Registration in the Wellington schools will be held Thursday and Friday, Aug. 27 and 28, and classwork will start Monday, Aug. 31, Supt. J. L. Harper announced this week.

Buses will run their schedules for the first time Monday. An enrollment of between 750 and 775 is expected in elementary, junior high and high school, and approximately 120 children are already attending classes in Booker T. Washington school, Mr. Harper said.

The following registration schedule was announced:

High School
Aug. 27, seniors will register from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and juniors from 1 to 3:30 p.m.
Aug. 28, sophomores will register from 9 to 12 and freshmen from 1 to 3:30.

There will be a $2.50 registration fee, and this does not include insurance, the superintendent explained.

All students taking typing will pay a $3.00 typing fee per semester.

Those students participating in athletics, both boys and girls must have an athletic insurance policy which is $2.00, and this will have to be collected before a student can start working out, Mr. Harper said.

This is an Interscholastic League ruling and applies to both high school and junior high.

Junior High
The junior high registration schedule will be:
Aug. 27, eighth grade from 9 a.m. until 12 noon, seventh grade from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Children of the first, second and third grades will register Thursday, Aug. 27, from 1 to 3:30 p.m., and those in the fourth and fifth grades will register Friday from 9 until 12.

"Students entering the first grade for the first time will need a birth certificate," said Supt. Harper.

Each teacher will collect the fee needed to cover the cost of paper and other supplies, and this fee will be set by the teachers individually.

Insurance
Student insurance is optional, the superintendent explained, and two plans are offered. One will give coverage only during the time the student is at school or the other will give 24-hour coverage.

Parents interested will be given information on the premiums after school starts.

Two new subjects were added in high school this year—world geography, to be taught by Mrs. Jack Durham, and chorus, with James Larson, band instructor, in charge.

Drouth-Breaking Rains Drop Up to 3 Inches Over County

"The Million Dollar Rain," or "the rain that saved the cotton crop" . . . that's what Collingsworth farmers are calling the drouth-breaker that fell from Friday through Sunday some of the youngest, most seriously damaged cotton may not respond.

But growers also agree that while this rain broke the backbone of the drouth, more rain will be needed in the next few weeks to make a bumper cotton crop, and to mature another top crop such as the county had last year.

The Weather Bureau station at the Highway Department office, on the east edge of Wellington, recorded 1.56 inches of moisture for the three-day period, and Barney Glenn, a short distance east, had 1.5.

On the west side of town, however, A. C. Shipley, a short distance south of the southwest corner, received 2.5, and the WeatherScan station at the northwest corner recorded 2.9.

Rain was equally varied around Dodson. In town 1.4 inches fell, and south of town, in the vicinity of the A. V. Lowrie farm, only .6 was measured. East of Dodson, rains were heavier from 1 to 1.5 inches, and to the north, around the Bill Patterson farm, from 2 to 3 inches fell.

Between Wellington and Dodson, Grover Graham reported heavy rain. The farm operated by Cecil Shanks at Fresno received 2 inches, and in the Loco area around an inch and a half.

At the Frank Fourmentin farm near Rolla, southwest of Wellington, 2.3 inches was measured.

In the Samnorwood, Dozier and Lutie area, rain, generally speaking, measured from 1.5 to 2 inches. Roy Hoffman reported 1.5 inches at Dozier and a little less at Lone Mound, to the north. Cotton is looking all right, he said, but little bolls are already cracking because of dry weather on some of the older cotton. Milo looks good in that area and the irrigated cotton "awfully good".

At the Lewis Green farm in the Roundup community, east of Lutie, 2.5 inches was measured.

Guy Lemley reported 1.3 inches at his place in Plymouth Flat.

Rain was lighter at Quail, and on the west county line, rancher Bill Cooke reported only 20 up until Saturday.

Other factors besides moisture will determine this cotton crop. One of these is the date of the first killing frost, and how much time the top crop has to mature.

County Agent Cecil Regier warned all cotton growers to keep a sharp lookout for boll worms and weevils.

"Most fields checked this week don't have a problem yet, but with this weather, it can build up in a hurry," he said.

Regier recommended growers to begin spraying operations when about 5 per cent of the squares show worms and when weevil punctures are found in from 10 to 15 per cent of the bolls.

Final Rites on Monday for Mrs. Bert Weaver

Mrs. Bert Weaver, almost a life-long resident of the Quail area and member of a prominent family of that community, died in Highland General Hospital, Pampa, at 11:55 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 15. She was ill only a short time.

Her husband, the late Bert Weaver, served for a number of years as Commissioner of Precinct 3 and farmed near Quail.

Earlier this year, Mrs. Weaver moved to Wellington, to the home she bought at 1401 East Avenue.

She was the former Margaret Frances Pierce, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pierce, born at Big Sandy, Tenn., Dec. 8, 1898, she was only three when the family moved to Quail, where she attended school.

She was married to Mr. Weaver on Feb. 20, 1916, in the Lillie community. He preceded her in death Feb. 22, 1961.

For the last 38 years, she was a member of the Baptist Church.

Funeral services for Mrs. Weaver were conducted at the Quail Baptist Church Monday at 3 p.m. Officiating were the Rev. Vick Johnson, pastor, and the Rev. O. D. Holton of Lubbock, a former pastor.

Pallbearers were Frank Kennedy, Donald Dollar, Clifton Dollar, Lewis Morris, Sam Adams and Joe Terry. Honorary pallbearers were Willie Tow, Ike Skaggs and Herman Moseley.

Burial was in the Quail cemetery under the direction of Kelson Funeral Home.

Surviving Mrs. Weaver are five daughters, Mrs. Emory Ewing of Phillips, Mrs. Travis Somerville of Dallas, Mrs. Louise Taylor of Brownfield, Mrs. Gerald Copeland of Fullerton, Calif., and Mrs. Jesse West of Akron, Ohio.

Other survivors are a sister and a brother, Mrs. L. J. Wayne of Tulsa and E. G. Pierce of Quail. There are 10 grandchildren.

George Bush Brings His Race for U. S. Senate Here Thursday

George Bush, the Republican candidate for United States Senator, will be in Wellington Thursday, Aug. 20 to speak at the community building at 2:30 p.m.

"We not only urge all Republicans to hear George Bush but we also strongly urge all conservatives to attend," David Baumgardner, Republican county chairman, invited.

There will be an opportunity for those present to meet Bush after his talk.

Wellington people who have heard Bush speak are impressed by his sincerity of manner and the forthright way in which he states the case for the conservatives.

A Houston businessman, Bush is founder and president of the Zapata Off-Shore Co., a firm specializing in contract drilling of and production from off-shore oil and gas wells in the Gulf of Mexico. He himself started at the bottom of the industry, as a clerk for another company.

A native of Connecticut, Bush is the son of Prescott S. Bush, Republican U.S. Senator from that state for 10 years and known in the Senate for his integrity and financial knowledge.

The senatorial candidate has been a Texan all his adult life, except for time in the Navy and in college. He earned his ensign's commission and pilot's wings at the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi at 18, one of the youngest men in the Navy to be commissioned. In World War II he won the Navy's highest award for pilots, the Distinguished Flying Cross and three air medals.

He enrolled in Yale University immediately after World War II and received his degree in two and a half years. He then returned to Texas as a clerk for Dresser Industries.

He helped form a small firm dealing in oil royalties and leases in 1951. In Midland, where he lived until 1958, he was an active civic worker for such things as Cancer Crusade and the Community Chest.

Bush is married and the father of five children, ranging in age from four to 17.

Bush moves his campaign from Dallas north into the Panhandle in a 3-day warmup drive for votes beginning on Thursday, Aug. 20.

After rallies through deep East Texas and South Central Texas last week before enthusiastic crowds, and a push through Fort Worth, Arlington and Dallas last week, the 40-year-old Houston oil and businessman heads north for Childress on Thursday morning.

Following meetings there, Bush, who refers to himself as "responsible conservative", combined meetings with civic clubs at Childress.

30 Students Needed

Speed-Reading Course Available for City

A class in speed reading will be taught in Wellington this fall if there is sufficient demand. Rudy Horak of Amarillo, who has taught speed reading several years in that city and in surrounding towns, will come here one evening each week, preferably Monday or Tuesday, if as many as 30 can be enrolled. The course teaches not only increased speed of reading, but also increased comprehension.

"The course enables the average student to triple his reading rate and considerably improve his comprehension," Horak said. It has been especially popular with teachers and others who read a great deal as part of their work.

Classes will be two hours in length, from 7:30 to 9:30 for 10 weeks, or 20 hours class instruction.

Some of the basic principles and techniques covered, as outlined by Horak, include freedom from word reading; application of "group word" reading by increasing the recognition span; reducing the "fixation time" or time the eyes are focussed on printed material, through conditioning the mind to react quickly to print.

Students also learn to read "actively" and in critical sense

A Communist May Have One Official, Other Unofficial Jobs

The FBI's J. Edgar Hoover, recognized by Americans as the greatest authority we have on communism, recently testified before the subcommittee of the committee on appropriations of the House of Representatives:

"It is well established that top heavy percentage of Soviet Bloc official personnel assigned to this country, actually have intelligence assignments of one type or another. The number of these representatives has steadily increased over the years and the Soviet Block works diligently to send more and more such representatives into this country. These individuals range from those assigned to their embassies and the United Nations, to numerous other groups, including commercial representatives, exchange groups and the like."

Mr. Hoover told the sub committee that as of January 1, there were 744 Soviet Bloc official personnel in this country, with 1,099 dependents, some of whom have intelligence assignments.

Between July 1, 1960 and January 1, 1964—just three and a half years, Soviet Bloc official personnel and their dependents in this nation increased 35 per cent!

Startling as this is, it is to be remembered that these are just the ones who direct the intelligence work in the United States. The bulk of the work is done by the many, many others who are unattached officially to the Soviet Bloc. Some of them profess to be against communism and for America. Is there any doubt that we should devote ourselves even more to the preservation of our liberty?

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a Congressman says there are only two motives that will keep people at work: the fear of poverty and the fear of Big Brother's bayonet.

Which dark view of citizen kind is not fair to the fellow who works because he thinks a man ought to be good for something besides riding his neighbors.

But it may be that when in the Congress business you get called on mostly by people on the take, and get to thinking everybody is; same as it must seem like to a plumber that all people have got clogged drains.

I see where Mr. U Thant has been on a trip to Russia trying to collect the back dues that country owes the U.N.

But he came back empty-handed, without even getting a promise to pay, and my business neighbor says when a debtor quits promising, you had just as well hand him his deadbeat diploma.

However, he doubts that U Thant tried real hard on this bill collecting sashay, on account of figuring if the Reds don't pay what they owe, then the involuntary sucker U.S. taxpayer can be shocked down for the shortage.

My filling station functioneer neighbor who is a foreign affairs expert between flats, says North Vietnam ought not to have jumped the U.S. Navy during an election year.

Says we are pretty irritable when in the throes of voting, and also at this time the in-party feels the need of proving it can act as tough as the out-party talks.

And recent history suggests that if the enemy had picked an off-year to unleash his PT boats, we would probably have apologized for being there and handed him a billion dollars to pay for the ammunition he used up.

Even from this low level it can be seen that injustice is plentiful in the world, but our Congress is striving manfully and womanfully to cure some of it.

Like when moving to provide cost-of-living raises for the federally-fed, they did some fancy calculating to even up the inequity they noticed.

Seems they discovered the cost of keeping Congressmen from starving has gone up $7,500 per year, whereas some Socially Secured folks only need $24 a year more to bring them up to parity living.

Law in Regard to School Buses Cited

It is hard to believe in the middle of August that school days are almost here again, Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol supervisor for this area, reminded this week. He then pointed out again the state law regulating traffic in regard to school buses.

"The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside the limits of any incorporated city or town," said Sgt. Wilson, "upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which is stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children, shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may proceed past such bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding 10 miles per hour, with due caution for the safety of such children."

Commenting on the upcoming Labor Day week end facing Texas motorists, the veteran patrol supervisor said, "Many Texas families will be taking advantage of this last long summer week end to take trips prior to the opening of school. Many of these families will be trying to cover too many miles. As a result, the possibilities of traffic crashes will be increased."

Because this holiday is mostly a family affair, more persons will be occupying cars. Thus, any traffic accident may result in several casualties. This has been evidenced several times on Texas highways in recent weeks. During the 72 hour Labor Day week end last year, 31 crashes claimed the lives of 44 persons.

The next stop was at the weather information center and from there they went to see the sentry dogs. On the way back to their barracks they saw the B-52s.

After supper some of the Scouts went to the movies.

Sunday morning the Scouts arose at 6:00 a.m., returned the bedding, cleaned the barracks and had time to play games before eating breakfast. After that they talked with the sergeant in charge before leaving for home. They arrived in Wellington at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

The Explorer Scouts of Post 31, Wellington, held a bowling party at the Greenbelt Lanes in Childress Saturday, Aug. 1.

The two high scorers, Bill Spillman with 167 and Gary Branch with 146 had a playoff. Bill won by one pin—99 to 98.

Those attending were Jerry Havron, Cleland Stallings, Sammy Hicks, Alan Fires, Zeldon Jenkins, Buster Howard, Bill Spillman, George Porter, Paul Jones, Gary Branch, associate advisor Bill Duckworth, and advisor W. A. Allen.

Feed Grain Acres Can Be Substituted for Wheatland in 1965

Details of the 1965 voluntary wheat program have been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Operation of the program in general will be about the same as that for the 1964 crop year. Although some program provisions are modified, participating farmers can get about the same returns as from the 1964 program.

The principal changes, compared with 1964 program provisions are:

A. Domestic certificates will be worth 75 cents per bushel (were worth 70 cents), and export certificates 30 cents per bushel (were 25 cents).

B. Price support national average loan rate will be $1.25 per bushel (was $1.30).

C. Program participants can qualify for domestic certificates on 45 per cent and export certificates on 35 per cent of the normal production from their allotment (were 45 per cent each).

D. Wheat and feed grain (including oats and rye) acreage substitution will be possible (none in 1964).

E. If diversion in addition to the required minimum is at least 10 per cent of the farm's 1965 allotment, payment on such additional diversion will be made on 50 per cent of the farm's normal production times the county loan rate on all of such added acres diverted to conserving use. No payment will be made for applying conserving use to the minimum qualifying acreage equal to 11.1 per cent of the 1965 allotment. (Payment in 1964 was at 20 per cent for all acres diverted to conserving use).

F. A producer can get program loan and certificate allocation benefits if he exceeds his acreage allotment by not more than 50 per cent on any farm in which he has an interest and stores under bond the wheat from the excess acreage, meanwhile carrying out conserving use requirements of the program (not provided in 1964).

Signup for the 1965 voluntary wheat program is planned to begin on Aug. 24 and run through Oct. 2 in ASCS offices. The 1965 feed grain program signup will not begin until early next year and will operate under the same legislative authority as in 1964 and therefore will be similar to the 1964 program. The 1965 diversion requirements, payment rates, and loan levels will be determined and announced later.

The 1965 program for wheat will be entirely voluntary. As in 1964, there will be no marketing quotas or marketing quota penalties for the 1965 crop. Further, those overplanting their acreage allotment in 1965 will not lose wheat acreage history for future years.

Program provisions offer a wide range of choice including substitution between wheat and feed grain acreage.

A producer may become a program participant by signing up and meeting the applicable program provisions. A participant can become eligible for price support loans, diversion payments, and certificates with fixed cash values.

The 1965 national wheat acreage allotment of 49½ million acres (the same as for 1964) was announced June 19, 1964 (USDA 2034-64). The State acreage allotments were made at the same time, and these in turn are being allocated to individual farms.

Announcement of wheat-feed grain substitution for the 1965 crop was made on May 25.

Use of Certificates

Certificates will be earned by eligible producers on 80 per cent of the allotted acres times the normal yield for the farm, but not in excess of the normal production on the acreage of wheat planted for harvest. If the acreage planted for harvest is less than 80 per cent of the farm allotment, the reduction in certificates will be made first from the lower valued (export) certificates.

Commodity Credit Corporation will assist producers in marketing the certificates by purchasing them through county ASC committees.

Producers who sign up and otherwise apply 1965 program provisions to wheat will be eligible for price support loans on their entire production, except on any quantity stored under bond. The option of storing under bond is as follows: Participants who so elect in advance may overseed wheat up to 50 per cent in excess of allotments and then store the excess production under bond. The excess production to be stored under bond would be twice the normal production of the acreage exceeding the allotment, or the actual production if less than the normal.

The producers using this option would be eligible for price support loans and certificates on wheat from their allotted acres. This provision is of special interest in high crop-risk areas as it will provide reserves in case of drought. A producer may use the bonded-storage option on any farm in which he has an interest in the wheat crop. However, if a producer decides to over seed his allotment, he will not be eligible to substitute wheat and feed grain acreage within the program.

Substitution

A producer who has both a farm wheat allotment and a feed grain base and who signs up for both programs, will be eligible to use the substitution provision. He can either grow wheat on feed grain permitted acres, or grow feed grains on all or part of the wheat permitted acres. Such a producer takes part in the 1965 program relating to wheat and feed grains exactly as he would without the substitution provision except that the acreage of either wheat or feed grains could be greater. However, a producer who plants feed grains on wheat allotment acreage may put this feed grain production under loan, but he will not be eligible for feed grain program price support payments on this acreage, nor will he receive additional certificates for wheat grown in lieu of feed grains. A producer not eligible for the benefits of both programs may still obtain the benefits of the program for which he is eligible.

Further, a producer may request that a separate oats-rye base acreage be established for his farm. Thus a cooperator in the wheat program may grow wheat on oats-rye base acres (minus diverted acreage) in addition to being able to grow wheat on all or part of the feed grain permitted acreage. When this option is exercised, corn, grain sorghum or barley can not be grown on the oats-rye base or on the wheat allotment acreage. The purpose of establishing an oats-rye base is to extend benefits to producers who mainly grow wheat, oats and rye. If a producer requests but does not use this option, eligibility for program benefits will be determined as if the oats-rye option had not been requested. To be eligible for an oats-rye base a farmer must have harvested an acreage of one or both of these crops in the base years of 1959 and 1960 and also harvested an acreage of one or both of these crops in 1964.

Acreage Diversion

Qualification for certificates and price support loans can be achieved by planting within the 1965 allotment and devoting to conserving uses an acreage equal to 11.1 per cent of that allotment. To qualify for diversion payments, participants will need to divert at least 10 per cent additional acreage below the allotment. Maximum diversion for payment can be 20 per cent of the allotment or enough additional acreage within the wheat allotment to make a total of 15 acres. Payment rate per acre for the additional diversion will be 50 per cent of the county basic price support loan rate times the farm normal yield. Our county average payment rate per acre is $11.78.

Producers who wish to sign up in both the wheat and feed grain program may do so by increasing the acreage of crop land devoted to a conservation use not less than the total of the acreage signed up to be diverted under both programs. Diversion payments will be computed on the basis of the actual crop or crops reduced.

(For instance if wheat is grown in lieu of feed grains, diversion payments would be at the applicable feed grain crop rates).

Whether or not cooperators may have the opportunity to produce certain non-surplus crops on diverted acreage will be determined when more information is available.

Diversion payments for the oats-rye option will be a percentage of the wheat diversion rate and will be announced with the 1965 feed grain program.

A TENNIS CHAMPION COMES HOME

Ted Sugg Dukeminier of Oklahoma City, has won 350 tennis trophies since her first, won as a 12-year-old Wellington school girl. In Wellington

Tennis Champion

350 Trophies Won by Former City Woman

Three hundred and fifty trophies stand in cases at the home of a championship tennis player who never had a lesson, and who hit her first ball on the courts of the old Wellington East Ward school.

Ted Sugg Dukeminier of Oklahoma City, one of the southwest's top players, was in Wellington recently to visit her mother, Mrs. W. W. Sugg and to attend the Wellington Ex-Students reunion.

Within the next few weeks, however, she will play in three tournaments: the Oklahoma Open and the Indian Capital Tournament at Muskogee, Oklahoma, and the State Closed Tournament, which she has won 15 times in singles, doubles and mixed doubles. It will be played in Oklahoma City. Eleven trophies have come from the Missouri Valley Tournament, Kansas City, where she played in the adult women's doubles and mixed doubles.

This brought her and her partner of the last 15 years, Gene Land of Muskogee, an invitation to play in that most famous of all American tournaments, Forrest Hills, on Long Island.

"This is a grass court—and we'd never played on a grass court before!" Mrs. Dukeminier recalled. "Gene and I played the No. 1 team in the tournament, Darlene Hand and Lou Hogue."

This exuberant, dark-haired champion is a repeater, often scoring in both women's and mixed doubles (she hasn't played singles since 1950) of the same tournament. Among these are the River Oaks at Houston, Tri State at Amarillo, Southwestern at Roswell, Polar Bear, Oklahoma-Texas, and many others.

It was her older brother, Cal Sugg, who first taught her to play tennis. His theory of teaching was simple: "Either hit the ball or get hit." His little sister Teddie learned to hit the ball.

She won her first tournament, at Vernon, when she was 12 years old and in junior high here.

For the last 10 years Mrs. Dukeminier has been president of the Oklahoma Tennis Association, which conducts clinics twice a year for young players.

The rodeo proper will begin Wednesday, Aug. 26 with performances at 8 p.m. daily through Aug. 29. A giant street parade will be held on Wednesday at 3:00 p.m., led by the Amarillo Air Force Band. Beutler Bros. of Elk City, Okla., will be in Pampa for the third year with their string of wild bucking horses and bulls to test the ability of top cowboys from over the nation. Contesting under the rules of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, the cowboys will vie for $3,500 in prize money plus all entry fees. Everybody benefits when Rural Electricshelp open the window on the world

Because we live with history as it happens, we are better able to meet its challenges when they face us.

And, thanks to our consumer-owned rural electric systems, all Americans... not just those in or near the big cities... can sit in on the great events of our times. They can watch the drama of a national convention as it moves to nominate a candidate. They see and hear the world's statesmen as they debate an issue in the United Nations.

Rural electricshelp provide the power for radios and television sets across the countryside. They provide the energy that rolls the presses of many a small newspaper.

Built with the help of Rural Electrification Administration loans, rural electric systems also furnish the power for lonely radar stations that scan the skies and flash news to our defense centers. Ranger towers that guard our state and national forests... telephone relay stations that help speed messages across the country... missile sites and vital defense installations in remote areas... depend on rural electricshelp for power. The rural electricshelp meet these and other responsibilities with the continuing help of REA loans.

The result is a nation whose citizens sit secure and informed before a window on the world... ready to speak and act with a united voice. And everybody benefits.

Miss Saunders and Mr. Breedlove Marry in Formal Ceremony Sunday

The First Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Martha Sue Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Saunders, and Michael Harold Breedlove, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Breedlove of Wellington.

The afternoon double ring ceremony was solemnized at 4 p.m. on Sunday, August 16 by the Rev. Ellis Todd, pastor, before an altar centered with a white wrought iron arch, covered with white flowers and a white satin prie dieu, on either side of which stood seven-branched candelabras with cathedral tapers and pedestal baskets of white gladiolus. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Vicki Glenn, organist, provided traditional wedding music, and accompanied Miss Karen Richardson, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace and tulle, styled with a fitted bodice, scalloped neckline, accented with seed pearls, and iridescent sequins. The long sleeves came to a point over the hand. The full skirt was formal length of tiers of lace and tulle with an overskirt of lace coming to a point on each side providing a bustle effect in the back. The center front of the overskirt was held by a single self rose of lace. The fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pillbox of organza trimmed with pearls and sequins. The bridal bouquet was of white fuchsia carnations, centered with a white orchid held with satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Troy Marsh, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Jan Lindsey served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Kimbro, Miss Dianne Moseley, and Miss Lonette Neeley, all of Quail. They wore identical dresses of royal blue brocade, styled with a boat neckline, fitted bodice, short sleeves and full ballerina length skirts. Situated in Southwest Arkansas, the bustling city of Prescott is the center of many scenic attractions. Eight miles away is ARKLA VILLAGE, an authentic re-creation of a typical frontier town of the mid-1880's, where there's fun for all the family. In another direction you take a ride on the Possum Trot Line of the READER RAILROAD driven by an old-fashioned steam engine. Go another way to a real DIAMOND MINE where, for a small fee, you can dig for your own diamonds (one woman found a $15,000 stone). Then there's OLD WASHINGTON, a famous roadside inn, which around 1830 was the last outpost before reaching the wilderness of the West. Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The rains not only brought needed moisture; they also ended the continuous heat wave through which the crops and people have suffered for over 40 days. The rains varied considerably from one place to another; but practically all of the Wellington area received ample moisture for the present. The rains were sufficient to complete the maize crop; but more will be needed in September for a bumper cotton harvest. Much of the cotton is late and the frost date will have an important bearing on both the quality and the amount. It will be well to remember that later defoliating adds to the microtest of the lint which means a higher price than that which is defoliated early.

Pete Nipper, who is still combining wheat in North Dakota sends a clipping from the Minot (N.D.) Daily News. While we were sweltering in 107 degree weather they had frost in Parshall, N.D.—30 degrees, in fact. Pete observed in a note that this kind of weather poses a problem for a Texas combiner equipped with short sleeved shirts and short-legged underwear.

A good many people from here have attended the World's Fair; but the record for early attendance goes to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander. They were in Washington visiting their son, Major J. T. Alexander, who is stationed in the Pentagon at the present time, and the three of them took in the fair on the third day after it opened. Earl liked the fair just fine; but he said he believed he got more pleasure out of riding the subway and seeing the sights of New York. That may well be for New York City is a show in itself at any time.

Here is part of a letter from Harold Hudson of the Ochiltree County Herald in Perryton:

Dear Deck and Louise: You will be glad to know that your delicious peaches are now numbered among the missing, having disappeared in the form of (1) fresh sliced peaches with cream, (2) a peach pie, and (3) peach cobbler. And I must say that these peaches, which I presume were grown in Collingsworth county, were far better than the ones sent to me from the Georgia Press Association a while back.

This letter reminds me of something I have known for a long time. Peaches grown on the sandy sub-irrigated land of Collingsworth county have a better flavor and superior texture than any I have ever eaten that were grown elsewhere. It is something we need to advertise more. We also need several hundred more acres in peaches and a Peach Growers Marketing Association to encourage packaging, grading, pricing and a number of other things that have to do with making money out of peaches.

School time is nearly here and the feeling is in the air. It makes me a little sad to note that the schools at Vinson and Ron will not be in operation this year although Arnett is continuing. But that is the trend. There was only one school in all of Childress county last year. I may be too old-fashioned for the present times; but I do not see this as a good development in the schools especially for the younger children in the grades who in some instances travel 40 miles by bus each day to and from school. Riding a bus 40 miles looking at the same scenery, staring at the same faces is not like walking a familiar path home where something is always new in nature in each season. For the school child of yesteryear there was the snow of winter, the flowers of spring and the colorful leaves of fall. Of course if anybody thinks that I suggest changing the coal oil lamp for modern electricity, the coal stove for the gas range, etc., they have misjudged my feeling. I simply say it is sad to see certain childhood freedoms which had some educational value for the individual of a curious mind, make way for a more regimented process.

This column will be short this week because Louise and I are on our way to Oklahoma City to see a man about an ear.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett Hardage and family of Farwell spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harris.
