

MIGHT REDUCE PRICE OF CONSUMER PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

Ford's Tariff On Imported Oil Illegal

WASHINGTON The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled illegal today the oil import fees imposed by Presidents Nixon and Ford, in a decision that may help restrain or even slightly reduce the price of consumer petroleum products.

In Vail, Colo., where Ford is on two-week working vacation, there was no immediate White House reaction. The court decision appeared to bar the government from continuing to collect the import fees, but it was not clear whether oil companies and their customers could recover any of the fees already collected.

The Federal Energy Administration estimated that some $800 million has been collected through the oil import fees imposed by President Ford last Feb. 1 and June 1. There was no immediate estimate of the amounts collected through the smaller fees imposed by former President Nixon on a gradual, phased-in schedule since April 1973.

The Nixon fee schedule reached a maximum of 21 cents per barrel on imported crude oil and 63 cents per barrel on imported refined products. Last Feb. 1, President Ford added an additional fee of $1 per barrel on imported crude oil; on June 1, he added a second dollar on crude oil and 60 cents per barrel on refined product imports.

Thus, if the court decision prevails, it could chop as much as $2.21 per barrel from current imported crude oil prices, recently in the vicinity of $13.50 per barrel.

This might be counteracted, however, by the anticipated end of price controls on U.S.-produced oil, so the ultimate effect on consumer prices was unclear.

The court ruling, in a 2-1 decision, was brought on by a lawsuit filed by the governors of several Northeastern states against the Federal Energy Administration, which administers the tariff.

Former President Richard M. Nixon had initiated a graduated scale of fees on imported oil in 1973 to replace the direct quotas which had limited imports since 1959.

Last February, President Ford imposed a tariff of $1 per barrel on crude oil in a bid to restrain the demand for imported oil which had quadrupled in price since Nixon's moderate fee schedule.

Ford added a second dollar-per-barrel tariff on crude oil in May, plus a tariff of 60 cents per barrel on imported refined products.

Ford's tariffs have been estimated to increase the price of consumer petroleum products around three cents per gallon.

Ford had held in reserve a third round of oil tariffs, and Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb had talked recently of removing the present tariffs to counteract any inflationary impact from the anticipated end of price controls on domestic oil.

The oil import tariffs were challenged last Feb. 4, only three days after the first round was imposed, by the governors of eight states: Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Vermont.

On Feb. 21, U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt upheld the oil tariffs and refused to enjoin the government against collecting them.

But the U.S. Appeals Court now has reversed that decision and invalidated the tariffs.

"We recognize that we are overturning an honest attempt by the President to find a solution to a difficult crisis," said the opinion by Judge Edward A. Tamm, with Judge Harold Leventhal concurring.

INJURED IN ANTI-COMMUNIST ATTACK — An injured girl contorts her face in pain as she is carried away for medical treatment in Braga, Sunday. Joan Little Tells Of Forced Sex Act

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A sobbing Joan Little told the jury at her murder trial today that jailer Clarence Alligood had forced her to have oral sex with him before she stabbed him with an icepick last Aug. 27.

The 62-year-old white jailer, she said, came to her cell and said "he had been nice to me and it was time for me to be nice to him."

Miss Little, a 21-year-old black charged with murdering Alligood, said he took his shoes off before entering her cell in the Beaufort County jail. She said during advances an icepick, which he used to threaten her, fell to the floor.

Miss Little was sobbing and stammering as she recounted her version of these events.

"I grabbed for the icepick," she said, and broke down sobbing, thrusting a handkerchief into her mouth. Judge Hamilton Hobgood recessed the trial for 15 minutes at that point.

Resuming her testimony after the recess, Miss Little said she "reached for the icepick and he reached for the icepick. I got to the icepick first and I came up and hit at him. I don't know if I stabbed him."

"He came up at me. He came up and grabbed me around the wrist. He was behind me, and I put my feet on the edge of the bunk ... and hit at him over my right shoulder. He turned me loose and fell forward on the bunk. I saw blood on the right side of his face, and I turned and went to cell No. 2 (an empty adjoining cell). I reached for the first things I saw, my blue jeans, blouse and pocketbook," Miss Little said.

"I got out to the corridor, turned and looked around, and he was standing there at the doorway. I remember seeing his face. I don't remember having the icepick after I hit over my shoulder. I slammed the automatic door behind me, found the keys, put on my pants and blouse, and ran out. I ran to a cousin's house," she said.

Miss Little said Alligood was alive, standing in the doorway of her cell, when she ran from the jail. His partially nude body was found less than two hours later in the cell. He had been stabbed 11 times, according to medical testimony.

County Studies Fuel Contract

Goals for Big Spring planning were endorsed. Discussing punch-card voting with other local governments was proposed.

And designating a second fixed-base operator at Howard County Airport was considered today by County Commissioners Court.

"If your help started selling (their own) groceries out of your own store, that'd be quite an inconvenience. Wouldn't it?" County Judge Bill Tune asked Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas concerning the airport question.

Terrazas said that was why he wanted Big Spring Aircraft Inc. represented during the discussion.

R. E. McClure, manager of Trans Regional Airlines, appeared to present a gasoline-use contract for the county's consideration. But McClure also asked about his firm becoming a second fixed-base operator at the airport.

McClure cited a need for additional charter services and for flight ambulance services here.

The matter was tabled for consideration on Aug. 25.

COMPUTERS, VOTING D. A. Brazel, a former Howard County Democratic chairman, asked the court to reconsider purchase of a computer for the county.

The county will be duplicating computers used by the City of Big Spring and Howard College.

"You've got to have people that are trained, and training them is not an overnight procedure," Brazel commented. Also, Brazel recommended joint-planning with other local governments concerning the proposed punch-card voting system.

Judge Tune said the county was considering only renting 25 machines at this point.

For $2,965, a firm would conduct the November constitutional election in Howard County, Judge Tune said. Should the county decide to buy, $1,605 of this fee could be applied to purchase of the machines.

"I'm not against voting machines," Terrazas said. "Sometimes, I don't think you get as much for your money as you should."

GOALS OK Tom Locke and W. S. (Dub Pearson) presented the Goals for Big Spring proposal, winning county endorsement of the project.

Locke said the county might be asked to help pay $2,500 in anticipated administrative costs later.

Pearson explained that all the citizens of Howard County are invited to participate.

While meetings of interested citizens are slated at five local school buildings, Pearson said the Big Spring steering committee would be willing to organize similar meetings in communities such as Coahoma and Forsan.

After the area meetings are held, a mass meeting is planned. Goals for the city are then to be compiled and published.

TROOPER KILLED — Texas Highway Patrolman Jimmy W. Parks was standing near the left door of this van following a routine traffic investigation at about 1:25 a.m. Sunday when a speeding car hit him and the van. Parks, a 27-year veteran of the DPS and stationed in Big Spring for 24 years, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Veteran State Patrolman Killed By Wrong-Way Car

By TROY BRYANT

"How do you work this thing?" a man screamed over the police radio at about 1:25 a.m. Sunday. "I think an officer's dead!"

The voice was that of a man who was the driver of a vehicle which veteran Texas Highway Patrolman Jimmy Weldon Parks, 47, Big Spring, had stopped only moments earlier on a routine traffic investigation.

When officers arrived at the scene about one mile west of Coahoma on Interstate 20 a few minutes later, they found Patrolman Parks, a 27-year veteran of the DPS, dead.

Parks was killed when a speeding car struck him while he was standing by a Ford van driven by Raymond Towns, Pasadena, Calif., whom he had just stopped. Both the van and Parks' 1972 Plymouth DPS unit were parked on the shoulder of the eastbound roadway of Interstate 20.

WRONG WAY According to the DPS report, a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Eusebio Morales, 26, Coahoma, sped the wrong way down the eastbound lane, hit the left front of the van, Patrolman Parks, and the left front of the DPS unit before it traveled another 100 yards, crossed the south service road, and crashed through a barbed wire fence.

Parks was thrown behind the DPS unit, where he died. Peace Justice Walter Grice pronounced him dead at the scene.

Morales was arrested at the scene Sunday morning and involuntary manslaughter charges were filed against him this afternoon. He is in Howard County Jail in lieu of $15,000 bond set by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena.

The man screaming over the radio said that he thought the road they were on was Highway "176", sending officers speeding down the Andrews Highway and the Snyder Highway before a CB radio operator clarified the location a little later.

Investigating the death of Patrolman Parks are Capt. Hugh Shaw and Lt. James O. Tanner, both of Midland; Sgt. Kenneth Walters, Lamesa; and Patrolman William Jennings, Big Spring.

SERVICES TUESDAY Services for Parks are scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Tuesday at the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Rev. Leon Ward, Forsan, officiating. A Department of Public Safety honor guard will escort the body.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

He was born Dec. 24, 1927 in Quanah, and married Vicky Lewis in 1966. He was a graduate of Seymour High School.

Parks served with the U.S. Marines in the Pacific in World War II, also served in Korea.

He had been with the Department of Public Safety for 27 years and was a resident of Big Spring since 1951.

Survivors include his wife, of the home; two daughters, Kim Parks, Austin, and Sherri Parks, Big Spring; a step-daughter, Mrs. Eddie Cole, Big Spring; a son, Ted Parks, U.S. Navy, stationed in South Carolina; a stepson, Van Lewis, Big Spring; his mother, Mrs. Blanche Parks, Napa, Calif.; a brother, Sandy Parks, Wichita Falls; and five grandchildren.

Department of Public Safety officers will serve as pallbearers.

SNAKE ROBBERY

HOUSTON (AP) — A gas station attendant reported being robbed Sunday when a man threatened to throw a snake at her.

Gail Williams said the man approached her booth at a self-service station with the snake draped around his neck and told her he would throw the snake at her unless she gave him all the money she had.

She said the man fled with about $80 and the snake.

Odessa Woman Dies When Car Jumps IS 20 Median

A retired teacher from Odessa, Mrs. Toby B. Patterson, 67, was killed Sunday at about 12:50 p.m. in a head-on collision which also sent two Coahoma residents to the hospital.

The accident occurred about one-fourth mile east of the Big Spring city limits on Interstate 20.

Mrs. Patterson was driving a 1974 Ford west in the westbound roadway when her car apparently went out of control, crossed the median and hit an eastbound 1965 Oldsmobile driven by Mrs. Janice Henry, 37, Coahoma. Mrs. Henry and Robert Henry, 14, were taken to a hospital here where they are listed in good condition.

The DPS report said that the collision occurred in the outside lane of the eastbound roadway.

Mrs. Patterson was pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena.

Services for Mrs. Patterson are set for 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Park View Church of Christ under the direction of Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home.

Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Gardens.

She was born Nov. 18, 1907 in Tuscola, and moved to Odessa in 1945 from Munday. She married H. W. Patterson in 1948.

Survivors include her husband, Odessa; one stepson, Max Patterson, Houma, La.; five sisters, Mrs. Mittie Taylor, and Mrs. Mary Polson, both of Lamont, Calif.; Mrs. Leta Weiss, Palestine; Mrs. Marguerite Dugger, Pasadena, and Mrs. Ada Clayton, Electra.

The World At-A-Glance

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI continued its search for Jimmy Hoffa today after a promising lead went nowhere. Bloodstains on the upholstery of a seized auto proved to be fish gore, a source close to the investigation said Sunday. Meanwhile the son of the missing ex-Teamsters boss, Detroit attorney James P. Hoffa, said he hopes for a break in the case soon. "We are again running down many more leads which are coming in from all over the country," he said. The 62-year-old Hoffa vanished 12 days ago.

MIAMI (AP) — The recession hasn't hurt Alan Sukert's firm. At the age of 17, Sukert has several employees, $30,000 worth of equipment and enough work to keep his printing shop humming. In fact, the year-old company has been doing so well that Sukert often works 80-hour weeks and asks his staff to work overtime. Sukert said he grew up listening to his father, a business consultant, talk about business and learned the rudiments of industrial techniques working for a Junior Achievement company.

BOSTON (AP) — Black leaders say police did a good job controlling a civil rights demonstration that turned into a racial clash at a beach in South Boston. Some policemen on horseback waded into the ocean to help keep the jeering crowds apart. At least eight persons, including two policemen, were injured Sunday in the troubled section of the city scheduled for further school desegregation next month. Six blacks and two whites were arrested. About 500 blacks and about 1,000 whites were involved at the peak of the rock-throwing fracas.

Breakfast Blues

The Wall Street Journal says competition from beef may halt the runaway increases that have sent the price of bacon and other pork products to record highs.

Certainly, housewives hope so. Low hog production has sent prices surging for several key pork products to as much as four times higher than a little more than a year ago. Bacon at upwards of $1.60 a pound and some canned hams, for example to nearly $3 a pound.

The August 1975 pork-belly contract traded last Thursday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange at 94.02 cents, a record price. Pork bellies, which are raw bacon material, and hams and loins—which together account for more than half of the hog carcass—have been the leaders in the upward price spiral. The Wall Street Journal says they may go even higher. But longer-term prospects for late summer or fall are but prices will be lower. With forecasts of sharply increasing coffee prices and expectations of higher bread prices, breakfast will not be a happy prospect for the budget-minded housewife. May be we can beat it by all staying in bed until noon.

New Energy Sources?

Can Texas, as well as other parts of the nation, furnish all its energy needs from eucalyptus trees? This odd question has been posed by a group of student engineers at Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif.

Wonder if anyone has considered mesquite or tumbleweeds? As surely as we established potential a plaque would befall them—and good riddance.

The wood, which could be harvested every five years, could be converted to pipeline gas or burned to produce electricity at costs slightly greater than coal but somewhat less than nuclear plants, the group found. What is more important, it is a renewable resource and with proper management could last forever.

The group concluded that the eucalyptus tree, mostly a native tree of Western Australia, is the best candidate for energy production. It grows at unusual speed on very marginal land. It requires no irrigation and very little fertilization. It is resistant to pests and is adaptable to a wide range of climates.

My Answer

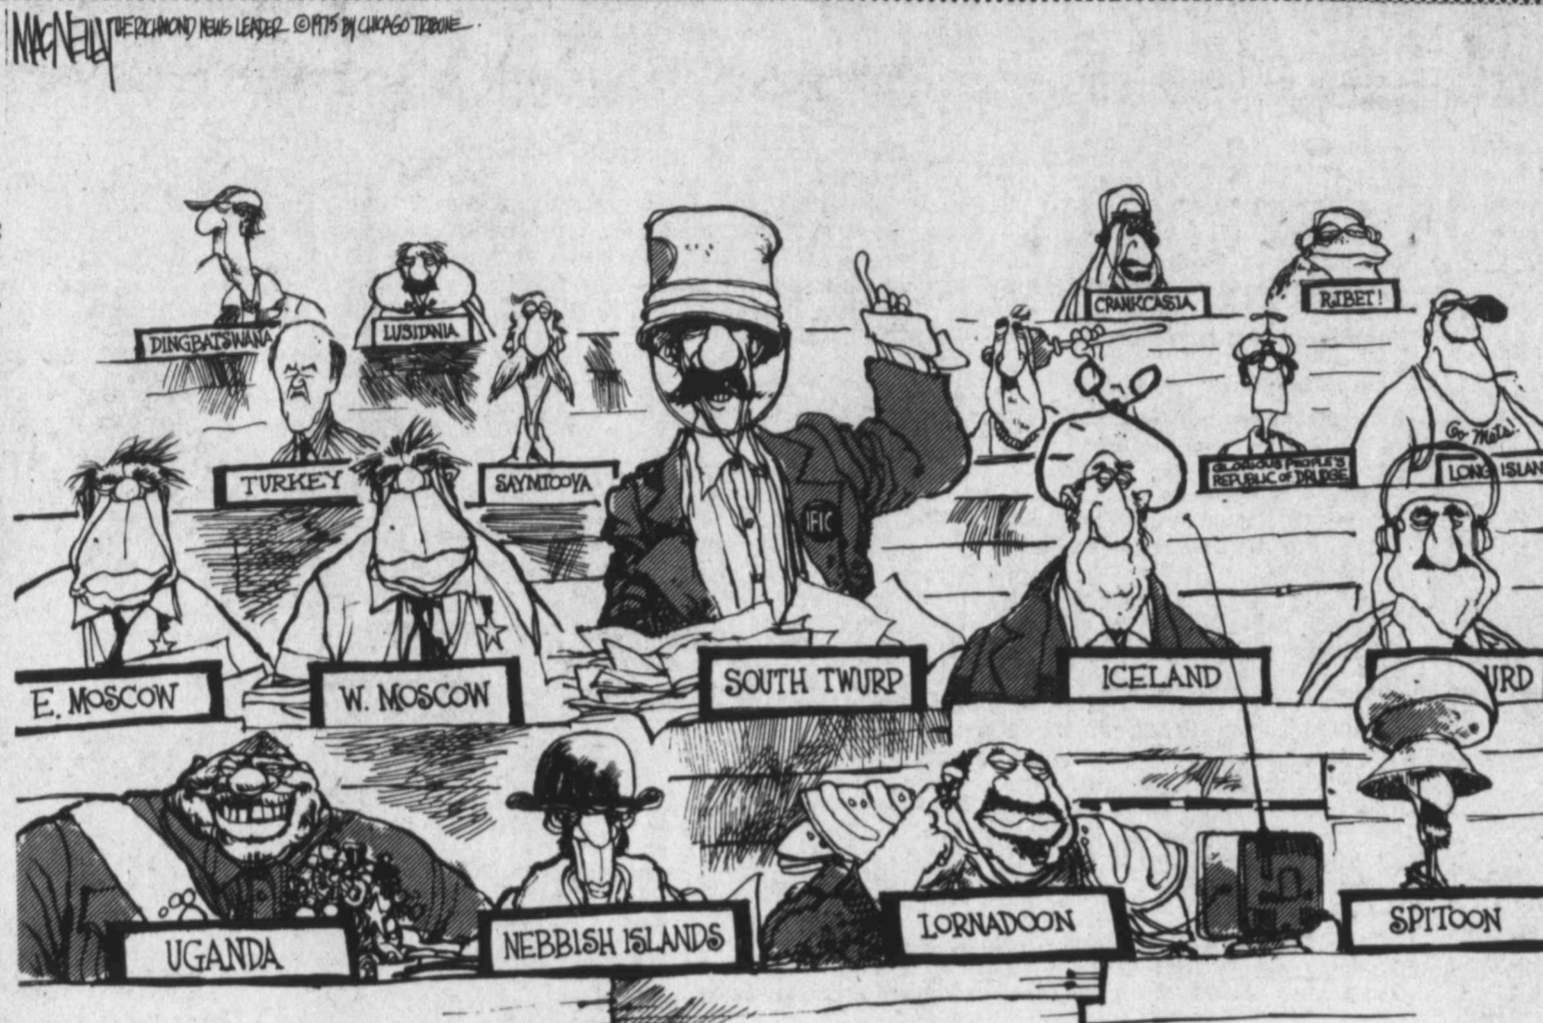

Billy Graham

Why should people attend church on Sunday? My husband says he doesn't go because he doesn't want to, and he feels better than some of our neighbors who go because they feel they have to, and ought to. Who would you say is right? M.A.P.

Of course, your husband doesn't have to go to church. He would probably be miserable if he went. He couldn't identify with the songs, the Scriptures, and the preaching. It would probably all sound like Greek to him. But, I know people who would be miserable if they didn't go to church. They find a thrill and joy in going to the house of God, singing songs of praise, and fellowshiping with believers. They don't go because they have to. They go because they want to. And that's the way it should be.

Yes, I'll admit there may be such a thing as duty—going to church when it is inconvenient, or when one doesn't feel well. But, what's the matter with duty? It's not a bad word. Too bad we have all but dropped it from our American vocabulary. Many children do not obey their parents. Many young men dodge their military duty. Many criminals refuse to obey the law. But, I still think without certain duties life would crumble.

No, your husband may feel smug and good by not going to church, but nothing can approach the satisfaction and joy of a person whose life has been given over to Christ, with His assurance of sins forgiven, the Presence of the Holy Spirit, and the knowledge that what he is experiencing will never end, but will go on for eternity.

Plenty To Worry About

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford administration's pose in the face of sharply accelerating price increases is one of cool. Its economists say they were not surprised; the increases were expected.

While this attitude stops just short of saying there's nothing to worry about, the fact is that there's plenty to worry about.

The grim fact is that wholesale prices rose during July at an annual rate of 14.4 per cent, more than offsetting a small decline that occurred in June. The increase for August will probably be larger.

The biggest increases were in farm products and processed foods and feeds, which rose at an annual rate of more than 55 per cent. Fuel prices rose at a 15.6 per cent rate. Both trends are expected to continue.

At those rates, more and more economists are asking how long it will be before a clamor develops for controls. Should controls be deemed necessary, it would mean an abandonment of the philosophical core of President Ford's approach to economics, which is to deregulate the economy.

Those price increases also present an enormous political burden to the President's candidacy, combined as they are with one of the highest rates of unemployment in decades.

Joblessness, however, is not the only indicator of slack in the economy. Factories are operating at only 0 per cent or so of capacity. The automotive and housing industry remain depressed.

The painful fact is that prices are rising at almost the bottom of the recession, when you might expect them to be falling instead.

You don't need a poll to know that all over America people are asking themselves the same questions: —Is this our reward for going through a terrible recession?

—Wasn't high unemployment supposed to be the antidote to inflation?

Now, even before unemployment drops substantially, even before factory output rises sharply, even before most families can recover from their fight with inflation—recession, another tough battle seems to be forming.

Unless conditions change, millions of Americans are bound to conclude that their trials produced no useful result, as they had been promised and as they had expected.

A Commerce Department report shows that in 1974 median family income rose to $12,840, a 6.5 per cent gain in one year. But all that is illusion; the "real" median family income actually dropped 4 per cent because of inflation.

The number of "poor" Americans, an official designation, rose in 1974 to 24.3 million from 23 million a year before. With inflation reheating, the 1975 figure could be higher.

By some sets of economic statistics you can "prove" that things are looking up. You can even say, as at least one Ford administration official has said, that the recession is over. But is this reality?

Any kitchen economist knows that the economy has serious troubles because they show up in the food bills. And it's over the kitchen table that most families also discuss their politics.

Omens For Ford

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — Behind their restrained optimism, Ford administration economic policymakers now confront foreboding private forecasts from their own experts: rampant new inflation, high interest rates, unacceptably high unemployment and longterm rot in two basic industries, autos and construction.

THESE PESSIMISTIC predictions were contained in the highly confidential quarterly review of the administration's top-level Economic Policy Board two weeks ago. When the board itself met July 26, that pessimism was deepened by policymakers who generally disagree on what to do next.

In sum, President Ford faces the same unsolved economic puzzle he inherited a year ago. While top advisers stress resurgent inflation, technicians point to hangover from the recession. Lack of cures for either malady is Mr. Ford's most dangerous liability for 1976.

THE EPB'S quarterly review, based on July 20 data, forecasts unemployment around 9 per cent through September and dropping only to 8 per cent by the end of 1976. "The President has indicated that unemployment in this range is unacceptable," it adds.

The EPB staff is clearly alarmed by what is happening in inner city ghettos: "A strong case can be made that black teenage unemployment at 40 per cent levels portends serious social and economic consequences for the nation, demanding special action."

THE REPORT analyzes unemployment in blunt language fastidiously avoided by administration spokesmen. Calling unemployment "extremely high by historical standards and most unsatisfactory if viewed in isolation," the government experts acknowledge that new stimulative government programs would risk runaway inflation.

Top policymakers claim this analysis has been overtaken by the surprisingly low seasonally adjusted 8.4 per cent unemployment announced last Friday. Moreover, at the July 26 EPB meeting, Treasury Secretary William Simon sharply challenged the forecasts, arguing inflation remains the greater danger.

BUT THE general tone of the meeting was overriding gloom. The consensus: rising interest rates and prices, without substantial reduction in unemployment.

The EPB review is equally pessimistic about the cost of living. "Inflation appears to be very stubborn," it says, "... and we do not expect further improvement."

What's more, its forecast of 5.5 per cent inflation through 1977 does not account for the new Russian wheat deal or a new international oil price increase.

THE MISSING oil price gap is filled by a confidential report to the EPB by Paul W. MacAvoy, a member of the President's council of economic advisers. Forecasting a $2-a-barrel increase by the international oil cartel, MacAvoy sees more inflation and another 200,000 to 300,000 unemployed workers throughout the ensuing 18 months.

The EPB's quarterly review is starkly bleak about autos and construction.

It predicts construction unemployment will still be at 15 per cent in 1976 but hints at even worse.

Correct Protruding Ears

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you be able to tell me if there is a new method for correcting protruding ears?

My daughter has ears that protrude to the point where she is very self-conscious. She refused to have plastic surgery, and we were wondering if there was any other way to correct this condition.—Mrs. M. M.

The standard surgical procedure is a relatively simple operation, involving the snipping of a section of skin and cartilage from the angle of the ear between the ear and skull. It can be done with local anesthetic.

It is usually best to wait until the ear is fully grown to do this, but often, for psychological reasons, it is done earlier to children to eliminate unnecessary embarrassment.

An abnormal angle of the human ear is considered one greater than 25 degrees between ear and skull. If your daughter's problem is harmful psychologically, she should be encouraged to have it done. A plastic surgeon could advise her, and perhaps convince her.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please discuss rosacea. I have had it for nearly a year and I'm a bit discouraged. I am on an antibiotic, plus an ointment. I have avoided face creams in the affected area.

What causes this condition? I am more concerned about the broken blood vessels than the redness. Can anything be done about these vessels? Would allergy be involved?—J. J.

This is a chronic disease that affects the skin on the nose, the forehead and the face in general. The outward symptoms include the unsightly red coloration that is a result of capillary dilatation. It can be accompanied by red pimples (acne rosacea).

One cause (among many) is excessive alcohol consumption. For this reason such unflattering names as "rum nose" and "brandy face" have been coined to describe it. However, coffee, tea, chocolate, nuts and other foods have been implicated. Drug reaction has also been suspected, and in some cases the cause has been traced to extreme changes of temperature, even to nervous reactions in stress situations.

It is of little more than cosmetic concern to most, although complications such as keratitis (inflammation of the cornea of the eye) can occur.

It is more important in the long run to treat the causes than to alleviate the cosmetic symptoms. This will involve a search for the particular food or physical situation that prompts attacks. In advance cases, treatment by a specialist is advisable.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend told me that a while back you had a discussion of the reason for one hip and shoulder being higher than the other. This is the case with my daughter. Please send the name of this so we can consult someone about it.—C. H.

It was a discussion of scoliosis (scho-lee-oh-sis), curvature of the spine. If you suspect this, the proper specialist would be an orthopedist. It can be helped. Treatment would consist of posture correction, exercises and possibly the use of a back brace.

Acne is a terrible problem for anyone growing up. If you are afflicted with it, or have children who are, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Illinois 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Sexual Attack In Jail Probed Four Escapees, Including Killer Suspects, Hunted

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Results of an investigation into an alleged sexual attack on a 17-year-old county jail inmate will be presented to the grand jury, said Sheriff Lon Evans.

Evans said the teen-ager apparently was the victim of an assault by other prisoners over the past weekend.

He said his men were investigating and the facts would be taken to grand jurors soon.

MIAMI, Okla. (AP)—Four escapees from the Ottawa County jail, including two awaiting trial for murder, remained at large today.

The four escaped from the jail here Saturday night or early Sunday. Deputy Jailer Harry Klaus said their flight was discovered about 5:55 a. m. Sunday, but the last cell check was made about 10 p. m. Saturday.

Klaus said the prisoners sawed through a bar in a jail window.

"I don't know how on earth they squeezed through that hole," he said. "It could only have been about 10 inches deep and 14 inches wide."

The fugitives were identified as Gary Dale Turner, 16, and his brother Raymond Lee Turner, 17, both charged with first degree murder; Gale Zuern, 16, of Wichita, Kan., charged with possession of hashish, and Earl Dean Busby, 35, of the Miami area, charged with burglary.

Deputy Sheriff Lee R. Rogers said the prisoners partly sawed through and then broke a chain on the interior door of their cell, somehow got through an outside door and went through the window.

Rogers said the lock on the door apparently was picked since it was not damaged.

The four reportedly were seen Sunday morning in South Central Missouri while trading tires for gasoline at a Waynesville, Mo., service

The Turner brothers are charged with the murder of 21-year-old Gary Redmon of Dayton, Ohio, near Stilwell in April.

Redmon, who was camping in northeastern Oklahoma, was shot in the head with a shotgun, apparently while asleep in a sleeping bag, and his body stuffed into a culvert.

The brothers were arrested several days later at Adrian, in the Texas Panhandle, driving Redmon's camper. Their father lived in Adrian.

'IT WAS NICE TO HEAR HER CALL ME A BIG GIRL'

Susan Ford: Mom, I'm Not Having An Affair—Yet

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Susan Ford said today that her mother, First Lady Betty Ford, answered some questions "that have got to be answered" during a televised interview Sunday.

"Like abortion. It should be brought out of the woods," said Susan, who at 18 is the youngest of President and Mrs. Ford's four children.

"I think she did a good job," Susan said in an Associated Press interview the morning after she watched her mother interviewed on the CBS program "60 Minutes."

She said her mother was apprehensive about Susan's watching the interview.

"Mother was really funny about it when I called her before she showed it," Susan said. "She told me, 'I may come across as a liberated woman or something.' I told her, 'Mother, I don't care. I care what your views are, and so do others.'"

During the interview, Mrs. Ford was asked what she would think if Susan came to her and said, "Mother, I'm having an affair."

"Well, I wouldn't be surprised," said Mrs. Ford. "I think she's a perfectly normal human being like all young girls. If she wanted to continue, I would certainly counsel and advise her on the subject, and I'd want to know pretty much about the young man she was having the affair with; whether it was a worthwhile encounter or whether it was going to be one of those — she's pretty young to start affairs."

But CBS newsman Morley Safer, in the "60 Minutes" interview with Mrs. Ford at the White House, pointed out that Susan was "nevertheless, old enough."

"Oh yes," Mrs. Ford said. "She's a big girl."

When Susan was asked today if she had any affair to tell her mother about, she replied:

"Not yet. I'll leave it at that."

Susan, commenting further about her mother, said "It was nice to hear her call me a big girl. I've always been called that little girl... hoping I'm not going to grow up, because all the boys are gone and they don't want me to leave. I understand it. I'm the baby and I'm the only girl. You've got to hold onto those babies."

Miss Ford, who is in the final week of a six-week photography internship at the Topeka Capital-Journal, watched the interview on a television set in the library of Cedar Crest, the governor's mansion on Topeka's northwest edge.

Safer asked if Mrs. Ford had worried about her children being involved with narcotics.

"No," she replied. "I really haven't, because we've always discussed it and I would have detected it. And immediately, I would have done something about it. We brought them up with a certain moral value that where their friends might be taking drugs now, I'm not saying they haven't tried it, because I'm sure they've all probably tried marijuana..."

Responding to Safer's question about whether she would have tried marijuana when she was growing up, Mrs. Ford said, "Oh, I'm sure I probably would when I was growing up at that age, I probably would have been interested to see what the effect... I never would have gone into it as a habit or anything like that. It's the type of thing that the young people have to experience, like your first beer or your first cigarette."

Conceding that she was outspoken on many controversial issues, Mrs. Ford credited this with saving many women's lives: "The fact that I had the cancer operation, and the publicity of that, saved a lot of people's lives."

Mrs. Ford revealed that her behind-the-scenes outspokenness, her disagreement with the President on certain political matters, resulted in the appointment of a woman, Carla Hills, as secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

"Yes, I won that one," she said. "And I'm working on another. If I can get a woman on the Supreme Court bench, then I think I'll really be — have accomplished a great deal."

DEATHS

REV. THEO FRANCIS

Rev. Francis

The Rev. Theo Francis, 77, affectionately known here as Father Francis, died 9:30 a.m. Monday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He had been in ill health and had gone there in expectation of heart surgery, but his general condition deteriorated.

Fr. Francis, who came to this country as an immigrant lad at age 14 without a word of English at his command, served pastorates in Big Spring, also as an associate chaplain at the Veteran Administration Hospital.

People of all faiths paid tribute to him here Feb. 3, 1974 when the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood was observed. The Rev. Louis Moeller, pastor of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, estimated then that if only the time devoted to prayers for his people were counted, Fr. Francis had equalled five solid years in prayer. Beyond this were countless hours of service to the people, confessions, devotions, sermons and other duties.

Born March 17, 1898 at Magdeberg-Neustadt, Germany as one of seven children, Theo Francis felt the call to the priesthood and embarked for America at age 14, entering St. Anthony's preparatory school in San Antonio without being able to speak a word of English.

He took his vows as a member of the Oblate of Mary Immaculate Aug. 15, 1918, and on Feb. 3, 1924, he was ordained and conducted his first mass at St. Anthony's. Briefly, he served at Mercedes, then at

Truck Driver Time-Savers

NEW YORK (AP) — Work trucks equipped with teleprinters are being evaluated as time-savers, reports Electrical World magazine.

Cab-installed teleprinters can relay work assignments or directions to the truck even when the driver may not be available. There's also the advantage of having a permanent record of all communications exchanged.

The Houston Lighting & Power Co. is testing the system at its Magnolia Park division. A small computer terminal is servicing six teleprinter-equipped trucks.

"If the system proves itself, it will probably be expanded to take in many other types of field jobs," a company spokesman told the publication.

Penny For Your Thoughts

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — James P.H. Mitchell sued a department store for $3,000 claiming they overcharged him by one cent on the purchase of a battery. A jury awarded Mitchell a penny, court officials said Thursday.

Cathedral of St. Louis in New Orleans, La. before being assigned as a teacher at St. Anthony's from Sept. 1925-June 1928. During this time he edited "Mary Immaculate," his order's magazine in the Southwest. After a brief pastorate at St. Joseph's in Alamo, he was sent to Big Spring as the first resident pastor of St. Thomas Catholic Church in 1929.

This was to test his mettle if not his soul. There was no rectory, and he slept in the church basement. Soon after his arrival a driving storm poured several inches of water into the basement. He peered through the broken windows and wept.

Soon, however, he led the congregation to erect a rectory, and he established (at first in two homes) the Sacred Heart Catholic Church primarily for Spanish speaking parishioners.

He was sent to Crystal City in 1935, then to Sacred Heart in Del Rio in 1938 and before returning to St. Thomas here in 1942, he served as auxiliary chaplain at Laughlin AFB. This time here, he led Sacred Heart in establishing a new home in a former Bombardier School building and paid off the St. Thomas church debt.

He went to Holy Family Church in Wilmington, Calif. in 1951, to Seymour in 1952, paying off the church debt. In 1956 he became pastor at Alvin, serving until 1968 — his longest pastorate, paying off debts, constructing parish center and two youth centers. In 1969 he was pastor Our Lady of Guadalupe at Sarita (Kennedy County), then at St. Margaret in Albany, La. before coming back to Big Spring for a third time, serving as pastor, of Immaculate Heart of Mary where he led in paying off the church debt. Illness induced his retirement in June 1971, but he served as associate chaplain at the VA Hospital.

The body will be at Nalley-Pickle Funeral home where rosary will be said at 8:30 p.m. today. Requiem Mass will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rt. Rev. Stephen Leven, bishop of the San Angelo diocese, as celebrant. Burial will be in the Oblat Cemetery in San Antonio.

Pete Underwood

GARDEN CITY — William C. (Pete) Underwood, 78, long-time resident of Garden City, died Saturday in the V.A. Hospital in Big Spring after a short illness.

Services were set for 2 p.m. Monday at the Ellis Funeral Chapel in Midland. Burial was to be in the Garden City Cemetery.

Mr. Underwood was born March 9, 1897 in Rocksprings, and his parents were early-day settlers in Midland and Glasscock Counties. He attended school in Midland, and served in World War I. Afterwards he returned to Garden City where he engaged in ranching.

He served on the Glasscock County School board at the time the high school was built. For 28 years he served as justice of peace for Glasscock County. Mr. Underwood was a past master of the Masonic Lodge at Garden City and was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Sammary Underwood; a son, W. H. Underwood, Midland; a brother, Joe T. Underwood, Oakdale, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. Linda Roller, Mrs. Willis Byrd, and Mrs. John Quinn, all of Oakdale. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Beach Rats Unwelcome

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Tourists and other beach-goers in this resort city find they are having to compete for space on the golden sand with some unwelcome residents: Rats.

"I've never been to a beach before where I had to keep my feet up on a picnic table," said one tourist.

"It's not like they're talking about a little mouse," said another beach-goer. "These are rats, and they're really big."

Jerry Fetters, an official in the city's pest control department, said the foot-long rodents have been in the area for years but have been thriving recently on garbage left overnight.

"They live in trees and have even been seen on telephone lines," Fetters said.

Officials said they have heard of no incidents in which any one was injured, and efforts were being made to rid the area of the pests.

Meanwhile, local residents and tourists are still using the beach. But they are being careful.

"Somebody told me they're more afraid of you than you are of them," said John Moore of Fort Lauderdale. "I said, 'You wanna bet?'"

Pay Raise Bill Signed

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford has signed the congressional pay raise bill, a White House spokesman reported today.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said it was not a matter of "a simple signing" and that he would have details later in the day or on Tuesday.

The measure includes raises for members of Congress and high ranking federal officials including Cabinet members, judges and the vice president.

Members of Congress currently receive $42,500-a-year. The measure will give them a raise based on increases in the cost-of-living and will be calculated in October. Annual increases will follow under the measure.

Drowning Takes Baby

COLORADO CITY — Graveside rites were said 9 a.m. Monday for Christina Salazar, 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lupe Salazar. The child was dead-on-arrival at Root Memorial Hospital here 8 p.m. Saturday, the victim of drowning in a play-type swimming pool.

The tragedy occurred at the family home east of the Colorado City Country Club northeast of town.

The child had been playing in the pool with two of her sisters, who were three and four years old, according to city patrolman Jerel Lynch, who helped investigate. When the two decided something was wrong with their sister, they roused their parents who were sleeping. They rushed the child to the hospital, but the infant was dead. Mary Lee Monroe, justice of peace, ruled accidental drowning in the infant's death.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Bush, Catholic priest, at Mitchell County Cemetery Arrangements were in charge of Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

TELEVISION INTERVIEWS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon has signed a contract to do a "no holds barred" series of television interviews, David Frost said.

Frost would not disclose the price tag agreed to by Nixon.

In a press conference Sunday, the British interviewer said Nixon agreed to discuss the events, collectively dubbed Watergate, which led to his becoming the first U.S. president to resign his office.

Although no arrangements have been made yet to air the interviews on American television, Frost said the four 90-minute programs would be distributed to stations throughout the world.

"No subject, including Watergate, has been barred" Frost said. He estimated that Watergate would consume about a quarter of the 20 taping sessions to be held. He did not say when they would start.

Spokesmen for the CBS and ABC television networks indicated they would not be interested in buying the consortium.

He said he completed contract negotiations Saturday night at Nixon's San Clemente home midway between San Diego and Los Angeles. Saturday was the first anniversary of Nixon's resignation and departure from the White House.

He said Nixon did not "want to appear to intervene in the affairs of the United States," so the broadcasts will be delayed until after the November 1976 elections.

"I have no reason to believe that former President Nixon will be anything but candid," Frost said. He said the 13-page contract gives the interviewer "total editorial freedom" in content and editing, and there is no obligation to submit questions beforehand.

"The baby was still up and I asked Lynne to put him to bed before I came home. That evening I thought I heard Lynne call me. As I turned around to face the crib, I sensed there was no life in our baby," he recalled.

Schilt clutched at the lifeless form and told his wife to summon police. She saw the baby's arm hanging limp, screamed and raced for the telephone.

Schilt's frantic efforts to revive the child were useless.

"I am in the field of computers and my son's death held no logic for me. I was in a state of solitude. I choked on my words," he said.

Mechanically, Schilt made all the arrangements for the infant's funeral and the couple began the trip to Schilt's hometown, Watertown, N.Y.

Though it was March, New York State was still deep in winter, the ground tough and unyielding, the sky a hardened gray.

"I recall drinking a hell of a lot of Scotch," he said. "The day of the funeral was awful. We had the casket sealed and it looked like an oversized egg basket. It was so hard to believe my son was in there, and even today I sometimes ask myself, 'Was the baby really buried?'"

Spokesmen for the CBS and ABC television networks indicated they would not be interested in buying the consortium.

He said he completed contract negotiations Saturday night at Nixon's San Clemente home midway between San Diego and Los Angeles. Saturday was the first anniversary of Nixon's resignation and departure from the White House.

He said Nixon did not "want to appear to intervene in the affairs of the United States," so the broadcasts will be delayed until after the November 1976 elections.

"I have no reason to believe that former President Nixon will be anything but candid," Frost said. He said the 13-page contract gives the interviewer "total editorial freedom" in content and editing, and there is no obligation to submit questions beforehand.

DALLAS (AP) — Phil Schilt is a mathematician, and for him there was no logic, nothing a man could wrap his hands around and say "this killed my son."

But something did kill his son—Sudden Infant Death Syndrome—a phenomenon that physicians have been unable to find a reason for.

It just happens. And it happened to Schilt and his wife, Lynne, when the couple lived in New Jersey where Schilt was employed as a computer specialist for Columbia Broadcasting Systems.

Schilt, 32, is a father in a society which often expects a John Wayne toughness from fathers who have lost sons. But Schilt agonizes over the death of 4-month-old Phillip to this day—three years later.

He refuses to look at the baby's pictures.

In a copyright interview with Lana Henderson of the Dallas Times Herald Sunday Magazine, Schilt related the kind of tragedy which strikes some 10,000 young couples each year.

"The baby was still up and I asked Lynne to put him to bed before I came home. That evening I thought I heard Lynne call me. As I turned around to face the crib, I sensed there was no life in our baby," he recalled.

Schilt clutched at the lifeless form and told his wife to summon police. She saw the baby's arm hanging limp, screamed and raced for the telephone.

Schilt's frantic efforts to revive the child were useless.

"I am in the field of computers and my son's death held no logic for me. I was in a state of solitude. I choked on my words," he said.

Mechanically, Schilt made all the arrangements for the infant's funeral and the couple began the trip to Schilt's hometown, Watertown, N.Y.

Though it was March, New York State was still deep in winter, the ground tough and unyielding, the sky a hardened gray.

"I recall drinking a hell of a lot of Scotch," he said. "The day of the funeral was awful. We had the casket sealed and it looked like an oversized egg basket. It was so hard to believe my son was in there, and even today I sometimes ask myself, 'Was the baby really buried?'"

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon has signed a contract to do a "no holds barred" series of television interviews, David Frost said.

Frost would not disclose the price tag agreed to by Nixon.

In a press conference Sunday, the British interviewer said Nixon agreed to discuss the events, collectively dubbed Watergate, which led to his becoming the first U.S. president to resign his office.

Although no arrangements have been made yet to air the interviews on American television, Frost said the four 90-minute programs would be distributed to stations throughout the world.

"No subject, including Watergate, has been barred" Frost said. He estimated that Watergate would consume about a quarter of the 20 taping sessions to be held. He did not say when they would start.

Flash Flood Warning Posted In Arizona

By the Associated Press
 There were scattered showers and thundershowers in many parts of the nation today. It was hot in New England and New Jersey, while seasonable warm temperatures prevailed elsewhere.

The showers and thundershowers extended from western New England through the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys, the south Atlantic Coast states and westward along the Gulf Coast through Louisiana.

Isolated thundershowers again dotted mountains of the southern intermountain region and the southern Rockies.

There were some heavy thundershowers early today from north central South Dakota through central North Dakota, and also in the upper Great Lakes area.

A flash flood warning was posted for a time Sunday evening in southern Arizona. Residents of the Phoenix area were alerted to gusty winds lowering visibilities to zero in blowing dust and some locally heavy rains. This combination of blowing dust and locally heavy rains is a common result of desert thundershowers.

A travel advisory because of dense fog was posted in Southeast Mississippi.

Haze and patchy ground fog were reported from Michigan through much of the Ohio Valley. There were similar reports from the central and southern Appalachians, the middle Atlantic Coast states and the Carolinas.

Skies early today were clear over the southern plains, Montana, the Pacific northwest and the Great Basin.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 50 at Butte, Mont., to 99 at Needles, Calif.

Q.1 - East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠843 ♥J10965 ♦6 ♣AK98
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ 1 ♦ 1 ♥ 1 ♣
 What do you bid now?
 A. - Despite the fact that both opponents are in the auction, your hand could produce a slam opposite the right values, and partner should be apprised of this. Since you have a partscore, a jump to three hearts should convey the nature of your ambitions.

Q.6 - As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠93 ♥QJ9642 ♦J85 ♣J4
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ 3 NT
 Dble. ?
 What action do you take?
 A. - Pass. Partner is not interested in hearing about your hearts - he could have doubled had he wanted you to bid. Partner probably has a long, solid minor suit and a stopper in spades. If you come in with four hearts, he will no doubt retreat to five of his minor, which could be a vastly inferior spot to three no trump.

Q.7 - Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠A97 ♥742 ♦KJ987 ♣Q10
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass
 3 ♠ Pass ?
 What do you bid?
 A. - Three spades. A two-way bid. By showing your spade stopper, partner will be in a position to bid three no trump if his hand warrants it. Or it may permit him to start investigating slam if he is rich in controls in the other suits.

Q.8 - As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠QJ1098643 ♥KQ ♦7 ♣KQ
 Partner opens the bidding with one club. What do you respond?
 A. - One spade. You have too much strength outside the spade suit to leap to four spades, which could result in missing a slam. For example, if partner holds a balanced hand including three aces and the king of spades, he will not take further action and six is a laydown.

Charles Goren has compiled a pocket guide, "Shortcut to Expert Bridge," which includes instant answers to all point counts. To obtain your copy, write to "Goren's Expert Bidding," in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 259, Norwood, New Jersey 07648. Enclose $1.25 in cash or checks, payable to NEWS-PAPERBOOKS.

Q.1 - East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠843 ♥J10965 ♦6 ♣AK98
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Dble.
 What action do you take?
 A. - Bid four hearts. Even if partner has opened light in third seat, this must be the right action. The opponents might own this hand, in which case your action could shut them out. And if they do enter the auction, you will be in an excellent position to help your side judge what to do - if partner doubles, you pass happily; if he passes, you double to show that your jump to game included defensive values, and partner is free to remove to five hearts with a hand unsuitable for defense.

Q.2 - As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠4 ♥10962 ♦KQ74 ♣A872
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
 3 ♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A. - Four clubs. Your hand has suddenly become very strong, and we suggest an ace-showing bid as a start to a slam probe. While partner might, for the moment, read this as a suit, your intentions will become clear when you support hearts at your next turn.

Q.3 - East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠7 ♥Q8652 ♦10632 ♣J54
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
 2 ♠ Dble. Pass ?
 What action do you take?
 A. - Pass. Partner's double of two spades is for penalties. Any attempt to rescue him from what you consider to be an unwise action is a vote of no confidence designed to ruin partnership morale.

Q.4 - As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠A ♥AJ1076 ♦Q872 ♣Q43
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 Pass Pass 1 ♥ 2 ♦
 2 ♠ Pass ?
 What action do you take?
 A. - Pass. The auction has developed badly for you. You have a dead minimum, and your heart suit is not good enough to rebid freely at the three-level. Partner should have a good spade suit for his bid, and this could be your last opportunity either for a plus score or to get out of the auction.

Same Old Weather

By the Associated Press

Texas weather coasted down the middle of the same old rut today—clear to partly cloudy skies with prospects for more widely scattered showers in some sections.

With occasional thunderstorms mixed in, Sunday evening shower activity dotting the southern half of the state died away during the night. Official observers reported a tornado touched down briefly and without harm before nightfall near Kingsville in South Texas.

Moisture measurements amounted to no more than 41 inch at Brownsville and McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Patches of clouds lingered near the coast, with a shower falling at Sabine, and at a few points in South and Northeast Texas this morning. Ground fog cloaked the Lufkin area in East Texas. It was generally clear elsewhere.

The mercury dipped to 58 degrees at Amarillo in the Panhandle near daybreak while the reading was still 76 at Corpus Christi on the coast. Top marks Sunday afternoon ranged up to 99 at Wichita Falls.

New Mexico Jail Escapee Captured In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A New Mexico jail escapee caught Sunday in Oklahoma was to appear before a U.S. magistrate here today.

John Ray Fletcher, 25, of Waukomis, Okla., was arrested by FBI agents and Oklahoma City police at a motel in Southwest Oklahoma City. The FBI said he was wanted on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle and escape from an Albuquerque jail.

Albuquerque authorities said Fletcher and four other men overpowered guards and escaped from the Bernalillo County jail there Aug. 1.

One of the men was recaptured the following day in an Amarillo, Tex., motel and another was arrested last week in Clovis, N. M. The others remain at large.

Albuquerque officials said two of the escapees—Roger Barrett, 24, and Lonnie V. Stewart, 34, both of Dallas—pulled guns on a jailer and then released Fletcher and Eduardo Garcia, 20, of Riverside, Calif., and Tony Garcia, 21, no address available.

The men locked up the five-man night jail crew, forced them to disrobe, and left the building. Outside in a parking lot they met a jail cook on his way to work and forced him to drive them across town, officers said.

Police said they did not know where the two pistols used by Barrett and Stewart came from.

The cook was released unharmful shortly afterward, and his pickup was found abandoned later. Barrett was captured the next day in Amarillo.

Tony Garcia was arrested in Clovis last week, authorities said. Details of his arrest were not given.

Barrett and Stewart were first arrested last April east of Albuquerque in connection with a jewelry store robbery.

The arrests came after a highway chase in which shots were exchanged.

Barrett and Stewart were awaiting trial on charges of armed robbery, aggravated assault and kidnaping when they escaped, officers said.

Officers said Fletcher was a federal prisoner while in the Albuquerque jail, being held on warrants from Oklahoma and Wyoming.

Kidnaping Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation is looking into a report that the 21-year-old son of a prominent New York businessman has been kidnaped.

The youth, Samuel Bronfman 2nd, is the son of Edgar M. Bronfman Sr., president of the Distillers Corp.—Seagrams Ltd.

An FBI spokesman said Sunday the youth "allegedly was driving to a party in his private vehicle the night of Aug. 8."

"At 2 a.m. on the 9th, the son called his father and said he had been kidnaped by three unknown males and said he or they would be in contact with his father later," the spokesman said.

No ransom demand has been received, he said.

"The kidnaping has been reported to us and is under investigation by us," he said.

"We're investigating, one, whether a kidnaping actually has occurred and, two, whether there's a federal violation involved."

Where the alleged kidnaping took place could not immediately be determined.

The elder Bronfman was not available for comment, but Samuel's brother, Edgar M. Bronfman Jr., said he had "no knowledge of any kidnaping."

Local New York police also said they had no knowledge of a kidnaping.

Samuel Bronfman was named for his grandfather who formed Distillers Corp., which acquired Joseph E. Seagram & Son, a Canadian whiskey producer. Young Bronfman graduated from Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., this summer.

Edgar Bronfman Sr. of exclusive Yorktown Heights, N.Y., is a former chairman of the board of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and has been a trustee of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the National Urban League, Inc., and Mount Sinai Hospital and School of Medicine.

Viking To Hunt Life On Mars

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Viking Project to search for life on Mars is ready for launch, but the trip to Earth's planetary neighbor is filled with hazards still to be overcome, space agency officials say.

The first Viking, scheduled for launch at 4:59 p.m. EDT today, is to travel 200 million miles before part of it lands softly on Mars July 4, 1976, the nation's bicentennial. While it surveys the surface, another part of the craft will orbit Mars, sending back photographs and other information.

A second Viking, set for launch Aug. 21, will conduct an identical surface and airborne probe Sept. 9, 1976, if all goes well, officials said.

Walter Lowrie, vice president and program director of the lander for Martin-Marietta Co., said the spacecraft must pass through five "gates" before it can be considered a success.

"We've already been through the first gate, in which the spacecraft were sterilized," he said. "Today, comes the second trauma because they must survive the launch.

"Third, they have to cruise to Mars for over 10 months. Fourth, they enter a hostile environment around Mars," he said.

"The last gate is soft-landing the lander on the surface of Mars—which is perhaps the biggest unknown in the program—and setting up shop on the surface."

Five Homicides, Couple Deaths By Electrocuton

By the Associated Press

Accidents on streets and highways, as usual, accounted for more than half the violent deaths in Texas during the weekend.

The toll tabulated by The Associated Press for the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday included 18 traffic fatalities, five homicides, two deaths by electrocution and a drowning.

These were among the victims:

Curtis White, 22, of Edcouch in South Texas was killed Sunday night in a collision of two cars 2.5 miles south of there on Farm Road 1015. State police said he was riding in a vehicle operated by Jeffrey D. Bell, 20, of Elsa and another car driven by Pedro Castillo Jr. swerved into their lane, causing Bell to run off the road and hit a tree.

Michael Thomas Carr, 15, was electrocuted Sunday while helping friends put up a ham radio antenna in Houston. Police said the antenna brushed against a power line.

Matthew Marc Ausman, 16, of Beaumont was fatally injured while mowing grass in his family's back yard. Police said his arm made contact with an air conditioning unit while the youth was standing barefooted in wet grass and he apparently was electrocuted.

Tarrant County authorities said a Sansom Park man was shot and killed in an argument early Saturday. James Virgil Holley, 28, a truck driver, was found dead in his car near the house where the shooting occurred, police said.

An employe of a Dallas lounge was found shot to death early Saturday. Police said Anangelos A. Laskaridis, 19, of Dallas, apparently was the victim of a robbery at the lounge.

Police said two Greenville residents died Saturday when their car ran off U.S. 380 and slammed into a tree. They were Billy Denmark, 22, and Mark Smallwood, 16.

Waco police searched for the assailant of Johnny Washington, 24, who died after an argument early Saturday during which police said he was struck on the head with a blunt instrument.

Highway patrolmen said Guadalupe Ochoa, 64, of Cuero was killed early Saturday when his car ran off Farm Road 236 and crashed into a tree.

Catherine E. Campbell, 46, died Saturday when the car in which she was riding and tractor-trailer rig collided.

Houston police said Dennis Lee Jones, 22, was shot to death outside a house early Saturday. Officers quoted Phillip Pingley as saying three men forced their way into his home. He told police one of the men leaped on him while he was in bed, and said he then reached for a pistol and fired.

A Conroe department store manager was found hacked to death Saturday at his home in Hanover. Deputy Sheriff Forrest Simpson said a bloody knife and sword were found near the body of Milton Angerstein, 47.

Sharon Cecil, 20, was killed Friday when the car in which she was a passenger hit a parked tractor-trailer rig in Houston.

A Augusta, Ga., youth died of a gunshot wound in the face when a shotgun accidentally discharged.

Howard Quillian Sikes, 19, who was visiting a friend in Corsicana, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Joan Little Trial Judge Rules With Firm Hand

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Judge Hamilton H. Hobgood is widely known in North Carolina legal circles as a no-nonsense judge. His performance in the first four weeks of the Joan Little murder trial has borne out the reputation.

Hobgood, 64, with silver hair and glowing pink cheeks and jowls, is a 20-year veteran of the state Superior Court bench and one of its senior judges. He runs his courtroom, crowded with reporters and spectators, with a firm hand.

Rapping loudly for silence, Hobgood has demanded several times, "Who's that laughing? I'd like to give somebody 30 days if I knew."

Although tough with the lawyers, Hobgood has a quiet, folksy manner that he uses with witnesses and jurors.

North Carolina does not require its judges to be lawyers, and Hobgood was on the Franklin County bench while attending the Wake Forest College of Law at night.

He received his law degree in 1941, then spent four years in the Marine Corps, until 1946. Hobgood served two terms in the North Carolina Senate, in 1951 and 1953, before becoming a Superior Court judge in 1955.

Attorneys for Miss Little, a 21-year-old black accused of killing a white jailer, claim Hobgood's actions deprive the defendant of her civil rights.

HAMILTON HOBGOOD Prosecutors are no happier. Hobgood has not allowed admission of some key pieces of the state's evidence, and last week he reduced the charge against Miss Little from first-degree murder to second-degree murder, saying the state had failed to make a case of premeditated murder.

Hobgood allowed the defense wide latitude in jury selection, which took two weeks. He has on several occasions helped defense attorneys around prosecution objections to their line of questioning.

He has taken copious notes throughout the testimony. He spends evenings and weekends studying cases cited in defense and prosecution briefs and seems well prepared to back up his rulings.

Hobgood has not ruled out the possibility he will dismiss all charges against Miss Little before the case goes to the jury. He said last week after the state rested its case that he was denying the motion to dismiss second-degree murder and voluntary manslaughter charges "at this stage in the trial."

If Hobgood is not convinced the state has made a case, he won't shy away from throwing out the charge, lawyers familiar with his court insist.

Hobgood seems determined that the trial tagged by some "the civil rights trial of the 1970s" will not become a circus. He has no tolerance for legal showmanship, and jailed activist lawyer William Kunstler for two hours last week after a courtroom exchange that lasted four minutes.

It was with the same firmness that Hobgood ordered Southern Poverty Law Center attorney Morris Dees off the Little case after a witness accused him of asking her to tell a lie.

Fans Fail To Scream, Faint When Old Brown Eyes Sings

By MARY CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Old Brown Eyes is back. That's Eddie Fisher, explaining for anybody who missed the pre-rock 1950s, "I was a bobby-sox idol."

He had 22 recordings in a row become the No. 1 best-seller in America. "That's the most anybody ever had," he says. And, just like they did for Old Blue Eyes, Frank Sinatra, the bobby-soxers screamed and fainted when Eddie Fisher sang.

This year, Fisher, 46, is singing again. He has been to Las Vegas twice and will return soon. He has performed in New York City's suburban areas. He's booked all summer. Reviews say his voice is better than ever.

Fisher agrees. He says he always wanted to sound like Ezio Pinza. His voice has lowered and he likes that better.

The audience isn't screaming and fainting any more. An older audience comes to hear him now, Fisher says, and he doesn't mind that. "Their reaction is very satisfying."

He says he's singing only four or five of his hits, plus some contemporary songs and an Al Jolson medley. He says he's going to add some more romantic ballads since that's what the audience seems to want.

Fisher has behind him some undefined bad days, which he lumps as "retirement." He says he isn't broke. He bought a house in Jamaica and went to live there. "It got very boring being a beach bum. A man has to work and I don't do anything but sing. If you don't work, you're dead, in my opinion."

He looks tan, fit and lean, his hair still crisply curly black, the old boyish grin slowly spreading across what has become a man's face.

The first time in Las Vegas, in February, Fisher says he was nervous. He hadn't played there since 1969. The next time, he says, he felt at home.

His brother Al, in the lighting and staging end of show business, is traveling with him now, producing his shows. Fisher, who has been married to Debbie Reynolds, Elizabeth Taylor and Connie Stevens, says the women in his life at the moment are Al's 2-year-old daughter Julie, his daughter Carrie, who is studying at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London, and his mother in Philadelphia. "I haven't been married in eight years. I'm looking — but not in show business."

Knee Deep In Alligators?

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — After one year of battling red tape, the Fort Worth Zoo was informed by mail this week that federal permits have been granted to help the zoo ease its soaring alligator population.

"Hooray," remarked Zoo Director Elvie Turner, whose alligator pens have become filled by 33 small reptiles he previously had been forbidden to keep, sell or give away.

The little alligators will be sent to zoos around the world, and the transfer may have come just in time to prevent the already-crowded alligator pens from becoming even more congested.

Alligators are classified as endangered species under the federal act.

Wrestle With Wrestling Woes

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman for Ken Moore Enterprises, wrestling promoters, said here wrestling likely will continue in the city, possibly at the North Side Coliseum.

Shelby Sharp, an attorney for Moore, said the promoters will do "everything humanly possible" to see that wrestling continues in the city, despite city council action this week which awarded a contract for the North Side Coliseum to another firm.

Lester Flatt Mulls Miracle

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music entertainer Lester Flatt returned to the Grand Ole Opry on Friday night for the first time since undergoing open heart surgery.

"You are seeing a miracle here tonight," Opry announcer Grant Turner said as he introduced Flatt.

"I never knew I had so many friends before," the 61-year-old singer said as he began hosting a portion of the show. He said he received letters from throughout the United States and Canada following his surgery to remove blockage from three arteries near his heart.

After the bluegrass singer was released from the hospital from his July 1 surgery, he was readmitted when fluid began collecting in his chest cavity and legs. Flatt was released from the hospital after a week and was told by his doctors the fluid buildup could be medication.

Church Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — State Dist. Judge Reagan Cartwright has set a hearing for Sept. 3 on a suit filed by three parishioners of St. Paul's United Methodist Church who seek to assure the upkeep of the church's magnificent cathedral-like structure.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Mon., Aug. 11, 1975 3-B

The suit alleges the church is in disrepair and asked the court to order a study of the deterioration and an audit of church funds. The suit also asked that the court halt construction of a proposed children's playground at the church.

"Repairs to the structure are urgently needed," the suit said. "Just viewing the structure shows a great deal of deterioration of the limestone due to climate and 29 slates are missing from the roof as well as an obnoxious air conditioning system in complete view of the public."

The church, now is an area growing more commercial, once was known as a congregation for the city's socially and financially elite Methodists. Its membership has declined from about 5,000 to about 3,500 in the past six years.

A church source said the playground proposal is part of a plan to attract younger families to the church.

Houston Next For Bullock's Tax Raiders

HOUSTON (AP) — State Comptroller Bob Bullock began a Houston-area crackdown today on what he says are thousands of businesses that owe a total of $12 million in delinquent sales taxes.

Bullock has staged previous crackdowns in Conroe, Austin, San Antonio, and the Dallas-Fort Worth area and indicated his Houston raids could continue two or three days.

Bullock's raiders first seized inventories at Kasco Office Supply Inc., which Bullock said owes $34,000 in back taxes dating to 1972.

In preparing for the Houston crackdown, Bullock said 12,000 Harris County businesses owe a total of $12 million, including $9 million to the state and $3 million to the city.

Close In Honor Of Patrolman

County Commissioners Court this morning recommended courthouse offices be closed after 3 p.m. Tuesday in honor of the late Jimmy Parks, the Texas Highway Patrolman killed in an accident early Sunday.

Pretty Becky Enjoys Role In 'The Life Of Christ'

Pretty Becky Winston, 19-year-old green-eyed blonde from Water Valley, is a member of the Apprentice Company at the Globe of the Great Southwest Summer Shakespeare Festival in Odessa this summer.

Four productions "Dames At Sea" (musical comedy), "Troilus & Cressida" (Shakespearean tragedy), "Much Ado About Nothing" (Shakespearean comedy) and "The Life of Christ" (new non-denominational script by Regina Walker McCalley) make up the lineup of plays with six shows weekly.

"When I first saw the Globe and the other members of the company, I wondered what I was doing here," she smiled. "A small town girl like me with professional actors. Of course, I now know better and I love all the people here — especially Mr. McCalley. He has been very nice to me and has encouraged me a lot."

Becky loves to cook and attended Betty Crocker Home Leader of Tomorrow award. She collects rare old books and is an avid reader. Wherever she goes, her Bibles go along for she is a devout follower of Christ and his teachings. Her dream is to do God's perfect will.

In the Summer Festival plays, Becky is cast as an attendant in "Much Ado About Nothing," a member of the chorus in "Dames At Sea" and is double-cast as Martha and the Woman Who Dries Jesus' feet with her hair in "The Life of Christ" — a natural role for her as she has extra long hair.

She loves nature and long walks, swimming, camping and horseback riding. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Winston who are both teachers in Water Valley. Mr. Winston teaches English and Speech and Mrs. Winston teaches Special Education.

There are two weeks remaining in the Festival which will close Aug. 24. Curtain time for shows is Tuesday through Saturday is 8 p.m. Sunday matinees are at 2:30 p.m. Ticket prices are $3 adults, $1.50 for students and a 20 per cent discount is offered to groups of 20 or more.

Fall Injuries Country Music Singer Williams

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Country music singer Hank Williams Jr. was in fair condition today after suffering serious head injuries in a fall while hiking in the mountains.

Williams had been listed in critical condition after the fall Saturday, but a spokesman at the Missoula Community Hospital said Sunday night his condition had improved and was stable.

Williams, 26, slipped on a snow field near the crest of the Continental Divide and fell an estimated 500 feet. The incident occurred near Ajax Lake about 50 miles southwest of Butte.

Gwendolyn Sue Williams said she thought her husband would have to remain in Missoula for three to four weeks.

"It's a miracle he's alive. There is no brain damage," she said.

Dear Abby

Readers Contest Advise To Safe But Lonely Girl

DEAR ABBY: I certainly don't agree with the advice you gave THE GIRL ACROSS THE WAY. Her apartment faced a 10-story high rise. She could see into the apartment of a gentleman who was always alone. Since she is alone, too, she asked you how she could meet him. You told her to pull down her shade and forget it.

Abby, that's the trouble with this world. If more people met strangers half way, there would be a lot less loneliness.

I would have told that girl to put a big sign in her window as follows: "WHAT'S YOUR PHONE NUMBER?"

FRIENDLY IN PHILLY DEAR FRIENDLY: That kind of "friendliness" is asking for big trouble. Exhibiting such a sign in a large city might be too "successful" to succeed.

DEAR ABBY: Shame, shame, shame!!!! This is 1975, and I am disgusted with your old-fashioned advice to the 28-year-old woman who inquired about the best way to meet an apparently lonely gentleman across the way.

A little casserole, a bottle of wine and a knock on his door will tell her all she wants to know.

Wake up, Abby. Honesty is still the best policy. What's wrong with saying, "Hey, I'm lonely?"

CATHY IN BARBERTON, O. DEAR CATHY: "A little casserole, a bottle of wine and a knock on the door" sounds like Little Red Riding Hood revisited — complete with wolf.

I'm all for honesty, honey. But I believe in safety first.

DEAR ABBY: I was saddened by the cold finality with which you dismissed GIRL ACROSS THE WAY's letter.

May I offer a solution? Honey, if you want to meet that dude, hang a sign outside your window: "Want to come over for a cup of coffee?" Or maybe a safer, "Meet you at the corner drug store in 15 minutes."

If he doesn't show up, THEN she can pull down her shade and forget him.

LIBERATED IN STANTA ROSA, CALIF. DEAR ABBY: I have a solution for GIRL ACROSS THE WAY: I'm in advertising and believe in it.

If I were that girl, I'd put a big sign in my window, reading, "GOOD MOVIE ON CHANNEL 6 AT 8 P.M."

And even if the gentleman responds with a sign that reads, "IT'S A REBURN," at least she's gotten his attention and might get something going.

FT. SMITH, ARK. DEAR ABBY: Where does that 28-year-old, lonely working girl live? She wants to meet a guy she sees across the way and says she doesn't even care how old he is.

She sounds like my kind of gal. I'm 56 and could use some female companionship.

If she's in the state of Rhode Island, I'll go get her.

SAMIN PROVIDENCE DEAR ABBY: You will probably be hearing from a lot of kooks who will be blasting you for telling that girl across the way to pull down her shade and forget the guy she sees sitting in his apartment night after night all alone.

Well, I applaud your good sense! Lord only knows what kind of nut he could be.

I'm not saying he couldn't turn out to be a very nice person, but it sure isn't worth the gamble.

Sign this, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread," or NOBODY'S FOOL IN SEATTLE DEAR ABBY: Thanks, I needed that. Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cents) envelope.

Handcuffs Keep Them Together

Marie Eugenie Fosse, 22, does not object when fiance, Guy Leger, handcuffs her to him before they go out on dancing dates. "I've got a temporary two-minute memory and am apt to forget which man brought me," she confided.

The memory loss is due to an excess of drugs which doctors gave her recently for meningitis.

THE CITY Bicentennial dry sink.

Bring the spirit of '76 to life in your home.

There was a time when no colonial cottage was without a dry sink and a pie safe. So Tell City has taken the best features of these traditional country pieces and combined them in one stunning Young Republic Bicentennial Dry Sink. Handsomely crafted in hard rock maple, the H-hinges, wood knobs, bun feet and top gallery are all authentic colonial elements. The punched metal "pie safe" door panels are finished in complementary hand-glazed green and a maple matching FORMICA plastic top is added for utility. Why not celebrate our nation's birthday by giving this special Bicentennial design a place of honor in your home?

Nuptial Rites Performed On July 31

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Bates, Garden City Rt., Big Spring, announce the July 31 marriage of their daughter, Debra Ray to Timothy Ray Spivey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Spivey, 1301 Madison.

The couple exchanged nuptial vows in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Eldon Cook in Airport Baptist Church. Miss Donna Bates, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the best man was Roy Lee Spivey, brother of the bridegroom.

Following a reception in the home of the bridegroom's parents, the couple left on a wedding trip to El Paso. They are now residing on the Garden City Rt., Big Spring.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School, is employed at Wheat's Furniture Co. The bride attended Forsan High School.

Stop Dust On Venetian Blinds

When venetian blinds are left open at a slant, less dust and soil collect on them than on blinds left flat.

Let Entrance Be Personal Statement

From the functional point of view, an entrance foyer is mainly a place to shed coats, park umbrellas, welcome guests, and bid them good bye. But that's not all.

As the first area visitors see upon coming in from the impersonal outside world, it also becomes an "opening statement" about your home, your personal taste, and they way you live, according to interior design consultant Mary Ann Willis. A big responsibility, to be sure.

"Lack of space doesn't have to mean lack of style in an entryway," she pointed out. "Even a tiny apartment hallway can take on 'grand entrance' status with effective use of color, lighting and accessories."

Being a transitional area, the entryway generally should take its decorative cue from the adjacent living room, suggests Ms. Willis.

For example, walls in the two areas should be in harmonizing colors or compatible patterns, so as to provide visual continuity. Lighting fixtures and furnishings, while scaled to the dimensions of the foyer, should have some style correlation to those used in the living room.

"To avoid a crowded look, as well as to make main-

Hall County, the home of Bob Wills, who introduced Western swing to the country-Western world of music, has been honored by having a medallion struck of him by his homefolks. This is the official Bicentennial medal of Hall County. Wills appeared here many times, and he was a close friend of Big Spring's own famous musical son, Hoyle Nix.

By now, the news is out — President Gerald R. Ford is due to speak at the dedication ceremonies for the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum Saturday, Sept. 13. Rep. George Mahon first made the announcement. The museum, estimated to cost $1.7 million, has been financed by gifts from 800 donors, mostly from foundations and independent oilmen. All but $100,000 of this has been raised, said Homer Fort, curator.

"Beyond the Sundown" is getting good notices from critics, proving it is not just another tourist gimmick. The production is produced each night in Sundown Amphitheatre on the Alabama-Coushatta, Texas' only Indian reservation, between Livingston and Woodville. Eddie Burgess as the Medicine Man is getting rave reviews, along with the battle scene, the chief and others.

Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch will round out its season with a Labor Day weekend (Aug. 29-30-31) Bluegrass and Country Musical Festival. More than a dozen Grand Ole Opry and Blue Grass old-timers will be on hand, including Ernest Tubb and the Texas Troubadors, the Double Mountain Boys and many others. The festival is at Quiet Valley Ranch, nine miles south of Kerrville on Highway 16.

The International Festival Institute at Roundtop did so well this season that it will move into its own facilities next season, said James Dick, concert pianist and director. Properties have been acquired five blocks from the historic town square in the state's smallest incorporated town of Roundtop between Austin and Houston.

Waxahachie folks not only have recreated the program atmosphere of the famed Chautauqua, but they have restored the famous Waxahachie Chautauqua Auditorium much as the octagon-shaped building was when it brought to town such notables as William Jennings Bryan, John Phillip Sousa, Will Rogers and others. Most towns had the Chautauque built in the picturesque auditorium which seats 2,500.
