Stevenson on Long, Silent Journey Home

Funeral Services Tomorrow

LONDON (UPI)—Adlai E. Stevenson today began the long journey home.

President Johnson's personal plane bore the body of the U.S. diplomat who collapsed and died Wednesday.

The big blue and white jet left London at 3:15 p.m. (8:14 a.m. CST) and was due in Washington late today.

Funeral services will be held Friday at Washington's National Cathedral before the body is taken to Bloomington, Ill., for burial. Stevenson's body lay in state today in the marble walls of the U.S. Embassy lobby in Mayfair until it was borne to the plane.

There has been no official announcement of the cause of death but a coroner's verdict is expected to list a thrombosis or stroke as cause of the statesman's death at the age of 65.

Before the departure, Prime Minister Harold Wilson and former Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home had stood silently before the purple-draped catafalque as a symbol of the free world's mourning.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Stevenson's three sons were on the flight back to Washington. In a statement Humphrey said:

"We have come to take home the body of Adlai Stevenson. But no grave can contain that living spirit. He worked and worked and worked at the world's most difficult problems until at last the great heart gave out."

An honor guard of Americans from the four U.S. armed services and four British soldiers stood by the bier. Presence of the Britons was another mark of affection and esteem by the British. The Queen also sent a message of grief.

An escort of 30 police motorcycles led the cortege of 13 cars and the hearse to the airport.

After the Washington service, the body of the former Illinois governor, twice the Democratic candidate for president and since then ambassador to the United Nations, will be returned to Bloomington, for burial on Monday.

Humphrey looked close to tears as he watched the light brown wooden coffin being placed aboard the aircraft.

Mrs. Ronald Tree, who was with Stevenson when he died and who tried to revive him as he lay on the sidewalk near the embassy, also boarded the plane for the flight to Washington.

She was helped to the aircraft by Mrs. Katharine Graham, president of the Washington Post.

Aboard the plane was a presidential-picked delegation which had flown to London.

Professional pall bearers carried the coffin from the catafalque, down the stone steps to the hearse; a British Austin Princess of gleaming black.

Cong Guerrillas Badly Maul Government Troops

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas badly mauled two large government forces in widely separated attacks today. Government losses were heavy and there were American casualties.

The latest action came at the town of Hoi An, 30 miles south of Da Nang and about 260 miles northeast of Saigon. The Reds hit a big Vietnamese unit and then chewed up reinforcements as they arrived.

The earlier action came 33 miles north of Saigon where the Viet Cong pulled a sneak mortar attack on a sleeping government force bivouacked along a highway and then attacked under cover of darkness. American military advisers with this unit were killed.

The Communists also launched a third attack during the night, at Ba Ria, the capital of Phuoc Tuy Province 35 miles southeast of Saigon. Government losses in this action were not known. The Reds hit with mortars and automatic weapons but pulled out when planes dropped flares on the scene.

The air war increased in intensity and U.S. Navy and Air Force jets struck North Vietnamese army barracks in two areas and dropped propaganda leaflets 45 miles from Hanoi accusing the North Viet Nam regime of bartering rice for Chinese guns.

In Saigon, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, the war minister, announced that every Vietnamese citizen of fighting age—including women—will be drafted into a reserve army in the future. Male age limits were put at 18 to 48 and women at 20 to 25.

"Because of this grave condition of the country no citizen can stand outside the anti-Communist ranks," Co said. UPI Correspondent Martin Stuart-fox, in a dispatch from Da Nang, said reliable military sources said the government troops were suffering heavy casualties in the fighting south of Da Nang. But the military spokesman would not go into detail.

The second big government troop loss came on Highway 13 just 33 miles north of Saigon where a Viet Cong battalion

Censorship In Effect in Viet

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Military Command today requested correspondents in South Viet Nam to comply with voluntary censorship in reporting military operations.

In general, the ground rules issued by the command forbid newsmen from reporting casualties, troop movements or the names of units engaged in military operations.

A military spokesman said they were the same ground rules which military censors followed in controlling news stories during the official censorship applied in the Korean War.

No penalties were outlined by American spokesmen for violating the system of voluntary censorship here.

The spokesman said the formal ground rules were agreed upon by American authorities here and the Vietnamese government.

The command said the rules would be binding on military personnel. It said newsmen were "requested" to observe the same rules.

The ground rules were distributed to newsmen Wednesday evening, with request that they not be made public until Thursday. They took the form of a memorandum, addressed to "the press."

The memorandum said: "In recent weeks the war in South Viet Nam has been characterized by relatively protracted and large-scale engagements. This intensification of combat action beyond that of similar periods in previous years raises serious questions about the methods we have hitherto employed to brief newsmen on the military situation. In the past, in view of the scattered and small scale nature of most combat actions it has been the practice to (A) report casualties in three categories (killed in action, wounded in action, missing in action) on a daily basis with unit identification, and (B) identify and report the deployment of military units even before their commitment to battle.

"In the interest of military security, it is essential that we gan reporting for duty before dawn the next day.

It would more resemble the mobilization for the Berlin crisis of 1961, when reservists and guardsmen received orders on Aug. 25 to report for duty Oct. 1.

The armed forces, it was learned, have submitted to the Joint Chiefs a set of tentative plans for calling up close to 250,000 reservists and guardsmen.

It is expected, however, that these figures will be trimmed in any actual call-up. The plans submitted for the Berlin crisis also would have involved nearly 250,000 men, but only 150,000 were actually called.

Defense officials said there are also alternate mobilization plans. McNamara stressed at his news conference Wednesday that "one of the main purposes of my trip is to review the force levels planned for South Viet Nam and the number of U. S. troops to be assigned there."

"What decisions will be based upon this review I can't say," McNamara said. "But I think it is reasonable to assume that if the U. S. forces assigned to South Viet Nam increase in strength, it will be necessary to consider calling up reserve and guard forces, extending the tours of duty of personnel presently in the forces, and increasing the draft calls."

This would contrast with the slam-bang methods employed during the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, when 14,200 Air Force reservists were called up late in the evening of Oct. 28 and McNamara was accompanied by President Johnson's new ambassador to Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge; Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Leonard Unger, deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs and chairman of the State Department's Viet Nam team. They are due back next Thursday.

Pentagon officials said that if a call-up is ordered after McNamara returns, civilians ordered to active military duty undoubtedly will be permitted 30 days or more to settle their private affairs. The only exceptions would be rare individual cases where a man is needed immediately.

CRAZY DAY MATCH — Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan, left, soon to turn referee, weighs in J. C. (Limp the Blimp) Roberts, center and Gory Lou (the Punk) Troja for a boxing match to be held at 8 a.m. Saturday in connection with 'Crazy Day' being sponsored by Pampa merchants. Both battlers broke the scales at a little over 300 pounds. The Blimp weighed 302 1/2 pounds and 'lightweight' Troja weighed in at 301 pounds. The boxing match will be followed by a breakfast to help kickoff a day of foolishness for the merchants, who will offer 'crazy prices' to customers.

Annual Crazy Day Sales Event Set for Saturday

The fifth annual Crazy Day promotion by Pampa Merchants is set to kick-off Saturday with a breakfast in Central Park.

Crazy Day, sponsored by the Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will feature stores decorated in the "Crazy" theme and clerks and employees dressed in "Crazy" costumes. Prizes will be awarded for the best costume and store portraying the crazy theme.

The day's activities will begin with the 8 a. m. breakfast. A six-round boxing match between J. C. Roberts, president of the downtown merchants, and Lou Troja, president of the Coronado Center merchants, will take place during the breakfast. Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan is to referee the match.

The Essex Combo, just back from a stage band contest in Dallas, will provide appropriate rock 'n' roll music for the breakfast hour, and employees will have an opportunity to get rid of any excess energy they might have at that hour, according to Red Wedgeworth, chamber manager.

Out-of-town judges will be on hand to judge the days activities including the craziest store, which will be announced at noon and be awarded the crazy store banner.

Wedgeworth said most all of Pampa's retail stores will participate in the crazy day promotion. He said most of the stores will offer special bargains to persons shopping during the day.

Backers of the Tower amendment indicated they have near solid GOP support and predicted a close vote. But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said adoption of the subsidy program was "reasonably good."

The rent proposal, which narrowly squeaked through the House, would apply only to families eligible for public housing, disabled and elderly persons and families displaced by slum clearance projects.

Other provisions of the bill would extend for four years current slum clearance programs, public housing and government mortgage insurance for new homeowners.

Other congressional news: Payments: Treasury Undersecretary Joseph W. Barr appeared before a Senate subcommittee to discuss measures of improving America's balance of payments position. Federal Reserve Board Chairman William M. Martin Jr. was also scheduled to appear before the panel.

Narcotics: New York Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Robert F. Kennedy headed a group of lawmakers appearing before a House judiciary subcommittee. The panel is considering a bill to enable the courts to deal more effectively with narcotics addiction.

Guard, Reserve Call-Up Looks Like Certainty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mobilization of 150,000 to 200,000 civilian reservists and National Guardsmen is expected to result from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's current inspection tour of South Viet Nam.

Final decisions on such a call up have not yet been made. But the defense chief left little hope that such a move could be avoided before his departure for Saigon Wednesday night.

McNamara was accompanied by President Johnson's new ambassador to Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge; Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Leonard Unger, deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs and chairman of the State Department's Viet Nam team. They are due back next Thursday.

Harriman, Kosygin Confer in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador at large W. Averell Harriman conferred for three hours today with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in a surprise meeting. It was believed they discussed the Viet Nam crisis.

Harriman, a State Department trouble shooter, had been kept waiting for three days by the Kremlin on his request for a meeting. He said only that he had discussed his "personal plans" in the Soviet Union during the coming week.

But diplomatic sources said the length of the meeting and the present international political climate made it a virtual certainty that the "surprise" meeting—it was not announced in advance—had gone beyond personal matters.

An embassy spokesman said the Soviets released a noncommittal statement saying only that Harriman was received by Kosygin at his "own request" and that a conversation was held.

"Mr. Harriman stated afterwards that he could make no statement except that we discussed my personal plans in the Soviet Union during the coming week," the spokesman said.

Present at the meeting were U. S. Ambassador Foy Kohler and M. N. Smirnovsky, head of the American section at the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The meeting lasted from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. (1 a.m. CST to 4 a.m. CST).

Asked if the subject of Viet Nam was discussed, the American spokesman said:

"I have no comment."

The Soviet statement on the meeting referred to Harriman as "a well-known American official who is in the Soviet Union in a private capacity."

Harriman served as U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union during World War II and has many contacts here.

ALL GOES WELL ABOARD MARINER

First Close-Ups of Mars Sent Back to Earth

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—America's Mariner-4 cosmic eye today began sending back to earth the first close-up photograph of the planet Mars. The picture was believed to center on the brilliant Martian desert of Elysium.

After earlier hesitation, scientists announced at 6:35 a.m. PDT (9:30 a.m. CST) that the signals reaching earth "are, indeed, a picture."

Still, however, even the first photograph would take many hours to complete. Scientists said they expected to have picture No. 1 fully in hand by about 2:28 p.m. PDT (5:28 p.m. CST) today.

The raw data itself is what is expected, a spokesman said. "Things look good."

Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) officials said the signals from Mariner-4's tape recorder indicated shortly after 6 a.m. PDT (9 a.m. CST) that the first of about 200 lines to make up a complete picture "has been received and looks normal."

Scientists said earlier they believed Mariner-4 had snapped as many as 20 pictures as it swept across the planet Mars Wednesday.

Officials admitted during the early minutes that they could not say for certain it was a picture, but that the signals from the tape recorder picked up by a tracking station at Johannesburg, South Africa, today "definitely were data recorded yesterday."

"We firmly believe we have 20 pictures on that tape," said Dr. William H. Pickering, director of the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL).

Pickering's statement was delivered at a news conference shortly before midnight, PDT, some hours after a wave of apprehension swept JPL that radio signals received on earth late Wednesday from the spacecraft appeared faulty.

"We have a current anomaly," Pickering said. "We do not have any explanation for it. But every explanation we have attempted to give indicates we have some pictures. We will not have a complete answer until we have run the tape recording through—and that will take 10

"Every once in a while, in an event like this, strange things happen. I will be able to tell you definitely tomorrow (this) afternoon whether the first picture is good," Pickering added. "If it is not, I'll be able to tell you 10 hours after that whether the second picture is good."

As a footnote, Pickering added that telemetry data received from the spacecraft as it began sweeping past Mars at 8:18 p.m. CST, Wednesday indicated that the planet was no more than the two moons—Phobos and Deimos—previously sighted by earthbound astronomers.

He added that "without any pictures at all, Mariner-4 is a

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tessel, Patrick Inc. says this appears to be a time for a thorough re-evaluation of trading and investment portfolios. The firm says that since the technical outlook indicates higher selective markets ahead, it is deemed advisable to weed equities which performed poorly in the recent market slump.

Thomson & McKinnon says it does not believe a test of the lows in the averages is likely over the near-term.

Leslie M. Pollack of Reynolds & Co. says he would continue to maintain some reserves but not hesitate to follow up those issues which have exhibited consistent ability to outperform the market as a whole.

COUP GETS APPROVAL
MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government, after a month of watchful waiting, gave apparent approval Wednesday to the coup that ousted Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin sent a message to Col. Houari Boumedienne, head of the new government, congratulating him and "wishing him great success at this high post to the benefit of the Algerian people."

Police said Robinson retrieved the weapon and struck Jones on the head. The men struggled, and the gun went off firing a bullet into a chair. Teller Tom Savoyers then joined the scuffle and Robinson was disarmed and held for police. Robinson was described as a "model prisoner" at the Seago-ville institution where he escaped by walking from a minimum detention area. He said he left because of a "very bad family situation at home and because I was getting pushed around by the parole board." He said his aunt, Mrs. Ernest Warner, recently had a leg amputated because of a circulatory ailment and was about to lose the other. "She was also about to lose her home," Robinson said. When asked if this was why he attempted a bank robbery, he answered, "it seems logical, doesn't it?" Primitive man made tools of stone, bone and wood during the Stone Age.

Mars

(Continued From Page 1) magnificent scientific achievement" because of receipt of much telemetry data dealing with Mars' magnetic field and atmosphere. "We've got to be a little patient with the experimenters on this," Pickering said. "It will take many hours of study to come to any firm conclusions" about the data collected. Ground stations on earth were due to start receiving the first of the 21 programmed pictures from Mariner-4 at 8:58 a. m. CST. today. Thus, scientists on earth were kept on tenterhooks waiting to learn whether there possibly had been trouble with the magnetic tape recorder aboard the spacecraft. They were able to determine that the tape recorder went into operation at 3:29 p. m. (CST), Wednesday, but whether it took pictures through its 30-power telescope lens was still a question. A JPL spokesman said the tape recorder did not stop between pictures as it was programmed to do. It was speculated that if this were the case, the recorder running on an endless looped tape might erase the earlier pictures of Mars. However Pickering said he doubted this occurred. Jack N. James, head of JPL's lunar and planetary space programs office, said it was hoped that at least seven or eight pictures could be salvaged. Dr. Albert Hibbs, another JPL scientist, said Wednesday night, there is no way at this time to resolve the anomalies (contradictions) of the data. The tape recorder may not have operated as planned. But there is strong evidence the tape recorder did run. There is no way to be sure that it ran as planned so at the present time project officials cannot confirm that photographs were taken. The tape recorder was scheduled to transmit its pictures in digital form, taking eight hours and 35 minutes for each photo. The signal travels at the speed of light - 188,000 miles a second - but each picture requires 240,000 bits of information, accounting for the slow transmission. Photographic considerations aside, Mariner-4 sent back to earth information which was taken under analysis by teams of scientists. A preliminary report indicated the mysterious red planet does not have a magnetic field anywhere approaching the strength of earth's. Seabrook Farms near Vineland, N. J., is one of the largest agricultural enterprises in the world.

Whites, Negroes Ask Help From President

By United Press International President Johnson was asked Wednesday to intervene in the racial impasse at Bogalusa, La. The call was issued by both sides - Bogalusa city officials and civil rights leaders. Bogalusa Mayor Jesse Cutrer and the city council asked the President to "use your office and influence to assist this helpless city that is being so unfairly attacked." Louis Lomax, a Negro writer from California, said he telegraphed Johnson and asked for a meeting today. Negroes, seeking "total equality," marched through Bogalusa again Wednesday under heavy state police protection. A firecracker was thrown from a crowd to jeering whites and a white man was arrested for defying police orders to back away from the street. In Washington, the Justice Department said it has asked a federal court to order the immediate desegregation of two movie theaters at Bogalusa. The department, in a suit filed last April, had asked that six Bogalusa restaurants be ordered desegregated. The Florida Industrial Commission, which operates the state's employment services, said in Tallahassee Wednesday it has hired a Negro teacher as equal opportunity coordinator. Learla V. Davis' assisting largely will consist of duties the Florida employment system in complying with the new fair employment practices section of the Civil Rights Act. Elsewhere: Jackson, Miss.: About 25 Negroes, including civil rights leader Charles Evers, Wednesday filled out Mississippi's similar application.

plified voter registration form, recently provided for by a special legislative session. Charlotte, N.C.: Federal Judge J. Braxton Craven Jr. Wednesday approved a desegregation plan submitted by the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Education Board, but gave dissenting Negroes an opportunity to have it reviewed next summer. Pampa Chemical Firms Hit by Fire Simultaneous fires at two Pampa oil well chemical companies kept Pampa firemen busy until early this morning. At 10:35 p. m. yesterday firemen were called to the Baroid Oil Well Chemical Co., 500 W. Brown, when several tanks of chemicals caught fire. While firemen were busy extinguishing this blaze, fire erupted at the United Mud Co., 609 E. Tyng. The fire at Baroid was confined to several chemical tanks sitting outside. Heavy damage was reported to the building and contents at United. Firemen said the origin of either blaze had not been determined as of early this morning. Fire units spent almost four hours battling the blaze at United Mud Co. No estimate of the amount of damage has been made.

Pampan Enters Innocent Plea On Pistol Charge

John (Butch) Coffee entered a plea of not guilty yesterday in Gray County Court to a charge of unlawfully carrying a pistol. Coffee was filed on by F. E. (Shorty) Matheny Jr. yesterday following an affray at the Showboat Bar, 323 W. Foster. Coffee was placed under a $1,000 bond.

First Fair Night Draws Huge Crowd

Opening night of the Top O' Texas Community Fair was a success last night as thousands of people were on hand for the carnival rides, booths and queen crowning. Pretty Ruth Anne Guthrie was crowned Queen of the Fair and will reign over the remaining four days' activities. The Fair will open again at 6 p. m. today and continue and will be open from 1 p. m. until midnight Saturday and 1 until 7 p. m. Sunday.

Oil Allowable Is Down for August

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Railroad Commission today lowered the August allowable for crude oil slightly to 28 percent of potential production. The August allowable was set at 2,905,312 barrels daily, down 5,803 from the July allowable, which was based on 28.1 percent of potential. After allowing for normal under-production, the commission estimated the new allowable will result in production of 2,527,890 barrels daily. The August allowable is higher than that sought by eight of the 13 companies that made purchase nominations. Railroad Commission chairman Ben Ramsey said runs of crude oil to stills so far this year total over 9 million barrels daily, an all-time high.

Troops

(Continued From Page 1) poured disastrous mortar fire in to a large government force and the American military advisers with them. Under new censorship rules U.S. military spokesmen would say only that casualties suffered by government troops were "fairly heavy." He said there were nine American military advisers with the government force and that they suffered casualties. The Vietnamese force of about 1,000 men was engaged in a road-clearing operation on Highway 13 barely 33 miles north of Saigon when the Viet Cong battalion—up to 900 troops—launched its surprise mortar attack. Before the sleeping troops could recover, the Viet Cong launched a frontal assault. The attacks came as an American military spokesman officially confirmed for the first time that Viet Cong rebels have mutilated the bodies of dead American soldiers in at least one instance. At the same time, the spokesman disclosed that U.S. Marine losses had risen to three dead and eight wounded as a result of a misfired Marine mortar round which landed in the middle of a Leatherneck platoon Tuesday near the Da Nang air base. The early Assyrians drank spiced wine.

Viet

(Continued From Page 1) deny the Viet Cong and the Hanoi regime information that would be of value to them in their prosecution of the war effort. Information on the actions and their losses in those actions gives the enemy a tremendous advantage in making tactical decisions. These decisions may relate to deployment of his forces/when, where and in what strength to launch an offensive or counter-offensive, whether he should establish an ambush or withdraw in the face of superior strength. "Therefore, effective July 15, 1965, it has been agreed between the GVN (government of Viet Nam) and the U.S. mission that: "1. There will be no casualty reports and unit identifications on a daily basis or related to specific actions except in general terms such as "light, moderate or heavy." Casualty summaries will continue to be reported on a weekly basis, without unit identification, in the weekly briefings in Saigon and the statistical summary released at the Pentagon. Procedures for notifying next of kin will not be changed, nor will the practice of releasing in Washington the name, rank, casualty status, branch of service and emergency addresses of casualties following notification of next of kin. "2. Troop movements or deployments will not (repeat) be announced nor confirmed until such time as military evaluation determines such information is already in the possession of the Viet Cong. "3. When battles have been joined, units participating therein will not be identified by specific type or number, although the general magnitude of friendly involvement will be announced."

Shrimp With Japanese Accents

CRANBERRY SHRIMP BUTTERFLIES get the hibachi treatment.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Portable charcoal burners have been used in the Orient for centuries. Today they are being widely used in the United States, too, and more and more porch and patio meals are being grilled on these small, black, cast-iron hibachi's (Japanese for "fire basin").

If you use one, we recommend this new book, "Honorable Hibachi," by Kathryn Popper.

CRANBERRY SHRIMP BUTTERFLIES
(Makes 6 servings)

24 jumbo shrimp

24 large whole mushrooms

24 large whole cherry

tomatoes

Marinate

1 garlic clove, chopped

2 tablespoons grated onion

1 cup cranberry juice

2 tablespoons soy sauce

2 tablespoons oil sauce

1 onion, chopped

1 small green pepper, chopped

2 tablespoons oil

1 cup cranberry-orange relish

1 teaspoon dry mustard

2 tablespoons cider vinegar

3 pineapple slices, cubed

1-3 cup water

Shell and devein raw shrimp

but do not remove tail snail. Silt shrimp down the back, almost all the way through, with a sharp knife and flatten shrimp into butterflies. Spear each shrimp lengthwise on a thin bamboo skewer. Top with cherry tomato and whole mushroom. Put filled skewers into a shallow dish. Combine marinade ingredients and blend well. Pour mixture over the filled skewers and let stand for one hour. Broil as usual, brushing skewers with marinade several times during cooking until shrimp become opaque.

To make sauce, saute onions and green pepper in oil until tender. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for five minutes. Serve with shrimp. Garnish with scallion curls.

Guests Will Like Eggs With Flair Of New Orleans

Summer Sundays offer a fine chance to entertain with a relaxing patio brunch. For something a bit out of the ordinary to serve your guests, try eggs with a New Orleans flair and flavor. Poached Eggs Creole With Corn Cakes is an intriguing combination of golden brown corn pancakes (easily made from a mix) and eggs poached in a savory creole sauce made especially tasty with broiled mushrooms and sparkled with basil.

POACHED EGGS CREOLE WITH CORN CAKES

1/4 cup chopped green pepper

1/4 cup chopped green onion

1 tablespoon butter or margarine

1 can (3 oz. chopped or sliced broiled mushrooms)

1/4 teaspoon basil, crushed

Dash Tabasco

4 eggs

In a skillet, cook green pepper and onion in butter until soft.

Add tomato sauce, mushrooms including broth, basil and Tabasco. Heat to simmer. Add eggs, one at a time. Cover and cook over low heat until whites are set, about 8 to 10 minutes.

Serve on corn pancakes. Makes 4 servings.

CORN CAKES

1/2 package (12 oz. size) corn muffin mix

1 egg, beaten

About 1 cup milk

Combine ingredients, adding enough milk to make batter the desired consistency and stirring until fairly smooth. Bake on a hot, lightly greased griddle until golden brown. Makes 8 pancakes.

Have Meals Outdoors on Trays

... serve frozen Parfait Cake for a refreshing summertime dessert.

Tray meals are a wonderful idea in the summer — for lunch or supper, for family or company. Everyone can carry his own tray out to the back yard or patio and enjoy the nice weather.

Let today's convenience foods help you plan a menu that is quick, easy, and saves you hours in the kitchen: a summer salad bowl prepared in the cool morning hours, golden twist rolls — the brown and serve kind that can be popped in the oven for a few minutes before serving, and frozen Parfait Cake for dessert. The wonderful convenience of Parfait Cakes is that you may keep a variety of them in the freezer and they are all ready to serve.

SUMMER SALAD BOWL
1 cup cooked green beans
1 cup cooked carrot sticks
1 cup sliced celery

1 cup bottled French dressing
1 head lettuce
1 cup cooked beef or ham, cut in strips
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon horse-radish

Marinate and chill green beans, carrots, and celery in French dressing 1 to 2 hours. Break lettuce in bite-sized pieces in salad bowl; arrange meat and marinated vegetables over top, then egg slices in circle. In center place mayonnaise mixed with horse-radish. Makes 6 servings.

Hot Weather Meals Easily Prepared When Flavored Gelatins Are Used

FRUIT AND NUT RING makes a cool meal.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Some of the new flavored salad gelatins on the market make it easy to prepare hot weather main dishes. Among the flavors are seasoned tomato, celery, mixed vegetable, and Italian salad, which has onion and garlic powder.

FRUIT AND NUT RING

1 package (3 oz.) seasoned

tomato flavor salad gelatin

2 teaspoon salt

1 cup boiling water

2 teaspoons lemon juice

2 tablespoons coarsely

chopped pecans

1 tablespoon ripe olive slices

Chicken salad

1/2 tray (7 to 10) ice cubes

Sections from 1 grapefruit, drained and cut in half

1 medium apple, peeled and diced

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Add lemon juice and ice cubes. Stir constantly until thickened—about 3 minutes. Remove any unmelted ice.

Fold remaining ingredients into gelatin. Spoon into 1-quart ring mold. Chill until firm—at least

4 hours. Unmold on salad greens. Fill center of ring mold with chicken salad. Makes 3 1/2 cups or 6 servings.

CHICKEN SALAD

1 envelope onion salad

dressing mix

1 cup mayonnaise

2 tablespoons vinegar

3 cups finely chopped

cooked chicken

3 cups finely chopped celery

1/4 cup coarsely chopped

green pepper

Lettuce leaves

Blend salad dressing mix, mayonnaise, and vinegar. Add remaining ingredients, except lettuce. Mix thoroughly. Chill about 2 hours to blend flavor.

Makes about 6 cups or 6 to 8

servings.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — With the growing purchasing power of young people, and the decision to turn network television entertainment into a children's medium, analysts of the child society are now free to work on the whole country.

Rock 'n' roll shows such as ABC-TV's "Shindig" and NBC-TV's "Hullabaloo," for instance, are clear enough in their purpose. But beyond the artistic (so to speak) and financial levels, an immense field of analysis is now open to those who would have it, and I am thinking here of an essay distributed last year by Charles and Mariann P. Winick, who have written other pieces about children and television.

"Television," they wrote in this particular essay, "is less likely to appeal to children merely because it is available than it is to do so because it meets the overwhelming needs of children for stimulation via seeing and hearing." Discussing hearing, they added:

"A major loss in our society has been the substitution of noise for sound. Urban children never learn the ability to distinguish the sounds of an actively like birds' singing. In addition, the traditional rhythms of non-urban life are as absent today as they are from the music of contemporary composers like John Cage. Children, and especially young children, have a need to respond to sound on the level of rhythms that they can duplicate."

Rhythm, rather than words, write the Winicks, is the chief element in nursery rhymes like Mother Goose, as well as the main ingredient in youngsters' street chants which seem to have a near-universal tempo.

"Television's stress on rhythm meets many of these same basic needs — by the sound of commercials, program signatures, musical auditory cues like those for excitement, the repetitive rhythms and semi-abstract qualities of cartoons," they add, elaborating:

"It is possible that the extraordinary popularity of rock-and-roll music among young people is a regression, during preadolescence and adolescence, to a Mother Goose level of auditory satisfactions. It may be occurring because a kind of sensory homeostasis (a relatively stable state of equilibrium) coerces to reinforce the auditory sense at a time when the other senses are so undeveloped."

SEARCH FOR VICTIMS
RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Both U. S. and Mexican authorities today continued their search for two drowning victims, including an apparent suicide. Mrs. Sylvia Ortiz of Reynosa, Mexico took a taxi to the Rio Grande Wednesday, paid the driver and jumped into the river. Manuel Oscar Flores, 16, of Sullivan City, Tex. disappeared while swimming with friends.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Parents and children are planning many exciting activities for the summer months. Don't try to do everything during the first two weeks. It is important to spread the activities over the entire vacation or else half way through everyone will run out of steam.

Although it is a good idea to avoid tight scheduling, a general plan can be helpful. The program should be balanced to include various types of activities. There should also be provisions for activities which the entire family can do together. Others for father and son or daughter, as well as those activities which include participation with friends.

There might be plans for six or more major events. These could include a fishing trip, a visit to the New York World's Fair, a few days at Yellowstone National Park, a trip to the zoo, or a trip to visit the grandparents. There are many activities which are simple but are very exciting to children. Consider the area where you live and what facilities may be available. Children usually enjoy a day swimming in a lake or an ocean. During the first few weeks of the vacation, children may be very excited about playing all kinds of games with their neighborhood friends. They are usually very happy about their new found freedom from the school routines. If this kind of play remains as the only activity, they may become bored. It is a good idea to break up the week with some other type of activities.

What are some of the simple things which make the summer so much fun? Perhaps, the family can cook their dinner over charcoal at a nearby park. Father or mother or both might take the children on a hike in the woods. If possible, a child would enjoy a day at his father's office. Children are often fascinated by activities which their parents consider routine. Summer boredom usually arrives sometime in August. This is when it is so important to have a few major events to fill in the gaps. Probably, this is also a good time for father to take his vacation.

It took Gutenberg five years to complete the first Bible printed from movable type.

HOW'S YOUR NOSE FOR NEWS?

A big news story broke recently in each of the spots marked on the map below. As a reader or student, check your memory and your knowledge by identifying the news events. The clues given in the box below will help.

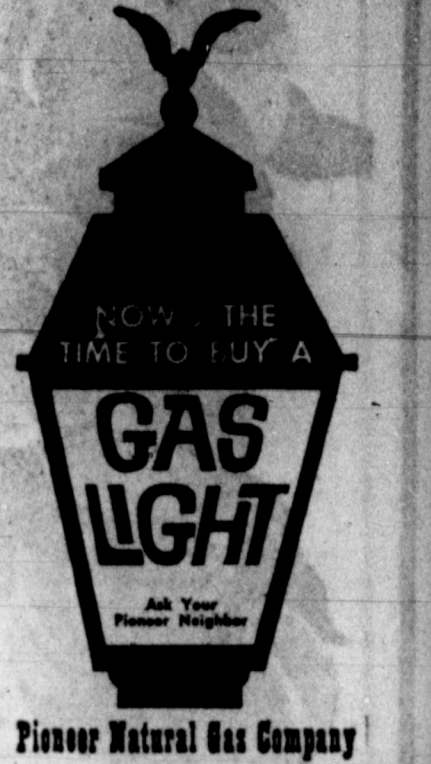

What occurred where? Study the map and match the numbers with the events listed in the box at right. Score yourself 10 points for each correct answer.

A score of 50—you're fairly hep. A score of 70—you're pretty sharp. A score of 90 or more—congratulations to a real news hawk!

YOUNG INTIMIDER
RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Chances are it was a young boy who broke into Mary Burkhamer's house, police theorized. Small bare footprints outside the house led to a basement window. The culprit had turned on the television, eaten some frozen pop bars, and thrown darts at a painting on a wall.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—If you happen to be in the market for a second hand truck painted to resemble a telephone company vehicle, I may be able to put you next to a good thing.

I have a hunch that such a machine may soon be offered for sale in the Pittsburgh area by its present owner, the Internal Revenue Service.

Before I give you the details, however, let me say that nobody with normal humane feelings enjoys seeing another person suffer. It's just that certain types of suffering can be less heart-rending than others.

My own sense of compassion was aroused to a sub-par level a few weeks ago when a member of Congress fell off a golf cart and broke his leg.

Has Little Feeling
And I experienced a similar lack of total commiseration this week when Sheldon S. Cohen, the new Internal Revenue Commissioner, was testifying before a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

Cohen is a fine man and a dedicated public servant. Of that I have no doubt. Yet for some reason the sight of the No. 1 tax collector in an uncomfortable situation failed to bring tears to my eyes.

It may be that mid July is too close to April 15. Anyway, Cohen was the first witness called as the subcommittee resumed hearings on wiretap and eavesdropping activities by federal agencies. Which brings us to that truck.

When the subcommittee produced a photograph of the vehicle, Cohen conceded that it probably was purchased by revenue agents in Pittsburgh to use as a cover while they were tapping the lines of errant taxpayers.

He also sadly conceded that said agents in their zeal to enforce the tax laws may have "overstepped proper bounds."

May Get A Deal
I got the impression that the vehicle may show up on a used car lot almost any day. If you get to Cohen first, he may be willing to let it go now—cheap.

In addition to selling the truck, the commissioner may put on the block a number of two-way mirrors and various "bugging" devices. He assured the subcommittee that he had ordered his agents more discretion in the future, if at all.

Some of the electronic snooping didn't work out very well anyway. One attempt to bug an office was foiled because the suspect subscribed to one of those piped-in phonograph systems.

All that the eavesdroppers picked up was background music. Which may become a good selling point for "Muzak."

Business Highlights

WASHINGTON — The Senate rejected a proposed 5 per cent across-the-board slash — amounting to $295 million — in the aerospace budget. The vote was 61 to 16.

NEW YORK — Glen Alden Corp. has offered to buy one million shares of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., the big drug wholesaler and manufacturer, at $49 a share. It was the first Alden expansion move since Meshulam Riklos acquired control of the company from Albert List.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Pan American Petroleum Corporation Tuesday announced a 25-year contract to sell 1.8 trillion cubic feet of gas to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.

A spokesman for Pan American, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Standard Oil Company, Indiana, said the contract was the second largest in Pan American's history. Gas reserves from the Marten Hills field 160 miles north of Edmonton, Alta., will be used.

NEW YORK — Philips Electronics & Pharmaceutical Corp. announced its subsidiary, Philips Roxane, Inc., has developed a new vaccine against distemper in dogs called D-Vac M. The company said it is effective in puppies soon after birth whereas present vaccines are not effective until the puppies reach the danger age of three to four months.

WOOSTER, Ohio — Rubbermaid, Inc., said Tuesday it has bought Dupol Co. of Spremlingen, West Germany, a maker of housewares and other plastic products for an undisclosed price.

MELTING POT
LONDON (UPI) — Four French students, an Algerian clerk, a Norwegian girl, a Finnish student, two Iranian housewives and an Irishman were among the people charged in a local court Tuesday with shoplifting.

LIGHTS OUT
HERNE BAY, England (UPI) — Having just spent almost $1,000 on floodlighting the 100-foot-high clock tower here, the local council is receiving complaints that people can't tell the time. The council forgot to order lights on the four faces of the clock.

10 THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1965 58TH YEAR

Dear Abby....

It's Too Late For Parental Influence

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 17-year-old son. He is going steady with a 24-year-old woman. Roger looks like he's 21 or 22, and has always been big for his age. I am very much against this match and told him so. Don't tell me to have a talk with the woman because I already have and it didn't do one bit of good. She says they are "in love." Roger has one more year of high school left and she says she is willing to wait for him to graduate before they get married. Have you ever heard of anything so ridiculous?

She works and gives Roger an "allowance." Don't you think this woman ought to be ashamed of herself for taking advantage of a kid? I think they are both sick in the head. I say if these two get married, in no time he will be introducing her as his mother. What can be done? He won't listen to me.

ROGER'S MOTHER: Knowing nothing of the mental and emotional maturity of either your son or this woman, I can't say whether it's a "ridiculous" match or not. A normal 24-year-old woman wouldn't look twice at a 17-year-old boy. And vice versa. Obviously, it's too late for you to assert the kind of parental influence necessary to break up this romance. Roger needs understanding and lots of

it. Who knows, they might live happily ever after.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this while I am sane and able to understand your reply. I accepted an engagement ring last Christmas, but I am not sure I want to get married just yet. I haven't set a date and I am getting so much pressure from Nick that I can't think straight. I have never given Nick any reason to doubt me, but I get the third degree about every minute I spend away from him. Right after I got my ring, Nick started to act like he owned me. Yesterday I had lunch with a very dear girl friend I had not seen in years. We had a lot to talk about and I didn't think that kind of talk would interest Nick, so I didn't ask him to be with us. Well, Nick said I can't ever see her again as he knows that when two girls get together they are just looking for eligible males. Do you think he will ever get over this jealousy after we are married? Marriage is a big step and I don't want to rush into something I could regret later on. What should I do?

SECOND THOUGHTS: DEAR SECOND: Nothing! Do not set a date until Nick learns to control his jealousy and possessiveness. Men who have suspicious minds usually get worse, not better, after marriage. Have yourself a third thought. And a fourth. You're on the right track.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound petty to you, but it is important to me. My wife has a car of her own and nothing to do all day, but she'll call me up at work and ask me to stop on my way home and bring home a loaf of bread, or to be sure to stop at the appliance repair shop and bring home our toaster. Or even swing around to the shoe repair shop and pick up her shoes. It seems I never go right home from work. I am always stopping at the cleaners, the drug store or a dozen other places. How can I get it through her head that it is her job to do all these things, not mine?

BUGGED: DEAR BUGGED: You are getting it through her head via her ear! Either you are not telling her, or she is not listening to you.

Bright and Perky Cotton Knits

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — In bright pennant colors a new wave of beach and play togs signal action for summer. And best news of all, they come in cool, comfortable cotton knits.

You will find every new design, from see-through lacy knits to Pop-Art prints and nautical stripes.

There are pullovers with striped scalloped borders. For the open-air minded there's a lace sweatshirt to wear over newsy bikinis. Spare tank tops, sporting emblems or stripes, pull down over trim shorts or pants.

You'll find French cyclist shirts with stitched contrast trim and the poor boy look in skinny tank tops. For new exposure to sun and fashion there is a striped midriff top with contrast-tied, sit-on-the-hip pants.

Sparkling white crops up everywhere as contrast trim for the bright flag colors, such as yellow, banner red, skipper blue, brilliant green and sunny pink.

And if you prefer to show off a golden tan in solid white, there's plenty of that to be had as well.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

FOR FRIDAY, JULY 16
GENERAL TENDENCIES — The morning is fine for getting a fresh new slant on your life, while the early P. M. finds promises in danger of being broken. The evening brings more good will and active assistance from those who are in powerful positions, as they are willing to aid.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) — Your intuitive faculties are working quite accurately this a. m., so use them wisely. Steer clear of troubled associates later. Let confidential matters be handled nicely. Think of the future.

TALRES (Apr. 20 to May 20) — A good deal will be done by you in a. m., but don't expect too much time to be spent by such a busy person. Get about socially for benefits. Express your ideas clearly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — An influential person can be very helpful to you, but steer clear of those whose ideas are radically different to yours. Things happen suddenly that solve many a problem for you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Out-of-town matters look very promising, and could be, but be sure you keep promises before going off to them. This could also be a troubled time for you. Prepare for expansion at right time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You can solve matters that have been very puzzling by listening to what a clever individual says. Then handle your affairs quickly, efficiently. Evening fine for romantic pleasure.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Partners are willing to give you advice so that you advance, both in personal and business affairs. Keep temper controlled. Do not disturb one who is very powerful.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — Get busy on work at hand, instead of searching for what may seem to be a better position. You would be very disappointed. Get surroundings very, very charming and pleasant.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — This can be a very happy day for you if you sidestep an associate who wants to grip you unnecessarily. Plan recreation early. Get your feet wet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Any fundamental affairs should be handled with dispatch, clearly, so that you would rather be otherwise occupied, than be someone's don't promiscuous anything.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Get done with those things that will make you who have fine ideas, possibly take a trip. Make important calls. Write letters that are vital and important.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Financial affairs are most important now, so be sure you do not spend foolishly for pleasure. Show that you have fine business acumen.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You can advance very quickly if you do it through who wants to solve your dream through unobtrusive means. The planets are with you. Make the most of this now.

LITTLE NEED FOR IRON — The nicest thing about the new pretty summer clothes is that every feminine ruffle, flounce or pleat can be had in carefree, drip-dry fabrics.

Consumer Credit Group Presents Award to Member

Consumer Credit Executives of Pampa held their monthly meeting Monday at Jim's Steakhouse.

Those in attendance were: Vi Dunham, J. R. Hankins, Lyda Gilchrist, Charlene Rich, Carrie Stallings, Farren Broadstreet, Marshall Nelson, Paul Keim, Larry Wall, Benzel Rippey, Lewis Hackley, Jewett Scarborough, Wes Langham, B. W. Robertson, Ken Peeples, Mary Sutton, Ruth McQueary, Jim Yarbrough, Weynoka Yarbrough and Edna Day.

The program was presented by Gerald Sims. Mr. Sims told of the many reasons that more people are needed to train for debt counselors.

Wynn Veate, manager of the Credit Bureau of Pampa, was awarded a certificate making him a Certified Consumer Credit Executive. The certificate was presented by Ruth McQueary, president of the Consumer Credit Executives of Pampa. This certificate has been effective since April 1, 1965. The applicants for this certificate are rated on education and training, experience and activities, achievements in international consumer credit association leadership and in community leadership. This certificate is extended to indicate a degree of competence in credit management.

The Credit Executives learned that they are losing a member, Jim Yarbrough of Montgomery Ward, is being transferred to Lubbock. Mr. Yarbrough served as program chairman and vice-president of the club.

Glued-Up Lumber Fine in Cabinets

Many homeowners would like the prestige appearance of solid lumber for cabinet fronts in kitchen, bath and family room.

An inexpensive way to gain the beauty and wearability of solid wood is to purchase panels made of short lengths of lumber which have been end and edge glued together. One company manufactures the panels under the trade name "Nu-Loc," and the material is available at lumber yards.

To use, the panels are simply cut into drawer and door fronts, in whatever sizes are desired, then installed and finished.

Many of the western wood species such as Douglas fir are available in the edge-and-end-glued panels, so cabinetwork can be matched to solid lumber paneling.

Waging War on Poverty Isn't a Peaceful Pursuit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sargent Shriver's Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) has learned that waging war on poverty is not a peaceful pursuit.

Since OEO went into business nine months ago, it has been a constant target for controversy, criticism and complaint. It has been accused of wasting money... neglecting the aged... doing more for politicians than for poor people... operating a disorderly house for wayward girls... and putting on a television program that demeaned the dignity of the U. S. government.

Some communities have complained because they didn't get OEO grants. Others have complained because they did.

Shriver feels many of the brickbats heaved at the OEO are undeserved. It was inevitable, he says, that some problems would crop up in launching the difficulties involved. Shriver thinks OEO has gotten off to "a good start" in its first three-quarters of a year, during which it has laid out three-quarters of a billion dollars.

Headaches for Shriver have developed primarily in connection with two OEO programs:

Job Corps

The most widely publicized difficulties have arisen at some of the job corps camps and training centers where 13,000 young men and women, age 16 to 21, are now enrolled.

The first training center for girls, established in an old hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla., has been rocked by charges of immoral conduct for which the local chief of police said he could find no substantiation; complaints from elderly residents about the noisiness of the teen-age students; the expulsion of six girls for drunkenness; and the resignation of two staff members, one of whom complained that the girls were getting a paid vacation instead of job training.

The OEO also has been embarrassed by several incidents at job corps camps for boys, including a battle between Negro and white youths at Tongue Point, Ore.; the arrest of seven boys for sodomy at Camp Atterbury, Ind.; and a gun-and-knife fight among enrollees at Lewiston, Calif.

In commenting on these incidents, an OEO spokesman told UPI:

"Sure, there's been some trouble. What did you expect? Look at the kids we're dealing with—the most deprived youngsters in the country, from big city slums and backwoods villages. They're rough, tough, mis-directed youngsters, who dropped out of school and can't get a job. That's why they were picked for the job corps—because they desperately need a break. All things considered, there's been surprisingly little trouble at job corps camps."

Community Action Programs

Nearly half of OEO's funds are channeled into "community action programs." The idea is that each community should create a broadly representative agency to work out an overall plan for fighting poverty. The federal government puts up 90 per cent of the cost.

In New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and a few other big cities, the initiation of community action programs has been delayed by political squabbling over who should control the spending of this federal money.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller disapproved of New York City's original setup on the grounds that it was designed to serve as a "political pork barrel" for Democrats. After much wrangling and the governor's last-minute veto of a bill that supposedly had resolved the issue, the city finally came up with an organization which apparently satisfies OEO's requirements for representation of all groups—including the poor themselves.

Chicago has been embroiled in a similar row. Critics charge that Mayor Richard J. Daley's Democratic machine is trying to use CAP funds as a patronage bonanza.

Los Angeles has received only a fraction of the community action funds tentatively reserved for it because Mayor Samuel C. Yorty is resisting demands from Shriver to broaden representation on the board that will control the program.

Philadelphia also ran into OEO objections that its community planning agency didn't include enough representatives of the poor. It solved the problem by holding elections in poverty neighborhoods to choose delegates to the planning agency.

The least-criticized OEO program has been "Operation Head Start" under which 560,000 young children from poor families are receiving pre-school training this summer. Americans have taken "Head Start" to their hearts like no government program in years. But even this popular undertaking has drawn at least one barrage of criticism. It grew out of the revelation that teachers employed at "Head Start" centers in New York City were being paid at a rate of $8 an hour.

OEO officials acknowledged that the New York pay scale is way out of line with the national average of $4.50 an hour for teachers employed in Head Start centers. They said they tried in vain to have the New York pay reduced but were confronted with the fact that the $8 pay scale for summer work was required by a contract which the New York City Board of Education had signed two years ago with the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers.

Other Criticisms

A number of organizations concerned with the welfare of older citizens went before the Senate subcommittee on the aging recently to protest that OEO's programs put too much accen on helping young people break out of the cycle of poverty, and offered relatively little aid to the aged poor.

Perhaps the most vehement criticism yet directed at OEO resulted from its involvement in a recent television program entitled, "It's What's Happening, Baby," in which leading rock-'n-roll musicians participated in a 90-minute cacophony, presided over by a disk jockey known as Murray the K, who assured poor youths that their government really cared about them.

The program brought cries of outrage from members of Congress and no small number of taxpaying citizens. The OEO stood by the program, however, and offered thousands of letters from young people as evidence that it got through to the audience it was supposed to reach.

Mystery Shrouds Chisox Pitchers' Route Failure

By United Press International
A "complete" mystery is shrouding the Chicago White Sox pitching staff.
The perplexing puzzle revolves around the facts that White Sox pitchers: (1) boast a 3.00 earned run average that has been the lowest in the major leagues most of the season, and (2) have managed to pitch only nine complete games—the lowest total in the majors. (The Los Angeles Dodgers, in contrast, have 35 complete games.)
The White Sox, who posted 41 route going jobs last season, have had only one pitcher go the distance in their last 43 games—and that man, Joe Herlen.

Pampa AL Nips P'view

DUMAS — Pampa American took advantage of two costly Plainview National errors to pull out the winning margin in a 5-3 victory yesterday in the Babe Ruth Regional Tournament here, the Yanks' second straight win.

Pampa National, with every game a must after dropping their opener, tries to down host Lumas tonight at 6 in the losers bracket.
Losing pitcher Stan Beasley observed a better fate as he issued only four singles, garnered by Donny Nail, Billy Davis, Jim Bill Benton and Steve Summers; but a combination of the hits, bases on balls and miscues gave the Yanks two tallies in the first frame, one in the second and two more in the fourth.

Lanky Lonzo Gomez took the win although hurling only four innings as he retired with a sore arm after allowing Plainview only one run and three hits, striking out five. Reliever Steve Summers bore down for the last three frames, getting into trouble only in the sixth as the Nats scored twice on two hits, while Summers also struck out five.

Texas League Seeks Fourth Over Houston

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas League all-stars tonight go after their fourth straight win over the Houston Astros in the Texas League All-Star game at Turnpike Stadium.
An overflow crowd of more than 12,000 persons was expected at the home of the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs to see if the National League Astros can pick up their first win of the all-star series.

Astro manager Luman Harris declared he was going all out to win the game. He said he would send Larry Dierker, one of the club's first-line pitchers, to the mound.
Dierker will face Herb Hippaut, the Austin Brave left-hander who has compiled an 8-5 record thus far during the campaign.

Other starting pitcher possibilities ruled themselves out by starting games this week. Clint Stark of Tulsa worked a game for Tulsa Tuesday night and the Spurs' Charlie Hartenstein started Dallas - Fort Worth's game Wednesday night.
But Hartenstein was knocked out of the box in the second inning, and may be fresh enough to see some action tonight.

Vern Rapp of Tulsa won the right to manage the Texas League by a narrow margin over Albuquerque manager Roy Hartfield.
Texas League rules state that the managers of the clubs leading their respective divisions on July 1 draw all - star assignments. But the rules also state that of those two managers, the one whose team has the best percentage on all-star eve will be the head man.

Tulsa was ahead of Albuquerque Wednesday, although after Wednesday night's action, the two clubs were in a dead heat percentage-wise.

has accounted for their last three and five of the nine.
Gary Peters seemed on the threshold of breaking the complete jinx Wednesday night, cruising along with a 5-0 lead in the fifth inning against the Cleveland Indians whose anemic attack had not generated a run in 34 consecutive innings.
Roo! Fell In
Then catastrophe struck Peters, who had drilled a three-run homer in his own behalf. When the dust had cleared four Chicago pitchers later, the White Sox had staggered to a 12-10 victory in 12 innings and the mystery remained unsolved.
The other American League clubs were idle.
In the only National League action, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Milwaukee Braves 5-2 in the first game of a doubleheader, then dropped the second game to the Braves 6-3. Pedro Gonzalez reached Peters for the first of five Indian homers in the fifth with a man on and when Chico Salmon connected for the first of his two homers in the sixth with a man on Peters was through. Believer Hoyt Wilhelm was touched for three more tallies in the inning, one on Rocky Colavito's 21st round-ropper.
The White Sox put together a three-run rally in the ninth to take a 9-8 lead before pinch-hitter Fred Whitfield belted one of Eddie Fisher's knuckleballs for a home run in the Indians' ninth.

Bob Buhl (9-7) won the opener with excellent relief help in the eighth and ninth from Ted Abernathy. Ron Santo drove in two runs and Don Landrum collected three hits for the Cubs, who opened the game with five consecutive singles off loser Tony Cloninger (10-8).
Gene Oliver powered two home runs in the second game and Hank Fischer limited the Cubs to five singles to win his third game.
Woody Woodward fouled to catcher Ed Bailey and when Mack Jones faked toward second base, Bailey threw to shortstop Don Kessinger. Rico Carty on third broke for home and was out on Kessinger's throw to pitcher Bill Faul covering the plate when Jones tried for second. Faul cut him down with his throw to second baseman Glenn Beckert.

Clarke Adds To Records

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — Ron Clarke of Australia is determined to complete the fastest four of Europe on record.
Clarke added two more speed records to his growing collection Wednesday night when he became the first man ever to run 10,000 meters in less than 28 minutes.
The Australian "desert train" was clocked in 27 minutes, 39.4 seconds for the 10,000 meter mark, snapping his own world record of 28:14.0 set in Finland last month. En route to this fantastic feat, Clarke also lowered the existing world record for six miles with a time of 26:47.0.
Clarke now has smashed 10 world marks this year and holds the world records for three miles, six miles, 10 miles, 5,000 meters and 10,000 meters.

TEXAS FOOTBALL, the annual pre-season review of Texas college and high school football, has hit the stands this week; and although it predicts good things for White Deer grid fans, the prognosis for Pampa Harvester rosters is dismal and we hope, completely incorrect.
AS FAR AS the Big Green is concerned, the "experts" (I think Putt-Putt Powell wrote this with a hex doll labelled Pampa as dead last in district 3-4A. With much hesitation, the down, Charlie Smith, the mean Buck tackle who made second team all-state as a junior, is picked as a sure thing for Class A first team this year, and even makes second team on the All-Super Team from the entire state, regardless of classification. Vernon Marlar, burly Skelly fullback, is also tabbed on the Class A honor roll while magazine picks rebuilding Tascosa again, mainly on their past performance, and says that Amarillo, Monterey, Lubbock or Borger in that order could also be the champs. Palo Duro, Plainview, Caprock and Pampa are rated as also-rans in that order, and the comments on PHS are woefully brief, to wit: "PAMPA, with six lettermen from a 3-7 team, will regroup behind halfback Joey Roden, fullback Ted Heiskell, guard the Bucks are picked as the class of a classy field... although the mag admits their margin is paper-thin.

"A banner year in White Deer" is the caption on the class A review, which says that the presence of nine offensive and eight defensive starters from a 9-2 district champion rates them the nod for the crown, with Three Rivers, Big Lake, Jefferson and Forney picked as very strong threats.
The review of district 2-A picks the Big Bucks as overwhelming favorites, with end Monty Hawpe, back Randy Elliott and hefty tackle Danny Lane rated as strong support for Smith and Marlar. Only problem noted for the Bucks is lack of depth, and with what WD has coming up from a fine freshman team, this scribe thinks that won't be an insurmountable problem.

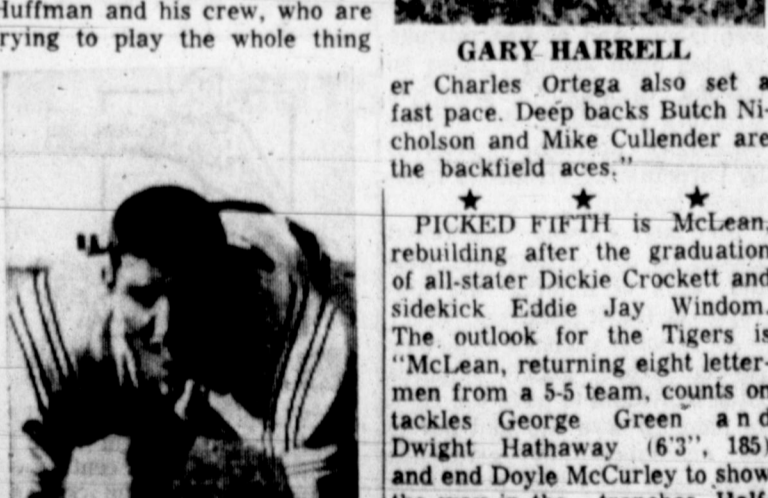

THE CANADIAN Wildcats are rated as the big threat along with Clarendon and Wellington. Outlook on the "Cats reads "Canadian will put its hopes in a larger and more experienced line which will be led by end Sandy Fiel and center Gary Harrell, both two-way regulars last year. AND THAT is all there is. Matter of fact, the district itself is not picked very highly, no one in the state's predicted top ten, and Jimmy Bennett of Tascosa is the only player mentioned on the 4-A honor roll.

THE OUTLOOK for the folks from White Deer-Skellytown, on the other hand, sounds real purty, much to the dismay of Colie Huffman and his crew, who are trying to play the whole thing

'Cheater' Campbell In Lead

TORONTO (UPI) — Chunky, cigar-smoking Joe Campbell is a firm believer today that you can "cheat" in big time golf and get away with it.

The 29-year-old Knoxville, Tenn., pro, parlayed a "cheat sheet," his caddy's foresight and a hot putter into a four-under par 66 Wednesday and the first round lead in the $100,000 Canadian Open golf championship.
The 5-8 roly-poly 200-pounder didn't arrive here until after midnight Tuesday and admitted that he borrowed Sonny Methvin's "cheat sheet" (a golfer's yardage log of the course).
Meanwhile, his frantic caddy, 28-year-old Doug Wright, walked off the course the same night just in case Campbell showed.
"Between the two of them," Campbell said, "they made a tremendous difference in my round today. I had never seen the course before."
Holds Slim Lead
Campbell's fine 34-32 round—two shots off the Mississauga course record of 64—still was only good enough for a one shot lead over bespectacled Mason Rudolph, who figured he had the "best putting round" (30 putts) I've had in quite awhile.
Seven more pros were bunched just two strokes behind the leader: Australia's Bruce Devlin; 1962 runnerup Charlie Sifford, who 10 years ago led the first round of the Canadian Open with a 63; lanky Al Geiberger; Montreal's handsome, smooth-swinging Al Johnston, just recovering from a bout with hepatitis; Sam Carmichael; Gary Bauer and rookie pro Dave Stockton from the University of Southern California.
Six more were tied at 69, including defending champion Kel Nagle; one of the pre-tournament favorites, Jack Nicklaus; and slim Bill Casper, who now gets his vitamins from wild game and avocados.
Took Its Toll
The picturesque Mississauga course, slightly toughened for a national championship by knocking two par 5's down to 4's, took its toll on some of the four-year boys. U.S. Open champion Gary Player had a four-over 74 and explained, "I hit the ball super but I couldn't put a putt." Three-time Canadian titlist Sam Snead had a 74 also, as did Bob Rosburg and Tommy Bolt.
Nicklaus, the Masters champion, stayed in contention with a one-under 69 and admitted that he "played a devil of a sight better than I have been."

Matsen Nixes Wichita Meet

HOUSTON (UPI)—World shot put record holder Randy Matsen said today he will not be able to compete July 23 in the AAU-sanctioned Wichita meet.
Matsen said Earl Rudder, president of Texas A&M University, contacted National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) officials Wednesday, but the governing body of college athletics would not make an exception in Matsen's case.
"The school wanted to get me in the meet," Matsen said, "because I need to throw somewhere, but the NCAA said it would be a violation of the rules to throw in Wichita."
"They said it would be okay if only members of the U.S. team competed there, but there are several outsiders running against Jim Ryun."
Matsen wanted to enter the meet so he could get practice before he competes against the Russians July 31-Aug. 1.
Matsen has also decided against throwing in an exhibition in St. Louis Saturday, "because the schedule wouldn't be the best for me."
The 20-year-old record holder will leave New York July 24 for the U.S.-Russian meet.
He said he does not expect any retaliation from the NCAA for throwing in international competition.
"I don't think they (NCAA) have anything to say about international competition outside the United States," Matsen said.

Hart Named Miami Grid Coach, To Help With PTC

MIAMI — A.W. "Red" Hart has been named as the new head football coach at Miami High School, Superintendent of Schools Weldon Snodgrass announced yesterday.

Following the resignation of coach Lawrence Overcast to become head coach at Clarendon Junior College last spring, Henry Hall of Sudan had been hired as the new football coach and Hart as assistant in football and head basketball and track coach.

Hall resigned suddenly last weekend, reporting that he had decided not to move, and the School Board Monday night moved Hart up to the head coach's job. The board also named Don Warren as the head basketball coach and assistant football mentor. Warren will graduate from West Texas State this week.

Hall also has joined the Pampa Track Club as a coach. A veteran track coach, Hall produced the 440-yard dash champion last spring as well as sending a number of boys to the state finals while at Bolso Grande HS in Garden Grove, Calif. Hall will join PTC coaches Norman Phillips and Jeff Cohane at the Perritt AAU Junior Olympic meet this Saturday.

and will accompany coach Doc Bates of Skellytown to the Lubbock and Denton TAAF meets. In addition to helping coach the team, Hall will also bring his 15-year-old son, Phil, a shot-putter, to join the team, and hopes to get some of the Miami youngsters out to run for PTC. Former state high jump record holder Jimmy Flowers is the only Miami youngster to have competed in the summer track program.

Mets Place Warren Spahn On Waivers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Warren Spahn, still shocked at being placed on waivers by the New York Mets, today was waiting for some team to show interest in acquiring a 44-year-old pitcher.
"Nobody was as shocked as me," said Spahn, the winningest left-handed pitcher in major league history after the Mets placed him on waivers Wednesday in a move toward giving him his unconditional release.
If the southpaw hurler and pitching coach isn't claimed by any other National League team for the $1 waiver price, he will become a free agent to deal with any major league club.

Spahn said, "I'd be willing to go to any club that feels I can help them, but I'd prefer to stay active as a pitcher."
However, no clubs showed any immediate interest after the Mets made their announcement.
"I haven't had time to talk to any other clubs yet," Spahn said, "so I don't know what offers I'll get. I have no definite plans right now. I'll wait until the waiver period is up and then try to contact other ball clubs."
Despite Spahn's surprise, the announcement was foreshadowed by the Mets' growing stress on youth development and Spahn's desire to be a starting pitcher.
"I feel I can start and finish nine innings," said Spahn, who won 360 major league games. "I've always been a second - half pitcher and feel the best part of my season is just beginning."

Spahn, who has pitched two no-hitters and 63 shutouts during his major league career which started in 1942, was not bitter after his release and said, "I understand their position. With the ball club going the way it is, they're going with youth. They released Frank Lary last week and now they've let me go to make room for young players."

Bad Rounds Hit Amateurs

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sixteen of the nation's best amateur golfers, frustrated by high winds and a drought-toughened course, tee off today in the third round of the National Public Links championships.
"I got away with a bad round," grumbled Stanley Poploski, a Pittsburgh real estate man, after a bogey-filled match Wednesday in which he defeated a 16-year-old school boy, 1 up.
"I was bad," echoed defending champion Bill McDonald of Topeka, Kans., when he came off the hilly, North Park course after winning two matches.
Poploski will take on a 24-year-old fireman from Warren, Ohio, Leo Zampardo, in today's opening round while McDonald faces Jim Schroder, 21, of San Francisco.
Wendell Kop, Honolulu's popular entry, will meet Dennis Ewing of Dallas, Tex.
Kop, a five-foot-four inch engineer, defeated the tournament's tallest player, six-foot nine Bill O'Connor of Los Angeles, 5 and 3, Wednesday to stay in the running.
Poploski, 43, the medalist in qualifying rounds, was trailed around the course by a gallery of 250 Wednesday and "bad round" or not he was the biggest drawing card of the tournament.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Passman on Great Society

You might call it a "State of the Union address" that Otto E. Passman of Monroe, La., a very worried Democratic congressman in his 19th year of service in the House, made to a group of business people in Chicago recently. What he said should have been heard or read by every American — but all too few have had the opportunity. In any case, the following excerpts will bear repeating:

"Our country is at a crossroads. The November election brought many changes to Washington. Nevertheless, I do not believe that the voters have given a mandate to the President to bankrupt America and destroy our sovereignty, or to the Congress to rubber-stamp any and all proposals submitted by the President.

"Most of the legislation being rammed through the Congress at this time is as socialistic as any legislation to be found in an acknowledged socialistic state.

"We hear much about this 'Great Society' planned for this age. It would be more appropriate... to refer to the President's proposals as the 'Great Socialistic Society.' The one work 'socialistic' makes the difference between the label on the administration's programs and what we will have in the end.

"The spirit of self-reliance that animated the earliest settlers and which for more than a century and a half inspired Americans to exercise their initiative and develop this country through hard work which preserved their independence from too much government is disappearing.

Track Down Fury in Hurricanes

The United States Navy not only talks about the weather, it tries to do something about it, too. If Uncle Sam's sailors are successful, the damage done by hurricanes will be greatly reduced and the tragic turmoil produced by these tropical killers will cease to take countless lives and maul property annually.

The name of the operation is Project Stormfury and the Navy is working with the Weather Bureau to see if seeding clouds can stop storms in their tracks before they play havoc with helpless householders.

Started in 1961, Project Stormfury will be revived between July 28 and October 1 when planes take to the air to seed storm clouds in the western Atlantic and eastern Caribbean. Up to 17 Navy, Air Force and Weather Bureau aircraft will take part in the project and try to record what happens when storms are seeded.

The basic technique involves seeding clouds surrounding the eye, or center of storms in order to release latent heat. Scientists hope this will trigger a chain reaction leading to the modifying of the destructive killer storms. Cumulus clouds will also be

Open Hearings Needed Here, Too

It is the usual practice for Congressional committees to hold open hearings on major legislative proposals. Like the Pampa school board, maybe?

The procedure, however, is not followed in the House of Representatives during the consideration of appropriations measures which obviously are of extreme importance to all taxpayers. Certainly there should be an opportunity for the public to voice its opinions about the proposed expenditure of sums approaching the 100 billion dollar mark annually.

You can, of course, submit your views in writing but that is far from being as effective as testimony given at an open hearing that is well-covered by the press.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that serious attention is paid to the recommendation by the National Association of Manufacturers for the holding of open hearings by the House Appropriations Committee on all appropriate

"My friends, we are not creeping — we are running — toward a socialistic form of government in America.

"May I say to you that under the first 16 months of operation of the 'Great Society,' calendar year 1964 and four months of 1965, the Executive Branch, dealing with an extremely responsive Congress, secured the adoption of more socialistic legislation than during the previous 176 years existence of our government. Here are some of the new programs approved or pending:

"Manpower Development and Training—Youth Employment—Accelerated Public Works—Community Facilities—ARA Amendments—Mass Transit—Appalachian Aid to Education—Medicare—socialized medicine—subsidizing of rents.

"It is estimated that the first year's cost of these superduper programs will exceed $8 billion, and at the end of the tenth year will have exceeded $100 billion. And it would appear that the programs to be submitted during the remainder of calendar year 1965 to promote the 'Great Society' will make the cost even greater.

"I predict the people's reward will be a complacent society, with free enterprise shackled with government control... incentive deadened and initiative paralyzed, and with the government controlling the individual's life from the cradle to the grave... In the end, our reward for complacency: A socialistic form of government in America. Can it happen? "It is happening now."

Hurricane Beulah, which roared off the coast of Puerto Rico in 1963, gave Stormfury experts a chance to meet a killer face to face. Soon after seeding, the central pressure in the eye of the hurricane rose and the area of maximum winds moved away from the storm center, greatly reducing the striking power of the tropical tempest. The seeding operations might have caused the desired results, but scientists admit that natural oscillations within the hurricane, of which little is known, could have accounted for the changes. The experts need to know for sure.

So, with another hurricane season approaching, Navy and Weather Bureau storm fighters have their eyes on the sky. They want nothing more than to take on one of nature's most deadly weapons. What they learn could go a long way toward hastening the day when the hurricane season is no more.

On the other hand, if the company executive's statement is false and in fact the firm did not come upon the idea on its own, still my friend has no justifiable claim for compensation. For when he disclosed his idea to another, he destroyed the natural boundary without erecting a substitute boundary in its place. Boundary is the essence of property, for without it the belongings of one cannot be told from the belongings of another.

If my friend had conveyed his idea on the accepted condition that the firm would reward him then he would have retained some claim to that which he divulged. The condition of disclosure would have comprised the new boundary of that which was his.

Secret Given Away But as it was, he simply gave the information away. It passed from what he believes to have been his sole possession. But the point is, it passed. The case is no different from if he actually had received $500,000 for his idea, and then had sprinkled the proceeds over the countryside.

In the instance of a scientist at work in a laboratory, or any other employment situation for that matter, the obligation to the employer may be either written or unwritten. If written, the writing specifies the property boundaries between the two parties; if unwritten, the boundaries are prescribed by verbal understanding, by reasonable interpretation, and by custom.

In short, an idea belongs to the originator. But that person may morally alienate his property, either by selling it, giving it away, or simply losing it. He can, in fact, contract to convey an idea even before he himself comes into possession of it.

QUESTION: "Should present councilmen and legislators of all kinds, continue to perpetuate the mistakes of former legislators that deprive future generations from their God-given right to choose how they should use their productive energy?"

ANSWER: In the first place, in order to answer this question we would have to determine whether any parent has a moral right to obligate in perpetuity their own children to pay for their mistakes, and to carry out their erroneous contracts that would impoverish the future generations. If no parent has a right to obligate his own descendants for future generations to pay for the mistakes of their ancestors, how can any elected legislators have a just or moral right to do something that no individual has a moral right to do?

If that be true then the question becomes whether the legislators can act justly and morally, by continuing to attempt to carry out these mistaken man-made laws of former legislators. It would seem that the present councilmen or legislators of all kinds are morally obligated to correct this error of the former legislators.

To do otherwise is to perpetuate a form of slavery. A man is a slave to the degree that he doesn't have the fruits of his own labor. And as one mistake is piled upon another, taxes go up and eventually the whole structure crumbles. All nations eventually destroy themselves by perpetuating erroneous man-made legislation.

No man-made legislation should be out of harmony with the laws of nature, the universe, or God's laws. All rational students of history proclaim that liberty requires each individual to have the right to plan his own life and not to be encumbered by erroneous man-made laws that eventually destroy themselves and others.

I Think They're Way Ahead Of Us

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Who Owns a New Idea? The Originator Does, But—

By SAM CAMPBELL, Business Editor

On my typewriter is a note from an old friend. It says, "Sam, how about an observation or two on business ethics?" And the note continues:

"I take a $500,000-profit idea to a certain firm and the executive who talks to me says, 'We thought of that long ago,' and dismisses me coldly. Next thing I know the idea is on the firm's 'must' list and I get nothing."

R&D Controversy The question here is, "Who owns an idea?" The subject is somewhat more pertinent these days when a great deal of money is spent on research and product development. If a firm hires a scientist, for instance, is the firm thereby entitled to all the discoveries that the scientist happens to make? Or to get the matter back to the instant case, was my friend morally entitled to compensation for information that he divulged to a second party?

My judgment is that he has no moral claim for compensation. Clearly, at one time the idea was his property. It was his property for the simple reason that he had it. The idea, in other words, was in his possession, and no other person could take it from him.

As long as the idea was in his possession, it was bounded. It was bounded by his physical person. True, some other party might come upon the same notion independently in which case each and both have the same moral right to use the idea independently of the other. And if the company executive's statement contained in the note is true, that is the situation here.

Boundary Destroyed On the other hand, if the company executive's statement is false and in fact the firm did not come upon the idea on its own, still my friend has no justifiable claim for compensation. For when he disclosed his idea to another, he destroyed the natural boundary without erecting a substitute boundary in its place. Boundary is the essence of property, for without it the belongings of one cannot be told from the belongings of another.

If my friend had conveyed his idea on the accepted condition that the firm would reward him then he would have retained some claim to that which he divulged. The condition of disclosure would have comprised the new boundary of that which was his.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

MAN OF THE CENTURY America produced the "man of the century," to its great credit.

Voices are heard proclaiming the qualifications of European statesmen for this high and historic honor. And if its criterion were to be the extent of evil done, Lenin would undoubtedly take first place with Hitler running a strong second.

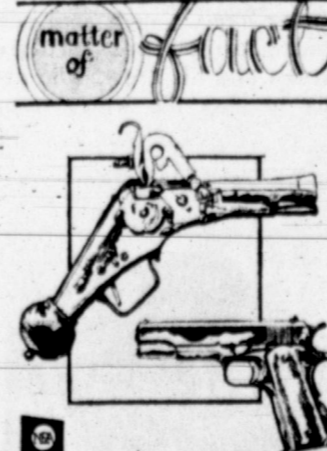

But the true man of the century should be distinguished by vision and righteousness, uniting in himself more than any other man of this time the most constructive qualities of his nation and his civilization. He was famous for his devotions to duty, honor, country.

All those who knew Douglas MacArthur well, and all who read his splendid Reminiscences with discernment, understand that he was the supreme American patriot of our time. For his greatness was that he loved and stood for the best in our country and its heritage.

In an age of growing moral blindness he never failed to make a clear distinction between good and evil. Having made that distinction, he never failed to act on it.

Unlike so many Americans who required years and even decades to awake to the menace of communism, Douglas MacArthur always recognized and fought this vicious enemy. He fought no less gallantly the enemies of freedom in all their other disguises, such as fascism.

If Douglas MacArthur had been called to confer at Yalta and Potsdam or to lead our nation from the White House, the long said sad tale of surrender and retreat of the U.S.A. would never have been told. Freedom would now be winning the struggle for the world.

The pistol has been used as a small firearm since early in the 15th century. Tradition says the word originated from one of two sources. One school claims the word dates from Pistoia, a city in Italy where they say the weapon originated.

The other holds that it comes from pistole, an ancient coin to the diameter of which it is said the earliest handguns were bored. Still others associate it with "pistallo" which means pommel, the common location of the weapon for mounted troops.
