Four-Power Rule In Japan Near Reality

U. S. Insists MacArthur To Retain Supreme Authority Over Occupation

By GRAHAM HOVEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—The United States and Russia were believed near argument tonight on a plan to create a four-power council for Japan which would not abridge the supreme authority of General MacArthur.

High U. S. officials indicated this government would accept such a council in return for Russia's participation in the Allied Far Eastern Advisory commission which met for the first time in Washington today without a Soviet representative.

Russian Views

The commission was established to give advice on the government of Japan.

Russia long has contended that the four-power council—composed of U. S., Russian, British and Chinese representatives — should be established in Tokyo in advance of the Washington advisory commission. The commission adjourned today for a week with the hope that Russia would be on hand for the second meeting.

American officials, who asked not to be identified, said the U. S., Britain and China had been "doing everything possible" to get Russia to "sit in on the Japanese situation."

They acknowledged that without Russian participation the advisory commission would be a failure. This was in contrast to previous contentions of Secretary of State Byrnes that the commission would go ahead with its work with or without a Russian representative.

Long Conversations

The four powers have been carrying on uninterrupted conversations upon the matter through diplomatic channels in Moscow, officials said. They disclosed that three possible solutions had been discussed:

1. Expansion of the advisory commission's powers.

2. Establishment of a four-power council in Tokyo to work in close cooperation with Mac-

Brazil Calm As Elections Are Promised

By CHANDLER DIEHL
Associated Press Staff Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 30—Chief Justice Jose Linhares, sworn in today as Brazil's 15th president, said elections would be held as scheduled Dec. 2 and "I will govern the country as a jurist" until the elected president takes office.

Getulio Vargas, the "strong man" who ruled Brazil for 15 years, will fly tomorrow to his home in southern Brazil, Linhares announced. Vargas resigned last night after the Army, Navy and Air force withdrew their support. Linhares automatically became president under the 1937 constitution.

No Prisoners Taken

Linhares said the change of leaders "was made very easily" and added:

"There were no political prisoners taken, nor is there any thought of taking any."

Immediately after the inaugural ceremonies at Cattete palace, Linhares appeared on the balcony of the presidential house and received ovations from huge crowds massed outside.

Acknowledging the cheers, Linhares declared:

"Let us get to work."

He turned quickly and left the balcony.

The Brazilian foreign office will inform the other American nations soon of the steps in the transition of authority in Brazil in a bloodless coup in conformance with the law.

Additionally, it was learned, the other American nations will be informed that the new government is entirely interim in character; that it will retire after the newly elected president takes office and that the Army guarantees the temporary character of the present regime.

The winner in the Dec. 2 elections is not expected to take office until late January or early Ferbruary, since the result will not be made public until some time in January.

New Cabinet Formed

Linhares announced formation of a new cabinet including Gen. Salvadore Cesar Obino as minister of war.

Other members of the cabinet announced by Linhares were:

Pedro Leao Velloso, foreign minister; Air Brigadier Armando Trompowsky, air minister; J. Pires Do Rio, finance; T. Sampaio Dopia, justice; Gen. Mendonca Lima, minster of public works and communication; Roberto Carneiro Mendonca, labor; Leitao Da Cunha, education.

Soon after being handed the reins of government before dawn today Linhares—a 59-year-old jurist who has not been identified with any political faction in the country — reassured Brazilians shocked by the swift events that there would be no change in election plans. He appealed to them to "carry to completion the recomposition of the country on a legal basis."

At the same time, a high official in the foreign office declared that the Linhares administration would stand shoulder to shoulder with the United States on foreign policy and would keep all international agreements of the previous government.

City And Schools Employ Tax Survey Firm

Property Evaluation Program Is Set Up

The Board of Trustees of Lubbock Independent School district last night voted unanimously to joint with the City of Lubbock in contracting with G. C. McKinney and Co., of Fort Worth, to make a new valuation on taxable properties within the 100-square mile district.

Under the terms of the contract, McKinney and Co. will be paid a total of $6,750 for its survey inside the city limits, that figure to be paid jointly by the City of Lubbock and the school district at the rate of $3,375 each. For the work in the school district outside the city limits, the firm will be paid an extra $750 by the school district.

McKinney and Co. has posted a $6,750 performance bond in connection with the contract and a partner of the firm, G. B. Whitney, already is in Lubbock preparing to start the work. He will be assisted by a staff of from five to seven persons.

No tax valuation survey has been made here in recent years and old valuations are almost 100 per cent outmoded. McKinney and Co. is a nationally known firm which specializes upon evaluating properties for tax purposes.

Building Starts Soon

In last night's regular monthly business session, held in school business offices, 1007 Texas avenue, it also was voted to take bids on the first two projects of a system wide building program at 7:30 p. m. on November 15, in the business offices. At that time, bids will be received on the construction of a 12-room ward school to be located a half mile south and a half mile east of the "Y" in the Slaton-Tahoka highway on South Avenue H; and on an 8-room addition to McWhorter ward school in Arnett-Benson addition. The latest addition will make of McWhorter, opened last spring, an 18-room school, including workroom, cafeteria and kitchen. Interested contractors may secure copies of plans from the architects, Haynes and Strange, of Lubbock.

The board gave considerable time to plans for a system-wide cafeteria service. Equipment, frozen during the war, is now beginning to become available and Business Manager A. C. Jackson was directed to begin purchase negotiations. Some cafeterias will be in operation with the opening of school next Fall and the board is proceeding on the plan of getting all schools thus equipped as quickly as possible.

New Post Created

At the recommendation of Supt. R. W. Matthews, Carl Bailey was appointed as principal of Central ward school, to take the place of Ishmael Hill at midterm. Mr. Hill will spend the second semester of this year, and next summer, working on his doctorate at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., and at the beginning of the 1946-47 school year will become director of elementary education in the Lubbock system. He will co-ordinate all programs, activities and curricula in the word schools of the city.

On his second year as principal at Central ward, Mr. Hill holds a bachelor's degree from West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon; a master's from University of Colorado, Boulder. Prior to coming here he had wide experience in classroom teaching.

Mr. Bailey holds bachelor and master degrees from Texas Technological college. He has had three years in armed service during the war, previously was on the Junior High faculty here, and prior to that time was a principal at Estelline.

The board also accepted the recommendation of the superintendent to place Mrs. Josephine Ballen-

All Ammunition Controls To End

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30, (AP)—Revocation of all controls on manufacture, delivery and sale of ammunition, effective tomorrow, was announced tonight by the War Production board.

This authorizes unlimited sales to civilians. It sets aside quota restrictions which have been in effect for sportsmen, farmers, ranchers and law enforcement officers.

The move was made possible, WPB said, by the large reductions in military requirements.

WPB said it could not estimate how much additional ammunition may be available immediately as a result of the revocation.

Current Restrictions

Restrictions for the current season had been in effect since Aug. 31. Under them, hunters were authorized to buy 150 rounds of .22 caliber rim-fire cartridges, 40 rounds of center fire rifle ammunition (or 50 rounds of the type usually packaged, 50 to a box), and 100 shotgun shells of any guage.

Farmers, ranchers, professional hunters and trappers, as well as Alaskans, Eskimoes and other dependent on hunting or protection of their crops and livestock for a livelihood, were permitted to buy a little more than sportsmen could.

When WPB put these restrictions into effect it said the industry was planning to increase civilian production in the latter part of this year and in 1946. Production had been limited by quota restrictions on the use of lead.

Machinery Set For War Trials Of Japs

HONOLULU, Oct. 30 (AP)—John C. McCloy, assistant secretary of war, Washington-bound from a globe circling flight, today told newsmen:

"The machinery has been set up for war trials in Japan and hearings soon will get under way.

"Trials of those in higher categories—those accused of crimes against more than one Allied power—will be conducted later. Atrocities in Germany and Japan were about on a par."

Questions On Wage Policy Explained

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—John C. Collett, stabilization administrator, tonight issued rulings and explanations along with the administration's wage-price policy enunciated by President Truman.

Collett set forth these questions and answers in a statement:

Do employers now have to get government approval before increasing wages?

Do Not Need Approval

No. Employers are free to increase wages without government approval. This was a basic change in government wage policy made by President Truman when he issued Executive Order No. 9599 on August 18, 1945.

There are two exceptions. In the building and construction industry, wartime wage controls have been extended until November 18, 1945. Wage controls established by the Department of Agriculture with respect to agricultural labor continue in effect.

Not Basis For Price Boosts

May unapproved wage increases be used for a basis for an increase in price ceilings?

No. The executive order provides that a wage increase may not be used in whole or in part as a basis for seeking an increase in price ceilings, or for resisting otherwise justifiable reductions in price ceilings, or for increasing costs to the United States, unless it has been approved by the government's wage stabilization agencies.

Does the fact that a particular wage increase falls into a class that will be approved by the government's wage stabilization agencies mean that wage increases of this type will be directed by the government?

Not Directed By Washington

No. Just as the government no longer prohibits wage increases in excess of certain standards, it no longer directs them. Wage increases are to be granted by employers or agreed to as the result of collective bargaining, conciliation or arbitration. The standards for approvable wage increases merely determine when increases arrived at in these ways may be used for pricing purposes.

When an employer agrees to a wage increase and puts it into effect without securing approval of its use for pricing purposes, may he seek such approval afterwards?

Yes. By putting a wage increase into effect, an employer waives

President Outlines Broad Program Of Peace For Labor, Management

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—President Truman tonight backed higher wages for American workers generally and in some cases authorized price increases to make them possible.

In a broadcast to the nation, he said most of industry could grant its employes more pay without getting higher ceilings on the goods produced. But in industries considered by the government to be "essential to reconversion," wage boosts necessary to attract needed manpower will be permitted, even if prices rise.

He authorized, also, some other retreats from the stern hold-the-line price policy he laid down immediately after Japanese surrender.

Drastic Wage Cuts Said Feared

Declaring that peacetime cuts in earnings are a "sure road to wide unemployment" if not corrected, he named three classes of workers entitled to wage boosts although they mean rise in prices of the goods they produce.

"I wonder how many of you know that many war workers have already had to take, or will soon have to take, a cut in their wartime pay by one-quarter or more," he said in his long-awaited wage-price broadcast.

"If nothing is done to help the workers in this situation, millions of families will have to tighten their belts by several notches."

Sounds Warning Against Inflation

But the President stated the nation must "above all else hold the line on prices" in general and told labor it has a "stern responsibility" to see that demands for pay increases are reasonable.

Simultaneously with the broadcast on all major networks, he amended the so-called "V-J" stabilization order of Aug. 18 by instructing the stabilization director to approve price increases wherever they are necessary to boost pay for these three types of cases:

First, where the increase in straight-time hourly earnings since January, 1941, has not equalled the rise in living costs between then and September of this year.

Cost of Living Figure Is Explained

(On this point Stabilization Director Collett, in a separate statement, said:

"The cost of living in the nation as a whole has increased approximately 30 per cent since January, 1941. If the average straight-time hourly earnings of employees (in a plant or other unit) have increased by less than 30 per cent since January, 1941, this standard will permit the removal of price obstacles to a wage increase sufficient to make up the difference."

(He said straight time hourly earnings in the majority of industries are currently more than 30 per cent above their January, 1941 level).

Second, where increases are needed to correct inequities in wage rates among plants in the same industry or locality.

Boosts Backed To Insure Full Production

Third, to insure full production in any industry which is designed by the stabilization director as "essential to reconversion" and in which present pay is too low to attract needed workers.

Wage increases would be limited to a relatively few industries under the first grouping, it was believed, but the third might affect a considerable body of labor, depending upon which industries are found "essential."

Mr. Truman made it clear that he expected industry to make wage adjustments, in every case possible, without seeking price compensation.

"While the positions of different industries vary greatly there is room in the existing price structure for business as a whole to grant increases in wage rates," he stated.

No Specific Hourly Plan Backed

Persons who saw a draft of the President's speech earlier were expecting it to propose that employers generally could grant 48 hours' pay for 40 hours' work, but the final text did not make that specific suggestion.

The President said that part of industry's ability to pay higher wages arises from the same thing that creates labor's need—the dropping of overtime and the "down-grading" of workers to jobs calling for less money.

Others will result, he said, from increased productivity per work-

TRUMAN CHARTS THE HIGH ROAD
(An Editorial)

President Truman's address to the nation by radio last night was not an overpowering burst of oratory; it was not bedecked in the spangles of glittering generalities, nor was it an appeal to raw emotion.

It was much more than any of these. It was the honest, decent presentation of an honest, decent American who has carried with him into the White House the innate fairness of the great American middle class which he so well reflects.

Woe be unto the nation unless something very much like Mr. Truman urged becomes the rule and guide of both labor and management during the next few months or the next year. And woe, too, unto whatever leaders of management, or of labor, who may refuse to embrace fairness and justice in their dealings with each other. They shall feel the stinging lash of enlightened public opinion certain to have been stimulated by President Truman's address.

The President's address was thoughtful; it was plain and sensible; it was fair.

He has charted the road. Let the chart be followed to a better, happier, more productive U.S.A.

Senate Action Scheduled Thursday . . .

Tax Reduction Bill Approved By House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP) — Amid new appeals for a balanced budget, the House today voted final approval, 297 to 33, of the first tax-reducing bill in 16 years.

Senate action Thursday on the measure, designed to cut 1946 burdens by $5,920,000,000, will send it to President Truman for his signature.

Sponsors said the bill is intended to increase production and employment, and puts the responsibility for doing so on business.

12 Million Off Rolls

The legislation removes 12,000,000 low income persons from the tax rolls completely, assures millions of others earning up to $50,000 a year tax reductions ranging from 10 to 40 percent or more—with smaller cuts for higher income brackets, and provides special tax treatment for veterans of World war II.

It repeals outright, on January 1, the corporation 85.5 excess profits tax.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the appropriations committee vigorously opposed the bill.

He pointed to an estimated $30,000,000,000 federal deficit in the current fiscal year.

Hopes For Business Rise

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the ways and means committee, which initiated the tax-slashing measure, told the House that if the reduction in burdens increases production and employment, as business spokesmen have claimed, then the trimmed rates might result in no reduction whatever in total revenues.

"We have given business a green light," Doughton declared. "They claimed what they needed was encouragement and incentive to increase production and employment. Now if they don't do it, the responsibility is on them."

Yield 26 Billion Revenue

Experts estimated the bill will yield $26,500,000,000 in revenues in the next calendar year. In 1944 the government collected over $45,000,000,000, while in pre-war years taxes were below $10,000,000,000.

In a nutshell, here is what the bill provides:

Individuals—cuts their burdens $2,644,000,000, by eliminating from the rolls the 12,000,000 who now pay only the three per cent "normal" tax, and reductions for the approximately 30,000,000 other taxpayers.

Corporations—A slash of $3,136,000,000, by repeal of the excess profits levy, elimination of the capital stocks and declared value excess profits tax, and reductions in the normal and surtax rates for business.

Autos, Social Security

Automobiles—eases by $140,000,000 the burden of automobile and truck owners by repeal of the $5 use tax.

Social security—freezes at one per cent each the tax against employes' pay and employers' payrolls. Without this freeze the tax would have advanced to 2.5 per cent against each on January 1.

Veterans—eliminates all income taxation on service pay of enlisted personnel during wartime and gives officers three years in which to settle up their back taxes.

Mad Slaughter By Japs Recalled

MANILA, Oct. 30 (AP)—A mad, indiscriminate slaughter of civilians here last February when troops under command of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita realized they could not hold the city was described today by witnesses at the Japanese general's trial on war crime charges.

Survivors told how infuriated Japanese ran wild along Manila's fashionable Taft avenue, sparing neither women nor children nor the aged and helpless as they hacked, stabbed, shot and raped in a futile frenzy.

Inmates Slaughtered

When American Marines fought their way past the gates of De La Salle college on Feb. 12, Father Francis Joseph Cosgrove testified, a Japanese officer gave the order to slaughter the inmates. Before they were driven out of the place the Japanese had killed 40 men, women and children, including Brother Xavier, the college head.

The witness told how he was giving absolution to an aged fellow-priest when a Japanese bayonet, thrust under his up-raised hand, killed the dying man.

He told how a saber-swinging Japanese officer hacked to pieces a Manila society woman, Mrs. Vasquex Prada, as she tried to shield her little boy after the Japs had killed her husband and three older sons.

Father Cosgrove himself was bayoneted. For a long time, he said, he lay on the floor with two

Parade To Set Off Hallowe'en

ANYONE living in Lubbock, old or young, dress as crazy as possible, carry — ready to use — some kind of noise maker, and come to the city hall tonight to join the rest of the hobgoblins and witches in Lubbock's second annual Hallowe'en parade which is scheduled to begin moving at 7 o'clock

That's the word from the city recreation department, A. C. Hamilton, director, who also announced that a total of $125 in cash awards would be made to 38 different individuals on funniest and most original costumes. The Rotary, Lions, American Business, Optimist, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Kiwanis organizations, and the recreation department are furnishing the money.

The parade will start in front of the city hall, move down Texas to Main, west to Ave. L, south to Broadway, and north to Ninth, meanwhile passing the judges' stand again and disband.

Judges are Mrs. Johnnye Langford, dean of women at Texas Tech; Mrs. W. B. Price, Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal of Roscoe Wilson school; and Rev. John A. Winslow of St. Paul's on the Plains Episcopal church.

Awards include $25 for first, two for $15 each,, three for $10 each, four for $5 each, eight for $3 each, eight for $2 each, and 15 for $1 each.

Police will escort the parade, and the Jaycees will have a safety float. Otherwise, paraders will be on foot.

Sanders school in the northeast part of the city, Boys' club, 2323 Ave. K; and the teen age center, Sixteenth and Ave. J, also plan Hallowe'en celebrations.

House Outlines Post-War Navy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP) — Legislation expressing the "sense" of Congress that the United States shall mainain a post-war Navy of 1,082 fighting ships was passed, 347-0, today by the House.

It lacks the effect of law and does not go to the President even if and when the Senate gives its approval. It is merely an expression of congressional intention for guidance of the Navy and the congressional appropriations committees.

Minimum Number of Ships

The legislation calls for a post-war Navy composed of not fewer than the following numbers and types of ships:

Three large aircraft carriers (Midway type, approximately 45,000 tons).

Twenty-four aircraft carriers (Essex type, approximately 27,000 tons).

Ten light carriers (approximately 11,000 tons).

Seventy-nine escort carriers, eighteen battleships, three large cruisers, 31 heavy cruisers, 48 light cruisers, 367 destroyers, 300 destroyer escorts, 199 submarines, and "sufficient aircraft, auxiliary vessels, mine vessels, patrol vessels, landing craft, district craft, and drydocks" to support the fleet.

One-Third Fully Manned

The total of ships is smaller than the wartime Navy of 1,308 comparable vessels. One-third of it would be kept fully-manned and ready for any emergency, one-third be held in reserve and ready for action on short notice, and one-third would be decommissioned but available for recommissioning.

Latest Navy figures give the current composition of the Navy as: three large aircraft carriers, 27 medium carriers, 10 light carriers, 79 escort carriers, 24 battleships including older types, three large cruisers, 33 heavy cruisers, 57 light cruisers, 450 destroyers, 359 destroyer escorts, and 263 submarines.

All the ships in the post-war Navy either already are in service or are being built under congressional authorization.

Highlights From President's Address On Administration's Wage And Price Policy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Highlights from President Truman's speech on wages and prices tonight:

The American people are entitled to know now that this government stands for prosperity and jobs—not depression and relief.

. . . I believe that industry as a whole can afford substantial wage increases without price increases.

I do not think all of us understand how hard a blow our industrial workers have suffered in the shift from war production to peace production.

If nothing is done to help the workers in this situation, millions of families will have to tighten their belts—and by several notches.

Wage increases are therefore imperative—to cushion the shock to our workers, to sustain adequate purchasing power and to raise the national income.

However, there are important limits upon the capacity of industry to raise wages without getting price increases.

Labor . . . has a stern responsibility to see that demands for wage increases are reasonable.

Labor is the best customer management has; and management is the source of labor's livelihood.

We need more of the good sense, the reasonablness, the consideration for the position of the other fellow, the teamwork which we had during the war.

Allied Bombing Brought Germany To Quicker Collapse, Is Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (U.P.) — Allied strategic bombing brought Germany to the verge of a collapse that would have ended the war within a few months without an actual advance into the Nazi homeland, a civilian survey board reported today.

The board, composed of 12 impartial experts, was assigned more than a year ago to assess the strategic bombing of the Nazi homeland. It is now engaged in a similar study of the bombing of Japan. Franklin D'Olier, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., is chairman of the board.

Blasted German Economy

The long-range bombing of Germany made possible the successful invasion of the continent, the board said, and brought the German economy "to virtual collapse."

"It brought home to the German people the full impact of modern war with all its horror and suffering," the board said. "Its imprint on the German nation will be lasting."

The board did not say that strategic bombing alone won the war but it said that "indications are convincing" that the impending home front collapse would have forced the German armies to quit soon even if the Nazi homeland had not been invaded.

In all the U. S. and British air raids in Germany destroyed or heavily damaged 3,600,000 dwelling units (20 per cent of all German housing), made 7,500,000 people homeless, killed 300,000 and injured another 780,000, the report said.

ger in charge of the school for physically handicapped children. The school, just getting underway, has seven pupils meeting daily in Mrs. Ballenger's home and she instructs others in their own homes. A suitable building to house those students has not yet been found, but will be contracted for and equipped as soon as available. Mrs. Ballenger is a veteran of Lubbock classrooms and was described by Matthews as being "admirably fitted" for the post. The board accepted, with thanks, a gift of $100 from the City P-TA, the money to be spent on the special school.

Since remodeling of the present Junior High school will begin about January 1, Supt. Matthews advised the board that two sessions daily will be held there during the second semester of this year and continue until the first of the two new Junior High buildings can be completed on South Avenues R-Q at Twenty-ninth street. One session will meet between 8 a. m. and 12:30 p. m., daily; the other from 12:30 until 5 p. m.

Matthews announced the enrollment in the system thus far as 7,953, a daily attendance increase of about 500 over the same time last year.

Bonds Are Retired

Business Manager Jackson announced that the board's direction regarding the retirement of $75,000 in 5 per cent bonds held by the State Department of Education had been negotiated through use of monies secured by sale of the major portion of the Central ward property to Sears, Roebuck and Co. The bonds were the remainder of a $100,000 issue on January 1, 1933, and the sale made the average age of the bonds 14 years, instead of 30. Saving in interest aggregates $40,000, Jackson said.

Employment of the following teachers was approved:

Misses Lorene Silman and Bonnie Faye Cogburn, both of Dupre; Norman Heath and Mrs. Sadie M. Throop, both of Hunt; Miss Mary McNeil, Junior High; Miss Amy Gladys Wilhelm, Wilson, and Mrs. Musette Turnbow, K. Carter.

Resignations accepted included those of:

Miss Mary Mathis, Senior High; Miss Dorothy Jennings, McWhorter; Mrs. H. W. Thomas, Hunt, and Mrs. Nina Greenlee, Dupre.

Matthews also announced the return to the Senior Hifh faculty of D. M. Howell, after more than three years of service with the Navy.

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, chairman, presided at the meeting. Trustees present included H. L. Allen, R. F. Bayless, Paul Hardwick and Chas. A. Guy.

House Ties Strings To Funds For Relief In Liberated Areas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30, (AP)—The House appropriations committee tied several legislative strings today to a recommended new $550,000,000 fund for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration (UNRRA).

But it turned down, after hearing State department opposition, a proposed "free press" amendment which would have required nations receiving UNRRA aid to give United States newsmen free access to UNRRA news abroad.

To Provide Aid

The recommended $550,000,000 would boost to $1,350,000,000 the total United States contribution to the agency set up by 45 United Nations to provide relief and rehabilitation to liberated countries.

That was the total amount originally promised by this country as its contribution to the cooperative organization. Total contributions of all nations up to last September 30 were $1,284,166,000.

But Herbert H. Lehman, director general of UNRRA, told the committee an additional appropriation of $1,350,000,000 will be necessary soon.

Deadline Is Set

The committee wrote these restrictions into the legislation:

1. No new relief supplies shall be shipped to any country except China after December 31, 1946, and none to China after March 31, 1947. The committee said it wanted to "establish well in advance a date for cessation of activity."

2. As much as possible, surplus agricultural commodities must be used in filling UNRRA's needs.

3. None of the money shall be used after December 31, 1945, unless UNRRA certifies that recipient countries have agreed to make reception on exportsc,ReliefitETA available to UNRRA all information on trade and barter agreements and satisfactory information on exports. This requires recipient nations also to agree to furnish UNRRA inspectors with "all necessary facilities, credentials, documents and safe conduct" necessary for on-the-scene investigations.

British Score Length Of Atrocity Trials

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 30 (AP)—The "Beast of Belsen," Josef Kramer, laughed long and loud today when someone gave him a cartoon from the London Sunday Express showing him with a long white beard being wheeled away from "Ye Olde Lueneburg trials" in 1995.

The war crimes trial against Kramer, the commandant, and 44 guards of the Belsen concentration camp is now in its seventh week. The British military court is a month behind schedule.

Shoe Rationing Is Ended Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The end of shoe rationing was ordered today, effective at 12:01 a. m. Wednesday.

Terminating a program which began February 8, 1943, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said rationing can be lifted because shoe production has increased substantially since V-J day.

Some trouble spots can be expected for a while, Bowles said, adding that customers "may not always be able to buy the styles they want.

No Hardships Likely

"But both the War Production board and the OPA have agreed . . . that no general hardship should result from the discontinuance of shoe rationing . . ."

Bowles said the outlook for November and December is for 29 to 30 million pairs of shoes each month. This, he added, would be equal to demand before the war.

OPA called on shoe merchants to give preferential treatment to returning servicemen and women.

PLENTIFUL SUPPLY OF SMART FOOTWEAR COMING

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—Recent expansion of shoe production will make it possible in a short time to provide a wide array of smart footwear in full size ranges such as the consumer has not had for several years, the National Shoe Manufacturers association said today on announcement of the end of shoe rationing.

The association statement added that with leather and manpower becoming more readily available to the industry, shoe rationing no longer is needed, and its end would not create a run on retail shoe stores "any more than did the termination of the coffee rationing program."

"There are sufficient shoes at the retail level to take care of the normal wants of consumers providing judgment is used both by those who desire new footwear as well as those who have the responsibility of distributing the available supply in an equitable manner," it said.

U. S. Moves To Cut Off Relief Abroad To All Except Chinese

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP) — Machinery started moving in Congress to cut off U. S. relief abroad, except in China, at the end of next year.

The House Appropriations committee voted a new $550,000,000 sum to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration (UNRRA) but wrote into the bill these provisions:

1—Relief shipments, as far as the U. S. is concerned, should be shut off for the most part at the end of 1946. Aid to China should be extended through March, 1947.

2—After Dec. 31, 1945, all nations must show they are making trade and barter agreement information available to the United States or UNRRA aid will be stopped.

3—Surplus agricultural supplies should be purchased for UNRRA use wherever possible. about $100,000,000 worth of Army "K" rations and other surplus foods already are earmarked.

4—UNRRA should scale down high salaries. The committee said 300 of the 1,136 employes in Washington are paid more than $5,000 a year each.

The committee refused to write into the bill proposals by Reps. Herter (R-Mass) and Brown (R-Ohio) that nations receiving UNRRA aid be required to give American reporters free access to UNRRA news in their countries. A floor fight impends on this however when the House takes up the measure tomorrow.

Director General Herbert H. Lehman told the committee he didn't see how free press provisions could be enforced by UNRRA.

U.S., With 60,000 Marines, Plays Part In Disturbances In China

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30—You may not like it, but the United States of America is playing a part in China's current disturbances, already labelled by some as civil war.

In North China 60,000 U. S. Marines have landed, and are rying to keep the situation in hand until Chinese Central government forces arrive to regroupy this area which until recently was in the grip of Japanese forces.

WHITE

In so doing, the Americans are preventing the vital lines of communications and the main ports from falling into the hands of the Chinese communists. The Marines have instructions to disarm Japanese troops, maintain order, and to avoid interfering in internal Chinese affairs.

Two Chinese Views

But their presence is interperted two ways by Chinese. Chungking naturally feels that the Marines are lending a hand to keep order until its own legal authority can be reasserted by its own troops.

The Chinese Communists, on the other hand, say that the United States definitely is meddling in internal Chinese affairs.

No responsible Red official, however, has questioned the sincerity of this government in its well-known policy of giving assistance, when asked, to maintain order and thus help to prevent outbreak of civil war.

The American policy was less active before Japan surrendered. Until that time this country had tried to use is influence with both the Central government and the Communists to bring them together in a political settlement of their long-standing dispute. With the surrender of Japan, however, Chiang Kai-Shek could not move his forces back into Japanese-held areas quickly, so this country provided Army air transportation for his troops, and then supplemented this service with about three divisions of Marines who landed along the coast of strategic North China in order to preserve the important port and communication facilities which are necessary to China's recovery.

Legion Post Here To "Power" Bond Drive

The American Legion will furnish the motive power in the Victory Loan drive according to Neil W. Wright, Lubbock county War Finance committee chairman.

A committee from Allen Bros. post will be selected sometime this week and a concerted campaign to put Lubbock county's quota over the top earlier than any previous war loan drive will be made.

The committee, more than likely composed of several veterans of World war II, will supplement present machinery of the war bond campaigns both in the city and rural areas, H. J. Kendrick, post commander, said.

"We will use every agency which has worked heretofore in the drives in an effort to make this campaign the greatest ever," Kendrick said.

The Legion has a membership of approximately 550 veterans of World wars I and II, between 325 and 350 of whom are veterans of the latter war.

"Most of these boys have been on the fighting fronts and know what war really is," Kendrick said. "We hope the citizens of Lubbock county will do their part in the Victory Loan drive to show their appreciation for the fighting our boys have done on the battle-fronts."

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

OWLS may hoot tonight; witches may ride the sky; ghosts may flee and black cats arch their backs at the carryings-on and mirrors crack themselves in glee at the whole procedure, but to the younger fry Hallowe'en is one of the best holidays on the calendar.

The writer has checked with several of her young friends and learned that they are eager for the annual fun and fright parties and are looking forward to the parade tonight. Everyone likes to "dress up" and tonight presents the occasion when the imagination can have full reign.

THIS might as well be named St. Valentine's day; for more numerous than the traditional scary pranks and hijinks are its sentimental customs about love, love, love. This is supposed to be an excellent time for peering into the future. Once upon a time people believed that on this night the lord of death summoned all the creatures who had been condemned to inhabit animals' forms, and decided what shape they were to take for the coming year.

Now the animal idea remains only in grinning black cats and hollowed out pumpkins; the crystal-gazing element is dominated by Cupid instead of witches.

Various parts of the United States have their own lovelorn customs. In Massachusetts, the girl who is the first to draw an apple from a tub of water with her teeth will be married first, however dubious a qualification for marriage that may seem.

In the South they use the grab-bag technique. A miniature Druid bowl is set in a little bowl on the table and into it go figs, dates, raisins and other tidbits wrapped in tinfoil. The gal who pulls out the choicest sweet will marry within a year.

This custom is said to have its origin in the ancient taking of omens from the death struggles of creatures burned in sacrificial fires.

If these customs seem difficult and complex, it must be remembered that so is love.

BRONC BUSTIN' QUEENS

BETTY Clarke, Associated Press beauty editor, went around to Madison Square Garden the other day to seek the beauty secrets of the Texas girls there for the rodeo, after deciding that Texas has beautiful women as well as fine cattle.

She said she found that besides all the fresh air the Texas girl gets, she is a good eater, making sure she gets a solid meal instead of nibbling on lettuce and carrots.

Miss Clarke stayed for a meal and was amazed to see that the Lone Star girls loaded up on meats and vegetables, topped off with plenty of milk. The beauty writer said they attributed their strong bones to meat and their good coloring to vegetables.

Miss Clarke said she liked that golden skinned, well-scrubbed look the Texans had and their preference to use very little makeup, mainly a lipstick of a rodeo red shade.

High German Officials Tense As Time For Nuernberg Trials Nears

NUERNBERG, Germany, Oct. 30 (AP)—Nineteen pairs of eyes—the eyes of American soldiers—are keeping constant watch on 19 accused war criminals in Nuernberg jail, and tonight they told what they saw through the portholes, in a typical four-hour watch.

Pfc. Edward Hack, jr., of Detroit, kept Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl constantly in view.

"He was at his table," Hack said. "He had a book before him. He would read a little and then make notes on a slip of paper. Once he got up and smoked a cigar. Some of the ashes fell on his blue uniform. But he looked strong. He looked okay."

Actions Described

The cell of Konstantin Von Neurath, former Nazi foreign minister and later "protector" of Moravia and Bohemia, was guarded by Pfc. Frank Boggio, St. Charles, Mich. Boggio said:

"They tell me he used to be foreign minister before Ribbentrop took over. He was writing letters when I first went on guard. He would brush his hands against his pants. Finally he got up and went to the sink and washed his hands and face. He washed very carefully and took a long time to dry himself. He combed his hair, dusted himself and went back to writing letters."

Ribbentrop Asks For Chaplain

Pfc. William F. Rubino, Elizabeth, Pa., guarded the cell of Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Nazi foreign minister, and reported:

"I had been on guard maybe half an hour when he came back from interrogation. He went to the writing table and wrote a brief note, and then handed it to me, and asked if I would please hand it to the sergeant of the guard. It was important, he said, that he see the chaplain right away.

"He said he had to see the chaplain because it would help him in the interrogation. He don't look so good. He's gray. He sat down and started to write, but he had a picture of his wife and children before him and every now and then he would stop writing and look at their pictures and shake his head."

Von Papen Unworried

The cell of Franz Von Papen, Nazi diplomat, was guarded by Pfc. Frank Crawford of Gaffney, S. C. Crawford said:

"Von Papen was a relaxed man, really relaxed. He read a book. He had a big stack of paper by him and some documents, but he seemed fascinated by what he was reading. I couldn't see the title. Finally he sent word to the sergeant of the guard that he hadn't had his exercise. They took him out. After a while they brought him back.

"He looked pretty good. He had a slice of black bread, and he ate his bread and drank a cup of coffee. While he was doing this the chaplain came. Von Papen seemed really glad to see the chaplain.

Doenitz Walks Constantly

Pfc. Andrew F. Nimic of Tacoma, Wash., guarded the cell of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, German Navy chief who succeeded Hitler as Fuehrer in the last days of the war.

Nimic said Doenitz "paced up and down his cell almost the entire morning, with hands clasped behind him," and added: "He had something on his mind. He tried to write once or twice, but couldn't sit that still.

Keitel Busy At Desk

The cell of Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, was guarded by Pfc. Patrick John Williamson, Philipsburg, N. J., who said:

"Except for his uniform, he looked like a business man, briskly working at his desk. He had a pile of papers and these he consulted at intervals, writing notes all the time."

Two Whiteface Youths Enlist In Air Forces

Bobby D. Cook, 17-year-old son of W. C. Cook of Whiteface, and Laurence Fisher, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Fisher of Whiteface, have enlisted in the Army Air forces at the Lubbock Army Recruiting station.

Pvt. Cook attended and played basketball at Tatum, N. M., and Levelland, Texas, High schools. For his Army service, Cook requested his AAF assignment in the European theater.

Pvt. Fisher graduated from the Whiteface High school and had been working in the oil field prior to enlistment. For his Army service Fisher also selected the AAF with assignment in the European theater.

Both enlistees had the written consent of their parents which is required for enlistment of seventeen year-olds. By voluntary enlistment they are assured of a promotion within six months, and become eligible for the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Men of 17 who choose to make the Army a career may retire after 20 years service or at the age of 37. Retiring at 37 he will receive retirement pay of $68 to $97 a month for the rest of his life. And if he stays in the Army 30 years, or until he is 47 years old he may retire with pay of $108 to $155 a month for life.

Veteran Back In Tech To Complete Studies

Vernon Oakes, recently discharged from the Army Air forces, is back in school at Texas Technological college to complete requirements for a petroleum engineering degree.

Textbooks must seem a tame lot to Oakes, former lieutenant and pilot of a P-47 fighter-bomber in Italy ten months where he flew 102 missions against the Germans with the Twelfth Air force.

He's determined, however, to get his degree and with the aid of his charming wife, the former Ida Ellen Arrant of his home town of Santa Anna, Oakes puts in long hours these nights "trying to get back on the beam" in his classroom studies.

Right now he's looking forward to Tech's homecoming Nov. 10, when one of his former roommates, Lt. J. R. Calahan of the Marine Air force, comes here for a brief leave. Oakes, Calahan and Sgt. Choc Hutcheson roomed together back in 1940-43 when they were in Tech.

Oakes entered service in Feb., 1943, trained in Texas, Oklahoma and Idaho before going overseas in October, 1944. He returned to the States last July 13 and was discharged Oct. 15. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters, the ETO ribbon with two battle stars and a Presidential Unit citation.

He is a junior student and needs three more semesters to complete requirements for a degree. He and his wife reside at 2207 Thirteenth.

New Service Officer Aide Is Named Here

To assist veterans in loan matters under provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights Mrs. C. D. Eaves has been named a member of the staff of the Lubbock county service office, Geo. Berry, chairman of the Lubbock Civic service committee, said Tuesday.

Mrs. Eaves will cooperate with Lubbock county service officer, Jack Hall, in loan matters, screening loan applicants and qualifying them for loans so that they may go to the financial institution of their choice for their loans.

Mrs. Eaves recently spent two weeks in the Republic National bank at Dallas, studying loan procedure and applications and learning how screening of applicants is conducted there.

The Gallup Poll Shows:

Public Needs More Information On Dread Infantile Paralysis

PRINCETON, N. J.—Each year of the past three years has seen an infantile paralysis rate in this country of disconcerting proportions.

There has never been a period during which infantile paralysis has occurred to such an extent three years in a row—at least not since comparable records have been kept. So far this year (through October 20) 11,000 cases have been reported. Last year the total was 19,063, the year before 12,429.

Health organizations have done a remarkable job in educating the public about infantile paralysis, a poll just completed by the Institute shows, but considerable work remains to be done.

A large section of the public has somewhat exaggerated fears of the effects of the disease. Approximately one-third think that poliomyelitis always leaves its victims crippled or paralyzed. Medical statistics show, however, that this is not the case. Out of every 100 people stricken with infantile, about 50 recover with no extensive treatment after the disease, while 30 recover entirely after a period of treatment, and the remaining 20 are left with some demonstrable weakness or die of the disease. The number who die, however, is less than five out of every hundred stricken.

Other highlights of the survey on what the general public knows about polio follows.

Approximately half the population think the disease is contagious, while the other half either believe it is not or express no opinion on the matter. Medical experts agree that the disease is infectious (resulting from virus) and may be contagious—communicable from one person to another. There is a difference of opinion among authorities, however, on the question of contagion.

Only slightly more than half of the people questioned could recognize the disease by its fancy name, poliomyelitis.

About half the country has heard of the Sister Kenney method of treatment, and of those willing to express an opinion on the matter, the great majority say they think this massage-hot pack treatment is beneficial.

The question in the survey, with a tabulation of replies:

"Can you tell me another name for poliomyelitis or polio?"

Correct answer	57%
Don't know and Incorrect	43

Nation Said On Verge Of Biggest Industrial Boom In U. S. History

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The United States is on the threshhold of the biggest peacetime industrial boom in the country's history, according to Sander S. Klein, of the United Press Washington staff, who has just completed a 32-day, 7,500-mile aerial tour to survey reconversion conditions. But, he reports in the following dispatch, it will be some time before Americans can get all the things they've had to do without during the war. With 15 other reporters, he visited 55 plants in 28 industrial communities and talked with some of the country's leading businessmen. He sums up in the following dispatch the panorama of reconversion.)

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Has industrial reconversion been accomplished?

If we're talking about the machinery in place to make the pots and pans, automobiles, radios and the many other items we've had to do without for about four years, the answer is:

Reconversion is almost completed.

Items Being Manufactured

If we're talking about walking into stores and showrooms first thing in the morning and getting these things on demand, the answer is:

No.

These answers were apparent to all of us, wherever we went on our reconversion tour — in the South, the Southwest, the Pacific coast, the Midwest and the East. We saw spanking new automobiles rolling off production lines. We watched new refrigerators, new radios, new washing machines, new electric gadgets of all kinds taking shape on assembly lines.

But Only In Small Amounts

But the fact was that only a trickle of all these items were flowing out of the factories. Why, I asked the men who were responsible for making them? The answers were the same all over.

"We need more men in our factories."

"Our parts supplies plants are on strike."

"We can't get all the parts we need because our suppliers won't make them at the OPA ceiling price."

"We're confused. We can't plan our production until the government announces a national policy on wages and prices."

Great Boom Is Seen

"Labor is restless. It won't produce as efficiently as it once did."

One industrial leader summed up the trouble in these words: "We don't need to worry about reconverting our plants. We've got that problem licked. What we need is a reconversion of the mind."

Despite the uncertainty of the present, every industrialist we met was optimistic about the economic future of the nation. They were confident that the greatest peacetime production boom in the nation's history was at hand and that it could start rolling almost overnight if the restarining factors could be eliminated. They cited these favorable factors:

1. The war left a legacy of the greatest industrial plant the nation has ever had.
2. New mass production techniques—a lot of them short cuts—were learned during the war.
3. New kinds of products have been developed and older products have been improved.
4. Many industries are going to have to expand their plant and distribution facilities to meet the great pentup demand for consumer goods.

Order Abolishing Jap Diplomatic Corps Emphasizes Tokyo's Plight

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The eclipse of Japan as a world power is strikingly emphasized by the Allied order forbidding her to have normal diplomatic relations with other countries.

The first mild Japanese protest against the peace terms being imposed came when the Zaibatsu was ordered broken up. The protest was unavailing, and the family-controlled financial and industrial empire is in the process of dissolution.

Understand Loss of Armies

Now the Japanese foreign minister has appealed to Gen. Douglas MacArthur for leniency in the foreign relations edict. Since the order did not originate with MacArthur, but was transmitted by him on behalf of the joint chiefs of staff in Washington, it is improbable that the Allied Supreme Commander can do more than pass the appeal along, with or without recommendations.

The loss of their Army, Navy and Air Force seems to have been accepted by the Japanese as an inevitable consequence of defeat. It is a penalty they can understand. On top of that, they see themselves deprived indefinitely of a Merchant Marine, without which the island kingdom has no chance of regaining a strong economic position.

Diplomatic Order Was Shock

The diplomatic embargo came as an additional shock. Perhaps it is a wise measure; as much as anything else, it serves notice on the Japanese that they are on rigid probation, and that they will have to prove their regeneration conclusively before they will be admitted again to the society of civilized nations.

The order puts Japan in the same outlaw class as Germany. There is this difference: the Germans have no central government and cannot be represented abroad in the usual manner. The Japanese have been permitted to government, but one of its normal sovereign privileges has been rescinded. The Tokyo foreign office is reported to have protested that this action goes beyond the Potsdam terms, although the argument is rather academic. The Potsdam declaration made no guaranty covering the subject.

Must Break Off Relations

Under the order, Japan is required to break off diplomatic relations with all foreign countries and surrender her diplomatic property and archives even in neutral nations. Sweden and Switzerland, the "protecting power," would function only in the interests of individual Japanese abroad, having merely informal contact with Tokyo.

The immediate effect will be that Japan's intelligence and espionage system in foreign countries will be smashed. That may be the reason why the order came from the chiefs of staff, functioning as a military body, rather than through the State departments. It is possible that when the diplomatic and consular archives have been examined, evidence may be found for war criminal charges.

After that, the main effect on Japan will be the lack of commercial attaches, who always went with embassies and legations abroad. Tokyo will be blinded in trade matters as well as military ones.

As long as these restrictions remain in effect, the resurgence of Japan as anything but a minor factor in world affairs will be entirely in accordance with the victor nations in World War II.

Man Hunts Deer, But Winds Up With Bears

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Oct. 30 (AP)—Trailing a deer he and his companions had shot, Willis Jackson looked up to see three bears charging at him—and his gun was empty.

B. Kimmey shot one of the bears—a 650-pounder—and it dropped seven feet from Jackson as J. B. Withrow killed a 350-pound cub. While they were taking care of these, Jackson loaded his rifle and killed the third one—another 350-pound cub.

"A minute later and I'd have been a goner," said Jackson today as he proudly exhibited the pelts.

Red Raiders Continue Hard Scrimmage For Owl Battle

With cripples still in evidence on the practice field, the Texas Tech Red Raiders continued scrimmage sessions Tuesday afternoon, getting ready for he surprising Rice Owls battle at Houston Saturday afternoon.

The Owls, who knocked over high riding Texas last week, will be the fourth Southwest Conference foe on the schedule of the Red Raiders, with the local club still seeking its first win over the vaunted conference teams of the state. The club's closest approach to a win is the 7-7 tie with the Baylor Bears.

Walmsley Due Back

The Rice team will be even tougher this week, and stronger by the addition of George Walmsley, the All-Conference back from Goose Creek, who returns to the club this week after a sojourn with the mighty Navy club.

Most of the scrimmage was confined to the reserves Tuesday, with a few regulars mixed into the action. One squad spent much of the session working on the timing of plays at one end of the field, under the watchful eye of Assistant Coach Polk Robison, while Coach Morgan conducted the scrimmage.

Several boys were showing up nicely during the scrimmage session, and the session was devoted to shaping an offense to be hurled at the Rice Owls Saturday.

Owls Add Strength For Texas Tech Tilt

HOUSTON, Oct. 30. (AP)— Bolstered by the addition of seven newcomers from Louisiana Tech, plus the welcome news that Bob Nemir, jarring right-half back, would remain at Rice Institute to continue his college work, the Owls tore into the first heavy practice drill for Saturday's tilt with Texas Tech of the Border Conference.

Along with the new gridsters came Charley Howard, 1944 Rice Institute tackle, who is out of the service now and returns to school to resume his studies.

George Walmsley, all-conference back last year with Rice who left the Institute for Annapolis and later resigned, was another in uniform for today's scrimmage and he will be ready to play Saturday.

Five linemen and two backs showed up in the transfers from Louisiana Tech and they wasted no time donning a uniform and joining the Owls.

John Graves and Paul Larmour, two rangy 195 pound tackles; Gerald Emerson, 170 pound guard; Don North, 170 pound end; Jack Morgan, 170 pound center; Bill Witmer, 170 pound back and Doug McCoy, 165 pound back, were the new arrivals.

Another bit of good news in the Rice camp was the appearance of Theo Chmelik in uniform for the drill.

Bobby Layne Returns To Texas Longhorns

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 30 (AP) — Bounding Bobby Layne, passing specialist and all conference back last year, returns to the University of Texas grid squad Nov. 1 to strengthen the Steers for their Southwest Conference stretch drive.

Layne, a freshman last year and one of Texas' best passers in history, has completed his Merchant Marine service and will register for a new school term beginning this week.

He adds to a list of returnees and transfers which might enhance the power and versatility of the Longhorns.

Ralph Ellsworth, an all-conference back at Texas in 1943 before he entered the U. S. Naval Academy from which he has resigned, rejoints the squad as a tailback. Ellsworth and Byron Gillory — who has been running from the tailback slot for Texas this year —probably will cause Layne to be switched to a fullback.

Neely Picked As Coach Of Week

HOUSTON, Oct. 30. (U.P.)— Bangup practice sessions were credited by Jess Neely for the Rice win over Texas as United Press today picked the shy Rice coach from a nation of grid mentors as "coach of the week."

The soft-spoken Tennessean admitted he wasn't too surprised at the 7-6 Rice victory.

"I've never had a more attentive group in practice than those boys last week," he said.

A grid perfectionist, Neely earned the United Press spot-light when his underdog eleven knocked the high - riding Longhorns from the Southwest pedestal and opened up the conference race.

"It's right unusual what a bunch of kids can do for you," Neely, never one to exaggerate, said of the U. P. selection.

He never points his team toward a particular game but stresses fundamentals and is happiest when the squad improves each week. He's more proud of this year's Rice eleven which had beaten only one team before Texas.

Win or lose, Neely - coached elevens are usually well-tutored, fighting teams and years ago the coach sold himself to Houstonians with his ability to teach precision ball.

A Vanderbilt immortal, Neely came to Rice in 1940 with a five-year contract. Three years later the Rice fathers voted him another five year agreement to sew him up in Houston until 1950. His record at Rice is 30 won, 25 lost and two tied.

A close pal of Duke's Wallace Wade, sharp-eyed Jess graduated from Vanderbilt in 1924 where he played in the backfield on offense and as end on defense. After graduation he did a hitch at Alabama under Wade and then took over as head coach at Clemson in 1931. Nine years later Rice officials coaxed him away.

Neely has a law degree but limits his briefing to grid sessions.

Crimson Tide Hopes For Major Bowl Bid

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 30. (AP) —If this year's edition of the Crimson Tide becomes the ninth Alabama football team to visit one of the nation's major bowls since 1925, Coach Frank Thomas believes stout line play and a "great team spirit" should share the credit equally with Harry Gilmer's great passing.

Ranked fourth nationally in the Associated Press football ratings poll, the Alabama team faces in its remaining games only one team conceded more than an outside chance of spoiling the Tide's unbeaten, untied record.

That game, already a sellout, is the homecoming contest against Mississippi State here Dec. 1.

Coach Thomas shuns talk of bowl games, but he is not one of the calamity howlers who won't admit a team's merit until the gun has been fired in the final game. Gilmer was praised by Thomas as the "best passer I ever coached" last year before the 157-pound Birmingham boy had been in a college game.

Littlefield To Play Ballinger

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 30. (Special) — The game that all West Texas has longed to see is on the grid menu for this week. The Littlefield Wildcats are going down to play the Ballinger Bearcats in a cat fight that is sure to see plenty of fur flying.

The feats of these two point-a-minute ball clubs have been writing gridiron history for two years over the West Texas country, and fans have clamored for a meeting of these teams with the legendary records that no other two schools in the state can match.

High Scoring Clubs

Both are high scoring ball clubs that don't believe in pulling their punches, and through seven games this year, Littlefield has scored 356 points to their opponents 18. Ballinger, in six games, has scored 309 points to 33 for their opponents. Littlefield is undefeated and untied in seven games, and Ballinger has lost one game, a 13-0 loss to Class AA Abilene. Ballinger has one victory over Class AA foes, a 20-7 win over Sweetwater.

The legend of the Ballinger club goes back beyond the Littlefield "glory days" and only one Class A team has beaten the Bearcats since 1940, this a stunning upset at the hands of the Seymour Panthers last year in the regional finals.

The toughest fight that Ballinger has faced from a Class A team this year was a 39 to 13 win over McCamey. Since that time, the Bearcats have clawed Loraine, 100 to 0, Lakeview, 60 to 0, and last week won over Brady, 90 to 0. Abilene is the only team to hold the Bearcats scoreless in many moons.

Littlefield started last season with a coach, then J. Fikes moved to town, and took over the boys. The Wildcats started slow, but gained speed as the season went along, rolling into the finals of the regional playoff with Merkel with a record of ten straight wins, and rolling up 348 points to 64 over the ten game span.

Littlefield lost to Billy Wayne Frasier and company of Merkel, 24 to 14, in the finals. On the same day, Ballinger lost to Seymour, 13-7. Littlefield hasn't lost a game since, and Ballinger only one.

Littlefield's toughest test this year was two weeks ago with the Hereford club, a team unbeaten and unscored on, and came through with flying colors for a 13 to 6 win.

Many local fans are expected to make the trek to Ballinger this week for the top Class A game of the state.

McCARTY TO STAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—Joe McCarthy expects to manage the New York baseball Yankees for "ten more years if my health stays as good as it is now," he told sportswriters at a dinner in honor of former scribes back from service.

Westerners Get Set For Brownfield Tilt

A battle that will pair two teams that drew lots of "top picking" at the start of the season, but suffered setbacks in the first two conference games of the year, will be the menu Friday night at Tech stadium, when the Lubbock Westerners tie into the Brownfield Cubs in a conference battle.

In getting ready for that battle, The Westerners staged a rugged scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon at Chapman field as the first rough drill of the pre-game conditioning period, and Coaches Dixie White and George Philrick came out of the session well pleased.

Westerners Pick Up

The Westerners reached a season's peak last week, and both White and Philbrick feel confident that the team is "up to stay" and started the week with the team in the best condition of several weeks.

George Brewer, ace ball carrier, and top scorer of the club, was well battered in the Plainview game, and was still limping Tuesday, but likely will be ready to "go the route" by Friday night.

Brewer was the only man not taking part in the scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon.

Lanham, Modawell Shine

John Lanham, who made a brief return to the lineup last week, was looking great in the scrimmage Tuesday, and was ripping off some nice gains. Lanham should be back to top condition by Friday.

The outstanding lineman for the Westerners was Ike Modawell, who started the season as a regular guard, then gave way to little L. D. Pierce in the last two games. Modawell seemed to be started a great comeback battle to regain his starting berth.

White indicated Tuesday night that there would be plenty of rough work during the week.

In conference games to date, Lubbock has been beaten by Borger and Plainview, while Brownfield has lost to Amarillo and Pampa.

DINNER IS SELLOUT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 30. (U.P.)—A complete sellout was reported today for the testimonial dinner honoring Pop Boone, Fort Worth Press sports editor, to be held tonight in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Texas.

Short speeches will be made by representatives of practically every kind of sports.

CANADA SEEKS GAMES

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 30 (AP) — Canada has started a campaign to hold the 1948 Olympic Games.

Army Again Voted Nations Top Team

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—For the ninth straight week over a two-year span, Army's unbeaten and untied Cadets have been ranked the No. 1 football team in the country.

Participating in the Associated Press weekly poll, 106 sports writers throughout the nation today gave the West Pointers a total of 1,040 points on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc. Ninety-one of the scribes put the Cadets first.

Notre Dame and Navy, both unbeaten and untied and who clash this week at Cleveland, maintained their No. 2 and No. 3 rankings with 899 and 798 points, respectively.

Unbeaten and untied Alabama vaulted into fourth place at 706 points while undefeated, but tied Indiana took over fifth at 457.

Ohio State climbed back to sixth place at 317 by upsetting Minnesota. Pennsylvania at 254, St. Mary's at 233, Oklahoma Aggies at 189 and Michigan at 154 round out the top ten.

Virginia, Texas, Southern California, UCLA, Tulsa, Georgia Tech, Arkansas, Georgia, North Carolina and Wake Forest received honorable mention.

Irish Squad Packed By Veteran Reserves

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 30. (AP)—Like the Notre Dame hordes of Knute Rockne's day, the undefeated Fighting Irish of Hugh Devore will wade into Navy at Cleveland Saturday bristling with battle-tested shock-troops.

As a matter of fact, Notre Dame reserves have carried the load against all except one of five Irish victims. In 300 game minutes to date, the varsity has played fewer than 140 minutes as a unit. It was the second, third, fourth, and even fifth stringers who mauled Georgia Tech, Pittsburgh, Dartmouth and Iowa.

After Notre Dame's bruising opener against Illinois when the Irish had to go all out to win 7-0, enemy scouts spent more time looking at their player programs than their work charts as Devore systematically emptied his bench.

That means, theoretically, unbeaten Navy will know a lot less concerning the Irish attack than Devore has learned about the Midshipmen, who haven't been able to spare the horses in getting by Duke, Georgia Tech and Penn.

But Navy can paste this in its gold-braided hat. The Irish, scrubs and all, have gained 1,876 yards in five games for an average of 375 per game.

Wrestling Card Set For Tonight

Everything was in readiness for the return of wrestling to Lubbock, and the first card of the season is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena on the Plainview cutoff, Promoter Pete Hallas reported last night.

Six of the top notch performers now working in the Southwest have been signed for the opening card here, with Babe Ritchie, well known Lubbock ring figure, scheduled as the third man in the ring.

The Hood, who keeps his identity a secret, has been lined up for the main event, a best two out of three fall match with a 90 minute time limit. He will be paired with Tony Ross, another well known performer in the Southwest.

The semi-final, a two out of three fall match with a 45 minute time limit, will pair two more well known ring masters in Milt Olsen, who has been performing for some time in the Midwest, and George Hackenschmidt, who recently came to this area from Milwaukee, where he has been a popular performer.

Starting off the grunt and groan program will be a one fall or 30 minute time limit battle between Jose Manuel and Ivan Jones, a battle that promises plenty of fast action.

REDSKINS SIGN TODD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)— Dick Todd, fleet-running back of prewar days, today signed a two year contract with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. A Navy lieutenant now being discharged, Todd expects to be available for Sunday's game here with the Chicago Cardinals.

Boy births i nthe world are at a higher percentage than girl births; for every 100 girls, 106 boys are born.

Chandler Rules In Favor Of Cincinnati

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—A. B. (Happy) Chandler, in his first official decision as baseball commissioner, today allowed the claims of Cincinnati Reds to seven players of the Birmingham club of the Southern Association.

Chandler's decision was announced by Leslie O'Connor, his special assistant, although the commissioner disclosed he had acted in the case earlier today at Washington.

O'Connor released a ruling signed by Chandler which said:

"On the basis of an Oct. 26 hearing, it is my opinion that Cincinnati has fulfilled its part of a working agreement with the Birmingham baseball club and is entitled to the player contracts it has selected from Birmingham under that agreement."

(At the hearing which was held in Washington, G. "Jeb" Jebeles, Birmingham president, had contended the Reds failed to send Birmingham qualified players under a working agreement which constituted a breach of contract.

Don't Cuss Labor Czars

Put The Blame Where It Belongs

MORE and more, the people are being informed of the real miscreants in the labor-management wrangle which is holding up reconversion, weakening the nation's economic structure and fomenting unrest and suspicion among our people.

Back of it all, as we have said before, are the politicians: those who have traded legal immunity for blocks of votes and those who are fearful of passing legislation to protect the majority of the people because to do so might lose them some regimented support at the polls.

The Scripps-Howard newspapers, long ardent supporters of responsible organized labor, are the latest American publications to place the blame squarely where it belongs. Under the caption "Don't Get Mad At Petrillo," those newspapers, published in a score or more of sizeable U. S. cities, recently pointed out:

"A new, improved kind of radio—frequency modulation, or FM—started in a small way before the war and is the basis for a promising postwar industry. Or was, until James Caesar Petrillo, dictator of the AFL Musicians union, issued his latest ukase.

"Petrillo has notified major radio stations that they must pay a duplicate crew of musicians to stand by, doing nothing, when any musical program is broadcast by FM as well as by standard radio.

"For instance, if a concert by the New York Philharmonic Symphony is broadcast by both methods, the station must not only pay union wages to the 104 members of that orchestra. It must also pay union wages to 104 other musicians who don't play a note to earn the money.

"Well, the radio stations say they can't afford to do that. Advertising sponsors pay them no more for a broadcast by both methods than for a broadcast only by standard radio. And so, they say, FM will have to be limited to recorded music. Which means, we think, a much smaller market for special FM receiving sets and a much smaller number of job opportunities for people who might have been employed to produce and sell such sets.

"However, there's no use in getting mad at Petrillo. He is acting within his rights, as defined by the Supreme court of the United States. In recent years the court has held that unions are immune to prosecution under federal law, not only for compelling employment of useless and unnecessary labor, but for almost any other conceivable form of trade-restricting, price-boosting, public-hurting activity.

"It might do some good to get mad at Congress, and to be vocal about it. For instance, although it has the authority and, we think, the duty to act, has never done anything to correct the damage done by those Supreme court decisions."

Petrillo's action in regard to FM broadcasting is only one of many examples of how labor czars are stomping on the rights of others—not only of management, but of the public's, as well. It is only one instance of how special privileges have been given labor leaders in return for their regimenting votes to keep many current federal officeholders in power.

Most members of the Congress, going before the people for re-election next year, feel that the greatest threat to their holding their jobs will come from ex-service men opponents and block voting of veterans. Perhaps that is true. But also a high hurdle for most of them will be the public's knowledge that they have failed miserably to control predatory labor, as they previously controlled predatory business, and have left the majority of the people at the mercy of irresponsible and selfish labor bosses.

Every day, more and more people are growing angry over being "pushed around" because the government has failed to give them the protection which is rightfully theirs and unless Congress gets busy a great many of its members will discover, in 1946, that the CIO's PAC won't be enough to keep them in office.

The Other War Criminals

THOUGH 24 high-ranking governmental and military officials have been indicated as war criminals, not a single German industrialist has yet been formally charged with participation in Germany's crime against humanity, it is pointed out by Columnist Ray Tucker.

We should like to think that this delay has been one of necessity.

Several top executives of industrial and chemical firms are known to have been incarcerated. Presumably, they are the subject of investigation. Perhaps the gathering of evidence has been a slow process.

It is to be hoped that this supposition is somewhere near the facts.

All the world knows that German industry was tied up closely with both the first and last wars. Down through the years, it has been one of the breeding places of Teutonic aggression.

One German chemical and industrial firm, I. G. Farbenindustries, was an integral and necessary adjunct of Hitler's war machine. The company followed on the heels of the Wehrmacht's conquests, plundering the industrial and scientific assets of other nations.

While destroying the physical properties and breaking up the great industrial combines is a necessary step, it is equally important to see that the men responsible for them are brought to task for their crimes.

LESLIE CHANGES MY PLANS

XVII

After the show closed in Mar del Plata, the papers announced my forthcoming trip to Europe, and I was given a wonderful send-off at the station despite the early hour my train left.

A few days after my arrival in London, who should turn up but the "gallant captain," my husband, laden with flowers and as ronchalant as if I had only been away for the weekend.

I could see that father did not like him, although he asked him to dinner that night. He told me afterward that he thought Leslie a "snob." Father was such a simple sweet person who talked about Society with a capital S and all the important personages they knew. Poor Leslie had tactlessly done this to impress father with his social standing. When I left them alone for a few minutes after dinner, to give father a chance to talk more frankly, Leslie had taken that opportunity to pour out a long muddled account of my conjugal shortcomings. This annoyed and embarrassed father who in the end cut the conversation short by saying he had no intention of taking me to task about private matters that were entirely my own concern.

He also said that, in his opinion, mother was to blame for the whole thing and should have minded her own business to begin with.

Partly to please mother and partly to make things easier for my father by doing so, I now went everywhere she wanted me to. So for the next two weeks I was plunged into a whirl of invitations and functions with all mother's old friends, some of whom, I was certain, were the ones who egged her on to try and get me settled down again with Leslie and London society. Every time she started on this theme, I would tell her about my contract with Da Rosa for the coming Colon season and about the successes I had had in Argentina.

Then all of a sudden, a chain of circumstances cropped up that obliged me to put my plans aside for a while. Mother's doctor wanted her to get away to Italy or the south of France for the good of her throat. Father agreed to take her to Capri, and I was going along to be with him.

The gallant captain arrived to see me after the matter of the Capri trip was settled. He looked ill and said he was having trouble with the old wound in his arm, which had flared up badly during the past few days. The doctor declared that an emergency operation was necessary.

Leslie was very casual about the gravity of his operation, and we had been in Capri about a week when I received telegrams from his father and Reginald Greir, his doctor and personal friend, that they had been obliged to amputate his arm at the elbow and he was very ill. Of course I left immediately for London, and from the day I arrived there his conditioned improved. My parents came back shortly afterward, and mother saw my father off to Canada from Southampton.

Leslie's illness had upset everything, but the least I could do was to stay with him as long as possible. By the middle of April, however, I left the time had come for me to leave. I knew Leslie cared a great deal more for me now, and I was trying to make up my mind how to announce my departure tactfully, when I received a letter from Nemanoff.

Nemanoff had decided, with the approval of Evar Mendez, to close the show and store the decors costumes, and so on, in my house in Buenos Aires.

Nemanoff now definitely knew he was not being engaged for the Colon and felt that his prestige had been hurt. Da Rosa had engaged a Russian called Paul Michailovitch from the Paris opera, as first dancer and choreograph, and he was to head the ballet with Galanta and myself. Nemanoff had been offered a tour through Havana to the United States with an American dancer named Loubovska and her company, and cabled me to ask if it was all right for him to accept.

Evar Mendez also wrote, giving me facts and figures regarding the tournee of my troupe. Fortunately, there were no debts. As a matter of fact, there was even a small profit waiting for me.

I had cabled Da Rosa regarding the date for rehearsals and received a reply asking me to get in touch with the dancer Michailovitch in Paris. I went at once to mother with Da Rosa's cable and announced my departure, bracing myself to meet the storm which I felt to be inevitable. To my surprise she did not seem to mind my leaving and was so absorbed in her own work that she merely said she felt sorry for Leslie and hoped I would treat him with as much consideration as possible.

Before speaking to him I had to talk with my father-in-law, and was glad to hear that he had been wire-pulling and thought it very probable that Leslie would be appointed to the Intelligence Service attached to the Sudan government. Leslie began to feel much better and spent considerable time at his club again (a very healthy sign). He asked me to see as much of his relatives as I could possibly bear, for they meant a great deal to him, all of them being extremely influential in military circles. He was so reasonable about my leaving that I decided if it would make him happy, I could curtail my visit to Paris for a few days and devote the time to coping with his family thereby endeavoring to eliminate as much as possible any bad impression I had made upon them when we were first married.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

IN a recent address at Wilson college, former President Herbert Hoover called upon the colleges and universities of America to provide the leadership which alone can restore the moral and spiritual losses suffered in the war.

"Our sure hope of recovery," he said, "is the wealth of uncommon men and women among our people."

Is that perhaps the trouble with our government?

How many "uncommon men and women" do we have in it?

How many cabinet members and Senators and Congressmen and high officials are there who really have prepared for leadership and who, by ability and qualified for it?

BRANDEIS

When you hire a garage mechanic you want to know what he knows about automobiles. Where has he worked before? What are his references? How can he prove that he can fix a car?

A stenographer applying for a job is put to a test. She must know how to take dictation, how to type, how to spell. She must give proof that she is qualified for the job.

But how about our leaders? I am not going to mention any names here. It isn't necessary.

But look at your government "leaders." How have they prepared for the job? What previous experience have they, what qualifications, what references?

Just because a man has been a fair lawyer or editor or local businessman, does that fit him to be a top executive in the world's largest business organization?

Just because he is a good speaker and a prolific handshaker, does that make him a tax expert or a financial genius or an authority on manufacture and agriculture and military matters?

IT takes a long time to go through West Point or Annapolis. Here in these institutions the cadets are taught every smallest detail of their future professions.

An Eisenhower did not win our war in Europe because he was a good soapbox speaker. A Nimitz did not gain his rank by handshaking. A MacArthur worked and studied and prepared for every inch of his career.

How then can we expect "leadership" from men who practically fell into public office because they happened to strike the public fancy of from likeable chaps who sit in Washington swivel chairs just because they happen to be local friends of the man who was appointed power?

In our little village of Brookfield we have a selectman who is wonderful at fixing barns and plowing the roads in winter and doing handy work for all the neighbors. They like him and they re-elect him year after year.

But does that qualify him to be Secretary of Agriculture or a United States Senator?

I asked him last night. His answer was:

"Don't make me laugh."

Prosperity In Chains

Industrial Rows Hamper Nation

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

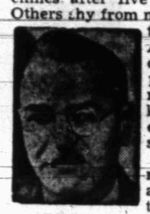

THE United States faces at least five years of unparalleled production and prosperity if the Government, industry and labor can unite to frame a sound and rational program on industrial disputes, taxes, wages, prices, material supplies and unemployment subsidies. Save for widespread uncertainty over these questions affecting every employe, the economic picture is rosier than harassed officials, manufacturers and businessmen had anticipated a few months ago.

While these three groups make preliminary plans for next months' labor-management conference in Washington under White House auspices, here is an analysis of the economic situation as they see it today:

SCARCITY: Unemployment: Probably two million out of work despite cancellation of war contracts, or far fewer than had been expected. The reasons for their jobless state are personal rather than economic, and give scant cause for concern over basic condition and potentialities.

Some prefer a short vacation from their machines after five years of steady overtime work. Others shy from new forms of labor at less pay than they received in wartime plants. A third group, as expected, has quit to live on unemployment compensation payments for a few months. The fact is that certain key industries—steel, textiles, mineral and lumber — report an actual scarcity of help.

TUCKER

The unemployment rolls will mount when more millions of men and women are demobilized. But the retirement of elderly men and women from the factories, the return of many war workers to domestic, service and retail trade and the enrollment of veterans in schools, apprentice shops and an enlarged military establishment will ease this problem. The farms can also obsorb many ex-soldiers if the glamour and excitement of a fighting career have not spoiled them for ploughing and planting.

RECONVERSION: The nation's new, postwar capacity to produce and purchase billions of durable and consumer goods also warrant confidence in the future provided that the "ifs" mentioned above can be answered by the big moguls who will meet in the capital within a few weeks. Here is a report from that front:

Production: Major industries have completed physical reconversion of their plants in jig time. Heavy manufacturers report that December output will top the 1939-1941 average by 12 per cent and that June's will exceed it by 87 per cent.

Barring continued labor troubles, automobiles can roll off the assembly lines at the prewar rate by February and at a six-million-a-year volume by next June. Steel mills are operating at approximately 85 per cent capacity in spite of contract terminations, and the scale would be higher save for a shortage of workers.

STALLED: Purchasing power: Consumers' wants and the wherewithal to satisfy them were never higher. Department store sales, which slackened in August and September, now top 1944's last quarter, although inventories are still skimpy and unbalanced. Dealers in cars, radios, refrigerators, washing machines, furniture, kitchenware, building materials etc. report an unprecedented backlog of orders.

All this machinery for full-speed prosperity, however, is temporarily stalled by threatening gestures on the labor front and the administration's delay — or unwillingness — to proclaim a firm policy on wages, prices and profits.

HOPE: Key sponsors of the White House conference warn against overoptimism about actual and immediate results. They do not believe that the complex problems confronting management and labor can be settled overnight, and they think that any attempt to force an agreement on details would be dangerous.

Their principal hope is that both parties can agree to and comply with the purpose set forth in Paragraph 5b of the formal agenda. This declares that "Once an agreement has been signed, no strikes or lockouts shall take place while it is in force, but that disputes shall be settled between the parties by other means provided in the contract."

FAVORS: If capital and labor can agree on machinery to keep plants operating during disputes, regardless of eventual disposition of disagreements by direct bargaining or Federal intervention, it is believed that the favorable forces awaiting release will be released in a golden stream for millions of producers, workers and consumers.

From the political standpoint, the success of the conference in improving conditions on the labor front is vital to President Truman and the Democratic party. The most serious threat to his re-election and Democratic control of Congress will lie in Washington's failure to provide continued employment.

Should violent industrial wars and disputes mar the years between now and 1948, the voters may attribute them to the vast political favors and power granted to organized labor by the Roosevelt-Truman administrations.

INCREASES: Although President Truman favors a general policy of wage boosts without price increases, Reconversion Director John Snyder and Labor Secretary Lewis Schwellenbach recognize that no fixed or national program embodying this demand can be promulgated. Conditions as between various industries are too spotty.

Their figures show that certain corporations can meet the CIO's request for a 30 per cent increase without passing costs on to the consumer. But such an advance to the workers without compensatory benefits in price schedules would drive other firms to the wall.

Maximum increases for numerous industries would probably be five or 10 per cent, and even then they would have to raise their retail levels.

FORMULA: Behind the scenes, government officials hope to settle for an average raise of about 15 per cent, and the emphasis should be placed on the word "average." The spread would range from 30 per cent in some instances to only five in others. Possibly five per cent of the additional pay would be charged to the consumers, thus bring the cost of living up on an average by about that amount. The manufacturers would be expected to absorb the other 10 per cent.

Preliminary surveys indicate that management, especially the largest employers, will settle on this basis. Principal difficulty will be encountered in persuading the CIO, which controls the steel, oil, textile and other big unions, to agree to this formula.

GIFTS: Globe-trotting Congressmen recently discovered that President Roosevelt's generosity to Ibn Saud, the king of Arabia, included far more than the promise that the United States would not sponsor a settlement of the Palestine problem which was "hostile to the Arabs." Other gifts to the desert overlord include airfields, weather stations, runways, modern highways and surplus weapons.

Two hundred United States soldiers and officers, the legislators learned, are now constructing a $4,000,000 airport in Arabia that will be owned by that kingdom, but eventually leased to an American commercial air line which has obtained a route through that area. In other sections of the same country doughboys are building roads, auxiliary airfields and all the other necessary facilities.

UNDERWRITING: The funds for this work have been drawn from Army appropriations over the protest of the protest of the former commanding officer in that theater. He objected to the use of the money for this purpose on the ground that it was not a "military operation."

Auto Labor Unions In Showdown Fight

Detroit Stirs With Conflicts

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

DETROIT—To spend a few days in this city is to have the sensation of living with the future.

Here the machine is king—in particular, the automobile, glorified evolution of that ancient device, the wheel. Men and women live with it and for it, almost bow down to it.

STOKES

The automobile went to war for more than four years. Now it is returning to peace.

Except it is not precisely peace, but confusion and conflict. It is axiomatic that the automobile changed the whole tempo and texture of American living, or, as the banquet orators have said so often, "ushered in a new era." The process of adaption is still going on.

Union Makes Demands

Among other things, it has intensified the strains and stresses of mass production, of which it is the ultimate. About the automobile has developed one of the world's greatest industries. About it has developed also the country's largest labor union, a volatile, volcanic organization, led by alert men with a modern social philosophy.

Restless, continually seeking more for its members, this union sets the pattern of industrial relations for the future. It is constantly demanding a greater voice in affairs of this dominant industry. It is constantly demanding a greater voice in public affairs. It is actively in politics, in this city, in this state, and in the nation.

OUT of the confusions of the hour, the threats of a major strike or series of strikes, rise predominant noises.

There is the sharp, insistent voice of Walter P. Reuther, shrewd vice-president of CIO's United Automobile Workers, demanding that economics become a part of wage bargaining, that profits and prices also be considered, that great corporations lay on the table the facts about their business.

This is a new idea on the scale in which he is seeking to apply it. This is a voice of the future.

Thunders of silence come from the giant General Motors Corp. to this challenge. It hesitates to deal on such a basis. It says, in effect, that those things are none of the union's business.

New Plant To Start

In a few days there will be more noises of the future in this community. They will be loudest out at the Willow Run plant where the Ford Co. made bombers. But they will also echo in the offices of big motor companies in the city.

Next week, on Nov. 1, a new automobile enterprise, sponsored by two men famed for their promoting talents, Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilder and Joseph W. Frazer, of Graham-Paige Motor Co., will take over the giant plant by five-year lease from the government. The noises will rise as it is converted to manufacture of automobiles and farm implements.

NOT only does this introduce a new competitor in the business, but it may set the pattern for utilization of other huge war plants. Their use for peacetime production to provide jobs is in line with a philosophy popular in Washington.

Here in Detroit, after futile attempts in recent years, the CIO is trying again to elect a mayor, to get political control in one of America's key cities, because of labor's stake here.

Adroit Richard T. Frankensteen, UAW-CIO vice president, who seems stymied by other rivals in the intense factional warfare within the auto workers' union, is seeking a political career outside as a candidate for mayor.

Business and industrial interests are lining up solidly behind Mayor Edward J. Jeffries, jr., who has been in office for six years. They want to keep the city away from labor, though they are none too enthusiastic about their candidate.

Detroit is full of interesting conflicts.

"Atomic Expert" To Talk At Abernathy

ABERNATHY, Oct. 30 (Special)—Members of the Abernathy Lions club were looking forward today to the visit here tomorrow noon of an "atomic expert," who is to address their regular weekly luncheon.

L. L. Nunley, program chairman, recently met the professor and invited him to speak to the local club. He is flying down from Amarillo Wednesday to fill the engagement.

The luncheon will be conducted at the Abernathy High school cafeteria at 12:30 o'clock and Lions from Lubbock and surrounding clubs have been invited to attend.

Britain Taking Over Strike Bound Ports

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The government virtually took over all of Britain's strike-bound ports today, ordering out thousands of additional troops to unload all ships and get the nation's export trade moving.

Hitherto during the six-week-old stevedore strike soldiers had been used only to unload food ships.

The Ministry of War transport, in announcing the government's decision, said the number of troops used would be increased as necessity dictated. So far 17,500 have been assigned.

Approximately 40,000 dock workers are now out.

Australian money follows the English system of pounds, shilling and pence.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—The cotton futures market made new highs for the day on the close in a flurry of trade and local covering met a scarcity of offerings. Final prices were 65 to 90 cents a bale higher.

Imminence of the administration announcement of a wage-price policy and a belief in some quarters the mid-October parity would advance accounted for the covering movement.

After the close it was announced the cotton parity advanced 12 points to 21.70 cents. The government selling price for the staple which is based on monthly parity changes, will advance 13 points traders estimated, bringing the November price to 23.41 cents for 15-16th inch middling at Memphis. While producers are selling a larger amount of spot cotton at current levels, there is a strong holding movement for better prices, according to private trade advices.

Solution Reported In Vet Education Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP) — Senator Tom Connally of Texas said a tentative solution of financing veterans education in Texas state colleges was reached today when a Senate Finance subcommittee agreed to an amendment to the GI Bill of Rights.

Under the arrangement, Connally said, the government would pay various state institutions, including the University of Texas, Texas A. & M., Texas Tech and various state teachers colleges $100 per semester for each veteran enrolled.

Connally said the subcommittee agreed upon an amendment giving the Veterans administrator ample authority to draw up a contract with schools to fully compensate for the per capita cost of educating a student

One Badly Hurt In Wreck At Levelland

LEVELLAND, Oct. 30 (Special) Sam McInturff, 56, of Pettit community, was in a serious condition at Levelland hospital tonight, as result of injuries sustained when the coupe in which he was riding was in collision with a tanker truck six miles west of here about 7 o'clock.

R. C. Davis, 29, also of Pettit, was injured slighly. Dee McInturff, 30, driver and owner of the coupe, of Pettit, was uninjured.

Sam McInturff had a broken rib in addition to other serious injuries, it was reported.

Dee, a second cousin of Sam, said he was driving toward Levelland, and was meeting a car going west. The truck was standing by another tanker truck which had been turned over, and McInturff said he had to choose between meeting the other car headon or sideswiping the truck. No one was about the trucks at the time of the accident, he said.

Truman Outlines New Wage-Price Policy, Asks Added Cooperation

er, industry's already "very favorable profit position," and the proposed ending of the excess profits tax.

Also To Protect Industry

But to protect industry from any financial risk in granting a wage increase, he announced—and included in his executive order—a provision that after an industry has operated on a higher wage system for six months, it may apply for a higher price with the understanding that the full wage increase will be taken into consideration by the government in ruling on the price request.

"In cases where no approval of the wage increase has been requested by management, or even where a request has been made and denied by the government, industry will not be asked by government to take an unreasonable chance in absorbing such wage-increase," he promised.

Solons Are Criticized

Vigorous criticism of Congress was included in the President's description of the "blow our industrial workers have suffered." Relating that he asked higher unemployment compensation several months ago, with no result so far, he went on:

"The responsibility for that is solely up to Congress—and specifically I mean the Ways and Means committee of the House of Representatives.

"I hope that this committee will fulfill its obligation to the people of the nation, and will give the members of the House an early chance to vote on this important legislation."

House Committee Blamed

Responsibility for the "damaging delay" in passage of the full employment bill, he said, is at the door of the House Committee on Expenditures in the executive departments.

Mr. Truman said there were important limits on the ability of industry to raise wages, foremost among them the risk and problems arising from the shift from profitable war goods to less-profitable civilian items.

The reconversion of plants, developing of new sources of supply, new products and new markets, using and training inexperienced workers, and paying higher prices for materials will mean "at the beginning, lower volume and higher unit costs," he pointed out.

Labor Also Has Obligation

"These problems and difficulties are particularly true in the case of small business—which is the backbone of the American competitive system."

Labor must also recognize, he said, that wages and overtime will continue high in some companies, and in such cases must "not demand more than an industry or a company can pay."

"Excessive demands would deny to industry reasonable profits to which it is entitled, and which are necessary to stimulate an expansion of production. We must not kill the goose which lays the golden egg.

Must Cooperate In Program

"Labor itself has a responsibility to aid industry in reaching this goal of higher production and more jobs. It must strive constantly for greater efficiency and greater productivity—good work done, for good wages earned . . . .

"Labor must constantly find ways within its own ranks of cutting down on absenteeism, reducing turn-over, avoiding jurisdictional disputes and "wild-cat" strikes.

"Labor and management must adopt collective bargaining as the effective and mature way of doing business."

Deflation Also Said Threat

A shrinkage of more than $20,000,000,000 in the annual wage and salary bill in private industry will take place unless checked by wage increases, Mr. Truman estimated, adding: "That is not going to do anybody any good—labor, business, agriculture, or the general public."

"The corner grocer is going to feel it, as well as the department store, the railroads, the theatres, and the gas stations—and all the farmers of the nation.

"It is a sure road to wide unemployment.

"This is what is known as deflation, and it is just as dangerous as inflation."

Cannot Expect War Wages

Mr. Truman said labor cannot hope, however, with a reduced work week, to maintain the same take-home pay that it had during the war.

"There will have to be a drop. But the nation cannot afford to have that drop too drastic.

"Wage increases are therefore imperative—to cushion the shock to our workers, to sustain adequate purchasing power and to raise the national income."

WLB May Be Retained

For the time being, the governmental machinery for administering the revised wage-price policy will remain the same as during the war, Mr. Truman stated. (The President did not make it clear, and no immediate explanation was available, whether this meant prolongation of the life of the War Labor board, now due to expire by Jan. 1.)

"The point at which the people of the country are entitled to become impatient, and to consider the need of government action, is when one of the parties fails to bargain in good faith or refuses a reasonable offer of conciliation or orbitration.

" . . . I am convinced that if labor and management will approach each other, with the realization that they have a common goal, and with the determination to compose their differences in their own long-range interests, it will not be long before we have put industrial strife behind us."

Associates of AFL President William Green and CIO President Philip Murray said neither would have any comment on the speech tonight. Both had urged that he go further than he did in his proposals.

Policy Explained

the right to use it as a basis for an increase in price ceilings (or for the other purposes stated in the executive order) unless and until it has been approved by the wage stabilization agencies.

Does an employer's failure to seek or obtain approval of a wage increase mean that he waives indefinitely any right to have it considered for pricing purposes?

No. The purpose of the executive order is to encourage voluntary settlements of wage questions. An employer's reasonable expectation that he will be able to absorb a wage increase may be disappointed by unfavorable developments. If this happens he will not be penalized because he was willing to take chances in an effort to settle his wage controversies.

OPA To Take Appeals

If, after a reasonable test period—six months after the wage increase was made, save in exceptional circumstances—it is shown that an industry will be unable to absorb the increase, the Office of Price administration will take the increase into account in applying its standards governing price increases.

Is an employer who has in effect an uapproved wage increase barred from receiving any ceiling price relief at all until the expiration of a reasonoble test period after allowance of the wage increase?

No. If the employer sustains other cost increases, these may, of course, be taken into account for pricing purposes.

Wage, Price Rises Not Equal

When the wage stabilization agencies approve a wage increase, in whole or in part, does that mean that the employer will then be permitted to increase his prices by the same amount that he has increased his wages?

No. OPA, in passing on an application for a price increase, will take the approved wage increase into account as an element of costs. The wage stabilization agencies, however, will not have passed on the question whether, taking the wage increase into account, a price increase is required. That question will be decided by OPA, applying the appropriate pricing standards. In deciding this question, OPA will ordinarily act on the basis of estimates as to the effect on the wage increase.

Three Classes Explained

What are the classes of wage increases which the wage stabilization agencies will approve for pricing purposes?

President Truman has announced that approval for pricing purposes will be given to three new classes of wage incrases. These are:

First: Increases where the percentage increase in average straight-time hourly earnings in the appropriate unit since January, 1941, has not equalled the percentage increase in the cost of living between January, 1941, and September, 1945.

Second: Increases necessary to correct inequaties in wage rates among plants in the same industry or locality, with due regard to normal competitive relationships.

Third: Increases necessary to insure full production in an industry, designated by the stabilization administration, which is essential to reconversion and in which existing wage rates are inadequate to the recruitment of needed manpower.

To Aid Other Classes

In addition, approval will continue to be given wage increases which satisfy the wage standards in effect before August 18, 1945.

Is the present list of classes of approvable wage increases a final and inflexible one?

No. Other classes will be added by the stabilization administrator if experience shows the need for them.

What will be the practical effect of the first of the above standards?

The cost of living in the nation as a whole has increased approximately 30 per cent since January 1941. If the average straighttime hourly earnings of employees in the appropriate unit have increased by less than 30 per cent since January 1941, this standard will permit the removal of price obstacles to a wage increase sufficient to make up the difference.

May Grant Labor Boost

When a wage increase might be approved under two or more standards, will the amounts approvable under each standard be added together and approval given to a wage increase equal to their sum?

No. The correction of an inequity requiring a larger wage increase will result in the correction also of any other inequity requiring a lesser increase.

Suppose that a wage rate increase of 6 cents an hour would be approvable, if it stood alone, and an employer grants a total increase of 16 cents an hour. May he still secure approval of an increase of 6 cents?

Yes. The 10 cent increase, in other words, will not be treated as removing the basis for approval of the 6 cent increase.

Boost Must Be Necessary

Will the National War Labor board or other designated wage agency approve a wage increase whenever it finds that it falls within one of the standards for approvable wage increases above described?

Not invariably. A particular wage increase must first be found by the board or other agency to be necessary to correct a mal-adjustment or inequity which would interfere with the effective transition to a peacetime economy. Usually this finding can and will be made.

Four-Power Rule

Arthur.

3. A combination of the first two—a change in the commission's regulations so that it would send its advice direct to MacArthur rather than to he member governments, but also the setting up of a modified Tokyo council to assist the supreme commander.

The American officials admitted that any solution now would have to be a "face-saving" device for all concerned.

Most Logical Suggestion

The most logical suggestion, in light of the differing view points, appeared to be that of setting up a four-power executive committee of the advisory commission.

The U. S., Russia, Britain and China would hold permanent seats on the committee, which would be empowered to help MacArthur carry out the recommendations of the larger commission.

It was disclosed today that the four major Pacific powers were discussing functional changes in the Washington advisory commission even before that body assembled.

This was made clear by Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao-Ming at today's session.

Dr. Wei's remarks, made in support of his move for the adjournment, brought immediate indications that the little-versus-big nation fight, which started a the United Nations conference in San Francisco, would be continued on the commission.

Evatt's Suggestion

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, champion of the small nations at San Francisco, "suggested" that any proposed changes in the commission's scope be discussed not only by the four big powers "but by all the powers represented at this table." Paul-Emile Naggiar, French representative, then said he would support Wei's move for adjournment, but emphasized that he agreed entirely with Evatt.

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, who seconded Wei's motion, told newsmen he agreed with the Australian leader.

Wei said he made his proposal for adjournment "in view of the fact that new suggestions have been made with regard to the terms of reference of this commission."

Those suggestions, he said, were being "examined" by the U. S., China, Britain and Russia.

Chinese Version

Therefore the Chinese delegation, he said, believed it would be "advantageous to the progress and outcome of this conference" if the four powers were allowed time to reach agreement "before the conference proceeds further."

Evatt indicated to newsmen after the meeting that he feared the changes in the commission's scope already had been largely agreed upon by the four powers. He warned that the commission could not be a success "with an inner group running the show."

Wei's remarks provided one of the first indications that the four powers were contemplating a change in the commission's status.

Yamashita Trial

dead men sprawled over his feet and the corpse of a woman slumped against his head. When he was able to move he crawled upstairs to administer the last sacrament to the dying strewn along the stairs and hallway.

One priest, he said, lay dead on the communion rail (of the chapel), his hands reaching for the altar.

Father Cosgrove found refuge behind the altar and lay there for three days. When Americans found him his white robe had turned brown with dried blood.

Photos Identified

German-born Brother Anthony, brought from the hospital where he is recovering from eight bayonet wounds, identified with monotonous regularity the photographs of other De La Salle brothers as "dead . . . dead . . . dead . . ."

The college stenographer, Martin Jain, jr., testified he saw a Japanese attempt to rape a dead woman.

An attractive Filipino girl who lost four members of her family in the massacre said a Japanese soldier shot her in the breast and then attempted to rape her as she lay wounded.

Tech Completing Plans For Big Homecoming Celebration Nov. 10

Plans are almost complete for the 20th annual homecoming celebration on the Texas Tech campus when the Red Raiders play Texas Christian university here Nov. 10.

Activities of the two-day observance will be directed by members of the Lubbock county chapter of the Tech Alumni association, who have made extensive preparations for the occasion honoring servicemen and ex-servicemen.

To Meet Thursday

The Student Council will meet Thursday night to approve plans made by the student body for their participation in the homecoming events, Troy Caldwell, president of the student body, said. Tentative arrangements are to open festivities Friday night on the campus with a pep rally to be broadcast over station KFYO.

Immediately following this a huge bonfire will be staged by students, if plans are approved. It is expected that the traditional freshman shoe race, staged at the half of the football, will again take place, Caldwell said.

To Honor Alumni

Returning alumni will be feted in all activities scheduled on the campus Saturday. Tech students will be dismissed from all classes at 10 a. m. and the remainder of the day will be devoted to alumni activities.

The college gymnasium will be headquarters for all homecoming activities this year. Activities for alumni will begin there at 11 a. m. and hold sway until game time.

Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma coaches and the Lubbock Bus company will again be hosts to alumni at their annual luncheon at noon in the gym. Buddy Arnett's orchestra will play from 11 to 12:30 p. m.

Other Plans Made

Campus clubs are making arrangements to entertain alumni, following the game until 8 p. m. An informal dance will be held at the gym from 9 until 12 midnight and members of the 1946 senior class and veterans on the campus have been invited. Buddy Arnett's orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

Tech seniors will be in charge of preparing identification tags which alumni will wear during the day. Jason O, Gordon, Lubbock county agent and George Langford, chairman of the homecoming committee, have charge of arrangements.

Laval's Lawyers And Wife Seek New Trial

PARIS, Oct. 30 (U.P.)—Pierre Laval's widow and defense lawyers made public the executed Vichy premier's last political testament today in a surprise move to obtain a posthumous re-hearing of his case and attempt to erase the stigma of treason from his name.

Denouncing as "a mockery of justice" the recent trial that ended with Laval's condemnation and death, Chief Defense Attorney Albert Naud said he planned an appeal to the ministry of the interior for a new and secret trial. French law permits such procedure.

Naud based his appeal on a 50,000-word testament written by Laval in the Fresnes prison cell where he awaited execution early this month. He had planned to read it in court as his main defense, but turned it over to his wife when he decided to "boycott" his own trial in protest against the conduct of the judge and jury.

The document was a point-by-point defense of Laval's actions as premier of the Vichy government during the German occupation, and in it he tried to shift all blame onto the shoulders of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

Laval denied all charges of treason and persecution of his countrymen and pictured himself as a misunderstood patriot who had acted at all times in the highest interests of France.

He said he had negotiated with Adolf Hitler after the 1940 collapse of France because that was the only way left for him to defend his country.

Last Body Recovered Of Fishing Victims

GALVESTON, Oct. 30. (U.P.)—The last body of three fishermen, victims of a squall in East bay, was recovered today just six days after they went fishing in an outboard motor boat.

The body of Gilbert Heartfield, 41, of Port Arthur, Tex., was the last to be found. Earlier, bodies of Navy Lt. Louis Johnson and Albert Perkins were recovered.

A strong gale hit the area where they were fishing last Wednesday. Their upturned boat was spotted the next day and Coast Guard boats and planes kept a continuous sweep over the area for the bodies.

U. S. Warned Not To Put Too Much Faith In Atomic Bombs

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (U.P.)—The United States is inviting disaster if it puts too much blind faith in the atomic bomb, according to Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff.

Marshall said that the development of the bomb made it more imperative than ever that the United States retain its military strength to "promote a co-operative world order."

Marshall said a strong military force was the only thing that would convince the world that we were prepared to see that world cooperation became an actuality.

Otherwise, Marshall said, America might have to prove herself again at a far greater cost than "million casualties and astronomical sums of money" we spent in World War II to "restore our security and rightful position in the world."

Japs May Have Known Of Coastal Defenses

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30 (AP)—Possible Japanese knowledge of United States lack of radar along the southern Oregon coast enabled submarine-launched planes to bomb forests in that area in September, 1942, Fourth AAF headquarters disclosed today.

An unidentified plane dropped an incendiary bomb Sept. 9, 1942, which started a small forest fire near Brookings, Ore, about 50 miles north of the California-Oregon border.

The Brookings area was the only one on the Pacific coast not covered by radar.

The Fourth AAF war history states a plane launched from a submarine 20 days later dropped several incendiaries in the forest near Cape Blanco, north of Brookings. The bombs were ineffective because of the dampness of the undergrowth.

The first plane had been seen by a forest ranger but the second, although heard, was not sighted.
