HIGHWAY BOARD CALLS BRIDGE CONFERENCE

QUACKS SCORED BY STATE HEAD OF PHYSICIANS

Dr. C. M. Rosser of Dallas Explains Medical Practice Act

NO DISCRIMINATION

Dallas Doctor Declares Many Dying Who Are Not Ill

"Quacks must qualify or quit: we are not trying to drive any one from the practice of medicine, but those that practice must qualify legally; we are not trying to bring in any special class to practice medicine, but those who come in must legally qualify. This is not a controversy with any class of practicioner; it is simply a fight in which the state is trying to oust the illegal practicioner—and the legitimate medical profession is on the side of the state."

Such was the summing up last night of Dr. C. M. Rosser, president of the Texas State Medical association, in an address before several hundred Wichita Falls physicians, attorneys, business men, city and county officials and others. Dr. Rosser was the principal speaker at a banquet at the Kemp, in which efforts of the state medical association to outlaw quackery and educate the public to the need of scientific medical treatment were forcibly sketched.

Many Are Ill.

"Many persons in the land today are ill who ought not to be sick," Dr. Rosser said. "Women and children are dying who ought not to die. It is our purpose, and the ideals of the medical profession contemplate that illness shall be avoided, that suffering shall be relieved, that disability shall be shortened and that men may be relieved, that disability shall be shortened and that men may live a little longer."

Dr. Rosser is now on an extensive swing through Texas, making as many as four addresses a day in his campaign to instill in the public mind realization that human ailments are things requiring specific study and treatment, and they are not curable by men who have no knowledge of the human body and who seek to work a magic rehabilitation on the theory that all disease is attributual to a slip of the backbone.

There are certain fundamentals in the medical profession that must be thoroughly understood before intelligent treatment of human ills can be made, the speaker asserted. He named over the list, included in which were anatomy, physiology, diagnosis, pathology, chemistry, obstetrics, medical jurisprudence and public hygiene. To properly approach a curative for the human body, he declared, any man should have knowledge of these, and the only way to acquire them was through study. He then went on to say that the medical practice act of Texas which regulates the practice of medicine had this in view and that it was perfectly sane and reasonable.

Avoids Discrimination

The aim of the act is not one of discrimination, he said, but rather was one of protection against the ignorant. The medical examinations aspiring physicians are required to pass, he further asserted, are not "medical" examinations; rather they are "scientific examinations" which have as their basis the most modern dictates of advanced science.

The practice of men who treat the body without regard for training or medical education is serious, Dr. Rosser declared, but it was not the most serious aspect of the situation. The real tragedy, he asserted, was that many good people "are mislead in their beliefs and allow themselves to be treated by such men." It is to correct this that the state medical association which he heads in conducting its wide education campaign at present. His address was embellished in many places with illustrations of common ailments where treatment by legitimate physicians using scientific remedies brought about speedy cures; while treatment at the hands of certain types of practicioners allowed the patient to ail further until death came.

Texas Dealers In Autos Told Not to Credit

Price Declines Predicted By Speaker at State Convention

GALVESTON, May 12.—(AP)—Texas automobile men heard a message of warning and a means of salvation here this afternoon in the address of E. B. Gallaher of Norwalk, Conn., delivered to the convention of the Texas automobile dealers association. The speaker warned against the constantly expanding credit system in the industry, predicted a price decline in the next few months and urged the dealers to return to a sane attitude of business.

As a solution of many dealers problems Mr. Gallaher stressed the development of the jobber or wholesaler in the industry, declaring that the manufacturer-to-dealer system is ruining the business for everyone except the manufacturer.

The speaker was one of several talkers on the afternoon program of the convention which conveaed here this morning.

MUMFORD JURY IS UNDECIDED

Goes to Bed at 10 p. m. Without Coming To Agreement

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, May 12—The jury in the case of Carroll Munford, under indictment here on a charge of robbery with firearms, went to bed at 10 o'clock Wednesday night without arriving at a verdict. The 12 men had deliberated since 11:45 Wednesday morning when argument of counsel was concluded.

Mumford, Jack B. Jackson and E. E. Savage were arrested on the morning of May 6 after J. N. Hawley of Holiday had been held up at the point of a gun near his store. The three were subsequently indicted and Jackson's case is scheduled to be called Thursday morning by Judge Wilson.

Mumford entered categoric denials to the charges that he was implicated in the holdup, declaring that he had been a victim of circumstances.

Hawley and Leonard Wallace, who was with the former at the time of the holdup, took the stand and testified that they were positive in their identification of Mumford and the two other men as the ones who robbed them.

Smuggled Aliens Found In Texas By Chance In Arrest

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—(AP)—Luis and Bertha Alvarez, Spaniards, charged in Corpus Christi with swindling, were under arrest in Eagle Pass today after being deported from Mexico by the immigration authorities. Sheriff James Stevens was so advised by Sheriff Albert Hauser of Eagle Pass.

Chief Deputy A. Newton, Jr., began a search for the couple at the request of Ponciano Pena of San Antonio, who had put a $4,000 cash bond for the couple. Nothing was known of the cases here but when Pena appealed to the sheriff's office and it was found charges had been filed in Nueces county, border officers were asked to be on the watch.

The couple had crossed into Mexico at Laredo. Later they appeared in Piedras Negras and were taken in charge by Mexican immigration authorities. When it was found they had entered from the United States without the proper fomalities they were escorted to the international line. Hauser took them in charge and they will be taken to Corpus Christi.

PROBE PATRONAGE

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—A house judiciary subcommittee will hold hearings on two resolutions designed to develop whether there has been bartering and sale of federal patronage, particularly in the south. One measure, by Representative Busby, Democrat, Missippi, calls for the post-office and justice departments to submit reports on conditions in Mississippi, while the other, by Representative Stevenson, democrat, of South Carolina, would make it unlawful to exchange anything of value or make political promises in offering or receiving jobs.

TWO AT A TIME.

TIFTON, Georgia, May 12.—(AP) Byron Southwell, manager of the Agricultural and Mechanical Hatchery, has a hen that, in six "layings" produces the equivalent of one dozen eggs. Each egg contains two yolks, and measures 7 1-2 to 7 3-4 inches in oval circumference. Southwell is endeavoring to evolve a breed of fowl that will produce similar eggs.

GENESIS BOOK IS ACCEPTED AS BAPTIST CODE

Convention Vaults Barrier Of Evolution By Adoption

MODERNISTS SCORED

Action Is Taken Quickly As Question Is Brought Up

HOUSTON, May 12.—(AP)—Southern Baptists today apparently safely vaulted the evolution barrier at their seventy-first annual convention by unanimously accepting the Book of Genesis as the true theory of the origin of man. But while it found it comparatively easy to settle a question of theology, it encountered some difficulty in agreeing on a business policy which would inaugurate budget control of expenditures and as a means of reducing in debts amounting to about $5,000,000.

Indications were that the evolution hurdle was surmounted not without some previous preparation. Dr. M. E. Dodd, of Shreveport, it developed, was the author of the declaration which the convention accepted as its declaration of principles. It, however, came to the front in the speech accepting re-election of the president, Dr. George W. McDaniel, of Richmond, who urged the convention to accept the theory that "man was the especial creation of God," and to reject any theory, "evolution or otherwise, which teaches that man originated in, or came by way of, a lower animal ancestry."

An immediate motion to that effect, a quick second by Dr. Dodd, an impressive repetition of the text of the declaration by the president, an immediate unanimous vote and evolution apparently had been relegated to the rear.

The committee on, business efficiency, however, failed to impress its views on the messengers on the convention floor, who a moment previously had been swept into agreement on the evolution declaration and they refused to adopt it without further consideration.

The committee, headed by Dr. Austin Crouch, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., chairman, recited that it had investigated for a year the business methods of the various general boards an dother south-wide agencies of the convention. The balance sheet showed, the committee indicated, debts of $5,337,960.93 with assets largely non-liquid of $22,725,188.70.

PAINTER KILLED

Worker Killed While Putting Tint To Creamery Ceiling.

HOUSTON, May 12.—(AP)—Death overtook Tony Wanski, 19, East Ninth street, Wednesday, who was electrocuted while painting a room. Wanski was fatally burned when he came in contact with the high voltage wires at the top of a room of a creamery.

He was pulled from the wires by Gene Slovar, a fellow workman, then rushed to a hospital where he died Wednesday.

PRISONER ESCAPES

Man Serving Forgery Sentence Breaks From Imperial Farm

HOUSTON, May 12.—(AP)—Police were searching the city Wednesday night for a man believed to be Richard Beall, who escaped while serving a prison sentence at Imperial state farm at Sugarland.

Beall was convicted of forgery and sentenced to nine years. He began his term in June 1922.

He escaped while hoeing cotton on the prison farm grounds.

Ship Booking Increases As Strike Ends

Americans Hurry to Engage Berths as News Arrives

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Hurried withdrawal of previous cancellations of passage on the large liners sailing for England provided the first immediate reaction to the settlement of the British general strike here.

The United States lines reported that their bookings again were stabilized with all passages taken for the season. The White Star, Cunard and Royal Mail packet lines all reported a revival in business.

CADE GUILTY ON RUM CHARGE

Archer City Jury Convicts Him for Possession Of Still

ARCHER CITY, May 12.—R. C. Cade of Wichita Falls, was found guilty by a jury in 30th district court here this afternoon, on a charge of possession of equipment designed to manufacture intoxicanticants. He was sentenced to one year in the Texas penitentiary.

The equipment in question is alleged to have been captured four miles northwest of Archer City on October 21, 1925, and is claimed by the state to have been owned by Cade and others.

Cade was found guilty of robbery with firearms in Wichita Falls last month and sentenced to five years in prison, but was given a new trial on a plea of insufficient evidence.

The trial today was commenced at 1 p. m. and the jury reported at 7 p. m.

'Ma' Asks Report From Treasurer, Granted By Law

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—As a result of reports given to the press in Dallas, W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, today was ordered by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson to submit semi-monthly, according to law, reports of the financial condition of the state to her. She asks the information to be delivered in six days.

The governor "officially advised" Hatcher of his duties and stated in a terse letter to the treasurer that he is required to furnish her office the amount of deposits which he had with the Austin banks for the last six months.

Hatcher stated in the press that he required the governor to ask for information from his office in writing and said that the governor's telegram to him demanding certain information on the finances of the state was threatening.

BEACH IS FREE.

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Colonel Will Gray Beach, former head of the federal narcotic bureau in Chicago was found not guilty by a jury today of a charge of conspiracy to violate the Harrison narcotic law.

POLAND IN REVOLT.

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)—Reliable advices from Warsaw say that severe fighting occurred in the streets of the Polish capital this afternoon, many persons being killed or wounded.

ALL WORKERS EXCEPT MINERS BACK ON DUTY

Trade Unionists Call Off General Walkout At Samuel's Request

PROMISE SQUARE DEAL

Coal Workers Yet to Be Pacified by Government Of Britain

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Great Britain's gigantic industrial strike, a test of endurance which lasted nine days, is ended. The general council of the trades union conference heeding the efforts of Sir Herbert Samuel, chairman of the royal coal commission as private mediator, today with drew its order for a sympathetic strike of the trades union in support of the coal miners.

The coal miners remain out, but with the assurance of Premier Baldwin that no stone will be left unturned to bring the interrupted negotiations btween the miners and mine owners to a conclusion satisfactory to all.

Now the nation that has borne with good humor and spartan fortitude the inconveniences and annoyances inevitable to any general stoppage of industry is preparing to pick up the pieces and count the cost.

Work is being slowly resumed throughout the country tonight. There are still many differences to be adjusted before industry can be in full swing again.

First, there is the question of the re-engagement of the men who have been notified that their places were filled. Then, too, groups in various sections, have announced their unwillingness to resume work until the government emergency control is entirely removed.

Nation Joyful.

But, on the whole, the nation has joyfully accepted the end of what the trades union congress, with reason, has characterized as one of the most orderly stoppages in the history of industrial disputes.

For the preceding twenty-four hours there had been much talk of peace; rumors were current that strong influences were at work to bring the government and labor leaders together, and last night there were important conferences between the representatives of the miners and the men highest in authority in the trades union congress.

Premier Baldwin and his ministers awaited a call from the union leaders until after midnight but it was not until noon today that the delegation proceeded to No. 10 Downing Street, the premier's official residence.

Here the proceedings were brief. In few words the premier was informed that the labor men were there to inform him of the termination of the general strike.

At the same time they relied upon his putting into effect his previous promises of a square deal for all.

News Is Broadcast.

The termination of the strike was broadcast over the radio, announced in parliament and spread rapidly to every corner of the country. It was received throughout England with mixed feelings, characteristic of the British, but mostly with cheers. Even then, however, the public did not give way to the delirium of the moment, but accepted with smiles and light hearts the fact that things soon would begin to return to normal.

Upon just what basis the negotiations for the resumption of work will be taken up has not been revealed to the general public, even if already decided upon by the leaders and government. The miners tonight are steadi-

Actor Chief's Daughter in Romance

Miss Ruth Gillmore, daughter of Frank Gillmore, head of the Actor's Equity association, and Mrs. Gillmore, has gone to Italy with her mother to complete plans for her marriage in June to Max Sonino. They met at Florence while she was in Italy studying singing. The wedding will be staged in the American church there.

Atlantic Ocean Brought Within Twenty-Four Hours of Texas As Air Mail Service is Commenced

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—(AP) The Atlantic seaboard and the southwest were linked by a 24-hour mail service today when the first consignments of air mail for the new Dallas, Kansas City air route were delivered at their destinations.

South bound flyers in the new service overcame the handicap of unusually heavy mailings and ceremonies at the verious landing fields to deliver their pouches on time. The northbound flyers facing an additional handicap in strong head winds, were approximately an hour and twenty minutes behind schedule when they started on the Kansas-Chicago leg of their trip, but officials of the contracting company sought to reduce this delay by arranging for one plane to stop at Moline and Chicago only while the other stopped at St. Joseph as well.

The new service will enable residents of Dallas to send or receive letters to or from New York in 24 hours and it will also give them a much quicker connection with points on the Pacific coast.

Mailings at every point along the new roufe exceeded original expectations, but the equipment of the contracting company proved equal to the test and extra planes were used in both the north and south flights.

Elaborate ceremonies marked the progress of the planes.

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—Laden with a cargo valued at $100,000 "Miss Chicago," giant "carrier pigeon" airplane settled gently down on Love field here late today with Dallas' first official receipt of air mail from Chicago, northern termius of the new route tapping the middle-west.

Arrival of the plane, piloted by R. L. Dobie, marked the end of a day during which four mail planes had flown over the course of the National Air Transport, Inc., and delivered their cargoes.

Before six o'clock the pouches of mail it brought were in the Young street postal sub-station and the mail was being sorted for delivery. Shortly afterward, motorcyclists were taking special delivery packages to residence sections.

"Miss Chicago" was greeted at the landing field by several hundred persons. The big ship landed with ease and taxied into the hangar where the mail was transferred quickly to a postal truck and taken under guard to the post office.

SEIZE VESSEL

ASBURY PARK, N. J., May 12.—(AP)—Superintendent M. W. Rasmussen of the coast guard today announced he had ordered Captain Butler of the Sandy Hook coast guard station to seize the cabin cruiser Atlanta, which was reported to be at Highlands. Rasmussen charged that the Atlanta fired a shot at a patrol board off Atlantic City last night.

CONSIDER GERMANY

K. OF P. PICKS W. F. FOR MEET

Grand Lodge of Texas Will Convene Here In May 1927

Wichita Falls will be host next May to the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias, according to word received by the Record News Wednesday afternoon from John P. Marrs, grand representative of this city who has been attending a recent grand lodge meeting in Waco.

An urgent personal appeal by Mr. Marrs, coupled with messages of invitation from Mayor R. E. Shepherd and Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, swung the Pythians to Wichita Falls over several other competing communities.

The meeting of the grand lodge will bring to Wichita Falls the highest Pythian leaders of the state.

Parnell Speaks In West Texas

Senator J. D. Parnell, candidate for re-election to the state legislature, returned to Wichita Falls Wednesday evening from a trip through West Texas. He made addresses yesterday at both Crowell and Quanah and was given a rousing reception at each place, he reported.

Friday he will go to Newcastle to speak before the Kutch-Manning reunion to be held there.

PROBE LYNCHINGS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., May 12.—(AP)—Official inquiries were made today into two lynchings within three days in different sections of southern Florida. A special grand jury here was ready to announce its findings in the case of Parker Watson, negro, who was lynched Sunday night after being taken from officers who were bringing him here from Clearwater. At Lebelle, near Fort Myers, sheriff's forces were investigating the death of Henry Patterson, negro, who was shot to death and his body hanged to a tree last night for an alleged attack on a white woman.

WOULD REPEAL LAW

MA APPROVES PLAN TO MEET ON FREE SPAN

Oklahoma Commission May Be Asked to Meet In Austin

DODGE INJUNCTION

Sooner Attorney General Will be Invited To Texas Meet

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP) — Endorsement of the plan whereby Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson would enter a contract with the governor of Oklahoma and the Oklahoma highway commission for the construction of a free bridge across Red River at Burkburnett was given today by the Texas highway commission.

The Texas and the Oklahoma commissions have appropriated funds for the bridge, but the Texas body is restrained from expending the appropriation by a permanent injunction granted a short time ago by Judge George Calhoun of the 53rd district court here.

Judge Calhoun held unconstitutional the special road act of the 39th legislature authorizing the Wichita county commissioners' court to negotiate with the Oklahoma highway commission for the building of the bridge. He pointed out the constitution provides such negotiations must be carried on by the governon.

W. F. Weeks, Wichita Falls attorney, proposes to bring to Austin the attorney general of Oklahoma and the chairman of the Oklahoma highway commission to confer with Gov. Ferguson. It is understood she has signified her willingness to enter the negotations.

Methodists Vote Unfavorably On Many Proposals

MEMPHIS, May 12.—(AP)—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in session here today voted unfavorably on a half dozen or more memorials which would have changed the present form of government and practice in the church.

The memorials ranged from petitions asking that the annual conferences elect presiding elders to proposals limiting bishops' tenure of office to four years.

The conference voted down a proposal to establish a radio broadcasting station upon the recommendation of the publishing committee.

Leaders today declared that it would take two or three days to clear the legislative mill of "fool proposals" from different conferences, both annual and district.

Near the end of the morning sessions delegates paused in an argument over rules to take up a collection to start a fund for the building of a hospital in Chang Chow, China.

Louisiana Convict Free In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, May 12.—(AP)—James A. Leroy, who escaped from Angola, plantation, a Louisiana state prison farm last December was at large here tonight after having overpowered his guard on a Fort Worth and Denver passenger train arriving from Amarillo late today. He robbed the guard of $200 after obtaining possession of his pistol.

ANSWER SCOPES

NASHVILLE, May 12.—(AP)—The state of Tennessee in its reply brief and argument filed with the supreme court in the Scopes evolution case today argued that the Tennessee anti-evolution act is a public school regulation belonging to a special class of states, "not open to judicial review" or "legislation in respect of which the state practically has a free hand."

Overruling of all the assignments of error filed by the defense of Professor John T. Scopes for want of "merit" and affirmance of the judgment of the lower court is asked. Scopes was convicted of teaching evolution in the high school of Rhea county contrary to the state law and was fined $100. The arguments will be heard before the Supreme court May 30.

Secret of Arctic Regions May Be Given Amundsen

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—One of the largest question marks in the scientifice world may be straightened out in an exclamation point before another day, answering the question whether there is land within the million square miles of unexplored area between the north pole and Alaska across which the dirigible Norge is flying at the rate of a mile a minute.

The discovery of land within this area, a discovery that would far outweight in importance even the discovery of the north pole itself, would give to Norway an air base of inestimable value. If the flight of the Norge determines that there is no undiscovered Arctic continent then the world's last great geographical mystery will be cleared up.

Roald Amundsen, Norwegian conqueror of the south pole and head of the Norge's expedition, believes that land exists within this area which has heretofor been a blank spot on the maps of the world.

On his airpaine flight toward the north pole last year from Spitzbergen Amundsen observed three birds flying northwest toward Bering Strait.

"They must have been bound for land," he said.

"It could hardly have been Siberia or Alaska, across the polar wastes. More likely it was land on the other side of the pole. This land, if it exists, lies within a rough circle marked by the outline of the known boundaries of Alaska, Siberia, Spitzbergen and Greenland. Its distance from known land has made it more inaccessible than the pole itself."

Scientists who join Amundsen in the belief that an undiscovered Arctic continent exists, base their theory on more tangible evidences than the flight of birds, notably the drift of ice in the polar regions and the ice itself. Something must hold the ice there, they argue. It has even been reported that land has been seen in the unexplored area.

Admiral Robert E. Peary, who discovered the north pole in 1909, reported that in 1906 he sighted land northwest of Grant Land which is the northern end of Ellsmere Island. He named this land Crocker Land. Almost at the north pole itself he found the spoor of bears and foxes which would seem to indicate the proximity of land.

Captain John Keenan, a Troy, N. Y. Whale man said he saw land to the north while cruising in the Beaufort sea in the seventies. If this were true it would be in about the same place as Peary's "Crocker Land."

But the Arctic's secret is well guarded. The shores bordering the polar sea are utter wastes of frost-gnarled rock and gravel abandoned by ages of ice and bitter cold. The ice itself has always been the greatest obstacle to explorers.

"HER MAN"

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS for a year when he asks her to free him, because he's fallen in love with her chum, FAY SHIRLEY.

Heartbroken, Sylvia gives him up, to the great satisfaction of AUNT AGONY, the old maid who brought her up. Aunt Agony urges Sylvia to marry PETER WILK, a sober-minded bachelor. She says that Ranny Phelps would never have been true to Sylvia, anyway, and predicts that he'll never be true to any woman.

Her low opinion of him seems to be correct, too, for suddenly he tires of Fay, and marries Sylvia after all. But their married life is unhappy almost from the start. For Ranny hates to be tied down and he has several love affairs in rapid succession. He gambles and drinks with his cronies, and gives Sylvia so little money for the house that she has to give music lessons to support herself and her first baby, RANNY JUNIOR.

When the baby dies, Sylvia has a nervous breakdown and refuses to live with Ranny, believing that he no longer loves her, so she thinks. But finally he persuades her to return to him and promises never to look at another woman. And for the first time in his life he settles down to business in his father's real estate office.

When the second baby, a little girl, is two months old, BABS DELANO, an old school friend, comes to visit Sylvia. She is planning to take charge of a branch library in town, and Ranny helps her find a flat. They became very good friends and one day Sylvia comes upon them locked in each other's arms. She goes back to Aunt Agony's house, with the baby, to give Ranny time to think things over. He wants a divorce, but after talking to his mother, Sylvia decides not to give it to him. As she is on her way to her own house to get some clothes for the baby, she passes a taxicab, but never dreams that Ranny is in it. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LVIII.

As Sylvia unlocked the door of the Little White House the telephone was ringing loudly as if it were angry because no one answered it.

Not stopping to take off her wet wraps, she rushed to it and picked it up.

"Yes?" she asked, and Aunt Agony answered her.

"Wiel, where in the world have you been all this time? I've been calling you for two hours," she snapped. "This poor baby's crying, and I'm going to give her some milk, even if it isn't her feeding time. It's shameful to let the little thing cry like this."

Even through the telephone Sylvia could hear the angry wail of her young daughter. She glanced at her wrist watch. It was only half past one.

"No food for mistress baby until two o'clock, please," she said to her aunt. "Just let her cry. It's good for her. It's wonderful exercise for her—wait a minute!"

She laid the telephone on the table and walked over to the stairs with wide, startled eyes.

On the third step from the bottom lay a man's glove—Ranny's glove. It was one of a pair that Sylvia had given him at Christmas time.

She picked it up. It was damp and rain spotted. Ranny had been here while she was gone. Or else, he was still here, perhaps.

Forgetting all about Aunt Agony at the other end of the wire, she dashed up the stairs and into the bedroom that Ranny and she had shared. It was in wild confusion. The dresser drawers stood open. The door of the clothes closet stood open. A couple of pastboard hat boxes lay on the floor. Some worn silk shirts had been slung over the foot of the bed. An old leather cigaret case and three ancient cigarets lay on the seat of Ranny's leather arm chair.

Sylvia was panting as if she had been running hard, as she crossed the littered room to Ranny's clothes closet, and peered into its shadowy depths.

His kitbag and his old pigskin suit case were gone from the shoe shelf where they habitually stood. They were gone. Then she remembered the taxicab she had just passed on her way home. He had been in it.

He was gone. He had left her. He had left her and their little baby.

She stood once more in the center of the roomm, staring blankly at the confusion all around her. She could scarcely believe that he had gone away like this.

It must be a dream, a nightmare. But she knew that it wasn't a dream. It was as real as the rain splashing against the streaked window panes. She must make up her mind to the fact that Ranny had left her.

Then she saw that he had left a letter for her. An envelope, with her name dashed across it in pencil, was tucked under the little blue lamp on the bedside table.

She picked it up, and read the few lines that Ranny had scrawled across it:

"I suppose the only way to make you see that I am not going to live with you again is to go away. I have told my father how things are, and he will see that you are taken care of until you get your divorce. The money question can be settled then, of course."

That was all. Just the bare, brutal fact. He hadn't even signed his name to the note.

He had left his house and all that it stood for, as carelessly as he would have walked out of a hotel.

But where had he gone?

And what had he told his father?

"I suppose I ought to go down to see Father Phelps, and find out," Sylvia thought. "I suppose I ought to know where I stand."

She knew that she ought to go down and send Mother Phelps' car away from the house, too. And Aunt Agony was still waiting for her to return to the telephone, probably.

But, somehow, Sylvia couldn't stir from the room. She wanted to stay here where she was hidden from everyone—and from everyone's pity and curiosity.

She felt that she could never go out and face the world again.

It wasn't only that she was hurt to her very soul. She was ashamed, too.

She was ashamed as only a woman who isn't wanted, can be ashamed. A woman who has given her whole capital of beauty, and love and devotion to a man—and he has trampled them under foot.

She had given Ranny everything she had and it wasn't enough. He wanted somebody else.

She had failed as a wife. Here was the brutal little note as proof of it. He wanted to be rid of her. He was sick and tired of her.

She stood in the middle of the room, looking at the piece of paper. Then, slowly, she began to sink down, until she was a heap of misery on the floor, her head bowed into her hands. She felt as if she never would be able to lift her head again.

Downstairs she heard the door bell ring, and then the sound of Mother Phelps' car going away. The telephone was making the peculiar growling sound that it makes when someone has left the receiver off the hook beyond her.

But still Sylvia sat there, with her head down in her hands. In the palm of one of them was crushed the note—a damp little wad, now.

Presently the door bell rang again, and again, and again.

"Probably the dry cleaner calling for Ranny's suits," Sylvia thought, but she did not move. The door bell rang twice more and then was silent.

After a couple of minutes some little stones pattered smartly against the windows of the room where she sat. Then another shower of them came.

She got up then and looked out.

It was she who had been throwing the gravel at the windows. She had a handful of it in her gloved hand now.

Her lips moved rapidly as she looked up and saw Sylvia standing at the window. She motioned for her to come downstairs and open the front door.

"My stars! I thought you were dead when you didn't come back to the telephone!" she cried, as she stepped into the house. The first thing she did was to put the receiver back on the hook with a bang.

"What happened to you, anyway" she asked, angrily. "I stood there, clicking that telephone for about ten minutes, and then I gave the baby her milk, anyway. The idea of trying to feed a baby by the clock! It's all new fangled nonsense anyway—when I'm taking care of a baby I feed it when it's hungry, and if you don't like it, you can lump it!"

If she had bothered to look at Sylvia she would have seen that she was paying no attention to her. The deep blue eyes looked through her and beyond her.

"Ranny's left me," Sylvia said quietly, and held out the crumpled little note.

"What!" Aunt Agony's voice was half a whisper and half a shriek. "What."

She took the piece of paper into the living room and smoothed out its creases, on the top of Sylvia's little tea table. Then, holding it close to her eyes, she read it.

"Just the sort of trick I knew he'd play!" she remarked disgustedly, when she laid it down. "If he were half a man he'd have come and told you he was going, instead of sneaking off like this!"

She was looking at Sylvia with great bitterness in her eyes.

"Well," she said, after a pause, "you've brought your pigs to a fine market, haven't you? You've given that scallywag four of the best years of your life, and now he's thrown you down, just as I always knew he would—left you with his child to support! I suppose I can take care of it now the rest of my life, while you go out and earn the living!"

Sylvia was too crushed to answer her. The practical side of the thing was beyond her just now. All her mind could take in was the one dreadful fact that Ranny had left her.

He was never going to live here with her and the baby again, in the Little White House.

The sound of his Taube roadster, turning into the drive, would never again send a thrill of joy tingling along her nerves. He would never read his morning paper in the dining room across the hall again—never lie stretched on the davenport, with his smoking table beside him, and a book in his hand.

"Oh, what am I going to do?" Sylvia groaned aloud.

"Do?" echoed Aunt Agony in her vinegary voice, "why, you're going to refuse to divorce him! Let him leave you, if he wants to! Let him run off to his new charmer, but you don't have to divorce him. Why should you give up your dignity as a married woman just because that Delano piece wants to be 'Mrs. Randall Phelps?' A woman's a fool ever to divorce a man. If she can't live with him, let her live away from him, but I don't believe in divorce, and never did!"

But at that moment Sylvia knew that Aunt Agony had decided things for her. She knew that she would divorce Ranny if he wanted her to—she loved him too much to refuse to give him his freedom if he really wanted it! She had given it to him when he broke their engagement, and she would give it to him now, when he wanted to end their marriage.

However, she said nothing about her decision to Aunt Agony.

She knew that Aunt Agony would argue about it all the rest of the day if she did, so she wiped her eyes in silence.

"I left Sarah Wilk with the baby," Aunt Agony remembered suddenly, jumping up from the arm of the chair where she had been sitting. "She called for me to go to that auction with her, and I asked her to rock the baby while I came over here for you. We'd better go."

"There'd be no point in divorcing Ranny, anyway," she muttered thoughtfully, as she started home in the rainy blue dusk. "You'd never get any alimony out of him anyway—'There's no juice in a cork,' you know."

Sylvia, busy with her own unhappy thoughts, said nothing, and they walked on through the puddles.

At the corner of Bleak street a car slid to a stop beside them, and Peter Wilk's voice hailed them briskly.

"I'm going you way. You'd better hop in, both of you!" he called.

Peter's car was a roadster. Aunt Agony pushed Sylvia in first and clambered in after her. Sylvia found herself very close to Peter, so close that every time the car gave a jolt her shoulder touched his.

She drew away from him.

She disliked to be near any man but Ranny, and always had.

"Queer," she thought, "that I love him so, and he doesn't love me at all. I don't believe he ever has loved me."

In that instant she gave Ranny up. The long struggle was over.

"I'll go down to see him at his father's office in the morning, first thing," she thought, "and tell him that I'll do whatever he wants me to about this divorce business."

Three Men Await Invisible Death In Nevada's Lethal Gas Chamber

Central Press Photos

Lethal gas, said to be the most painless method of killing a person, will be used in the execution of three Nevada murderers this month. The men are upper right, Stanko Jukich, who killed his 15 year old sweetheart; below, Guadalupe Acosta, Mexican slayer of a Nevada deputy sheriff; and John H. Randolph, left, murderer of his aged mother. The other photo shows the exterior and interior of the gas chamber. The pump used to force gas into the chamber is shown. It is moved outside when used.

Texas Movie Men Re-elect Officers

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—Motion picture theatre owners of Texas, inc., late today renamed for another regime their three principal officers, President H. A. Cole, Marshall; Vice President C. W. Batsell, Sherman, and Secretary-Treasurer A. W. Lilly, Greenville.

President Cole indicated that the semi-annual fall meeting will be held in Dallas but that the spring meeting of 1927 will be held in Galveston next May.

Possible realignment of the Texas body with the national association was foreshadowed today by a successful motion granting to the Texas delegation to the Los Angeles national meeting to vote for such affiliation if they consider conditions warrant it.

Cure for Rattlesnake Bites Sent Texas From New York

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—(AP)—Two tubes of rattlesnake serum, prepared especially for treatment of victims of the crotalus atrox, deadly diamond black rattler of the Texas plains, have been shipped to Fort Bliss, Fort Brown and Fort Sam Houston, according to information received by Col. M. L. Crimmins, U. S. A., retired.

The serum was shipped from the New York zoological society offices on May 8.

REGISTER RETURNED

A cash register valued at $275 and which was stolen March 17 from the R. H. Boyd filling station in Hamlin was turned over to Mr. Boyd by city police Wednesday. It was found by the detective bureau in a Wichita street residence several days ago, Mr. Boyd was notified and came up for it yesterday.

About $8.00 in cash, in the register at the time, was taken by the thieves.

The Greek alphabet was evolved about 800 B. C.

BUREAU ORDERS ROADS REPAIRED

Texas Highway Commission Will Fix Washed Out Places

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Expenditure of $131,111 to repair April flood damages to state highways and bridges was authorized today by the highway commission. Approximately $100,000 will be spent in Fayette, Colorado, and Victoria counties.

A Fort Worth delegation urged the building of another hard-surfaced highway between Fort Worth and Dallas to run north of the Texas and Pacific railway track. The application was taken under advisement.

The Fort Wort delegation, headed by A. B. Spencer, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, and D. A. Davis, Tarrant county engineer, also requested designation of the highway from Grapevine to McKinney and from Fort Worth to Jacksboro.

Of the flood repair appropriation, $114,886 will be spent in division 13, of which Fayette, Colorado and Victoria counties are a part. A. Schlafli is the division engineer, and part of the repair work will be done by state forces and part under contract. For repairing flood damage to highway 16 in Nueces and San Patricio counties, $16,225 was appropriated.

Appoint Engineer.

J. E. Johnson was appointed resident engineer of Brooks county and will supervise the hard surfacing of a portion of highway 12; George E. Franklin was named resident engineer in Stephens county.

Allotments aggregating $165,090 were made. La Salle county was granted $32,895 to gravel a stretch of 45 miles. Doak Rainey, assistant highway engineer, explained this allotment would render passable highway two from San Antonio to Laredo, even after heavy rains.

Walker county was granted $65,000 for grading and drainage structures on highway 19; Maverick, $61,445 for the gravel surfacing of 24 miles on highway 85; Fayette, $6,250 for surfacing the approaches to a bridge over the Colorado river.

The commission agreed that 60.9 miles in Coleman county should be resurfaced with a one course bituminous treatment, and ordered the highway engineer to prepare specifications.

SHADOUTH TO BE CELEBRATED

Last of The Week to Be Temple Israel Observance

"Shadouth, the Feast of the Weeks" will be celebrated Tuesday evening, May 18, at Temple Israel, according to announcement by Rabbi Samuel Phillips. It is celebrated on the fiftieth day following Passover, because of Pentecost, meaning fiftieth.

According to tradition, the giving of the ten commandments at Mount Sinai occurred at that date. The people of Israel having been freed from Egyptian bondage traveled to Mt. Sinai and encamped about it. Finally Moses ascended the mountain and through thunder and lightning received the Ten Commandments which he offered to Israel and to the rest of the world.

"A new sanctity and appeal has been added to this festival," Rabbi Phillips said "when it became the day of confirmation for Jewish boys and girls to the faith of their fathers, when the young men and women of Israel renewed the ancient pledge of allegiance, "We will do and hearken."

"At the same time they will bring an offering of flowers to symbolize the harvest of ancient times. Originally this was an agricultural feast, and as they would go to Jerusalem would bring sacrifices to God."

Twelve boys and girls will be confirmed at the celebration.

fast in their position that they will not accept any proposals involving a reduction of wages. The mine owners have not been heard from.

It is the widespread opinion and hope of the country that the terms of Sir Herbert Samuel's memorandum submitted to the trades union congress in the early hours of the morning and the coal commission's report would form the foundation for a final and lasting settlement.

In Premier Baldwin's words, the ending of the general strike represents a "victory of common sense" and each side feels that it has saved its face. Probably the greatest laurels go to the British public, who refused to be scared or stampeded, took what came with calm and fortitude, and most of the people are willing to pay their meed of praise to the strikers who for the most part acted with moderation and studiously refrained from incidents that might have produced grave results.

Mayor Makes Talk

Prior to his address, short talks were made by Mayor R. E. Shepherd, Dr. J. H. Caton of Eastland, Senator J. D. Parnell, James V. Allred and Judge P. A. Martin.

"Texas has not yet fully appreciated the services its physicians and surgeons are rendering it," Mr. Allred said, "but it is come to a realization of the fact that Dr. Rosser and men associated with him are doing a service of incalculable value to the state and to society."

"We have been entirely too lax in legislation on the great matter of public health," Judge Martin said. Senator Parnell voiced belief that "every man who undertakes to treat the ailments of the human body should have a full and intelligent knowledge and understanding of his business.

FIRST AIR MAIL.

This city's first contribution of air mail left Wichita Falls Wednesday morning on the Fort Worth and Denver at 2 o'clock where it made connection with the Dallas-Chicago airplane which made its initial flight. The mail pouches were unloaded in Chicago last Wednesday afternoon.

Postmaster O. P. Maricle stated that mail must be posted by 1 o'clock in the morning in order to be prepared for the trip to Fort Worth. Postage rates are ten cents per ounce with an additional five cents for each ounce in addition with New York as the destination. Envelopes designed for air mail usage have been received at the postoffice and may be found at the stamp window.

It is expected that a big volume of mail will be sent out from this city on the airplane mail route.

The following day they will appear at Houston at the Majestic theatre, the Shrine ceremonial and a broadcasting station, which will be arranged later. Sunday morning they will sing at the First Methodist church in Houston at the request of Mrs. John Wesley Graham, choir director.

New York's largest hotel has 2,200 rooms.

That Post Artist Hunch, It Seems Had An Advance

DUNDEE, March 12.—The cover picture on the last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, popular eastern weekly magazine, was aptly illustrated here a day or so ago.

A man, apparently a cowboy, attired in a "ten-gallon" hat and French heeled boots, passed through Dundee en route to Seymour astride the front seat of a small automobile of popular make. Attached to the car behind him was a trailer carrying a horse. When about a mile out of Dundee a rear tire was punctured, and upon examination was seep to need a new inner tube. Rather than walk the mile to Dundee, the man took the horse from the trailer, saddled it, and rode back to town, bought his tube and took it back to the car.

Last week's Post's cover picture depicts a cowboy astride the steed of "Old Dobbin" but with a 30x3½ casing thrown over his shoulder, showing a Dundee old-timer remarks that "Elizabeth" is gradually replacing "Gun-Powder."

Hall To Address Nocona Graduates

Dr. Gaines B. Hall, minister of the First Southern Presbyterian church, has been invited to preach the baccalaudeate sermon at Nocana Sunday for the graduating high school class of that city.

During his absence at the morning hour, his father-in-law, Dr. H. C. Evans of Austin, former president of Texas Presbyterian College, will conduct the services. Dr. Hall will return in time for the evening sermon.

Coffee isn't just coffee. Between a pound of so-called "cheap" coffee and a pound of M·J·B there's a heap o' difference. In fact, actual kitchen-laboratory tests have proved beyond question that M·J·B has far more body, more strength, more coffee substance.

It's concentrated coffee—that's why!

There's nothing weak or half-hearted about M·J·B. Fragrance, flavor, aroma, strength—all are there not only in full measure, but extra measure. You can use less of M·J·B and still have a rich, full-flavored drink that no "cheap" coffee could hope to give you.

It is all right to buy your coffee by the pound, but it is all wrong to measure its cost that way. Measure it, rather, by its cost per cup—and you'll find M·J·B easily your best coffee-buy.

Remember, too, that the economy of M·J·B is sealed in by our patented vacuum process. Every bit of the extra strength that makes M·J·B truly economical is locked in the airtight tin. Nothing is lost; you get it all! Put it up to M·J·B and see!

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

May 13, 1925

Mrs. Charlotte Zihlman, for 18 years a resident of this city, dies.

WILL BROOKHART WIN?

COLONEL SMITH WILLIAM BROOKhart is a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator in Iowa. He wishes to take the nomination from A. B. Cummins, a Coolidge republican, and in the years gone by a progressive republican.

Colonel Brookhart was ousted from a seat in the senate and that seat was given Daniel F. Steck, democrat. Two republican senators from Massachusetts and two from Vermont voted to oust Brookhart and seat Steck. These four republican senators represent the adopted state of Calvin Coolidge, and doubtless they knew what they were doing. Now a war is on in Iowa. Six republican progressive senators are going to invade Iowa and make speeches for Brookhart. They are Norris and Howell of Nebraska; Frazier and Nye of North Dakota; LaFollette and Shipstead, the former from Wisconsin and the latter from Minnesota. It is said that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho will throw his influence on the side of Brookhart. Iowa is a great agricultural state. It is one of the great farm states of the Union.

If Brookhart wins the nomination, then there is going to be another battle royal with the anti-Brookhart senate.

Senator Steck is a conservative. He is as conservative as Senator Butler of Massachusetts, who is as conservative as King Mammon, as cold as an ice berg, as autocratic as a Nero and personally the most unpopular man in the United States senate. Senator Butler must stand for re-election this year. He will be opposed for David Ignatius Walsh, democrat.

Massachusetts gave Coolidge and Dawes a 300,000 majority in 1924. Massachusetts only gave Gillette, republican, for the senate, 18,000 majority over Walsh, democrat. Had it not been for the Coolidge tidal wave, Walsh would have buried Gillette. Now what will he do to Butler this year? Walsh is the best vote getter and most popular campaigner in the old bay state. He is the idol of the working people, regardless of party and the small farmers and business men of Massachusetts.

Butler is the king bee of millowners, the boss of big business, a poor campaigner and a miserable mixer. He was born a Pharisee and he just can't help it. When he comes to business he is the last word, an ideal representative of the business interest of New England.

It may be possible that the state that gave Coolidge and Dawes 300,000 majority two years ago, will reverse itself in the senatorial battle the coming November.

VIRTUE

IT is nearly 2,500 years since the Chinese teacher, Confucius, lived. It is interesting to read the teachings of this great Oriental philosopher and compare them with our own modern western thought and with the teachings of our great teacher, Jesus also from the East, who lived 500 years later.

The Chinese civilization antedated the Jewish by a good many centuries, and we generally think of it as entirely different to our own, but its standard of morals seems to be much the same, according to the sayings preserved for us. Here is Confucius' definition of a true gentleman:

"The true gentleman is never contentious. If a spirit of rivalry is anywhere unavoidable, it is at a shooting-match. Yet even here hecourteously salutes his opponents before making up his position and again when, having lost, he retires to drink the forfeit-cup. So that even when competing he remains a true gentleman."

"The princely man," and "the nobler sort of man" are the phrases Confucius uses to express, in our phraseology, a "prince," or a "desirable citizen."

"The princely man," he says, "never for a single instant quits the path of virtue; in times of storm and stress he remains as fast in it as ever.

"The nobler sort of man in his progress through the world has neither narrow predilections nor obstinate antipathies. What he follows is the line of duty.

"The nobler sort of man is proficient in the knowledge of his duty; the inferior man is proficient only in money-making."

Through a life of many vassitudes Confucuis maintained a calm demeanor, typifying his own ideal that "the higher type of man is calm and serene; the inferior man is constantly agitated and worried."

"Has the nobler sort of man any hatreds?" asked one of his followers. The master replied: "He has. He hates those who publish the faults of others; he hates men of low condition who villify those who are audacious but narrow-minded." And in his disciple he put the question, have you also your hatreds? "I hate," replied the desciple, "those who think that wisdom consists in prying and meddling courage, in showing no compliance; and honesty, in denouncing other men.

NIETZSCHE'S PHILOSOPHY

THE philosophy of Frederick Nietzsche cannot, of course, bet set forth in so small a space as this, but some few of his teachings, taken from "Thus Spake Zarathustra," may be gleaned from the following passages.

Speaking of his supreme teaching—the superman he says:

"I teach you the superman. Man is something to be surpassed. What have ye done to surpass man?

"All beings hitherto have created something beyond themselves: and ye want to be the ebb of that great tide, and would rather go back to the beast than surpass man?

'What is the ape to man? A laughing-stock, a thing of shame. And just the same shall man be to superman; a laughing-stock, a thing of shame.

"Ye have made your way from the worm to man, and much within you is still worm. Once were ye apes, and even yet man is more of an ape than any of the apes.

"Even the wisest among you is only a disharmony and hybrid of plant and phantom. But I do bid you become phantoms or plants?.

"Lo, I teach you the superman."

Nietzsche's scorn descends upon those who do not try to understand new teachings but are satisfied with their own knowledge. "They have something whereof they are proud," he says. "What do they call it? Culture, they call it; it distinguisheth them from the goatherds."

Of jealousy, he avers, "He who the flame of jealousy encompasseth, turneth at last like the scorpion, the poisoned sting against himself."

Another aphorism:

"Not by wrath, but by laughter do we slay. Come, let us slay the spirit of gravity.

And this comfort has Nietzsche for those who feel that although they have tried for the highest they have failed.

"The lighter is type, always, the seldomer doth a thing sueceed. Ye higher, men, here, have ye not all been failures? 'Be of good cheer; what doth it matter? How much is still possible! Learn to laugh at yourselves, as ye ought to laugh!

"And verily, how much hath already succeeded! How rich is this earth in small, good, perfect things, ye higher men. Their golden maturity healeth the heart. The perfect teacheth one to hope."

A CONDITION REMEDIED

PRESIDENT Coolidge's action in signing the bill that allows $10,000,000 to acquire quarters for our embassies and legations abroad will have the approval of all who have realized the painful inadequacy of our provision for our envoys. "I have no home," said Choate to a London "bobby"; "I am the American Ambassador." Now we shall spend $2,000,000 a year for five years to improve a condition which incurred reproach and even ridicule. It was not merely a question of dignity and self-respect but a matter of business efficiency to give the foreign agents of the State Department a place where they could work. In his "Our Old Home" Howthorne described his wretched conculate at Liverpool in the Civil War period. Most American Consuls could testify that there has been little improvement since that day in the quarters procurable in any seaport, under the penny-wise, cheese-paring policy which has hitherto been followed by our Government.

WHO WON IN INDIANA?

SENATOR JAMES E. WATSON, republican standpatter from Indiana, cast his vote against the world court proposal. President Coolidge demanded that the world court proposal should be put over as a party measure. Senator Watson, as a candidate for renomination and re-election, received a primary majority of 125,000 over a republican who stood for the world court and all that it represents.

Now who won in Indiana? President Coolidge and his world court proprosal or Reactionary Jim Watson who flouted the proposal and voted against it. Illinois republicans repudiated a senator who voted for the world court proposal.

Indiana republicans gave a magnificient indorsement to a senator who repudiated the world court proposal. President Coolidge lost in Illinois. It is true that the world court proposal won in the senate. It is likewise true that the votes of democratic senators made its winning possible.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

How Can a Father Make His Daughter Marry The Suitable Husband He Has Chosen?

Dear Miss Dix—My complaint is this: I can't make my daughter marry the man I have picked out for her. I have a young girl who is inclined to run around and stay out late, and I think she would be better off married. Now, Miss Dix, I have picked out a promising young business men as a suitable match for this wayward young daughter of mine. He is in the plumbing business, which is a legitimate and honcest profession, and I can't see her objections to him, as he is old enough to be level-headed and keep her in line.

But she will not consent, and I want your advice on how to make her see that marrying this man is the best thing to do.

MR. S. W. McM.

Answer—I am afraid I cannot help you in this matter, Mr. McM., because I don't believe in parents as matchmakers.

If your daughter was thinking of marrying a man whom you knew to be immoral or drunken or lazy and good for nothing, you would be justified in moving heaven and earth to break it off and saving her from the wretchedness that would be sure to be her portion if she had for a husband a sot or a roue or a man who wouldn't support her.

But making a match is an entirely different proposition, for, while you can tell with mathematical exactness the kind of a husband that will make a woman miserable, nobody knows the sort of a husband that will make her happy.

You see, Mr. McM., the fact that a man is moral and upright and sober and industrious and a good provider doesn't necessarily make him a desirable husband in a woman's eyes. It doesn't make her love him or enjoy being with him. It doesn't fill her days with contentment and make her feel that just being his wife is the finest thing in the world.

There has to be something in the man that appeals personally to a woman.

Perhaps she doesn't even know what it is herself, but it is there, and it is something that is stronger than life or death or proverty or riches, and that makes her willing to work for him and sacrifice for him and stick by him through thick and thin just because he is her man.

That is why no father, no matter how wise and clever he is or how good a judge of man he is, can pick out a husband for his daughter. It is purely a matter of individual taste, and the fathers' and daughters' taste seldom run along the same line. The very qualities that would lead you to choose a particular candidate are the ones that would have no weight with her.

You have practicality on your side. She has romance on hers. You want her to marry a settled, sober man, who will boss her. She wants a playmate, somebody of her own age, who will jazz with her and run around with her and who will perhaps fight with her, but who will not dream of trying to control her. To ask her to change her demands in a man for yours is as unreasonable as to offer mush and milk to one who craves caviar.

Undoubtedly, your man is the safe chance. But if the girl doesn't want him and doesn't like him, if he does not come up to her ideal nor fire her fancy, and if she has no taste for him, how could you expect her to be happy with him?

And, after all, isn't it better for the girl to marry the man she wants and the man who pleases her than the one who pleases you? It seems to me that the one who has to live with a husband or a wife has the right to pick him or her out.

BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

Within the lagi-lagi house a face, not that of any of the young men, lifted itself for a moment, shot a swift glance, and sank down again in the midst of a heap of arms and shoulders.

Howe went on. "It is about Saonek."

"Yes, I knew that," said Atu, holding the bark in his teeth.

"How did you know?"

"She said something—and anyhow trouble is only about two things: pigs or women."

"Well, this time, Atu, it is about both, and that is why I must speak to you. You have been a little with white men—you know that for pigs we use money, and that money is just the same as pigs to you."

"I have heard that," allowed Atu, through a mouthful of bark, "but I can hardly believe it, for pigs are the root of everything. You can get much food, and you can get power over other men, to make them do what you will."

"So can we with money, Atu. Well, the Chinaman who came the other day brought me a letter that came very fast from England to Java, and Amboyna—a cable we call it—and then very slow up here. And it told us that there was money waiting for me in England and also something that is called a title—that is the name of a very great chief. Many chiefs have died who should have lived longer, and now I am the chief, and I have a new name."

"Is it Barry-Burtiley, Lawburtiley? broke in Atu.

"Where did you hear that?"

"The girl said you talk it in your sleep."

"Perhaps I do. It is Baron Burntisland—Lord Burntisland—"

"Then she says you say, 'Oh damn!'

"If I did, I say it no longer. I have made up my mind. This title and this money would take me away from Soroekwari forever. Now I do not want to go very much, for I love the life and the people, but I might feel I must because when you have a name such as that it is not well to let it die with you."

"Saonek is young—she will have children—"

"That is not it. I could not take her."

"I suppose you will do as other white men have done—go away and leave her and take a white wife." Atu looked at him under lowered brows.

"I cannot do that. Don't you remember the missionary?"

"Ah—I do." Atu spoke as a man recalling a trifle that had escaped his memory. A trifle it had seemed to him and not very important to Howe that the Lutheran missionary had come to the village in his canoe, on the day Saonek was leaving for Soroekwari, and had besought the white man to let him marry them legally. He had even brought a ring. . . .

Howe was always polite when it did not cost him anything to be so, and sometimes even when it did. He had allowed the missionary to marry them. What did a trifle like that matter?

Now the trifle—the fragile link forged in Tabati village—was fashioning his life for him. He did not want particularly—to return to England, even with the Burntisland title in waiting. It was not such a big title, not a rich one—but it was very, very old. To let such a peerage die if he took it up, was unthinkable; people wouldn't let you. . . . He had visions of the people.

The only alternative was to stay. Well, he was willing. It was not such a big draw to him, Conway Howe, king of Soroekwari, wedded to the prettiest girl along the coast. Let the title go. He wouldn't answer the cable.

"So," he went on, speaking to the waiting Atu "that is all, I am going to stay here. I will not leave Saonek."

"She could marry again," said Atu.

"Yes, but I couldn't, and that's what matters. Let it go, Atu. When are we going on to the mainland to hunt wild boar as you said?"

"Tomorrow, if you like. I will tell you the ways there are, and you will choose which you will have. First there is the taking in a pit."

Back in the lagi-lagi house Kwattu, the sorcerer raised his head once more, looked about him, and rose. Gliding soundlessly over the floor he reached the rear entrance of the house and dropped into his canoe that floated outsides Kwattu was too old to do much dancing; while the young men slept he had lain awake. Now he was glad, very glad, that he had done so, for he saw his way to be king of Soroekwari again.

Saonek did not go boar hunting with the men. It was not tribal custom, besides she had a touch of fever, and preferred to lie on the mats in her cool, dusky house.

Howe and Atu went, and the young men with them. They went a long way into the forests, where it is still very dangerous, and the cannibal tribes wander through the eternal dusk, armed with club and treacherous spear. But no people of the forest race were to be met with; no smoke rose through the tree tops, nor were there any of the hunting dogs of the cannibal tribe to be seen. This puzzled Atu somewhat, and made him think a great deal. At the end of two days, though they were having splendid sport, and killing boar of weight and fierceness unheard—thanks to the white man's rifle—Atu spoke:

"Chief, I have a snake in my stomach, and it will not let me rest. I think we had better go back to Soroekwari."

"What is the trouble?"

"None that I know of. But I would like to know where these people have all gone to. It is strange that we should have seen nothing of them?"

"Do they ever go away?"

"Yes, chief, they go down to the coast sometimes, and sometimes they will visit the islands on the coast; they are very silent and sly. But I think Soroekwari is not like the other island, it is too far out."

"All the same, if you think there is any risk, we will go back," declared Howe—not very uneasy, yet not easy enough in his mind to continue the trip indefinitely.

They reached Soroekwari at daylight. The people came out on the beach to meet them as usual; there was joy over the many wild pigs that had been killed, shouting and dancing as the carcasses were thrown ashore.

"Where is Saonek?" demanded Howe, not seeing her among the rest. "Is she still sick?"

"Master—did you not meet her?"

"Meet her? What is this about? Where is she?" He spoke quickly, sudden fear pinching his heart. Atu's warning had made him more nervous than he knew.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

I'LL LIFT MY FACE

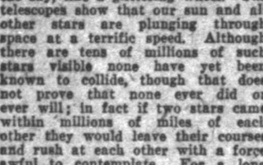

My feet may wade the dewey grass,
I'll lift my face up to the sun.
The sun will shine, the dew will pass,
And I shall get my lamor done
More gladly than the gloomy one
Who says "Alack" and cries "Alas!"

Perhaps the sun itself will hide,
And I shall meet the wet, wet rain.
But shall I think the sun has died,
The sun will never shine again?
I'll lift my face, in loss, in pain,
And have the sun, the sun denied.

I'll lift my face along life's way,
Shall look to heaven, not to earth;
And heaven will send a better day,
Whatever those days may be worth—
For fickle fortune send me mirth,
For faded flow'rs some flow'r more gay.

My feet may find some weary place
To travel for a little while;
And when they find it, in that case
I have a specil need to smile.
My saddest hour, my hardest mile,
Up to God's sky I'll lift my face.

What Do You Know About It?

Daily Science Six

1. What star is nearest the earth?
2. Toward what star is our sun moving?
3. How can you locate the Pole Star in the sky?
4. Where does the Pole Star appear in the heavens when you observe it on the equator?
5. Can the Southern Cross be seen in the United States?
6. Are more stars visible in the Southern Hemisphere than in the Northern?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

Streams of Stars

Ancient people supposed that except for the planets revolving around our sun, stars were fixed in the heavens except that they turned (or appeared to turn) completely around the sky, like a glittering wheel. Our telescopes show that our sun and all other stars are plunging through space at a terrific speed. Although there are tens of millions of such stars visible none have yet been known to collide, though that does not prove that none ever did or ever will; in fact if two stars came within millions of miles of each other they would leave their courses and rush at each other with a force awful to contemplate. For a long time scientists looked in vain for some order or plan in the courses, the "world lines" as Einstein calls them, traced by the stars which appear to be rushing headlong in every direction. Recently scientists have believed that two streams of stars having each a general direction are passing through each other.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to Yesterday's Questions:

1. Coal gas is an odorless and deadly gas; what we smell from furnaces and sometimes call coal gas is really sulphur.
2. The pleasant smell in the air after a storm is caused by ozone, produced by the action of lightning on oxygen.
3. The smell of bad eggs is due to sulfur.
4. Smell is not caused by vibration like light and heat and sound, but by the throwing off of molecules which strike the nerves of the nose and produce sensation.
5. The sense of smell except in carrion birds is rather poor, owing to their horny beaks.
6. Bad smelling gas is put in illuminating gas to warn you that deadly carbon monoxide is escaping.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

Taurus.

Today's planetary aspects are emotionally favorable, although rather negative so far as active efforts are concerned. They do not presage any marked success for enterprises or changes. They do, however, portend an atmosphere of kindness, and consideration. If you have been a party to a long standing quarrel, if you have prepetuated personal differences that should never have existed, today is a great opportunity for forgiving and forgetting as there will be an air of responsiveness that will yield to the first overture. It is also a favorable occasion for lovers, as "they can seize the moment when heart inclines to heart, and press their suit with passion.

Children born today will not, at birth, reveal those evidences of robustness that are always desired. As time goes on, it will be discovered, however, that they are less subject to illness than the majority of little ones and even the ailments, to which they will be exposed, will be of a slighter nature than usual. In character they will be extremely affectionate and unselfish. They will be rather shy as youngsters, and reserve as adults. Nothing, however, will escape their attention, and they will be capable of handling themselves creditably in any and all emergencies.

If today is your borthday, you have an ingratiating personality, backed by a goodly store of sound commonsense and practical judgment. Your artistic sence is not very strongly developed, but you have an uncanny ability of making a quick analysis of any situation, and visualizing the outcome. You never fool yourself, nor do you allow others to fool you—no matter how plausible they may be. Of what the world calls erudition, you have only a small stock, but all those who know you envy your unerring judgment and invariable accuracy of thought. You have a great facility for making friends and reciptocal loyalty prevails between you. Mannerisms are foreign to your nature. You are always frank, and at the same time courteous.

Your home life, especially if mated with one born in January or August should be ideally happy.

Successful people born on this date are:

Montgomery C. Meigs—soldier.
Johnson M. Mondy—sculptor.
Arthur Rotch—architect.
Rev. Percy Stickney Grant—clergyman.
William Boyce Thompson—financier.

Reporter: It is rumored that a certain young reporter is hungry, not having partaken of nourishment for many hours, according to inside information received late this evening.

His Wife—Supper has been ready for over an hour! Where on earth have you been so long?

Reporter—It is alleged that the reporter was late, having missed the car. The fault, however, according to reports, was not his, as he was delayed while purchasing a box of candy, thought to have cost about $5.

His Wife—That was very thoughtful of you, dear, to buy candy for me—but where is it?

Reporter—It is believed that the candy was left on the car.

His Wife—Idiot! What's that under your arm?

Reporter—Box under arm, says reporter, when questioned by mate, contains cigars. They are alleged—

His Wife—You forgot my candy, but you remembered your stogies! Just for that I'll fix you so—

Reporter—Wife threatens husband! It is reported that the wife of a newspaper man made alleged threats against him, according to late dispatches.

His Wife—Take that! Simpleton! Now go and eat your supper—you'll find it in the ice-box!

Reporter—Ow! Reporter Murdered! Ouch! It is alleged—where is that alleged food said to be in the alleged ice-box, honey?

Crockett P.T.A. Plans Elaborate Carnival At Chenault Home May 14

At the last meeting of the year held by parents and teachers of the Crockett school, plans were made for an elaborate carnival to be given on the Nat Chenault lawn in Indian Heights May 14. This is expected to be one of the most gorgeous school affairs of the spring. Feature numbers will be given by the Shrine Chanters and the gates will be opened promptly at 7 o'clock on the evening of the event. Adults will pay the small admission fee of ten cents each, while children will be admitted for five cents, it is announced.

Mrs. H. J. Strief, president of the Crockett school P. T. A., gave an address of appreciation for the work done by the organization which is comparatively new, and reports were given from the library committee; from Mrs. B. M. Hester who represented the club at the recent mothers' congress held at Canyon, and from the financial, piano and Red Cross chairmen.

An enjoyable program included songs by the sixth grade pupils directed by Miss Juel Ray and the presentation for inspection of a geography book for foreign children made by pupils in Miss Peery's room. The book is to be sent abroad later. Mrs. Eugene Graham gave for a reading, "The Boy Who Did Not Pass."

H. A. Glass talked on "What to Do With the Child During Vacation," and Mrs. C. H. Rugely read a paper on "The Value of Play in the Life of the Child."

The donation of a complete set of books, "The Library of Southern Literature," by Mrs. W. T. McKnight, was reported and she was given a vote of thanks.

The largest number of mothers present represented Mrs. Belt's room which was over 50 per cent of the total.

Today's Calendar

Meeting of the Barwise P. T. A. at 3 o'clock at the school, afternoon.

The comedy, "Women Must Talk" given by the P. T. A. of the Barwise school recently, will be reproduced at the school this evening.

Meeting of the B. B. of L. club at the home of Mrs. Houston Simmons, 1811 Kemp boulevard at 2 o'clock, afternoon.

The Athenian club will meet at the library at 2:30 p. m.

John M. Williams in an open lecture entitled "Your Child and His Music," in the ballroom of the Kemp presented by the music department of the Forum.

Mrs. Noble Gray will be hostess to the T. E. L. Sunday school class of the First Baptist church at her home this afternoon.

Members of the Woman's Golf association will play the qualifying round for the Ruth Barnard cup and the blind bogie match for the Keeler trophy at the Country club links today.

The executive board of the Federated Missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs. E. F. Riley, 803 Baylor this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Bible class of the First Methodist church will meet in the basement of the church this afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. K. B. Dodge and Mrs. C. M. Doke, hostesses.

The San Jacinto P. T. A. will hold it's final meeting of the year when officers will be elected, afternoon.

Music Study Club Have Progressive Luncheon

Among the many annual social affairs culminating club work for the spring and summer, none have proven more enjoyable than the progressive luncheon given by the Music Study club. Beginning with the business meeting, program and first course, at the home of Mrs. W. M. Priddy, other courses were served at the homes of various members, with individual tables used and lovely decorations of roses and other spring flowers.

An original composition program was given opening with a solo, "The Moon," the words written by Sara Teasdale and the music by a cousin of Mrs. Priddy, Lamar Stringfield, sung by Mrs. Priddy, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. O. B. Kiel. "A Study for a Child," was a piano number written by Mrs. Jouette Bonner and played by her sister, Mrs. Ben Bell.

"Crossing the Barr" and "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," written by Mrs. Bruce Greenwood, were sung by Mrs. C. Y. Tully, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. O. J. McKnight and with Mrs. Greenwood playing a violin obligato to the second number.

"Barcarolle" was a piano number written and played by Mrs. Ben Bell, and a lovely voice number was "Peace," the words taken from the Bible and melody by Mrs. McKnight, sung by Mrs. Tully and accompanied by Mrs. McKnight. The concluding number was "Prelude Melancolique" written and played by Mrs. Harwood Stacy on the piano.

The second course of the luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. Alfred Miller, where a clever contest was enjoyed featuring the names of the members of the club. Here Mrs. Frank Van Wormer, president, was remembered with a pretty corsage of sweet peas, roses and lillies.

The ice course was served at the home of Mrs. Jonette Bonner, and those enjoying the affair were Mesdames McKnight, C. R. Eyssen, Van Wormer, O. E. Nicholls, Ben Bell, O. B. Kiel, W. L. Parker, Bruce Greenwood, C. Y. Tully, W. M. Priddy, Alfred Miller, Harwood Stacy, Walter Robbins, N. M. Clifford and S. M. Goss Jr.

Group Seven With Mrs. Wells Smith

Members of Group Seven of the Alathean Sunday school class of the First Baptist church met with Mrs. Wells Smith in a business session when plans were completed for the presentation of the playlet, "An Old Album" which will be given at the church by members of groups five and seven. The money derived from this production to be applied on the purchase of chairs for the Highland Heights Baptist church.

Ways and means were also discussed for the group to raise $25 for the class treasurer, the amount apportioned each division of the class. Mrs. J. G. Ulrich was elected secretary and treasurer of the group and Mrs. T. M. Sessums, reporter.

Little Miss Hallmark Celebrates Birthday

Celebrating her third birthday, little Miss Bill Lou Hallmark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hallmark, 1406 Eighth street, was hostess to a group of friends at the home of her parents when Mrs. Hallmark was assisted by her aunt, Mrs. O. C. Blanton.

A color scheme of pink and blue was carried out in the streamers which extended from the chandelier to each plate. The birthday cake formed the centerpiece with it's decoration of three lighted candles. Paper caps and miniature drinking glasses formed the favors. A program consisting of readings and music was given by the guests, and the hostess was the recipient of many pretty gifts. A hour was enjoyed by the party, playing in Bellevue park.

Jolly Matrons With Mrs. C. S. Burnett

Mrs. C. S. Burnett was hostess to the Jolly Matron's Bridge club at her home on Collins Tuesday afternoon when decorations of roses and wisteria were used.

In the games, Mrs. M. A. Rutis won the high score favor; Mrs. Leila Herndon, second high, and Mrs. W. G Bentley low. Mrs. C. J. Green won high among the guests.

An ice course was served to Mesdames G. O. Lougheridge, Leila Herndon, L. D. Townsend, H. W. Jagers, M. A. Rutis, W. G. Bentley and S. P. Hear[illegible]embers, and C. J. Green, E. E. F[illegible] and T. A. Meicher, guests.

In the Glow Of The Camp Fire

The Temskatawa Camp Fire Girls will meet Friday afternoon at the home of the guardian, Mrs. T. N. Colligan, 1309 Taylor, when each member will receive instruction in "tied dyeing," and each girl will be shown how to make her own "Gypsy bandanas." Each member is requested to bring a piece of silk large enough to make the bandanas.

One of the feature's of the group's work was the shower given for little Nell June, infant daughter of Mrs. S. H. Walton, who died April 15 without ever seeing the baby. The mother has been active in Camp Fire work and Nell June was adopted by the group as their own "Camp Fire Baby."

The guardian's association presented the child with a handsome handmade baby quilt, tied-dyed and quilted by the Wagito Fire.

A Camp Fire name is to be chosen for the baby and names are asked to be submitted. The name will be decided upon at the council fire at Cratervlle Park in the July camp.

Pokkam Group

The Pokkam Camp Fire Girls enjoyed a birthday party in honor of their president, Aline Eiter, at 1107 Austin when following a short business session dainty refreshments were served to:

"School Days" At B. O. P. Class Party Of M. E. Church

"School days, School days, Good Old Golden Rule Days," were lived over again by a group of women Tuesday afternoon when the B. O. P. Sunday school class of the Floral Heights Methodist church were entertained in a social session at the home of Mrs. W. E. F. Wright with Mrs. W. C. Woody joint hostess.

The old fashioned school when the Friday spelling match was a feature of the program, was the kind conducted at this affair, and Mrs. G. W. Singleton received a brilliant red and white striped stick of peppermint candy as a prize for saying the best "speeech."

After school the pupils all attended the circus, which was a cleverly conducted event when refreshments for the afternoon were served by peanut lollypop, Eskimo pie and soda pop vendors. The balloon man with his wares in colorful array also added to the realistic appearance of the scene.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion in verbenia in many colors and other spring flowers and those present were Mesdames Milton Johnson, Charles Cook, C. E. Sumerlin, C. L. Murph, Ben Corder, M. G. Pruitt, H. G. Holcomb, A. G. Walker, Hal Yearger, G. C. Townsend, Mike Leopold, H. R. Stahals, M. F. Inness, E. A. McCarty, A. C. Camp, George Price, Glenn L. Berry, Charles Reagan, Jewell Childress, Charles Kilpatrick, K. C. Spell, Verda Howard, G. W. Singleton, P. S. Richardson, E. R. Archambeau, Paul Colvert, W. C. Smih and Miss Treeda Schoolfield.

True Artists In An Early Start

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—A musician cannot be made after the age of fourteen, is the declaration of Dr. John E. Borland, for seventeen years the directing master of a music class of half a million children in the London elementary schools, who has retired.

Dr. Borland said the English really are a musical nation, but children who are naturally musical have so little chance to acquire a real love of music that it is not strange the English do not excel along musical lines.

HUGE SAVINGS BY HARD ROADS

Motorists to Save Over a Billion on New Pavement

RALEIGH, N. C. May 12.—(AP) Motorists of the United States save more than $1,600,000,000 annually in motor vehicle operating costs as a result of the construction, since 1904, of 133,000 miles of hard-surfaced roads said W. H. Connell, president of the American Roadbuilders association.

This statement will feature the address Connell will make before the organization's convention when it meets here May 14.

"Such a saving in motor vehicle costs for the United States exceeds the annual cost of the improved highways," Connell declared. "In Pennsylvania alone an analysis of operating costs of motor vehicles proves conclusively that the construction of hard-surfaced roads has saved more than $32,000,000 annually.

"The annual cost for each mile of hard-surfaced roads constructed in the United States under the federal-aid system is approximately $3,350, or about $446,000,000 for the 133,196 miles. For the gravel roads is about $2,000 per mile, or $305,000,000 for the 153,000 miles, making a total of $751,000,000 annual charge for hard-surfaced and gravel roads.

"The construction of these roads saved the maintenance cost for the 286,000 miles which have been replaced, totalling $143,000,000. Therefore, the additional annual charge due to the conustruction is only $608,000,000. Deducting this from the saving in operating costs of $1,630,000,000 leaves a net annual saving of $1,022,000,000."

No Further Word From Amundsen

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—The New York Times and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat announced at 10 o'clock tonight (daylight saving time) that no dispatches had been received from Roald Amundsen's airship Norge since the message sent at 3:30 this morning, Norwegian time (9:30 p. m., eastern standard time) after the ship had crossed the north pole.

It was estimated that the Norge would reach Alaska in about 25 hours if she maintained the speed made on the flight from Kings Bay to the pole. The next news of the explorers was expected to come from Alaska.

What's His New Role? Is Query

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Whenever news spreads that Richard Bartholmess is looking for material for a new photoplay, speculation as to whether he have the role of a soldier, sailor or marine begins in the studio.

Ever since he was a child Bartholmess has had a strong predilection for things military. He went to a military academy early in life and since he entered the movies has had the principal part in a half dozen pictures of military bearing.

Bartholmess has just finished making "Ranson's Folly" for inspiration and his role was that of a cavalry officer.

Oklahoma Once More Sees Big Cattle Drive As 1800 Are Trailed

TULSA, Okla., May 12.—While the open range has disappeared from Oklahoma and Kansas, and it is fast fading away from the Texas horison, one occasionally runs across a reminder of the day when big cattle drives were common.

There took place a few weeks ago a big cattle drive from the vicinity of Grainola, in northwestern Osage county, northern Oklahoma, to southern Chase county, in eastern Kansas, that caused many old times to sit up and attempt to wipe away the years and try to visualize similar events of yesteryear.

E. G. Crocker and Arthur T. Crocker, who had been grazing some cattle near Grainola decided to move the herd to their own ranch at Matfield-green, in south central hase county, Kans. Some troubles confronted them because of the numerous changes necessary from one railroad to another, so they decided to drive the cattle, as they did in the past.

To reach Kansas pastures by rail would necessaitate the paying of two extra freight bills, and the brothers figured that by slowly driving the stock, letting them graze along the way and "eaking" them at night, they could save half the freight and still not have any "shrinkage" to speak of among the steers. Arrangements were made along the trail for supplies of "cakes" and the drive was on.

The steers from the Foraker area were driven towards Grand Summit, in northwestern Cowley county, and there united with another string of the same size from near Elgin, on the Chautuqua county line. They were then trailed into Butler and Greenwood counties, comprising part of the great Flint Hills district of Kansas, in which thousands of head of Texas and Mexican cattle are fed each year. The drive of the Crocker brothers only emphasized the extent of the Flint Hills. An excellent blue stem grass grows in the hills, and steers fed in the spring go on the stock market in July and August as "grass fed cattle."

Old fashioned chuck wagons with Texas cowboys to keep the 1,800 Hereford's on the move, were provided and the drive of nearly 150 miles was made at the rate of 15 to 18 miles a day.

Virginia To Have Sesqui Observance

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., May 12.—(AP)—The sesquicentennial celebration of the first steps toward the Declaration of Independence and the Virginia bill of rights will be held here May 15. President Coolidge and other prominent speakers are on the program.

On June 7, 1776, Henry Lee, delegate from Virginia, introduced in the continental congress the resolution that led to the Declaration of Independence. It was obeyance to the resolution written by Patrick Henry, Edmund Pendleton and Merriweather Smith. It was urged that the continental convention absolve the United Colonies from all allegiance to the British crown and prepare a plan of confederation.

San Angelo Girl Drowns, Trying To Save Her Hostess

SAN ANGELO, May 12.—(AP)—Miss Gyreme Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Freeman, was recovering here today from near drowning Wednesday when she plunged into the still swollen Colorado river, near Ballinger, though not a good swimmer in a futile attempt to save her host, Miss Coy Aycock, 14. Miss Aycock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Aycock, who ranch on the Colorado in Runnels county, was buried this afternoon at Ballinger.

Miss Aycock stepped into the river at a point where often she had waded but disappeared, the recent rise having washed out the stream at the bank. Miss Freeman owes her life to lodging on a sandbar downstream, where she regained consciousness.

STAGE DRIVER DIES

Pioneer of West Texas Early Days Is Found Dead

SAN ANGELO, May 12.—(AP)—J. A. (A-1) Jacks, 63, who drove stages in west Texas in the '80s and later was foreman of ranches in Iron and Tom Green counties, was found dead early Wednesday in his home adjoining the Orient pump station at Blackwell, which he operated.

An Orient train crew made the discovery. Jacks had been ill for some time. The body was brought here while a brother, Berry Jacks, formerly of Blackwell, was en route to San Angelo. Two sisters also survive.

DOUGLAS OIL SELLS LEASE TO AMERADA

Panhandle Lease Brings Half Million Cash; Field Active

Panhandle Lease.

The Douglas Oil company Tuesday sold to the Amerada Petroleum corporation 960 acres of proven acreage in the North Hutchinson county area of the Amarillo oil field, in the Panhandle, for $580,000 cash. The property transferred included two producing wells, one that was completed in February, 1925, and another in February, 1926.

To the west of the Douglas acreage sold the Gulf Production company No. 6 Dial, in section 1, block 1, has a well flowing 1,580 barrels a day natural. It found the sand on April 29 for 1,600 barrels initial. It demonstrates the prolific character of the Panhandle oil. The sand was found at 2,850 feet.

The Douglas sold to the Amerada the north half of section 21, block 47, and the north half of section 20, block 47, both in H. & T. C. survey; the northwest of section 80, G. C. & S. F. survey; the south 160 acres of section 37, block M23, T. C. railway.

The property was acquired by the Douglas Oil company on a drilling contract from the Panhandle Refining company and Walker D. Cline of Wichita Falls, Texas, and the Douglas is now drilling on a 480-acre tract to the west that was secured similarly. The No. 1 on this had the lime at 2,280 feet, running way high. It is in the southwest corner of section 15, block X02.

BEST MEDICINE TEST SUBJECT

Montana Indian Tribes To Hold Contest For Honors

SHERIDAN, Wyo., May 12.—Medicine men of six Indian tribes of Montana, South Dakota and Wyoming will weave their charms and sound their chants trying to conceive the "God of Thunder" to loose rain from the clouds in a feature event of the semi-centennial celebration of Custer's Last Stand to be held in June at the battlefield site of the Little Big Horn river.

They will contest to see who can make the "best medicine," on the last day of the celebration.

The medicine men each representing a tribe—the Cheyenne, Crow, Blackfeet, Assinibone, Flathead and Sioux —will be more than three score and ten years. The chief medicine man of an Indian tribe must be one of the oldest members of the tribe.

Their bodies covered with white clay, and faces and limbs painted with red, orange and yellow hues in wierd designs, each Indian will carry a staff, tipped with brilliantly-colored feathers With a whistle in his mouth he will ride through the Indian camp on the battlefield, blowing the whistle and chanting wierd phrases. All the while his arms will be outstretched to the Great Spirit. Each medicine man will be allotted thirty minutes to "mix the medicine" that will precipitate rain.

In Bear Tail, oldest medicine man of their tribe, the Montana Crows of the Pryor reservation have a participant who is expected to mix "heap big medicine." Five years ago, Bear Tail warned the tribe that it would rain on a certain day when a rodeo was to be held. He was jeered by the younger members. But when rodeo day approached, he "mixed medicine" and had his squaw make the tepee fast warning her a big storm was coming.

Not a cloud obscured the sky so the youths prepared for the rodeo. Just as it started a drenching rain occurred, supplemented by a strong gale, which blew away all the tepees not securely fastened.

Smackover Active

There were 24 oil wells completed in the Smackover field of Arkansas during the past week, the combined initial output of the new wells, amounting to 2,040 barrels, or an average of 110 barrels for each well. In addition to the oil producers completed, there were also two gas wells brought in, two dry holes drilled, and 23 first reports for the week.

FIVE TRAPPED IN CABIN FLOODED B YBURNING OIL

PRAGUE, May 12.—Five miners locked in Silesian cabin by a gang of robbers, who poured oil down the chimney until the dwelling was flooded, are expected to die. The oil caught fire from the coals in the cabin stove, burning all the occupants terribly. The robbers had demanded the miners' savings, but had been driven off, returning in the night after the five workmen had gone to bed. The imprisoned men finally smashed a door by using a table as a battering ram and got out before the heavy walls of the cabin fell in.

IN SHADOW OF GALLOWS SLAYER PLEADS FOR GOLF

CARDIFF, May 12.—While he lay in prison awaiting hanging for the murder of his sweetheart, George Thomas, a young miner, repeatedly begged the warden for permission to play a final game of golf. Finally reconciling himself to the fact that his golfing days were over, he had his mother come to the prison and told her to give his set of clubs to one of his chums. After she left he wrote her a letter in which he said: "I am glad you are keeping up so well. We must in no way look at the dark side. Just trust in the Lord and what He wills we must accept in good faith."

He Wants To Take Out Subtitles

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)—Frederick Murnau, the German motion picture director, who goes to America this month to join the Fox film staff, believes the most significant development in the movies is the making of photoplays without the necessity of sub-titles.

"We should tell the story in pictures," he said, "so that everybody understands."

Asked if artistic direction could be made profitable, he replied:

"In the long run, artistic direction alone will be profitable, because only the artistic picture will be of lasting value and leave lasting impressions."

Johnson & De'ray gasser in the west side of the Carolina-Texas pool, caught fire Monday. The fire started when a workman in the pit with a pump working struck a match.

Pre-Kindergarten Business Grows

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—(AP)—Educators have dipped into babyhood for more human material to shape and have emerged with children as young as twenty months of age.

Pre-kindergarten education, although in an experimental stage in the United States, will be discussed at the annual meeting of the International Kindergarten Union here May 3 to 7, with some of the leading experts presenting their observations.

Among the large cities which have pre-kindergarten schools are New York, Detroit and Kansas City. This type of nursery school especially watches the physical condition of its charges and provides social training in games and a suggestive educational environment.

Research in "reading readiness" will be discussed for the first time. This problem involves discovery of the proper period for introduction of reading to the child. Recognition of the propitious moment makes it possible then to advance the child from kindergarten into primary work with consequent stimulating encouragement, educators hold. Premature promotion, on the other hand, is held to result in possible failure and discouragement that may have a lasting effect.

Continuity of curriculum also will be considered. Its importance lies in the necessity for smooth progression from kindergarten to primary grade and so on.

Valued Antiques Found In City

LAKE CITY, S. C. May 12.—(AP) A beer jug, brought from Scotland "by Jane Campbell McNeill, the mother of Lieutenant Hector McNeill in 1762," was one of the antiques listed in this little town of 1,700 inhabitants when the local D. A. R. post conducted a census of objects more than 100 years old.

Other antiquities included:

A Bible bought in Charleston on January 22, 1783, for 28 shillings by John Daniel, a Revolutionary soldier, and now owned by one of his descendants, James D. Daniel.

A walnut chest of drawers used by Mary Wood Lipscomb, wife of William Lipscomb, who came to South Carolina from Virginia before the Revolution and who was the founder in this state of the numerous family of Lipscombs.

Mother of 14 Tries to Divorce Model Husband.

BELFAST.—Hugh Preece, wealthy clothier, was victorious in the divorce suit brought against him by his wife, the mother of 14 children. During the trial Mr. Preece was held up as a genuine "model husband." He testified that he did not drink, smoke, swear, gamble or play golf, all his interest being centered in his family. He asserted he had been "treated more like a dog than a human being," and disproved the charges of misconduct his wife made against him.

POLAND SWEPT BY REBELLION

Revolution Grips Warsaw With Casualties Heavy

WARSAW, Poland, May 12.—(AP)—A revolutionary movement is in progress in Poland with the central point the capital Warsaw, with Marshal Pilsudski, the former president, apparently bent on forcing the present government from power.

A tight censorship has been established, and telegraph and telephone communications are badly interrupted. But from Berlin on what is characterized as reliable information, comes the report of fighting in the streets of Warsaw with many casualties.

Dispatches from Prague and Cracow give more details of the inception of the revolt which began Tuesday night. Soldiers in the Rembertov camp, on the outskirts of the capital, resented an attack on Pilsudski's home close by, and with the former president at their head began a march on Warsaw.

Latest information from the Czecho-Slovak-Polish frontier is to the effect that loyal troops failed in their attempts to prevent the insurrectionists from reaching Warsaw and adds that the object of the movement is the establishment of dictatorship.

The Wolff bureau at Berlin, the semi-official news agency, has received dispatches that Pilsudski has seized various public buildings, including the office of the ministry of the interior, his forces are marching on the Belvedere palace, the home of President Wojciechowski and that premier Wittos has resigned.

From various points comes the statement that the Polish government has entered into negotiations with Marshal Pilsudski for the purpose of preventing civil war.

Women Prominent In Laws Repeal

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 12—(AP) Women have not played a prominent part in the commonwealth of South Carolina comparable to other states, but the silent influence of the modern woman made itself felt in th esession of the legislature recently ended.

At least, political leaders credited this influence with the repeal of two special taxes regarded as obnoxious to femininity. They were the duties imposed a year before on cosmetics, all aids to beauty being included, and on chocolate milks and other milk drinks. Despite a strenuous fight, the tax on chewing tobacco and "hard" cola drinks were retained.

PUBLISH DICTIONAIY.

TOKYO, May 12.—(AP)—After four years of diligent, work, a blind man, Katsuyoshi Date, of Tokyo, has published an English-Japanese dictionary in Braille. The raised characters will enable the sightless of Japan learning to read with their finger tips, to obtain higher educations. It is the first work of the kind ever produced in Japan.

VARIED BILL AT OLYMPIC

Clever Numbers to Be Presented on Local Stage

A bill of varying originality in clever songs, novelty acts, dances and humorous talk is scheduled for the Olympic theatre starting Thursday night in addition "Madame Behave," featuring Julian Eltinge, and the picture "Page Me" as the comedy.

"Maude Fox and Her Pals" is an act wherein dogs and raccoons, known to be deadly enemies, work in harmony. This is the only act of its kind in vaudeville. Originality is the keynote of this offering which is presented by this clever young lady who has complete control over the animals and their performance of her every wish without the least trace of fear.

200 Pounds

"Two Hundred Pounds of Blues," with Mae McCrea, the only rival of Sophie Tucker, famous singer of rag songs, will prove a treat to lovers of syncopated melodies. Miss McCrea lends her field in this art and will sing the latest song hits as well as old favorites.

Miss Renee is one of the original Renee Sisters and has danced her way into the hearts of every audience before which she has appeared. Her partner, Mr. King, is one of the Georgia Comedy Four, which is known universally as clever, snappy singers. There is no question but what this is one of the cleverest pair of entertainers that has appeared in this city for a long time.

Big Mistake

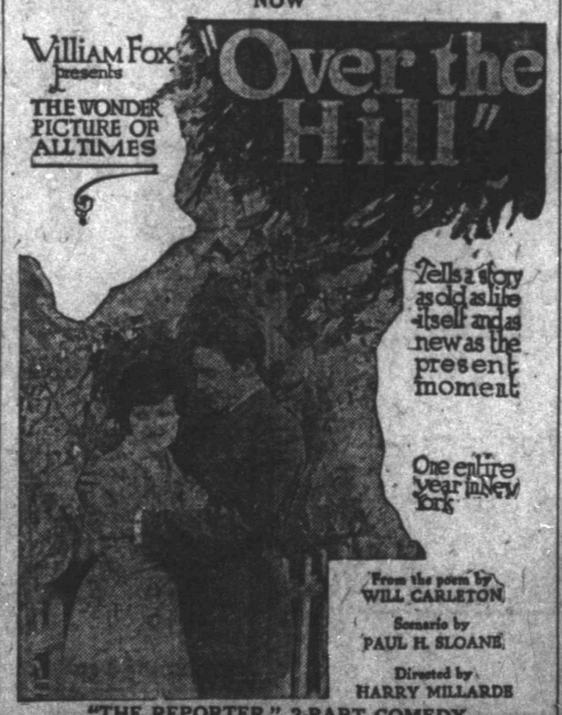

"The Big Mistake" is a laughable concoction of rundry bits of humor and talk by Phil Romano, a versatile performer of the rollicking kind. During his time on the stage, there is not a dull moment for the audience as he keeps them continually laughing at his egotistical mannerisms and conversation.

Frank Curran is known throughout the world as the "Monopede Marvel" and is assisted by a charming miss whose presence enhances the act in no s all degree. Curran's sensational leaping is in itself a remarkable feat for even one endowed with both limbs, but despite the loss of one leg, he proves a splendid example of overcoming physical difficulties.

Candle Lighting Rites Drive Wife to Madness.

BERLIN—Frau Margheretta von Thorlein has been found hopelessly insane as a result of mental suffering from rites to which she had been subjected for a week by her husband, just returned from India. Von Thorlein locked his wife in her room and lighted candle after candle, changing weird incantations as the tapers burned. When he became physically exhausted he slept, but his wife was unable to do so, and finally her mind gave way under the strain. When he shrieks caused the neighbors to break into the house the husband fled and he has disappeared.

Fifth Avenue Moving West

Kansas City Merchants To Create One of Their Own

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—(AP) The merchants of Kansas City have set out to transform their Main street into a middle western Fifth avenue.

Sinclair Lewis' "Carol Kennicott" failed in her attempt to make over the Main street of Gopher Prairie, Minn., but the Kansas City businessmen are using different methods and the progress so far is evidence of their success.

In 1922 Robert Greer Cooke, president of the Fifth Avenue association of New York, came to Kansas City and told of the improvements that had been made on the most fashionable street in America through the cooperation of its property owners and lease holders. The Kansas City merchants adapted the program to their own Main Street and just recently announced its purposes as follows:

To cooperate with property owners, lease holders and tenants in maintaining cleanliness, upkeep and improvements of property.

To eliminate overhead signs and other obstructions.

To check illegal bill posting.

To constantly study to improve traffic conditions.

To bring about architectual betterment and conduct of building operations.

To prevent sanitary violations and noises and nuisances generally.

The first step was a request that all overhead advertising and other insignia of the up-and-at-'em school of merchants of yesteryear be taken down. The members complied, the street railways company took down its yellow signals and a number of other small contributions made the general effect a worthy improvement. Almost overnight the street assumed a "dressed-up" appearance.

Success in the first campaign inspired the organization to a greater campaign, which now calls for an elaborate street and building renovation. "Follow the leader" became the game and the Walnut street and Grand avenue associations are under way, with the McGee street merchants shortly to follow. These groups are located on the principal downtown thoroughfares.

BECOMES LEADING LADY.

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Madge Titheradge, who has long been associated with Shakespearian drama, has finally consented to become leading woman in a new shiek play, "Prince Fazil," which Henry Ainley is to produce in an effort to recoup losses in Shakespearian productions.

"Ever since the wave of advanced plays began I have refused to act in them. But I am convinced now that all London wants is sex plays, so I have accepted the inevitable," Miss Titheradge admitted. "It is distasteful to me, but wholesome drama is not successful."

TOWN IN PANIC

BLACKWOOD, Eng.—Following the brutal murder of 19-year-old Iris Watkins, this town is panic-stricken and women fear to venture on the street after dark.

Jackson County's Schools Perfect, Inspector Reports

ALTUS, May 12.—Jackson county school system was found to be 100 per cent model this week when the last of the school districts was visited and inspected.

Model and superior model school certificates have been received at the office of the county superintendent and mailed to ach school in the county. Twenty-two of the schools ranked superior model, while the other 10 schools rated as model.

Jackson and Washington are the only two counties of the state ranking 100 per cent model up to date.

Humphreys heads the list of superior model schools for Jackson county with a score of 1,653 points, Ozark Valley second with 1,612 points and Martha third with 1,567 points. Other schools included in the superior model group include Porter High, Victory, Antioch, Olustee, Eldorado, Warren, Saye, Midway, Headrick, Blair, Lincoln, Elmer, Hess, Harmony, Prairie Hill, Friendship and the Wilson and Washington ward schools of Altus.

Ousley To Speak To Electra Meet

ELECTRA, May 12.—Arrangements have been completed for the farmers meeting to be held at County Line school house north of Electra on Thursday evening, May 13, and at Rocky Point school house south of Electra on Friday evening, May 14, at which meetings Clarence Ousley, director of the Texas safe farming association, will address the farmers on "A Safe Plan of Farming."

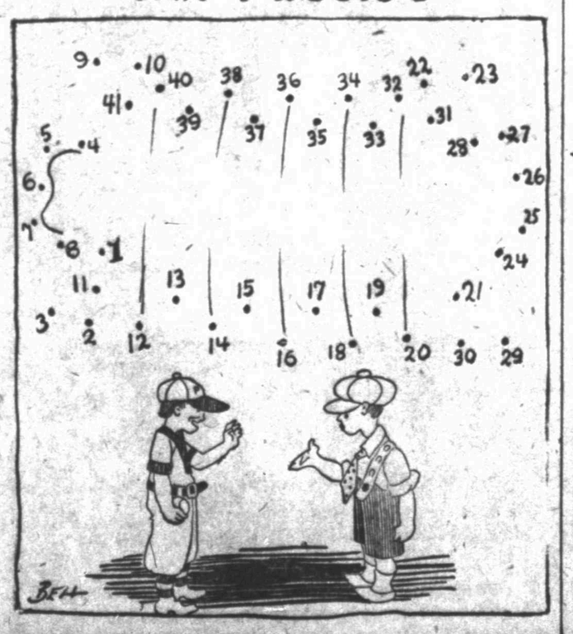

According to the agricultural committee of the Electra chamber of commerce and agriculture, much interest is being shown in these meetings and a large attendance is expected. Mr. Ousley, formerly assistant secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of President Wilson, has devoted his entire life to the study of agriculture.

Spudders Murder Santone In Series Opener By 12 to 3

Bases on Balls and 15 Smashes Death Knell For Two Bear Hurlers In Easy Win

BY BLONDY CROSS

Excessive addiction to pedestrianism indulged in by two San Antonio throwers paired with uncanny accuracy of gunners from the Spudder arsenal in locating the objective while their Big Berthas roared into dynamic action repulsed the turbulent South Texas horde in its initial assault of 1926 on Wichita Falls fortifications, registered a 12-3 victory aud turned back the boisterous Bruins in disorderly rout Wednesday afternoon.

Bountiful issuance of bases on balls, presentation of six pedestrian passes in one round abetted by an error of both hand and foot coupled with five bombastic counter shots to unprotected spots in the enemy ranks, including a circuit swat by Boss Brainard and a three-cushion hand grenade exploded by Royce Washburn, accumulated eight scoring nuggets, splintered a 3-3 deadlock and gave our proud Spudders their fifth triumph of the last six engagements.

The home guard displayed its metal in the opening sortie when first blood was drawn and two runs checked on a two-sack rift through short by Lamb, a pungent punch over second by Bodie, and an infield out which was followed with a surreptious sock to the mid pasture by Washburn.

Just Mo-o-ore Fun!!

The warring aggregations peppered away serenely with neither menacing severely until the fourth when Paddy Martin, the syncojated southpaw from the wilds of Brooklyn, skidded out from under control, hit the Indian Najo (nee Alanis) on the pants pocket, omitted to dust off Klein with result that Mits underling singled past the keystone, and then uncorked a jungle heave that caught Umps Held on the belly protector. The funny pitch changed its course and bounded into the foreign dugout. Najo tabulated and Klein advanced to third. Kal Segrist, the eccentric, but popular person whom Dallas misunderstood for several seasons, hoisted a sacrifice aviation to port, scoring Klein. Gonzales sunk a rocket into Fitzgerald's glove. Then Golvin topped his drive, spinning the ball a few feet to starboard of the box. The untamed southpaw charged over, corralled the curling pelota, pivoted in orthodox left-handed fashion and attempted to introduce a new style of chunking out a runner at first. The inaugural was unsuccessful. The noble Paddy drew back his fork-arm and launched a smoker in the general direction of right field that had it come anywhere close to the bag Mule may of speared the elusive pill on the third bound. Walt chased on to second. Mule set out on a gallop after the rollocking apple. Golvin rounded the keystone, tossed a disdainful glance over his shoulder at Wash and with no display of timidity continued on for third. Mule overtook the runaway spheroid and launched a peg to the hot corner. Distel intercepted, swung about and fired a torrid heave at the knothole gang's grandstand. Skip Brainard made a desperate lunge at the fleeting pill but missed, coming down in a heap on Golvin as the latter slid in like a freight train. Realizing all was lost, Brainard occupied himself with staging an impromptu wrestling match. He almost pinned Sir Walter, but the latter put on a semi-flying mare, kicked loose and with an exultant grin, pulled out and broke for home, scoring the third San Antonio run and taking the lead. Our boys fooled around and finally got 'em out with no further serious damage other than to the feelings of the conscientious Paddy.

The advantage was fragile and unenduring. Mule and Fitz came back in the same round and tied her in a knot. The former socked a swift single between first and second. Howard massaged the right center barrier with a three-baser.

That Sixth Round! ! !

Paddy was the master through the fifth and sixth after which he gave way to a pinch walloper who found it unnecessary to wallop due to liberal dispensation of four-ball coupons. The last half of the sixth was a mess of this and that and the other. Brainard opened the affair with a home run blast far to port and in the teeth of a stiff arctic gale. The clout apparently unnerved Tiny Owens, huge Bear right-hander. He walked Washburn. Fitz beat out a bunt down third base way. Turgeon laid one down and Kal stuck his heel in it. That play filled the sacks. Lapan forced Wash at the plate, but Metzler, swinging for Paddy, drew a base on balls. Then Distel walked. Owens disappeared at Manager Honus' beck and Kaiser went to the altar. Lamb cracked a single to right of the keystone, scoring two more. Lamb was cut down at second when a double pilfering attempt failed to function. Bodie took himself a walk and Brainard came through with his second safety of the inning, a sharp bingle to left center. The Spudders were doing lots of walking and running. Washburn cleaned up with a triple to right. Fitz and Turgeon drew passes but Lapan put a halt to the orgy with a popout to Gonzales.

Brainard doubled in the eighth and came home when Najo threw into the Bruin dugout. That just about concluded it. San Antonio threatened to score on Suds Sutherland in the ninth with two men on and one away, but Mens struck out for Kaiser and Fritz went away back to pull in Rabbit's drive to center.

Careless Smoker Nearly Causes Big Fire At Spud Park

Spudder park has come near to ascending in blue smoke, or maybe it was black, twice heretofore. In fact, the grandstand WAS burned into an uncouth mess of charcoal and twisted girders on both occasions. That was in 1922 and 1924.

Such may have occurred again last night but for the fireproof cushion cell R. O. Harvey built after the '24 conflagratio , but for alertness of park attendants.

As it is, practically all the cushions at the orchard were burned up. Some careless fan omitted putting out his cigaret before throwing it away at yesterday's game. Result was, the smoldering butt got mixed up with the cushions and last night broke into a minature conflagration that threatened the entire grandstand.

Spudder President Gardner sent an S. O. S. to The Record News sports editor last night asking him to urge the fans, both feminine and masculine to please be careful with their cigaret smoking before, during and after the game hereafter.

A's Set Record

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(AP)—The Athletics set a new season's record for consecutive victories in the junior circuit today by taking their ninth straight from Chicago, 4 to 3 in 10 innings. Errors by Galloway allowed the White Sox to score two of their three runs but an error by Scott in the sixth helped the locals to tie the score. Collins' muff of a fly to Hauser to short right and Simmons' double settled the game in the tenth. The score:

Yanks On Top

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—The Yankees took first place in the American League race today, by winning the opener of a series with Cleveland, 6 to 5 in the tenth inning. With two out, Lacy fumbled Combs' grounder permitting Collins to score the winning run from third. Meusel hit his fourth homer of the year in the sixth. Babe Ruth was the only Yankee to go hitless. "BUZZ" McWEENY
Is Making Noise Like Bee But Can't Find Hive

Brooklyn in general and Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers in particular are delighted over the way Jess Petty, stalwart lefthander has started out on the mound this year.

Robbie figured the former Indianapolis star would find himself this year. Now if Douglas McWeeny, late addition to the Dodger staff would start to pay pitching dividends the way Petty has done.

McWeeny's nickname is Buzz. The title has clung to him during his varied travels trying to land some permanent berth in baseball. He was given a thorough tryout by the White Sox before Manager Collins decided to wouldn't do. Then he was shifted back to San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League where, last season, he won 20 games and lost 5.

Robbie bought him last spring. While in the southern camp at Clearwater he watched McWeeny work eighteen innings and allow but two runs in the eighteen rounds and then declared that the big righthander was worth $40,000.

"He lacked two things when he was with the White Sox," said Robbie, "control and good judgment. He has them now."

Apparently, though, Buzz is not set to go the route. His first appearance found him in a relief role against the Giants. He didn't allow 'em a hit, may it be said. But when he was sent in for the entire distance against the lowly but struggling Phils they proceeded to straighten out everything he pitched.

Robbie was perhaps a bit too optimistic. It takes a pitcher more than a few days to correct cardinal faults. Control, for one thing, can't be acquired in a few weeks of training. It takes a few games under the "pitiless light of publicity" to locate the plate and hold it.

But Robbie still has hopes. And if McWeeny does start to pay fair dividends on the Florida real estate appraisement of his value watch the jolly Dodgerites.

CONNALLY BLANKS ELECTRICS 4-0 VICTORY OVER KOLLMAN

Sensational Fielding Features Game, Exciting For Its Fine Pitching and Airtight Defense Work

Snipe Connally blanked the Wichita Falls Electric company club Wednesday afternoon while his mates pounded a 4 to 0 win off of Eddie Kollman. Kollman had one bad inning in which the American Eagles scored all their runs.

Farquhar and Connally led the hitters with two bingles each while Paul Whatley also slapped out two of the three hits garnered off Snipe.

Both pitchers were working smoothly and not a base on balls was issued.

Blue and Taylor turned in the feature plays of the game. Taylor's play came when Windham hit to Whatley with Connally on first base. Whatley booted the ball and Taylor recovered after a hard stretch and while laying flat on his stomach picked up the ball with his foot on the base in time to force Connally.

In the fourth inning Ping Martindale connected for one of his long drives to left field which Blue pulled in while running, reaching over his head.

Homers Only Runs

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—(AP)—All the scoring was on three home runs and the Giants defeated the Cardinals today, 2 to 1, in a pitching duel between Ring and Sherdel. The Giants tallies were on Southworth's circuit clout in the third inning, followed immediately by Meusel's homer. The Cardinals' score was a home run by Bell in the fifth. Huntzinger, who relieved Sherdel in the ninth, struck out three in a row. The score:

Robins Sing Merrily

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Brooklyn made it two straight from Chicago today by shutting out the locals, 2 to 0 in a pitching duel between Charley Root and Douglas McWeeny. The visitors won the game in the ninth inning on Wheat's double, Herman's triple and an infield out. It was the nineteenth inning which McWeeny had pitched without allowing an opponent to cross the plate. The score:

OXYGEN AIDS CANCER

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)— That the growth of cancer is fostered by oxygen is the belief advanced by Professor Otto Warburg, head of the Kaiser Wilhelm biological institute here. A sensation has been created among scientists by an article written by Professor Warburg in which he describes how cancerous growth transplanted in rats withered and died within 48 hours when the oxygen inside the glass cage confining the rodents was reduced to the minimum atmospheric ratio capable of sustaining life. During the treatment, he says, the rats refused food, but immediately regained their normal vitality, when oxygen supply was increased.

Derby Favorites Groomed Again For Kentucky Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12—(AP) The derby field is beginning to take shape again, after the upset in the Preakness at Pimlico last Monday shattered the "lines" of the four players.

Canter and Bagen Baggage, favorites in the Preakness, saw three outsiders finish in the money, but they will have a chance to redeem themselves in the Kentucky derby Saturday. Display, a tough horse in any race, won the Preakness and will start in the classic here. Blondin has displaced Color Sergeant as the main reliance of the Harry Payne Whitney stable, as a result of his game finish at Pimlico, where he ran second to Display.

Color Sergeant, Espino and Light Carbine also have come on from the east in search of other conquests.

Speculation as to the number of horses E. R. Bradley would send to was dissipated today when it was said at the stable of the Idle Hour farm candidates that Bradley had decided to limit his entry to Bubbling over and Bagen Baggage.

AUSTIN 11; PALESTINE 0.

AUSTIN, May 12.—Humphries, Senator twirler, was in great form today, letting the Palestine Pals down with only one hit, the score being 11 to 0 in favor of Austin. Only 28 men faced Humphries. The Austin team got seven hits for seven runs in the eighth inning. Alexander, new first baseman for Austin, showed up well.

AWAITS PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—The treaty of peace agreed upon by executives of a number of large railroads and union leaders awaits only the approval of President Coolidge to become law. Embodied in the Watson-Parker bill, the plan was approved by the senate late yesterday, 69 to 13, exactly as it come from the house, despite vigorous efforts to change some of its provisions.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—(AP)—The cotton market developed a moderate degree of activity today, but prices were erratic, although fluctuating within a moderate range. At the start the market was firmer owing to the announcement of the calling off of the general strike in Great Britain. This encouraged realizing by recent buyers and the selling was increased by the weekly weather report which was regarded as satisfactory. All the early gain was soon lost and by midsession prices were 17 to 19 points below the early highs and 2 to 4 points under the previous close. There was a moderate rally during the afternoon on reports of heavy rains in south Texas.

Liverpool was much better than due, at the start, first trades here showing gains of 6 to 9 points. Prices continued to improve until July traded up to 18 cents, October to 17.30 and December to 17.38. These prices proved to be the highs of the day.

The market later in the morning eased off on realizing and selling on the weather report and july hit 17.81, October 17.13 and December 17.20, or 17 to 19 points down from the highs and 2 to 4 points under the previous close.

The market rallied 7 to 14 points during the afternoon on rains in south Texas, but did not hold all the rally. The close showed little net change. Exports for the day totaled 27,601 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Announcement that the general strike has been called off in Great Britain appeared to be without any important effect on the cotton market today. There was a small volume of buying at the start, but after showing net advance of five to 11 points, with October selling at 17.73, the market eased off under realizing or liquidation. October reacted to 17.53 and closed at 17.59, the general market closing steady at net declines of three to seven points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of seven points on the relatively firm showing of Liverpool and British labor news. July sold up to 18.63 and December 17.76 in early trading on covering, trade and commission house buying.

Liverpool was a considerable buyer here at the start, but demand soon tapered off and the market turned easier during midday, owing to reports of beneficial showers in the eastern belt, rather a less unfavorable weekly review of conditions by the weather bureau than expected and a failure of the English news to bring in a greater volume of buying. The latter was taken as an indication that the settlement of the general strike had been discounted, but the market steadied up from the lowest during the afternoon on private reports of further showers and talk of low temperatures in the southwest. July, which had sold off to 18.43, rallied to 18.51, and December worked up from 17.56 to 17.64, the market closing at recoveries of six to eight points from the lowest.

Exports for the day were 27,601 bales, making 7,184,329 so far this season. Port receipts today 10,745. U. S. port stocks 963,180 bales.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Settlement of the British strike brought about a sharp rally at the opening of today's market but it quickly petered out and closing prices disclosed considerable irregularity. Trading started off at a brisk pace, but turned dull on the decline, the day's sales barely exceeding 1,100,000 shares.

The initial outburst of buying apparently represented the hasty retreat of a frightened short interest. Opening gains ranged from one to five points. When it became apparent, however, that the rally was attracting little outside participation and that operators of the long side lacked aggressiveness, a renewed selling attack was launched against the motor shares, several of which crumbled to new low prices for the year. Thereafter the market drifted forward and backward with a moderate rally under way at the close, both the rail and industrial averages closing higher on the day.

The bullish effect of the termination of the British strike was offset to some extent by the announcement that the Luther cabinet had been overthrown in Germany, and by reports of revolutionary disturbances in Poland. Bankers also showed a disposition to await more definite information on the manner in which the English miners' wage question is settled before drawing any conclusions as to the economic outlook abroad.

The day's domestic news was largely favorable. The weekly steel trade reviews reported that business during the first ten days of May was better than the corresponding period last month and that the British strike had resulted in a division of some foreign business from England to this country. However, both the steel and iron composite price averages declined, indicating a narrow margin of profit. U. S. Steel common opened at 122 and then slid off to 120⅝, closing just above that figure for a small fractional gain on the day. The independent steels closed practically unchanged.

The drive on the motors sent Dodge Brothers "A" Jordan Moon, Stewart-Warner Speedometer and Kelsey Wheen to new low prices for the year, the last named breaking seven points to 86 and then rallying to 88. Hudson dropped from an early high of 66½ to 62⅛ and then rallied to 63¼, off 1¼ net. General Motors whose directors meet for dividend action tomorrow showed strong resistance to selling pressure, closing 2½ points higher at 127¼ after selling down to 126¼.

Bullish operations were again successfully conducted in Colorado Fuel and Panhandle Producers and Refiners, each of which advanced two points to new high records for rthe year at 41¼ and 19, respectively.

Rails displayed a firm under tone on publication of a report showing that car loadings in the first four months of the year had established a new high record for that period and were 1.17 per cent above those of last year. The demand centered for such issues as Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, Rock Island, New York Centraland Delaware and Hudson, all up one to three points.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent, and then dropped to 3½, closing at the bottom. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. An active demand for sterling exchange followed the announcement of the settlement of the strike. Demand bills on London advanced over a quarter of a cent to $4.85¼. French francs held relatively steady just under 3.15 cents. Italian lire crumbled to a new low record at 3.97⅝ cents in the early trading but rallied later.

Polish sloty touched a new low at 9½, presumably in response to reports of revolutionary disturbances, but trading in that currency was extremely quiet.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, May 12.—Slow marketing was the rule at Fort Worth Wednesday in grown cattle, particularly in the beef steer section. Cows were turned at about steady prices, calves were active and steady. Yearlings and heifers weak. Bulls fully steady, hogs steady, sheep and lambs unchanged.

Receipts 5,200, grown cattle and 600 calves; 200 hogs and 3,800 sheep. Week ago cattle 2,759, calves 279, hogs 558, sheep 3,719. Some 52 cars of steers were available, 28 in the hands of one salesman. Ten cars of fed cattle appeared, 90 cars of she stock were on sale, six cars contained calves, 93 cars of cattle were reported back at 7 o'clock. With the slow movement of beef cattle on the early rounds the market had a steady appearance, on rather common grass cattle at $5.75 to $6.00. A small bunch on the order of yearlings $9.00. Bids around 25c lower on desirable grades of grassers and fed steers.

She stock continued steady on good to choice beef and butcher cows, but on bulk of the run, average butcher and cutter cows, the market 15c lower. Cows moving between $4.00@6.00 steady.

Calves showed advance of quarter on better sort of vealers, although top stood at $10.00 for this class. Heavy calves $7.00@7.50 and medium around $8.00.

Bulls unchanged.

Strong market developed for feeder yearlings, five-car string $8.15, stocker steers up to $7.85.

Hogs steady on sale of the latter car at $13.65. Truck hogs sold in line with rates recorded Tuesday.

Sheep steady, wethers $8.50, stocker wethers $7.00; yearlings $12.50; spring lambs $14.00 to $15.00.

Produce

TEXAS PRODUCE.

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—With the restrictions on shipping up to the 15th of this month advanced to 125 cars as daily maximum, the onion movement yesterday took on momentum, 133 cars being listed as rolled from the state as a whole. One Southern California car listed for the 10th and also one Mexican import. Other Texas improvements of the day were: tomatoes six cars with a pick up of seven for the 10th, potatoes two cars with a 39-car pick up for the 10th, cabbage seven cars with a 10-car pick up, cucumbers 21 express cars, string beans, one car, mixed vegetables one car with 24-car pick up for the 10th. There was also listed an express car of strawberries as unreported May 10, although there was no movement yesterday from this state. There was a slightly easier tone to trading in shipping point markets yesterday, except for white potatoes, which continued fully steady, around $5.25 cwt. usual terms and $5 cash track for No. 1 sacked triumphs. Tomatoes were listed as steady for greens, weak for pinks with the former in four basket crates bringing $2@2.25 and the latter $1.75@2.00 on a usual terms basis. Six basket crates of green wrapped globes sold cash track for $4.50. At Laredo No. 1 yellow Bermudas mostly rollers, sold for $1.40@1.50, with a few sales of commercial peck stock reported around $1.40. Whites were hardly available in sufficient quantity to make a market. A nominal cash market of $1.10 for yellows was reported at Crystal City.

Eggs are about steady, although receipts at most markets are a little liberal. Poultry is a little stronger on good stock, somewhat weaker on light offerings, with an effort on the part of trade to buy San Antonio: Hens, small 18@20c; few higher; large 24@27c; fryers 20@25c; for small, 30@33c, some higher on large; No. 1 turkeys 25c pound liveweight basis.

Fort Worth: Hens, large 21@23c; small, 18@20c; springs large 30@36c; small 28@30c; old roosters 13c; turkeys 26@28c pound liveweight basis.

Eggs, $7 with cases.

CHICAGO POULTRY.

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Poultry, alive, easy; receipts four cars; fowls 28@31c; broilers 38@50c; turkeys 35c; roosters 19c; ducks 30@32c; geese 16c.

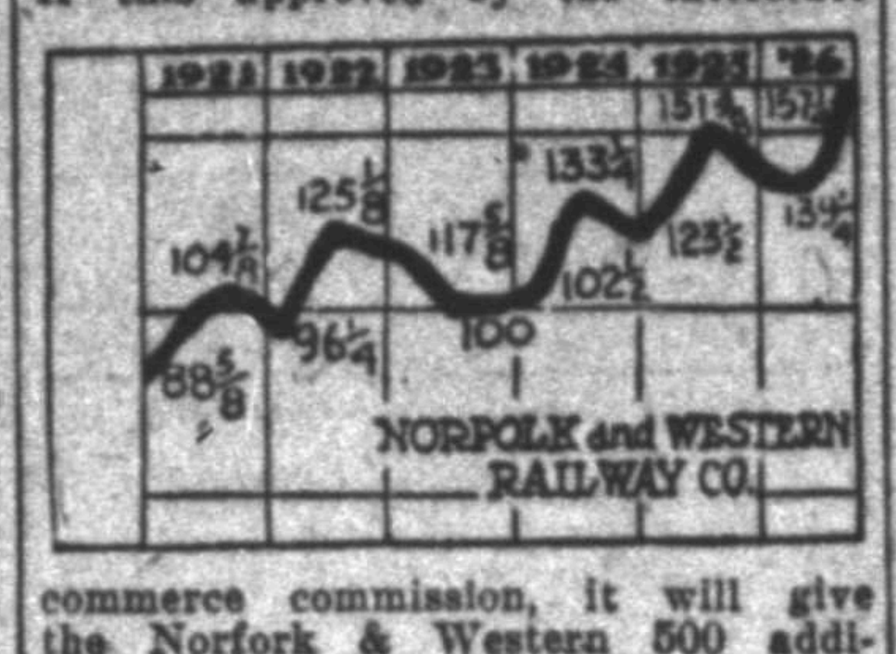

STOCK-A-DAY

Soft coal constitutes the larger part of the tonnage carried by the Norfork & Western Railway. The compan operates 2,241 miles of road from Norfork to Cincinnati and Columbus, with a branch north to Hagerstown, Md., and other spurs. The company owns or has investments in many subsidiary companies. About 34 per cent of the Norfork & Western stock is owned by the Pennsylvania railroad.

The road is efficiently operated, the equipment is adequate and is in better than standard condition. The company owns, leases or has an interest in coal properties in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia. Its largest coal subsidiary is the Pocahontas Coal and Coke company controlling about 300,000 acres in Virginia and West Virginia. The Pocahontas company leases most of its land on royalties to operating companies and does not itself mine coal.

The Norfork & Western has proposed to lease the Virginia Railway company, paying all expenses, taxes and charges and guaranteeing 6 per cent dividends on Virginia stock. If this approved by the interstate commerce commission, it will give the Norfork & Western 500 additional miles of road through contiguous but non-competitive territory.

Capital stock of the company outstanding consists of $22,992,300 in adjustment preferred 4 per cent noncumulative stock of $100 par and $137,319,300 in $100 par common shares. Funded debt totals, with joint obligations, $138,936,800. The road in 1925 had gross revenues of $105,218,881 and net operating income of $31,510,952. Earnings were equivalent to $15.54 on the preferred and $18.67 on the cmomon shares. So far this year gross revenues and net income have been higher than for the same months of 1925. The present dividend rate on the common shares is 7 per cent annually. An extra dividend of 1 per cent has been paid each year since 1922.

SAILORS HELD

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Twenty-three sailors brought into port "roaring drunk and obstreperous," and none whom admitted they were officers, were held today on the steamer Donetta loaded with a $1,420,000 liquor cargo, accused of piracy.

Another ship, the Atlanta, described as a 50-foot power boat with an armored superstructure, was free today after a pitched battle last night near Atlantic City with patrol boat 113. The Donetta was captured Monday night 60 miles southeast of Atlantic City.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Simultaneous with news that a revolution in Poland had started, heavy selling of wheat today brought about a decided break in grain values here. Previously, ending of the British general strike had failed to stimulate any big advance in prices. The wheat market closed 2¼ to 3⅝c net lower, May (new) $1.61¼ and July $1.36⅝ to $1.36⅞ with corn ¼ to ⅜c down, oats ¼ to ⅜@⅝c off and provisions at 12 to 30c decline.

Corn and oats were relatively firm but yielded at the last to influence of wheat weakness. Developments concerning farm legislation at Washington appeared to be a strengthening factor in the corn market.

Packers' selling and a decline in hog values weakened the provision market.

"Passing the Buck" To Father--

Willie's dog was lost yesterday—Lost, Strayed or Stolen—no one seemed to know just how or when it happened.

But it is father's suggestioun that the Classified Ads of this newspaper be given a trial at finding the pet and returning it—

So the job of calling 4121 and having an Ad-Taker assist in preparing a Lost ad naturally falls on father's shoulders.

P. S. Tomorrow Willie will tell his friends that his dog is back—and a Classified Ad did it.

"HOME SEEKERS"

We are inviting you to look over Scotland Addition, the only close in addition now on the market. It is the most economical location in this city, having all the modern conveniences, including street car line and paved highway.

This close in addition begins within eight blocks of the court house yet we are selling our lots cheaper with all modern conveniences, cheaper than lots three and four miles out in other directions.

We can make it possible for you to own your own home in this modern addition at a great saving over other home sites. Drive out and look at the many new cottages that are being erected. Let us explain how you can own your own home.

Receives Medal for Measuring Far Star Clouds

Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard University astronomer, has just been awarded the Henry Draper gold medal by the National Academy of Sciences for his work in measuring the so-called distant "star clouds."

New Star Helps Boston Chances

Wingfield is pitching a class of ball with the lowly, makeshift Red Sox that stamps him as a real hurler. He is leading his teammates in winning games and his performances, outside the actual score, prove his case.

Wingfield, in his debut as a big leaguer last year, won 12 games and lost 19, which is better than his team did, as an outfit.

He is another one of those intrepid lads who tried and failed to break into the old men's home at Washington before he was 68. Stanley Harris looked the lad over in the spring of 1924 and let him go to Boston. Same being one of those unintentional favors so often performed in baseball. There's that deal in which the Indians sent Coveleskie to Washington help 'em win a pennant. But that's something different.

To get back to Wingfield. Fate was kind to him when he joined the Red Sox. Manager Fohl had Howard Ehmke and some empty uniforms to throw into the pitcher's box. Therefore, Wingfield got his chance. He broke into 41 games last season, which is quite a number in these days of society pitching—one day a week.

Wingfield got his start where the fielders have to be part mountain goats—in the Appalachian league. He was playing the infield then. Chattanooga grabbed him in 1921 and he played in the inner defense for the southern outfit a year. Then he was turned into a pitcher (an unusual procedure.) In the next two seasons he won 13 games and lost 24 for the Tennessee team and then was grabbed for his first big league trial.

As related before he looked like an infant in rompers alongside Walt Johnson and the other vets of the champion Washington team so was moved to Boston. The Red Sox farmed him back to Chattanooga the rest of that season and recalled him last year.

He ranked as one of the most brilliant young pitchers in the game last season, alongside Edwin Wells and Earl Whitehall of the Detroit Tigers and one or two other comers. This year he bids fair to give the vets a run for their money in pitching.

"Drummer Boy" of Civil War Is Grandmother

Central Press Photo

Mrs. Annie Glud, of Oakland, Cal., now a grandmother, is a real veteran of the civil war. She enlisted as a drummer boy at the age of 11 and served through the war. Mrs. Glud and her drum attend all meetings of the G. A. R. on the Pacific coast.

Playwright Once Sought Position On a N. Y. Paper

INDIANAPOLIS, May 12.—(AP) A discouraged and embittered veteran of the world war a few years ago applied to the managing editor of a New York newspaper for a job, remarking that he "guessed it wouldn't do him any good—nobody wanted a one-legged man around."

The veteran of the American expeditionary force had been a dramatic critic on a middle-western paper before the war.

"Get over on the rim at ——— a week," was the surprising and brusque reply of the managing editor. The former soldier went to work on the paper's copy desk and in this way begun a series of events that led to the success of Laurence Stallings, playwright.

F. C. Painton, director of the American Legion news service, was employed on the same paper at the time Stallings went to work and related the incident of the veteran's employment.

Stallings soon attracted attention through his frequent contributions to a column of poems and comments. He was assigned to aid the book reviewer. Stallings met Maxwell Anderson and they collaborated on "What Price Glory," Stalling's novel "Plumes," and the movie, "The Big Parade" are other of his works.

The legion regards Stallings' work the truest conception of war, Painton said.

Wounded Tiger Knocks Woman From Tree Perch.

CALCUTTA.—Seriously injured by a tiger she had shot while hunting, Mrs. E. A. Smythies, wife of the Indian conservator of forests, has been brought here by her husband for medical attention. The wounded tiger climbed the tree like a cat, though Mrs. Smythies' bullet had struck near its heart, and knocked the huntress from the platform on which she sat. Its claws ripped her shoulder as she fell. The platform gave way under the tiger's weight, and it also crashed to the ground, where a bullet from Mr. Smythies' gun finished the tiger

Schools Show Big Scholastic Gain

That Wichita county's scholastic population is increasing is evident from the results of a census which recently compiled in the office of Burl Bryant, county superintendent of school. The report shows a gain of 1,366 over that of last year.

The Wichita Falls independent school district showed an increase of 1,122, with a gain of 313 for the county rural schools, exclusive of the independent districts. A number of these districts showed small losses. The following tabulation represents the district.

Mrs. T. T. T. Reese, Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, Mrs. T. M. Conrey and Mrs. J. M. Reevil left Wednesday for Dallas where they will attend the state missionary convention of the Christian church.

Among others who expect to attend the convention from this city are Mrs. Amos Morris, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Allen Bash, William J. Spreen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hines and daughter, Martha Ellen Hines.

Miss Hines is president of the Ross Triangle club of the First Christian church and has the largest membership of any Triangle club in the state. She will make an address at the convention Saturday morning.

COMMUNITY BUILDER OUT

With the distribution of the May issue of the Community Builder, Wchita Falls and surrounding territory is pictured in a group of farm scenes, residential additions which have been recently developed, and the new factories of the city.

"Early Land Surveys," by John A. Donald, pioneer civil engineer of Wichita county, and an article on the proposed city water system bond issue occupy a prominent place in the space devoted to reading matter.

The factories illustrated are the Panhandle Steel and Tank company and the Maidwell Dressing company. New homes on Bullington street and on the Seymour road showing the development that has taken place in the newest sections of the city are pictured. The cover piece is a river scene of the Wichita river at the Burnett street bridge.

CLOTHING STOLEN

The theft of a box containing an extensive wardrobe was reported Wednesday afternoon to the police by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bachelor of Amarillo.

They were returning to Amarillo in their automobile, they told officers, and left the car in front of a downtown cafe while they went in for lunch. On returning, they found the box containing the clothing had been taken from the machine.

Curd Tells Lions Of City's Needs In Water Department

The necessities and improvements of the proposed water softener system for Wichita Falls, which will be decided on in the $1,450,000 bond election June 12, was discussed at the Lions club weekly meeting Wednesday by P. B. Curd, city utilities commissioner.

A brief review of the history of the water department was outlined by Mr. Curd and results stated of a survey made of conditions existing in the city.

"The water in Lake Wichita contains the overflow from the slush-pits of the surrounding oil pools, causing a hardness of the water which not only kills the sale of water from the city to the refineries, which buy it from the irrigation people at half of the city rates, but cuts the railroad consumption half of what it would be if a water softener were installed," he said.

"Aside from the hardening qualities the distribution problem has been one of considerable difficulty for the the city to handle. The low water supply in the west end is not due to lack of pumping facilities but to the capacity of the plant. The local department uses higher pressure than cities of corresponding size but by the time it gets to west Wichita it is so low that in hot summer months the pressure is reduced so that only a low stream results.

"It is found that Wichita Falls is not using water in proportion to the average American city. Ninety, to a hundred gallons per day per capita are used in cities of the same size while only sixty to sixty-five gallons are used locally. This is evidently due to the few factories."

"If the issue is voted, the department can promise the people pure, wholesome, softened water by the summer of 1927," Mr. Curd stated.

Musical numbers furnished the club were by B. T. Burgess who gave a vocal solo accompanied by J. S. Pitman. The Lions trio consisting of Messrs. Burgess, Eggleston and Baum, sang "Sweet and Low."

ROTARIANS TO VISIT IN CITY

Delegates Denver Meeting Expected to Stop In Wichita Falls

A number of Wichita Falls Rotarians are making plans to attend the annual convention of Rotary International to be held in Denver, Colo., in June, according to announcement yesterday. The local delegates expect to leave here June 12, to arrive in Denver on June 13, ready for the convention which opens June 14.

Rotarians from other sections of the state will probably pass through here on their way to Denver, and should they stop in Wichita Falls some form of entertainment will be planned for them, John Gould, secretary of the club said yesterday.

It was thought at first that the San Antonio automobile caravan would come through this city, but present plans are to go through Sweetwater and Lubbock, missing this section of the state.

Evidence Finished In Damage Suit

Evidence in the case of R. M. Britton et al vs Thornton G. Lomax in which the plaintiff asked damages in the sum of $40,000 as a result of alleged injuries received during a boiler explosion on a Lomax lease in Archer county last fall was completed Wednesday afternoon. Motions for an instructed verdict by both defense and plaintiff were heard and overruled by Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court before whom the case is being tried. Argument of counsel will be heard this morning, with a verdict likely sometime during the day.

The plaintiff in his petition states that he was a visitor at the Lomax lease at the time of the boiler explosion on October 25, 1925, in order to borrow a cigarette, and that as a result of long established oil field custom he was in fact a guest of the lease owner. In the explosion one man lost his life, the plaintiff losing a leg and being otherwise injured.

Adams To Speak At Temple Today

Arthur Adams, lecturer, traveler and social worker, will arrive in Wichita Falls this morning and will speak at a banquet at 6:30 p. m., at Temple Israel before members of the B'nai B'rith lodge. He will speak to the congregation at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, according to Rabbi Samuel Phillips.

Mr. Adams will speak again Friday evening at Temple Israel on "East European Relief," it was announced.

The speaker is considered an authority on Jewish conditions in many countries. He served as field representative during the United Jewish campaign. Prior to his taking that work, he was national secretary of the Denver Sheltering Home.

G. O. P. Delegates Selected May 22

Republican delegates to the state convention at Fort Worth on May 22 still to be elected in a meeting of Wichita County republicans Monday night, May 17, at the district court room at the court house. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock, according to O. R. Hartt, chairman of the county executive committee.

Plans will be discussed for the primary to be held in Wichita county July 24, the same date as the democratic primary.

A large number from Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Electra are expected to attend the meeting Monday night as well as representatives from rural precincts.

PUBLISHER DEAD.

IDAHO FALLS, Ida., May 12.—(AP)—J. Hobb Brady, publisher of the Idaho Falls Post, and prominent in Idaho politics dropped dead at his desk here today.

When The Bride And Groom Were "Up In The Air"

Miss Rachel Simpson and Bryan Morrow wanted a wedding a little different than the ordinary, so they prevailed on a Texas Airway pilot at the fair grounds to take them up. Rev. Townsend of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church, and an official witness were taken along. While the plane was 4,000 feet in the air the marriage ceremony was performed and when they came down it was Mr. and Mrs. Morrow.

Lash A Cure For Delaware Crime, Figures Reveal

WILMINGTON, Del., May 12.—(AP)—Since colonial days miscreants in Delaware have had the whipping post staring them in the face. Numerous crimes today—predominantly burglary, theft and highway robbery—are punishable by, and are punished by, the lash.

The national bureau of casualty and surety underwriters cited the Delaware whipping post as the reason for a recent 3-1-3 percent reduction in holdup, burglary and theft insurance. Court records show no revival of the post and the lash, although this form of punishment never has been allowed to wane by Delaware judges.

Highway robbery laws have been exceedingly drastic for the last four years, however, carrying a double penalty of forty lashes and a minimum prison sentence of 20 years. The whippings are usually incidental to a jail sentence.

Whether reduction of crimes of this character and consequent lowering of insurance rates is attributable directly to the whipping post, the report and action of the national bureau has been interpreted in Delaware as a significant commentary on a statute which has weathered many and severe criticisms, and been branded a relic of the dark ages.

Lashes were flying in all parts of the state in 1921 when judges were imposing maximum sentence to the post in an attempt to break up an epidemic of highway robbery. In that year the legislature increased the highway robbery prison sentence from a maximum of 12 years to a minimum of 20 years. The whipping statute was left unchanged.

EXPORTATIONS DECREASE.

MANILA, May 12.—(AP)—Before the Spaniards came to the Philippine Islands, Chinese and Japanese exported a considerable amount of silk but in recent years it has not been an important industry in the territory.

Now, however, a serious effort is being made to add to the prosperity of the Islands through sericulture. The "Asociacion Sedra de Visayas" has been formed with a capital of $250,000 and 1,300 acres of land well suited to the purpose has been set aside.

As early as 1821 a good quality of silk was exported to Europe from the Philippines.

GROG DIDN'T COUNT.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—A doctor who called at his home for dinner and "a glass of grog" only to leave and send in a bill for minor services rendered while there, did not merit the approval of General Andrew Jackson.

In the Americana collection of the late William Green Shillaber of Boston, sold at auction here, was a physician's bill to the general. On the back Jackson made this notation:

"Receipt in full of an extraordinary and unjust acpt. called to take dinner & a glass of grog on 3rd of July, 1804, bled Mrs. J. & charge $3. No medicine was given."

Bankers Operate Alaskan Rails

The regular passenger train between Seward and Curry has the president of the First National Bank of Anchorage as its conductor; a director in the same bank sits on the right side of the cab, while a heavy stockholder in the same institution is fireman. A lesser stockholder places the step for passengers to alight from the coaches.

The bank to which these railroaders are attached is controlled and financed almost exclusively by railroad employes, ranging from section men to high officials of the operating staff. Frank Knight, the president, is a veteran conductor who came from Alaska with the building of the railroad. Charles Matheson, director and heavy stockholder, is an old time engineer. He also came north with the railroad.

There are more than 1,500 depositors in the bank which has a capital stock of $50,000 and approximately $600,000 in deposits.

VARSITY GOING UNFASHIONABLE

English Students In School Less Per Population Than U. S.

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Going to a university is not nearly as fashionable in Great Britain as it is in the United States.

In England and Wales the ratio of students to the total population is one to 1,200. In Scotland there is one student to every 400 population, while in the United States the ratio is one to 300.

Dr. Ernest Barker, principal of King's college, London, told the conference of the Central Council of the Association of University Teachers that in his opinion Scotland's high percentage of college students is due to its educational tradition, while in the United States universities have social vogue.

Germany has one university student to every 600 persons, and Dr. Barker said this high average is due to the concentration in the universities on legal training and training for the service of the state.

England and Wales have 30,000 students now and Dr. Barker does not expect that number to increase more than 10,000 in the next two decades.

He expressed the belief that it is desirable for this increased number of students to be scattered among small universities are larger universities are apt to become 'an agglutinative combination of separate departments, with teachers too numerous to know one another in addressing audiences of the dimensions of public meetings."

In his opinion, big universities are apt to run to seed in "organization" and the heads of departments may become so consumed in management that they have little time for education. He said the true way for students to learn is to have personal touch with teachers which may easily be lost in great institutions.

New universities in England are desirble, especially one in the southwest, said Dr. Barker.

Best Scholastic To Receive Trunk

The senior of the present graduating class of Wichita Falls high school whose scholastic average is highest will be presented with a Weary wardrobe trunk by P. B. M. Co., it was announced yesterday by Jack C. Barnard, manager of the store.

The department store will make the award of a Wheary trunk to the ranking senior an annual custom, according to Mr. Barnard. The gift is intended as a reward for scholastic effort and as a spur to the ambition of members of undergraduate classes.

The trunk will be presented as soon as scholastic standings are determined by school authorities.

Graduating Classes of Local School Show Big Increase

Five Students Receive Diplomas 35 Years Ago With 143 To Go In 26

Thirty-five years ago the first graduating class of the Wichita Falls high school held commencement exercises for five students. Since that time including the mid-year graduating class of 1926, 2,233 students have graduated from the school. Should the 143 members of the spring class of this year complete their work, there shall have been 2,376 graduates from the local institution.

Through these years, there have been fluctuations in the number of graduations, some years were evidently prosperous; the Spanish-American war possibly had its effect on the class of 1898; the World war on the classes of 1917-20, although there was a steady increase in the number of pupils graduating those years.

Among the students are those who have made prominent citizens, well known in the social and business world alike; some have made outstanding success, and others have gone to another world.

A Few Statistics

Should one like a few statistics concerning the growth of classes since the first graduation class, the filowing list compiled by A. K. Presson and his assistants at Junior college will show the yearly growth since 1892: 1892, five graduates; 1893, twenty-one; 1894, sixteen; 1895, three; 1896, eight; 1897, twenty-two; 1898, five; 1899, the ranks dropped back to three; in 1900, eight; 1901, seven; 1902, seven; 1903, eight; 1904, twelve; 1905, seventeen; 1906, seventeen; 1907, sixteen; 1908, five; 1900, fourteen; 1910, twenty-five; 1911, eighteen; 1912, twenty-nine; 1913 twenty-eight; 1914, twenty-seven; 1915, eighteen; 1916, twenty-five; 1917, thirty-eight; 1918, forty-seven; 1919, fifty-nine; 1920, eighty-four; 1921, seventy-six; 1922, one hundred and twelve, the first class to number in the hundreds; 1923, one hundred and thirty-seven.

1924 Shows Drop.

A drop was shown in the class of 1924 with only 113 graduations in the spring class, and 13 in the mid-year; 1925, in the spring class, 119; mid-year, 25; 1926, 143 seniors and 38 graduates of the mid-term class.

Citizens who have graduated from the local high school since 1892 include the following, a number of them well known in this city at the present time:

Mrs. T. T. T. Reese, Mrs. A. E. Myles, Miss Kate Burgess, Mrs. D. M. Perkins, Mrs. Eugene Sherrod, Mrs. M. M. Walker, Miss Kate Haunes, Dr. W. S. Tyson, Mrs. Orville Bullington, Oral Jones, Miss Willie Mae Kell, Mrs. Frances Lee Tolbert, Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff, Mrs. John O'Donohoe, Merle Waggoner, Burton Stayton, Wiley Madison Fuller, Jerome S. Stone, Lester Jones, Ralph Mathis, Solon Downing, J. L. Jackson Jr., John Tevis, Mrs. W. S. Abbott, Harry Bunneaberg, Paul Pond, Paul Rutledge, Leslie Turner, Ruth Barbard, Mrs. S. M. Goss Jr., Miss Alice Lee Joiner, Miss Monferey Lewis, Phillip Pink, Carroll Johnson, Leo Baldwin, Fred Weeks, Carter McGregor, Leota Tucker, and many others.

Cheap N. Y. Cafes Now Furnish Music

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—The New Yorker who invests but a modest fifty cents in "ham an'" at one of the bright tiled places just off Broadway, or mills with the crowd before the sumptuously piled counter of a "coffee bar" munches his meal to the same strains which soothe diners at the Commodore, Astor or Ritz.

Via radio, restaurant proprietors have drawn from the static-laden air programs broadcast by the best hotels, and "two submarines and a mug o' murk" are now served with or without music as requested.

Women Succeed In German Business

BERLIN, May 12.—Although public opinion in Germany is not wholly reconciled to yielding women a place in business and the professions, the fair sex has succeeded in obtaining nearly even terms with men in the drug dispensing line.

Women apothecaries, because of their tact and conscientiousness, are extremely popular. An increasing number take up the profession each year though the course of study requires six years.

ART CLASS IN VARIED WORKS

Unusual But Practical Designs Made at Junior College

Closing features of work of the art department at Junior college include designs for iron work, such as iron gates, balconies and lighting fixtures modeled after the Spanish architectural designs. Many unusual designs, as well as beautiful have been made by the pupils, Miss Louise Lotspeich, instructor, said in speaking of the work.

Sixty boys and girls of Wichita Falls are studying with Miss Lotspeich, and many of them have shown possibilities of becoming real artists. The influence of the models brought to this city by Gutzon Borglum has been reflected in the work, and a number sketches of the models have been made. Most interest has been shown by girls who made sketches of the Old Trail Drivers, Miss Lotspeich pointed out as she showed the drawings.

Make Enamel Design.

One of the constructive pieces of work done this year is the formal enamel designs made for the arch in the art hall of Junior college. Each design is original and has been worked out by the class. The designs were completed and placed in the arches Wednesday.

Decoration of the transom in enamel painting has been a study the class has done this season.

"The Snider library has been a wonderful help to the art classes," Miss Lotspeich said. "They were especially helpful in the research work and the studies which have been taken up during the year. She commended the work of Madeline Hill who did an unusual piece of research work in the class, using the Snider library.

Other students mentioned by the instructor for their exceptional work were Estelyn Allday, Mary Evelyn Thornton, Edward Zihlman and Thomas O. Peery.

'Maedel' In Pretty Follies In Berlin

BERLIN, May 12.—The German capital at last has a revue in which the chorus is not labeled with the English word "girls," but with the German equivalent "maedel."

The German Follies has aroused much comment for other reasons. The show, Delmonts Deutsche Maedel, is advertised as a take-off on rythmic gymnastics, revealing the "beauty of the feminine form" and answering the questions: "How can I stay young? How can I be beautiful?"

THE PICTURES

With the exception of two pictures, all photografis of high school and Junior college graduates were taken by Bartlett's Studio. The picture of Miss Dorothy Dale was supplied by the Story Studio, and that of Miss Rebecca Meadors by Nossetts.

Woman Barrister Appears In House Of England's Lords

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Miss Margaret Henderson Kidd, Scotland's first woman advocate, was the first woman barrister to appear at the bar of the house of lords, Britain's highest legal tribunal.

Miss Kidd was called to the bar of the court of sessions at Edinburg in July 1923. She is the daughter of James Kidd, ex-M. P. for Linlithgowshire, and is an M. A. and L. L. B. of Edinburg. She fought her first case in August, 1923, when she defended a woman charged with murdering her children. The woman was found insane and ordered to be detained during the King's pleasure.

Grown-Ups Copy Children's Dress

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Children's attire of long ago has been adopted by Mayfair modistes for some of the spring fashions for the modern society miss. The feature of these are the old-fashioned sash and ribbons which was worn by young girls over a white muslin frock.

Spring dresses shown in the leading salons are fairly short, often designed with petals and finished with a broad sash tied at the waistline. Many of the sashes bear a thread of gold or silver in the center.

Other youthful looking dresses carry two narrow pieces of silver ribbon many feet long placed side by side down the middle and ending near the shoe top. In others, the long ribbons are partly veiled by an overdress of colored georgette.

NATIONAL REVUE.

GALVESTON, May 12.—(AP)—Galveston's first international pageant of pulchritude and seventh annual Bathing Girl Revue will open here Saturday, May 15 for three days with beauties from the northern cities of Canada and the southern climes of Mexico and Cuba on parade with American venuses. It has assumed an international aspect, W. L. Roe, manager of the Galveston Beach association, which is sponsoring the event, declared.

SPEAKERS CLUB WIELDS POWER

Has Membership Now Of Over One Hundred At School

Seven years ago 12 students organized what is now the Speaker's club of the Junior college and high school and which has a present membership of around one hundred students.

The purpose of the club is to foster development in speaking and to give platform opportunity to those oratorically inclined.

The weekly meetings are given over to short debates, the study of declamation and training in extemporaneous speaking. Representatives attend addresses by prominent speakers of the city and take back a report of the speech and study of its deliverance.

The Debaters.

Students on the debating teams are: First team, boys, Grady Snuggs and William Atkinson; girls, Isla Cothran and Vera Caln; second team, boys, Robert Cummins and John Kerr; girls, Eleanor Fleming and Kathryn Martin.

Winner of the Haley extemporaneous medal was William Atkinson, who won in the final extempore contest held Tuesday at the Junior college from Isla Cothran and Grady Snuggs. These three placed first in the preliminary contest held April 30.

The first debating team of the high school is composed of Oscar Powers and Raymond Strong, boys, and Maurine Ulmer and Lela Belle Jenkins, girls. William Casson is senior boy's declaimer; Kathleen Randle, senior girls. Clarence Powell is extemporaneous winner.

A great deal of interest has been shown in public speaking work and it is believed that definite steps have been taken in developing the ability of the members.

Cum Laude Waves To Scholastics Of High Standing

Students who excel in scholastic standing are eligible to the Cum Laude society, the honor club of the school. The basis for membership is an average of B and only regular students, those taking at least four subjects, are considered. Special honors go to Ruth Frank, Daphne Hendrix, Jennie Jobe, Marguerite McCord, Kathleen Melat, Ethyl Myers, Morell Trevathan and Ruth Turner due to a perfect attendance record.

Commercial Club Plays Important Part at School

Those students desirous of entering the Junior college course are given a special opportunity in preparation for the problems of the future in the organized work of the Commercial club which chose for its aim the creation of greater interest along commercial lines.

The monthly meetings of the club were featured by instructive talks by prominent business men of the city which served to broaden the outlook on the business world. Judge J. S. Dickey made an address which laid the formation for the future development of the club and impressed the members wit hthe fact that the organization should be an agency for service.

An outstanding event of the year was the Commercial club luncheon during February. It was decided to admit students of good standing from the business department of the high school. The total membership included around 25 business administration students.

Officers of this club are: Aden Kouri, president; Shirley Donnell, vice president; Dorothy Van Deventer, secretary-treasurer; Hasel Champion, reporter. Miss Gladys Wilbanks is club advisor.

Rain Ruins Ball Clubs Chances At College This Year

Hopes of the baseball team of the Wichita Falls high school have been dampened by the excessive rains of spring which have kept them from playing scheduled games. At this date the school has played only one series at Hamlin. They won two out of three games there as follows: first, 1-2, Hamlin; second game, 2-0, Wichita Falls; third game, 8-4, Wichita Falls.

According to B. P. Henderson, instructor, who accompanies the team on their baseball trips, the team will go to Childress for two games May 14 and May 15.

Because there is no park in Wichita Falls in which to play here, the team has to play at nearby towns, Mr. Henderson said.

INSTALL PLAY EQUIPMENT

HASKELL, May 12.—Haskell Elks have completed arrangements under which play ground equipment will be installed at English park at an early date. A wading pool, swings, see-saws and swings will be placed at once in order to be ready for the opening of the park, May the 22, according to Secretary F. N. Clifford. Some work was done in this connection last season but will now be carried out to completion in accordance with plans now in the hands of a committee.

Pathetic Mountain Girl Shunned As Man Who "Bought" Her Is Jailed

George Shaw, Chenango, N. Y., farmer, has been found after a three year search to stand trial for an alleged attack on Jessie Thornington. And his arrest has crashed the hopes for happiness of Belle Thornington, Jessie's sister, a student in school at Cortland, N. Y. For his arrest has revived the story that he "bought" her from her parents three years ago for a horse and a cow. Her student mates shun her.

Kash Klub Takes Stand to Help on School Finances

It was found in the early part of the spring semester that ways and means to raise money for support of the Kal-Kun, college annual, must be devised. The Kash Klub organized to take over this work with a personnel consisting of the treasurers of the school clubs and classes and a member-elect from each, together with the finance committee of the Wal-Kun.

The Kash Klub's purpose is to inform various groups in the college as to the financial requirements of the Wal-Kun and school affairs. During the short time of its organization it has fostered many programs all of which have been successful to a high degree and which have proved of much financial benefit to the annual. It aims to utilize the co-ordinated efforts of all organizations to accomplish the work of financing the yearbook.

Officers of the club are: Charles Weeth, president; Marguerite McCord, vice-president; John Ebner, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Mays, reporter, and B. O. Jonas, sponsor.

FIRE ALARM MOVED

HASKELL, May 12.—The electric fire alarm siren which has been on the top of the Haskell National bank building since it was installed several years ago, was moved the first of the week to the roof of the new building of the Haskell Telephone company. Houses began to grow away from the square some years ago.

Curtain Players Present Highest Types of Drama

The Blue Curtain Players, one of the most progressive and intellectual organizations of the Junior college, has done no small amount of work in raising and keeping alive the true appreciation of drama of the highest type. Due to its high scholastic requirements and artistic ideals this club has proved to be one of the most successful organizations in the institution.

Several plays of merit were produced in the past year, both tragedy and comedy being presented in an excellent manner by the players, all of whom proved their ability to interpret and act with a high degree of talent. Practical study was made of stage technique as well as color harmony and lighting effects.

Next year promises a full line of equipment for the stage which will greatly facilitate the success of the plays put on not only by the Blue Curtain club but the other school organizations. This was made possible through the efforts of the present membership which consists of around twelve students. Officers for 1925 are: Lemmel Peters, president; Jerry Vinson, vice president; Evan Harris, secretary-treasurer; Miss Verna Sellers, sponsor, Miss Juanita Kinsey, director.

GIRLS ACTIVE IN ATHLETICS

Big Development Comes At School In This Endeavor

With girls' athletics becoming the important factor that it so evidently promises, the result is the organization of various athletic clubs that are taking their place in the life of girl students at the Junior college. A club to promote outdoor life and good fellowship was formed and known as the Hiking club. The interest taken in the hikes, the picnics, skating parties, sunrise breakfasts and various out of door activities has proven the athletic aspirations of the Junior college girls.

Point System Started.

A point system has recently been adopted whereby each girl in the club who does a required amount of hiking and swimming and participates in other outdoor sports becomes a wearer of the "W." This letter represents no little amount of work. The number of points for this year has been 800, but it is planned to raise these to 1,000 during the coming year. At present Edna Prechel is the only member of the club that has acquired her letter.

Raise Money for Annual.

Money was raised for the benefit of the Wal-Kun, school annual, by means of a box supper.

The membership consists of around thirty-five girls.

Wichita Falls Boy Honored At Varsity

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Ed L. Gossett of Post was elected president of the University of Texas Students association in the annual spring election held on the campus of that institution Tuesday in one of the most hotly contested elections ever held in the history of the university. Gossett, member of the university debating team and former chairman of the men's council.

Members of men's council elected were: Herbert Von Roeder, Knapp; Ligon, Foster, Whitesboro; John Hoff, Comanche; C. P. Oliver, Mount Pleasant; Bascom Nelson, Wichita Falls.

Students To Orate On U. S. Constitution

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Representatives of six Texas colleges and universities will take part in an oratorical contest at St. Edward's university here Saturday for $400 in prizes.

The schools that will be represented are Simmons university, Abilene; Texas Christian university, Fort Worth; Baylor university, Waco, Stephen F. Austin Teachers' college, Nacogdoches, the University of Texas and St. Edward's university, Austin.

The contest is being held to stimulate interest in the constitution of the United States.

Long Friendship Is Renewed Again

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—(AP) Over a span of 35 years—from a hilltop in Mississippi to the courthouse in San Antonio—thus a friendship endured to be renewed here yesterday.

Judge W. W. McCrory of the 94th district was visited by William Perkins of Beaumont, a school day friend who was reared in the same county in Mississippi with the judge.

Thirty-five years ago they both attended a picnic. Late one afternoon, as they sat on top of a hill near the picnic grounds, they bade each other farewell. The next day Judge McCrory went off to college and never saw his friend until Monday.

Beer As Medicine Wins Him Acquittal

SAN ANTONIO, May 12—(AP) The plea that his beer was for medicinal use won a verdict of not guilty of violating the prohibition law for Arthur L. Kehoe in federal district court. After 20 minutes deliberation the jury reported late yesterday that it found him not guilty on the two counts of the indictment, possession and manufacture.

Kehoe was charged with possession of 161 bottles of beer, which was discovered when city police and prohibition agents went to his residence March 30, ostensibly seeking a bank robber.

WOUNDS ARE FATAL

Orchestra And Musical Organizations Fill An Important School Place

Music hath charms, it has been said, and the Wichita Falls high school has an orchestra of which the city might well be proud. The organization composed of 20 members has been directed for the past three years by Miss Winnifred Alvis and under her tutelage has played before a number of audiences and for various school activities.

Concerts have been given during 1925-1926 in the Junior college, Junior high school, Carrigan, Faunin, in the cities of Burkburnett and Holliday. The orchestra furnished the music of "Mam'selle Tapa," an operetta given by the music departments of the college and high school. The operetta was given twice in Wichita Falls and once in Iowa Park.

Plays Are Assisted.

Plays given by the college and high school have been assisted by the orchestra throughout the year. The students have played also for various luncheon clubs of the city.

One of the features the members are looking forward to is the commencement program to be given May 16 and May 21 when they will play the Tannha ser March by Verdi and Raymond, overture by Thomas.

The personnel of the orchestra follows:

Rebecca Meadors, concert maestro; violinists, Joseph Rabinowitz, Bernice Johnson, Thelma Gwinn, Dorothy Coleman, Reva Ray Brown, Loneta Smith, Claudeen McCarty, Dorothy Van de Venter, Herbert Claycomb, T. H. Blanton, Harold McConnell, Jean Fisk, Melba Anderson, Wirva Lee French; 'cello, Isabella Marsh; flute, Robert Bill Rogers; saxaphones, Ralph Anderson, Lewis Foster, Wilson Gray; mellaphone, Edwin Sutton; trumpets, Verna Bullard, Ira Lee Utt; James Schrim, and Nowell Yoakley, trombone, Bryan Johnson; drums, Reagan Dublin, piano, Lorene Tucker.

Four Glee Clubs.

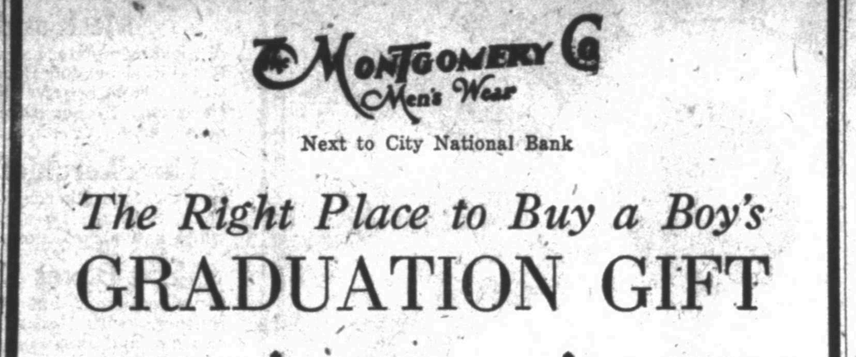

In the high school there are four glee clubs and a Junior college choral club. The combined organizations will furnish the music for the 1926 commencement exercises, it was announced.

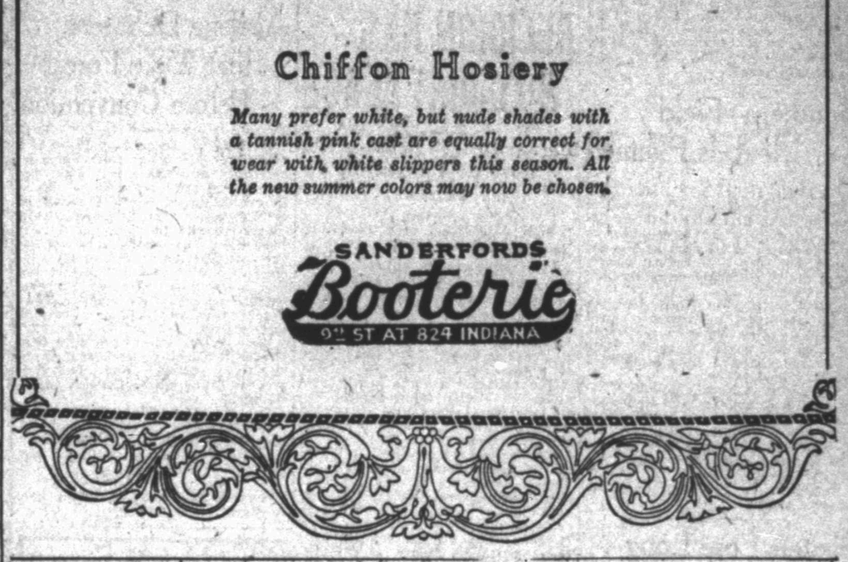

There is in connection with the music departments of the college and high school a Music club, a branch of the Musician's club which is a member of the Texas Federation of clubs.

The club is composed of music lovers from the high school and college and has for its purpose to create and promote the appreciation for and understanding of the highest type of music. Activities of the Music club for the year was a burlesque on "The Meistersingers of Nuremburg; a banquet, and a play.

CLUB SUCCEEDS IN ECONOMICS

College Organization Is Speedily Affiliated Nationally

That the success of the Junior College Home Economics club has been truly remarkable is attested by the fact that within two months after its organization in February, 1926, it became affiliated with the state and national association of Home Economics clubs. The aims of this organization are to cultivate interest in the model apartment maintained by the college. This is an apartment of four rooms and bath, with fireplace and built-in features that constitute a complete home adjacent to the domestic science class rooms of the college.

Room Is Furnished

The dining room has been completely furnished in the most modern of dining room suites, silver and furnishings made possible through gifts of P. T. A. of the Junior college, the Travel club and Travel club, Jr., of 1922 and the Study club. It is hoped that with the close of the next year the entire series of rooms will be completely equipped.

Addresses on interior decoration and landscaping have been given during the year by Roma Tandy and Edwin Bebb. Beauty and health talks and physical training instructions have been given by Miss Beth Smith, instructor in gymnasium at the college.

Give Style Show

A style show exhibiting the work of the girls was given in March for the benefit of the Wai-kum with one of the most highly successful results of any school club.

The last meeting of the year was devoted to a tea in the model apartment with the club members at home to their friends.

Southern Field Meet Is Planned

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., May 12.—(AP)—The fourth annual renewal of the track and field meet of the Southern conference which is expected to be the fastest of its kind held in the south, will open here Friday. Nearly all of the 22 conference members have entered teams.

The University of North Carolina authorities report the track in excellent condition and since many records have fallen in dual meets this spring, quite a few are expected to be established in this two-day meet.

McPherson of North Carolina, Cummings of Virginia, Tracy of Kentucky, Sides of North Carolina and Green of Auburn are all fast dash men. McPherson and Cummings have tied the conference record of 9.8 seconds in the 100 yard dash.

Records in the field events also are expected to fall.

Slayers Lose Long Fight For Freedom

BOSTON, May 12.—(AP)—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, defendants in famous murder trial, today lost a six-year battle for life which was financed by radical organizations in this country and abroad.

The full bench of the Massachusettes supreme court denied acco and Vanzetti a new trial and closed them the last door of legal appeal. They will now come before the superior court for sentence after conviction in 1921 of the murder of a shoe company paymaster and guard in South Braintree.

Sacco has been held in Debham jail pneding the outcome of defense councel efforts. Vanzetti is in Charleston state prison serving a sentence for robbery. Both men have been under observation by alienists at various times during the long legal struggle.

Price Of Potatoes Is Broken Sharply

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Sharp breaks in price have semi-demoralized the market for old potatoes. A general drop ranging from 50c to $1 a hundred pounds in the last week is reported today by the government bureau of agricultural economics.

Many southern states are becoming active shippers of new potatoes and with the volume of such arrivals increasing, heavy receipts of old potatoes have failed to find adequate outlet.

nI Chicago car lots of sacked northern round white potatoes reached a bottom price of $3 a hundred weight. The aggregate movement of old potatoes this week is 300 cars in excess of the previous week.

Constable Catches Stills At Electra

ELECTRA, May 12.—Constable W. R. Johnson, captured two stills loaded on a truck motoring south on the K. M. A. road southeast of Electra. There was one man on the truck, but upon seeing Mr. Johnson approaching, turned into the mesquites, and leaving the truck, fled. Mr. Johnson offered persuit, but failed to intercept the man, however he returned to the city with the stills, one being about 150 gallon still and the second, of approximately 400 gallons. Mr. Johnson took the stills and the truck to Wichita Falls, Wednesday morning.

Poor Dogs To Get Beauty Treatment

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Pet dogs of the middle and working classes are to have their "beauty parlors" and will be "titivated up" just like those of the rich folk who can afford to keep servants especially for the job. Two young girls in the Sloane Square district have opened an establishment where for a small fee any dog can be groomed, bathed, manicured and generally made to look as smart as his Mayfair canine cousins.

PROWLERS GET $225

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—Prowlers robbed roomers of $225 in a series of petty burglaries last night. W. T. Parish lost $70 and two roomers at his house lost $7. A robber took $140 from the room of Charles O'Neal but was caught several hours later and the money returned.

Back Home—And Happy

RELIGION HAS NO COURT PLACE

Reference to Belief Held Reversible Error By Jurists

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—(AP) Reference to the religious belief or race of witnesses by an attorney in an argument before a jury is a reversible error, the fourth court of civil appeals ruled today. It made no difference if the arguments were not objected to, the court held, as it was the duty of the trial judge to prevent it.

The ruling was made in the case of R. P. Motley et al against Joe Z. Lawrence from Dallas county in which the will of Miss Sallie Motley was contested.

The remarks complained of were said to have been made by H. F. Lively, attorney for the Matleys. The record quotes Lively as saying:

"I invite your attention to the evidence that contestants' witness, a Hebrew, with all his family, have been out taking dinner with R. P. Motley of Grand Prairie since this suit has been pending. Now, you know Hebrews as a rule make no such visits with Gentiles. They just don't do it."

Remark Improper.

The court of appeals held this remark was highly improper and should not have been made. It was pointed out that the question before the jury was whether Miss Sallie Motley was mentally capable of making a will. Dr. A. F. Jones, a Gentile, and Dr. S. M. Freeman, a Jew, had testified.

Before Jones had testified he believed Miss Motley to have been of sound mind when she made the will and Dr. Freeman that he did not.

There was a direct conflict between the two doctors, the court pointed out, and the only persons who could reconcile the conflicting statements were the jurors, if the remarks of Lively were considered by the jurors, the statement of Dr. Freeman would have been discounted, it was declared.

Charges that Miss Motley was unduly influenced by Joe Z. Lawrence was dismissed by the court as not sustained. Lawrence was left a life interest in part of the estate and Motley and eight other members of the family contested the will. The will was probated by the county court and appealed to the district court where it was decided in favor of Lawrence.

The judgment of the district court was reversed by the court of appeals.

Abilene Debaters Beat Wake Forest Before Convention

HOUSTON, Texas, May 12.—(AP) (Baptists).—Debaters from Simmons university at Abilene last night defeated the team representing Wake Forest college of North Carolina in the Forensic contest held annually in connection with the Southern Baptist convention. The debate was on the question that the United States government should own and control the coal mines. The winning Simmons team contended for the negative. They were declared winners by a vote of the audience.

Representing Simmons were Sam Morris A. Senior, better known as the "fighting parson," and Lawrence Fitzgerald and Elmer Atwood, underclassmen.

Debaters from Wake Forest have appeared before the convention in 11 consecutive contests. The debate last night is the first the institution has lost in four years.

FILGRIMS TO WALK

GLASGOW, May 12.—(AP)—"Law, not War," has been adopted as the slogan of the peacemakers' pilgrimage of the women of Great Britain who assemble in Hyde Park, June 19. Some of the pilgrims from Scotland plant to walk most of the way.

The meeting, expected to be attended by 100,000 women, will demand that law be substituted for war; that the British government agree to submit all international disputes to courts of arbitration or conciliation, and shall further take the lead in the proposed disarmament conference.

TRAIN FATHERS

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Lady Ericigh's lectures to train fathers how to be satisfactory parents are proving a great success. "Men were a bit hesitant about coming to the lectures at first," said Lady Ericigh. "But the truth of the matter is that fathers really do not understand the psychology of their own children and many of them frankly admit it and are anxious to have scientific instruction.

Following the close of commencement exercises of the high school and and college Friday, May 21, the summer school session will begin at the college, Monday, May 24, according to announcement from Registrar A. K. Presson.

The following subjects will be included in the summer course: English, history, mathematics, education and psychology in the college curriculum; English, history and mathematics in the high school. Other subjects will be added if there is a demand for them, it was said.

Teachers for the summer school are announced: Mathematics, R. T. Adams; science, C. L. Brown; history, Ted Brumbelow; education, R. O. Jonas; history, Miss Mamie Raborn; mathematics, J. T. Rundell; English, Miss Eva Weber; librarian, Miss Vera Jobe.

This summer session marks the seventh for the high school and the third for the college, Mr. Presson said.

Spanish Club Is Prime Factor In Better Speaking

The aim of creating more active interest in practical, conversational Spanish and bringing Spanish-speaking students into a closer union is that of the Spanish club composed of Junior college students who organized in September, 1925. El Circulo Espanol has presented some programs worthy of mention. "The Whole Town's Talking," which netted around $300 for the annual, the Wal-Kun, and a shorter 3-act play presented in college assembly.

In addition to these a play in Spanish was given at the Mexican school. Christmas dinners and Thanksgiving donations, clothing and games have been furnished by the students in an effort to better the Mexican conditions.

During the meetings which were held twice monthly, playlets, dialogues and Spanish music were presented by the members of the club. A Victrola with 100 Spanish records was purchased.

HASKELL

M. M. K. CLUB ENTERTAINED.

The exterior of the lovely Neff home on Main street looked as usual to the passer by on last Thursday evening but the interior had been converted into a Japanise reception suit and the members of the M. M. K. club were present enmass clad in the ever alluring Japanise Kimona. They were greeted at the door by a little Jap man, Miss Lucile Taylor and Japanese lady, Mrs. A. B. McKinsie of Oklahom City, who bowed low to each guest as they were quietly led to the cloak room by Master David Ray Neff and Little Miss Mary Helen Neff and then to a flower garlanded booth presided over by Mrs. Ward Boyce who asked each to write her name in the guest book. From here they were seated on dainty floor pillows and enjoyed the following program, Japanise love song by Mary Helen Neff, song by Mrs. Neff, interpreted by pantomime by Miss Lucile Taylor and Mrs. McKenzie. Then as a Budda doll, Mrs. McKenzie told the fortunes of all present. Then followed Japanese games and contests. Mrs. Neff served perfection salad, chicken sandwiches and hot tea to Misses Winnie Biggerstaff, Minnie Ellie, Amelia Payne, Ermine Daugherty, Leda Bolin, Kathleen Mayfield, Alberta Smith, Aura Lee Tucker, Mary Long, Lela Sprowles, Lois Earnest, Ella Cate, Fannie Jack Baldwin, Mabel Baldwin, Lois Wear, Era Flinoe Jackson, Mrs. Ed. Sprowles, Mrs. Harry Flewharty and the special guests, Mrs. Ward Boyce and Mrs. A. B. McKenzie.

THE SEVENTH GRADE PICNIC

The seventh grade of the North ward school went to Scott's Crossing, on the Brazos for a picnic last Saturday and all went well with big "eats" at the proper time until too many trips were made on the swing across the river, when Bessie Bee Kaigler, and Selda Maples swung out together and the rope broke, plunging them into ten feet of water, neither could swim and two boys, Joe Roberts and Willie Chapman rescued the girls after Selda Maples had gone down the third time. Teachers with this group were Superintendent H. D. Neff, M. B. Lebo, Misses Mary Long and Kathleen Mayfield, Edith Jones and Mrs. Bruce Bryant.

YOUNG MUSICIAN PLAYS.

French Club Has Busy Year With Varied Activities

Le Cercle Francais has aroused a great deal of interest in the French students of the Junior college since its organization in September, 1924, and has made definite progress toward this aim. French conversation and the literature of the language have been stressed in the regular meetings.

Parties, picnics, weiner roasts and a kid party were among the informal gatherings of the club during the year. Speeches in French and complete conversation were required to improve the efficiency of the students in the language.

A study of the life and customs of the French people have been made with interesting lectures on their ways of living and the literature of the country.

HUSBAND DID THE WASHING

His Wife Confined to Her Bed by Ill Health

Because of his wife's frequent ill health, Mr. J. F. Gage was obliged to do the washing and cooking for the family.

One day when Mrs. Gage was confined to her bed, he brought her the newspaper to read. Among the advertisements she noticed a letter from another sick woman telling of the help she had received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I'll try it," she decided.

Her husband brought home a bottle and only a few days after she had begun to take it she felt well enough to be up around the house. Gradually her general health improved until she is now able to do her own wopk.

In a letter which Mrs. Gage recently wrote, she said, "I have taken twelve bottles and feel like a new woman." She has told many women about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of her friends is now taking it. Her address is Mrs. J. F. Gage, Route 5, Brownwood, Texas.

ROCK ISLAND IS GIVEN PERMIT

Railroad Is Authorized To Build Line Through Panhandle Field

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP) The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway was authorized by the interstate commerce commission today to construct a line 145 miles long from Liberal, Kan., to Amarillo, Texas.

The line is designed to develop new territory and to serve as a second main track for the handling of the road's through transcontinental traffic. It will run in a general northerly and northeasterly direction from Amarillo to Liberal.

The route is through Potter, Carson, Hutchinson and Hanford counties, Texas; Texas county, Oklahoma and a short distance in Seward, Kan.

The Atchison, Tojeka & Santa Fe railway opposed the construction on the ground that the Rock Island, which is not chartered under the laws of Texas, was prohibited by the state law from constructing or operating that portion of the line in Texas.

The new line will pass through the natural gas and oil fields located to the north and east of Amarillo.

The Rock Island expects to use the line as part of a second main track between Tucumcari and Liberal, Kan., over which certain through freights and one through passenger train would be diverted. In this connection the road, the records show, anticipated that in a few years it would be necessary to double track its present line.

The cost of the proposed construction and use of the line as part of a second main track has been estimated at $7,340,000.

Enjoin Husband From Running Into Her Old Automobile

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP) Frederick W. Jones has been ordered to appear in the District of Columbia supreme court Friday to show why he should not be restrained from driving his automobile into Mrs. Jones' automobile. Incidentally he will be asked why he should not be ordered to pay her more than $100 a month alimony.

Jones, Mrs. Jones alleged, was driving a new $4,000 automobile recently and she was driving a somewhat older and much less expensive car. She started up a hill and Jones, coming from behind, assisted her in making the ascent, she charged, by pushing her machine with his at such a rapid rate as to endanger her life.

'Indian Story' Tells A Vivid Tale Of Life At College Through Year

"Wal" means Wichita Indian; "Kun" means book or story; thus the name of the Junior college annual, Wal-Kun, came into existence.

The theme of the year-book is a portrayal of the legend of Wichita Falls and its development since the earliest period of its history.

This book is the second volume of the Wal-Kun, the other one having been produced last year. The approximate cost will be $2,300 and although the book is larger than that of last year the expense is less, due to cutting down on various items. It will contain college life portrayals, organizations, literary, business and athletic sections together with full page pictures of the five most representative students in the college. Ira Merla Robinson, Vernon McGee, Mary Tancred, Charles Weeth and Edna Prechel will appear on these pages respectively as the school beauty, representative boy, representative girl, popular boy, and popular girl and staff's choice.

Artistically Arrayed.

It is an artistically arranged annual with attractive division and sub-division pages, well-balanced sections and is hoped will excel last year's book. The task of producing the annual has been one of pleasure as well as hard productive work. Several picnics and parties and the annual Wal-Kun staff banquet have helped to make it part play instead of all work. The staff has attempted to present the life of the school during the daily grind of the past year's activities and studies. Vernon A. McGee is the editor-in-chief, and Charles A. Weeth is business manager. Art, Edna Prechel, Joyce Samuels, Jonnie Jobe, Paul Karns; cartoonist, Edward Stahala; photographers, Horace Downing, Mary Tancred, Marie Beaty; college life, Gladys Faye Johnson, Dolores Peavy, Winnogene Brite, Margaret Lewis and Mildred Mays; editorial committee, Eleanor Fleming and William Atkinson; athletics, Wilbur Presson; organization, Ella Marie Henderson, Ethel Johnson, Lucille Pitts; literary, Ruth Frank, Agnes Morton; business, John Ebner, Robert Brannon and John Wolf.

CLOSE CHURCHES

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 12.—(AP)—Government advices say the revolutionists have been badly routed in a battle near the extinct volcano of Mobacho, in the vicinity of Granada on Lake Nicaragua. Many were killed or wounded.

Heroes Give Lives In Rescue Attempt

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, May 12.—(AP)—Two men proved themselves heroes here last night. One paid with his life and the other is in a hospital in a critical condition.

John Harrington, engineer at the Knights of Columbus club house, went into a manhole to open a valve that drained the swimming pool.

He failed to reappear and several youths notified Ernest J. Boughey, manager of the club.

Boughey lowered himself into the hole. He likewise did not reappear and the youths summoned Cartie Roundtree, physical director and former St. Thomas College athletic star.

Roundtree had the youths hold his ankles while he went head foremost into the hole. An instant later the body became limp and the boys pulled him out. He was rushed to a hospital where his condition is reported critical as a result of enhaling sewer gas fumes.

Police and firemen were called. Working with gas masks they brought out the bodies of Harrington and Boughey, who had succumbed to the gas fumes.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

GIRL RESERVES 'GIVE THE BEST'

Active Club at School One Of Oldest And Most Successful

One of the oldest clubs of the junior college and high school is the Girl Reserves, a club whose purpose is to "find and give the best." This organization is a chapter of the national Girl Reserves which are represented in almost every high school and junior college of any size in the country.

The blue triangle which is the insigna of the club stands for health, knowledge and spirit. The code is "As a Girl Reserve I will be gracious in manner, impartial in judgement, ready for service, loyal to friends, seeing the beautiful, earnest in purpose, reverent to God, victorious over self, ever dependable and sincere at all times."

During the past year the Girl Reserves have had a number of parties, a week-end camp at the Business Girls Club House, candy sales and have taken an active part in welfare work under the sponsorship of Miss Juanita Kinsey. Officers for 1925 have been: Wilton Wade, president; Evelyn Hardeman, vice-president; Jane Moore, secretary; Elizabeth Wood, treasurer; Eleanor Fleming, reporter.

The new president elected recently for the coming year is Jane Moore.

Haystack Murder No Nearer Solution

DES MOINES, May 12.—(AP)—Earl Thompson, held as a suspect in the Carlisle "straw stack murder" mystery, must stay in jail here until a woman who says she is his wife comes from Kansas City, Mo., and is positively identified. Authorities have been told tht the burned boday of the straw stack victim was Mrs. Thompson.

Today the woma nhad been unable to provide herself with funds for railroad fare and local officials said she must come here to be identified by Mrs. Maggie Harmon, grandmother of Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Harmon previously had directed suspicion toward Thompson by assertion of her belief that the body was that of her granddaughter.

Thompson, who was brought here yesterday, continued to declare his belief that he would be cleared of his entanglements with the arrival of the woman.

TO ADVANCE MISSIONS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 12.—(AP)—In its report prepared for presentation to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Pensacola, May 20, the home mission council expresses itself of the opinion that the home mission cause of the church will be advanced "if the whole task can be presented to the church as a single enterprise."

Among recommendations made to the assembly by the council is that, all the agencies administering hime missions—presbytery, snyod, and assembly—work for the whole home mission budget, each agency sharing in the amount contributed according to a percentage agreed upon by the assembly, synod and presbytery.

Writers Club Inspires Greater Appreciation of Literature by Its Efforts at Junior College

Organization Has Remarkable Success With Only Short Period of Work; Many Aspiring Journalists Take Active Part

That the "pen is mightier than the sword" is a quotation that has been investigated to the depths of literary achievement and sounded in the original creations of the members of the Writers club of the junior college. It is the ambition of the club to inspire in the college a greater interest in original writing and to provide an opportunity for practice in literary expression.

At all meetings of the club during the year interesting contributions of a wide variety have been made. The outstanding achievement of the organization was the writing of an original play, "Better Speech," for presentation in the college assembly and before various literary clubs of the city.

Considering the short time the club has been organized a great amount of enthusiasm has been shown by students who have aspirations to enter the field of literature, the chief interest being poetry and verse. Next year assures a study of more specialized teachinque and criticism of the master works of the world.

Student officers are as follows: Morell Trevathan, president; Eleanor Fleming, vice president; Dolores Peavy, secretary; William Atkinson, treasurer; Mary Wisdom, reporter; Wilbur Presson, custodian of manuscripts; Miss Eva Weber is club adviser.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, billiousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dallas Jurors To Probe Courts Held On Side Of Roads

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—The "roadside courts" investigation started yesterday by Judge Felix D. Robertson of the criminal district court had wide ramifications today.

Every justice court precinct in Dallas county was ordered investigated and Hal Hood, special investigator of the district attorney's office, was assigned to make the investigation.

All persons who have been "fined" by roadside courts were invite dto District Attorney Shelby Cox in a public statement to report to ihm.

These developments follow the disclosure that some county constables were making a practice of arresting persons in automobiles parked along country roads and finding them on the spot.

A charge of extortion was filed today against R. E. Couch, a farmer, at the instance of the district attorney. The charge states he illegally demanded fees as a witness.

The road side courts investigation began when Pat Maloney, Dallas druggist and Owens Cates of Dallas, charged that they had been arrested by Emmett R. Fry, former deputy constable at Lancaster, Dallas county and made to sign checks in payment of their fines at the place where they were arrested along the road. They said they signed fictitious names to the checks and were released.

Owens Cates' father, S. Cates testified today that Fry had offered to bring about dismissal of the charge against his son for $100. Fry is being sought by officers.

Boy Pleads Guilty To Theft Of Auto

FORT WORTH, May 12.—(AP)—G. B. Ard, 17, driver of the "Joy-ride" car in which Mrs. Mary Bentley, 14, was killed on February 16, on the Kennedale road, pleaded guilty in juvenile court today to two charges of automobile theft. Indeterminate sentences of not more than four years were imposed in each case.

Ard pleaded guilty to theft of the large touring car of Mrs. Maggie Manis, which was wrecked on the night of February 16. "Tuffy" Breckley, another occupant of the car is serving time at the state training school for boys at Gatesville for automobile theft.

ART HALL HAS BIG COLLECTION

Departing Classes Leave Valuable Gifts for Future Years

A glimpse of art hall at the Wichita Falls Junior college serves to bring back memories of the classes that have graduated and the well wishers from the citizenship of the Wichita Falls. Statuary and paintings from the masters are among the well chosen gifts to be found in the hall, one of the most beautiful spots in the city.

Leave Gifts.

With the departure of the thirty-fifth class of the Wichita Falls high school, the class of 1926, their memory will remain at the college where they have worked towards their graduation, for in art hall they have left as their gift to the high school and college one of the famous paintings of recent years, "Gloucester Harbor," by Vincent. A small bronze plate tells that it is the gift of the seniors of '26.

Presented Sketches.

The senior class of the college has presented four beautiful sketches, one by Marcus, "Autumn;" "Roland," by Heintzelman and others.

Not only their gifts of paintings have they left, but the classes are each leaving a piece of literary work that is creditable to their efforts. "The Coyote," the annual publication of the high school, and "The Wai-Kun," the college annual, will be left in the library as a gift also from these outgoing stuednts.

Appeal Filed For Jelly Bean Bandit, On Death Penalty

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Argument was submitted before the court of criminal appeals today in the notorious Jessie Dailey "jelly-bean bandit" case from Dallas county; Dailey was given the death penalty for robbery with firearms in an assault on Allen Penniman and his companion, Miss Francis Stanton, granddaughter of the late Colonel Bill Sterrett, prominent newspaper man.

Penniman and Miss Stanton have since married.

Dailey was convicted in a spectacular trial in October, 1925, following his arrest for shooting Penniman and robbing him and his companion.

Collects $100,000 a Year Managing Running Tracks

There's lots of talk about fabulous salaries in sport, but when the facts are boiled down, few of them approach the pay of Matt J. Winn. As general manager of the Churchill Downs and Latonia racetracks he is said to get $30,000 a year, the Fairmount track management at East St. Louis nets him $30,000 more and the new Chicago track, of which he is the chief owner, nets him at least $50,000 additional, making his income easily over the $100,000 mark.

Jewel Thieves Are Caught In Louisiana With Santone Car

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—(AP)—Identification of jewels seized at Shreveport, La., with two San Antonians, arrested there with a stolen car, as belonging to W. A. Heusinger, and William McIntosh, will result in the men being brought back here for prosecution.

Activities o fan alleged gang of gem thieves with side lines in automobile thefts was revealed by the statement of a woman who told how the gang had systematically robbed houses.

In posession of the men held at Shreveport were found keys to several makes of automobiles. The woman said that the men stole a car in San Antonio and drove to Austin, where a bearing was burned out. They abandoned the car and stole another. They visited her in Laredo, she said, telling of a paint shop in San Antonio where several stolen cars were being repainted.

Local officers have been unable to locate the shop or any of the alleged stolen cars.

Austin officers will bring the men back and try them for stealing the Austin car and then will turn them over to the San Antonio authorities.

Rotary Cut-Ups To Frolic At Big Banquet Tonight

The annual spring dinner-frolic of the Rotary club will be held Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the Country club with Rotary Anns as guests of the club members when all formal speeches and traditions of a conventional banquet will be swept aside and gaiety will reign throughout the evening.

The program will include an old fashioned grab-bag for the ladies wherein each Rotarian will contribute some article representing as nearly as possible his line of business. Each Rotary Ann will be entitled to a "grab" in the bag.

Officers for the coming year, which were elected by the board of directors at a meeting the last of April, will be presented and official installation will take place.

Music for the evening will be furnished by local and out-of-town orchestras and as a special number, a Charleston contest will be staged. The spring banquet, which has always been an elaborate affair of Rotary events is expected to excel all previous dinners with an exceptionally clever program and unusual features.

Arkansan Is Free High Court Rules

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Numerous legal attempts of A. J. Gurley, former Arkansas sheriff, to prevent his return to that state, were successful here today. The court of criminal appeals ruled that he should be released on the ground that the record failed to show that his pardon by the acting governor of Arkansas was invalid.

Gurley was pardoned while serving five years for misappropriation of funds. The pardon was revoked upon the return to Arkansas of Governor Lew Terrell. In the meantime Gurley had come to Texas and has since that time been fighting attempts to extricate him. He is now in jail at New Boston, Bowie county, according to word from Texarkana.

Army Prisoners Make Liberty Dash

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—(AP) Bowling over fellow prisoners and guards alike as well as tables and chairs two Kelly Field military prisoners today escaped from the prisoners' mess hall at the field.

Once in the open the men sought shelter in the dense brush which separates the field from the Castroville road.

GRAIN CARGOES READY AT PORT

Galveston Planning For Heavy Shipment of Mid-West Cereals

GALVESTON, May 12.—(AP)—With the harvest season still two months away, Galveston is busily preparing to handle a record volume of grain, as continued optimistic reports come from the fields of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

All interests involved in the export movement of grain are making arrangements to avoid congestion when the golden flood starts pouring southward, it was announced today by E. H. Thornton, traffic manager of the chamber of commerce. Railroads, elevator men and steamship agents are working together to perfect a line of transmission that will keep the grain flowing through Galveston to its overseas destination in an unbroken stream.

Galveston grain elevators have a storage capacity of 5,000,000 bushels, representing an increase of 1,250,000 bushels since 1921, the last year in which wheat exports rose to an abnormal volume. The elevator at Texas City, adjacent to Galveston, is capable of storing 500,000 bushels, while the total storage capacity of the elevators at all Texas ports is 7,500,000 bushels.

Galveston elevators alone are able to deliver 200,000 bushels an hour on board ships, making a loading capacity of 4,400,000 bushels in a 12-hour working day. Five vessels may load simultaneously, berthing space for one additional vessel having been provided since 1922.

The shipping board has been asked through Congressman Clay Stone Briggs to allocate additional ships to Galveston for the grain movement and agents of foreign lines have also arranged for a large amount of extra tonnage to be in position by July 15.

GUBERNATORIAL SLOGANS

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Slogans are holding sway in the gubernatorial race in Texas. Attorney General Dan Moody's placard says: "Dan's The Man" and Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's says, "one good term deserves another."

Things That Aren't Written In Your Diploma

LIFE is a glorious future—on Commencement Day. From school or college young men and women came forth equipped through education to take up their chosen work—to win from the world the comforts, happiness, success it offers.

Your diploma, though, does not record the responsibilities, the obligations that are yours. The duties of doing worthwhile work, of "making good" in the field you enter, of setting an example for younger folks to follow—these are implied on Commencement Day.
