PAMPA
TOPICS OF OUR CITY
By O.E.H.

Today: Pampa answers the call of the needy by responding to the Welfare Board campaign to obtain funds. There must be a city-wide response to get the drive across. The 1 per cent of salary basis is fair and equitable for salaried people. It is intended to last about 6 months, or until the need has passed. Business houses by adopting this plan for employes can supervise monthly payments.

* * *

BUT SUBSTANTIAL CONTRIBUTIONS FROM THOSE WITH LARGE INCOMES MUST BE FORTHCOMING TO ASSURE SUCCESS OF THE DRIVE.

* * *

We quote the following from the Dallas NEWS, entitled "Addressed to 100 Men:"

"One hundred men in Dallas are directly responsible for the failure of the Community Chest to attain success within the period allotted for the campaign. The names of these one hundred men are known and their ability to contribute has been pretty accurately estimated. Every one of the hundred is a wealthy citizen benefiting from all the advantages of living in this town.

"Out of this hundred men, ten have given not one red cent to the Community Chest. Another twenty-five have given $100 apiece when they could have given and should have given at least $500 apiece. Another forty averaged about $500 each, when $1,500 was the fair, proportionate share for each of them. The remaining twenty-five gave out of their abundance $1,000 each, whereas any one of the twenty-five could have given $3,000 to $5,000 without feeling it. . . .

Houston, which exceeded its goal with its Community Chest, has four men who gave $10,000 apiece and another eight who gave $5,000. Dallas has ben as rich as this dozen las has men as rich as this dozen as generous. When there is destitution in the hovel and stinginess in the mansion something is wrong as wrong can be and the evil of it cries aloud in heaven's ear. Do you belong to the hundred men who do not care?"

* * *

With concentration of wealth in the hands of the few the underlying cause of this depression, anything which puts funds into circulation is helpful. The sympathetic people of small means should give, promptly and generously. Then they are right in looking to men of large income to do their proportionate part.

* * *

Don't Be Alarmed

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, "Dulcy" will be presented by the Little theater players. Contrary to reports, the Pampan does not believe that there will be any ripe tomatoes thrown. Nor does he believe that Newt Dilley, neighbor of leading man Dick Hughes, will pick any razz berries during the performance. Still, these home talent performances sometimes produce startling results, so Joe had better call out the junior traffic cops just to be certain. . . . Seriously, though, "Dulcy" is heralded as a drama well above amateur classification. It should have a full house.

TWINKLES

Russia has her 5-year plan, but many Americans are worrying over plans to get them through this winter.

* * *

Contract is a good word in law, bridge, and matrimony. The super-sophisticated are beating Reno by setting a time limit on their ventures. They need lawyers only at the beginning—unless they breach the contract before it expires.

* * *

We, as a headline writer, add our request that Dr. Sze and Mr. Koo reconsider their resignations.

* * *

We would quit writing cures for the depression if it would help, but the printers need work an ! the paper mills need the business.

It's all right to be nutty about those delicious Texas paper shell pecans.

MURDER TRIAL DUE

LOCKHART, Dec. 7. (AP)—The case of Adam Briscoe of Luling, charged with the murder of D. B. Kennard, Luling oil field worker, last year, was first on the docket facing a special session of the 22nd district court which convened here today.

RABBIT LEADS TO FINDING OF HIDING PLACE

WATCHES AND TOOLS PLACED NEAR CULVERT

TAKEN TO LON BLANSCET

IMPORTANT CLUES IN BURGLARIES ARE TRACED

Valuable clues which might lead to the identity of the burglars who looted three White Deer business houses Saturday night of cash, currency, and merchandise in the amount of $450 were discovered yesterday under a culvert on the Clarendon road by a man who was watching a dog chase a rabbit.

The man, W. O. Dyer, saw the rabbit go under a culvert three miles south of town. He went to investigate and in lifting up a large weed discovered three watches and garage tools which Sheriff Lon L. Blanscet later learned were taken from the Triangle Motor company. Mr. Dyer and Frank Meers, who lived near the place, brought the merchandise to Sheriff Blanscet yesterday afternoon.

Bob McCoy, owner of the motor company, this morning identified the watches as those taken from the establishment. One of the watches was one he had been carrying for 10 years. Arrests are expected to be made if fingerprints can be photographed at the White Deer establishment.

Pampa Band Is Busy at Borger Legion Meeting

The Pampa American Legion was the "official band" at the 18th district Legion convention in Borger Saturday and Sunday. Besides leading two parades, the Pampa band gave four concerts and provided music at the big dinner yesterday noon.

"Pete Bradford and his Pampa band were the talk of the convention," Dr. R. A. Webb, 18th district committeeman, said this morning. "They were al lover Borger and filled in during several embarrassing delays," he said.

"Pampans should be proud of their band," W. C. DeCordova told the Pampa NEWS this morning. "It costs money to transport a band but the Pampa boys never turn down a call when it is possible to make the trip."

Gordon Burch, the drum major who lead the Santa Day parade here, was in front of the Pampa band at both parades.

The convention was declared by Pampa Legionnaires as a huge success. Quanah was chosen as the next convention city.

Labor Agitators Pushed Off Steps Of U. S. Capitol

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Fifteen hundred demonstrators marched back and forth on Pennsylvania avenue today and found both the White house and capitol doors barred against them.

Singing the "Internationale" and chanting slogans calling for unemployed insurance, they paraded under a police escort and found other armed bluecoats waiting for them at either end of the avenue.

At the capitol, their representatives were twice repulsed in efforts to gain the senate floor to demand unemployment insurance. Sergeant-at-Arms Barry nformed Herbert Benjamin, their leader, that today was not the day for receiving petitions and that theirs would have to be presented through a member.

They were pushed off the capitol steps when they persisted in their demand and sought to walk inside.

REID PRESIDES OVER MEETING

Designations of Highway by State Is Asked at Dalhart Session.

Officials of the Oilfield Highway association are in session in Dalhart today. The meeting is being presided over by F. P. Reid of Pampa, president of the organization. George W. Briggs and C. H. Walker, accompanied Mr. Reid. Both are on the board of directors.

Election of officers for the next year and selection of the next meeting place will be included in the business of the day. President Reid also will present a plan for district meetings during the year.

Members of the Texas highway commission have been invited and will be asked to endorse the move to have the road through Texas designated as a state highway. The road connects Oklahoma City and Denver. Practically all of the road between Oklahoma City and Sayre has received state recognition.

Canadian Check To County Sliced

Tax Collector Tom W. Barnes received a check for $30.01 for taxes last week. It was an ordinary looking check and M Barnes endorsed it and sent it to the bank. This morning he received notice from the Exchange bank in Chicago that $4 had been discounted from the check.

It was then that Mr. Barnes remembered that the check was drawn on a Canadian bank and that Canadian money is worth much less than American money.

COMMUNISTS ENJOINED

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 7. (AP)—A federal injunction has been issued against 140 alleged communists prohibiting them from interfering with peaceful conduct of the cigar industry here.

WELFARE DRIVE HERE STARTS

FINE RESPONSE BY SOLICITORS IS HEARTENING

BUSINESS HOUSES ARE FIRST ASKED TO DONATE

SCHNEIDER IN SPEECH

DETAILS OF WORK IN LAST YEAR ARE EXPLAINED

Forty citizens reported at the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall this morning ready to solicit funds for maintaining welfare work in the city this winter.

Officials of the Welfare Board were highly pleased with the apparent willingness of Pampans to work for the success of the campaign. Less than six of the solicitors named by various civic organizations to participate in the drive failed to report this morning.

Each of the workers was given names of 10 Pampans whom he will visit during the first part of this week. Business establishments will be visited first.

The actual drive was started after Mrs. W. H. Davis, manager of the Welfare Board, read a written report of the work done by the Board during the last year.

Alex Schneider, chairman of the Board, authorized the announcement that the manager of the board for next year had not been selected, and that next year's salary had not been set.

Mr. Schneider and J. M. Dodson, also a member of the board, said that Mrs. Davis' salary during last year was $150 per month, and that she paid all of her expenses out of this amount. It was said that her car expense alone was approximately $30 per month. During the last 11 months, Mrs. Davis made 4,789 visits and interviews. Most of these were to the outskirts of the city and it was necessary to drive a car to reach them.

Postmaster David E. Cecil told the assembled workers that some complaint about the Board's activities had been received, but that in his opinion about 95 per cent of the complains were not justified by the facts.

Civic Chorus Now In Final Practices

Members of the Pampa civic chorus are urgently requested by Director E. J. Thomas to attend practice this evening.

With only two more practices before the public performance Dec. 17, full attendances are imperative. Members are asked to take their copies of "The Messiah," which was sung last year. The "Hallelujah Chorus" from that work will be practiced.

SHE GETS 84 PROPOSALS

Mary Clowes, 21, of New Eagle, Pa., who offered to marry anyone who would give $10,000 to support of her aged parents, is shown here scanning some of the 84 proposals she has received since her offer was published.

MANY NOMINATIONS BUT FEW ENTRIES IN DAILY NEWS' BIG CAMPAIGN--PRIZES VALUABLE

CHRISTMAS MONEY IS WITHIN REACH OF ALL

It is surprising to the maangement that so few have actually entered The NEWS' big circulation contest, with so many people crying so-called "hard times," so many people wanting jobs and needing extra money.

It would seem that there would be at least two or three hundred entries, instead of just a mere handfull. Are you one of the many that are figuring on entering this campaign? Are you one of the many that self pride or the fear of hard work is holding back in your decision to share in these wonderful prizes? If you are, brush aside such and make up your mind that the Buick sedan displayed at Tom Rose Buick company, located at 121 N. Ballard street, or the latest model Chevrolet, one of those beautiful new "babies" on display at the Culberson-Smalling Chevrolet company, 212 N. Ballard street, or that wonderful trip to Los Angeles, Calif., with visits to the moving picture studios, Catalina Island and many, many other interesting features in store for that winner, and a pay check every Saturday night can be yours for only a few hours' work daily.

There is just as great opportunity for the house-wife and the working lady in this campaign as for the idle lady. You can enter this campaign, even though you work down town or at home, and share these rich awards and pay checks, for after all, it is the busy, busy man or woman who does things. The idle who dream, wishing their way through

COLLISION IS FATAL

LUFKIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—An automobile collision last night resulted in the fatal injury of W. C. Henderson, 47. His skull was fractured. The car in which he was riding met another vehicle on a curve. Other occupants of the cars escaped injury.

Health in Pampa Exceedingly Good

Pampa is one of the healthiest cities in Texas, Dr. T. J Worrel said this morning as he looked over his quarantine book.

Dr. Worrel is assistant health officer and sanitary inspector. The last time he had occasion to quarantine a home was early in October. Since that time there has not been a contagious case reported to him.

Pampa's milk is tested regularly and the water from the city wells also undergoes rigid tests to see that it is pure. Dr. Worrel makes regular inspections of cafes, stores, meat markets, slaughter houses and dairies to see that everything is kept up to the state standard.

Dr. Worrel made more than 100 inspections last month.

Board Will Meet Tuesday Evening

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Pampa Board of City Development will be held in the board room in the city hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

President Roy McMillen will preside. Several committee chairmen are scheduled to make reports. The meeting was postponed from tonight owing to the absence of several members of the board.

RAIN AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Forty-eight hours of almost continuous, steady rain totaled .85 of an inch by the United States weather bureau gauge here today. The minimum temperature was 46 degrees. The thermometer reading showing little variance from that figure during the past 12 hours.

TRAINS LATE AFTER WRECK

No. 9 Hits Mail Car at Gage, Okla., Sunday — Line Is Blocked.

Santa Fe passenger No. 25, scheduled in Pampa at 6:07 this morning, arrived here at 10 o'clock to be the first train from the east over the main line since the derailment of No. 9 at Gage, Okla., yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock. The train struck a car driven by Frank Matthews, veteran mail carrier, who was killed instantly.

The impact demolished the car, parts of which struck the switch stand to throw the points partly open. The long passenger train thundered into the open switch and the engine and two mail coaches were derailed. No passengers were injured.

Part of the wrecked train was taken to Clinton, Okla., where a Santa Fe engine from Pampa brought it here over the C. and O. W. Other trains in both directions were routed over the C. & O. W. today.

L. W. Klein, local Santa Fe agent, said it was the first time he had ever heard of a train being wrecked in such a manner. He remembered that several years ago an entire New York Central train was derailed when it struck a car, but the engine ran over the car and was derailed, throwing the passenger cars over behind it.

J. B. Briscoe, superintendent, and F. L. Meyers, assistant general manager, passed through here yesterday afternoon in their special car, which was attached to the 3 o'clock passenger, eastbound.

Gaylor Is Hurt In Car Accident

A "speed maniac" caused a car driven by O. K. Gaylor to be demolished late Saturday night at the end of the Amarillo highway where it turns at Hobart street. Mr. Gaylor suffered cuts and bruises. He was returning from Borger, where he took several members of the Pampa Legion band earlier in the night.

Mr. Gaylor had just reached the corner when a Ford car appeared over the railway tracks traveling at a high rate of speed. The driver decided to turn onto the pavement and was going at such a rate that he had to swing wide. Mr. Gaylor, seeing that his car would be hit if he put on his brakes, speeded up his motor and tried to swing around the speeding Ford. He was unable to get clear and crashed into the barricade.

The driver of the speeding car did not stop but continued on his way toward Amarillo. Mr. Gaylor was unable to get the license number.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Unsettled, probably rain tonight and Tuesday; slightly warmer in west and north portions tonight and in east portion Tuesday.

Oklahoma: Increasing cloudiness, propably followed by rain tonight and Tuesday; slightly warmer tonight.

TEXAN LEADS SNELL BY 11 VOTES TODAY

DEFEATED CANDIDATE GIVES WORDS OF PRAISE

PROGRAM IS DELAYED

TILSON DROPS OUT OF RACE TO HEAD HIS PARTY

BY CECIL B. DICKSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Cheering democrats, returned to legislative power after more than a decade of defeats, took control of the new house today and elected John N. Garner speaker.

Showing an impressive solidarity, the party organization gave the Texan 218 votes to 207 by the republicans for Snell of New York. Representative Schneider, Wisconsin, received 5—four from republican independent colleagues and one from Kvaye of Minnesota, lone farmer-labor member.

John Garner

Garner and Snell voted present.

Before Garner went to the speaker's table to take the oath, Representative Snell turned to him with words of praise.

"The gentleman from Texas, by native ability, by outstanding personality, by long service, and a complete understanding of the duties and responsibilities of speaker," he said, "is exceptionally well qualified to fill that position and I predict he will make one of the great speakers of the present generation."

As the New Yorker handed over the gavel, the members arose and hailed the new speaker.

Expressing appreciation, Mr. Garner said a legislative program would be presented later.

Representative Pou of North Carolina, dean of the democrats, then administered the oath of office.

The speaker in turn administered the oath of office to the entire membership at once.

He recalled that his friend, the late Speaker Longworth, instituted that method in the last congress.

The democratic slate of house officers was elected on a viva voce vote.

They are:

South Trimble of Kentucky, clerk; Joseph Sinnott of Virginia, doorkeeper; Kenneth Romney of Montana, sergeant-at-arms, and Finis E. Scott of Tennessee, postmaster of the house.

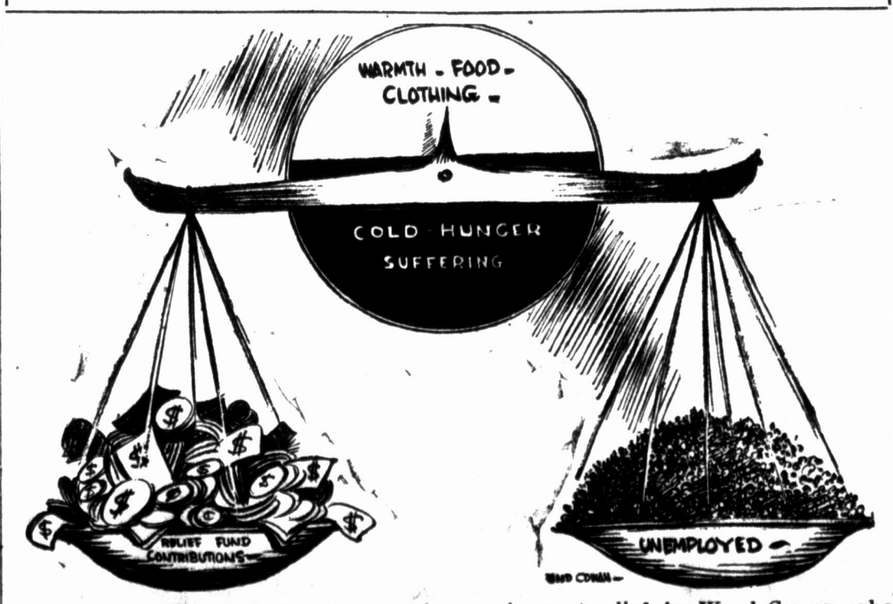

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The republican house leadership controversy was ended today when Representative Tilson of Connecticut conceded the place to Representative Snell of New York, the party's speakership nominee.

FAVORS ROOSEVELT

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 7. (AP)—Mayor James L. Key of Atlanta says Georgia will favor Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the democratic presidential nomination in 1932.

The two spent some time together yesterday at the governor's vacation cottage here. Both said it was just a social meeting.

TIME TO BUY IN PAMPA

By OLIN E. HINKLE

This is the season of buying. Savings are being turned loose in exchange for gifts, necessities, and investments.

Pampa citizens probably will not find such bargains again for many years. Now is certainly the time to buy. And it is the TIME TO BUY IN PAMPA.

Merchants depend much upon Christmas business for that margin between annual profit and loss. They rightly look to local people to spend their savings in the city of their residence. Much of those profits will be promptly returned to public uses this year. There is the railroad right-of-way to buy, the welfare work to support, and taxes to pay.

Merchants this year are not attempting to get rich. They have cut prices to the bone. But they still are expected to support Pampa institutions and to pay their taxes. And they rightly expect the patronage of the citizens who benefit from their generosity.

This year every commnuity is expected to look after its own problems. Likewise should community buyers confine their purchases to the home stores. Think it through.

Chapter 26

AN AFTERNOON OF SURPRISES

"OH, Guy, nothing more to do with René!"

"No. Purely in connection with my humble self."

"Oh. Well, I hope it's not too uncomfortable."

"So do I."

"Whatever can you mean! Stop for me at half-past seven, Guy?"

"Right."

Venice put down the receiver and glanced at her watch. Just time to get over to the Bankers Trust for mail before they closed. She hurried out to the back entrance in the Rue St. Honoré. Two letters from Nolly and one from Lola written on the Laconia. Nolly's letters were postmarked a week apart. The operation must be over now. Venice eagerly opened the earlier one, reading as she walked back towards the Rue Mont-Thabor.

"August 11th

"DARLING VENICE,

"The operation was a failure. At first I thought my heart would break. But the relief in being alive to tell the tale comforts me. And why should I grieve at being back where I was before? I had let my mind run riot at times though and had seen myself dancing at parties and in swimming in the summer and having lots of men attentive to me. But there, I might have missed the nice quietness Pongo gives me and perhaps he, the old dear, would have tripped me up at every turn for having him changed. Of course that's all pure bosh, Venice. I'm bitterly disappointed.

"Lola wrote some one at home who told mother about your Marquis and the American who is always at your heels. I do think it's wonderful, but I knew titles would adore you.

"Ernest is still sweet to me; but, of course, he has to come and see me every few days anyway—I'm still in bed—so I guess he's just a nice kind doctor and not a beau after all. Probably when I'm up and about again he'll drop away completely. I could be unhappy, but I won't. After all, I've enjoyed several months of him, and a young man, even for several months, was beyond my farthest dreams.

"Do write me all about yourself—everything. Aren't you coming home soon?

"Your loving,

NOLLY."

Venice stumbled at a curb and sighed. Poor Nolly, always to lead a dull, sequestered life. Back in her room at the Louis-Le-Grand she opened the second letter. Nolly was engaged to Ernest Price!

How simply marvellous. I must cable her. Venice rushed out again, her mind singing with the happiness of Nolly.

The cable dispatched, Venice stood uncertainly in the Rue Cammon. She was too happy to go back to her room at the Louis-Le-Grand and sit by herself alone with her excitement.

"By Jove, Venice Muir. How are you?"

It was Lita Chase very chic in tomato-colored tweeds that accentuated the canary hair peeping from her tweed béret.

"Hello," cried Venice. "Come to the Ritz Bar with me for a little cocktail."

"Won't I just!" She linked her arm in Venice's and together they found a table jammed in one corner.

"What a sensation you've caused," said Lita as soon as their cocktails were ordered. "Imagine René killing himself on account of you."

"He didn't. He was frightfully hard up, and his debts were growing unbearable."

"That's what you say. Bask in the light of this scandal, Venice, and relish it. Jove, it's more potent than all my divorces."

"But your divorces are real. My scandal's misconstrued."

"I don't believe you," said Lita.

It's funny, thought Venice. People who live sensationally themselves must believe sensational things about others.

"Are you fond of Guy Bryson?"

"Why?" Venice asked, amused.

"Because if you're not I want him."

"That's perfectly all right," said Venice. Lita talked of men as ... were new hats or cars ... sporting. Is he divorced ... now, or just separated?" ... sat quite still. Had she ... right? Was he divorced or ... rated? He had a wife then. Or didn't Lita know what she was talking about?

"Oh, you do care then?" Lita misunderstood her silence.

"No, I don't," Venice managed. "I was just wondering about his wife. I never knew her. Don't they get along?" She felt as if some one else's voice was speaking out of her own mouth. Guy, the frank, the easy. He had been married all this time and never even mentioned it. This hurt, for she had enjoyed his friendship, and friendship is worthless without honesty.

"No. I don't know her either. She's an American, I believe. But I fancied Mrs. Coates was horribly upset at your going about so much with a married man. A nice girl like you, Venice." This last was added with a little laugh. It was as though Lita had suggested that they were members of the same club and no one suspected.

That was it, then. Mrs. Coates' kindly warning. That explained the "all things considered" of Mrs. Coates at René's party.

"I suppose I shouldn't," Venice murmured sombrely. She was deflated. It was the old, shy Venice drinking a cocktail in the Ritz Bar with a woman that made her gauche and uncomfortable.

"Don't be intricate," begged Lita. Venice glanced at her watch.

"I've got to hurry," she said in that flat, uninteresting manner of hers when gayer words evaded her.

Venice walked quickly back to the Louis-Le-Grand. She felt very hurt with Guy and a bit angry. This was an element of cheating in their companioship which disgusted her.

Lola's letter lay unopened on her bed. She listlessly tore the envelope's flap. The afternoon had worn her out with its diversity of emotions.

"DEAREST VENICE,

"You certainly are stepping high, wide and handsome these days. Imagine, a Marquis killing himself for you. Congratulations. And Guy Bryson still on your trail. I believe, darling, you once told me you were a dud. Were you fooling me or yourself?

"As you see by the paper Jerry and I are on the uncertain deep. We've both been ill a good bit. In fact I think I'm going to be again.

"Love,

"LOLA."

Only a repetition of her past. Lola would spread it in New York now. The way would be easy when she returned, but it had certainly been difficult in the building.

Dining with Guy at the Cabaret she broke out abruptly, "Why didn't you tell me you were married?"

He stared at her.

"How odd. When did you discover that? It was on the very subject I had the uncomfortable thing to tell you."

"I hope you didn't hurry to report?" She was bitter from out the hurt which she felt.

"Look here," said Guy gently, laying a hand over hers that rested on the table, "don't feel that way about it, Venice. It hasn't hurt you in any way, really."

"Yes, it has, Guy. It's hurt my feelings. I thought we were friends. You're not friends if you're dishonest with each other."

"That's quite true, Venice. But that first afternoon at the Café de la Paix I never gave it a thought and later, when I did, I was afraid you might have had Puritanical scruples and I did think the whole experiment was such a binge."

"If I could have mentioned knowing your wife once in a while it would have been better."

"You're right. But you wouldn't have let me be your gigolo, Venice."

She thought a moment.

"Yes, I would have. I'd have let any one be my gigolo at that point."

They both laughed.

"Friends again?" begged Guy, holding out a hand.

They shook and Venice acquiesced warmly. The hurt was gone and she realized that it was only the surprise of the thing that had rankled.

"What's your uncomfortable bit?" she asked.

"My wife's on her way over."

"No!"

"Yes. And you're the cause."

"Guy, how dreadful!"

(Copyright, Harriet Henry)

Guy's wife arrives, in the next installment, and Venice prepares to enjoy a victory.

AMARILLO GROUP IS TO SEE "DULCY" HERE

Mrs. Catherine Wilkerson, Mr. Fitzsimmons Marry

FINAL REHEARSAL IS TO BE HELD TONIGHT BY THEATER FOR YEAR'S INITIAL PLAY

LOCAL MEMBERS ALSO TO SEE SCHOOL PRODUCTION

The Amarillo Little theater cast which presented "Dulcy," as the season's opening production in Amarillo recently will be in Pampa tomorrow evening to see the same production by a Pampa Little theater cast. The cast will be accompanied by Director W. D. Russell.

A large Pampa audience also is expected to attend the play, which is to be given at the municipal auditorium. It is the first of three major productions of the year.

Rehearsal Tonight

Final rehearsal of the play will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. It will be preceded by a Little theater meeting at 7 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. Featuring the meeting will be a presentation of "Ile" as a preview by a group of high school pupils before they enter the play in a contest at Amarillo. The play is under the direction of Miss Arless O'Keefe.

"Dulcy" is a comedy with many "side-splitting" moments.

Strong Cast

One of the most difficult roles in the play is that of C. Roger Forbes, played by I. A. Freeman. Mr. Freeman is a finished actor with professional experience.

Jack Foster, the scenario writer, is ideally cast and handles his comedy scenes in a finished manner. His moving picture presentation is the high comedy spot of the play. Mr. Foster has had experience in Little theater work before coming to Pampa.

C. W. Stowell, who plays the role of the butler, also has done exceptionally good work, and makes his part outstanding.

Russell Kennedy carries the role of attorney for the Van Dyke millions and adds much to the comedy with his surprising news to Dulcy. Mr. Kennedy is doing admirable work in his role.

BITS OF NEWS

Miss Myrtle Miller, county home demonstration agent, and Ralph R. Thomas, county agent, will give a beef canning demonstration tomorrow in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Farley, near Groom. On Wednesday, Miss Miller will meet with the girls' 4-H club of Hopkins No. 2.

The First Baptist Sunday school, including the Amarada mission, reported an attendance of 573 persons yesterday.

Misses Chloe Buzzart and Bonnie Burris attended the meeting of the 18th district of the American Legion in Borger Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. W. C. de Cordova has gone to Oklahoma City, where she will visit relatives until after Christmas. She was accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. F. de Cordova of Washington, Okla., who has been her guest in Pampa. W. C. de Cordova will join his wife on Dec. 23 or 24.

A meeting of Pampa Girl Scouts has been announced for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist church basement.

Rainbow Girls will meet tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the Masonic hall.

CLUB WILL MEET

The Dutch Bridge club will meet on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock instead of on Tuesday, as was formerly announced. The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Ben F. Reno.

Woman Confesses Part in Robbery

TIFFIN, O., Dec. 7. (AP)—Mrs. Hazel Bullard, 31, mother of two children, confessed today she led three men in the $2,061 holdup of the Bettsville Banking company at Bettsville Saturday, Prosecutor Paul Flynn announced.

The woman also revealed the hiding place of the money and of the guns which the bandits used. Under a rain barrel at the home of John Wilcox, who admitted having plotted the robbery, according to Flynn, were found $900 in new bills.

Club Presidents Meeting Today To Finish Yearbooks

President of the various home demonstration clubs of Gray county are meeting in all-day session today to complete work on the club yearbooks for the coming year.

The meeting is being held in the office of Miss Myrtle Miller at the court house, and a covered dish luncheon was served at noon.

Deva Dean and Shelby Duvall Wed Saturday

Miss Deva Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dean, and Shelby Duvall were married Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in Sayre, Okla. The ceremony was read in the home of the Rev. James T. Daniel, Baptist minister, with Rev. Daniel officiating.

The couple returned Sunday afternoon to reside at 535 North Faulkner street.

Mr. Duvall came to Pampa a year and a half ago from Celina, Texas, where his mother, Mrs. T. B. Duvall, now lives. The bride is a former student of the Pampa high school and is employed in the water department of the city of Pampa.

Friends learned this morning of the marriage of Mrs. Catherine Wilkerson and Burton Fitzsimmons, the ceremony having been read last Friday evening in Clovis, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzsimmons returned to Pampa late Saturday night and are residing at Phillips camp.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons has been a resident of Pampa for the last five years, coming here from Bristow, Okla. During the last two and one-half years she has been a teacher at Woodrow Wilson school. She formerly taught in Avon, Okla. Mrs. Fitzsimmons was a charter member of the Friendship Sunday school class, First Methodist church, and has served in that class since its organization. She also was one of those to organize the Girl Scouts of Pampa and is still working with the girls. She has resigned her position in the local school.

Mr. Fitzsimmons for 12 years has been connected with Phillips petroleum company.

A wedding trip will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. Fitzsimmons during the Christmas holidays. They will visit in Oklahoma, in Kansas, and in Fort Worth.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"God the only Cause and Creator" was the lesson-sermon subject in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Dec. 6.

The golden text was from Deuteronomy 6:4, 5. "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

Included in the service were these passages from the Bible (Psalms 33:8,9): "Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast."

As a part of the lesson-sermon, this citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was also read (page 170):

"Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered for more than all others spiritual causation relates to human progress. The age seems ready to approach this subject, to ponder somewhat the supremacy of Spirit, and at least to touch the hem of Truth's garment."

Judge Gamewell Opens New Court

Judge W. I. Gamewell of Canyon opened 114th district court here this morning for a two-week session. He was elected by the Pampa bar to serve in the absence of Judge Clifford Braly who is convalescing at his home on north Cuyler.

Judge Braly became suddenly ill while holding court at Stinnett six weeks ago.

Judge Gamewell substituted for Judge Braly while the latter was seeking health in South Texas last spring. The docket is being read and cases are being set today.

Court is in session in the county court room. Judge W. R. Ewing is holding the last week of 31st district court today in the district court room. He plans to adjourn the 12-week term by Friday afternoon.

Judge Ewing has a number of motions to pass on before adjourning. He will also decide whether a Portland bank which holds a mortgage on the Forrest E. Gilmore refinery near Pampa may foreclose. Last week, a jury decided that the Gilmore company of Texas and the Gilmore company of Delaware are not "one and the same" and that the former was not responsible for the debts of the latter.

McLean Poultry Show And Dairy Judging Announced

The McLean poultry show will be held Dec. 17-19, County Agent Ralph R. Thomas announced today.

Mr. Thomas will be in charge of the vocational dairy judging contests that will be held in connection with the show, and will be superintendent of placings.

Twenty-nine schools have been invited to enter teams in the judging contests.

Cash and ribbon prizes will be given winners in the poultry show. An entry fee of 10c per bird will be charged exhibitors.

Molita LeFors and Musette Sewell spent the week-end in Amarillo.

Mrs. Lee Banks was in Amarillo yesterday.

MISSIONARY IS TO SPEAK HERE

BROUGHT TO THIS CITY UNDER AUSPICES OF W. M. S.

The Rev. V. L. David, who is under appointment of the Southern Baptist convention as a missionary to Spain, but who is home on a year's furlough, will speak at the First Baptist church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. David, who is making a tour of the Panhandle, is being brought to Pampa under the auspices of the local Women's Missionary society. He will tell of his work in Spain and will discuss those things benefited by the Lottie Moon Christmas offering.

The missionary is studying at the Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

LET'S EVERYBODY HELP TO BUILD A BETTER PAMPA

BUILDERS of PAMPA

The progress and development of any city is the result of the energy and effort of the business men and firms who make it up. The businesses listed on this page are permanent institutions and have contributed much to the upbuilding of Pampa.

This page will appear in the News-Post once each week and will contain something new and interesting each time .A study of its stories will give a new knowledge of the reasons for the individual successes. Help these merchants in their program.

I. BAUM IS HELPING TO BUILD A BETTER PAMPA

Helpy-Selfy Is the Largest Grocery in the Panhandle

Opening in a small building here less than four years ago, I. Baum has built up a grocery and meat business that today is the largest in the Panhandle. The large, clean Helpy Selfy store is literally filled to the brim with high quality groceries, fruits, vegetables and meats.

Mr. Baum opened the Central Cash Grocery and Market with a comparatively small stock and operated the store with but little assistance. Today the Helpy Selfy store employs 14 men and supports 49 residents of Pampa. The business has been built on personal service and "treating the people right." The highest quality products are sold at the lowest prices.

Mr. Baum started his career in the grocery business in Gainesville, Texas, at the age of 14. For his services at that time he was paid $7 per month. He stayed in Gainesville until 1926 when he came to Borger and managed the grocery department of Steinberg's store for a year and a half. He then came to Pampa and opened a grocery and market business of his own.

On entering the Helpy Selfy store one first passes shelves filled with nationally advertised canned goods such as Monarch, F. F. O. G., Del Monte, etc. The other departments are systematically and conveniently arranged. Pickles, relishes and condiments are in the second section, syrups, bread and pastries of all kinds are next, then evaporated fruits, breakfast foods, jellies, jams, and preserves. At the front of the store is the vegetable and fruit department which is filled with all kinds of domestic and imported fruits and vegetables.

Three checking machines operated by competent checkers permit fast and accurate service. Last Saturday there were 4,300 customers in the store during the day.

Mr. Baum keeps busy at the store, but he's never too busy to let some hungry person go without food. He gave his second annual Thanksgiving dinner to the poor this year and fed 285 people. All worthy charitable institutions and organizations are aided by Mr. Baum when they need funds and supplies.

"If it gets too tough around here this winter, we'll have a Helpy Selfy soup line," says Mr. Baum.

Groceries are bought wholesale by the carload, which means a great saving to all the customers of Helpy Selfy. The two large stock rooms in the rear of the 50 x 140 building are completely filled with case after case of nationally advertised foodstuffs.

As a builder of Pampa, Mr. Baum can be placed among the energetic leaders, always willing to work and help in any way for the good of the city.

In the rear of the store is the market department which is as large and modern as the best anywhere. A 24-foot display case sets across the front. All the meats in the case are visible to the customers and they can see just what they are buying. A 3-ton and a 1-ton Lipman ice machine cools the large display case and the three large 10 x 10 meat boxes. From 18 to 25 beeves are cut up and sold each week. Besides these, a large amount of pork and lamb are sold. Four meat cutters keep busy operating the meat department.

GRIST MILL RETURNS

Th old-time grist mill seems to be returning to the American landscape once more.

An eastern newspaper revealed the other day that in many places, especially in the south and southwest, farmers are adopting their grandfathers' custom of taking their grain to a little neighborhood mill, getting it ground into flour or meal, and returning it to the family cupboard.

It is a long time since the grist mill has cut much of a figure in American life. In the old days, of course, it had a big place. It was the center of innumerable frontier communities, and the bread that the farmer ate was made from the grain he raised.

Lately, though the grist mill had become a picturesque ruin. Almost every small town in the south and middle west had as its momento of bygone days a tumble-down structure, rapidly falling into decay, by some ancient millpond on the edge of town. The railroad and the big flour mill pushed the grist mill almost entirely out of the picture.

If it is coming back now, even in a small measure, it is probably due to the depression; but in a lot of ways it is an extremely sensible step for the farmer to take.

The average wheat grower never so much as sees a flour mill. H sends his grain to the market and buys his flour at the nearest grocery store; and when wheat prices are down—as they are most of the time—he suffers.

Suppose, though, that there is a grist mill in the neighborhood. The farmer, then, not only is producing a commodity for the market; he is raising the very grain that he and his family eat, and they will have plenty of bread even if the bottom falls out of the wheat market.

Perhaps, in a time when agricultural distress seems deeply rooted and of endless extent, the country could use the old-fashioned grist mill to a pretty good advantage.

BURGLARIES—

blefield Dry Good store, the motor company, and the Southwestern Public Service company offices, battered open company safes, and scooped out all silver and currency. Merchandise was taken from the Stubblefield company.

The burglaries were discovered at 6:30 Sunday morning when O. K. Clark, clerk at the Stubblefield store, went to his office before departing on a hunting trip.

The motor company was entered through a rear window. The safe was overturned as at Stubblefield's and $50 taken. One 17-jewel watch and two 21-jewel watches were taken. Locks were knocked off tool cabinets and tools taken. Chisels taken were among the loot found under the culvert.

Fooled Them

The light company office was entered through the back door. No money was taken since the company safe had been removed after it was robbed three months ago of $500. The burglars' tracks were traced to where the safe was located at that time, leading officers to believe that the men were implicated in the former robbery.

The front door of the dry goods store was pried open with a heavy iron bar. The safe was overturned, the knob knocked off and $150 cash taken. From the cash register, $5.35 was taken. Merchandise valued at $100 was also taken.

A bridge costing $175,000 is planned across the Brazos river near Newcastle.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARY HARKNESS plots to ensnare THE FLY, who she believes "framed" her brother, EDDIE, with the murder of old MRS. JUPITER, and later ran Eddie down and killed him. She is aided by BOWEN of the Star. Mary's fiance, DIRK RUYTHER, believes Eddie guilty, as do police.

BRUCE JUPITER returns from Europe with a woman friend and is ordered out by his father, who makes Mary his heir. Bruce vows to rout Mary, who he thinks is a gold-digger. Dirk forbids Mary to see Bowen or continue the investigation. She goes to Miami on the Jupiter yacht, hoping The Fly will be at Hialeah to see his horse run.

She meets COUNT DE LOMA. De Loma is listed as the owner of The Fly's horse. MR. JUPITER has a car of the same make as that used by the murderer, but he explains it was bought for experimental purposes.

Bowen overhears Bruce and Louise quarreling because she cannot explain where she got a diamond bracelet. Louise says it is Mary's. Bruce makes her give the bracelet to Mary, who discovers it was stolen from Mrs. Jupiter the night she was killed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

MR. HENRY BATES, detective, stood for a moment deep in thought. What he had just seen puzzled him greatly, apparently, and his watchers knew he would never rest until the meaning of those events was clear.

"Now what," he mused aloud, "what makes The Fly act dopey like that? Just looking at a courthouse steeple?" Neither Mary nor Mr. Jupiter had any explanation to offer.

Bates jerked himself up. "Well," he said briskly, "I'll be toddling along. I'll tell you what I find in here—if I find anything." He indicated the package of torn pieces of cardboard in his coat pocket.

"But—" he paused again, impressively, in the doorway. "I'll say this much right now—you're not going to see much more of him around here. He's got the jitters over something. I look for him to take a run-out on us, maybe tonight. I'll bet if you were to go up to his room right now, you'd find him packing his grips."

Down came Mr. Jupiter's stockinged feet. "You think so?"

"I do." It sounded like an oath.

Mary drew a deep breath. "Well," she said resolutely, "here's one thing that won't go with him!" She held out the bracelet.

"Why, that's—Mamma's!" Mr. Jupiter exclaimed hoarsely. "Where did you get it?"

Mary told. As he listened, blinking from her to the bracelet and back again, a light hardly sane came into the old man's eyes and spots of red burned in his faded cheeks. He reached for the necklace and his hand shook.

"Here, you don't want that, boss," Bates intercepted it, quickly, palmed it and handed it back to Mary, winking significantly as he did so. "You'd better put that in the safe, sister. You're liable to lose it if you leave it lying around your room tonight." He tried to mask the quick alarm in his eyes as he added "Does The Fly know you've got that?"

"No."

• • •

BATES drew a breath. "Better lock it up before he finds out." He turned to Jupiter, who had relaxed a bit but was still white as a sheet. "There's your case. You can send him up on that, and if you take my advice you'll do it, and not monkey around any longer. He's liable to get ugly if he has any suspicion you're laying for him—" He stopped and slapped a fist into his open palm.

"Listen! It never struck me he'd be fool enough to keep the stuff on him. But if he hasn't disposed of it yet, then maybe it's in his room. When he's on the roof tonight with you, Miss Harkness, I'll make a search. If it's there, we'll wait right there and nab him when he comes down. If it isn't—"

"Nab him anyhow," Jupiter finished. "By God, I'll make him eat that bracelet, chain and all!"

"He couldn't claim, could he," Mary suggested, "that Eddie did it for him and turned the stuff over to him? I want to see him sent up, but I don't want there to be any doubt, either, about whether it was he, or Eddie, who did the killing—"

"You'll have to take a chance on your jury," Bates said. "That's all you can do. If he can make them think it was Eddie, of course he'd beat the murder rap—"

"He mustn't! He mustn't!" Mary cried. "We can't let him get away with that!"

"Well, well," Bates soothed her, drawing her into the hallway, "it's not likely." He called a cheerful goodby to the old man, who was pacing about, obviously excited.

"Mary!" Jupiter called out sharply after her. "You need any money for anything?" Mary felt an impulse to laugh and cry at once. It was his way of thanking her for what she had done.

"No," she said. "Not that I know of, thanks."

"You'd better have some. You can't tell what you're going to need it for," Jupiter insisted. The embarrassment of taking it was somehow alleviated by Bates' presence. She would have refused, but she knew that it pleased him to give it to her. Bates closed the door and drew her away a few paces.

"That old man's not going to last if we don't get this Fly locked up pretty soon," he said. "His arteries aren't what they used to be, if I'm any judge. Best keep him as quiet as you can, and tonight I'll get the goods on that crook if they're in this hotel. Leave it to me."

Mary felt undecided, and faintly rebellious.

"We're not going to hurry things too fast!" she warned him. "Wait and see what happens tonight. I'm not telling Mr. Jupiter, but—I'm going to wear the ruby necklace!"

Bates stared.

"You'll be there, and Bruce. Why should I be afraid?" she added.

"Nobody would shoot into a mob like that and he'd know it!" Bates objected. "I could put a man on both exits, though—"

"Do it. I'm not ready to lose the necklace—yet. But if The Fly is jittery as you say, the sight of it might—steady him, don't you think?"

• • •

BATES considered. "Might," he conceded. "If he wants it bad enough. Only he's liable to make a wild grab for it and anybody that tried to stop him would be at a terrible disadvantage in that crowd. I wouldn't fire a gun in that mob. I know that."

"He won't try there. Leave it to me. What's the matter with taking him out to the yacht?"

"You think you could?"

Mary shrugged. "My blood's up. I feel as if I could do the impossible tonight."

"Then go ahead. I'll play ball." The prospect thrilled him, she could see.

"We'll let it stand this way," Mary told him. "You search his rooms, and whether you find the rest of the plunder or not, wait there. If he comes, it will mean I've failed. And if I fail with him tonight it's not likely I could succeed another time. Arrest him. If he doesn't come, you'll know we've gone out to the yacht. Better have a man on the roof to tell you the moment we leave, and you follow. Is that clear?"

"Right. Want me to go down with you until you stow that stuff away?"

"Thanks, no. I don't think there is any danger—yet."

"Wait." He stepped into his own room which was on the other side of Mary's, and took down the receiver.

"Is Mr. De Loma in his room, do you know? No, don't ring him! I merely wanted to know whether—oh, you ass!" Furious, he started to hang up, then changed his mind and held his hand over the mouthpiece until a man's voice answered.

Then, disguising his voice, he shouted at the top of his lungs, "Hello? Hello, Bill? Is this you, Bill? What? Is Bill Jones there? Hello!" A grin overspread his face as he hung up.

"Phew! He's there, all right. And mad! You should have heard what he called me!" Bates rubbed an ear tenderly. "Well, run along. You know he's not in the lobby, at any rate."

Mary walked across the half-empty lobby to the desk, stopping at the window to ask for her mail.

Dirk had not written. She experienced the old, familiar sickness that swept over her whenever she let herself stop to think of him, to face the awful possibility that he did not mean to write.

Aloud she said to the day clerk, who looked up startled at the depth of tragedy in the gray eyes turned to his, "I want to put some valuables in the safe."

"Will you just step around to the manager's office, please?" He indicated a door at the side which opened into an office just back of the desk itself. There was a door immediately behind the desk and it stood open now. Mary saw the sleek head of the manager bent over his books. Obediently, she walked around to the side door and entered.

• • •

THE hotel safe was in the manager's office, in plain sight of anyone standing at the desk. Mary noticed a trifle nervously. Then she realized that this was a means of protection, rather than a danger. The safe was at all times plainly visible. In fact, a light was kept burning above it day and night.

Moreover, The Fly was not a safecracker. It might have been among his random accomplishments, but it was certainly not his specialty, so that in placing the bracelet and the I. O. U. behind its sturdy lock she was making them as safe from The Fly's depredations as any place could be.

When she had dropped the envelope containing her two precious objects into the metal box held for it, and saw it tucked away in its pigeonhole, Mary began to breathe more freely. The necklace was in there, too, somewhere, she remembered. It occurred to her that this might be a good time to take it out, as she must do soon if she meant to wear it tonight.

Impulsively, she asked for it, and when it had been located, and she had signed the slip, she tucked it into her handbag carefully. It might have been better to have had someone with her, she reflected a trifle uneasily. On the other hand, it might be better tactics to do it in the most obvious manner possible. The fascinating psychology of "The Purloined Letter" had left its impress on her, too.

An instant later she was to doubt her Poe and regret that she had ever heard of him. For as she turned about, through the open door she saw De Loma standing at the desk! Apparently he had not seen her. He was standing with his back half-turned away, looking out into the lobby. But she could not be sure that he had not turned about just an instant before she herself had turned. Why, he could not have helped seeing her if he had faced the desk! The scene in the manager's office was directly in front of his eyes.

How had he come there so quickly, and why? Perhaps it was merely chance. Perhaps he had not been fooled by that telephone call of Bates'—had suspected it was merely an attempt to locate him while the necklace was in transit.

But, what to do now? If she reached the elevator, she would have to cross the lobby and he would see her. She might ask the manager to accompany her to her room.

She was about to ask his assistance when a second glance through the doorway showed that De Loma had gone.

She waited a few minutes in the semi-darkness just outside the manager's office, to give De Loma time to leave the place. Then she took a deep breath, like a swimmer about to plunge in, and stepped out boldly on a straight line for the elevator. She was holding her breath until that haven was reached, and when she set foot in it at last, and saw that it was empty, she uttered a deep relieved sigh, and sagged against the wall of the elevator. Now, if the operator would only hurry. . . . He did—but not in time.

A tall figure entered, removed his hat at sight of a woman passenger, looked again, apparently became aware of her identity for the first time, and exclaimed, "Miss Harkness! How nice to see you again!" It was De Loma.

LUBBOCK AND ABILENE TO HEAD STATE GRID PROGRAM

CORSICANA TO GO TO FINALS IN EASY GLIDE

WESTERNERS ATTRACT BIG FOLLOWING BY WINS

DALLAS, Dec. 7. (AP)—The race for the Texas Interscholastic league football championship which started with 85 Class A teams has dwindled to eight and this weekend four more will pass into the also ran class.

Sixteen respective district scholastic champions went to the post in bi-district competition Friday and Saturday and eight fell from the running when Abilene beat Sweetwater 21 to 6; Austin whipped El Paso 21 to 0; Harlingen dropped Corpus Christi for a 32 to 0 defeat; Fort Worth Central beat Oak Cliff 21 to 7; Greenville eliminated Sherman 20 to 0; Beaumon t stopped Houston John Reagan 13 to 12; Lubbock erased Quanah 26 to 0, and Corsicana assured the field of a new champion by defeating the Tyler Lions, 1930 champions, 19 to 0.

Two Favorites Lose

While two of the favorites failed to win last week, their defeats could not be termed startling upsets. Harlingen's victory over Corpus Christi was not looked for. Beaumont's win from the powerful John Reagan team of Houston was a slight jolt.

The most startling football of the week was turned in by Lubbock in district one. Due to a three-way tie at the conclusion of the regular district schedule, Lubbock had to play two district and one bi-district game last week. The Westerners beat Pampa and Amarillo to win the district crown, caught a train for Quanah and Saturday walloped the Indians 26 to 0. The Lubbock "iron men" battle Abilene this week in a fourth hard game in 12 days.

The Corsicana Tigers, one of the outstanding favorites of the eight contenders, were impressive beating Tyler. They meet Austin Saturday at Corsicana. This is the only game in which a definite site has been selected. Sites for the following quarter-final bi-district games will be named early this week:

Lubbock (district 1) vs. Abilene (district 3).

Fort Worth Central (district 5) vs. Greenville (district 8).

Corsicana (district 9) vs. Austin (district 12) at Corsicana.

Beaumont (district 14) vs. Harlingen (district 16).

High school critics who have trailed and observed their teams closely this season, are predicting that Corsicana, now that it has eliminated Tyler, will find smooth sailing into the finals in the lower bracket, but that the upper bracket of Lubbock, Abilene, Fort Worth Central, and Greenville, all powerful teams, is a toss-up.

The Lubbock and Abilene game this week is the headliner. Abilene has been to the state finals several times and formerly held the championship. Lubbock's feat of winning three major games last week won many supporters for the Westerners.

The Greenville Lions smashed an old rival Saturday in the Sherman team, 20 to 0. At the same time, Fort Worth Central turned in a powerful running and passing game to smother the Oak Cliff Leopards at Dallas, 21 to 7.

CHAMPS WILL ENRICH CHARITY

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Christmas fund shows in New York and Cleveland will benefit this week by the services of two champions, Christopher (Bat) Battalino of Hartford, Conn., and Lou Brouillard of Worcester, Mass.

Battalino, king of the featherweights, will tangle with Al Singer, former lightweight champion, in a 10-round bout at catchweights in Madison Square Garden Friday night. Brouillard also will leave his welterweight title at home when he steps into the ring against Paul Pirrone of Cleveland in a 10-rounder at Cleveland Thursday night.

CLASS WILL MEET

Azor class, First Baptist church, will have a business meeting in the home of Mrs. E. L. Anderson, 112 South Wynne street, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Billiard Title Is Now at Stake

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7. (AP)—Two youngsters from the west coast opened the second week of the world's pocket billiard championship tournament today. Spencer Livsey of Los Angeles, who scored last week's upset with a victory over Frank Taberski, veteran Schenectady, N. Y., former champion, encounters Robert Lindblom, of Seattle.

Rudolph and Ralph Greenleaf, New York, also a former champion, topped the standings with three victories each with the latter tied for high run of 85 with Lauri.

Over Billion Is To Be Borrowed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The treasury wants to borrow $1,300,000,000.

This amount of securities, Secretary Mellon announced last night, will be offered Dec. 15. It is the fourth time this year the treasury has been in the market for more than a billion dollars.

Most of the money—$1,090,000—will be used to pay off debts. The remainder will go to current expenses.

The offerings will consist of $600,000,000 of one-year 3 1-4 per cent treasury notes, $300,000,000 in 2 3-4 per cent six-month treasury certificates, and $400,000,000 in 3 per cent nine-month certificates of indebtedness.

Garner Dresses Same as Usual

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Election of a speaker for the house of representatives today couldn't change the simplicity in clothing of Mr. and Mrs. John Garner of Texas.

Garner, the choice of democrats for the post, has a new cut-away coat—but didn't wear it. Instead, he had on the usual brown suit with a speckled brown tie.

Mrs. Garner said she was "wearing the same kind of things I wear to the office every day." That was a plain black dress of satin-backed crepe with a white collar. Pearl beads were around her neck.

MARATHON OF CARDS STARTS THIS EVENING

MILLIONS EXCITED AS MASTERS BEGIN TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—A marathon game of cards which is exciting millions of people will start tonight.

One player whose methods have given him a millionaire's income is so confident that he has bet five to one. The wager is that he will defeat another whom he acknowledges has no superior in actual play, whom many acclaim as the world's best and who as an amateur magician with a deck can give professional gamblers cards and spades.

So much is at stake that the United States army will take care that things are according to Hoyle of a latter day.

Woman is on the same footing as man in a competition news of which will have fast international transmission.

To the fact that his wife will be his partner and is largely responsible for his success in a game which has brought him romance and riches Ely Culbertson attributes the widespread interest in his contract bridge match with Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby.

After a little ceremony at 8 o'clock tonight the elaborate drawing room of Culbertson's apartment off Park avenue will be cleared of all players, referees, scorekeeper and butler. The doors will be locked. New decks of cards will be shuffled by the referee. A quartet will cut. Then begins a test of rival bidding systems in a game which has spread like optimism during a bull market, displacing its parent, auction bridge, more rapidly than auction did whist.

Culbertson and Lenz have contracted to play 150 rubbers by Jan. 15. They will move across Park avenue from the Chatham to the Waldorf after a while. Culbertson estimates there will be 1,000 hands. The duration of the match will be almost six weeks. There will be play every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday night.

Wagers Are Posted

Culbertson has posted $5,000 against $1,000 by Lenz. Any winnings go to charities specified in the contract.

But much more than $5,000 is involved. The prestige of victory will add enormously to the potential income of the winner from writings, lectures and the like on the "best" system.

Laws and ethics of contract bridge as published by the Whist Club of New York will prevail. The man on the spot to see they are enforced will be Lieut. Alfred M. Gruenther, who is attached to West Point and as an avocation a specialist in the conduct of bridge tournaments.

To the average amateur player of contract the match probably will test original bids of two more than anything else. Such bids are forcing in the Culbertson system, requiring partner to continue at least until a game contract is reached. Lenz makes original bids of two fewer cards than Culbertson, and the bid merely invites partner to continue on if possible.

Governor Sterling Has Old Troubles

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling returned today from a deer hunt on his ranch near Laredo to find his old friends, oil and cotton, awaiting his attention.

The East Texas oil field allowable had exceeded 400,000 barrels daily and he was expected to renew his rescinded military order reducing the per well production from 125 barrels to 110 barrels daily. A petition, drawn by a mass meeting of Central Texas farmers in Waco Saturday, requesting that he urge cotton growing states which had not done so to fall in line with Texas' law making it unlawful for a farmer to plant more than 30 per cent of his 1931 tillable area in cotton for 1932 also awaited his disposition.

GRAINS WEAKER

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Downturns in grain prices early today resulted from weakness of Sterling exchange and from Liverpool reports of lack of demand for what. Curtailment of wheat supplies afloat for importing countries failed to act as a counterbalance. Opening 3-8 to 3-4 cent lower, wheat subsequently rallied somewhat. Corn started at a shade to 7-8 decline and later steadied.

JAPANESE MAT STYLE IS CONSIDERED FOR MATCH

Vitela Is Experienced in Jackets and Would Be Pleased By Method.

Promoter Frank Hunt is trying to get a fast mat card ready for fans this week. If successful, he will have Pancho Vitela and Fred Kimball wrestling in "jackets," or Japanese style. The first fall would be with the jackets and the second without. Whichever wrestler won his fall in the shortest time would get the chance to decide whether the deciding fall would be with or without the jackets.

Vitela knows jiu-jitsu, having been crowned champion of Old Mexico three years ago. Kimball has also had considerable experience in the jackets. The rough and tough contortionist is in New Mexico and Promoter Hunt is trying to reach him. Vitela says he will take on all-comers with the jackets and that Japanese holds are not barred.

The fans also are hollering to see Black Mike Sanches and Red Michael in action. Mike is much better than he appeared last week. He gave Michael a tough time in a semi-final in Amarillo some time ago, and wants a chance to finish the match.

Barber Kelly and Wildcat Willie of LeFors are exchanging comments and want to get together. Willie has sidestepped Red Michael lately but wants Kelly who is also raring for a go at the LeFors boy.

Robbers Active In City On Week-End

Petty thieves were active in Pampa Saturday night, taking merchandise valued at several hundred dollars.

Burglars entered the room of Dallas Culwell at 527 North Cuyler and left with two suits of clothes and a postal carrier's uniform. Culwell carries mail on a city route.

Twenty-seven gallons of gasoline were stolen from the Phillips wholesale agency by thieves who broke locks to steal the gas.

C. A. Marigold of Lubbock reported a Gladstone leather bag containing an overcoat and men's clothing was taken from his car while it was parked in front of the First Methodist church.

A Chevrolet coupe belonging to M. W. Merrill was stolen from where it was parked at 908 East Francis. The license number was E1-2611. The machine has yellow wheels and four Royal cord tires.

Former Ranger Is Killed By Sheriff

RANKIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Graham Barnett, former Texas ranger, known as one of the fastest men on the draw in the Big Bend, was killed with a sub-machine gun here yesterday by Sheriff W. C. Fowler of Upton county.

According to Fowler's version of the shooting, Barnett was a little slow on the draw for the first time in his colorful career in the wild stretches near the Rio Grande.

"I had to do it," the sheriff said. "It was either he or me. He made a move for a gun."

The sheriff said friends had advised him Barnett, who lived in Alpine, had made threats on his life but he declined to disclose the reason for the enmity.

CHILD IS KILLED

GILMER, Dec. 7. (AP)—Hazel Anglin, 8, was killed today when an improvised, plank merry-go-round on which she was playing broke and hurled her to the ground. She lived in Latch community, south of Gilmer.

F. E. Leech, state and county tax assessor, has lived at Pampa since 1911. He was born at Albany, Texas, in what modern biographers call "the mauve decade"—the purple 'nineties.' He attended school at Cleburne and later graduated from Denison high school. He also attended Manton college at Leonard.

Before coming to Pampa Mr. Leech lived for a time at Wichita Falls. He was actively engaged in farming before elected tax assessor in 1925. Mr. Leech still operates a farm. He married in 1931, and lives on Christine street in the Cook-Adams addition.

Mr. Leech is a member of the Lions club, Knights of of Pythias lodge, chamber of commerce. He is an elder in the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Leech is an ardent Harvester fan, but it's against his principles to bet on football games. He believes it isn't fair to the boys, and that they and their sports should not be commercialized by betting.

The duties of the tax assessor's office almost tripled soon after Mr. Leech was inducted into the office. For years, the county's valuation had been about $6,000,000. Oil development was responsible for the gain. This year the valuation was around $22,000,000. During Mr. Leech's long residence in Gray county, before he became tax assessor, he became familiar with values and property. This knowledge served him well afterward. His duties form the basis of all county revenue. Before the tax collector can collect any revenue, values must be assessed.

Abilene To Play Next In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Dec. 7. (AP)—The Lubbock high school Westerners and the Abilene high school Eagles will meet in Lubbock, Saturday, Dec. 12, to decide the football championship of districts 1, 2, 3, and 4.

The site of the game was decided by officials of the two schools in Snyder today, after Lubbock had won the toss.

WILSON WILL BE SOLD OR TRADED SOON

Unhappy Hack Is Not in Demand — Broadcasts Will Be Talked.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—The cut and color of the regimentals Hack Wilson, the fallen home run hero of the Cubs, will wear next season will be determined during the next three days, if the Cub management can find a club willing to buy or trade for the squatty outfielder.

A year ago, after he had set a new national league record for home runs, the Cubs probably could have had anything they wished in return for Wilson's services. But, after his unhappy 1931 record, when he batted out less than 15 home runs and hit about 100 points under his 1930 mark, there appear to be no takers. Reports of trades have popped up from time to time but Wilson is still Cub property and it may become necessary to ask waivers on him, if owner William Wrigley is as determined to send him elsewhere as he has insisted previously.

The Cubs' last big effort to trade or sell Wilson will be made during the annual meetings of the major leagues in Chicago tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday.

At least two items are due for consideration. Radio broadcasting of games will be discussed by both leagues while the American league may decide to change the specifications of its official baseball.

Guard Children After Threats

DETROIT, Dec. 7. (AP)—William T. Weigand, chief of the Gross Point village police, said today the officers have been assigned to guar the five children of Harold Palme wealthy real estate operator, an other members of the Palmer fam ly as a result of threats against th children.

Guards were stationed at th Palmer home in University Plac after two shots were fired into th Palmer automobile Saturday ju after the children had alighted fro the car. The shots were fired fro a small automobile which raced pa on Jefferson avenue, Benjam Bennett, chauffeur of the Palm car, said.

MAROONED ON MOUNTAIN

TOLUCA, Mexico, Dec. 7. (AP) — Grave fears are held here for the safety of several automobile loads of excursionists who have been snowed in on top the volcanic mountain Xinantecatl, near here, by a severe blizzard which struck the mountain yesterday.

A relief expedition has set out.

It is estimated that 10,000 head of cattle will be furnished for the beef market in Georgia this year.

Aggie Cagemen Have 17 Games

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 7.—With football taking a back seat now as far as the 1931 season of the Southwest conference is concerned, the Texas Aggie cage squad, strengthened by eight recruits from the gridiron team, is bearing down in its practice for its seventeen-game schedule. The Aggies will play their "season's opener" here the night of Saturday, Dec. 5 on the Memorial gymnasium floor against the Humble Oil & Refining company five from Houston.

From the list of football players who have cast aside their moleskins in favor of cage suits, Coach John Reid hopes to find a capable center to replace "Shiro" Hoke, Aggies' all-southwest conference pivot man in 1930 who graduated the past spring. Five of the eight are centers. Charlie Malone, Dallas; Oran Dawson, Crockett; Ray Murray, Mercedes; Paul McFadden, Cleburne; B. M. (Honk) Irwin Kosse play this position although Murray sometimes performs as a forward and Irwin as a guard. All are more than six feet in height. Malone McFadden and Dawson have had experience as varsity squadmen and Murray and Irwin are sophomores. Still another candidate for the pivot position is Joe Merka sophomore from Bryan, but Merka will not be eligible scholastically until February at least.

Other Aggie football players who also participate in the cage game are Clifford (Frenchy) Domingue, Port Arthur, sophomore forward; Ted Spencer, Gilmer, sophomore forward; "Pete" Robertson, Austin, sophomore guard.

Television Without Official Sanctions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Although television has made great strides in the past year, it has not reached the point where the Federal Radio commission will recognize commercial possibilities in visual broadcasting.

The commission, in its annual report submitted to congress today said there has been great improvement in the quality and in the amount of detail in images transmitted but the available number of visual broadcasting frequencies put a severe limit on the number of stations which may be operated without interference. Because of this, the commission said it has encouraged experimenters to try out frequencies above 3,000 kilocycles. Preliminary reports have been encouraging.

NATION'S TITLE TO REST UPON TULANE CLASH

ONLY FOUR SECTIONAL CHAMPIONS HAVE REPEATED

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Sectional title-holders have been crowned in all of the country's major football groups or conferences and the prize award of all, the mythical national championship, hangs of the New Year's day clash between Tulane and Southern California in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 1.

Four sectional champions of 1930 repeated this year, either outright or partially. Tulane, which shared the southern conference crown with Alabama a year ago, finished all alone at the top this year, unbeaten and untied for the Big Ten title in 1930, gained a third share with Purdue this season. Utah and Drake again won the Rocky mountain and Missouri Valley conference championships outright.

Of the four new champions crowned, Southern Methodist replaced Texas in the southwest; Southern California ousted Washington state on the Pacific coast, and Nebraska dethroned Kansas in the Big Six. In the east, where no generally recognized champion can be expected, Bucknell finished with the best record this season.

In the slim schedule this week two games stand out. Army and Navy will renew their ancient rivalry in the Yankee stadium Saturday for the benefit of the unemployed. At Los Angeles, Southern California making its last stand before the Rose Bowl game, will tackle the powerful Georgia Bulldogs.

A soil survey of Hardeman county is being made by the United States government.

A railroad line was built recently from Loving, N. M., to the potash fields five miles distant.

PAMPA MAN WRITES OF WHAT HE SAW AND HEARD ON TRIP

FUTURE OF WICHITA IS EAGER TOPIC OF CITIZEN

(By D.M.W.)

After spending several years in the Panhandle, it does one good to go to another section and learn what people are doing and talking about. So this writer went to St. Louis for his first visit in nearly 14 years. The last time the writer was there, he was on his way to the southwest, following a permanent rejection for military service in the world war.

On the way to Wichita, Kans., there was a long conversation with two Amarillo men. One was a Prairie gas man on his way to Inpedendence. The other was an oil man on a trip to Kansas City. The oil man severely condemned the method of setting oil potentials. He claimed that the way used made the Hobbs, Longview, and Pampa oil fields appear far greater than they are. If the oil fields could produce the potentials, he predicted the business would be in far worse shape than it is.

Picking up Max Levand's Wichita BEACON, one found a severe denunciation of a million dollar bond issue for a soft water plant. It seems that the water plant is privately owned or distributed, but the owners do not care to make the additional investment to improve the service.

Sales in stock for the newspaper business in the southwest are going up the past two months, the writer was informed by George G. Gillen, manager of the Western Newspaper Union of Wichita. No steps to climb or descend is a desirable feature about the Wichita union station.

The Santa Fe train from Wichita to Kansas City was crowded. The new Santa Fe schedule went into effect that day and there were extra coaches placed on the train at Newton. Week-end visitors weer rushing home Sunday afternoon, and students returning to the University of Kansas at Lawrence, following the Thanksgiving holidays, just about filled the train.

J. D. Houston, a native of Kentucky and 74 years old, was going to Topeka. A Santa Fe attorney and a resident of Wichita for 50 years, he was enthusiastic in praise of his adopted city. "The greatest prospects of any city in the southwest" was the way Mr. Houston outlined Wichita's future. As a good democrat he feels that Wichita needs a daily democratic newspaper. He has long been interested in the welfare of the newspaper business in Wichita, as he represented the owners of The BEACON when that paper was sold many years ago to Henry J. Allen, who later became governor and United States senator.

The Panhandle of Texas is an interesting section to Mr. Houston. He made professional trips to the Panhandle years ago when Temple Houston was one of the leading attorneys. So far as the Wichita attorney knows, he is no kin to the distinguished Gen. Sam Houston. One of Mr. Houston's best friends is Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian, with whom he has gone hunting. Judge Hoover's vigor on hunting trips is a pleasant memory to Mr. Houston, who says that his days of hunting are about over.

It's a hard time to graduate from a university, the writer was told by a senior in the department of journalism at Lawrence. The young man had worked on a paper the last school year, but as he was let out, he returned to college. Most of the graduates in journalism last June from the university have not yet found jobs on newspapers, this senior said.

Just a few hours in Kansas City, but one never tires of the union station there, as it is one of the nation's finest. This station was opened about 15 years ago, and the writer remembers that the day was a gala occasion for the state of Missouri.

The Wabash train from Kansas City to St. Louis also was crowded, and again students formed a large percentage of the passengers. Most of the students were from the University of Missouri, Columbia, and a few from the girls' college there. Several of Missouri's football players were passengers. Missouri had been soundly trounced the day before by Temple university, Philadelphia, in a charity football game.

A 400-pound art glass salesman from Pittsburgh was large enough attract a second glance. On his way home for the holidays after a trip to the Pacific coast, he was cheerful. He had seen Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper in "The Champ" in Kansas City during the afternoon. "It's a great show and you know I sat there and cried and then I laughed," he said.

Tomorrow: A few observations about St. Louis.

MEXICANS HELD

McALLEN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Four Mexicans were in jail at Reynosa, Mex., today on charges of burglarizing jewelry valued at $2,000 from a McAllen store. Mexican police recovered the jewelry. As the suspects are all Mexican citizens, prosecution was planned by Mexican authorities.

MINERS HAVE LACK OF FOOD

Red Cross Is Asked to Help Mexicans Who Lack Employment.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 7. (AP)—Thrown out of work by the closing of coal mines at Bridgeport, 40 miles nirth of here, about 700 Mexican laborers and their families were reported suffering today from hunger and lack of proper clothing there.

Meanwhile, welfare agencies were attempting to get transportation from the Mexican government for them to the Mexican border.

Rev. G. A. Walls, pastor of the Mexican Presbyterian church and superintendent of the Mexican mission here, was negotiating with the American Red Cross and the Mexican government to obtain relief. He expected to visit Bridgeport today to estimate the cost of transportation to the border.

"During the last year these people have worked on an average of two days out of each week," Mr. Walls said. "They received no pay whatever in November but were promised some money—about 50 cents on the $1 by Dec. 7."

The mines were closed Nov. 23. Mr. Wallas said some of the Mexicans had obtained credit from Bridgeport stores at the rate of 25 cents on the $1 but that the majority were badly in need of food and clothing.

Sixteen Senators New in Capitol

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The 16 new members who reached their places in the senate today are:

Democrats: Bailey, North Caroline; Bankhead, Alabama; Bulow, South Dakota; Byrnes, South Carolina; Mrs. Caraway, Arkansas; Coolidge, Massachusetts; Costigan, Colorado; Gore, Oklahoma; Hull Tennessee; Lewis, Illnois; Logan, Kentucky; and Neely, West Virginia.

Republicans: Austin, Vermont; Barbour, New Jersey; Dickinson, of Iowa; and White, Maine.

Another new democrat: Governor Long of Louisiana—will not present himself until early next year after completing his term as state executive.

Advertising Has Boosted Business

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—The board of directors of the Advertising Federation of America announced today that a national survey it has conducted indicates the 1932 advertising dollar will bring better results than at any time during the past two years.

Gilbert T. Hodges, president of the organization, said the survey shows a growing confidence in 1932 merchandising possibilities.

His report added that greatly improved credit conditions and the beginning of commodity price recovery are reflected in an "improved general morale."

"Check-up of 102 large companies showed that those firms which increased their advertising in 1930 over 1929 made a 58 per cent better profit comparison than those which decreased it," the report states. "Those same firms increased their lead still further in 1931."

MEXICANS GOING HOME

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7. (AP)— In the greatest immigration movement in recent Mexican history, 112,407 Mexican repatriates have returned to this country this year, most of them from the United States. If the December figures reach the government's expectation, the total for the year may exceed 150,000.

A Shackelford county river ranch of 8,000 acres was sold recently.

Yarberry Trial in Its Second Week

BEEVILLE, Dec. 7. (AP)—The retrial of Newton Yarberry entered its second week today. Yarberry was alleged to have killed his sweetheart, Dorothy Symons, 18, of Aransas Pass.

As in the first trial, which ended in a hung jury, the state's case has been entirely circumstantial. Witnesses claimed Yarberry had a swimming date with Miss Symons the night she disappeared and that he was marked with fresh scratches late that night.

The young choir singer disappeared the night of July 30. Her body, clad in a bathing suit, was found near the water's edge at Aransas Pass two days later.

Hitler Plans to March on Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Adolf Hitler, Germany's fascist national socialist leader, is not ready to announce the economic reforms he expects his party to carry out if it comes into power, but the question of maintaining the gold standard, he said, will depend largely on the attitude of France.

Nor does he plan a march on Berlin similar to the march on Rome by Premier Mussolini's black-shirt bands a decade ago when the Italian Fascists took over the helm of Italy.

Instead of a coup de'etat, he indicated, he depends on his National Socialists to be invested with the governing power by way of the ballot box, in elections to choose members of the Reichstag.

BOY PUT ON "SPOT"

DETROIT, Dec. 7.(AP)—A group of newsboys plotted revenge in their Haymow clubhouse yesterday on 15-year-old Joe Przystas, who had been accused of 'pickin' on little kids," and a few hours later "Little Joe" was killed by a rifle bullet.

Stanley Orlenowski, 14, president of the organization known as the "Foyd club" admitted to police he fired the shot but insister he meant only to frighten Joe.

John Gant Is Badly Hurt as Flag Pole Falls

John G. Gant, former Pampan, suffered critical injuries at Borger Saturday night when a section of a pipe flagpole fell upon him as he and Mrs. Gant were walking along the sidewalk near the Legion hall in Borger.

Mrs. Gant is a teacher at the Baker school. She is with her husband at a Borger hospital. Mr. Gant was well-known here as an employe of the Pampa Refining company before it was sold to Wilcox. He is an official of a refinery at Sunray.

According to reports received here a group of children were playing on the flagpole when the pipe broke. Mr. Gant's collar-bone was broken and his chest crushed. He has a good chance for recovery, medical attendants said.

Captain Hamer Solves Robbery

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Robbery of the Levington-Lee County State bank last Februray had been solved today by Captain Frank Hamer of the Texas Rangers, who charged four men with the offense.

Milton McGregor, former cashier of the bank and William Dungan, Louis Grant and Earl Riggs were charged with the robbery.

The loot was $10,383.33, of which $550 was in liberty bonds. The bonds were burned in a tourist camp near Temple, three of the men, who gave Captain Hamer statements, said. The currency, silver and gold was divided among the quartet.

EX-SLAVE HAPPY

ATLANTA, Dec. 7. (AP)—This is to be a Merry Christmas for ex-slaves of the old south.

Negro churches have organized to provide gifts and a cheery program for those of the association of ex-slaves who now are unable to care for themselves.

Women Demand More Privileges

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — Several hundred feminists from all sections of the land "dated" their congressmen today for calls concernings rights of women.

They chose the busy opening day of congress to urge removal of a few scattering inequalities in the nationality laws and to ask passage of an equal rights amendment to the constitution.

A jubilitation on the capitol steps over the arrival in the senate of Mrs. Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, first active woman member, was a part of today's final program of the national woman's party biennial convention.

A demand for universal women's jury service was urged on the party by Miss Gail Laughlin, Maine lawyer.

She said any woman convicted could constitutionally maintain she had not been tried by a jury of her peers if no women had served on the panel hearing her case.

Railway Wage Cut Is Debated

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Union labor began to deliberate today the proposal of the nation's railroads for a voluntary 10 per cent cut in wages.

The railway world, from Wall Street to section hand, focused its attention on Chicago as executives of the big brotherhoods opened the conferences that are to settle the question—will organized labor accept a flat ten per cent cut for one year?

The program called for preliminary group meetings between the union representatives today and tomorrow with a combined meeting of all delegates Wednesday, at which time a decision may be reached.

DEMAND STATE AID

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7. (AP)—Reports from Jalapa, capital of Vera Cruz state, today said labor unions had demanded that the state take care of unemployed members.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE FEATURE GETS FOLLOWING

BERHAMPORE, Bengal, Dec. 7. (AP)—Renewal of the passive resistance campaign against the British government was foreshadowed today following a resolution adopted by the Bengal provincial conference of the national congress last night declaring the time has come to resume the campaign and the boycott.

The boycott was urged against foreign cloth, British goods, banks, insurance companies, and shipping lines.

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 7. (AP)—The council of the All-India Moslem league was on record today as expressing dissatisfaction with the failure of the British government to announce a decision on the safeguarding of Moslem rights in India.

LUCKNOW, India, Dec. 7. (AP)—Local district committees of the congress of the United Provinces have been authorized by an Agrarian sub-committee to begin a no-rent campaign immediately.

The sub-committee is headed by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru. Following the action, which was taken yesterday, Nehru left for the district of Rae Bareli and two other members of the sub-committee went to Bara Banki to hold other meetings.

The district committees are located at Rae Bareli, Tawah, Cawnpore and Unao.

Members of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce were given opportunity recently to suggest activities for the organization during the next year.

Better tobaccos don't grow than the tobaccos that go into Chesterfield. Ripe. Sweet. Aged and cured for two years under the watchful care of expert chemists.

Better cigarette paper can't be bought. Tasteless. Odorless. Pure!

Sanitary factories. Cleanliness in every step of the process. A purer cigarette than Chesterfield can't be made.

And the package! Absolutely moisture-proof. Sealed tight—yet the simplest thing in the world to open. And attractive to look at.

They're milder—they taste better—they're pure—They Satisfy!
