

Skyrockets Meet Strong Crowell Team Friday

The Skyrockets will rest from conference playing Friday night, November 19, but their opponents will be the Crowell Wildcats, this year's district champions in their district, and one of the strongest teams in the Lower Panhandle area.

An outstanding feature at this game will be the crowning of the Wellington Football Queen in a colorful ceremony between the haves. This is regarded as one of the highlights of the school year.

Friday's game will not be an easy one for the Rockets, it is agreed, nevertheless, the type of playing they have exhibited in recent weeks will make the Wellington boys a difficult foe for any team.

The Wildcats have not been scored on this year in district playing. They were scored on only once last year, by Archer City. Their team is heavy, averaging 165 pounds, and at times considered a little slow, but their power was enough to put them at top place and keep them there.

Captain of the Crowell team is Erwin, an all-district tackle of last year, and generally considered the Wildcat's best man on the defense. Archer, fullback, was all-district center last year and one of the outstanding men of the team. McDaniel, quarterback, has showed up as the Wildcat's best ball carrier.

In addition to these experienced stars, several of the new men have showed up well during the late-season games.

Crowell's record shows the team has defeated the following opponents: Floydada, 13 to 0; Matador, 33 to 0; Holliday, 27 to 0; Seymour, 7 to 6; and Valley View, 33 to 0. Quannah defeated Crowell 14 to 7, but the Wildcats came back to defeat the Archer City team in their final conference game. The game here is the last on their season's schedule.

The Rockets have one more opponent, Wheeler, on November 26. Probable starters for the Wildcats include:

Name	Weight	Position
Wharton	140	left guard
Short	176	center
Cox	160	right guard
Erwin	188	right tackle
Gobin	165	right end
McDaniel	154	quarterback
McBeath	138	right half
Archer	164	fullback

Aged County Man Visits Children In California

War-time travel may bother some of the younger folks, but W. C. McKinney, 93-year-old Wellington man, doesn't mind. Last week he made the trip to California where he will stay for several months with relatives.

Accompanying him were his daughter, Mrs. C. M. Terry of Loco, and Mrs. Guss Brannum of near Dodson. They will visit first his daughter and Mrs. Brannum's son, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brannum and family at Sebastopol, Calif.

Mr. McKinney had planned to make this trip by plane, relatives here said, until he was advised by his doctor that the altitude to which the plane would have to climb going over the Rocky Mountains might not be good for him.

He stood the trip by car fine, Mrs. Terry wrote after their arrival in California.

Sgt. Henry Wolf Awarded Oak Leaf Cluster

Staff Sergeant Henry R. Wolf of Loco has received his second award for meritorious achievement and heroism in the South Pacific theatre of operations, according to an announcement from the 13th Air Force headquarters. His first award was the Air Medal; the second was a Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster.

No details of his achievement were given.

Sgt. Wolf, a radio-gunner on a four-motored U. S. bomber, was awarded the Air Medal early this year for participating in the raid on Christmas Day, 1942, against Japanese-held Wake island.

It is believed that the Oak Leaf Cluster was awarded him for activity in the same area, as the 13th Air Force operates in the central and south Pacific. His home base is in Hawaii.

Sgt. Wolf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wolf of Loco. Before enlisting in the Air Forces November 11, 1941, he was a student in Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Fliers Escape As Training Plane Crashes

An officer and an aviation cadet from the Altus Army Air Field, Altus, Okla., bailed out of their disabled training plane Monday night and landed in the Bean Hill community. The plane crashed on the C. W. Roberts farm near Salt Fork and was found Tuesday morning.

This is the first such accident in the county during this war, although several planes have made forced landings on local farms.

One of the men came down on the John Alexander farm and phoned the emergency landing field near Loco. Later both were brought to Wellington by Virgil Estes.

The men told Sheriff Paul Bell that the fuel pressure of the motor dropped and that there was nothing they could do but bail out. A number of local residents have reported hearing the plane when it went over Wellington about 9:00 p. m., but only a few were able to recognize that it was having motor trouble and not changing the pitch of the propellers purposely to increase the sound of the motors.

Effort was made to locate the wrecked plane Monday night, but (Continued on Page Twelve)

T-Sgt. Langford Decorated For Action In Europe

Tech. Sgt. Joe N. Langford of Wellington has been awarded the Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for bravery in action in the European war theatre, it was announced Monday, November 15, by the War Department.

He was one of a group of officers and enlisted men of the United States 8th Air Force based in England to be decorated. No details were given of the action that won these men their decorations.

Sgt. Langford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Langford of Wellington. His father is chairman of the Selective Service Board, and he has two brothers now in the armed services.

A gunner on a Flying Fortress, he took part in the now-famous raid on Stuttgart some two months ago. The formation was attacked suddenly by hundreds of German fighter planes, but fought its way to the objective.

Langford's own plane, "Liberty," accounted for three fighters, in addition to dumping its load of bombs on the German industrial city.

Crew members of this ship were featured in an Associated Press story used throughout the county.

November Bond Quota $32,400 For County

A combined quota for November for Series E, F. and G. war Savings Bonds for the county was set at $32,400, Dr. E. W. Jones, county chairman, announced Monday.

"The inclusion of Series F and G with Series E Bonds in the monthly objective is logical since these three series of bonds are continuously on sale," Nathan Adams, state chairman, said in a letter to Dr. Jones.

"Also, the three series afford opportunities for all types of investors: individuals, non-profit organizations (churches, lodges, clubs, etc.) and corporations. They offer the delayed income feature in the case of Series E and Series F, and current income for those who require it in the case of Series G."

Dr. Jones pointed out that this county had no quota during October, and for this reason, every effort should be made on the part of local bond buyers to meet the November goal.

"The most of us have more money now than we will at any time during the year. We must not forget to invest part of this in bonds — the soundest and most patriotic investment we can make now."

Pioneer Dodson Woman Buried November 6

Funeral services for Mrs. James W. Scott, 75, beloved resident of the Dodson area, were held Saturday, November 6, from the Church of Christ in Dodson. Mrs. Scott died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Edd Bennett, November 4.

In charge of the services was Minister Van Borneau of the Dodson church. Favorite hymns of Mrs. Scott were sung during the service.

Pall bearers were Duard Scott, J. A. Scott, R. B. Scott, Fred Boyd, and Lloyd Mills of Dodson, and Orville Tyler of Lubbock. Flower bearers were friends and neighbors of Mrs. Scott. Burial was in the Dodson cemetery by the side of her husband, who preceded her in death on December 19, 1938.

One of the earliest settlers of the Dodson area, Mrs. Scott came there more than 50 years ago. She and Mr. Scott settled on the farm which they continued to make their home, and they often told their friends how they had lived in one territory, two states, and three counties without ever having moved.

Throughout the years she and her family were identified with the progress of the community, and the building up of its worthwhile institutions. Her host of friends throughout the southeastern Panhandle and southwest Oklahoma knew her as an unselfish and devoted friend, a kindly neighbor and a woman of high ideals and character.

Mrs. Scott was born October 26, 1868 at Simpsonville, and at the time of her death she was 75 years and 8 days of age. Her maiden name was Violin Barron, but she was affectionately called by all her relatives, friends and neighbors "Aunt Fiddle."

She and Mr. Scott were married November 3, 1889 at Texarkana, and a short time later they moved west, homesteading on their (Continued on Page Twelve)

* Cotton ginnings in the county reached approximately 11,725 bales Wednesday morning—more than at first was believed the entire crop would yield.

Parts of the county where cotton was farthest advanced report an estimated seventy five per cent of the crop gathered.

Of primary interest to both ginners and growers is the experiment being made sledding cotton. Ginnings, the results, and all agreed on one thing: The grade and turnout depends entirely on the care taken in sledding.

Much of the sledded cotton is making the government loan, strict low middling 13-16's or better.

Fred Boyd of Dodson said in that section 2500 pounds of sledded cotton is turning out around 550 pound bales. The quality, is as good as hand picked cotton.

J. M. Tindall, owner of the Dozier Gin, said some of the sledded cotton in that section was good, some bad. He mentioned the greenboles that were being left in the cotton by some farmers.

Dick Sweat, manager of the Farmer's Co-op Gin in Wellington reported his plant has ginned some sledded cotton that graded better than the hand picked cotton now coming in. A part of this cotton has graded middling. This is bringing around 18 cents in the loan.

On the other hand, he said some farmers were disappointed in the results, and that a few bales had graded ordinary, which on the local market is selling for around 12 cents.

He suggested that, while it is more work, those farmers who plan to sled the remainder of this crop take care to pick out as many green boles as possible. Those farmers who pile their cotton on the ground and in general shake it around considerably before it is loaded and brought to town find that many of the green boles and much trash and dirt shake out and that their results are much more satisfactory.

It is estimated that within a few days at least 35 per cent of the cotton will be gathered with sleds.

The government cotton report, released Wednesday and including cotton ginned prior to November 1, listed this county as having ginned 8,074 bales, as compared to 13,192 at the same date a year ago.

Ginnings for the state as a whole were higher, with 2,160,744 ginned November 1, 1943, as compared to 2,156,015 a year ago.

Irish Cinch Title By Defeating Rockets 7-0

Putting up the hardest fight of the year as far as the individual players were concerned the Wellington Skyrockets went down in defeat before a strong and heavy Shamrock team last Thursday by a score of 7 to 0. And in doing so they not only lost the district championship, but they probably lost the regional as well for it was on this day that White Deer defeated a Phillips eleven whose strength had been depleted by induction of players into the Armed Forces. Wellington had previously defeated White Deer 33 to 0. Canadian is the only team showing strength that is in front of the Irishmen and a regional championship. And both Wellington and Shamrock have bested Canadian in earlier games.

It was an ill wind that was blowing for Wellington last Thursday in more ways than one. One was the genuine strength of a strong Shamrock eleven composed mainly of seniors who played heads-up football on all but one occasion. A few others were the fact that I. D. Russell was injured the day before the game and that a strong wind was blowing, which hurt the passing game of the Rockets.

Wellington won the toss and elected to defend the south goal. The ball went over the goal line and Shamrock took it on the 20. After hitting the line for three times and picking up 7 yards Shamrock punted out on their own 49 yard line.

Wellington's first chance to score came early in the first quarter. Melton hit center and was held for 1 yard. Kendrick picked up 7 around end and Melton passed to Kendrick for 20 yards placing the ball on the Irish 23. Two running plays by Melton and Kendrick were stopped at the line of scrimmage. Melton passed over the goal line to Scott who dropped the ball. Another pass intended for Austin was wide of the mark by yards and the ball went to Shamrock.

With O'Gorman and Pruitt carrying through the line, the Irish picked up 1 first down only to lose the ball on their own 36 when they tried to run it on a fourth down play.

After two passes had gone incomplete, Melton attempted an end run, all three of which gained no yards. On the fourth down Melton aimed a beautiful kick at the coffin corner only to see it miss the mark by less than a yard.

The ball was brought back to the 20 and after two running plays which gained only 1 yard, Pruitt punted to the 50 yard line.

At this point Wellington took the ball. One pass was incomplete and another to Baumgardner was good for 9 yards. Melton made 10 over center and two attempted passes were incomplete. On a third running play Melton lost five yards. On the fourth down the quarterback elected to pass which was incomplete, and the ball went over to Shamrock on the 36 to end Wellington's last scoring chance in the first half, for the quarter ended and the Irish soon had the wind to their backs.

On the first down Pruitt punted from his own 36 over the Rocket goal line to put the boys in Red and White in the hole and fighting against the wind. After three running plays had failed to make a first down. Wellington punted to the 35 yard line.

Pruitt hit left end for 1 and then passed to Nolan for 20. Another pass was good for 3. From this point Nolan went around right end for the touchdown. Pruitt made the point good by running the ball over, and that was the end of the scoring for the entire game.

However, it does not begin to tell of the magnificent play of a fighting Rocket team which twice held the Irish on the goal line. Once they held them for four downs on the 1 yard line and again for 4 downs within the 10 yard line.

Wellington's second chance to score came in the third quarter when they again had the wind to their backs. After holding the Irish on the Irish 25, a punt was blocked and three red shirted players watched it roll on the ground under the impression that it was a fourth down and their ball anyway, but the more alert Pruitt scooped up the ball and did a splendid bit of broken field running and ran it to the Rocket 19 before he was finally knocked out of bounds. This placed the ball too far down the field for the Rockets to ever have a chance to use the advantage of the strong wind, and the play proved to be the clincher of the game, for the next quarter the Irishmen had the wind in their favor. They were held by a hard fighting Rocket line and its backfield men, but the Rockets did not threaten in the fourth quarter. Wellington made 9 first downs to 7 for Shamrock and completed 6 out of 21 passes, while the Irish completed 2 out of 7.

For Wellington Covey had the best record per try in the backfield, picking up 6 on one try, 4 on another and 11 on the third, but he was called upon to run the ball only three times. The entire Wellington line was outstanding

22nd Anniversary SALE

Since the outbreak of war, we have been able to solve many new problems with the best interest of our customers constantly in mind. Some merchandise formerly carried, we now find unobtainable. We are searching the markets far and near for items, values and varieties to meet the requirements of the people of this community. We will have for you the best the market affords. The restrictions on trucks, tires and other governmental hedges present a real problem. Gasoline rationing will further hamper our service.

We are not complaining. If this is necessary, so be it. We bow to these decrees. Some sweet day this war will end in victory for us. In that glorious hour, we will all join our voices in the happy songs of freedom. For the time we must suffer some privations, but right will eventually triumph. Working conscientiously together, we will be better able to enjoy the fruits of victory.

We ask your co-operation and indulgence in the task we are trying to perform.

Twenty-two years ago The Palace Drug Store was established in Wellington for the purpose of bringing an efficient drug and pharmacy service to this community. Since that time the Palace has been operating under the same management through good times and bad times and throughout these years we have tried to perform a uniform, courteous and efficient service to the people of the community.

How well we have done this work is not for us to say, but there are among our friends those who recognize that it requires some effective measure of sincere service for a firm to stay in business for nearly a fourth of a century under the present changing circumstances. And indeed, we know that there were times when the going was tough. There were times when we had to extend both the credit and the facilities of our business in order to serve our people during times of drouth and depression. But we are happy to say that we did weather these storms just as did the folks of Collingsworth, and we are glad to note that we continued to provide them with the necessary drug service even in the times of our greatest difficulties.

Today there is another task to be done. No longer are we concerned over the financial status of our own business. Today our thought is of the effort of this county and this nation in winning the war. Just as we have stood fast in helping the people carry on in good health in other years—today on our 22nd Anniversary we again renew our determination to continue the service that has met with your approval in the past—an approval that has given The Palace Drug an opportunity for service during the past 22 years.

For this confidence and this opportunity and at this season and on this, our 22nd Anniversary, we are truly grateful.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wells of Wellington.

A new recruit at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., is Ray V. Sisk, 21, Wellington, Texas. He is the son of Mrs. A. G. Sisk of Wellington.

Now undergoing "boot" training, he is being indoctrinated into Navy Life, and is being instructed in Seamanship, military drill, and naval procedure. Dressed for comfort in Arctic seas

In his snug submarine jacket with its protective collar, his heavy woolen trousers and non-skid galoshes, he's dressed for warmth and fighting efficiency.

The clothing our Navy provides for its men is styled for comfort and long wear. Even their underwear. They are issued the right weight for any waters they may cruise.

You can have modern styling and care-free comfort in your underwear, too. For, during the past 40 years, the makers of HANES Underwear have developed the art of converting fluffy cotton into underwear that is both knitted and tailored to correct size.

HANES Union-Suits (shown at right) are one example. A lot of warmth is knitted into their fleecy softness. And they're made to your exact chest width and trunk length—won't pinch when you stretch or bend. Ankle-length legs. Long or short sleeves. You'll like their comfort. P. H. DON'T SHOOT THE IMPLEMENT DEALER

Government press releases on farm equipment and machinery production have proved to be very misleading. They have stressed the allocation of 900,000 tons of steel to implement manufacturers, but they have played down or failed to mention the fact that the priority rating on this steel has been reduced from AA1 to AA2.

As one manufacturer put it the allocation is in the form of a hunting license. All it does is to allow the manufacturer to go out and hunt the material that is authorized.

Another factor that cuts the production of new farm equipment is the unlimited repairs section of Order L-257. It has not been made clear to the public that repair parts must also be made from the allotted steel, that even if the entire 900,000 tons were available all of it could not possibly go into new machines.

The quarrel here is not with WPB. Under the controlled material plan, steel is allotted where it will do the best job of finishing the war. If there is not enough to go around, that is that. But farmers should not have been led to expect a sharp increase in available equipment during the year ending June 30, 1944.

Keep these facts in mind if you cannot get the equipment you need. Don't shoot the implement dealer. He's doing the best he can.

Farmers Urged To Vote In AAA Elections

Triple-A community committees for Collingsworth County will be elected on November 18 and 19, to serve from December 1, 1943, through December 1, 1944, J. C. Emmert, county AAA chairman, reminded this week.

Formerly, committees were elected in December and began serving on January 1, but since the work in connection with the 1944 food production program should begin in December, the election dates have been changed to allow the new committees to begin work a month earlier.

In addition to the community committees, delegates to a county convention will be elected. The county committee will be selected at this convention.

"How well the food program in this county is run next year depends to a large extent on the farmers who are elected to hold these committees jobs," Mr. Emmert said. He continued: "The Triple-A committee in this county will handle the rationing and allocation of farm machinery, equipment, building supplies, and other agricultural materials and facilities. It will issue farm livestock slaughter permits, handle the farm transportation program, including recommendations for the issuance of certificates for tires, off-highway gasoline and tractor fuel. These are only a few of the many important wartime jobs which the committee will handle in this county."

"Many of the farmers who become Triple-A committees must do so at a personal sacrifice. But the soldiers in Italy and in the South Pacific, and on all other battlefronts of the world, are making greater personal sacrifices. Their personal affairs have been pushed into the background by world affairs."

Anyone is eligible to vote in the committee election who is participating in (a) the agricultural conservation programs under the allotment, soil conserving, conservation materials and services, potato or truck crop provisions; (b) Federal crop insurance program; (c) sugar program.

Two different social security account numbers might decrease and could never increase benefit payments. Ejcess cards should be returned to the nearest field office of the Social Security Board.

The size of the payroll does not affect the liability for social security tax returns; for one employee or hundreds of workers, the tax is due unless the employment is specifically excluded from the provisions of the Social Security Act.

S-SGT. JOE PARKER

S-Sgt. Joe Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Parker, has been overseas since last Oct. He is in the Southwest Pacific at the present time as an Army Air Forces ground crew member.

Canned Goods Consumption High

Rationing has not emptied the shelves of Collingsworth county residents of canned foods it was revealed today, a total of 63,734 cans being used monthly.

These figures were based on the government's compilation of 10,351 ration book holders in the county and the statement by the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics that the per capita consumption of canned goods so far this year is .225 cans a day. On the basis of the average size pre-war can, approximately 168 pounds of pure metallic tin is reclaimable for the war effort from these cans, he explained.

Men in service eat 8,000,000 cans of food a day and millions of pounds of canned items are being shipped abroad for lend lease.

Many foods strange to American palates are being packed in cans for shipment overseas. One of these is "Tushonka" for Russian consumption, this product being highly seasoned pork packed in lard. Squid, a variety of octopus, is being canned for Italian consumption. Canned foods for England are usually seasoned quite differently to those intended for American use.

Poultry Hints

GIVE YOUR PULLETS GOOD CARE

Egg prices are higher than they have been at any time during the past 13 years. This fact should be a special incentive to you to give your pullets good care and thus assure yourself of plenty of eggs throughout the fall and winter. Observe the following rules to maintain egg production and prevent severe false molts:

1. Grade and house the pullets without crowding in well-insulated, well-ventilated winter quarters as soon as reddening combs and enlarged wattles indicate they are ready to lay. House late pullets at least by October 1st.

2. Worm and delouse the pullets before placing them in the laying house so they will be free of these parasites. Wormy or lousy birds may cause bad fall and winter egg slumps. Feed the birds as much as possible as they were fed on range, making any changes gradually. Many successful poultry raisers self-feed both grain and mash with plenty of green feed on a limited range.

3. Supply enough grain for the pullets daily after the first month in the laying house so that the pullets with gain in weight the first three months after they start production.

4. Supply at least two 3-gallon water fountains and two 5-foot feeders for each 100 pullets. Have at least one smaller feeder and one water fountain only half the distance of the others from the floor, so as to give backward pullets a chance to eat and develop normally.

5. If lights are used, supply each 20 by 20 foot section with two, 40-watt lights. Use so as to give a 12- to 14-hour day. Farms not on electric light lines may use a wind charger to generate current for poultry house lights. The pullets will pay for it with the extra eggs they produce this winter.

6. Watch the pullets daily and notice their appetites. At the first sign that feed consumption is slumping, give a flock conditioner in the mash, either dry or mixed as a crumbly wet mash. This will revive dulled appetites and restore lost vigor and vitality in a flock.

Over 185,000 children under the age of 18 were receiving benefits under the Social Security Act at the close 1942, based on the wages of their retired or deceased father or mother. Payments to them totalled more than two and a fourth million dollars each month.

Married women who secured their social security account number cards in their maiden names should request the nearest field office to issue cards bearing their present names.

Management Vigilance Key to Poultry Success

The shrewd poultry raiser watches his flock like a hawk. He knows the minute anything goes wrong and for that reason he checks trouble at the START, not after it has entrenched itself. This is the eighth in a series of timely ads prepared to help poultry raisers meet current demands for increased production. Watch for more ads to follow.

Check List No. 8

LOOK AFTER THE HEALTH OF LAYING FLOCK

CHECK THE FOLLOWING SUGGESTIONS AGAINST YOUR POULTRY RAISING METHODS

Keep a Check on Feed Consumption

In a previous ad we urged that you keep a check on your flock's feed consumption. We repeat this again because it is of utmost importance. When birds stop eating — there's a reason — check at once and take the necessary steps to correct. Falling-off feed is a warning and may be caused by intestinal worm infestation, or perhaps some bacterial disease such as cholera or typhoid. Pox, colds and roup may also cause drop-offs.

Act Promptly at First Sign of Sickness

Don't wait until you have lost half your flock before taking steps to stop disease infection. As fast as you notice the appearance of trouble have it diagnosed immediately and do whatever is necessary to check it. Many times serious losses can be averted by prompt action at the very outset of the trouble.

Dispose of Dead Birds Promptly

Dead, diseased birds should be burned or disposed of immediately after examination to determine cause of death. They constitute disease carriers which can cause a spread of infection throughout the entire flock if left in the house or anywhere that other birds can pick at them. If you bury them put them deep enough so animals will not dig them up again.

USE OUR POULTRY HEALTH SERVICE

We are in a position to help you with your poultry health problems. Call on us whenever your birds are threatened with a disease of any nature. The National Poultry Conservation Program has our support, as signified by the emblem at right. We will do our best to help you.

Fourscore years ago this November, Abraham Lincoln began his immortal Gettysburg Address with those words, in dedicating the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa. Through the years that address has come to be known as one of the greatest documents of the ages, calling every loyal heart to "be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us . . . that these dead shall not have died in vain . . . that this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom."

FREEDOM . . . that little word that means so MUCH! In this country we see its symbols everywhere. Our churches, our newspapers, our lecture halls, our assemblies, our businesses . . . all represent that one, all-important word. Under the influence of Freedom and what it represents, our country has grown in 150 years from a wilderness to the strongest power on earth. Today it is free people who are saving the world. People who will never allow themselves to be conquered!

FREE ENTERPRISE . . . Another word that creates tangible results. Free Enterprise . . . the force that enables private business-operating companies, like ours, to serve the public in their own zealous individual service-giving manner. From them each of us has earned personal benefits—our community has prospered and our country has become the richest in the world. When those who are fighting the battle of freedom return home to America, they'll expect this ideal to be preserved. It's up to us to do it!

Let us commemorate this, the 80th Anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, as "dedication day," an occasion for re-dedicating ourselves "to protect the rights and liberties of American Citizenship and maintain National Honor, Union and Independence."

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Vince Thompson, who has been with The Wellington Leader for eight years, has left to accept a position as railway mail clerk under a civil service appointment. Until we can get our wind and figure out something, do not expect the rush service on job printing we have been able to turn out in other years. When we do get it printed it will be as good as any service you ever received, but for the next few weeks don't expect us to get it out half an hour before you brought it in. We suggest that you try to anticipate your needs a month in advance.

Several farmers have been by to ask me how Frank Light built his cotton sled. Now how in the world would I know how he built it? Besides it might have been the way he operated the machine. All I did was to suggest that you go by and look at it if you intend to sled your cotton.

There have been some reports of farmers who made a perfect

LIEUT. H. L. ROY, JR. LT. FRANK C. FUSON, JR.
Two of the Army Air Force newest officers are shown here. Lieut. Harry Lee Roy, Jr., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Roy of Route 2, while Lieut. Fuson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fuson, live on Route 5. Both men were commissioned early in October. Lieut. Roy is now assigned to Bergstrom Field, Austin.

mess by sledding their cotton and bringing it in too green, but a lot of it has been turning out fairly satisfactorily. Fred Boyd reports from Dodson that it is turning out rather well down there on the average and several Wellington ginners say the same thing.

Peanuts are not turning out so hot. A number of farmers have plowed up, raked and sacked what they thought was a pretty good yield. But when they threshed them about half of them proved to be empty hulls. The guess is that very few peanuts will be planted in Collingsworth County next fall.

Cattlemen on the plains are beginning to discover that there is an interdependence between the cotton farmers and the cattle raisers. The reason is cake and meal. The farmer who raises the cottonseed has first claim on buying cake and meal. With the wheat fields dried up, the cattlemen are desperate to get some cake and meal. As a result there are a lot of peculiar things going on. In short a black market of the first rank is in the making in every cotton producing section that borders a cattle raising section.

Sometimes a few people mention the column this paper carries by Boyce House. This week he has picked up a letter written by a Texas flight officer who bombed the Ploesti oil field in Rumania. It is on the editorial page and it is worth reading.

The Leader sent its newest reporter, Marjorie Dickerson out to interview Glenn Goodson, Fireman First Class of the United States Navy. He had just returned from 14 months service at Dutch Harbor. She went to V. P. Robertsons and they sent her to the Payne Jewelry Shop. From there she was directed to Parsons Drug and they advised her to go to the Palace Drug where she caught up with the sailor. When she got to him he was trembling all over. When she asked him for something to put in the column devoted to the men in the armed forces, he told her that he did not have anything to say because he was getting married that afternoon. His bride was the lovely Doris Coleman, who formerly worked in Wellington.

Last notice to all appointed workers. Please send me the names of any people you appointed to help you. I want them to see "So Proudly We Hail." If they see it, I do not think we will have any trouble in getting them to work next year if we have to put on this sort of a campaign once again. D. M. Jarrel says that Ralph Messer helped him. Are there any more names of extra workers? Please, fellow workers, don't put me in the position of overlooking anybody who worked in this worthy cause. I want them to see the show.

LETTERS From the PEOPLE

Dallas, Texas
Nov. 2, 1943

Dear Mr. Wells,

I have planned to write this letter for a long time. We still get our paper at Garland, and sometimes we wait several days before Raymond brings it over to us.

We are now living in Dallas. John is night watchman at The Universal Corp. Plant. John and I both are working days at the plant. We think that we will like it here.

We have found a nice church home in the North Temple Baptist church. Bro. C. E. Colton is our pastor. He is a fine man and a good preacher. The people are also very nice.

How I would love to visit dear old Wellington. I think I would go all around the square and shake hands with all you folks. Then, I would go to the Baptist church and listen to Bro. Kinkeade preach and see all my old friends that worship there.

How happy I was to hear that Oscar Wells was coming home, and so many things that we learn from the dear old Leader. May its life be long.

May the Lord bless all the folks in Wellington.

Your friend,
Mrs. J. S. McClure

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to each of our friends and neighbors who were so thoughtful and kind during the illness and death of our mother, Mrs. Samantha Clementine Bell.

Your words of sympathy, and all the many things you did to lighten our grief have meant more to us than our words can express. May God's richest blessings be upon you.

The Bell family.

Mrs. Wm. Dawn and son, Ronny Joe, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Willoughby, this week.

Miss Zonetta Moore, who has been in Fort Worth for the last two months, returned home late last week.

What do you like about Coffee

Strength?

DOWN HERE in the Southwest we have several schools of thought on coffee. Some graduates insist the best coffee is strong, black, and hot. Others prefer it light and delicate, flavored with cream and sugar. Or sugar alone. Then there's the minority who are content any which way—just so long a saucer accompanies the cup! It doesn't matter which school you support. Admiration is blended to accommodate all tastes. It has sufficient heavy bodied coffees to enable anyone to make a "strong" cup. By using less coffee, a lighter brew of course can be made. In neither instance is there a sacrifice of Admiration's wonderful aroma and flavor.

LAMOFILM—THE PERFECT PROTECTION

Buy Admiration in the Lamofilm Package. This specially designed container, thrice sealed against flavor loss—(moisture, air, and deterioration of freshness)—gives you vacuum-pack protection. All the goodness of Admiration's famed blend is locked in at the roasting plant. And it stays in too! You'll instantly observe this when you open a new package. How? By the generous, fragrant aroma that will flood the room.

Social Security Card Valuable

"The amount of survivors' insurance that a widow and children, dependent parents, or other relatives of deceased employees may receive, and the monthly retirement insurance that elderly, retired wage earners and their wives may be paid under the social security program depends on the wages reported for them by their employers," said Dewey Reed, manager of the Social Security Board office in Amarillo. "Wages must be reported quarterly, by employers, with sufficient identification that each item can be posted to the appropriate social security account," he said.

"When employees fail to make certain their employers have correct records of their social security account numbers and names," Mr. Reed said, "They are failing to protect a very valuable insurance policy. When an employee gives the wrong social security account number and incorrect name to his employers he is jeopardizing his insurance protection. He may be depriving his widow and children or himself and wife of monthly insurance benefits already paid for. Employees should always show their social security account numbers to employers for whom they work, and they should assure themselves that each employer has made an accurate record of the number and name."

"When employers report the account numbers and names along with the wages of their employees, the posting of each employee's wages to his individual social security account is assured. If the employer fails to list the account number as it appears on the card, the worker's wages cannot be posted to his account. Employees, therefore, must show their account numbers to each employer for whom they work."

The Old West Makes Comeback

The old-time west is making a comeback.

At least, that lyrical description of the land "where the coyotes howl and the wind blows free" is just about fact around Hereford recently; and though nothing can be done about the wind, the county commissioners court is trying to do something about coyotes by offering a $2 bounty on coyote scalps.

This action was taken, County Judge Fred W. Baird said, in view of the serious coyote menace to sheep and chickens. Several losses have been reported already, and the coyotes are really getting tough.

News from the Army Navy Air Force Marines Coast Guard

One of the smallest papers to reach The Leader is The poor House Times . . . published by and for the six American Soldiers occupying a tent somewhere in North Africa.

One of these men is Sgt. John Shaddid of Wellington.

The paper is mimeographed—and done in neat fashion—and sent by the six men to their friends. It tells the little everyday happenings, what they think, and the humorous and serious occurrences of camp.

It gets its name from the "nick name" the boys have given their tent—which is distinguishable from the many other tents in the section only because it has a tree in front of the door.

Here on furlough is T-Sgt. Cecil Kersten of Camp Hood, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kersten. He came last Friday and will return to camp Saturday night of this week.

In the ordnance department, Sgt. Kersten has been in service for approximately a year and a half. Before going to camp Hood, he was stationed at Camp Gruber, Okla.

Pvt. Joe Hite, formerly of Wellington, has been inducted into the Army and is stationed at Camp Fannin. He lived at Amarillo at the time he entered service. Pvt. Hite is a brother of Bruce Hite of Wellington.

Students, are you working extra on Saturdays or after school? Most jobs are covered by the Social Security Act, so be sure to get your social security card and show it to your employer.

There's no age limit under social security. If the worker is one or seventy and is on a payroll, he should get a social security account number card. Write your nearest field office if in doubt.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

Nov. 4, 1943

Dear Deck,

I received a copy of the "Leader" today. It was dated Sept. 2, but it was all news to me and I guess I read about every word in it, and certainly enjoyed it. There are several fellows in this out fit from Texas and they all read it. It's just like a long letter from home.

There isn't much to tell about this place except that there are a lot of jungles, hills, wallabies (a small kangaroo), and lizzards about four or five feet long. And of course there are a lot of mosquitos as well as other insects. But after all it isn't such a bad place. It could be a lot worse you know.

Thanking you ever so much for the Leader. I remain, Sincerely Yours, Cpl. W. E. Sanders

It's A Small World, After All

It's a small world—and a small World War, after all. Take the incident that happened in Australia recently. Lieut. Roy G. Vaughan is a bomber pilot. He had been wounded and was sent to a field hospital over there. The nurse who was treating his wound brought out a stack of surgical dressings. And she remarked:

"You're from Texas, aren't you?" And the wounded American answered that he was.

"Where are you from in Texas?" the nurse continued. "Oh, I'm from Amarillo," the soldier replied.

And then the nurse smilingly said: "Well, it looks like the people back home are trying to do their part. These dressings I'm using have a stamp which reads, 'From the American Red Cross, Potter County, Amarillo, Texas.'"

Texas' income in 1943 is expected to reach five and a half billion dollars, Dr. F. A. Buechel, University of Texas statistician, predicts. Major sources of income are business and industrial payrolls, agriculture, mineral, and value added by manufacture.

Personal

Mary Lee Robinson of Quail moved to Clinton, Okla., last week to make her home there.

D. E. Pedigo of Chicago, Ill., and Lieut. Mark O. Wolfe of the Army Air Field in Frederick, Okla., visited recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shipley and daughters, Loretta and Almata. Lieut. Wolfe is a former employee of Mr. Pedigo. Before coming here Mr. Pedigo visited in Corpus Christi with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jack K. Pedigo, and baby. Lieut. Jack K. Pedigo is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

Mrs. L. A. Manzer last week end visited her son, Gene Manzer at Boonville, Mo. where he is a student at Kemper Military School.

Claud Killingsworth Jr. visited relatives here last week. He is now in Williamsburg, Virginia in Navy training.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ezzell had as their guests Sunday Mrs. Ida Brantley of Anacortez, Washington, Miss Willie Ruth Smith of Newport, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ezzell of Dozier. Mrs. Brantley is an aunt of Mr. Ezzell and Miss Smith is a cousin.

Mrs. Edith Estes, who has been living at Odessa, returned here Thursday to make her home.

Miss Betty Berry visited her brother, Benton Berry, in Lubbock over the week end.

Cecil Isbell of the Lutie community has been seriously ill of pneumonia in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Unusual Rock Uncovered In Gravel Pit

An unusual rock, shaped like a perfect heart, was brought to The Leader office last week by Cecil Craven of the Indian Creek community. The rock was found in the Davidson gravel pit eight miles north of town.

The rock was of alternating light and dark stone. Mr. Craven wonders whether this might have been a natural formation or an Indian work.

Mrs. Tallulah Wilson returned from Oklahoma City last week after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Opal White, there. Mrs. Wilson is leaving this week for Glendale, Calif., where she will live with relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Duncan left Tuesday morning for Los Angeles, California, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Duncan. They will also go to San Diego to see their son, Pvt. H. L. Duncan, who is in the Marine Corp. He is in the hospital after an attack of pneumonia.

R. L. Gillentine and Miss Elizabeth Gillentine visited in Hereford during the week end. Mrs. Gillentine returned home with them.

Local Couple Passes Exams Required For Chiropractors

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Agee received word from Austin this week that they have passed their State Board examinations which all chiropractors of Texas have had to take to comply with the new chiropractic law.

They explained that under the new setup, four years of college in a chiropractic college, along with a degree from the same, and two years of regular college training are required.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Agee had completed more than enough college work to comply with these requirements.

Editorial

The people of the United States have been flying so close to the socialistic candle that some of them have had their wings badly scorched. They have been obsessed with the idea that they could get something for nothing by having the government furnish it. As a result, they are loaded with taxes to pay for "gifts" and government debts.

At least they are awakening to the fact that taxpaying private industry is more beneficial to the nation than tax-exempt government projects which must be paid for by taxes taken from the people. In speeches, newspaper editorials, radio talks and advertising copy of many industries, there is outspoken sentiment that the nation must go forward on the solid foundation of private initiative and enterprise which built it.

Recognizing the signed wings warning, Eric A. Johnston of Spokane, President of the United States Chamber of Commerce, recently said: "There is some danger of America becoming totalitarian. Of course it would come under a form different than we understand it now. Unless that danger is averted, the peace of the world is endangered. Too much power should never be placed in the hands of government. We should tell the whole world that we will not preside at the liquidation of the American way of life."

It's worth getting our wings singed if it teaches us to keep away from the fire.—The Mission Times.

Fearing signals to Allied planes, the Nazis now forbid flying of kites in the Low Countries. The OPA will have to outdo itself to promulgate an order with as many strings to it as that one.

From reports of war on the eastern front, one gathers that a lot of Nazis are paying for their Crimes.

It is reported that Stalin's state dinner for the tri-power conferees lasted six hours. Just think of the terrific strain on the interpreters.

An American airline has applied for a license for a route to Tokyo. THAT will give the Jap propagandists something to mull over.

Insurance statistics reveal that little men live longer than big men. Even a germ likes some meat on the bone.

Other Editors Say

• Making Hard Feelings

A subscriber brought the following clipping to the office the other day and asked us to run it:

"Definition of an essential man—drives a pick-up and wears boots, can be found most any time of the day in pool hall or drooped over a cup of coffee, is able to take a few minutes off each day to run out to the farm and see how the hired man is doing . . . it all adds up to a draft exemption."

Such editorial articles cause hard feelings in a community, as they express only a half truth. Probably such a reference applies to very few in a community and it reflects upon the recreation time of every one.

In these war times a 12 hour work day should be required, but you don't expect war plant workers to do it. They are working 40 to 48 hours a week with time and one-half over 40 hours.

Many farmers get to work before sunrise and work until after dark. They could come to town and loaf a couple of hours in the day and still do more work than many town people.

If people want to play pool or dominoes, go to the show, sit in the barber shop or the hotel lobbies during their hours off from work, it should not be a reflection upon them—with hints that they are draft dodgers.—David M. Warren in The Spearman Reporter.

• Low Octane Gas

Is your car giving you some starting trouble now, and does it seem not to have the life and pep which it once had? Possibility, even probability, is that the type of gasoline you are getting is having something to do with this. The War Production Board is telling the people they can expect the demand for the higher octane gas to get more insistent from the war-making machine and that the kind of gasoline left for home consumption will be lower and lower in octane. Keeping your car in condition thus will become not only desirable but a practical necessity. The poorer the gas you have available the better your car will have to be to use it.—Homer Steen in The Floyd County Hesperian.

• Same Story

There are not the large number of hunters this year, intent upon the kill but with any number out to bag the game, we will have a lot of accidents, caused by carelessness. Rabbit fever, too, will find its victims and increase the death rate. Statistics will be compiled and compared with last year's. Whatever they find we will echo our yearly rules of safe conduct. A few for hunters who think that common sense is too common to use: don't shoot at moving bushes, or point your gun at something you don't intend to shoot, climb a fence and pick up your gun afterward, don't carry a gun with the muzzle pointing forward and try to wear clothes that will make you anything but part of the landscape.—R. J. Dison in The Wheeler Times.

• Normalcy Wanted

At the beginning of the war a few examples were displayed here of heads of business getting "afraid of the future" and closing this business. Most of them now wish they had that old stand back, because they have dabbled around here and there trying something they knew nothing about and getting their fingers burned. And their competitors have held on, and some of them are making more money than in peace time.—Electra Star.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS by BOYCE HOUSE

Worthy to rank with Travis' message from the Alamo in its sublime patriotism is this letter which was written by another Texas hero—Flight Officer Joe Edward Boswell of DeLeon, the day before he took off on the perilous flight to bomb the Ploesti oil field in Rumania:

My darling Mother and Family:

To start with I want to say that I hope you never have this letter mailed to you because if it is, it'll mean I have gone before you. Yes, I am writing this as a last letter just in case anything goes wrong tomorrow.

We are going on a mission tomorrow that will have more to do with bringing this war to a close than anything else so far, if it is a success, and it will be a success. You just can't stop us Americans once we make up our minds to do a thing.

I won't say where we are going for several reasons but you can read the papers and find out where we bombed on August 1, 1943. The headlines should be full.

I just wanted all of you to know how very proud I am of you and I consider it an honor of being a brother to such a wonderful family and a son to such a dear mother. You have always been the best to me in everything and I appreciate it from the bottom of my heart. I am not afraid of the job that is ahead of me nor have I any fear if the worst is to happen. You can't fight a war without someone getting hurt and I am no better than my buddies that fly next to me. If it takes my life to make this a free world, then I am ready—because there is nothing so dear as freedom. Remember that is what boys all over the world are dying for every day.

I did have a lot thought up to say but I just can't seem to write this afternoon for some reason or another.

I have read the 91st Psalm and it helps me end.

Try not to grieve over me as that isn't the way I want it. I have had a good life and a lot of fun, so I don't have any regrets. Always remember me in your prayers and, if it's the Lord's will, I'll be waiting for you in the Heavenly City.

Be sweet, and never let up in this fight for freedom until there is freedom forevermore.

All my love and best wishes to each of you.

Sugar—Stamp No. 29 in book four is good for 5 pounds through January 15, 1944.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 in book one good for 1 pair. Stamp No. 1 on the "Airplane" sheet in book three good for 1 pair.

Meats, Fats—Brown stamps G, H, J, and K good through December 4. Brown stamp L becomes good November 21 and remains good through January 1, 1944.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps X, Y, and Z good through November 20. Green stamps A, B, and C in book four good through December 20.

Report Foreign Holdings

All Americans owning any foreign bonds, or $10,000 or more in any foreign property are required to report such holdings on or before December 1 to their nearest Federal Reserve Bank. Practically every type of property must be reported—real estate holdings, cash assets, foreign currency, foreign securities, interests in foreign organizations, patent and trade mark agreements and contracts. Order can be restored more rapidly, as territories are reoccupied, if military authorities have such information at hand, states the Treasury Department. All information will be confidential and will be available only to accredited representatives of the Treasury.

Simplify Gas Rationing

All "B" and "C" gasoline coupons issued after December 1 will be worth five gallons each, compared with the present value of two gallons for coupons of those types in the east and mid-west and three gallons in the far west. This means "B" and "C" books will contain fewer coupons than in the past, but each coupon will be good for more gallons than before. No increase in the amount of gasoline allowed is involved.

Farmers To Get Batteries

Approximately 20 per cent of the fourth quarter production of flashlight batteries will be distributed to farmers, according to WPB. This makes enough batteries for about normal rural consumption available through farm outlets.

Fertilizer Outlook

American farmers will have more nitrogen and slightly less potash in the 1943-44 "fertilizer year," than they had in the previous year, according to testimony of WPB officials before a senate sub-committee on agriculture and forestry. Farmers should have four tons of nitrogen for every three they had last year, according to present indications. WPB is endeavoring to make additional quantities of potash available for agriculture in 1944-45.

Hosiery For Children

Production of infants' and children's hosiery will be stepped up shortly as a result of priority assistance given to manufacturers for procurement of necessary yarn. The WPB action resulted from a falling supply of infants' and children's stockings.

Shop And Mail Early

The public is urged to complete its Christmas shopping this month and to send all packages destined to other cities, whether by parcel post or express, before December 10. Early Christmas shopping and shipping are necessary this year to enable satisfactory handling of the extra Christmas load, Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, said. "Remember," Mr. Eastman added, "that the best gifts for this wartime Christmas are War Bonds or Stamps."

Step Up Truck Production

A four-fold increase in its 1944 civilian truck production program has been announced by the War Production Board. So important is this program that it has been given priority ratings equal to aircraft and high octane gas. Provisions are also made for production of replacement parts for civilian use. In spite of the four-fold increase, the new goal of 123,492 trucks is still far short of the pre-war production of approximately 700,000.

To Store Meat For Spring

A wider variety of rationed meats will be available to the housewife during the low ebb of meat production next spring under a rationing plan recently announced by OPA. Meat wholesalers will be loaned points to fill their storage freezers with veal, lamb, mutton, and the lower grades of beef between now and mid-January, the peak period of meat output.

Temporary Food Rations

Service men on leave can get temporary food rations without the forms usually furnished by the armed services, according to OPA. In an emergency, application may be made on forms available at local ration boards.

Christmas Lighting

The American people have been asked by the Office of War Utilities to confine Christmas lighting decorations to Christmas trees inside private homes. Saving of electricity will mean direct savings of fuel, manpower, transportation, and materials.

Scrap Drive To Continue

The "Victory Scrap Bank" drive, scheduled to end November 15, has been continued indefinitely. H. M. Fault, Director of the Salvage Division of WPB, said "As long as the war lasts, there will be a continuing need for iron and steel scrap to keep the mills well supplied. The collection of iron and steel scrap from all sources must be a continuing operation."

Praises Farmers

Assurance that farm men and women are occupying key positions in the war effort has been given by Paul V. McNutt, Chairman, War Manpower Commission. "When the history of this war is written," he said, "I am certain that much of the credit for victory will go to the men and women of our rural districts.

One or two hours of music played during the working day in war factories has caused production increases of from 1.3 per cent to 11.4 per cent, Dr. Archie Jones, University of Texas professor of music, has found.

Certainly in no war has the production of food played so vital a part and certainly no group has rallied behind the war effort with more eagerness and devotion. We of the War Manpower Commission have done everything in our power to maintain the nation's agricultural labor force at top capacity. Every acre of land that can be planted brings victory so much nearer."

New Use For Farm Waste

Peanut shells, ground corn-cobs, and similar waste agricultural materials have been found useful for cleaning engines, bearings, valves, pumps, and many other machinery and metal parts, the Department of Agriculture has announced. The new use has been found by scientists at the Northern Regional Research Laboratory at Peoria, Ill. Several hundred tons of ground corn-cobs now are being used each month for burnishing metals and cleaning war machinery.

Start Consumer Survey

Census enumerators expect to visit 7,000 households in a nation-wide survey to determine the availability of 115 types of goods. As a result of these studies, the Office of Civilian Requirements will have information from consumers to aid it in carrying out its function of maintaining an adequate supply of necessary civilian goods within wartime limits of manpower, materials, and manufacturing facilities.

Quail School States Policy For Year's Work

In order that patrons of the Quail school may better understand the policies under which the school will operate during the remainder of the year, Supt. Noah Cunningham Saturday announced certain decisions made recently by the administrative staff.

"School started Monday, November 8, and even though attendance is not as high as before school was dismissed for cotton picking, the session will continue," Mr. Cunningham said.

"Emphasis is being placed on better teaching and more thorough work on the part of each teacher and student.

"The policy of grading has been changed to help take care of the students who may have to miss school a part of the time. Instead of giving six week examinations at the end of the six-week period, every Friday will become examination day. This makes Friday in a sense the most important school day of the week, and parents are urged to try to have their children in school on that day.

"Tests and review of the week's work and assignments for the coming week will be made and each student can expect to do much more work every day he attends school this year," the superintendent declared.

Mr. Cunningham also called attention to the mechanics school and general repair shop conducted through the vocational agriculture department which will enable farmers to repair all types of machinery.

This is located on the school ground, and two well-trained men are in charge.

All we expect from the farmer is that he bring in his tool to be repaired and help do the work. There will be no cost to him except the materials he uses. This is service simply to assist the farmer in getting his shop work done at a minimum cost to him. The Quail school board and school officials invite and urge each farmer to take advantage of this opportunity of getting his work done," Mr. Cunningham said.

Richard Carter of Houston visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Breedlove, over the week end.

How Is Stew Cooked

BROWN THE MEAT

For richer color and more flavor brown the meat on all sides in its own fat or in a small amount of drippings. Season, cover with water, cover kettle, and simmer until tender.

ADD VEGETABLES LATER

To prevent over-cooking, add whole carrots and onions about 40 minutes before meat is done. About 15 minutes before serving the stew, add four quarters of a head of cabbage.

SERVE ATTRACTIVELY

Arrange steaming hot meat and vegetables in groups on a platter or chop plate. Serve gravy separately.

All people who would like to help make the bag or donate to the cost of the bags are asked to call Mrs. Fires at 200 or contact her personally. LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(Editor's Note: The following letter was written by Captain Elmer Knox Jones, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Jones, to his parents.)

Italy—October 21, 1943
Dearest Mom and Pop:

As you can see in the upper right hand corner censorship now allows you to know where I am. It is a beautiful country with many scenic places. The other day I got to go on a trip to Naples; saw Vesuvius, the Isle of Capri and Pompeii. It was all very unusual and interesting. Vesuvius with its constant plume of smoke from the top is beautiful and you can really understand why they call it the beautiful blue Mediterranean.

I got to buy some gifts on my tour, for you two, Janet, and Margie while I wasn't sight seeing and hope you like them. At least by tomorrow I hope to be able to get them off. Guess I'll tell you what I found for you and Margie, Mom—silk hose—Can you imagine that?

I received sixteen (can you believe it) letters from Margie and two from you last night. They were all September letters and I was happy to know Dr. and Mrs. Rosser visited you. What do you think about the chances of the Murray-Wagner bill to socialize medicine passing, Dad. Gosh, I hope it never passes for it is terrible and means a real dictatorship for medicine if it passes in the form it has been introduced. We fight one form of dictatorship to protect them, and they impose another form on us behind our backs. That's appreciation and I don't care if I never practice if medicine is socialized.

My best wishes to both of you.

Your son,
Elmer Knox Jones

Dear Granddad,

Now that I have some spare time I shall write you again and inform you that I am no longer in Sicily, instead I am now somewhere in Italy and can say that I like here better than I did in Sicily. However I do not like here so well as I did some of the places I was in North Africa. Texas has them all beat.

Am all right at present and feel better now that the weather is cooler and I have a better appetite. Hope that we can soon finish up this war and get back to the States, for it surely seems long since I was back there. I have traveled so much since I have been overseas that I feel that I could be happy now to settle down someplace back in the good ole USA.

Have really seen some very interesting scenery since I have been here. Have had the opportunity to climb Mount Vesuvius which has an active volcano at its top. It was very interesting to stand and watch the rock and smoke erupting from the top. I was able to get rather close and watch the lava that was running from the side of the mountain. It took me about two hours to climb to the top and I was very tired when I finally did get as near as I could to the volcano without being hit by rock or burnt by the lava. I also visited the ruins of the ancient city of Pompeii which was buried by the volcano in the year 79 A. D., and has been partly uncovered and is in a good state of preservation. There were many interesting old paintings on the walls of some of the buildings and the stone streets had ruts cut in them by the ancient carriages. I was surprised to find that things were developed so much at that early date.

Would like very much to see you soon and pray that soon the war shall end and I can return home. I think of all of you back there very often and would like to receive a letter from you sometime. May God bless all of you.

Dear Deck:

I have been receiving the Wellington Leader every week now for a long time and I just wait every week for it to come. It tells me where the boys of my country are and how they are doing. I don't want to miss a copy if I can keep from it because it helps to pass the time away.

Well to tell you the reason I am writing you is that they moved me yesterday to a different Sqd. and I want you to change my address so I will still get the paper. You can put me in the paper that I would like for all my old friends to drop me a line. I would be tickled to hear from them.

A service man from the county,

★ ★ From childhood we have been taught that every American boy has an opportunity to become President of the United States.

You need belong to no blood line, no royalty, no clan, to win this highest of all offices on earth. The chief executives in the history of this nation have come from the log cabin as well as the mansion—from the farm, as well as from the city.

Opportunity—that is a part of the American way—opportunity, through free education, to develop oneself, to make one's way, and to succeed.

American boys of yesterday are today engaged in war industry in this country, making a record for production that has astounded the world and stunned our enemies. It was the American principle of free enterprise that gave them the opportunity to grow and be big. Now we can be very thankful for it.

Somebody's baby in this fair land of ours today will be the 42nd President of the United States. The opportunity exists—let no one interfere with it!

Wartime Use Of Income Vital To Entire Family

COLLEGE STATION.—How a family uses its income in peacetime is important, but in war-time it is a matter of national concern. Many families have discovered this in the past few days as they figured their income tax declarations, says Louise Bryant, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

A family's war-time economy necessarily must be based on saving more and spending less. Miss Bryant explains that is because the family must pay higher taxes, invest regularly in war bonds and stamps, and pay off financial obligations as soon as possible. This kind of a program is worthwhile because it helps stretch limited civilian supplies and ward off inflation.

If a family has not already made a war-time spending and savings plan, experience in recent days should prove this a good idea. In making the plan, Miss Bryant suggests that the entire family be brought in on the planning. That means small children, too, for they should gain experience in saving and spending wisely.

The first step in making such a plan is to figure out the family's gross income. Farm families may feel their income is pretty uncertain, but even a conservative estimate will help. Then the second step is to figure out the family's essential war-time needs. Even then it will be necessary to check the plan and change it to make it workable. Families can get help and ample work sheets from their county home demonstration agents, Miss Bryant says.

Treat Grain For Smut Control

COLLEGE STATION.—The heavy losses which Texas wheat growers suffered a decade ago from infestation of "stinking" smut have been reduced to a minimum. According to E. A. Miller, agronomist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, control was achieved through seed treatment. Oats and barley also are subject to smut.

The chief symptoms of this fungus disease are the darker green color of the leaves and heads of the plants, and the offensive odor of the smutty heads. The diseased kernels are filled with a sooty powder consisting of millions of spores. During threshing most of the kernels pop open and the spores are scattered over healthy seed. If such seed is planted without being treated, the spores may germinate with the wheat, especially if weather and soil are rather cool at planting time. The parasitic threads of the fungus grow up with the plants and at heading time infest the young kernels.

Miller cautions that successful control has not eradicated the disease. Therefore seed should be thoroughly cleaned and treated before being planted unless the farmer is certain that it is not infected.

Chemical treatment consists of cleaning the wheat by fanning or otherwise to remove the smut balls and treating the seed either with two ounces per bushel of ethyl mercury phosphate called improved cerasan. Barley and oats may be treated with a similar amount of improved cerasan, or a mixture of one pint of commercial formaldehyde and 10 gallons of water. The solution is sprinkled uniformly over the seed while it is being shoveled from one pile to another on a clean floor or wagon box.

The job may be done in a commercial seed treating machine or home made container with a tight fitting lid.

Germans Kill Italian Mules

An American division in the Italian mountains became the envy of others when it received 300 large mules to pack supplies and ammunition. As soon as the Germans realized that American infantrymen were using the animals, they began a systematic slaughter of all the Italian mules they could find.

Navy's Air Transport Service Blazes Tomorrow's Trails

A "mule" car boosts up a heavy crate.

Just about every thinking person today realizes that transportation—passenger, mail, freight—by air will be a much bigger and faster growing business in the post-war era, many times larger than we have known it.

The NATS—Navy Air Transport Service—is helping vastly to make the road smoother for this new baby of commerce, blazing trails, finding out what sort of job the air industry is in for. Ordinarily, when you think of aircraft in wartime you think of bombers, fighters, observation planes, torpedo planes. But behind the fighting Air Force, in fact, behind all our fighting fronts, the NATS perform a vital job by keeping things moving in emergencies.

Founded five days after Pearl Harbor, the service today links five continents, spans many seas with its 60,000 miles of routes dotted by every type of stop from jungle landing strips to metropolitan airports.

Flying giant R4D's, it is NATS' job to get vital supplies and men from place to place when there isn't time to wait for slower ships and trains. If a particular technical expert is needed at Guadalcanal, say, and a military or naval operation is waiting on his arrival, then NATS enters the picture.

The service is operated in business-like fashion, on minute-timed schedules. More than 2500 pilots and groundmen keep it that way. When peace comes, its work will prove of inestimable value in arranging schedules, fixing charges, laying other groundwork for the big air boom that will come.

Colored Man Seeks Aid For 8 Dependents On Entering Navy

To a local colored man probably goes the record of having the largest number of dependents of any man from the county to be drafted into the armed services.

He is Joel Hunnicutt, porter at the Ritz Theatre until he reported for duty with the Navy last week.

Hunnicutt lists as his dependents his wife and eight children. And the dependency aid for which he has applied from the government will amount to $220 a month, he learned before leaving here.

His oldest child is about 14, the youngest only a few months old. Hunnicutt is 35.

"I hopes my wife saves some of that money while I'm gone," he is reported to have told white friends here before leaving.

Cold Prevention More Important Than Ever This Winter

AUSTIN.—"This year, as possibly never before, it is necessary that precautions be taken to avoid the widespread incidence of common colds, ordinarily expected at this time of the year," cautions Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Sickness, and the loss of manpower from colds alone can amount to a serious handicap to our necessary war effort production peak, but in addition, colds lower resistance to such an extent, individuals easily fall victim to other diseases," Dr. Cox said.

The State Health Officer urged persons suffering from a cold to use every precaution to prevent passing the disease on to others. The patient should avoid being with others, preferably remaining in his own room in bed. He should cover his mouth and nose with a paper handkerchief when coughing or sneezing and the paper should be destroyed. All drinking glasses and dishes should be sterilized after he has used them.

"The quickest and safest way to recover from a cold is to rest quietly in bed in a well ventilated room and drink plenty of water and fruit juices," Dr. Cox stated. "It is a dangerous procedure to try to 'wear a cold out.' In going about his usual routine a patient not only harms himself, but needlessly exposes all others with whom he comes in contact."
