Tornado Aid Fund Starts

By PETER HINCHLIFFE

More than $1,000 already had been donated by Wichitans to the Red Cross disaster fund to help pay for assistance to families who suffered as a result of last Friday's destructive tornado which smashed a path of wreckage across the northeastern section of the city by lunchtime Tuesday.

A total of 585 families suffered loss as a result of the storm, and the Wichita County Red Cross Chapter issued an appeal Tuesday for funds to help finance the organization's disaster relief efforts here.

Chairman Hal Dyer stated that contributions would be used to supplement local and national Red Cross funds. Money is being spent on providing food, clothing, shelter and medical care for victims of the tornado.

The Salvation Army is also in need of funds to help pay for its considerable disaster relief work.

Contributions may be made

Special Income Tax Benefits Offered Victims

Victims of last week's tornado may qualify for special benefits on their 1963 income tax returns, according to Omas Roberts, administrative officer of the Wichita Falls Internal Revenue Service office.

The tax law provides special benefits on 1963 tax returns for disaster area taxpayers, as long as the disaster occurs before April 16, the filing deadline. The tornado, or course, struck within the period prescribed by the law.

Roberts points out that under the new 1964 code, the first $100 of casualty losses, such as those from the tornado, are excluded, even though the taxpayer can claim the casualty losses on his 1963 tax return. He further pointed out that on personal or nonbusiness property, the amount of the loss is the lesser of (1) the cost (adjusted) or (2) the decrease in the fair market value of the asset. From this amount you must subtract the insurance or other compensation which you receive or expect to receive. The amount which is left is deductible.

Tornado victims can get special help in filing their 1963 income tax returns by calling on the telephone, at 766-0141, or visiting the Internal Revenue Service office at Room 224 Parker Square State Bank Bldg.

Report Confirms Russian Troops Leaving Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said today the Soviet Union has been pulling its troops out of Cuba in considerable numbers.

U.S. officials confirmed this, but as usual declined to estimate how many Soviet military men still are in Cuba.

At the time of the Cuban missile crisis in October 1962 it was estimated that 22,000 Soviet troops, many of them in organized combat units, were in Cuba.

Last October U.S. officials indicated that a report that the Soviet troop presence had dropped to less than 7,600 was a pretty fair guess. Presumably the current figure is somewhere around 4,000.

The most recent formal statement by a U.S. government agency on the Soviet troop situation in Cuba came in a nine-word observation all but buried in a State Department report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. It said: "Most Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the island."

Britain Turns Thumbs Down On Soviet Plan

GENEVA (AP) — Britain today rejected the Soviet Union's demand that virtually all major weapons be destroyed in the first stage of world disarmament.

British Minister of State Peter Thomas told the 17-nation disarmament conference such a measure would clearly upset the military balance, would be nearly impossible to verify, and would therefore be a grave security risk.

"So long as the Soviet government insists on this proposal agreement will continue to elude us," Thomas said.

Thomas told the conference that, according to Western estimates, the two major power blocs each possessed some 2,600 strategic missiles and bombers last October. Nearly all of these would be destroyed within a period of 18 months under the Soviet disarmament plan.

The Soviet plan also calls for the destruction of all tactical nuclear delivery vehicles and dual purpose artillery. Thomas said the arms to be destroyed under Soviet proposals also would include 2,444 warships, submarines and surface vessels capable of delivering nuclear weapons.

Eight Steel Firms Indicted For Conspiring To Fix Prices

Federal Grand Jury Identifies Industry Giants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight giants of the steel industry were indicted today on charges of conspiring in secret hotel room meetings to fix prices in the multibillion-dollar steel sheet business.

A federal grand jury in New York City charged that the firms conspired to eliminate competition in the $3.6-billion industry, which accounts for a third of all finished steel mill production in the United States.

Violation

In doing so, the indictment charged, the corporations and two of their officials violated the Sherman Antitrust Act ban against restraint of trade.

The indictment grew out of an earlier grand jury's investigation of the April 1962 attempt by leading steel companies to put into effect a $6-a-ton price increase on all steel products. Sharply rebuked by the Kennedy administration, the firms rescinded the price increase.

Firms Named

Today's indictment named these defendants:

United States Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh and James P. Barton, its present assistant general manager for administrative service;

Bethlehem Steel Co. of Bethlehem, Pa., and W. J. Stephens, former assistant vice president for sales;

National Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh; Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh; Great Lakes Steel Corp. of Detroit; Armco Steel Corp. of Middletown, Ohio; Republic Steel Corp. of Cleveland; and Wheeling Steel Corp. of Wheeling, W.VA.

Voting Still Light In Early Afternoon

By CARROLL COPELIN

Voters in Tuesday's municipal election to select four councilmen and a mayor weren't exactly having to stand in line to cast their ballots at the 33 polling sites as slightly less than 10 per cent of the city's qualified voters had bothered to vote by 1 p.m.

Polls will close at 7 p.m. Tuesday in what is shaping up as one of the quietest municipal elections in recent years.

By 1 p.m. Tuesday, election officials at 29 of the 33 polling sites had counted only 2,234 votes. Traditionally, about two-thirds of the ballots cast in a municipal election here are cast between 5-7 p.m. when most residents get off work.

Using this as a rule of thumb, election officials can expect to count about 6,500 votes after the polls close — about 1,000 short of an earlier estimate on the turnout.

Largest vote at 1 p.m. Tuesday was at Midwestern University where three boxes had been combined with a total qualified voting strength of 1,784. Judges at Midwestern had counted 219 ballots by 1 p.m.

Tuesday's election will choose four councilmen and a mayor from among the 11 candidates. Only one race — that for Place 4 alderman — is unopposed. W. Leroy Daniel, owner of a suburban cafeteria, is the only candidate for this post.

Winston Wallander, Place 1 alderman who resigned to run for mayor, is opposed by K. C. Spell retired barber and veteran of three previous terms on the Council.

Harry Campsey, oil company executive, is opposed by Kenneth Hill, insurance firm representative, for the year remaining of the Council's Place 1 seat.

Incumbent R. V. (Pete) Claytor is being opposed in his bid for re-election by Mrs. Joyce McDowell, the only woman candidate entered, in the campaign for Place 5.

The race for Place 6 has generated the most interest among voters. Here, four candidates, including the second Negro to seriously seek a Council post, are vying. James Williams, landscape contractor, is the Negro candidate. He is opposed by Cletus Schenk, senior member of a law firm here; A. J. Otte, sales representative for an oilfield supply firm; and Edwin (Ed) Baggett, president and general manger of an automobile dealership.

Final Juror Picked For Beckwith Trial

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The state accepted a 12th man for jury duty today in the Byron De La Beckwith murder trial and turned the all-white panel over to the defense for questioning.

Beckwith, a white segregationist, is being tried for the second time in the sniper slaying of a Negro civil rights leader. The first trial ended in a hung jury.

Eleven men were accepted by the state Monday in a long day-night session. Dist. Atty. William Waller used seven of the state's 12 peremptory challenges —that is challenges for which no reason must be given. The defense has 12 such challenges.

Mourners View General's Body

NEW YORK (AP)—A shriveled yet somehow majestic figure in simple sun tan uniform lay in a history-laden armory today, a magnet for Americans conscious of their heritage.

New Yorkers and visitors to the metropolis had an opportunity to view the body of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and meditate on his 80 years of service to the republic.

From 10 a.m. until as far into the night as any mourners are in line, the 7th Regiment Armory, home of "the Silk Stocking Regiment," will remain open.

First there were to be religious services and a presidential tribute to the 84-year-old warrior who died Sunday in Washington after three major operations.

In Washington President Johnson appointed Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, commander of the 1st Army, as his personal representative to lay a wreath on the casket.

In Washington leaders of Congress made arrangements for the body to lie in state in the Capitol rotunda Wednesday and Thursday. The general will be buried in the MacArthur Memorial building at Norfolk, Va., Saturday, after funeral services at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in that city.

Wichita Falls Group Will Visit 'Boomtown'

By BILL LAMBERT

"Boomtown, U.S.A.," isn't just the nickname of Burkburnett, Tex. — it's the slogan of and challenge to the citizens of the growing community 14 miles northwest of Wichita Falls.

A group of Wichitans, members of the chamber of commerce's area relations action group, will tour the progressive city Wednesday and see the downtown area of the still - booming town.

Burkburnett got its nickname from the colorful oil boom era of 1918, when its population jumped 5,000 persons within a few days after the discovery of the Fowler well.

The town is still mushrooming. According to Buddy Byars, Chamber of Commerce-manager, Burkburnett's population has almost doubled and property valuations have quadrupled during the last ten years.

The city's population was 7,821, according to the census of 1960, and is now believed to be almost 10,000. School enrollment has tripled during the last 10 years but rapid expansion of the school system has kept pace with the growth in enrollment. There are six elementary schools, a junior high and high school. Construction on additions to the high school is still under way.

The visitors Wednesday will tour the modern facilities of the First National Bank, which has total deposits of more than $6 million. Another bank for the city has been chartered, and the Savings and Loan Assn. of Burkburnett has total deposits of almost $2 million.

The recently expanded facilities of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. at Burkburnett also will be toured.

Burkburnett non - profit industrial foundation was formed to assist new industry wishing to locate in Burkburnett and to assist existing industries. Citizens pledged $30,000 to the foundation in one day.

The foundation now has four choice industrial sites available, including an industrial park of about 36,000 square feet with a vacant building suitable for many types of industry.

Sheppard AFB is located near Burkburnett and many of the military personnel of that huge training center live in the city. The base's $5 million monthly pay roll contributes heavily to the city's economy.

Recreational facilities include two city parks, a youth center, swimming pool, theatre, bowling alley, town hall and two stadiums There are four large lakes within a 60-mile radius of Burkburnett.

Air Force Grounds Aging B26 Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force disclosed today it has grounded twin-prop B26 bombers, which have been mounting many of the strafing and bombing attacks on Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

The reason: "Flight deficiencies which have occurred with this type aircraft."

It did not go into detail on the deficiencies, but sources said the action was taken after a wing fell off a B26 during a demonstration at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., in February.

The South Vietnamese government has been informed of the U.S. Air Force's action, The Associated Press was told, "and the B26 aircraft used by the Vietnamese air force have also been grounded."

The last B26 was scheduled to be pulled out of Viet Nam this week. All the others were flown to the Philippines last week. Air Force officials in Saigon said they would be replaced by "better aircraft."

The AP was given this information in reply to questions about reports that the B26s, World War II vintage bombers converted to counter-insurgency warfare, were being withdrawn from South Viet Nam where they have been flown by mixed U.S. and Vietnamese crews.

The last B26 rolled off the production line about 19 years ago. The planes were flown in combat in World War II and Korea, and have been one of the basic craft used by the Air Commandos, the U.S. Air Force's counter-insurgency specialists.

directly to either or both of these organizations.

Tom Wagner, director of the ARC disaster operations here, estimated Monday that the Red Cross efforts would cost several hundred thousand dollars.

He added that disaster headquarters at Seventh and Scott would remain open until all the victims had been given the opportunity to apply for help.

Newly released figures prepared by city engineer Frank Farlow assisted by the city tax office showed:

Buildings totally destroyed—261.

Buildings with 75 per cent damage — 16.

Buildings with 50 per cent damage — 24.

Buildings with 25 per cent damage — 96.

Buildings slightly damaged—84.

In the El Rey Trailer Courts on Burkburnett Highway, of a total of 76 units, 51 were totally destroyed and 25 units suffered partial damage.

All Red Cross assistance is given as an outright gift and the ARC does not make loans to disaster victims.

The Small Business Administration has now established an office on the second floor of the old Times Building at Seventh and Scott to help those who lost property in the disaster who require sizeable financial aid.

Manager of this office, Frank Hudson, will help those affected by the storm who need loans to borrow money at 3 per cent to be repaid in up to 20 years. The office 'phone number is 723-1449.

Robert E. West, SBA regional director, said every effort would be made to advance the government loans in from 10 days to two weeks time.

Hall Martin, and SBA official, added: "We have found that a high percentage of the people suffering loss in Friday's tornado are insured, thereby leaving only about 15 per cent of the people needing loans to restore their homes and businesses.

Disaster workers estimated Monday that some 120 families had already been found temporary homes, either at Sheppard Air Force Base or by FHA and public housing administration officials. Some 50 families were housed at SAFB, every vacant house being pressed into use.

B.P.L. Carden, general adjustor of the National Board of Fire Underwriters of New York, Monday assessed insured damage resulting from the tornado at $2.4 million.

Two companies — Ryan Mortgage Co. and Texas State Bank and Trust — hold more than 75 per cent of the titles on the homes in Sunset Terrace, the worst - hit area.

The 24-hour blockade of this area, brought into effect soon after the tornado struck to prevent looting, will be lifted at 6 p.m. Wednesday. However, police and K-9 units will continue to patrol the area.

Maj. Gen. Robert Stillman, commander of Sheppard Air Force Base, reported to chamber of commerce officials Monday that "no other essentials other than power were lost in the tornado damage, and we now have a mobile transformer working for that."

The general added: "I want to express thanks for the support of the community in offering assistance to Sheppard."

GORDON McLENDON WORKERS —Mrs. Francis Harvey was named women's campaign chairman in Wichita County for Gordon McLendon, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in the May 2 primary, and plans were announced for a coffee to be held April 22 for Mrs. Gordon McLendon, Tuesday morning at the McLendon headquarters in the Bamboo Room of the Kemp Hotel. Left to right seated are Mrs. Reuben Knight and Mrs. Bill Reichmuth. Standing left to right are Mrs. Francis Harvey and Reuben Knight, Wichita County chairman for Gordon McLendon.

County Woman's Leader Named For McLendon

Mrs. Francis Harvey has been appointed women's campaign chairman in Wichita County for Gordon McLendon, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in the May 2 primary.

Reuben Knight, Wichita County chairman for Gordon McLendon, made the announcement of Mrs. Harvey's appointment Tuesday morning in the McLendon campaign headquarters which is in the Bamboo Room of the Kemp Hotel.

Knight stated that it was certainly an honor and privilege for him to work with Mrs. Harvey in the campaign and that they both intended to spend many long hours during the month of April campaigning for Gordon McLendon.

"I ask all Democrats to get behind Gordon McLendon because I know that he represents the majority of the voters in the Democratic Party in the State of Texas," Knight stated.

"While I am not opposed to minority groups, and certainly not opposed to the minority group that supports the opposition, I do not think it is fair to the people of Texas nor the people of the United States to have a United States Senator from the State of Texas who is controlled by this minority group," Knight said.

Knight went on to say that Gordon McLendon is a supporter of President Lyndon B. Johnson and his programs, Gov. John Connally of Texas, the state legislature and its representatives, and is for the majority of the Democratic Party in Texas.

Coffee Planned

Mrs. Harvey announced that she, Mrs. Reuben Knight, and Mrs. Bill Reichmuth will give a coffee for the candidate's wife, Gay McLendon, on the mezzanine floor of the Kemp Hotel between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon on April 22.

"We are inviting all members of the Wichita County Democratic Women's Organization and Democratic women throughout the area, but we do want to emphasize that this coffee is open to the public and we urge all women interested in the candidacy of Gordon McLendon for United States Senator to attend and meet with Mrs. McLendon," Mrs. Harvey said.

McLendon, 42, a conservative Democrat, filed for the office of U.S. Senator on Feb. 3 and is the sole opponent of the incumbent Ralph Yarborough in the forthcoming May 2 primary election.

He is a native of Paris, Texas and the son of a lawyer, Barton R. McLendon. His grandfather was also a noted attorney and later a district judge.

Yale Graduate

McLendon, a graduate of Yale University with an AB degree, was a naval intelligence officer in the combat areas of the South Pacific during World War II.

In 1943 McLendon, nicknamed "The Old Scotchman," married Gay Noe, daughter of former Louisana Governor James A. Noe. The McLendons have four children.

After leaving the service in 1945, McLendon and his father formed a father-son business partnership principally in the broadcast field. Together they own and operate radio stations in Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, Buffalo, Chicago and San Francisco. In addition, they share interests in motion picture theatres, film production, oil and real estate.

McLendon has served and is serving on many state and national committees. He was voted one of America's 10 outstanding young men by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1951. Three times he has served as Texas state chairman of the March of Dimes.

received 750 copies of a special edition of IRS Document 5174, on claiming tax benefits from a disaster loss for the use of local taxpayers.

The Internal Revenue office will not only provide printed information, but will work with the tornado victims in:

(a) requesting an extension of time until they can actually determine the amount of their loss,

(b) filing amended returns if they have already filed their 1963 tax returns,

(c) securing copies of their 1962 income tax returns if their records have been lost and such returns are required to complete their 1963 tax return, and

(d) actually filing their 1963 tax return and claiming the loss.

Roberts feels that the income tax benefits are important, since the casualty loss may substantially reduce the amount of tax owed, or may cause a refund of all the taxpayer's income taxes withheld during 1963.

ACCORDING TO BOYLE

Each Good Woman Loves Being Ruled

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Just as many men today are henpecked so some wives are dominated by their husbands.

They are, so to speak, "rooster-pecked."

While this flies into the face of the comfortable feminine theory that this has become a world of women, run by women, for women, it is nevertheless inescapably true.

Here and there landmark men still survive who are able to assert their authority over women —and I am not speaking merely of male hairdressers. I mean husbands who are able to dominate their wives, usually without the ladies in question realizing it.

Takes Cunning

It takes a great deal of Machiavellian cunning for a man to remain master in his own split-level castle in these times, but it can be done—and it is being done.

How can a wife tell if she is "rooster-pecked?" Well, her clever mate probably has outwitted her in the battle of matrimonial bosshood if—

He insists that she handle all the money in the family. Then, when the household budget gets out of balance, instead of upbraiding her he turns upon her a face of insufferable forgiveness.

Although she is mistress of the purse, somehow he winds up at the end of the year with more new clothes than she does.

He's the one who takes the kids to the circus, but she's the one who spanks them when they need it.

She Fixes Faucets

She fixes the leaky faucets and repairs the vacuum cleaner because he has convinced her that he is, after all, just a bewildered small boy who never learned how to be handy around the house.

Every time he confesses helplessly, "Honey, I don't know what I'd do without you," she feels a fierce maternal urge to protect him even more.

He served her breakfast in bed the day after they came back from their honeymoon, but managed to botch the eggs and toast so badly that she has been getting up early to fix breakfast for them every day since.

She goes to the P-TA meeting alone, because he brought home some work from the office that simply has to be done. After she leaves, he turns on the television set and watches the night baseball game.

He assures her so constantly what a wonderful wife and mother she is that she goes through life feeling guilt-ridden because she can't think up more ways to please him.

There, my friends, you have a husband-dominated wife.

Every good woman loves being ruled by a man—just so he's smart enough not to let her realize it.

Junior Editors Quiz on ELECTRICITY

QUESTION: What is static electricity?

ANSWER: All matter is composed of tiny "atoms" which have a compact center or "nucleus" containing one of the two kinds of electrical force, the positive kind. Circling this nucleus will be one or more "electrons" which are extremely small particles having a negative electrical force. Usually the atoms have the same amount of positive and negative forces and so are balanced or "neutral." But under some conditions, some electrons may escape from their atoms, creating what we call "electricity."

When one electron jumps to another atom, causing an atom in that to jump again and so on, a moving stream of electricity is created called an electric current. But electricity can be created without moving like the current and this is "static" or stationary electricity. Before Jane rubbed the ballon on her hair, the atoms in hair and balloon were balanced or neutral. But the friction of rubbing took off some of the electrons from her hair and added these to the balloon's atoms. Since electrons are negative, the balloon now has a negative charge of static electricity and sticks to the neutral ceiling because of the law that "unlike charges attract."

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Charge a balloon as Jane did; then hold it near some bits of paper. They will lift up and attach themselves because they are neutral like the ceiling.

Shoplifters Like To Take From All Types Of Stores

(No. 2 in a series on Shoplifting in Wichita Falls.)

By MARTHA B. STEIMEL

Shoplifters are quite democratic when it comes to stealing—exclusive specialty stores, variety stores, bargain basements, jewelers, hardware stores, drug stores, department stores—not one is exempt.

Portable typewriters, sets of matched luggage, power tools, alarm clocks, percolators, men's suits, bolts of drapery materials and fur stoles are among the things which have been spirited out of stores by shoplifters.

A 30-30 shotgun concealed under a pair of bibbed overalls; cosmetics stuffed under a maternity smock, a stack of slips; a rack of nylon hose, and literally dozens of bathing suits have been taken and recovered.

"I never saw a town where they liked to try on bathing suits like they do here," a specialty store manager said. She added, dryly that she'd never seen a town where they liked to steal bathing suits like they do here either.

"What I can't understand is why they just take the bottoms of two piece suits," she said.

Sportswear does seem to be the most tempting to women who steal. One manager remembered a group of school girls who made a pact for each to go to a different store to steal a bathing suit. They did, too, and were them to a swimming party at one girl's private pool!

Such thrill-stealing is not common but it still happens often enough to make any storekeeper perk up his eyes and ears if a crowd of high schoolers come into his store.

Stores nearer Ohio Street are especially watchful for alcoholics who come in to steal an item in order to trade it for liquor. Professional shoplifters—and there are a few of those too—take things with an eye to re-sale value.

"Once we had a phone call asking us if we had missed a certain fur. We said we had and the caller told us to go to a certain address and we'd find it," one man remembered.

He found not only his missing mink but a shelved room magnificently stocked with all kinds of stolen merchandise from household linens to baby clothes. Naturally, he was accompanied by police officers.

Another motive for shoplifting is to return the stolen goods for a refund. That's why stores insist on seeing a sales slip. Even with that requirement, stolen articles sometimes are accepted for refund simply because the merchant cannot say:

"You're lying when you say this was a gift or that you've lost the sales slip."

Many stores will not give refunds, only exchanges or gift certificates. Even that precaution just delays the cash refund by a single step.

One thief disgustedly threw away two expensive shirts because the suspicious clerk refused to give refund. (The shirts were retrieved from the alley trash can and put back into stock.)

Although teen age shoplifters are not in the majority they do cause more concern than any other group of thieves because the store managers hate to see youngsters doing wrong.

One manager invariably calls a young boy or girl caught stealing into his office for an old-fashioned chewing out. He threatens to call the police but never does. As a result, he has formed some lasting friendships — and in at least one case was tipped off that his store was the target for a gang of juvenile thieves.

Other men, because of company policy, invariably do call the authorities.

"I think it may help prevent a bigger, more serious theft later on. It's a $2.98 shirt today. Next year it may be a car," one man said.

"Once they're caught, I have no choice. I call the juvenile authorities. Not because I want to be mean about it but because they are equipped and trained to handle them. I'm not. I'm a merchant," another said.

(Wednesday: Grocery stores keep close watch for thieves.)

WISE CHOICE OF CURTAINS IS IMPORTANT

The proper selection of curtains can do much to add to the charm of your home.

There are innumerable styles now available, according to a home adviser, and they're fashioned to enhance any room in your home.

The kitchen window can be treated in many ways. Tier or cafe curtains can be hung so they completely cover the window or so that part of the window is exposed. Hang them with valances or in tiers of two or three sections.

You can choose a variety of patterns and fabrics including the popular drip-dry materials. The many new beguiling hues available should be selected so that they match, contrast or blend with your floor, wall, or countertop colors.

Some are splashed with flowered embroidery, another has a Dutch boy and girl appliqued on a background of white, red, or green. Brown and green checked, or solid colors in yellow, blue or red are just a few of the patterns and colors available.

Tier curtains also add a warm, inviting note to bedrooms and living rooms and there is a wide range of fabrics, styles and exciting colors to fit each need.

Traditional criss-cross ruffled marquisette or "old-fashioned" net curtains go well with early American or Victorian decor.

Draperies should be hung to reach the floor, the lower edge of the sill or the bottom of the window frame.

There are Fiberglas "wash-and-hang" draperies, with a brocade look, block-or flower-patterned in various colors, to blend in with any decor. Antique satin draperies in a variety of hues would go well with French provincial or a formal room setting.

Plastic curtains are a good choice for the bathroom, and there is a wide choice of designs and colors. Make it cheerful and gay by picking up the predominant color in the curtain, (if it's not a solid color) by matching bathroom accessories such as towels, bath mats, soaps and tissues.

A home reflects the personality of the homemaker within it, expressing your good taste. Smart decorator sense, and meticulous attention to quality expected of more expensive curtains have been carried out in the new collection of window hangings.

Dear Abby

Wait For Globe-Trotter Before Making Decisions

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband announced last November that he needed a rest, so he went to New York to visit his sister. After being gone two months, he sent me a post card from Paris saying he got the "urge" to go abroad. I have been getting his post cards from all over Europe with no word of how to contact him. What if I, or one of the children, should become seriously ill, or die? Our children are away at boarding school, thank heavens, so they are spared the humiliation. I feel like a fool when people ask me where my husband is. He obviously cares nothing for me or he never could have done such a thing. I am well provided for, but money isn't everything. We've been married 19 years and I am seriously considering asking my lawyer to file for a divorce. What would you do in my place?—HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: I'd get in touch with my lawyer immediately and attempt to locate my globe - trotting husband. He could be sick — or just sick of you. In any case, it's time he got home. Do nothing about a divorce at this distance.

DEAR ABBY: I believe that my mother-in-law is one in a million. Judging from most of your letters about mothers-in-law, I am lucky. We get along wonderful and even think and do things alike. When I wanted to dry out a cowhide, she helped me take it up and nail it to my garage roof, salt it down and trim it off. Now I ask you, how many mothers-in-law would go through that for a daughter-in-law? Sincerely,—MRS. C. G., NORTH FORT MYERS, FLORIDA

DEAR MRS. C. G.: Not very danged many.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and my problem is my parents. I met a very nice boy who is 17. He is a sharp kid and a real neat dresser. My parents met him and decided they didn't like him because his pants were too tight. Now they won't let me go out with him for that reason. He keeps calling and asking to see me, and I keep making up excuses, I can't tell him my parents are square, can I?—HIGHLAND PARK

DEAR HIGHLAND: Tell the boy that your parents want you to see more of more boys and less of just one. Tight pants won't be the vogue forever.

City Parks Official Resigns Position

Superintendent of the city parks and recreation department for the past five years, Emerson Hall Jr. submitted his resignation here Tuesday to become superintendent of recreation for the city of Tucson, Ariz.

Hall's resignation was announced by Jim Thornton, director of parks and recreation here. Thornton said an assistant, Joe Hoffman, would assume Hall's duties until a successor is named.

Hall, who has held the post of parks and recreation superintendent here since November of 1958, came to Wichita Falls from Austin, where he was general supervisor of recreation for the Austin Recreation Department.

He held the Austin post for five years following his graduation from Mississippi Southern and a tour of duty with the U.S. Army. Hall holds a master of arts degree with a major in physical education.

His resignation here will become effective April 27.

WE THE WOMEN

Working Wives Create Higher Living Standards

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A higher living standard for the family isn't the only thing a working wife offers her husband.

A specialist in mental health points out, "Often a man will dare more, be less afraid to change jobs, to take a chance, if his wife is working and forming a backstop for him. He will feel less tense, less driven, less impelled by worry for his family should his own income be cut by misfortune or death."

It's not often today's working wife reads such reassuring words.

What she is more likely to hear and read about herself is that working wives are too independent for the good of the man-woman relationship, that they are, to a large extent, responsible for the problem of juvenile delinquency, that they are inferior homemakers compared with full - time housewives, that they often go to work from the purely selfish motive of preferring office work to housework.

Since this is the popular image of the working wife, it wouldn't be at all strange if husbands accepted it as a true picture, taking the financial boost of an extra pay check without ever considering what that pay check means to the husband's feeling of security.

Perhaps the average working wife would be more appreciated by her husband if he would consider all the benefits he receives from knowing that he isn't the only wage earner in the family.

For the average man, knowledge that his wife CAN earn a pay check is as reassuring as money in the bank. Maybe he ought to tell her so now and then.

SOUTHERN ASIA MISSION WORK IS WSCS TOPIC

The problems, contributions and accomplishments of Christian missionaries in Southern Asia were analyzed for the First Methodist WSCS Monday morning.

The one day District WSCS meeting will be at First Methodist Church on April 17, it was announced during the business session, directed by Mrs. Weldon Guest, president.

She also heard reports from Mmes. Sterling P'Pool, Clyde Murph, H. B. Dudley, Otto Lambert, Horace Downing, Wayne Watts, N. H. Martin and Grover Bullington.

Mmes. Don Read, L. E. Ruth and Paul Springer each took part on the study on Christian mission in Southern Asia.

Mrs. Read emphasized the impact of Christianity on Hinduism, Buddhism and Moslem faiths. She said the plight of Hindu women had been alleviated by the teachings of missionaries, and she told how the conflicting ideologies sometimes resulted in a resurgence of religions.

Mrs. Ruth discussed the confusion of denominations in the mission field and told how Protestant missionaries have unified their evangelistic efforts. The end of denominationalism in 1947 saw the beginning of the goal of unity but not uniformity, she said.

Mrs. Springer outlined the Christain contributions to nation building, pointing out that areas of social change, reform and adjustment in South Asia still need the church's contributions to swell agricultural productivity and help bridge the change to industrial economies.

Life memberships for Miss Onida Brown and Miss Nancy Smith and a baby life membership to John A. Thomas were announced.

Mrs. C. J. Hinshaw, leader, and members of Circle Four were hostesses for the luncheon. White-sprayed mesquite branches decorated with colorful flowers, birds, butterflies and tiny parasols ornamented the table. Ivy streamers interspersed with Carolina jasmine and baskets of violets were in the centers of the tables.

CATHOLIC GROUP INITIATES TWENTY NEW MEMBERS

Twenty new members were initiated into Our Lady of Good Council 309 Catholic Daughters of America at a reception held Sunday afternoon in Sacred Heart Parish Hall. District deputy, Mrs. Steve Moster of Muenster and Grand Regent, Mrs. Frank Scheffe of Windthorst, conducted the initiation.

Mrs. Virginia Green was in charge of the program.

Visitors were Mmes. Frank Yosten and Ted Gremminger, both of Muenster, and Mmes. John Schreiber, Lambert Osterman and Carl Lindeman, all of Windthorst.

Gold, purple and white were used in decorations which consisted of candles and flowers.

Following the ceremony, the group of approximately 60 people attended mass at Secred Heart Church and afterward had dinner at the Villa Motel. Msgr. Vincent P. Micola of Sacred Heart Church and Father John Matzner of Lady Queen of Peace Parish were speakers.

Highland Heights CWF Studies Moslem Religion

The Moslem faith was examined by Mrs. J. N. Sherrill at a meeting of the Highland Heights Christian Women's Fellowship Monday morning at the church. The study of the Islamic religion was another in a series on "Great Religions of the World," this year's study topic.

Mrs. Sherrill pointed out similarities and differences in the lives of Mohammed, founder of the Moslem religion, and Jesus. She said that the growth of Islam during the past 1,300 years had proven a great political and religious influence in the life of more than 330 million people, 35,000 of them living in the United States.

Mrs. Robert Duffield arranged a table display of items pertaining to the Moslem world, including pictures of mosques and minarets and souvenirs of Iran from foreign students at Sheppart Air Force Base.

Mrs. Harry S. Oakey Jr. spoke on Christian brotherhood for the worship period. She gave Biblical references to brotherhood and read an excerpt from the Koran which emphasized brotherhood for the followers of Mohammed. Mrs. Oakey also gave the invocation for the luncheon at which Mrs. A. G. Duncan's group served as hostesses.

Mrs. Olan Balch directed the business session. Mrs. W. O. Alexander played organ accompaniment for the opening hymn and Mrs. David Williams conducted the dedication of blessing boxes for foreign missions.

WAYNE WATTS TALKS TO WSCS AT FLORAL HEIGHTS

Wayne Watts, a man who has been active in the Wichita Falls District Methodist Foundation, was the guest speaker for a spiritual life study at the Floral Heights WSCS general meeting Monday in the church.

He spoke of the many needs for Christian witness today. He said that boldness is needed to make the most of every chance contact where today's work is. He also described the dedication of the early Christians, basing his remarks on the book of Acts.

"We need not pray for an opportunity to witness for the needs are all around us," he said. He was introduced by Mrs. Scott Hunter.

Mrs. Floyd Cook reported on the North Texas Conference annual meeting in Denton. The theme, "Change and Challenge," pointed up new approaches to Christian mission in a moving, changing world, Mrs. Cook said.

Mrs. E. B. Smith, president, announced the district annual meeting April 17 at First Methodist Church.

Mrs. A. T. Allison and members of Circle Nine were hostesses for the luncheon.

Garden Club Hears Talk On Grooming

Mrs. S. H. Walton told the University Park Garden Club how to groom horticulture and potted plant specimens for flower shows at the home of Mrs. R. A. Thomson, 4432 Call Field.

Mrs. Walton is a nationally accredited flower show judge. She stated that plants for show should be free of dirt and blemishes, and sprays or oils left on plants will cause them to lose points when judged. She suggested that milk diluted with water be wiped on leaves to achieve the natural look.

Soil in pots should be loosened, and pots scrubbed clean, she said, but no special credit is given for fancy containers and none is taken off for lack of them.

Entry cards for the Florarama were distributed, and members were shown how to fill them out. They must be ready by the morning of the show which will begin April 18 and continue through April 19.

Mrs. Blanche McAdams gave the group some horticulture hints and displayed some daffodils grown in her backyard.

It was announced that the club won a red ribbon for its flower show scrapbook at the district meeting held in March at Vernon.

Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Ham Vance and Mrs. C. E. Forsythe.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Know why newborns yawn more often and more adorably than anybody? It's Mother Nature's way of providing the extra oxygen new lungs need in the early weeks. (It takes a bit of time before a beginner's lungs work at top efficiency.) So when your cherub looks just about his very cutest, remember that yawn means he's getting the benefits of a deep and satisfying breath of air.

•

Solid facts with nutritional overtones. Specially prepared cereals play an important role in your baby's diet because they supply important nutrients baby needs. Gerber Baby Cereals, for example, are enriched with a special form of iron to help build good red blood. B-vitamins are also added to increase the nutritive benefits.

•

Gerber Cereals are famous for their mild, pleasant flavors and smooth, nice-to-the-tongue texture. Five varieties . . . in 8-oz. packages or Gerber Cereal Sixes, a variety-package containing small-size boxes for small-size appetites.

•

Feeding footnote. It's easy enough to fall into the belief that the more food you urge on your baby the better off he'll be. Tain't so. As an old friend once put it: "Forcing never made a baby a bigger or better eater . . . it just takes the enjoyment out of eating. Little ones are surprisingly smart when it comes to knowing their food needs and will eat enough if left alone to satisfy their hunger needs."

•

Eating enjoyment comes naturally with Gerber Strained Foods. Because they have naturally good flavors and come-hither colors. Once on a full food schedule, your baby can enjoy over 50 wholesome, toothsome varieties. Two brand new delectables: Strained Creamed Corn and Strained Chicken Soup . . . sunny tempters made extra-nourishing by the addition of whole milk solids. The Cook's Corner

By GAIL COOKE

Lemons I love. Almost anything with their special tang is irresistable to me. Be weak, give in, don't even try to resist the following meat loaf dish.

Lemon Meat Loaf

3 tablespoons butter
¾ pound ground shoulder of veal
2¼ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
6 tablespoons lemon juice
2 eggs
Pimento strips
¾ pound ground chuck
¾ pound ground shoulder of pork
Grated rind of 1 lemon
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cups milk

Early in the day melt butter in loaf pan. Pour butter in a large bowl and add remaining ingredients save pimento strips. Mix well. Pack into loaf pan and refrigerate. About 1½ hours before dinner heat oven to 350 degrees. Bake loaf for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand for a few minutes and then loosen around edges. Careful now, and lift it onto platter. Place pimento across top. Serves 8.

COOKE

If you dropped it, drop a line to Gail Cooke, care of Wichita Falls Times. I've been there myself!

Just everybody has recipes to be prepared early in the day or the day before. Remember you saw it here first. For other unorganized souls like myself, here is a main dish to be prepared weeks in advance! If you prefer, you may go on in the same old routine and make it early in the day. But, friends, it isn't half as much fun.

Besides think how you'll feel when your guests or family compliment you on it and you can say, "Oh, just something I whipped up last month!"

Larry Marzetti

6 chopped onions
1½ pounds ground chuck
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 pound shell macaroni
1 pound grated sharp cheese
2 3-ounce cans chopped mushrooms
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ cup oleo
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce

Several weeks before serving: In large skillet saute onion, chuck, salt, garlic salt and pepper in ¼ cup oleo for about 15 minutes. Stir often with a fork to prevent sticking. Cook macaroni as package directs and drain. Toss macaroni with ¼ cup oleo and place in two 2-quart casseroles. Add two - thirds of the cheese to the meat mixture and stir until cheese melts. Add 1 can tomato sauce and mushrooms and pour over macaroni. Top with 1 can tomato sauce and sprinkle with remaining cheese.

Cool, wrap for freezing and freeze. (There now, you have your two best casserole dishes tied up for the next few weeks! But, you can't have everything!)

The day before serving, remove casseroles from freezer and let thaw in refrigerator. About two hours before serving, heat oven to 325 degrees and bake for 1 hour and 40 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Serves 8.

High School Gardeners Elect, Plan

Miss Vicki Lenz will serve as new president of the High School Gardeners with other officers elected Saturday at the Woman's Forum. They will be honored with a swimming and slumber party May 29 at Miss Sally Ebner's home, 1537 Mesquite.

Vice presidents one through seven are Misses Susan Tinsley, programs; Ebner, flower shows and membership; Donna Read, social and therapy; Loretta Albright, publicity and conservation; Becky Burns, telephoning; Linda Woody, yearbook; and Lolly Little, scrapbook. Miss Shelly Lenz is secretary and Miss Jonna Beth Lynch is treasurer.

The group toured the home of Mrs. Joe Bashara, 2201 Ellingham, following the meeting.

Announcements about the flower show April 25 were made. Displays in the flower arranging division will be shown in Mrs. Bashara's home, and those in the horticulture division will be at the Woman's Forum.

Twenty five members are planning to participate in the show, and other high school gardeners who wish to enter should call Miss Ebner. Entries should be at her home or at Mrs. Bashara's by Friday evening April 24.

Those on the flower show committee are Misses Kay Decker, Nancy Holstead, Lenz, Albright, Read and Burns.

The group also planned to take a field trip May 9 to the Chandor Gardens in Weatherford, Tex.

Hints from HELOISE

How To Care For Steel

Dear Folks: Mr. Frank G. Orr has written to us from one of the biggest stainless steel manufacturers with some tips for women who use stainless steel pots and pans and who are unfortunate enough to burn one, once in a while . . .

Some of the ideas will surprise you. They did me . . . when I saw that vinegar, alcohol, baking soda and turpentine were in his vocabulary!

Mr. Orr says:

"On a highly polished, lustrous surface such as a pan lid, a metal pad is likely to mar the finish and should not be used. Gritty, hard abrasives will mar a stainless finish and are not recommended.

Always rinse your stainless in hot water and dry with a soft cloth. This means residual minerals in the water won't dry on the untensil and leave watermarks.

Detergents will help you avoid the film that soap sometimes leaves on stainless. This is especially true if you have hard water and no water softener.

Foods that burn and stick on other metals can discolor stainless, too. But with a stainless steel unit you can remove discolorations by applying a mildly abrasive cleanser. To soften an extremely heavy layer of burnt-on grease, cover the layer with an ammonia - soaked cloth for 10 to 15 minutes. You might also use a plastic or stainless steel sponge.

When hard water evaporates in a unit or utensil, it often leaves a mineral deposit. To remove this, swab or cover the bottom of the unit with a water solution containing vinegar (about 25 per cent by volume). Follow with cleansing powder, then wash, rinse and dry.

For more difficult applications, you may use any of the following: (1) ammonia in water, (2) detergent in water, or (3) special solvents, such as alcohol, baking soda, vinegar or turpentine. Follow these with a thorough washing with detergent and hot water, then rinse and dry with a soft, clean cloth.

For a high polish, apply a mild abrasive cleanser and rub in the direction of the polish lines to preserve the original finish."—Heloise

Dear Heloise: My husband has another use for your famous vinegar which he wants to pass along to your readers, or their husbands.

He uses vinegar to clean his hands after working with cement and mortar. He uses it straight from the bottle without any soap and it does wonders in removing the hardened concrete or cement. Also leaves his hands soft. After using the vinegar he just rinses his hands in water.—Mrs. D. Anderson

What price vinegar? I love it, love it, love it . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: I use my electric fry pan to warm several left - overs at the same time. For instance, I just put a few drops of water on a piece of foil, wrap up my biscuits and heat them in my fry pan. It makes them fresh again.

I put a small amount of milk on a piece of foil and wrap up some mashed potatoes.

Meat loaf, or other meats or vegetables, may be wrapped in foil and heated the same way. ANY left - overs may be heated this way. It is far better than warming them up in separate pans and saves a lot of dishwashing.—Viola Webster

Dear Heloise: Since my baby has been off his formula I have been using his large pitcher-sized measuring cup to measure large amounts of flour when I bake. No more wondering "Did I add three or four cups of flour?"—Mrs. Robert Frick

Safety From Storms

Storm shelters used to be as prevalent in this area as houses. When the first settlers came and began building their farm houses or town houses, they dug cellars in the yard or beneath their homes not only to store produce but also — and perhaps mainly — to provide protection against tornadoes, cyclones and the like.

In more recent decades the storm cellar has become a rarity, although each tornado season probably brings such a facility into family discussions and some decisions are made to install one.

Storm cellars, however, are still about as rare as their modern counterpart, the family fallout shelter.

In last Friday's death-dealing tornado here, more than two dozen persons crowded into one storm cellar and the availability of the accommodation undoubtedly saved the lives of many of the occupants. The storm passed on the surface above the shelter and nearly sucked away the cellar door.

In the tornado of six years ago and again Friday and in destructive wind storms that apparently weren't tornadoes, the trailer homes which have been in their paths have been twisted and tossed about.

The idea has been suggested, in connection with trailer park areas, that a storm shelter would be as welcome as any other central facility such areas offer. Because trailers are mobile and the family breadwinner takes the car, leaving the family with out transportation to flee an approaching storm, the protection that would be afforded by trailer park storm shelters would be an added inducement for occupants to rent trailer space therein.

Here's an idea born of last Friday's storm. It has even been suggested that the installation of storm shelters in trailer parks be made mandatory.

We can say definitely about the storm cellar in general, and not the idea in particular, that the recent terrible experience makes the subject even more popular than it became after the 1958 tornado and the nuclear bomb scare that has arisen periodically since the end of World War II.

More Cause To Recall

Alfred M. Miller completed 42 years of banking service with the First National Bank (now merged as the First - Wichita National Bank) in January 1960 and for the four ensuing years of retirement provided a splendid example of one who in his golden years made them sparkle with the interest of a person who has the opportunity to do what he wants to do.

Funeral rites conducted for him Monday were in keeping with his life — dignified, unpretentious, self - effacing—and the large group of people who came to pay their respects bespoke of the affectionate regard in which he was held in this community.

As a banker, Miller had climbed the ladder of success in his career from bookkeeper to senior vice president of the institution with which he had been affiliated since 1917 when he came to Wichita Falls from the bank at Munday, Tex. He was held in great respect by his associates and countless numbers of bank patrons through the years.

Miller had firm convictions and spoke them, and to numerous civic and public organizations in which he participated this was of immense value on important decisions. For years Miller was secretary - treasurer of the board of directors of what was then Hardin Junior College and its successors past the time the institution became Midwestern University.

Wichita Falls will have occasion many times in the future to remember April 3, 1964, and the tornado which occurred in mid-afternoon on that date. This community has even more cause to remember the date of the tornado because Alfred M. Miller was counted among its victims.

Astronomers Jarred

Current concepts of the age and size of the universe are reported likely to be upset as a result of the discovery of a mysterious object moving so swiftly that the astronomical yardstick for space measurement must be cast away.

Dr. Maarten Schmidt of Mount Palomar and Wilson observatories in California reports the sighting of an object that is believed to be a galaxy, or cluster of galaxies, the most distant yet seen by man. It is moving faster than any object ever seen — at half the speed of light or 93,000 miles per second. This new object, prosaically called 3C-147, is moving so fast and so far away that Dr. Schmidt says the cosmic scale for time and distance "must have corrections cranked in." The 3C-147 is estimated to be 10 per cent farther out than 3C-295 which until now was listed as the "farthest away" object — six billion light years away.

Dr. Schmidt's announcement that "we just don't know the distance now of either object," is a reversal of astronomical confidence which can only mean revisions of the size and age of the universe. All this may be baffling to the layman but one thing is clear enough: The charting of outer space is like trying to solve a jigsaw puzzle with many pieces missing and some of those at hand frequently changing their shape.

Humor In Spelling

In need of a laugh? Then read the following editorial out the the St. Louis Post-Dispatch on the subject of spelling, headed "Orfel Importent Notise":

An intristing noo approach to percarious spelling is asumed in an immaginative little bulitin, "A Handbook for Terible Spellers," or "The Backwords Diktionery," a commendible entreprise of Innovation Press, of New York City, with Joseph Jordan as compiler and editer. Mr. Jordan has aranged several hundred ofen misspelled words in alfabetical order acording to their frequint misspelling, with the corect spelling follering, to inable terible spellers to find them the way they beleaf they are spelled.

The auther is stricly a maxamum enamy of stuped spelling and has confadense his efferts can probibly edyucate many terible spellers. This may be over-optomism. Irregardless, the produck is desidedly laughible, and conviniently shaped to fit into pockabook or breifcase. These Will Never Fade Away

MacArthur And Father On Army Roll 102 Years

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Times Washington Bureau

Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur and his son, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, were on the roster of the United States Army for a continuous 102 years (1862 to 1964). It is a record unequalled and which is not likely ever to be surpassed. Navy Capt. Arthur MacArthur Jr., brother of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, died in 1923. Had he lived he probably would have been an admiral in World War II.

Because of the eminence they reached as military men the Lees and the MacArthurs must be put down as the nation's most resplendent military families.

Won Lasting Fame

The first of the Lees, Maj. Gen. Henry (Lighthorse Harry) Lee, won his most lasting fame as a cavalry officer under Gen. George Washington in the War of Independence. His son, Robert E. Lee, who married Mary Custis, great granddaughter of Martha Washington, had already established a great reputation in the War with Mexico before he gained everlasting luster at the head of the Confederate armies.

The third of the Lees, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, was a grandson of Gen. Light Horse Harry Lee and a nephew of Gen. Robert E. Lee. Fitz Lee was a major general of the Confederate Army. President McKinley made him a major general in command of Volunteers in Cuba in the Spanish-American war in 1898.

Path Began To Cross

The path of the Lees and the MacArthurs began to cross here. Gen. Arthur MacArthur became a close personal friend of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee. But President McKinley, who also made MacArthur a major general of Volunteers, sent him to the Philippines.

Gen. Arthur MacArthur, less than a month before his death, gave me his version of how old soldiers should fade away, a subject which Gen. Douglas MacArthur discoursed upon in his "Old Soldiers Never Die" address before a joint session of Congress on April 19, 1951.

I had been sent by my city editor in Milwaukee after Gen. MacArthur's Army retirment to interview him. MacArthur, who facially bore a great resemblance to Theodore Roosevelt, could talk with fascination and great knowledge on almost any subject, but he forbade the printing of his views.

Place To Die

He said: "'the best place for generals to die is at the head of their troops. If they do not retirement time will come along. When it does they should become private citizens, which I have become. If there was any reason I should speak out on any subject I would not hesitate to do so. But there are tranquil times and I see no reason to intrude my views."

Gen. Arthur MacArthur had plenty of chance to die at the head of his troops long before he became a general. He had been adjutant and first lieutenant in the 24th Wisconsin Infantry Regiment when he was 17 and had won the Congressional Medal of Honor for conspicuous bravery at Missionary Ridge, was twice wounded in battle and was colonel and regiment commander at 20. As commander of the Rainbow Division in France in World War I Douglas MacArthur was a front line fighter, just as his father had been. He was wounded twice and gassed once. He won the Congressional Medal of Honor also, the only father and son to win these highest of military awards. He did not hesitate to go where the greatest danger was in World War II or in the Korean War.

Soldierly Skill

Gen. Arthur MacArthur was the only officer to reach the grade of lieutenant general between the Spanish - American War and World War I. When he retired Congress abolished that grade and did not revive it until World War I. Gen. John J. Pershing and Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston were "Old Arthur's proteges" and the soldierly skill of "Young Douglas" was the pride of Pershing and Funston.

Military historians call Robert E. Lee and Douglas MacArthur the only father and son to win these highest of military awards. They also achieved in other fields. Robert E. Lee won fame as an educator and was president of Washington University in Virginia (now Washington and Lee University) at his death. Lighthorse Harry and Fitzhugh Lee each served four year terms as governor of Virginia.

As American governor in the Philippines, Arthur MacArthur played a statesman's role. It was he who established habeas corpus there, founded a school system and organized the Philippine Scouts for defense purposes. As commander of the occupational forces in Japan Douglas MacArthur made a magnificent record in rebuilding that country from its ruins. He brought about land reforms, established farm cooperatives, improved labor conditions and put forth great efforts to make Japan a representative democracy and to win it over to the side of free nations. The tallest monument to Douglas MacArthur may some day be built in Japan.

In Other Fields

Great as was the military reputation of the Lees and the MacArthurs they also achieved in other fields. Robert E. Lee won fame as an educator and was president of Washington University in Virginia (now Washington and Lee University) at his death. Lighthorse Harry and Fitzhugh Lee each served four year terms as governor of Virginia.

As American governor in the Philippines, Arthur MacArthur played a statesman's role. It was he who established habeas corpus there, founded a school system and organized the Philippine Scouts for defense purposes. Moscow-Peking Strife Headed For Explosion

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is no event anywhere on the horizon which deserves to be followed more closely than the violent and vitriolic clash between Red China and the Soviet Union.

This jealous, competitive struggle for primacy between the two Communist capitols—whose relations are now at the point of explosion — can do more than anything else to shape our world during the rest of the Twentieth Century.

As we await the climax of this divisive strife between Peking and Moscow, which Premier Khrushchev promises at an early summit meeting of the world's Communist parties, there are three questions which need to be answered.

Point Of No Repair

QUESTION — Is it a hoax, is it a trap? Are Khrushchev and Mao Tse - tung putting on a planned charade to trick the West into letting down its guard, a charade which will be neatly called off after it has done its work?

ANSWER — In the end it will be answered conclusively by events themselves. But it is my own conviction that the feud between Peking and Moscow has already reached the point of no return, the point of no repair.

There's a reason why this is no hoax, no trick to fool the West. If this intra - Communist fight between the Chinese leadership and the Soviet leadership were primarily ideological — that is, a feud over who's a better Communist — I wouldn't believe it as far as I could throw Lenin's tomb. Such a conflict could either be a trick or a mirage which could be waved out of existence any moment.

Not Superficial

But the bitter, name - calling clash between Peking and Moscow, which has been going on under the surface since 1959 and above the ground since last summer, reflects a deep conflict of national interests, not a superficial conflict of ideological arguments. The ideological arguments are the weapons of the conflict, not the cause.

The breach broke into the open with the abrupt and total end of all Soviet economic, technical and military assistance to Red China, including an implacable refusal to help it get the bomb. The Kremlin saw the emergent and potentially strong Red China as a dangerous neighbor and competitor. It concluded that while it would like to see China remain Communist, it was in its best interests to try to see that China remained weak.

This is not the kind of international feud that can be played with mirrors; it is being played with bricks.

Consequences Weighed

QUESTON — What will be the consequences of a Peking-Moscow break?

ANSWER — These consequences:

1—A weakening of the world Communist movement, because it will be torn apart by divided loyalties (to Moscow and Peking) and divergent purposes.

2—A muting, at least for a period, of the cold war in Western Europe and wherever Moscow is its principal instrument since the Kremlin cannot risk conducting a violent cold war on two fronts.

3 — More militant and riskful ventures by Red China in Asia.

Increased Trade

QUESTION — What should the U.S. be doing?

ANSWER — First, the Soviet Union needs more than ever the support of its Eastern European satellites in the contest with Peking. It can get that support best by granting increasing freedom and flexibility to the Eastern European countries. The U.S., I think, should do everything possible to help these countries become less dependent economically on the Soviets. That means mutually advantageous increased trade.

Secondly, we need to do everything necessary to win the war against the Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam to prevent the drive of Red China to dominate Southeast Asia.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Van Johnson Tears Up Script To Memorize

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Van Johnson, the memory wizard, has discovered the secret of learning play scripts which he wants to pass on to you people who have trouble memorizing.

WILSON

First, when it seems difficult, he flies into a rage, tears the script into tiny bits, throws the pieces at the wall, and yells so loud that Ed Sullivan, who also lives at the Hotel Delmonico, phones the desk and says, "What's going on?" Then Van gets a new script and starts over.

"After I tear up the new one," he explains carefully, "I try the tape-recorder-while-you-sleep method of memorizing. What do you call that — osmosis?"

"Subliminal," I said.

It Keeps Playing

"That's what I said . . . subliminal!" Van said. "Phyllis Dilier tipped me. She said, 'Baby you put it all on a tape recorder.' I get in bed and turn the recorder on to listen, I fall asleep about the middle of the first act. It keeps playing.

"About 3 a.m. the putt-putt wakes me up and I turn it off."

"Do you really learn while sleeping?"

"Of course not!" he scoffed. "But I have a beautiful tape recorder to stumble over, an I owe it to Phyllis.

"Although," professor-of-memory Johnson went on, "Marlene Dietrich told me about it years ago in Hollywood. She said, 'Sweetheart, just buy this little machine and put the plugs in your ears.'"

"And did you?"

"No. Both my ears were busy. I was married to Evie."

Difficult Role

Van's learning the difficult Jason Robards Jr. role in "A Thousand Clowns."

He'll play this role 10 weeks in Milburn, N.J., Yonkers, Westport, Conn., and Mineola. It's the beginning of a new career as a serious stage actor.

When not memorizing, Van goes people-watching in Bloomingdale's, or to his clothes closet to look at his old suits, which he won't throw out.

"I've got suits 30 years old. They've got coat-hanger shoulders, wide lapels and big wide jazzy stripes like George Raft wore. They'll come back in style—but not in my lifetime."

"How many scripts have you torn up so far?" I asked.

"Four. But I'm tearing them up in bigger pieces now. I'm whipping it."

The Midnight Earl

Xavier Cugat's asking friends if they know any "young, beautiful girls who can sing" — just in case Abbe Lane makes the split permanent . . . Danny Thomas is setting up a "H'wood for Pierre Salinger committee of film stars . . . Dagmar and husband Dick Hinds were among the acts cancelled when the Hot Springs gambling houses were shuttered. She mourns: "For us, this was the week that wasn't." With Ernest Borgnine, exclaimed, "So many of my friends want to meet him!" . . . Paul Anka turned down a role in the "Fanny Hill" movie . . . Johnny Carson's announcer Ed MacMahon will star in a tv game show produced by Alan King and Nat Hiken.

$50,000 Guarantee

The Beatles'll get a $50,000 guarantee (or 50 per cent of the gross) for a one-nighter in Jacksonville . . . Danny Meehan was asked to let his hair grow long for his "Funny Girl" role; he says, "I think they really want me as Barbra Streisand's understudy."

Georgia Brown leaves "Oliver!" in July; she'll stay in N.Y. for tv and cafe dates . . . Burgess Meredith will join Otto Preminger's troupe for "Harm's Way" . . . Howard Morris, who was a featured comic on the old Sid Caesar tv'ers, has written a play about a tv comedian. (No resemblance, of course) . . . Roberto Rossellini says he's quit the movie business — he'll stick to making tv films, "where there is more money" . . . Vince Edwards, directing a "Ben Casey" segment, ran into an overtime problem. He said, "If Edwards the actor squawks about working overtime, Edwards the director will show him who's boss around here."

I'd Rather Be Light

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: They're telling of a doll modeled after a famed penny-pinching actor. You wind it up — and it doesn't give back the key.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Morty has begun buying stock, and figures it's just a case of keeping up with the Dow-Joneses.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "There are two very difficult things in the world. One is to make a good name for yourself; the other is to keep it" — Robert Schumann.

EARL'S PEARLS: Golf, claims Shelby Friedman of Dallas, is a game where the players put tee and tee together, and get Fore.

A local fellow says he's happy with his new trailer: "For a change we have a home that can run away from the kids." That's earl, brother.

BARBS

You'd be surprised how many troubles a person can think of when you inquire as to his health.

When they have nothing to do with the stories inside why do scantily dressed gals appear on the covers of paper-back books?

Two 14 - year - old delinquents were arrested and then sentenced to stay in every night at home for a month. Back where the trouble likely started.

PERSONALLY

A Certain Street

My heart has mixed emotions
Driving down a certain street—
Where our old house still stands—
Alone and obsolete—
How many poignant memories
Rush through those empty rooms—
How many a long lost face
Before my vision looms—
No place will ever be
As hallowed or as dear—
As that great house that sheltered
So many a yesteryear!

Special Films Shown At WFHS

By CYNTHIA DODDS

Classes at Wichita Falls High School are now seeing special films from the Department of Defense on the United States and the Communist States.

These special films were previewed by the history teachers of WFHS and approved for the students' study. The films were introduced by Floyd "Chief" Deerinwater, study hall teacher at WFHS.

Deerinwater expressed the desire that all students see these films and profit from their message.

The three films are "Headquarters USA," "This Communist Weapon of Allure" and "A Study of the USSR."

"Headquarters USA" presents a pictorial tour of Washington, D.C. It covers points of interest, such as the White House, Capitol, Jefferson and Lincoln Memorials, National Archives and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

"The Communist Weapon of Allure" is presented by Dr. Warren G. Walsh, professor of Russian history, Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. It explains the methods the Communists use to enslave the minds of men.

"A Study of the USSR" reviews the Soviet Union's political history, geographical expansion, natural resources and political philosophy. It also describes the Soviet educational, scientific, economic and industrial development.

Hirschi Stages Unique Battle

By WAYNE JOHNSON

The basketball courts of Hirschi were again filled with cheers for the favorite team as the Hirschi "Hasbeens" took on the Hirschi Huskies.

The Hirschi "Hasbeens," comprised of Coach Jess Stiles, better known as the "Hooker;" Coach Bob Page, known as "Satch;" Coach Ramon Towry, alias "Rocky;" Coach Sonny Lang, alias "Hatchetarms;" Coach Dub Largin, alias "Smiley;" Coach Jack Vantrease, alias "Totty;" and assisted by Coach Duane Miller, Coach Frank Schatte, Karrell Johnson, and John Ozee, vice principal of Hirschi Junior High, played the Hirschi Huskies.

The Huskies are comprised of Ronnie Faulkner, Jerry Loyd, Gary Varnell, Ross Farris, David Barker, Curtis Cooper, Douglas Tanner, Jerry Bush, Keith Rounsavall, Serge Sonsini, David Brasier, and Manuel Holgin, in an effort to earn money for the purchase of glass backboards for the school fieldhouse.

It was a very exciting game enjoyed by all who attended and in describing the game Coach Stiles said, "It was a tough game from beginning to end, but the better team (the coaches) won on penetrations."

The final score was a 37-37 tie.

Talent Show Set Friday

By GLENDA PETTY

The Hirschi High School Band will present its annual talent show Friday night in the Hirschi auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Director Carol Magee has set the admission for the talent show of 16 acts, which will be given for the student body Friday morning, at a small fee for adults and students. Tickets may be bought at the door.

The "emcees," who will carry out a theme of "Spry versus Spy," are Garry Blodgett, Joyce Cole, Dave Gill, and Glenda Petty. Assisted by David Johnson and Poney Thompson, the "emcees" will introduce all the acts, but they will be more concerned with a "secret," which will be revealed at the end of the show.

A variety of songs ranging from Broadway, popular, and stage band to country western music will be sung by Jane Thorp, Frieda Royse, Tommie Moody, Landis Harmon, Peggy Black, Pearl Conner, and Becky Uselton.

Dances including tap, ballet, and modern interpretation will be performed by Nona Holding, Vickie Rogers, Gloria Parkey, Cheri Blakelock, and Dean Blakelock.

Charles Wetherbee will play the organ.

Comedy will be provided by several acts including the "Others Brothers," the "Beetles," Barry Wilson doing a single act, and a "Mock Debate."

Stage manager for this year's production is G. C. Roe. Stage hands will include Larry Walden, Sam Rice, Jimmy Cook, David Wagner, and David Vernon. Assistants will be Lois Jean Petty, Nancy Streety, Linda Bradley, and Kay Lewis.

The student body will vote Friday morning for the best act. The top three acts will receive letters and the winner will receive a trophy. The awards will be presented at the Friday evening performance.

SHOP WORK — This Wichita Falls High School freshman, Robert Terrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Terrell, 1922 Sixth, is hard at work on a shop class project. This project calls for building a pine wood coffee table in the shape of an old cobbler's bench. The shop class students have been busy making projects ranging from checker boards to large gum cabinets. Entering any of the six periods of shop classes under the guidance of Herb Marvel or Robert Glenn, one finds numerous projects being worked on by industrious students.

Journalism Class Conducts Advertising Layout Study

By CYNTHIA DODDS

After recently completing a study of newspaper advertising, each member of the journalism class of Wichita Falls High School designed an advertisement to apply the principles which he had learned.

The study was introduced by Mrs. Jane McGough, journalism teacher, to show the students what proper advertising could do for a school paper.

To supplement a study of advertising in the Wichita Falls Times and The Dallas News, two girls lectured on the subject of design to the class.

Ann Camp, daughter of Mrs. Sue Camp, 2413 Martin and Leah Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Allen, 419 West Rogers, pointed out to the class the importance of color, balance and word choice. The girls illustrated their lecture with advertising posters which they and other members of the third-year art class of WFHS had made.

The posters which members of the class made vary widely in subject matter. Stores that are represented in the collection show the varied possibilities in the field of advertising.

These stores include Max Kreutz House of Music, Kruger's Jewelry, The Pavilion, Perkins Timberlake, Patricia Shoe Store and the Button and Trim Shop.

Vicki Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Vaughn, 3148 Northeast Drive, used a clever attraction to appeal to customers. A green thumb illustrates some people's ability to grow flowers, but if one lacks this ability, he should visit the Flower Mart for life - like artificial flowers. She stated the necessary detail and made an eye-catching advertisement. This is an important principle in advertising.

Claudia Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. LaGrande Henderson, 1613 Easy, made an attractive poster which emphasized the colorful Spanish life to advertise Flowers by Spain.

The students used color, balance and copy principles to design appealing advertisements.

IN NUMBER SENSE—Representing Rider High School in the District AAA UIL Numbers Sense competition in Stephenville Saturday are, left to right, Lorne Davis, Coy May, Bill Frazier and John Kleinecke. Kleinecke, 4624 Meadow Lake. The photograph was made by Charlie Tamez of Rider. The number sense test is mental calculation of mathematics problems. Eighty problems are given and the student is allowed to work certain time. May has won first place in district number sense competition every year in which Rider has been entered. Last year he also won regional and placed fifth in state. Frazier placed second in district and Davis third.

TEEN TORIAL . . . .

STAY IN SCHOOL

By SANDI KLOUS

Now that the close of the school year is approaching, many students are beginning to lose interest in their classwork and many are habitually absent from their classes. Everyone is aware of the approach of spring with its warm, sunny days, and a sense of irresponsibility is in the air.

But all of us must realize that no matter how carefree and independent we may feel, we still have a responsibility to our teachers and parents. We must do our utmost to attend school every day and do our best while we are there. Nothing but illness should keep us away from our classes and the responsibilities that these classes involve.

In the first place, most students don't realize that there is a great expense involved when even one student is absent from school. This expense is our parents', not just the teacher's or the school boards.' Our parents pay taxes to maintain fine schools for us, and it is up to us to attend those schools every day and make the most of this opportunity.

Consider, too, our teachers who make every effort to be in their classrooms every single day in order that we may learn. They're not absent from school because they "feel like sleeping late today" or "it's too beautiful a day to bother with school." They know their responsibility and this should be an example to us.

Remember, students, now is the time to grow up and face our responsibilities. We have a responsibility to our parents, our teachers, and ourselves to attend school regularly. We must make the most of our high school career by not missing a day!

Odd Noises Emanate From Physics Lab

The causal visitor to the Wichita Falls High School should not be surprised or alarmed at the odd noises and sometimes odd odors which waft through the air from the physical science lab.

The room, a combination lecture room and laboratory is a veritable beehive of activity on lab days and always provides an element of experimentation and discovery for the physics student.

"The purpose," states James H. Clark, physical science instructor and head of the science department, "is to learn physics by having actual contact with experimental materials and solving physical problems with them."

Team Class Visits Firm

By CYNTRA DODDS

The history-English team class of Wichita Falls High School recently visited the Lone Star Gas Company.

The tour of the Gas Company is a part of the class's study of the contrasts of Communism and Democracy. The tour enabled the students to witness the working of free enterprize which is the basis of a democracy.

After the students had seen a film on gas field equipment and natural gas and its many uses, Hal Dyer, district manager of Lone Star Gas, spoke to them on "Free Enterprize."

H. R. Sissel, credit manger, and C. C. Elliot, office manager, directed the students on a tour of the company where they saw most of the machines of the company.

Before beginning the educational part of the visit, the class was the guest of the gas company for breakfast. Mrs. Helen Banks, Lone Star Gas home economist, prepared breakfast for the members of the class and their sponsors, Mrs. Merle Anthony and Paul Strong.

Much can be accomplished, however, under present radiations, so don't give in to temptation to play during working hours. Pay attention to health matters now. Have a check-up if necessary.

Past . . . The word "posh," meaning elegant, comes from the way luggage was marked on steamships outward bound from England to Asia long ago. The deluxe way to travel was in a cabin facing "Port Outward; Starboard Home."

Future . . . The turkey industry seems to go from one extreme to another. First, small turkeys were developed for small families; now it is predicted that in two years there will be turkeys of from 70 to 100 pounds. All those leftovers!

THE WORRY CLINIC

Taxing Power Is Weapon

By GEORGE W. CRANE, M.D.

CASE S-432: Bill Scott, aged 17, was a track star.

He ran the half mile for South Shore High School in Chicago.

Our oldest son, George, was a freshman member of that same team.

Bill was George's ideal.

And if George had not crashed to his death when his jet plane was struck from the rear at the Glen View Naval Air Show, George would now be a stellar campaigner for Bill Scott.

Mrs. Crane and I had attended the track meet that afternoon 21 years ago. George introduced us to Bill.

We haven't seen Bill since.

But we feel that Bill should be the model for ALL Democratic and Republican political candidates nowadays. Why?

Well, Bill was the dark horse candidate for treasurer of our State of Illinois in 1962.

He shocked many people by winning the election.

And he then shocked everybody during his first year in office. But it was a very delightful shock!

Reduced Costs

For Bill Scott REDUCED the entire costs of his department by over 10 per cent within the first year he was at Springfield.

And if you think that isn't phenomenal in this modern age of rising taxes and MORE governmental employes being constantly added to the breaking backs of us taxpayers, please cite me ANY other candidate of either party who has actually cut costs by even 5 per cent.

Bill Scott is now running for governor of Illinois.

And he is pledging that if elected, he will likewise cut the costs of the entire State of Illinois by 10 per cent the very first year he is in the governor's chair.

His past record proves that he means business!

That's very frightening in Illinois—but only to the many unnecessary job holders and inefficient departments of our state government!

What makes Bill Scott so unique is not his promise to cut costs, for almost all candidates do that as typical campaign malarky.

But Bill Scott really scares those who hope to get hand-outs from the taxpayers.

For they know he has already cut costs of one department of our state government by over 10 per cent, so he could very well spread that wholesome economy to ALL the other departments.

If our son George were alive today, I know he'd be a fervent campaigner for Bill Scott.

"Power To Destroy"

For George was frugal with his own Marine Air Corps pay checks and believed in sound economy by government, too.

All of us American taxpayers should encourage candidates, whether Democratic or Republican, who resolutely prove that they mean business when they say they will prune off the many unnecessary expenses of local, state and federal government.

For bankruptcy plays right into the hands of socialism, and that's why Khrushchev promised he'd have our grandchildren living under Communism.

"The power to tax," said Chief Justice John Marshall, "is the power to destroy."

So vote for candidates who will actually REDUCE taxes! That's how to make Khrushchev eat crow!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

A national debt of $10 million was incurred under the Articles of Confederation.

Hirschi Band To Play At Inspection

The Hirschi High School Band, led by Drum Major Pat Tatum, will march and play Wednesday morning in the National Defense Cadet Corps inspection at Hirschi.

The 28 members of the band will play "U.S. Field and Artillery," "Star - Spangled Banner," "Garry Owen March," and "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Arrangements for the band's participation were made by Col. Leo E. Harmon, NDOC sponsor, and Carol C. Magee, band director.

In 1854, a shower of manna fell upon Persia during drought and famine.

Storms Hitting Him Harder

"They keep getting worse," is the complaint of Charles R. Murray about the Friday afternoon tornado. It was the fifth storm he and his family have been involved in.

A mechanic at Powers & Blair Auto Service on East Scott, he was at work but his wife and the youngest of their four children were at home at 1012 Fell Lane. She decided to run from the storm and took the youngest in the family's 1961 Plymouth.

But the storm caught her, rolled the car into junk but permitted her and the youngster to escape with scratches. Three children were safe in school.

Meanwhile, back at the trailer house, the twister went all out junking the 55 by 10-foot mobile home and a 1957 Nash.

Murray posted his loss at a conservative $12,000.

Six years ago the storm hit his trailer home off the Seymour Highway and cost him $1,000 damage.

"But my many friends and fellow workers have been good to me," he declared. A reserve policeman for seven years and looking out for others in misfortune, it seems that people are helping him now.

Like hundreds of other storm victims, he keeps expressing his thanks.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

Christianity Will Ultimately Triumph

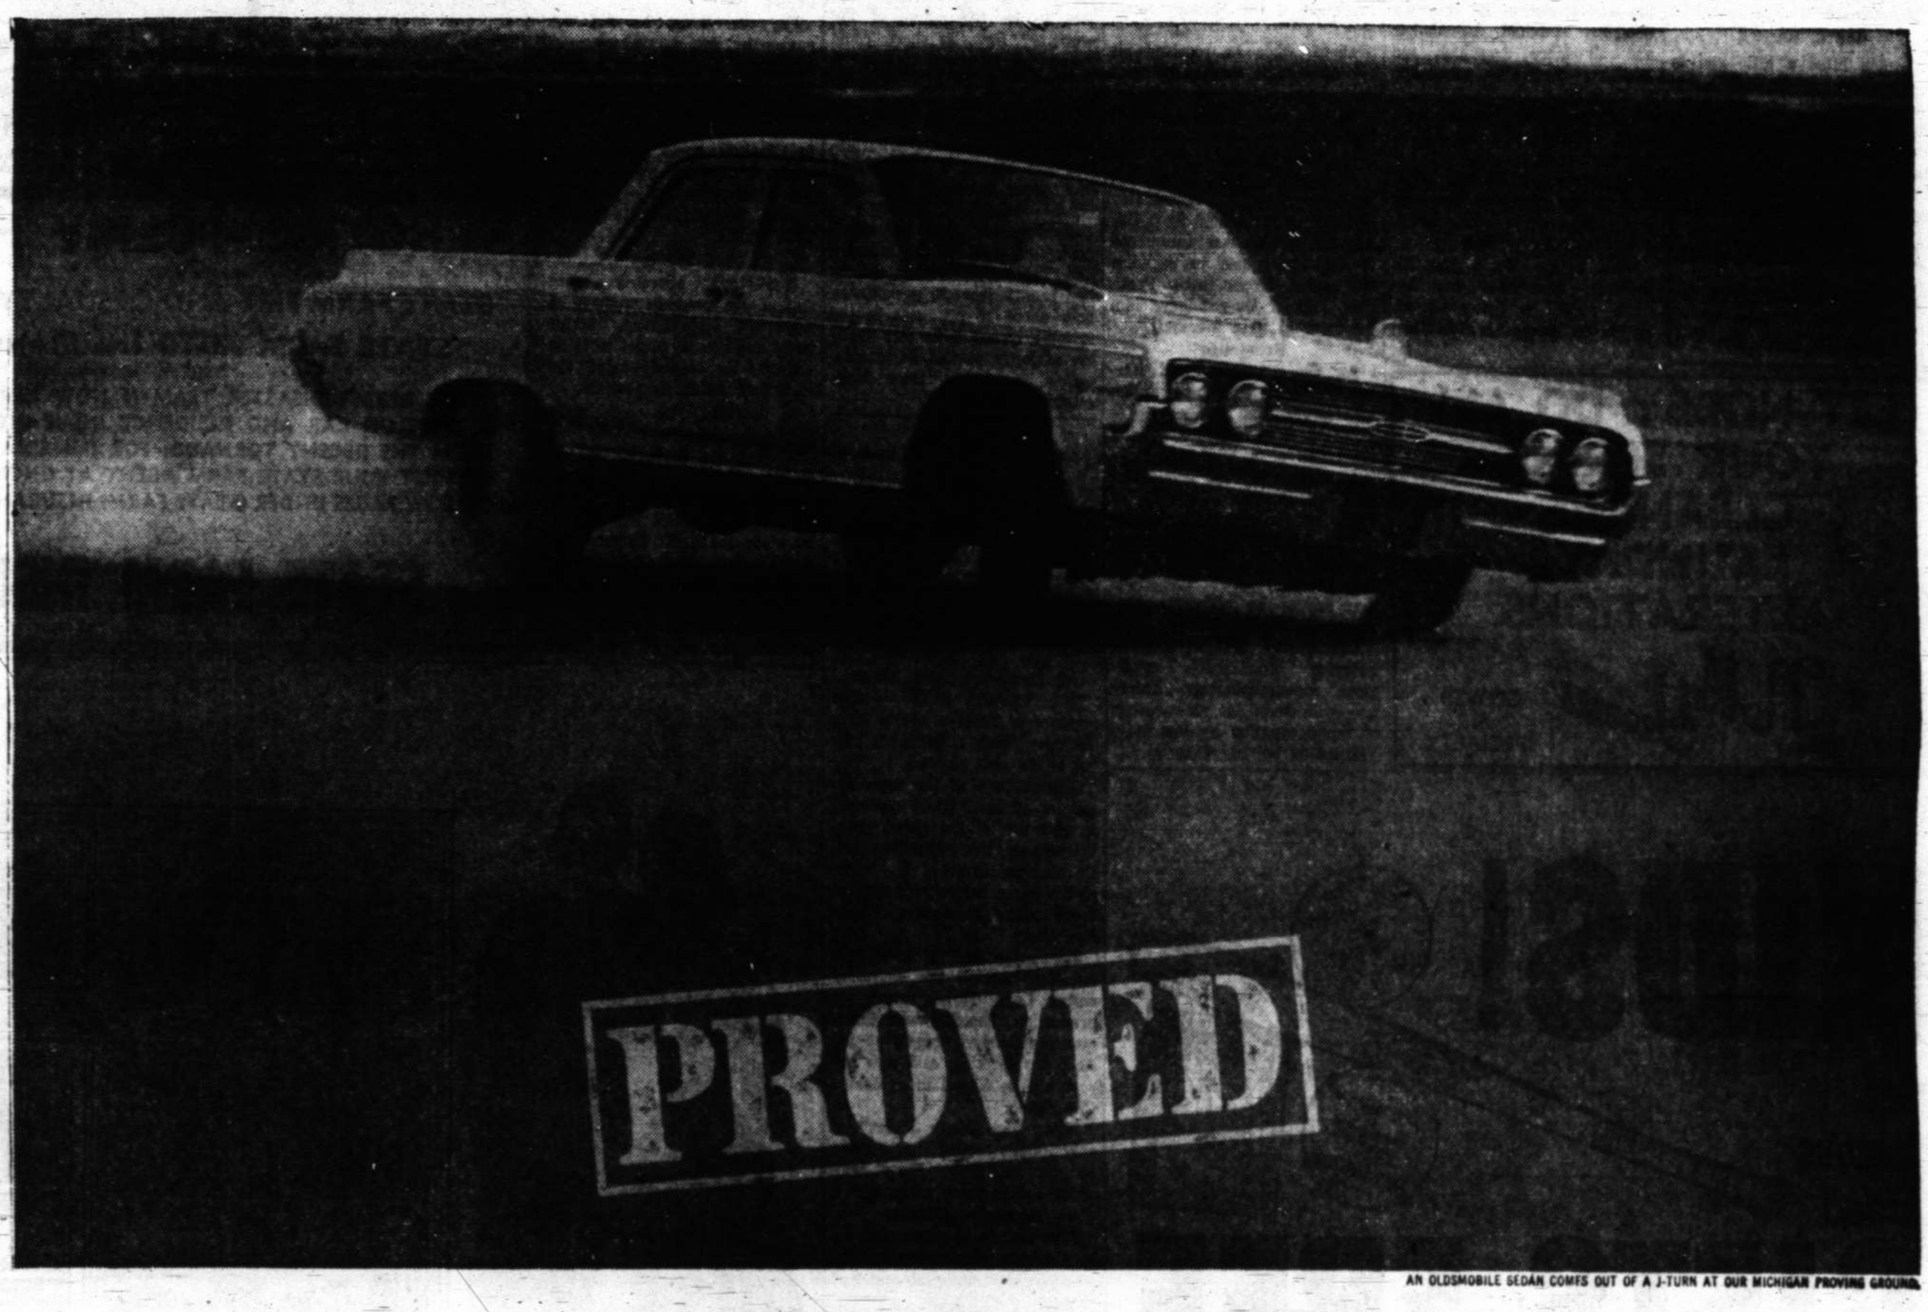

QUESTION: I have heard you say that Christianity is losing out in the world. Doesn't a statement like this reflect on God's power to overthrow evil?—W. K.

ANSWER: Yes, I have said that Christianity is not keeping pace with the population explosion and the growth of Communism and is therfore, (statistically at least) losing out.

But, I didn't say that it would ultimately triumph. The whole trend of the Scriptures is that Christ one day will be King of kings and Lord of lords, and that He shall rule the kingdoms of the world.

Many people visualize this being accomplished by the slow, steady rise of Christianity, until the whole world becomes Christian. But the Bible does not teach that it shall happen this way. Jesus said: (in regards to His coming) "Iniquity shall abound, and the love of many shall wax cold." He talked about false Christs, and we have them; He talked about conflict between nations: "Nation shall rise against nation"; and never has there been more international unrest than now. Then He said: "In a day and an hour when you think not, the Son of man cometh."

Although, stitistically, Christianity may be losing, every day brings us one day nearer the time when God shall ring down the curtain on all the strife, war, and bloodshed of the world, and say: "Enough"! Then the kingdoms of this world will become the kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ.

An Oldsmobile sedan speeds onto the skid pad and the driver spins the steering wheel as far as it will go. This is the J-turn the engineers at our Michigan Proving Ground use to test wheel design and suspension. And to prove that the tires will stay on the rims without loss of air pressure, despite the stresses and strains of doing it over and over again. We use tests this tough because, to us, proving a car all around means testing every part, from the wheels to the roof, to know just how well it will do for you. That means thousands of hours of outdoor challenges. It means testing cars indoors on specially built precision laboratory equipment. Other times, it means driving a car into the countryside on a winter's night. Whether it's done in Michigan, at Pikes Peak, in Arizona, or on the public highways, it means testing GM cars the long way, the hard way, the right way . . . on the world's truest proving grounds. And testing before they go into production. That's why a GM car is so likely to be worth more when you buy it, as you drive it, when you trade it in.

Douglas MacArthur: Career Army Officer

EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press writer Relman Morin, winner of two Pulitzer Prizes, has written a four-part series on the life and career of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. The articles deal with MacArthur's career in the Army, with MacArthur the Man, with his controversial leadership during the Korean conflict and with scenes of bravery from his life. Here is the first: MacArthur's Army career.

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Writer

"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

Toward 1:30 in the afternoon, people began to gather on the sidewalk. They clustered on both sides of the steps leading to the main entrance of the Dai Ichi Insurance Co. building in downtown Tokyo.

Presently, a tall man hurried through the high-lintelled entrance. He walked with long, swinging strides. He returned the salutes of the two giant American sentries — always specially chosen for stature— and went down the steps, two at a time, to a waiting limousine.

You heard a murmur, "Mah-kah-sah."

The people were Japanese and they pronounced the man's name in Japanese fashion, "Mah-kah-sah."

Bowed, Kneeled

A man lifted a little girl to his shoulder so that she could see over the crowd. Some bowed. There were instances when very old-fashioned Japanese would kneel, touching their foreheads on the sidewalk in the "ko-tow," the traditional Oriental act of obeisance.

They had come to see Gen. Douglas MacArthur. This was in September 1945.

This was during the years of the American military occupation of Japan. MacArthur, directing it, worked seven days a week and not infrequently seven nights a week. He kept more or less regular office hours. The Tokyo people became aware of his schedule. Thus, through more than five years, the odd little tableau on the sidewalk repeated itself every day.

Ordinary curiosity no doubt prompted it in part.

Conqueror

Here was the conqueror. Here was the man who had destroyed a mystic belief, held for nearly 2,000 years, that Japan was invincible in war. And here was the supreme authority in Japan, Zeus Olympias in the uniform of the United States Army.

At the time, MacArthur's gigantic image rested largely on his record as a soldier.

"MacArthur was the greatest general and best strategist that the war produced. He certainly outshone Marshall, Eisenhower and all other American and British generals including Montgomery."

The estimate comes from Field Marshal Lord Alan-Brooke, wartime chief of the British Imperial General Staff, a man not given to lavishing praise on other commanders.

Living Legend

Even before World War II, however, MacArthur had become almost a living legend. He broke records, right and left.

There was the story that, on entering West Point, he announced two objectives—to finish at the head of his class, and to end his military career as chief of staff.

In accomplishing the first, he racked up a 98.14 per cent average for four years in all subjects. It was never surpassed.

Later, he fulfilled the second objective. But his career did not end there.

There was the story that he also broke a nonscholastic record at the academy. Allegedly, MacArthur became engaged to eight girls at the same time. The previous mark had been seven.

Coverage

There were innumerable stories of his personal courage, his reckless exposure to fire in battle. MacArthur commanded the 84th Infantry Brigade of the Rainbow Division in World War I, and an associate said, "MacArthur is certain to go far in the Army if he doesn't get himself killed."

At 39, he was the youngest officer ever appointed superintendent of the Military Academy.

At 45, when he received his second star, he was the youngest major general in the Army.

He was only 50 when, true to his alleged prediction, he became chief of staff.

Five years later, when his military career presumably ended with retirement from this high office, he was summoned to the Philippines to organize the armed forces there. President Manuel Quezon gave him the rank of field marshal.

Reputation

So, years before Pearl Harbor, MacArthur's reputation was larger than life size.

But it was, essentially, the reputation of a soldier.

As director of the occupation of Japan, starting in the fall of 1945, he confronted a wholly different problem. It was more complex, more difficult, and potentially more dangerous than any of the military assignments he ever tackled.

And it may well be that, in assaying MacArthur's prodigious accomplishments, historians will count his stewardship of the occupation as the most brilliant of all his victories.

Consider the magnitude of the task.

The war left Japan physically battered. Thousands of homes had been destroyed. Hundreds of factories were out of action. Railroads and highways had been macerated and coastwise shipping all but paralyzed. Dislocated water and sanitation systems raised the spectre of epidemics in the cities.

Problems

These were physical problems that had to be swiftly resolved.

Even more delicate were the many-sided political and social problems.

For 50 years, Japan had been leading a kind of schizophrenic existence — half-feudel, half-modern. Parliamentary forms, borrowed from the West, had been grafted, but not successfully, on political traditions from the Middle Ages.

The Diet had been merely a debating society. Elections had been all but meaningless. Real power, owing to a curleycue in the constitution, was vested in the hands of the armed forces.

What kind of a constitution should now be written, what was to be the status of the emperor? How, in short, could Japan be transformed into at least a nominally democratic society?

Before War

Before the war, authoritarianism had spread a heavy hand over other areas of Japanese life as well.

Giant cartels, the "Zaibatsu," controlled most of the industry and commerce. Labor unions had been a joke. In agriculture, only about 10 per cent of the farmers owned their own land; the majority worked as tenants.

How to change these long-established patterns?

The stakes were great. Japan is the most highly industrialized nation in the Far East. Potentially, it is a military powerhouse, the counterbalance to Communist China.

When the occupation ended, would it remain aligned with the West? Or would it drift into the Communist orbit? Much depended on MacArthur's decisions during the occupation. Military genius and training, alone, would not meet this great challenge.

Knew History

Fortunately, MacArthur knew the history, the traditions, the psychology and the spirit of the efficient and enigmatic Japanese. When he was 24, he had gone to Japan with his father, Gen. Arthur MacArthur. During the Russo-Japanese war, he marched as an observer with Count Maresuki Nogi's troops in the bloody battle of Mukden. He had studied the Japanese in war and peace all his life.

He brought this background and understanding to bear on the delicate tasks of the occupation.

For one thing, he did not govern by fiat. A military man might be expected to simply issue iron-clad orders and demand that they be carried out at all cost. To have done this in Japan would only have aroused hostility and invisible but bitter resistance — much to the satisfaction of the Japanese Communists.

Used Mixture

MacArthur operated more subtly. He used a mixture of argument, persuasion, cajolment and threats to get what he wanted. He stayed behind the scenes as much as possible.

In addition, he consciously played a role.

Respect for authority is one of the deepest well-springs in Japanese character. For centuries, the smallest local lords, let alone the great shoguns and clan leaders, had commanded almost blind obedience from their retainers.

So MacArthur deliberately assumed the visage of an overlord, a grand seigneur, of the all-powerful proconsul. He became in Japanese eyes a kind of imperial figure.

Somewhat raffishly, American newspapermen in Tokyo called MacArthur's headquarters "The Palace" and referred to him as "The Presence."

Theatricalism

His detractors often accused him of theatricalism, of overweening vanity and egotism, of playing to the gallery. In Japan, there was a sound reason for the public image he created. He became the needed symbol of authority.

Swiftly, MacArthur's methods produced results.

As early as 1946, the first general election was held. Women voted for the first time and elected women to the Diet. Reforms in the constitution were effected. A civil liberties decree went in the books.

Meanwhile, MacArthur was modifying the "Zaibatsu" structure. He worked to establish a valid and healthy labor union movement. As his program of land reform took shape, the tenant-farmer all but disappeared in agriculture.

"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

The occupation was MacArthur's greatest task. It may well be regarded as the greatest of all his achievements.

Next: MacArthur the man.

Reaching Next Plateau Is Goal

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The problem of being a movie star, observes Hugh O'Brian, is rising to the next plateau.

O'Brian, one of the sage observers of local tribal customs, is also one of the ablest practitioners of the self-selling art. He divulged some of the tricks of the game before returning to the Mexican locations of "Love Has Many Faces."

The actor had a fortnight's vacation because the illness of costar Lana Turner suspended production. Shooting was three-quarters finished, mostly on the Acapulco location, and now the rest will be filmed in a Mexico City studio.

"Love Has Many Faces" is only Hugh's second movie since he quit the "Wyatt Earp" television series three years ago.

International Name

This, despite the fact that he is a highly serviceable leading man with an international name.

"The producers have had some resistance to putting the star of a television series into leading roles in important films," he explained.

He resisted taking roles in films he thought wouldn't further his career. He could afford to turn them down. As a result of his five Earp years and subsequent investments, he figures his worth at $2 million.

"I have an annual income of $35,000 even if I don't work a day," he said. "So I'm in a position to say no to pictures I don't think would be good for me."

Movies are his goal, and his problem is getting into what he calls industry pictures. He explains that those are films that the movie trade talks about and sees. Until now his sole outing since the series was "Come Fly With Me," which he called a nonindustry picture — "nobody saw it."

Then he got down to his theory about plateaus.

Like Others Actions

"I'm in the same category as some other actors like Rod Taylor, George Peppard, Stephen Boyd, Cliff Robertson, Stuart Whitman and a few others," he said. "Out of this group, if the producers would only realize it, will come the Gregory Pecks and the John Waynes of tomorrow.

Retired Sergeant Saved Newcomers From Storm

By DOYLE HARDEN

A young couple and their small baby were saved from Friday's destructive tornado by a retired airman now working at Sheppard Air Force Base.

Daniel and Laverne Rush live with Mrs. Rush's mother, Mrs. Stella Rucker, just across from the hospital area of Sheppard. A trailer house belonging to Daniel and his wife was rented only Thursday to a young couple who knew nothing of tornadoes and their destructive ways.

Friday afternoon, Daniel was preparing to go downtown to get car tags for an automobile. He saw the heavy black clouds forming and thought better of his trip. Instead he covered the car with a heavy tarpaulin, and watched the sky.

Hurt In Crash

In an airplane crash several years ago, Rush sustained severe head injuries and was treated at Sheppard. He was given a medical discharge as a master sergeant Sept. 7, 1962 after serving with the Air Force for 22 years. He now works at the base hospital as a civilian supervisor. His head injuries bother him only at times. Records show him to be 60 per cent disabled.

This had little bearing, however, on his actions Friday, April 3. As he watched the clouds, his wife and mother-in-law came out of the house, concern showing on their faces. They decided to go to the cellar. Rush said he would be along later.

While he watched the clouds, the young wife of the couple renting the trailer house came out and looked around. Spotting Rush, she asked him about the storm clouds. Rush tried to reassure her that everything would be alright. She went back into the trailer house to her husband and child.

Then, in just a matter of what seemed to be seconds, the tail of the tornado began sweeping their way.

Commanded To Safety

Without thinking about anything else, Rush ran to the trailer house and told the newcomers to hurry out. His excited voice and the commanding tone caused the couple to obey him. They followed him from their mobile home.

By this time Rush knew he wouldn't have time to get to the cellar where he knew they would be safe. He looked around for a place to shelter them.

Seeing a small opening leading under his mother - in - laws house, he ran for it, and tore the small door away. Rush crawled under the damp and dark recesses of the house, pushing loose boards and other stored articles out of the way. Next he called for the baby. It was handed to him just before the young mother and father crawled under.

The tornado hit! It roared and ripped and tore and destroyed. When everything calmed down, Rush left the hiding place to look around. The young parents followed him.

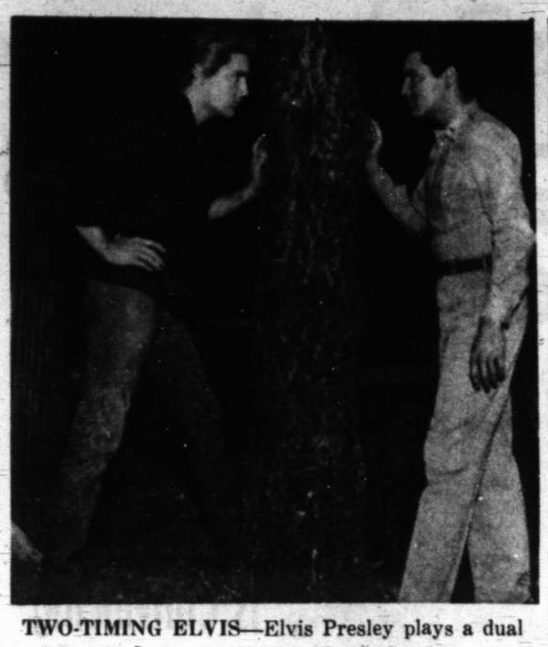

Found Destruction

What they saw stopped their breath. Debris all around them from other homes and businesses. The trailer house that had been vacated just minutes before was completely demolished. It had been turned completely over and smashed. The roof of the house they had been under was turned almost completely around, windows were gone and a maze of rubble surrounded them.

In the cellar, Rush's wife and her mother, along with some 11 others, emerged. They were safe, but like so many others, scared.

This is just one story of a man who used his training during long years in the service to help others. Despite his handicap from the airplane crash, his thinking turned him a man of action.

When things had calmed down somewhat, Rush looked at the small aperture that was the an opening so tiny, they still wonsource of their salvation. It was der how they got through it. But strange things happen when people know they have to perform—it did to Retired Master Sgt. Daniel Rush.

TWO-TIMING ELVIS—Elvis Presley plays a dual role, a Tennessee hillbilly whose family makes moonshine whisky and an Air Force lieutenant trying to negotiate to build a missile base on their mountain in his latest movie, "Kissin' Cousins," now showing at the Wichita Theatre here. Elvis finds time to sing nine songs between the two roles he plays in the picture.

Seven Men Join Navy Reserve

Seven area men enlisted during the past month for service with the Wichita Falls Naval Reserve Unit.

Enlistments with the reserve unit for immediate active duty include D. E. Hill, 1603 Phoenix; H. T. Saurman, 124-B Century; and K. L. Elvice, 202-A Thor.

Seaman F. R. Norman, 206 West Clara in Iowa Park, and Hospitalman R. L. Allison, 4213 McNiel, returned from two years of active duty and enlisted in the reserve here.

High school students L. W. Harlan, 1407 Gunnison, and G. P. Snyder, 4211 Meadowbrook, enlisted in the reserve unit for six years. Students are exempt from full-time draft duty and are eligible for college deferments.

Reservists meet each Tuesday for three hours of drill and are required to take a two-week summer cruiser annually.

Don Yarborough To Campaign Here

Don Yarborough, Houston, liberal Democratic candidate for governor, was in Wichita Falls last Saturday, but cancelled his scheduled appearances due to the devastating tornado. Yarborough said he didn't feel the circumstances warranted political activity.

After viewing the destruction of Sunset Terrace Saturday, Yarborough said he would return to Wichita Falls April 18 to spend the day campaigning with friends and citizens of the area.

Today's hand produced a swing of astronomical proportions when it was encountered in an important team of four match recently.

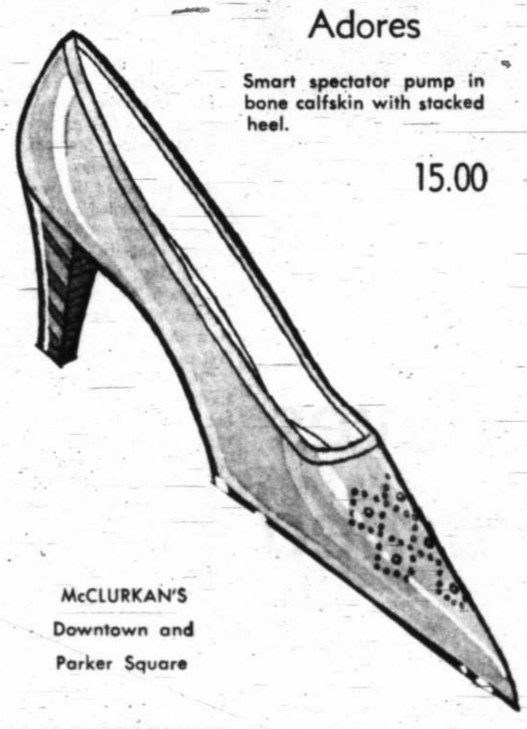

At both tables, the bidding started off in identical fashion with South making a jump shift response of two spades. Observe that the hand is worth 20 points counting high cards and distribution and, with two fine suits, it certainly warrants issuing a slam invitation. One South chose to rebid his spade suit, however, on the second round—suppressing the hearts—and, when North offered a delayed raise, he proceeded directly to six spades.

A heart was opened by West and, after South learned of the unfavorable trump break, he was unable to avoid the loss of a trick in spades as well as one diamond. East and West scored a one hundred point profit on the deal.

At the other table, their teammates arrived at an ambitious grand slam contract in hearts, with the North - South cards. When South's rebid of three hearts received a raise, the latter decided to check for aces. North's response accounted for every missing control and South proceeded resolutely to seven hearts, choosing to adopt an optimistic attitude concerning the disposal of his small diamond.

The trump opening was taken in the closed hand. A club was led to the ace and the deuce of clubs trumped with the queen of hearts. Dummy was reëntered with a trump so that South might ruff out the last club. A diamond to North's ace permitted the latter to draw East's last heart as South discarded the ten of diamonds.

Declarer now proceeded to establish his long spade by cashing the top honors and then ruffing out West's jack. The last two tricks were taken by South's king of diamonds and the ten of spades. The 2,210 point profit registered by declarer added to the 100 points, which his teammates had chalked up at the other table, was more than enough to decide the fate of the match.

Reluctant Dragon Blows Fire Into Dodger Attack

Howard Belts Ball; Alston Now All Smiles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant dragon, is breathing fire again and that means that Walt Alston, manager of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, can breathe just a little bit easier.

Howard, whose hulking 6-foot-7 form was conspiciously absent from the Dodger training camp for most of the spring, turned up last week and the flimsy Los Angeles attack hasn't been the same since.

The giant-sized outfielder stroked two more hits Monday night as Los Angeles whipped the New York Yankees 5-1 in an exhibition game. It brought his spring production to six hits in 15 appearances for a .400 average.

Skimpy Bats

Personal problems kept Howard out of the Dodger camp until last week and without his bat the Dodger attack was somewhat on the skimpy side. Howard's lifetime slugging average of .512, tops among the Dodgers and ninth best among active players, adds a needed punch to Alston's cast.

Howard's hitting shared the spotlight with Sandy Koufax' pitching. The Dodger ace hurled six strong innings, allowing five hits and striking out six.

Bo Belinsky, the Los Angeles Angel southpaw, continues to impress in the Angels' Palm Springs, Calif. camp. He won his second game of the spring Monday, allowing only three hits in six innings as Los Angeles defeated the Cleveland Indians 7-1.

Pitching coach Marv Grissom was pleased with the performance. "He's worked much harder this spring," said Grissom. "He's in better shape and getting much better action. His attitude is improved, too."

Said Belinsky:

"I'm getting more action on my fast ball and slider, and my control is better. As soon as I get my screwball working, I should be in good shape."

AL Prexy Believes Yanks To Be Pushed

BOSTON (AP)—Chicago, Baltimore, Minnesota and Detroit will press the defending champion New York Yankees in a five-way American League pennant fight, President Joe Cronin believes.

His reasoning: All four show marked improvement while the Yankees, seeking their 14th flag in 16 years, have stood still.

The 64th campaign opens next Monday with Los Angeles in Washington. Cronin made his remarks Monday on the basis of his observations at Florida spring training camps.

"I can't predict a 10-team race as much as we would hope for one," Cronin said. "I pick the White Sox, Orioles, Twins and Tigers as the leading challengers to the Yankees because each has decidely improved.

"The Yankees are still the Yankees.

Defense

"Their defense is as good as ever under new Manager Yogi Berra. But I didn't see Mickey Mantle step out. He's still favoring the knee on which he had the operation. Roger Maris wasn't doing much.

"The biggest New York concern is pitching—namely solid help for Whitey Ford, Jim Bouton and Al Downing. The problem is not the eight men on the field, its on the mound and in the bullpen."

The Cronin analysis of the four challengers:

Chicago—"Al Lopez is the most optimistic manager down there. In switchhitting Don Buford up from Indianapolis, the White Sox have a mature, 27-year old rookie second baseman who can fly and made the trade of Nellie Fox possible. The Sox have good speed and more pitching help in the big rookie, Fritz Ackley."

Baltimore—"Hank Bauer has instilled a lot of aggressiveness in the lineup. He's got the club hustling. I think shortstop Luis Aparicio is in for a really great year. Bauer is making him the take-charge guy and Aparicio is taking hold very well. He's the one who runs in to the pitcher now."

Minnesota—"The team has a lot of tools. It is more mature now and looks the part. I was impressed by that young pitcher, Jerry Arrigo. Sam Mele is looking better at second. Zoilo Versalles is just terrific at short, continually making the big plays."

Detroit

Detroit—"The line-up is much better looking with Jerry Lumpe at second base. He has helped Dick McAuliffe immeasurably. Don Demeter and Billy Bruton help in the outfield. Al Kaline wasn't hitting well this spring but that's no cause for concern because everyone knows what he can do. A great deal depends on the bat of Norm Cash and pitching."

The race—"I think it will be better as a result of the Dodgers beating New York in the World Series. Some of the teams who thought the Yankees were invincible may change their thinking."

Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley—"Yes, I've written him we won't call a meeting he suggested concerning changes he wanted made in the Yankee Stadium foul lines."

Have Finley's threats to move his club affected the players' attitudes? — "The mood of his press isn't too good. The ball players haven't time to think about the owner beyond their paychecks."

Tempers May Flare: Wings-Hawks Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tempers may flare in Detroit tonight if the red-necked Red Wings are half as mad at the Chicago Black Hawks as they are at referee Frank Udvari.

The veteran official took a verbal beating from Detroit Coach Sid Abel Monday as the Wings and Hawks prepared for the sixth game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal series. Detroit, trailing 3-2, is a step away from oblivion but the Red Wings have a ready-made capegoat in Udvari if they fail to force Chicago into a deciding seventh game.

Abel accused Udvari of "choking up" when he allowed a disputed Chicago goal in the Hawks' 3-2 victory last Sunday. He called the official's decision "ridiculous" and said it cost Detroit the game.

"I've never seen anything like this in all the time I've been in hockey," Abel said.

The Red Wings asked the National Hockey League to replace Udvari, scheduled to work Thursday's seventh game in Chicago—if there is one, with another referee. NHL President Clarence Campbell said, however, that such a change would be impossible.

Udvari is no stranger to controversy. He has been involved in many a stormy game, including the opener of the current semifinal set between Montreal and Toronto. Udvari called 31 penalties—a playoff record—in that game.

The Canadiens and Maple Leafs meet in Toronto tonight and Montreal, ahead 3-2, needs one more victory to eliminate the defending Cup champions.

Montreal captain Jean Beliveau, who rested an injured knee during the Candiens' fifth-game victory, may return to the line-up tonight. The tall pivotman skated strongly during Montreal's hour-long workout. But Coach Toe Blake said Beliveau would play "only if he is 100 per cent."

The Leafs called up four players from Rochester, their American League farm club, Monday. There is only one vacant spot on the playoff roster, however, so three of the reinforcements will have to serve as cheerleaders.

Terry Sawchuk, Detroit's regular goalie, "will play against Chicago "if he can stand up," according to Abel. Sawchuk has been bothered throughout the series by a pinched nerve in his shoulder and missed part of the fourth game and all of the fifth. Detroit lost both games.

BOXING

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Former heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson will meet Eddie Machen in a title elimination bout somewhere in Sweden on either July 5 or 12, said Machen's manager, Walter Minskoff.

RACING

NEW YORK—Third Martini, $5.40, nosed out Bonjour and captured the Sun Briar Purse at Aqueduct.

MIAMI, Fla.—Dark Scot, $11.60, moved up from last place for a three-quarter length victory over Title Gain at Gulfstream Park.

LAUREL, Md. — One Gallus, $9.60, braved a sloppy track and won the Weeping Willow Purse at Laurel.

Bo Improving, His 7.25 Avg. Is Convincing

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Carrying an inflated earned run average of 7.25, Bo Belinsky was having a hard time convincing people that he actually was pitching better than at any time of his career.

But maybe he wasn't whistling in the dark after all.

Monday the colorful southpaw allowed only one run and three hits in six innings as the Los Angeles Angels breezed to a 7-1 decision over the Cleveland Indians here.

This was Bo's final tune-up before starting against the world champion Los Angeles opening of a two-game city series at Dodger Stadium.

Koufax

With pitcher of the year Sandy Koufax scheduled to go for the Dodgers, the crowd could approach capacity of 55,000.

"Belinsky," says Angel pitching coach Marv Grissom, "has worked much harder this year. He's in better shape and he's getting much better action.

"His attitude is improved, too. Last year you'd tell him things, but you just couldn't get through. The trouble was he was still winning games, so he figured he had all the answers. But once the season started, everything fell apart."

Belinsky lost nine out of his first 10 games and was finally shipped down to Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League. He was 4-1 with Hawaii then came back to the Angels at the end of the season to pitch one game, which he won.

Machen Amazed At Getting Shot At Former Champion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The vision of climbing into a ring with former world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is still little more than a vision as far as boxer Eddie Machen is concerned.

But promoters say such a bout is scheduled.

For six years Machen has sought a chance at Patterson while Floyd sat on top of the division. Machen says now he can't believe the chance has come.

July Date

Machen's manager, Walter Minskoff, announced Monday that promoters have arranged for the two fighters to square off July 5 or 12 someplace in Sweden for a title elimination match which might give the winner a crack at champion Cassius Clay.

"I still can't believe that after all these years Floyd is finally going to get in there with me," Machen said. "I'm keeping my fingers crossed."

But there's no need for crossing fingers, according to Al Bolan, who will join with Edwin Ahlquist of Sweden in promoting the 12-round fight.

Bolan announced from his New York office that the only points still to be determined are the exact date and location of the fight.

Cities

Bolan said three cities are bidding for the match. They are Stockholm, Gotborg and a third he said he could not now identify.

The 31-year-old Machen says he plans to be in Sweden at least 25 days before the fight. Bolan says Patterson has started training in New York and Machen soon will buckle down to serious work.

"This has got to be the most important fight of my life, and I'll go all out to whip Patterson," Machen said.

"I was never one to brag or call the round of a fight, but I know this is my time and my chance to eventually get a shot at the championship," he added.

Although Clay hasn't committed himself to accepting the winner's challenge, the Machen camp thinks the elimination fight should lead to a crack at the crown.

Minskoff says Machen will step into the ring guaranteed $50,000 and 30 per cent of the ancillary rights of home television, films and radio broadcasts.

The fight will be broadcast on radio in Great Britain, but not in the United States.

Minskoff said fight films will be flown to the United States and Canada and shown that same night on regular, rather than closed circuit, telievsion.

Bolan would not disclose the exact size of Patterson's purse, but did say that it would be a little fatter than Machen's. The promoters said both fighters would receive the same percentage of revenues derived from sale of media broadcast rights.

Williams Ready To Prove Rank

HOUSTON (AP) — Cleveland Williams tries to protect his World Boxing Association rating against unranked Tommy Fields of Los Angeles tonight in a 10-round heavyweight match.

Fight time is 8:30 p.m. PCT, and a crowd of 4,000 was anticipated.

"The fight means as much to me as it does to Williams," Fields said Monday as he completed his training. "He loses and he's out of those eliminations. If I tip him over, man, my troubles are over."

Fields has had his share of troubles in a nine-year career, most of them centering around his inability to lure higher-ranked opponents in the ring.

Williams is an overwhelming favorite. He weighs 217½ pounds to about 192 for Fields and also carries a decided edge in reach.

No one in the heavyweight division can match Williams' record of 49 knockout victories.

Williams, also is aware of the importance of this fight. He is in line to fight either Ernie Terrell, Eddie Machen or Floyd Patterson if he gets by Fields.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

We have designs

to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time just dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the new Dodge Polara 500 for 1964.

You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Deeply-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Sill-to-sill carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point. With the Polara 500 you aren't baked in on a certain engine. You can choose from a standard 318 cu. in. V8 up to a street-version of our walloping, all-out 426 cu. in. Ramcharger V8. Compromise? Nope. We just feel that a freedom of choice is the surest road to your approval.

That's our way of doing business—giving you lots of car and lots of satisfaction at a price that's hard to quarrel with.

Your Dodge Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the point.

THE DEPENDABLES GIVE YOU 5-YEAR/50,000-MILE PROTECTION—Chrysler Corporation warrants, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business, the engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles, provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the carburetor air filter cleaned every 6 months and replaced every 2 years, and every 6 months furnishes to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (11) the car's then current mileage.

Buddy Works

Greeks Love An Olympian

When the U.S. bundles up its 300-odd athletes and sends them off to Tokyo early this fall for the Olympic games, luckily they won't be hampered by the old Greek superstition that the winners have been selected by the Gods.

This does not imply, of course, the Americans couldn't use a few pre-arranged victories, but just to make us all feel a little easier about the Russian wins.

The history books bear it out, the Olympics then (that's B.C. and halfway around the world in Greece) and now represent sort of a lull in the storm. Meaning, of course, the East and West factions which squabble daily from Viet Nam to Bongo-Bongo go along with the ancient Greek cities that were always knifing each other.

The rest of the story about the ancients bears out the well-known fact that history repeats itself.

Between The Lines

The Russians must be reading between the lines of their history books. The athletes who competed in the Games of old were about as amateur as the New York Yankees. They were pampered, well trained, and competed the year 'round. There wasn't a toga salesman among them.

The Olympians took to heart the words of Plato about there being nine occupations of man, and work was seventh just above dictators and rabble rousers. No athlete worked.

To try and draw a fine definition of the Olympic Games would be hard to do. Every city of any size in Greece had a stadium, home - bred Olympians, and held Games every year. To try and pin it down, it would be like Grand Prix auto racing with the cars going to different towns every week.

There were enough Games to give the athletes a steady income. Providing, of course, you were a winner. The Greeks didn't fool around with second place. Unless an interested sportswriter happened to pace off the length of a jump it went unrecorded. All the grape eaters cared about was who made the jump.

The IBM machines of today had little place in the Olympics of 164 B.C. But the Games held up for 1,168 years and that was without starting guns, stop watches or any such thing as official distance.

Cool Dashes

While on the subject of the ancients, the full story might as well be told. They ran naked. It all started after one Orsippus dropped his pants, maybe by accident, and won the sprint. It was a foregone conclusion after that that clothing slowed the runners down.

Since the sprint, about 200 yards — or the length of the stadium — was considered the greatest test of the Olympics, these winners were showered with gold, had statues built of them and their rent paid for the rest of their lives.

Briefly, some of the existing records: Cleoxenos, a boxer won at Olympia, Nemea, Isthmia and Delphi — the big four of the Games. That's like winning four straight in the World Series.

Leonidas was a triple winner at four Olympic meets, Coroebus won the sprint and had the Games named after him one year. One wrestler was so powerful he could carry a four year-old cow above his head, then roast the cow and eat it by himself.

One broad jumper has a mark of 50 feet. That's pretty good considering the modern record is something like 27 feet.

Oh yes, one other thing. Women weren't allowed to watch.

Thompson And Garrett To Join Pro Golf Tour

By CHARLES CLINES

Wichita Falls will have one — but may claim another — representative on the PGA circuit this summer.

Rocky Thompson, native Wichitan and possibly Wichita Falls best golf product, expects to join the tour as early as May.

The other golfer intending to hit the tour trail is Bill Garrett, presently golf coach and school teacher at the public schools here. However, Garrett will be representing his home course, the Amarillo Tascosa Country Club, but local golfers will feel he's representing Wichita Falls, too.

Garrett intends to join the circuit about the time the U.S. Open rolls around. He would like to qualify for the Open and begin from there.

How do they feel their chances are against the likes of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus? They both grinned shyly at this question, but both expressed confidence of at least finishing in the money once in a while.

ROCKY THOMPSON

Thompson, who has had the privilege of talking to some of the touring pros and knowing some of them — Nicklaus is a good friend of his — believes that playing and winning on the tour is 75 per cent mental.

Bob Nichols, a top touring pro, told Rocky that it took him two years just to start playing as good as he did when he was an amateur. It took him that long to adjust, mentally, he said.

Rocky's played with Nicklaus four or five times and they became good friends. Rocky's comment about Nicklaus now is, "He has improved some, since I played him."

Both Rocky and Garrett have the credentials it takes to make it on the tour. Rocky's amateur golf record looks like a kid's Christmas list to Saint Nick and Garrett's is just as impressive.

Some of the highlights of Rocky's amateur days include; third place in the 1956 International Jaycee Junior Championship — two strokes back of winners Jack Nicklaus and Jack Rule; low qualifier at Dallas for National Amateur and a 63 course record at Duncan in 1958; won Gulf Coast Invitational Amateur Championship defeating Jacky Cupit and Richard Crawford and tied for first with Jacky Cupit and Bobby Nichols in Bay City CC Invitational in 1959; low qualifier at Dallas for National Amateur in 1960 and again in '61; shot course record of 63 at WFCC in 1961 and lowered that to a 62 in 1962; and this doesn't even color any of the area tournaments he has won — which have been many.

Rocky, after graduating from Wichita Falls High School, went to the University of Houston on a golf scholarship.

Garrett, who came from Amarillo, graduated from North Texas and then came to Wichita Falls where he began teaching school and coaching golf.

Some of the highlights in Garrett's career include: being a finalist in the NCAA, third in the Missouri Conference when a senior, co-medalist for the state amateur last year. Bill went to the quarterfinals in '62 and semi-finals in '63. Last year he grabbed a couple of amateur tournaments and finished ninth in the tough Odessa pro-am with playing partner Jerry Coates, teaching pro at the Wichita Falls Country Club.

Garrett was awarded an honorary membership in the Tascosa Country Club and will be their playing pro while on the tour.

BILL GARRETT

Rocky has average length off the tee and is deadly straight with his drives and irons. His chipping and putting are excellent and if part of his game is considered the strongest it's his putting.

Garrett, a big man, is long off the tee but not as straight as Rocky. His short game is also very deadly. He will have little trouble staying up with the long knocks on the tour.

With a little luck, maybe in the near future, Wichita Falls fans may open their paper and read about Rocky and Bill winning a pro golf tournament.

We've had other golfers join the tour from Wichita Falls, but none with credentials these two possess.

Old Masters Sprouting With Confidence

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — They have won 10 of the 27 Masters titles among them. Their ages total 207 years—about 52 per man. One is a grandpa and only one has remained even partly active in big time tournament golf.

They are the famous "old guard" of yesterday—Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret and Byron Nelson — for whom the calendar rolls back this week at the Augusta National Club.

It would be something less than a miracle if one of them crashed through to the Masters Championship in the 28th tournament, starting Thursday.

It has been almost a decade since the four of them, as a group, have mustered such a formidable challenge. They suddenly have emerged with new vigor and new confidence.

"Hogan is playing as well as any golfer in the world at this moment," said Demaret. "If his neveres hold, he could win this tournament."

Hogan is now 51, a man who played his last tournament 10 months ago, yet who currently is at the apparent peak of his game — after years of putting frustration.

"I am playing well," said Hogan, who was king of the fairways a decade ago. "For some strange reason, I'm not scared to putt any more. If 284 can win this tournament, I may do it."

Jack Nicklaus won last year with 286. A score of 284 and over has won five of the last 12 Masters. Hogan, winner in 1951 and 1953, has had successive practice rounds of 71, 71, 70—his best in years.

Perhaps the strongest threat comes from Snead, 51. Slammin' Sammy had the Masters virtually in his pocket last year, then bogeyed two of the last three holes. In his only two tournaments this spring, Doral and Greater Greensboro, he led both in the early rounds, then lost by slender margins.

"If I putt, I ought to do all right," Sam says modestly. If he putts, many say, he'll take it all. He won in 1949, 1952, 1954.

"I think Sam has a chance," says Nelson.

Nelson's scoring average of 68.3 and 11 consecutive tournament victories in 1944 never have been topped. He won the Masters at 25 in 1937, repeated in 1942. Now 52, he hasn't played much but has recovered from a back ailment.

Redskin Decision Of Selling May Be Announced Shortly

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The acting head of the Washington Redskins says a decision on an offer to buy controlling interest in the National Football League franchise may be made soon.

C. Leo DeOrsey, acting for George Preston Marshall, ailing president of the Redkins, said Monday a group of investment bankers had made a "bonafide offer" to buy controlling interest.

DeOrsey, who has been visiting Marshall here, said he will return to Washington Wednesday.

Buy Club

The group offering to buy the Redskins is headed by George L. Ohrstrom of The Plains, Va. Recently it offered $7 million for 100 per cent of the stock. However, DeOrsey said, only 65 per cent of the stock could be sold to the group and he returned a $500,000 check sent with the offer.

DeOrsey said the decision on whether to sell the 52 per cent of stock controlled by Marshall to the Ohrstrom group would be up to individual stockholders.

Ohrstrom's group said it would sent a cashier's check to the Redskins office as down payment.

Minority stockholders are Jack Kent Cooke of Los Angeles, and Edward Bennett Williams, Milton W. King and DeOrsey, all of Washington.

Ohrstrom is affiliated with Richard R. Ohrstrom and Richard R. Harshman in the negotiations.

Liston Needing WBA Blessing

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston hasn't been suspended by the World Boxing Association. But he can't fight to regain his crown until he is reinstated to the WBA's ratings.

Ed Lassman, WBA president, said Monday night that Liston had been dropped from the ratings because of a police charge pending in Denver. He is accused of carrying a concealed weapon.

The WBA said in a Monday release of ratings that "former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston was removed from the ratings due to his indefinite suspension."

However, Lassman said later, "Liston is not suspended; he is simply removed from the ratings."

Rain Bolsters Jack's Bid For Second Title

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — With every drop of rain, the Augusta National Golf Course grew longer and the field for the Masters got smaller.

"This course always favors the long hitter," said veteran Byron Nelson. "And with a soaking rain, it favors the man who hits the ball a long way in the air. That's Jack Nicklaus."

Rain

"The rain cuts the field of players with a good chance down to only four or five," said the even more veteran Gene Sarazen. "Nicklaus, and just a handful of others; Arnold Palmer, old Sam Snead, maybe. And among the youngsters, Rex Baxter and Jack Rule."

Nicklaus, the 24-year-old Goiden Bear who last year was the youngest player ever to win the Masters, looked at the steady downpour Monday and and admitted it didn't hurt chances to be the first player ever to repeat.

"This is just wonderful for me," he said.

Rain is expected to continue off and on through Wednesday, according to the Weather Bureau, although it is hoped the course will be fit for practice rounds today. It was closed before noon Monday.

The tournament opens Thursday, and it seems highly unlikely there will be enough sunshine to put any roll back into the lush fairways.

Nicklaus was asked if he thought a wet course would turn the tournament into a Nicklaus-Palmer battle.

Palmer

"I certainly hope so," Nicklaus said, "because that would mean that I would be right up there. Arnold is just about ready to start playing his best golf. He's hitting the ball as far as I've ever seen him hit it."

Palmer, the Masters winner in 1958, 1960 and 1962, agreed that he is driving in the Nicklaus range. "I'm happy about my driving, and I feel my irons are a little better," he said. "I've been playing pretty well, and I feel better coming into this tournament than I have for three or four years.

"It's all right with me if it rains until Sunday. It's an advantage to anybody who can carry the ball, and that's what I'm doing these days."

SAFB Tryouts Rescheduled

Tryouts for the eight-team Sheppard Little League have been postponed until next week because of last Firday's tornado and out of respect for General Douglas MacArthur, it was announced Monday.

Civilian candidates won't be allowed on the base this week, it was pointed out, but will be able to participate in tryouts beginning on Monday, April 13.

Twelve-year-olds vie for berths on one of the eight teams at 6 p.m. Monday. Eleven-year-olds take the field at the same time Tuesday, 10-year-olds on Wednesday and 9-year-olds on Thursday.

Selection for the teams will be made on Saturday, April 18.

Since the Little League season begins May 2, teams will only have two weeks of practice.

Ed Olle Memorial Fund Established

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas Ex-Students' association has established a scholarship fund in memory of Ed Olle, assistant athletic director and sports business manager, who died Friday.

Services for Olle were held Monday.

Jack Maguire, association executive director, said some contributions have been received and more are sought.

Profit Taking Hits Airlines, Cigarettes

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite some sharp profit taking in airlines and cigarette issues, the stock market remained irregularly higher early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of most key stocks went from fractions to a point or so.

The market had risen for the past four sessions, making another string of new highs, and brokers said some selling was to be expected.

Coppers seemed well over their scare of Friday on a threatened takeover of copper mines in Chile and these issues moved ahead.

Motors were irregular. The major steelmakers had an unevenly higher edge.

Selective strength was shown by rails. Utilities were higher on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 304.6 with industrials up .7, rails up .2 and utilities up .3.

Some of the big gains by airlines were skimmed as United Airlines lost a couple of points. Down around a point were Pan American, Eastern and American.

IBM spurted more than 4 points to a new recovery peak of 601½ as the company introduced its new series of computers, an event which has been long anticipated in Wall Street. Control Data rose about a point, Sperry Rand was firm and Radio Corp. was unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .04 at 286.86.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds edged higher. U.S. government bonds improved.

Disaster Agencies Praise Wichitans

The generosity of Wichitans and the wholehearted cooperation of disaster agencies working with and for the Friday storm victims has been commended by representatives of those groups as well as citizenship at large.

All organizations, including the Red Cross and the Salvation Army, are providing food, clothing, shelter and counseling around the clock to both civilian and military personnel suffering hardships as a result of the devastating tornado which destroyed 200 homes Friday afternoon.

Leaders, both staff members and volunteer workers, have stressed that through the generosity of Wichitans, both individually and in groups, this storm assistance is made possible.

The Salvation Army has had roving canteens serving 4,000 meals daily and the Army's kitchen at 810 Seventh has had constant streams of persons receiving food there.

Comamnder

Brig. William T. Johnson, Army commander, said all food is prepared or dispersed from the downtown kitchen.

"People have been simply magnificent since the storm hit, and a constant flow of food has come into our headquarters from the kitchens of hundreds of Wichita Falls families," Brig. Johnson said.

"We are giving generous supplies of groceries and we have an unlimited supply of good used clothing, furniture and appliances which have been processed, sized and sorted, all of which can be secured from the Salvation Army, free of charge, with no red tape or delay," the commander added.

Volunteer replacement relief teams arrived Monday from Abilene, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Angelo to replace those from Wichita Falls Salvation Army who had been on duty since Friday night.

Clothing Center

Volunteer church, club and organizational groups have provided teams and furnished crews for the clothing center, working in three shifts, from 5 to 11 a.m.; from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 2 until 8 p.m. Each volunteer group offers to staff the center for a 24-hour period.

More than 1,000 volunteers from these sources have served during the last few days, Brig. Johnson said.

Col. Gordon Swyers, state commander from Dallas, has made all resources of the Salvation Army in Texas available with trained crews if they are needed here.

Eddie Brown, chairman of the disaster committee, expressed his appreciation to the public, saying: "Because of the ready response to the disaster, and because of the support of the volunteers and contributions of materials, everything that needed to be done has been done and is being done."

Dr. Joe Steed, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, praised the united response of Wichitans and outsiders and said $561 in funds had been sent in to the Army for disaster needs.

"Family counseling and spiritual guidance have permeated the entire effort of this organization by its officers in their ministerial duties," Brig. Johnson said.

Persons wishing to send assistance to the Army's disaster fund may do so by mailing it to the Army at postoffice box 964.

How wise investors choose stocks & bonds

You may find, when you finish reading these examples of wise and unwise investing, that you're one of the wise. Or maybe not. Let's see:

Unwise: You race to buy at the drop of a tip.

Wise: You look behind the tip for facts—and often find only rumor. For you, facts are what count. You've heard that many an investor has found trouble because he accepted a rumor at face value.

Unwise: You let your hopes run away with your judgment.

Wise: You have in mind, perhaps, building a second income from dividends. Or giving your money a chance to grow with American business. But you know that stocks, like other property, can tumble in price as well as climb. That some companies may make no profit, pay no dividends. So with your broker's help you check a company's earnings and dividends and try to decide what its prospects are. And you consider bonds for your particular situation.

Unwise: You invest all the cash you can scrape together.

Wise: You make certain you can pay your living expenses regularly. That emergencies are provided for. Because you know that funds for investing should not be drawn from money required for necessities. You may, in fact, be using the Monthly Investment Plan to acquire stock by investing with as little as $40 every three months ($3.08 a week).

Unwise: You don't bother to seek knowledgeable advice.

Wise: You proceed with care. You know, for example, that a broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange is required to meet Exchange requirements when he becomes a Registered Representative. And that, while Member Firms differ in many ways, they are all subject to the guiding rules of the Exchange. Their judgment is not infallible, of course—no one's is. But they can give you important help as you make your decisions with your goals in mind.

Unwise: You feel you can't benefit from reading booklets like "INVESTMENT FACTS."

Wise: You will read with pleasure this useful booklet which gives the records of more than 400 common stocks that have paid a cash dividend every three months for 20 years or more. Plus much additional helpful information. Wouldn't you be wise to send for your free copy now?

Sister Wins Fellowship

Sister Mary Loyola S.S.M.N., chairman of the mathematics department at the Academy of Mary Immaculate, has been granted a National Science Foundation Fellowship in the program of Summer Fellowships for Secondary School Teachers for a tenure of three summers' study at the Catholic University of America.

SISTER MARY LOYOLA

Specifically, this program emphasizes the ability to pursue graduate level studies, together with potential and demonstrated competence in teaching at the secondary school level. National Science Foundation Fellows are selected on the basis of ability.

In previous summers Sister Mary Loyola has received three National Science Institute Stipends for study at the Catholic University. Especially designed to meet new classroom curricular developments, the institute program differs from the fellowship requirements which necessitate the ability to do original research work at the graduate academic level.

Sister Mary Loyola has demonstrated her classroom competence by serving as head of the mathematics departments at four high schools in the Diocese of Dallas - Fort Worth including one of the new diocesan secondary schools, Bishop Dunne in Dallas. Included in her projected plans for summer study are courses related to her special field of analysis which includes such topics as Bessel and Legendre equations, Fourier series and partial differential equations.

DR. CHARLES WILL BE BLUE JEANS DIRECTOR

Dr. Walter Charles, Wichita Falls Symphony conductor who has resigned effective following the season's final concert, will become musical director and conductor of the Blue Jeans Philharmonic Orchestra at Estes Park, Colo.

In announcing his association with Blue Jeans, Dr. Charles said the program at Estes Park will be expanded on a year around basis.

Dr. Charles has been the prime mover of the Blue Jeans Symphony program since it started as a summer program for young musicians the year he came to Wichita Falls as director in 1960.

Dream

"This has been a dream of mine for four years," Dr. Charles said. "The program has wonderful potential and is a marvelous opportunity for me."

Dr. Charles said when he started the Blue Jeans Orchestra the program had operating funds of only $1,000 but had grown through the years where it now has an annual budget of $40,000 and plans are being made to seek connections with four national foundations for financial help.

Connections have already been made with the Phipps Foundation and the Boetcher Foundation both of Denver, and talks are being held with representatives of both the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations, Dr. Charles said.

Dr. Charles said the Blue Jeans Orchestra will operate on a full time basis much as it has in the past.

Twenty Concerts

"Young musicians who come to Estes Park can receive two or three years of conservatory training in one summer," Dr. Charles said. "We will give 20 concerts during a summer session and will have some four hours of rehearsal daily."

Dr. Charles said the Blue Jeans program would be a feeder and training ground for major orchestras of the nation.

"Musicians will spend two or three summers with the orchestra and will work part time outside the orchestra through "Blue Jeans Inc.," organized to help them earn money in part time jobs and to make the program self sufficient."

Dr. Charles said he would be musical director and conductor for the program and would prepare a television program similar to the "Adventures in Music" he presented here.

"I wish to thank everyone in Wichita Falls for the opportunity to further my musical growth and learning and for the friendship shown me and Mrs. Charles by the people of Wichita Falls," Dr. Charles said.

MRS. LOIS E. MARTIN

Educator Here To Be Honored

A signal honor will be bestowed upon a Wichita Falls educator, Mrs. Lois E. Martin, counselor at Zundelowitz Junior High School, Wednesday night, April 22, when the North Texas State University Ex-Students will present her the "Distinguished Alumni Award."

Mrs. Martin will be presented the award by Dr. Edward C. Bonk, director of guidance at the university.

The Wichitan is the only teacher in the Wichita Falls School System with an earned doctor's degree.

Despite fulfilling her full time duties as a junior high school counselor, rearing her two children and continuing a leadership role in her church, she went to school on Saturdays and during the summers at North Texas to qualify for her doctorate in the January graduation exercises.

Others to receive an award at the ex-students' meeting here will include H. A. Hefner, superintendent of Graham Schools, and Judge C. C. McDonald, Wichita Falls attorney.

Reservations may be made by calling 767-5862.

Mrs. Martin who resides at 1824 Wilson, an honor graduate of Itasca High School, holds bachelor of science and master of science degrees in elementary education from North Texas and her doctor of education in counseling psychology and personnel administration.

She served 14 years as an elementary teacher here and five years as a secondary counselor. She is a member of National Education Association, Texas State Teachers Association, president - elect of Wichita Falls Teachers Association, Texas Personnel and Guidance Association, corresponding secretary of Delta Kappa Gamma, and a leader in youth activities in First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Martin has served as president of Woman's Missionary Union, Sunday school superintendent and teacher, director of Training Union, president of Parent-Teacher Association and Woman's Forum representative.

She also is past worthy matron of Order of Eastern Star, Faith Chapter, Wichita Falls.

USS Henry Clay Fires Missile

The initial firing of a Polaris missile from the recently commissioned submarine, USS Henry Clay, commanded by Cmdr. Thomas A. Bryce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan T. Bryce, 2900 Ninth, was described Monday night by the submarine commander as a "complete success."

In a telephone call to his parents, Cmdr. Bryce said the first firing of the long range missile from his submarine off the coast of Cape Kennedy went like clockwork.

The Henry Clay was commissioned about a month ago in ceremonies attended by the sub captain's parents.

A group of Air Force officers from Sheppard Air Force Base toured the missile firing submarine last week during a visit to Patrick AFB, Fla.

The Sheppard group included Col. Dalene Bailey, deputy base commander; Maj. Billy B. Brown; Maj. George R. Strader; and Capt. Richard J. Griffin.

Choir Presents Annual Concert

The sound was jubilant as the Wichita Falls High School A Cappella Choir presented its traditional Pops Concert in two assemblies for the WFHS student body Tuesday.

Directed by Thomas Shaw, the choir opened the program with "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The first numer in the popular music repertoire was a theme and variations of "When The Saints Go Marching In" by Walter Schumann.

Sally Pridgen, senior, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Pridgen, 1816 Woodrow, narrated as the choir sang such variations as an English Madrigal, a Viennese waltz, a Hollywood extravaganza and a New Orleans street march, the original intent of the theme.

The second number was a choral selection from "South Pacific." The medley presented included "Bala Ha'i," "A Wonderful Guy," "Younger Than Springtime," "There is Nothin' Like A Dame" and "Some Enchanted Evening."

"Live A-Humble," a Negro spiritual arranged by Jester Hairston, was the third selection.

The last popular number presented was "Once Upon A Time" from the musical comedy "All American."

The choir ended the concert with the school song, "Hail To Our Colors."

The senior accompanist for the choir is Jerri Holder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holder, 1570 Carol Lane.

Surveyors Hear Kenneth Mobley

Members of the North Texas Chapter, Texas Surveyors Assn., in their first quarterly meeting of 1964 here this week, heard a report from Kenneth Mobley, Graham, chapter representative, on actions taken at the state board of directors meeting in Austin.

The state officials discussed the possibility of holding a meeting Dallas and the proposed book to be published by the association entitled "A League To Each Wind," a history of early day surveyors.

Dr. J. L. Watkins, chairman of the geology department at Midwestern University, gave a talk on some of the problems of the scientific divisions of the institution.

George Remmers, chapter president, moderated a question and answer period.

Red Cross Hears Progress Reports

"Wichitans affected by the terrible tornado which struck here were dazed Friday. The tears started flowing on Saturday and Sunday. By Monday, they were themselves again, facing up realistically to what had to be done."

Mrs. Albert Owen, director of field operations for the Wichita Chapter of the American Red Cross, summed up her impressions of the disaster which struck Wichita Falls in these words when she presented a report at a meeting of the chapter's board of directors in the City National Bank Tuesday.

Mrs. Owen, who was one of many Red Cross members to work long hours since 3 p.m. Friday bringing help and relief to the victims of the city's worst tragedy, added: "People were magnificent in coming forward to offer help. Maybe the Lord has to shake us up once in a while to make us really see how many wonderful people we do have."

Tom Wagner, disaster director, recalled that he had helped perform relief work at many disasters throughout the country during the past 25 years, but "I have never had as much cooperation as I have had here."

He added, "Never before in any disaster where we have been using mobile units has the city driven up and pumped gasoline and water into our vehicles and gone away refusing payment. There are many other instances of this type of help which we have been receiving here. This sort of help means a lot to us in Red Cross."

Wagner pointed out that the most important and by far the largest phase of the Red Cross work here would be in rehabilitating people affected by the storm. Fortunately, most of the damaged homes had been insured. However, Wagner stated: "If there is a difference between the amount of insurance paid and the money needed, people can rest assured that Red Cross will meet that need."

Wagner emphasized: "The Red Cross does not lend money. It gives it!"

Wagner announced that he would request the chapter chairman, Hal Dyer, and its manager, George Clevenger, to appoint a disaster advisory committee. "When cases have been thoroughly investigated by our workers we will call the committee into session to hear the cases presented by the staff members who actually worked on them. It will be up to the committee to decide whether people should receive assistance, and if they should what the amount of assistance should be."

"When I leave Wichita Falls I do not want anyone to say we were miserly with Red Cross money, or that we threw money away needlessly."

Special guests at the meeting, which was presided over by Dyer, were Earl Forsythe, Dallas Chapter chairman, and Ralph Shannon, Dalllas Chapter manager.

Other detailed reports on work undertaken by the Red Cross during the disaster were presented by Mary Kilgore (medical), Mrs. Paul Cargill and Mrs. Cliff Deaton. Lt. Col. Alvin Lowery reported on disaster work which had been undertaken at Sheppard Air Force Base.

Tributes

Special tributes were paid to the work of the trio responsible for organizing food for the victims, Millard Underwood, Phil Liston and LeRoy Daniels, and to the National Defense Transportation Association.

In other business, the Red Cross directors heard details of proposed plans for a new blood center building at Fifth and Baylor. The matter will be given further consideration at a future meeting.

It was reported that plans are going ahead for the chapter's annual meeting, which will be held April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Young Women's Christian Association.

Balance Of Payments Likely Will Slip Again

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States came close to balancing its books with the rest of the world in the first three months of 1964 for the first time in seven years.

But the outlook for the rest of the year is that U.S. payments will soon slip back into the red. They should do better than last year's $3.3-billion deficit, but still be large enough to be troublesome.

There are several reasons why the first quarter's performance may be more of a fluke than the guarantee of an end to the nagging problem.

Still, the early reports that the first quarter saw the outflow of dollars offset by the return from abroad eases some of the pressure for higher interest rates. It encourages those seeking to increase U.S. exports further and it casts a different light on the efforts of U.S. representatives trying for tariff concessions from other nations.

The apparent balance also lifts quite a weight from the shoulder of U.S. monetary authorities who have been battling to reassure the rest of the world about the strength of the Yankee dollar, and to discourage others from turning in surplus dollars for our gold.

A balance of payments deficit occurs when U.S. spending, lending and aid gives foreigners more dollars than they return here for our exports, or as yields on our investments.

In the first three months of 1963 this deficit was $810 million before seasonal adjustment.

But the season plays a role in today's brighter picture. The deficit in the first quarter is usually smaller than in any other period of the year. U.S. exports often rise in the early months and so does the flow of income from U.S. investments abroad.

From the early reports—the final figures are due about the middle of May—this year has seen greater than usual gains in exports. And the returning flow of income on investments abroad has been augmented by a flow of foreign-held dollars in this market for investment here. Bankers say much of this influx arises from fear of rising inflation in Europe — investors are seeking safer havens for their money.

The United States also has gained by the one-shot influx of dollars that the Soviet Union bought in Europe with its gold to pay for American grain shipments.

Also imports by U.S. firms eased in the first three months of this year.

Bankers doubt if any of these special conditions will last much longer. They feel that imports are bound to rise, particularly if the federal tax cut stimulates U.S. industrial activity and consumer spending as expected. The rate of gain in exports may not last. And there is the still to be answered question of whether a tax-cut stimulated economy here may lead to inflation later on. This would tend to encourage an outflow of investment money rather than the present inflow.

It's the "Festival of Gas" Range Sale!

What a savings! Caloric's Compacto was $233!! Now Only $199.95 after trade-in plus tax.

...with Keep-Warm 140° oven and automatic Burner-with-a-Brain!

...at LONE STAR GAS COMPANY

Believe me, I've cooked on both...and a GAS range is cleaner. You broil with the broiler door closed.

Mrs. J. J. Foster has cooked on both gas and electric ranges and she knows from experience.

Dirty trick on a clean kitchen—but most electric range manufacturers recommend leaving the broiler door slightly open. Not so when you broil with gas—you shut that broiler door! The flame consumes the smoke. Stands to reason, with the door shut, no greasy smoke can possibly pour out into your clean kitchen. Nice!

What's more, flame does something wonderful to a good steak. Flavor! Mmm-marvelous. Modern, automatic gas ranges have all the advantages: no hangover heat, the Burner-with-a-Brain and many more. No wonder Mrs. Foster bought her new gas range. Now how about you? They're on sale now at your gas appliance dealers. See them!
