARK

I gather, from the record, that a goodly number of the Air Forces, abetted by Rep. Clarence Cannon, the sachem of the House appropriations committee, are 100 per cent for the four - week war. The atom carrying bombers will fly long distances, sink Russia, dust off their hands and fly home to peace. The idea here is that the big apple will win it in a walk, but the details of delivery are a little sketchy.

Air Force would have us believe that with new refueling devices, it's all very simple. Maybe the big planes will fly too high for the little planes to get at them. Maybe the big planes will carry "parasite" fighters, buttoned to the belly of the mama planes, for use as cover when needed. Now that we have the atom and the enemy supposedly ain't got none, the eventual pulverization of Soviet war might is presented as more or less routine.

Fighters Are Praised

I dunno. The argufiers against sole dependence on atomic bombs and big bombers to lug them make considerable sense. Delivery of the present to Russian targets could be less simple than bombing Japan. By the time the B-29's really got going on the Nips, Jap airpower had been ravished and ruined by Marine and Navy fighter pilots.

What I do know is that no bomber ever built was a match for a swarm of good fighters. During the first days of the war, a group of Navy fighters — unfledged in battle — took on 20 of the cream of the Jap Air Force and banged off 19 without losing, as I recall, a man.

And the fact is that today our fighters have hit such a peak of speed maneuverability and firepower that they can hit just about anything the pilot can see, and shoot down anything they can hit. The delicate attunement of radar and rocket makes a truly fearsome thing of the needlenosed fighter. The Russians are supposed to have what we've got, and in superior quantity.

THERE has been the ambitious, not to say inaccurate, statement that our big bombers can maintain altitudes which exempt them from fighter persecution. This might be true on the trip over the Arctic wastes, say — but the bombs will not be dropped on the Arctic wastes. They are to be dropped on targets, deep in enemy territory, where the fighters mass to keep the big hen from reaching the nest with her deadly eggs.

I have a military expert's word that his fighters can fly just as as high and four times as fast as any lumbering bomber with two tankloads of gas in her tummy.

"Any pilot of mine who failed to shoot down an airborne scow whose tail assembly alone is three stories high would qualify for court-martial," he said. "Aerial gunnery has hit the point where very little depends on the man. He sees his target, radar sets the sights, and he touches the button. The whole wad goes at once blooey! You don't shoot but once, and you don't come home with any ammunition in your guns."

Bombers At Disadvantage

As for retaliation, using rockets, the big bombers haven't been able to employ them successfully from their waist guns. They are effective only when launched in the same direction the plane is traveling. This leaves the big ships wide open to bias attack, and modern fighters are taught to go in at an angle, anyhow. There is more target to see and more time to spend with it.

As for the parasits fighter, which clings limpetlike to the mother ship — it is still an unproved dream. If the mothership gets knocked down, its lonesome chick has no place to roost when its gas runs low. It dies. If the big carrier gets jumped and destroyed before launching, it never flies. There are lots of holes in Rep. Cannon's theory of a four-week war, as we shall see tomorrow.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

WE ARE just beginning to realize that the adult life of today's average woman is divided into three distinct phases.

There is the period, after she finishes school, when she goes to work to earn her own living.

MILLETT

Then comes marriage and the second period, when the birth of her first child makes her a full-time mother and homemaker.

The third period arrives when her children are grown and gone from her home, and she must either go back to work or find enough community work to make her feel that there is still an active place in the world for her.

Even though we have come to realize that there are three distinctly different periods in the modern woman's adult life, we are still educating her as though all of her adult life were going to follow the same course.

Some day we may work out a better educational system for women. We may educate her for a job—as we do men—to take care of the career years of her life.

Then if she marries, we may offer her education in homemaking AFTER she is married. Certainly any woman could be taught in a year's concentrated study the skills she will need as a homemaker. Devoting her first year of marriage to going to school to learn how to handle her new and most important job wouldn't be a waste of time for any woman.

LATER YEARS FRUITFUL

THE THIRD step in her education would be to get her ready to make the most of her years that are left to her after her children are grown.

In cases where the woman must or wishes to go back to support herself, she could take refresher courses to make her employable. If she doesn't want to go back to a career she could be taught enough to make some worthwhile contribution to her community. At this point in her life, she has the time which younger women lack, the wisdom of experience. All she needs is to be shown how to be useful.

If we could make our plan of education as practical as that, we might not have so many unhappy, neurotic women.

As it is now we are enducating women for the first phase of their adult living, the job-holding phase, and letting them struggle along as best they can to educate themselves in homemaking and to figure out what to do with their lives once the homemaking job requires only a little of their time and effort.

'Try And Stop Me"

BEN HECHT once found several hundred copies of a technical book on a remainder counter. The book was over a thousand pages long, hopelessly dull, and carried no index.

Hecht mailed copies anonymously to his most egotistical friends, with a typed note inside that read, "You will be amused, although possibly slightly offended, by the references to you in this volume." The hunt, they say, went on for days.

A SHODDY trick was played on a prospective benedict in Chicago recently. He passed out cold at his bachelor party. When he came to, his right arm was in a cast. He had broken it, they told him, in a battle royal. The poor victim spent his entire honeymoon with a perfectly good arm in a tight cast.

GRIM LESSON FOR PRANKSTERS

Every community has its pranksters with distorted sense of humor who seem to consider it fun to turn in false fire alarms and ambulance calls occasionally.

It is to be hoped all people of this type read the results of one such prank in Houston the other day. One fireman was killed and two others seriously injured while responding to a false alarm.

Possibly the firemen were traveling faster than necessity justified. Fire truck and ambulances in most cities—Lubbock included—often are driven at unnecessarily high speeds. Tests have demonstrated in New York City that the emergency vehicles which observe all traffic regulations—including speed limits and traffic lights—loses only one to two minutes in reaching its destination.

But, regardless of that, the Houston fireman is dead. His family sorrows. Two others are enduring much suffering and may be crippled for life. It is to be hoped the responsible prankster has a conscience—which is doubtful. He richly deserves any torment he may suffer

Wine, Women Don't Mix Well, U. S. Experts In Paris Find

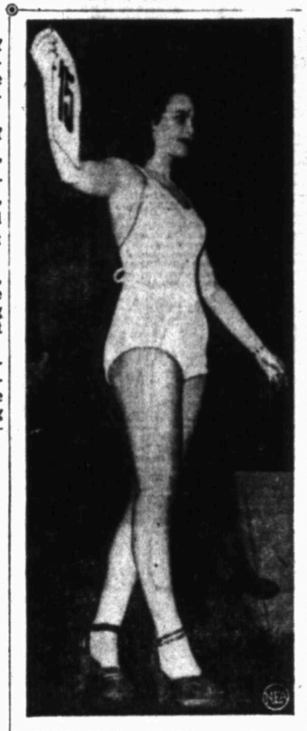

By W. G. LANDRY
United Press Staff Writer

PARIS, April 20 (U.P.)—One of the first things the American Society for the Appreciation of Fine Wines decided that wine and women do not mix.

"It's a delicate subject, of course," said Arthur B. Scharff, one of the founders of the society. "But when we formed our group, we decided that none of us could concentrate on wine and women at the same time."

There has been some talk, Scharff said, that the wives of the members of the society were going to form a group of their own, but nothing has come of it yet.

The society was formed last December by a small group of American government employes here who were interested in learning more about the great French wines. It has about 15 members who hold dinner meetings where good wine is mixed with good food.

BERLIN'S BEST — Thea Theil, 18-year-old high school student, shows the qualities that helped win her the title of "Miss Berlin" over 39 rivals. Denounced by the Russians, the contest was held in a U. S. sector theater of the blockaded city. It was the first beauty competition since 1932, when Hitler banned them as non-Aryan.

Scorns "Hocus Pocus"

The co-founders of the society were Scharff and Brandon Shea, who both worked for the Foreign Liquidation Commission and, incidentally, happened to be interested in wines. Shea has since returned to Washington, and formed a similar society there, and Scharff now is a member of the embassy staff here.

A lot of "hocus pokus" has grown up about the appreciation of wines, Scharff said, and while some of it is based on fact, it shouldn't be carried too far.

In the first place, it just isn't true that a smoker cannot enjoy wine, Scharff said.

"Of course, he shouldn't hold the wine in one hand a cigarette in the other," he added. "He wouldn't enjoy either one of them."

Another bit of "hocus pokus" of which American restaurants particularly are guilty, according to Scharff, is cradling a bottle on its side in a wicker basket.

Cradling Overdone

"A few wines are cradled so that sediment will settle, but the general practice of putting them in wicker baskets just for looks doesn't do a thing except make them hard to pour," Scharff said.

While the old rule of red wine with red meat and white wine with fish may be a good general guide, it doesn't have to be drunk that way, according to Scharff. If you like white wine with roast beef, go ahead and drink it. The whole thing is a matter of taste, anyway.

With all the wine drinkers in France, Scharff said that during his 12 years in Paris he has seen only two drunks, and ane of those was an American.

He hopes that some day wine and aperitifs will replace the cocktail. Americans would enjoy their food more, he said.

"After two martinis you can't tell whether a meal is raw or cooked," he explained.

German theaters are so cold this winter, Berlin observers say, that everybody envies the orchestra conductor—he can wave his arms to keep warm.

Ford Workers Ask Strike Approval

DETROIT, April 20 (AP)—CIO United Auto Workers at the Ford Motor Corp.'s Lincoln plant today sought approval of the international executive board for a strike.

UAW local 900's members voted 484 to 15 in favor of a strike, officers announced.

A similar vote among 65,000 UAW-CIO Ford River Rouge plant workers is due to be finished Friday. Executive board approval also would be requpired for a Rouge strike.

Both disputes involve production rates.

Technically, either Lincoln or Rouge could walk out following board sanction, with the other holding its strike threat in abeyance and continuing to work, union men said.

However, overall union strategy indicates simultaneous strikes in the 49 Ford plants if a strike is decided upon.

Hope Takes Off On Another U. S. Tour

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 20 (AP)—Bob Hope bounced out of town this week for another of his entertainment tours of the nation. This time he and his radio troupe are playing 25 shows in 15 days in Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, the Carolinas, Virginia, West Virginia, D. C., Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Asked why he undertakes such strenuous work, Hope answers: "Work? Are you kidding? This is a vacation."

Of course, there's another reason the comedian likes the tours. The proceeds go into his Hope enterprises, which not only produces some of his pictures, but indulges in other commercial ventures.

Which brings up a question often knocked around in Hollywood bull sessions—which is richer, Hope or Bing Crosby? Most amateur observers hand the laurel to Hope, even though Crosby has earned more moola over the years.

Capsule Review: "Bride of Vengeance" (PAR) deals with the poisoning Borgias in fairly lively style. Despite the frilly production, it's interesting stiletto-and-strychnine stuff. John Lund shines in the role Ray Milland refused and McDonald Carey is convincingly sinster. Paulette Goddard suffers from bad photography.
