Say 50,000 Held As Prisoners By Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports from Cuba indicated today that the Castro regime has 50,000 political prisoners crowded into Cuban jails.

This was one of the considerations listed by U.S. officials in discussions by Washington authorities from President Kennedy down on Prime Minister Fidel Castro's offer to free the 1,179 Cuban invasion captives for $20 million.

The invaders who unsuccessfully attempted to topple Castro a year ago were Cuban refugees who had considerable U.S. support short of direct combat participation.

It was pointed out to newsmen here that the fate of other prisoners, who also contested Castro and in some cases may have suffered more than the invaders, should be considered too. It has been estimated that Castro jailed 200,000 persons in the wake of the invasion.

American officials said the Washington discussions have not resulted in the setting of any hard and fast U.S. policy on the invasion prisoners. Two general conclusions did emerge.

1. The U.S. government condemns as barbaric Castro's ransom offer and does not want to get into any deal with him involving a swap of money for human lives.

2. For humanitarian reasons, the U.S. government has no objection to voluntary actions by persons seeking on their own release of some or all of the captives.

The government has interposed no barrier to the trip to Havana today by a delegation representing a committee of relatives of the invasion prisoners. The group hopes to negotiate with Castro.

In preliminary checking, American authorities also have uncovered no legal impediment to sending money to Cuba, even though from a foreign policy standpoint Washington wants to cut down on Castro's foreign exchange. Cuban refugees currently are able to send money to the folks back home.

Four representatives of the Cuban Families Committee flew from Miami to Havana today, although they have no assurance they will be able to meet with Castro. Three of the four made a similar trip last August. They were unable to see Castro and finally left after a month in Cuba.

The committee has said it has $26 million in cash and pledges with which to begin negotiations for freedom of the prisoners.

Soviets Given Another Warning On Test Plans

Pockets Of Viet Cong Hit

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam, on the offensive, has begun the job of hacking apart great pockets of Communist resistance dotting the country.

During the past month, the government, supported by U.S. advisers, equipment and transportation, has been hurling forces of up to regimental strength deep into strongholds of the Viet Cong guerrillas.

The Communists are fighting back, and casualties on both sides have sometimes reached 1,000 in a week. The long war is apparently moving toward a showdown—but the end could be years away.

A key problem is finding the Viet Cong in large enough groups to make massive operations fruitful. Certain sections are almost wholly dominated by the Viet Cong, but even in large units the problem of finding large units is acute. Improving intelligence facilities have helped. So has the new mobility U.S. helicopters are giving Vietnamese troops.

The Vietnamese Communists have invented a kind of war that may be unique in history, "one U.S. official said."

"Merely to call it a guerrilla war does not fully describe it. These are casual, hit-and-run attacks and destroy only the things they feel vital to their cause, leaving the countryside superficially at peace."

Estimates of Viet Cong strength and location depend partly on definition. The regular, full-time guerrillas are frequently shifted. Intelligence estimates of total numerical strength vary widely, but well-informed U.S. observers feel the 10,000 hard-core fighters plus many additional part-time supporters.

Most of their strength is concentrated in the southern third of the country, particularly in five large pockets. One of the most stubborn begins about 35 miles north of Saigon. This heavily fortified zone is virtually free of government control. It is referred to by the Viet Cong as a liberated area.

Another stronghold is the marshy region comprising several provinces along the Cambodian frontier.

The Viet Cong apparently is paying no attention to the Cambodian border. It flees across the

Britain, U. S. Issue Edict

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Britain gave the Soviet Union an apparently final warning today that unless there is agreement on an enforceable nuclear test ban, the new U.S. test series scheduled to start late this month will have to go forward.

In a joint statement released at the White House, the two governments called on the Soviets to reconsider their position on the inspection issue and to accept the principle of international verification.

"If they will do this," the statement said, "there is still time to reach agreement."

The declaration then continued: "But if there is no change in the present Soviet position, the governments of United States and the United Kingdom must conclude that their efforts to obtain a workable treaty to ban nuclear tests are not now successful, and the test series scheduled for the latter part of this month will have to go forward."

President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan chose the joint statement technique for stating their position, in preference to forwarding another direct appeal to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Some U.S. officials said the time is considered too late for the personal communication method.

The statement was not presented as a Kennedy-Macmillan declaration but as one from the two governments.

The 600-word statement reviewed the latest round of U.S.-British negotiations with Russia on a treaty to ban further testing of nuclear weapons.

The negotiations began at Geneva a month ago when Secretary of State Dean Rusk met Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the opening of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

A few days before the conference opened, Kennedy had announced that unless a dependable ban on testing could be negotiated before late April the United States would begin conducting tests in the atmosphere over the central Pacific.

Today's declaration said that Gromyko—as well as other Soviet leaders—had consistently rejected the principle of international inspection as a means for policing a test ban. In the view of the Western powers a treaty without adequate verification would be unenforceable. Therefore, the statement argued, the whole issue turns on Russia's rejection of the principle of objective international verification.

"The declaration obviously was designed to place upon the Soviet government the responsibility for the resumption of the nuclear arms development race."

The Soviets last September ended a three-year moratorium on weapons testing with a series of about 50 atmospheric explosions.

Kennedy reported later that they had made gains in the improvement of nuclear weapons.

Without a reliable prohibition on further testing, Kennedy said, the United States would also have to conduct atmospheric tests in addition to the small underground explosions it began last fall.

The U.S. President said the heart of the problem now is that Soviet representatives "have rejected international inspection or verification inside the Soviet Union to determine the nature of unexplained seismic events (earth shocks) which might be nuclear tests."

The two Western powers asserted that international inspection is "an essential element for assuring that a ban on nuclear tests is being observed by all parties."

German Boy Leaps West

BERLIN (AP)—A 9-year-old East German boy jumped from the roof of a five-story building to safety in West Berlin today.

Eyewitnesses said the youngster appeared on the roof of a house overlooking Bernauerstrasse, the French sector street that marks the border. The sidewalk is Western territory while the houses belong to the East.

West Berlin border guards rushed out the fire rescue squad. They spread a net and the boy jumped into it. He was rushed to a hospital and was found to be suffering from shock and bruises.

An East German policeman escaped to the West during the night by running through a subway tunnel, West Berlin police reported. He was a member of the transport police, responsible for patrolling railroad installations. He was in uniform and brought his pistol with him.

The Western police disclosed the escape route because the East German authorities evidently had discovered it.

Two civilians also escaped to the West, but their method was kept secret.

Information Bureau West, the unofficial Western intelligence agency, reported that a leading East Berlin tennis player, Herbert Schmidt, had defected to the West while taking part in the United Arab Republic's tennis championships. IBW said instead of returning home, he flew to Frankfurt.

Former Convicts Face Seven Counts

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Two former convicts were charged with seven crimes today.

A girl companion was charged with helping them fix the armed robbery of a service station.

Harry Wilson, 22, and John Gregg, 20, both of Columbus, Ohio, were held in lieu of bonds totaling $60,000 each on three counts of robbery and one each of burglary, kidnapping, assault with a deadly weapon and auto theft.

Readers Will Select Friendliest Employees

Do you enjoy shopping in Snyder? How friendly and cooperative are local stores? How helpful are the employees in retail shops and offices? Do they make you want to come back again and again?

Favorable answers undoubtedly would be given in most cases, because Snyder has that kind of reputation. And the persons who give it that friendly, cooperative reputation are the sales and office personnel who meet the public.

The further this fine reputation and to bestow honor upon these to whom honor is due, the Snyder Daily News is asking its readers two questions:

1. Who is Snyder's "friendliest and most courteous" woman employee?

2. Who is Snyder's "friendliest and most courteous" man employee?

Everybody is asked to help make the important decision. It is a voting campaign without obligation on the balloting.

The woman employee and the man employee receiving the highest number of votes each will receive a $50 U. S. Savings Bond and a framed certificate to be presented publicly by The Snyder Daily News.

Store owners and managers are not eligible as contestants in the voting.

Oklahomans Charged In Burglary Of Bank

LIPSCOMB, Tex. (AP)—Two Oklahomans were held here today, charged with the $30,000 burglary March 22 of a bank at Follett in the northeast Texas Panhandle.

They are Oscar Staley, 37, and E. S. Powell, 29, both of Elk City, Texas. Ranger Bill Hensley of Pampa and FBI agents from Tulsa and Oklahoma are investigating. Officers said they found some burglary tools when they arrested the men at Wheeler.

Estes' Empire Under Probe

AMARILLO (AP)—The sheriff of Deaf Smith County told a court of inquiry today that Billie Sol Estes drove him out of the fertilizer business with cut prices.

Sheriff Lowell Sharp of Hereford said a firm he identified as an Estes enterprise, Lester Stone Chemicals, said fertilizer delivered to the farmer at $20 a ton.

Sharp said the charges he could buy the commodity was plus freight and handling costs.

The sheriff, a volunteer witness, appeared at a court of inquiry into possible violations of Texas anti-trust laws.

Estes, world's largest seller of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer, and No. 1 Texas grain mortgage operator, is under federal indictment involving mortgage manipulations. He also faces about $9 million in civil suits.

Sharp said he was a partner in Plains Fertilizer Co. of Hereford with Glen O. Edwards. He said he first became aware of Estes' competition in 1959.

He said his firm, which he valued at $40,000 to $50,000, went out of business because of the competition. He did not pinpoint the year.

Gen. Will Wilson voiced confidence in advance that a court of inquiry would uncover grounds for prosecution. He did not name any individual or group as a target in the probe.

Amarillo's two TV stations both arranged to carry live telecasts of the probe.

Wilson, making no secret that he's a candidate for governor, obtained orders for exploratory court sessions April 6, one week later, states 25, and three other men went to jail on federal charges.

Estes, then reported to be worth up to $150 million and interested in 30-odd businesses, and the other

The winners will be determined by readers of The Snyder Daily News. Everyone can and is urged to vote. The only stipulation is that voters use the special award ballot which will be published daily in The Snyder Daily News. Voters can cast as many ballots as they wish.

Voters will be announced in a special edition of The Snyder Daily News at the conclusion of the balloting. The edition will spotlight the sales and service personnel, presenting them as the friendly persons who serve the needs of the Snyder area.

Each person nominated for the "friendliest, most courteous" employee awards automatically becomes a member of Snyder's "Courtsey Club." A "Courtsey Club" membership card will be presented each employee nominated by ballot during the current campaign.

Voters are urged to get started right now, clipping and marking the ballot, which appears on page 4 of this issue. Ballots may be left at the Snyder Daily News Office, or they may be mailed to the Daily News.

The weather bureau forecast Tuesday that tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are likely in a segment of Texas southeast of Dallas where the Red River meets the Panhandle.

The forecast period was from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The area in Texas is bounded approximately by a line from Childress to Breckenridge to Sherman.

Included in the area are Wichita Falls, Vernon, Sherman and Gainesville.

Most of the forecast section is in Oklahoma. The weather bureau said the area is 120 miles southeast of a line from Childress to Tulsa.

Thunderstorms that rumbled across the Panhandle early Tuesday were due to spread over most of Texas by nightfall as a cool air mass pushed into the state.

Blowing dust, which whipped far West Texas Monday, is expected to make a repeat appearance in that area again Tuesday.

Skies are cloudy over the state except in the extreme west central and southwest portions. In addition to the Panhandle thunderstorms, Houston had a drizzling rain while Galveston reported fog.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 44 degrees at Dalhart to 74 at Corpus Christi.

Amarillo reported 47 degrees. Childress and Amarillo 52, Wichita Falls 56 and Texarkana 57. In extreme South Texas Palacios had a reading of 70 degrees. Laredo 71, and Cotulla and Brownsville 72. Elsewhere readings were in the 60s.

Maximums Monday afternoon ranged from 63 degrees at Amarillo to a sultry 97 at Pecos.

Candidates Make Lavish Promises

Texans were promised more tourist business, oil production, water resources, education, and state's rights by Democratic candidates for governor Monday.

Gov. Price Daniel, seeking his fourth term, predicted in Dallas that Texas will initiate a tourist advertising program to attract foreign visitors to the state and said the U.S. Department of Commerce promotion program will bring millions of dollars in tourist trade to the nation.

John Connally, speaking at Wichita Falls, hit at foreign oil imports and said the oil industry needs friends and a helping hand.

He also promised to upgrade education and to help attract new industries to expand the state's economy and increase job opportunities.

Connally said oil "borders on being a sick industry." He said that if elected he "hoped that he could speak effectively against new import orders."

He went on to Amarillo Tuesday for conferences and appearances before leaving for Lubbock and a speech and reception.

At Andrews, Don Yarborough said he would push for increased oil production in his program to abolish the sales tax. At Lubbock, he proposed a scientific research program, to develop methods of recharging the underground water supply.

Marshall Formby said in Houston that the governor race means the difference between our being a free state and our being a puppet state for Washington—and I know that Washington is concerned as to the outcome of this race.

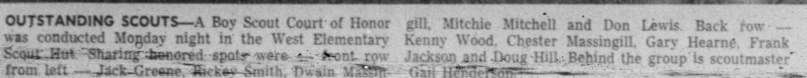

Will Wilson cancelled a Gulf Coast campaign tour in order to attend courts of inquiry into the Billie Sol Estes case at Amarillo and Plainview. However, the Governor Will Wilson Committee was planning a "campaign car" to bring supporters in special buses from Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston to a rally and picnic in Austin Saturday.

A sixth candidate in the May 8 Democratic primary, Edwin A. Walker, spent Monday and Tuesday preparing radio and television programs. He will take his campaign into Central Texas Wednesday.

Republican candidates for governor were also busy.

Jack Cox spent Monday night in Dallas after campaigning in Denton. He still made a luncheon appearance in Kilgore Tuesday noon with meetings later in the day at Henderson and Longview.

Rep. Whittenburg, Cox's opponent in the GOP primary, met with leaders in Fort Worth Monday and planned a series of meetings in El Paso Tuesday.

Recipe Scout Finds Great Pie

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"THIS MAKES a wonderful filling if you leave out the cinnamon. Increase the filling, too, because there isn't enough of it and add a little more cornstarch. It's too runny."

That's a note my sister Phyllis left for me with a recipe for Sour Cream Raisin Pie from one of our oldest and best known cook books. Phyllis feels that if she scouts around and finds a delightful flavor combination, it's up to me to patch up the recipe. Sisters are so helpful!

So here's our own version of this famous old-fashioned pie, and we hope that it's as successful at your house as it is at ours. The raisins in the filling seem to take on unusually delicious flavor when they're combined with the sugar, egg yolks and sour cream. We've always made this pie with dark raisins, but the golden variety might add their own delicate charm.

A meringue goes over the pie's filling, and when you prepare it, bear in mind these tips:

Have the egg whites at room temperature; this way they beat up to best volume.

Beat the egg whites only until frothy before adding the sugar. Frothy means slight beating—just until the whites show large transparent air bubbles. Over-beating the whites before the sugar is added may make the meringue syrupy and leaky.

To tell when the egg whites are beaten enough after the sugar is added, slowly pull the beater out of the meringue; the whites should stand in straight stiff peaks that do not topple over at the tips.

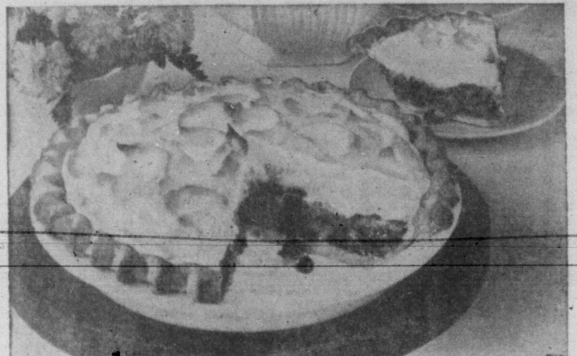

OUR SOUR CREAM RAISIN PIE
1 cup sugar
1/4-tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt

3 large eggs (separated)
1 1/2 cups commercial sour cream

1/2 cup raisins (soaked in boiling water and drained)
1 baked 8-inch flaky pie shell

In a heavy saucepan stir together 2-3 cup of the sugar, the cornstarch and salt. Beat egg yolks slightly; stir into sugar mixture with the sour cream. Cook and stir constantly over very low heat until thickened. Stir in raisins; cool. Pour into baked pie shell.

Beat egg whites until frothy; slowly beat in the remaining 1-3 cup sugar, a tablespoon at a time, continue to beat, increasing speed, until straight stiff peaks form. Spread meringue over filling so it touches sides of pie shell; use back of spoon to swirl meringue. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 12 to 15 minutes—until meringue tips are lightly browned. Cool at room temperature and serve as soon as possible.

SOUR CREAM RAISIN PIE tastes as good as it looks. Try it during the Easter holidays, for company or just the family.

Traver Knows Style, Subjects

HORNSTEIN'S BOY. By Robert Traver.

If there is anything that grips the popular imagination as much as a good courtroom battle, it is a political campaign.

Traver tackled the former in "Anatomy of a Murder" and now he comes up with the latter, a story about a small-town lawyer and former district attorney who makes the race for the U.S. Senate.

His hero and narrator is Walt Whitman Dressler, a widower and sometime fisherman who once had failed to get the nomination for Congress. More or less bored in a Northern mining town, he is not too far from being moved into the Senate campaign by an old college classmate.

The candidate's mentor is Emil Hornstein, a man of numerous facets—a chronic complainer, a times who also has kicked around in television writing and likes to take on a good fight in whatever field he happens to find it.

Dressler's primary opponent is a liberal professor type and his final race is against the incumbent senator, a pompous old windbag who is comfortable in his job but decent enough as a human being to be a respected opponent.

The villain of the piece is, so to speak, a political columnist and hatchet man, and he is really a black character. His tricks and sneaky techniques finally get so bad his own editor can't stand him. But since Sandelino owns stock in the newspaper, it is the editor who throws in the sponge and departs.

There is a romance, too, right in the campaign.

Traver is at home in the political scene, as he was at home in the courtroom atmosphere of his earlier book, for his personal career has encompassed these fields. He makes the political infighting and the grueling work at the ward rallies sound very real.

He likes to write in the wisecracking style which many Americans like to read. His Hornstein is in some respects a more interesting character than Dressler, and Hornstein says things that strike home.

This book may not be great literature, but a lot of readers will enjoy it.

Shelter Owners Win New Shelter

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—The Edward Trosts worked evenings, weekends and through vacations to build a fallout shelter in their back yard.

They dug a huge pit, mixed mortar and placed concrete blocks. Then, the job done, they visited some other shelters on display at a downtown store.

Along with hundreds of others they filled out a card entitling them to a chance on a free shelter.

Yup, they won.

Turkeys, Chickens Find Brooklyn Homes

NEW YORK (AP)—A truck loaded with 400 chickens and 60 turkeys crashed into a girder in Brooklyn Monday. Four cases of the birds fell off the truck and broke open.

The birds made a dash for freedom, but it went a-fowl.

"Gobbie, gobbie," went the turkeys, and a lot of scrambling Brooklynites took them at their word. They grabbed the poultry

America's Astronauts Pass Ultimate Tests For Heroes

BY INEZ ROBB

How does a nation go about paying a hero for a deed of such surpassing bravery that both the deed and the deed are assured of immortality? What is the cash value of an heroic act that places the deed so far outside the range of ordinary mortals that the rest of us regard him with awe and admiration, pride and deep affection? What is the going price of a feat that earns the hero all the honors a grateful government can bestow?

Surely, the answer is not a $24,000 house-and-lot in Houston, Texas? The astronaut, in turning down the offer, has only further endeared himself to the American public. No one begrudges any of the seven a house. But no advocate would ever have persuaded the American public that the proposed gift wasn't tied to a real estate development and a super-promotion for the decorators and firms that proposed to furnish the Houston homes.

Despite all the details from the Texans bearing gifts, the whole offer smacked of commercialism. For better or for worse, Americans want their heroes even as Caesar's wife: above suspicion. That may be hard on the heroes and unfair to them. But it is an undeniable fact.

Junior Editors Quiz on LIBRARIES

QUESTION: Who started the first library in the United States and where?

ANSWER: Benjamin Franklin started the first subscription library in Philadelphia in 1731. There had been a number of private libraries before that time, but Franklin's library was the first that was open to the public. It was a step in the right direction. From Franklin's library, public libraries were developed in this country. The name library means a collection of printed or written material. Private libraries have been in existence since 2000 B.C. They were very popular in the ancient world. There were a few public libraries, too. It was not easy to start a library before the printing press was invented. Very early scholars wrote on clay blocks, and later papyrus were used. It took a long time to write out a book, so books were rare. In addition, few people knew how to read. Today, all of this has changed. Almost everybody can read, and books can be easily and quickly printed. There is a public library in almost every town in the country. There is also the bookmobile, which helps the library along. A big book-filled truck travels down the street on certain days, bringing books to those people who cannot travel to the library.

FOR YOU TO DO: Your school probably has a library. If you do not know how to use the card catalog and other devices of your library, you are missing a lot of good books. Ask your librarian to show you how to use the library properly.

(Thomas Sheaf of Pasadena, N. J. wins $10 for this question. Send your question on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper.)

The Expense Account Is Scrutinized

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—AP—The expense account way of life is up for a closer look these days. Many businessmen are protesting loudly, and so are some forms of business that profit from outlays of free spenders who in the past have written off the costs on their tax returns.

But it is the protest of the Internal Revenue Service says it will scrutinize more closely the income tax returns now being filed or fretted over, and will take a primer view of just what is a reasonable cost of doing business.

And the Senate is studying a House passed tax measure, billed as outlawing some past laxness and putting some limits on how much spending should be deductible.

The tightening of tax forgiveness of expense spending touches many facets of American life—all the way from a night on the town to taking your wife to a convention.

Involved are the folk habits of businessmen in going after sales and the financial health of such groups as the entertainment industry. But also in the picture are discussions of business ethics, and even of what the average American thinks business ethical standards really are, as apart from the pious public utterances about them.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin has put businessmen on notice that this year the taxmen will cast a fishy eye on spending that is only remotely connected with business activity. And he has warned that a wife must be closely connected with such business activity to qualify as a deduction when tabulating the costs of a trip or entertainment of a customer.

Worse for many persons will be the tax collector's insistence that better records of expense spending must be kept—more receipts or canceled checks, and fewer lump sum estimates.

For the future, the bill now before Congress will blacklist for deduction purposes much spending where entertainment is the obvious factor.

You'll have to prove that taking a customer to the ball game or on a hunting trip is actively connected with doing business. And if you own a yacht, swimming pool or fishing camp you'll have to prove that at least 50 per cent of its use is for business purposes if you want to write it off on the expense account. The same goes for club dues if use for business is only casual and rare.

And the bill contemplates putting a limit of $25 on the amount that can be deducted in any one year for business gifts to a single person. The lawmakers think that shows appreciation enough of a customer or a supplier.

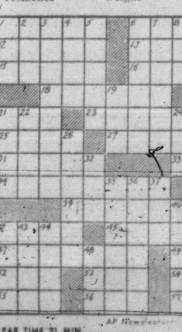

The taxmen call all the changes, current or contemplated, reasonable. Many who have enjoyed an almost-free night on the town or a trip to the Caribbean or a fishing and hunting vacation in Canada are agast at the prospect of another way of life about to fade away.

Gate-Crasher In Oscar Spotlight

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sexy Sophia Loren, stern-faced Maximilian Schell and splashy "West Side Story" go into the records as top winners of the 34th annual Academy Awards. But a sensational bit of gate-crashing stole the show.

Italy's Miss Loren is best actress. Vienna's Schell is best actor. Hollywood's "West Side Story" is best picture, winner of a near-record 10 Oscars. New York's Stan Bergman retains his title as "world champion gate-crasher."

Bergman, 35, a cable who has made a career out of penetrating the impenetrable, stalked onto the stage in mid-telecast at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, presented an earnest Oscar, and stalked off—leaving the film famous and a nation of onlookers flabbergasted.

The handsome Schell won for his role as the defender of Nazi war criminals in "Judgment at Nuremberg"—reaching the top despite the handicap of starting in the shadow of his famous sister, actress Maria Schell.

The voluptuous brunette Miss Loren won her Oscar in absentia for playing the earthy war refugee in the Italian production, "Two Women"—climaxing a rags-to-riches tale that began on the streets of Rome. Hers is the first Oscar to a role played in a language other than English.

It was the first time since 1939, when Britisher Vivien Leigh and Robert Donat triumphed, that two foreigners have come out on top. "West Side Story," a musical version of "Romeo and Juliet" set among the juvenile street gangs of New York, fell just one Oscar short of equalling the record of 11 set by "Ben-Hur" in 1959. Its sweep included support awards for George Chakiris and Rita Moreno, costume design, film editing, scoring of a musical, sound, color cinematography, art and set decoration.

The show was plodding dull along, seeming especially tame after last year's dramatic win by Elizabeth Taylor—until Bergman strode on stage in the midst of a presentation by Vince Edwards, television's Dr. Ben Casey, and Shelley Winters.

Bergman grabbed a pin-sized Oscar and held it up and said, "This is Bob Hope's Oscar for the big broadcast of 1938. To the world's greatest comedian from the world's greatest gate-crasher."

Bergman, who had his picture taken in the box with President Kennedy and his family at the inaugural gala, said stage crashing is a pushover.

"All you need is a tuxedo and

SOPHIA LOREN

the appearance of looking as if you belong," he said.

Miss Loren didn't come for the awards, saying she was "too tired and too scared I might lose." Schell flew in over the weekend from Hawaii and Miss Moreno spent 18 hours on a plane flying from a movie location in the Philippines.

"I spent the whole 18 hours wondering how it would feel to ride this far and then lose and have to fly back again," said the flashing-eyed Puerto Rican performer.

Chakiris, who has been around movie studios dancing for eight years, got his Oscar in his first major film role. As Bernardo, leader of the Puerto Rican street gang in "West Side Story," Chakiris stole the picture from its better known stars.

"I feel so wonderful, so surprised, so flabbergasted that I know I won't believe it until I read about it in the papers tomorrow," Chakiris said.

Said Schell: "There are many people I can thank, but I must give a special thanks to Spencer Tracy. I played all my scenes off that finest of actors. If I looked good, it was because he made me look good."

The Oscar awards lacked the drama of last year's appearance of Liz Taylor, still tottering after a near fatal fight with pneumonia in a London hospital.

Too busy in Rome to make the traditional presentation of the best actor Oscar, the beautiful Liz nevertheless came in for a lot of ribbing from master of ceremonies Bob Hope.

Referring to her escapades with "Cleopatra" costar Richard Burton, Hope quipped: "People will go to see Cleopatra to see if the ancient Egyptians lived it up the way they do in modern Rome today."

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

OAXACA, Mexico—This is the land of history and pine-studded mountains of red earth. Also, the backwoods sections have very colorful and unique weddings.

Historically, it was 1210 when Benito Juarez, Mexico's George Washington, got to thinking things over. He did not like the idea of an Austrian emperor nor of belonging to somebody else's empire. The rest of the country agreed with Don Benito.

So he got together with Emperor Maximilian and the gentlemen of state who were operating Mexico's government.

"Boys," Senor Juarez said, "foreigners are mighty fine people when they come as tourists. But we don't care for them as sovereigns. Since this is our country, we have decided to run it ourselves. So adios, fellows."

It took several battles and a firing squad for Herr Maximilian but Don Benito made his point clear. This resulted in Oaxaca, Juarez' native state, becoming very historical.

This information was made available by Senor Angel Cruz, who sells bright woolen blankets around the shaded plaza here. Angel tried to sell me a blanket for a hundred pesos.

He was very sad about his economic condition. But it did not stop him from speaking of history and native customs.

Despite the changes that came about after Juarez' Mexico on the road toward Democracy, weddings stayed the same. They are very practical, weddings designed for getting folks married.

Take the village of Yacocue east of here, where the Mixes Indians live. The Mixes are poor and therefore practical.

A young man decides he wants a certain sororita to make his torrid death do them part. He takes his parents to her home and asks for her hand.

"Senor," he says in a trembling voice to the young lady's papa, "I have come with my folks to ask for Yolanda's hand. How about it?"

Taking the folks along makes it proper and acceptable. Papa looks the lad over. Then he says, "Charlie, you are a fine boy. I will give you not only Yolanda's hand, but the real estate too."

The deal is set. Then Charlie goes home and brings Yola a package of tamales. Back home, they want mink coats.

So, said Angel, they get married in a church and Charlie gives Yola a bead necklace and a ring. Then they have a feast at Charlie's house, with tamales and a fermented pineapple drink called tequila.

After that, they apply a machete to a turkey and bleed him over corn meal. This is the real signing of the contract. Yolanda is Missus Charlie forever more and can make his tortillas or belt him with a skillet. Rights go with the obligations.

At this point, in a fit of grief, Angel dropped the price of the blanket to eighty, seventy and finally sixty pesos. A loss, of course, but anything to be a good neighbor.

And there you have one of the great advantages of speaking the language and knowing the people. You can persuade them into fabulous bargains in such transactions.

I shelled out the sixty before Angel changed his mind and he went as he parted with his fine blanket.

Later, I met a tourist who was on his first trip to Mexico. We old-timers are condescending with the greenhorns who allow themselves to be overcharged. And I chuckled when he showed me a blanket he had bought. Just like mine.

"Got it on the plaza this morning from a fellow named Angel," the greenhorn said. "Forty pesos." Oh well.

Tear Gas Is Used To Subdue Inmates:

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Tear gas was used to subdue 31 inmates who refused to return to their cells in the segregation unit of the state prison Monday.

Warden Thomas Sanders said the men began throwing shoes through windows and creating a disturbance when ordered to go to their cells after a period in the exercise yard.

Jack Heard, assistant director of the Texas Department of Corrections, instructed guards to use tear gas.

There's Still A Race On In Cuba

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dave Roberts, staff editor of the Cuban Daily News, visited Cuba two years ago when Fidel Castro was riding the crest of popularity and beginning his love affair with the Soviet Union. When an old friend in Havana recently asked him to fly down for a little fishing and hunting, Roberts felt it would be a good chance to find out what had happened to the Cuban people.

During a 10-day visit in March, sanctioned by the State Department and the Castro government, Roberts got in his fishing and hunting. He also drove more than 1,300 miles through Cuba's interior and noted around Havana. Here are some of Roberts' findings.

By DAVE ROBERTS
Distributed by The Associated Press

After a few days of roaming around the island of Cuba, I came slowly to the realization that this was not a Communist country at all—not in the way Russia is Communist. I was witnessing a race still being run, not one that already has been lost.

The race is between men and their ideas, in which the forces of communism, by "education," are trying to win the hearts of free men before the free men can effectively organize their scattered strength.

Every day the Castro regime's educational campaign is making converts, but each day new opposition is born, particularly in the rural areas where Fidel Castro once had his strength.

Firing of the sugar cane fields, Cuba's main source of income, has long been the hallmark of Cuban farmers in revolt. Castro, still deep in the hills of Oriente in 1958, pointed to the smoke clouds as portents of popular support.

But for every fire lighted in support of Castro in 1958, I saw a dozen lighted against him in 1962.

In one 50-mile stretch I saw 40 fulfilled blazes within sight of the highway as we drove home from a morning of fishing.

The 1,300 miles I drove around the country showed me hundreds of scorched fields. About one third of the loads of cane being hauled by truck toward the mills was charred black. This can still be processed into sugar, but it loses two thirds of its value.

The Castro government has decreed death for anyone found guilty of burning cane, but the culprits are not easy to catch.

With Castro's agrarian reform program, farmers are beginning to realize that instead of getting ground for themselves, they're doing the same old work but for a new boss.

Cuban leaders look upon the island's schools as a proper vehicle for political indoctrination. They are depending on schools to indoctrinate the whole nation with the Communist philosophy before mounting anti-Communist forces can topple the government.

With government appropriations for schools second only to those for military purposes, Castro has done more for education in three years than was done in the previous 25.

But while students in the public schools will absorb a little "readin', writin' and 'rithmetic," they'll also absorb full doses in the science of communism.

Castro is depending on two factors which he hopes will smother the seeds of anti-Communist rebellion until his system of Red indoctrination has had time to conquer the hearts of the Cuban.

They are first, the military organization and second—actually part of the first—the enthusiastic, hard-working and sometimes brilliant young Cuban Communists.

Castro's strong and able military forces are made up for the most part of young men and women who share a common enthusiasm. The army police Cuba. There are no other police forces such as we have in our cities and counties.

You can't spend an hour in the country without seeing evidence of the great need which must exist for strict and constant military control.

One of the most insistent sounds in Cuba these days is the "bup, bup, bup, bup" of squad sergeants shouting cadence for marching troops. You move nowhere without permission of the military.

Foundation Gives Grants To Colleges

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The Moody foundation of Galveston has announced grants to private universities, colleges and junior colleges in Texas totaling $15,000. Another grant of $15,000 went to the Texas Institute for Rehabilitation and Research of Houston. This is the third consecutive year that the Moody Foundation has given grants to private universities, colleges and junior colleges.

The Texas Foundation of Voluntarily Supported Colleges and Universities received $100,000 of the grants and $50,000 went to the Texas Private Junior College Foundation. Twenty-two institutions will share in the $100,000 grant. They are Abilene Christian College, Austin College, Baylor University, East Texas Baptist College, Hardin Simmons University, Howard Payne University, McNease-Wend College of San Antonio, Mary-Hardin-Baylor, Murray College, Our Lady of The Lake, Sacred Heart Dominican, Houston; Southern Methodist University, Southwestern University, St. Edward's University, Austin; St. Mary's University, San Antonio, Texas Lutheran, Texas Christian University, Texas Wesleyan, Trinity, University of Corpus Christi, University of St. Thomas, Houston, and Wayland College.

Ten junior colleges will share in the $50,000 grant. They are Lubbock Christian, Decatur Baptist, Southwest Junior College, Kenedy, Southwest Bible Institute, Waxahachie, Lon Morris and Jacksonville Baptist Junior College, both of Jacksonville; Allen Military Academy, Lutheran Concordia, South Texas Junior College, Houston; and Schreiner Institute.

Says All Targets Of Heart Disease

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, heart consultant to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, says that heart disease is a threat to all immigrants coming to the United States. Dr. White told a group at Tuskegee Institute Monday that heart disease occurs in immigrants from every country. He said people from southern Japan, where heart disease is rare, have the same trouble as easily as anyone else when they come to the United States.

He put the blame for heart disease, the nation's No. 1 killer, on the "soft life" which he defined as too much food, television and physical inactivity.

Charge To Jury Is Recorded On Tape

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP)—City Court Judge W. C. Little charged the jury in a civil suit by means of tape recording. Little had to interrupt charging the jury last week because of high blood pressure. He taped his charge in portions Sunday. With approval of attorneys for both sides, he sat on the bench Monday as the tape was played in the courtroom.

A DAILY VIEW

From me to you
Rev. R. Charles Spivey
"He entered once for all into the Holy Place, taking not the blood of goats and calves but his own blood, thus securing an eternal redemption." Hebrews 9:12 (read verses 11-22)
Read very carefully the scripture, reading for today. It is a magnificent section from the Bible.

According to the Old Testament the blood of a living thing was the breath of life. The old Hebrews noted that when a person lost his blood he died. Blood must mean life then, they thought. Therefore if blood is sacrificed, one is actually sacrificing life. Symbolically then when a Hebrew gave a sacrifice of the blood of a goat, he was offering God his own life.

Then came Jesus who gave his own blood for our sakes. He gave His life for us. This offering of life to God, was the sacrifice to end all sacrifices. Thus we do not practice the letting of blood for religious sacrificial purposes. Jesus did this for us once and for all time. Through the blood of Jesus shed and offered to God, our own lives have been given and dedicated. Our sin has been forgiven, and is being forgiven each and every day. This is the greatest thing that has ever happened in the world—that through the blood of Jesus, shed for us, we stand before God unashamed, forgiven. But mind you—this is not because we are worthy of this great honor. It is only through the merit of Jesus, and it is only through His love for us that we are given this gift. Therefore we bow every day to give thanks to Him, and praise Him.

ATTRACTIVE ANNIVERSARY—Barrow's Furniture Store attracted hundreds during the opening day of its 11th anniversary observance yesterday. Scores of shoppers were lined up in front of the building before doors opened at 11:11 a.m. The above picture shows how it looked inside the store a few minutes after the opening.

'Getting Better Acquainted' Week's Aim At Boys' Club

The Scurry County Boys' Club theme for the week is "Getting Better Acquainted," and that is the Club's primary aim during the period of April 8-15—National Boys' Club Week.

The public is invited to drop into the local Club and to share in its program during this special week. Opening hours are between 3:30 and 6 p.m. and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until 12 noon Saturday.

The Club's Board of Directors, along with executive director Herb Barnett, urges all Scurry Countyans to see the Boys' Club in action. The interest shown by such attendance will be an encouraging factor to the boys and appreciated by all who are directly connected with the organization.

More than 900,000 members of some 600 Boys' Clubs in 47 states are celebrating National Boys' Club Week, and Scurry County's citizensry is invited to join in, too. The planned program for the remainder of the week follows:

Tuesday
7:30 p.m.—Carnival night, with a special invitation being extended to local civic club members.

Wednesday
All hours—Health and Physical Fitness Day to be held in conjunction with "Buddy Day."

Thursday
7:30 p.m.—Little Sister contest and announcement of essay contest winners.

Friday
7:30 p.m.—Intramural boxing championships (father and son night).

Saturday
9 a.m.-1 p.m.—"Outdoor capers" including kite contest; overnight camping at Boys' Club followed by Sunday sunrise service.

Sunday
Boys' Club will not be open, but all members will be encouraged to take part in family worship.

Sentences Are Probated

DALLAS (AP)—Five-year probation sentences were assessed against three West Texas couples and an Arizona carpenter after they pleaded guilty to taking auto accidents and making false claims for insurance.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes probated the sentences, conditional upon restitution of about $20,000 for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Russell of Kenedy, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Russell of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Duncan of Vernon and Donald Garrett.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Kenneth Mitchell said the defendants employed agents to induce with their autos. The resulting claims for damage and injury caused the U.S. mails, long distance telephone calls and telegrams to be used in furthering the fraud, a felony crime under federal laws, he said.

The government alleged that the defendants between Feb. 7 and Nov. 24, 1958, caused the accidents to occur in Amarillo, Wichita Falls and California.

Restaurant Owner Finds Safe Bare

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Hector Algenissen, owner of the Prime Steak Restaurant in North St. Louis, reached inside his office safe expecting to find the weekend receipts.

Instead, he found only a note signed by an employee. It read: "Heavy. I'm truly sorry but I am fed up with my family and I am going to places unknown. You will get your money back in full."

Police are searching for the note writer, who was not identified.

Milk Deliveries Resumed In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Milk producers resumed deliveries to retail outlets in Rio de Janeiro Monday after withholding milk for a week from this city of 3.5 million in a campaign for higher prices. Supplies were expected to be back to normal by Wednesday.

The producers had won one point: the federal government promised to negotiate. They want 35 cruzeiros per liter—roughly 10 cents a quart. That would be an increase of about 3 cents.

ELECTRICITY... 3¢ A MEAL

TO COOK FOR A FAMILY OF FOUR

WITH A CLEAN FLAMELESS ELECTRIC RANGE

Some may think electric cooking is expensive. Actually it costs an average of only 3¢ a meal for electricity to cook for a family of four. Considering how much cooler and cleaner your kitchen will be, this small per meal cost looks even smaller . . . and there also is the joy of having a beautiful kitchen that is truly modern. See your electric range dealer soon. You get so much more for so little when you cook the modern, flameless electric way.
