Heavy Losses Are Inflicted On Invaders

U. S. Bombers Now In Use Superior To Other Planes As Allies Tell It

(By The Associated Press)

WITH THE BRITISH AIR FORCE IN FRANCE, May 29.—Low-diving British bombers are hitting hard and often to ease the fierce German pressure on Allied troops fighting a way out of Flanders.

German transport columns, tanks and armored convoy trucks were attacked repeatedly today with bombs and machine gun fire by planes which plunged as low as 500 feet over their targets.

American Planes Arrive

A French government spokesman said today American airplanes are now arriving in France "in considerable quantities" and are showing their superiority in action over "anything on the front."

The spokesman said American bombers especially were proving their excellence.

Often, he said, these have been able to dive within 30 yards of the ground before cutting loose with bombs and pulling out.

Are Much Faster

American bombers, the spokesman declared, are much faster than Germany's and easy to maneuver.

A French press dispatch from the front today said:

"Magnificent American bombers in which we have placed so much hope have already entered the infernal battle of the north. They have achieved resounding victories over the German lines. All so far have returned to their bases safely."

Main French Army Is Pushing Forward

PARIS, May 29 (AP)—On a great consolidated front along the Somme to Aisne rivers, the main French army carried on continuous operations today against the Germans, while the position of the entrapped Allied forces of the north was acknowledged to be "very critical."

These hard-pressed men in the Flanders pocket, fighting desperately against annihilation, were declared to be inflicting heavy losses on the Nazis.

Wipe Out Nazi Pockets

The operations to the south, which the French authorities cautiously had called "important," apparently were aimed for the moment at wiping out the last German pockets as part of a general push

Germans Seize Allied Towns

As The Germans Tell It

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 29.—The French industrial city of Lille and the Belgian channel port of Ostend have been seized, the British expeditionary force is facing destruction and an important segment of the French line has collapsed, the German high command announced today as its legions circled for the kill in the Flanders-Artois trap.

Germans declared that counter-attacks to crack the steel jaws of the trap on Allied armies, estimated

FIGHT LOSING BATTLE

BERLIN, May 29 (U.P.) — German military quarters tonight asserted that the Allied army of the north was fighting a gallant but lost battle and predicted that the remaining forces would be destroyed or forced to capitulate within "a few hours."

in Berlin at 700,000 men, had been beaten off "with the bloodiest losses."

Successes Are Reported

With their strategic position improved tremendously by the Tuesday dawn capitulation of the 300,000-man Belgian army on orders from King Leopold III, the Germans were able to report, in addition, the following successes:

Storming of Ypres, Belgian highway center, some 20 miles from the channel coast between Dunkerque

Two Persons Killed In Train Collision

CASS LAKE, Minn., May 29 (AP)—Two persons were killed and 45 riders on two passenger trains jolted when one Great Northern passenger train plowed head on into another standing at the depot here early today.

Hans Falkanger, about 60, Grand Forks, N. D., engineer of No. 36, the moving train, was killed when he jumped just before the collision.

An unidentified transient riding between the engine tender and the baggage car of No. 36, was crushed when the tender and the car telescoped.

STEAMER IS SUNK

STOCKHOLM, May 29 (AP)—The Swedish steamer Torsten, 1,204 tons, sank today after striking a mine in the Kattegat while en route to Goteberg. Her crew of 16 was saved.

Nazi Sub Offensive Is Resumed Today

VIGO, Spain, May 29 (AP) — The German submarine offensive on Allied shipping was resumed today with an attack on two ships five miles from Salvora island, off Spain's northwestern coast.

A French merchantman, the Marie Jose, about 5,000 tons, was torpedoed and sunk. The British tanker Telena, of 7,400 tons, was battered by shellfire but remained afloat and was being towed into Vigo.

MORE TECH PILOTS

Special Flight Course Is To Be Conducted

Fifty Students To Receive Training During Summer

Arrangement whereby special flight training will be available this summer to 50 students and former students of Texas Technological college was made this morning by the college and Civil Aeronautics authority.

Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Tech president, made the announcement after conversation by telephone with CAA officials in Fort Worth. He had conferred with officials in Fort Worth Tuesday.

May File Applications

Men students and former students may file applications for the training with Robert P. Vail, who has directed the ground school instruction during the session now ending. Many students have filed applications for training during the 1940-41 session and some of those students may wish to change their applications and ask for the training during the summer, it was pointed out.

The training will be offered between June 15 and Sept. 1. Those applying must be between ages of 18 and 25, as of Oct. 1, 1940, said President Jones.

Staff Not Announced

The course will include 48 hours of ground instruction, as compared with 72 during the long session training program. Ground instruction will be limited to navigation and meteorology.

Complete staff of ground and flight training instructors was not ready for announcement this morning. Vail and Hollie Cross will continue on the ground school staff. Clent Breedlove, flight director during the session now ending, will be on the flight staff.

Further announcement concerning the fee and details of the program will be made later at the college.

To Get Private Licenses

The training will lead to private pilot licenses for those taking the course.

In arranging for the summer program the college was "actuated by steadily increasing interest in aviation and by the fine training obtained from the flying course of the past year". Students who have been enrolled "have received valuable experience and training, without a single mishap," Dr. Jones said.

Haven For War Refugees May Be Sought In United States

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 29—Secretary of State Cordell Hull revealed today that active conversations are in progress looking toward the possibility of giving European war refugees a haven in the United States.

Hull indicated that the question was one of many that had been mentioned in conversations with other governments and interested groups dealing with the refugee problem generally. He added that there had been no development of a concrete nature.

Mentioned By Halifax

Hull's comment was inspired by news from London that Lord Halifax had told the House of Commons that he would bring the refugee problem, which is becoming acutely pressing for Britain, to the attention of the United States.

The American Red Cross goal of $10,000,000 for war relief funds was increased today to $20,000,000 as a result of reports of urgent need among Dutch, Belgian and French refugees.

Red Cross Chairman Norman Davis announced the boost in the organization's quota in the following

Graves Of Thousands Of U. S. Doughboys To Go Undecorated On Battlefields Of Europe

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 29.—"In Flanders' fields the poppies blow "Between the crosses, row on row."

That popular World war poem of John McCrae will not be in order tomorrow—Memorial day.

Will Not Be Decorated

For the first time since the big guns were silenced in Flanders' fields Nov. 11, 1918, the graves of thousands of American soldiers in that foreign soil will go undecorated.

"If ye break faith with us who die "We shall not sleep, though poppies grow in Flanders' fields."

The ceremonies which each year have marked America's remembrance of those distant dead have been abandoned. Only in Paris, as yet removed from the immediate scene of battle, will official tribute be paid their memory.

Territory Is Familiar

Today, armies are fighting in territory familiar to every member of the American expeditionary force. Two major cemeteries and several battle monuments—erected in tribute to American participation in the first World war—are in areas either occupied by Germans or being defended by the British and French.

That land was deeded in perpetuity to the United States by France.

Ireland Calls Out Reserves

(By The Associated Press)

DUBLIN, May 29 — Ireland called up army reserves today and moved swiftly to put her forces on a war footing in the face of the grave situation confronting her neighbor, Britain.

The procedure was strictly along normal lines.

At the same time, volunteers began applying for service at the recruiting stations; but outwardly Dublin went on about its business pretty much as usual.

Report For Instructions

Clerks, shopkeepers, laborers and others in the reserve corps, reported at the Collins barracks and other designated depots for instructions.

Volunteers to the defense corps—"the eyes and ears of national defense" — were augmented by hundreds of civilians eager to serve Eire.

The customary Wednesday half holiday was observed, however, and in spite of general anxiety there was no apparent decrease in the size of the crowds at neighboring pleasure resorts and golf courses.

Mystery Of Human Skulls Is Studied

BROWNWOOD, May 29 (U.P.) — Constable Wayne Weems attempted today to solve the "mystery of the human skulls."

E. B. Gordon, 14, and Loyd Dicus, 15, playing in the basement of a local residence, discovered a cardboard box.

In the box were several human skulls and a horseshoe. The boys investigated further and discovered in the basement a World war bomb and several old rifles.

Mrs. W. B. Tyler, who lives in the house, moved there only recently and had no idea what the basement contained.

LOSSES ARE REPORTED

BERLIN, May 29 (AP)—DNB, the German official news agency, said today Allied airplane losses since May 11 totaled 2,638, against Germany's 373. The statement followed a report by a French newspaper, Petit Parisien, that German losses had reached 1,060 planes May 19.

American Legion Is Accused Of Suppressing Free Speech

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, May 29 — Joe Zimmerman, president of the Houston Progressive Youth Forum, accused the American Legion today of suppressing free speech.

Protests by Legion members caused the city recreation department to cancel a forum speech on Chairman Martin Dies of the House committee on un-American activities, at a city-owned community center last night.

The speech, entitled "The un-American Mr. Dies," was to have been made by Herman Wright, an attorney.

Several legionnaires attended a brief meeting of the forum and three policemen sat in an automobile outside. Wright was not present.

"The action of the American Legion has invaded the inherent right of free speech," Zimmerman said. "I think no one should make a concession where freedom of speech is concerned."

Plan To Boost Defense Fund Contemplated

Planes, Equipment And Motor Forces To Be Provided

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—President Roosevelt and war department officials were reported today to be considering a supplemental defense program for army equipment, planes and mechanization which would add more than $600,000,000 to the preparedness expenditures already projected.

Following a conference, in which Secretaries Morgenthau and Woodring, Louis Johnson, assistant war secretary and General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, reviewed army needs with the president, there were indications that Mr. Roosevelt would ask Congress for further expansion of the defense program within a few days.

Less Than Billion

The amount he may ask, it was said, probably will be less than $1,000,000,000 but more than $500,000,000—possibly around $600,000,000. That would be in addition to the $1,182,000,000 which Mr. Roosevelt already has requested.

The White House conference met as a congressional committee decided upon procedure for speeding all possible the $3,000,000,000 tax program laid down yesterday by administration and congressional leaders.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the House ways and means committee, revising the earlier estimate of $683,000,000, said the administration hoped to raise $656,000,000 for defense taxes in a new tax bill which he will introduce tomorrow.

Registration of Firearms

The day's defense developments included a request by Attorney General Jackson for immediate enactment of legislation requiring registration of all firearms in the United States. He made the request in a letter to Speaker Bankhead of the House.

How the supplemental defense program for the army would fit into the developing picture of emergency finances was not immediately explained by authorities.

One informed person spoke of a possibility of getting 3,000 new fighting planes promptly. To get production capacity of the aircraft industry built up so that it can aim for a goal of 50,000 planes annually, he said, orders for planes must be

Chadwick Case Will Be Heard

Hearing on an application for a writ of habeas corpus, presented to Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in U. S. district court this morning by Howard Dailey, Dallas attorney, on behalf of Phillip H. Chadwick of Fort Worth, was to be held this afternoon by the court.

District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus objected to the writ, which was asked for the purpose of securing bail reduction for Chadwick. Dailey said he had never seen the indictment of his client and that the latter did not know the nature of the alleged offenses. Judge Davidson advised Eastus to give the attorney a copy of the indictment.

No Means To Furnish Bond

Bond set by the court was $12,500, $10,000 in one case and $2,500 in another. Chadwick, the attorney claimed, was without property or means to furnish the amount of bond set.

The jury ordered for Wednesday to hear jury cases reported and 28 men qualified.

W. P. Walker, assistant U. S. district attorney for civil matters, presented several final orders in government cases.

Record Enrollment In Summer School Seen

With a total of 126 students enrolled for courses in Senior High school and 19 in Junior high work, indications pointed to a record summer session at Lubbock High school, Principal R. W. Matthews announced this morning. Figures for elementary grades were not available.

Enrollment last summer totaled 150 students.

Students should enroll by Thursday if they expect to take the summer courses, Supt. W. B. Irvin said. Work is being offered in grades 2, 3 and 4 in Dupre school; grades 5 to 11 in Senior High. Tuition fees are $9 a subject in grades 8 to 11, $6 a subject in grades 6 and 7 and $12 for the high grades (second semester work) in the elementary grades.

Italy Still Lingers On Brink Of War

ROME, May 29 (AP)—Italy lingered tonight on the brink of war which many foreign and Italian observers expect Italy to start, possibly within the next few days, but in North Africa and in the Mediterranean rather than against France directly.

This view was supported by Nicola Marchitto in a semi-monthly political review entitled, "The Conquest of the Empire."

He asserted Italy's "offensive objectives" would be actions by the navy and warplanes in the Mediterranean, land war in Africa to conquer the Suez canal and eventually in the Balkans to protect Italian interests. Italian strategy, he wrote, is defensive on both the French and Tunisian (French North African) frontiers, but of a different character on the Egyptian border.

New Deal Policies Rapped By Texas Republicans

State Session Ends Tuesday

DALLAS, May 29 (AP)—Texas Republicans ended their state convention last night with a condemnation of the administration's foreign and domestic policies. It was decided to send an uninstructed group of delegates to the national convention which is to be held in Philadelphia.

The Texas Republicans reiterated their belief in protective tariff, and urged the nation to guard against administration propoganda designed to cover up its short-comings.

Resolutions Adopted

Resolutions adopted by the convention included:

Opposition to the United States' involvement in war.

Condemnation of sit-down strikes.

Utilization of local agencies to handle relief funds.

Denunciation of the reduction of cotton acreage and the enforced curtailment of farm products.

Officials named at the session included: L. J. Breckenstein, of Beaumont, permanent chairman of the state party; John W. Philp, Dallas, secretary, and C. W. Beck, Hillsboro, sergeant-at-arms.

DONALD DUCK — THE PLEASURE IS ALL MINE! — BY WALT DISNEY

Contract For Sewer Is Let

Williams & Whittle Inc. of Dallas was awarded contract to build principal units of a storm sewer in the southern part of the city on a bid of $166,978.48 at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday night.

The award carried the usual condition in such matters of being made subject to the execution of a satisfactory performance bond by the contractor.

The bid was lower by $14,721.91 than the next among the 15 submitted in the intensely keen competition for the contract.

To Start Soon

James C. Williams and R. D. Whittle, members of the successful firm, both were present and announced that excavation will be started within the next 30 days. The contract calls for the completion of the work within 220 calendar days.

They said that at the peak of the work continuing through a period of several months, approximately 50 men will be employed. With exception of a small skeleton crew to be brought from Dallas, they added, Lubbock labor will be given preference.

The award was given unanimous approval by members of the city commission after devoting several hours of study to the proposals submitted. Commissioner W. G. McMillan made the motion and Commissioner Garland Newsom gave the second. Concurring with them in the award were Mayor Carl E. Slaton and Commissioners W. B. Price and Hub Jones.

The contract calls for the construction of all except a small portion already built by the city of the main line of the storm sewer, which will extend entirely across the southern part of the city, and of the most important lateral which will be a feeder to the main line. The lateral will provide drainage for a large portion of Nineteenth street immediately east of College avenue where flood conditions have become an increasingly serious problem following rains.

Amount of the bid was substantially lower than the most optimistic among city officials had dared to hope.

It caused the hope that if conditions continue similarly favorable from the city's standpoint, enough will remain out of the $300,000 storm sewer bond issue voted in September, 1938, to complete all or most of the laterals which form part of the entire system in that part of the city for which plans have been prepared by Harry N. Roberts, consulting engineer. Estimates at the time the plans were completed were that the entire work would cost $500,000 or more.

Second among the bids submitted was that of Panhandle Construction company of Lubbock, which proposed to do the work for $181,700.39. Third lowest was that of Central Contracting company of Dallas, which bid $189,645.94. Highest among the 15 bids was one of $313,660.89 from W. B. Carter of Wichita, Kan. It exceeded the low bid by $146,682.41. Firms from Texas, Oklahoma, Michigan, Missouri and Kansas participated in the competition.

The bids were opened by the city commission at 2 p. m. and were referred to City Engineer Marlin R. Smith, jr., of the engineering department and Roberts for checking and tabulation. That work required several hours, since each bid consisted of 117 individual items. The award was made when the commission re-convened Tuesday night to receive Smith's and Roberts' report.

Approximately 100 representatives of bidding firms and of building materials concerns were present when the proposals were opened.

Girl Wins Spelling Bee; Girls Nab 10 Consecutive Meets

WASHINGTON, May 29 (U.P.)—Laurel Kuykendall, 14-year-old farm girl from near Cockeville, Tenn., yesterday won the 16th annual national spelling bee by spelling "plantain" correctly.

She eliminated 21 other boys and girls from 16 states in the contest sponsored by a group of newspapers and won $500.

Laurel spelled nearly 100 words before defeating her final opponent, Elizabeth O'Keefe of Hoboken, N. J., on "plantain." Elizabeth spelled it "planton."

Her victory gave the girls the national championship among elementary school children for the 10th consecutive year. It was the 13th feminine victory in the 16 years of contests.

FLEEING ALONG MISERY LANE IN BELGIUM—Carrying hurriedly-gathered belongings, a column of children is led out of war-blasted Namur by nuns. With Allied military traffic and refugees using the same roads, fleeing civilians have been killed by ground-strafing German warplanes.

M-DAY IS MOTHER'S DAY—"Women should take part in defending the home," declared Mrs. Edna L. Johnston, of Freehold, N. J., pictured at New York meeting where she announced plans of the National Legion of Mothers of America for teaching its 2,000,000 members to shoot, as defense against parachute troops invading the United States.

Nominations Accepted For Lodge Officials

Nominees for officers to serve during the last six months of 1940 were accepted at a meeting of Lubbock Knights of Pythias lodge Tuesday night.

Other nominations will be accepted until the semi-annual election June 4. Officers will be installed shortly before July 1.

Nominated were Estell Hendrix, chancellor commander; Bob Ingram, vice chancellor; Ralph Brock, prelate; Ralph Thompson, master of works; Acie Cope, master at arms; C. H. Tisdel, inner guard, and W. R. Porter, outer guard. Victor H. Lindsey is present chancellor commander.

Rank of knight was conferred on Albert Purdy. Meeting was conducted in the lodge hall at 1107 Avenue K.

ANCIENT BUT EDIBLE

During excavations, workmen found a jarful of olives which had been buried in the ruins of ancient Pompeii for 1800 years. The olives had been kept in good condition by the oil and were still edible.

Lena Belle Brown To Be Bride Of Walker L. Nichols In Ceremony June

Wedding Is To Be Read Here

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown of Megargel are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lena Belle Brown, to Walker L. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nichols of San Angelo. The wedding will take place in Lubbock June 9.

Much interest centers around this news of the popular young couple, teachers in the Lubbock Public schools.

Miss Brown is a graduate of Texas Technological college where she was president of Sans Souci social club her senior year. She is a graduate of Lubbock High school. For the last three years she has taught at K. Carter school.

Mr. Nichols is assistant coach and history teacher at Senior High school. He helped coach the team last year that won Lubbock's first state football championship. He is a graduate of Tech college and former captain of the Red Raiders.

Homemaking Classes Are Planning Summer Work

Summer homemaking projects are being planned by girls of Lubbock Junior and Senior High schools and August 13 has been set as the date for Achievement day. Girls will work 100 hours an equivalent to a semester's work which carries grade points and half a credit.

About 58 homemaking girls have signed to take work which will include improving bedrooms and living rooms, caring for summer wardrobes, preparing meals, beautifying yards, marketing, working on hope chests and entertainments.

In addition to individual work, group projects will include field trips and demonstrations on homemaking at the departments at school. Slip covers will be made, linen will be repaired, cup towels will be made and other improvements made.

Three teachers will supervise the work: Mrs. J. C. Bateman, Miss Pauline Hooser and Miss Elma Miller.

Jolly Dozen Club Party Given By Mrs. Shannon

GRAY, BROWN CHECKS and plaids appear in new summer suits. This one is in two tones of gray accented in brown.

TO WASH SPREAD

Hand crocheted or knitted bedspreads can be dry-cleaned, of course, but if you prefer to wash them yourself, it can be done quite successfully at home without difficulty. Use plenty of warm, mild soapsuds and keep the suds active during the entire cleansing by adding more soap when the lather appears to deaden. Immerse the spread and squeeze the suds through it over and over. If the spread is very soiled, use a second suds bath. Rinse several times in clear warm water, pressing out the excess water carefully and holding so that the weight of the water does not stretch the spread out of shape. Pinning the spread on a sheet before drying over the line also helps to keep it even. Pressing usually is not necessary but if you wish to accentuate the design, press on the wrong side with a cool iron.

Mrs. George To Present Piano Students Today

A group of piano pupils is to be presented in recital at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon by Mrs. E. F. George. The program, open to the public, will be given at 2115 Nineteenth street.

The program is as follows: Chick-a-dee, Bird Call in the Woods (Wagness), Ludelle Van Aken; Dream of Love (Liszt), Ludelle and Dorrene Van Aken; Around the Camp Fire, Buffalo Hunt and Ghost Dance (Blake), Dorrene Van Aken; Spanish Dance (Lazarus), Desert Patrol (Mattingly), Patricia June Lindsey; Dancing Bear (Erb), Monkeys in the Trees (Adler), Alice Qualia; March of the Wee Folk (Gaynor), The Silver Fish (Hopson), Dalton Hamilton; Jolly Darkies, Patricia June and John R. Duncan; Merry Go Round (Bliden), Banjo Pickers (Wright), Fanny Beth Allen; The Three Blind Mice, Gypsy Dance (Blake), Billie Weiss; Air de Ballet (John Thompson), Ruby Jo Denton; The Will o' the Wisp (Berh), The Whirligig (Grimm), Louise McNabb; Aragonnaise (Massenet), Aero Flight, (Lemont), Jack Walters; Sonatina (Clementi), Tarantella (Stillwell), Joyce Yocum.

NEW FLAVOR HINTS

Try these new flavor tips: Put a little powdered cloves in baked beans — one-fourth teaspoon is enough for serving four; sprinkle 1-2 teaspoon marjoram over roast lamb the last hour of baking; add a few celery seeds to cole slaw.

Ford Claims He Could Turn Out 1,000 Warplanes A Day At Pla

Defense Plan Given Praise

DEARBORN, Mich., May 29 (U.P.)—Henry Ford says he could turn out 1,000 warplanes a day at his gigantic River Rouge plant, and that he is ready to throw the resources of this world's largest factory into national defense.

Surveys of the plant already have been made by army and navy experts and fighting ships could be turned out at the 1,000-a-day rate without adding any new buildings to it, Ford said.

Would Revise Facilities

Production facilities would have to be revised, company officials said, but within six months the entire plant, covering 1,096 acres and equipped with railroads, ships, blast furnaces and more machine mechanics than any other industrial concern in the world, could be concentrated on output of airplanes, engines and parts.

Ford, a foe of governmental interference, said peak production could be attained only if industry were permitted to manage itself. He suggested that competent aviation experts such as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh or Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines and a former auto producer, could be placed in charge of the mass program.

Ready For Order

Of the war abroad and its possible repercussions in America, Ford said that "any American citizen should be willing to participate in the defense program." He said he and his industrial empire would swing into production "whenever the order is given."

"This country is following the proper course by strengthening its defense in view of the European war," Ford said. "It should be remembered, however, that preparations made for defense can be used for war and there are war-makers who want to push us into the conflict."

In the World war, many resources of the Ford plant were used for armaments production. The company produced Liberty motors, eagle boats, helmets, tractors and gun carriages. Ford made no reference to the possibilities of his tractor construction unit, but Ford farm tractors now are being produced at the rate of several hundred a day. The tractors have caterpillar traction, similar to army tanks.

The Ford plant, it was said, probably is better suited for airplane construction than any other automotive unit. In the '20s tri-motored ships were constructed at the River Rouge plant. A large airport still is intact and readily adaptable to present-day needs. It is being used as a proving ground.

In recent months experimentation has been conducted with stock Mercury automobile engines in airplanes. They are not large enough for heavy defense duty, it was explained, but have been used successfully in light craft.

Ford said that one of the greatest handicaps industry faces as it steps into the defense program is lack of mechanics.

Recent employment reports in Detroit have indicated an increasing shortage of skilled machinists.

"It takes four years to train a good tool and die worker or machinist," Ford said. "This handicap will be felt as the defense program gets underway."

Ford said he believed the United States was remaining comparably calm in the face of European developments.

"People are more cautious than they were in 1917," he said. "It would take more than an incident equivalent of the Lusitania sinking to raise public feeling to a war pitch."

Mattresses Are To Be Distributed Here

The Lubbock Commodities Distribution department has received 600 mattresses for distribution among low income families through the Public Welfare department, said R. A. Metcalfe, district supervisor.

To Bailey, Stonewall, Garza and Lubbock counties, he said, 150 mattresses each have been distributed.

Metcalfe said he expected between 4,000 and 5,000 mattresses in all to be sent out from Lubbock over this district. The mattresses come from Waco where they are manufactured in a state-wide project by the department in conjunction with Works Projects administration. Mattresses are not a part of the Agricultural Adjustment administration-Extension Service program for low income farm families.

IT'S BRANDING AND ROUNDUP TIME IN TEXAS—It's roundup time in the cattle country. These four views of cowhands at work, taken on the 118,000-acre Pitchfork Ranch, near Guthrie, Tex., illustrate how cattle are branded to identify herds and discourage stealing. At the top, (left), two roped calves are being dragged to the branding irons. George Watson, 71, (top, right), veteran cowhand, tests a branding iron's heat by blowing his breath on it. Lower left, a roped range youngster fights the rope; lower right: while a pony (left), holds the rope taut, cowboys (right), throw a calf that's soon to be branded. In the foreground, the branders apply the iron to another calf.

Many varieties of lizards are capable of discarding their tails.

SEEKS P. O. LOCATION

POST—Bids will be received up to June 7 for a five-year lease on a postoffice here, Phil S. Bouchier, postmaster, said. Space needed is 1,800 square feet, he said.

In 1907, Sequin, Me., had 2734 hours of fog.

Mrs. B. A. Brady gave a picnic at Mackenzie State park Tuesday afternoon as a courtesy to Merry Needlers club. Her guests were Mesdames B. A. Brady, G. G. McMurray, John G. Cathey, John Wood, J. A. Peel, J. D. McPhaul and O. T. Stewart.

Dallas City Ordinance Is Upheld By Court

AUSTIN, May 29 (U.P.)—Dallas' city ordinance prohibiting possession of fireworks for sale was held valid by the Texas court of criminal appeals today.

The ruling was made by affirming the decision of a Dallas district court in habeas corpus proceedings brought by I. B. Clark. The ordinance had been attacked on the ground that while use of fireworks might be a fire hazard, the city had no right to prohibit their possession for purpose of sale.

Tuesday Party Is In Garden

Beginning a series of pre-wedding parties for Miss Willena Nelson, whose marriage to George W. Dupree, Jr., is to take place here June 10, three hostesses gave a garden party Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Childress, 2216 Fifteenth street. They were Mesdames Childress, E. R. McCune and J. M. Davis.

Bill and Sam Davis and Margaret Nelson, dressed as little gardners, brought a wheelbarrow filled with gifts which they presented to Miss Nelson.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in pastel shades and white wedding bells. Punch and cake embossed to resemble flower corsages were served to forty guests.

Federal Employes To Receive A Holiday

Memorial day holiday will be observed here Thursday by postoffice and other federal employes and those of banks, according to announcement Tuesday.

City and county offices will remain open as usual.

Regular holiday pickup of mail in the business section will be observed, said Postmaster Amos Howard. No mail will be delivered on city or rural routes and no office windows will be open.

Bankers advise merchants to make arrangements for cash and change today.

Other federal offices may also be closed.

Miss Birdwell Tea Honoree

Honoring Miss Imogene Birdwell, bride-elect of Lloyd Price, Mrs. Marlin R. Smith, 2508 Twenty-fourth street, entertained with an informal tea this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The hostess presented the honoree with a recipe box and guests wrote favorite recipes for her. She received a shower of kitchen articles.

Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. C. J. Leland of Fort Worth, presided at the serving table which was laid with a green cloth and decorated with bowls of pink roses.

There were about sixteen guests.

There are 661 keys and over 3,000 reefs in the Bahama Islands.

Germans Seize Allied Towns

and Ostend:

Simultaneous attack on Kemmel.

Storming of Ypres, Belgian highway center, some 20 miles from the channel coast between Dunkerque and Ostend.

Simultaneous attack on Kemmel, southwest of Ypres. Both Ypres and Kemmel were maelstroms of World war fighting. Kemmel is known particularly for the combat on Messines ridge.

Dixmude Is Reached

Passing of Bruges and the reaching of Dixmude, both in Belgium, by the swift advance through northern Flanders.

Raising of the swastika over Langemarck, scene of fierce combat in 1914.

Occupation of Armentieres, near Lille.

Fracture of a fortified French border position, near Cassel, through a rearguard attack.

Widespread air raids on "retreating columns and all kinds of troop concentrations and tanks."

Destruction of 24 Allied planes yesterday as against the loss of three German machines.

Destroyer Said Lost

Destruction of an Allied destroyer by a torpedo-carrying speedboat off the Belgian city of Nieuport.

Heavy damage to three Allied destroyers, two transports and two freighters, bombed off the Belgian and French coast of the English channel, and Sinking of an Allied submarine by bomb in the central North sea and "probable" destruction of another.

The German high command acknowledged that Allied forces had entered Narvik, Norwegian ore port above the Arctic circle which had been besieged since the April 9 invasion of Norway. (The British said Narvik had fallen.)

But the Germans said that their air force had scored a "serious hit" on a "large battleship" off Narvik, putting its guns out of action and enveloping the craft in smoke, and heavily damaged three cruisers, a destroyer and a freighter.

Troop landings at Ankanes, Norway, also were bombed.

The high command said that "the fate of the French armies in Artois is sealed."

The Artois region and the Flanders area—the coastal plains of northern France and southwestern Belgium—from the zone of entrapment for the Allied forces, now bereft of Belgian ally in the Ostend-Bruges area on their left bank.

Resistance Has Collapsed

French resistance south of Lille has "collapsed," said the Germans and "the English army which was hemmed together in the region of Dixmude, Armentieres, Bailleul and Bergues, west of Dunkerque, also are facing destruction through our concentrated attack."

Lille was said to have fallen to German attacks from the east and west. This industrial city, which changed hands three times in the first three months of the World war and then was held by the Germans for four years, had a normal population of 200,000.

Street fighting reported at Dunkerque apparently represented an attack by an advanced German column.

Pocket Is Tightened

The pocket has been tightened drastically and swiftly but there was no other indication, save this unofficial report, that the real German line had carried to Dunkerque on the English channel, 40 miles east of Calais.

As closely as could be determined from the rapid-fire reports on the German advances, the encroaching line—drawstring of the pocket in which the northern British and French armies found themselves, runs like this from its northernmost coastal point:

Eastward from Ostend past Bruges, 15 miles; thence southwestward to Dixmude, 25 miles, then southward 15 miles to Ypres and then 20 miles southeastward to Lille and Armentieres, 10 miles west of Lille, thence northwestward through Cassel, Bourgourg and Gravelines to the sea at a point 15 miles west of Dunkerque.

War Refugees

telegram to all chapters:

"When the Red Cross asked a minimum war relief fund of $10,000,000 no one could foresee that in two short weeks the greatest tragedy in all history would be unfolded. Impossible to describe pitiful plight of millions of refugees in France. Sick, wounded, hungry and homeless, they cry out to us for help. Will need much more than $10,000,000; therefore, quotas originally assigned should be regarded only as minimum immediate objectives. Chapters should then go on and where possible double their quotas. In fact, only limitation should be the maximum generosity of the American people."

Contributions during the week drive reached $3,500,000 shortly before Davis appealed for a larger fund.

Permit To Plainview Station Is Cancelled

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The federal communications commission has cancelled a construction permit issued to W. B. Dennis last July for a new radio station at Plainview, Texas.

"This action was taken," the commission said, "after the permittee (Dennis) admitted, as a result of a show cause order issued March 12 last, that he made misstatements relative to his financial position in applying for the permit." The station, which had been assigned the call letters KWBD, proposed to operate daytime on 1200 kilocycles with power of 100 watts.

The area of most counties in the United States is roughly between 100 and 200 miles.

Joy Reigns Among Redcaps At The Dallas Depot; Each Is To Get About $2,000

DALLAS, May 29 (AP)—There was a heap of joy down at the depot last night.

Every one of the 41 red caps had nearly $2,000 due him because a federal court judge held that tips do not constitute wages.

Judge William H. Atwell ordered the Union Terminal company to pay the men around $40,000 in back wages and an additional equal amount in liquidating damages.

Handing down his decision in the wages and hours law suit, the judge commented:

"If the Congress, familiar as it is with tipping, meant for tips to be included in wages the law would have so provided."

The red caps had been reporting their tips to the company, which paid them the difference if their tips did not average 30 cents an hour.

Brief Bits Of News . . . .

To See Graduation—Mrs. Alice Wynn, 1509 College avenue, has gone to Galveston to attend graduation exercises for her son, Maynard Knight, from the University of Texas medical school. Daughter Born — A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Morris of Plains at 2:50 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the residence. The infant weighed 6 pounds 1 ounce. Lubbock sanitarium reported. She was named Juanita Inez.

Mrs. Roberds Owns Property—Due to erroneous information supplied the newspapers, articles appearing in The Evening Journal Tuesday and The Morning Avalanche today incorrectly named Mrs. Dora Roberts of Big Spring, a former Lubbock resident, as one of the owners of an 85-acre tract in the southeast portion of the city on which the Santa Fe railway announced it had obtained an option for development as an industrial area. The name of Mrs. Carl Roberds, 1415 Sixteenth street should have been used.

Woman Pilot Solos — Solo flight was made by Mrs. Gene Fowler, 2410 Twenty-seventh street, at Municipal airport Tuesday several days ahead of her husband Mr. and Mrs. Fowler are students of Harry Peiser. She had received eight hours of instructions.

Lubbock Man Held—Sheriff Tom Abel said this afternoon Grady Harriet, deputy sheriff, had gone to El Paso to accept custody of a man charged here with automobile theft. The man reportedly had been arrested in El Paso. A pickup order had been issued by Sheriff Abel. Mrs. Jesse W. James owns the car.

Jury To Report—A jury in the 99th district court of Judge E. L. Pitts reported at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon to hear the court's charge and arguments in the case of J. A. Turner and others against George E. Smith and others, action in damages. Late this morning attorneys were considering the charge. Judgment of $4,000 is asked.

Bond Posted—Bail of $750 had been posted by E. R. Hubbard, charged in a complaint by B. J. Patterson and filed in the court of J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, with drunk driving, said the sheriff's department this afternoon.

Posey Back—Jas. E. Posey, chief deputy sheriff and Mrs. Posey have returned from Rising Star, where they visited a daughter, Mrs. C. E. Williams. They are living at 2605 Twenty-first street, having bought a new home. Posey, who had been on a "sort of vacation, if you count working around the new house, then a brief visit to Rising Star," has returned to his duties at the sheriff's office. Cap Moore, another deputy, and Mrs. Moore will begin a vacation trip about Saturday.

Farley At Rotary—Cal Farley, past president of the Amarillo Rotary club, presented a program on boy's work at today's luncheon of the Rotary club in Lubbock hotel. Dean James M. Gordon was program chairman. Farley's daughter, Jean, and Marilyn Cornelius, sang and did a tap dance and Miss Vesta O'Dell played. Irving Tolzien of Amarillo played a violin number.

Vansyckle To Leave—Envoy V. M. Vansyckle of the Salvation Army this morning received an order from state headquarters to prepare for a farewell on June 16. He is to leave the following day, but the assignment was not given in the orders. Vansyckle came here two years ago from Corpus Christi.

To Elect Lodge Officers—IOOF lodge 609 Tuesday night will accept more nominations, if there are any, and vote on a ticket nominated Tuesday night: Bill Stone for noble grand and Allen Mackey, Paul Dennis, Clarence Woods and J. B. Belcher for vice grand. At that time there will be five candidates for the initiatory degree. They are A. B. McCaughan, Ralph Burdett, J. J. Modrell, E. L. Keefer, and Jack Caraway.

Agreed Judgment Expected—County court officials said an agreed judgment was expected to be arrived at in the damages action of Joe Cardine Putman, by next best friend and others against Mrs. Leona Squyres and others. The child, 4, was injured Saturday morning near where North College avenue meets the curve of the Shallowater road. It was announced at the time that the child ran into a rear fender of the car driven by Mrs. Squyres, who turned into a barrow ditch to avoid a collision.

Showers Fall—Light moisture fell late this morning in Lubbock. Municipal airport's gauge showing .07 inch. Prospects for continued showers were deemed excellent at 2 o'clock this afternoon, although an unsteady barometer had risen slightly.

Heavy Losses

forward in an effort to relieve the northern forces.

Whether such an offensive had gone beyond this preliminary stage was not immediately clear.

The front stretched across 200 miles on the Somme and Aisne. Three villages on the lower Somme were declared to have been recaptured by the French an dthis afternoon a military spokesman said also that they had blown up the last bridgeheads previously occupied by the enemy.

Raid Thrown Back

Most of Amiens was said now to be in French hands, and a German raid on French positions in the Ardennes sector near the town of Chateau Porcien was thrown back, said a communique by heavy French fire. The Maginot asea to the east remained quiet.

But, however important was this operation of the southern Allied wing, it was overshadowed in the great drama to the north.

The battle in the Flanders pocket was described by a war ministry spokesman as "murderous," but he gave no indication of the turn it was taking. The French and British were said to be showing "admirable courage."

Along the channel, it was said, Dunkerque itself "is not directly menaced."

Calais was also still in French hands at the latest reports last night, the sources added.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak said in an interview he was "completely without information" on the present whereabouts of King Leopold III following the Belgian monarch's capitulation.

No Longer Has Power

Wherever he is, Spaak declared, "he no longer has any power."

Spaak said King Leopold lost his sovereignty and that if he should conclude a peace treaty with the Germans it would not be valid "because we consider that any act he can accomplish now will be invalid."

The French and British air forces violently attacked fuel reserves at the north German ports of Bremen and Hamburg as well as communication centers and armored columns behind the German lines, according to the war ministry.

Fighting in the northern sector was described as "extremely violent" on the Lys river, which runs through the area in which the Allied forces have been encircled by the swift German troops and left alone by the surrender of King Leopold's Belgian army.

Along the Rhine the French opened a terrific artillery fire which shattered a railway line and an unidentified station, the spokesman said.

Rites For John Hegi Set At Petersburg

Funeral services for John Hegi, 81, were to be conducted Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Uetersburg, followed by in terment in Petersburg cemetery.

Rix Funeral home took the body to Petersburg Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Hegi, resident of Petersburg 35 years, died early Tuesday afternoon in a sanitarium here. He had been admitted to the sanitarium for treatment of an intestinal obstruction about 24 hours earlier.

He was a retired farmer.

The United States has more land covered by forest than is planted in crops.

Defense Funds May Be Hiked

placed without delay.

The legislative blueprinting of defense details continued apace, the House dispatching to the Senate a brace of newly-approved bills designed to speed up shipbuilding and to authorize a $1,137,000,000 expansion of the navy's air force and air bases.

On defense financing, Congress appeared agreed on a two-fold approach.

The first called for an immediate increase in the national debt limit from the present $45,000,000,000—now almost reached—to $48,010,000,000. This step would permit the flotation of $3,000,000,000 of "national defense obligations," to be paid off in five years.

The second step involved new taxes earmarked specifically to liquidate the $3,000,000,000 "national defense loan." The taxes would be effective for the five year period, but their nature immediately stirred wide differences of opinion.

Tentative plans were based on 10 per cent boosts in the income and certain excise taxes. Even heavier increases were under consideration for liquor, cigarette and gasoline levies.

As finance committees in both houses began spadework for the tax question, the seven members named by President Roosevelt yesterday to form a national defense commission were asked to hold their first meeting here tomorrow.

Speed Is Essential

Mr. Roosevelt said that the six men and one woman—drawn from the ranks of business, labor, government and consumers—would have the job of seeing that defense orders are filled as expeditiously as possible, without upsetting the normal trend of things more than necessary.

The appointments evoked critical comment from Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee. He called it a "cap and gown commission," and said that the president failed "to recognize the necessity of calling in experts in mass production." In this regard, Landon added that three appointees whom he did not name qualified as experts.

Names Are Given

The commission is constituted as follows:

Edward R. Stettinius, jr., chairman of the board of United States Steel, who will supervise the production of raw materials.

William S. Knudsen, the General Motors production wizard, who will be concerned exclusively with manufacturing problems.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, responsible for matters involving labor.

Chester C. Davis, member of the federal reserve board and former director of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, who will integrate the farmer's part.

Leon Henderson, chairman of the securities commission, charged with stabilization of wholesale prices.

Miss Harriet Elliott of the University of North Carolina, guardian of consumers interests.

American Graves

Since the beginning of Germany's blitzkrieg, no word has been received by the battle monuments commission on the fate of memorials there.

Flanders' field cemetery, where the bodies of 368 Americans from the 27th, 30th, 37th and 91st divisions were buried, is close to the fighting now.

In German Control

The battle monument at Audenarde, 30 miles to the west of Ypres, is apparently within German control. It is possible that bombardment has broken the granite memorial under the century-old trees of the village square commemorating the 37th and 91st divisions and the 53rd field artillery.

Farther south, on the road running north from St. Quentin to Cambrai, the German corridor to the English channel pours over the great Somme cemetery. There lie the bodies of 1,833 Americans of the 27th, 30th, 1st, 33rd and 80th divisions, and of the sixth and 11th regiments of engineers.

Each year, General John J. Pershing has visited these fields. This year he probably will remain in the United States. The neutrality act forbids Americans to travel in combat areas.

purpose of securing money was begun. William P. Fonville, assistant district attorney, handled the case and Gene Mathis, of San Angelo, was defense attorney. Joseph E. Yates, Morton, alleged victim, M. B. Boone, Lubbock salesman, J. A. Morrow, Cochran county deputy sheriff and U. S. Marshal J. R. Wright were government witnesses.

Defendant and his wife were to testify for him.

Following conclusion of the case the trial of Dr. J. F. Campbell of O'Donnell on a charge of violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic act was to begin.

Monday afternoon five persons gave evidence of their desire to become American citizens and were given the oath of allegiance in a ceremony broadcast over KFYO.

"HELLO WALK" ON CAMPUS

Garner Second In Pledged Delegates

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 29 — Texas' big block of 46 votes put Vice President Garner in second place today for pledged delegates to the Democratic national convention.

President Roosevelt, however, has the public support of more than a majority of the delegates, and there was speculation here that if he should announce his willingness to run, no other name might be presented to the convention.

Lineup Announced

With 772 of the 1,094 full-voting delegates now selected, here is the lineup:

Pledged and semi-pledged to President Roosevelt 561 1-2.

Pledged to Vice President Garner 49 1-2.

Pledged to Postmaster General Farley 38 1-2.

Pledged to Speaker Bankhead of Alabama 22.

Pledged to Senator Tydings of Maryland (conditionally) 16.

Pledged to Senator Wheeler of Montana 8.

Pledged to Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming 6.

Unrestricted and unpledged 70 1-2.

Victory Was Expected

Garner's victory in his home state convention yesterday had been anticipated ever since the Roosevelt and Garner forces in Texas reached a compromise understanding several weeks ago under which the vice president would get the delegation with the stipulation it was not "anti-Roosevelt."

Texas Republicans meanwhile selected an uninstructed delegation with 26 votes in the national convention.

The action raised the Republican delegation total to 990, only ten short of the convention roster of 1,000. It also increased to 625 the number of unrestricted delegates whose presidential choices, if known today, probably would determine the nominee.

The GOP Box Score

With 501 votes required to nominate for the Republicans, their delegate box score stands this way:

Pledged and semi-pledged to Thomas E. Dewey 150.

Pledged to Gov. James of Pennsylvania 71.

Pledged to Senator Taft of Ohio 56.

Pledged to Senator Vandenberg of Michigan 38.

Pledged to Hanford Macnider of Iowa 22.

Pledged to Senator Capper of Kansas 18.

Pledged to Senator McNary of Oregon 10.

Unrestricted and unpledged 625.

Two of the remaining ten Republican delegates were being picked in Arkansas' third district today. The other eight will be chosen as at-large delegates by Illinois Republicans on June 7.

George Dupree Will Speak At Services

Invitation to deliver the address at Memorial day services in Lubbock cemetery Thursday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock has been accepted by George W. Dupree, local attorney, according to Ray Amick, member of the arrangements committee.

Amick reminded that flowers are needed for decoration of graves of all former service men buried in Lubbock. He asked those with flowers they wish to give to leave them at Allen Bros. post home of the American Legion, 910 Texas avenue, before 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Services will be held in the auditorium of the home at 5 p. m. Services at the cemetery will follow, after which the graves will be decorated. Members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign wars and their auxiliaries are cooperating in sponsoring the observance.

Hofacket Jails 3 Burglary Suspects

LEVELLAND, May 29, (Special)—Higginbotham Lumber company of Anton was burglarized Monday night, and Sheriff Ed Hofacket got almost immediate results.

The sheriff rounded up three negro suspects, two Tuesday morning and another that afternoon. Two live in Littlefield, the third in Dallas.

Probably less than $5 was taken from the lumber company safe, which had been opened and rifled. Intruders overlooked between $400 and $500 hidden elsewhere in the company office, Sheriff Hofacket said.

Elton Settle Heads Midland Tech Club

The Midland Texas Tech club, comprised of alumni and former students of Tech, has elected Elton Settle president, according to information received here this morning.

Settle was graduated from Tech in 1939.

Calvin Holcomb was elected vice president and Claude Brown, secretary treasurer.

Toone Funeral Will Be Held Thursday

Funeral rites for O. W. Toone, 26, teacher three years in the Friona schools, will be read by Reverend Hill of Friona at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, in Rix chapel, and burial will be in a cemetery here.

Toone died Tuesday afternoon in a sanitarium at Lubbock.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Toone of Denton; four brothers, Clifford Toone of Dimmitt, Thomas Toone of Hawaii, Winford Toone of San Diego, Calif., and Billie Toone of Denton; and one sister, Miss Rachel Toone of Denton.

More than 30 billion eggs are produced in the United States annually.

Annual Reunion Will Be Held Thursday

CROSBYTON, May 29 — Old time residents of Crosby county have been invited to attend the second annual reunion at old Emma, former county seat east of here, on Thursday, Mrs. J. J. Spikes, sponsor, said.

One of the principal features will be the basket picnic at noon. There will be a visit to the old cemetery at Emma in the afternoon. Recently a committee worked on cleaning up the location.

R. L. (Big) Travis of Ralls, former county commissioner and long time resident, is to welcome the visitors and pioneers. There are expected to be a number of early day residents who will tell of their experiences before the turn of the century.

Last year the reunion was attended by several hundred persons. At that time it was planned to make it an annual affair. There is no formal organization or officers.

The government also recalled for service the special war reserves of the metropolitan police, the special war constabulary and police pensioners.

Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, said the excess profits tax of 100 per cent ordered under the government's special powers would be applied to all businesses effective from April 1, beginning of the fiscal year.

Judge Louis Reed Is To Speak At Lamesa

LAMESA, May 29—District Judge Louis B. Reed will deliver the address at a Memorial day observance here Thursday morning on the post-office lawn by the American Legion post, with decoration of all graves in cemeteries in the county to follow.

Lamesa high school band will open the program at 7:15 o'clock with the audience singing America, led by V. Z. Rogers. Rev. E. D. Landreth will give the invocation. D. O. Blackmon will direct a roll call and unveiling service after the address by Judge Reed.

Woman Is Convicted In Slaying Of Rival

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 29 (U.P.)—Mrs. May Walker Burleson, found guilty of manslaughter in the slaying of the second wife of Col. Richard Burleson, today awaited sentencing as her attorney attempted to get a new trial.

Defense Attorney Claud Sapp moved for a new trial immediately after the verdict was returned last night. Judge Duncan Bellinger announced he would hear arguments on the motion before pronouncing sentence.

The jury, after deliberating more than three hours, recommended mercy for the divorced wife of Colonel Burleson.

Legal Fate Of King Is To Be Decided

PARIS, May 29 (AP)—The legal fate of Leopold III as king of the Belgians will be decided Friday by the Belgian parliament.

The refugee parliament, in emergency session in a Paris dance hall, already has approved the action of Leopold's cabinet yesterday in "disowning" him as sovereign because of his surrender to Germany.

A dispatch from the Belgian frontier reported that Leopold had been returned to the Brussels palace by the German army.

Whereabouts Of King Being Kept Secret

BERLIN, May 29 (AP)—The whereabouts of King Leopold of the Belgians is kept a secret, authorized German sources said today, since in view of bitter attacks on him by Allied leaders it was declared conceivable the Allies might try to bomb his castle if it were known where he is staying.

Demos Have Visitor They Didn't Expect

YORK, Pa., May 29 (AP)—A woman at a meeting of the county Democratic committee called the chairman's attention to the fact her name was omitted from the roll call.

A checkup sent her hurrying from the room—red faced.

She was a member of the county Republican committee, which was meeting at the same time in another part of the building.

Use Of Grasshoppers In War Now Hinted

ROME, May 29 (U.P.)—Germany is experimenting with a new and ravenous type of grasshopper, which devours all kinds of grain, particularly wheat, barley, corn and rye, it was reported today.

These grasshoppers, it was said, could be flown to the British Isles and dropped by the millions onto farms in an effort to starve the British people.

ARRIVE AT LISBON

PARIS, May 29 (AP)—The newspaper Paris Soir reported today the Belgian royal children had arrived at Lisbon, where they are expected to remain for the rest of the war. A Lisbon dispatch said they left Cahors, France, by automobile last Sunday.

Stock Market

STOCKS WORK HIGHER

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—Stocks worked a point or so higher in a war-burdened market today and bonds and commodities followed the upward lead.

Traders moved hesitantly, avoiding heavy commitments prior to the Memorial day period and only about 650,000 shares were exchanged. Some of the longer gains were pared near the close.

Steels, motors and most other war babies received the majority of support throughout the session. Early rises based on far-eased overnight orders were maintained in varying degrees through the five hour, despite the slow trading.

Favored during most of the day were Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Allied Chemical, Dupont, American Can, American Telephone and Western Union.

Many short traders were reported covering positions and other operators were represented as optimistic over the firmness shown by prices yesterday despite the Belgian surrender.

Bond and commodity quotations showed fair gains. Especially favored were hides. Rubbers and wool tops. At Chicago, wheat closed unchanged to ½ cent a bushel higher and corn ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower. Cotton was 25 to 35 cents a bale up near the close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP) — The loss suffered by wheat prices following news of the Belgian surrender was wiped out today as the market extended its recovery movement that began in the final hour of trading yesterday.

Sharply higher prices at Winnipeg and Buenos Aires and firmness of securities strengthened confidence in wheat values. Although reacting slightly from the best levels of the session, wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ higher compared with yesterday. July 83⅛-¼, September 83⅜-½. Corn was ¼-⅜ lower, July 63⅝-¾, September 61¾, oats unchanged to ⅛ lower.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, May 29 (AP)—Fair demand for grain was reported today. Estimated receipts were: wheat 2 cars; oats 1.

Texas' Demo Convention Is Stormiest In Its History

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WACO, May 29—Veteran Democrats said the scene of incredible confusion and disorder that made chaos of the opening session of the state Democratic convention Tuesday was without parallel in the modern political history of Texas.

Speaker after speaker tried in vain to bring some semblance of order, but an hour and a half after the convention was opened the large assembly room was an incredible babel of voices.

Almost In Riot

Surging delegates, red-faced and shouting, swarmed down the aisles clamoring for recognition and policemen broke up a half dozen fist fights. "Harmony" forces eventually prevailed in a roll call that was demanded by those making a great part of the noise, but the noisemakers did gain their point in obtaining a tabulation on the temporary chairmanship, in place of a voice vote.

But this action was taken after a near riot.

Silver-haired Pat M. Neff, former governor of the state and now president of Baylor university, came close to bringing the crowd under control with a dignified appeal for parliamentary procedure. He was called upon to speak after several official and unofficial presiding officers had failed.

Neff Makes Plea

"Why not do this in the Democratic way?" Neff appealed.

"We are not organized. Let us organize. If we want to preserve democracy we ought to proceed in an orderly manner."

Earlier, George Butler of Houston, chairman of the Harris county Garner-for-president committee, was unable to achieve order. Myron Blalock of Marshall, former chairman of the state executive committee, likewise made little progress.

Speech Is Read

Mayor Tom Miller of Austin read his prepared speech despite the catcalls and howls and the parading of delegates through the aisles. He could not be heard in the eighth row, but he clenched his fists and went on.

One seemed to know what the real trouble was. There was a great deal of noise from delegates carrying Roosevelt banners.

The uproar appeared to be a jittery reflection of frayed nerves rather than advocacy of Roosevelt, Garner, or any other political issue.

War nerves, some said it was. These same war nerves have sought outlet otherwise in Texas in recent days.

Behind Schedule

It was only after Oscar Holcombe, of Houston, a Roosevelt leader, appeared on the rostrum that the situation clarified itself. It developed then that the objection was to the "aye" and "no" vote on Butler as temporary chairman. Observers at the press table—like convention officials—had decided the "aye" vote had prevailed, but a motion was made for a roll call on a motion to reconsider the recommendation of the executive committee that Butler be elected.

But it was under the chairmanship of Neff, who took a fresh grip on the situation, that some semblance of order was established.

"I am merely presiding here at the invitation of all interested parties." Neff remarked as the roll call started. "I am just an innocent bystander. Everybody is happy."

This was one hour and 40 minutes after the convention opened. It was two hours and 45 minutes after it was scheduled to open.

Borger Slaps Another Loss Upon Locals

The Lubbock Hubbers, defending champions, dropped farther into the cellar and Amarillo's Gold Sox took a firmer hold on first place in Tuesday's West Texas-New Mexico league program, all of which was staked in the southern division of the circuit.

Pampa's Oilers, now one of the hottest teams of the league, maintained a strangle hold on second place by splitting a two-game bill with the third place Lamesa Loboes, while the Midland Cowboys remained well up in the first division by clouting the Clovis Pioneers.

Final Games Tonight

All teams "stay put" for third and final games of the series tonight, meaning that the Borger Gassers remain in Lubbock, Amarillo in Big Spring, Clovis in Midland and Pampa in Lamesa.

The Gassers supported a nine-hit pitching performance of Chief Benny Franklin last night to defeat the Lubbock Hubbers, 10 to 6 and win the series here.

Ben Finocchiaro, considered the No. 1 twirler for Charlie Engle's club was touched for 16 hits by the victorious Gassers, Manager Gordon Nell leading the attack with a couple of home runs that went clear over the scoreboard in left field, each accounting for two runs, and a double. One other homer, by Mack Short, right fielder, who also hit a double, played an important part in Borger's second straight victory and Lubbock's fifth straight defeat.

Be it said for Finocchiaro that approximately half of Borger's hits were of the "fluke" variety, four of them never getting out of the infield and several doubles hitting just far enough inside the foul lines to be fair.

Vincent Castino, catcher on the all-Northern League team last year, reported for duty from Waterloo last night and impressed the customary small crowd with a fine job of receiving and batting. He lashed out three singles, and should have had another, in four official trips to the plate, being purposely walked another time. Castino replaces Johnny Richards behind the gun. Richards leaves today for Rayne, La., to join that club in the Evangeline league.

Boyd Watkins was back at his old center field post last night, and did a swell job of fielding, although failing to hit. Gene Schlereth, who started the season at third base but who suffered a serious spike wound in his hand and has been out for several weeks, returned to the lineup as outfielder last night, played remarkably afield and got a long double at bat. Ray Sparr played at second base and Manager Charlie Engle went in at short, replacing Elvin Mahan.

The Gassers got ahead with two runs in the second, three in the third, and Lubbock never caught them. Chester Hajduk hit a homer for Lubbock in the ninth, but the rally was nipped shortly thereafter.

At Lamesa, the Loboes won an afternoon game from Pampa, 15 to 8, behind the pitching of Lefty Lucas, but the Oilers reversed the proceedings in the nocturnal nightcap and won, 15 to 5. Sam Malvica, Pampa shortstop, hit "five-for-five" in the night game to lead the Pampa attack of 18 bingles which was good enough for Ben Parrish, the Oiler chunker. Elbie Miller started for Lamesa, gave up a dozen hits and 10 runs in the first five innings to be charged with the loss. He was replaced by Dornak, a newcomer to the Lobo force.

Amarillo put over three runs in the fourth inning, then added a couple of spares to defeat Big Spring, 5-2 in the closest and probably the best game of the day. Red Lynn allowed the Barons 7 hits, while the Sox combed Ramsdell for ten.

At Midland, the Cowboys defeated Clovis, 13 to 4, Bob Mitchell hurling seven-hit ball for the winners, who scored eleven times in the three middle innings.

Six Victories For 7 Starts Are Hung Up

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Without fanfare or fireworks the New York Yankees have arrived back in the first division of the American league and apparently have finally found the trail that can lead to their coveted fifth consecutive world championship.

The Yanks humbled the Washington Senators 12-4 and 3-1 in a doubleheader yesterday to attain six victories in their last seven games—in fact, nine victories in 12 games since that demoralizing eight-game losing streak.

Red Sox Tighten Hold

Today New York is only 6 1-2 games out of first place and easily can be riding the crest before the Fourth of July.

The Red Sox tightened their hold on first place at least temporarily by beating the Philadelphia Athletics 4-1 in a night game after the second place Cleveland Indians had lost to Detroit 8-5.

The Yankees' leap from sixth to fourth place was made possible by the Chicago White Sox dropping both ends of a doubleheader to the St. Louis Browns, 10-9 and 7-5. Both games were free-hitting affairs with the two teams rolling up 50 hits, including seven home runs.

Reds Drop To Pirates

The Cincinnati Reds dropped a 5-2 decision to Pittsburgh, their first loss to the Pirates this year, and slumped substantially into second place in the National league.

The Chicago Cubs were shut out by the St. Louis Cardinals 5-0 on the four hit hurling of Max Lanier.

The Brooklyn Dodgers cut down the Phillies 4-2 for their fifth consecutive victory and Freddy Fitzsimmons' fourth without defeat.

Teams In Twilight Loop Have Holiday

Teams of the Business and Professional twilight softball leagues take a holiday today, resuming play tomorrow.

In yesterday's games, Union Carpenters defeated the Public School faculty team, 10 to 9 when Bill Craig broke a 9-all tie with a home run in the last half of the final inning; Horn Bible class won, 15-14 in another game decided in the final frame, and the Federals defeated the Baptists, 15 to 7.

Tomorrow's schedule: Doctors vs. Lawyers; Christians vs. Baptists; Lions vs. A.B.C.; Junior C. C. vs. Carpenters.

Poultry & Egg To Challenge Robinson Grocery Bid Here For Top Honors In Softball

Robinson Grocery's bid for top honors in the "classification play" of the Class B softball league will be challenged by Poultry & Egg in the 8 o'clock feature of three game card at Fox Park tonight. The firing will start at 7 o'clock with Sears battling Sherrod's and will close with Home Lumber pitted against Hub Laundry.

Only a few percentage points back of the thrice beaten Dalby Truckers, Jack Thompson's Grocers have an opportunity to throw the league lead into a deadlock via a win tonight. However, Robinson will be minus the services of Fireball Ray Flusche, who left for Wichita Falls yesterday.

Definitely Big Hurdle

Also, the Poultry & Egg aggregation is definitely the big hurdle for the top-notch teams. Last night the fast-stepping P&E ten sent E. J. McKnight and his Dalby club hurtling to their second straight setback. The tilt promises to be a slugfest with such long distance hitters as Dick Green, Prince Scott, Marshall Brown and Charlie Presley opposing Whizzer White, D. H. Horton, Dud Adams, Harold Spears and Jake Geary.

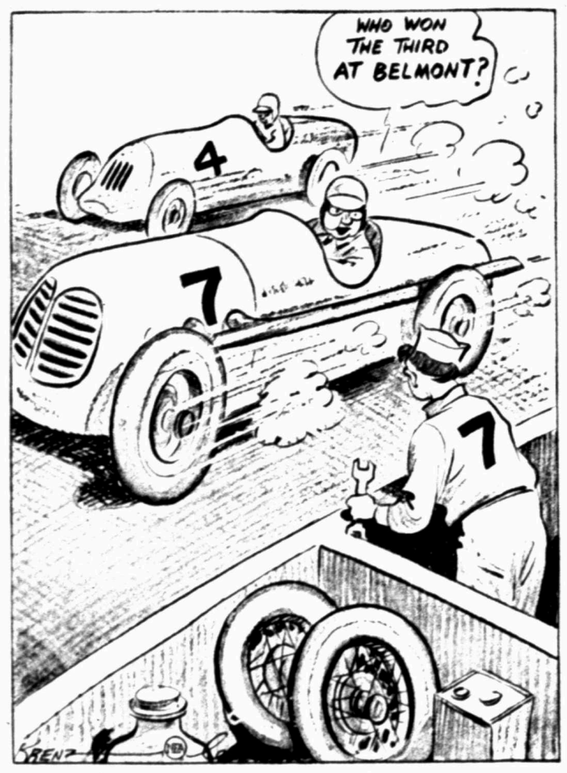

The supporting card shapes up as an outstanding one with the Class C leaders, Hub Laundry, crossing bats with the second place Home Lumber combine. Lee Branch, who has allowed but eleven safe hits in winning his last four starts, will be on the mound for Hub Laundry.

Sears will be gunning for Sherrod's sixth place slot in the slow league standings in the curtain-raiser. Bob Fielding, who let Hemphill-Wells down with one hit last night, will oppose Sherrod's Jimmy Walker.

Line scores of last night's games:

An Umpire Pays A Visit

By Collier Parris

JOE PATE, the old left-hander of the Texas league and the newest addition to the West Texas-New Mexico league umpire staff, moseyed into the office last night after serving his turn behind the gun at the Lubbock-Borger game. And old Joe is always good for a paragraph or two.

"Boy," he announced, to begin the conversation, "umpiring in this league is one helluva tough racket. I've called 'em in several leagues, all bigger than this one, from a classification standpoint, but this is the toughest. Those kids have got ants in their pants and they'll climb an umpire on the least provocation. It's a lot tougher umpiring in a league like this than in the Texas league or the big time."

We were a little bit nonplussed, if that's the word, because we'd just got through writing a story complimenting the Hubbers for finally showing a bit of fire and standing up for their rights. We couldn't keep from thinking what Pate would have said had he just finished calling a hot one for the 1939 Hubbers, with Hack Miller leading the anvil chorus against the "referees."

"Well, how come you're here?" we couldn't keep from asking.

"Because Milton Price (president of the league and boss of the umps) got in a jam and asked me to help him out," replied Pate. "Some of the umpires quit, got sick or something, and Price called me up and asked if I would come out and help. Price has given me some breaks, and I couldn't very well turn down his request.

"But I see right now I've really let myself in for something. These kids are going to be hard to get along with. We (meaning the umpires) have got to learn to appreciate them and their wild ideas and flare-ups; they're young and ambitious and they get the idea you've got a personal grudge against them every time you call a play against them."

(We were certainly glad to hear that the Hubbers are ambitious. They haven't been demonstrating much ambition lately).

"But one thing I will say for the kids and the teams in this league," continued Pate. "They turn out a more colorful, sparkling, hustling game than you ever see in the Texas league. They are not as smooth or as coordinating, and they've got a lot to learn about baseball, but they give you more for your money, so far as action is concerned, than you get in the bigger leagues. It's nearly all a matter of routine in the leagues above Class A; you nearly always know what to expect. But here, and in leagues like this where you have a bunch of youngsters trying to make the grade, you never know what to look for next."

Pate's last visit in our office was some three winters ago when he was out this way, in the hire of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, trying to organize the West Texas-New Mexico circuit. And he is certainly one of the men responsible for the organization, having helped put over the original four-club circuit.

"I still contend, just like I did three years ago, that Lubbock ought to have its own club in this league. It's the 'central' town of the league, the second largest, and possibly the best, from a hustling, growing standpoint. And it doesn't seem right that it shouldn't have its own ball club. Of course, everything was lovely last year and the year before, when the White Sox provided pennant winners, and they may do it again this year. But Lubbock would get a lot more kick out of its club if it was a 'home owned' proposition."

We think the old lefthander has something there; we're going to think it even stronger unless business picks up in the "won" column. We've no kick against the farm system, particularly; it's a good thing for the sponsoring clubs and possibly for the players, who have a chance to move up quicker.

Biggest kick in regard to the local setup is that the White Sox send players here whom they've scouted in far-away states and districts and compel the managers to keep them, to the utter exclusion of "local talent."

It's our contention that potential major league prospects bloom in Texas and the Southwest as beautifully as in the East, North or middle-West. We know for a fact that a goodly number of "home town" boys, a lot of local talent, who could play rings around many of the boys sent here, have been brushed aside with the simple explanation that "we have scouts who are paid to gather up talent, and if you weren't scouted by them, we can't use you."

Just why the highly paid and honorable scouts don't ever get over in this neck of the woods is something we haven't been able to understand. They send boys here who not only fail to come up to the standards of baseball as we know it in the Southwest, but who are themselves dissatisfied, disgruntled and careless. They, being strangers and unacclimated, don't like our weather, our sunsets, the way we talk or comb our hair, the way we mark our streets or the way we keep score. So, naturally, they're not going very far out of their way to knock down a line drive or drive in many runs.

These may seem harsh words to the Hubbers players, who really are a fine bunch of boys, individually, against whom we have nothing personal, and for whom we feel sorry and sympathetic, and in whom we still have some degree of hope.

But it is high time somebody was getting a bit harsh; we've been pouring out a lot of praise, exhortation and hopefulness for them, filling columns with their ability and potentialities. It's time they lived up to some of it and started doing something for themselves, which means winning a few games now and then.

Didn't mean to run off and leave our visitor, Umpire Joe Pate, like that. Joe and the reporter poured our hearts out to each other for a while. He gave us a copy of his new Texas League record and schedule book, compiled, edited and distributed by himself, picked up his shiny new green topper and walked away, leaving us thinking he was a pretty nice guy and it's too bad he has to be an umpire in this league, because umpiring in this league, as he says, is a tough racket, mainly because the umpires in this league are pretty blind, bull-headed, touchy and flighty, and they won't give our pitchers the corners, darn it.

A check of representative newspapers made by the University of Toledo showed that 2.2 per cent of the daily stories dealt with crime, 5.3 per cent with foreign news, 5.3 per cent with society and 8.5 with sports.

33 Enter Race Class

Final Touches Today Given To Speedway

BY HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29 — They put the finishing touches today on the track, the cars, and the men who'll drive in the world's toughest ride to nowhere — the 28th Indianapolis 500-mile speedway race.

Brick by brick, workmen scoured the red saucer on which 33 drivers roar away tomorrow in quest of a $20,000 pot of gold. They scraped every inch of its 2½ mile surface, for one bad spot — an inch or two of grit or grime often means disaster.

Motors Are Tuned

In the greasy worksheds on the inside rail of the rambling old course where men and machines have been battling more than a quarter-century, mechanics tuned the motors. Watching their every move were the drivers, for they have a personal interest in these machines — personal because a loose bolt or a faulty spring might mean death.

The drivers gathered in one of the huts on the old track and listened to the head of the speedway, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, review the rules for speedy but sane driving. After that talk — as if these veterans needed to be warned of the dangers that lurk out on the broad stretch — the drivers returned to their sheds, some to sleep with their cars like faithful trainers on Kentucky derby eve.

Unless an accident occurs, the betting is that one of those men is going to better the record of 117.200 miles an hour set by Floyd Roberts in 1938. It almost was broken last year. Floyd Roberts prevented that by cracking up. He was killed.

The field was averaging 119 miles an hour when Roberts crashed. For 30 minutes, the boys were slowed down to 90 before the track was clear and the "go ahead" signal given. By that time, it was too late to break the record.

This year, in the qualifying spins which ended yesterday, the times were up in the fast brackets, Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., led with 127.850 miles an hour for a ten-mile run. The slowest car in the race, a Maserati driven by Rene Le Begue of France, hit 118.981.

The favorite with the crowd is a homet-town boy who made good — Wilbur Shaw. Born in the shadow of the great track, Shaw won in 1937 and in 1919. Wilbur will drive the big Maserati that won for him last year.

Great Race Dri To Be On Sidelin

BY HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29 — The greatest driver of a racing car this country ever produced won't be behind a wheel when the field answers the starting bomb of the 28th annual 500-mile marathon tomorrow.

He'll be in the safety of the pits, giving signals to a youngster who has yet to realize that every whir of the wheels, every screaming cry of the tires in a turn are notes in a symphony conducted by death.

Only Three-Time Winner

The man I speak of is Louie Meyer, only three-time winner in the history of the Memorial day race. In 1928, in 1933, and again in 1936. Meyer was the first to get the checkered flag. I ran across him in gasoline alley, that row of sheds where the "hurry hearses" are readied for the drive around the bricks.

He was covered with grease, and carried an assortment of wrenches. Busy as he was with readying his car for the heavy-footed and daredevilish Rex Mays to drive, he took time to explain why he wouldn't be on the starting line.

"Remember that smash-up I had last year?" he asked.

Fortunately Thrown Out

I did, because it provided one of those heart-stopping moments when it's touch and go between a driver and Gabriel with his horn. On a far turn Meyer's car went broadside, cut through a retaining wall, and started to burn. Fortunately it threw him out — on his feet — and he was able to dodge two on-thundering cars and reach safety.

"I've been in accidents before," Meyer explained, "but that was the first one I definitely knew was caused by me, and not by any fault in the machine. Right then, I knew it was time for me to quit. When I got an offer of a good job I didn't need any persuading to take it."

Meyer's remarks brought to mind a conversation I had with Billy Arnold some years ago. Arnold a cherubic-faced little fellow with a heart of steel, won the race in 1930. In 1931 he went over the wall and barely escaped death. Undaunted, he came back the next year — and again he hurdled the wall. He quit racing right after that.

Didn't Mind First

"I didn't mind the first jump over the wall," Arnold told me, "because an axle went bad and I couldn't help it. But the second time was my fault. I made an error in judgment, and so I quit."

That's the philosophy of the Indianapolis drivers. Nothing matters so long as the blame can be placed on the machine.

I asked Meyer if he knew why, after years of flawless driving, he made his first mental slip.

"Sure I know," he said. "I'm 34, and this is a youngster's game. A game for a thin hard, tough kid who can take the awful beating holding a wheel for 500 miles at high speed. I just got tired — drew a blank. I remember just what happened. Running down the back stretch I remembered I should check my tires before hitting the dangerous turn. I looked at my right front tire. I looked at my left front.

Texas Democrats Stamp Approval On New Deal; Vote For Garner

Coronado And Gay Grandees To Ride Again In Big Show

Research for the Southwest's Coronado show was a big job. Here's Neil Waters of New York, show director, checking details of costume as a model of one of Coronado's proud warriors sits nonchalantly astride a wooden horse.

(By The Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 29—The Southwest this year celebrates the 400th anniversary of Coronado's heartbreaking search for the golden Seven Cities of Cibola.

With Uncle Sam as a $100,000 financial angel, 10,000 Southwesterners will season their 20th century work-a-day routines with the spice of 16th century make-believe in the region's greatest amateur theatrical.

Reenact Own Episodes

Each city will reenact its own episode from Coronado history. Fifteen professional actors, and a portable stage containing 22,000 pounds of structural steel, will move from one location to the other.

The butcher, the baker, the cowboys, the bankers—as well as dark-eyed senoritas directly descended from the adventurous Spanish grandees—will take part in each "home town" presentation.

A U. S. Coronado Exposition commission cooperates with the states of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas—the Coronado country—in the production. Mexico also is participating. Gate receipts are expected to return the money advanced by the government.

Records Searched

For more than a year original records of the expedition have been searched in the U. S., Mexico, Italy, and Spain. These have been copied. NYA and WPA workshops at Albuquerque have reproduced armor, uniforms, Indian blankets. Much of this material will become exhibits in the University of New Mexico's new Coronado library.

The play was written by Thomas Wood Stevens, author and head of Stanford University's drama department. It relates how the richly dressed Coronado rode forth to seek riches, but found only Indians' mud huts and misfortune; how, after two years' search for golden cities, he straggled home in rags.

The first show opens at Albuquerque today. In mid-June it goes on the road. A score of cities in New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and West Texas have 400 to 800 amateur actors ready to re-enact their parts.

Concurrently, dozens of Southwestern towns will produce rodeos, folk festivals, Indian pageants and dances.

Taos, N. M., will present the story of Kit Karson, famed Indian scout. Billy the Kid will ride again in the retelling of the Lincoln county cattle war. The saga of XIT ranch, once the largest piece of land under fence, will be a summer feature at Dalhart, Texas.

As the various states and localities have enriched their own histories of early days in preparing for the summer's festivities, the federal Coronado commission also has been doing research. It sent an expedition to back-track the Conquistador to determine exactly where he entered this country. It was determined the spot was near Naco, Ariz. A $10,000 marker will be erected there and will be dedicated in a joint U. S.-Mexico ceremonial.

Jewelry and lace worn by Senorita Concha Ortiz y Pino at the New Mexico Coronado ball is probably 300 years old. Some of the land she owns was deeded her family by the King of Spain.

Troops Leave After Night In Lubbock

Approximately 700 officers and enlisted men comprising a battalion of the 38th infantry of the regular army boarded their 110 trucks this morning to resume their journey to their home station in Fort Douglas, Salt Lake City, after having camped overnight in the Panhandle-South Plains fairground.

Encino, N. M., is to be their stop tonight.

Lieut. Col. W. R. Graham, in command, said the battalion had completed seven months training in maneuvers with the 2nd division at Fort Sam Houston in Texas and in the Sabine area of Louisiana; further that it had been a part of the great "Red" forces that skirmished and "fought" the "Blue" army in a much-publicized mock warfare.

Singing Convention Planned At Hobbs

HOBBS, N. M., May 29 (Special)—A two-day singing convention will be prepared to "take care of visiting singers Saturday night and Sunday."

Several quartets from various states are said to have planned attendance.

A leather cannon was used in Scotland in 1778.

"BEER MONEY"

In 19th century England, beer money was an additional expense in hiring servants. In addition to the regular wages, cooks and other servants had to be supplied with beer or money to buy beer.

CCC Enrollees Will Get Barbecue Friday

A barbecue for Littlefield CCC enrollees will be given Friday night by Ellis Paust, Eldridge Paust, Carl Smith and other cooperators with the camp, according to A. B. Chapman, camp superintendent.

O. T. Williams, area conservationist of the soil conservation service, and members of his staff were invited by Chapman to attend. There are 170 members of the camp and several guests are expected.

Cochran County Votes For Soil District

Proposed creation of a soil conservation district was approved by a majority of more than 10 to 1 in Cochran county Saturday, according to returns announced Tuesday by O. T. Willams, area conservationist of the soil conservation service.

Returns were not complete from Yoakum and Terry county but the boxes reported showed large majorities in favor.

All voted on a proposal to combine the three counties into a single conservation district.

Results in Cochran county were: Morton, 45 for to 9 against; Neelyward, 20 for to one against; Whiteface, 19 for and none against; Bledsoe, 23 for and none against; total 107 for and 10 against.

Previously reports had come from Yoakum county that the proposition carried 64 to 19 and Terry county, 100 to 25 in three out of five boxes.

Williams said the state board would meet Tuesday in Temple to canvass elections in 35 districts over Texas. W. G. Kennedy of Muleshoe is a member and V. C. Marshall of Temple is secretary.

At that time a proposal to hold an election in Lubbock and Hale counties and also in Crosby county will probably be heard. A meeting to discuss calling an election in Bailey county has been set for Saturday.

Keever Funeral To Be Held Here Today

Last rites for Jesse B. Keever, 88, who died about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in Sanders chapel, with Rev. Jesse B. Leverett, Silverton Baptist pastor, officiating.

Interment will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Mr. Keever died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. L. E. Bingham, in Tahoka. He was the father of C. D. Keever of 1409 Eighth street.

Mr. Keever lived in Lubbock 15 years until the death of his wife four years ago.

Other survivors are two sons, E. E. Keever of Pratt, Kas., and J. B. Keever, jr., of Hutchinson, Kas., and a daughter, Mrs. W. C. Bishop of Chillicothe.

Amateur Baseballers Will Resume Firing

Firing in the Lubbock County Amateur baseball league, from which a delegate team will represent this section in the state TAAF baseball tournament later this summer, will be resumed Thursday night at Fox Park, when Earnest Minyard, Sudan's stylish pitcher, will attempt to live up to the reputation he established a week ago by pitching a no-hit, no run game.

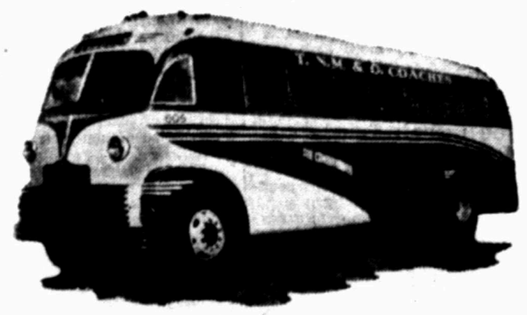

Sudan meets the Lubbock Co-Op team in the feature of a double header tomorrow night. The first game brings Ropesville, victor over the favored Dr. Peppers of Lubbock last Sunday, up against the Wholesale Grocery team of Lubbock. The program gets under way at 8:30 o'clock.

It's to be "ladies and children's night" at Fox Park, and league officials are hoping to fill the grandstand for the double header. All ladies and children under 12 will be admitted free.

Has your wife made up her mind yet about where she will spend your vacation?

BECAUSE of an unexpected death in the family of a friend, The Plainsman early the other day found himself driving down state, cutting eastward from Post over the empty highway toward Clairemont, through the wide open cow country.

It was around 6 o'clock in the morning and the sun, while well up, was scarcely visible through light clouds. It was cool and there was a hint of dampness in the air. A fresh breeze was blowing.

As we skimmed along through the pleasant, peaceful country, breathing deeply of the fresh air, drinking in the rolling, mesquite-shrubbed countryside, over the car's radio came the first several bars of "The Eyes of Texas" as a new program was announced.

Immediately, The Plainsman felt a lump in his throat.

Perhaps The Plainsman is a sentimental, old fool.

Born in a crowded city 1,500 miles away from West Texas, brought up largely in the oil country of Oklahoma, Texas, as a whole, was to him a place on the map and a chapter in the all-but-forgotten geography and history until something like 17 years ago when he came to Lubbock by accident.

But there is not a native Texan—there is not a native West Texan—who thrills to the state as a whole, and to this area in particular, any more than the writer.

To him, our wide open country is a never-ending joy.

YOU DON'T know West Texas, and you'll never know West Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Newcomer, until you get out into the cow country early in the morning.

You've got to get up before daybreak, sometime, pick a horse out of a remuda, saddle and bridle him, and swing into the saddle just as light begins to flush the east a rosy red.

You've got to ride out through the brush of the broken country under the caprock, hear the creaking of saddle leather, the snorting of the horses and the jingling of the spurs as the cowhands jog out to begin the round-up.

You've got to ride behind the herd coming in toward the branding pen, hear the "whooo-ee, whoo-eee!" of your fellow riders as they drive the cows and calves out of the shinnery.

You've got to suck in the fresh air, see the marvels of the dawn and the rise of the sun, and hear as a symphony the bawling of the cattle as they wind along the draw.

If you'll experience all these things and fail to thrill to them, Mr. and Mrs. Newcomer, you'll never like West Texas.

"It'll never mean anything to you, Mr. and Mrs. Newcomer, save a place to live while you're trying to put something by.

But if you experience them and enjoy them, you'll never forget them and your home country will really mean something to you.

You'll be a living, breathing part of it even though, like The Plainsman, you'll never make a top hand in the dust and the heat of the branding pen.

And when you ride, even in an automobile, through the West Texas ranch country early in the morning, you'll feel a tingling along your backbone like you feel when a good band plays "The Star-Spangled Banner!"

"This is MY country," you'll say to yourself.

And you'll mean it.

City born and bred, the product of a half dozen noisy newsrooms, rather than the quiet pastures of the open West, The Plainsman knows very little about the cow business.

Aside from the fact that he has observed some things and heard some talk in 17 years of living hereabouts, he knows little more of the technicalities of ranch industry than he would if he were living in a room high in New York's Astor hotel, overlooking the chaos that is Times Square.

Yet to him, who has spent much more time in roaring city traffic than on the ranges of the West, there's nothing quite as soothingly satisfactory than the ranch country of this section.

* * *

ALL of us have opinions and ideas regarding the position of the United States as the flames of war sweep over much of Europe.

Many of us "know exactly what ought to be done." We're SURE we know.

But The Plainsman wonders if we'd be as sure as we think we are if fate had cast us in a role where our opinions would count more.

If it were left up to us to help draft this nation's policies and, mayhap, to vote on the various measures, would we "know" what to do?

It is doubtful.

The Plainsman the other day got a letter from Congressman George Mahon, of this national legislative district.

While the letter had to with another matter, the congressman included a paragraph on the situation which is uppermost in the minds of us all.

Wrote he:

"The war situation has raised everybody's blood pressure. The people in Europe undoubtedly are experiencing that kind of war which General Sherman described. I believe the most critical period of our lifetime is at hand.

"The President looked very tired and weary when he delivered his defense message. Among the members of Congress there is still a firm determination to stay out of war. I have been saying for several years that the biggest question before the American people is staying out of war. Surely that is the biggest question now.

"Let us hope and pray!"

THE Plainsman has a fairly good idea of how seriously Mr. Mahon is viewing the situation; as he is viewing it not only as an American citizen, but also as a man who happens to be in the position of taking an active part in the plans and the policies and the principles of our nation as it ponders whether or not we, too, eventually will find ourselves in the world's maelstrom.

Last September, a day or two before the congressman left here to answer the special session call, The Plainsman happened to be in a group of Lubbock men in which Mr. Mahon also was present.

The war was underway. The Nazi legions were pounding at Warsaw. England and France already were in; the skies were black everywhere.

And it was a serious young man who told the rest of us that he felt, most deeply, the responsibilities which are his by virtue of the position he holds.

As he talked to us that night, George Mahon, who then was 37, appeared to age almost perceptively.

And he left for Washington heavily conscious of the seriousness of the occasion.

The Plainsman, personally, is glad that he is not in the shoes of George Mahon, or any other man who is playing an active part—large or small—in the shaping of our destinies in Washington today.

But he also is glad that the man who is representing us is accepting his responsibilities with a full measure of thought, humbly and with the seriousness of the times fully impressed upon him.

This is no time for laxity, frivolity or shallow thinking, especially in high places.

That Man on Avenue Q says a banquet is a place where they dope you with heavy food and then, before you can recover sufficiently to escape, somebody gets up and throws a speech at you!

EVEN though you may not have a veteran friend or relative lying beneath the sod in the Lubbock cemetery, you can have a part in tomorrow's Memorial Day proceedings.

The posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are going to decorate the graves of all veterans of all wars here late tomorrow, and they need and want all the flowers they can get.

If you have some flowers growing in your yard, or if you wish to purchase some flowers to help a good cause, won't you prepare them and deliver them to the American Legion hall, 910 Texas avenue, on Thursday.

There will be someone on hand there to accept your floral contributions throughout the day and up until 5 p. m.

Help this good cause if you can.

High Tide

YESTERDAY: While Jan goes to the salvage store to buy Derek blue jeans, he explores the house in his pink quilt and learns that Jan is a sea captain's daughter. The addition of Derek to the household arouses Johnny's pugnacity.

Chapter Five
'I'm All Yours'

Jan laughed off Johnny's insinuation that Derek was an escaped convict. "You'd better hurry or you'll be late for rehearsal," she said. "Want to go fishing with me this afternoon? No fog today."

"You know I can't stand the smell of bait. Why don't you take your new friend? You seem on exceptionally friendly terms with him."

"Johnny, if I didn't know better, I'd say you are jealous," she teased.

"Maybe I am." His eyes narrowed. "You've slopped around here all winter in slacks and awful sweatshirts, but today you're wearing a dress. Want him to think you're pretty, eh? I've asked you and asked you to dress up and come over to the club with me, but no . . . you couldn't be bothered. No man is going to fall for a girl who pays no attention to her looks!"

"Johnny, you've no right to talk to me this way. You don't own me, you know. I shall do exactly as I please and if ou don't like it——"

"I can move out," he finished savagely. "Well, I won't. If you think I'm going to give up my room to that goofy-looking idiot!" He pulled his green beret over his varnished black hair and banged out of the house.

"What next?" Jan demanded of suddenly capricious Fate and Fate, on the job, prompted Derek, still in his bed quilt, to peer over the balustrade and say:

"I listened. It serves you right. I hope you'll stop to think twice before you go jerking more people from the water! You asked for me and I'm all yours, Miss Merriner! You wanted to save my life and I hereby donate it, free of charge, to you."

Time Of His Life

He was still in Lance's room when she went through the hallway in the early afternoon. From the sound, however, Lance was doing all the talking. It was good for Lance to talk to a man, she thought. As much as she loved him, she knew she was not much of a companion to him, for she shuddered away from talk of flying and he cared little about art. Although she offered, he preferred to do his own reading, and, too, she divined, he dreaded burdening her any more than was necessary. He was now probably having the time of his life telling Derek of the ships he'd flown and the adventures he'd had. Despite his injury his love for ships and flying continued steadfast. With every nickel she could spare she bought aviation magazines to add to the piles he already had stacked in his room. He did impose one taboo, however—discussion or mention of his last tragic flight. He could not, would not, talk of it to anyone.

Usually, in the evening, Norma would take her sewing or knitting or school papers in process of correction and go in to sit with him. Jan knew Norma loved Lance although, if told, he would have been astounded and unbelieving. He himself apparently had no love for anyone but Jan, nor for anything but his tiny planes and his magazines. His attitude toward Norma was one of friendly tolerance.

Jan didn't quite know why fishing this afternoon suddenly palled, but it did. Instead she took Neptune, the tortoiseshell Persian cat, and went up to the rooftop, which was the one place she could be gloriously or morosely alone.

It was a gusty March afternoon, salty and tangy. Wind herded helpless puffy white clouds across an aquamarine sky. The water seethed through the pilings of the pier and broke in white spunning thunder. A few people sprawled on the beach in sun suits, rising every now and then to bundle on a coat or robe.

'Man Of Mine'

Neptune sprang to the edge of the wooden rail which formed a three-foot parapet enclosing the roof and crouched down, his long fur ruffling in the breeze.

"I wonder if Derek likes cats?" Jan mused. "I couldn't like a man who didn't. I wonder if I could paint something halfway good today? I feel so glorious—as if I were enchanted!"

Lifting a canvas from the locker, she put up her easel and adjusted the canvas on it. A few minutes later, engrossed in painting sky and clouds on cloth, she forgot the tugging worries of today and yesterday and the problems of tomorrow. Hours of delightful oblivion to people and things passed on with the gradual diminishing of light.

The cat, rubbing against her ankles, startled her. He stood up on his hind legs and put his paws on her knee.

Laying down her brush and palette she scooped him up into her arms and held his big, furry head against the curve of her neck. "You're the loveliest, beautifulest, grandest cat ever," she flattered him in her "special for cats only" voice. "And, Neppy, there's a surprise for you in the icebox. That big hungry man of mine left you some nice meaty bones!"

"Why, Jan!" she said, shocked at her own reckless speech, "Shame to call him 'man of mine.' Why, he wouldn't fall in love with you—at least I don't think he would."

Lance, hearing her come down the ladder, called out to her. She found him alone. He wore a rueful grin on his face. "I almost talked myself hoarse," he admitted when she closed the door into the hallway. "And it just now dawned on me that I found out nothing about your salvaged treasure. Lord, he's a good listener!"

Jan, her cheeks burning, busied herself straightening the room, until she felt prepared to meet Lance's eyes.

"Do you like him, Lance?"

"He seems a nice enough chap. Knows a bit about planes, too. I wonder what he's hiding, Jan? He's too close-mouthed, I'd say."

"We really haven't any right to pry," she objected.

"I suppose not. What is he planning to do?"

She plunged, frightened a little of what Lance might say. "He's going to stay on here. Lance. Something is terribly wrong with him, dear."

"I surmised that. He told me frankly enough that you pulled him out against his wish."

Jan paled. "I didn't want him to tell you. I asked him not to."

SCHOOL EXPANSION POSSIBILITIES

The fact that several of those connected with the school system report the reaction they have observed overwhelmingly favorable to a tentative building expansion program revealed a few days ago is encouraging, but not at all surprising.

As may be recalled, the very tentative program includes a new junior high school south of Nineteenth street, a new elementary building in the northwest part of the city and the enlargement of several existing structures, including Senior High school. Officials emphasized that the plans are most tentative, although they pointed out that expansion will become necessary if growth continues at any approximation of that of recent years.

The reaction reported is evidence that Lubbock residents are aware that, even with recent building, expansion of facilities has not kept pace with increase in enrollment. It was evidence also that they do not want Lubbock schools to become overcrowded.

It is to be hoped that school officials will take their attitude into full consideration and, if it appears expansion is needed, they won't wait too long in doing something about it. The start should not be delayed until school crowding has become acute because nearly a year would be required for the provision of additional space after the start is made.

THINGS I Never Knew 'Til Now About Books (But which Clifton Fadiman probably knew all along). The Bible is still the world's best-seller even in Germany. (It outsold "Mein Kampf" by 200,000 copies in Germany last year) . . . The title of a book can't be copyrighted . . . Emil Ludwig, the biographer, has a private library in his home which consists just of books he's written himself. (It contains over 230 editions in 28 languages) . . . "Miseries of Human Life" was written by James Beresford who enjoyed a life of ease and comfort. "Comforts of Human Life" was written by Robert Heron in a miserable debtors' prison in England . . . Thomas Wolfe was such a stickler for realism that when he had to write about pigs in "Look Homeward Angel," he got into a pig-sty and waddled around in it for several hours to get the proper atmosphere . . . Prof. Albert Einstein is one man who isn't interested in reading about himself. On his sixtieth birthday, he received a first copy of H. Gordon Garbedian's biography, "Albert Einstein." In acknowledging the gift, Einstein wrote: "Thank you very much. It was very nice. I doubt if I'll ever have time to read it."

The best-seller since "G. W. T. W." is "All This, and Heaven Too," which has had 50 reprintings since it was published in 1938. (Both books were published by the same company, the lucky stiffs!) . . . Darryl Zanuck, the filmogul, once wrote a book called "Habit," which plugged a hair tonic. (He got a hair tonic manufacturer to publish the book by promising to boost his product in it.) . . . George Jean Nathan's "The World in Palseface" contains this gem: "There are two kinds of dramatic critics: destructive and constructive. I am destructive. There are two kinds of guns. Krupp and pop."

EMILY POST'S books of etiquette have grossed more than $1,500,000 in the past 16 years. (It certainly pays to know which is the right fork to use.) . . . The book, "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," was a flop in England when it first came out. (It didn't click until Woollcott started to plug it and made it an American best-seller.) . . . "The Frantic Young Man," which was published in 1929, was dedicated by the author to his mother. The dedication read: "To My Mother. Upon learning that my first novel had been rejected by a distinguished publisher, she asked 'What can be wrong with the man?'" . . . A mile of type is used to print the average book.

Errol Flynn's book, "Beam Ends," is banned from Germany by the Nazis because it contains "too much levity." . . . When T. E. Lawrence finished his "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," a 400,000-word volume, he absent-mindedly left the manuscript at a railway station and had to write the book all over again . . . Sounds like her. When Dorothy Thompson reads a book, she scribbles notes on the margins. Some time ago, she entertained Andre Siegfried, the French author, at her home. Seeing one of his books on a shelf, Siegfried picked it up and opened it. The first thing to greet his eye was Miss Thompson's marginal comment—"Nonsense!" . . .

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON'S original title of "Treasure Island" was "The Sea-Cook." (And the story wasn't his own, but a compilation of the yarns his stepfather told him when he was a kid.)

The firm in Germany which was to publish Rachel Lyman Field's "All This, and Heaven Too" asked her if they couldn't drop the "Rachel" from her name for the German edition as it sounded non-Aryan. Miss Field sent back a sizzling cable telling them to go to the opposite of the place named in her title! . . . When the Bible is printed in Braille (for the blind) it takes up 74 volumes. (It costs $135 to print one Bible in Braille.) . . . Webster's dictionary was once banned from the State of Arkansas, a fundamentalist stronghold, because it contained a definition of "evolution!"

Despite the gags about it, Joe Miller's joke book isn't the oldest in existence. (The oldest is a collection known as "Scoggin's Jests," which is older than Joe's by more than a century) . . . An average of 80,000 Bibles are sold every day . . .

* * *

The title of John Masefield's book, "Odtaa," is just an abbreviation of the phrase, "one damn thing after another" . . . When Edward Everett Hale wrote "The Man Without a Country" he could have been sued for plagiarism by an Egyptian mummy—because in the 40th century B. C. an Egyptian wrote a story called "The Man Without a Country" which was about a man who became disgusted with his country and exiled himself, expressing the wish never to hear of it again. (In the end, the guy returned to Egypt and exclaimed, "This is my own, my native land!") . . . Margaret Kennedy's dedication in "The Fool of the Family" reads: "To My Husband."

Anti-Trust Officials Uncover Amazing "Fifth Column" Situ

German Interests "Bottleneck" U. S. Defe

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 29—An amazing situation in respect to the nation's vast rearmament program is indicated by evidence in possession of the anti-trust division of the department of justice.

This evidence not only reveals potential bottle-necks in the production of some of the most essential war materials, it suggests strongly that a number of these bottlenecks are under the control of German interests.

Catton

As long ago as last January a memorandum was drawn up by anti-trust division investigators. After asserting that "it is too much to say that the situation is dangerous," the memorandum went on to assert:

"We have reason to believe that a number of foreign interests, and in particular German interests, have entered into restrictive agreements with American producers, with the effect, if not with the deliberate purpose, of throttling American capacity to produce certain essential war materials."

CORNER VITAL PATENTS

Here are some of the situations which exist:

1—Production of much of the optical equipment used by the army and navy is governed by a patent-pooling arrangement which gives a large degree of control to a German firm.

2—Production of beryllium, a metal of great importance in the making of airplane parts is hampered through German control of American patents.

3 — Some hundreds of patents dealing with military equipment in the United States are held by the German firm of Krupp.

4 — Chromium plating (important in the production of airplane engines, artillery and small arms) is a patented process. German firms have agreements with various American companies which oblige the latter to give them detailed information about the plating method used in production of weapons for the U. S. Army.

5 — Production of much of America's molybdenum (vital in the making of steel alloys in the armament industry) is carried on by firms belonging to an international cartel which maintains a high U. S. price level.

6 — Magnesium is important in production of alloys for airplane parts. Certain [illegible] sium alloy patents [illegible] trol of German [illegible] prices fixed at a high [illegible]

Great Drama Of History Is Enacted In Flande

Destruction Of Trapped Army Would Not Bring War's End

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Your interest and mine must center today in the fate of the perhaps half million Allied soldiers trapped in Flanders and fighting for their lives against encircling Hitlerian forces which are pressing frantically for the kill.

It isn't that the destruction of this great army would end the war—for it wouldn't—but ordinary reports from the theater of war grow dim in the presence of one of the great human dramas of all military history.

No Longer A Battle

We no longer are witnessing a battle. The conflict on the muddy plains of Flanders has been transformed into a seething, flaming, detonating, swirling mass—a great whirlpool which before it has spun its horrid course may have sucked down a million Allied and German youth.

The latest word from the French high command is that the troops in the north are resisting with "admirable courage." From the fiercely attacking Nazis comes the cry "surrender or die." Now we must wait for the climax.

There are three points for us to watch today, and all are a part of this effort of the trapped Allies to escape, and in so doing cause as little harm to the Allied plans as possible. Those points are:

Three Points To Watch

1. The whirlpool, of course, above all.

2. The German drive to capture the port of Dunkerque and the adjacent coast, thereby closing the mouth of the trap and cutting off the Allied escape by water.

3. The main French line which runs from Abbeville on the coast, eastward along the Somme clear to the Maginot defenses.

Generalissimo Weygand is reported to have massed something like half a million men for a great offensive to try to close the gap between the near center of this line and the troops in the trap to the north, thereby providing an avenue of escape. Paris this morning indicated guardedly that this drive had started.

Here one might pause to point out the havoc wrought to the Allied flank on the coast by the surrender of King Leopold. It would seem to me, however, that enough has been said already.

It won't lessen the damage to keep referring to it. And so far as concerns the king it is better to withhold judgment on his act. A man must be guided by his own conscience, and we can assume that Leopold consulted his before reaching a decision which must have cost him great anguish.

The position of the troops in the trap isn't very complicated to understand. They are surrounded on all sides except for an opening at the top which has existed up to this morning to the coast and the port of Dunkerque.

The Germans are racing to take over this avenue of escape left uncovered by the Belgian surrender.

The encircled army may be described roughly as being forced to adopt the tactics of our old frontier Indian-fighters. They have more or less formed a hollow circle, and are fighting grimly to keep their line intact while an effort is made to withdraw not only the men but the very valuable war material towards the coast.

This whole area musl be a blazing hell, for apart from the terrible ground fighting, both airforces are pouring bombs into the milling mass below.

Even if these hundreds of thousands of Allied men can fight their way to the coast the slaughter will be terrific, and the chances of getting away by sea won't be bright. It would take a big fleet of ships to transport this force to England, and it requires little imagination to foresee the terrible battle which would ensue over and on the channel. The waters would be filled with drowning men.

Probably the best chance the trapped army would have for escape would be in a big attack by the French from the south, to try to reach the bottom of the trap and open it up. That is a mountainous task, however, and its success certainly would be problematical.

Still, irrespective of effecting an actual rescue in this manner, an offensive by the French likely would ease the pressure on the sides of the trap. That might assist the effort to escape through the mouth of the trap.

On the whole one cannot help taking a gloomy view of the position o fthe men in the trap. Nothing short of a miracle can save them

TEXAS TECH'S FLIERS—The thirty young men shown above comprise Texas Technological college's first Civil Aeronautics Authority aviation class and thirteen of the group are scheduled to take their final flight examinations this afternoon, Thursday and Friday, before Albert Meyers of Amarillo, CAA inspector. Sentences Imposed In 72nd Court Here Sentences were imposed by Judge Daniel A. Blair in 72nd district court here Tuesday on two persons who had pleaded guilty.

Charlie Mae Roberts, negro woman, pleaded guilty to forgery and was given suspension of a three-year sentence.

A 35-day jail term, $50 fine and court costs were assessed against Buster Bibb for drunk driving. Both defendants were indicted last week.

On an average, in normal times, five destitute children are admitted to Dr. Barnardo's Homes in London daily.
