CAPTAIN PREVENTED A LARGER LOSS OF LIFE BY ACTS

CHICAGO, July 29.—A four-day investigation of yesterday's excursion boat disaster in which twenty-seven persons, mostly women and children, lost their lives today revealed no evidence of negligence or carelessness on the part of crew or owner.

WAS GOOD BOAT

Instead of culpability, inquiries indicated that the boat had been pronounced seaworthy as late as July 11, last, and that the skipper tried valiantly to save his boat when the "garden of eden" equal struck it.

Minor Error Made

On the other hand, Governor Ogden said he found that although a few grooves were rotten and that many of them were inaccessible, the boat was in good condition for children were in some instances too high to reach; he believed, however, that the boat was safe.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Careful examination by Secretaries Kellogg and Wilbur and their advisors of the British proposals at Geneva served today only to strengthen the earlier official view that these proposals constituted a program of naval expansion to which the Washington government could not agree.

EASTERN BROKERS BUY TEXAS SHARES

FINANCING OF SAN ANTONIO STORE ACCOMPLISHED QUICKLY IN NEW YORK

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, July 29.—A deal by which eastern brokers advertised "and promptly sold" some 50,000 shares in a San Antonio department store was characterized as "like an echo" of Governor Moody and his Texas good will delegation urging northern capital to take advantage of opportunities in Texas.

WILLIAMS HEADS VETS

San Angelo Man Will Command Mountain Remnant Brigade of Confederate Soldiers

SAN ANGELO, July 29.—Z. I. Williams of San Angelo was unanimously elected commanding officer of the Mountain Remnant Brigade, United Confederate veterans, at the closing session of their meeting in Christoval Friday. As a result of three days of festivities which have become the greatest picnic celebration of the year in Christoval, two of the veterans and a widow were under care of physicians Friday night. Ben Brigham, 84, became seriously ill Thursday night with chills and fever, but had recovered sufficiently Friday to be removed to his home in Plano county. W. W. Futrell, 81, of Glen Cove, was forced to leave the platform with a heart attack and his condition remained uncertain at noon Friday. Mrs. Mary Grimes, 92, of San Angelo, fainted on the platform and Friday was under a physician's care.

STEERS SWAMP EXPORTERS AS BUFFS CONQUER CATS; BEARS RALLY TO OVERCOME SPORTS

(By Associated Press) WACO, July 29.—Steengrafe, the "Buff" ace and Ray Benge, the "Cats" leading righthander, hooked in a pitchers' duel here today that went eight innings without a run. Waco put over the winning hit in the ninth, taking the odd in the series, 1 to 0. Vinare Hoff in the ninth with a single, the second on Wolfgang's sacrifice and after Benge popped out third, scored on Windle's fourth of the game.

INDIANS SCALP YANKEES FOR OPENER

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, July 29.—Although outbitten by the Yankees by 1 to 11, Cleveland defeated New York in the first game of a series here today by 4 to 0, breaking a six straight winning streak of the Huguenin, Grabowski, Yanka catcher, split a finger on Luke Sewell's foul tip in the fifth inning and retired in favor of Collins. Hudlin was pounded hard but he tightened in the pitcher's box.

PIRATES DEFEAT DODGERS AND HOLD LEAD

(By Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, July 29.—The Pirates continued to hold undisturbed sway in the national by staging a timely rally in the ninth today to down Brooklyn by 4 to 3. Trailing by two runs in the last frame, Lloyd Waner led off with a single and after Grantham was retired, came home on a double by his brother Paul. On top of that came Traynor's triple driving in the tying run and Pitt cut off the box. Clark replaced Pitt and walked Cuyler and Harris to take a chance on Wright who lined a hit off the right field stands to decide the game.

Lost To Cards

TOMMY THEVENOW
Tommy Thevenow is lost to the Cards for the rest of the season. The brilliant young shortstop who was the hero of the 1926 world series suffered an injury to his ankle a few days ago that will keep him out the rest of the season. His loss will hamper the Cards in their quest for a second successive pennant, although the Cards are fortunate in that they have Heinie Schube to fill his place.

SUL ROSS VETERANS RETURN TO LOBO PACK FOR THIS YEAR'S GRID GAMES

ALPINE, July 29.—Prospects for a winning football team at Sul Ross this year are said to be the brightest in recent years. An exceptionally stiff schedule faces the Lobos this year with Texas Tech, Baylor and Howard, Payne two of the strongest eleven which the Sul Ross pack will meet.

PEACE OFFICERS TO MEET IN WILSON, OKLAHOMA

DENTON, July 29.—North Texas and South Oklahoma peace officers association will meet next in Wilson, Okla. It was decided here Friday at the quarterly convention of the association. The next meeting will be in October. In the pistol shot contest late today, A. C. Howerton, was first place with a score of 85, while M. E. Tidwell and Dallas Curstinger tied for second place. All three are from Denton county.

TEARS SWAMP EXPORTERS AS BUFFS CONQUER CATS; BEARS RALLY TO OVERCOME SPORTS

BEAUMONT, July 29.—Tears were enjoyed a batting jubilee for leaving town this evening. The Buffs won the game by 2 to 1. The last game of the Exporters, Darragh and R. Love were knocked out of the box in the third inning and Humphries who succeeded the latter was not a bit better. Bill Bagwell worked two hits in the fourth and fifth. The longest home run seen here in a season. An even dozen home hits were scored.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO DETERMINE CITY'S BEST

A tennis champion in both singles and doubles in Lubbock will be decided next week under plans announced here Friday for a city-wide open tournament to be started next Tuesday on the courts at the Tech College, or on any other available court in the city. Only players living in this city will be allowed to enter, and no entry fee is to be required. Trophies in the form of beautiful silver cups, offered by Sherrod Iron and Nislar Hardware companies are to be prizes in the tournament.

"How can they sell such corking tobacco at such a price?"
WELL, it's no secret. If Granger were packed in the usual pocket tin it would cost at least fifteen cents... but packed sensibly in heavy soft foil it costs but ten cents. But it isn't on price or package that we ask you to judge Granger, but on the one thing you smoke tobacco for—its taste.

CH BUILDING AT SOUTH PLAINS NOW

NEW BRICKS BEING USED AND MORE WORK PROMISED

SOUTH PLAINS, July 29.—Eight brick business houses are going to erect a modern hotel on the 22nd of this city.

According to the promoters, it is estimated that the contract will be let as soon as the plans can be worked out. J. S. Edwards, promoter from Station, Texas, says the work can be started as early as next week for the water system to be installed in the near future.

The future of the natural location of the city is the subject of much interest here. The fact that this city is located on the main line of the Texas and Pacific railway facilities with the advantages of business and a period of steady growth will be unprecedented in the history of West Texas.

It is stated that these facts are recognized by the big business interests of this section and as a result, the city has been promised a gas and water supply system of other advantages.

South Plains is located on the line of the Fort Worth and South Plains railway extended and situated at practically the center point of the Floydville highway to Ft. Worth.

The Chamber of Commerce has had a supply of road maps made showing the location of the Fort Worth and other points that are being added to the traveling public's local garages and filling stations.

It is wished that one of these maps be made showing the location of the city and the fact that it is a limited supply of the same on hand and they are expected to last long.

HOMER D. WADE TELLS ABOUT BENEFIT TO BE DERIVED FROM MOTORCADE TRIP

Fatigued from an automobile trip which followed the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Motorcade through the resort regions of West Texas and New Mexico, according to the breaking point of the organization's party into the play-grounds of Colorado, Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and party, arrived in Lubbock Thursday night and rested for the return journey.

Mr. Wade, for many years secretary of the W. T. C. C., has been managing the policies of the West Texas organization for the last two years.

Resembles Candidate Dressed in a gray suit which shows the wear of travel, the 29-year-old figure who is promoting the interests of a vast empire, resembled a gubernatorial candidate who has finished a 5,000 mile campaign.

General and smiling, Mr. Wade commented on the accomplishments of the motorcade. He spoke of the position Lubbock occupies as the center of the "great South Plains."

Mr. Wade is highly interested in the educational development of West Texas. He studied gratification at the number of students enrolled in Texas Tech last year, the school which was made possible by the efforts of the organization he represents.

See Tech College Accompanied by Mrs. Wade, Mrs. H. C. Lazenby of Fort Worth, Miss Naomi Burke of Houston, Miss Rebecca Marlon of Stamford and H. M. Whitaker, Jr., son of the agricultural manager of the West Texas organization, Mr. Wade made an inspection of the Texas Technological college this morning before leaving at 8 o'clock for Fort Worth.

There is possibly a thing the trip has developed, he continued. "It has likely served to promote a closer relationship between West Texas and eastern New Mexico towns. Many persons ask me why western-New-Mexico towns are included in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. I wish to explain that in this connection. Those towns bordering the eastern section of the state to our west are acting as tributaries to West Texas cities.

Take, for instance, Rawl, Clovis and Carlsbad. They now have the industrial and recreational facilities of Lubbock and Amarillo. One coming in from New Mexico would find this fact. Trucks loaded with supplies on many roads are coming in and going out of Lubbock. There is an increasing trade between New Mexico and West Texas cities. We are striving to coordinate all the commercial possibilities of our territory with those of New Mexico.

Makes Comparisons The executive passed a moment, when asked of the purpose of his extended trip into Colorado. Then his eyes were furtively directed at the questioner.

"I wanted to study the resorts of Colorado, purposely to make comparisons," he said. "The 'Dixie mountains,' the Blue Bend section and the Carlsbad region, all within West Texas trade territory surpass the myriad show-places of the Rocky mountain state. Why, the famous 'Cave of the Winds,' near Colorado Springs is a mere side pocket to the marvelous Carlsbad cavern. The Carlsbad cave, within easy reach of the Texas line, should attract a far greater number of tourists through Lubbock than the number now coming in from there."

Sul Ross Planning New Gym Building

ALPINE, July 29.—Plans for building the new gymnasium at the college are getting under way with a force of men engaged this week in making a contour map of the 40-acre campus immediately adjacent to the main building. The map being made now will serve as a guide in not only locating the new gym building, but for all future buildings, according to President Morelock. Some new tennis courts are to be built soon. President Morelock said this week, just as soon as bids can be received for the work.

FLIERS SENTENCED ON SMUGGLING COUNT

LOS ANGELES, July 29. (AP)—Emmett Longbrake and Burleigh P. Chaney, aviators, and the latter manager of the Eagle airport, were sentenced to serve a year and a day each in a federal penitentiary by Federal Judge P. J. Henning today. The two were convicted last week of conspiring to smuggle Chinese into the country by airplane from Mexico.

DAILY MARKETS: COTTON DECLINES. NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—An early advance in the cotton market was followed by reactions today, December selling off from 1918 to 1835 and closing at that figure.

COTTON DECLINES: The opening was steady with first trades showing gains of five points and making a relatively steady Liverpool advance.

COTTON DECLINES: The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 3 points on covering by recent sellers who appeared to be influenced by continued talk of showery weather in the south and boll weevil reports.

COTTON DECLINES: October sold up to 1835 and January to 1927, while March advanced to 1949. Failure of the official forecast for showers virtually over the entire belt to create a more aggressive demand, seemed to disappoint early buyers.

COTTON DECLINES: The lowest prices of the day were touched in late trading, October selling off to 1870, January to 1925 and March to 1925, closing prices were approximately the low of the day.

COTTON DECLINES: Three of the private end July crop reports were issued, one of them making the condition 70.7 without giving any figures on the condition.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: David and Jonathan.

Scripture Lesson: I Sam. 18:1-4.

I Sam. 18: 1. And it came to pass when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, that the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul.

2. And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his father's house.

3. Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, because he loved him as his own soul.

4. And Jonathan stripped himself of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his apparel, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.

I Sam. 18: 1. And Saul spake to Jonathan his son, and to all his servants, that they should slay David. But Jonathan, Saul's son, delighted much in David.

2. And Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father seeketh to slay thee: therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thyself in the morning, and abide in a secret place and hide thyself.

3. And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where thou art, and I will commune with my father of thee; and if I see aught, I will tell thee.

4. And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father, and said unto him, Let not the king sin against his servant, against David; because he hath set his face against the Lord: 455 because his works have been these, and very good:

5. For he put his life in his hand, and smote the Philistine, and Jehovah wrought a great victory for all Israel: thou sawest it, and thou rejoicest; wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?

6. And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan: and Saul sware, As Jehovah liveth, he shall not be put to death.

7. And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan showed him all these things. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence, as before-time.

Time: Professor Beecher dates the plot against David's life, B. C. 1071: David an outlaw, B. C. 1045; David smites Saul's life in the cave, B. C. 1042; the second sparing of Saul's life, B. C. 1045; the death of Saul and Jonathan, B. C. 1042.

Place: The attempts of Saul to slay David took place at Gibeon, in Benjamin, which Saul seems to have made his capital.

Golden Text: There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother, Prov. 18: 24.

Introduction: After David's return from pursuing the Philistines, Saul's general, Abner, had brought the lid before the king. Saul had asked David who his father was, and David had answered; but the implication here is that the conversation had extended much beyond this query and reply. "The soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David." It was friendship "at first sight." There must have been something exceedingly winsome in David's face and manner; he made friends easily all his life, and his friends were ardent and devoted. "Knit with" implies the closest and most intimate affection. Jonathan loved him as his own soul. The statement is repeated in I Sam. 20: 17; and in David's lament for Jonathan, II Sam. 1: 25, he declares that Jonathan's love "was wonderful, passing the love of women."

The shepherd lad was roughly clad, in garments not fit for a court. Jonathan not only honored him by giving him his clothes, and clothed him in proper court habiliments, but by the act he ratified the covenant into which they had just entered. (v. 4.) The "robe" was his long outer garment; the "apparel" may have been a special garment under it, to be worn with arms; the sword was a rare weapon in those days, and the bow, which would seem from II Sam. 1: 32 to have been Jonathan's special weapon, as the sword was Saul's. True friends have all things in common, and each enjoys his own possessions far more when his friend shares them. Whoever would have friends must be friendly. Friendship rests on sympathy and helpfulness, on unselfishness such as Jonathan's.

Jonathan Warns David, v. 2. "And Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father seeketh to slay thee." Jonathan was loyal to his father and held to him to the last, dying on the same field of battle. But Jonathan knew that the highest loyalty to his father required him to do what he could to prevent his yielding to the worse part of his nature and obeying its evil dictates. This must have been spoken in the evening, as soon as Jonathan learned of his father's base intention. David could keep secure at night, but the next day his duties would require him to be about the court, exposed to assassination. "Abide in a secret place, and hide thyself." This was a secret place well known to the two, doubtless one where David and Jonathan had been in the habit of meeting.

Jonathan Pleads For David. Jonathan, like a skilled advocate, reminded his father of the most conspicuous example of David's loyalty, his combat with Goliath, which might so easily have resulted fatally for the bold young hero. "And Jehovah wrought a great victory for all Israel." A less skillful pleader would have said here that David had won a great victory for all Israel; but he knew that his father was intensely jealous of David, and that, wonderful exploit, and so pictured his friend as merely the instrument through which God had worked to gain the triumph. This was precisely true, for David without God's help could never have slain the giant. "Wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David, without a cause?" Jonathan presses home the fearful charge that Saul was planning murder, since David had done nothing to deserve death as a penalty.

Jonathan A True Friend. "Jonathan was the eldest son of the king, the heir to the throne, the natural successor of Saul. David, by his military prowess, had come to be esteemed by the people as a worthy successor for the throne. He had been anointed by Samuel, the prophet, as a worthy candidate for that office of distinction. Yet Jonathan, who had least to gain and most to lose by protecting the life of his friend, makes his affection a thing resplendent by its unselfishness. He must have known that David would increase while he must decrease, yet the sky of affection was unclouded by a touch of jealousy."

Last Meeting Of David And Jonathan I Sam. 23: 15-18. David was a hunted fugitive, never knowing when Saul's soldiers would be upon him. He lived in caves or in the woods, slept out in the open air, obtained his food precariously, was often cold and wet, hungry and weary. It was a sad and lonely life, though a band of attached and congenial friends held to him stoutly and shared his exile. To him, while he was hiding in the savage region between the mountains of Judah and the Dead Sea, one of the wildest countries on earth, Jonathan managed to make his way and "strengthened his hand in God"—a beautiful phrase. He bade David be of good cheer, and prophesied that after all his wanderings he should yet be king of Israel, with Jonathan himself the second in rank. It was the final meeting of the illustrious friends.

David Mourns Jonathan's Death. II Sam. 1: 17-27. This tragic and yet happy story has its final scene on the death of Saul and Jonathan. Once more Israel was attacked by those fierce Goss, the Philistines, and the decisive battle was joined at Mt. Gilboa, north of Shechem. The Philistines were victorious, Saul committed suicide on the field, and Jonathan was slain, doubtless fighting heroically. David rent his clothes in token of deep grief, and fasted, and wept in his great sorrow. He expressed his woe in a lamentation which is one of the most beautiful poems he ever wrote, one of the world's greatest elegies. Almost every line of this ode has passed into the proverbial language of mankind. It is a worthy commemoration of one of the noblest friendships of history. "Jonathan's affection for David was wonderful in its first revealing, but the more it was put to the test the purer and holier it proved. Some friendships are emotional and soon burn out, leaving only cold ashes, but Jonathan's only increased in intensity as the days went on. So it should always be.

AIRPLANES SEARCHING FOR TWO ARIZONA MEN. YUMA, Ariz., July 29 (AP)—Two naval airplanes together with desert men afoot and on horse back searched in vain yesterday for two lost men.

The airplanes were searching for Andrew Arsenault, 30, Wellton, Ariz., mining man, who has been lost in the Castledome country, 56 miles northwest of here a week. At Palomas, a group of mining men sought Harry McEneaney, who has been lost since Monday in the vicinity of the Emagasser mine. McEneaney is an old timer in the Palomas country.

EDWARDS BROTHER WILL FILL VACANCY. DENTON, Texas, July 29 (AP)—R. J. Edwards of Fort Worth will become general manager of the Denton Record Chronicle and president of the corporation, succeeding his brother W. C. Edwards, who left Friday for Washington to become publisher of the Washington Herald.

James Edwards of Dallas will succeed his father as editor of the paper and will be vice president of the organization. W. C. Edwards has been publisher of the Record Chronicle for more than 30 years.

U. S. CONSUMPTION OF CIGARETTES IS GIVEN. AUSTIN, July 29 (AP)—Ninety-billion cigarettes were consumed last year by smokers of the United States, and the federal government profited $28,986,909 thereby, Internal Revenue Collector James W. Bass, revealed here.

By a certain waggish interpretation of other statistics, if these cigarettes were placed end to end, it would be football.

By a strictly mathematical calculation, however, figures in possession of Mr. Bass show that such a line-up of "Fags" would circle the earth several times.
